- Cincinnati is the tenth metropolitan city in the United States, with a metropolitan population of over 700,000.

Cincinnati's Victories of Peace

1916

CINCINNATI can do big things. This has been shown in the past. That it is time for Cincinnati to again push forward in the doing of big things was shown at the "bond election," April 25, 1916. More votes were cast, a total of 47,455, than at any similar election. Far larger majorities were recorded and there was more general civic pride and more co-operation displayed among all sections of the city than at any such election in previous years.

There was no open opposition to the high-water pressure, fire protection, bond proposition and it received 38,000 of the 45,000 votes cast on it.

Every one of the ten street improvement bond propositions carried by a large majority, though six of them had been defeated when submitted at previous elections.

On the proposition to issue $6,000,000. of bonds for the construction of a rapid transit "loop" to provide an entrance for the interurbans the vote was: Yes, 39,700; No, 6,638. There was, in fact, no opposition to the building of the loop or bringing in of the interurbans, the small minority vote not representing opposition to the projects as such, but dissatisfaction with details, such as the route of the loop and doubt regarding some features of the proposition. Remembering their experiences, especially in the cases of the new water works and the new city hospital, doubt was expressed by negative voters of the cost estimates; in the cases noted the actual cost being double and treble the cost estimates when the first bonds were voted. Doubt was also expressed regarding the ability of the interurban roads, five of which were in the hands of receivers, to raise the $4,000,000. or more necessary to provide them connections with the loop and the new equipment required by the use of it. But immediately after the result of the election was announced even this slight opposition vanished, and Cincinnati presented a solid front in favor of the new go ahead program.

BRINGING IN THE INTERURBANS.

Eighty-six of every one hundred of the electors voting on the proposition at the special election, April 25th, 1916, decided that Cincinnati wants the interurban electric roads brought to the center of the city and incidentally, such rapid transit to Norwood and St. Bernard, outside the city limits, as the "loop" will provide.

The route to the east, to serve six of the ten interurbans now coming into or to the city, was first surveyed about fifteen years ago by James A. Stewart, and recalls the early and later efforts to "bring in the interurbans." One of the most ambitious and promising of these projects, until it met with the same local opposition which later killed other plans, was known as "the Schmidlapp plan." The Cincinnati Rapid Transit Railroad Company submitted a proposition and blue prints to the city council in 1904. Later an argument in favor of the proposed franchise ordinance, signed by J. G. Schmidlapp, President; H. H. Hoffman, Secretary; William H. Alms, M. E. Ingalls, L. A. Ault, Casper H. Rowe and August Herrmann, Directors, was submitted to the city council. The same arguments used in it regarding the benefits of bringing in the interurbans were used during the recent campaign. The first plans submitted called for a subway from Vine or Walnut Streets under Fourth Street to Pike and thence a viaduct to Mt. Adams. This was changed, the amended plans calling for an elevated structure over Third Street, skirting the hill under Eden Park and following practically the present proposed route to Norwood. The legal objection to passing the ordinance was overcome when the legislature passed a law giving city councils authority to grant such franchises, an authority twice since then exercised by the city council of Cincinnati. In January, 1905, the clerk of council reported protests signed by many property owners against the passing of the ordinance. It was this and other local opposition which finally so disgusted the officers and stockholders of the company that they abandoned the project.

Since the election the plan of consolidating all interurbans from the east and northeast first proposed over ten years ago, has been revived. Later, in 1909-10, John E. Bleekman and associates organized the Southwestern Ohio Traction Company for this purpose, but the value at that time placed upon their roads by the stockholders and officers of the various companies were prohibitive. Mr. Bleekman again took up the plan in connection with his plan for bringing into the center of the city, to a union station, all passenger trains on elevated tracks, thereby solving the freight traffic congestion problem. He secured options on a majority of the interurbans and also the necessary financial guarantees, but could not overcome the official and unofficial opposition which had killed his larger project.

This is the first time the city of Cincinnati has officially favored a plan for bringing in the interurbans. It is also the first time the business men and property owners of the city have indorsed such a project and it is therefore to be expected it will be successful, even though freight and passenger automobiles have to a constantly increasing degree during the last few years taken the "cream" of the business away from interurban roads.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE EXTENSION.

Never again, barring the possibility (but very remote probability) of the Ohio reaching a far greater stage than it has in the past century, will high water interfere with traction, vehicular or foot traffic between Cincinnati and Covington.

Tearing down of the buildings on Second, Pearl and Third streets in the route of the extension of the Suspension bridge from the first-named to the last-named street is progressing rapidly, and work on the bridge itself will begin in a few weeks. As stated in the last annual Cincinnati Directory Review street traffic will not be interfered with in any way by this big improvement. The work is to be finished before January 1, 1917.

GREEN LINE PLANS.

Green line cars will come to Third street over the bridge, the Covington cars at all times and the other over-the-river city cars when traffic over the L. & N. and Central bridges is interfered with by high water. The route of the cars after they leave the bridge is still to be decided, but will be settled, it is expected, within the next sixty days. The Cincinnati city council will then be asked to pass the necessary franchise ordinance.

Two plans are being considered: No. 1—To leave the bridge at the level of Third street, west on Third to Race, north on Race to Fourth, east on Fourth to Vine, south on Vine to Third and east to the bridge; No. 2—Leave the bridge level near Pearl street and on elevated tracks cross Third street, reaching the street level near Baker alley and Fourth street, west of Walnut street, about fifteen feet below the level of the street. The waiting rooms and loop on which the cars would turn would occupy the basements of the building to be erected at the south-west corner of Fourth and Walnut streets and the building west of it. A number of small rooms for confectionery, souvenir, shoe shining, and similar establishments are included in this plan. Inclined runways would lead to Fourth and to Walnut streets.

NEW SOUTHERN BRIDGE.

During the past twelve months the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company, lessee of the Cincinnati Southern Railway, expended about $800,000 in permanent improvements which will revert to the city. This was somewhat below the normal amount because of the business depression in the early part of last year.

Improvements contemplated include $2,500,000 for the reconstruction of the bridge across the Ohio River. This will be a double track railroad structure, with space for street cars, vehicular and pedestrian traffic, and is expected to assist in the development in a manufacturing way of West End property.

The Trustees of the Cincinnati Southern are about to issue $500,000 of the total authorized amount. The plans have been approved by the War Department at Washington. The work will be started this summer. Traffic over the present bridge will not be interrupted. It is stated that the lessee will also make extensive improvements in its shop and yard facilities at Ludlow.

Of the total mileage of 336, from Cincinnati to Chattanooga, there has been provided to date about 150 miles of double track, and plans for further work are under contemplation, including the stretch between Kings Mountain, Ky., to Science Hill, Ky., a distance of 14½ miles. The lessee company will also rebuild the bridge over the Tennessee River, just north of Chattanooga.

BUILDING GREAT SPEEDWAY.

Cincinnati will be in the sport spot-light to a greater extent than ever within a few months. The Cincinnati Speedway Company, organized a few weeks ago, has let a contract to Edward Ryan & Co., Cincinnati, for a two-mile speedway, which will be dedicated Labor Day, September 4. A great automobile race meet is now being arranged for that day. The speedway is to be completed August 15. Three steam shovels have been at work for the past two weeks grading the site, about fifteen miles from the center of the city.

The speedway will be the equal of the ones in New York City and Chicago. These are seventy feet in width. Cincinnati's course will be eighteen feet wider than the one at Indianapolis. A majority of the tracks are sixty feet in width. The difference in cost between one of sixty feet and one of seventy feet is $30,000. About 8,000,000 feet of lumber will be used in the construction of the speedway, which will have facilities for handling 200,000 persons.

The entire investment will be in the neighborhood of $600,000. The ground, acquired through The Frederick A. Schmidt Company, cost slightly over $100,000. This lies between the Pennsylvania and the Big Four Railroads, and will also be reached by traction service. The section is between the Springfield pike and Crescent road, and lies immediately west of the Dayton pike.

A. J. Roberts, Mercantile Library Building, suggested the feasibility of Cincinnati having an automobile raceway more than a year ago, and induced a number of Cincinnatians to take an interest in the proposition. His work resulted in the formation of The Cincinnati Speedway Company, whose officers are: E. W. Edwards, President; Harry Leyman, Vice President; T. J. Davis, Treasurer, and William T. Foley, Secretary. R. K. LeBlond, Maurice J. Freiberg, Andreas E. Burkhardt, James P. Orr, I. J. Cooper and T. J. Corcoran are Directors. The company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Ohio, with an authorized capital of $500,000, divided into 25,000 shares of common stock, par value $20.

The principal feature will be the two-mile track, designed for the needs of the fastest automobile racing, while the space inside the track will be utilized for other big athletic events. A fully equipped aviation field with ample accommodations for aeroplanes and dirigibles, will occupy space inside the track. When the present war has terminated aviation racing will be an assured attraction, to be added wherever the locations and constructions of fields permit.

Recently New York and Chicago have completed speedways, and two other prominent cities are contemplating building. With these tracks and the track here a circuit is to be formed that will control all the big racing meets in this country.

A BIT OF CITY HISTORY.

Ten years ago Cincinnati decided that it was altogether, entirely, wholly and totally wrong to place a business man at the head of the business affairs of the corporation of Cincinnati. Large transportation, industrial and commercial concerns had followed, were following, and it may be stated, incidentally, still are following the policy of having business men at the head of their business affairs, but this policy the voters decided should be changed, at least insofar as Cincinnati is concerned: the before mentioned big business concerns were to be given a lesson in the art of administration.

First, the voters turned to the legal profession and elected a lawyer, who had also been a just judge, mayor of the city. Two years later the voters refused to re-elect him. In fact, they changed their policy to the extent of electing a man who, though not classed as a business man, did know from his long experience as a newspaper publisher something about business affairs. He was as gallant a soldier and courtly a gentleman as ever graced the chair in Cincinnati or any other city, but unfortunately he was ill when elected and on his death another lawyer filled out his unexpired term. Not entirely satisfied with the legal profession, the voters then turned to the medical profession and elected mayor a prominent and successful physician, but when his two year term expired the voters decided to again return to the legal profession and elect in his stead a lawyer who had won his spurs as a fighter in the courts. Two more years passed, as years have the habit of doing, and while they remained loyal to the legal profession, the voters decided that they wanted an older man as mayor, so they elected another lawyer, who also had been a judge.

November, A. D., 1915, the voters, recovering from their attack of professionalitis elected, by a majority far larger than that ever given any candidate, a level-headed successful business man mayor of Cincinnati. A legless, sightless, earless, armless man visiting the city hall to-day could recognize the change. He would only need his nose and respiratory organs to detect the difference. The academic atmosphere frequently surcharged as by a bickering college faculty, has been replaced by the atmosphere found in big business offices. One discovery made since January 1st last by old city employees is that lawyers and doctors are not the only men who can ask questions. A business man, they find, can frequently ask "why" and, differing from the others, he demands a full and complete reply and also demands that he be given it before year after next. Matters of vital importance to the future of Cincinnati such, for example, as the solving of the freight traffic problem, will, at least for the next eighteen months, receive intelligent and active consideration. The kind and quantity of consideration given the freight problem and other similar problems during the past decade need not be told.

Two of the four highly respected professional gentlemen elected mayor of Cincinnati were Democrats and two of them were Republicans. A strange political controversy has arisen between the Republicans and Democrats as to which furnished the city with the biggest failures in the mayoralty line. There is no question as to the good qualities of all of the professional mayors or their ability in their respective lines but the voters, though long in doing so, finally discovered that a good shoemaker may make a very poor carpenter. The Democrats point with pride to the fact that they helped the Republicans to defeat for second terms the two Democratic mayors which their party furnished: the Republicans point with even more pride to the fact that they helped to defeat the mayor they re-nominated and saved from defeat at the polls their other mayor by refusing him a second nomination.

CONTROLS STATE ELECTIONS.

Cincinnati, in November, 1915, as it had the previous year, controlled the result in important matters of the state election. As in the 1914 election, it carried the home rule amendment to the state constitution and made possible the present state administration, so last year it was wholly and alone responsible for the defeat of the proposed prohibition amendment to the State constitution. The total vote in 87 of the 88 counties in Ohio gave a majority for prohibition. Hamilton County (Cincinnati) gave a big majority against prohibition, wiping out the prohibition majority of the rest of the state and defeating the amendment by over 50,000. Even the hardest hearted and most rampant Liberal must sympathize with the poor prohibitionist who sadly remarked when he heard the result: "Cincinnati is a great city but I do wish we could move it over into Kentucky on election day.

The "liquor question" played a prominent part, in one or another form, in the constitutional election in September, 1912, and in every state election held since that time, but it will not be before the voters this year. Politicians of all parties expressed their opposition to another prohibition election, as proposed by the anti-saloon league, they did not want it mixed up with the national election, but the financial issue involved really settled the matter. Owing to the Smith one per cent tax limit law every progressive city and town in the state is in more or less serious financial difficulties and the officials, without regard to party, informed the proponents of a third election that if one were held prohibition would be buried under such a tremendous majority that it would never again be a live issue. Cincinnati, for example, receives over $600,000 per year from saloon licenses and, while this is not a large sum compared with the total income of the city, under existing conditions, it is an important item. The same statement, except as to amount, can be made of every live city in the state.

CITY PLANNING.

City planning was dealt a knock-out blow, but not a death blow May 27th, 1915, the last day of the last session of the Ohio legislature. And, sad to relate, it received the blow not only in the house of its friends—the headquarters of the Woman's City Club of Cincinnati—but from its friends the members of the afore-said club. One section of the law provided that it should go into effect January 1st, 1916, and shortly thereafter the city council was requested to pass an ordinance providing for a city planning commission. The city council politely but none the less firmly and frankly declined to pass such an ordinance. The city council as a body, and its members as individuals did not care to commit civic, political and every other kind of hari-kari. No self-respecting city council would pass such an ordinance as the law provides for and Cincinnati councilmen did not hesitate to so express themselves. Possibly at the next session of legislature the law may be so amended as to make it workable.

Cincinnati needs and Cincinnati wants a city planning commission. The city council has requested the mayor, pending the amendment or repeal of the city planning law, to name a city planning commission which shall be an advisory body.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB.

Better conditions in the industrial, commercial and transportation worlds have changed conditions the past year in the Business Men's Club. It is larger in men who are really active members, and it is in better condition financially than at any time in the past. For a number of weeks a special committee has been looking for a site for the new club house, which will be erected as soon as a satisfactory location can be secured. Great care is being exercised in this matter, for a site large enough and a location satisfactory enough to meet all demands for many years to come are wanted. The new home, it is planned, will equal in every way any club house in the country. The erection and occupation of it will promote still greater civic activity, it is stated, on the part of the club, and increase its general usefulness to the city and State.

The club invited and brought to the city many well-known visitors during the past year. The most distinguished, and the one accorded the greatest reception, being enthusiastically greeted by tens of thousands of men, women and children, was Liberty Bell.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Since the organization of the Membership Department on January 1st, 1915, the membership of the Chamber of Commerce has been increased from 1,900 to 3,200.

The securing of over 1,300 members during the year was accomplished by conducting a four-day membership campaign in May, 1915, and a three-day membership campaign in March, 1916, supplemented by continuous and persistent follow up of prospects during the year by the Membership Committee.

An active auxiliary of the Membership Department was organized in May, 1915, as the result of the first membership campaign, under the name of "The Minute Men." It has 175 active members who willingly respond to any call for action on the part of the Chamber and give special attention to membership increase.

Seventeen lines of business organized during the year as subsidiary bodies of the Chamber.

The Entertainment Committee is under the supervision of the Membership Department, and during the Summer months of 1915 promoted the Chamber of Commerce Night at the Zoo, with an attendance of over 500, and an outing at Coney Island with an attendance of 3,000. This committee also arranged a series of noon luncheons and evening dinners, at which men of national prominence were secured as speakers.

CONVENTION DEPARTMENT.

Nineteen Sixteen displays a new high-water mark in the convention line.

In 1914 forty conventions, which brought twenty thousand people and over $300,000 to the city, were secured, this setting a new record.

In 1915 one hundred and three conventions, with a total attendance of over 65,000 people, who left in the city $1,500,000, were brought to the city.

Between one hundred and twenty-five and one hundred and fifty associations will hold their annual meetings in Cincinnati during the present year. Among the important and large conventions are: International Association of Rotary Clubs, Carriage Builders' National Association, National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association, American Historical Association, American Political Science Association, American Public Health Association, Investment Bankers' Association of America, National Alliance of Legal Aid Societies, National Association of Casket Makers.

FOREIGN TRADE DEPARTMENT.

Abnormal conditions in the world's market abolished many regular trade relations between Cincinnati manufacturers and foreign importers but at the same time opened the way for new business in various lines. The Foreign Trade Department of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce has been of assistance to a large number of firms desirous of entering the South American field. Through special efforts foreign buyers and agents visited Cincinnati, and upon their arrival in this city were assisted by this department in making satisfactory connections. The Federal Trade Commission held a session in Cincinnati July 22nd, 1915, at which a representative body of exporters appeared before the Commission, and discussed merchant marine, banking facilities and other important questions. In the early part of December this department had the honor of entertaining the Commission sent out by the government of France for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with the American business men. The Foreign Trade Club—a subsidiary organization of the Chamber of Commerce—had very prominent speakers on foreign trade and on conditions in foreign countries at its monthly meetings the past year. In June The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., established here a co-operative branch. Through this arrangement all reserved information on foreign trade opportunities, all confidential circulars, all publications gotten out by the Bureau, all reports sent in by the American consuls—in fact, everything that the Bureau in Washington issues is received and the exporters of Cincinnati thereby get much quicker service.

TRAFFIC DEPARTMENT.

Among the many subjects given consideration by the Traffic Department were the trap car and spotting car cases, the favorable decisions secured meaning a saving of thousands of dollars annually to Cincinnati shippers. Innumerable questions were given consideration in response to daily requests of the members, representing shippers as well as carriers, and the interests of Cincinnati's industries were looked after at numerous conferences and hearings before the State and Interstate Commissions.

PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT.

An energetic campaign to keep the advantages of Cincinnati before the people of North America was commenced by the Convention and Publicity Department in 1915, and has proven extremely successful. In 1915 over 600 articles were published in magazines and trade papers throughout the United States; editorial departments of several hundred newspapers were interested in the unusual advantages and accomplishments of Cincinnati, and articles bearing on these subjects were published. The result has been to bring many inquiring tourists to Cincinnati in search of more information particularly up-to-date information regarding municipal affairs.

The third annual "Clean Up" campaign was conducted by the Civic and Industrial Department—fifty thousand inspections were made. Reports printed by this department on the 1914 and 1915 campaigns have been adopted as text books for the entire United States by the National Clean Up and Paint Up Bureau. Due to fire prevention work and clean up campaigns a reduction of fire insurance premiums in down-town district, saves property owners over $160,000 a year.

Thirty-three new manufacturing establishments were secured in 1915. One hundred and ninety-eight new incorporations were filed during 1915 with a capital of $8,149,600. During the first quarter of 1916, one hundred and twenty-two new incorporations were filed with a capital of $9,418,950.

A vocational survey of the sewing trades was made and completed during the year and a school was established according to recommendations made in this report. A school for vocational instruction in the printing trades was established the first of the school year 1915-1916 as a result of the survey conducted by the Chamber in 1914.

RETAIL STORES ASSOCIATION.

The Retail Stores Association conducted a campaign to increase retail shopping from the outlying districts. Through the co-operation of Cincinnati's newspapers and retailers a great volume of business was brought to Cincinnati.

The constitutionality of the state law on fraudulent advertising was established through the activity of the Retail Stores Association.

The Trade Expansion Club arranged numerous trade trips. It also purchased one of the original French engines used in the early attempts to build the Panama Canal.

DIXIE HIGHWAY.

Had it not been for the tremendous agitation begun by Cincinnatians there would be no eastern branch of the Dixie Highway. The eastern route was brought about only after the greatest opposition from the counties situated along the originally proposed route.

The battle up until May 20th, when the Dixie Highway Commissioners met to finally determine the route the Dixie Highway should follow from Miami, Florida, to Chicago, Illinois, was centered about Cincinnati. All other conflicting interests were almost lost sight of in the rivalry as to whether this line binding north and south should pass by way of Louisville or Cincinnati. In this conflict the Dixie Highway Commissioners, appointed by the Governors of Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, wisely decided on division at Chattanooga, the eastern passing via Knoxville, Lexington and Cincinnati to join the western route via Nashville and Louisville, at Indianapolis, Indiana. During the last week of March, 1915, interchange of letters between the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and Southern commercial organizations developed the fact that the Dixie Highway, with the backing of thousands of citizens of the states through which it is destined to pass, had become a great issue. It was then that Cincinnati undertook to fight the battle of the Blue Grass region of Kentucky via Cincinnati, the natural gateway of the south, and bring the Highway through this wonderful land of Kentucky. With less than three days' notice, a meeting of good road enthusiasts was convened at the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, and on April 3rd a delegation of twenty-four business men went to Chattanooga. It is remarkable what a few men can do when they put their shoulders to the wheel. Within an hour after their arrival in Chattanooga, at which place the Governors of the States interested had called the first big Dixie Highway conference, hundreds of Cincinnati badges were being worn by Southern delegates, pledged to aid Cincinnati in securing the road location. The coming of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce delegation was the sensation at the conference, and while the city had not been considered prior to the meeting the force developed at that meeting resulted in the convention giving Ohio an equal representation on the Dixie Highway Commission with the other states hitherto considered in the project. The entering wedge had been set but the victory was not yet won. The next conference was called for Louisville, rival of Cincinnati for the great Highway. Undaunted, a band of 25 Cincinnatians visited that city on the occasion of the conference, April 23rd, and the uproar thus occasioned resulted in a postponement to arrive at a final decision May 20th at Chattanooga. Four thousand persons attended that memorable meeting at Chattanooga, and Cincinnati was better represented than any of her close rivals. The Chamber of Commerce staff worked day and night for three days in securing a delegation of her most representative business men. Manufacturers, bankers, capitalists and professional men to the number of 103 went by special train to Chattanooga the day before the conference. A dozen stops were made enroute and Cincinnati was acclaimed as her citizens passed over the Cincinnati-Southern, owned by the City of Cincinnati, 330 miles to Chattanooga, in the heart of Dixie. The earnestness of the men of Cincinnati, the music of her prize band, the speeches made by her citizens won the day, and a compromise was ordered by the Dixie Highway Commissioners—that there should be both eastern and western routes. The Cincinnati business men remained in Chattanooga for three days to await the determination of the issue, and every one of them believes his time well spent. Both eastern and western routes are being constructed. The eastern will probably be finished first and open to east and west a convenient and easy passage to the great Southland. The western route should also be completed within the next couple of years, and add to that convenience of modern road travel so dear to the heart of the tourist.

CINCINNATI CLEARING HOUSE ASSOCIATION.

Cincinnati bank clearings for the Clearing House year, ending March 31, 1916, were $1,467,766,500, an increase of $213,043,550 over the clearings $1,254,722,950, of the preceding year. Of this big increase $20,000,000 was made during the first six months and $193,000,000 during the last six months of the year. The figures for the weeks since March 31 show that the record for the immediately preceding weeks is being maintained.

The Cincinnati Clearing House Association was fifty years old April 14, 1916. One of the features of the jubilee celebration was the reading of a sketch by Griffith P. Griffith, the only one of the organizers of the Association who is still an active bank official. John W. Ellis, Thos. B. Page, Wm. Hooper, C. G. Rodgers, D. J. Fallis, S. S. Rowe and Jos. C. Butler met at the Lafayette Bank March 20, 1866, to consider the matter; a committee was appointed which later submitted "Articles of Association" and at a third meeting, April 14, 1866, the articles were adopted and the following officers were elected: Wm. Hooper, President; Jos. C. Butler, Vice President; D. J. Fallis, Thos. B. Page, Wm. J. Dunlap, Committee of Management. Quarters were secured in the center of the banking district, Third street. For a few weeks Griffith P. Griffith, then cashier of the Third National Bank, acted as manager, putting the new machine in operation and instructing George P. Bassett, who was then elected manager and served until April, 1885. When he resigned the young gentleman who still holds the position, W. D. Duble, was elected manager. Mr. Duble is old, however, in service, being the dean of the Clearing House Managers Corps of the United States, having served in that capacity longer than any living man.

During the panics of 1873 and 1893, and the currency stringencies of 1907 and 1914, the Association rendered services of vital importance to the Cincinnati business world. Only those closely connected with the Association know how far reaching and effective in protecting the city and bringing credit to it as a strong financial center; in protecting and helping all the business affairs of the city these services have been during the past fifty years.

MOST HEARTILY DAMNED STATUTE.

The Smith one per cent tax limit law is the most heartily damned statute ever placed on the statute books of Ohio. Other obnoxious laws have been and are being evaded. Some of them are dead-letter laws, but it is impossible for the taxing units of the state to evade or juggle the Smith one per cent law. There were some good, or at least very plausible, arguments in favor of it when it was enacted; the cities of the state had been and were going very fast in the matter of piling up debts and increasing tax rates. But they did both, municipal officials claimed, in an endeavor to answer insistent demands of the people for more service.

Health departments, notably the Cincinnati Health Department, during the past five years under the administration of Health Officer John H. Landis, is doing work not expected or even dreamed of a decade ago, and still the people, a Oliver Twist, cry "More, more." They have been educated up to the point of expecting protection to their health and lives and realize the benefits they, and especially the children of the city, are receiving from the new activities of the Health Department. The Department of Buildings under Commissioner Rendigs has also been doing good work in the matter of protecting lives and health in reforming tenement and lodging house conditions, and condemning and having torn down more dilapidated and insanitary structures than during any previous administration. Both of these departments have been seriously handicapped the past several years by lack of funds. Financial conditions in other cities are even worse than in Cincinnati.

As the rural members of the general assembly will not, judging from past records, agree to the repeal of the Smith one per cent law, thus giving cities home rule in the matter of taxation, nor agree to a direct raising of the one per cent limit, the cities of the state will unite in asking an amendment, making exemptions. The exempting of the levies for sinking fund and interest charges would for a time at least solve the difficulty in Cincinnati and some of the other larger cities of the state. An amendment to the liquor license law giving the local political unit all of the saloon license money is also proposed. This would increase the revenue of Cincinnati from this source over $250,000. An argument used in favor of this amendment is that the state annually receives from liquor license law fees $500,000 more than it expends in administering and enforcing the law. Incidentally, the state administration has been and is being severely criticized for turning such large sums into state treasury when much, if not all of it, could be used for the protection of those who pay for engaging in the business against the competition of boot-leggers seven days in the week in the "dry" counties, and one day in the week in the license counties.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

During 1915 Cincinnati's general health was the best in the city's history. This statement is based on the fact that during last year the general death rate fell to 15.63 per thousand, which is the lowest since records have been kept.

The tuberculosis record, infant mortality rate and deaths due to gastro intestinal diseases in children under two years of age, have all established new, low records for the city during the year.

The sum total of all of the health agencies at work in this city are beginning to reflect their usefulness.

Purification of the water supply in 1907 not only eliminated a great many cases of typhoid fever but had a marked influence on the mortality rate from general causes.

Purification of the milk supply not only curtailed the number of deaths in infants under two from gastro intestinal diseases but has also had a marked influence in lowering the death rate from general causes.

From a study of the statistics, declares Health Officer J. H. Landis, it is safe to predicate the following hypothesis: The reduction in the general death rate of a municipality, brought about by the purification of its milk supply, is practically the same as that caused by its change from a polluted to a pure water supply.

This idea can be visualized by giving the average general death rate for 1905-6 and 7, raw Ohio River period; that for 1908-9-10, filtered water period; and for 1911-12-13-14-15, efficient milk inspection having been started in January, 1911.

1905-6-7—Raw Ohio River period, average yearly death rate per 1,000. . . 18.65

1908-9-10—Filtered water, average yearly death rate per 1,000.....	17.41
1911-12-13-14-15—Filtered water plus pure milk, average yearly death rate per 1,000	16.26

The influence on deaths due to gastro intestinal diseases in children under two can be seen from the following:

1910	378 deaths	1913	245 deaths
1911	272 deaths	1914	229 deaths
1912	272 deaths	1915	175 deaths

When an increase in the city population of 40,000 is taken into consideration, the results become more marked than is shown by the figures.

RECORD BUILDING YEAR.

"Greatest in the history of the city" describes the building record of the year 1915, during which permits for structures estimated to cost $14,250,333 were issued, an increase of nearly sixty per cent. over the 1914 record. That 1916 will also be a big year in the building line is indicated by the figures for January to April, inclusive, during which permits calling for the expenditure of $3,146,680 were issued.

Commissioner of Buildings Rendigs, in a carefully prepared and comprehensive report, now being printed, tells in detail of the work of the Department and makes a number of recommendations. Compared with 1914 there was an increase of 22 per cent. in number of residences erected, the class was better, the cost increase being 28 per cent. Garages, 75 per cent. more permits issued, cost 110 per cent. greater. An increase of 86 per cent. in number of old, dilapidated and insanitary buildings condemned and torn down during 1915, and this good work is being pushed still more vigorously the present year.

Nearly 700 defective elevators were ordered repaired. Five deaths were caused by elevator accidents, but all were due to carelessness and none to defective elevators. There are 2,489 elevators in the city.

Improving tenement house conditions was seriously handicapped by lack of clerical help and inspectors. More money is requested for this branch of the work of the Department. "Don't care" tenants are blamed for a large proportion of the existing bad housing conditions, the remedy for which, the report states, would be instructing the school children regarding good housing conditions.

Among the permits issued during 1915 were the following:

University of Cincinnati—Chemistry Building.....	$205,000
University of Cincinnati—Woman's Building	150,000
Val. Duttonhofer—eleven story office building.....	200,000

CITY FINANCES.

City Auditor Leimann, in his report covering the year 1915, shows that Cincinnati, thank you, continues in excellent financial health and to grow richer in lands and buildings, in moneys and credits. Some of the totals in the report show that the total assets December 31, 1915, were $150,716,745.91 as compared with $145,258,283.08 December 31, 1914. The total bonded debt on the respective dates were $71,146,145.20 and $67,472,719.36, an increase of $1,785,036.99 in the value of assets in excess of bonded indebtedness. There was, however, an increase in current liabilities of $433,800.

Of the $6,234,420.50 collected for the support of the municipal government $592,720 was received for saloon tax, $330,678 for franchise taxes, $193,933 for licenses of various kinds, $1,190,138 water rent, $60,011.75 interest on city deposits, $59,983.52 University fees, $60,667 Workhouse earnings and $3,288,605.22 general city tax.

City of Cincinnati bonds sold from May 1, 1915, to May 1, 1916:

Street, Sewer and Miscellaneous Improvement.....	$1,271,800
Police Department	50,000
Fire Department	78,000
Park Department	295,000
Public Hall	25,000
High pressure fire protection.....	200,000
Waterworks improvement	460,000
Millcreek Sewer	1,000,000
Rapid Transit	100,000
Total.....	$3,479,800

Authorized at election November, 1915:

Park	$1,250,000
------------	-------------

Authorized at election April 25, 1916:

Street	$1,638,050
High pressure fire protection.....	400,000
Rapid Transit	6,000,000

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Though the issuing of bonds amounting to $1,638,050 was authorized at the election April 25, 1916, to pay the city's portion of improving ten streets, work on only one of the streets, Eastern avenue, according to present plans will be started this year. Work on most, and possibly all, of the other streets will be commenced next year. Cincinnati bonds have always commanded good premiums and are in demand by investors desiring absolutely safe securities. But the state bond limit law prevents the issuing of all the bonds voted in 1915 and 1916 until after more bonds are redeemed. There is more than enough cash in the sinking fund to redeem all bonds coming due for some time to come and as soon as they are presented and paid more bonds can be issued for street improvements, parks and playgrounds, and other purposes.

WATER WORKS IMPROVEMENTS.

Immediately after the election, April 25th, when $400,000 was voted by a large majority for the purpose, steps to complete the high pressure system were taken. Plans are being drawn for the pumping station to be located at Eighth street and Eggleston avenue. The city council is taking the necessary steps to condemn the required site for it.

Over sixty per cent of the services are now metered, the exact figures, including the 3,629 meters added during the past twelve months, being 64.9 per cent. Five miles of 36-inch low service loop main were laid during the year. New valve decks were placed in the pumps at the river station: over thirty miles, in all, of new main were laid during the year. The per capita consumption was 118.9 gallons per day.

The following table shows the figures for the last eight years:

Year	Total Gallons Delivered	Total Cost	Cost Per Million Gallons
1908.....	15,275,920,137	$245,749.97	$16.09
1909.....	15,482,286,983	243,688.54	15.74
1910.....	16,952,639,600	243,545.49	14.36
1911.....	17,509,132,191	243,495.99	13.91
1912.....	18,822,797,871	257,454.67	13.66
1913.....	18,362,146,240	262,817.64	14.31
1914.....	18,561,145,474	257,219.72	13.85
1915.....	17,796,328,655	265,820.19	14.93

SMALL FIRE LOSS RECORD.

Cincinnati the past year broke not only its own record but the records of all cities of its class in the smallness of its fire loss. Credit, in addition to that accorded the Fire Department, is given the annual "Cleanup Campaigns" under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, the third of which has just been completed, to the better and greater inspection of the state and local authorities, and the resulting education of business men of all classes and of householders. The loss of life record was not so good, sixteen persons being burned to death, thirty-one persons being seriously, but not fatally burned and sixty-five horses and other animals being burned to death during the year.

The total loss by fire was only $365,570.56 of which all but $9,159.61 was on and in buildings in which the fires originated. These figures show remarkably effective work of the Fire Department in preventing the spreading of fires. There were 1,793 alarms, of which 85 proved to be false, during the year.

A very unusual fire was the one which partially destroyed the Indiana, anchored at the foot of Walnut street, the evening of May 1, 1916. Firemen stood in the river, up to their waists in water, fighting it. The last steamboat to burn at the Public Landing was the Golden Rule on March 31, 1892. The only other boat fire since then was the Hudson at the foot of Hazen street on February 5, 1905.

Only four fires involving losses of over $25,000 have occurred during the past twelve months. Notable fires were: Trinity M. E. Church, Ninth street, March 11, 1916; Adams Express Company, office, Front and Butler streets, January 7, 1916.

Assistant State Fire Marshal John L. Steele will adopt a new plan of work at the close of the year June 30, 1916. It is the "block" plan; that of starting from a designated block and in turn inspecting every block in the city instead of the more or less haphazard plan of special inspections followed in the past. To get reasonably good results from it, however, would require a force several times as large as the one allowed Cincinnati by the Department of the State Fire Marshal. During the year a number of old and dangerous buildings have been torn down and changes in many buildings have been ordered and made. Much more of the same kind of work by the state officials would be welcomed and appreciated by the local officials and citizens in general.

BRINGING DOWN POLES.

Six hundred big poles which now disfigure the downtown streets will be removed within the next six months. About ten years ago the city compelled the construction of conduits and the placing in them of all telephone and telegraph wires. One provision was that one conduit should be reserved for the use of the city for police and fire alarm wires. After all these years the city is finally taking advantage of this provision and the big poles which have for nearly a decade been carrying only city wires will come down. Fifteen miles of cable have been received and the work of putting it under ground begins June 1st.

Signal joker and alarm circuits have been extended to the newly annexed territory and 125 of the latest type fire alarm boxes are being installed. These improvements were made possible by the $100,000 bond issue authorized last year.

A bond issue of $28,000 provided for the erection of engine house at the south east corner of Eastern and Strader avenues, and equipping it with a combination motor pumping engine and hose-wagon, and a special tractor propelled service ladder truck.

A new department was created for the inspection of buildings for fire hazards, known as the Supervisor of Fire Inspection. This department has aided very materially in the large reduction of fire losses the past year.

SMOKE.

Tests of soot fall were made during the month of April at a number of points in the downtown and outlying districts of the city. The jar on Fountain Square showed that more than half a ton of dirt fell on the esplanade during the thirty days, or at the rate of 217 tons per square mile. This showing was a shock to many, but neither a surprise nor a shock to persons doing business in the vicinity of Fountain Square and the Government Building, who daily witness dense volumes of black smoke pouring out of nearby chimneys. Compared with the showing made by the jar on Fountain Square the following showings were made by jars at the locations stated:

	Tons.
Sands School, Poplar and Freeman	32
Whittier School, Woodlawn and Osage avenue, Price Hill.....	60

"Through the efforts of the Smoke Inspection Department," said Chief Smoke Inspector Charles W. Heath, "more than three hundred locomotives, which remain constantly in the city or enter it frequently, have been equipped with first-class smoke preventing devices within a little over a year and a half. This means that practically all of the locomotives which would otherwise cause annoyance and damage to the city can now be operated with a very small amount of smoke, provided the engine crews use ordinary care in firing, and in operating the smoke preventing equipment. Likewise, the stationary power plants now are practically all equipped in a way so that with a little care in handling, only a very small amount of smoke need be made, except in case of break-downs, or while remodeling or repairing, or where fires are being cleaned of ashes and clinkers. During such periods more or less smoke can be expected as long as local bituminous coals are the principal fuel used.

"The City Smoke Department is equipped with the instruments and the knowledge necessary to help owners to so operate them that nearly all dense smoke can be avoided, and a corresponding amount of fuel saved, even with the class of fuel commonly used in this city. The Department tries to be helpful and has the friendship and co-operation of many of the owners and operators of furnaces. It is human nature for man to be careless at times, hence proper supervision by a sufficient number of inspectors is absolutely essential, where a reasonable amount of smoke elimination is desired. The Smoke Abatement League has, since the first of this year, employed a larger and more efficient force of inspectors, and they are doing broader and better work than ever in the history of the organization."

BOYS' OPPORTUNITY FARM.

After years of agitation Cincinnati last year finally and forever abandoned as an institution in which to house children the prison-like structure next to the city workhouse on Colerain avenue.

The Boys' Opportunity Farm, the boys' division of the Cincinnati House of Refuge, is now located on the Springfield pike, at Glendale, Ohio. It is a correctional institution for delinquents between the ages of 8 and 18, and the residential arrangement is on the cottage plan. The tract occupies 390 acres, 300 of which is tillable. The remainder is woodland, pasture or residence plots. There are four new brick cottages, three story and basement. One of these is used for hospital purposes. The others for dormitories. The limit is 24 boys to each dormitory cottage. In the group of buildings occupying the farm when it was purchased are a frame residence now used as the superintendent's residence and administration building; a frame tenant building, now used for dormitory purposes; barns, stables, cribs, implement houses, store-room, poultry houses, etc.

Each cottage is a distinct domestic entity, with cottage master, matron and cook in charge, and with the boys constituting complete family groups. The average boy population is ninety-five. A branch public school is maintained and in addition, instruction is given in farming, gardening, dairy, poultry and stock.

The utmost liberty, commensurate with proper discipline, is given, making life for the inmates as wholesome and happy as freedom, fresh air, good food, comfortable housing, regular hours and cleanly moral and physical training can furnish. Every Sunday morning the boys attend Sunday School at the Glendale churches, which welcome them and aid in accentuating their spiritual development.

The Girls' Opportunity Farm, at Wyoming—the girls' division of the House of Refuge, consisting of 130 acres, four new brick cottages, is conducted along like lines for the correction of delinquent girls. Miss Elise Herzog is Superintendent.

Walter P. Emerson, former newspaper man, who has for years taken an active interest in child welfare work, is the Superintendent for The Boys' Opportunity Farm.

GRADE CROSSINGS GOING.

The largest viaduct span in Cincinnati is nearing completion. It is that part of the Hopple street viaduct extending over Spring Grove avenue, which eliminates several grade crossings. The viaduct will be opened to traffic before January 1st, 1917.

Plans and specifications for the elimination of the grade crossing at Delta avenue, on the P., C., C. & St. L. Railway, have been completed by the railroad company, approved by the city, and contracts will be let shortly.

Condemnation proceedings for the property necessary for the elimination of the grade crossing at Erie avenue, on the P., C., C. & St. L. Railway, have been started, and it is expected that work will be commenced in the fall.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PROGRESS.

The past year in the public schools the old problem of funds has been most pressing. The Smith one per cent tax law has brought about financial conditions not only in the municipality but the school that are most distressing to those most interested. It is especially unfortunate at this time, since the people of Cincinnati have taken on an entirely new and active spirit of vital interest in the schools and are clamorous for much-needed improvements and additions to the physical plants. There are on file with the Board of Education more than forty community petitions asking for new buildings or substantial improvements to old ones. The Board is, owing to scarcity of funds, utterly unable to meet anything like such a demand.

During the past year the LaFayette Bloom School has been opened for use. It is a splendid and complete building and is the first establishment in Cincinnati of a junior high school. This means that it will contain all the elementary grades and two high school grades, offering opportunity in the manual arts course. The new Warsaw School has been almost completed and will be ready for occupancy in September.

Work on the new Madison Road High School has been started and when the improvement is finished it will be the most complete high school in the country, offering courses in all of the modern lines of high school activity, with an additional large opportunity for study and practice of elementary agriculture.

Plans are being made for an addition to the McKinley School at Eastern avenue and Tennyson street: For a new auditorium and annex which will be the beginning of a complete new building at the Windsor: For a complete modern new building at the Hoffman: A new Harriet Beecher Stowe school on the old Hughes-Jackson lot, to contain 24 class rooms and all the modern equipment for a school for negro children: The Fulton School on Eastern avenue is being modernized into a satisfactory sanitary condition. A new pre-vocational center is being constructed at the Washington School on Hopple street. This constitutes the largest building program ever undertaken by the Board of Education.

An evidence of the very general interest of our people in the schools was shown at the last November election, when the vote for school board membership was larger by many thousands than ever previously recorded.

It is also significant and not very gratifying to the friends of modern progress in schools that Miss Campbell, a woman of national reputation along educational lines and the first woman ever elected to the Board of Education in Cincinnati, was defeated for re-election.

The social center movement has progressed most satisfactorily, during the past year; several new centers being opened and substantial progress made in the old ones.

A new department of gardening, with a special supervisor, has also been established and is showing itself in the beautifying of many hitherto very dismal vacant lots in Cincinnati.

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI.

The past year may be fittingly characterized the "medical year" at the University of Cincinnati. The College of Medicine has occupied for a number of years the old University building on the McMicken homestead, which is ill suited to the needs of a modern scientific medical school. The new Cincinnati General Hospital offers unsurpassed clinical facilities. Only a new college building was lacking to give to Cincinnati the greatest medical teaching and research plant in the country. Patriotic citizens met this need by subscribing $505,000 for the erection and equipment of a medical college building. For its site the city council by ordinance gave to the University about twelve acres of land adjacent to the Hospital. The plans have been completed and the work on the building has begun. In addition $30,000 has been pledged for the support of the Frederick Forchheimer Chair of Medicine, until a permanent endowment can be completed. The Chair has been established and a full-time professor has been appointed in it.

The work on the stadium was completed in time for its use at the opening of the athletic season last fall. The new chemical laboratory and the Woman's building will be ready for occupancy by the opening of the coming session. The new buildings will relieve the congestion caused by the increasing number of students coming to the University. The enrollment for the session of 1915-16 was 2,635.

The latest work undertaken by the University is the systematic development and the protection of the health of its students. With the opening of the session of 1916-17, each entering student will be examined and measures prescribed to develop him physically, while he is in the University, as well as mentally. The new department of Hygiene and Physical Education will provide, also, for the training of teachers of physical education and of playground workers. The department, as its influence will extend into the home of the students, into the schools, and onto the playgrounds, should prove an active factor in developing in Cincinnati a strong health consciousness.

O. M. I.

Again this year of 1916 does the Ohio Mechanics Institute, under the able and wonderfully progressive management of President John L. Shearer, put Cincinnati under obligations to it: The announcement of the coming course of Sunday afternoon lectures will be hailed with delight by thousands, and the new museum is and will continue to be a source of pride and profit to many citizens and visitors within the city's gates.

Progress at the Ohio Mechanics Institute within the past year has been particularly marked in the development of the Industrial Museum, and the point has been reached when Cincinnati may claim the honor of having the only working Industrial Museum collection in connection with a school of technology.

Among the noteworthy features should be mentioned the Emery Collection of Old Art Metal Work which has, in all probability, no equal in this country, and is being added to constantly by the receipt of most interesting specimens of handiwork. There are specimens of locks and keys dating back to ancient Roman times. Many countries are represented. The collection of textiles has also received many additions within the past year, and is now most satisfactorily displayed. In the collection which is eventually to represent the Transportation Department a French locomotive from Panama, a most interesting sample of the early stage coach, and quite a variety of bicycles were added within the past year.

Another most interesting feature in connection with the Museum is the opening of the Court of Honor. An entire corridor has been set apart for the proper display of the names of those Cincinnatians who have contributed to the founding and up-building of the principal institutions of Cincinnati, especially in the pioneer days. The historical collection has also been greatly augmented by many interesting manuscripts and prints, pertaining to the early days of Cincinnati.

A very extensive collection of American and foreign coins will shortly be ready for inspection. In this coin collection there are practically all of the early coins produced in the United States. Numerous medals issued on special occasions, also quite an assortment of war time token money, are included in the collection.

A special branch of the Museum has also been opened for the constantly increasing collection of mineralogical and geological specimens. During the summer vacation many beautiful specimens of wood carving, by Mr. Ben Pitman, will be gathered in a special Pitman room, in order to keep fresh in the minds of Cincinnatians the wonderful work done by this remarkable, useful, and greatly honored citizen.

There is a plan on foot which will revive, within this present year, a course of lectures similar to the old Unity Club lectures, which were abandoned some years ago. The Emery Auditorium, which is intended for public education, will no doubt become the center to which people seeking information will turn on Sunday afternoons.

The Timothy C. Day Technical Library has been the recipient, within the past year, of the private library of Mr. Timothy C. Day. This collection of books contains many volumes on the early history of the United States, particularly the City of Cincinnati and the opening of the "Great West." The collection also contains many very valuable manuscripts and documents which are to become a part of the great historical collection of the Institute.

The Museum has also received a number of most beautiful specimens of armor, which are especially valuable to students of applied art. It should be borne in mind by the citizens of Cincinnati and visitors from other communities, that the Industrial Museum is free to the public. Groups of visitors representing other educational institutions and literary societies are especially welcome. Arrangements made in advance will secure a special guide and brief lectures on the special collections in which the visitors may be interested.

NEW BOYS' HOME.

Plans for a new building for the Boys' Home—founded by Miss Margaret McCabe thirty years ago and largely supported by her and her friends since then—now occupying three dwellings on Sycamore, between Fifth and Sixth streets, are being prepared. A site east of Broadway extending from Pioneer street to Fifth street, has been secured and when additional property desired on the latter street has been secured, work on the building will be commenced. It will be strictly modern and fireproof and have accommodations for over two hundred boys.

The Fenwick Club, composed of Catholic young men, now occupying a large residence on Broadway, below Fourth street, may also have quarters in the new building. A quarter of a million dollars or more will be expended on the site and building.

Y. M. C. A.

The seventh branch of the Cincinnati Young Men's Christian Association is being organized at Sharonville in response to the demand both of the 700 employees and the officers of the Big Four Railway, who appreciate the practical value of the Association, and feel its need at the large railroad yards in Sharonville. A $25,000 plant has been provided by Vice President Worcester, approved by President Smith of the New York Central system, and will be in operation by the Fall of 1916.

The year 1916 is chiefly marked by work of construction of the new Central Building at a cost of approximately $565,000, including lot, construction and equipment. The Ninth Street Branch building for negro men and boys was opened February 1st. It is the social, intellectual and spiritual "Town Hall" for the negroes of the city. Its recreational features are also of a very high order, in charge of secretaries thoroughly trained for their work.

The University Branch, at the University of Cincinnati, organized last Fall, has over 300 members and is in a flourishing condition. A building for the enlarging activities of it is being agitated by influential citizens interested in the welfare of our University.

The Elmwood-Saint Bernard Branch, in the lower Mill Creek valley, the city-wide boys' extension work outside the central building, the big brother movement, and the new railroad branch headquarters at Fifth and Baymiller streets, further emphasize the extending service of the Association in practical adaptation of its work to the various groups of young men and boys throughout the community.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS.

Twenty supervised playgrounds were in operation in 1915. The extensive use of playgrounds shows the great need of such places of wholesome amusement, especially in the congested districts—saving the children from the dangers of playing in the streets; giving them the advantages of supervised out-door play; relieving the mothers of anxiety for their safety and well-being. The Board of Park Commissioners has already acquired three additional playground sites which are being rapidly improved to be put into use this year.

What the playground is to the child, the park and the athletic field is to the youth and adult. The parks were never so much used as during the year 1915. This was particularly noticeable on the day of the Municipal Picnic and at the sixty-five concerts rendered in the parks in 1915.

Formerly the public use of the parks was made less inviting by iron fences and "Keep off the Grass" signs. To-day every opportunity is offered to the public to use to the utmost its own property in order that the parks may perform the maximum social service to the community. In the parks, facilities are offered for all manner of recreation—baseball, tennis, golf, croquet, quoits, picnics, dances, etc. The parks and athletic field have enormously increased the interest in amateur athletics.

When the Board of Park Commissioners came into existence in 1908 there were 490 acres of park lands, one playground and one athletic field. In 1909 there were 562 acres, three playgrounds, one athletic field. In 1910 there were 575 acres, six playgrounds, two athletic fields. In 1912 there were 1,695 acres, nine playgrounds, eight athletic fields. In 1913 there were 2,003 acres, thirteen playgrounds, eight athletic fields.

In 1914 there were 2,400 acres, seventeen playgrounds, eighteen athletic fields, and, in 1915 there were in use and in operation 2,451 acres of parks, twenty playgrounds, twenty-one athletic fields, thirty-two baseball diamonds, two nine-hole golf courses, one eighteen-hole golf course, one eighteen-hole golf course under construction.

In 1913, 1,238 baseball permits were issued. In 1915, 2,519 baseball permits were issued. This meant 861 teams—10,000 players used the park diamonds and were umpired by 392 umpires. To further facilitate clean amateur baseball a School for Umpires was instituted with an enrollment of forty-eight students and twelve graduates. The Umpires' Association, with a membership of sixty-four, is a protective organization for umpires; at the same time they assist in all other athletic events in various capacities—at indoor athletic meets, quoit contests, municipal picnics.

In 1913 the attendance on thirteen playgrounds was 793,430. In 1915 the attendance on eleven playgrounds was 1,345,360. Nine of the twenty playgrounds in operation in 1915 were maintained by the Board of Education.

When the Kessler system of parks, parkways, playgrounds and athletic fields is completed Cincinnati will have made provisions for the recreational needs of her citizens for years to come and will be able to boast of one of the finest park systems in the country.

CINCINNATI IS "THE FRONT RANK."

Cincinnati cannot justly be said to be in the front rank insofar as amateur baseball is concerned for—

Cincinnati Is The Front Rank, standing alone, ahead of and apart from the other cities of the country. This proud position has been taken by Cincinnati in the past four years.

The amateur baseball players of Cincinnati, in 1912, requested certain citizens to form a commission to control and regulate the playing of games. During the previous years the public appeared to be gradually losing interest in the game. This was undoubtedly due to lack of uniformity in the enforcement of rules: to the jumping of players without notice from one team to another; to poor umpiring and scoring; to a want of respect for the umpire and his inability to make his decisions binding upon the teams, and to there being no restraint placed on either players or spectators as to their conduct during the games. As a result of this request, an Amateur Commission was formed with the following members: Messrs. John E. Bruce, Cliff Martin, Ren Mulford, Albert Daiker, Henry Hoeffle and Judge Frederick L. Hoffman. The last named was elected president, Mr. Albert Daiker, treasurer, and Mr. J. Howard Renshaw, secretary. Various meetings were held, to which ball players, managers, umpires, scorers, business men and others interested in the promotion of amateur sport were invited. The purpose of these meetings was to ascertain the reasons why amateur baseball was deteriorating as a sport and to find a remedy.

Judge Frederick L. Hoffman, president and one of the founders of the Greater Cincinnati Amateur Association, answered a request for data regarding it by saying:

"The Commission, after careful consideration, determined to organize one league as a model. All players, managers and spectators were required to live up to the rules of the Commission. This league proved such an unqualified success that the next year's amateurs in almost every league in the city, at a mass meeting held in the city hall, requested the Commission to supervise the playing of amateur baseball throughout Greater Cincinnati. This the Commission did to the entire satisfaction of all. Disputes and protests among the players and teams were heard and settled by the Commission, the members of which gave their time gratuitously for the benefit of the school boys and young men of our city. The public began to appreciate what the Commission was doing and gave its financial support and otherwise assisted the Commission in bringing baseball to a higher plane. The Park Board, especially, by providing diamonds and permitting the games to be played in the public parks, was of a very material help and too much credit cannot be given to Park Commissioners L. A. Ault, John E. Bruce and Irwin Krohn for the assistance and encouragement they gave to the work.

"In 1914 the following men were added to the Commission; Messrs. Edward D. Roberts, Charles W. Sturr, Newell Hargrave, Joseph Berning and John Dugan. In 1915 Messrs. Irwin Krohn, Fred Galbraith, Robert Uricho, Clyde Johnson, Frank Gusweiler, Adolph Gruber and William Bass became members. In March, 1916, Mr. Renshaw resigned as secretary and Mr. Dugan was elected in his place.

FIRST SCHOOL FOR UMPIRES.

"Last Fall and Winter the Commission, with the assistance and co-operation of the Board of Education inaugurated a school for umpires. The course of study was arranged according to the rules of the Board of Education. Prof. Frank Moore, Director of Social Service in the public schools, was appointed principal. William Carpenter, an International League umpire, and William Hart, a National League umpire, with J. Howard Renshaw, acted as instructors. Those passing satisfactory examinations have received certificates showing they are qualified in every way to umpire. Two years ago the amateur umpires formed an Umpires' Association, which was encouraged and fostered by the Amateur Association. Through these umpires the Commission has been enabled to select umpires to officiate in the games who are not only efficient but who have the respect and confidence of both players and the spectators. In 1913, 1,238 baseball permits were issued. In 1915, 2,519 baseball permits were issued. This meant 861 teams—10,000 players used park diamonds and were umpired by 392 umpires.

"There are forty public school baseball teams representing as many schools, playing in the Public School league; the ideal is reached by the Washington School, which has twelve teams representing the twelve classes in the school. Here the school is employing baseball not as an advertisement but as a part of its curriculum, giving the boy who needs the development a chance rather than the lad who already has the same. It is only fair to state that the school is situated near two of the best ball-diamonds of the city.

"The eight hundred and sixty-one baseball teams registered would indicate that at least ten thousand different persons played in the two thousand five hundred games played in the parks last year. The number of persons participating is not the number which would play if ample grounds were to be provided, reasonably accessible. Deer Creek common, once an unsightly dump, has become one of the best assets of the city, and no one can pass on the street cars without feeling that the investment is a splendid one.

"No city in the country sends out each year nearly as many ball players seeking professional tryouts as does Cincinnati. It is mighty hard to find leagues which have not at least two or three Cincinnati boys on the rosters of their clubs. The prospects for the coming season are brighter than ever, and all amateurs now look to the Commission to help organize their teams and leagues and to supervise all games played in and around Cincinnati."

THE NEW COURT HOUSE.

The corner stone of the new Court House, for which ground was broken March 14th, 1915, was laid with impressive ceremony October 7th, 1915—Ex-President William Howard Taft laying the corner stone and delivering a memorable address on The Great Principles of English Law—his theme being that the safety of a republican form of government depended on obedience to law.

There was much delay in tearing down the old jail because the new temporary jail established in a wing of the city workhouse was not completed. The prisoners were transferred from the old jail to the new jail October 12th, 1915, and the old jail building on Sycamore street was torn down and the site delivered to the New Court House Building Commission October 15th, 1915. Great progress has been made in the construction of the new building and at the present writing there is a fair prospect that it will be ready for occupancy in November, 1917.

The New Court House Building Commission consists of James A. Green, President; Fred E. Wesselmann, Vice President; George F. Dieterle, Thomas W. Allen, Frank L. Pfaff, Harry C. Innes, Samuel Weil, Jr. George O. Deckebach is secretary of the Commission.

The architects for the building are Rankin, Kellogg & Crane; clerk of the works, Henry N. Hooper; assistant clerk of the works, L. P. Hazen; general contractors, The McCaul Construction Company, Philadelphia; contractors for mechanical equipment—steam plant, etc.—The Standard Engineering Company, Washington, D. C.; contractors for the jail work, The Stewart Iron Works Company of Cincinnati and Covington; elevator contractors, The Standard Plunger Elevator Company, Worcester, Mass.

The building will house not only the county offices, the courts and the law library but on the roof will be situated the jail and the juvenile place of detention. The jail will be thoroughly modern—probably the best county jail in America. The juvenile place of detention will be a model—a new departure in an institution of this kind.

The women's jail is entirely separated in every way from the quarters of the men, being situated in a bungalow, superimposed on the roof. The exercising places for the juvenile delinquents and for the jail prisoners will be open spaces on the roof—regular roof gardens.

The building in its architecture will be pure Ionic. It is not of skyscraper construction. The inner portions of the building are maintained on structural steel, but the outer are real walls holding up the adjacent parts of the structure. The building itself will be dignified and beautiful, and will suggest a temple of justice.

The first Court House in Cincinnati was built in 1790 on the present site of the First Presbyterian Church, Fourth street, between Main and Walnut; the second in 1804, on Fifth street, opposite the present post office. This building was turned into a barracks during the war of 1812 and burnt by drunken soldiers. The third Court House was built on the present site in 1819. It was destroyed by fire in 1849, and was replaced by a building which cost $217,000. This was regarded at the time as the finest building in the West. It was partly destroyed during the riots of 1884, and rebuilt at that time. This building was taken down in 1915 to make room for the present structure.

COUNTY ROADS AND BRIDGES.

With the completion of the Loveland and Madeira road, between Remington and Madeira, costing $34,500, and the East Miami River road, lying between Blue Rock and Colerain pikes, costing $27,200, the damage to the roads of Hamilton County caused by the great Ohio flood of 1913, will all be wiped out. The building last year and this year of bridges across the Little Miami River at Remington, 280 feet clear span, costing $32,000—at Miamiville, 280 feet clear span, costing $50,000—at Beechmont Avenue, 500 feet in length, costing $184,000—and the one across the Great Miami River at Cleves, 880 feet in length, costing $155,000, will repair all the damage to bridges caused by the great flood.

The concrete bridge replacing the old iron bridge on Wayne avenue, near the Hamilton County fair grounds, over Millcreek, and costing $40,000, will be completed this month. Plans are being prepared for a concrete bridge at Woodlawn, on the Springfield pike (the Dixie Highway), over the West Fork of Millcreek, estimated to cost $50,000, of which amount the State will pay one-half. When completed the ugly bend in the pike will be eliminated and the Dixie Highway will be on a straight line from a point near Gas Hall, in Carthage, to near the south boundary line of Glendale for a distance of four and one-half miles.

State Highway Commissioner Cowen has agreed to contribute \$150,000 towards improving the state highways in Hamilton County, and the county commissioners have ordered County Surveyor Boeh to prepare plans for the improvement of Hamilton pike from North Bend road to the county line, a distance of $7 \frac{6}{10}$ miles, and Springfield pike from Gas Hall, in Carthage, to the county line, distance of $7 \frac{4}{10}$ miles. It is estimated that the cost of these two roads will be about \$500,000, and the additional amount over that furnished by the state will be met by a bond issue.

A new road, called the Caldwell Drive, leading from Springfield pike, at the C., H. and D. railway crossing, to North Bend road, near the Convent of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, has been laid out, will be improved at a cost of $40,000, and when completed will give the people of Carthage, Hartwell and Wyoming easy access to Caldwell park.

During the year just passed the county commissioners have spent more than $150,000 in patching over seven hundred miles of the roads in the county, the balance of the road fund being spent in resurfacing and oiling old roads and rebuilding bridges and culverts.

REALTY MARKET.

During the past year there was a marked improvement in realty conditions in Cincinnati, although the market never reached the proportions of a boom. The Building Commissioners' office reports for the year 1915, the issuance of permits for new buildings aggregating $14,025,333, which figure sets a new high-water mark for the erection of new buildings in the Queen City. This marked increase in building operation is attributed, more or less, to the ideal labor conditions during the past year, and the outlook for 1916 and 1917 is very good, with no serious labor disturbances in prospect and prices of building materials stationary. Vacant stores, residences and flats are fewer in Cincinnati than in any other city of its size, demonstrating healthy local realty conditions, steady growth and good returns on investment property. The citizens of Cincinnati have proved beyond doubt that they are heartily in favor of the construction of a rapid transit system, and when it is completed there may be a real realty boom, not alone in business property but also in suburban property, the first of its kind in the history of the city.

A number of important corners in the business district of Cincinnati were transferred during the closing months of 1915 and the first four months of 1916, the most conspicuous of them being two corners on Fourth street which had been on the market for several years. These two deals involved close to $1,000,000; the erection of new buildings will enhance the value of these properties almost another million, and increase realty values on Cincinnati's financial thoroughfare. There was also considerable activity on Fifth and several of the other important downtown retail business streets.

The Cincinnati Real Estate Exchange, with its membership of over 500, has been active in legislative matters in conjunction with the state association. It has been a prime mover in securing the extension of the tax paying period and has lent its assistance on all occasions in matters pertaining to the advancement of Cincinnati.

WORK FOR CITY COUNCIL.

Several matters of unusual importance and interest to the general public are due for settlement by the city, through the mayor and council, this year.

A franchise ordinance has been passed granting the West End Rapid Transit Company the right to construct a part elevated and part surface line, on private right of way and city streets, from Third and Race streets to the terminus of the Cincinnati, Lawrenceburg and Aurora interurban traction line at Anderson's Ferry.

During July an ordinance authorizing the issue of $6,000,000 of "loop" bonds will be passed and approved.

The first revision of the fifty-year franchise granted the Cincinnati Traction Company is, by law, to be made this year. Preliminary action has been taken by the city council and a number of open committee meetings have been held. Civic organizations and individual citizens have recommended and requested that the city provide for a number of new routes and extensions of old routes and that additional transfer privileges be given or the universal transfer system be adopted. Up to the present time the question of continuing the straight five cent fare, or changing it, has not figured to any extent in the matter. It will be taken up later in the year. The value of the property involved has not yet been agreed upon though two valuations of it were completed some time ago.

A new contract, fixing the price of natural gas, for public and private use, for a term of years, is also to be made this year. A demand for an increase in the present rate has encountered most emphatic opposition from civic and other organizations and from individual consumers.

REFORMING DRUG FIENDS.

Congress, December 17th, 1914, passed a law, known as the Harrison anti-narcotic law, making it illegal for anyone, except those designated by it to deal in, or to have in their possession, opium or cocoa leaves, or their derivatives, such as morphine, heroin, or cocaine. The law became effective March 1st, 1915. It was assigned to the Internal Revenue Department for enforcement, although it was not intended to be a revenue measure; $1 per annum is charged all those who deal in narcotic drugs. In the First District of Ohio, George F. Stier was the first appointee, being appointed by Commissioner of Internal Revenue W. H. Osborne, February 25th, 1915.

Dating from March 1st, 1915, the Cincinnati office has been the indirect as well as the direct cause of the arrest of more than 200 violators. About seventy-five convictions have been secured, sentences ranging from thirty days to a year. At a recent meeting of physicians and pharmacists Revenue Agent Gantt, who travels throughout the United States, made the statement that Cincinnati is the cleanest city in the United States as far as the abuse of narcotic drugs is concerned. Conclusive evidence that this law has been efficacious is the report made recently by Cincinnati's wholesale drug houses, wherein they state that the sale of narcotic drugs has fallen off ninety per cent. The chief difficulty remaining is with "peddlers" who come from other cities.

Physicians and pharmacists have heartily co-operated with the government in the enforcement of this law. The law has received the enthusiastic support of the Cincinnati Police Department. The number of addicts in Cincinnati has been reduced from over 500 to about 100, and reports and letters from the unfortunates formerly addicted to the use of narcotic drugs, who are either cured or being cured, are frequently received.

POSTOFFICE FIGURES GROW.

The Cincinnati postoffice statistics show a very healthy growth, both of the city proper and of the suburban and outlying districts served. The receipts for postage the past year were $2,993,256.92, an increase over the previous year of $116,738.35.

In the postal savings department 3,149 new accounts have been opened the past twelve months. Over 5,708 of the accounts are now active, with a total credit of $786,604.

Since the postal savings system was established at Cincinnati, September 9th, 1911, local depositors have transferred their savings into two and one-half per cent postal savings bonds to the amount of $314,180. The sum of $56,463.08 interest has been received from depository banks.

The following are the new and old letter carrier delivery stations of the Cincinnati postoffice within the city limits: Station A (Cumminsville), B (Brighton), Bond Hill Station, C (East End), College Hill Station, D (Walnut Hills), E (No. 15-17 East McMillan street), Evanston Station, F (Eighth and State avenue), I (Avondale), L (Westwood), Madisonville Station, N (Eighth and Freeman), O (Hyde Park), Oakley Station, Price Hill Station, S (854 West Liberty street), Saylor Park Station, Burnet Woods Station, V (1342 Vine street), Winton Place Station, Pleasant Ridge Station.

The following letter carrier delivery stations of the Cincinnati postoffice are located outside of the city limits:

Elmwood Place Branch: Serves Elmwood Place and Carthage (Carthage is now in city limits.)

Lockland Branch: Serves Lockland, Reading, Wyoming, Arlington Heights and Hartwell (Hartwell is now in the city limits.)

Mt. Healthy Branch: Serves Mt. Healthy.

Norwood Branch: Serves Norwood.

St. Bernard Branch: Serves St. Bernard.

Cheviot, outside of the corporate limits, is served by the Westwood Station.

During the past year there was a large increase in the number and weight of parcel post packages dispatched from the Cincinnati postoffice. Also an increase in the number of insured and C. O. D. packages dispatched, and in the number of packages received for delivery. Parcels dispatched showing 48.4% increase, insured packages showing 52.7% increase, C. O. D. packages showing 47.6% increase.

Another record, one unheard of in cities the size of Cincinnati, was established by the Cincinnati postoffice last January. John L. Shuff, after serving one year and being a live official during each of the twelve months composing it, resigned to return to the life insurance business, of which he had been a shining light for a score of years. His giving up of a $6,000 per year Federal job created some excitement and many comments all over the country.

Joel C. Clore was appointed Postmaster January 17, 1916.

LABOR.

The new agreement entered into several weeks ago between building contractors and employees is, it is stated by both sides, the best of its kind ever adopted. Under it there will be no more of what are known as jurisdictional strikes. In case of disputes between different branches of organized labor as to which should do any certain work on a building, work will continue while the question is being settled. Formerly all parties to such disputes stopped work pending a settlement of the question.

A feature of the labor question in Cincinnati, as well as the majority of the cities of the country during the past year has been the higher wage and shorter work day accorded common labor. Previous to two years ago a man who had no trade, to use a common expression, got the worst of it; today he is receiving from $2 to $2.50 per day of eight hours, and in some lines of work is demanding still higher wages.

"OLD" CINCINNATI PASSING.

"Old" Cincinnati is passing. The thought and fact are saddening to Cincinnatians old enough to remember the glories of "The Queen City of the West" and of "The Paris of America."

"Over the Rhine" is no more. The lowering of the Vine street bridge following the elimination of the Main street and Sycamore street bridges emphasizes the previous fading away of the old time German gardens.

The St. Nicholas Hotel famous in every civilized land for nearly half a century, made so by the Roths—father and son—and their exceptional catering ability in both things to eat and things to drink, has been torn down and new foundations are being laid for a business building. The Burnet House, erected seventy years ago on the site of Shire's garden, will be torn down within a few months to make way for an immense storage plant. It was for many years Cincinnati's leading hostelry, enjoying a very large patronage, especially from the South. During the war between the states it was headquarters for Generals Grant, Sherman, Logan, Sheridan and other distinguished officers.

SYMPHONY REPEATS TRIUMPHS.

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra repeated and accentuated its success of previous years while on tour. This was particularly the case in eastern cities in which it has finally won recognition. The popular concerts given Sunday afternoons in Music Hall were, as the previous year, greeted with packed houses and altogether thousands were unable to secure seats. The particularly gratifying and pleasing feature of the year was the munificent bequest of Miss M. Cora Dow.

BIG STORM OF 1915.

Cincinnati has never experienced a cyclone or toronado, at least since the establishment nearly half a century ago of the United States Weather Bureau. It did, however, on the evening of July 7th, 1915, at 9:29 p. m., experience the most violent "squall" on record. This statement is made on the authority of W. C. Devereaux, Local Forecaster of the United States Weather Bureau. The "squall," attending a heavy thunder storm, struck the lower portion of the city, and during the next five minutes a maximum velocity of fifty miles per hour was recorded, with an extreme velocity of sixty-two miles during the first minute of this period. The storm came from the west-northwest. In ten minutes there was a fall of ten degrees in temperature, from 76 degrees to 66 degrees. After 9:34 p. m. the wind gradually decreased in velocity.

The rain which had begun at 8:40 p. m. did not amount to enough to measure until after about 9:10 p. m., when it gradually grew heavier, and between 9:24 p. m. and 9:33 p. m. .66 of an inch fell. During the five minutes ending at 9:32 p.m.

.52 of an inch of rain fell. This latter closely approaches the local record for that period of time. After 9:37 p. m. the rain was light, continuing so at midnight, ending shortly after midnight of the 7th-8th.

It is believed that all of the damage to property occurred during the first minute of the squall. While an extreme velocity of sixty-two miles was recorded at the Government Building it is probable that momentary gusts in excess of that velocity occurred. The points in the lower section of the city where loss of life and the greatest property damage occurred, including the overturned steamer "Dick Fulton" in the Ohio River, a distance of about one and one-half miles, lie on a nearly straight line running south-eastward from Eighth and Cutter streets.

At the corner of Eighth and Cutter streets a three-story building was crushed by the roof of the building immediately to the west falling upon it and five deaths resulted. On Sixth street, near Mound, five buildings were demolished, causing the loss of fifteen lives. A number of buildings were destroyed in the vicinity of Second and Main streets, about one mile to the southeast, and, while there was considerable damage between these points it was confined almost entirely to old buildings.

The damage to the newer buildings consisted in broken chimneys, firewalls and windows. The block of buildings on the east side of Main street, between Second and Front, suffered much damage, with the exception of the Lippincott Building, a six-story reinforced concrete structure. This is the only modern structure in this section and practically the only damage it suffered was in the breaking of a few window panes.

The western districts of the city, Delhi, Anderson Ferry, Riverside, Sedamsville and Price Hill, also suffered much damage by the storm. In some instances houses were blown over and many were unroofed. The damage extended over the greater portion of Hamilton county. Great damage was also done to farms, buildings and summer camps up the Little Miami Valley. At Terrace Park, about fifteen miles from Cincinnati, the storm was severe. A train, consisting of nine cars, was partially wrecked. The train was running about thirty miles per hour. A sudden "squall" from the north lifted the first car back of the engine off the rail; the next car was derailed. The rest of the cars remained on the track. This accident occurred close to 9:40 p. m., and resulted in three men being killed and fifteen injured. It is said that the car which was lifted off the track weighed, with its load of horses, about seventy-five tons.

In Cincinnati and vicinity the total loss of life resulting from the storm was forty-four persons, and many were slightly injured. The property damage was estimated at $1,500,000.

WEATHER RECORD.

The weather for the year of 1915 was generally cool and wet during the summer months, and mild, with comparatively light precipitation during the winter months. On the first of May, 1915, the accumulated deficiency in precipitation from January 1st amounted to more than six inches, but the five following months were abnormally wet. The rainfall from May 2nd to September 30th amounted to 24.74 inches, which is the greatest amount on record for a corresponding period since 1879, when 27.93 inches of rain fell. On several days during the summer the rainfall was excessive for short periods of time, but the amounts for 24 hours were not unusually large, the greatest being 2.32 inches in September.

The temperature during the summer months was generally below the normal, and especially so during May, June, the first half of July and August. The average temperature for August was three degrees lower than any other month of August during the past forty-five years, and on the thirty-first the minimum temperature was 43.1 degrees, which is the lowest ever recorded in Cincinnati during that month.

The weather during October was generally pleasant with about seasonable temperature and a normal amount of rainfall. The first killing frost of the season occurred on October 10th, which is about two weeks earlier than the average date for the first killing frost. During November the weather continued generally pleasant, but the temperature was more variable, ranging from 76 degrees on the seventh to 19 degrees on the thirtieth with several periods of mild and cold weather between these dates. December was a comparatively cold month, with a moderate amount of rainfall and snowfall. The streets and sidewalks were covered or partially covered with ice on several days during the month.

STREET DIRECTORY.

THE Street Directory is an alphabetical arrangement of the names of the Streets and Avenues of the city. By the decimal system of numbering houses, one hundred numbers are allotted to each square. On streets running north and south the numbering begins at the Ohio River. The streets running east and west are numbered east and west from Vine street. All other streets not commencing at either of the above points are numbered in accordance with this system. To such of the streets as are of any considerable importance the names and numbers of intersecting streets and avenues are given in the order in which they occur, which enables one to tell between what streets a certain number is. For instance, you have 420 W. 6th street: by reference to the Street Directory, you find 400 at Central Av. and 500 at John street; consequently the place you wish to find is between Central Av. and John.
