Man dies in crash

By Diane Gale staff writer

An 18-year-old Wayne man was decapitated after he led Inkster police on a chase at speeds of more than 110 mph through three communities before the car went airborne and crashed.

The victim was identified by police as Daniel Paul Walker, 18. A companion in the vehicle, 17-yearold Jennifer Ferguson of Westland, was thrown from the car and survived the crash.

THE INCIDENT began at 2:55 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 24, when Inkster police spotted a 1986 black Camaro parked in front of a known crack house, according to Nisah Tahara, Inkster public relations director.

When officers approached the car, the driver sped off. Police checked the license plates and learned it had been stolen from Westland.

Officers began the chase that went through Wayne, Westland, Romulus

At Van Born and Merriman, Ink-Camaro and tried the wave the driver to the shoulder of the road.

Tahara said. However, the driver rammed the police car, sped away and shut off the car lights.

A trash crisis faces Wayne County residents.

Trash disposal has become one of the most volatile problems fac-

Landfills are becoming full. New landfills are politically unpopular Options are sought.

IN THE series on pages 9-12A, Observer reporters examine four major alternatives - incineration, recycling, composting and source reduction Each of these options will force changes in the way we dispose of waste. New burdens will be placed on producer, consumer or both.

Incineration will require the least change, at least from the standpoint of our daily household routine

Waste will still be picked up as it is now, only transported to a trash burning unit instead of directly to a landfill.

By compacting large amounts of waste into incinerated ash, then shipping it to specially designed "ash fills," the process would enable existing landfills to remain active beyond projected phase-out

But major questions linger about the environmental safety of waste-burning, as well as the po-tential air and ground-water pollution posed by the ash once it is

At one point, government leaders considered incineration the single most viable solution.

Westland and Garden City, as members of a regional incineration authority, have a long-standing commitment to trash burning.

But Plymouth and Canton town ships, both still considering waste disposal options, are backing

Recycling, however, is increasingly finding its way into the political mainstream. Compared with incineration, recycling carries far less cost and poses far less environmental risk. As a result, it's far more politically popular.

Livonia recently opened a recycling center, other communities may follow suit. But recycling will require the greatest change in producer and consumer behavior. Producers will be encouraged to store products in recyclable containers. Consumers will be required to separate waste in as many as a half-dozen separate ways before placing it for curb-side pick-up. Meanwhile, skeptics believe de-

Trash hauling, police and fire protection mean higher taxes

staff writer

The tax bills of Canton homeowners will go up an average of 11.8 percent and raise about $2 million more to pay for township government and services in 1990.

Most of the increase will go to pay for increased fire and police protection costs and trash hauling.

The increase was approved on Tuesday on a 5-1 vote by the township board. Treasurer Gerald Brown was the only dissenting vote. Super-visor Tom Yack, clerk Loren Bennett and trustees John Preniczky and Bob Shefferly were in favor. The seat for trustee Hank Whalen, who died Monday, has not been filled.

They're out there with the students, and in some areas, we have some real problems. Fortunately, they involve a small percentage of students."

Collins, 49, supervises five daytime security officers who are responsible for monitoring halls and parking lots, "looking for skippers, looking for narcotics and larcenies, trying to keep a handle on any fights that might be occurring, and assisting administration with discipline as necessary," said Collins. Area student dies in fall from cliff

A Livenia high school student died this weekend from injuries received after falling off a cliff while backpacking out west.

Anthony "T.J." Rigoli had a heart as big as the outdoors he loved. The gentle 18-year-old died Sept. 23, three days after the Livonia resident fell off a 50-foot cliff while hiking in California.

Rigoli and his girlfriend, Patty Bessler of Plymouth, had been backpacking in Davenport Beach, Calif.

Rigoli died Saturday of multiple traumatic injuries according to the Santa Jose medical examiner.

"He was really into nature," said stepsister Kathryn Hesch of Canton Township. "He believed in animal rights. He was the sort of guy who would catch a spider and let it out of the house instead of killing it."

A senior at Livonia Churchill High, Rigoli excelled in art, according to his stepsister. His trip to Cali-

Weekly curb pickups may also be in RAA's future. It is also considering setting up compartmentalized dumpsters near apartments and condominiums for those not involved in curb pickups. Containers may appear in public places such as malls, and yard waste may be collected for use in composting. Picking up and processing mate rial is costly. RAA has 15 full-time employees to do its work, and temporaries are often called upon for nelp. Even more workers may soon be needed as RAA has started servicing nearby communities and because resident support may continue to increase.

In the fiscal year ending in June RAA found 30 percent citizen par ticipation in curb pickups. Possibly because of the realization by residents of the serious landfill prob lem the figure rose to 33-35 per cent the last half of the year.

The money paid for recycling has not yet equaled the cost of recy cling. In the fiscal year recently ending, RAA was paid $175,000 by its buyers. Because this did not covits expenses, RAA was given $225,000 by the city under an operating grant

Cut packaging to keep waste out of landfills

Lots of talk, but no action

Source reduction's goal is simple to remember: Eliminate unnecessary waste, especially that used in product packaging.

But its advocates say source reduction has been America's forgot ten waste reduction option. "It gets a lot of lip service, not a lot of action," said Jeanne Wirka, a policy analyst for Environmental

Landfill gas to power Ford plant

Heat — not stink — from dump By Tom Henderson

There's gold in them thar landfills. Well, maybe not gold, but methane, which can be sold for money or used in innovative ways to produce revenue for operators of landfills.

As trash decomposes, one of the syproducts is methane gas, which, because of various impurities that leak out with it, is the stinky stuff you smell as you drive downwind rom landfills.

Using that gas, or selling it off, is not only good business from a bottom-line point of view, it's good pubic relations from a get-along-withyour-neighbors point of view. If you can eliminate the stink from landfills, you eliminate one of the big arguments against them.

A DRAMATIC methane-recycling plan was announced this summer by Waste Management Inc., which has signed a five-year contract with Ford Motor Co. to sell the two milion cubic feet of methane gas produced daily at the Woodland Meadows landfill at Van Born and I-275 in Canton Township. A mile-long pipeline is under construction between the landfill and Ford's Wayne Plant boilerhouse, where the gas will fuel steam-gener ating boilers for Ford's Michigan Truck and Wayne Assembly plants.

Not only does Waste Management get to sell what had been a source of irritation, but Ford gets to reduce the amount of coal it burns, resulting reduction of 40,000 tons of car bon dioxide emissions and 200 tons of sulfur dioxide emissions into the atmosphere each year.

Perks help sell new county landfills

Space there, but land costly

It's a myth that Wavne County is running out of landfill space. One new landfill was recently ap proved for Canton Township; anoth er new landfill will serve Plymouth and Plymouth Township. And four more landfills are on the drawing board for western Wayne.

But it is true that landfills are becoming increasingly costly. These seeking to protect their "quality of life" landfill operators must offer much more in terms of outside development and bonuses to their communities to get the unpopular sites approved.

Landfills must add expensive bar riers to prevent the site, sound and smell of waste disposal from spilling over into nearby neighborhoods.

Plymouth Township are cases in Wayne Disposal, the Ypsilantibased landfill operator, received approval in April from Canton Township to build a 200-acre landfill at

Ash disposal: A serious problem

staff writer

Ulrich Bauser, director of the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority, passes out a slick, color handout that announces: "Where burning is preserving."

The brochure doesn't mention that ash from the facility flunks state Department of Natural Resources tests for cadmium and lead.

It doesn't mention that the ash is dumped into an unlined facility the authority owns near the Huron River near Flat Rock, nor that water pumped from the ashfill is contaminated with heavy metals and ends up, also untreated, in Lake Erie. The dump is not licensed to accept incinerator ash, and the DNR said it cannot foresee ever licensing the dump. The DNR says the very future of the incinerator, itself, is in jeopardy because the ash is so toxic. Yet, the DNR also admits that because of state law governing bureaucratic procedures, it is powerless to stop the dumping of ash in the Huron marry any time soon. The incinerator burns 470 tons of the Wayne County Health Department: "Incinerator ash has been blown out of proportion as far as I'm concerned, and as far as reality is concerned. . . . The test does not reflect reality out there. There's nowhere near the problem that EPA toxicity tests show. The leachate generated by rainwater is just not that much of a problem out there."

The DNR and environmental activists counter that, despite the level, those metals are in the ash and still present a particular danger to The Huron Quarry site because of the rock structure under it and the fast forward last week toward becoming a d city-like community, and that move generally sounded good to us.

Township trustees unveiled a plan to reorganize township departments and add two jobs, an administrative assistant and an arborist to oversee tree and landscaping issues

But while the move sounds good on the surface, we're curious about the need for an administra-

Canton has grown too much to rely on the old township style of government, and the proposed changes are an acknowledgement that the township needs to deal with development issues.

We find the position of the arborist intriguing. The hiring of one is a recognition that landscaping affects the way residents see their community. Having such a person on the township's staff would help when development plans are disbecause trees, bushes and the proper use of land make stores, housing developments and commercial buildings look less daunting.

The price of a good arborist is worth paying, because he or she would be able to help Canton retain some of its rural character.

However, we have a harder time justifying paying for an administrative assistant. From the sound of the job, it appears to be an assistant ownship supervisor.

The duties of the assistant would be the administration of special projects, grants, personnel, the media and computers. That sounds like a proper role for such an assistant

But other duties were mentioned that sound very political. They include bringing Supervisor Tom Yack up to date on township issues and dealing with public relations.

That makes us wonder if the creation of the position is just employment insurance for Yack. We urge the township board to take a tough look at the creation of such a job. Taxpayers shouldn't be asked to foot the bill to keep any-

We're convinced that smaller class sizes are the best method to improve education, but the school district doesn't seem to be taking the issue as seriously as parents.

Though some eastern states have banded together to press for regional guidelines, the problem is truly national in scope. It is time our president and Congress realized this and took appropriate action.

While source reduction is a national issue. there's plenty that can be done locally to promote the second concept — reuse.

In his role as SEMCOG president, Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack is drafting a model ordinance that would prompt local governments to make greater use of recycled goods. We encourage his efforts. But it shouldn't end with local government.

Businesses also need to make greater use of recycled and recyclable materials. And, if necessary, government needs to legislate that they do so. Recycling won't succeed if markets for recycled goods don't develop.

Even the smallest local business would do well to follow Wayne County's example: county departments recycle their office paper.

As for recycling, there's plenty each of us can do: from taking glass, cardboard and newspapers to area recycling centers to storing yard waste in a compost pile.

ANOTHER SIMPLE exercise to help reduce household waste is to start a compost heap. The leaves have already started to fall, and a simple box constructed of wood pallets can hold food garbage, leaves, grass clippings, coffee grounds, egg shells and other recyclable material that, if started now, can yield yards of composted material for next year's garden or lawn fertilizer.

George and Martha Williston of Redford have taken a small area behind the garage and constructed a small box to begin a compost heap In addition to recycling paper, bottles and cans, which Martha says, "is just like recycling back in the 1940s luring the war," the Willistons have created a mound of compostable materials that help them in growing prize-winning roses, gladiolas and what surely is the biggest harvest we've ever seen in the family's big backyard garden plot.

Identifying birds is tougher in fall

For one thing, birds move around and always seem to move during the time it takes a watcher to raise his/ her binoculars.

Even when spotted through binoculars, birds move quickly out of view. Botanists, on the other hand, do not have to worry about their subjects moving.

In fall, the identification of birds has an added challenge. Birds, like warblers, which were boldly colored in spring, return in the fall with a completely different look. Juveniles and males all look like females.

BOLD, BRIGHT, colorful patterns seen on males in spring are no longer useful for courtship. Male birds with their bright colors and flashy behav-ior fall prey to predators more often than birds with subtle colors. So in fall, when bold colors are not needed, the males molt and look like the more camouflaged female.

Some of the juvenile birds I see coming to the feeders are in a state of transition. They still have some of their juvenile feathers, but adult feathers also are visible.

This can be very confusing to beginning birders. It will not look like anything in the field guides, because no single field guide could possibly incorporate all the possible plumage changes and phases.

DIFFERENT SPECIES of birds have different patterns of molting their feathers. Some replace only body feathers and not their wing feathers during a particular molt. Others replace all their feathers.

No individual feather lasts more than a year because of wear and tear. Birds cannot afford to be inefficient flying machines, so feathers are renewed in order to keep them functioning at top speed.

Whatever the pattern is, the sequence of replacement is gradual so the bird is still able to fly and proIn fall birds, like warblers, which were boldly colored in spring, return in the fall with a completely different look. Bold, bright, colorful patterns seen on males in spring (left) are gone,

The one-time owner of these undergarments is identified in the museum exhibit.

Exhibit reveals much about past

By Louise Okrutsky

They're mentioning the unmentionables in the Plymouth Historical Museum.

Great grandma's drawers and great granddad's union suit are hanging out for all to see through Thanksgiving at the museum, 155 S. Main. The exhibit focuses on undergarments worn in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

"We see Cher telling us to exercise to reshape our body," said Beth Stewart, museum director. Victorians had the same idea but used underpinnings to reshape their bodies along the artificial lines of their clothes.

"The 17th, 18th and 19th centuries were 300 years of women being bound up in torture devices," Stewart said.

Between 1840-70, hoops were the understructure of the then fashionable broad-bottomed, small-bosomed figure. By 1880, the bustle became more exaggerated.

Within 10 years, the bustle was passe, replaced by the Gibson girl's hourglass figure. The Gibson girl's shirtwaist front was achieved with underpinnings that extended the bustline to the waist. "It was an unreal front," Stewart said.

On a typical morning, a middle class or upper middle class Victorian woman would don a chemise, camisole, drawers, three petticoats, a laced corset, bustle and bustle pads. Standing in her underwear alone, the Victorian lady already wore more clothing than women today.

EMBELLISHED WITH lace and crochet work, the garments restricted movement and even limited lung capacity. Such clothing was tailored-made for a society where women's roles were defined by and confined to the home.

"The corsets hurt their lungs," Stewart said. "It cut off their diaphram's capacity. No wonder they had fainting couples."

Protests against the corset by doctors went unheeded. Manufacturers widened their market through advertisements claiming girls should wear corsets, too. "The thought was they had to get used to them," Stewart said.

Staff photos by Bill Bresler

At the same time the Chinese practice of binding a woman's feet appalled Western society, doctors removed the lower ribs of wealthy Victorian women to enhanced their wasp-waist look.

Most of the undergarments of Most of the undergarments of the time were made of fine cotton decorated with needlework and ribbons. "All that was hand done. They had lovely touches such as lace making and embroidery," said Jeanne McDonald, director of exhibits.

On exhibit are a ribbon-trimmed pink cotton chemise and matching drawers once owned by Mrs. John Dodge. "The story is, she was in Jamaica and her clothing was too warm for her so her Jamaican servant made them for her," Stewart said.

Lively look at history

By Louise Okrutsky staff writer

Imagine a history lecture in which the kings of England write love letters to Louie — Louis 15th of France, that is.

It's all part of Sherwin Wine's lively overview of the fortunes of the British empire. The last of the three lectures was held Wednesday, Sept. 27, in St. John's Episcopal Church on Sheldon Road in Plymouth. Wine discussed the British empire of the 19th century.

A rabbi at Birmingham Temple, Wine is also founder of the Center for New Thinking, a forum for new ideas which meets in Somerset Mall, Troy. Lectures, such as the ones he gave in Plymouth are done partly because Wine enjoys public speaking and history.

"I love it. I always wanted a forum that wouldn't be a class," Wine

For the second installment in the Plymouth series, Wine spoke about the events leading up to the American Revolution.

"As a teacher and a philospher, I have a message for people who are not Jews. A good teacher needs variety. It's exciting for me," he said.

"If there's one guiding principle it's to encourage more people to be more rational in terms of their understanding of the world."

A humanist, Wine encourages his audiences to imagine they're own reaction to situations. Noting that the American rebels against England didn't attract overwhelming popular support, Wine ask the audience to consider their position. If Plymouth were a British colony today, how many residents would support rabble rousers intent on overthrowing the government?

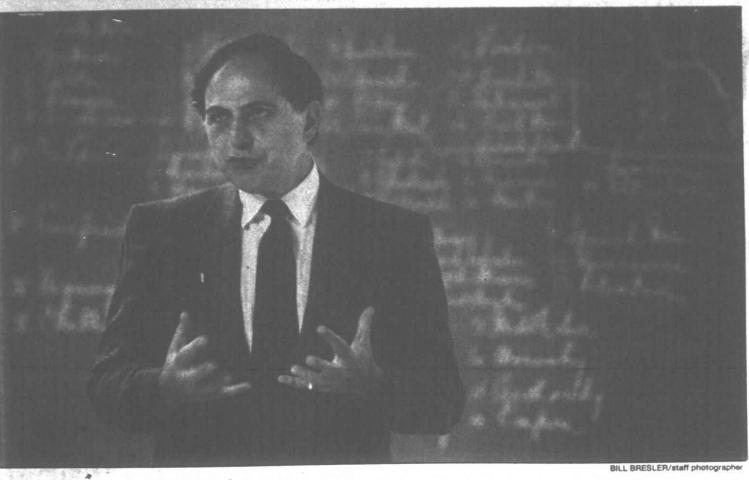

It's almost too easy after a lifetime of American schooling to automatically assume that one would support such a cause.

Humor helps history in Wine's presentations. When discussing the events leading up to the rise of Cromwell in England, Wine snaps quick characterizations into the audience. The reigning Stewart king. Charles I, undermined his own position through his singular lack of diplomacy. "He was very handsome, but very very dumb," Wine said.

AS A CATHOLIC leading a Protestant nation, Charles was already skating on thin ice. He automatically violated the prime rule of British politics of the time. "It's hate the French, love the Protestants," he re-

Charles had his own agenda. "He was determined to do everything to rub salt into their wounds," Wine said. He went on to make the English church more Catholic and be openly sympathetic to France. It was he who wrote "love letters to Louie." He also ran his fortune into the ground trying to run the government out of his own pocket. His one attempt at calling Parliament convinced him that the lords wouldn't support him. By the time Charles called his second Parliament his countrymen sympathized with the Puritan call to make the church more Protestant.

In contrast, Louis 16th in France had a better handle on diplomacy. He pretty much went along with the spirit of his ministers. "He was dumb but he could repair clocks. All they had to say was 'Here, Louis, here's another clock' and he'd leave them alone. There's something about dumb people who know their place,"

FOR MORNING TEA, women wore lacy white cotton combing jackets. "Obviously women who owned things like that were not ypical farm wives," Stewart said. Many of the items on display were considered Sunday best. Everyday items and clothing used by wives of city workers and farmers are rare finds now.

Fine cotton underclothes were replaced by silk in the 1920's. Although the clothing offered more mobility, women's underwear was designed to bind. "They had to get the beads to hang as straight as possible," Stewart said.

But women eventually became 'sick and tired of dressing like this. There was a total change in style in just a few years," she said.

Study finds that stress is common in daily life

FRAZZLED? You're not alone. A University of Michigan study of 166 married couples found that they encountered socalled minor stress - work overloads, arguments with family members or co-workers, financial worries and transportation problems - six out of every 10 days.

The U-M researchers also found that interpersonal conflicts took a much greater toll on well-being than work overloads did.

"Prior research had indicated that only about 12-14 percent of our days were stressful," said Ronald Kessler, professor of sociology and research scientist at the U-M Institute for Social Research. "Most of those adults, however, relied on retrospective reports, so respondents in the samples may have forgotten a great deal."

The U-M researchers asked the respondents, all of whom lived in the metropolitan area, to keep daily stress diaries for six weeks in which they listed stressful events and rated the degree of hostility, anxiety or depression each event created. They reported at least some stress on an average of 62 percent of the days studied, Kessler said.

Kessler and his associates collected data from 12,054 diary days in all. On 11,578 of those days, both the husbands and wives made reports, so that the researchers were able to compare the sexes.

Men in the sample reported a total of 5,537 daily stressful events, more than 5,789 diary days, while women reported 6,101 stressful days over the same period of time.

WORK OVERLOADS at home and on the job were the most common events - nearly 8,140 of the 11,638 stressful events were reported as overloads. Women, however, were more likely to report overloads at home while men reported them at work. Women employed outside the home got a double dose; they felt overloaded in both settings, Kessler

The researchers also found the the daily stressful events generally lasted two or more days.

"A comparison of the diary days and the number of episodes shows some intriguing differences between men and women," Kessler said. "For example, men reported significantly more episodes of financial stress then women, but when the women did encounter financial stress, the episodes lasted more days."

The total number of money worry days reported by women in the sample was 258 compared to 240 for men he said.

WOMEN ARE more likely to feel the stress from the demands of family, friends and the community because, Kessler said, women take responsibility for maintaining social ties between the family and its social world, so they feel those pressures most.

"On the other hand, overloads at home were associated with a decline in negative mood in women," he said. "Apparently, when women are involved in family obligations or work they value, the heavy demands have a positive impact on emotional well-being."

Interpersonal conflicts generated the most stress, but those with employers or neighbors were much more threatening than those with family members. And more than 70 percent of the family conflicts were resolved within one day

"THE STABILITY and intimacy of most family relationships seem to cushion the impact of family fights, so even though the conflicts are serious, they are not as distressing as those at work or in the community, Kessler said.

felt stress from disagreements with their spouses 9 percent of the days.

Conflicts with children were the next most frequent source of interpersonal stress, but men mentioned them only 4.5 percent of the days, while women mentioned them 8 percent of the days. Men, however, were more likely to stay angry with their children for more than a day while women rarely were upset with children longer than that.

"Even though interpersonal conflicts occurred much less frequently than work overloads, they had such an intense emotional effect that they accounted for 80 percent of the mood shifts in the diary," Kessler

The participants reported two or more stressful events on the same day at least 25 percent of the days in the study, but, Kessler said, that after a certain number of stressful events, they hit emotional plateaus and if the stressful events lasted over a period of days, they became habituated to them. The first day of the episode generally was the worst,

President Jerry Wagner and marketing director Steven Zimberg advocate a timing approach to investing through Flexible Plan Investments of

'Timing is everything'

Money advisers proclaim

By Doug Funke

Different people favor different investment strategies.

Some buy stocks or mutual funds and hold on for the long haul. Others periodically buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Some are satisfied to put all their cash in money markets or passbook bank accounts

Jerry Wagner, founder and president of Flexible Plan Investments of Birmingham, advocates a "timing" approach to investing

Wagner moves all of a client's assets between aggressive growth mutual funds or bond mutual funds and money markets depending on economic indicators and momentum of the stock market as determined by a computer program he has developed "Timing is everything. That's our motto," Wagner said. "Those people will do best who move quickly and are flexible. What we try to do with market timing is build in safeguards for the down side.

Wagner's approach works.

WITH A RETURN of 14.4 percent, Flexible was ranked best in its classification (managed assets of less than $20 million) for the August 1987 through July 1988 period by MoniResearch, an independent auditor of market timing investment ad-

Steven Zimberg, Flexible Plan's marketing director who provided that information, said the return resulted after deducting the firm's maximum 2.8 percent management fee, and took into account the October 1987 stock market crash.

Flexible Plan had a cumulative annualized return of 19.4 percent after management fees from January 1981 through last December, Zimberg added.

Wagner, a tax and securities lawyer, launched Flexible Plan and registered as an investment adviser in 1981 when family and friends began coming to him for financial advice.

WAGNER BECAME interested in stocks and investments while he was a student at Michigan State University and the University of Michigan in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

"Nobody was doing anything with investments and computers at that time," he said.

While Wagner keeps the details of the computer program secret, he said economic indicators, including interest rates, account for about 70 percent of the investment decision factors. Market momentum accounts for the rest.

"I try to take the emotional side out of investing," he said. "I computer-tested my methodology by backtesting to the 1970s. We found we have a set of indicators that gets us out of the market during corrections and keep us in during advances."

Flexible Plan uses both load (sales commission) and no-load funds. Wagner said he's partial to such families of funds as Stein Roe, Neuberger Berman and Fidelity.

INVESTORS GIVE Flexible Plan limited power of attorney to move money within a family of funds. The investment company can't withdraw from an individual investor's ac-

Wagner estimated that he new manages some 250 accounts with an aggregate value of $11 million. Most clients have been referred by bro-

"Everybody is good at making money. Most people aren't good at managing money," said Zimberg, a certified financial planner.

Flexible Plan averages three to four investment moves a year, Wagner said. Since getting into the business, assets have been invested in stocks 52 percent of the time, money markets about 48 percent, he added.

This year, money markets were favored until April, growth stock mutuals until August, money markets again until recently, and bond funds since the second week in September.

An expected decline in interest rates and corporate earnings prompted the latest move.

The most common mistake most people make when investing is failing to develop an approach or a philosophy toward saving, Wagner said.

"Even if they have an approach, they don't have the discipline to stay with it," he said. "They'll have one disastrous trade and stop using the

House buyers get

staff writer

The purchase agreement is the most important document in the home-buying transaction.

There are all kinds of financing options now available to buyers.

A Realtor or agent can facilitate a meeting of the minds between buyers and sellers.

Those were some principles offered by speakers during a homebuying seminar sponsored by the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors Tuesday in Livo-

A couple hundred people, most in their 20s and 30s hungry for tips on buying that first house, attended.

"I was looking for general infor-mation," said Dwayne Fletcher of Detroit. "My wife and I are in the mid 20s. The way the industry is now, so many people are involved. We want to make sure we don't get robbed or cheated."

"I WAS interested mainly in the mortgage banker," said Suzanne Scheppler-Majid of Farmington. This was a completely new thing for me."

She and husband, Hassan, hope to be in the market next spring. Patrick Grace of Livonia also said

"I thought financing information was good," he said. "Qualifying for a home and the MSHDA program (Michigan State Housing Development Authority) was interesting."

Edward Stanner Jr., an attorney, recommended that buyers pay $300-400 to have a lawyer represent them in the process.

"If you want to be protected, you should get someone to represent your interests," he said. "An attorney can serve as a kind of balancing

Consider running the purchase agreement by an attorney before submitting it to the seller, Stanners

"IF THERE'S any particular item to be taken care of, spell it out in the offer to purchase," he said. "That's the key to the real estate closing."

James Waters, vice president and regional branch manager at First Federal of Michigan, said buyers should demand good service from a mortgage company from the application process through handling the

"I do suggest you scrutinize a lender just as carefully as it will scrutinize you," he said.

Many different kinds of mortgages with different financial conse es are available.

Waters suggested that young, first-time buyers consider the fairly obscure Michigan Mortgage Credit program offered through MSHDA when financing. The program offers tax credits and deductions.

Buyers, who make their own financing arrangements, can have household income of not more than $28,000 and pay up to $60,000 on an existing house, and household income up to $30,000 and pay not more than $73,500 for a new home.

VERY GENERALLY, the house payment on a fixed rate mortgage shouldn't exceed 28 percent of gross monthly income, with all other debts not exceeding 8 percent, Waters

Jerome Delaney, a Realtor with Weir, Manuel, Snyder & Ranke Inc., reminded participants that they buy a lifestyle when buying a house

"You're not only looking for brick and mortary but an environment, a community, personality and character," he said.

When looking for an agent, ask whether an individual is licensed, what areas he or she actively work, recent references and a buying or selling strategy.

"In a vast majority of situations unless other arrangements are made, agents are working for the seller," Delaney said.

Defray daycare costs

Today, more than half of all mothers with babies less than 1 year old work outside the home That figure has increased significantly since 1976 when only 31 percent of mothers with infants worked. One reason for the increase in working mothers is the average family's desire for additional financial support. But when mom enters the work force to bring in extra income, the family often faces a new financial challenge: paying for child care.

The Michigan Association of CPAs suggests you find out how certain tax rules can help you get back on track if your budget has been thrown off course by child care costs.

As a parent, you can generally claim an additional exemption for each of your dependent children as long as you supply more than onehalf of their annual support. Each exemption is $2,000 for 1989. Translated into dollars and cents, claiming two additional exemptions can save someone in the 28percent tax bracket as much as $1.092 in federal taxes.

Remember that you are not entitled to the exemption if your child has personal gross income of more than $1,950, unless he or she is under age 19 or is enrolled as a full-time student. Next year, you will not be allowed to claim an exemption for any child who is at least 24 years of age unless the child's income is less than the exemption amount.

BUT IF YOU claim an exemption for your child or any other dependent, that person may no longer claim his or her own exemption. Do you pay a baby-sitter for your children while you and your spouse work? If so, you may be entitled to a dependent-care tax credit. To qualify for the credit, you and your spouse must be gainfully employed unless one of you is physically or mentally disabled or is enrolled as a full-time student. Child care expenses also must be for a dependent under age 13 starting in 1989. You should also note that in 1990 you will be required to practically speaking supply the name, address and Social Security number of the person providing the child-care services.

More working moms

How much is the credit worth? Depending on your adjusted gross income (AGI), the credit equals 20 to 30 percent of your qualified child-care expenses. But the amount of allowable expenses is capped at $2,400 for one dependent and at $4,800 for two or more dependents. You should also note that the allowable expenses cannot exceed the earned income of the lower-paid spouse.

Calculating the credit amount is really not as complicated as you may think. To summarize, if your AGI is under $10,000, the credit maximum is $720 for one child and $1,440 for more than one. If your AGI is more than $28,000, the credit maximum is $480 for one dependent and $960 for two or more dependents. If your AGI falls between those two figures, you determine your credit percentage by reducing the 30-percent rate by one percentage point for each $2,000 of adjusted gross income above the $10,000 floor. Fr example, Mary and Tom have an AGI of $24,000. They must therefore reduce the 20-percent credit rate by seven points, making the maximum credit $552 (23 percent of $2,400) for one dependent or $1,104 (23 percent of $4,800) for two or more dependents.

Finally, if you regularly pay a baby-sitter to take care of your children, be sure to withhold the appropriate Social Security taxes. If you don't, the IRS will hold you liable not only for the unpaid tax bill but also for any penalties and interest due.

You may be able to pay for child care with tax-free dollars if your employer offers a dependent-care assistance plan. How do these plans work? First, you provide your employer with an estimate of your annual child-care costs, up to a maximum of $5,000 if you file a point return. Your employer will then withhold this amount from your paycheck in equal portions over the year. The money that the company sets aside is excluded from the federal income tax.

At regular intervals, you will have to inform your employer of your actual child-care costs as well as the name and the Social Security number of the person or organization providing the service. The company will then reimburse you from the untaxed money it has deducted from your regular pay. Be aware that, in most cases, you can no longer take advantage of both the dependent-care tax credit and the employer-sponsored assistance plan if your child-care expenses exceed $5,000. For 1989, you must choose between the two tax breaks.

As a general rule, married couples with lower incomes (a combined AGI of $29,750 or less) and child-care expenses under $3,200 will probably do better with the dependent-care credit. But higherpaid employees may find company assistance plans more beneficial.

Tax rules can take some of the bite out of your child-care bills, but make sure that you have all

Actors 'grow old' for stage roles

staff writer

"Driving Miss Daisy" at the Birmingham Theatre. Rosemary Prinz and Ted Lange each have their own individual ways of becoming their characters.

Prinz, the petite actress who starred for many years in the TV soap opera "As the World Turns," plays the role of Miss Daisy, an elderly Southern, Jewish widow who goes from 72 to 97. "Aging is from the neck," Prinz explained, in a backstage interview one afternoon last week. She moved her neck forward, demonstrating how she uses her body, in the role of the spunky well-to-do, ex-schoolteacher.

"Her neck kind of glides out," she said. Later in the play, "I walk with a cane and I'm stooped." As for Miss Daisy's voice, "It just seems to happen. It does change. It becomes less resonant " Prinz said. Describing the storyline, she said that "Driving Miss Daisy" is about her relationship with her chauffeur. She makes the same journey we all make Fortunately for her it's a growth experience.

THE SHOW OPENED in previews early last week and opening night (last Friday) was still a day away, but Prinz seemed very comfortable with her characterization.

Having been in show business for 42 years, she has played many roles a sweet nature, is enjoying working on stage, as well as on television. She with director Charles Nelson Reilly did 40 stage plays at the same time and costar Ted Lange. Of Reilly, she

Over 40 percent of the people over 64 vears old in this country live alone. By the year 2000 their number will have doubled. Many are poor. Most are widowed. And when they need care, often there's no one to turn to.

Your donation to the United Way Torch Drive supports 153 agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties like the Walter P. Reuther Senior Center and Adult Well-Being Services. Plus, you'll be helping other agencies that feed the Eleven million people in the U.S. have diabetes. But almost half of them don't know it.

Untreated, diabetes can lead to heart disease, kidney disease, blindness and gangrene.

And for 150,000 people each year, it leads to death.

That's why you should be aware of the symptoms of diabetes: blurred vision, excessive thirst and frequent urination are just some of the warning signs. Because the sooner you find out if you have diabetes, the more likely you are to get it under control, before complications set in.

Finding out you have diabetes can be scary. But not finding out can be fatal.

Walled Lake Central's girls basketball team took a step back in time Tuesday. The Vikings committed numerous turnovers and shot poorly, and the result was a 47-25 loss to visiting Plymouth Salem.

"We set basketball back 25 years tonight," said Walled Lake Central coach Ken Butler.

What hurt Central most was its inability to consistently defeat the Rocks' pressure and put the ball in the basket. The Vikings scored only 13 points in the final three quarters

Butler, however, did not think Salem's defensive pressure was the main cause of his team's problems. "It wasn't the pressure, it was the environment for our players.' Offensively, Salem featured a balanced scoring attack as all eight players scored Thomann was pleased with the total team contribution. "We got into a real nice eight-man rotation," he said. "The bench play ers really contributed."

An area where Central needs more team contribution is foul shooting. The Vikings shot only 6-of-22 from the charity stripe.

Salem-Canton game begins to stir interest s it too early to begin thinking about the Salem-Canton football game? Or should that be the Canton-Salem game?

If you're coaches Bob Khoenle and Tom Moshimer and the 80-some players on the two teams, it certainly is. They are confined to playing them one at a time, after all.

But, for us arm-chair quarterbacks who don't have to play a down in the next four weeks, we can let our minds wander ahead to 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 27, and speculate about this year's matchup.

The GAME is still half a season away, but I doubt if there's a football fan in this community who hasn't already thought about it.

For the first time in their history, both teams are undefeated after four games and, barring any upsets this week, should be 5-0. The Walled Lake schools, both 1-3, provide the opposition Friday.

This year's game is sure to be an emotionally charged event as it is since Canton took its first victory over Salem in the season finale a year ago

Now the fact they've started this season with four-game win streaks has people talking about the 1989 meeting being the best ever in the history of the cross-campus rivalry.

The fact Salem's dominance in the series can no longer be an assumed part of the game, the anticipation and interest in this year's clash is already beginning to build. The foundation has been laid for what I believe will be, regardless of what happens between now and then, a classic confrontation

Aside from that ninth game, both teams have their toughest games ahead of them

Salem, which has shut out its last three opponents, will have played the weakest teams in the Lakes Division (Farmington, Livonia Stevenson and Walled Lake Central) before playing North Farmington and Westland John Glenn in back-to-back games to determine the division

Should the Rocks succeed there, they would face Farmington Hills Harrison - rated No. 1 in Class B and apparently every bit as good if not better than the team that won a state championship last year - for the Western Lakes Activities Association title

Canton plays Walled Lake Western and Northville, and it now seems quite possible, if not probable, the Chiefs will achieve a preseason goal of being 6-0 when they meet Harrison on Friday, Oct. 13.

One can only assume Canton would fare little better against Harrison's powerhouse ballclub than anyone else has to date. Nonetheless, it would be a high honor for the Chiefs, who can guarantee their first winning season with a homecoming victory tomorrow night, to play the Hawks with the Western Division title at stake.

But, given that Salem and Canton are unbeaten and each has proved it has a quality team, there exists the possbility it could be the Rocks versus the Chiefs for the WLAA championship on Friday, Oct. 20, at Centennial Educational Park

That would mean Salem and Canton would play each other twice, on back-to-back Fridays. For the crossover games, the schedule can be adjusted to avoid such conflicts but not the league championship is at

Even if neither team wins its respective division, the percentages are such that Canton and Salem could very well go into this year's season finale with 7-1 records.

In my mind, that doesn't diminish the contest nor the interest in the game. I'm certain it won't reduce the anxiety the coaches and players will experience in the week leading up to the game nor the intensity that will be displayed on the field that

But, while we've talked about winning divisional and league titles, more than just pride could be riding on the outcome of this year's game.

For the first time, both teams could still be in the running for a Class A playoff berth on the final weekend. If both are 7-1, it's almost a certainty the winner would qualify.

Since Ann Arbor Pioneer and Ypsilanti have lost one game each and must play each other yet, that increases the likelihood of several 8-1 teams getting into the playoffs.

Indeed, there could be more than bragging rights to play for this year, but then there's a lot of football to be played between now and Friday,

ON ANOTHER gridiron note, this reporter owes a special thank you to three pressbox regulars at CEP -Paul Sincock, the voice on the public address system; Mike Primeau, his spotter, and Geoff Baker, the scoreboard operator.

Yours truly forgot to bring his binoculars to the game Friday night between Canton and Livonia Churchill. And the prescription for glasses that would help me see things at a distance was still sitting on a table

So what kind of a reporting job is that, you ask? A reporter who can't see to report?

Well, it was a darn thorough one if I may say so. You might say the Observer had quadruple coverage for this game. The team (sounds more like a law firm) of Sincock, Primeau and Baker called it and I wrote it.

And that's the way it was: Friday, Sept. 22, 1989.

WE WOULD BE remiss if we failed to mention the Plymouth Salem boys soccer team when discussing unbeaten teams. The Rocks are rated No. 1 in Class

A this week and have been nothing short of spectacular thus far in winning their first eight games, the last seven by shutout. Coach Ken Johnson said last year he thought his team would be ready to challenge for the state title this season. If the Rocks keep going like they are, that lofty ranking will hold up through the post-season tourna-Salem has a lot of quality players and some outstanding ones such as goalkeeper Matt Tudor, who takes a lion's share of the credit for the string of shutouts, and midfielder Jeff Gold, who is an emotional leader on the field as well as the team's top scorer

Invitational victory lifts Canton morale

The Chiefs were eager to atone for their third-place showing in the Schoolcraft Invitational the previous week, and they did so by winning the Gibraltar Carlson Invitational. Sophomore Amy Smith once again led Canton by finishing third out of 59 runners with a 20:04 time. "She's a real competitor and a hungry kid," coach George Przygodski said. "You put her in a race, and she's going to be right there. It's no surprise she's doing as well as she is. "The whole team is hungry," he added. "We were real disappointed after the Schoolcraft race, and we're just doing some things to point ourselves back in the right direction.

ALL FIVE OF the girls who scored for Canton were among the top 20 runners. Adrienne Garrow was 10th (21:45), Missy Jasnowski 13th (22:00), Kim Rice 16th (22:07) and Anne Dibble 18th (22:12). Canton's contingent included Lori Penland in 21st place (22:17) and Carolyn Way in 27th (22:52). "All of our girls ran real well," Przygodski said. "It was a very windy and cold day. Considering the conditions, I was real happy with the way

"(Smith) ran an outstanding race. She got nipped for second place by about a second, and she was right in there for first." Following the Chiefs in the team standings were Brighton (80), Woodhaven (86), Monroe (91), Temperance Bedford (112), Wyandotte (141), Belleville (165) and Lincoln Park (278). Wayne and Carlson didn't

"It was satisfying to go up against teams we generally don't see," Przygodski said. "That's the charm of going down there - to see how we stack up against those teams."

In the junior varsity race, Canton captured the Nos. 1-7 places with Kim Gudeth finishing first in 21:51.

Runner-up Rocks view results as team success

When all seven of your runners earn medals in a cross country invitational, it has to be considered a successful venture. That's the way Plymouth Salem boys coach Geoff Baker viewed the outcome of the Gibraltar Carlson Invitational in which the Rocks finished second Saturday to defending state champ Monroe. The top 35 runners received medals, and every Salem runner finished 32nd or better. The victorious Trojans captured the Nos 1, 5, 7, 10 and 13 places to beat Salem by a 36-53 margin. The Rocks were led by Brendon Masterson, who finished second behind Monroe's Mike Heath in 16:44 on the 5,000-meter course. John Thomas was eighth (17:06), Dave Hamway 11th (17:30), Brian Uryga 15th (17:48) and Mike Patterson 17th (17:52). In addition, Salem's Todd Cimo was 18th (17:54) and Samir Bhavsar 32nd (18:19).

"BRENDON WAS 20 yards behind the lead runner with 500 yards to go," Baker said. "Toward the end, he put on a kick but couldn't catch him. He ran another great race. He's working hard and wants to beat the guys who've beaten him early. Masterson also shadowed Farmington's Ben Goba in a dual meet last week but was second after making a strong bid to catch his opponent.

Monroe and Salem were followed by Wyandotte (116), Temperance Bedford (119) and Belleville (138). Wayne was 10th (270) in the 13-team meet. The Rocks run against Livonia Stevenson at 4 p.m. today at Cass Benton Park. Salem's boys and girls teams are in the Ann Arbor Pioneer Invitational

Is the Redford Catholic Central soccer team still reeling from its first defeat? On Friday, Warren DeLaSalle came to Schoolcraft College and dumped the No. 1-ranked Sham-

Dominic Scicluna scored twice an assisted on another goal for the victors. Kerry Zavagnin added one goal and two assists. Bill Tarnacki and Brendan Sullivan also scored for CC. Jim Bernthal added a pair of assists. Sweeper Jason Ries played well defensively according to CC coach John Boots.

"The DeLaSalle game brought our heads back down to where we should be," said the first-year coach. "We were dominated in both areas. We got beat to every ball. They buried us. They played like a team that wanted to win. They're a good team because they beat (Birmingham) Brother Rice the next day (Saturday), 2-1."

Two of DeLaSalle's goals came on restarts, the other on a penalty kick. Dale Baginski, Chris Fett, Jeff Fratarcangeri and John Wegrzynowicz scored goals for the

The Chiefs are taking the same approach, but it's clear the football team's success has helped lift school spirits at Canton.

A year ago, Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team was busily practicing and preparing for the anticipated end-of-the-season trip to New Jersey, and the chance to defend its NJCAA championship.

Then came the startling news: SC was not going. The Lady Ocelots had been beaten, without even getting as far as the tournament. A longignored rule was invoked; there would be no defense no title, no trip, no chance.

As the word spread among team members, it was met with disbelief. "It was depressing." said Kellie Davis, the sweeper from Livonia Churchill. You get your hopes worked up, you work for this all year long, and then you find out you don't even get a chance to win it or lose it."

briefly speaking

POULET EXHIBIT

Etchings and poetry of Livonia artist Jeanne Poulet are on exhibit at the Swords into Plowshares Peace Center & Gallery, Entitled "Man's Inhumanity to Man," the exhibit is from Poulet's set of poems and prints, "Bernard with a Suesse (pacifier)." She will read her poetry and discuss her art 5-8 p.m. Friday. Poulet designed her own process of etching consisting of dots and scratches (as opposed to lines) that become a composite. She recently has moved from black and white to color etching, used in the current

The exhibit closes Oct. 7. The gallery is at 45 E. Adams, Detroit, next to the Detroit Council of the Arts

PLATE ARTIST TO VISIT

Sandra Kuck, recently awarded "artist of the year" for the sixth consecutive year at the International Plate and Collectible Show, will make a guest appearance at Georgia's Gift Gallery, 575 Forest Avenue, Plymouth from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 30. She will autograph her creations. There is no admission charge. For more information, call 453-7733.

TIVOLI FAIR

The Northville Historical Society will hold its annual Tivoli Fair, a juried arts and crafts show, on Friday, Sept. 29 and Saturday, Sept. 30. Hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. Admission is $2 with $1 for children under six. Proceeds from the fair are used for the restoration of Mill Race Village, Northville's historic village, where the fair is held. Over 100 exhibitors will be in attendance.

BHOSLE CONCERT

A farewell concert will be held at 7:30 p m. Saturday in the Masonic Temple auditorium, Detroit, by Asha Bhosle, Indian pop singer and film personality. She will be ac-companied by Suresh Wadkar and Hari-haran and the West End Dancers of London. Tickets are available through Ticketmaster outlets. For more information, call 474-

DART EXHIBITION

Over 100 works, spanning his 35-year art career, will be featured in the exhibition by Gawaine Dart, retired Henry Ford Community College art instructor, in Sisson Gallery, at the community college in Dearborn through Friday, Oct. 6.

Many of Dart's works have been completed in the past four years since his retire-ment from HFCC's art department where he taught for 27 years. He now has a pottery studio along with his wife, Jane, at their home in Canton Township.

PALETTE GUILD EXHIBIT

An art exhibition of watercolors, oil paintings and other media will be held in the Livonia City Hall lobby through Friday, Sept. 29. The exhibit is open during normal City Hall business hours.

NATURE ARTISTS

Wild Wings Gallery in Plymouth will host appearances by nature artists Neal Anderson and Cathy McClung from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 5. Anderson is the 1989 federal duck stamp winner.

Wild Wings is at 975 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

BOUNTIES OF AUTUMN

Matthaei Botanical Garden docents will lead a trail walk emphasizing the bounties of nature at 2 p.m. Sunday in the gardens, 1800 Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor. The walk will last approximately 11/2 hours. Meet at the front steps of the main building. Dress for weather. Waterproof footwear is recom-

ART FAIR

The Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans will hold its third annual autumn art fair from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 14, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 15, at Domino's Farms, Ann Arbor.

Interior designer is Friends' guest Kay Isola, area interior designer, will be guest speaker at the meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. of the Friends of the Livonia Public Library in Civic Center Library.

Isola will discuss "A New View of Interior Design," including hints on how to update a home inexpensively by using items already owned. She will also share new ideas being previewed at the Michigan Design Center in Troy.

Isola attended Michigan State University. She has worked in retail and consultation areas of design as well as owning her own business. She has been president of the Michigan and the National Interior Design Association. She teaches design classes in Farmington, Bloomfield and Troy and does walk-through consultations.

The public is invited to the meeting. Civic Center Library is on Five Mile Road, east of the city hall.

Israeli pianist opens Plymouth season

International pianist Rina Dokshinsky will be the guest artist in the opening concert of the 1989-90 season of the Plymouth Symphony at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 6 in Plymouth-Salem High School auditorium.

Winner of several prestigious award for her brilliant performances, she will perform the Beethoven Third Piano Concerto, a composition for piano and orchestra in three contrasting movements. It offers the soloist the opportunity to display skill as well as musical sensitivity.

Dokshinsky, 23-year-old Israeli pianist, was presented in her New York recital debut s winner of the 1987 Young Concert Artists International Auditions. Under Young Concert Artists' aegis, Dokshinsky has performed in numerous recitals and chamber music appear-

She began piano studies at the age of 5 in Israel with Ilona Vinzse. At age 13, she performed as soloist with the Israel Philharmonic and Zubin Mehta.

In 1982 she came to the United States to study with Russell Sherman at the New England Conservatory. In 1985 Dokshinsky won the New England Conservatory Concerto competition

THE PROGRAM WILL open with a short, lively overture by the 19th century composer Hector Berlioz. To conclude, the orchestra will perform music from the "Firebird" by Igor Stravinsky.

Other highlights of the 89-90 concert season will feature Tapni Yrjola, Finnish violinist, appearing Nov. 10; the 'Nutcracker Ballet" created by the Ann Arbor Ballet Theater on Dec. 15 and 16; a Pied Piper fantasy Feb. 23; a St. Patrick's Day cabaret pops in March; and a symphonic dance program in April.

An afterglow will be after the Dokshinsky concert in the Radisson Hotel, formerly the Plymouth Hilton, with music, hors d'oeuvres, desserts and holiday fashions.

The price is $10. Reservations are required by mailing our money to Margaret Smith, 12600 Beacon Hill Court, Plymouth.

A meet-the-artist coffee for Dokshinsky will be 3-4:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 5, at Evola Music Center, 215 Ann Arbor Road. The performance is sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League. Admission is $3 for adults and $1 for

Leaf identification program is offered

If leaves have you stumped, help is available. Every year the fall season brings the assignment of leaf collections for many classes and Scouting groups. The University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens docents program is offering help with identification of already collected leaves, 2-4 p.m. Sundays, Oct, 1 and Oct. 8.

To facilitate the process, students are asked to attempt to identify their leaves before coming to the Gardens and to indicate what they think the leaf is.

Notes with the following information are also helpful: type of plant (tree or shrub or vine); age of plant (young or mature); arrangement of leaves on twig; type of leaf (simple or compound); color or characteristics of the bark; characteristics of fruit, if present; characteristics of the buds; and habitat (where the plant is growing).

TREE IDENTIFICATION guidebooks and pressed, identified leaves will be available for comparison and use while at the Gardens. Students should be aware that many of the trees and shrubs found in residential areas are horticultural varieties or exotic species, which are not easily identified with the commonly available guides to trees and shrubs. The Matthaei Botanical Gardens is at 1800 North Dixboro Road. Ann Arbor, one-half mile south of the Plymouth Road

Home is where the heart and investment are

By Doug Funke

Home acquisition followed courtship, marriage and pregnancy a generation ago because it was part of the American Dream.

Lifestyle - having a detached dwelling of your own with a lawn and maybe a garden - was the primary motivation for buying a house It was the thing to do

More recent buyers have a slightly different focus.

Singles, DINKS (double income, no kids) and even couples with children now search for housing with one eye on tax deductions and value appreciation and the other eye on lifestyle. Some experts are hoisting warning flags about looking at home ownership strictly as an investment. They say large annual jumps in housing values the past few years taxes rise faster than income, some buyers who jumped on the bandwagon late, bought high and are mortgaged up to their eyeballs may begin to feel a financial pinch.

More and more players can't get into the game as housing prices rise.

reduces the pool of potential pur chasers even more and at several levels along the buying spectrum. A shrinking demand with a large sup-important.

Given all of that, is owning a home advice with qualifications.

I still tell people that a home is the way they should probably proceed," said Tony Vadino, a certified financial planner and partner with Sigma Financial in Ann Arbor.

Home ownership is a good step in a family's financial planning," he "It's the only purchase you can make with borrowed money and get a tax break on.'

But then Vadino added the caveat. Buy what you can afford now.

'In a lot of cases, financial planners have to say, 'Step back and realize it took your parents 40 years to get where they are now,' " he said. Do you want to have a monstrous house, no furniture and not do anything for 10 years?"

K.C. MUELLER, owner/broker of K.C. Colonial Real Estate in Plymouth, said home ownership always will be a good investment - unless Congress further erodes tax benefits.

'You almost can't afford not to ouv) with the present tax structure," she said.

Mueller also warned buyers about getting in over their heads and suggested that some property owners in her primary sales area, Plymouth and Northville, are starting to develop an overinflated opinion of the value of their homes.

Thomas Hogan, a planner and president of Spectrum Financial Corp. in Livonia, offers another reason for home ownership as an invest-

"It appreciates in value, most of the time, faster than other investments," he said. "As we have more two-income families and they defer children . . . investment aspect of a home becomes more important.

"They want to make sure buying a house is a good investment since they put so much into it," Hogan said.

JOHN PFISTER, vice president and manager of market research for Chicago Title and Trust Co., mentioned the other side of the coin tossed by Hogan.

'Certainly it (a house) is not at risk like other investments," he said. 'It's not going to move like the stock

"If you're going to have one investment, make it a house," Pfister

But a house is a good investment only as long as it appreciates faster than the inflation rate, he added.

The June edition of Money Magazine calculated a negative inflation adjusted return on home ownership in all of metropolitan Detroit from the first quarter of 1988 to the first quarter of '89.

The magazine also projects a negative return for the similar '89-90 period in Detroit - only one of three metro areas in the country expected to have a negative return for that 'You're assuming lifestyle means nothing. I don't see people making that decision. I think people vote first with their hearts.

> — Tony Vadino Financial planner

WILLIAM MACK, vice president of Pearl & Mack Advisory Corp. of Farmington Hills, won't claim that housing is a great investment.

We can invest elsewhere and get a higher rate of return than housing (appreciation) over the last nine years and have better liquidity," he That doesn't mean that Mack turns up his nose at home ownership. People, who have to live somewhere, don't buy a house strictly as an investment, he maintained A preference for a lifestyle possihome buyers. Vadino concurs. 'You're assuming lifestyle means nothing, that you're going to go either way (buy or rent) based on economics. I don't see people making that decision. I think people vote first with their hearts," he said. BROKER MUELLER said she finds that lifestyle is more important than investment potential for 60 percent of her first-time buyers. Lifestyle is also rated as more important by the vast majority of those who buy up, she said. Still, Hogan says he sees more and more people looking at the investment potential in a house But when push comes to shove, it doesn't really matter, Vadino said. Value of a home is basically a number on an individual's balance sheet.

"How many people ever use equity in a house except to buy another house? Not many and I don't think they should," Vadino said. "You're always going to need a place to Karl and Connie Gansler II, he a manufacturers representative, she a secretary, recently moved from a house in Plymouth to Gansler's dream home on Oxbow Lake in White Lake Township.

Fred and Cindy Jones (not their real names) live in an apartment in Farmington Hills while saving for a starter home in Oakland County He's a journalist, she's a clerk.

They all maintain that lifestyle rather than investment potential attracted them to home ownership. But the younger the buyer, the more investment potential seems to become a factor.

THE JONESES - he 30, she 27 hope to be in a position to buy next year, Fred said. They've saved nearly $8,000 from wages since getting married nearly two years ago.

"We probably could buy a house in Garden City now," Jones said.

"I think that's taking too much of chance where the market is and where we want to go. Appreciation is questionable. We could be farther behind if we buy a starter home in an area that's leveled off."

The Joneses both grew up in Oakland County and want to live fairly close to the Jewish community in metro Detroit. They have targeted Novi as a possible city for house hunting. "We want kids, we want a dog, we want a back yard," Jones said. Approximately 80 percent of the decision to buy reflects the desire to experience a lifestyle, he said.

We're looking at areas we think will appreciate so in 10 to 12 years, when we're ready to move beyond a starter home, we'll get some help," Jones said. "This is where the investment comes in.

treasured assets: your home and personal belongings. Besides covering loss or physical damage to property, homeowner's policies protect against liability for another person's injury or for damage to another's property. But the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, based in Farmington Hills, warns that not all policies are equal. There are seven basic forms of homeowner's insurance, each varying in the number of perils covered: basic (HO-1), broad (HO-2), special (HO-3), renter's (HO-4), comprehensive (HO-5), condominium (HO-6) and older home (HO-8).

A basic policy generally protects against physical damage to property resulting from fire or lightning, windstorm or hail, explosion, riot, aircraft and vehicles, smoke, vandalism and malicious mischief, theft and glass breakage. Broad coverage adds protection against damage caused by an ice storm or frozen plumbing systems for homeowners in cold climates. Owners of property in a flood plain should explore policies offering protection against flooding as they are not covered by homeowner's insurance.

Most insurers require that a home be covered for at least 80 percent of its replacement cost — that is, the amount you would have to spend in order to rebuild the house in the current marketplace. Remember that 80 percent figure represents the minimum for standard coverage. If you are ever unfortunate enough to suffer a total loss of property, you may regret not insuring your home for full value. If your house burns to the ground you can only be reimbursed up to the face value of your policy. If you're insured for $100,000 and rebuilding your home costs $120,000 you will have to pay the difference.

As a general rule, the contents of your house are insured for no more than 50 percent of the coverage on your home. If your personal possessions are lost or damaged, actual cash-value policies reimburse for the current replacement cost minus depreciation. For example, if a rolltop desk you bought for $1,200 four years ago is destroyed by fire, the actual cash value may now be considerably less than its original purchase price even if it's in perfect condition. If the insurance company only paid the depreciated value, you could not replace the desk at current market prices. As a remedy, many insurance companies now offer policies that allow for the replacement of lost or damaged property, within certain limits.

If you have expensive items such as silver or furs, note that the possessions are covered to a limited extent. To insure a special item against loss or theft, whether in your home or away, you need a "floater" policy. The insurance company will probably require proof of the item's value, such as a sales receipt or an independent appraisal.

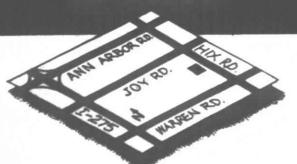

As a safeguard, prepare a detailed inventory of your personal ssessions from coffee mugs to furs. In case of loss or damage, this list can be invaluable in substantiating your claim.

List all of the contents of your home, room by room, include a brief description, the date of purchase and the purchase price. Supplement your written inventory with a photographic record of your home's interior and your possessions. Pay particular attention to jewelry, furs and electronics. Keep your household es in a fireproof container or in a safe deposit box. All standard homeowner's policies include liability insurance. The standard limit for liability coverage is usually $100,000. But in today's world of escalating damage awards in personal injury suits, many homeowners opt for additional liability coverage in the form of an umbrella policy. This policy supplements your automotive and homeowner's insurance, covering any claim that exceeds the limits of your policies, or results from a charge of slander or libel. Since excess liability insurance picks up where your other policies end, insurers require you to first have a prescribed amount of homeowners and automobile insurance. CPAs caution homeowners to note a provision in the Tax Reform Act of 1986 that affects personal casualty losses where an insurance policy provides reimbursement for loss. If you sustain a loss that is covered by your policy and, for some reason, you decide not to file a claim, you may not deduct the amount of the casualty loss that your insurance policy would have reimbursed. But you may deduct uninsured casualty of theft loss but only to the extent that th loss exceeds 10 percent of your adjusted gross income. In addition the first $100 of each casualty loss is not deductible

Renting vs. buying: a cash flow anaylsis

Do homeowners actually make out substantially better than renters on a cash flow basis given deductions for ownership on federal income tax

Let's examine a strictly hypotheti-

It's hypothetical - and flawed in the sense that only deductions for mortgage interest, real estate property taxes and state income taxes will be considered in this exercise. Keep in mind, too, that every situation is different and exact compari-

Assume a 30-year mortgage at 10/ 2 percent — a ballpark average for the metro area through the first eight months of this year projected y Steve Conaway, president of Residential Mortgage Consultants of Northville.

Assume a joint tax filing with four exemptions and an income of $46,000 - the average per household They had a place on Wolverine indicated on Michigan tax returns Lake, but roads weren't then like last year, according to the state

GIVEN THOSE conditions, and assuming no deductions other than nortgage interest, property taxes and state income taxes, the homeowner would have a federal tax liability for the year of about $4,159 us-

Family B rents a two-bedroom apartment for $664 per month - an average for the Citation Club in Farmington Hills, Hampton Court in Westland, Carriage Cove in Canton and Whethersfield in Birmingham. The renter with four exemptions

The homeowner paid $8,688 in principal, interest and taxes to live in the house for a year more in disposable income for the gage. The renter, presumably, can pleases in other ways. Financial Daily Income money market fund has averaged about 8.7

percent through the first eight months of this year. The renter would garner about $1.368 in interest income over a year assuming that rate and a simple interest calculation. That additional interest would boost the renter's federal income tax by some $378 to $5,814.

Now let's look at the bottom line. The homeowner's federal tax liaility is about $4,159. The renter's federal tax liability is about $5,814. That difference is $1,655. But the renter had an additional $1,368 in disposable income through interest.

The final result - the homeowner has a better cash flow by $287 for

The cash-flow difference in this hypothetical case is less than 1 percent of adjusted gross income. Granted, capital appreciation can make a big difference over time in The renter paid $7,968 to lease favor of the homeowner's balance That means the renter had $720 sheet. And every case is different. But maybe preference in lifestyle should count just as much as economics in the decision to rent or buy in the short haul.

Number of mortgage lenders spurs rate tracking business

If necessity is the mother of invention, then dissatisfaction may be the mother of entrepreneur-

In 1983, Steve Conaway was a real estate agent for ERA First Federal Realty in Livonia, finding himself making dead-end phone calls to mortgage lenders, trying to get mortgage rate information

Today he publishes that same information for lenders, real estate agents, CPAs and the public in the form of the Weekly Mortgage Reporter for his company, Residential Mortgage Consultants. 'I had identified an area that was a fairly big problem, at least for me," Conaway said from his home office in Northville's Highland Lakes subdivision. "There were a lot of programs out there that could help people get into a home but few knew about them. And I felt a responsibility as an agent to help my clients find a mortgage.

"I spent many hours on the phone getting ahold of people who didn't know what I was talking about and weren't very well versed in mortgages even though they worked for a mortgage compa ny. It was costing me a lot of time. I knew if I could help my client, it was going to make a more solid transaction, which was to everyone's bene-

With a partner, he started a service listing the his real estate sales. When his partner took another job offer, Conaway left real estate as an agent to concentrate on running the business by himself. He now covers 81 of about 100 lenders in the tri-county area, listing mortgage rates, points and a weekly average trend. In addition to selling the service to professionals in the mortgage and real estate fields, he also sells a six- and 13-week subscription to the public. Lenders are charged to list their mortgage rates, which are updated each Monday. Observer & Eccentric also caries the permits. This week's listing is on Page 5.

REASONS BEHIND Conaway's frustration in tracking down mortgate rates as a real estate agent helped him carve a niche for his business.

"Six or seven years ago, you really didn't have to shop for a mortgage - everybody's rate was the same. Now there's at least 100 lenders and there's a wide variance of as much as a 1-percent spread among lenders from week to week. Conaway also blames the advent of points for muddying the mortgage waters. A point is 1 percent of the mortgage amount that is due at closing. For the sake of simplicity, Conaway lumps charges such as origination and discount fees into the points category for his listing.

"Two points is the normal rate. Anytime it's more, you're paying for a buydown (reduction in interest rate), which is maybe something you Conaway's rule of thumb is: On a 30-year fixed rate mortgage, it takes six points to buy down 1 full percent. On a 15-year fixed rate, it takes four points to come down a full percentage. But he cautions that the complexity of points and other fees is something that potential buyers

"It behooves anyone who's shopping to compare rates carefully. They can save anywhere from a few hundred dollars at closing in points to thousands of dollars over the life of the mortgage."

FIXED-RATE mortgages get the nod from Conaway over adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs).
"If you were talk to a bank, they'd say the adjustable rate is very popular. But I'm in disagreement with ARMs. There are a couple of instances when it's a good program. One is if you're going to be in the house two years or less. Then even in the worse-case scenario, it would average out to less mortgage rates of 30-35 lenders while continuing than today's interest rate for a fixed-rate mort-

"The second is for young couples or others who can't qualify at fixed rates. But in general, fixed rates are a better program because ARMs can go p as much as 6 percent. Although Conaway has been tracking the mortgage scene for six years, he has been unable to devise a formula for predicting the rise and fall of

"I would say it's totally unpredictable. You listing, rotating the local lenders carried as space can't even take it from month to month. There's no rhyme or reason because there are so many factors involved. It can be anything from (Federal Reserve chairman Alan) Greenspan's speeches saying he's going to tight credit, to the rate of Treasury Bills to the bond market. Inflation is also a key factor. If the CPI (Consumer Price Index) goes up, it sends mortgage rates up. "But it's very hard to predict, and I stay as far

Zinger credits Ralph Lauren for bringing mixed patterns and sophisticated color into the bedroom and bath

And further, as Zinger and others observed. "There is an overall trend toward opulence, more embellished windows, larger-scaled accessories, and a broader acceptance of different styles from the dignified Country French to the whimsical Eurostyles

DESPITE THE enormous proteration in color lines, the marketing cycle makes itself known through a change in emphasis from the rose and mauve shades that dominated the 1980s, into the warm and coral reds Various shades of greens, but particularly dark green, called hunter is prevailing. They preview the much greater acceptance of dark, fully saturated colors across the board

Undoubtedly, Hudson's will nelp accelerate this acceptance by featuring dark colors in some of their model rooms, coming up later in the season.

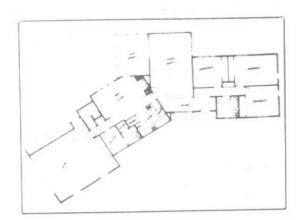

There is some indication of the re-emergence of golds and vellows, said David Mulkiten, regional manager of Stark Carpet.

HEN advertising executive Marcie Brogan wants to retreat from the hectic pace of her job, she doesn't have to go far. She merely makes a beeline for home - and in particular to the serenity of her living room

Created by Englander's designer Barbara Guzman, the living room reflects eclectic design strategies and preferences. The look is contemporary, although antique and Egyptian style furnishings accent the room.

The area is softly colored in shades of pale pink, forest green and off-white, establishing the serenity and sophistication Brogan wanted to contrast with her busy work life as president of Brogan Kabot Advertising Con-
