4 VILLAGES GO TO POLLS MONDAY

Vernier Re-Elected; Rasmussen People's Choice

Garska, Members of Park Council Point to Record in Office

Four Grosse Pointe Villages, the Park, Grosse Pointe Village, the Shores and Lochmoor, will go to the polls next Monday, March 10, to select officials of their respective communities for the ensuing term. In Grosse Pointe Shores, the spring election will be held May 20.

Alfred J. Garska, incumbent, and John Bery, are contesting for the office of president of Grosse Pointe Park, while five candidates are seeking the three offices of commissioner. Samuel Bastien, William P. Shoemaker and Thomas W. McGilligan are the present commissioners, and Noah G. Payne and Harry LeFevre are the new candidates for the office. No primary election was held due to a clause in the Village charter which states that a primary may be held only when there are more than twice the number of candidates in the field as there are offices to be filled.

Garska, as president, and Bastien, McGilligan and Shoemaker, as commissioners, are citing the progress and development in Grosse Pointe Park during their administration and their record of achievement in contributing to this progress and development as the basis of their appeal to the electorate to return them to office.

In a letter forwarded this week to "Fellow Residents of Grosse Pointe Park," they brought the attention of the voters to the following accomplishments in the Park which they were instrumental in effecting:

"The Fox Creek Closed Drain has been removed, and the drainage has been improved to health, and increasing the value of property in the vicinity of the old creek.

"The police and fire departments have been made more efficient through a new system of training, and by the addition of new fire equipment and personnel fire insurance rates have been materially reduced.

"The Department of Public Works has speeded up the collection and disposal of garbage and refuse.

Village officials, headed by Kenneth L. Moore, president, after a careful engineering survey because they believe that Grosse Pointe Farms alone will save over $400,000.00 in the next ten years and that a smaller, but nevertheless important, saving will be made by the adjoining villages.

Township Treasurer's Race Is Only Contest at Election, April 7th

Joseph H. Primeau, Republican nominee for the office of Township treasurer, and who will oppose James Rasmussen, the Democratic choice, or the 'People's Choice' for that office, at the Township election, April 7, is planning an active campaign for that office, it became known today in a post primary election statement by him to the Grosse Pointe Review.

The Township treasurer's office will be the only post to be filled at the election, the first Monday in April, as the primary election held last Monday resulted in the Democratic nominees for the five other Township offices being the successful candidates because of the absence of opposition on the opposite party's ticket.

Of the 10,000 qualified electors in the Grosse Pointe Township, comprising the five villages of Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Shores and Lochmoor, only 2,396 voted at the primaries.

For the nomination of Township supervisor, Edmund C. Vernier, incumbent, defeated Charles A. Payne by a vote of 1,508 to 737. Rasmussen received 508 votes in his successful bid for the nomination to the office of Township treasurer. He was opposed by Stephen H. Van Tiem who polled 405 votes; Milton A. Renaud with 339 votes; Clyde C. Burgess with 315 votes; Arthur F. C. Vernier with 409 votes and Frank M. Allard with 217 votes.

For clerk Daniel G. Alor, incumbent, defeated Albert E. LaBelle, 1461 to 508; Jerry Vandenburg for the office of Review and Walter Schweikart for Justice of the Peace were unopposed.

The successful candidates for constable are Andrew T. Phillips, Jr., Frank Defer, Bert Forton and Emmett Pentecost.

Edmund C. Vernier, upon learning of his re-election as Township Supervisor, made the following statement: "To my many friends and their friends who

Monk Watson's 5000th Performance Feted

Bringing the work of one of the greatest of modern novelists to the talking screen, "Dance Hall," motion picture adaptation of the story by Vina Delmar, at the Madison theater. It is the first time that a story of this sensational success author has been transferred to the screen.

Originally written for Radio Pictures, and published in Liberty Magazine, "Dance Hall" a realistic, human story of a little ball-room hostess and two rivals for her love, told in the manner which made best-sellers of "Bad Girl," "Loose Ladies" and "Kept Woman," Miss Delmar's successful novels.

Olive Borden as a Blonde
Radio Pictures, producer of "Dance Hall," has adapted the story faithfully. Careful selection of the cast resulted in Olive Borden being chosen for the leading role with Arthur Lake, one of the screen's leading younger actors, featured with her. Miss Borden's fans will be surprised to see her with blonde tresses, instead of her well-known jet-black hair. The change, although most effective, is temporary. Miss Delmar's heroine, Gracie Flynn, was a blonde so Miss Borden appears with golden hair for this production only.

High Position and Life Sacrificed for Beard

There is at least one record of a man who gave his life for his beard; or died in consequence of the fear of losing it. The tale is attested in history. It relates to Guillaume Duprat, bishop of Clermont, sufficiently eminent to sit in the council of Trent and who is celebrated in memory connected with the building of the College of Jesuits at Paris. On one Easter morning as he was about to enter his cathedral he was faced by three members of his chapter, bearing among them a razor, a pair of scissors, a basin of warm water, a cake of soap and a towel. It was the end of Duprat; or the beginning of the end.

Duprat's beard was patriarchal. It was not approved by the prevailing sentiment of the church at the time; and a resolution had been adopted calling upon him to remove it. He had not removed it. Thus he knew well what portended when these ominous signs confronted him on the cathedral porch. He turned and fled—with his beard. He found asylum, or refuge, in his castle at Beauregard. It was a cul de sac. He could not go forth with safety to his beard. He bent beneath his distress, sickened and died—of a broken heart, says tradition, which is always as good as history and frequently much better.—Boston Herald.

British Gave Up Rights on Mississippi River

The British government has maintained that treaties concluded by it with the United States before the War of 1812 were terminated by that war. While the United States has taken the position that the War of 1812 did not necessarily terminate those treaties, there would appear to be no doubt that the provision of article VIII of the treaty of Ghent, concluded on December 24, 1814, endeavored to have a provision inserted in that treaty which would secure for British subjects the right to navigate the Mississippi, but the American negotiators being unwilling to yield to that proposal, it was not included in the treaty. In a note dated October 30, 1815, from the British foreign office to the American minister at London, published in American State Papers, Volume IV, page 364, and following, the right of British subjects to the free navigation of the Mississippi is admitted to have been abandoned.

Best Films Presented at Punch and Judy Theater

Pitching hay and milking cows in Canada, exchanging blows in the prize ring until he goes to the point where he fought a no-decision bout with Jack Johnson; medicine, shows, a Wild West circus, wrestling all comes in vaudeville constituted a life that most men would rate as colorful, but not Victor McLaglen, Fox Films star of "The Black Watch," which is the attraction at the Punch and Judy theater Friday and Saturday.

In "The Black Watch, in which he plays the role of "Captain Donald" Gordon King," of the "Black Watch," he goes back to India, cinematically speaking.

Based on Talbot Mundy's story, this Fox Film is directed by a genius of production, John Ford. Myrna Loy plays the feminine lead and a truly stellar supporting cast will be seen.

The greatest thriller ever shown on the screen, "The Phantom of the Opera," starring Lon Chaney, with Philbin and Norman Kerry in the leading featured roles, is coming to the Punch and Judy theater Sunday and Monday. The popular screen mystery has been fitted out with sound and dialogue, including the tense and dramatic scenes between the principals, the elaborate ballets, songs and choruses from the opera "Faust" and the glittering bal masque in the grand foyer of the Paris Opera House. With glorious music and singing, with its spoken drama, mystery and thrills, all plus many charming scenes, presented in natural colors, the new "Phantom of the Opera" is heralded as remarkable entertainment.

When Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer set out to film "Chasing Rainbows," they combined the talents of "Broadway Melody" and "The Hollywood Revue of 1929" and produced an all-talking romance that is overwhelming in entertainment appeal.

Perhaps most important of all, this new presentation brings Charles King and Bessie Love back together again—something we have been waiting for ever since he sang "You Were Meant For Me."

"Chasing Rainbows" comes to the Punch and Judy theater Tuesday, and

"The great snow fall of December 18, 1929 brought a problem that was quickly solved by the efficient removal of snow and the opening of the streets to traffic within a shorter period of time than in any other community."

In Grosse Pointe Village, Richard P. Connor, president, and Norbert P. Neff, clerk, are running unopposed for reelection. The three village trustees, D. M. Perry Jr., William C. Fisher and Chester Carpenter, are opposed by only one other candidate, Frank Moubin. Charles Poupard, village treasurer, and Neil Blondell, assessor, are also unopposed.

The electors in Grosse Pointe Farms voted February 10.

Ronald Colman Seen on Hollywood Screen

Ronald Colman, supported by the beautiful Ann Harding, in "Condemned," thrilling melodrama and romance of the far-famed French penal colony on Devil's Island, comes to the Hollywood theater screen Sunday as one of the outstanding talking picture events of the season.

The story of "Condemned" give a profoundly moving picture of life among these convicts harbored on an escape-bound island. There is a magnificent cast of criminal types, hard, thrilling dialogue, stirring sound effects in a great storm at sea, gripping sequences of sudden deaths and desperate escapes—all woven carefully about the central theme of the innocent love between a convict and the wife of a brutal warden. Dudley Digges, of Theater Guild fame, and Louis Wolheim, famous for his villain characterizations, are two outstanding members of the supporting cast.

The R-K-O vaudeville program for this bill will be headlined by Jack Wilson & Co. in a "Nonsensical Revue," in which comedy, singing, dancing, acrobatics and novelty surprise features are offered. Warner Gault, Kathleen Kidd and Murray Wood are three of the principals supporting Mr. Wilson, himself known as one of the foremost blackface comedians of the time. Several other variety acts also will be offered and Russ Morgan and his popular Hollywood orchestra will present new tunes and specialties from the stage. Bob Clarke's organ specialty is also of special importance for this bill. Short talking subjects are also offered on the screen.

"Humor" in Music

Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians says of the word "Humoresque" (Humoresque): "A title adopted by Schumann for his Op. 20 and Op. 88, No. 2, the former for piano solo, the latter for piano, violin and violin-cello. Heller and Grieg have also used the term for pianoforte pieces—Op. 64 and Op. 9 and 16, respectively. There is nothing particularly 'humorous' in any of these, and the term 'capricio' might equally well be applied to them. Rubinstein also entitled his 'Don Quixote' 'Humoresque,' but the 'humor' is there of a more obvious and boisterous kind."

Cone's Principle

Emile Cone (born 1857, died 1926) was a French psychotherapist. Cone's system of therapeutics deals principally with the power of imagination as opposed to that of the will. He claimed that by means of auto-suggestion ideas which tend to cause illness and disease may be eliminated from the will. Cone invariably stated that he was primarily a healer, but one who taught others to heal themselves. His famous formula was "Every day and in every way I am becoming better and better."

An Old-Time Favorite

Foxgloves have long been a favorite in the old-fashioned garden. Dating back beyond the time of early European horticulture was found "Digitalis purpurea," the species usually grown, as one of the commonest English wild flowers. It has been popular to America from early Colonial days, says Nature Magazine, and is still found in the outstanding gardens of America and Europe.

supply for filtered water, charges communities outside the city double the Detroit rate and it is understood that an investigation by officials of Grosse Pointe Village determined that there was little or no likelihood of a reduction in the Detroit rates as the provision for charging double outside the city is required by the Charter under which the Detroit Water Board operates.

The architectural treatment of the new building has received the approval of the Grosse Pointe Farms Village Plan Commission, which consists of Roy D. Chapin, Robert O. Derrick and Kenneth L. Moore. The engineering design is in the hands of Hoad, Decker, Shoecraft and Drury, who built existing plants in Highland Park, Trenton, Monroe, Mount Clemens and a number of other nearby cities.

Village officials state that it is their belief that the new water plant will not only pay for itself and all future extensions of water mains, but that it will also largely take care of the operating and authorization charges imposed by the new facilities for handling sewage which have recently been placed in the Village.

"In nearly every case the criminal has been allowed to grow up without proper discipline. Either he has had no home training or else he has been spoiled. He has never been taught to respect the rights of others."

"One of the very best courses of training a young man can possibly have is the four weeks each year in a Citizens' Military Training camp. These taught discipline during the entire time they are in camp. They are instructed in good citizenship and sports. They are taught discipline during the entire time they are in camp. They are instructed in good citizenship and sports. They are taught to be good losers as well as winners. They are taught the principles of good health and are given a wholesome viewpoint of life."

"One of the greatest recommendations of these camps is that in all my years of experience very seldom, if ever, have I heard of a boy who completed his training at the Citizens' Military Training Camps ever coming into the support of parents, teachers, employers and all good citizens."

Miss Gallagher suffered fractures of the skull, pelvis and jaw. She was taken to St. Lawrence hospital, Lansing, where doctors Sunday night pronounced her condition critical. Miss Webster was less seriously injured and after first aid treatment was taken to the home of an aunt, Mrs. E. L. Herman, at Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, parents of the dead youth, Sunday were driving to Detroit after a vacation in Florida and could not be reached with news of the accident. They were expected to pass through Atlanta, Ga., late Sunday or Monday, according to last word from them, and an Atlanta radio station late Sunday broadcast the license number of the car and an appeal to tourists and gasoline dealers to notify the parents of what had happened.

Besides the father and mother, the dead boy is survived by two sisters, Margaret, 18, and Dorothy, 16. Both are students at Southeastern high school, which the three accident victims attended before going to college.

Was Beauty Contestant

Dorothy Gallagher in 1928 was chosen as Southeastern high's entry in a beauty contest staged to choose a queen of the North American Rlower Show. Judges could not decide between her and Miss Phyllis Horian, of 5456 Fisher avenue, the Cass Tech entry, and moving picture experts were called in to break the deadlock. Miss Horian finally was awarded the crown.

For Creek Claims Lives of Two School Boys

(Continued from Page One) from Guyton school at 3:45 p. m. and attempted to cross the ice of Fox creek below Essex avenue, according to the account of three girl schoolmates who witnessed the tragedy and raised the alarm.

The boys had walked a dozen feet from the bank before the ice broke, the girls said. When they saw the boys fall, all three girls screamed, attracting the attention of Mrs. John Hancock, who was visiting in a house at 253 South Ashland avenue, that adjoined the creek at that point. Mrs. Hancock called Sumster from his home across the street, at 258 South Ashland avenue.

Men Run to Bank

Sumster and a number of men ran to the bank and attempted to launch a scow there. Seeing two of the boys rise to the surface and go down again, Sumster plunged in and grabbed one of them, holding his head above water. By this time the boat was launched and helpers carried the boy to shore. Sumster dove for the second boy and brought him to the surface.

Emergency Aid Fails

The children were given emergency resuscitation exercises until police arrived with palmators, when Jack Applin was revived. The second boy, Lenos Brown, did not recover consciousness, and was pronounced dead later at Receiving hospital.

Sumster and others in the meantime had probed with poles and grappling hooks for the third body the three girls said they had seen go down. Police finally became convinced that only two boys had gone under, but Elmer McDaniel, mailman of the Roseville substation, would not be convinced. He finally launched a boat and spent 15 minutes probing the creek bed at the point with a dead limb broken from a tree. Police and a crowd of spectators watched from the bank.

Then Finds Body

It was at least an hour after the accident, McDaniel said, before the efforts brought up the third body. Massed ice in Fox creek prevented the harbor-master's boat with its equipment of ropes and grappling hooks to the scene, police explained.

McDaniel lives at 18 East Forest avenue, and was delivering mail in the block when informed of the tragedy. The three girls who gave the alarm were Muriel Doak, 12, daughter of a boatman at the foot of Alter road, and two sisters, Dolores Almy, 8, and Gladys, 10, who also live on Alter road near the river.

Son of Policeman

The boy was the son of Mrs. Laura Dreyer, widow of Patrolman Anthony P. Dreyer. The boy's sister also was drowned in Fox creek near the same spot when she went paddling in a wooden box that tipped over. As soon as the mother learned of the accident and could not locate her son, she went to Receiving hospital, confident he had been drowned and would be brought there.

Lenos Brown was identified at the hospital by his mother, who fainted when informed efforts to save his life had not succeeded. Jack Applin was identified by his aunt, Mrs. A. E. Kort, of 5106 Clarendon road.

Covenant Church to Observe Anniversary

The Covenant Presbyterian Church is to observe its fifty-fifth anniversary during the week of March 9. During this week the services of rededication of the recently remodelled church and parish house will take place, also the dedication of the new three manual Skinner pipe organ, and the dedication of the Brown Chapel, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown. The organ is the gift of the Women's Association. The Presbyterian Church of the Covenant had its real beginning on March 8, 1863, when Mr. Z. R. Brockway, Superintendent, Detroit House of Correction, opened a Mission Sunday School in the Primary Room of the Bishop School building.

The Mission moved into its own home, a frame Chapel on the northwest corner of Russell and Napoleon streets on March 20, 1864. A brick building, erected on this same site for the use of the growing school, was dedicated February 17, 1869. A church organization was effected February 18, 1875, with sixteen members.

Early in the year 1889, in the pastorate of Rev. Louis R. Fox, the name of the organization was changed to the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant. The property on Russell street was sold in 1906, ground was broken in the spring of 1907 for the edifice, corner East Grand Boulevard and Preston street, and on January 31, 1908, the first service was conducted by Rev. Robert J. Young, D. D.

In February, 1923, ground was broken for the first unit of the Church House, and on November 26, 1923, the members of the Session, Board of Trustees, Diaconate, Officers, and Heads of all departments of our church work gathered for prayer in the new building.

The present additions to the church were built since June, 1929. The church has been redecorated in the color of Cathedral stone, with a decorative blue ceiling. The floor is covered with composition tile. The chancel of the church has been completely changed. It is of the gothic type, with pulpit on one side and reading desk on the other and an altar and communion table in the center. The chancel is to be enriched, in the near future, with a beautiful stained glass window showing Christ blessing the little children. The Brown chapel is panelled its entire height in walnut and crowned with a richly decorative ceiling. There is a beautiful chancel with altar and lectern. The cathedral chairs and lighting effect all help in making the chapel an intimate place of worship and meditation.

The Bible School has been greatly enlarged and now contains more than twenty individual class rooms, lounge rooms and assembly rooms. The dining room and social room has been increased in size and it is possible for upwards of four hundred to be served at one time. In connection with this, there is a fine kitchen containing all the latest kitchen equipment, to make the work easy for the ladies.

aided me in my successful campaign for Supervisor and who remembered me at the primary polls, I extend my most sincere gratitude and deep felt appreciation. By your returning me to office, you have complimented me beyond measure and pledged anew your faith in me which you have so frequently expressed in like manner during my thirty years of public life. And, in view of your knowledge of my record in office, it is not necessary for me to state here that I will continue to administer the duties of that office, protecting the interests of the Park residents, the Village residents, the Shores, Farms and Lochmoor residents, alike, and to the utmost of my ability. Again, friends, I thank you.

Said James Rasmussen: I wish to thank the voters of Grosse Pointe Township, also my friends and co-workers for my nomination as treasurer on the Democratic ticket and assure them I was very thankful to them for their support.

When asked for a statement, Daniel G. Allor renominated for clerk said: I wish to thank my many friends and supporters for turning out in such large numbers—my majority was very gratifying and I wish to assure the people of the Township that I will always appreciate this splendid endorsement of my efforts to conduct their business entrusted to me as clerk.

Milton A. Renaud, one of the candidates for Township treasurer on the Democratic ticket, today made the following statement: "Since I cast my first ballot for the election of William McKinley, I have been a Republican, but followed the leadership of 'That Great American' Theodore Roosevelt and his Progressives in 1912 and later returned to the party with Roosevelt.

"I, like many other Grosse Pointe Republicans, as have in the past sought office in 'off year' elections, entered the race for Township treasurer on the Democratic ticket because the community has come to regard it as the 'nomination ticket.' Rarely, if ever, has the Township put a complete Republican ticket in the contest.

"My appeal for the office was strictly on my merits and capability to fulfill the duties of the office and I am very grateful to my friends and the voters who supported me.

"As it was my first attempt to obtain a Township office, I am very much pleased with the result, having been runner-up in the Park, Village and Shores."

Primeau's post primary statement was in part, as follows: "I thank the voters of Grosse Pointe Township for the interest taken at the primary election and double thanks to those persons who were so brave and loyal as to demand a Republican ballot under the circumstances. The vote should have been much larger and two complete tickets would have produced such a result.

"I am now exhorting the electorate to turn out on election day to vote for me as the Republican candidate for Township treasurer. If the voters take into consideration the qualifications of the candidates, I will be satisfied with the outcome of the election. I expect to make an active campaign."

Andrew T. Phillips, Township constable, who was reelected in the primaries last week, receiving over 1300 votes, more than any of the other seven candidates in the race for the four constabliohips, issued a statement to the Review today, as follows: "I thank the voters for the wonderful support given me by them and my friends, which showed me that they still remember my service to them. They can rest assured that any opportunities given me to serve them again, I will seize upon them to reciprocate. I suppose everyone regretted that there was not a larger turnout at the polls, due to the bad weather conditions, as a large vote always permits a better selection of office holders."

Pastor to Preach Twice at Jefferson Methodist The pastor will preach both morning and evening next Sunday. In the morning his subject will be "Lopsided Christians" and in the evening "A Strange Name in the Hall of Fame." On Wednesday evening, March 12th, the first of five get acquainted Lenten suppers will be held. Price is 50c. A special effort will be made to see that everyone gets acquainted and has a good social time. At 7:30, the pastor will give the first of five discussions on "The Christ of Every Road," the last book of E. Stanley Jones. This will be preceded by fifteen minutes of story pictures of the coming Kingdom of Christ.

On Sunday morning, March 12th, Every Member and Family Pew Service will be held. Every member of the church who can possibly do so is being urged to be present and families are asked to sit together in the family pew.

Doug Fairbanks, Jr. on Oriental Scroon; Viola Dana on Stage

Viola Dana, the diminutive stage and screen star, comes to the Oriental theater in person next Friday, March 7th. She will be seen in a playlet by Anita Loos, author of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," called "The Inkwell."

Though she has been a screen star for a number of years, Miss Dana has starred in stage productions before and after her screen success, beginning her stage career at the age of five in "Rip Van Winkle" with Thomas Jefferson and later appearing with William Faversham in "The Squaw Man"; with Dustin Farnum in "The Littlest Rebel"; and Jane Cowl and Lowell Sherman in kid parts in stock.

In her return to the vaudeville stage, Miss Dana continues to be one of the theater's most talented comedienne. She plays the part of a pretty young woman who rushes into a lawyer's office to get a divorce because her husband threw an inwell at her. She is assisted in the playlet by Edward Arnold as the lawyer, and Linda Carlson as his secretary. The piece is staged by Samuel T. Godfrey.

"Loose Ankles," a hilarious screen comedy about a modern girl who must marry the choice of two old-fashioned aunts or lose a fortune, is the screen feature.

Loretta Young and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., play the leading roles in the picture, supported by a cast of noted comedy players. Louise Fazenda, Otis Harlan, Ethel Wales, Daphne Pollard, Inez Courtney, Edward Nugent, Norman Selby and Raymond Keane are all in the cast.

Besides Viola Dana, the Oriental stage bill will include Danceland Ltd. with Harry Brosicus and Dorothy Barnett; Foster and Peggy, presenting the world's most wonderful dog; Ben Tahar troupe of Arab acrobats and other Radio-Keith-Orpheum acts.

Gala Premiere for "Vagabond King"

One of the most important theatrical events in the history of Detroit takes place at the Paramount theater at 9:00 p. m. Thursday, March 6, when "The Vagabond King," all talking, all color version of the famous stage musical hit opens. For the first time in history the Paramount has reserved its seats, placing them on sale in advance at $1.50 each. Representatives of Detroit's social, financial, and industrial life are expected to turn out in force, and there will be special lights, motion picture cameras, microphones and all the trappings common to similar first nights on Broadway New York.

For the regular run of the picture, which begins Friday, March 7, the Paramount has been forced to adopt a scale of prices which has gone into effect nationally for this film, hailed by critics as the supreme achievement of the talking and color screen. These are as follows: week days 35 cents to 1 p. m., 60 cents to 6 p. m., $1.00 after 6 p. m. Saturdays 50 cents to 1 p. m., 75 cents to 6 p. m., $1.00 after 6 p. m. Sundays and holidays, $1.00.

Dennis King, who sings the leading role of "The Vagabond King" originated the part in the New York stage production. Jeanette MacDonald, lately heard and seen here with Maurice Chevalier in "The Love Parade," O. P. Heggie, a noted stage actor, Warner Oland, and Lillian Roth are the other principals of the cast which numbers more than 1000 persons.

Richman Scores at the United Artists

Entertainment, plus! That sums up "Puttin' on the Ritz," the singing, talking, dancing production from United Artists at the United Artists theater.

Songs by Irving Berlin, and sung by Harry Richman, Broadway musical comedy star and "best seller" on phonograph records—a dozen gorgeous dance numbers with two hundred dancers involved—dazzling scenes in night clubs and Broadway venues—a story sparkling with clever dialogue and played by a cast filled with screen favorites.

That's what United Artists offers in "Puttin' on the Ritz." Richman makes his bow to the screen with this picture and establishes himself not only as a singer but as an actor of ability and a distinct personality as well.

His performance in the role of a light-hearted and likeable, yet somewhat conceited, vaudeville star is a particularly deft one, and even without his golden voice in the tuneful Berlin melodies, his presence on the screen is more than justified.

ACTIONS TALK LOUDER!

Incumbent Officials of Grosse Pointe Park Point To Record In Office As Meriting Your Re-Electing Them

FELLOW RESIDENTS OF GROSSE POINTE PARK:

With the passing of another year in the development of the Village of Grosse Pointe Park, it seems fitting to call your attention to a few facts concerning the progress of Village affairs. During that year many improvements have made our Village more worthy of civic pride. Outstanding among the things accomplished in the past year are:—

The completion of the Fox Creek Closed Drain, eliminating a long existing menace to public health and increasing property values throughout the entire Village.

The adoption of a new system of training in the Police and Fire Departments, increasing the protective values of both units, which, with additional equipment and personnel in the Fire Department has brought about a reduction in fire insurance rates.

The re-organization of the Department of Highways and Public Works with added equipment has reduced the cost of repair work, kept our streets cleaner and in a better state of repair, and made the collection and disposal of garbage and refuse more prompt and regular. One instance of the increased efficiency in our Highway Department was the prompt removal of the abnormal snow-fall of last December 18. Our streets were open to traffic and all catch basins cleared to prevent possible flooding of streets in a much shorter period of time than in any of the surrounding communities.

The establishment of the headquarters of the Grosse Pointe Library in our Village, circulating between 3500 and 4000 volumes per month, was made possible only by the co-operation of the Village Commission with the County and Township.

A complete survey of the records would show much more to the credit of the Commission and to the departments in charge of each individual Commissioner.

Monday, March 10, is the date for the annual election of Village Officials. The continuation of the present administration of the affairs of the Village depends on the re-election of Alfred J. Garska as Village President, Samuel Bastien, Thomas McGilligan and Wm. P. Shoemaker as Commissioners.

Your support would be appreciated for a continuation of the policies that have made Grosse Pointe Park a progressive community.

Very sincerely,

ALFRED J. GARSKA

Art of Giving

He who gives things only gives little. The real part of any present is the imaginative sympathy through which one has understood and responded to a desire in some other human being and has put something of oneself into the choice of that which will gratify this desire.—Woman's Home Companion.

Geographical Distances

The difference in the distance around the earth at the equator and the distance going around through the poles is 42 miles. The equatorial circumference of the earth is 24,996 miles; the meridional circumference 24,854 miles.

"THE BROWNS HAVE A LOVELY HOME, DEAR."

"WE DO NEED SOME NEW THINGS, MARJORIE."

"Every woman asks 'What can I add to this room to make it more attractive and more comfortable?'"

Our showrooms answer the question for you. You can have as lovely a home as your friends, the Browns. Select the material you want for your overstuffed suite, or single piece. Style and Wear and Dependable workmanship. YOU SEE WHAT GOES INSIDE!
