CHAPTER PROGRAMS

The Orange County Chapter of the National Investor Relations Institute (NIRI OC) holds meetings and special events covering a broad range of topics related to the practice of investor relations. Topics targeted for 2008–2009 meetings include:

- Future of Investor Relations
- Corporate Responsibility
- Shareholder Activism
- Earnings Guidance

Please visit our web site at www.nirioc.org for more information on any of these events. For further information regarding the programs, please contact David Erickson, Vice President, Programs, at david_erickson@edwards.com or call (949) 250-6826.

www.nirioc.org – be sure to check out the chapter web site for chapter events, membership information, IR Certificate program, job bank and more.

NIRI OC Board of Directors

NIRI OC board members are chosen by chapter members and serve one-year terms. These directors act as the liason with the NIRI National board. Responsible for all activities of the local chapter, NIRI OC directors also network with directors of other chapters to address topics affecting investor relations professionals.

NIRI OC Commitment

The Orange County Chapter of NIRI was established in 1990 and is comprised of approximately 130 professionals representing over 110 corporations and consulting firms in Southern California. The chapter holds meetings from September through June, featuring programs on topics of professional interest to investor relations practitioners. Guests are welcome at all meetings and members are encouraged to invite other management from their companies to attend. NIRI OC is committed to:

- 1 Providing leading professional development for investor relations practitioners
- 2 Encouraging the exchange of experiences, ideas and information among its membership
- 3 Promoting effective communications between corporations and financial stakeholders
- 4 Encouraging a forum to collect, coordinate and distribute experience and knowledge of investor relations methodologies and techniques
- 5 Providing additional professional development opportunities to its members through mentoring programs
- 6 Maintaining a local/regional job bank

Membership requirements Our requirements for membership are that the applicant is practicing or employed in a profession related to investor relations and/or corporate communication at the time of application, and is a member of NIRI National.

NATIONAL INVESTOR RELATIONS INSTITUTE

NIRI National Membership Benefits

Membership in NIRI entitles the investor relations professional to a wide range of services in the areas of educational programs, services and publications. The “graduate school” of investor relations, NIRI provides conferences, publications and networking for the development of its members. NIRI benefits include:

► Educational Programs

Annual Conference (each June)

General sessions and hands-on break-out sessions on basic and advanced topics for 1500+ attendees. In the investor relations services showcase, over 75 companies exhibit their state-of-the-art products from faxing and wire services to real-time databases to targeted mailing lists.

Seminars

More than 20 programs are offered each year. These programs can be week-long programs on investor relations, one-day seminars on specialized topics, or eLearning events on current topics.

► Publications

NIRI publishes a series of publications that are sent to members.

- IR Update, a monthly newsletter packed with leading-edge articles
- IR Advisor, executive briefings on key issues
- Standards of Practice for Investor Relations
- Who’s Who in Investor Relations, NIRI’s online membership directory
- Regular surveys on annual reports, technology, compensation and investor relations trends
- Other publications as produced by NIRI

► NIRI Bookstore

The NIRI Bookstore offers a wealth of text and trade books, reprints of articles, audio tapes, survey reports and other valuation information to help professionals expand their horizons.

NIRI National Membership Benefits

➤ Volunteer Advisory Network

A mentors' network of experienced members who volunteer to give one-on-one advice to new members on over 40 investor relations activities.

➤ Resource Guide

An online guide to consultants and vendors who provide leading-edge support to investor relations departments in public companies.

➤ NIRI Career Center

The NIRI Career Center is a key career development resource. For a fee, employers can place job listings and search resumes of experienced investor relations officers. Members can post their resumes confidentially and search current job listings at no additional charge.

NIRI National Objectives

NIRI is the nation's premier professional association of investor relations executives. NIRI is dedicated to advancing the practice of investor relations and enhancing the professional competency and stature of our members. NIRI strives to:

- Provide professional development and educational opportunities, which enable members to practice investor relations effectively
- Work for better communication between corporations and financial stakeholders
- Provide a forum for its members to present their views, to share experiences, to create and test investor relations policies and to broaden the understanding of investor relations matters
- Educate members on existing legal, regulatory and ethical requirements and their implications
- Encourage high ethical and professional standards in the practice of investor relations
- Serve as a representative voice and counselor – on behalf of its members – to federal and state legislative bodies, executive and other organizations
- Raise awareness of the investor relations profession by actively communicating the key role investor relations plays in achieving the appropriate valuation for the corporation
- Anticipate, identify and communicate new directions and trends affecting the investor relations profession

Programs and Services

NIRI is the “graduate school” of investor relations, providing conferences, publications and networking for the development of its members.

- Annual Conference directed at enhancing professional development and addressing specific “how to” methods utilizing workshops, panels, roundtable discussions and guest speakers
- Senior Roundtable focused at the senior practitioner level, which addresses emerging trends, issues and concerns
- Series of Educational Seminars on specific investor relations topics targeted for varying levels of experience and expertise
- New York Stock Exchange, American Stock Exchange and Nasdaq Seminars
- Local Chapter Meetings and Regional Programs. Guest speakers focus on both issues of concern to the specific geographic region and topics of more widespread interest
- NIRI Publications and Services including the monthly Investor Relations Update, IR Advisor, IR Weekly, IR Mentor, timely Executive Alerts, IR practice guides and surveys, as well as an online resource guide and membership directory
- Industry Affairs focused on communicating NIRI key strategies to a broadening sphere of influence, serving as an advocate for the profession and NIRI members.
- NIRI Career Center – Job placement and referral Service, NIRI Bookstore and Volunteer Advisory Network.
- Comprehensive resources available to members only on the NIRI Web site, www.niri.org
