Former Chevrei Tikva Chavurah co-president Rabbi Mark Wieder will help us celebrate Gay Pride Shabbat. At the Friday Shabbat Service at 6:15 p.m., he will speak on Scouting

the Land Again: Where Have We Wandered?

Rabbi Wieder, who was ordained in 2006 at the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in New York, left a comfortable job at a New York investment bank in 2001 for rabbinical school. Several of his friends from his Chevrei Tikva days in Cleveland were not surprised by his path to the rabbinate. He is delighted to be returning to Fairmount Temple, which was a large stepping-stone role toward that path.

He is currently Campus Chaplain at River Garden Hebrew Home in Florida and was at Temple Anshe Amunim in Massachusetts.

FRIDAY, JUNE 4

It Has Been An Honor Building Togetherness With You

Anshe Chesed Fairmount Temple is a Reform congregation that strives to perpetuate Jewish tradition and strengthen Jewish lives through life long learning, worship, social action and deeds of loving kindness.

When I prepared to begin my presidency, it was clear where my focus should be. That was to build on the extraordinary work done by the whole congregation, led by the Strategic Planning Committee, defining the three pillars upon which Fairmount Temple would build for the future and implementing our new Strategic Plan. Even before I officially began my term, it was evident that other matters required priority.

Overwhelmingly, my first order of business was to rebuild trust. Trust between clergy and leadership; trust among and between our dedicated staff and clergy and leadership; and most importantly, trust between each of these groups and you, our loyal (and concerned) congregants. While much of my energy was directed toward this important goal, we still needed to make certain that all of the good work of Fairmount Temple on behalf of all of you would continue uninterrupted. While each of my three Erev Rosh Hashanah addresses ultimately had the same simple theme—to encourage all of us to work together - I was well aware that the building of trust was paramount. The evidence is strong that we, together, have been successful.

Despite these challenges, we have managed to stay focused on our pillars. Consider that over the last three years we have confirmed and graduated over 160 of your sons and daughters, in addition to the large number of you that have participated in adult learning; consider the hundreds of meals that have been cooked and cookies baked by our Community Kitchen and delivered to those of you just home from the hospital or mourning the loss of a loved one; consider our successful Kabbalat Shabbat, which if you have not yet experienced, you should make a point of joining us the second Shabbat of each month; consider that on July 9 we will welcome our new rabbi, Rob Nosanchuk, to the bimah; and there is so much more, so much more for all of us to be proud of and still, there is much work to be done.

We will continue to build, but we can only do so together and with the support of our entire congregation. One of leadership's biggest challenges is to balance our budget, yet we continue to do so by relying on only a handful of congregants who always step forward first. Fairmount Temple is not a collection of individuals, it is a community all working toward the same goal. Here is how you can help: please pay your family support (dues) on time; you remain our best advocates to spread the word about all we have to offer, so please reach out to your unaffiliated friends and family; and, when you receive a phone call from a fellow congregant volunteer from the development committee, please accept their invitation for a cup of coffee, listen to what they have to say, and learn how each of you might be able to help. I hope that it is not too much to ask that you at least listen. Our situation is not unique and we must all work together.

Fairmount Temple is clearly the most outstanding Reform congregation in northeast Ohio. We have the best clergy, the best staff and most importantly, we have the best congregants. Without you, none of the rest of this would be possible. On a personal note, I would like to thank you for the opportunity to lead this great synagogue. I have met many of you and made many friends. Thank you for entrusting me with this great honor.
Brian Young, Board President

A Meeting with Music, Thank You's and Welcomes!

On May 16, Fairmount Temple's Annual Meeting opened with the talents of the wonderful Congregational Band (come hear them June 25 at the 6:15 Shabbat Service!). When opening the meeting, Board President Brian Young thanked "the Congregational Band as a very important part of the spirit at Fairmount Temple."

He also noted the wonderful community-oriented weekend as congregants gathered Friday night to honor and thank Rabbi Kalfus for all he has done for us these past seven years, and then everyone came together again on Saturday night at the fundraiser.

On July 1, Brian Young's tenure as Board President will come to a close and Jim Levine, current Vice President, will assume the Board presidency.

Elected at the Annual Meeting to new three-year terms on the Board were:

Amy Bilsky, Cindy Bruml, Marcel Duhamel, Bruce Greenwald, Michelle Krantz, Michael Penzner, David Singer, Jen Stern, Todd Silverman, and Cynthia Tancer

Thank you to those who have completed their terms:

Melinda Blatt (who moved earlier this year), Nancy Glick, Lee Passell, Jim Samuels, Paula Schwartz, and Michael Spielman

Christine Weiss, who is on the synagogue's Congregation-based Community Organizing, gave a brief update on the work and dedication of this group of volunteers.

Brian Young presented the President's Award to Wendy Deuring and Lynn Kleinman. Both were recognized for their varied and unwavering commitment to so many synagogue activities, particularly Wendy's devotion to ushering at Shabbat morning services, and Lynn's devotion to the production of our Purim Spiels. And both made personal pleas -

- If you can give a little of your Shabbat morning (just one a month) to help usher at services, Wendy Dearing would appreciate it! (wdeuring@yahoo.com)
- If you play a musical instrument and would like to be part of the Congregational Band, Lynn Kleinman welcomes you! (lekchoral@aol.com)

A blessing from incoming Senior Rabbi Robert Nosanchuk was a fitting conclusion to the morning. He expressed how pleased and honored he is to join the leadership of this magnificent synagogue and noted he and his family are coming to Fairmount Temple for the same reason many families come here - "to make new friends, create lasting memories, and be a part of the wonderful achievements of this community."

WELCOME

Rabbi Robert Nosanchuk will join Anshe Chesed Fairmount Temple just after July 4th!

Please join us in welcoming him to the bimah at the Kabbalat Shabbat on Friday, July 9, at 6:15 p.m. and the Shabbat Morning Service on Saturday, July 10, at 11 a.m.

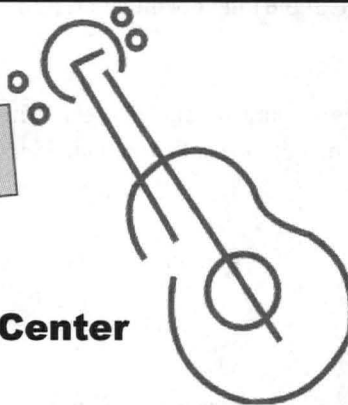

He will also visit with Fairmount Temple children at our URJ Goldman Union Camp Institute in July, as well as visit the Fairmount Temple kids at Camp Wise!

We look forward to welcoming Rabbi Nosanchuk and his family to this synagogue community. Look for more opportunities to meet and hear from him in the July/August Bulletin.

Caring Community

Our new PHONE CONNECTIONS COMMITTEE is planning to start making calls to older congregants this summer. Members of the committee will telephone congregants on milestone birthdays and during the High Holy Days to let them know that their synagogue community is thinking of them at these special times. If you would like to be on this committee, or if you know of temple members who would appreciate receiving such a call, please let Wendy know at 216-464-1330 ext 162 or wjacobson@fairmounttemple.org.

The CHILDREN'S HUNGER ALLIANCE provides lunches during the summer to children in the Cleveland Metropolitan School System who usually receive breakfast and lunch at school. Without this program, many would simply not eat lunch. Fairmount Temple is "adopting" the lunch distribution site at Woodland Library, and will be responsible for staffing that site with volunteers. Volunteers will pass out lunches to the students, and engage the students in activities. There are two ways to contribute! If you can volunteer one day per week, 11 am to 1 pm, plus a training session on June 8 or 9, please contact Wendy for more information. If you have art supplies, board games, or puzzles to donate, please bring them to the collection bin in the Religious School Commons. Volunteers will use these supplies with the children all summer. Thanks for your help!

Time is running out to take advantage of HELPFUL INFORMATION on a wide variety of topics! Our special arrangement with Recovery Resources, through which we have had access to an extensive on-line library of excellent articles, is due to end in August. Learn about Parenting Skills, Communication, Caring for Elderly Parents, Financial Planning, Healthy Eating, Addictions and Recovery, and MANY other useful subjects. Log on by going to www.assistnow.org and use the following: Username: Fairmount Temple Password: member If you have questions, please contact Wendy.

To learn more about these opportunities, contact Wendy Jacobson at 216-464-1330, ext. 162 or Wjacobson@fairmounttemple.org.

A Look Into our Future
A Night of Fortune and Fun

A great night was had by all who joined in the Night of Fortune Fundraiser on May 15. With fortune tellers, magicians and artists, it was a night to look to the future, meet the new rabbi, and maybe win an auction prize or two!

A NIGHT OF FORTUNE FUNDRAISER—

A VIRTUAL TRIP TO ISRAEL — Participants in this year's YPC Family Shabbaton on May 1 at Camp Wise were families in PreK—2nd grade. Nearly 100 participants received passports, hunted for artifacts in an archeological dig, did Israeli dancing, made arts and crafts, wrote prayers at the Western Wall (Kotel) and celebrated Shabbat and had great fun!
