Officials' freeze puts raise on ice

Plymouth-Canton school administrators voted to take a 3-percent pay freeze, saving the district about $135,000. Meanwhile, the school board will meet Monday to decide what to do with an extra $2 million in state aid.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will save roughly $135,000 due to pay freezes accepted last week by administrators. Their move follows a pay freeze accepted 2-1 by the teachers union Sept. 2.

All three administrative groups accepted pay deferrals, as proposed by a grass-roots parents' group that devised a plan to save jobs and extracurricular activities after the millage failed Aug. 17.

One administrative group includes Superintendent John Hoben and assistant superintendents Ray Hoedel and Errol Goldman. Hoben and Hoedel agreed to pay freezes earlier this year. Goldman, who hasn't reached the top of the pay scale, received an incremental pay increase.

The Plymouth-Canton Administrators association is composed of 40 principals, assistant principals, curriculum coordinators, area coordinators, special-ed directors, preschool program director, and community education director.

The PCA voted Thursday to defer 3 percent, a savings to the district of $88,000.

"We may be one of the final pieces to fall into place, but we were one of the first groups to come forth and agree in concept to what the parents' coalition suggested," said Dave Farquharson, assistant principal at East Middle School.

"We looked at it as a giant puzzle and said, 'If you are building it, you can build it with our piece in place.'

"We were committed to that two weeks ago. We said we were willing to look at the 3-percent deferral, and it was simply a matter of deciding on the nuts and bolts of how that was going to happen."

The district's 24 non-affiliated administrators include executive directors, associate directors, directors, su-

This is one fall festival that lived up to its name. Temperatures were on the cool side for the 38th Plymouth Community Fall Festival, and highs were just in the 60s on Fall Festival Saturday.

But sunshine and partly cloudy skies prevailed, and folks still flocked to Kellogg Park, the main staging area for Plymouth's No. 1 community event.

As fall festival Saturday opened with the annual Optimist Club pet show, folks leading dogs on leashes opted for light jackets, sweaters and sweatshirts as they made their way to the main stage at Penniman at Union.

"It's fun, isn't it," said Rosita Smith, an animal lover and city commission candidate. She and 100 on-lookers took their places on folding chairs near the stage, as sunlight streamed down.

Among those waiting for the dog judging to end was Eric Christian of Plymouth Township, with his pet baby peacock "Peep."

The bird "was the only one that hatched out of 30 eggs," said mom Debra Christian, also one of the storytellers performing Saturday in front of the Plymouth library.

Soon, master of ceremonies Felix Rotter was walking along the stage, talking to kids holding their pets to be judged in the "most unusual" category.

Dignitaries have a cow over new historic marker

If the legendary Rose of Aberlone were alive, speeches Thursday in Kellogg Park to honor her would hardly have stirred her interest.

After all, Rose was a cow — and on the eve of the Plymouth Fall Festival, there was an abundance of untrampled, rich green grass nourished by recent rain.

But Rose never got to sample the grass of Kellogg Park or anywhere else in town, even though a Plymouth man's effort to buy her from the Hiram Walker distillery in Windsor sparked a landmark legal case.

That legal case — studied by nearly all U.S. contract law students — was commemorated with speeches from officials from the State Bar of Michigan, Hiram Walker distillery and local elected officials.

An official Michigan Legal Marker was also placed in the park to honor the famous case.

While recognizing that legal precedents are serious business, several speakers had some fun with the case involving a cow.

Thomas Jones, executive director of the Historical Society of Michigan, told nearly 100 assembled at the park that he "was not cowed" by the challenge of addressing the group.

"In fact, I'm utterly pleased in being here and I plan to milk that for all it is worth," he said, to groans from lawyers and others in attendance.

"Rose by any other name still smelled like a cow, which she was," said State Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth.

"Plymouth never got to be the hometown of Rose of Aberlone, but (the city) got the plaque — What a perfect way to make amends," said George Ward, a state bar commissioner.

The case began with T.C. Sherwood, president of Plymouth National Bank. He contracted with Hiram Walker in 1886 to buy a cow, Rose. Both parties believed Rose was unable to breed.

Cruising cheaper

The cost to the City of Plymouth to police teens cruising downtown this year was 41 percent less than the city budgeted for.

The city had budgeted $57,630 in police costs to oversee downtown cruising. At its height in past years, downtown streets were jammed with teens and cars, and some residents were kept up later than they wanted to be, due to noise.

But in a quarterly budget report presented by City Manager Steve Walters to city commissioners on Monday, he projected the cost to the city to police the cruise would be $20,600 by year end.

City officials have credited the decline in cruising to street barricades that contain the cruisers to

PLYMOUTH PIPELINE

Main Street, adding it could be that downtown Plymouth isn't deemed to be as cool a place for cruising as it once was.

Fire rating up

The fire insurance grading classification for the City of Plymouth, determined by ISO Commercial Risk Services Inc., has been improved from a 6 to a 5 rating, according to a report presented Monday to city commissioners.

The classification was changed due to factors including municipal fire protection and hydrant water pressure, among others.

The change does not affect property insurance premium classifications for sprinklered properties and some others, but does "affect typical commercial properties by about minus 2.8 percent," the rating firm reported.

Craft show moves

Plymouth and Canton people are featured in the Craft Gallery's fall Folk Art & Victorian Craft Show from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 26 at the Hawthorne Valley Country Club, 7300 Merri-man, just north of Warren in Westland.

Val Davis and Debby Jordan of Plymouth will exhibit country painted and personalized wood and country soft sculpture, and Rita Miller of Canton offers porcelain dolls.

Draft guides renovation downtown

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

A rough draft of design guidelines for downtown businesses has been put together by Plymouth's downtown development authority director, to meet a goal of strengthening downtown's image.

"The appearance of each building, storefront, window display, sidewalk, parking lot and alley will contribute to the total visual appeal, and so to the eventual marketing success of downtown Plymouth," DDA director Steve Guile wrote in an introduction to the 26-page draft guide.

To DDA members at their Thursday meeting, Guile proposed not to make a final set of guidelines mandatory by putting them into ordinance form. Rather, businesses that use a DDA architect to plan renovations when needed could win low-interest bank loans if they agree to follow guidelines, he suggested.

"By coordinating improvements, merchants can maintain their individual identities while strengthening the image of the downtown as a whole," Guile suggested.

Guile said the draft was based on U.S. Secretary of the Interior standards for rehabilitation of buildings, and on design guidelines he developed for downtown Dowagiac, where he served earlier as DDA director as that town took on a downtown renovation in the 1980s.

Having guidelines, he said, provides "basic, common sense advice for the historical restoration of Plymouth, based on the experience of other successful downtown projects nationwide."

The DDA is seeking to coordinate the design guidelines with a historic preservation ordinance being developed by the city's historic district renovation committee.

"The whole program should be ready to go by next spring," Guile said.

The draft guidelines call for:

■ Maintaining "the distinguishing original qualities or character of a building. The removal or alteration of any historic material or distinctive architectural features should be avoided when possible."

■ Alterations with no historical basis are discouraged.

■ Changes that are evidence of the history and development of a building "may have acquired significance in their own right, and this significance shall be recognized and respected."

■ Repair or replacement of missing architectural features should be based on accurate duplications of features substantiated by historic, physical or pictorial evidence.

Upon further investigation, she found a front window to the house had been broken and several items were stacked in the garage.

Police recovered two gloves at the scene and were unable to recover fingerprints.

Items taken

A man told Plymouth Township police on Thursday that some items were taken from his storage unit at 13101 Eccles, and his trailer stored there had been damaged.

The theft happened sometime between Sept. 2 and 2:57 p.m. on Thursday, according to the report filed with police.

The case was closed for lack of leads on suspects.

Windows damaged

The shooting out of windows on the north side of a business on Halyard was discovered at 9:11 a.m. Thursday.

Damage from the vandalism was estimated at $2,935, according to the report filed with Plymouth Township police.

Police have no witnesses or suspects.

Festival: more than just chicken

BY KEVIN BROWN

While Kellogg Park is the traditional focus for the annual fall festival, there was plenty happening outside the park area downtown for festival-goers.

Elmer and Eva Austin had set up tables in the lot of Saxton's Garden Center at Ann Arbor Trail and Deer Street to display his collection of antique tools.

"I have all kinds," Elmer said, near a display of Ford Model A and Model T tools.

Gesturing toward a nearby WSDS-AM van, he added, "They put us on the air."

Along Ann Arbor Trail at Elizabeth Street, Carole Knapp was displaying World Book encyclopedias.

"I always like to come to the fall festival, it's a lot of fun. There's a lot of things going on," she said.

Story tellers Debra Christian and Ron Lowe — he's the city attorney — took turns heading a story-telling event outside the Plymouth library.

Passers-by took their turns hearing a story or two from Christian, Lowe and others. Lowe got laughs for a story about a lawyer who tricked the devil, and for the tale of Arron Kelly — a man who returns from the dead to pester his wife.

Christian got a young girl to help her with a scary story, and Lowe and Christian joined for a tale as listeners took their places on chairs on the library lawn.

Along Penniman Avenue, home to various booths and kids games, Plymouth Township Police Department volunteers passed out Drug Abuse Resistance Education balloons and stickers to a steady stream of kids. Just across the street, New Morning school parent Paul Chamberlain manned a dart-toss game.

"Oh, tough break!" he said, as a young boy's dart glanced off a target. "We'll give you a consolation shot," he said.

If they win, "We let them pick a toy: They can get a little consolation prize," he said.

In a nearby parking lot, one could hear the steady "whop" of baseballs hitting a target as boys took their turns heaving fastballs in the Plymouth Salem Baseball Team booth. The throws were timed on a radar gun.

Further along Penniman were more booths, for the school booster "I Care" group, a used book booth to raise money for the American Association of University Women local chapter, and more.

Folks walking along Penniman had to navigate the occasional traffic jam of baby strollers to head east toward kid rides, an ice cream stand and other games.

Just north of Penniman on Main Street, Plymouth fireman Dave Tabaka and retired Plymouth fireman Dick Hill each steadied a fire hose as kids took their turns pushing a lever on the nozzles to send a potent stream of water at two scale model houses.

"It does get crowded; kids really enjoy it," Tabaka said. "I believe on warmer days it's a little bit nicer."

Off of Forest Avenue in the Westchester Mall, chamber of commerce executive director Fran Toney and Unique Accessories owner Hilda Bokos were getting ready for a Disney costume parade.

Coinciding with the parade was a Disney coloring event. Last week, kids were able to pick up sheets at downtown businesses on which they were asked to draw their favorite Disney character.

"We had close to 1,000," Bokos said.

While all kinds of Disney characters were drawn on completed sheets displayed Saturday around the mall, Mickey seemed to be the favorite.

supervisors, technicians, executive secretaries, administrative assistants, managers and coordinators. Their pay freeze will save about $40,000.

Tom Tattan, executive director of secondary education, said this is the second year in a row non-affiliated administrators deferred part of their pay. "Last year we deferred 2 percent, and this year 3 percent. All of us who are working in the non-affiliated administrators' group firmly believe in the school district. It was our belief that this deferral of salary for the second year in a row was in the best interest of the school district, allowing us to offer programs for students and the community. We look to support the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and felt in deferring the 3 percent we were doing just that."

It was unanimously felt that "we needed to do something to help the school district, not only because we're employees, but many of us are residents with kids in school. It's important to have quality schools, and those of us in the non-affiliated group want to work toward that end," said Tattan.

Errol Goldman, assistant superintendent for employee relations and personnel, said, "Obviously we are pleased we were able to accomplish that. It was what the district needed. The money saved can be used for the kids and the community — in this particular situation an important thing for us and me to do."

The district received a shot in the arm last week when the state school aid bill was passed. The district will receive more than it expected — about $2 million.

How the money should be spent is expected to be discussed at tonight's board meeting — scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the board office at 454 S. Harvey. Sue Feiten, chairperson of a newly formed group addressing the district's class sizes, said, "We need also to put the money into calling back teachers to reduce the class sizes. This meeting will be an opportunity for people to give input as to how many teachers we call back."

It's expected that the district's two pink-slipped assistant athletic directors will be recalled this week. "When you're talking about athletics, it's a real difficulty trying to work without people who are needed to make co-curriculars go," said Dick Egli, district spokesperson. "These guys are doing 60-hour weeks."

Egli said he noted with interest that in Vice President Al Gore's review and "reinvention" of government, "the span of control, or ratio of administrators to citizens, is one to seven in the U.S. We are currently running one per 25 in the district. I find that a fascinating statistic. The last time I looked at it, it was one to 21."

Sherwood next tried to pay Walker the agreed upon price of $80, but Walker refused to accept upon discovering Rose was pregnant. Her value was now 10 times greater than that earlier agreed to. Sherwood sued to take possession of Rose at the original price. Then in 1887, the Michigan Supreme Court declared in Sherwood v. Walker that because a mutual mistake affecting the substance of the transaction had been made, Hiram Walker had a right to rescind the contract and keep the cow.

Sherwood became Michigan's first banking commissioner,

Hiram Walker & Sons became a worldwide leader in producing alcoholic beverages, and Rose was honored in a poem by a law professor:

ANEMIA & ARTHRITIS
Regular blood work is part of the therapeutic program, when you are treated for arthritis.
Your physician undertakes this surveillance because medications used in arthritis can irritate the stomach. Furthermore, the drugs used to stop joint inflammation also curb the ability of the stomach to provide a protective coating against acidity and stomach ulcers.
It is possible that these ulcers will not cause you pain. Obtaining a blood count, and finding anemia present, allows the doctor to uncover a possible silent medication-related ulcer.
However, anemia in arthritis has another cause: the arthritis itself. If you have this reason for anemia, the medical response is to give you more medicine, not less.
You may notice that the laboratory report evaluating your blood level, includes a column of numbers. The information in this column allows the doctor to decide the reason for your anemia. Does it result from the blood loss of a medication-related ulcer? Or do the numbers reflect decreased red blood cell production due to the arthritis itself?
Why arthritis causes anemia is not well understood. Experience shows that giving iron tablets or B12 injections does not help. Nor are food or other supplements of value. What does the most good is to treat your arthritis vigorously and continue to monitor your blood count profile.

NEARSIGHTED?

RK or Excimer Laser.
Two options for correcting your nearsightedness.
One clear choice where to go:

Michigan's Leading Full-Range Refractive Surgery Center.
7 Reasons Why You Won't Want To Go Anywhere Else:

- 1. EXPERIENCE.
Over 2,600 RK surgeries in the last 18 months -- by far the most in the state during that period. In a delicate, micro-surgery where surgeon skill, experience, and judgment are so important, why trust your eyes to less than proven experience?
- 2. EXCIMER LASER OPTION.
Recently, the Vision Institute entered into an arrangement with Dr. Jeffrey Machat, one of the foremost Excimer Laser surgeons in North America. Dr. Machat has performed 1,000 Excimer surgeries. While the Excimer is investigational and does not yet have FDA approval, it is available for general patient use in Windsor where Dr. Machat has opened a state-of-the-art laser facility. The Excimer is an option for persons with more nearsightedness than RK can correct. Should Excimer be your choice, the Vision Institute will provide your care before and after surgery.
- 3. RESULTS.
Surgical results of RK vary from surgeon to surgeon, depending on skill level and experience. At the Vision Institute, 96.4% of our RK patients achieved vision without glasses or contacts of at least 20/40 or better following surgery.*
- 4. EXTRA SENSITIVITY.
Dr. Novetsky has had RK on his own eyes. His wife, mother, and brother have all had RK. Numerous members of our staff have also had RK, which means an extra sensitivity to what our RK patients are feeling every step of the way.
Patients like Michelle of Lake Orion are choosing the Vision Institute of Michigan. "Dr. Novetsky having the surgery really impressed me. I figured, if he had it, he'd be really sensitive to my feelings."
- 5. THE DOCTORS OTHER DOCTORS CHOOSE.
Other MDs -- such as Jerome Rose, M.D. -- choose the Vision Institute of Michigan for RK on their own eyes and the eyes of their family members.
Jerome Rose, M.D., -- recently honored by Detroit Monthly as Best General Gynecologist -- chose the Vision Institute of Michigan for RK on his own eyes. "I've known of Dr. Novetsky's work for a long time. He performed RK on several of my patients with wonderful results. I have lots of faith in him."
- 6. COST.
No hidden fees. And NO RK Facility Fees. Some practices charge up to hundreds of dollars for "facility fees", meaning money out of your pocket that you don't need to pay.
- 7. CONVENIENCE.
2 surgical sites -- Sterling Heights and Westland -- three offices, and three surgeons for your convenience.

Congressional payroll expands despite tough times

By RICHARD G. THOMAS
Roll Call Report Syndicate

Washington — Constituents by the millions lost jobs last year or settled for lower-paying work. But tough times back home didn't keep the House of Representatives from expanding its overall payroll for personal staff by nearly 9 percent.

House staff salaries totaled $230 million in 1992, up $18.9 million from the 1991 figure of $211.1 million, according to a survey by Roll Call Report Syndicate.

The percentage increase was more than triple the 2.9 percent inflation rate for 1992, as measured by the Consumer Price Index.

The survey examined the "clerk-hire" account that pays the approximately 7,500 aides on the personal staffs of the 435 House members and five delegates. It did not cover House committee staff or Senate staff payroll.

The largest individual increases were registered mostly by lawmakers who left Congress at the end of 1992: Democrats Charles Hayes of Illinois (36.5 percent), Joe Kolter of Pennsylvania (32.7 percent) and Edward Feighan of Ohio (23.7 percent), and Republicans Larry Hopkins of Kentucky (32.3 percent), Dick Nichols of Kansas (31.4 percent) and Clarence Miller of Ohio (24.1 percent).

Staffs expand

Among those who remained in office, the biggest expansions were recorded by Democrats Jim Moran of Virginia (25.9 percent) and Calvin Dooley of California (22.5 percent), and Republicans Randy Cunningham of California (25.3 percent), Floyd Spence of South Carolina (24.6 percent) and Wayne Gilchrest of Maryland (20.9 percent).

Fattened payrolls usually are defended as necessary to keep pace with increasing constituent and policy demands. The argument is also heard that a faltering economy or bungling federal bureaucracy can trigger a heavier workload that in turn justifies staff upgrades.

"The federal government is huge and there are very unfair, unreasonable things that can happen to people, and they run up against a stone wall in trying to work them out," said Selby McCash, staff chief to Rep. Roy Rowland, D-Ga., who had the lowest payroll among Georgia House members ($463,013, up 4.9 percent from 1991.)

"The fact is, the congressional office can get the attention of the bureaucracy and clear up problems," McCash said. "That ombudsman role really doesn't exist anywhere else . . . Do I think congressional staffs serve a useful function and in fact earn the kind of salaries they are receiving? The answer is a very definite yes."

Moran was in Russia and unavailable for comment. Mame Reiley, his staff chief, said that "as times get tough in our district, there becomes a greater need for the congressional staff to give constituent services."

Is the congressman concerned that voters might resent his staff expansion at the same time Congress asks them to sacrifice to tame the deficit?

"As long as they get a correct explanation, they will understand," she said, noting that the closeness of their suburban Washington district to Capitol Hill results in heavy constituent traffic by phone and in person.

Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind., had the fourth-lowest 1992 payroll in the House at $395,910, up 7.7 percent from 1991. Asked if that amount was sufficient to meet the demands of his Indianapolis constituents, Jacobs said:

Parenting class offers tips on handling kids

A group aimed at people who want to improve their parenting skills and identify new ways of communicating with and managing their children will meet for six sessions beginning Wednesday, Sept. 22.

Dorothy Decker, a certified social worker and licensed marriage and family therapist in Livonia, will conduct the sessions 9:30-11 a.m. every other Wednesday (Sept. 22, Oct. 6, Oct. 20, Nov. 3, Nov. 17 and Dec. 1).

Decker holds a master's in social work from the University of Michigan. She is in private practice in Livonia.

A longtime Livonia resident, Decker was a former volunteer at the Community Commission Drug Abuse and has been a presenter at Schoolcraft College divorce support group and single parent day programs.

Decker is a founding members of the Michigan Solution Therapy

Network, a group started by three therapists committed to a "solution" oriented way of working with clients. She is the mother of four grown children and had a 3-year-old granddaughter.

Fee for the parenting class is $150 and enrollment is limited.

To register, call 421-7630.

Teamwork for fun and profit

Plymouth firm finds a niche teaching cooperation

STAFF WRITER

Making companies more productive by getting workers involved and building teams is the mission of Human Synergistics International, a top business consultant firm headquartered in Plymouth Township.

In a field where competitors who tout the latest training fad abound, Human Synergistics has been able to stand its ground by offering training sessions and materials rooted in the belief that managers and employees who learn to be receptive to change can improve productivity.

The firm has built an impressive list of clients using their training services: Eastman Kodak Co., Walt Disney, Apple Computer, and Martin Marietta Information Systems, among others.

Company founder J. Clayton Lafferty was a partner in Experimental Learning Systems of Detroit, when he spotted a farmhouse off of Plymouth Road in 1971.

He bought the building, renovated it, and started his own firm, Human Synergistics.

The company now includes offices in Australia, Canada, Finland, England and New Zealand.

The definition for synergy, said programs manager Kathy Wallace, "is that the whole is greater than any single part."

Human Synergistics International has refined evaluation materials to determine if a company's inner workings, or company culture, supports that notion.

"We worked with the Saturn plant long before they opened; we put together teams and worked on team development," Wallace said.

"Everyone hired went through exhaustive training," she said, to prepare them to work with a team concept.

Wallace offered an example of how much the team approach is embraced by Saturn management: Saturn workers have the authority to stop the assembly line if they discover a defect. This doesn't happen at other plants.

Also, "Every team has a meeting every day to talk about what worked well," Wallace said. "At the end of every shift they meet with the incoming team; that goes on and on."

While Human Synergistics' business continues to grow, "In the last recession training and development were cut," Wallace said. In tough economic times, "Companies are less willing to let people have a week off."

The firm came up with Time Saver Workshops — scaled down one-day training sessions offered around the country for firms not opting for full consulting services.

The workshops, at $125 per entrant, were offered this summer in Chicago, New York, Denver, Minneapolis, Atlanta and other U.S.

'We worked with the Saturn plant long before they opened.'

cities, and are also being offered this fall and winter.

The workshops focus on issues including team building, managing change and stress and developing leaders.

A workshop is scheduled for Sept. 15 in Novi.

CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDINANCE NO. 93-7

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ARTICLES VIII, IX, X, XI AND XIV OF CHAPTER 98 OF TITLE VIII-BUILDING REGULATIONS OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH, AND REPLACE WITH NEW ARTICLES VIII, IX, X, XI AND XIV OF CHAPTER 98, OF TITLE VIII-BUILDING REGULATIONS.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Chapter 98, Articles VIII, IX, X, XI and XIV are hereby deleted and the following substituted therefor:

ARTICLE VIII

Section 8.1. Adoption of Building Code By Reference.

That a certain document, three (3) copies of which are on file in the office of the Building Department of the City of Plymouth being marked and designated as "The BOCA National Building Code, Twelfth Edition, 1993" and any accumulative supplements thereto, as published by The Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc. be and is hereby adopted as the Building Code of the City of Plymouth in the State of Michigan; for the control of buildings and structures as herein provided; and each and all of the regulations, provisions, penalties, conditions and terms of said BOCA National Building Code, are hereby referred to, adopted and made part hereof as if fully set out in this Ordinance, with the addition, insertions, deletions and changes, if any, prescribed in Section 8.2 of this Ordinance.

Section 8.2. National Building Code, Additions, Insertions and Changes.

That the following sections are hereby revised as follows:
Section 101.1 Title: These regulations shall be known as the Building Code of the City of Plymouth hereinafter referred to as "this code".

Section 112.3.1 Fee Schedule: Fees for plan examinations, permits, inspections and registrations shall be as determined by resolution of the City Commission.

Section 116.4 Violation Penalties: Any person who shall violate a provision of this code or shall fail to comply with any of the requirements thereof or who shall erect, construct, alter or repair a building or structure in violation of an approved plan or directive of the code official, or of a permit or certificate issued under the provisions of this code, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding 90 days, or both such fine and imprisonment. Each day that a violation continues shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section 117.2 Unlawful continuance: Any person who shall continue any work in or about the structure after having been served with a stop work order, except such work as that person is directed to perform to remove a violation or unsafe conditions, shall be liable to a fine of not less than One Hundred ($100.00) dollars or more than Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars.
Section 3408.2 Applicability: Structures existing prior to January 1, 1973, in which there is work involving additions, alterations or changes of occupancy, shall be made to conform to the requirements of this section or the provisions of Sections 3403.0 through 3407.0.

ARTICLE IX

Section 9.1. Adoption of Plumbing Code By Reference.

That a certain document, three (3) copies of which are on file in the office of the Building Department of the City of Plymouth being marked and designated as "The BOCA National Plumbing Code, Ninth Edition, 1993" and any accumulative supplements thereto, as published by The Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc. be and is hereby adopted as the Plumbing Code of the City of Plymouth in the State of Michigan; for the control of buildings and structures as herein provided; and each and all of the regulations, provisions, penalties, conditions and terms of said BOCA National Plumbing Code, are hereby referred to, adopted and made part hereof as if fully set out in this Ordinance, with the addition, insertions, deletions and changes, if any, prescribed in Section 9.2 of this Ordinance.

Section 9.2 National Plumbing Code, Additions, Insertions and Changes.

That the following sections are hereby revised as follows:
Section P-101.1 Title: These regulations shall be known as the Plumbing Code of the City of Plymouth hereinafter referred to as "this code".

Section P-113.2 Fee Schedule: Fees for all Plumbing permits, inspections and registrations shall be as determined by resolution of the City Commission.

Section P-116.4 Penalties: Any person who shall violate a provision of this code or shall fail to comply with any of the requirements thereof or who shall install plumbing work in violation of the approved construction documents or directive of the code official, or of a permit or certificate issued under the provisions of this code, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding 90 days, or both such fine and imprisonment. Each day that a violation continues after due notice has been served shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section P-117.2 Unlawful continuance: Any person who shall continue any work in or about the structure after having been served with a stop work order, except such work as that person is directed to perform to remove a violation or unsafe condition, shall be liable to a fine of not less than One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars or more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars.
Section P-304.3 Public systems available: A public water main or public sewer system shall be considered available to a building when the building is located within 250 feet of the public water main or sewer.

Section P-309.4 Freezing: Water service piping shall be installed below recorded frost penetration but not less than five (5) feet, zero (0) inches below grade. In climates with freezing temperatures, plumbing piping in exterior walls or areas subject to freezing temperatures shall be protected against freezing by insulation or heat or both.

Section P-309.5 Sewer depth: Building sewers that connect to private sewage disposal systems shall be a minimum of forty-two (42) inches below finished grade at the point of septic tank connection. Building sewers shall be a minimum of forty-two (42) inches below grade.

ARTICLE X

Section 10.1 Adoption of Mechanical Code By Reference.

That a certain document, three (3) copies of which are on file in the office of the Building Department of the City of Plymouth being marked and designated as "The BOCA National Mechanical Code, Eighth Edition, 1993" and any accumulative supplements thereto, as published by The Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc. be and is hereby adopted as the Mechanical Code of the City of Plymouth in the State of Michigan;

for the control of buildings and structures as herein provided; and each and all of the regulations, provisions, penalties, conditions and terms of said BOCA National Mechanical Code, are hereby referred to, adopted and made part hereof as if fully set out in this Ordinance, with the addition, insertions, deletions and changes, if any, prescribed in Section 10.2 of this Ordinance.

Section 10.2. National Mechanical Code, Additions, Insertions and Changes.

Section M-101.1 Title: These regulations shall be known as the Mechanical Code of the City of Plymouth hereinafter referred to as the mechanical code or "this code".

Section M-113.2 Periodic inspections: Fees for all periodic mechanical inspections shall be as determined by resolution of the City Commission.
Section M-113.3 Fee schedule: Fees for all Mechanical permits, inspections and registrations shall be as determined by resolution of the City Commission.

Section M-116.4 Penalties: Any person who shall violate a provision of this code or shall fail to comply with any of the requirements thereof or who shall erect, construct, alter or repair mechanical equipment or systems in violation of the approved construction documents or directive of the code official, or of a permit or certificate issued under the provisions of this code, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding 90 days, or both such fine and imprisonment. Each day that a violation continues shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section M-117.2 Unlawful continuance: Any person who shall continue any work in or about the structure after having been served with a stop work order, except such work as that person is directed to perform to remove a violation or unsafe conditions, shall be liable to a fine of not less than One Hundred ($100.00) dollars or more than Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars.

ARTICLE XI

Section 11.1. Adoption of Electrical Code By Reference.

That certain documents, three (3) copies of which are on file in the office of the Building Department of the City of Plymouth being marked and designated as "The National Electrical Code, Eighth Edition, 1993" and any accumulative supplements thereto, as published by The National Fire Protection Association, be and is hereby adopted as the Electrical Code of the City of Plymouth in the State of Michigan; for the control of buildings and structures as herein provided; and each and all of the regulations, provisions, penalties, conditions and terms of said National Electrical Code are hereby referred to, adopted and made part hereof as if fully set out in this Ordinance.

Section 11.2 Fees: Fees for plan examinations, permits, inspections, licenses and registrations shall be as determined by resolution of the City Commission.

ARTICLE XIV

Section 14.1 Adoption of Property Maintenance Code By Reference.

That a certain document, three (3) copies of which are on file in the office of the Building Department of the City of Plymouth being marked and designated as "The BOCA National Property Maintenance Code, Fourth Edition, 1993" as published by The Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc. be and is hereby adopted as the Property Maintenance Code of the City of Plymouth in the State of Michigan; for the control of buildings and structures as herein provided; and each and all of the regulations, provisions, penalties, conditions and terms of said BOCA National Property Maintenance Code, are hereby referred to, adopted and made part hereof as if fully set out in this Ordinance, with the addition, insertions, deletions and changes, if any, prescribed in Section 14.2 of this Ordinance.

Section 14.2 National Property Maintenance Code, Additions, Insertions and Changes.
That the BOCA National Property Maintenance Code is amended and revised in the following respects:

Section PM-101.1 Title: These regulations shall be known as the Property Maintenance Code of the City of Plymouth hereinafter referred to as the property maintenance code or "this code".
Section PM-106.2 Penalty: Any person who shall violate any provision of this code shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not less than One Hundred ($100.00) dollars or more than Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars or imprisonment for a term not to exceed 90 days, or both, at the discretion of the court. Each day that a violation continues after due notice has been served, in accordance with the terms and provisions hereof, shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section PM-304.12 Insect screens: During the period from April 1st to October 1st, every door, window and other outside opening used or required for ventilation purposes serving any structure containing habitable rooms, food preparation areas, food service areas, or any other areas where products to be included or utilized in food for human consumption are processed, manufactured, packaged or stored, shall be supplied with approved tightly fitting screens of not less than 16 mesh per inch and every swinging door shall have a self-closing device in good working condition.

Section PM-602.2.1 Heating facilities, Residential buildings: Provide heat as required by this section from October 1st to May 1st.
Section PM-602.3 Heating facilities, Non-Residential buildings: Provide heat as required by this section from October 1st to May 1st.

Section 2. Inconsistent Ordinance Repealed:

That Title VIII-Building Regulations Chapter 98, Articles VIII, IX, X, XI AND XIV of the General Building Regulations of the City of Plymouth and all other ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 3. Saving Clause:

That nothing in this Ordinance or in the Building, Plumbing, Mechanical, Electrical or Property Maintenance Codes hereby adopted shall be construed to affect any suit or proceeding pending in any court, or any rights acquired, or liability incurred, or any cause or causes of action acquired or existing, under any act or ordinance hereby repealed as cited in Section 2 of this Ordinance; nor shall any just or legal right or remedy of any character be lost, impaired or affected by this Ordinance.

Section 4. Date of Effect: September 28, 1993.

That the City Clerk shall certify to the adoption of this Ordinance and cause the same to be published as required by law; and this Ordinance shall take full force and effect Twenty-one (21) days after this date of final passage and approval.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, this 7th day of September A.D. 1993.

I think we get our work done, although right now we're in a little bit of a pinch because since Clinton came in, our mail has tripled. On the other hand, the same man is answering the mail, namely myself.'

Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind.

Staff workload

He said additional staff can increase workloads as aides scramble to justify paychecks with 'make-work.'

On average, staff payroll rose from $479,786 per member in 1991 to $522,734 in 1992. The accompanying table shows constituents their lawmakers' individual figures.

Seventeen House members lowered payrolls in 1992, led by Republicans Joseph McDade of Pennsylvania (6.2 percent), Bill Young of Florida (5.1 percent), Gary Franks of Connecticut (4.6 percent) and Joel Hefley of Colorado (4.4 percent).

Rep. Dennis Hertel, D-Mich., who left Congress after 1992, had the highest payroll at $612,327, and Rep. William Mather, D-Ky., the lowest at $224,899.

Following Hertel in 1992 payroll were Democrats Barbara Boxer of California ($611,355), Tom Lantos of California ($608,909), Marty Russo of Illinois ($604,263) and Al Swift of Washington ($603,230), and Republicans Raymond McGrath of New York ($603,937), Constance Morella of Maryland ($602,445), John Miller of Washington ($600,198), and Jack Fields of Texas ($600,137).

Ranking behind Mather were Republican Toby Roth of Wisconsin ($389,458), Democrats

Jamie Whitten of Mississippi ($388,823), Jacobs ($395,910) and W.G. Heiner of North Carolina ($418,850), and Republicans Bill Young of Florida ($415,472) and Joel Hefley of Colorado ($428,321).

House rules

House rules permit a member to hire up to 18 full-time and four part-time aides at salaries of up to $108,234. The average full-time salary last year was $33,388 with nearly 60 percent of House staffers receiving less than $30,000 according to the Congressional Management Foundation.

Each House member was allotted $557,400 for personal staff payroll with the option of raising that cap to $632,400 by transferring up to $75,000 from their general expense allowance. Members' unspent payroll usually is transferred to other House accounts rather than returned to the Treasury.

What congressmen pay their staffs

The figures, from Clerk of the House Reports, show the sums House members spent on personal staff salaries in 1992 compared to 1991. The typical House member nationwide employs 15 to 20 aides.

Staff cuts: Words rarely heard on Capitol Hill

BY JOHN W. URSU
STAFF WRITER

Washington, D.C. — The buildings on Capitol Hill must have heaved a sigh of relief when President Bill Clinton eased away from his campaign challenge that Congress trim its staff by 25 percent as he was planning to do at the White House.

It's as if the affable pol from the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue walked the bustling House and Senate corridors, shook a few hands and said: "Hey, who wants to fire all these friendly people?"

Or maybe the reality hit home that taking on lawmakers over their staff domains would be a tougher task than cracking gridlock.

Clinton's challenge has long been forgotten. But the Capitol Hill staff juggernaut — 17,000 House and Senate employees subdivided into hundreds of member-run fiefdoms, plus another 20,000 workers at congressional support agencies — powers ahead at higher appropriations levels than ever before.

Employment levels on Capitol Hill remain constant after skyrocketing during the 1970s and 1980s. The deficit is part of the reason, but another factor is that Congress has run out of office space, and working conditions have become almost intolerably cramped.

Staffers say taxpayers get a good return on their investment.

"I have a certain amount of cynicism about some of the things I've seen," said Selby McCash, a longtime state capital newspaper reporter who is now staff chief to Rep. Roy Rowland, D-Ga.

"But after 10 years... I surprise myself at how positive I am about the quality and amount of work I see. People around here work long hours. On the whole, they are very capable people."

Hill openings are hotly pursued, particularly by those in their 20s seeking a toehold in the capital job market. The House Placement Office sees up to 200 people a week.

"It's kind of like a college campus of sorts," said Lauren Sims, a press aide to Rep. Joel Hefley, R-

Colo. "There's a lot of young people, a lot of energy, and great ideas."

"You're fresh out of college, you're really ambitious, and you want to have everything right here, right now," said a 23-year-old staffer who crossed party lines to get her current job answering mail. "You know you're going to have a low job anyway, so why not have a low job at the top?"

A bushel of ideas for fall flavor

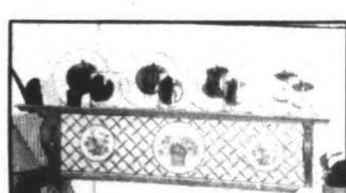

Fall has officially arrived. There are golden leaves peeking through the clusters of green, the cider mills are open, the windows are raised and the air feels cool, if not crisp. It's harvest time and area orchards brim with unusual varieties of apples, including Early Blaze, Northern Spy and Wealthy.

There's something about a shiny red or green apple and its association with health and wholesomeness that prompts us to use its image as a decorative accessory. Its fresh sweet scent perfumes potpourris and candles. A basket of apples seems a requisite of the autumn hearth or kitchen table.

And so I scouted the malls and mainstreets for wonderful examples of apple-themed gifts and must-haves. Perhaps a McIntosh or Golden Delicious will accent your home this season.

The Dandy Lion & Company, 116 E. Fourth St. in Rochester devotes an entire display to an apple motif. The crop includes a hand painted miniature chair with an apple cut-out as the chair back ($28.95) and a black and white ticking stripe apron strewn with red apples ($23.95). Striking black place mats sport vibrant apples, perfect to show off a whimsical set of mugs and plates. The dessert set depicts the progression of the apple from a whole to the core in four graphic stages ($43.95/set of mugs and $43.95/set of plates). They're pictured on a decorative painted shelf.

"I would love that entire display for my kitchen," said Jean Keating of Farmington Hills. "The shelf is useful and darling, and the china is so neat."

Rochester Hills resident Mary McFawn agreed, adding that the incredible store displays imparted great ideas. She particularly admired a metal stand holding fragrant wooden apples ($6.59/ea.). Daughter Clare didn't hesitate when asked her favorite apple item. She pointed to the mini apple-shaped teapot with the delicate apple blossom on its handle ($15.95).

What were the apples of my eye? I loved the gorgeous needlepoint pillow by Patricia Dupont that realistically captures an upended oaken basket spilling its contents of apples ($84.95).

And tucked underneath all of this autumnal splendor, look for the heavily textured rag rug interwoven with three giant red apples — a cheerful welcome to fall ($57.95).

For a special hostess or housewarming gift, let The Dandy Lion create a custom basket including Nuts About Apples potpourri by Aromatic ($11), green apple tea ($5.95) and a selection of apple recipes ($2.50). Fill in with your favorite seasonal selections.

Add an apple

M.T. Hunter Country Store, 1000 S. Woodward in Birmingham, also has a bushel of apple ideas. Look for stenciled pillows, table runners and crockery. Decorate a tabletop with a wooden apple cart filled with true-to-life red and yellow apples complete with bumps and bruises ($7.75/ea.).

You'll also find a selection of dip mixes, including Country Caramel Apple and Fruit Dip. Some are packaged with an acrylic apple-shaped bowl ($3.25/dip and $7/dip and bowl). With the addition of mulling spices ($2.50), this makes a perfect little thank you gift.

More apple ideas

Not to be missed, a soft cotton lap blanket by The Rug Barn featuring apples woven inside large navy, green and red checks with a flowering vine border ($50).

Other stand-outs in the vast array of apple motif objects include a sparkling Steuben apple ($340) at Neiman Marcus. Also at Neiman's, Mrs. Preadable's mouth-watering caramel apples dipped in chocolate and peanut butter, toffee, macadamias or pecans ($14).

For the bath, consider Fruits and Passion green apple candle ($22) or foaming bath ($31) in great looking glass decanters topped with tiny ceramic apples. Or to scent a friend's home, take her a gift basket filled with fragrant wooden apple slices and nuts by Aromatic ($7). All from Neiman Marcus.

Linda Bachrack is a Birmingham resident. You can leave her column ideas at 953-2047, mailbox 1889 or fax them to her at 644-1314.

Best Buys opens

A new chain of appliance stores, Best Buys, has moved into town. In just two weeks, sales have topped expectations with shoppers delighting in the grab-and-go style of shopping that is a Best Buys trademark.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

There are plenty of places to shop for a new television set or microwave oven, but newcomer Best Buys hopes their low prices and merchandising style will bring you to their check-out counters.

"We've just been open two weeks and already we've exceeded our sales expectations," said Richard Vershove, manager of the Westland store. "The response to what we're trying to do for shoppers has been phenomenal. Customers have accepted us, welcomed us, and been patient and understanding about rainchecks because we've sold out of a few items."

Best Buys, an appliance discounter based in Minneapolis, Minn., plans to open 12 stores in metro Detroit by next September. So far, six Best Buys have been opened: in Westland across from Westland Mall, in Southfield at Telegraph and 12 Mile, in Roseville at 14 Mile and Gratiot, in Utica off Utica Park Boulevard, in Southgate off Dix Road, and in Ann Arbor off Oak Valley Drive.

A Dearborn store is under construction.

Best Buys announced its entry into the Detroit market about the same time Highland Appliance stores announced their bankruptcy last year. The company hopes to fight the washer-dryer wars against longtime dealers such as ABC Warehouse and Ollie Fretter. Each company advertises the lowest prices, promising to beat your best deal. Customers will find the biggest differences among the stores in the product lines carried. For example, Best Buys does not carry Amana products, Fretter and ABC Warehouse do.

Best Buys customers can walk into huge, well-lit showrooms, grab a shopping cart and move from category to category, choosing from a variety of radios, telephones, computers, TV sets and vacuum cleaners. Salespeople are not commissioned and staff at "Answer Desk" strategically located within each category department.

Best Buys also carries CDs, cassette tapes, movies, video games and computer software.

Todd Ridley of Southfield stopped in to check out the CD department.

Need a new frying pan? If you do, marketplace choices seem endless, confusing even the most educated consumer. Do you want anodized cookware? Stainless steel? Cast iron?

What about something like Corningware that can go right from the freezer to stove top to microwave?

Want a copper bottom? Something in an aluminum clad? Why not try some see-through Visionware?

"That's why we're hosting Pro-Cookware month at Hudson's," said Chris Morrisroe, spokeswoman. "We want to give our customers the opportunity to put their cookware questions directly to representatives of leading cookware manufacturers.

We're combining their visit with cooking classes and demonstrations that we hope customers will enjoy."

These special events will take place in the Hudson's Marketplace Departments throughout September. The classes are free, but reservations are required and should be made by calling 443-6332.

Step right up: What looks like a super market check out is really the check out at Best Buys appliance store.

"I really liked the store," he said. "Salespeople were not pushy, you feel welcome to take your time and look around, yet help is there when you need it. I thought the CDs were fairly cheap — $10.98 for most."

The Hung family of Redford came looking for a camcorder. They said they found the staff at the video booth knowledgeable and helpful. Loretta Hyzy of Westland, also in Best Buys shopping for a camcorder, marveled at the large selection in front of her and the hands-on display.

"This is my first time here," she said. "The store is so clean and bright, not like other appliance stores. I really like the way they have the merchandise all out front with big, easy-to-read price tags everywhere. You can take time to make up your own mind."

Best Buys regional manager Mike Keskey said lots of attention was paid to customer requests when Best Buys was set up.

"Shoppers tell me they like the convenience," he said. "They like our prices, certainly the lowest in the market. They like being able to walk in, grab a shopping cart and leisurely browse the store without high pressure sales talk."

Best Buys sells all major and small appliances, plus related accessories. Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Each Wednesday, cooking techniques will be demonstrated in the afternoons at Twelve Oaks and the evenings at Oakland Mall.

Sept. 15, Susan Dumont-Bengston will prepare Italian recipes that highlight 18/10 stainless steel cookware.

Sept. 22, Ann McCarthy from Calphalon will teach cooking techniques using anodized cookware and non-stick cookware.

Sept. 29, Earl Peyroux will prepare a complete meal using Steelon nonstick stainless steel cookware and Circulon hard anodized nonstick cookware.

At the Westland Mall store, beginning at noon, prominent chefs will entertain guests. On Friday, Sept. 17, Bob Sloan will demonstrate recipes from his book. Saturday, Sept. 18, Chili Joe and Chef Curtis will entertain guests.

Brides and grooms are especially invited to attend T-Fal classes on at 5-6:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 16, at Northland, Southland, Summit Place and Fairlane; noon to 1 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 19, at Westland; 1-2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 26, at Northland, Fairlane and Summit Place; 7-8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 30, at Fairlane and Twelve Oaks.

Chefs from local restaurants will prepare samples for customers at various Hudson stores noon to 1 p.m. Sept. 13-30. Weight Watchers ethnic dish recipes will be included in this program. Check your favorite store for specific times and dates.

The icing on the event will be a cooking demonstration by Lori Walther, executive sous chef of Gourmet Magazine, noon to 1 p.m. Friday, Sept. 24, at Twelve Oaks Mall. Walther will present a program on ethnic entertaining for fall.

County soil district sells tree seedlings

The Wayne County Soil and Water Conservation District has announced its annual fall tree seedling sale.

Orders for planting stock will be accepted until Sept. 30. Seedlings are tentatively scheduled for distribution on Friday, Oct. 15.

Planting stock available includes Austrian pine, white pine, white cedar, misty blue spruce, white spruce, Douglas fir, concolor fir and Canadian hemlock.

Order forms with data on available trees, site preferences, uses and prices can be obtained by calling 326-7787.

'Pilgrims' journey to shores of peace

Pace dawns in Mideast" was the headline staring up at me Friday from the breakfast-room table. I thought it would be anticlimactic. For the past two weeks, I had been travelling the small state of Israel (it's one-fourth the land size of Michigan) from the Mediterranean to the Jordan River, from the Negev to the Golan as part of a group of Humanistic Jews.

It had never been either my husband's or my dream to go to Israel. It was just that Huntington Woods resident Connie Wolberg was planning a one-of-a-kind trip through the International Federation of the Society of Humanistic Jews — and we thought it might provide one of the more ecumenical opportunities to go.

As we stood overlooking Jerusalem from Zion Hill on our arrival date, Aug. 26, we had no idea that peace was at hand. In a group which included David and Esther Littman from Bloomfield Hills, and Jim Harley and Yolanda Cohen from Southfield, we were just one more group of "pilgrims" — be they Jew, Moslem or Christian — journeying to their religion's birthplace.

Three days later, Avner Regev, a former Israeli intelligence expert who's in line to chair a major peace group, told us we were in Israel during the most historic time since the declaration of statehood in 1948.

He was positive that the mutual recognition agreement between Israel and the Palestine Liberation Organization was imminent. And the newspapers soon confirmed his statement — some of them, such as the Jerusalem Post, more reluctantly than others.

It put a different slant on our travels. As we walked through Jerusalem's Old City, divided up into Jewish, Christian, Moslem and Armenian quarters, spoke with representatives of Arab groups such as the Druze and Bedouins — who are already Israeli citizens — stayed at an Arab-Jewish Peace Village nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize and visited with Josef Abas, at Kibbutz Misgav-Am directly on the Israel-Lebanon border, we sensed the excitement.

And as we saw how the young state of Israel is capturing the desert and turning it into a garden, building new cities to house the recent wave of Russian immigrants, and harnessing the salty waters of the Dead Sea for profit, we thought that they might now help their former enemies to do the same.

(They are already building economic bridges with Jordan.)

Although we were in Tel Aviv on a night of demonstrations, they had to be extremely limited since we saw no unrest at all. The young people at the all-Israeli (except for us) night club were much more interested in socializing and the music.

On an evening cruise on the Sea of Galilee, a busload of Romanian young people to whom the Israeli government was giving a free tour of the country, in hope of luring some of them to emigrate, were visibly having a good time.

Contrary to the idea that they can not settle the numbers of Russian Jews, the government is actually soliciting more people.

Another myth, judging from the people we talked with, is that giving up the Gaza and Jordan will eventually lead to giving up Jerusalem. Jerusalem will never be anything but Israeli was what we heard from the right, left and middle. And most also scoffed at the idea of making the Old City into a kind of international Vatican.

I was struck at the care that Israel has taken to excavate ruins dating as far back as 2500 B.C., as well as the care they take of their present-day children. In a country whose infrastructure is very much in its infancy, they have cultivated imaginative parks and playgrounds.

In fact all people — young and old — congregate on the beaches of Tel Aviv, on Ben Yehuda Street in Jerusalem, and on the promenade above Haifa Bay. Neither are separated out from the rest of society, as we tend to do in what we consider our more developed country.

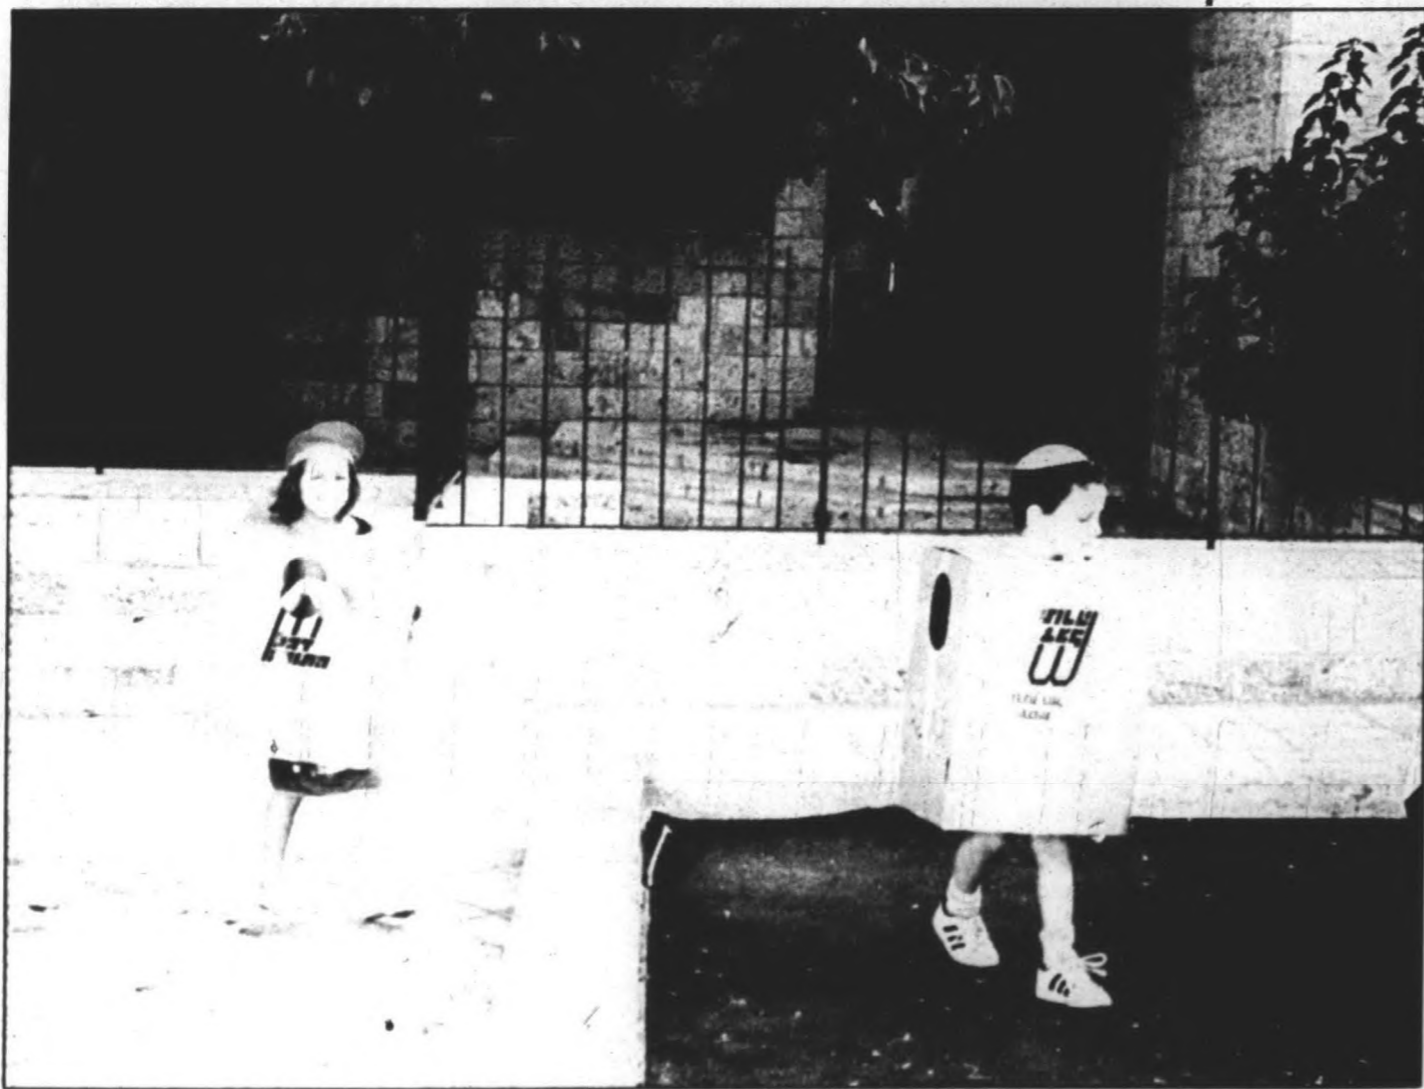

As a Jew, I found the presence of the soldiers in Israel comforting, rather than scary. But I hope the military installations all along the Golan, which soar above the bunkers and live mine fields from past wars, may now be used to make peace not just keep it.

So, no, seeing that headline "Peace dawns in Mideast" wasn't anticlimactic. It was the perfect ending to an historic trip, and the perfect beginning to the new Jewish year.

Bunker hill: Surrounded by well-marked, but live mine fields, area residents Ed Berne (Tigers hat), Connie Wolberg (foreground) and Esther Littman (far right, front) sit in front of a bunker near the Syrian border.

For the children: Youngsters play on a plot of playground in the Old City's Jewish Quarter. Israelis of all political persuasions are determined Jerusalem will remain governed by Israel.

Military cemetery: Israelis hope the steps toward peace mean no additions to Mt. Herzl in Jerusalem, where those who died in Israel's wars for independence are buried.

At the borders: Josef Abas thanked us repeatedly for not being afraid to come to Kibbutz Misgav-Am, on the border of Israel and Lebanon. Jim Harley of Southfield observes a barbed wire fence just below which cannot be crossed. With Harley is Judith Doner Berne, assistant managing editor of Oakland County editions of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Blue collar bashing hammers at value of work

The woman on the phone was angry. "Why should a plumber make more than a teacher?" she asked in an indignant manner.

My first reaction was to ask the woman if she had ever tried to get a plumber to even come out to look at a job and much less do it. Anybody who has ever gotten any plumbing work done realizes that a good plumber is harder to find than a math teacher.

And that's the reason they make more money than a teacher. It's simple economics.

The call came during the most recent crisis in the Plymouth Canton schools during which teachers were asked to take a 3 percent pay freeze. The teachers accepted it.

The woman's question kept echoing through my head during, appropriately enough, the Labor Day weekend. It wasn't the first such blue collar bashing that I've heard in our suburbs.

Earlier this year, a banker at a service club meeting complained to a speaker from an auto firm that the banker had just done a loan for a fork lift driver who made $48,000 a year.

The banker wanted the auto executive to share in the outrage over the large salary. My instinct was to question the banker's sanity. Let's face it, if that fork lift driver wasn't making enough money to buy a house, Mr. Three-Piece Blue Suit wouldn't be working.

To me that incident said it all. Being blue collar and making enough money to live on just isn't cool anymore. It's low class to work with your hands.

JEFF COUNTS

And pity the poor auto worker. He or she gets blamed for every ill that besets the auto industry. If cars cost too much, it's because auto workers make too much money. I even had one editor who blamed auto workers for bad car designs. This college educated fellow kept it up until I pointed out that auto workers don't design cars, they just do what the foreman tells them. It's college educated engineers who design the vehicles.

The tragedy of this blue collar bashing is that, if we keep it up and devalue blue collar work to the point where these folks can't make a living at their trades, we won't either.

Somebody who can't make a living as a carpenter or on the assembly line doesn't tend to buy new houses, cars, newspapers or pay many taxes.

But somehow I don't think that will happen. As long as folks continue to bash blue collar workers and try to enroll their kids in medical school or the Harvard Business School at birth, there certainly won't be enough plumbers to go around.

It's too bad. Our tickers will be working fine with all those doctors around, but flushing will be another matter.

Local comic headlines family benefit

The Wayne County Family Center, a haven for homeless families in Westland, has a few friends downriver.

The Venture Club of Wyandotte, Southgate and Taylor, plus J.C. Penney, the Ramada Heritage Center and Glad Rag Productions are staging a "Second Chance Fashion Show" 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 15, to benefit the homeless families housed in the family center.

The event will occur at the Ramada Heritage Center in Southgate and feature models gleaned from the ranks of former family center residents.

Tickets are available for a minimum donation of $20 by calling Korey at 382-4378, or Shelley at 692-0954.

Appearing at the fashion show will be Westland carpenter/comedian Jim McLean. As part owner of Muraca Building Co., McLean builds custom houses, additions and decks. As a comedian he plays clubs around metro Detroit and around the country.

Last Friday McLean was the opening act at Detroit's Fisher Theatre for his friend Tim Allen, the star of a TV show called "Home Improvement." The two men got to know each other three years ago when McLean built a deck on Allen's house in Beverly Hills, Mich.

Suzanne Hall, the director of health and community services for Wayne County, said the homeless family shelter is being run a lot more efficiently than it was last year.

The county took over the operation of the center last November from a county agency, in part because county officials wanted 100 percent occupancy of the center and weren't getting it.

When the county took over management, the center housed 14 families, but had the capacity to hold 26.

Now, Hall said, the center is running between 90 and 110 percent occupancy. "What we proved is that when you get the right management staff, there is a demand for services."

The center is run on an annual budget of about $360,000, all of which is derived from state and federal grants. Families are given food, shelter and access to health care, mental health services and parenting classes. A Head Start program will be offered soon, Hall said.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Lend an ear for ways to enjoy fresh corn

If there is one vegetable that is welcome on any table, it's probably corn. Corn is delicious in chowders, vegetable medleys, as a vegetarian entree or just cooked plain. There are six principle types of corn, with sweet corn and dent corn, also known as field corn, being the most widely consumed.

Dent corn is by far the most common variety. It accounts for about 95 percent of all the corn grown in the United States, and is mostly fed to livestock with some sold to manufacturers who make food and industrial products from it.

Sweet corn is grown chiefly for human consumption, and is harvested at an immature stage. The kernels are relatively high in sugar at the time they are harvested. It tastes best when eaten as soon after picking as possible.

Fresh corn on the cob will quickly lose its flavor unless it is kept refrigerated after harvesting. This happens because heat turns the sugar in the kernels into starch, resulting not only in a marked loss of flavor, but also a noticeable toughness.

Momma always was a little leery about buying corn from a supermarket, but today's refrigerated transportation services make it possible to enjoy fresh corn far from the fields where it was grown.

Cooking corn

One of the most common faults in cooking corn on the cob is overcooking it. Not only does overcooking toughen the corn, but continuous boiling reduces the sweetness.

In his revised edition of "The New York Times Cookbook," Craig Claiborne suggests that instead of boiling the corn, simply bring a large pot of water to a boil (enough to cover the corn) and add one tablespoon of salt for each quart of water. Bring the water to a rolling boil, shuck the corn and drop it into the boiling water and allow it to return to a boil.

Immediately turn off the heat and allow the corn to stand in the water exactly five minutes. Simply drain and serve for the best corn. Another Janes Gang favorite is roasted corn on the cob.

Fire up the grill or barbecue while the unshucked corn bathes in cold water in the kitchen sink. No need to soak for long periods, 10-15 minutes proves more than adequate to soak the husks.

Purists might choose to remove some of the silk before cooking but I find this an unnecessary step. Drain the water and place the ears on the hot grill so that they are not crowded and cover. All that's needed for delectable roast corn is 15-20 minutes of patience, with a rotation half way through it.

Yours truly finds corn roasted on the grill has a nuttier flavor, lacking that "boiled out" taste that usually accompanies boiled corn. Another variation of this method finds the backyard chef loosening the husks and applying an herbed butter directly to the ears, then bringing up the wet husks for a more gourmet approach.

Anyway you cook it, it's great. I would be remiss if I forgot to mention those folks who enjoy fresh corn, but prefer to enjoy their corn sans the cob. Uncle Orin was one of those corn aficionado's who never enjoyed the cob variety. I remember observing Grandma Lory slicing the kernels off the cob in a unique way. Grandma would venture down to the cellar and bring up a well-used tube pan or bundt cake pan. She would place the shucked ear, before blanching it, in the center tube and slice away. If memory serves me correctly, she would use an angel food tube cake pan that just fit a corn cob. As she sliced away, the corn would fall into the tube pan with nary a kernel hitting the floor or counter top. There's little doubt where momma got her culinary expertise.

Enjoying corn past the harvest season is another culinary wonder made possible by the use of a freezer. You can blanch the corn in boiling, lightly salted water either on or off the cob.

Blanching on the cob should take about 3 minutes while blanching off the cob should be done for no more than 2 minutes. Drain and immediately cool the corn in cold running water. Drain, pat dry and freeze individual ears on a cookie sheet for about 2 hours or spread kernels on a cookie sheet and freeze for 1 hour.

Package in freezer bags, seal, label, date and return to the freezer for corn you can enjoy in the middle of winter. Frozen corn is great in hearty winter chowders, fried corn cakes or stirred into packaged cornbread mixes for a fresher taste.

Anyway you slice it, fresh corn on the cob just can't be beat. Enjoy some today!

Holiday dinner: Helene Weiss delegates Rosh Hashana meal preparation tasks to her children Netanya, 13 and Izzy, 11. Here they help her make Rosh Hashana Honeyed Carrots, a traditional side dish.

Jewish New Year

BUSY FAMILIES PREPARE SIMPLY

Wonderful Feast

Holidays place special demands on working moms. Helene Weiss shares tips for making a simply delicious Rosh Hashana dinner.

BY ANNE LEHMANN
SPECIAL WRITER

Juggling the roles of wife, mother and career woman is a common challenge for many women these days. Add to that the stress of having to plan for large holiday dinners and a schedule which is hectic can become dizzying.

Helene Weiss, mother of two, Netanya, 13, and Izzy, 11, is up at 5:30 a.m. each day, carools her kids from her West Bloomfield home to Akiva Day School in Southfield, and by 8:30 a.m. is at her desk at PRN in Madison Heights as a pharmaceutical sales representative.

With a shortage of time, and lots to do, preparing elaborate meals for Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, which begins at sundown on Sept. 15, is a real challenge. "You have to be organized and keep things simple," said Weiss.

She adheres to the principle that a meal doesn't have to be complicated to be good. Hence, for her family, the first holiday meal will consist of such traditional favorites as chicken soup, roast turkey, honeyed carrots and apple cake. Simple though it may be, it takes a lot of planning and organizing to pull it all together in time for the holiday.

In the early morning before dropping her kids off at school, she'll stop at the cleaner's and pick up baked goods at Zeman's, a kosher bakery in Oak Park. Her lunch hours are reserved for errands that can only be done during business hours.

"Now that my kids are older I delegate," said Weiss. "I think they have a sense of responsibility and enjoy helping to assemble, what for my family, is a very meaningful meal."

Dinner no problem for organized mom

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

You've heard the saying — "if you want to get something done, give the task to a busy person." That's what organizers of the Marian Calico Craft Show had in mind when they asked Teresa Saputo of Troy to run the kitchen, dubbed Calico Cafe.

Saputo and her husband William own two McDonald's restaurants. They also have two children — Jessica, 15 and Bill, 13. Jessica is a sophomore at Marian High School.

"Being a working mom, I don't do a lot at school," said Saputo between the lunch and dinner rush at the McDonald's restaurant she and her husband own on Woodward at 13 Mile in Royal Oak. They're in the midst of a major renovation of a McDonald's they just took over on Rochester Road at Avon Road in Rochester Hills.

"I volunteered to run the kitchen. I figured it can't be much harder than running a restaurant," said Saputo. "The money goes for scholarships, science lab equipment, and other things at the school."

Calico Craft show which runs 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 1, and 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 2, at Marian High School, 7225 Lahser, Bloomfield Hills, will feature over 125 exhibitors and a Harvest Market with pumpkins, mums, and scarecrows.

When you're tired of shopping, and hungry for a treat, visit the cafe. "We'll be serving pizza, ham and cheese sandwiches, chicken noodle soup, cream of broccoli soup, brownies and apple sauce bars," said Saputo.

A preview party is scheduled 7-10

SUPER RECIPES

CHICKEN WITH RICE

- 1 can (10 1/2 ounce) cream of mushroom soup
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounce) cream of celery soup
- 1 soup can filled with cold water
- 1 soup can filled with hot water
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1 soup can filled with uncooked white rice
- 6-8 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- 1 envelope onion soup mix
- 1 stick butter, sliced

Mix cream soups together with water, bouillon cube and rice. Put in a 13 by 9-inch pan.

Lay chicken breasts on top of rice. Sprinkle with soup mix and butter slices. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour uncovered, bake 15 more minutes covered. Serves 6.

APPLE SURPRISE

- 2 cans (21 ounce) apple pie filling
- 1 can (21 ounce) crushed, drained pineapple
- 1 box yellow cake mix (18.25 ounce box)
- 1 1/2 sticks melted butter
- Cinnamon

Place pie filling in a 13 by 9 inch pan. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Sprinkle crushed pineapple on top of mixture. Sprinkle dry cake mix on top of crushed pineapple. Pour melted butter over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Serves 8. You can substitute cherry or peach pie filling for apple.

CHOP SUEY

- 1 round steak, 1 1/2 to 2 pounds (sliced into 1/2-inch pieces)
- 1/2 stick butter
- 2 garlic cloves, chopped
- 4 cups water
- 2 beef bouillon cubes
- 1 can (14 ounce) chop suey vegetables
- 1 can (8 ounce) water chestnuts
- 1 can (14 ounce) bean sprouts

Brown steak in melted butter with garlic and bouillon cubes. Add water. Cook covered on low heat until tender, about 30 minutes. Add vegetables, simmer until vegetables are warm. Serve over hot cooked rice. Serves 8.

To save time — cook steak and rice in advance, reheat and add vegetables when you get home from work. Add whatever vegetables you have on hand — pea pods, mushrooms and carrots are another tasty combination.

If you don't like chop suey, add a jar of gravy to the meat and serve over egg noodles — instant stroganoff.

Fresh corn with garlic butter, corn cakes tasty

CORN ON THE COB WITH PARMESAN GARLIC BUTTER

- 8 tablespoons (1 stick) unsalted butter, room temperature
 - 1/4 cup fresh grated Parmesan cheese
 - 3 tablespoons finely chopped fresh parsley
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon very fine chopped garlic
 - 8-10 ears fresh sweet corn
- Combine all the ingredients except the corn in a medium sized mixing bowl. Mix well. Cover and refrigerate. (The butter can be made 1-2 days in advance and kept covered in the refrigerator.)

Allow the butter to sit at room temperature for 30 minutes before serving. Bring water to a boil in a large stock pot or deep pan.

Shuck ears of corn while waiting for the water to boil. Drop in corn, return to a boil. Remove from heat and allow to stand for exactly 5 minutes.

Drain, serve the butter with the corn and rub generously with the butter. Serves 6-8

MONTEREY JACK CORN CAKES

- 1 cup all purpose flour

- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 large egg
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 cup (3 ears) fresh corn kernels
- 1/2 cup Monterey Jack cheese, grated
- 1/2 cup minced shallots or green onions
- 2 tablespoons fresh chopped parsley
- 2 dashes hot pepper sauce (Tobasco for example)
- Generous pinch cayenne pepper
- 4 slices bacon

Sift the flour, baking powder and salt into a large bowl. Add the milk, egg and vegetable oil and combine with a fork until just barely mixed. Stir in the corn, cheese, shallots, parsley, hot pepper sauce and pepper.

Mix 15 seconds and allow to stand at room temperature for 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, fry the bacon in a heavy skillet over medium heat until crisp. Drain bacon on paper towels, reserving the fat in the skillet.

Chop bacon and stir into batter. Pour off all the bacon fat reserving a thin coating in the skillet. Heat skillet over medium high heat and add the batter by heaping tablespoons in batches, do not crowd.

Flatten each cake slightly with the back of a fork. Cook the corn cakes until golden brown and cooked through, about 2 minutes per side. Add more bacon fat as necessary. Place each batch of corn cakes on a baking sheet and keep covered in a 250 degree oven until all are cooked.

Chef's secret: I made these and omitted the bacon and pan fried them in a little oil and they were great!

By meaningful, Weiss refers to the many symbolic foods which are eaten on the holiday. Honey, crown-shaped loaves of challah bread and unique fruits like apricots are some of the things which grace the traditional Rosh Hashana table.

"We dip our bread and apples in honey asking God that the coming year should be sweet," said Rabbi Elimelech Silberberg of Bais Chabad Torah Center in West Bloomfield. "We eat carrots, which in Yiddish is the same word for to multiply, to herald our hope that our merits will multiply."

As orthodox Jews, the Weisses do not shop, use the phone, car, or do any food preparation or cooking on Saturday, their Sabbath, so that leaves them even less time to get things done.

"Thank goodness for 24-hour

'You'll often find me or my husband at the store at the most unusual hours, but often that is when they are least crowded and we can be the most efficient in getting what we need out of the way.'

Helene Weiss

be the most efficient in getting what we need out of the way."

Some people thrive on a hectic pace. Such is the case for Davida Robinson, co-editor of "The Health Club Cooks," a cookbook published by the Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan Detroit.

"I just try and do things ahead of time," this mother of three said. "I bake my challah, make my soup and freeze them both. Then when the holiday comes, it's like money in the bank."

Despite feeling breathless for the few weeks preceding the holiday, Weiss says it all pays off in the end.

"It's so special to sit down at a beautiful table with the people you care about, to begin the Jewish New Year in a significant and unforgettable way."

p.m. Thursday, Sept. 30, and the mothers are planning a luncheon 11:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 1. Preview party tickets are $25 per person in advance, $30 at the door. Luncheon tickets are $15 in advance. Call 642-1513 for reservations.

Saputo works at least 50 hours a week, manages over 100 employees, and cooks dinner about three times a week. She's full of energy and smiles at all her customers, even when they accidentally spill pop. Owing a restaurant was one of her dreams, and she loves her work.

"It gets to be hectic. You learn to be organized or go crazy," she said with a brilliant smile.

She's up every day at 4 a.m. and opens the restaurant in Royal Oak at 5 a.m. William spends most of his time at the Rochester Hills restaurant. Teresa said she tries to leave work every day by 2 or 3 p.m. to be home when Jessica and Bill return from school.

Saputo said she has a well-stocked pantry, and plans ahead. "There's nothing worse than getting home, and running out of something you need to make dinner."

On the way home, she'll stop at Kroger's or Westborn Market for meat and produce. Her kids help a lot by making salads and doing the dishes, but their main priority is getting their homework done. "Going to school and getting good grades. That's their job," she said.

Chicken and Rice and Chop Suey are two family favorite dishes. Instead of reaching for a measuring cup, Saputo measures all of her ingredients in soup cans. With items from her pantry, and fresh meat, making dinner is no problem. While dinner is cooking, Saputo tosses a load of laundry into the washing machine.

"Our family is big on pasta. In the winter we eat a lot of soups and casseroles," she said. "Sometimes I cook meals in advance and stick it in the freezer." Her chop suey recipe is a perfect example. You can cook the meat the day before and reheat it the next day after work. Add Chinese vegetables and serve over rice, or add a jar of gravy and serve over egg noodles for a simple straganoff. When she makes spaghetti sauce, she'll make extra and freeze it for lasagna or stuffed shells.

She enjoys baking, but doesn't always have time. "Sometimes I'll melt semi-sweet chocolate chips in the microwave and dip the ends of fortune cookies into the chocolate. You're the hero for the day. Everyone thinks it's great, but it's really very simple."

Celebrate Jewish New Year sweetly

See related story on Rosh Hashana on Taste front. Here are some traditional recipes.

CLASSIC APPLE CAKE

- 1 cup oil
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 eggs
- 3 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 3 cups peeled, cored and cubed apples
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour a 9-inch tube or bundt pan. In a large mixer bowl, beat oil with sugar. Add eggs, then flour, salt, baking soda, and vanilla. Set aside.

In a separate bowl, toss cubed apples with water nearly covering them. Add a pinch of salt and oil when the water begins to boil. Bring to a full boil and add honey and brown sugar. Simmer with cover on until carrots are tender.

Uncover saucepan and continue simmering until most of the liquid

Divide dough into thirds, shape as desired, and place in greased pans or on baking sheet. Let rise again until doubled in size.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Brush with glaze. Bake for 45 minutes to an hour on baking sheets or loaf pans until brown. Remove from pans and cool on racks.

Do not let dough rise longer than 1 hour. If unable to shape loaves after first rising, punch down dough and let rise again.

Recipe from: "Spice and Spirit: The Complete Kosher Cookbook."

HONEYED CARROTS

- 1 1/2 pounds carrots, peeled and sliced into round coins about 1/4-inch thick
- 1/2 cup honey
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- Pinch of salt
- 1 teaspoon oil

Combine carrots in saucepan with water nearly covering them. Add a pinch of salt and oil when the water begins to boil. Bring to a full boil and add honey and brown sugar. Simmer with cover on until carrots are tender.

Uncover saucepan and continue simmering until most of the liquid

CHICKEN A LA CRANBERRY

- 3-4 whole chicken breasts, boned, skinned, split
- 1 package prepared stuffing mix
- 1 can whole cranberries
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 1/2 cup parve margarine

Prepare the stuffing. Place a scoop on each breast. Role or fold over and place folded side down in pan.

Bake uncovered for 1 hour in a 350 degree oven.

Mix cranberries, orange juice, and parve margarine in pan until blended. Brush cranberry mixture over chicken and continue to bake for 1/2 hour, basting frequently.

Watch that chicken and sauce do not get too brown. Refrigerate remaining sauce and serve with chicken. Serves 5.

BASIC CHALLAH

- 2 packages dry yeast
- 2 1/2 cups warm water
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3/4 cup oil
- 4 eggs
- 9 cups flour
- Glaze
- 1 egg yolk, beaten
- 1 teaspoon water
- Poppy seeds

Dissolve yeast in water in a large bowl. Add honey and let stand 2 minutes, until yeast foams. Add salt, oil and eggs and mix well.

Gradually add flour, 2 cups at a time, mixing after each addition. As mixture gets stiff, use floured hands and begin kneading. Knead for 7 minutes, turning dough over often.

Let rise in greased bowl until doubled in size, approximately 1 hour. Punch down dough.

Greek chicken robust

AP — The secret to low-fat skillet cooking rests in using just enough oil to prevent sticking. Because the wheat germ coating on this chicken absorbs less oil than the traditional egg-and-crumble mixture, you need only a couple of tablespoons of oil for this recipe. Once the chicken is golden and tender, flavor the dish with robust Mediterranean ingredients — garlic, tomatoes, onions, peppers, squash and feta cheese.

GRECIAN-STYLE CHICKEN

- 4 medium skinless, boneless chicken breast halves (about 12 ounces total)
- 1/4 cup toasted wheat germ
- 2 tablespoons olive oil or cooking oil
- 1 small zucchini, sliced (1 cup)
- 1/2 of a medium green pepper, chopped (1/2 cup)
- 1/2 of a medium onion, sliced and separated into rings
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 2 tablespoons water
- 4 teaspoons lime or lemon juice
- 2 medium tomatoes, cut into wedges
- 3 cups cooked couscous (1 cup uncooked)
- 1/2 cup crumbled feta cheese (2 ounces)

Rinse chicken; pat dry with paper towels. Place wheat germ in a small bowl; coat chicken with wheat germ. In a large skillet cook chicken, uncovered, in 1 tablespoon of hot oil over medium heat for 10 to 12 minutes or until no longer pink, turning once. Remove chicken from skillet; keep warm.

In the same skillet cook zucchini, green pepper, onion, garlic, salt and pepper in remaining hot oil for 3 minutes. Add water; cook for 1 minute more. Remove from heat; stir in lime or lemon juice and tomato wedges.

To serve, divide couscous among four dinner plates. Place vegetable mixture atop couscous and chicken atop vegetables. Sprinkle feta cheese over chicken. Makes 4 main-dish servings.

Satisfy snack cravings with healthy choices

FLORINE MARK

LITE SUCCESS
One of the biggest misconceptions about mid-night snacking, or snacking in the evening, is that what you eat automatically turns into unwanted pounds. That's not true — unless, of course, you raid the refrigerator and eat everything in sight. A sensible, nutritious snack will leave you feeling satisfied and good about yourself.

Served with fruit slices, it's a satisfying snack. Even alone, fresh fruit is filling and refreshing.

If you like to nibble, try munching on some popcorn — minus the butter! It's sure to fill you up. Or, when I crave something sweeter, I help myself to a slice of Lightened Applesauce Loaf.

The most important thing to know is that it's okay to eat at night — just don't go overboard. Snacks should be eaten in measured amounts, not by the bag or bowl. By leaving room in your daily meal plan for a nutritious midnight snack, you'll be able to add a perfect ending to a healthier day.

BRAZILIAN COCOA

- 1/4 cup granulated sugar (or equivalent sugar substitute)
- 1/4 cup unsweetened cocoa
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon, divided
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 2 cups skim milk
- 1 cup strong decaffeinated coffee

In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan combine sugar, cocoa, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, and the nutmeg; add milk and coffee and cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until cocoa and sugar are dissolved and mixture is heated through, 4 to 5 minutes (do not boil). Divide into 4 mugs. Sprinkle each serving with 1/4 of the remaining cinnamon and serve immediately. Makes 4 Servings.

Each serving provides: 1/2 Milk, 75 optional calories on Weight Watchers Food Plan. Per serving: 108 calories, 1 g fat. Recipe from "Weight Watchers Quick and Easy Menu Cookbook, 1987"

CINNAMON CRISP TORTILLAS

- 2 flour tortillas (6-inch diameter each)
- 2 teaspoons reduced-calorie margarine (tub), melted, divided
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon, divided

1/2 teaspoon granulated sugar
Preheat broiler. Arrange tortillas on nonstick baking sheet and brush each tortilla with 1/4 of the margarine and sprinkle with 1/4 of the cinnamon. Broil 6 inches from heat source until margarine is bubbly. 1 to 2 minutes.

Combine remaining cinnamon with the sugar. Turn tortillas over; brush each with half of the remaining margarine and then sprinkle each with half of the cinnamon-sugar mixture. Broil until cinnamon-sugar mixture caramelizes, about 1 minute. Makes 2 Servings, 1 Tortilla Each

Each serving provides: 1/2 Fat, 1 Bread, 5 Optional Calories on Weight Watchers Food Plan. Per Serving: 92 calories, 4 g fat. Recipe from "Weight Watchers Healthy Life-Style Cookbook, 1990"

LIGHTENED APPLESAUCE LOAF

- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/2 cup reduced-calorie tub margarine
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup egg substitute
- 1 1/2 cups unsweetened applesauce
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons raisins

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spray a 9 by 5-inch loaf pan with nonstick cooking spray.

In medium bowl, combine flour, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt and cloves.

In large bowl, with mixer on high speed, beat margarine and sugar until light and fluffy; beat in egg substitute until blended. Gradually add flour mixture; beat until combined. Add applesauce; beat until just blended. Stir in raisins.

Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake 45-55 minutes, until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on rack 10 minutes. Remove from pan; let cool completely. Makes 12 Servings

Each serving provides: 1 Fat, 1/2 Bread, 1/2 Fruit, 60 Optional Calories on Weight Watchers Food Plan. Per serving: 152 calories, 4 g fat. Recipe from "Weight Watchers Magazine, September 1992"

Make your "midnight snack" part of your daily food plan. That way, you have something to look forward to.

A great way to satisfy cravings in the fall is to drink something warm and delicious like Brazilian Cocoa.

Personally, I love anything with cinnamon. Warm cinnamon toast really hits the spot. I also like to try different recipes. Now I'm hooked on Cinnamon Crisp Tortillas. They're so simple to make and they just melt in your mouth.

Equip yourself to stir-fry like a pro

AP — A long-handled spoon, a sharp knife and a large, deep skillet — that's really all you need to stir-fry like a pro. But if you prefer equipment especially designed for stir-frying, a wok and some of the many available accessories may be for you.

The wok

The wok has advantages when it comes to stir-frying. Its bowl-shaped design offers more cooking surface and a more even distribution of heat than a skillet. And the wok's wide top makes it easy to stir and toss the foods without making a mess. Although the basic bowl shape is common to all woks, you'll find a variety of sizes, styles and materials.

Size: A 14- to 16-inch-diameter wok, the most common size, is perfect for household ranges and accommodates enough food for two to four servings. Style: The classic wok has a rounded bottom and needs a ring stand to stabilize it on the gas burner. A variation on the classic design is the flat-bottomed wok. It is well suited to cooking on an electric range.

The electric wok has the advantage of portability. Sometimes the food may take a little longer to cook because the thermostat cycles heat on and off, but the food will still taste great.

Material: Most woks are carbon steel, stainless steel or aluminum. Carbon steel, the most common, cooks very evenly. You will need to thoroughly season your carbon steel wok initially and after each use. As your carbon steel wok becomes well seasoned with use, the color darkens.

Stainless steel, though it requires no seasoning, has poorer heat-transfer qualities than carbon steel. To improve this quality, many manufacturers wrap the exterior heating surface with aluminum or copper.

The third option, aluminum or aluminum alloy, has good heating properties and requires little care. Some aluminum woks darken with use, but an aluminum cleaner can remedy that.

Ring stand

Understanding the role of the ring stand in adjusting the wok's distance from the heat is important. For an electric range, turn up the wide side of the ring stand so the wok sits closer to the heating unit. For a gas range, elevating the wok actually places it over a hotter part of the gas flame. Place the ring stand over the largest burner with the narrow side up to attain this needed elevation.

Accessories

Chinese-style spatula: This has a wide, slightly curved, metal blade that is perfect for keeping food in motion over high heat. A long-handled spoon is an alternative. For nonstick surfaces, choose wood or another material that will not damage the finish.

Wide-bladed cleaver: A cleaver, when handled correctly, is especially well-suited for efficient chopping of ingredients. It is also handy for gathering the ingredients to place in your wok. A sharp chef's knife is an option to the cleaver.

Chopsticks: You can use these for mixing, cooking and eating. Bamboo brush: This is just the thing for cleaning your wok.

Grilled cheese gets dressed up

Grilled cheese, all dressed up! That's the Buckhead Diner's rendition of the time honored favorite. Great bread, Swiss and Cheddar, scallions, tomatoes and spicy mustard add the extra flavor and texture needed to elevate this sandwich from simple to sublime.

On the menu at the Buckhead Diner in Atlanta, Ga., since the restaurant opened six years ago, it's a customer favorite.

Sandwiches are the hottest lunchtime item at the popular eatery, acclaimed for its design as well as its food. It's reminiscent of a great Orient Express rail car — a combination of nostalgia coupled with glitz, class and service.

When asked what makes a successful sandwich, chef Kevin Osella said, "fresh bread with ingredients at the proper temperature, served immediately." For example, if the bread is supposed to be grilled crisp and buttery, with the cheese totally melted inside, then that's how it should be served.

If you're not close enough to Atlanta to get to the restaurant, not to worry. Try the delectable grilled cheese creation at home with your favorite bread.

Ingredients are available at the supermarket for this homemade version of the sandwich inspired by the talents of the Buckhead Diner. It just might become your signature sandwich, too. An herbed potato salad tastes great alongside.

BUCKHEAD DINER GRILLED CHEESE

- 4 slices whole grain bread
- Mild grainy mustard
- 2 tablespoons thinly sliced scallions (green onions)
- ¼ cup diced plum tomatoes
- 4 slices (1 ounce each) Swiss cheese
- 4 slices (1 ounce each) Cheddar cheese
- 2 tablespoons butter

Spread two bread slices with mustard. Sprinkle with equal amounts of scallions and tomatoes. Top with 2 slices each of Swiss and Cheddar cheese.

Place sandwiches on rack in broiler pan. Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat just until cheese begins to melt, about 1½ to 2 minutes. Top with second bread slice. Melt butter in large nonstick skillet over medium-low to medium heat. Place sandwiches in skillet; cook each side until golden brown and sandwich is heated through. Makes 2 sandwiches

Be creative, make healthier sandwiches

A healthful sandwich is more than a pile of sprouts atop layers of turkey breast between twice thin slices of bread. In fact, you may be surprised at the variety of low-fat, healthful sandwich makings that are available, said Karen Wilder, registered dietitian and staff nutritionist for Total cereal.

Preparing healthful sandwiches opens up opportunities for creativity and variety. Here are a few ideas to get you started.

■ Choose enriched, whole-grain breads such as whole wheat, multi-grain, rye, oatmeal or bran bread.

■ Wrap fillings in soft tortillas or spoon into pita bread.

■ Prepare sandwiches with mustard, horseradish or a drizzle of plain low-fat yogurt instead of high-fat spreads, such as butter or mayonnaise.

■ Substitute chicken or turkey breast, lean roast beef or lean ham for higher-fat fillings, such as salami and liverwurst.

■ Sprinkle on shredded cheese instead of adding thick slices. You'll enjoy rich, cheesy flavor with less fat.

■ Pile sandwiches high with vegetables. Lettuce, spinach leaves, sliced tomatoes, onions, cucumbers, radishes and zucchini add flavor and texture.

■ Include chopped vegetables, such as celery, onion and green or red peppers, in chicken, tuna or egg salad.

■ Spoon coleslaw, made with low-fat dressing, into chicken or turkey sandwiches.

■ Top lean roast beef or turkey with mushrooms, onions and green peppers sautéed in a small amount of olive oil.

■ Add a layer of crushed pineapple, sliced apples or bananas.

■ Dice apples, pears or grapes and combine with chicken salad.

Wilder suggests preparing sandwiches using ingredients from at least three different food groups to add variety and help improve the balance of your overall diet.

Kroger to show shoppers more ways to enjoy fruits, veggies

The Kroger Co. will be adding its efforts to the first annual 5 A Day Week. Scheduled to take place Sept. 12-18, the week will highlight a national push for the 5 A Day for Better Health message: Eat five or more servings of fruits and vegetables each day for better health.

Kroger will be helping to get this health message to consumers through recipes, special events and educational materials.

The program was initiated because Americans eat far fewer than five daily servings of fruits and vegetables recommended by leading health organizations, including the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the National Academy of Sciences.

Kroger Co., the nation's largest supermarket chain, has been a part of the Michigan grocery store scene since 1917. The company now operates 78 supermarkets in Michigan and more than 1,200 nationwide.

Low-fat marinade adds flavor to pork

AP — Lean, fresh pork marries well with a myriad of ingredients. Pork chops, for example, can be marinated in teriyaki sauce, simmered in salsa, rubbed with Cajun spices, broiled with mustard or glazed with marmalade.

In the following recipe for Coriander-Pepper Chops, a low-fat marinade is used to flavor the dish. Serve with fresh fruits and vegetables.

CORIANDER-PEPPER CHOPS

2 cloves garlic, crushed

- 1 tablespoon crushed coriander seeds
- 1 tablespoon coarsely ground black pepper
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 4 boneless pork chops, about 1-inch thick

Combine all ingredients except pork chops. Place chops in a shallow dish and pour marinade over; let marinate 30 minutes. Prepare medium-hot coals, banked, in grill bed. Remove pork from marinade, discarding marinade, and grill chops over indirect heat for 12 to 15 minutes, turning once.

Or, remove from marinade and broil or panbroil for 10 minutes, turning occasionally. Juices should run clear and chops should be tender and juicy. Makes 4 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 204 cal., 6 g fat, 66 mg chol.

ART ON THE EDGE

Hot shot: Emin Kadi employs the Westland Fire Station as a backdrop behind Grosse Pointe model Patricia Blake.

Modeling set his technique

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

After eight years of modeling all over the world from Milan to Paris and Madrid, Emin Kadils switched gears to view fashion photography from behind the lens.

Emin Kadils

The Westland photographer has come full circle to compose images with the model in mind.

"Most of the fashion shots are by product photographers that shoot fashion," said the Westland photographer.

"My work's a lot more caring about the model because I've been there myself. I was a model, so I'm a photographer for the model."

In the fashion world he's known simply as Emin, no last name necessary. As a model, his cosmopolitan look appeared in magazines from GQ to Rolling Stone. Hundreds of runways have worn his shoes.

Nearly three years ago bored with being just another pretty face treated like a piece of meat by photographers, Emin began to shoot and develop his own portfolio images. A portfolio or book as it's known in the trade is a necessity for models when hitting the bricks for work.

Upon seeing his work a top photographer in Milan by the name of Marco told Emin he had a good eye. From there the decision to focus on the other side of the camera was a snap away.

Returning to Chicago from Milan, Emin was unable to find work as a model since many of catalog houses like Sears Roebuck & Co. were closing their covers forever. In order to eat, he worked a variety of jobs including four days as a waiter. It was while booking other models that fate interceded with a damsel in distress.

"A young model came to me crying because she couldn't get photos for her book. We went out into the snow and shot them," said the photographer whose work has appeared in international magazines like African Cosmopolitan.

"Putting a book together to get the work is the hardest thing. I try to stay away from the model's weaknesses, a crooked nose, eyes that squint or bags under the eyes. I help them project their strengths. I try to make a woman look really beautiful. Men, I try to make them look interesting, intense." A concrete factory, airport, on top of old cars or even the Westland Fire Station, wherever a good shot can be found that's where you're likely to find Emin.

"I push myself to do something different every time. There are no rules. Because I'm self taught, I'm not worrying about the rules. I'm thinking total composition, the art of the whole frame and no boundaries," said Emin.

"I rip pictures, write on them. Who says a person's face has to be in the center of the frame?" Emin's European style of photography has set the fashion world on fire. "Drop-Dead Red," a fashion spread featured in Detroit Monthly last November, created an image for this young photographer that is red hot.

Harper's Bazaar recently has shown interest in Emin's work. Bazaar's assistant editor Mary Alice Stevenson who formerly was with Vogue wrote to say she found his new work to be strong, sexy and developed.

And to think he nearly became an architect.

Big Chief returns to funk roots

Recently signed by Capitol records, Detroit's Big Chief has more to celebrate than the release of its latest and most acclaimed album, "Mack Avenue Skull Game."

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Big Chief is preparing for what is so far its most anticipated record release party. Although the band was recently wooed away from Seattle's Sub Pop records by Capitol records, the Detroit group is still having identity problems at home.

'We're from Detroit and we're influenced by Detroit and Detroit bands like the MC5. A lot of bands are trying to play Detroit-style music.'

Mike Danner
drummer, Big Chief

When Big Chief practices in its rehearsal space - a self-storage garage - they get their share of odd glances and remarks.

"We get all these great quotes. This one guy called us a 'good rock n' roll band.' He told us to keep up the work. He doesn't even know anything about us," said drummer Mike Danner with a laugh in his Ypsilanti home.

This time around Big Chief is about retreating to a more funk-influenced sound for its latest album "Mack Avenue Skull Game" which is due in stores this week. It features guest musicians like the Was (Not Was) horns and singers such as award-winning local rhythm and blues crooner Thornetta Davis. Danner's mother plays the Hammond organ. The video for the first single, the groovy "One Born Every Minute," is awaiting approval from MTV.

"For us, our new record is more like the first. ... It's more like the stuff I listen to," said Danner with soul music playing in the background and hip-hop magazines piled throughout the room.

"The new Big Chief record represents us for '93."

However, Danner has some reservations.

"I hope this doesn't become another cult album like 'Paul's Boutique' was for the Beastie Boys," he said.

Initially, the band was going to turn to the king of funk himself - George Clinton and Funkadelic. However, Big Chief nixed the idea of an all-Funkadelic cover album in lieu of "Mack Avenue."

The album is the second and last one for Sub Pop records. Danner finds it more fitting that Big Chief's next album will be on Capitol records.

"I don't think we fall in with Sub Pop or alternative. I guess that's where we fit the best. ... Our influences are a little different. We're from Detroit and we're influenced by Detroit and Detroit bands like the MC5. A lot of bands are trying to play Detroit-style music. We're more of like the real thing."

"Mack Avenue" is also a soundtrack to the grisly murder movie of the same name slated to be released early next year. In it, Danner plays a killer pimp named "Mack Avenue." The locally produced movie, which also stars the other members of Big Chief and CIMX-FM 89X DJ Caeri Bertrand, was originally on hold.

"The movie's secondary. We're a band first. ... We've been going 'round and 'round about the movie. We definitely want to do it now," Danner said.

In celebration of the release of the record, Big Chief will hold its record release party at St. Andrew's Hall on Saturday, Sept. 18. Big Chief - which also includes guitarist and artist Mark Dancey, guitarist Phil Durr, bassist Matt O'Brien, and vocalist Barry Henssler - plans to crowbar seven additional musicians and singers on the small St. Andrew's stage.

"We have three dress rehearsals planned for St. Andrew's Hall the week of the show."

Afterward, the group will begin a west coast tour with Sub Pop label-mates Six Finger Satellite. Big Chief plans to tour until early next year when it will open its own recording studio in Detroit called the "Black Room."

"We're going to fuse old analog recording techniques with a more hip-hop (sound)," Danner said.

Maybe then Big Chief will get the recognition it deserves in Detroit - good or bad.

"We're really appreciated by a lot of people, and hated by just as many."

Big Chief and special guests Grasshopper and Outrageous Cherry will play St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit, on Saturday, Sept. 18. Tickets are $10 in advance for the all-ages show. Doors open at 8 p.m. For more information, call 961-MELT.

As the 65 degree summer London weather lingered during mid-July, a slight heat wave hung over the Institute for Contemporary Arts Theater near Buckingham Palace.

The flame was generated from the sounds of indie label 4AD's weeklong 13th year anniversary celebration. With acts such as Pale Saints, Underground Lovers, The Breeders, Kristin Hersh and Livonia-based His Name Is Alive, English fans were treated to a roasting.

If His Name Is Alive's creator and Livonia resident Warren DeFever had a choice, he would keep it that way; national and international success, but anonymity in Detroit.

"When we are there, I like to fool around and we don't want it to conflict with the music," DeFever said.

Besides the fact that DeFever and bandmates Karen Oliver of Belleville, and Trey Many of Walled Lake, all "hate Detroit," DeFever also dislikes talking to Detroit-area media. He said doing interviews with local publications would draw even more attention to his band.

"I think it's bad already with people stopping by," said the 1987 Stevenson High School graduate.

"Fortunately I have not been there when they (fans) come. ... so they tell my parents, 'We are from New York and found your name in the phone book and decided to drop by. Tell Warren we said, 'Hi.'"

DeFever should be used to the attention by now, considering as a teenager he and his brother were members of the metal meets rockabilly band Elvis Hitler. Today with a more sensual sound, London was the last stop on his tour promoting his latest release, "Mouth By Mouth." The tour included several U.S. dates, however the show at St. Andrew's Hall this summer was canceled at the last minute.

Describing His Name Is Alive fans as "polite" regardless what side of the Atlantic they may be from, DeFever feels his sound brings it out in people.

"You wouldn't think you could play this in a bar and get a good show," he said. "We couldn't play Detroit because (people) make so much noise because they are in a bar. They don't anywhere else."

DeFever is afraid that if His Name Is Alive is classified as a Detroit-area based band, they might get stuck in the stereotype that local bands go nowhere but home.

"... When we played Grand Rapids, people showed up in the middle of the show. When you are from the area, people are convinced that you aren't a real band," he said.

Back in Livonia, which was the title of his first release, DeFever is determined to move out of his parents' home but views His Name Is Alive will survive without immense changes.

"We are not that kind of band to make it flashy," he said. "I think the music is not appropriate to do so. It's calmer, prettier and not flashy."

Art films to fill Main Theater's new screens

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Alternative film theaters in metro Detroit may soon be playing the crying game when the Royal Oak Main reopens as the Main Art Theatre on Oct. 8.

Rumors began circulating over two years ago that the neighborhood movie house would turn its attention to art films. Few people would have guessed that the Main, which built its reputation on second-run features and Disney matinees, would expand to three screens dedicated solely to foreign and alternative American works.

"There's been much speculation in the film business that Detroit, for being a top 10 market, has been an underdeveloped area for art film business," says Michael Mihalich, who owns the Main and serves as booking agent for 150 Michigan screens.

And he's right. While the Detroit Film Theatre (DFT) continues to showcase quality films hand-picked by curator Elliott Wilhelm, Bloomfield's AMC Maple Theatre has featured progressively fewer alternative titles on its three-screen rotation.

"Like Water for Chocolate" is just one recent film given a much-too-short run by the Maple. The Main plans to get it back, along with premier engagements of "Especially on Sunday," "Barakha!" and "Remains of the Day," which will be shared with the Maple.

Mihalich, in an extremely wise move, has struck a deal with Landmark Theatre Corp. to book films for the Main. A division of the Samuel Goldwyn Company, L.A.-based Landmark secures titles for more than 100 alternative screens in 17 national markets.

Among the hot pics up for grabs: "Short Cuts," the latest from "The Player's" Robert Altman; and "M. Butterfly," David Cronenberg's sure-to-be-wild adaptation of the controversial stage play, starring Jeremy Irons and John Lone.

The Main reopening may place the alternative film market in roughly the same position it was in a decade ago, when the DFT and Maple fought tooth and nail for exclusive titles. The competition hit its zenith in 1984 when the two theaters went to court over the right to premiere the French film "Entre Nous."

Mihalich, who met recently with the DFT's Wilhelm to discuss a joint venture, now says "I play to win" when referring to his competition. Wilhelm, meanwhile, gets snippy when asked to comment on the attractiveness of the Main's location on the edge of terminally hip downtown Royal Oak.

The DFT curator has his own allies, among them appreciative distributors who have seen some of their largest grosses generated by the popular weekend film program. The Main will have a difficult time capturing overnight the reverence to movies the DFT program has cultivated over the past 20 years.

The Main, at the corner of Main Street and 11 Mile, was built in 1941 as a single-screen movie house. Ten years ago, a center wall was constructed that split the theater into two auditoriums. The first step in the renovation was to knock down that wall to create one large 516-seat auditorium while adding a pair of smaller theaters (390 and 200 seats) off the south side.

Interior designer David Savage has uncovered original art deco touches during the refurbishing, including painted theater columns and coved ceilings with recessed lighting. Sleek wall sconces will soon grace the auditoriums, which are still very much under construction.

Cappuccino, espresso and fruit juices will now be part of the upscale concession stand. A liquor license sought by Mihalich earlier this year has been put on indefinite hold.

Two of the auditoriums now boast 70mm projection, a surprising addition since very few alternative or foreign pictures are released in that format. Hopefully revivals, including the soon-to-be-released "El Cid," will also find their way to the Main.

While the outcome of this battle behind the screens is uncertain, one winner is certain: local filmgoers, who will soon discover more variety than ever on local movie screens.

SCREEN SCENE

DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 833-2323 for information. ($5; $4 students)

"Careful" (Canada — 1992). 7, 9:30 p.m. Sept. 17-18; 4, 7 p.m. Sept. 19. In a mythical Alpine valley surrounded by ice-covered mountains lives a population of strange, repressed villagers who always speak quietly due to their constant fear of avalanche. Cautious is an understatement when describing the lifestyle explored in Winnipeg filmmaker Guy Maddin's film.

MAGIC BAG THEATRE CAFE
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Call 544-3030 for information. ($3)
"Metropolis" (Germany — 1926) with a live musical score. 8 p.m. Sept. 16. The musicians of Drop have composed a post-modern score to be performed live during Fritz Lang's silent masterpiece. In the monster city of the future, technology has gone out of control, and workers have been transformed into expressionless drones.

MAPLE THEATRE
4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for show times. ($5.75; $2.95 twilight)

"The Wedding Banquet" (Taiwan/USA - 1993). In this international hit filmed in New York, a simple wedding of convenience turns into an epic deception when the groom's parents arrive from Taiwan.

MICHIGAN THEATRE
603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Call 668-8397 for information. ($5; $4 students)

"Citizen Kane" (USA — 1940). 7 p.m. Sept. 14; 5 p.m. Sept. 15. Orson Welles was only 25 when he created what many consider the greatest film of all time. He also stars as Charles Foster Kane, a yellow journalist based on William Randolph Hearst. Look for Welles' films each week as the main screens in conjunction with University of Michigan film classes.

"Road Scholar" (USA — 1993). Through Thursday, Sept. 16 (call for show times). Transylvania-born and now New Orleans-based writer and commentator Andrei Codrescu takes a cross-country trip in a screaming red Cadillac. His comments on the ever-changing American landscape are both hilarious and poignant.

RABBLES COFFEE HOUSE

22010 Harper, St. Clair Shores. Call 779-0707 for information. (Free)

"His Other Woman" (USA — 1954). 10 p.m. Sept. 13. A young woman takes revenge on her boss in this enjoyably sleazy picture co-starring and directed by Hugo Haas. The screening will be preceded by trailers from other classics of the "bad girl" genre.

STAR JOHN R

John R (at 14 Mile), Madison Heights. Call 585-2070 for show times. ($5.75; $2.95 twilight)
"Boxing Helena" (USA — 1993). The admittedly sick story — about a surgeon who amputates a woman's arms and legs in the hopes that she will become dependent on him — might have worked as a short story. The feature film, the first by David Lynch's 25-year-old daughter Jennifer, is so badly done it's almost funny.

STATE THEATRE
2115 Woodward, Detroit. Call 961-5450 for information. ($1)
"Up in Smoke" (USA — 1978).

La Casa hosts festival

Lynn Miles is among the performers slated to appear at La Casa Music Series's third annual music festival at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 17, at Birmingham Unitarian Church, 651 N. Woodward Ave., at Lone Pine.

Miles is a three-time La Casa performer who is coming to the festival from the recording studio where she is laying down tracks for her next album. Soon, her song, "Lyn' on the Sand," will be featured in an upcoming Lynn Johnston "For Better or For Worse" animated special broadcast on the Disney channel.

Alan Rhody, who wrote "Trainwreck of Emotion" for Del McCoury and Lorrie Morgan, will also perform. His other credits include songs for the Oak Ridge Boys ("I'll Be True to You"), Lee Greenwood ("Christmas to Christmas") and T.G. Sheppard ("All My Cloudy Days are Gone").

Larry Jon Wilson, who's opened for the Highwaymen previously, and Pittsburgh's Leslie Smith are also on the bill. Previously, Smith has gigged with Beausoleil, Rosie Flores, Maura O'Connell, Warren Zevon, Lucinda Williams, and Chris Smither.

Tickets to the show are $15. Advance tickets are available from It's the Ritz clothing store, 193 W. Maple, Birmingham, or by mail at La Casa,

Lynn Miles
852 Bird St., Birmingham 48009. For more information, call 646-4950.

BARBARA SCHIFF

Reader's note: The column on Aug. 16, to which the following caller refers, discussed the propriety of asking one's therapist to a party, or giving one's therapist a gift. The answer was no, one should not.

Another issue is that the woman requesting advice in the first call, asked her girlfriend the same questions previously but did not accept the advice given to her.

Voice Mail message: Barbara, you blew the interpretation on Aug. 16. You're telling your patient to lie to her therapist. She should bring up the dilemma and talk about it with the therapist, and help him to explain those things to her. She must discuss her feelings for him, instead of hiding and listening to the friend. Also, when you ask about her asking her friend for advice, and that she should pay attention to what her friend is telling her, and worry about what the friend is feeling, you're really in left field some place. You've moved away from the therapy, and focused on the girlfriend. The relationship between the therapist and the patient is what has to be talked about. You're telling her not to go in and talk about it. I don't understand. I think you'd better clean it up.

Dear caller: Thank you for your comments. You are right, the woman who wants the social relationship with her therapist must tell him what she is thinking. Thank you for pointing out that I neglected to include that emphases in my response, and for giving me the opportunity to expand on that theme.

One of the reasons psychological therapy is so important is because it provides an opportunity to work through a relationship with honesty. As the patient works through this relationship he or she acquires the freedom to do so in others as well. The therapeutic relationship is a foundation stone. The eventual goal is to be free of preoccupation with any other person and to fly on one's own.

It is difficult to learn that the world, and the people in it, owe us nothing. As adults we are responsible for ourselves. This caller, by telling her therapist what she is thinking, will have the opportunity to work on accepting this often disappointing reality. The problem with wanting to be friends with her therapist is that it is an attempt to get something from reality that she has no right to expect.

I am expecting someone to call to say that his or her therapist accepted a gift, or attended a party, without interference to his or her therapy. A call, hostility in the relationship is as likely. Every relationship is different, but if potential problems can be prevented, as in this situation, that is better.

In answer to your criticism of my emphases on the caller's relationship with her girlfriend, I do not agree with it. The therapeutic relationship is not the only one in her life. The caller's ability to treat others with respect and kindness is an essential building block to her self-esteem.

Sayles reels in a keeper with 'Fish'

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

It's like a cruel joke when the soap opera actress wakes up in the hospital and groggily reaches for the call button. Instead, she inadvertently turns on the television and sees herself as that oft-used device, a character with amnesia. Fear, pain and anger rise up as she becomes aware of her real situation, that a traffic accident has left her paraplegic.

Writer-director John Sayles' 1992 film "Passion Fish" follows the actress as she decides to flee New York and burrow herself into her childhood home in rural Louisiana. Played by Mary McDonnell, actress May-Alice angrily refuses to do physical therapy and prefers to sit in her house staring at the television with a drink.

Thanks to her temper and uncooperativeness, she manages to go through a stream of aides who aren't without their own flaws. In a very good performance, McDonnell shows the frustration and humiliation of suddenly being unable to take care of herself, of having your life suddenly changed forever by something out of your control.

The only aide who sticks it out is Shantel, played by Alfre Woodard, whose character in another film might have been a saintly woman who transforms her angry employer.

Not one for easy sentiment, Sayles doesn't take the expected route. Shantel has serious problems of her own and needs the job. The scenes between McDonnell and Woodard have a wonderful quality that captures the evolving relationship between the two women, each of whom can learn from the other.

As always, Sayles fills the film with fine supporting actors creating memorable characters with a few scenes. Two bickering childhood friends remind her of the things she wanted to leave behind when she left Louisiana. Friends from the soap opera create an image of highs and often lows of an actor's life.

May-Alice's chatty uncle turns up for a some talking and drinking, lamenting his male lover having left him and the outcome of his hopes for his niece. Woodard's Shantel has a great reaction to the uncle. Asked what she thought of him, she pauses and says "He is very literary."

David Strathairn, a familiar face in Sayles films, is touching as a friend from May-Alice's childhood. A wild fun-loving boy, he is now married to a woman who found religion after their marriage and has their five children praying with her for his soul.

In the end "Passion Fish" isn't so much concerned about a particular physical or emotion challenge but the way in which people have to grow to overcome obstacles, get themselves on course and find peace in their lives.

"One False Move" is available on tape at local video stores. If you have a question or comment, call LeAnne Rogers at 953-2103 or write her at The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Whyman drives to get auto-insurance bill on ballot

State Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, wants to give Michigan motorists a chance to vote on whether or not drivers will continue to receive a reduction in their auto insurance rates.

House Bill, 4156, which was signed into law by Gov. John Engler Aug. 6, reduces auto insurance premiums an average 16 percent while limiting the personal injury protection motorists are required to carry. The law will go into effect April 1994. But Whyman wants to see the issue placed on the ballot in November 1994.

"There has been much wrangling among lawmakers regarding auto insurance. I would like to see this bill provide relief to motorists and leave the final decision on this issue to the people. They then can decide for themselves whether or not to keep the law,"

Whyman said.

HB 4156 rolls back insurance rates to Nov. 1, 1992, levels, saving Michigan's six million drivers roughly $100 per person each year. It also:

- freezes the new rates for six months.
- creates good-drive, auto-safety and anti-theft discounts.
- requires drivers to carry at least $1 million in medical and rehabilitation protection, but allows optional coverage of up to $5 million.

- prevents motorists who are more than 50 percent at fault from suing.
- improves access to insurance in urban areas.
- controls medical costs by limiting the amount hospitals can overcharge auto insurers for medical care of accident victims. Some now charge as much as 135 percent of actual costs to compensate for Medicaid losses, Whyman said.

She said some of her constituents expressed concerns with the legislation.

"There has been a great deal of confusion regarding this bill. Many people feel that it's the same as Proposal D, which the voters rejected last November.

House Bill 4156 is significantly different than Proposal D. I believe that motorists will embrace the reforms in House Bill 4156 and appreciate the significant rate reduction," Whyman said.

When the state House reconvenes Sept. 15, Whyman would like legislators to take a closer look at House Bill 4963, which places the issue on the ballot in 1994.

Rotary begins handicapped equipment exchange

The Plymouth Rotary Foundation has announced its handicapped equipment exchange program, through Oct. 31.

The Rotary will solicit equipment in the Plymouth community and distribute it to needy area residents. At the end of the program, undistributed equipment will be turned over to a local charity for distribution through their network, said Jerry Trumpka, chairman of the Plymouth Rotary Service to the Handicapped Committee.

"A lot of equipment is sitting out there collecting dust and it needs to be matched with people who can use it," Trumpka said.

'This is a great opportunity to help our neighbors.'

*Jerry Trumpka
Plymouth Rotary*

The committee is looking for wheelchairs, crutches, lifts, walkers, scooters and other types of equipment.

Individuals who need equipment or have equipment to donate are asked to contact Rotary member Marie Morrow at United Way, 453-6879. The foundation will make receipts available for the fair market value of the donated equipment. Donations are tax deductible.

Four-year-old Daniel Caudill, a Plymouth resident with spina bifida, is the program's poster child. "Daniel is a remarkable young man," Trumpka said. "In the four short years of his life he has been through several surgeries and hours of physical therapy — more than most of us can imagine. Yet, he projects so much joy. He's really inspired a lot of people."

Earlier this year, the Rotary became aware of Daniel and his need for a special wheelchair called a "Starcar." The device was purchased through the foundation and was delivered to Daniel in July.

Volunteers from the Plymouth Rotary and local churches will be distributing fliers throughout the community to help promote the program. If you and your group would like to get involved please contact Morrow. The foundation is also looking for volunteers to distribute fliers.

"This is a great opportunity to help our neighbors," Trumpka said. "Plymouth is a unique place where people still reach out to one another. I have no doubt that the united community spirit found here will make this program a huge success."

LUNCH MENU FOR SENIORS

The senior citizen nutrition program will serve these hot meals the week of Sept. 13. Meals will be served at noon at Tonquish Creek Manor, 1160 Sheridan, in Plymouth (453-9703) and at 11:30 a.m. at the Canton Recreation Center, 44237 Michigan Ave. (397-5444).

Chiefs win soccer game

Plymouth Canton scored a late goal Wednesday to overcome upset-minded North Farmington in boys soccer, 1-0.

With just four minutes left in the game, Chad Dale scored the only goal with an assist from Jeff Fliss.

The visiting Chiefs (3-0) dominated the second-half shot chart but still found it difficult to break the scoreless tie. The Raiders had only three shots while the Chiefs attempted 14 of their 21 in the second half.

"We played alright; we just didn't finish real well," Canton coach Don Smith said.

"In the first half, I think we thought we were going to take them easily. But when we saw that wasn't going to happen we played much better, but we still didn't get one in until late.

"They didn't get a lot of shots, but it wasn't always down in their end. There was a lot of mid-field play. They didn't do anything in our third but, otherwise, they moved the ball well."

Shaun Conway and George Tomasso shared time and the shutout as Canton goalkeepers.

North coach Kris Galczyk was quite pleased with the play of his team (2-1) and sees promise for good things ahead.

"This year my team is ready to compete on the highest levels," he said. "We have good skill and good athletes, so we should have a successful year."

Boots gets win in debut

Livonia Churchill (1-0) made John Boots' coaching debut with the Chargers a success Wednesday with a come-from-behind victory over host Plymouth Salem, 3-2.

Justin Monson broke a 2-2 tie when he scored the winning goal in the 70th minute.

The Rocks (1-2-1) erased a 1-0 halftime deficit and took a 2-1 lead before Churchill's Charlie Roberts tied the score with 15 minutes remaining.

Doug Herriman scored the first Salem goal with an assist from Mike Kley, and Mark MacInnis converted a free kick in the 60th minute.

Mark Stackpoole scored the first goal for the Chargers, and Goran Rauker, Monson and Jack Burnett had respective assists.

"It was our first game, so it was a big win for us," Boots said. "It told us where we stood. I think we're going to do well; we'll certainly hold our own."

Strikers win title again

The Livonia Youth Soccer Club Strikers, an under-19 Little Caesars Premier League girls team, captured the Oakville (Ontario) Tournament for the second year with a 4-2 victory Sept. 6 against the host club.

The Strikers, coached by Steve Strauch and Nick Nitchov, also defeated teams from East Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls Ontario en route to the finals.

Sweeper Mackenzie Emmett of Plymouth was voted MVP by officials in the final game.

Other members of the Strikers include: Mesha Cichon, Lynn Haines, Alexis Marinos, Sue Parrish and Jodee Wilsher, all of Canton; Allyson Granger, Plymouth; Jamie Colliton, Kelli Colliton and Jean Roy, all of Livonia; Renee Androsian, Northville; Flannery Campbell, Detroit; Jo Buck and Aimee LePlae, both of Brighton; Heather Morrell, Clinton Township; Jamie Thomas, Woodhaven; and Amy Wheeler, East Lansing.

Kicks under-11 champs

The 1983 Plymouth Kicks under-11 boys select soccer team won the Dayco Tournament on Labor Day weekend in Dayton, Ohio.

The Kicks, who were undefeated in the tournament (4-0-1), clinched the title with a double-overtime victory over the defending champion Lakota Lazars, 2-1.

In the semifinal game, the Kicks edged the Cincinnati Hot Shots 1-0 and scored the goal with less than six minutes remaining. The Kicks also defeated the 1982 Warriors 6-2, tied Centerville (Ohio) 2-2 and downed the Lazars 4-1 in the preliminary round.

Since the team was organized a year ago, the Kicks have won two outdoor Western Suburban Soccer League championships and two indoor titles, and they have been finalists in two tournaments and semifinalists another time. Their record is 44-12-3 with 21 shutouts.

The players are Jon McGlone, Chris LaMasse, Andrew Holmes, Phil Marrone, Marty Kane, Justin Griffin, Danny Gill, Brian Conway, Jay Smith, Derek Vermeulen, T.J. Tomasso, Nick Tochman, Oliver Wolcott, Brian Thiess and Shane Smith. The Kicks are coached by Dennis Tochman and Bill Thiess.

SC cage coach needed

Schoolcraft College is seeking a men's assistant basketball coach for the 1993-94 season. Chris Theodore, former assistant to head coach Dave Bogataj, has stepped down.

The part-time position requires a bachelor's degree and prior coaching experience. Salary range is from $1,600 to $2,400.

A new, completed and signed Schoolcraft College application form, copies of transcript and resume must be received no later than 5 p.m. Sept. 20 by Gerald W. Munro, Manager of Personnel Services, Schoolcraft College, Haggerty Road, Livonia, Mi. 48152-2696.

Chiefs remain Mercy Hoops champs

Plymouth Canton (5-0) continued its impressive start to the 1993 girls basketball season Saturday by winning its second straight championship in the Mercy Hoops Classic and third in the last six years.

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Alyson Nounne is used to having her game compared to that of former Plymouth Canton basketball star Michelle Fortier.

The reason is Nounne has continued a fine tradition as point guard for the Chiefs, and she became the first Canton player since Fortier in 1988 to be named the most valuable player of the Mercy Hoops Classic.

So when Tournament Director Mike Gruber made the comparison again Saturday night following Canton's 56-26 victory over the host Marlins, it was nothing new to Nounne.

"I was compared to Michelle all summer," the 5-foot senior said. "We're good friends and it was great to have him say something like that when I was receiving the award."

15 points.

She also played a key role directing the offense and contributing to Canton's aggressive, all-over-you defense.

Nounne has started since she was a sophomore, but this year has become more a shooter and scorer.

"I set a goal for myself to shoot 50,000 shots in the summer, but I didn't quite get to it," she said. "I only shot about 27,000. I worked on a lot of shots but concentrated on the three, and it's starting to pay off. It's almost like shooting a free throw now."

Canton teammates Erica Anderson (senior) and Amicie Crayton (junior) also were named to the all-tournament team, along with Mercy junior Julie Angell and St. Clair senior Jamie McCabe.

Anderson had seven points and a team-high 12 rebounds, Crayton had 10 and six, respectively. Senior Britta Anderson and freshman Kristi Fiorenzi had seven points apiece.

Nounne made two threes in the first quarter to help the Chiefs take a 15-8 lead, and her back-to-back triples in the fourth shut the door on Mercy and clinched the MVP honor.

"She has good range and the screens for her have been real good," Canton coach Bob Blohm said. "I think we're a good shooting team overall. If one word describes this team, it's balance."

The Chiefs display that quality in their pressing, man-to-man defense, too. Senior Lisa Nicastris is the fifth starter, and Jackie Nicastris and Robyn Vachow also got a lot of minutes.

"The best thing about our team is we don't have set captains," Nounne said. "All five seniors act as captains, and we have no one individual star."

"One thing Blohm stresses is defense. He stresses ball pressure, getting into the passing lanes and boxing out. That has kept us in games even if the offense is not working for us."

Angell, who scored 13 points, and Glenda Lee (nine) were the only Mercy players to score until the fourth quarter. Canton's quickness in the half-court defense stifled the Marlins (3-2) around the basket.

"They did a great job defensively," Mercy coach Larry Baker said. "We got very frustrated by the pressure, and they really took us out of any semblance of an offense, particularly at the beginning of the game and the fourth quarter.

"In both our losses, we've had a rough time functioning under intense pressure. It's definitely a learning process for us and all the more reason to get back to work and develop some confidence in our offensive schemes."

The Marlins, who had no seniors on the court Saturday, got within 19-14 in the second period before Canton scored the next 10 points to lead 29-16 at halftime.

But Blohm remembered the 1991 final, in which the Chiefs led by 15 in the second half and Mercy rallied to win the game 43-38.

"The third quarter was critical," he said. "There's no quit in that (Mercy) team. The quarter started with both a little flat, and I was thinking 'What do I need to do to get this team back in it?' But the offense kicked in and we got some offensive opportunities."

Canton extended its lead by two points (39-24) in that quarter and scored the first 13 of the fourth. Mercy had no field goals in the finale and was six of 43 from the floor overall. The Chiefs made 18 of 40 shots.

Ground gainer: Tailback Lenny Gardner was Canton's leading rusher and ran 15 yards for a touchdown Friday as the Chiefs defeated North Farmington 20-3.

Shankie leads PC to victory

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Kevin Shankie has the role of bullpen pitcher on the Plymouth Canton football team, and his relief performance Friday night was good enough to win the equivalent of the Fireman Award.

The senior quarterback came off the bench to pass for two touchdowns and rally the host Chiefs to a 20-3 victory over North Farmington, completing 11 of 20 passes for 181 yards.

"Whatever coach wants me to do I'm willing to do it," Shankie said. "I'm just trying to get this team to win. If he needs me to come off the bench, I'll do it."

"I played well against this team last year, too. A lot of credit has to go to the offensive line. This week they really got the job done."

Shankie entered at the start of the second quarter in place of junior Brett Elledge with Canton trailing 3-0 after Scot Lord kicked a 30-yard field goal for the Raiders.

He quickly had success and usually found Tim Moritz (four catches for 86 yards) or Andy Bahrou (three for 68) open for large gains.

Bahrou caught an 18-yarder for the first TD and fullback Eric Arnold a 10-yarder for the second. Tailback Lenny Gardner finished the scoring with a 15-yard run early in the fourth quarter.

"We had trouble running it a couple times so I said 'Let's throw it, open it up.' Things sorta clicked and we stayed with it," Canton coach Bob Khoenle said.

"If one doesn't do it, we go with the other one. Shankie can throw it and I thought he did a pretty good job. It's nothing but a matter of production."

Shankie moved the Chiefs (1-1) on his first series but, after completing three passes for 71 yards, was stripped of the ball at the North 5-yard line.

N'ville sends message in defeat of Salem

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

Northville High made a statement with its play Friday that the Western Lakes Activities Association will have more than just a two-team football race.

While many believe Farmington Hills Harrison and Westland John Glenn are the teams to beat, the host Mustangs placed themselves among the WLAA elite with an impressive 31-0 thumping of Plymouth Salem.

"I wouldn't classify that as an easy game," Northville coach Darrel Shumacher said. "I didn't think we'd be able to score that much. I thought it might be a defensive battle. This was a good team effort and that's what we needed."

Shumacher and others believed it would be a closer game because of the performance of the Rocks in their season-opening victory over Belleville. So what happened?

FOOTBALL

"We had a total mental letdown and I don't know why," Salem coach Tom Moshimer said.

Moshimer does know what happened to the Rocks physically. The Mustangs (2-0) dominated both sides of the line of scrimmage.

Northville gained 330 yards while limiting Salem to 90. The Rocks didn't make a first down (without the help of a penalty) until early in the fourth quarter.

"We didn't block and we couldn't tackle," Moshimer said. "We just didn't block anybody and you can't win that way."

Northville had its entire game working Friday. On the ground, Anel Kersey gained 120 yards on 11 carries. The Mustangs rushed for 289 yards total.

Quarterback Mark Golden completed three of four passes for 41 yards and made two important completions leading to touchdowns. Even the kicking game was on as Mike Hirvela booted a 25-yard field goal to go along with four extra points.

The defense's only mistake was a dropped interception late in the game. The Rocks had only 5 passing yards and 18 yards of offense in the first half on 17 plays.

Another strategy by Shumacher paid off. He was concerned about the possibility of Salem fullback/linebacker Rob Shepley's impact on both sides of the ball.

"I knew Shepley could take over the game at linebacker so we tried to take him off the ball and misdirect him," Shumacher said. "As a runner, he's legitimate and we should have tackled him lower."

Salem girls plan to contend for division, league honors

BY DAN O'MEARA

Plymouth Salem stands a good chance of winning the Lakes Division title in girls cross country again this year; however, the Western Lakes Activities Association crown will be more difficult.

The Rocks were second in the WLAA behind Walled Lake Western, but they still might not be able to take the next step and beat the Western Division's best.

Even though Salem returns six of its top eight runners, it started the season Thursday with a 17-38 loss to an improved Plymouth Canton team.

"We're not near as good as we can be; we're going to get better," Salem coach Mike Krafchak said. "We're looking to run well late in the year. By the end of October, we ought to be pretty tough. I don't know if we can reckon with a Canton, but we'll be right there."

The top returnee is sophomore Leah Retherford, who had the best Salem finish (fifth) in the league meet. The All-Observer runner was 12th at the regional meet and 17th at state.

Senior Emily Farrell also returns after making the all-area second team, and the Rocks are made stronger by the return to health of junior Stacy Moore.

PREVIEW

Farrell was 10th in the WLAA and Moore, who had an outstanding freshman year but missed most of last season with a hip injury, 21st. Moore has done a lot of rehab work and has shown great improvement, according to Krafchak.

"We didn't know if she would be back, but she's starting to show the form she did two years ago when she was 14th in the state meet," he said. "If Leah can run like she did last year, we should have a good one-two punch."

"(Moore) worked hard to get back. Most people would have packed it in, but she didn't and it's nice to see her hang in there."

Farrell had a frustrating track season last spring until it was learned she didn't have sufficient protein in her diet, Krafchak said. She is much improved as a result, also.

"Emily is running better than she ever has," Krafchak said, adding Farrell is 45 seconds faster than this time last year. "That's a pretty significant improvement."

"Once we figured out what was going on (with her diet), it made a difference because she's a lot stronger now. She was eating enough but not enough for a distance runner."

Salem also returns senior Lynda Sebestyen and juniors Sarah Hamilton and Courtney Sheldon. Sebestyen was 17th in the WLAA meet and Hamilton 23rd.

All three are standout sprinters on Salem's championship track team and were still running half-mile distances for the Spitfires club team a month ago.

"So coming out for cross country is a challenge for them," Krafchak said. "I've been quite impressed with that group's ability to handle 5,000 meters."

Freshman Kathy Jost has been a good addition and an early surprise. She could be among the top five regularly. Sophomore Kimberly Sheldon, junior Sarah Volaric and freshman Mary Disbrow provide the Rocks with plenty of depth.

"By the end of the year, we could easily have 10 kids running under 23 minutes, and that gives us a tremendous amount of depth," Krafchak said.

"We're a good team. We're a contender for the division title, and I figure we're among the top three or four in the whole conference."

Chiefs crush Rocks in duals

Plymouth Canton was an impressive winner in its first girls cross country meet Thursday, defeating rival Plymouth Salem 17-38 at Cass Benton Park.

Senior Lana Boroditsch set a school record on the course with a winning time of 19:44, bettering the old mark set by her of 20:11.

The Chiefs had the top four runners with Kathleen Landelius finishing second (20:25), Laura McWilliams third (20:40) and Becky Wolf from fourth (20:54).

Landelius was just two seconds off her personal best at Cass Benton, and McWilliams topped her previous best by three seconds.

"I think we had a nice showing for the first meet of the year," Canton coach George Przygodski said. "We know we have some talented runners, but the times we ran were surprising for this time of year."

"I'm real pleased by the effort of all our athletes. It's a good starting point, and we'll try our best to improve from here."

Beth Knight also scored for the Chiefs, placing seventh (21:50), and teammates Tracey Cavin (22:44) and Meghan Barresi (23:22) were 12th and 14th, respectively.

Salem was led by fifth-place Leah Retherford (21:09) and Emily Farrell in sixth (21:38). Stacy Moore was eighth (22:12), Kathy Jost ninth (22:18), Sarah Hamilton 10th (22:33), Courtney Sheldon 11th (22:34) and Lynda Sebestyen 13th (23:01).

Salem coach Mike Krafchak was impressed by the Chiefs, adding his top seven times were better than a year ago when the Rocks defeated Canton.

"I figured we would be pretty good because of the way we've been coming along," he said, "but I didn't expect to whupped by them so soundly. That's a steamroller there."

The Chiefs also began the boys season Thursday with a victory, winning 16-45 over Plymouth Salem at Cass Benton Park.

As the girls did, Canton captured the top four places. Jeff Keith was first (17:53), Casey Moothart second (17:57), Matt Demey third (18:05) and Brian Crockett fourth (18:12).

Completing the Canton scoring was Ian Bedford in sixth place (18:25), Tim Czerniawski (18:18), Colin Astley (19:19) and Sanjay Sharma (19:34) filled the Nos. 9-11 places for the Chiefs.

Salem's Andy McDonald was fifth (18:14), Jared Biniecki seventh (18:40), Josh Stickney eighth (18:41), Ian Packer 12th (19:44) and Dan Hodge 13th (19:49).

"I was pleased with the way we ran," Canton coach Mike Spitz said. "It was a good first one and kinda gives us an idea where we're at."

Timely delivery: Ocelots overcome DuPage, 2-1

BY C.J. RIBAK
STAFF WRITER

The importance of Sunday's men's soccer match pitting visiting College of DuPage (from Glen Ellyn, Ill.) against Schoolcraft College wasn't the eventual outcome — a 2-1 SC win.

It was the message it delivered. The game itself meant nothing. It will make no difference in either team's pursuit of an NJCAA tournament berth; both must still come out on top in their respective regions before thinking about the national tournament.

But when a team, like SC, has collected four consecutive regional titles, and seven in the last nine years, it's difficult not to look ahead. And without question, the Ocelots are thinking beyond winning the region.

"It's not just my goal," said SC coach Van Dimitriou. "It's the whole team's goal."

Which is what made yesterday's game so important. SC, which has won the region seven times in the last nine years but has advanced past the inter-regional to the NJCAA Tournament only once, had to prove itself to a team that made that trip last year.

Indeed, DuPage won the inter-regional tournament in '92 by beating Lewis and Clark, which a day earlier had eliminated SC.

So these two teams could clash again in November.

SC's message delivered en route to the 2-1 win: Don't let up, for an instant. Not that the Ocelots were infallible. They made mistakes, surrendering goal-scoring opportunities they shouldn't have.

Problem was, DuPage didn't respond. And that was the difference.

"That's their style of play," said DuPage coach Jim Kelly. "They pressure you, which leaves openings. But you've got to capitalize on their mistakes. If you don't, it suits their style."

Another lesson the Ocelots wanted to teach: Scoring goals won't be easy. Their veteran defense — Matt Stabile at keeper, Billy Joker at sweeper, Bill Lanspeary and Tim McCarley at outside defenders, and Matt Lee at stopper — surrendered its first goal in five matches (all wins) late in the game, and that was disputable. Scott Graham's header was ruled to have crossed the goal line.

It came too late to have an impact on the outcome. SC already had its two goals, the first scored in the second minute of the second half. With the ball bouncing free deep in DuPage's end, Vince Troiano managed to center it to an unmarked Adam Carriere, who knocked it in.

The second came on a quick counterattack in the 80th minute. Tom Kuzak sent a perfect cross from the right wing to Fadi Bazzi at the far side of the net, and Bazzi punched it home.

"The importance of this game," Dimitriou said, "was pointed out by Billy Joker at the end of the game. He said, 'I'm ready to play them again, right now.'

"It gives us confidence, knowing we can beat them."

That's good. But don't get carried away. Although the win will be savored, it should be remembered that with a bit of luck, DuPage would have won. They failed to convert a penalty kick in the first half, hit the crossbar on a direct kick, and then, with a defender and Stabile both on the ground, fired wide at an open net.

In other words, SC wasn't the only message-carrier. DuPage won't go back to Chicago convinced the Ocelots have the better team.

■ SC 7, LAKELAND 0: The Ocelots second Region 12 match wasn't much different than their first (a 10-0 rout of Southern College a week earlier). Four first-half goals — two scored by Matt Lividini — made sure of that, Saturday at SC.

Bazzi and Joe Ferron also accounted for first-half goals, and McCarley had three assists. Bazzi, who had an assist in the first half, got another goal in the second, Tim Lampi assisting. Andy Cosenza, on an assist from Ferron, added a second-half goal, and Craig Hauswirth connected on a penalty kick to finish the scoring.

■ SC 1, ST. CLAIR (WINDSOR) 0: The visitors from St. Clair College of Windsor put a strong team on the field Wednesday, but SC's defense was equal to the challenge. The game's only goal came in the 25th minute, Bazzi converting a pass from Lividini.

Canton got a break just before halftime when Tony DeGiorgio intercepted a David Zietz pass at the North 33. Shankie picked up a fumbled snap and passed to Bahrou for the touchdown and a 7-3 lead with 1:36 left.

"When I threw the first pass and Tim Moritz ran 32 yards with it, that got my confidence up," Shankie said. "The more I threw the ball the greater my confidence got."

"I was pleased with the way Shankie took control and did some things on his own," Khoenle said, referring to his quick recovery on the fumble. "He had the presence of mind to pick it up, set up and throw. But then he should be doing it; he's played for three years."

Shankie took the Chiefs on another scoring drive with the second-half kickoff, connecting on three passes for 58 yards, the last going to Arnold.

Canton had just 39 yards rushing until the fourth quarter but finished with 109 and 290 in total offense. Gardner got all of his 49 (nine carries) on the last three series, and Arnold ended with 43 on eight rushes.

The Raiders (0-2) lost two fumbles and had two passes intercepted. Two turnovers led to Canton touchdowns, including a pass theft by Scott Valimont, who also recovered a fumble.

Khoenle was pleased with the play of the secondary and praised assistants Rich Barr and Bob Williams for preparing the defense. Valimont and Kevin Kovachevich filled for backs Ryan Ostach and Moritz, who were kept busy running pass patterns on offense. Brett Neienendam and Josh Lee are the other backs.

North's 183 total yards was split evenly between rushing and passing. Russel Hayes had 46 yards on 13 carries and Zietz was 4-of-15 passing for 91 yards.

"(Richard) Beal had three fabulous returns, and we didn't capitalize on one," North coach Jim O'Leary said. "We don't sustain anything; we move the ball, get a couple first downs and make a critical mistake."

"We have so many guys going both ways; you could see our tongues hanging out. We can be in a ball game early, but we just wear down. We have to try and get more kids ready to play."

Rocks

By neutralizing Shepley at line-backer and opening holes for the running attack, it was clear the heroes were Northville's offensive linemen.

"The offensive line was the key; they worked hard and created some big holes," said senior full-back Bryan Kelley, who gained 67 yards on 10 carries. He also led the defense with 10 tackles.

After stopping Salem on three plays, Hirvela booted a 25-yard field goal to culminate a 58-yard drive. Kelley's 30-yard run was the key play.

Midway through the second quarter, Northville upped its lead to 10-0 after Kelley scored on a 1-yard dive. The drive, which took 11 plays and covered 59 yards, was sparked by an 18-yard pass from Golden to Kelley and a 19-yard pass to Justin Cataldo.

The Rocks stopped Northville on three plays to begin the second half but gave the ball right back with a fumbled punt. Kersey rambled 54 yards two plays later for a 17-0 lead.

A 9-yard touchdown run by Apligan on Northville's next possession made it 24-0. Kersey set up the play with a 36-yard scamper. John Gatti finished the scoring in the third quarter on a 10-yard draw play.

"Kersey will be legitimate," said Shumacher of the sophomore tailback. "I knew he had the potential. But Bryan has been a big surprise; we didn't expect him to play so well."

When Salem got the ball back, it put together its only substantial drive of the night. Until that point, Shepley gained 1 yard on four carries and Brian Neal 1 on seven.

The Rocks put together an 18-play, 56-yard drive but failed to score. Shepley, who finished with 52 yards on 14 carries, was the workhorse. Backup quarterback Andy Coburn's fourth-down pass attempt was deflected in the end zone to preserve Northville's shutout.

This win special for Glenn, 24-19

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Two important aspects of Westland John Glenn's 24-19 football win Saturday over host Farmington Hills Harrison could be considered special.

There's the victory itself, for starters. The Rockets evened the series at 3-3 but had lost the last three times.

Glenn (2-0) was runner-up to the Hawks (1-1) in three straight Western Lakes Activities Association championship games from 1988 to 1990, two of which were played at Harrison.

"It's a huge win for us even though it's only the second week," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "We haven't done well here the last two times, and we feel fortunate to beat a team of that caliber. We knew it would be a huge test, and we worked hard for it, as did they."

Secondly, special teams played a big role in the outcome.

The Rockets capitalized on two muffed punts by Harrison, Matt Howton scored two touchdowns, including a 50-yard punt return for one, and Steve Hower kicked a 24-yard field goal.

Tailback Tariq Horne, who rushed for a game-high 89 yards on 21 carries, scored the other Glenn touchdown on a 2-yard run.

"In the big games, the kicking game is always going to be important and today it was for us," Gordon said. "We work hard on that and some weeks nothing happens for you, and other weeks you get on a roll with it."

The Hawks were ample competition, however, perhaps more than many people had expected.

Relying largely on its passing game, Harrison even outgained the Rockets 268-246 as senior quarterback Joe Pesci completed eight of 24 attempts for 215 yards.

Sophomore flanker/tailback Jason Granger scored all three Harrison touchdowns, catching passes that covered 66, 15 and 31 yards for Pesci. Granger had six receptions for 120 yards overall.

"Most of those were automatics, and Joe was calling some good ones," Harrison coach John Herrington said. "With their size, I didn't think we could pound the ball inside too much without a kid like (Scott) Gurke. We still have to work on pass protection."

"There were some encouraging things. We did a good job stopping the run, I thought our interior line played well and the passing game was good most of the time. But a couple mistakes on special teams, a breakdown on the reverse and that was the ball-game."

Harrison scored first on the opening series. Granger took a screen pass in the flat and turned it into a long TD run.

A fumble stopped Glenn's first possession deep in Harrison territory, but Howton evened the score (7-7) soon after that with his punt return.

The Hawks were forced to punt again, but a dropped snap gave Glenn the ball at the Harrison 28, leading to Hower's field goal and a 10-7 score late in the first period.

Howton put the Rockets ahead 17-7 when he ran 54 yards on a reverse. He was injured later in the half on a kickoff return and was thought to have suffered a broken collarbone.

Harrison stayed close (17-13) at halftime as Pesci hit tight end Nick Burgess over the middle for a 64-yard gain that set up Granger's second TD.

Glenn's Derek Besco blocked a punt in the third quarter, and the Rockets got the ball at the Harrison 25. A pass interference call and a 17-yard catch by Besco as he lay on the ground led to Horne's TD and a 24-13 score.

The Hawks kept it interesting and even had a chance to win at the end. Granger's third TD grab made it 24-19, but a conversion pass failed.

Harrison forced the Rockets to punt, however, and took possession at midfield with 3:13 remaining. On fourth and 3 from the 31, 230-pound junior Nick Williams, running from a one-back offense, was stopped for no gain as he ran to the short sideline.

"The defense made some big plays when we needed it," Gordon said. "They always throw the ball well. We needed to play better at times (against the pass), but we battled and hung in there at the end."

"Any time you don't make it you think you should have tried something else," said Herrington, who considered throwing another pass after two in a row failed. "We should have made the third-down play and we wouldn't have been in that situation."

Glenn quarterback Brian Morrison was 5-of-11 passing for 94 yards, and Besco had two catches for 55 yards. Granger also had 29 yards on nine carries to lead the Hawks. Pesci completed six of 13 passes for 172 yards in the first half.

Items for the Sports Roundup should be submitted by 5 p.m. Tuesday (for Thursday issue) and 5 p.m. Friday (for Monday issue).

■ PUNT, PASS, KICK

Canton Parks and Recreation Services will have its annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition at 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 25, at Griffin Community Park (Sheldon Road site). There is no fee. Registration will start at 9:15 a.m.

The top finisher in each age group advances to the regional level, and the top two receive awards. The age limits are 8 and 15. New age levels this year include 14-15. No cleats of any kind are permitted (gym shoes only). Call 397-5110 for details.

■ CHEERLEADING CLASS

A beginners cheerleading class is offered to girls ages 5 to 12 by Canton Parks and Recreation Services starting Wednesday, Sept. 22. The fee is $25 per person. There is a limit of 30 per age group.

The class meets once a week at the Canton Recreation Center, corner of Michigan Avenue and Sheldon Road. Students will learn pompon and dance routines, basic cheers and jumps.

Register at Canton Parks and Recreation, 1150 S. Canton Center Rd.

■ BASEBALL TRYOUTS

Tryouts for a Plymouth-Canton travel baseball team (ages 13 and 14) for next summer will be 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 17, at Flodin Field on Saltz Road.

Eligible players are not older than 14 through July 31. For information and registration call Bob Jones (453-2428) or Joe Rizzi (451-0848).

■ WORLD CUP HELP

The World Cup is on the horizon, and the Michigan Host Committee is searching for help.

Volunteers are needed to help stage the four opening-round matches, which will be June 18, 22, 24 and 28 at the Pontiac Silverdome. An estimated 2,000 people will be asked to help in several ways, such as language services, protocol/hospitality, press operations, transportation, accreditation, and office and clerical needs.

Those interested should call Julie Ilacqua, World Cup USA 1994-Detroit venue volunteer manager, at 456-1994, ext. 207.

After 'Cheers,' 'Frasier' begins something new in Seattle

By JOHN CROOK

Among the new shows NBC is launching this fall, few are generating as much positive word of mouth as "Frasier," the "Cheers" spin-off premiering Thursday, Sept. 16. Small surprise, then, that the last thing the cast wants to discuss is the A-word: "AfterMASH."

Like "Frasier," that 1983 comedy followed a monumentally successful series ("M*A*S*H") and featured some of the same creative forces that had kept the original show near the top of the Nielsen for a decade. While other spinoffs have been far more serious artistic disasters (remember "The Tortellis"), perhaps none has fallen as far short of expectations as "AfterMASH," which lasted barely a year.

"This is our show, this is not 'After' anything," says "Frasier" star Kelsey Grammer. "We have a new show, based on a character that's been around for a while."

to his hometown of Seattle to start a new life. Tired of his psychiatric practice, he accepts a new challenge as a radio-show therapist, assisted by Roz Doyle (Peri Gilpin). While Frasier gets his fill of neurotics over the phone lines, his private life is scarcely less cluttered with zanies and dysfunctionals.

His married brother, Niles (David Hyde Pierce from "Powers That Be"), is the chilly embodiment of their late mother's philosophy that "a handshake is as good as a hug." Martin (John Mahoney, "In the Line of Fire"), their father, is a proud ex-cop who bitterly resents the fact that a hip injury has forced him to move in with Frasier. Worst of all, for Frasier, his father brings along his best friend—Eddie, a strange little terrier who loves to sit idly and stare at Frasier. Caring for Martin while his son is at work is Daphne Moon (Jane Leeves, "Murphy Brown"), a blissfully ditzy Manchester, England, lass who confesses to being "a bit psychic."

David Lee, who wrote the pilot with co-executive producers David Angell and Peter Casey, emphasizes that "Frasier" will not be another generic workplace comedy. Generally, what we're going to deal with is the relationship between an adult child and his father.

"The thing that we think the great chuck of Americans our age are going through right now, after having children, ...is what do you do with your parents," he explains. "(The show) was going to be a workplace comedy...and we decided that had a lot of similarities to other shows. Then we became much more interested in the emotional appeal of what parents and their children go through as they get older."

Grammer himself has gone through a lot in recent months, serving as tabloid fodder with much-publicized drug and marital problems, and he professes to get a big boost from the audience's fondness for Frasier.

"I think the audience is dying to see this show. A number of people at an airport or something will come up to me and go, 'Good luck with the new show, can't wait to see it,'" he relates. "I think maybe there is a residual excitement that they're not going to lose everybody, like I'm the Methadone clinic of 'Cheers' addicts or something. I think the best thing that Frasier always carried was that he changed every year, that he was moving, always."

"It's 'After' nothing. It's the beginning of something new."

HIGHLIGHTS

Carl Weathers (left) joins the cast of "In the Heat of the Night" when the series has its second-season premiere on CBS Thursday, Sept. 16. In the story line, a racially motivated incident leads Sparta's Bill Gillespie (Carroll O'Connor) to step down as police chief in favor of Hampton Forbes (Weathers). Gillespie's law enforcement career continues, however, in his new position as sheriff of Newman County.

Weathers previously starred in the action series "Street Justice" and films including "Action Jackson."

HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 19)

Things are going to end on a positive note, and you will be heading in a new direction. Money matters will weigh heavily on your mind.

Taurus (April 20 - May 20)

You will want things to go well but may feel as though you have hit a roadblock. You will be grateful for a small gift or sum of money.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

Things are going to be better than you ever imagined. Now you will believe dreams really do come true. Someone will instigate change in your life.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

You will need to buy a special gift for a friend. You may be troubled by fears and insecurities, but it is important that you do not let them run your life.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

A family member may be ready to move on with his life. Things will seem crazy for a while, but you will be happier in the end.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

You may be troubled by upsetting news or an incident. Try not to worry so much about it; you will have an opportunity to straighten things out.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

You will consider making a major change in your life, and you should approach it honestly. Improvements will be made.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)

You will want to walk away and forget a painful relationship, but you may not be able to. Do not give up; a new beginning is on the way for you.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

A friend will call, and it will result in you making a major decision. The past will begin to fade, and you will see a bright and hopeful future.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

You will need to juggle your work and social affairs carefully. Do not ask a loved one for more commitment at this time; it may backfire on you.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

You will feel as though your whole world is tumbling down upon you. Know that good changes will come out of all this chaos.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

You may have to revise a plan or document in order to meet specific requirements. A situation will look very promising, and your goal is in sight.
