Information folder

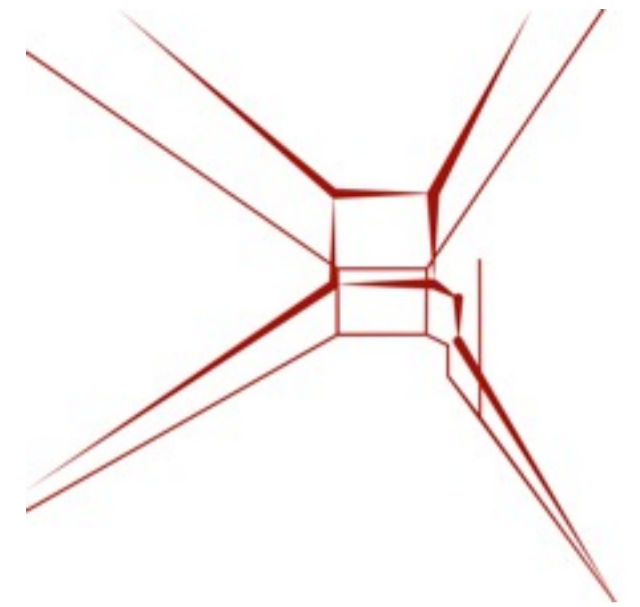

The Kunstraum art space is located in the Nestroyhof, a building erected in 1898 by Oskar Marmorek in the midst of a part of the second district of Vienna that is alive with culture and filled with historical significance. A mix of galleries, cafés and studios steep the vicinity in an atmosphere shaped by the neighbourhood scene and avant garde culture.

This building's spaces have been used for a range of purposes over the years, the longest-lasting of which was as the Nestroy-Kino cinema. In 2015/2016, we thoroughly converted and refurbished the rooms to make them suitable for use for exhibitions and presentations .

The light and open design interiors have a ceiling height of up to 6.60 meters, a generous window front adds to the space's modern and urban character within the historically protected house.
