2004 The Prudential Foundation

Prudential Foundation Grant Guidelines

The Prudential Foundation provides support to innovative direct-service programs that address the needs of society in three issue areas: Ready to Learn, Ready to Work and Ready to Live. In order to make a significant impact with finite resources, our funding is allocated according to the following guidelines, which will be in effect until the end of the 2004 calendar year.

Ready to Learn

Education reform efforts that strengthen public education at the elementary level. Within this framework, we will emphasize systemic school reform; the quality of teachers, principals and other school leaders; and arts education.

Early childhood care and education initiatives, with an emphasis on programs that support professional development for pre-kindergarten through third-grade teachers or create model classrooms.

Strategies to improve literacy that address professional development for teachers, family literacy programs or literacy in the early years.

Ready to Work

Job-entry skills that are acquired through initiatives that focus on career transition, and work-force development.

Job-creation strategies that include access to capital, nonprofit/for-profit ventures, adult and youth entrepreneurship, financial training, and business attraction/development/retention.

Decent, affordable housing that is created through programs that focus on either housing strategies or neighborhood-based activities. Housing strategies include investment/grant partnerships with Prudential's Social Investment Program, community development financial institutions, or technical assistance to Community Development Corporations. Neighborhood-based activities include community organizing, neighborhood strategic planning, and neighborhood development.

Ready to Live

Community well-being, which includes initiatives that build healthy communities for youth and families; community-based human services for underserved populations; and high-impact national projects that address major human services issues affecting children and families.

Youth development programs that build skills and competencies necessary for young people to function and contribute in life. It includes the Summer Initiative, which provides funding for the creation of employment opportunities for youth, recreation and culture/arts programs in Newark, Orange, East Irvington, Elizabeth, Jersey City, Paterson, and Trenton, NJ. A Request for Proposal is issued during the first quarter of the year.

The Greater Newark AIDS Initiative funds HIV/AIDS prevention programs that serve Newark, and the surrounding communities of Orange, East Irvington, Elizabeth, Jersey City and Paterson, NJ. Programs must focus on primary and secondary HIV/AIDS prevention among populations at risk, particularly youth and women of color. Grants are made through a Request for Proposal process.
