SHEN YUN PERFORMING ARTS

FOR 5,000 YEARS in China, culture was herald-ed as a divine gift. Its glory was long the inspiration of countless artists and poets, until this heritage was nearly lost ... Based in New York, Shen Yun Performing Arts seeks to revive this once-majestic tradition by creating a production worthy in its beauty of this noble history-something that enriches the lives of audiences in powerful, lasting ways.

"Shen Yun": What Does It Mean?

The character 神 (Shen) is a general term for "divine" or "divine being." 韻 (Yun) refers to the overall manner and style of a dancer, and the meaning behind his or her movements.

China was known as 神州 (Shen Zhou) - the Land of the Divine, and Chinese culture is believed to be divinely bestowed. A performance by Shen Yun is what Chinese culture is meant to be - grace, compassion, and sublime beauty of heavenly realms.

"Brilliant choreography... extravagantly beautiful."

YIN AND YANG IN CLASSICAL CHINESE DANCE

Central to Chinese philosophy is a pair of concepts, vin and yang, or complementary opposites, standing for the feminine aspect and masculine aspect of a given object respectively. As two primal cosmic forces, vin and vang exist in a dynamic relationship, and drive the genesis and development of myriad things in the universe. They are mutually dependent; challenging each oth- beauty of vin. er and becoming each other at once.

The qualities of masculine vigor and feminine elegance displayed in Shen Yun dances are a profound example of the balance between vin and yang in traditional Chinese culture. The men's dances are mainly sharp, strong, energetic and athletic. They have a peculiar beauty of yang. The women's dances are mainly soft, curvy, delicate and graceful. They have a peculiar

As there are different degrees of masculinity and different types of femininity, there are also different styles of men's dances and women's dances. Shen Yun's choreographers make use of the interplay between yin and yang in extremyly ingenious ways, and have achieved a wealth of artistic expressions as pleasing to the senses as astounding to the intellect.

Board to name replacement after three-term member steps down

BY NATASHA WASINSKI Contributor

Niles Elementary School District 71 is seeking a board member to fill a vacancy left by longtime board member Karen Johnson.

Johnson gave notice of her immediate resignation to Secretary Mary Krueger last month.

"It had gotten to a point where I found difficult to support some things," Johnson told Pioneer Press.

First elected to the board in 2000, Johnson was in the middle of her third four-year term.

Johnson said she thought "long and hard" before deciding to leave because she was concerned about the message it would send to her kids and the community.

"I don't view myself as a quitter," she said. "I wrestled with that and what was the right thing to do."

Though she wouldn't go into specifics, Johnson said Culver School has "a lot of change coming, most of it good" that requires the staunch support of district officials.

"(For me) to stay on the board, it would not be fair to the district," she said.

"I don't have enough fight left in me."

During her board tenure Johnson had served as board president and vice president, and participated in the policy, curriculum and building and grounds committees.

Most recently she sat on the contract negotiation committee, which began meeting in January with Niles Council of Teachers Local 1274.

"She's been a very active member," Superintendent Amy Kruppe said of Johnson. "She has seen a lot of changes and has been through a lot of wonderful things."

Kruppe added: "I've enjoyed working with her."

Johnson said as a board member she was challenged to make decisions that impacted her two children, now in eighth grade and high school.

"I sat at that table and voted on things that were not in the best interests of my children but in the interest of the greater whole," she said. "It was one of the hardest things I had to do."

Johnson said selflessness is needed to make a difference in students' lives.

"I was there for all the kids. I believe every child deserves every opportunity," she said. Johnson said over the years she has appreciated officials' and administrators' hand-on approach to district operations because it instilled a sense of trust and transparency with their constituents.

"We think about what (our) actions say to public," she said. "We don't keep anything hidden."

Johnson added that board member service is an "honor and privilege." She said the School Board would benefit from filling her seat with a non-parent resident, such as a local business owner or retired senior citizen.

"(The district) would get a perspective that you otherwise wouldn't have," she said. "It would remind (the board) that (it) is responsible to more than just the school, but to the whole community."

The District 71 Board of Education discussed its member appointment process at its monthly meeting on Feb. 21.

District bylaws require that the board fill an empty seat within 45 days of a member's departure.

If a vacancy occurs with less than 60 percent of time remaining in the departed member's term, elections are not required and the appointee serves the remainder of the unexpired term.

VILLAGE BOARD Delinquent police fines to be seized from tax returns

BY TRACY GRUEN Contributor

A local debt-recovery program to help the village of Niles collect unpaid police fines by taking the money from state income-tax returns was approved by the Village Board of Trustees.

Niles Police Chief Dean Strzelecki reported last month at a village-board meeting that there is about $1.7 million in outstanding fines owed to the village. He said that amount has been accumulated during the past seven years.

Niles Finance Director Scot Neukirch said officials submitted a test file to the state of Illinois to be evaluated, and then the village will receive an estimate of what percentage it could expect to collect.

"I hope to get it all," Strzelecki said.

"We do what we can and then we go to the collection agency," Strzelecki said.

He explained that if someone has six outstanding tickets or $1,000 in fines, the village will notify the Secretary of State to get the violator's license suspended.

Neukirch said the village will continue working with a collection agency until officials know how effective the new program is.

Neukirch said there are some outstanding code violations and other areas in which the village is owed money, but police tickets have been the most challenging, as many are owed by people who are not residents of Niles.

The new program could potentially be used to recoup funds in other departments, but the village is starting with the Police Department.

"It's not unique to Niles," Strzelecki said at the board meeting. "A lot of towns have the same problem."

The program affects people who file and are owed an income-tax return from the state, or work for the state and are due a paycheck or pension, Neukirch explained.

MARCH 20 ELECTION

Some Niles voters to decide on pair of referendums in District 67

BY CATHRYN GRAN

Residents of Golf School District 67 on March 20 will have to decide whether they want to allow the district to increase the education/ operations-fund tax rate by .342 percent to 2.401 as the amount to be collected through property taxes.

The district also is seeking voter approval to issue $9.72 million in bonds to, among other projects, replace the heating/ventilation/air-conditioning units, sprinklers and plumbing at Golf Middle School, 9401 Waukegan Road, and Hynes School, 9000 Belleforte Ave.

For a District 67 resident in Morton Grove, approval of the operations referendum will cost a property owner an additional $47 and an additional $47 and an additional $31 for the bond issue for each $1,000 the owner now pays in district property taxes.

For a Niles District 67 resident, the numbers are $51 and $34, respectively.

The last time district voters approved a referendum was in 1969. 19

Trustees move forward with plans for $5M renovation

BY TRACY GRUEN

Contributor Niles Public Library trustees on Feb. 29 approved an architect's proposal for a renovation that comes with a price tag of more than $5 million.

The proposal includes the installation of a new heating system, creating a more attractive entrance and cafeteria area and adding an automatic check-in system for books. The teen area will also be relocated and will include a study

The proposal also includes a renovation cost of about $4 million, furniture for $525,196 and technological upgrades for $523,000. In addition, costs include a $376,000 design contract. At the Feb. 29 special board meeting trustees decided to remove an outdoor roof garden area from the plan, eliminating $193,000 from the total proposed cost.

'That's the cost of a home in Niles," library Trustee Morgan Dubiel said after the meeting.

Dubiel, who has been looking to reduce the cost of the project, had asked staff to create a list of projects in order of priority at the last board meeting the week before. He said he was disappointed that there was no priority list at the Feb. 29 meeting.

Library Director Linda Weiss said officials have listened to what the community wants and have included those items in the proposal.

Dublel said his top-priority areas to renovate are the front entrance, children's area and teen area.

According to Dubiel the library has $4.2 million in special reserves for construction, and he believes they shouldn't spend more than that amount for the renovation project.

"We're moving forward with no real strategic plan in place," Dubiel said.

Weiss contended that library officials have been working on the strategic plan for a long time.

A discussion of the library's strategic plan had been on the agenda for Feb. 29 but was postponed.

The board's next step will be the selection of a construction manager for the renovation project.

Traditional dances, vocalists, a violinist and African drumming will comprise the entertainment portion, while a fashion show will give students an opportunity to display traditional and contemporary clothing from their cultures. Visitors can try a variety of ethnic foods and beverages available at booths set up around the gym.

"International Celebration is a special event when, for a few hours in one location, everyone in attendance comes together to celebrate the cultural and social diversity that is a fundamental aspect of who we are and what we do at Maine East High School," Principal Michael Pressler said.

This year's International Celebration will mark the culmination of a weeklong event called "Springcoming 2012." Springcoming will feature a week of "cultural awareness activities" focusing on Maine East's international make-up, Pressler said. Students will also raise funds for a charitable cause.

Maine East alum donates 'Kuehl' $10K for disease studies

Dr. W. Michael Kuehl, a senior researcher for the National Cancer Institute and a 1957 graduate of Maine East High School in Park Ridge, recently donated $10,000 to the Maine Township Township High School District 207 Educational Foundation.

Kuehl's donation was made in honor of his mother, Anne Z. Kuehl, who served as the first female member of the District 207 Board of Education.

Kuehl has requested that his donation be used to direct District 207 students' attention to the study of environmental causes of disease. The foundation and the District 207 administration are creating a program in which teachers and students strive to create exemplary units of study and student projects. These will be acknowledged with monetary awards known as the "Kuehl Prizes."

At Kuehl's request District 207 teachers in all departments will be encouraged to submit proposals outlining units of study that will explore the environmental causes of disease in terms of scientific studies, but also in terms of politics, literature, the arts, music and health studies

Kuehl Prize projects submitted by students from Maine East, West, and South will be on display for District 207 students and the community during the 2012-13 school year.

A group of judges, which will include Kuehl, public-health professionals, District 207 staff and foundation members, will choose the winners of Kuehl prizes. They will be announced at the Educational Foundation Benefit Dinner in April 2013.

Kuehl received his undergraduate and medical degrees from Harvard University, completed post-doctoral research fellowships at the National Institutes of Health and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, and served as professor in the Department of Microbiology at the University of Virginia Medical School before coming to the National Cancer Institute in 1982.

DISTRICT 207 Dissolution of special-ed program cited in the majority of 25 lavoffs

Maine Township High School District 207 board members this month unanimously approved layoff notices that will be sent to 25 district employees.

"It's a routine, annual exercise," said David Beery, spokesman for District 207.

Of the 25 employees, 14 will be laid off due to the dissolution of Maine Township Special Education Program.

The remaining positions cut consist of two tenured teachers and nine part-time teachers.

This does not at all reflect the kind of budgetary issues that existed when we had the large reduction in force a few years ago," said Beery, referring to large reductions made in spring 2009.

Beery said in 2009 the district laid off 75 teachers and 62 noncertified employees.

At the March 5 board meeting staff explained that some of the employees may later be hired back by the district.

"That typically happens," said Beery, noting that no one is guaranteed to get their position back. "It has happened in the past."

Beery explained that the "reduction-in-force" notices need to be sent out 45 to 60 days prior to the end of the school year, depending on whether those being laid off are tenured teachers.

As for those laid off because of the dissolution of MTSEP, Beery said it's a good possibility that some of them will be hired by one of the school districts that are still part of that special-education cooperative.

Whether teachers are hired back depends on factors such as the final counts of students in various courses.

Agent hired to sell house donated to fund art scholarship program

BY TRACY GRUEN Contributor

Township · High Maine School District 207 on March 5 hired a real-estate agent to sell a home left to the district by longtime Maine East High School instructor Fred Bacon.

Bacon died in 2010 and left his home on the Northwest Side of Chicago, at 6600 N. Keota, and his possessions to the district.

It was Bacon's desire to have his home and varied items such as his art collection sold, and the money to then provide art scholarships for students attending Maine East High School.

The house has been appraised at $176,500, in addition to his "fairly large estate," according to Mary Kalou, assistant superintendent for business

"He had paintings and a lot of pottery that were sold," Kalou said.

Kalou explained that a couple years ago a Century 21 McMullen real-estate agent heard about the home and expressed a desire to work with the district at a reduced commission fee. According to a memo the district was unsuccessful with the sale through sealed bids.

Recently when the board sent out seven requests for quotes to different agencies, the same agent was the only one to respond. Kalou said she is confident the agent would have offered the lowest broker commission at 3.75 percent, even if other interested agents had been interested.

"I think it's being handled in the appropriate manner," said Michael Pressler, Maine East principal. "It's a fabulous opportunity for some kids at our school'

Last year the first art scholarship was given to a Maine East student who is now attending the Art Institute of Chicago.

Each year a $4,000 scholarship will be awarded to a senior at Maine East who is planning to get an art degree in college.

If a student is doing well academically the scholarship is renewable for up to four years.

ILLINOIS SPECIAL OLYMPICS FUNDRAISER Polar ice cop? Niles officer takes plunge for purpose

Sgt. Ron Brandt, of the Niles Police Department, on Feb. 25 braved the frigid waters of Lake Michigan in Evanston while participating in the Illinois Special Olympics Law Enforcement Torch Run's statewide fundraising event.

The goal of the "Polar Plunge" was to raise funds for more than 21,000 Special Olympics Illinois Traditional Athletes and more than 11,000 Young Athletes with and without intellectual disabilities who train and compete throughout the year.

Brandt raised more than $1,400 himself toward the fundraiser.

Anyone is interested in donating to the Illinois Special Olympics Law Enforcement Torch Run ma contact Sgt. Eric Lambrechts, (847) 588-6566.

Upcoming Illinois Special Olympics Law Enforcement Torch Run events include Cop on Top, June 15, and the Law Enforcement Torch Run on June 10.

NILES POLICE Mark Twain school locked down amid false report of man with knife

Mark Twain School in Niles was placed on lockdown the afternoon of March 7 following a report that a man armed with a knife and threatening suicide approached, according to an email from the school principal.

Niles police later learned that the suspect had not been armed, and that the intial report that he was proved false. Police contacted school officials about 3:05 p.m. and informed them of the situation, Principal Nichole Gross stated in the email.

"The police had received a phone call that a suicidal individual with a knife was heading toward the school," Gross stated. "Students, parents, and staff who were still on property were asked to move into the building. Students who were already on the bus were dismissed."

The suspect ran north and was eventually apprehended at Feldman Field House, at the corner of Kathy and Western. At 3:35 PM, everyone was allowed to leave the property, Gross explained.

"At no time was there any threat toward the school, students, or staff," Gross stated.

Niles police Sgt. Robert Tornabene reported that the suspect had been facing a mental-health issue at the time of the incident and that he was taken to Advocate Lutheran General Hosptial in Park Ridge.

Parents or others connected with the school who have questions about the incident should contact Gross at (847) 296-5341, or by email at ngross@emsd63.org.

POLICE BLOTTER

The following incidents were listed in the weekly bulletin prepared by the Niles Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest does not constitute a finding of guilt, Only a court of law can make that determination.

BURGLARY

A 53-year-old Niles man told police that on March 6 someone entered his residence on the 6800 block of Oakton Street when he was not home. The man said nothing appeared to be missing. An investigation was pending.

An 88-year-old Niles man told police that on March 6 at his home on the 6800 block of Seward he heard a loud noise at his back door and reportedly found the door to have been forcibly opened. The victim's son called 911. An investigation was pending.

VANDALISM

Someone between March 6 and March 7 reportedly spray-painted an obscene image of a male body part on the side wall outside a residence in the 7700 block of Oleander.

IDENTITY THEFT

A 20-year-old man who lives on the 9800 block of Huber, said someone used his Social Security number March 7 to apply for a tax refund. The victim said it is the third consecutive year a similar attempt has been made.

THEFT

Someone allegedly opened a victim's locked locker March 7 at a fitness center on the 6300 block of Touhy Avenue. The offender reportedly stole the victim's brown leather wallet containing $60, credit cards and an Illinois driver's license.

A 17-year-old Niles man said someone entered his 2007 Toyota between March 2 and March 5 in a parking lot on the 7500 block of Harlem, and stole his wallet and school ID card.

A 47-year-old woman reported that on March 5 another woman, between 35 and 45 years old, wearing dark clothing, took an iPhone from her purse while the bag was in a shopping cart at a grocery store on the 7900 block of Milwaukee Avenue. The value of the phone is estimated at $300.

THREATS

A 41-year-old Niles woman reported to police March 6 that her ex-boyfriend has been calling her home on the 7200 block of Lee since he was served with papers regarding child support. The suspect allegedly said that when he returned from a trip to Mexico he would hunt down the victim and make her pay.

WHITE EAGLE BANQUETS Taste of Morton Grove raises $45K for local organizations

BY CATHRYN GRAN

cgran@pioneerlocal.com

About 600 people attended the 24th annual Taste of Morton Grove on March 15.

Though final totals were not in, the event raised an estimated $45,000, said Jacky Liston, executive director of the Morton Grove Chamber of Commerce, which helped with the project.

Among the 25 organizations to benefit from the Taste are the Morton Grove Baseball and Softball Commission, the village Historical Society, Friends of the Morton Grove Forest Preserve, Misericordia, Autistic Kids Foundation and the American Brain Tumor Foundation.

This year the Morton Grove Foundation enlisted the assistance of 20 local restaurants, which donated the food and the time, Karp said.

NORTHRIDGE PREP

K-9 visit adds bite to law enforcement class

BY TRACY GRUEN

Contributor

The star of a recent Niles police presentation at North-Preparatory School ridge wasn't a police officer or commander 7 it was a four-legged local nero named Odin.

Niles Police Officer Marijo Zawilla brought her partner, Odin, a Belgian Malinois, to participate in a canine demonstration in the gymnasium at Northridge Prep in Niles on Feb. 21. The demonstration was for students in a new CSI class at Northridge.

During the demonstration. Odin quickly searched the walls, chairs and other items for 1 gram of marijuana that Zawilla hid earlier. The K-9 found the illegal substance in less than a minute.

Students at Northridge Prep watched in amazement as the dog quickly sniffed out the drugs.

Later in the demonstration, a man dressed in a puffy protective suit came in and was pretending to be an offender. On command, Odin ran up to the man and started biting and pulling on the arm of the body suit.

A few weeks ago, Odin was instrumental in two real armed robberies that took place in Niles and he recently located heroin in a vehicle.

"They need a lot of confidence to do this job," Zawilla said of the dogs. She has been training with Odin for three years.

In order to help boost the dogs' confidence, Zawilla said that in training they often let the dog win.

So, what motivates Odin to listen to his partner? Surprising, it is not dog treats. It's a game of tug-of-war.

As a reward, Odin receives a few minutes of tug-of-war play with a chew toy and his tail wagged enthusiastically during the Northridge demonstration when he was given a chance to play short games.

Students had an opportunity to ask questions in-between the two demonstrations. Zawilla shared that Odin only understands Dutch since he's from Holland, but Zawilla is able to communicate with him through hand signals.

Zawilla explained that some dogs are friendly with strangers and others are more protective. Odin is only friendly around Zawilla and her family, she said. When her son is gone for periods of time, she has Odin smell his cloth-

Students seemed to enjoy the presentation.

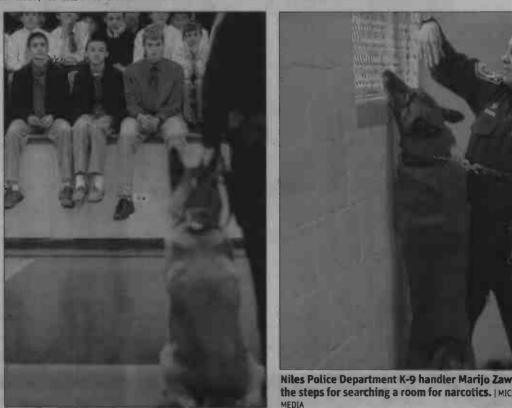

"I thought it was really interesting," said Bobby Harig, a 10th-grader at Northridge.

Bill Whalen, dean of students, started the CSI class at Northridge this year and has had various members of law enforcement talk to the students. Students have also visited the Niles Police Department.

"I just want to expose the kids to different kinds of law enforcement," Whalen said.

Real estate information goes green

BY JULIE MORSE Realty Insites

Green is the color of the month — from St. Patrick's Day, to spring bulbs, and now to the Multiple Listing Service.

At the recommendation of green-certified Realtors, and to better serve environmentally-conscious consumers, Midwest Real Estate Data (MRED) has recently integrated a variety of green design, disclosure and data verification elements to its MLS listing service for the Chicagoland area. This information is either noted on the main listing, or accessed under the Additional Information link on online listings. Some, like Walk Score, pertain to all homes. Others are relevant only to new or retrofitted green homes, such as LEED-certified houses, which hold to the highest of green standards as determined by government agencies.

Walk Score has been around for several years as an independent international measurement of a home's walkability and convenience factors; the inclusion of Walk Score's data on Chicagoland home listings was just recently instituted. Ratings vary according to the home's proximity to stores, schools, transportation and restaurants — so, for example, an in-town house would typically carry a high walkability rating and a country home would likely have a car-dependent rating. Four metrics are also generated: drive times and estimated fuel cost; public transit options and time frames; walk and bike time; and common routes displayed on a map. Overall, responses to the green additions have been well-received by Realtors and consumers alike, as educational tools like Walk Score are enhancements to the larger home-buying library of information. But, there may still be a few local glitches to work out. For example, Realtors in walk-to-everything East Lake Bluff have noted that lower-walkability scores have been applied to highwalkablity homes in their town due to insufficient or incorrect data regarding small local markets, restaurants and other institutions that the big system has missed. So double-check the information.

According to Jeff Lasky, MRED Director of Communications and Training, "People should note that Walk Score is a Wiki-like communitypased site, dependent on information the public feeds into it. If people see any discrepancies, they should go to the Walk Score website to correct it. The information is out there, and MRED's goal is to make it more convenient for our users."

There are other new tools available to consumers on the MLS related to green choices. For example, they and their Realtors can now search by green parameters, like LEED certification or energy efficiency ratings. To better protect consumers from green-washing --- ill-informed marketing practices that are perceived to make a home sound more environmentally friendly than it might really be - there are also up to 14 different disclosures that green builders or home retrofitters making green claims can fill out to stand by those assertions. These enhancements also make it easier for appraisers to gain better access to green and utility-savings information when it comes to secure green financing for so-designated properties. Political novice takes on Jan Schakowsky for her 'safe seat'

In the 2010 general election, liberal Democrat Rep. Jan Schakowsky was opposed for re-election by a real scrapper on the right, Joel Pollak, as well as by a mild-mannered Green Party candidate, Simon Ribeiro.

Political handicappers thought Pollak, who did his best to paint Schakowsky as soft on Israel, might give her a run for her money. But Schakowsky won decisively, doubling Pollak's vote and, of course, leaving Ribeiro in the dust.

The lesson: Schakowsky, who has served the North Side and north suburban 9th District in Congress since 1999 - after a decade in the Illinois House enjoys about as safe a seat as a seat can be.

This time around, Pollak is gone. He is not running in the GOP primary. But Ribeiro is back, this time taking on Schakowsky in the Democratic primary.

Nobody is predicting an upset.

In her 13 years in Washington, Schakowsky, 67, has built a record as one of the most progressive members of Congress, to the point of giving a certain more moderate Democrat, President Barack Obama, occasional grief. She has consistently urged Obama to stand more firm in negotiations with Republicans on Capitol Hill, and she was among the last Democrats to sign on to the president's landmark Affordable Care Act — because she wanted stronger pro-choice abortion provisions. She is a leader in the House on women's issues.

Ultimately, Schakowsky says, she voted for the health-care reform package, though it fell short of what she had fought for, because compromise was necessary to achieve a greater good. Unfortunately, she says, Republicans have thrown out the spirit of compromise.

"That's our business, to compromise," Schakowsky said, in a meeting with members of the Chicago Sun-Times Editorial

BY SUN-TIMES MEDIA Board. "That's what we do."

Battle lines are being drawn in Washington, she said, because the nation is "at a real crossroads" when it comes to "values and the soul of the country." Democrats and Republicans, she said, hold fundamentally different views on the role of government, whom government should serve. and issues such as the growing income gap.

Ribeiro, 30, is a Catholic high school teacher and a former public school substitute teacher, jobs in which he says he has seen first-hand the consequences of our nation's misplaced priorities - spending far too much on wars abroad and the "war on drugs," rather than, for example, on education.

He would oppose bombing Iran, if it came to that, to stop it from building a nuclear bomb. And he would decriminalize marijuana.

When asked whether the administrations of either President George W. Bush or Obama have pursued any policies that might be unconstitutional. Ribeiro singled out the Patriot Act, enacted under Bush and reauthorized under Obama. He said it gives the government far too much power to probe American citizens' private records and communications. Ribeiro also said he's troubled that Obama signed the National Defense Authorization Act, which allows the military to indefinitely detain terror suspects, including American citizens arrested in the United States, without charge.

Schakowsky, though an Obama loyalist in Washington, has been a consistent critic of both Bush and Obama on civil liberty and human rights issues. The United States, she said, needs "a national conversation" on the proper use of drone attacks and private military contractors, such as the company formerly known as Blackwater. Those sorts of arms-reach tactics, she said, could be the troubling "future of warfare."

Lincolnwood orchestra presents new Korean music

BY ELIZABETH OWENS-SCHIELE

When the Lincolnwood Chamber Orchestra performs "Sounds of Korea" on Sunday, March 18 at the Lincolnwood Community Center, founder and music director Philip Simmons will introduce Isang Yun's Tapis for Strings and two works commissioned by the Sejong Cultural Society especially for this concert: wu-ri-no-rae (our song) by Chicago composer Eun Young Lee and Images from Folk Tales for Violin and String Orchestra by Sung-Ki Kim.

Violinist Jennifer Cha also performs Fritz Kreisler's Praeludium and Allegro at the concert that spotlights Korean classical music and performers.

A violinist since the age of 4, Cha, who hails from Seoul, Korea, said, "I love playing Korean pieces and performing them for audiences because as a Korean-American, I feel that it is very important to raise the awareness of Korean culture."

Cha, 15, who now lives in Naperville, explained that, "I have a special connection to Korean music having been exposed to traditional Korean culture growing up in Korea. Most of all, I like that I can bring life to the notes on the page."

New works

Cha will be performing a newly commissioned Korean piece composed by Sung-Ki Kim, who is the head of the music composition department at the Korean National University of Arts in Seoul.

The 20-piece string Lincolnwood Chamber Orchestra will be led by Philip Simmons, its founder and music director, who also founded the American Music Festivals.

"Those in attendance will hear some of the finest Korean classical music ever written and be treated to a stellar performance by one of Chicago's most talented young violinists," said Simmons, who founded AMF as a nonprofit corporation in 1997 to promote cultural exchange and American music in the United States and abroad.

AMF represents the Chicagobased Lincolnwood Chamber Orchestra, and Orchestra of the Hawaiian Islands where Simmons now lives, and participates in a variety of programs of international exchange. Last November, the Lincolnwood Chamber Orchestra performed with the Sones de Mexico Ensemble in the Pilsen neighborhood, and is currently working with Chicago's Bulgarian and Bosnian communities.

In addition to Sunday's performance, AMF also is planning a presentation on Korean music for District 74 students at Lincoln Hall Middle School on Friday, March 16.

"Korea seemed like a good fit to promote 'world music' in Lincolnwood," Simmons said, "and we found a wonderful partner in the Sejong Cultural Society."

Korean music is composed of simple folk tunes and melodies, describes Cha, yet ornamental elements generating excitement and flavor are interwoven into the melody to make it "virtuostic" and meandering throughout the piece.

"The 'Sounds of Korea' are very open and flowing," said Cha. "There are also many signature stylistic elements such as accents and slides. Open strings are widely used to mimic traditional Korean instruments such as the Gayageum and the Daegeum."

Korean subtleties

"This is brilliant music that challenges the performer, but is never self-indulgent," Simmons said. "Korean music is closely linked to the pentatonic scale, with memorable and charming melodies that are often bittersweet. The Korean composers use a variety of interesting effects for the strings including exaggerated glissandi and other percussive techniques, evoking the sounds of their native instruments. The music is simultaneously sophisticated and sensitive, it is very unique."

As the ensemble explored the music of the Far East, members also immersed themselves in the culture and tradition of Korea to better understand the music and the philosophy behind it.

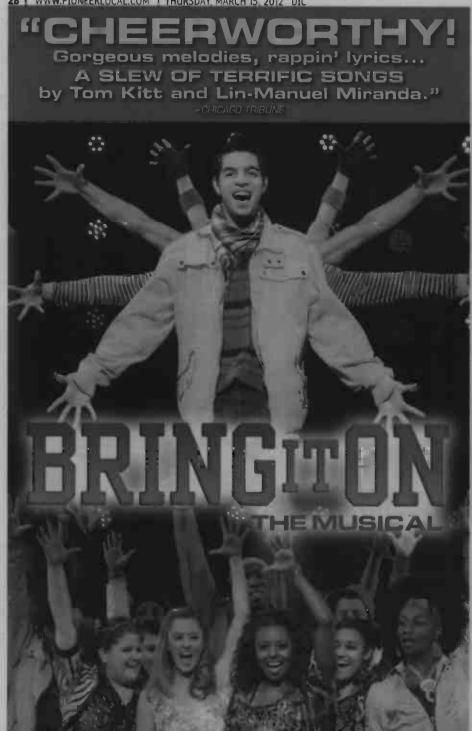

Phillip Simmons

"To me, Korean music and folklore are very personal and poignantly introverted," Simmons said. "One is always present to nature, and the mountains and the sea."

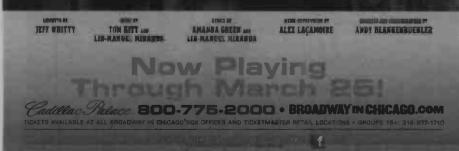

Simmons said the music performed at the concert represents the folk traditions central to Korean life that dates back much further than the division between North and South Korea, and remains common to both countries.

"I hope to bring the audience a concert full of passion," Cha said. "If I could convey my love for Korean music and music in general to the audience, and make them fall in love with it as well, that would be my dream as a performer."

"GENERATES AN IMMENSE, ULTIMATELY IRRESISTIBLE PHYSICAL DELIGHT

Kids will learn about — and even touch — some exotic animals at the Exploritorium in Skokie at 11 a.m. March 24.

Exploritorium lets kids meet amazing critters

BY MYRNA PETLICKI Contributor

Children will meet a variety of exotic creatures when Skokie's Exploritorium presents Amazing Animals from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. March 24 at the Oakton Community Center, 4701 Oakton St.

The event begins in the multipurpose room where the presenters will show kids and parents animals they might not normally see.

"Some of the animals [they] will be able to be pet," said Mary Grear, Exploritorium and special events supervisor for the Skokie Park District. "The children will learn a little bit about the animals' habits - what they eat, where they live, their different environments."

There will be time for audience members to ask questions during the 45-minute presentation.

"Then the families can go downstairs and play in the Exploritorium until 1 p.m.," Grear said.

The cost is $5 per person for residents, $7 for nonresidents. The show is recommended for ages 3 and older.

For details, call (847) 674-1500, ext. 2700, or visit skokieparks.org/exploritorium.

Dino might

The author of 34 books on dinosaurs will share her knowledge with families during Dinosaur Encounter at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Eisenhower Public Library, 4613 N. Oketo, Harwood Heights. Janet Riehecky will bring along more than 40 fossils and museum-quality replicas. Registration is required. For details, call (708) 867-7828 or visit eisenhowerlibrary.org.

Skate to celebrate

You and your kids don't have to wear green to the St. Patrick's Day Skate from 12:05 to 1:20 p.m. Saturday at IceLand, 8435 Ballard Road, Niles - but it might be nice. After all, they will be playing Irish tunes while you skate. Admission is $5, $3 for skate rental.

For details, call (847) 297-8010 or visit niles-parks.org.

Crafty way to mark the day

You also can join a St. Patrick's Day Celebration at the Skokie Heritage Museum, 8031 Floral Ave., from 1 to 2 p.m. Saturday. Kids 4 and older, with a parent, will learn a little about Irish culture and St. Patrick. Then kids can make a simple Irish craft at this family event. Cost is $5 per child for residents, $7 for nonresidents.

For details, call (847) 674-1500, ext. 3000, or visit skokieparks.org.

Merry young time

Singing, dancing and instrument playing are all planned for the Merry Music Makers family music class for ages 1 month to 5 years with an adult, from 10:20 to 10:50 a.m. or 11 to 11:30 a.m. Monday at the Park Ridge Public Library, 20 S. Prospect Ave. Reservations are required.

For details, call (847) 825-3123 or visit parkridgelibrary.org.

21 JUMP STREET

Going back to high school might not seem so bad — if you had a badge and a gun within easy reach.

Those items don't do much to help the clueless undercover cops who are assigned to bust a high school drug ring in this rude and crude, but surprisingly clever and occasionally hilarious parody of the late-'80s Fox TV show that launched the career of Johnny Depp. Popularity, figuring out how to be cool, coping with girls and parents and coaches and teachers those are the real death traps in this "21 Jump Street." Drug dealers and motorcycle gangs are child's play.

In fact, the framework of the original "Jump Street," which featured Depp and crew as undercover agents posing as high school students, begins to seem like an awkward contrivance whenever the plot swings back around to police business. What this at-times-inspired action/comedy remake dreamed up by co-star Jonah Hill and screenwriter Michael Bacall ("Project X") and directed by the guys who made the similarly crazed animated comedy "Cloudy With a Chance of Meatballs" does best involves taking a ridiculous premise and making it far, far more outrageous. Not to mention foulmouthed, politically incorrect and insanely violent. In other words, don't expect much of an homage to the original show, if you're in the mood for nostalgia. (Depp actually shows up for an uncredited cameo at one point, but what happens to him was definitely not part of the original "Jump Street" playbook.)

What do we get instead? Hill and Channing Tatum as a surprisingly effective comedy duo, for one thing, playing undercover officers Schmidt and Jenko, respectively. This is a major revelation from Tatum, very funny throughout and clearly having a blast playing off of his image as a hunky but not-so-bright action/romance leading man. The new "Jump Street" opens with a flashback to Hill and Tatum during their high school days, when each was a loser in his own way - though dorky Schmidt, as a member of the Jugglers Society with a horrific Eminem dyed-blonde haircut, was much more a crash-and-burn victim than football hero Jenko, who basically couldn't make the grade in class. This unlikely pair bonds during police academy training, swapping brains and brawn as needed. The same applies to their early days as park bicycle patrolmen, where a botched drug arrest of bikers from the One Percenters gang (one example of the film's plentiful throwaway laughs) leads them in disgrace to the recently revived Jump Street squad - a deadend initiative dreamed up by some bureaucrat "recycling old '80s garbage and hoping we won't notice." That assessment, by the way, is delivered by Jump Street Capt. Dickson (Ice Cube, throwing an f-bomb every third word), only he doesn't say "garbage."

Jonah Hill and Channing Tatum star in "21 Jump Street," a new comedy based loosely on the '80s television series.

"Embrace your stereotype!" Capt. Dickson tells his new recruits before sending them back to their old alma mater in secret: Schmidt meant to infiltrate the dork/ geek contingent while Jenko works the popular-jock angle. Unfortunately, a misunderstanding leads to each going down the other's preassigned high school track, where much role-reversal comedy ensues. What's more, a lot has changed in the years since our heroes left high school: Now environmentalism and tolerance is in and the big drug dealer on campus (David Franco, brother of James) sings protest songs about recycling.

You have to admire a film that turns out to be so much better than anyone had any right to expect, and that applies to the new "Jump Street" - though it certainly isn't going to win any new converts to the Hard R-rated school of comedy. For every example of pure gross-out comedy, there are at least one or two instances in which the film earns its laughs through more sophisticated means: by undercutting genre expectations (anticipated explosions tend to fizzle), deflating the fantasies of its protagonists and still ringing true, for the most part, about the universally endured horrors of secondary education.

Unless you were homeschooled, there's bound to be something in "21 Jump Street" that makes you laugh. Don't be surprised, though, if you cringe first. DIC THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 2012 | WWW.PIONEERLOCAL.COM | 3B

FILM CLIPS OPENING FRIDAY

FOOTNOTE

Rated: PG for thematic elements, brief nudity, language and smoking

Stars: Shlomo Bar-Aba, Lior Ashkenazy, Aliza Rosen The competition between a father and son (Bar-Aba, Rosen) who both are ambitious Talmudic scholars reaches a new peak when the father receives a high honor. Joseph Cedar ("Beaufort") directed the drama. In Hebrew with subtitles.

21 JUMP STREET

Rated: R for crude and sexual content, pervasive language, drug material, teen drinking and some violence

Stars: Jonah Hill, Channing Tatum

■ Two inept young cops (Hill and Tatum) go undercover at their old high school to bust a drug ring. Phil Lord and Chris Miller ("Cloudy With a Chance of Meatballs") directed the action-comedy. Reviewed in this section.

CASA DE MI PADRE

Rated: R for bloody violence, language, some sexual content and drug use Stars: Will Ferrell, Gael Garcia Bernal, Diego Luna The Alvarez brothers (Ferrell and Luna) find themselves in a war with Mexico's most feared drug lord (Bernal) when they vow to protect their father's ranch. "Saturday Night Live" writer Matt Piedmont directed the comedy.

JEFF, WHO LIVES AT HOME

Rated: R for language including sexual references and some drug use Stars: Jason Segel, Ed Helms, Susan Sarandon ■ A slacker (Segel) bonds with his disparaging brother (Helms) while helping him investigate his wife's possible infidelity. Jay and Mark Duplass ("Cyrus") wrote and directed the comedy.

SEEKING JUSTICE

Rated: R for violence, language and brief sexuality

Stars: Nicolas Cage, Guy Pearce, January Jones ■ After his wife is assaulted, a husband (Cage) makes a deal with a vigilante group to punish her attacker — then learns they expect a favor in return.

STILL PLAYING

GOOD DEEDS

Rated: PG-13 for sexual content, language, some violence and thematic material Stars: Tyler Perry, Gabrielle Union, Thandie Newton

A successful businessman (Perry) finds his well-ordered life changing when he becomes involved with a cleaning woman (Newton) in his office building. Perry also wrote and directed the romance.

JOHN CARTER

Rated: PG-13 for intense sequences of violence and action Stars: Taylor Kitsch, Lynn Collins, Willem Dafoe Any chance that "Tarzan" author Edgar Rice Burroughs' second most famous creation might catch on with the general public pretty much bites the red Martian dust with this muchanticipated, mega-budgeted misfire from Pixar wizard Andrew Stanton ("Wall-E"). There are a fair number of impressively entertaining scenes in this tale of a transplanted Civil War hero (Kitsch) fighting to save a Martian princess (Collins), yet somehow the story fails to come to truly fantastic, adventurous life.

DR. SEUSS' THE LORAX

Rated: PG for brief mild language

Stars: Danny DeVito, Zac Efron, Betty White, Ed Helms A young boy who learns how a mysterious old hermit (Helms) turned a natural paradise into a wasteland decides to make a difference in his home town. Chris Renaud and Kyle Balda ("Despicable Me") directed this animated adaptation of the Dr. Seuss tale.

SALMON FISHING IN THE YEMEN

Rated: PG-13 for some violence, sexual content and brief language

Stars: Ewan McGregor, Emily Blunt

A fisheries expert (McGregor) is asked by a wealthy sheik to bring the sport of fly fishing to his desert.

THE SECRET WORLD OF ARRIETTY * * * *

Rated: G

Stars: Bridgit Mendler, Amy Poehler, Will Arnett ■ This warm, glowing adventure from Japan's Studio Ghibli has master animator Hayao Miyazaki's ("My Neighbor Totoro," "Spirited Away" and many more —all must-sees) patented sense of heroism and wonder — despite being directed by a protege. The intrepid daughter of a tiny family (based on the classic children's book "The Borrowers") living under the floor of a country house, braves the unknown after being discovered by a kindly, but sickly, boy. Something special.

WANDERLUST ★★★

Rated: R for sexual content, graphic nudity, language and drug use

Stars: Paul Rudd, Jennifer Aniston, Ken Marino Producer ludd Apatow's Hard-R-rated touch is lightly applied in this surprisingly low-key and consistently entertaining comedy romance. Unemployed and homeless yuppies George and Linda (Rudd and Aniston, nicely matched) can't quite get comfortable - not with George's piggish ultracapitalist brother (Marino) or the neo-hippie commune they stumble into on the road. Fortunately, they learn what's most important in life: doors.

An Evening of Solo Piano Improvisations

Symphony Center favorite Keith Jarrett returns for a solo evening celebrating his latest CD, Rio. Recorded in April 2011 at the oper a house in Rio de Janeiro, Rio "represents Jarrett at his most" exuberant" (The Guardian), Jarrett's unique solo evenings feature everything from African and Latin vamps to timeless standards. In 2010, the Chicago Tribune wrote that his solo performance "conjured a wholly distinct world of tones, fextures and musical identis."

NEW ON VIDEO Mild Payne and apocalypse wow

BY BRUCE INGRAM Film Critic

NEW THIS WEEK

Rated: R for language including some sexual references Stars: George Clooney, Judy Greer, Matthew Lillard Not up to writer/director Alexander Payne's ("Sideways") previous efforts in terms of sharp-edged, acerbic brilliance (Academy Award notwithstanding), but quietly satisfying nonetheless. No big dramatic moments here, but plenty of nicely observed small ones, as devoted family man Clooney struggles to cope while his unfaithful wife lies in a coma and his teenage girls threaten to unravel. Extras include deleted scenes, music videos and "A Conversation With Alexander Payne and

George Clooney."

Rated: R for some graphic nudity, sexual content and language

Stars: Kirsten Dunst, Charlotte Gainsbourg, Kiefer Sutherland Controversial Danish

director Lars Von Trier juxtaposes global catastrophe and chamber drama as a fantastically wealthy and fantastically miserable family lives a last few days before a rogue planet smashes into the Earth. There are moments of haunting beauty, particularly in the film's eight-minute visual overture to the apocalypse. But "Melancholia" is also a cold, contemptuous, misanthropic piece of work, with a philosophy blending nihilism and petulance.

RECENT RELEASES

IMMORTALS

Rated: R for sequences of strong bloody violence, and a scene of sexuality Stars: Henry Cavill, Mickey Rourke, John Hurt More entertaining than you might expect, especially compared to last year's punishingly bad "Clash of the Road warriors: George Clooney and Shailene Woodley star in "The Descendants," now out on video.

Titans." "Immortals" boils the ancient Greek myth of Theseus down to a grudge match between our boy (future Man of Steel Cavill), and barbaric King Hyperion (Rourke), who is not a nice man at all. There's plenty of hacking, bludgeoning, blood-geysering 3-D carnage, but the real treat is the spectacular CGI eyecandy dreamed up by director Tarsem Singh ("The Fall").

JACK AND JILL

Rated: PG for crude material including suggestive references, language and comic violence

Stars: Adam Sandler, Al Pacino, Katie Holmes A one-joke movie and it's not a very good joke: Sandler doubles as L.A. advertising producer Jack and his obnoxious, braying, spectacularly needy identical-twin sister Jill. Every Thanksgiving, Jill makes Jack's life miserable by flying in for a visit and lack heaps abuse on his sister in front of his family - hilarious. What could be worse? How about Jack trying to hook up his sister with love-struck Pacino, so the "Godfather" star will appear in a Dunkin' Donuts commercial? Shockingly bad.

1960s, but the global use of plastic bags and bottles has become a major environmental threat. This Docurama documentary explores the problem and proposes solutions.

HAPPY FEET TWO Tap-dancing Emperor penguin Mumble (Elijah Wood) returns in this sequel to the 2006 hit, this time helping his son cope with misfit problems. George Miller ("Mad Max") returns to direct the animated family comedy. Rated PG for some rude humor and mild peril.

THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD IN TWO HOURS

As the title suggests, this A&E documentary tells the 14-billion-year story of planet Earth in 120 minutes — most likely skipping over a few details.

THE LAST TEMPTATION OF CHRIST

Martin Scorsese's controversial 1988 film imagining an alternative fate for Jesus Christ gets the Criterion Collection Blu-ray treatment including a restored hi-definition digital transfer. Extras include commentary by Scorsese, production stills, research materials, location footage shot by Scorsese, and an interview with composer Peter Gabriel.

MY WEEK WITH MARILYN One of Sir Laurence Olivier's employees (Eddie Redmayne) documents tensions between Olivier (Kenneth Branagh) and Marilyn Monroe (Michelle Williams) during the production of "The Prince and the Showgirl." The drama was directed by British TV veteran Simon Curtis. Extras include commentary with Curtis. Rated R for some language.

THE THREE MUSKETEERS Hot-headed young

D'Artagnan (Logan Lerman) teams with three down-ontheir luck Musketeers (Luke Evans, Ray Stevenson, Matthew Macfadyen) to prevent a beautiful double-agent (Milla Jovovich) from overthrowing the French throne. Paul W.S. Anderson ("Death Race") directed the adaptation of Alexander Dumas' classic. Rated PG-13 for sequences of adventure action violence. Extras include deleted and extended scenes and commentary.

WALLACE & GROMIT'S THE WORLD OF INVENTION

■ This six-part BBC series features Wallace as the host introducing viewers to unusual real-world contraptions.

NEXT WEEK

■ The Japanese films that partially inspired "The Hunger Games" come to home video in "Battle Royale: The Complete Collection," while the parade of Oscar nominees continues with "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo," "The Muppets," and "Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy."

This week and beyond.

Tickets are from $35.00 to $60.00 Group, senior and student tickets are available

The Red Star Red Army Chorus and Dance Ensemble returns to the United States for its 20th Anniversary since their very exciting debut tour of 1992. During the last 20 years, the Ensemble has performed in over 150 American cities with sellout performances in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Miami, Boston, just to name a few.

... the dancers executed a number of flambovant, oravity-defvino maneuvers, including pirouettes and leaps. At the same time, they didn't wander too far from the graceful poise grounded in years of formal ballet training." - Chicago Tribune.

Mike Doughty says what he thinks

BY J.T. MORAND jtmorand@pioneerlocal.com

Anyone who has read Mike Doughty's memoir, The Book of Drugs, might get the feeling the singer/guitarist doesn't want to talk about his former band Soul Coughing, like the book said everything he had to say about the subject.

In it, he tells the story of playing a solo show in New Orleans after the band split up, when a woman came up to him and implored him to get back together with his friends. However, he's made it clear up to that point in the book that the other musicians who made up Soul Coughing are not his friends. After he told the woman that's not going to happen, she asked how he'll play "Casiotone Nation". without the rest of Soul Coughing. He yelled in her face that he's not going to play that song.

No names

Doughty also doesn't mention the names of his former band members - Yuval Gabay, Sebastian Steinberg and Mark De Gli Antoni - in the book; he refers to them only as "the drummer," "the bass player" and "the sampler player."

But, the shows that make up his current tour called "The Book of Drugs: Concert, Reading, Q&A," which pulls into S.P.A.C.E. in Evanston, on March 22, and The Montrose Room, in Rosemont, on March 23, are your chance to safely ask questions about his relationship with Soul Coughing, the alternative rock band that somehow survived eight years, 1992 through 2000. Their best known single is "Super Bon Bon" off the 1996 album "Irresistible Bliss."

The tour is also in support of his two most recent solo albums, "Yes and Also Yes," which was released last year, and "The Question Jar Show," a live, two-disc album released in February.

Doughty doesn't pull any punches in the book or in conversation when it comes to Soul Coughing. He can't stand being referred to as "Mike Doughty of Soul Coughing" because "of" indicates the present tense. He doesn't want to be associated with the other members whom, he says, own a majority interest in the songs he wrote, even the ones he wrote before meeting them.

The Soul Coughing years were dark, they were a time when his consumption of drugs transitioned from recreational to addiction.

"This tour is very specifically about answering the gnarly questions about Soul Coughing and talking about the darkness and the hurtfulness of those years," he said. "So, yeah, I welcome questions about that."

In the book, he tells of Soul Coughing fans showing up to his solo shows and shouting the titles of Soul Coughing songs, not knowing how much it hurt him. However, since the book was published in February, he's received apologies from fans.

"Now, it seems people are just startled by how dark it was," he said. "Now I'm getting people coming up and saying, 'I'm so glad you told me this. I'm so sorry for velling out, "Soul Coughing," in the middle of the shows. People appear to be genuinely shocked."

Doughty writes in The Book of Drugs about his self-esteem sinking to an all-time low during the Soul Coughing years and for a while after. At times, he believed the criticism from band members and from Soul Coughing fans.

Sobered up

But, since he sobered up 12 years ago, he's much happier and he's confident his songs are good. He can even laugh at the song "Na Na Nothing" from "Yes and Also Yes," which lists as co-writers Nikki Sixx of Motley Crue, Matthew Gerrard, who co-wrote and produced songs on the "High School Musical" soundtrack, and Dan Wilson, who has credits on Adele's album "21."

He said he lifted a small part from a song the three of them wrote, which he referred to as "a jaw-dropper of bad songness" to put in "Na Na Nothing" and therefore had to credit them. His song, however, is not bad songness.

"I felt like all the songs and all the recordings are exactly what I wanted them to be." he said. "I found so much satisfaction, I was so engaged with the music. It's been really amazing. It continues to be that way."

steppenwolf 12/13 SEASON

There comes a moment when we are called to account. Will our deeds be repaid? Will our secrets be revealed? Will we get what we deserve?

Five stories about what happens when the past comes knocking.

GOOD PEOPLE

SEPTEMBER 13 - NOVEMBER 11, 2012

By Pulitzer Prize-winner DAVID LINDSAY-ABAIRE Directed by ensemble member K. TODD FREEMAN

ALANA ARENAS, MARIANN MAYBERRY and MOLLY REGAN

When Margie Walsh loses her job at a South Boston dollar store, she reaches out to her old friend and flame Mike, a Southie boy who made good when he became a successful doctor. What begins as an attempt to hit Mike up for a job takes on a threatening cast when Margie realizes the power that secrets from Mike's past life hold over his current one.

THE MOTHERFKER WITH THE HAT

DECEMBER 27, 2012 - MARCH 3, 2013

By STEPHEN ADLY GUIRGIS Directed by ensemble member ANNA D. SHAPIRO

Things are on the up-and-up for recovering alcoholic Jackie and girlfriend Veronica until Jackie spots another man's hat in their apartment and embarks on a sublimely incompetent criminal quest for vengeance. Fast-paced and uproarious, Mother asks probing questions about the havoc addiction wreaks. Ensemble member Anna D. Shapiro, director of Mother's acclaimed Broadway premiere, returns to direct the Steppenwolf production.

THE BIRTHDAY PARTY

JANUARY 24 - MAY 19, 2013

By HAROLD PINTER Directed by ensemble member AUSTIN PENDLETON

IAN BARFORD, FRANCIS GUINAN, MOIRA HARRIS and JOHN MAHONEY

Petey, Meg and long-time tenant Stanley live dull, comfortable lives in a seaside English boarding house—until two mysterious men appear, hoping to rent a room. When the group gathers to celebrate Stanley's birthday, alliances are shattered and re-drawn, leaving each character teetering on a precipice. Lambasted by critics during its 1958 premiere, Nobel laureate Harold Pinter's play has since gained a reputation as a twentiethcentury dark-comic classic.

HEAD OF PASSES

APRIL 4 - JUNE 9, 2013

TÁRELL ALVIN MCCRANEY Directed by ensemble member TINA LANDAU

ALANA ARENAS, K. TODD FREEMAN, JON MICHAEL HILL, TIM HOPPER and JAMES VINCENT MEREDITH

Shelah's family and friends plan a surprise birthday party for her. But the festivities are quickly over-shadowed by a series of revelations that point to a dark secret in the family's past—revelations that leave Shelah trying to find faith, a footing and a truer sense of God.

JUNE 27 - AUGUST 25, 2013

Directed by ANNE KAUFFMAN

ALANA ARENAS and KATE ARRINGTON

and Abby live an enviably hip existence in up-and-coming Belleville, Paris. But a single encounter in the apartment they rent from landlords Alioune and Amina drastically tips the scales, revealing their idyllic life's feeble foundations. Anne Kauffman, director of Belleville's Yale Repertory Theatre premiere, directs this taut, thrilling exploration of the power of a lie.

Accordion master stays true to his art

BY DONALD LIEBENSON

Contributor

To hear Joe Martino, "The Great One Man Orchestra," perform is to be transported back to a bygone era when the accordion ruled. Where Martino grew up (Harwood Heights) and when he grew up (the late '50s and '60s), boys and girls, most likely the children of immigrants, wanted to play the accordion. More than 50 years later, he still does.

Martino is the co-headliner with Loris Giannoni, "DJ Italian Gold," for "Primavera al Pescatore," a Springtime dance to be held Saturday, March 17 at Pescatore Palace in Franklin Park. Cocktails begin at 6:30 p.m., with dinner served at 7:30.

The evening will feature the Ballo Liscio style of ballroom dancing, primarily waltzes, polkas, tangos, tarantellas, and mazurkas, with some sambas and swing music for good measure.

Rock guitar, exemplified by the Beatles, quenched the accordion star, but Martino, 60, has remained true to his first love. He started accordion lessons when he was seven, his family lured by the local music school's offer of six free lessons.

"They went to elementary schools to canvass," Martino said in a phone interview. "Boys and girls, the children of Italian, Polish, German, and Irish immigrants, would be taken by their parents to accordion school."

Accordion heyday

Martino studied for nineand-a-half years with Vince Geraci, whom Martino dubs "the Liberace of the accordion." It was the heyday of the folk instrument. Accordion schools flourished through the Chicago area, he said, while entertainers such as Myron Floren, who played with iconic bandleader Lawrence Welk, and Dick Contino were featured on television. Granted, the guitar was cooler, but for Martino, himself the son of Italian immigrants who nurtured their son's love of Italian music and culture, the accordion was "a dynamic expressive instrument" that remains "ingrained in me."

Music lessons were "a family outing," he recalled fondly. "The mother, father, sister, brother, everyone went. It was an era of family unity. I am very thankful that I had a family that cared and supported me that way."

Martino's pursuit of the accordion took him to Italy in 1962 where he studied for about four months.

For some 40 years, he has performed throughout the country, serving as an accordion ambassador and keeping alive his cultural heritage. He performs on an acoustic accordion outfitted with MIDI technology that makes it sound like he is being backed by a 10-piece orchestra.

With his musical partner of 28 years, singer Luigi Lenzi, who passed away last year, Martino performed at Italian festivals and other venues. He has entertained an impressive array of politicians, including presidents Ronald Reagan and the elder George Bush. He and Lenzi were imported to California to perform at a private party for actor Roberto Benigni, the Oscar-winning star of "Life is Beautiful," who, like Lenzi, hailed from Tuscany.

At the Pescatore Palace Italian dinner and dance, Martino and Giannoni will alternate between live and recorded music. The Volare Dancers will also perform.

Pop classics

In addition to "accordion classics," Martino will also perform the music of Frank Sinatra (he recorded a CD in 2003 entitled "Accordion to Sinatra"). "It's always part of the program," he said. "I have a passion for his music, and playing it on an acoustic accordion outfitted with MIDI technology gives it a unique flavor."

Martino belongs to the breed of enthusiastically, unashamedly old school entertainers dedicated to keeping a musical tradition alive. "You can't find accordion players on TV anymore unless you go to PBS," he notes. "So many of the composers of this music are no longer with us. Who carries the ball? Do young kids grasp this music today? Do they hold it dear to their hearts? We have to pass it on to them so they will pass it on to their kids."

HOROSCOPES

For the week of March 21 - March 27

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Put your restlessness to good use by indulging the Arian love of exploring new places and seeking new challenges. There also could be a new romance waiting to be "discovered."

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A surprise message from someone in your past could lead to a long-awaited reunion with a onceclose friend. Also, look for a workplace problem to be resolved in your favor.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your selfconfidence is rising, and that should be a significant factor in helping you adjust to a new social situation, as well as adjusting to a series of changes in the workplace.

CANCER (june 21 to july 22) Turnabout could be lots of fun when someone who previously accepted your tender, loving care without question now suggests that he or she wants to start taking care of you.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Put the lessons you learned from past disappointments to work in planning your future. The way ahead opens to opportunities "purfectly" suited to the adventurous Lion.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This is a good time to renew contacts with family members and/or old friends who somehow slipped off your personal viewing screen in recent years. Travel also is favored.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Most problems surrounding that recent personal situation have been resolved, and that means you should move on to other things that are important to you.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Spend this weekend recharging your physical and spiritual energies. When you return to your workaday world, you'll be ready to take on that new project.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Be careful how you advise a troubled friend. Even your wise counsel could be misunderstood. Better to suggest that he or she seek professionat help.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Family problems once again dominate and, once again, everyone seeks your guidance in these matters. Later, you can indulge in some much-needed relaxation.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Some mixed signals create confusion in the workplace. Best advice: Ask for explanations before you attempt to deal with any of these matters on your own.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A patch of roiling water in the workplace could be threatening, but stay the course and you'll soon be clear of it. Then go out and nave a great time with loved ones.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your extraordinary leadership qualities mark you as someone people can turn to for guidance in difficult situations.

Prep for the Top 10 Interview Questions

By Carole Martin, Monster Contributing Writer

Too many job seekers stumble through interviews as if the questions are coming out of left field. But many interview questions are to be expected. Study this list and plan your answers ahead of time so you'll be ready to deliver them with confidence.

1. What Are Your Weaknesses?

This is the most dreaded question of all. Handle it by minimizing your weakness and emphasizing your strengths. Stay away from personal qualities and concentrate on professional traits: "I am always working on improving my communication skills to be a more effective presenter. I recently joined Toastmasters, which I find very helpful."

2. Why Should We Hire You?

Summarize your experiences: "With five years' experience working in the financial industry and my proven record of saving the company money, I could make a big difference in your company. I'm confident I would be a great addition to your team."

3. Why Do You Want to Work Here?

The interviewer is listening for an answer that indicates you've given this some thought and are not sending out resumes just because there is an opening. For example, "I've selected key companies whose mission statements are in line with my values, where I know I could be excited about what the company does, and this company is very high on my list of desirable choices."

4. What Are Your Goals?

Sometimes it's best to talk about short-term and intermediate goals rather than locking yourself into the distant future. For example, "My immediate goal is to get a job in a growth-oriented company. My long-term goal will depend on where the company goes. I hope to eventually grow into a position of responsibility."

5. Why Did You Leave (Or Why Are You Leaving) Your Job?

If you're unemployed, state your reason for leaving in a positive context: "I managed to survive two rounds of corporate downsizing, but the third round was a 20 percent reduction in the workforce, which included me."

If you are employed, focus on what you want in your next job: "After two years, I made the decision to look for a company that is teamfocused, where I can add my experience."

6. When Were You Most Satisfied in Your Job?

The interviewer wants to know what motivates you. If you can relate an example of a job or project when you were excited, the interviewer will get an idea of your preferences. "I was very satisfied in my last job, because I worked directly with the customers and their problems; that is an important part of the job for me."

7. What Can You Do for Us That Other Candidates Can't?

What makes you unique? This will take an assessment of your experiences, skills and traits. Summarize concisely: "I have a unique combination of strong technical skills, and the ability to build strong customer relationships. This allows me to use my knowledge and break down information to be more user-friendly."

8. What Are Three Positive Things Your Last Boss Would Say About You?

It's time to pull out your old performance appraisals and boss's quotes. This is a great way to brag about yourself through someone else's words: "My boss has told me that I am the best designer he has ever had. He knows he can rely on me, and he llkes my sense of humor."

9. What Salary Are You Seeking?

It is to your advantage if the employer tells you the range first. Prepare by knowing the going rate in your area, and your bottom line or walk-away point. One possible answer would be: "I am sure when the time comes, we can agree on a reasonable amount. In what range do you typically pay someone with my background?"

> 10. If You Were an Animal, Which One Would You Want to Be?

Interviewers use this type of psychological question to see if you can think quickly. If you answer "a bunny," you will make a soft, passive impression. If you answer "a lion," you will be seen as aggressive. What type of personality would it take to get the job done? What impression do you want to make?

RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGISTS EXPLORE CAREER OP

By Jennifer LeClaire, Monster Contributing Writer

While the career path in radiologic technology hasn't been as clearly marked as in other healthcare protessions, radiologic technologists (RTs) can still pursue a variety of career options within and outside healthcare.

In the clinical environment, RTs can branch out into one of the imaging specialties. In industry, RTs can develop rewarding -- and lucrative -- vocations in sales, training, consulting and education.

Among various RT careers, wages fluctuate fairly dramatically. For example, pay for a hospital staff technologist averages about $47,500 a year, according to the American Society of Radiologic Technologists' (ASRT) 2004 Wage and Salary Survey. Corporate technologists, such as those in sales or training, earn about $72,000, educators around $53,000, and hospital or outpatient radiologic technology department administrators make about $81,000.

Marketplace Technologists

While information from the US Bureau of Labor Statistics shows that RTs work primarily in healthcare settings, technologists still have many other career options.

"Computer technology has really opened up the avenues in this field," says Jim Sutton, director of radiology at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. "Rad techs are making a good living selling and repairing X-ray equipment, and going out into the field to train employees at healthcare facilities how to use it." RTs can look for such opportunities at X-ray equipment vendors like Del

Tingle X-Ray Systems.

As healthcare consultants, RTs can work with radiology department managers, administrators and educators on strategies and methods for achieving desired outcomes. They can also be marketers who develop long-range strategic plans for institutions. Much like company nurses. RTs can also work at industrial medical clinics, mobile-imaging companies, research centers and dovernment agencies.

As educators, practicing RTs can teach at X-ray schools or hospital in-house training programs. Hospital or X-ray school program directors earn about $62,000 a year, according to the ASRT. Landing a faculty post at a university requires a master's degree or doctorate.

Get Ahead in Healthcare

Within healthcare, advancement means taking advantage of on-the-job learning opportunities. Once RTs pass their licensing exam, the majority of their remaining training occurs in-house, says Patricia Clark, manager of performance improvement and quality assurance for Temple University Hospital's radiology department.

"Technologists can take evening classes in-house to learn the skills necessary to move up from a starting position to a place in CT (computed tomography) or interventional or even MRI (magnetic resonance imaging)," she says, referring to some of the higher-paying specialties within the field. "When a position opens up, the ones who took the time to go to those classes will usually get the job, because they've already done Medical Systems Group, Summit Industries and some of the work in their clinical experience." RT Stepping Stones

> Two career levels designed to serve as stepping stones into the profession are emerging to address the lack of a well-defined RT career path: radiologist assistant and RT aide. "Radiologist assistants are the advanced practice level, and RT aides are the pre-professional level," explains Cathy Parsons, chairman of the ASRT board of directors. "This will remove some of the heavy load from radiologic technologists and give us a TRN'S pool of future workers to draw from."

Visible career paths overcome a stigma that there's no room for advancement in radiologic technology, Parsons says. They also foster professional development, promote recruitment and encourage loyalty to the field by providing attainable rewards for pursuing additional education and credentialing, she adds.

RTs looking for that upward step in any setting should apply themselves and absorb all they can in an extern program, Clark says.

"Learn and become a good technologist and a good patient-care provider," she advises. "Providing the patient with excellent care is your first goal. Sometimes we miss that."

Premium payments finally land in Blue Cross coffers

Dear Fixer: I've

had a policy with

Blue Cross Blue

Shield of Illinois for 14 years and have not had any problems up until this past October, when I did not receive an invoice for my premium. I wanted to pay, so I called and the representative gave me an address to send my payment. She also said my date of birth was incorrect (after all this time) so I sent in a copy of the original application, plus a photo of my driver's license.

The next month, I again did not receive an invoice, so I called again. This time, I paid over the phone and asked if I could pay by automatic deduction each month, which I thought would solve the problem.

I filled out a form and received a confirmation, but in January no deduction was taken.

I called again. The representative told me my premiums for January and February would be taken out in February.

But by Feb. 1, the premiums were still not deducted. I called again but couldn't get this corrected. I called again Feb. 18 and talked to a supervisor who said he would work on it that week. A week later, I called and asked for him again, but was told he was not available and they weren't allowed to give me his last name!

I asked if I could send $428 to bring my account up to date. I have been postponing cataract surgery, since I was not sure if they would pay a claim, as my account still was showing I was only paid to Dec. 31.

I mailed the payment and they said the auto deduction would begin the next month.

I think five months to get this straightened out is ridiculous. They keep telling me it is a computer problem. I have never worked so hard to make a premium payment. Audrey Scholly

Dear Audrey: The Fixer admires your tenacity in trying to give money to your insurance company!

Kidding aside, we can see why you'd want this billing problem fixed. You wouldn't want that same computer that couldn't bill you to later deny you coverage for not being current with your payments.

We took this to Blue Cross Blue Shield and they fixed it in a flash. Apparently, they had moved to a different billing system and your account lagged behind. Now they've got you on auto-payment and it really did deduct your money this month. Good luck with the surgery.

Costly lesson

Some things you can let slide. If you forget to empty the recycling bin, water a plant or cut your kid's toenails for a few days, chances are nothing catastrophic will happen. That's not the case when it comes to keeping tabs on your debit card, as G.S. found out. Her checkbook, debit card and state ID disappeared — lost or stolen, she doesn't know.

The first she learned of it was when her bank sent ner overdraft notices. By then, someone had fraudulently reached into her account and taken all her money.

Sadly, she didn't have a legal leg to stand on. The law says that consumers can be liable for $50 in losses if they report a lost or stolen debit card within two business days but liable for up to $500 in losses if they wait up to 60 days to report it. If they fail to report it after that, they can be on the hook for unlimited losses.

In a related tale of woe, another Fixer reader, P.M., learned the hard way that consumers should never write their PIN on the back of a debit card.

She did, and when the card was later lost and used fraudulently, her bank wouldn't help. The bank said that by not protecting her PIN from a thief, she essentially helped them take her money.

So dear readers, please keep your PINs private — and check your account activity frequently.

Not all plastic is equal

As The Fixer has written before, there are important differences between debit and credit cards when it comes to theft or fraud. A debit card is a straight line into your bank account — and if you don't catch the fraud right away, you can potentially be on the hook for unlimited losses.

Bankrate.com recently identified certain transactions in which it could be risky to use your debit card:

• Online purchases. Not to get paranoid, but with the potential for malware on your computer or someone eavesdropping on a wireless network or the merchant having its data compromised, there are all sorts of reasons to not use a debit card online. By using a credit card, you'll have more protection in case something goes wrong.

• ATMs in low-traffic, outdoor places. Scammers can quietly attach a skimmer to an ATM to capture your account information, plus install a pinhole camera to record your PIN. Stick to ATMs in busy, well-lit areas and stay away from any machine that appears to have been tampered with.

• At the gas pump. Gas stations are another spot where skimmers can be placed. Better to use a credit card or cash.

• Restaurants. Sadly, skimming has been known to take place in the back rooms of eateries, when the employee has taken your card for payment.

Butter trends spreading

Butter gets an upgrade with European style, flavor varieties and a new, brick shape

BY VERONICA HINKE

Contributor

Julia Child said "fat gives things flavor." One of her favorite fat flavors was that of butter. So once a guilty luxury, butter suddenly got a liberating green light when, in 2009, Columbia Pictures released the quirky bio, "Julie & Julia," that glorified that rich, dairy fat as a most necessary ingredient in Child's classic recipes. Butter sales have soared.

Food

And no one has watched those butter sales increase with more interest than Earl Haberkamp. He's the manager of the dairy and frozen foods sections at Sunset Foods in Highland Park.

Not only have butter sales increased, but choices have multiplied. In the last six months or so, Haberkamp has particularly noticed more choices in flavored butters. "Before it was just the standard butter or margarine," Haberkamp said.

New tastes

New on the shelves are brands like Twisted Butter, a line launched a few months ago by Northbrook natives, business partners Jane Johnson and Dave Milazzo. A highlight of their website (www.twistedfoods.com/ recipes.asp) is a spread of sweet and savory recipes, which showcases the many uses for their six flavored butters: Bacon, Dijon, Mustard & Green Onion; Blueberry, Honey & Lemon Zest; Cinnamon, Honey & Brown Sugar; Chive & Parsley; Cilantro & Lime; and Portobello Mushroom with Boursin-Garlic & Herb Cheese.

Just in time for St. Patrick's Day, they'veintroduced a recipe for Corned Beef and Cabbage with Twisted Chive & Parsley Butter.

All Twisted varieties, each an offshoot of Johnson's days flavoring butters for sale at farmers markets in Northfield and Northbrook, are made with fresh ingredients. "To get the butters to where they are today was a lot of trial and error," she said. "The goal was to be able to taste the flavors, but not too much."

Her biggest challenge? Cilantro and lime. "At certain times of the year your cilantro is a lot fresher," she said. Johnson, once the chef at the helm of her former Northbrook catering company, "You've Got it Made," is considering more new flavors. Tomato, Basil and Garlic has been a hit at the farmers markets.

And she's getting serious about tarragon. 'You can use it on anything," she said.

Haberkamp has lately noticed a lot of recipes now even specifically calling for European butter. "It has a different taste to it," he explained. "It's richer; creamier."

Free range cows

That's because, as explained by the Irish Dairy Board, which has an outpost in Evanston, Irish butters are made from "cows that roam freely in Ireland's lush pastures."

The board's brand communications manager, Molly O'Loughlin, said she's lately even noticed high profile retailers in the U.S. accommodating the interest in European butter by manufacturing butter dishes to fit 8-ounce size butter "bricks," a change from America's traditional butter "sticks."

For their part, European butter makers are keeping up with trends in the U.S.

Kerrygold, one of the more prominent brands of Ireland, recently launched a soft butter made naturally, without oils, that sometimes is used to make spreadable butters; a reduced fat option has half the sodium and 20 percent less fat than typical butters.

The company's garlic and herb flavor butter has sold consistently since 2006. "The trend is for people to make their own compound butters, but people don't have the time," O'Loughlin said.

If you're low on time on St. Patrick's Day weekend, Grant Slauterbeck and his team at Glenview House in Glenview have a traditional menu planned — and plenty of butter will be incorporated. "My training is classic French," Slauterbeck said. "There will be plenty of butter in the mashed potatoes; pretty much everything we make here is finished with butter. Its richness plays against the acidity in dishes, exposing more of the complex flavors you might not get without

Corned Beef and Cabbage with Twisted Chive & Parsley Butter

From Twisted Butter

Makes 8 servings

5 pounds corned brisket of beef ¹/4 teaspoon ground black pepper or 6 whole black peppercorns

1 teaspoon bay leaf

2 large carrots, cut into 4 pieces each

4 medium turnips, quartered

1 medium onion, peeled and quartered 1 small medium green cabbage, cut into 8 wedges

6 tablespoons Twisted Butter Chive & Parsley Butter, melted

4 tablespoons flour, sifted

1 cup half and half cream (can substitute milk) Salt and pepper, to taste Place corned beef in large pot with peppercorns, bay leaf and water to cover. Cover and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 4-5 hours until tender, skimming fat occasionally.

During the final hour of simmering, add carrots, turnips and onion.

During last 20 minutes, add cabbage.

For the cream sauce:

Make a roux by melting 6 tablespoons of Twisted Chive & Parsley Butter and stirring in 4 tablespoons flour. Slowly add cream, stir until it thickens. (Add more cream if it gets too thick.)

Transfer meat to cutting board, and thinly slice against grain. Arrange on platter with vegetables. Pour cream sauce over top and serve. Season with salt and pepper.

Volunteers

The Center of Concern,

1580 N. Northwest Highway, Park Ridge, a not-for-profit that serves the elderly and low-income families in the north and northwest city and suburbs, needs volunteers to help with a variety of medical, financial, legal, and computer issues. Hours are flexible. The center needs volunteers to: Provide friendly visits and transportation to elderly clients; make telephone reassurance calls to the homebound and frail elderly; install, troubleshoot, and maintain computer hardware, software, and networks; produce video for the center's website or fundraising campaigns; promote the center on Facebook and other social media: assist with public relations and facilitate media coverage of center events; prepare income tax returns for center clients: provide Medicare counseling (federally funded by the Senior Health Insurance Program); and prepare simple wills and durable powers of attorney for nealth care and property. Call (847) 823-0453 or visit www.centerofconcern.org.

Volunteers are needed to serve as Court Watchers for Domestic Violence at the Skokie Courthouse. Being a Court Watcher is easy, convenient and rewarding. To volunteer for this very important program, contact Joanne Liberman at (847) 412-1577 or email Joanne at NonnyL@ aol.com.

Individuals who have a few hours to spare are urged to join the Avenues to Independence Thrift Shoppe Team of Volunteers. Avenues is looking for friendly, hard-working men and women to help staff at the Thrift Shoppe, 7710 W. Touhy Ave. in Chicago. Volunteers are needed on a regular basis 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, or 1-8 p.m. on Thursdays. Volunteers receive a discount. No experience is needed. All proceeds from the Thrift Shoppe help Avenues continue valuable programs for adults with developmental disabilities. Contact the store manager, Michael Frustini, (847) 292-0870, Ext. 771.

The Men's and Women's Association of Advocate

Lutheran General Hospital is looking for new members. The community-based philanthropic and social organization raises funds for the hospital through a variety of events, including an annual golf outing, glove sale and concert. The organization's donations have assisted the hospital in expanding programs, purchasing state-of-theart medical equipment, and pursuing research and education initiatives. Yearly dues are $35. Her middle name is Blessing, and Jewell Loyd has been that and more for Niles West the past four years.

The Pioneer Press North Stars Player of the Year led the previously moribund Wolves to an 88-34 record, including this season's outright CSL South championship and third straight regional title to go with a shared conference crown and supersectional berth two years ago.

"It is another very well-deserved award," said Niles West head coach Tony Konsewicz. "Jewell will go down as one of the greatest two-way players in the history of the state and the country. Her will to win is second to 27 points on 50 percent field-goal acnone. She was an even better person. As a player, she's right up there with (former Naperville Central standout) Candace Parker for best ever."

Rated as the nation's top shooting guard, Loyd scored 3,077 career points to rank seventh in state history. Never taller than 5-foot-10, she snared 1,478 rebounds to rank No. 12. Loyd stands at No. 18 in blocks with 275 and pilfered 402 steals. Her rebounding, defense, extraordinary stamina and ability to avoid foul trouble were underrated because of her prolific scoring.

Loyd carried her last squad to a 22-9 record despite the toughest schedule in team history. Averaging curacy, Loyd scored 53 percent of the Wolves' points. She also averaged 12 rebounds, four steals and 2.2 blocks.

Shrugging off nightly poundings and a sore ankle, back and knee, Loyd willed the Wolves to five straight wins before a 48-46 sectional loss to Glenbrook South. She scored 16 of her 31 points in the fourth quarter. Loyd torched Maine West with a career-high 50 points, but was no less thrilled with beating triple-teaming Maine South 42-41 with passes in a selfless 12-point display.

The Notre Dame signee allowed herself an offseason consisting of one night's sleep before hitting the weights and working on her game the very next day.

"I always want to get better. This year, I wanted to improve my defense and help my team win," said Loyd. "Now I'm working on my ballhandling and change of speeds for the next level."

After heading to South Bend, Ind., to watch the No. 3 Lady Irish in their regional, Loyd will play in the McDonald's All-American contest at 6 p.m. March 28 at the United Center and then travel to Denver for the WBCA All-American game on March 31, the off-day of the Women's Final Four at the Pepsi Center.

Loyd's collegiate career kicks off June 18 with summer classes and camps at Notre Dame.

Player of the Year: Jewell Loyd, Niles West senior

Coach of the Year: Jeremy Schoenecker. Lovola

JACQUI GRANT

Maine South junior center

One of the top juniors in the state, the 6-foot-3 Division I recruit led the Hawks in scoring (13.1) and rebounding (6.4) as they won their third consecutive regional championship, Grant was an all-CSL South selection and was named to all-tournament teams at both the Bison Classic and State Farm Classic. She has offers from DePaul, Marquette, South Florida and New Mexico.

MARIYAH HENLEY Niles North senior

Henley, along with senior Alissa Hirsh, helped turn the Vikings into a contender in the conference during her four seasons. The Lewis-bound 6-footer averaged 17.6 points, 9 rebounds, 2 steals and 1.6 blocks a game. An all-CSL North selection, she also was picked for the all-tournament team at Warren.

JEWELL LOYD Niles West senior forward

Loyd will go down as one of the best to ever play in the state. The Notre Dame recruit averaged 27 points as a senior and finished her four-year career with 3,077 points, the seventh-best total in Illinois history. She also averaged 12 rebounds and posted 22 double-doubles in 31 games.

MICHELLE MAHER Maine South senior guard

Part of a senior class that produced three regional titles, the point guard made an impact in Park Ridge. Headed to play at Western Illinois, Maher averaged 10.9 points and totaled a team-best 57 assists as the Hawks finished 25-7. She was an all-conference pick and also made all-tournament teams at the Bison Classic and State Farm Classic.

MAGGIE LYON

New Trier senior guard

The 6-foot-1 Lyon was four-year player and a matchup nightmare for opponents. The Northwesternbound Trevian averaged 20.2 points, 8.3 rebounds and 4.1 assists per game. Lyon earned allconference recognition, as well as all-tournament honors at New Trier and Dundee-Crown.

Scafidi, Stoddart form dynamic duo for Trevs

BY MATT HARNESS

Kerry Scafidi was the top gymnast for New Trier her first two seasons, competing in at the state meet as both a freshman and sophomore.

It wasn't until Scafidi teamed up with Sam Stoddart this season that the Trevians accomplished something not done in a long time.

The junior Scafidi and freshman Stoddart guided the team to its first trip to the state meet since the 1994-95 season. The Trevians totaled 141.775 points to finish eighth in the field.

"Obviously, Kerry's had a huge impact on our team," New Trier coach Jennifer Pistorius said. "She's an awesome gymnast and is up there with some of the best in the state."

The addition of Stoddart, another all-arounder, pushed the Trevians back to the final weekend of the season for the first time in nearly two decades.

"Sam also made a huge impact, especially as a freshman," the coach said. "It was Stoddart's season was even more impressive considering she struggled with chronic knee pain.

"I know she was hurt," Pistorius said. "But she always said she was fine. She learned so much from the experience."

Scafidi also shined on the beam, as well as the uneven parallel bars.

"She has some of the hardest tricks in the state," Pistorius said. "Her bars routine is one of the harder, but she had a fall in the preliminaries at the state meet that kept her from advancing."

Pistorius said Scafidi and Stoddart both are back at work this offseason. Scafidi trains at the Wheeling-based American Academy of Gymnastics, and Stoddart is at Flips Gymnastics in Lake Forest. "I am excited about the fu-

In no way is Glenn Olson disappointed with Niles North's season.

Of course, the coach wanted the Vikings to capture another sectional championship.

But Olson understands the difficulty of winning one, much less two in a row.

"Since the four-class system, winning a regional title is a big deal," said the third-year coach, who's guided the Vikings to back-to-back regional crowns. "You want to keep going, and you're devastated when you lose. But there's an element of icing on the cake.

"We felt very good about this season, with this group, especially where we were at the beginning of the year. I'd be crazy to say I wasn't proud of what they achieved." A four-game losing streak early in the season left the Vikings searching for answers. They started the turnaround at Wheeling's tournament and continued it in the new year, winning 13 of their final 17 games to end up 21-9.

Things were looking good in the first half Friday during the Vikings' 62-42 loss to Evanston at Glenbrook South.

Niles North took a onepoint lead into the half, even though star point guard Malachi Nix missed all five of his shots and had zero points.

The Wildkits surged ahead by as many as 16 in the third before the Vikings (21-9) got on track after Mychael Henley's three-pointer.

Nix, who missed his first 10 shots and first two free throws, then buried a threepointer at the buzzer to bring the Vikings within nine at 43-34 by the start of the fourth. But Evanston was too much for Niles North. "A lot of the shots they hit were tough shots, and they were able to get closer to the basket than us," Olson said. But Olson was happy with how his players fought through the fourth quarter.

"That speaks volumes about our group, especially on a night when we literally had our worst shooting performance of the year," he said. "I am really proud of the maturity of our group. We scrapped as best we could on a really off night for us."

Henley is one the starter who will graduate. He finished his prep career with a team-best 17 points. Lorenzo Dillard added 12 points, while Nix ended up with seven.

George grabs showcase opportunity

BY MIKE CAMERON mcameron@pioneerlocal.com

"Da Donovan Bomb' George is ready to rumble.

He will step into the ring at 9 p.m. Saturday at New York City's Madison Square Garden in front of St. Patrick's Day revelers shelling out $505 for a ringside seat and millions watching live on HBO.

George, 22-1-1 with 19 knockouts, will take on undefeated Edwin "La Bomba" Rodriguez (20-0, 14 KO) in a scheduled 10-round bout. A 2003 graduate of Maine East, George is ranked No. 4 in the world among super middleweights by the International Boxing Federation. Rodriguez is No. 5.

The winner not only earns a six-figure purse, but likely a title shot.

"I think you only get one big opportunity, and this is it for me," said the 27-year-old George, a taut 5-foot-11, 168 pounds. "Every boxer dreams of fighting on HBO, and every boxer dreams of fighting at Madison Square Garden. If I win, I should get a world title fight and another HBO fight. This is my shot."

The similarities between the combatants end with their nicknames, top-five rankings and outstanding records. Rodriguez, who will have a sixinch reach advantage, is a methodical, efficient jabber and punishing body puncher willing to go the distance. George is always the aggressor, packs more wallop and ends more fights early.

"My game plan is to knock his head off," said George. "I am a long shot in this fight, and I am not as polished. My strengths are my right hand and punching power. If I hit anyone just right, they're going down. I am either going to come out victorious, or you are going to have to carry me out on my shield."

Two years ago, George suffered a badly broken nose at the beginning of his bout against highly ranked Francisco Sierra in Miami, Okla. The Niles native absorbed his only defeat, but showed nearly superhuman pain tolerance by lasting seven rounds.

Upon healing, George demolished previously undefeated Cornelius White in the first round on Showtime in Atlantic City. "Da Bomb" then thrilled a UIC Pavillion home crowd by flooring bigger, more experienced Maxwell Taylor in eight rounds to win the USBA crown last April.

"Some fighters' styles just mesh, and that is exactly what you have with Edwin versus Donovan," said promoter Lou DiBella of New York Citybased DiBella Entertainment. Knowing both of these guys, am predicting someone is going to get knocked out in this fight. They will be throwing bombs from the opening bell. This is going to be a good, old-fashioned barnburner."

George was a three-year varsity wide receiver at Maine East who reeled in passes from quarterback Nick George, his big brother. But Donovan was aimless after high school until he dedicated himself to boxing under the tutelage of his father, Pete. The younger George was a three-time Chicago Golden Gloves champion and turned pro in 2004. He now lives in Chicago and is engaged to Maine South alumnus Aleksandra Peric.

"I'm not the typical boxer who was poor or came from a broken home. I chose to fight. It saved my life," said Donovan George. "When I became disciplined about boxing, I also found discipline in my regular life. I owe a lot to my dad, who was a great boxer and has been a great trainer for me the whole way through.'

Peter George, a Lincolnwood police officer for the past 30 years, has built up quite a record as a trainer. In addition to his son, he trains Mike "Hollywood" Jimenez, who is 6-0 with three knockouts as a super middleweight pro, and super heavyweight amateur Matt Cameron, a Golden Gloves finalist last year.

'I believe in my heart that I will bring Don to New York City at 110 percent and ready to explode at the Garden," said Pete. "He won't be denied. He will make the people in the Chicago area proud. He is the hardest worker I have ever trained."

George splits his demanding training regimen between Windy City Fight Club and Chicago Fight Club. He has two more big fans in advisor Mike Michael and manager Gina Iacovou of New Jerseybased Cestus Management.

"Donovan is a great fighter and a great guy. I fell in love with him the first day I saw him, "said Michael. "For those who consider him an underdog, I am telling you that he is live, he is real, and there will be only one bomb left standing, and that is Don 'Da Bomb' George."

Wolves have inside track at reaching state

BY DAN SHALIN

Contributor

The top story in the Niles West girls track program in recent seasons has been the exploits of sprinter Kellion Gordon.

But after finishing sixth in the state in the 100 meters in 2011, Gordon has graduated and moved on to Iowa Central Jr. College

The Wolves, who are winding down the indoor season, return two state qualifiers In junior thrower Jasmine Townsend and junior hurdler Sydney Hellwig.

Head coach Mark Medland said the pair, along with senior Jessica Sutfin, another veteran of state competition, will play important roles.

"It's helpful to have girls like Jasmine and Sydney, who have been state qualifiers and competed at that high level," he said. "They can share with the girls that experience."

Medland said the indoor season is more about preparation than results. Everything the team is doing now is geared toward success late in the outdoor campaign.

"Right now, it's kind of experimenting with the lineup to see where we stand." Medland said. "Our true goal every year is to qualify kids for the outdoor state meet and there are places where we're going to be able to do that. But we want to make sure girls are healthy and ready for fifth in the high hurdles at the outdoor season."

Hellwig is sitting out the last few meets of the indoor season to nurse a bruised foot. After the hurdler battled a stress fracture last season, Medland and the training staff are not taking any chances. She will miss today's (Thursday's) CSL South Meet at Glenbrook South.

Medland expects to see more strong performances by junior twins Sunshine and Sunbright Simon. Sunshine Simon took third in the 55 hurdles at Rockton Hononegah March 3, and came in seventh in the hurdles at Saturday's 20-plus team Proviso West Invite.

Sunbright Simon crossed

Hononegah and also has been competing in the 50-meter dash.

They are scheduled to compete at Glenbrook South in the 4x4 lap relay with Sutfin and freshman Alexis Membreno.

Others displaying good form indoors include: junior high jumper Lily Chatman, the CSL outdoor champ last season; senior pole vaulter Kelly Sanks; freshman distance runner Christine Mujica; and sophomore jumper/ sprinter Rosario Sievers.

Sievers, who competes in the triple jump, high jump and relays, is an exchange student from Chile and will return home after this season.

Wolves finish first at Foerch Invite

BY DAN SHALIN Contributor

The Adrian Batista era at Niles West has gotten off to a glittering start.

The first-year boys gymnastics coach already has led his team to three solid results, including first place in Saturday's Foerch Invite. It was the Wolves' first title in that event's 26-year history.

Batista, a 1994 Niles West grad, spent last season assisting longtime Wolves head coach Steve Foerch. This season, the two swapped places.

This always was going to be a big season for Niles West moved into the school's new state-of-the-art gymnastics room for the first time.

"The facility is fantastic," Batista said. "It's impacted the boys already. (With the foam pit) it's much easier to get some of the kids to work on tricks. The true impact of the gym and the pit will still take a couple of years. With our freshman, it's going to make a big difference over time."

Batista said there are currently around 55 gymnasts in the program.

"We really did not have to do too much advertising the gym did that for us," the coach said. "It's .the biggest because its boys program has team Niles West has ever had. But we have a big facility to house that many and it's great."

The Niles West varsity includes 16 gymnasts. That has allowed the team to use specialists, rather than allarounders.

"We want the kids to focus on two or three clean routines and try and do the best tricks they can do," he said. "Instead of trying to be OK on five events, we want them to be real good on two or three.

"We're not depending one or two guys, it's the whole team. If you only have three or four guys, and one gets hurt, it can ruin the team.'

The squad returns three 2011 state meet qualifiers in seniors Casey Mahoney-Muno (vault and floor). Josh Nicolasin (rings) and Ari Lazar (pommel horse), the team captain.

Junior Elijah Bond, senior Chris Dwyer, junior Brandon Naguita and senior David Imamkarimov also will compete.

The Wolves opened the season by scoring 121 against Glenbrook South, climbed to 127 against Evanston and posted 131 at the Foerch Invite, which included teams from Palatine, Naperville North and Deerfield/Highland Park.

"I don't have a number, but the sky is the limit," Batista said. "I'd love to see us score 150 and be a state-qualifying team. Are we that good? I'm not going to say no. I don't think there is a cap to this team and I don't want to say we can't get in the 140s and then go higher."

Among the highlights Saturday at Niles West, were: Mahoney-Muno winning floor (9.0) and coming in second on vault (8.75); Lazar taking second on horse (8.2) and fifth on parallel bars (7.2); Nicolasin finishing second on rings (8.4); Bond capturing vault (8.8); Naguita placing fourth on p-bars (7.6); and Imamkarimov finishing fifth on high bar (6.7).

Vikings looking for good things down the road

BY DAN SHALIN Contributor

Niles North boys gymnastics coach Rick Meyer said he doesn't like to use the expression "building for next year," but it seems an appropriate way to describe his current team.

The Vikings lost a talented group of seniors, including state qualifiers Manny Magbanua (7th on rings), Brian Oh and Erik Suh.

The current team counts just two seniors. Despite being short on experience, Meyer said there is some talent. However, the coach reluctantly admits the group's best days may be down the road.

"We definitely got younger (after last year)," Meyer said. "We have a great group of sophomores and a lot of them will be moved up to varsity by season's end. We're in a rebuilding phase, so to speak." The Vikings do have one experienced returnee in senior Mendel Moskovits, who qualified for state on parallel bars last season.

Meyer said he expects Moskovits to get back to state this season, potentially on two or three events. The gymnast is competing allaround, somewhat out of necessity.

"(Moskovits) is our anchor this year," Meyer said. "He's gotten better. He's not real strong on horse or vault. But in the position we're in, we needed all the help we can get, even though those aren't his strongest events." The team will rely heavily on several juniors, including floor) and Justin Salomon Marco Verceles (who excels on high bar and rings), Shaun DeGuzman (rings and (vault, p-bars and high bar). Sophomore Scott Wong is a quality pommel horseman and will open the season on varsity. Meyer said Wong has a bright future.

"He's going to be good," the coach said. "If he's willing to work, I don't think it would be a stretch to say he could qualify (for state) on horse this season."

Daniel Matti is another sophomore Meyer said has been making positive strides on p-bars and high bar.

Meyer has taken the unusual step of not naming captains this season. The coach said nobody had earned the distinction, and he hoped everybody would share some of the leadership duties.

"I'm kind of waiting to see who was going to emerge as natural leaders. We have a lot of kids capable of doing Mever said. "We have a lot of kids trying to take on that leadership role, but I'm reluctant to give them the title (of captain)."

Early in the season, Niles North has been scoring near 110. Meyer said he hopes to climb to 120 later in the campaign

"We're hoping, but it's going to be a tough year," the coach said. "We're in a rebuilding phase and we're trying to get the most out of what we have in the gym. It's a good group of kids, they are buying into what we're selling and that's enjoyable and fun."

The Vikings return to action at 6 p.m. Tuesday when they visit rival Niles West.

Blue Demons unofficial Garvey champs

BY DAN SHALIN Contributor

The Maine East girls track team can take comfort in knowing it won the school's first James Garvey Invite since 2004, even though history will show otherwise.

In the final standings of Friday's six-team event at Maine East, the Blue Demons scored 119, but were edged out by St. Ignatius (121).

However, according to Lirette, the scorers had incorrectly recorded the times of a Maine East sprinter in the 50-meter dash, giving her fifth place instead of third. Had the timing been done correctly, Maine East would have prevailed 123-119.

"I was so thrilled for my team," Lirette said. "The last time we won this meet was in '04 and (this year) the girls ran and jumped really, really well across the board. It was a total team effort. We placed very well in several races and there were several races in which we double-scored."

Among the highlights for Maine East was the performance of sophomore Elanta Slowek, who won the triple jump (33-9.25), eclipsing the school nd by 16 in She also was tops in the high jump (5-0).

"Elanta has a lot of spring in her legs and she loves to jump. She's a really good meet performer," Lirette said.

The coach said Slowek has benefitted from working with assistant Kapricia Poulos, the former Maine East and Milliken University athlete whose name is in the Park Ridge school's re-

Also victorious for Maine East was senior Elisa Gerena in the long jump (15-4.25) and the team of sophomore Veronica Malesinski, freshman Julia Skrzypek, Slowek and Gerena in the 4 x1 lap relay (1:28.6). The group was just .5 from breaking the indoor school ecord.

Among other highlights for Maine East were: Malesinski finishing second in the 50-yard dash (6.3); the team of freshman Leslie Christianson, senior Aahuti Patel, junior Lensa Sedeta and freshman Jessica Cuevas coming in third in the 3,200 relay (season-best 11:06); senior Kristen Georgopoulos finishing fourth in the 50-yard high hurdles (8.4); and senior Tori Walley coming in third in the long jump (15-0).

Next, Maine East will compete in the CSL North Indoor Meet at 3:30 mm.today (Thu

Lirette said she is not sure what to expect.

"It's hard to say, to be honest. We're a small team (in numbers), even though we have some power. But you don't know what any of the other teams have done this year," she said. "Deerfield is probably the favorite and maybe Highland Park. I'm hoping we could be third, maybe second if we hit.

"I'm cautiously optimistic to be honest with you. I know we won't finish sixth. But other than that, everything else is kind of up for grabs."

The conference meet will mark the end of the indoor season for Maine East, unless any of its athletes qualify for the March 24 Prep Top Times Meet, which some refer to as the Indoor State Meet.

Lirette said her sprinters, Malesinski and Gerena, have a chance to qualify in what will be the 55-yard dash, while Slowek could still earn a spot in that meet in the triple jump.

Note: Friday's meet was named for James Garvey, who spent 17 seasons coaching track at Maine East.

Garvey now works as an IHSA track official, and he was intentionally assigned to work as the starter/finish at the most that h

Music Is Medicine

Do you know that ⁴/₄, the Chinese character for "music" and "happiness" was also the character for medicine? According to a legend, the Yellow Emperor, the founder of Chinese civilization, was once engaged in a bitter battle with his enemies. To restore the energy of the fatigued warriors, he had his court musician create lovely music with a special bow. The music worked a miracle and he won the battle. Thus the character, in its original form, denotes both music and medicine. And music is supposed to entertain and heal at the same time.

Traditional Chinese music is based on the pentatonic scale (five pitches), in contrast to the heptatonic scale (seven pitches) used in western music. In China, music therapy based on Yin-Yang and the theory of Five Elements has a history of several thousand years, with the five music tones corresponding to the five elements, as well as the five major human organs.

"Simply astounding to watch, and a pleasure to the ear."

- OperaOnline

The Shen Yun Orchestra masterfully blends two of the world's greatest classical music traditions, Chinese and Western.

"Beautiful sound... strikingly intricate melodies."

-NYTheater.com

"Very moving in every way. It captivated all of my senses."

- Alessandra Marc, world-renowned soprano

CLOTHING AN EMPIRE

THERE'S A CHINESE SAYING: "Each dynasty has its own adornments," and thus Chinese nistory is replete with a lavish variety of apparel. Every year Shen Yun creates hundreds of gorgeous, hand-made garments spanning China's dynasties, regions, and ethnic groups. "I saw here the best example about how fabric, clothing, and sleeves can enhance the movement and tell the story," said famed designer Norma Kamali. With traditional garb of the Manchurians, Tibetans and Mongolians, the costumes consist of imperial dragon robes, cloud capes, ornate headdresses and vestments, warriors' armor, and celestial maidens' long silky sleeves.

PROJECTING TIME AND SPACE

VIVIDLY ANIMATED backdrops, grand as they-are intricate, extend the stage and transport the audience. They are so remarkably true-to-life that audiences forget where they are and journey to another place and time. Spectacular settings reflect China's landscapes, dy nasties, and mythology. Some scenes even transcend this world, entering a majestic paradise where fairies dance amid the clouds or in a heavenly palace. An innovation in the world of performing arts, Shen Yun's projection designs synchronize all aspects of the stage costumes' colors, specific dance movements, props, lighting, the music of the orchestra—to create "a dream world of perfection," as one audience member exclaimed.

AUTHENTIC CHINESE, MADE IN AMERICA

Based in New York, Shen Yun is reviving authentic Chinese culture, which has mostly been destroyed in China under communist rule. Today, you can no longer see a show like Shen Yun inside China.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT SHEN YUN...

- Robert Stromberg, Academy Award winner, production designer for 'Avatar'

"The show is absolutely beautiful... It has become this one big poetic event. It was so inspiring, I think I may have found some new ideas for the next AVATAR."

- Cate Blanchett, Academy Awardwinning Actress

It was an extraordinary experience...the level of skill, but also the power of the archetypes and the narratives were startling. And of course it was exquisitely beautiful.

- Richard Connema, theatre critic for Talkin' Broadway

"I probably have reviewed over 3,000 to 4,000 shows. I will give this production 5 stars. That's the top. ... I've never seen anything like this. I mean I've seen enough Broadway shows that still cannot compare to what I saw tonight. The best word to use was 'mind-blowing.'"
