Plymouth City Commissioners will be asked tomorrow night to deny requests for marathon runs in the city.

The commission will be meeting on a Tuesday night because Monday, its normal meeting day, is George Washington's birthday.

"I know they have been very popular in the past, and I'm sure their popularity will grow in the future," City Manager Henry Graper wrote in a memo to commissioners.

But, at this time, it is the recommendation of the administration that due to the time constraints involved and dollar outlay which would be required, we do not approve these runs and ask that they contact Plymouth Township or the county to see if they would be interested in working this out races lasted between 45 and 90 minwith them," Graper wrote.

'Acting police chief Ralph White has written a number of correspondences to me concerning the number of people that are necessary to have on duty, as part of a team to successfully manage and control a marathon run."

Already this year, the city has received two requests to hold marathon runs - one from the Plymouth Salem Track and Cross Country Alumni for June 2, and the Plymouth Community Family YMCA for May 5 or May 19.

"This agency cannot in good conscience approve these marathon runs,"

DURING 1984 four organizations held runs in Plymouth.

White said each of the events drew from 400 to 700 participants, and the ondary intersections.

"The Plymouth Salem Track and Cross Country Alumni Association held the 'Rocks Run' on June 3, 1984," White said. "Their event consisted of a 5 kilometer and 8 kilometer race which required eight police officers and 35 civilian personnel to cover the most hazardous intersections.

"The Plymouth Jaycees held their Fourth of July run which was a 5 mile event requiring seven police officers and 35 civilian personnel. This event crossed 10 major intersections and 53 secondary intersection," White said.

Growth Works held a marathon race on Aug. 12. This 4 mile and 8 kilometer event required seven police officers and 29 civilian personnel to cover 10 major intersections and 57 sec-

"Plymouth YMCA held on Sept. 23 a race of 5 kilometers and 10 kilometers. This marathon crossed 11 major intersections and 76 secondary intersections requiring seven police officers and 35 civilian personnel," White said.

White outlined four problems with holding the events.

FIRST, BECAUSE of the number of officers needed, White said the department's ability to answer calls is imped-

'Also, the necessity of police officers to abandon their intersection points after runners pass; then race to another interesection to arrive beforethe racing participants, places a burden that is not safety guards at all intersections is ideal but not practical because of the number of intersections crossed.

"Thirdly, race participants tend to ignore directions to keep to the right lane and watch for interfering vehicle

And finally, White said, placing barricades at intersections doesn't work. Motorists would remove, steal or ignore the barricades, even if there were enough barricades for all the intersections, he said.

He also questioned the city's and sponsor's liability in providing insurance for the races.

We do not presently have an active auxiliary force which could be used to assist in this activity "We find ourselves in a position where we would have to hire the community service officers from the township and rely upon volunteers and/or hire a private guard service to work at the intersections in order to successfully manage and help present a run,"

Graper wrote. The city commission meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the second floor auditorium at City Hall, the corner of Main and Church. A public pre-commission meeting starts at 7 p.m. in the city manager's first floor conference

Hearings help decide special education rules

By Kathy Parrish staff writer

Proposed changes in Michigan's special education rules are being debated around the state by parents, teachers and administrators.

Two weeks of well-attended public hearings will wrap up Monday, Feb. 18 in Oakland Schools Kiva, 2100 Pontiac Lake Road, Pontiac. The sessions, 4-6 p.m. and at 7 p.m., were requested by Oakland Schools because there is such an interest in Oakland County in the changes

"There is concern about the potential effect on youngsters as well as increased program costs.

The state Board of Education is considering revising 62 special education administrative rules and eliminating

In addition, a dozen new rules are being proposed. Included are proposals for resource rooms to serve students who need to be in special education half a day or less, revisions in procedures for due process hearings and investigations of parent complaints, changes in qualifications of special education personnel and revisions in teacher-student ratios.

The rule changes would take place

WHILE THERE are many proposed changes, concern is focusing on a halfdozen major issues.

While many districts have "resource rooms" they are not included in the state's present special education regulations. The new rules would set up a structure for the programs serving youth who can go back and forth between special education and general

There is widespread concern that giving "resource rooms" official approval would mean hiring more aides for the programs and upgrading teachers who would be required to have certification in two instead of one special education area.

ALSO ATTRACTING a lot of attention is a proposal allowing districts to mix students now either in a severely mentally impaired program or severely multiply impaired program, which includes mental and physical handi-

· Complaints about services would go immediately to the state Department of Education, which would clarify which rule pertains to it. Then the trict would investigate the charge. State officials contend there is "incossistency" in the present system of letting local districts determine which rule applies and handling complaints on their own.

· Caseloads of speech and language therapists would be reduced from 75 students to 60 students

· Now monitored by their intermediate districts every year to see if they're in compliance, local school districts would also be evaluated as well. Possible changes would be suggested.

Pier 1 imports, which Rice manages, opened Friday at 555 Forest Avenue. The building most recently was known as Four Seasons food emporium. "I don't think we'll have much difficulty here, based on our projections," Rice said.

The one-story building has seen several business es come and go. Originally built by Krogers as a grocery store, 555 Forest Avenue also has been a discount store, night club, food emporium, and now is divided for retail space.

Pier 1 has taken the north end of the building. some 6,500 square feet. The south end, more than 5,000 square feet, is being prepared for lease. No tenant has been announced.

MISCONCEPTIONS ABOUT RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

You may think of rheumatold arthritis as being 'the crippling kind' of arthritis. While it can reach such severity, the usual case is better described as giving you a 'touch' of arthritis.

That is, the condition won't devastate your life but will hamper your activities and sap your stamins. The stiffness, swelling, and muscle weakness mean that your hands can't follow your brain's instructions. As a result you aren't made crippled as much as you are Another misconception is that if you 'have rheumatoid arthritis in the blood,' you have the disease. However, the presence of "rheumatoid factor" in the blood is not specific for arthritis and the test can be positive for reasons unrelated to any arthritis. Furthermore, the blood tests can't always identify the presence of rheumatold factor, and may be negative at a time when you are in the midst of an attack.

In short, if you learn that you have rheumatoid arthritis, don't be discouraged. If you are told you have arthritis because a blood test showed it, be

City of Plymouth Heights first proposed in 1956

The tabloid newspaper distributed by those opposed to the City of Plymouth's attempt to annex Plymouth Township in November 1955 declared that City Manager Al Glassford had let the cat out of the bag in his report to the Plymouth Community Study Committee on

In the report, Glassford indicated that the tax rate for the combined communities, after annexation, would be 15 mills. That compared with 1.04 mills then being levied by the township. The headline of the tabloid screamed: TOWNSHIP FACES TAX RATE BOOST OF 1,500 PERCENT!"

On the day the tabloid was distributed, residents of city and township went to the polls to decide whether the city could annex its neighbor.

Although city voters said yes to the tune of 779 to 373, township voters torpedoed the idea. They defeated the annexation attempt by a margin of ten to

BUT ONE OF the city's forays was successful

During the same month it was given the green light to annex 85 acres within the township - the Cassady property athe corner of Sheldon and N. Territortal Roads. It was on part of this property that the Western Electric plant later was built.

The township was unable to block that annexation because only city residents and the owners of the annexed property were entitled to vote.

As early as Sept. 19, 1955, Supervisor Roy Lindsay and the township board

When the township filed its second petition on June 29, 1956, it indicated that the proposed city, to encompass 8.53 square miles, would be called "Plymouth Heights." This petition also failed because the property description was ruled to be inaccurate.

The township came back with another petition on Oct. 16, 1956. The city blocked this one by adroitly passing a resolution to annex city-owned Riverside Park which had been located in the township since 1877 Thus when the township's petition came before the county for review it was rejected as including property the city recently ac-

FINALLY, and perhaps in desperation, Mayor Russ Daane and the city commission decided that the end justified the means.

Ignoring the remark in Al Glassford's 1954 letter that skimming the township's cream would be an act of selfishness, the city went after land occupied by one of the township's industrial plums, and certainly its largest taxpayer, the Burroughs Corp. In taking this action, the city brought into the fray another adversary, one with resources and a legal staff much larger then the one commanded by Plymouth Township.

One little-publicized event is the National Ribbon Project. This is a project build Mack Trucks. But it was not to in which individuals, families or groups his liking and far from being a permawill sew three-foot banners, each depicting something important which they would hate to lose in the event of from Lady Luck. The banners will be sewn together and wrapped around the Pentagon on Aug 9, 1985. Hundreds already have been sewn A "Sew-In" for the ribbon project will be held at Schoolcraft College Slides of completed banners will be shown.

In the future, I hope that the college itself will take a more active role in peace issues by including peace events along with its usual announcements

What happened next is touched on, plaintively, in a paragraph of City Attorney Harry Deyo's report to the city commission for the year 1956-57.

Noting that the city's petition to annex the Burroughs' property was vigorously opposed by the firm, Deyo said Burroughs had "two employees establish a so-called residence within the plant for the purpose of defeating the proposition if it reached the ballot.

The registration of these employees was challenged and testimony was taken. The prosecuting attorney ruled in favor of the registration of the employees. Also the prosecuting attorney ruled against the annexation petition, so the question did not appear on the ballot as the city decided not to contest the matter in court."

Struggling for working 'footholds'

One of the most interesting things to watch these days is the methods the younger generation uses to get a foothold in the workaday world that is torn between paying athletes one million dollars a year and closing places so that the ranks of the unemployed swell.

It was back in the days when World War I came to an end and he was left without a job and a chance to help feed his widowed mother and four sisters.

He had learned the machinist trade and fared well during the war. When the Armistice knocked the bottom out of the working ranks.

him out of the way on publication day. they asked him to write a little bit for the paper. He did. It was here that the journalistic bug bit him and he has been with it eveer since.

Now among his acquaintances are two young fellows who are vainly trying to get a foothold in the world. But they are using different methods. The older of the two worked his way through college. But now he finds that his degree is just a fancy piece of paper. There are few jobs in his line, which is finances.

SO TO get a foothold he has taken two small jobs. One is clerking in a stationery store in the daytime. In the evelitte newspaper plant at home. To get ning he clerks at another store. He has little time to himself, but explains that he is saving to buy an automobile.

The other young lad has used a different program. After leaving high school he found a job clerking in one of the business places. Sure, be bought an automobile - just for show. But that didn't last. He knew he needed more of an education.

So he saved his money until he had what he figures is enough to carry him through a two-year period in college.

Now he is at his studies and tells you along the journalistic path.

that he is preparing for a position that should be available in that period. He wants to use the time in that fashion instead of looking for work. And he is a good student. TO THEIR credit neither of the boys have asked the family for help. They have cut lawns, worked on the greens

at the golf courses, even as stock boys in some of the larger business places.

But they never were a burden on the family - except to ask for a place to sleep. Now they are in a serious program that is bound to pay probably rich dividends. Neither is an athlete and available for the high salaries in the sports world But they are bound to win and here's hoping they get a smile from Lady Luck - the same kind of a smile that launched The Stroller on his travels

China is the country visited in this week's travelogue series sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

The travelogue will begin at $ p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School on Joy just west of Canton Center Road. The cost of admission, at the door, is $3.50 per person.

The Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation is the tax-exemption fund-raising arm of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth.

THE NARRATOR for the film is Raphael Green who has the distinction of having traveled in both Outer Mongolia (under Russian control) and in Inner Mongolia (part of China.)

Green has seen more of the Russian empire tham most Russians, having many times crise-crossed the Soviet Union for more than 22,000 miles from Leningrad in the west to Vladivostok in the east. Green went to Siberia and, unlike many, man-

He once had the unusual privilege of dining with the mayor of Peking in the former Imperial Palace of the Forbidden City and has traveled with a tour group from the Field Museum of Chicago.

AS A result, Green has produced the first travelogue on China by an American since China became Communist.

Green has filmed a number of open-heart surgery operations, has directed a series of educational films for McGraw-Hill as a member of the audiovisual staff at the University of Minnesota and for seven years was the official motion picture cameraman for the University of Minnesota.

HAPPY NEW YEAR CHINESE STYLE Greet Year of the OX with Inspiring Chicken Dishes

4683, in the ancient Chinese lunar calendar is the Year of the Ox. The Year of the Ox, which begins Wednesday, February 20, follows the Oriental tradition of naming the years after constellations of the Zodiac in 12-year cycles.

The Chinese say that those born in the Year of the Ox (1901, 1913, 1925, 1937, 1949, 1961, 1973, 1985) are achievers, patient, hard-working, self-sacrificing and inspire confidence. Ox people are usually able to control their own destiny and often regulate the fates of others.

Ox people are known to be sore losers and are stubborn but have alert minds and bodies.

Being talented in the arts, it's no surprise that many entertainment celebrities were born in Ox years. The list includes such notables as Gary Cooper, Walt Disney, Johnny Carson, Jane Fonda, Bill Cosby and Jack Nicholson. For the rest of us, Ox years promise prosperity to those who take their work seriously.

Sweet & Sour Chicken, created especially for welcoming Chinese New Year, is a savory dish featuring chicken breasts and an array of colorful vegetables laced with a tasty sauce.

ORIENTAL FOODS CELEBRATE ANCIENT HOLIDAY

Whatever the new year is expected to bring, the Chinese celebrate it with a feast. The house is decorated with oranges, which symbolize abundance, and narcissus, for good fortune. Families exchange gifts, visit friends and enjoy delicious eating.

You can join the festivities and welcome Chinese New Year with your own celebration, centering It around an Oriental dinner. In honor of the holiday, Oriental food experts of La Choy Products have created two chicken entrees prepared Chinese style that you can easily duplicate in your own kitchen.

Caviar spells real elegance

Despite my Russian blood line, I've only sampled caviar several times. Frankly, I doubt that it was the expensive kind, such as Petrossian at about $370 a pound.

I hear caviar prices are down, but Beluga still costs around $300 per pound. Then there's Sevruga caviar at the bargain price of $190 a pound.

Caviar, I had believed, was more attitude than a culinary experience. My family doesn't like the idea of eating fish eggs; my stepson prefers mock caviar featuring eggplant.

At the majority of posh functions, you'll find caviar, perhaps resting on ice in a fancy crystal bowl. the center of attraction. That's because caviar spells e-l-e-g-a-n-c-e.

I recently sprung for a two-ounce jar of Icelandic caviar to see if it really tasted good. I made toast points, burning a thumb on the cookie sheet, and spread on the black lumpfish. I used sweet butter to cut down on the always-salty caviar and was richly rewarded.

But the baked potato took the cake. Caviar replaced the usual sprinkling of salt and pepper. Again, I used sweet butter and left off the sour cream. It was delicious.

I might even spring for the $16 a pound for my next party Who has to know it's Icelandic. I'll act

Timothy Hutton is a young crusader who takes on city government in order to help his brother in "Turk 182."

the movies

Greenberg

Fighting city hall has winning ways in film 'Turk 182'

"Turk 182" is a pretty slick comedy that should entertain all and offend none, except politicians and they deserve what they get.

But it's all in good fun and even the wily but errant politician, New York Mayor Tyler (Robert Culp), laughs at his own political demise and surrenders gracefully, with just a hint of "I shall re-

It all starts when off-duty New York fireman Terry Lynch (Robert Urich) is injured saving a young girl from a burning building. He's invalided out of the service. Unfortunately, his heroism was off duty and under the influence of a few beers. The bureaucracy rules, therefore, that he is not eligible for a pension.

Enter aimless young brother, Jimmy (Timothy Hutton), who takes up the cudgel on his brother's behalf and becomes a mysterious crusader known only as "Turk 182." Jimmy attacks the bureaucrats - first by nicely requesting justice, and then where they live, in the public-opinion polls.

IT DOESN'T TAKE long for Jirhmy to learn that asking nicely won't make Mayor Tyler reverse the City Pension Department ruling.

Even Terry's engaging young caseworker, lovely Danny Boudreau (Kim Cattrall), is helpless against the faceless bureaucracy. Of course, she is winsome and lovable: Jimmy falls and she reciprocates.

Meanwhile, Mayor Tyler has his own problems with the bureaucracy and certainly won't reverse the pension ruling just because Jimmy asks politely. Mayor Tyler has to cope with the news that one of his political appointees left for Brazil under indictment Well, you can imagine what kind of headlines that causes. "Zimmerman Flew and Tyler Knew" terrific during an election

Tyler's political opposition, though undefined, seems largely composed of kids and street people in sharp contrast to His Honor's slick, tuxedoed appearance, reminiscent of Mayor John Lind-

The "little people" vs. the establishment, effectively underplayed, but played nonetheless, adds to "Turk 182's" only is the battle for Terry's pension the lone individual struggling against the bureacracy, but the street-people graffiti campaign against Mayor Tyler has the same flavor - little folks expressing resentment against the swells. Tweaking the nose of authority is always fun and "Turk 182" has the good grace to do so in a benign and pleasant way, without bitterness

AND IF MAYOR Tyler thought the street people were good at political graffiti, wait till he sees what young Jimmy can do once

The restraint and good humor with which Director Bob Clark heats the establishment on the head is a major plus for the film it is a good-hearted comedy highlighted by some nice performanc-

Timothy Hutton is convincingly at loose ends and unsure of himself until something really matters, his big brother needs his talent and his help. Big brother, as played by Robert Urich, is affectionately gruff and tough but tender when needed

There are also a couple of nice cameo roles Peter Boyle as Detective Lt. Ryan who can do no right, no matter how hard he tries and Darren McGavin as disheveled, rumpled, kindly, intelligent Detective Kowalski, the maverick brought in to solve the case when Boyle and Company continue to fall flat on their faces.

Robert Culp is debonair as the besieged Mayor Tyler while Paul Sorvino appears as himself, as does the Giants' Meadowlands Sta-

"You Can't Take It With You," as presented by the Farmington Players, seems less madcap than usual, but the message of the play stands out more clearly as a result.

That message, the proverbial "take time out to smell the flowers," seems as important today as when this Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman comedy debuted in the 1930s.

The unusual doings in Grandpa Vanderhof's home have made the play's title idiomatic for zany chaos. Grandpa (Bob McSweeney) decided to drop out of the rat race 35 years ago. Since then, attending college commencements a ignoring mail from the tax collector.

With but one exception the other members of the household also spend their lives doing whatever makes them

GRANDAUGHTER Alice (Tina Vileneuve), is in contrast to the rest of the family by choosing to hold a steady secretarial job. When she falls in love with the boss' son (Bob Locks), Alice knows it will be almost impossible for the very proper Kirby family to understand her strange household.

The formally attired Mr. and Mrs. Kirby (Dick Coe and Kathleen Monticello) arrive for dinner on the wrong night and are at first horrified by the chaotic lives of the Vanderhof clan. Eventually, though, Grandpa helps them see that the pursuit of happiness is more important than material gains.

In general, the performers are competent, but the comic potential of the characters is vastly underplayed. Mom Arvo makes the most of her small part as a Russian Grand Dutchess cooking blintzes in the kitchen, and Coe and Monticello as the Kirbys are properly stodgy without overdoing it.

Vileneuve, in her role of Alice, and Robert Myers, as Paul, husband of Alice's mother Penny, both could use more animation. Erik Carlson's goofiness, as the housekeeper's boyfriend Donald, is cumbersome.

DIRECTOR Joe Doehler has chosen to present a rather laid-back "You Can't Take It With You." The slower pacing makes it easier to understand Alice's devotion to her unusual family, even if it means losing the man she loves. The less frenetic comedy makes certain that the message won't get lost but the evening just isn't as funny as it should be

Others in the cast are Paula Terzian as Grandpa's daughter Penny, who writes unfinished plays; Carl Orsini as Mr DePinna, who delivered some ice six years ago and just stayed on; Maggie Einhaus as Penny's daughter Essie Alice's sister, who relentlessly pursue ballet lessons, and Brian Tupper as Ed.

who plays the xylophone badly. More are Louis Emmert as Essie's haughty Russian ballet teacher, Ceci Orman as a drunken actress and Joyce Moore as housekeeper Birdie.

Monday, February 18, 1985 O&E

FIRST ROBIN of the season was reported by Barbara and Jim McKelvey who live on Brookside, just a block from Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township.

Jim made the first sighting Monday, Feb. 11. "Come quick, look in the maple tree," he called to Barbara Sure enough, there was a robin.

The next day, there were two in their yard.

"You can't mistake their call," Barbara said.

Bird watchers say some robins stay around all winter. I've never seen a winter robin. Hopefully, these arrived from warmer climes with the promise that spring is on its way.

BIRD FEEDERS have been popular gathering places during this period of extended snowfalls. The birds and the squirrels put on a better show than anything on television.

Peanuts in the shell do keep the squirrels aways from the bird feeders. There's always one that tries to intimidate the others and keep all the peanuts to himself. He'll start out shelling and eating the nuts on the ground. When another squirrel appears, he'll chase him away, and eat from a vantage point in a tree. Then, as more squirrels discover the nuts, he'll try to chase, eat and bury all at the same time.

eat and bury all at the same time.

He puts the nuts in the snow and tries to smooth the surface to hide the spot.

One young sqirrel actually tried to tunnel his way under the snow to the peanuts. Every once in a while he'd stick his head out, all covered with snow, to see where he was.

There was a clumsy mourning dove that alit on the roof of a feeder and kept sliding off. Staying on the roof became more important than eating and that neat, well-tailored dove was like a Laurence Olivier doing slapstick comedy.

The bluejays compete with the squirrels for the peanuts. I can't figure out how they can sit on a branch, crack the shell, and get the nuts without dropping them on the ground. It's easy for the squirrels, who use their paws.

One day I put out some dried-up, leftover macaroni and cheese with the peanuts and sunflower seeds. The starlings just about went out of their minds. They loved my gourmet(?) macaroni and cheese.

The juncos, finches and cardinals seem more self-contained and well-adjusted — no personality problems such as greed and jealousy.

And some day, I hope to be able to identify the different kinds of sparrows. They're really nice little birds. It seems the other birds rely on them to point out the feeding places.

Students of the 1980s meet radical of the '60s

By Elinor Graham staff writer

Allen Ginsberg, radical poet of the 1960s, gave his first lecture to a group of high school students Friday. Seated on the stage of Plymouth Canton High School's Little Theatre, a greying Ginsberg addressed an audience of English students and visitors.

He answered questions, recited poetry and sang to his own accompaniment on a "squeeze box," and instructed his audience on the art of meditation.

Ginsberg was in the area for a poetry reading at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Rob McKercher, 1984 graduate of Plymouth Canton High and a student at Schoolcraft College, arranged Ginsberg's appearance. He talked to Barbara Masters, English teacher at the school, who received permission from her principal, Kent Buikema, to invite Ginsberg.

McKercher then made arrangements for the poet's visit.

Buikema's relief after the lecture was obvious. Ginsberg's behavior—and language—were irreproachable. Students needed parental permission to attend the lecture. As the news of his coming spread, many parents telephoned Buikema to voice their vehement disapproval.

THE STUDENTS had done their hand, he said.

homework. Their questions were perti-

They asked him about his history of drug involvement and does he still use

"Are drugs good for exploring with an open mind?" questioned a student. Ginsberg told them meditation was a much better method.

He invited them to join in an experiment in meditation. "Sit on the edge of your seat, sit straight, hang from the tree of your spine. The spine supports your body instead of your muscles. Relax your belly, shoulders, arms. Put your hands on your knees.

"Keep your mouth closed, tongue on the roof of your mouth so saliva won't form. Relax your optical field; rest your eyes in the middle distance. Pay attention to your out-breath. Follow it from the tip of your nose to where it dissolves. Ignore the in-breath, don't control your breathing."

control your breathing."

He said meditation is belpful in cutting through thoughts. "Take a friendly attitude toward your thoughts, become a gentle observer, not tricked by your own mind. Like a stainless, azure sky, your mind is open and awake, not governed by greed and lust."

"BE A GOD-LIKE observer with a sense of humor," Ginsberg said. Poetry and meditation go hand-inHe took his audience through the history of poetry, from the chanting and dance of the Greek chorus to the bard who recited his poetry accompanied by a lyre, to the printed poetry of the 19th century.

"(Exra) Pound put music and poetry back together again. Read Shelley's 'Ode to the West Wind,' you can get high on it. It's exalted rock and roll. The rhythm is unobstructed in some Shakespeare passages, some Walt Whitman."

He discovered, by a showing of hands, that the majority of the students in the audience was unfamiliar with "Ode to a West Wind." Ginsberg turned to a table of books beside him, found the poem, and read what he described as a symphonic piece.

HE WAS ASKED why he was so explicit in some of his poems.
Ginsberg responded that he was being candid.

"Candor cuts down on public paranoia. Poetry is a laser beam that clears the air of paranoia."

His advice to young writers and poets was, "Don't stop to think of words, paint the picture. The first visual flash is the best. Labor well with minute particulars. Generalizations and abstractions are the plea of the scoundrel.

Have respect for the spontaneous."

BILL BRESLER/stff photographe

Allen Ginsberg talked about poetry, drugs and meditation at Plymouth Canton High School.

The poet autographs his "First Blues" album for Wendy Greenstein.

Sara Michalik was the third highest all-around point scorer for Salem Friday with 28.40 points.

The Rocks lost their first meet of the sesson to North Farmington.

staff writer

It was the best of Observerland gymnastics, the No. 1 and No. 2 teams meeting head on.

But that was of secondary importance to No. 1-ranked North Farming-

Friday afternoon's meet with Plymouth Salem was the homecoming for North coach Mary Glitz. Glitz had missed the last three meets because she was busy giving birth (on Feb. 5) to 7-pound, 3-ounce Scott Walter.

When Glitz walked through the doors of the North gym Friday, about five minutes prior to the meet, the place erupted. The first to greet her was team manager Kristin Oswald. Soon, the popular coach was mobbed by all her gymnasts.

It was an emotional moment for the coach and for the players. In fact, there was perhaps more emotion spent over Glitz's return than there was over the meet itself

THE RAIDERS knocked off Salem 127.65-124.30 in a meet that neither team will place among their seasonal highlights. North had scored in the 130s its last three meets. Salem's team scores, meanwhile, may have reached a premature peak.

'After the attitude problems we've had this week, I'm surprised we came as close as we did," said Salem coach Kathi Kinsella. "It's not that they have a bad attitude. It's more of a lazy attitude. They just can't seem to get going.

"I'm pleased with the performance. It's just that we're not going to get better as a team until some of these girls develop some spirit and leadership and compassion — until they are willing to help out the other people as well as

For the Raider gymnasts, Friday's meet was used to implement new tricks into their routines.

We tried some new things out there," said North assistant coach Dennis Fitzgerald, who has run the team in Glitz's absence. "We were not mentally sharp in the other areas, and the judges were quick to pick up on that. They didn't miss anything.

"But, we had to get these new tricks into the routines before the league meet and regionals. You can't walk in a league meet and throw something you haven't thrown before."

THE MEET featured four fine allaround performers: Eileen Murtaugh and Lucine Toroyan from North and Jackie Huff and Beth Rafail from Sa-

Murtaugh and Rafail tied for allaround honors with 33.45 points apiece. Toroyan scored 33.25 and Huff, bothered by an injured ankle, scored 32.0.

But the difference in the meet, as it turned out, was Kara Karhu, Karhu, North's No. 3 performer, scored 31.95 all-around including an eye-popping 8.5 floor exercise and a no-fall 8.1 balance beam. Salem's No. 3 performer, Sara Michalik, scored 28.40 all-around.

Murtaugh and Rafail set the tone for their individual duel by each nailing 8.6 on vault. Karhu was next with an 8.35, followed by Toroyan's 8.25. Huff placed fifth with an 8.15. Murtaugh won on the uneven bars with an 8.25. Toroyan and Huff each scored 8.15 and Rafail scored 8.0. After the first two events, North led TOROYAN AND Rafail, both demonstrating confident and poised routines, tied on beam with 8.4 scores.

Murtaugh garnered an 8.2, Karhu and Huff each scored 8.1.

Huff and Karhu stole the show on floor. Huff scored an 8.6, besting Karhu's 8.5. Rafail and Toroyan each scored 8.45 and Murtaugh finished her night with an 8.4. The win improves North's record to 10-1, the only loss coming to stateranked Troy. The loss was the Rocks' first this season, they are 9-1.

PLYMOUTH CANTON won its first two meets of the season last week.

On Monday, the Chiefs bested Vassar in the second half of a double dual with Freeland, 111.8-108.3. Freeland scored 136.95 in the meet.

Then on Wednesday, the Chiefs scored their first Western Lakes win of the season, topping Farmington 112.9-

A quartet of Chiefs helped offset the individual talents of Farmington's Katie MacIntosh. MacIntosh won on bars (7.85) and floor (7.95) and placed second on vault (7.7) and beam (7.1). Ann Healey won the vault (7.75) and laced second on floor (7.4) for the Chiefs. Apryl Mosakowski won on placed third on vault (7.65) and second on bars (7.6). Shelly Ludwig placed fourth on vault beam with a 7.15. Megan McGow

(.45) and third on bars (7.45). Also for Canton, Carol Horvath tied Farmington's Lauren Mistor for third on beam (6.85), and Cheryl Battaglia took fourth on both bars (6.9) and floor (7.2), and placed fifth on vault (7.15).

Debi DeWitt placed third on floor for Farmington (7.35).

Against Vassar, Ludwig won on bars 4), Mary Jo Charron won on beam (7.3) and Healey on floor exercise (7.8).

McGow placed second on vault (7.85).
The Chiefs are now 2-8 on the season Farmington falls to 2-7.

'Schlicker of old' triggers Canton victory

By Scott Adler staff writer

Talk about a good bench

Plymouth Canton found some bench strength it never knew it had Friday night when John Van Wagoner filled in for his brother Dave as coach, and reree Jim Schlicker lit a fire under the Chiefs' usually weak offense in leading Canton to a 62-52 win at home

Dave Van Wagoner was too sick to take the helm, so his younger brother John took over along with assistant coach Mark LaPointe and the Chiefs played a scrapping inspired game.

"Our seniors really did the job for us tonight" Van Wagoner said "They came out and played and that was the difference tonight

Schlicker, one of those seniors who came to play sparked Canton offensively at first from the free throw line and later with his jump shots and play basketball

under the basket. He finished with 14 - 31 with 3.30 left in the quarter

"The Jim Schlicker of last year appeared tonight," Van Wagoner said "He did a real good job. He's been in a slump this year and it was good to see him play like that "

BOTH CANTON and Bentley started out sloppily, turning the ball over with bad passes and poor ballhandling. The Chiefs got untracked before the Bull dogs and jumped out to a 27-21 lead at halftime

Canton built that lead to 10 points in the first 2 minutes of the third period but Bentley fought back to within 1-32 points. 4 by Schlicker, to take control of the game. The Bulldogs never got closer than 6 points the rest of the way.

"They shot better than we did," said

Bentley coach Tom Neimi "We played poorly. We didn't execute our offense Canton not only shot better than

Bentley, but the Chiefs shot much more often from the free throw line, connecting on 18 of 34 Bentley was 8 for 19

THE CHIEFS ALSO did something unusual they played a zone defense We usually play man." Van Wagoner said, "but we haven't been doing that well. We wanted to change it up. We wanted to make Bentley beat us from the outside and our zone did a good job

When Canton changed back to a man-to-man defense, it forced Bentley into poor shots and turnovers.

We came down and took bad shots." Neimi said "That's how they got the lead We got back into the game with good shot selections." Canton's zone also provided the

Chiefs with a more stable rebounding position, which translated into a closer rebounding margin (37-32) than they're Canton (5-7 in the Western Lakes, 7-9 overall) got 15 points from Joel Mies and 9 points from Kevin Hawkins.

Bentley (4-8, 6-9) was paced by Sal DeMilio with 14 points and Steve Carli with 10 points

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Jim Schlicker came off the Canton bench to score 14 points and lead the Chiefs past Livonia Bentley Friday night.

Churchill zone defense befuddles Salem outh Salem 67-51 Friday night But if you're talking to Churchill coach Don Albertson don't call it an upset

"It didn't seem like a major upset to me the veteran coach said "Hey. you've got to remember, we're 7-9 but we played our first three games this season without Scott Hille People look at our record, but they don't see what's behind it. I've never given up on this team and I don't think the kids ever felt like we were a bad team."

Scott Hille does make a difference in the Chargers. Against Salem, he scored 21 points grabbed 13 rebounds and dished out 6 assists. He also nailed 7 of 8 free throws including a pair of 1-and-1 opportunities in the fourth quarter that kept Salem at hay But the key weapon in the Chargers' arsenal was their pesky zone defense Salem was able score just 10 points in each of the last two quarters

"I thought our defense did a nice job," Albertson said. "The intensity was very good It forced Salem to shoot from 20 to 22 feet away and (Mike) White was the only one hitting "

White was indeed hitting as he led Salem with 21 points But Salem connected on just 30 percent of its 62 shots

"We had our shots," said Salem coach Bob Brodie "They just didn't fall It was one of those nights. The shots weren't all bombs either. We had some nice 10-foot jumpers that just wouldn't go down It was a bad game And Churchill is a good team They play good defense and they hit their shots " 'Any time you beat a Plymouth team you feel good," said Albertson.

Mickey Katschor scored 15 points and dished off 5 assists for Churchill (6-6 in the Western Lakes) Mike Herman son added 14 points and 9 rebounds Ken Gendjar played a superb defensive

LeSean Haygood scored 13 points and grabbed 13 rebounds for Salem (7-5 in the conference, 9-7 overall)

No contest: Brother Riceburies CC

By Chris McCosky

Jeff Herberholz stole the ball at the Catholic Central free throw line and drove the length of the floor. As he approached the basket he twirled the ball behind his back and slammed it through the hoop

Jeff Herberholz is a 6-foot-8 center

His play was typical of Brother Rice's performance Sunday night in the quarterfinal round of the Catholic League playoffs Brother Rice could do no wrong

Rice, for the third time this season, blasted Redford Catholic Central Final score 71-57 Rice will advance to the semifinal round at 6.45 p.m.

Thursday at Calihan Hall on the University of Detroit campus The Warriors will play either East Catholic or Southgate Aguinas

The game disappointed many of the near 6,000 fans that crowded into Calihan, but nobody was more disappointed than CC coach Bernie Holowicki. His team sleepwalked through the first 4 minutes of play and found itself in a 9-0 hole a hole that only got deeper as the game progressed. 'We were beaten before we started," Holowicki said. 'Sometimes you believe in yourself and sometimes you don't They beat us twice in a row. You'd think we'd be emotionally ready to play. We weren't

THE BOYS FROM Birmingham certainly came ready to

BJ Armstrong, as he has done in all three matchups with CC, stole the show. His final stats 31 points (9 of 13 from the floor and 13 of 15 from the free throw line) and 8

These performances, and the one Tuesday (51 points vs.

Cabrini), he is capable of every night," Rice coach Nick Conti said "I'm certainly not surprised. John McIntyre, CC's top gun and Armstrong's off-the-court buddy, scored 26 points, hitting 11 of 27 shots But Armstrong got a lot more help than McIntyre. Her-berholz added 19 points and Chris Plunkett had 12. No other CC player scored in double figures

We've been doing a better job of this kind of play in the last third of the season," Conti said. "Before they would make a run. It has gotten smaller and smaller as the season has gone along. We never gave CC a chance to make a

THE CLOSEST thing to a "run" that CC made came in the second quarter. McIntyre forced 3 Rice turnovers and scored 8 points to pull CC within 4, 25-21.

Undaunted, Rice finished the half with an 8-3 spurt and never looked back.

"I believe a great number of games are won or lost in the first 3 minutes of a game or in the first 3 minutes of the second half," Conti said. "The game may have been won

No arguments here. The Warriors ran off an 11-3 spurt to begin the second half; the issue was decided Brother Rice was deadly from the perimeter. The Warriors drained 23 of 35 shots. Some were from short range.

Many were virtually uncontested by CC. "We had a game plan that we thought would work," Holowicki said. "But the way we played, there was no semblence of the plan. We wanted to double team off our matchup zone. They didn't carry out their assignments."

Rice is now 15-2 on the season. CC falls to 11-6.

Farmington bests Chiefs, Salem tops N'ville

How strong is the Lakes Division of having to yield 13 points to their oppothe Western Lakes swim conference?

Consider this. Farmington is the third best team in the Lakes behind Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem. On Tuesday, Farmington defeated the Western Division champion Northville, 87-82 Then last Thursday, the Falcons beat the second place Western team, Plymouth Canton, 93-76.

OMEWHERE NORTH of Cloud 9 rests the state of euphoria. Just north of there rests Tom Erhart, a Rochester resident who still is flying high after his experience in the Tigers Fantasy Camp.

Erhart, a baseball standout at West Bloomfield High School from 1969-71. experienced the dream of his life, thanks to the generosity of wife, Pamela, whose Christmas present to her husband of nine years was a chance to play against the 1968 world champion De-

"My feet still haven't touched the ground," said Erhart, who returned to his Rochester home last week after seven days in Lakeland, Fla.

Now the Erharts will be busy finishing the basement of their home, which will be decorated with Tiger paraphernalia, most of which came from the Fantasy Camp. Tom brought home baseballs, pennants, caps, programs and just about anything suitable to be autographed by his 1968 heros.

The creme de la creme of the souvenirs, again, can be attributed to Pamela. Campers going to the Lakeland were asked to write a short piece called "Why I'm Going to Lakeland." Pamela submitted the piece before Tom knew of his gift. The best literary work earned an Al Kaline Hillerich & Brandsby Louisville Slugger bat the real McCoy when Pamela's poem was selected as the winner.

"It's going to take a lifetime to pay her back," Tom said. "It'll probably be a lot of small things over a long period of time. It's hard for me to imagine how I'm going to pay her back, but I'm sure she'll have a couple ideas over the next few years."

Pamela, who said she gave Tom the gift because "he was driving me nuts with baseball, baseball, baseball," recalled the phone call she received from her husband after he won the Kaline

"He said, 'I won, I won. I'm indebted to you for life.

Tom might have paid Pamela back by taking her along.

"It's his fantasy," Pamela explained What would you want to take your wife for" For Tom, it was the proverbial dream come true, and something he found arduous to explain. After describing the trip as incredible, fantastic and unbelieveable, he was finally able to put it all into words Most people never get the chance to experience their fantasy For me, the 68 Tiger Fantasy Camp was a dream come true, and the memories will last

"NOW I FEEL like the '68 Tigers are my friends as well as my idols."

Erhart, who has the same 6-foot, 155pound frame when he was an all-league and all-county pitcher and outfielder at West Bloomfield, developed a friend-

Hiller's tips paid off. When Erhart pitched in the game against the '68 Tigers, Hiller was one of the batters he faced. Erhart came on with two runners aboard and no outs. He got Dick Tracewski to fly out to left, then got Hiller to bounce back to the mound for an inning-ending double play.

The next inning, he faced Dick McAuliffe, Jim Northrup, Kaline and Willie Horton. Each of the Tigers ripped Erhart for hits.

I came back to life after that."

With 77 players participating in the Tiger camp, appearances in the Saturday double-header had to be limited. Hitters had one at-bat while pitchers were allowed to throw to six batters.

DURING THE week, Erhart said he was ripping the ball pretty efficiently, so when his turn came to bat in the game, he was feeling pretty confident.

"I popped out to shortstop," he said with a sheepish grin. "Hank Aguirre jammed me up and in twice. The first one I fouled off. All week I was ripping the ball. Before the game I said I'd rather strike out than pop out."

The Tigers won both games, 13-5 and

"I really think they could have beat us 30-0 both games if they wanted to." Erhart said. "It's amazing watching them play. They can still do it.

"Everything was amazing. When they played the Star Spangled Banner before the game, it was quite a feeling. It made me feel like a big leaguer."

The highlight of the week came during an intrasquad scrimmage when Erhart made a diving catch of a line drive in center field. As he returned to the dugout, Kaline, who made those plays look routine during his days with the Tigers, shouted, "Great play. That's the play of the week."

Erhart, who says he's been a Tiger fan - "and not a fair weather fan" all his life, had dreams of playing big league baseball as a youngster. His dream then wouldn't have been playing in a fantasy camp, but playing with the likes of Kirk Gibson, Alan Trammell and Lou Whitaker.

"When I was in ninth grade (when the 1968 Tigers won the championship), I probably thought I'd be part of the 1984 team," Erhart grinned. "It was shortly after that when I realize I was not going to be a big leaguer."

SO THE NEXT best thing was the fantasy. The toughest part was coming back to reality.

"It's still hard to believe I'm not supposed to be going to practice in the morning," he said. "When I get up, I feel like I should be there. At work now, it's great because people ask me about it and I get to relive it each day."

thump Canton good job serving. Madis, Denise Tackett and Tracy Greenhalge took care of the serving in the second game.

> "Denise played really well," Smith said. "This was the first game she played all the way through, and she did a very good job for us." Smith said her entire squad played and everyone contributed in the overwhelming victory. "Our physical technique is as good as any ranked team in the state," she said. "The only thing holding us back is our mental game. When we're thinking and talking and our mental game is on, we're a very good team."

The Rocks get to see just how good they can be when they take on Observerland's No. 1 team (No. 3 in the state) Livonia Stevenson on the Spartans home court tonight.
