Suspect in McKnight murders refuses polygraph

The list of potential suspects in the McKnight murders has been narrowed down to one, according to Lincoln County Sheriff's Deputy Charles Cox. Cox said the single suspect was arrived at by a process of elimination, with all other suspects accounted for at the estimated time of the murders November 15 of Thomas "Cotton" McKnight and his wife, Judy, at their secluded ranch near Picacho. The chief deputy would not release the identity of the suspect, though he said the person was an acquaintance but not a relative of the McKnights. Cox reported that the suspect had earlier agreed to take a polygraph test, but later reneged on that promise after consulting with an attorney.

Cox said the Sheriff's Office is not declaring the suspect as the murderer. "I'm not saying he's the one, but that we have not been able to completely eliminate him," Cox said. Other evidence in the case may be forthcoming, Cox said. Ballistics tests on several weapons recovered from acquaintances and relatives of the McKnights have not been returned yet. A new laser technique that may identify fingerprints and fibers found at the scene of the crime also will be pursued, Cox said. "We're trying to come up with some kind of physical evidence," he said. "It's a long shot, but it's worth a try."

Moving a mountain

Earthwork under way for Grindstone road

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Two giant, rumbling bulldozers are moving huge chunks of earth down the sides of Grindstone Canyon, preparing the way for the new Grindstone Canyon roadway that will serve the Grindstone Canyon dam.

"They're literally moving a mountain," Village of Ruidoso assistant manager Frank Potter said of the two dozers working on the roadway project.

One of the bulldozers has been relocated to the Grindstone location from the village sanitary landfill site. The other, a monster 100,000-pound bulldozer, was rented by the village from Rust Tractor for $15,500 for a 30-day period.

Operating the dirt-working machines Thursday were Ralph Barber and Roy LaMay. According to Barber, the dozers are cutting away the north hillside of the canyon, creating a surface that eventually will connect the present stretch of Grindstone Canyon Road with Carrizo Creek Road.

Bringing the roadway down to the level of Carrizo Creek Road is the challenge of the job.

Barber estimated that about 90 percent of the road cut is through rock. Prior to the bulldozer work in the canyon, a considerable amount of dynamite blasting is necessary to break up the rocks.

"This is a rocky job!" LaMay described the situation over the roar of the Rust Tractor bulldozer as it crunched over cracked chunks of solid rock.

Also currently under way in the dam project is the intake structure from the Rio Ruidoso. Crews are working in the Martin Road area of the Upper Canyon, constructing the device that will lead water from the river to the dam site.

Scheduled to go out to bid in February is work on clearing the future site of the Grindstone reservoir, along with actual construction of the dam. Potter said logging of the trees there and construction of the dam will be done under contract to an outside company, but may have to be delayed until the spring due to accessibility problems.

Recent heavy snows and the ensuing melting have resulted in very muddy conditions.

"That could be a tough cookie," Potter said of working in the area before spring.

Potter predicted actual work on the dam itself will progress fairly rapidly, but delays have already put the overall project a year behind schedule. One cause of the delay, according to Potter, were water protests lodged against the dam by downstream users.

Another culprit stalling the overall Grindstone project is a continuing weather problem. According to village manager Jim Hine, work on most phases of the project has been delayed due to precipitation problems.

"We are suffering delays of completion due to the adverse weather conditions," Hine reported.

Channel repair needed below Mescalero dam

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Vast erosion below Lake Mescalero dam has prompted Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) officials to initiate repair efforts on the Carrizo Creek channel.

According to Larry Schmidt, acting BIA superintendent, recent flooding in the area has resulted in tremendous soil loss in the creek channel immediately below the dam spillway. Also, a cut-off check structure was lost in the washout during the flooding. Schmidt stressed that in no way is the dam itself nor the spillway threatened. He said the water level in the lake has been reduced to a manageable level after the flooding, and that it will continue to be drained to help prevent further excess overflow.

He noted that at the height of the December flooding, water a foot and a half deep was flowing over the spillway into the Carrizo Creek drainage.

"There is no immediate danger that we're aware of," he said. Schmidt noted that eight massive caissons support the spillway structure, making any failure there highly unlikely.

After a meeting Friday afternoon with BIA engineers, Schmidt said at least $19,000 has been guaranteed through BIA sources for repair of the eroded areas. Schmidt said that in some parts of the creek channel, a ditch 70 to 80 feet wide and as much as 18 feet deep was left by the rushing waters of the creek last week.

Repair will come in the way of "gabion baskets," designed to be fastened to waterway channels to retard erosion. Schmidt explained that the woven wire baskets will be filled with rocks and will be connected together, so that the series of baskets will act as a rigid waterway wall.

Schmidt said the gabion baskets will help to reduce further erosion and will cut down fill work needed in the future to completely repair the damaged creek channel. He said work on the baskets will commence as soon as possible.

Current work on the channel includes clearing of debris that has accumulated below the dam, Schmidt reported.

Sales tax revenue drop prompts caution

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

A slowdown in business in Ruidoso during October and November is beginning to show up at village hall, prompting village manager Jim Hine to direct all department heads to curtail capital improvement projects until later in the fiscal year.

Hine reported that low gross receipts tax collections in the village during those months are resulting in less tax revenue being returned to village government this month than was expected.

"We are experiencing somewhat of a slowdown in the economy," he commented.

Hine noted, however, that gross receipts taxes are only slightly lower than those collected last year. Revenue is actually down just $1,300 in the first six months of the fiscal year. But the collections have not reached the growth that had been projected.

The manager said he currently was preparing a comparison of the first six months of both the 1983 and 1984 fiscal years. Hine explained that gross receipts taxes that were collected in October are only now being returned to the village after completing the journey through state government and back.

Root of the problem this year, Hine said, is that the revenue did not grow 1.5 percent as projected. Hine reported that when the slowdown became apparent, measures were taken to reduce village expenditures.

December business, though, appears to be very healthy, Hine indicated. He maintains a barometer of the current financial situation in the village through contact with Ruidoso merchants and banks.

Although the December barometer looks good, Hine said the effects will not be felt by village government until February.

One cause of the slowdown this fall may have been adverse weather conditions. Poor weather often results in poor business in the community.

"We're just like a farmer," he said, "we've got to have ideal weather conditions."

Business people report rosy holidays

by L.J. GRUSHKA
News Staff Writer

Local business people, including merchants, lodgers and real estate agents, generally agreed during a random survey that Christmas business was slow getting here, but finally arrived.

"December has been slow, but since three days before Christmas we've been very busy," said Jane Deyo of The Aspen Tree. She said the authors of her two best selling books, Shiri Brunell and Mary Lou Smith, both visited the store. Brunell wrote "I Hear Bluebirds," and Smith wrote "Grandmother's Adobe Doll House."

The Attic was a bit slow until just before Christmas Day, said manager Martha Thomas. She said Christmas Eve was the store's busiest time to date. Favorite items this year were Swatch watches and their accessories.

The owner of The Wild Snail, Budgie Green, said his business has been outstanding this Christmas.

"We started a little slower than last year, but now ... the business is very good," Green said. He said the Mexican national trade has been strong, noting, "We've seen much more than last year."

Kathy Belcher of The Rocking Horse called her business on the day after Christmas, "Crazy! Just crazy!" She also thought there were more Mexican nationals than last year.

"I anticipate it to be a good winter ... as long as the snow keeps falling, the people keep coming," Belcher said.

Johnston Jewelers experienced plenty of Christmas cheer, according to owner Dennis Johnston. "We were three times what we did any other year," he said.

Johnston said nugget jewelry and custom-made rings were popular items. He added that because of custom orders, the weeks before the holiday were busy ones for a jeweler.

Ted Bennett, owner of Bennett's Shur-Sav grocery, said about a third of his Christmas business comes from vacationing Mexican citizens.

"This has been a very busy week ... and should remain so until after New Year's," said Bennett. He noted that popular items with vacationers have been smoked salmon, fresh pate and caviar.

Another popular spot this Christmas season has been Ruidoso Skateland, said manager Carol Pearch. She said business had been a bit slow, then picked up before Christmas. Skating sessions, both afternoon and evening, have been averaging around 200 persons, Pearch said.

"I think this will hold up until about the seventh (of January) ... skiers and entire families come in and skate," she said.

Pearch pointed out that Ruidoso Skateland also has enjoyed increased visits from Mexican nationals. She said about 20 percent of business at the rink has been Mexican.

Many lodgers are displaying no-vacancy signs, and most reported full booking through the holiday week.

Betsy Jones, manager of Swiss Chalet Inn, said business was "very good, maybe a little better than last year ... we picked up after we got the snow."

Jones added that Mexican trade has been very heavy, running about 75 percent of total business, although she had not been able to calculate exact figures.

The Inn of the Mountain Gods is 100 percent booked between Christmas and New Year's Day, according to assistant general manager Steve Talley.

"Mexican business seems to be going up around town ... it picked up last year, but this year it's definitely better," Talley said.

He added the inn has employees in every department who speak Spanish, in order to accommodate people from south of the border.

Bill Rawlins of Ruidoso Lodge said he has been 100 percent full, "except for one cabin one night."

Rawlins said the Texas trade has been strong this year. "One nice thing about a cabin, the guests enjoy themselves even if they don't ski," he said.

Mountain Ski Shop has been doing excellent business, said owner Myra Taylor. She said clothing made with Gortex and stretch pants were good-selling items this year.

May 15 opening set for Sierra Mall complex

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

A fully enclosed, 21-shop mall is being built in Ruidoso by C. S. D. Incorporated, and is scheduled to open for business May 15, 1985, according to C. S. D. developer Odell Spurlin.

Spurlin outlined plans for the Sierra Mall, situated near the new Safeway on Mechem Drive. The mall will feature 21 shops, some of which will be major retailers. The mall will have indoor landscaping, a waterfall and benches, Spurlin said.

The developer said over 50 percent of the shop space already has been committed, and plans remain on target. The mall will be served by some 500 parking spaces and will have extended hours—from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Spurlin said it is hoped that the mall will fill a gap in Ruidoso shopping that currently is being filled by malls in Alamogordo, Roswell, Las Cruces and El Paso. He said Ruidoso is now losing many dollars to those other areas simply because that kind of shopping is not available here.

"We're basically trying to catch the people that are here 12 months out of the year," he noted.

The longer hours of operation of the mall will also fill a gap in Ruidoso, Spurlin predicted, giving racetrack-goers and skiers a place to shop after a day of activity.

Another attraction of the mall are the adjacent larger businesses. Currently in operation are the Ruidoso True Value Hardware store, Ruidoso

State Bank offices, Safeway and Revco.

Opening sometime in late February or early March will be a Sprouse Reitz store between the mall and the hardware store. Just opened Friday is the Sierra Sinema, an indoor theater that currently features two attractions, "The Terminator" and "Flamingo Kid."

The mall will feature several ladies' ready-to-wear shops, a bed and bath shop, gift stores, a video rental and sales store, a bookstore, a tape and record store, shoe stores, jewelry stores and men's clothing stores.

Also situated in the mall will be a pub-style restaurant. Planned for the space between the bank and the hardware store will be a full-service and fast-food restaurant.

Spurlin said local merchants are being encouraged to open up shop in the mall, and are given first preference for space. The developer said only if too few local merchants sign up will the space be offered to out-of-town businesses.

"We feel that we've got enough good local merchants," he said.

In addition to the Sierra Mall, C. S. D. is working on a shopping center along Highway 70. Planned for that center will be a Wal Mart store and a Safeway store.

Spurlin said the Wal Mart store, originally slated to be 34,000 square feet, was bumped to 51,000 square feet when Wal Mart company executives became impressed by the economic activity in the Ruidoso area.

Pioneer expands north on Mechem

by L.J. GRUSHKA
News Business Writer

"The reason we built a new bank? We just didn't have enough room!" explained Pioneer Savings and Trust Ruidoso manager Grant Gist.

Since November, Gist and 12 employees have been housed comfortably in their custom-designed building on Highway 37. The well-designed floor plan affords relaxing, open-spaced views to almost all employee stations.

Gist said the architects, Robert Morris and Associates of Santa Monica, California, handled details from construction to interior design.

"They sent in a construction manager and he was responsible for sub-contracting individual companies," said Gist. He noted that the California-based firm specializes in designing financial institutions.

Gist said the building cost approximately one million dollars, "and that includes design, building, furniture, fixtures and landscaping."

"I really enjoy working in this building. I like the layout ... There isn't a lot of wasted space," Gist said. The floor plan was designed for expansion.

Gist, who is assistant vice-president of the organization, began his banking career with Pioneer in Ruidoso. After his 1978 graduation from New Mexico State University in business management, he began working here as a real estate appraiser. After a stint in El Paso with the Pioneer Mortgage Company, Gist returned to Ruidoso to manage Pioneer Savings on Sudderth.

"Pioneer on Sudderth will remain a savings bank ... and we've moved the lending division out here," he said.

"As we broke into commercial lending we felt like we really needed a physical proximity to our customers ... We felt like the majority of the new commercial activity was coming out on Highway 37," Gist said.

Teller stations are proving extremely useful, Gist said. Each is a separate work unit, providing greater convenience for employees. An automatic teller machine is working and available to all customers.

The earth-tone decorated building is stocked full of original artwork, most of which has a Western motif. Gist said the pieces were collected from the seven other Pioneer Savings and Trust offices around the state.

Of course, there are a few building quirks still to be worked out, he noted. Judging from the cozy smiles that are abundant among the workers, however, conditions in their "new bank" are wonderful.

This majestic looking building is every bit as tasteful on the inside as the out. Business hours are from 9 to 4, Monday through Friday, drive-in open until 6 on Fridays. Automatic Teller Machine on duty 24 hours every day.

Pioneer Savings and Trust Ruidoso with the results of the new branch, located manager Grant Gist is especially pleased at 1095 Mechem.

Safeway

New Mexico Safeway Stores have set a month-long Special Olympics promotion scheduled to kick-off December 20 which could result in hundreds of dollars coming back to the local Special Olympics from a variety of national grocery manufacturers, according to Jim Hutton, a spokesperson for Safeway Stores in New Mexico.

Between December 20 and January 20, 1985, grocery manufacturers including Folgers Coffee, Tide, Citrus-Hill Orange Juice and Pampers will be donating ten cents to the Special Olympics for each product coupon used at area Safeway stores. According to Hutton, the manufacturers will return eight-five percent of the money to the New Mexico Special Olympics organization.

Local Safeway stores will receive display boards and coupons around the first of January, said Ruidoso manager Karl Franzer.

"I think locally we will respond well to the Special Olympics drive," he said. "We have been helping this organization for years here, and now the division is getting involved," added Franzer.

Phone Co.

Continental Telephone of the West will complete the consolidation of business office functions with Show Low, Arizona, by February 25, said manager of telephone services John Van Tussenbroek.

Van Tussenbroek said the system consolidation should have no impact on service in Ruidoso. He said the new procedures will necessitate a person using a direct line to Show Low offices to order new service.

Repair service will be dispatched from Show Low, said Van Tussenbroek. He noted that cashiers will still be located in Ruidoso, but five employees have been relocated to the Show Low office.

"As for the impact on local customers, I see no drastic changes. It should be a lot more workable. We've implemented this system in other areas and it seems to work well," Van Tussenbroek said.

He noted that local installation and repair service personnel will not be affected.

Smith named to second team all-state, Easter, Williamson honorable mention

Ruidoso High School senior Mike Smith has been named to the Associated Press AAA-division football all-state second team as a wide receiver.

Warrior juniors Russell Easter and Michael Williamson joined Smith on the honor list as honorable mention selections. Easter made the team as a quarterback and Williamson was picked as a running back.

Ruidoso finished the season with an 8-3-1 record, taking second in District 3-AAA and making the state playoff semi-finals before losing to champion Artesia 21-6.

Smith, who is also a standout tennis player, caught passes for over 800 yards in 12 games as a split end. He also scored seven touchdowns on pass receptions and had several two-point conversion receptions.

He caught three touchdown passes in a 39-22 loss to Silver City, the District 3-AAA champion.

Easter, like Smith an all-district first team selection, was an outstanding passer and runner. He was injured in the second half of the Silver City contest and missed the playoffs.

However, Easter still ran for eight touchdowns and threw six touchdown passes in five and one half games.

Williamson, a second-team all-district pick, was the Warriors' leading scorer with 18 touchdowns. He scored all four touchdowns in Ruidoso's 31-14 victory over Deming which cinched a playoff berth. The speedy junior also rushed for over 1,100 yards.

State champion Artesia led the selections with seven players on the first team and three on the second team.

St. Pius, which lost a close decision to Artesia in the playoff quarter-finals, had four players named to the first team.

Portales had three players on the first squad and two named to the second team, while Silver City had one player selected to the first team (running back Tim Perez) and six picked on the second squad.

Warriors lose three times, will host Socorro Saturday

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

Despite losing three games in a Lovington round-robin event over the weekend, there were some bright spots for the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team.

The Warriors lost a close 54-46 decision to Aztec Saturday night after losing to Lovington and Artesia earlier. Friday night Ruidoso fell to the hosts 94-50. Saturday morning the Warriors dropped a 62-44 game to Artesia.

Ruidoso's Tracy Gann and Dion Lopez were named to the all-tournament squad. Lovington won the competition with a 3-0 record.

Ruidoso, now 0-6 on the season, played its best game against Aztec.

The Warriors trailed by eight points at halftime but came back to take a lead early in the fourth quarter. However, Aztec came back to take the victory.

"That was probably our best game," said Warrior head coach Gene Segura of the Aztec contest. "We took the lead in the final quarter, but then we sort of relaxed and they came back with a little surge to take the lead."

Segura was disappointed with the team's effort against Artesia. "We came out Saturday morning and the kids were flat," he said.

Against Lovington, the Warriors stayed fairly close in the first half, but the powerful Wildcats pulled away in the second half.

Lopez and Patric Pearson both shot well for the Warriors against Lovington, each scoring in double figures.

"They're just an outstanding team," said Segura of the hosts. "I can see why some people think they're the top team in the state in our division (AAA)."

"They do everything well. They shoot, have quickness and have size. They have two or three guys around 6-4, 6-5."

Despite the three losses, Segura was pleased with the play of junior Russell Easter. Easter had missed the first three games of the season due to a broken collarbone suffered during football season.

"He did a real good job on the boards for us," Segura remarked. "I'm pleased with his effort. I think he played well enough to earn a starting spot."

Now the Warriors will prepare for next Saturday's game with visiting Socorro. The junior varsity contest will begin at 5:30 p.m. with the varsity game to follow.

Ruidoso's junior varsity is 0-3 on the campaign. However, the junior Warriors almost beat Portales in their second game, losing a 30-28 decision.

"We're going to practice Monday (today), Wednesday, Thursday and Friday," Segura said. "The thing we have to work on the most is playing more consistently. We can't play up and down."

Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce executive director Tommy Morel plans to be glued to his television set Tuesday evening, watching Louisiana State University (LSU) play the University of Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

"Oh, definitely," the former LSU player said when asked whether he was going to watch the game. "I wouldn't miss it."

Morel was the Tigers' most valuable player as a split end-flanker in 1968, his senior season. He played on two winning Tiger bowl teams before playing one season with the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League.

In Morel's junior season, LSU defeated Wyoming in the Sugar Bowl. The next year the Tigers knocked off Florida State University in the first-ever Peach Bowl.

Morel thinks this year's Sugar Bowl contest will be a close one, but he gives a slight advantage to the Cornhuskers.

"I'd say Nebraska might win 30-24," he said. "Both teams can score a lot of points."

"LSU could win. They always seem to get up for and do well in bowl games. They've got some good running backs."

The Tigers already have shown this season that they can beat good teams. They rolled over the University of Southern California (USC) 23-3 in Los Angeles.

But, on the other hand, LSU has lost to some good teams with lesser records than it has—a loss to Notre Dame being an example.

"I went down to see that game," Morel said. "Notre Dame just ran through them."

"I also think the game will be close, close enough not to disagree with Morel's predicted score."

In the other "major" bowl games Tuesday, look for Boston College to defeat the University of Houston 24-17 in the Cotton Bowl. USC will continue the Pac-10's hold over the Big-10 by upsetting Ohio State University 21-20 in the Rose Bowl.

The University of Miami will nip the University of California at Los Angeles 28-24 in the Fiesta Bowl; and the University of Oklahoma will edge the University of Washington 24-21 in the Orange Bowl.

In bowl games tonight, Purdue University will top the University of Virginia 21-14 in the Peach Bowl. Texas Christian University will defeat West Virginia University 28-20 in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Tracy Gann of the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team puts up a shot during a recent Warrior practice. Gann, a 6-3 senior who is also on the football and track teams, has been nominated for the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado. He made all-district honorable mention in football as a defensive back and competes in several events during the track season.

Ruidoso High School three-sport athlete Tracy Gann has been running and jumping in a Warrior blue and gold uniform for four years.

Soon, he may be traveling at a much greater speed over greater distances in a pilot's uniform.

Gann, a senior, has been nominated by United States Congressman Joe Skeen for the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Tracy is still undecided about whether to take the appointment if he passes all his tests. He is still awaiting word on a physical he took at Holloman Air Force Base recently, but he has passed all the other tests.

"I don't know when they'll give me the results," he said of the physical exam. "I'm still undecided. I may decide to attend a state college and play sports. I don't know."

Gann turned in a resume to a committee selected by Skeen. The committee then judged the applicants from Skeen's district on the basis of academic achievement, sports and other activities. Skeen then selected Gann from the list.

"They stressed math and English a lot," Gann said. "Math is probably the most important."

Why did Gann apply for the Air Force Academy instead of the United States Military Academy (West Point) or the United States Naval Academy?

"It's closer to home and I've always liked to fly," Gann answered.

If Gann does attend the Air Force Academy, he will be obligated to a five-year stint as an officer in the Air Force after graduation. The same applies for West Point and United States Naval Academy graduates.

If Gann attends the academy, he may compete in sports.

"If I can keep my grades up, I might," he remarked.

The 6-3 Warrior athlete made All-District 3-AAA honorable mention as a defensive back in football this past season. He was a big reason why the Warriors were hard to pass against during their 8-3-1 season.

Tracy is also a starter on the Ruidoso basketball team, and he competes in several events on the Warrior track team.

Gann participates in the 400 meters, high jump and long jump, and runs on relay teams. Next spring Gann probably will compete on four relay teams: the 400-meter, 800-meter, sprint medley and 1,600-meter quartets.

His best event may be the 400 meters, where he has a best of 53.0 and finished third in the district meet last spring. He also took fifth in the long jump at the district meet.

"I don't really have a preference for any of the three sports," Gann said. "I like them all."

But if Gann decides to attend the Air Force Academy, flying supersonic jets 60,000 feet up may take precedence over sports.

The Ruidoso High School varsity wrestling team will resume action Monday, January 7, against the visiting Roswell Coyotes.

The Warrior wrestlers got a late start on the season because many matmen were on the football team. Ruidoso is 0-2 in dual matches, having lost to AAAA-division powers Santa Fe and Carlsbad. Junior 167-pound James Herrera has been the most successful wrestler so far, taking a second place in the Los Lunas Tournament and winning matches against Santa Fe and Carlsbad.

A junior varsity tournament scheduled for this Saturday has been cancelled. The next junior varsity match will be Saturday, January 12, at Deming.

Hoop meeting scheduled

There will be an organizational meeting for the Ruidoso Men's Recreational Winter Basketball League at 6 p.m. Saturday, January 5, at Ruidoso Middle School.

1984 retrospective

Smokey Stamp Day saw visiting dignitaries honor famous bear

by SHARON MAKOKIAN
News Capitan Bureau

In one day it will be 1985. It's hard to believe that the year of 1984 is almost over (thank goodness it did not live up to Orwell's famous book).

It seems like just yesterday that I started covering Capitan and Lincoln County. But in reality, it was August 1. Luckily, I got here in time to be part of most of the year's big events.

My first event was Old Lincoln Days. I remember how charmed I was by the town and the friendly people. Everyone was dressed in old-time costumes celebrating the historic nature of the town.

Although rainy weather thwarted some of the rehearsals for the Billy the Kid Pageant, the show came through unscathed and provided an enjoyable entertainment. Pageant planners were pleased with the entire weekend.

The second week of August brought my second big event—an event that was one of the biggest happenings for the little town of Capitan. On August 13, Capitan celebrated the 40th birthday of its most famous native—Smokey Bear.

To commemorate the celebrated bear, the United States Postal Service created a Smokey stamp. The stamp had its first-day issue in Capitan, drawing stamp collectors from all over the state and the nation.

Representatives from many branches of the United States government came to Capitan to honor Smokey. New Mexico Senator Pete Domenici and Congressman Joe Skeen were in town to greet the bear.

I was thrilled to be part of such an historical day in Capitan. On that day, I learned that Smokey was more than a fictional creature.

A real baby cub was found in a Capitan Mountains forest fire many years ago. This bear was named Smokey in honor of the national fire prevention advertisement campaign. His message is still used today: "Only you can prevent forest fires."

The summer activities did not end with Smokey days. Right around the corner (August 14-17) came the Lincoln County Fair.

The County Fair provided a world of new experiences for this city-bred reporter. I'll never forget the way County 4-H Agent Rick Richardson laughed at me when I said the pigs were cute. (What did I know—the closest I'd been to pigs were at Christmas ham dinners.)

The County Fair contained a variety of exhibits and events. Children showed their 4-H projects and adults displayed their arts, crafts and cooking.

In October, the tiny town of San Patricio (near Hondo) was honored by a pilgrimage for the saint for which the town is named. Many local residents were on hand to greet a busload of pilgrims from Albuquerque. The journey was led by Brother Mathias, a 90-year-old monk who founded shelters for the needy.

Many other events occurred this year that were significant to Capitan and the county.

Capitan acknowledged its growth as more than a "bedroom community" for Ruidoso. This year, Capitan started its own Chamber of Commerce and planning and zoning advisory committee. The Ruidoso News acknowledged that growth by opening the Capitan Bureau.

Capitan is also on its way to having a new water treatment plant and possibly a new well. Grant funds will make these projects possible.

It wouldn't be fair to print only the good news items in this year-end wrap-up. Capitan did face some serious problems when child molestation was alleged to have occurred on a school bus. However, the police have never gotten any hard evidence to substantiate the case.

A tragic incident occurred in November when former county commissioner Cotton McKnight and his wife were shot to death in their Picacho home.

County Sheriff Tom Sullivan said that his department is still working on both cases. The department will have some ballistics test results relating to the murder case after January 1.

Fort Stanton has become a controversial area in 1984. Although some state officials had talked of closing the facilities for the developmentally disabled, Governor Tony Anaya came to the hospital in October to assure employees that it would not close during his term.

The Fort Stanton Mesa also was a subject of debate—as the site for a possible new airport. Planners are still awaiting environmental impact reports. Right now, the airport situation is still up in the air.

The county survived another election year and will swear in the newly elected officials Wednesday. County residents saw a close race between Ken Nosker, Ralph Dunlap and write-in candidate Pat Ward for county commissioner of District One. Nosker beat Dunlap by a narrow margin.

Heavy summer rains and early winter storms also made the news.

this year. Although I grew up on the east coast, my past six years in southern California spoiled me. It was quite an experience to have to shovel snow and ice off my car.

Yes, 1984 was quite a year. I wonder what 1985 will bring.

On August 13, Capitan received many distinguished visitors, including United States Senator Pete Domenici, United States Representative Joe Skeen and Smokey Bear. The festivities were held to celebrate Smokey's 40th birthday and the issue of the commemorative stamp that featured the well-known bear.

Capitan resident Louise LaFue presented Smokey with a cake for his 40th birthday.

This former Californian had a lot to adjust to as the new Capitan Range reporter. She is shown here trying to find her little car under the recent layers of snow.

Many people participated in the 1984 County Fair, held at the fairgrounds in Capitan.

Commissioners set meeting for Wednesday

The Lincoln County Board of County Commissioners will hold its first meeting of the new year at 1 p.m. Wednesday, January 2, at the County Courthouse in Carrizozo. The agenda will include:

- Election of a chairman.
- Commissioners' meeting dates.
- Resolution 73-19, official holiday calendar for Lincoln County.
- 1985 committee appointments.
- Final plat approval, Pine Point Estates subdivision, Gavilan South Industrial subdivision and Twin Spruce Trailer Park.
- Approval of replat of lot 16, block 3, of High Sierra Estates subdivision.
- Request by Sheriff Tom Sullivan.

The Hondo Fiesta Dancers performed for more than 100 visitors during the pilgrimage to San Patricio in October.

Old Lincoln Days were once again a success, enjoyed by people from all over the county. Shown here is a scene from the Billy the Kid Pageant.

Opinion

Editorial

On behalf of various entities in and around the village, we offer the following New Year's resolutions:

- Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce. To assert itself, with the cooperation and participation of all its members, as a unified, dynamic organization doing great things under a new executive director.
- Ruidoso Village Council. To continue to seek new ways to meet the demand for village services, and to implement improvements that are waiting to go on line.
- Sierra Blanca Airport Commission. To carry on the fight, to make it a goal that a new airport be approved before there is another fatal airplane crash, not because there is another fatal airplane crash.

Happy New Year.—TP

On the Village Beat with Tim Palmer

Inside the Capitol by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Hey! Who can be against campaign reform? Everybody's for it—right?

Well, no. Not exactly everybody. And among those who oppose it most are many of the kind of successful politicians who get themselves elected under the laws we now have. Most of them are not at all anxious to change—and they are the very ones who must vote for or against a reformation.

It's possible for them to be converted. Some of them who have not been notable in support for change till now may surprise us with how suddenly they shift position.

Take Governor Toney Anaya. Nobody had him pegged as a great proponent of tougher campaign laws during his first two years in office. During that time, he certainly didn't give any support to Attorney General Paul Bardacke's efforts to get the laws on campaign financing tightened up.

And poor old Paul could have used all the support he could get. During that period, he was truly a voice crying in the wilderness. Almost nobody was with him.

Bardacke got so frustrated from trying to carry the crusade all alone that he gave way to an ill-timed burst of temper during the last legislative session that did neither him nor his cause any good at all.

It must be a surprise to him to find that Toney Anaya has suddenly mounted his white horse and is now leading the way to a complete reformation of all the state's laws governing political campaigns. And how does the Governor explain that sudden interest? He tells a reporter, "I've always been concerned about the way campaigns are financed in this country."

Isn't it strange that that concern never manifested itself until accusations of misuse of political power to raise campaign funds were made about people very close to the Governor himself?

That makes us shake our heads in consternation as we hear Governor Anaya now assuring us, with no apparent embarrassment, that he intends to take steps "that if adopted, will do more than anything else to restore public confidence in the process of financing individual candidates' campaigns."

What's especially startling, in light of his total abstention from any help to the Bardacke bills of the past, is his sudden conviction "that all contributions and expenditures should be reported, regardless of when they are received or expended." He has been complete in making such reports on his own campaign funding in the past, but he has never before been seen as wishing to hold others to that same standard.

It's understandable that the Governor, feeling about Bardacke as he does at the moment, would want to come up with legislation which would go far beyond anything the AG has ever asked for.

The Anaya plan, for instance, at least as he talked it to one of the reporters for Associated Press, will prohibit contributions from anyone doing business with the state. It goes even further. It says you can't contribute to political campaigns if you have done any business with the state at any time in the previous two years. And there's more.

Anaya's staff is even studying whether they can forbid lobbyists to contribute to campaigns. That's a knock at Republicans, who are having a big affair to which only lobbyists have been invited—at considerable cost per ticket, of course. And apparently to get at Bardacke, for whom he now has what could well be a life-long enmity, Anaya has ordered a study of how to keep attorneys from contributing to those who wish to run for judge or attorney general.

All in all, the Governor is aiming for what he calls "the most sophisticated campaign reform program in the country."

In our Governor, we do not have a man for halfway measures. He is an all-or-nothing sort, as we have all known for some time. When he goes, he goes for broke.

Would it be disloyal to ask ourselves if we were likely to have heard this kind of talk out of him if those indictments for going too far in trying to raise campaign funds had not been handed down?

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

Much Ado About Nothing
Ruidoso is a mountainous resort whose main industry is tourism.

Each winter we look forward to snow—lots of it, hoping it will snow early—heavy and on into late Spring. Sometimes we have lots of snow—sometimes not.

In 1981—in downtown Ruidoso—we had no snow; 26 inches in 1982; only 6 inches in 1983; and 23 inches thus far in December for 1984. So when we get snow we should be very happy to do our utmost to promote this fact.

Sometimes—not often—we experience a heavy snowfall immediately followed by heavier than usual rainfall. When this happens we have a snow melt. The streams, carrying the runoff, suddenly rise, a bridge or two washes out and some homes built in the low watershed area experience some water damage.

When a runoff such as this occurs, the reporting agencies—radio, TV and the newspapers—go to work reporting "destruction and devastation" in the Ruidoso area.

Immediately our lodging industry is affected through cancellations of lodging reservations. The side effects are felt by our merchants and everyone else depending on the tourists. Local, statewide, and often, national exposure of our "Disaster in Ruidoso" has an effect on tourists who decide not to come to Ruidoso.

Our attitude towards heavy snowfalls and a melt which happens about three or four times every 10 years should therefore be more positive than negative. We don't need reporters from Albuquerque on the scene taking pictures of the Paradise Canyon bridge being washed out again. Why can't they use the same pictures they took when the same bridge washed out previously? The Paradise Canyon bridge being washed out has little or no effect on tourists who wish to come to Ruidoso. Within a day or so this bridge is in operation—at least until the next heavy snow melt.

We are too quick to promote our snow melts as "disastrous". Instead we should be sure that our potential visitors are informed that this does not affect their planning to visit Ruidoso; that all roads to Ruidoso are open; that only small areas of the City are affected; and that the problems are only temporary and in a day or so we will be back to normal.

When it snows more than usual our schools often close. I am sure that schools in the North recognize that it will snow, sometimes in double digit figures, and they will be prepared to meet the situation which is felt as being "normal" rather than an "emergency".

Mr. Ken Green's editorial, decrying the publicity we receive on heavy snows and rains as being self defeating, is well put and to the point. Let's welcome the two bounties of nature which are so important to our survival—RAIN AND SNOW.

Happy New Year
J.A. "AL" JUNGE

Clipped Comment

National defense and U.S. taxpayers are all losers when any branch of the armed forces concerns deficiencies in new weapons systems. The costs are measured in billions of dollars.

The Army failed to disclose tests revealing critical deficiencies in its controversial $4.5 billion "supergun". While national defense and U.S. taxpayers are harmed by such deficiencies, it is the soldiers in the field who stand to lose the most if a weapons system fails to perform its assigned tasks.

Care Center is seeking volunteers

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Country music filled the halls at the Ruidoso Care Center when I stopped by the other day.

Nobody was dancing. Jan Prince, the center's social director until just before Christmas, wasn't there to greet me. Prince and her dogs, who added a much-needed touch of home to the institution, won't be around anymore.

The position she filled, one of two in Social Services, has been cut.

"It was strictly a budgetary decision," said Social Services Director Rick Glenn. Beverly Enterprises headquarters in Fort Smith, Arkansas, decided to reduce the department size based strictly on the number of residents in the facility.

Glenn, who has worked primarily as an administrator, coordinating various agencies' areas of responsibility to and for residents, will now take on the added responsibilities of the other position.

Club members and individuals who have visited the Care Center know that Prince was the person who coordinated the volunteer program, the adopt-a-grandparent plan and any community or club-sponsored celebrations for residents.

Beyond her job description, she was the one who had a smile, a hug and always a cheerful word for each resident. Her large, friendly and very well-behaved dogs (she brought them to the center one at a time, although she has two) had become a fixture in the activities area.

Most of the center's 53 residents called the dogs by name, petted them and let them in and out the back door.

"The greatest loss is to the residents," Glenn said of the loss of Prince's position.

"I have to focus on the positive ... I live my life that way," he said. He then explained that volunteers are even more important now.

Having someone care for them as persons is vital to the self-esteem and feeling of self-worth of Care Center residents. Glenn said that employees aren't able to provide all of that, although they do try.

He explained that some residents have no family, or their family members are far away and unable to visit often. Those people really need some contact with people other than staff care-providers.

"It's real easy to be a volunteer here," he said. "It's a real flexible setup." He doesn't limit volunteer involvement to set times or hours.

He said he would work with any individual, family or organization who wanted to volunteer.

"There are many, many ways to enrich the lives of these residents," Glenn said.

Although the national "Pet-a-pet" project isn't an official part of this Care Center's program, Glenn said that does not mean visitors cannot bring well-behaved animals to visit residents.

"Anyone that comes in can bring a pet," he said. Pets have drawn national attention as an aid to relaxing patients in some institutions.

"Just call me," Glenn said. He'll help anyone interested to find just the right place to volunteer.

One new dimension to the adopt-a-grandparent program is a combined effort of the center and the Art and Flower Nook on Sudderth.

"We're trying to get a program started where all the residents at the center are cared for on holidays and birthdays," said Norma Phillips of the flower shop.

"I've been thinking of this for years ... I've always wanted to do it," Phillips said. "In visiting the center I noticed there are some residents who don't have any plants or flowers."

When a resident is adopted, the Art and Flower Nook automatically will send a remembrance on five holidays and on the adoptee's birthday. Individuals or groups may adopt a center resident.

Phillips explained that there are three plans. They cost from $24 to $50 for the year. One plan calls for the resident to receive either a plant or a cut flower arrangement on each occasion.

Another plan calls for a bud vase to be delivered for each occasion, and the third plan is midway between the other two. It is an assortment and would include some bud vases, a plant and some cut flower arrangements.

Persons supporting the adopt-a-grandparent program with flowers also may visit their adoptee, but that is not necessarily part of the plan.

For more information on the flowers, call Phillips at 257-9086. For further information on other ways to volunteer, call Glenn at 257-9071.

DALE WILLIAMS AND PETER GARCIA

Area men are chosen for annual Mexican mission

Peter M. Garcia and Dale Williams, both of Ruidoso, have been selected as delegates in the Assemblies of God international youth witnessing program. The program is called Ambassadors in Mission (AIM).

Garcia, Williams and their group of 53 delegates will travel to Gomez Palacio and Lerdo, Mexico, for an evangelistic crusade. They will also participate in door-to-door visitation and choral appearances during the week-long tour.

Garcia is a Ruidoso High School graduate and is in business locally. Williams graduated from high school in Grants. He will attend Jimmy Swaggart's Bible College in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, in September.

The AIM program began in 1966, and more than 5,000 people between the ages of 18 and 24 have visited 36 countries during that time. Countries visited this year by AIM teams include Belize, France, Germany, Haiti, Jamaica, Kenya, Mexico, Panama, Paraguay, Peru and Spain.

Most delegates will be paired with young people from their host country for house-to-house visitation. Much of their work is done in cooperation with local churches.

CHARLINE JONES

Stay warm, feel luxurious in a fur

Ruidoso women like to stay warm in furs. Charline Jones (pictured) and Mary Parsons of Mary's Fashions on Sudderth said that their customers go right to the furs.

Charline is wearing a Tibet lamb coat from China. The long curly hair on the coat makes it unusual and very, very soft.

For Christmas Charline got a more sophisticated looking champagne-colored ranch mink jacket. She feels the mink is more her style, but admitted the curly lamb jacket was a fun change.

Mary and Charline handle a good variety of furs in the shop.

"Blue fox is number one this year," Mary said. She went on to explain that all kinds of furs are in style; she said she saw just about everything at market.

Rex fur, a kind of chinchilla, has a natural stripe in the fur and makes an interesting coat, jacket or vest. Mary said that lots of women seemed to prefer the vest to a full-length coat or even a jacket.

Alpaca furs, a little less expensive than fox, chinchilla and Tibet lamb, are often bought by younger women. Alpaca is available in several styles and colors.

"Yes, some men still buy furs as Christmas gifts," Mary said. But not as much as they used to, she added.

Women nowadays seem to know what they want and get it themselves.

Week of
Dec. 30-Jan. 5

Bono's Astro-View

© By Lillian Bono

ARIES (March 21-April 20) Don't hesitate to delegate responsibilities to others when you are feeling overwhelmed. The week will start off like a whirlwind, but Friday will slow down to a manageable pace.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) It will be hard to work up your motivation after a wild New Year's Day. Romance will slip as your energy supply is replenishing itself.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) Don't overdo it later in the week to make up for the slow beginning. You will strike up an old friendship. Your job will find you bored and frustrated.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) The short work week will feel like an eternity as the work piles up. Home life, however, will be reaching an even keel after the excitement and tensions due to the holidays.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) Don't dwell on regrets from early in the week. Let yourself start over on Wednesday with a clean slate. Separate your responsibilities and work on one at a time.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) Nothing will stimulate you at the beginning of the week for the only thing on your mind is rest. Don't give in to all your body's signals. It doesn't need as much pampering as you think.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) Spending day in and day out reprimanding yourself for your loss of control over the holidays is counterproductive. Look at the positive side and work on today instead of yesterday.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The excitement of the holidays hasn't worn off yet and you are having trouble understanding everyone else's humdrum attitudes. Keep your thoughts to yourself until things even out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You will feel like you're climbing an enormous hill with no peak. Take everything slowly and try to balance your time and chores evenly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) Don't let a friend's depression bring you down too. Enjoy the time you have alone and if you feel like it, get together with some friends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) You will be overcome with a feeling of confusion. Don't ask advice from too many people. Keep a level head and listen to what others say, but don't act until you're positive that you want to.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Setting your priorities will not seem as easy and instinctual as usual. Don't become too flustered. Take smaller steps to reach a goal. Be adventurous in your spare time.

FAME

A SCANDALOUS AFFAIR — One of the most famous May-December romances in history involved the powerful newspaper mogul William Randolph Hearst and aspiring actress Marion Davies. The 35-year romance, which began when Hearst was 52 and Miss Davies was 18, will be dramatized in "The Hearst and Davies Affair," airing Jan. 14 on ABC.

Robert Mitchum

Robert Mitchum stars as Hearst, a man who dreams of being president of the United States. Virginia Madsen is Miss Davies, an obscure Ziegfeld girl who is determined to be a star. Their scandalous love affair probably cost Hearst his political goal, but Miss Davies realized her film aspirations when Hearst bought her a movie studio. The couple never married because Hearst's wife refused to give him a divorce.

Also starring are Fritz Weaver as Hearst's puritanical financial adviser, and Doris Belack as Hollywood columnist Louella Parsons.

TENDER IS THE NIGHT — Sean Young has replaced Jennifer Beales in the six-hour miniseries, "Tender is the Night." Miss Beals could not take the role because of schedule conflicts.

The miniseries, now in production in Europe, is based on F. Scott Fitzgerald's novel of the same name. Miss Young, who is now appearing in "Dune," will portray Rosemary Hoyt, the Hollywood starlet who disrupts the perfect marriage of Dick and Nicole Diver, an American couple in Europe. Edward Asner also stars in the production.

Joanne Woodward

Joanne Woodward stars as Barbara Hollis, a happily married woman whose poetry has earned her a national reputation. She begins to suffer memory lapses and personality changes, and soon can no longer do anything for herself.

"The Door Is Always Open," a two-hour TV special taped in Nashville and scheduled for 1985 viewing, is a musical tribute to the late Sue Brewer, who played an important part in the lives of each of the stars on the show.

Hosted and co-produced by Waylon Jennings, the guest list is a who's who of Nashville songwriters and performers: Willie Nelson, Richie Albright, Hank Cochran, Jessi Colter, Little Jimmy Dickens, Harlan Howard, George Jones, Marie Kilgore, Kris Kristofferson, Red Lane, Basil MacDavid, Roger Miller, Mickey Newbury, Webb Pierce, Buck Trent, Mack Vickery, Hank Williams Jr., Mac Wiseman and Faron Young.

The concert portion of the show, performed at the Grand Ole Opry before a sold-out audience, features Jennings, Colter, Nelson, Kristofferson, Jones, Williams, Miller and Kilgore. The money raised from the sale of tickets has helped to set up the Sue Brewer Fund, a non-profit organization established to assist Nashville's struggling songwriters.

RCA Records has released a special audio self-portrait album of rare Elvis Presley interviews as a programming aid to radio stations. The disc is intended for promotional use only and will not be made available to the public. The album, titled the "Elvis Presley Interview Record," is designed to complement RCA's current extensive campaign to celebrate the 50th birthday of the king of rock 'n' roll. The album features Presley discussing a wide variety of topics, including his hobbies, religion and philosophy as well as his mother, fans, private life and music. Also included on the interview record are conversations with Presley's parents, Vernon and Gladys Presley.

Michael Martin Murphey's music video, "Disenchanted," was recently presented with the Silver Reel Award at the Second Annual New Mexico Film and Video Award ceremony at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

During the ceremony, Silver Reel trophies and cash prizes were awarded in various categories, with "Disenchanted" winning in the music video category. "Disenchanted," the top 10 single from "The Heart Never Lies" album, is Murphey's first video.

Weller follows the stars

By Wendy Wallace

With the departure of co-host Ron Hendren in the summer of 1984, Robb Weller began to enter the lives of millions of star-struck fans each night as the new co-host (along with Mary Hart) of the syndicated series "Entertainment Tonight." In addition to his weekly duty on "E.T.," he also co-hosts the hourlong weekend edition of the series, "Entertainment This Week," with co-hostess Leeza Gibbons. (Check local listings for time.) The program features in-depth news and investigative reports on the entertainment world.

Weller may be a familiar face to viewers. He joined "E.T." following a year-long stint as co-host of "2 on the Town" in New York. "I worked on '2 on the Town' but the show met with an untimely cancellation," he says.

Prior to "2 On the Town," Weller worked for five years as a reporter and television host in the Chicago area. He hosted "AM Chicago," as well as the weekly "Eye on Chicago" and "Off the Record." "I had a wonderful experience in Chicago," Weller says, "but it wasn't until I got to 'Entertainment Tonight' that I got national exposure. It means a lot to me."

Weller also speaks highly of Miss Hart. "Mary Hart has been a guiding light in what I've been doing. With Mary's help, I've learned to relax and get into the show a lot quicker."

Weller also enjoys ad-libbing. "It gives the viewer a chance to see the two of us being ourselves. It's a very thrilling experience. It's all business and we do our jobs."

As a newcomer to the show, Weller has thoughts as to why "E.T." has remained the nation's most-watched entertainment-news program. "The show is uncanny. It's unique, fast-paced and there's a range in topics. It appeals to the very young people, teens, and the cross-50-and-older demographics. It's a news show that can offer that kind of range. The pacing is terrific. It's the behind-the-scenes look of all aspects of the entertainment business.

"I find the interview aspect and celebrity profiles to be very interesting. I'd like to eventually get into that aspect along the line but I think the producers are waiting for me to get settled before I move on.

"To be honest, hosting is a far better gig. It offers more exposure. However, I do miss the reporting aspect. You miss that a little bit."

If he had a choice, Weller would like to make his first interview with "Cary Grant, because he's the hottest find in the business. He doesn't do many interviews but he's the gentleman of the business right now."

And years from now when his hosting days are over, he'd like to be remembered as "A guy who knew all the stars but never felt he was one."

SUPER COP — "I don't sing, I'm an actor now," says rock star Rex Smith. He is now playing a rip-roaring vigilante on a souped-up motorcycle in ABC's new series, "Street Hawk," which premiered Jan. 4. By day he is Jesse Mach, a placid public relations officer in the police department. At night he dons his crash helmet, mounts his secret high-tech motorbike and varooms off on a one-man crusade against the hoods and crooks of a metropolis.

Smith did not contribute to the driving, pulsating music of the show. Rock group Tangerine Dream did the music. But Smith does his own stunt driving. The owner of three motorcycles, he is experienced. "It's a thrill-a-second. Some out-grow it, some don't."

PLAYING THE GAME — It's all in the running, not in the winning, says Ellen Burstyn. Miss Burstyn likes to be a nominee more than a winner. At the International Emmy Awards, Miss Burstyn said: "When you win you get a statue, and when you're nominated you get a plaque. You get nominated more often than you win. So you fill your wall with plaques."

NO HOUSE CALLS — Dr. Marcus Welby will not be returning to the small screen after all. ABC had its sights on the good doctor as a mid-season replacement. But the network could not come to terms with Universal TV, the production company. "The business affairs problems dealing with contracts and license fees could not be solved," reported Dennis Doty, executive producer of the proposed series. It became an unanticipated question of money that both sides failed to work out. Robert Young, who starred in the original series, was expected to make only guest appearances on the new series. There is a possibility that Doty will produce another TV movie based on the Welby character.

(ABC) WIDE WORLD OF SPORTS

SPORTS POLL — We've all heard how professional football has been losing viewers on all three networks, and the many reasons given for the decline. But CBS says not to worry.

That network and The New York Times took a poll last month and they can reassure us that professional football is still America's favorite sport on TV.

The poll was a random sample of 1,340 adults: 910 were sports fans and 774 were football fans. It revealed many interesting surprises. For instance, the Dallas Cowboys are still America's favorite team, and the Miami Dolphins' Dan Marino is the nation's favorite active player.

Joe Namath was voted the country's favorite retired player, Brigham Young University and Boston College are tops in the college ranks, and two-thirds of the pro football fans would not recommend changes in the game.

In a vote for the favorite sports, football got 53 percent, as compared with baseball's 18 percent and basketball's 13 percent. One wonders what the result would be if the poll were taken in the middle of the World Series.

When asked if referees should use instant television replays to make sure they made the right decision, 68 percent of the football fans approved. The debate about high-scoring and low-scoring games ended in almost a dead heat, with low scoring being slightly ahead. Only 25 percent of the football aficionados think there is too much violence in the pro game.

Was there too much football on TV? Thirty-four percent said there was too much, 59 percent said it's just right and 5 percent said there was too little. This could be a tip-off on those interviewed: When asked who won the Super Bowl game last year, XXXIX percent gave the right answer; XIII percent offered the wrong answer and XXXVIII percent didn't know.

Ask Kate

'Houston' ratings poor

By Kate Woods

Where can I write Lee Horsley of "Matt Houston"? — H.S.C., Lodi, Calif.

The ABC series hasn't been faring too well in the ratings this season, but for the moment you can send fan mail through Aaron Spelling Productions Inc., Warner Hollywood Studios, 1041 N. Formosa Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90046.

Do you have an address where I can write the show "Star Search"? — K.A., Rome, Ga.

Write the syndicated talent show at Bob Banner Association, 8687 Melrose Ave., Mezzanine 20, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

How tall is Bull on "Night Court"? He seems to be at least 7 feet tall. — C.C., Uniontown, Pa.

Richard Moll, who plays the hulking bailiff, is 6 feet 8 inches tall.

I vividly recall Burt Reynolds being on the old series "Riverboat," but I can't remember who the star was who played the boat's captain. — T.W., Kingston, N.Y.

Darren McGavin played Grey Holden, owner and captain of the Enterprise, the name of the Mississippi paddle wheeler. Reynolds was written out of the show in the middle of the first season (1959-60). The show continued until January 1961.

Lee Horsley

Please tell me if Ruth Gordon is still alive, and if so, how old is she? — J.D., Thunder Bay, Ontario.

The diminutive grande dame of stage and screen is very much alive, just having completed work on "Free Spirit," a romantic comedy starring Glenn Close and Mandy Patinkin for an 1985 release. The title is an appropriate one for the 88-year-old Miss Gordon.

Send your letters to Kate Woods, United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Because of the volume of mail, we cannot make personal replies.

Ruidoso's parking lots and convenience stores are a favorite stopping ground for cruisers to gather. Popular gathering sites can vary from weekend to weekend, however, showing an elusive trait of the nighttime cruisers.

Seen from above, headlights of Saturday night cruisers on Sudderth Drive become ribbons of light in this time-exposure taken from Camelot Mountain.

This section of Country Club Drive along the river is a popular site for weekend cruisers to gather. Carloads of young people stream up and down the street, often stopping in rd-street to talk with fellow cruisers in other cars.
