of Education discussed the report of the Affirmative Action Program during its meeting Tuesday.

The board meeting at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High Schiool focused on the dissolution of the district and its effects on the AAP.

Kevin Mattfield, district affirmative action officer, presented a report on the issues within the Multi-Year Equity Plan known as MYEP.

Equity Plan known as MYEP.

On Sept. 20, the plan was approved by the districts which will operate the schools after July 1," said Mattfield.

Thomas Long, administrative associate for personnel, co-addregsed the board and provided background on the application of the MYEP.

The regional district has been restlining its continuing commitment to quality and educational programs."

Long said, This is demonstrated in the MYEP's existing policies concerning affirmative action, equal education opportunity, and related

A primary obligation of an elected official is to uphold standards of honesty by serving as an example. We have been watching Township Committeeman Roy Hirschfeld fail at that duty. Since the start of the year, Hirschfeld has been the governing body's eyes and ears in matters pertaining to the Recreation Department. However, in one telling instance, he has not served as the Township Committee's mouth, and that poses a problem for the township.

Earlier this year, the Township Committee fired George body did so with discretion and sensitivity so as not to hinder Rague's future job prospects, but it did make clear its unhappiness with his job performance.

According to Hirschfeld, in the time leading up to Rague's dismissal, the soon-to-be former recreation director

Rague from his post as recreation director. The governing offered the committeeman "a bribe." For whatever reason Hirschfeld did not disclose the information to either the Township Committee or the county Prosecutor's Office. Township Attorney Bruce Bergen should have directed him to file a complaint at police headquarters. Because a serious ethical lanse has been committed here. Roy Hirschfeld must take a few minutes during Tuesday's Township Committee meeting to recount what happened. As a marriage counselor, Hirschfeld surely understands the importance of honesty in a personal relationship, and candor is equally important in his relationship with the pco-ple of this town and his fellow committeemen. This year there has been a lot of questionable activity regarding the township's recreation facilities. Between the pool leak, the changing personnel, the use of a unionized public employee as a supervisor and now this "bribe," the Township Committee has some explaining to do.

On Jan. 1, there is a chance that Hirschfeld will be made Springfield's mayor for 1997. Township residents do not deserve to be stuck with a committeeman-mayor whose every word and deed could arouse suspicion. Just tell everyone what really happened Roy.

Our parks: past present and future

This weekend, the county will mark the 75th anniversary of the founding of its park system. While diamonds are said to be the appropriate gift for such a milestone, we offer instead our congratulations for a job well done.

The county park system had an illustrious beginning. Designed by the same architecture firm that created Central Park and the grounds of the White House and the Capitol, the parks were inspired by English romantic style. Those of us who have passed time in any of the parks, from Watching Reservation to Warlnanco Park, know them to be sanctuaries from the thunder of nearby highways and din of surrounding cities.

All too often, they are taken for granted. Too few county residents take advantage of the facilities and too many take note of the parks only when controversy — crime or the deer

For the sake of community spirit, we remind our readers that these wonderful local assets are there to enjoy and that -18 of the 21 municipalities have parks; the remaining three are within a mile of a county park.

Every day, parks provide a microcosm of ecology, uniting fresh air, clean water and sculpted grounds in scenic settings. With the onset of fall, we urge everyone to go to their favorite park to observe the colors of the leaves and enjoy Part of what makes Union County a desirable place to live is its parks. Often, development can cost a region more in money and quality of life than preserving open spaces. The county and local governments can save money and keep taxes lower by maintaining open spaces and recreation areas. With that factor, property values usually remain stable near park areas.

Many county residents say these parks and other county recreation facilities are best left to residents who don't have: their own back yards. We think that's a foolish outlook of people who would deprive themselves of activities and relaxation without good reason. We salute the Union County Division of Parks and Recreation and its employees, both past and present, and we look. forward to informing our readers of the benefits offered by the park system for many years to come.

"One thing I've learned is that democratic schooling and freedom of expression are not a gift of the gods.' It's a battle that's won on a daily basis."

which I have repeatedly questioned. Mr. Slote: • Is it common some to put in wiring in the coiling of the library for automation and new carpeting on the floor when the roof is leaking? Common sense would make one think that loaks are repaired first, then carpeting and wiring can o installed.

• Is it common sense to spend $100,000 of inxpayer dolars to renovate a parking lot at Duffy's Corner when some of those taxpayer dollars are being used to renovate private

• Is it common sense that there are no parking meters on the plans for the Duffy's Corner parking loi? Does that mean that, not only do the taxpayers pay for the lot, they will also lose revenue? How much will the merchants benofit from the lot, or will it be used as free all-day parking for those people taking public transportation to New York?

• Is it common sense to build a field house at Rossaner Field, paid for with taxpayer dollars, and turn the building so that a parent cannot stand on line to get a snack and watch the game at the same time?

. Is it common sense to put an elevator in a spot that line water in it? A pump is needed to pump out the area when the new, non-fuctioning clevator is located. • Is it common sense to ask for change after change and meeting after meeting for every job that is begun, when every change drives the engineering costs up? Just one case in point, the study for Chistolm School had a number finitematives, adding the plan for the swimming pool added more cost to the study. Lack of common sense abounds in other areas of township government. Some examples: -• Is it common sense to fire a volunteer soccer coach. have him come to a township meeting for a "hearing," then

How many times does a volunteer get put on "trial" before the matter is settled? • Is it common sense to actually believe that there are no job descriptions for recreation personnel in the Recreation Department? There were job descriptions in the Recreation director's files last year. I know because I saw them . match - or worse? Why has Hochberg not questioned Mrs. Holmes' explanation for her use of an unpaid pool badge for the entire 1996 season when she was well aware that free badges went only to a few township volunteers? Is Hochberg aware that at first Mrs. Holmes found she "lost the cancelled check for the badge" and then first Mrs. Holmes found she "Jost the cancelled check for the badge" and then accused a township employee of "perhaps throwing out the original check on purpose"—the only check lost among hundreds—because Holmes was the Republican candidate for Township Committee? ### Share our Wares displays women's work Bill mandates inclusion for Women held its second annual "Share Our Wares" event at the Calvary Episcopal Church in Summit. The day was devoted to displaying area women's arts, traffs, and services and to promoting the Resource.

Center for Women's programs and

Over fifty vendors participated in this unique event, exhibiting such var-led offerings as hand-painted wooden birdhouses, seated massages, and classes on computer training. "Share Our Wares is about celebrating women's work on all levels and in all fields, said Ruth Mirror, chair of the Resource Center's Board of Directors. We value women as they bake bread, offer financial services, and volunteer their energies.

The day provides an opportunity for women to network with each other. It is for women of all ages and all walks

The generational rep vendors ran the gamet from 'Goods by Girls," a group of middle school girls selling handmade jewelry, to author Jane Hughes Baston peddling her book "Remarriage After 50." The vendors found the day to be profitable. Painter Nachoe Lafond.

Contributing to the success of the Resource Center for Women's annual Share our Wares Day were Rose Legglero, Marie Jackson, Ruth Mirror, Donna Teti, Drew Tauber, Bebe Lee, Terri Tauber, chair of the event, and Joanne Douds.

Cable committee seeks input

The Summit Cable Television Citizens Advisory Committee solicit comments from the citizens of Summit regarding cable TV services provided by Comcast Cablevision of NJ. The committee, composed of vol uniteers appointed by the Common Council, was formed to assist the council with the cable TV franchise renewal process. To that end, the committee is evaluating the performance of Comeast under its current tranchise agreement with Summit, which expires in January 1998, and is assessing future cable-related needs for the Summit community.

The committee welcomes comments relating to these matters, includ ing recent reception or other service-related publishes with cable service experiences relating to the responsiveness and accessibility of Comeast new programming needs or requests, etc. To assist residents, the committee has made available at the public library and at the clerk's office i

City Hall a sample survey form, which covers a variety of topics. All written comments, however, will be considered. Summit residents may address their written comments to the Clerk's Office at Summit City Hall marked for the attention of the Cable TV Committee.

The committee would also appreciate hearing from Summit resident with experise in cable matters who would be willing to assist the committee, on a continuing or as needed basis, with legal, technical or other

The committee has held several meetings over the past few months and plans to develop and submit its recommendations in a report to the Common Council early next year. Information about the franchise renewal process and the committee's work will be made public during the next few months in various media, including total newspapers and TV-36.

The New Jersey General Assembly, on Sept. 26 passed legislation appearanced by Assemblymon Joel Weingarten and Kavin O'Toole that would require certain pre-parole and pre-sentencing reports to include a defending of medical history and a psychilaric avaluation. This legislation defendant a medical history and a psychilaric evaluation. This legislation is aimed at preventing dangerous defendants from inadvertently being in amon at prevening angerous elements with a proposition of the general population.

Specifically, a committee substitute for A 489/A685 would apply to a defending being considered for a first- or accord-degree error involving violence and who has a prior acquittal by reason of insanity or a suspension of charges; has a prior conviction for murder, acxual assault, kidnepping, endangering the welfare of a child or stalking; or has a prior diagnosis of preparation.

The legislation is part of the Assembly Republican's Civil Commitment package. Based on a judicial inquiry into the case of convicted rep-ist and murderer Conrad Jeffrey, the package is designed to bring about weeping changes in the way the state's criminal justice and mental Veffrey has been in and out of prisons and psychiatric hospitals to more than 25 yers before being sentenced in March to two consecutive ite sentences, plus 20 years for the rape and murder of 7-year-old Divina abled him to serve only a little over's year for assaulting a 12-year-old boy, even though he had confessed to stabbing a Newark woman in 1974 and served time at Trenton State Hospital. Weingarten explained. The Conrad Jeffrey incident was truly a deadly oversight. said Weingarter. 'It is vital that all pro-parole and pro-sentencing reports contain all 'of a defendant's history, including his psychiatric background."

"Prosecutors and parole officials need to know a defendant's entire iminal history in order to make an informed decision about the potentia real the defendant may pose to society," said O'Toole. "The psychological results of the psychological results are said of the psychological resul

e: included in \these reports," In addition, the bill would authorize the court, after the pre-sente restigation has been done, to order additional psychiatric and m testing of a defendant.

The Weingarien-O'Toole measure was approved by a vote of 76-0 and heads to the Senate for consideration.

claware Township, Hunterdon County will be the special guest of the Summit epublican City Committee at their annual Fall Salute to be held at the Home of Republican City Committee at their annual Fall Salute to be held at the Home of Elizabeth and Edward McColgan, 11 Edgewood Rd., Sunmit, on Sunday from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Sunmit Republicans overwhelmingly supported Congressman Zimmer in the June Primary, declaring they like his mixture of fiscal conservation; and social responsibility. Also being recognized is New Jersey Assembly Conference Leader Richard Bagger, R-22, of Westfield.

Congressman Zimmer has represented New Jersey's 12th District in the House of Representatives since 1991. He is a member of the Committee on Science, Space & Technology and is a member of the Committee on Government Operations. Prior to going to Congress, he served in the State Senate and in the State Assembly. He also served as Legal Counsel for the 1981 and 1985 gubernatorial, campaigns of former Governor Tom Kehn.

Assemblyman Bagger is serving his third term in the Assembly. By profession, he is employed with Pfizer, Inc. as a conjugate manager; prior to that he was an assistant General Counsel with Blue Cross & Blue Shield of New Jersey. Prior to his election to the Assembly, he served the Town of Westfield as May and as Councilman.

NJCVA to feature Albanian artist

Albania is probably not the first lace one would think of when talking about fine art. Despite this fact. The New Jersey Center for Visual Arts is trying to change that with a display now running in the Members' Gallery called "Recent Works" by Albanian artist Bashkim Ahmeti. Ahmeti, who is well respected by European art critics, is one of the first rtists ever to exhibit Contemporary Ibanian art outside of his home ountry. By exhibiting his art, Ahmeti

• The Park System was designed by the Olmsted Brothers landscape architecture firm, which also designed Central Park and the grounds of the White House and U.S. . In Keeping with Olmsted's designs, Union County Parks are works of art, having their roots in English romantic style. They also provide for the separation of traffic; provide visitors services; and provide a strong contrast to the city. The latter is particularly relevant because Union County is not only a diverse region of peoples, but a collection of cities and suburbs, with everyone having easy access to parks.

· Many county residents are within walking distance of county parks. Eighteen of the county's 21 municipalities have parks, while the remaining three are within a mile

theater to nelp homeless

A group of Union County residents, under the direction of Jodi Scher of Stirling, performed Thornton Wilder 's 'Our Town' on September 6, 7 & 8 in Plainfield as a benefit for the Interfath Council for the Homeless of Union County. The superb production, enjoyed by young and old, revealed how the lives at people in a 'small' town are two together. This community-wide affort brought together, members off, Plainfield's United Presbyterian Church, some volunteers, a cast of local scious, and several area husiness for a good cause. Among the contributors to the event were Berkeley Print and Copy Center of Berkeley Heights, Video Video, Fine Ingredients, Inc., Transport Consultants International, Celtic Treasures, Ltd., Northside Traitoria of Westfield; Another Look Books, Park Hardware, and Park Express Dry Cleaners of Plainfield. The cast included the following local community members: Timothy McGovern, Elaine Dooman, George Foster, Geri Kennedy, Bernard Weinstein, Mitch Berner, Genz Richards, Art. Solf, Sieven Krakauer, Daniel Jackovino, Gretchen Sausville, Nathaniel Parker, Sam D. Hasselman, Lorraine: Savoy and Lome Epstein.

Free design studio The du Crot School of Art and Design again is offering non-profit organizations a full-service design studio at no charge.

The Design Group gives a select group of art students the opportunity to work in an advertising agency environment. New designs are created and camera-ready art work is provided. This service is offered, at minimal cost, to any non-profit organization in the local and surrounding communities. The du Crot School of Art and Design, founded in 1926, is the oldest private art school in New Jersey. For further information, call 757,7171.

Network with the symphony via the World Wide Web

The Westfield Symphony Orchestra has officially issueched its home-page and new World Wide Web address. The website is designed and managed by Darryl Walker, webmaster of Westfield, and includes graphics, photos and dicket order forms that meers may download and print for subscriptions to the WSO's 1996-97 Season of Grandeur and Romance. The symphony's unique Internet address is http://www./westfieldnj.com/wso. It is accessible 24 hours a day from managers in the moral for USO enywhere in the world for WSO concert information, artists bios, news-letters and ticket prices for the five concert subscription series and annual symphony evenus. WSO Executive Director Pamela Cooper noted, "The new web address nd homepage is a logical progression in our engoing efforts to use new technologies to better serve our audiences. We are extremely fortunate to have found in Darryl Walker a very talented and generous individual who has helped us make our vision a reality." The WSO has participated for the last year in Internet listings such as Culturefinder, and is included on new home page, however, is the first complete and comprehensive inter-net address dedicated to all facets of the Westfield Symphony and its programs. Darryl Walker contributed his time and design skills to deve-lop the fourteen-year-old symphony's new web image and address. Visitors to the WSO website can simply "click" on the various links and incons to instantly obtain concert and program information, photographs and biographies of guest artists, subscription and ticket information, as well as diagrams of concert venues and scating locations and ticket order forms, all while on-line. The Symphony's website is the most ecent addition to "Westfield, New Jersey," a free community informaion service on the web located at http://www.westfieldni.com. which houses of worship, history and businesses. Designed and conceived by Darryl Walker, a ten year resident, the Westfield Website is quickly gain ng recognition as one of New Jersey's premier spots on the Internet. "The World Wide Web is the most exciting technological advance ment since the fax machinal" said Mr. Walker, who is the site's Editor and Webmaster. "This technology is both interactive and dynamic. for example, after purchasing tickets to altend the symphony, those with a computer and a modern can also make dinner reservations at their favo rite restaurant," he continued. By clicking on the restaurant "Discount-Program" link on the Symphony's homopage, "net!" browers receive a listing of area restaurants participating in the WSO's 10 percent "Concert Night Discount" program. A similar feature provides instant access to information on ficket outlets in Westfield, Cranford, Summit, Scotch Plains and Rahway.

The fully professional orcheotra also utilized the world wide web to amounce the opening of a search for a new Music Director and Conductor to lead the Symphony's five subscription concerts, educational programs and outrouch activities. The WSO Search Committee has selected a number of outstanding candidates to serve as Guest Conductors for the upcoming Season of Grandeur and Romance. Photos and biographical information on guest conductors, as well as guest artists and cast members for the Symphony's May 10 performance of Carmen, will be added to the WSO homepage in coming weeks. For more information, visit the WSO at http://westfieldnj.com/wso or call the symphony office at (908)

New technology helps hospital speed exams

Union Hospital's Radiology Department recently installed a new, state-of-the-art CT Scanner to be utilized in patient exams. The Siemens Somato AR SP CT Scanner is a spiral. scanner which is regarded as one of the most advanced pieces of equip-ment available for this type of exam.

There are a number of features. which make the scanner more convenient to patients and hospital staff. One such feature is a faster reading time, making it possible for nationts to spend less time on the machine when a scan is being taken. A tiltable gantry is another feature which the machine boasts. This type of gantry, or bed upon which patients lie, makes it the bed rather than moving the patien

The scanner is referred to as a spira canner because of the manner in which it produces the images for the technician to examine and record. Unlike previous CT scanners which reproduced an image for examination one image at a time and would have to create additional images for each new perspective, this new scanner displays a continuous image throughout the exam. This new spiral imaging allows

Imaging made easier at Union Hospital

The state-of-the-art non-invasive imaging technique in nuclear medicine is now available at Union Hospital. SPECT Imaging provides physicians with a comprehensive look at the results of a nuclear stress test, which examines a patient's heart... "The test indicates the presence of coronary artery disease and the effective ness of current treatments; damage caused by heart attacks, and the viability of heart tissue," said Richard J. Claps, M.D., medical director of Union Hospital's Radiology Department, "SPECT Imaging allows us to study the physiology of the heart, making it the most accurate and detailed method of cardiac evaluation

The Department of Nuclear Medicine at Union Hospital uses a hybrid technique for this procedure, where two radioactive pharmaceuticals are circulated in the patient's blood stream. The combination of both radioactive pharmaceutials yields the maximum amount of information available from the test by taking advantage of the unique properties of each isotope.

Physicians have a three dimensional yiew of the heart, allowing them to delve deper into questionable areas by dissecting the image into "silces" that focus on a specific part, similar to a CT Scan.

The first part of the nuclear stress test is conducted while the patient is resting. The nuclear technologist injects the patient with the first radioactive pharmaceutical. Approximately 15-20 minutes after the injection, the patients is imaged by a Gamma camera that rotates around the patient for approximately 30 minutes, taking 32 pictures of the heart. The radioactive material injected decays and emits particles which are detected by the Gamma camera and are converted into a computerized image of the heart.

The second part of the exam is the treadmill stress test. An intravenous line is placed on the patient's arm and electrocardiographic leads are placed on his or her chest. The patient is asked to walk on the treadmill until they reach a target heart rate. Before the end of the exam, the patient is injected with the second adicactive planmaceutical. In approximately 30-45 minutes a second set of Patients who have physical limitations and are unable to complete a treadmill stress test undergo a pharmacological nuclear stress test, where a cardiologist injects-a drug that speeds the patient's heart rate without treadmill exercise. According to Dr. Claps, there is no pain nor discomfort during nuclear or pharmacological properties. macological stress lesis.
