

Study Reveals School Facts

Members of the Citizens Committee for Better Schools and the Cass City Board of Education this week have been reiterating why local voters will be asked to increase the school's operating funds.

When local school electors go to the polls Saturday, Feb. 10, they will be asked to approve a measure that is designed to bring the educational program to acceptable standards . . . they will not be asked for more than any comparable district in the Thumb is receiving.

According to figures compiled by the Michigan Education Association and released in their 1961-1962 Teacher Salary Schedule Study, Cass City ranks next to last in a list of area Class B schools in regard to money spent per student.

Bad Axe is the lowest in this category, but voters there, too, are being asked for more operating millage. Cass City is the lowest in total operating millage in a list of area Class B and C schools.

For easy comparison, a chart at the bottom of this story lists some area schools, classes, operating millage, additional millage voted, amount of local tax money the school receives per pupil and debt retirement millage.

Sun, Snakes, Sickness Are Commonplace in Nigerian Bush

Each summer, many Cass City residents spend their vacations camping out. A former Cass City woman, her husband and four children, have spent the last 16 years literally camping out as missionaries in Nigeria, Africa, and it has been no vacation.

Presently staying with Cass City relatives are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reifel, United Missionary Church missionaries, and their four children. She is the former Gladys Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Chapman, rural Cass City.

The Reifels, Nigerian missionaries since 1945, arrived in Cass City December 28 for a year's furlough. Except for intermittent six-month vacations, the entire 16 years has been spent in different parts of Nigeria.

Their last station was Agara'iwa, a small village in the northwest corner of Nigeria near the neighboring country of Dahomey. The people are principally farmers and the land is comprised of low hills, similar to the Lapeer and Inlay City area.

"The climate is HOT, with capital letters," tells Mr. Reifel. "It was the start of the dry season when we left and in the hottest part of the day it was 125 degrees in the sun."

of common measles can panic a whole village.

A common malady is snake bite. Last year, over a six-month period, she treated 18 viper-bite patients, successfully. Many die, however, because they do not receive treatment in time.

Spitting cobras, capable of spitting their venom six to nine feet, are also an occupational hazard. The snakes try for the eyes, the venom causing temporary blindness which, if not treated, can cause permanent blindness. A simple application of milk to the eyes is the antidote.

Peaceful Nation
The Belgian Congo, to the south of Nigeria, is currently a hotbed of intrigue, unrest and terror because the country just received its independence and wasn't ready for it. Nigeria received its independence from Britain a year ago and the exact opposite is true.

The Reifels attribute this to the fact that there were only 16 college graduates in the Congo when independence was granted, while Nigeria can boast many college graduates. Britain also prepared Nigeria for independence by teaching native leaders to take over key positions.

Trucks Collide Near Cass City

Two trucks, one driven by a Deford man and the other driven by a Saginaw man, collided Friday afternoon, Jan. 26, at the intersection of Cemetery and Milligan Roads, a mile north of Cass City, according to a report filed by Sheriff's Deputies Larry Tomlinson and Frank Kroswek.

According to the report, the Saginaw man, John E. Tepinski, was driving a Borden Ice Cream Company truck south on Cemetery road. The other truck, a Tuscola County Road Commission truck driven by Henry J. Kock, Deford, was attempting to remove a snow bank on the west side of the intersection.

Tepinski reported that he tried to stop but could not and his truck struck Kock's truck on the left front corner. Neither driver was injured and no citations were issued.

NEW PAINT JOB—Dean Toner, Cass City Department of Public Works employee, sprays white paint on a few of Cass City's 300 faded street signs while Eldon Stoutenburg, right, another employee, paints on the letters. The men, working in their spare time and during inclement weather, estimate that approximately 75 of the signs are finished so far. (Chronicle photo)

Reapportionment To be Topic at Republican Meet

Cass City is scheduled to be the location of one of two Republican "Lincoln Day Con-Con Report" meetings to be held in the county Monday, Feb. 12, according to a report from County Chairman Leroy Schumann. The meeting will be held at the Cass City Elementary School at 8:00 p.m.

The other meeting will be held in Vassar at the same time at the Cork Pine Community Building at the Fairgrounds.

Guest speakers in Cass City will be Representative Almon Green and Con-Con delegate Shuford Kirk, with County Prosecutor James Epkamp as master of ceremonies.

"Reapportionment", currently under consideration at the Constitutional Convention, will be the main topic of discussion.

Freeland Sugden, county drain commissioner, will be in charge of the Vassar meeting with Senator Arthur Dehmel and Con-Con delegate Claude Wood as guest speakers.

After giving their initial talks in Cass City and Vassar, the Con-Con delegates will switch meetings. Both will give reports on their respective convention committees.

Tickets for the Cass City session may be purchased from Mrs. Ed Golding Sr. and from Bob Haines for the Vassar meeting.

Explain School Problem to Civic Clubs

"It's pay or do without," Jim Gross and Lester Ross, school board members, said Tuesday night while explaining the school situation at a combined meeting of the Cass City Rotary Club and the Zonta Club at the New Gordon Hotel.

The pair explained the need for the three mills and reiterated how the money would be used. All of the reasons have been discussed many times at various meetings and explained in full in articles in the Chronicle.

One facet of the problem was explained in detail. The board members explained how the state equalized valuation of the district had risen from $11,364,083 to some $15 million, yet the amount of tax money received from the state had actually decreased by $17,638.85.

This strange state of affairs is caused by a complicated method of computing state aid. In essence, the more that is paid locally, the less comes from the state. Even though local taxpayers received a healthy boost in taxes, much of the increase was taken from the school district in the form of less state aid. Instead of some $35,000 more operating funds this year, the board had about $17,000 more to work with (the amount of the school's debts going into the current school year).

To stifle rumors both board members stressed time and again that the entire board is in favor of the additional three mills for operating the school.

The combined program was arranged by Jim Bauer and A. J. Stevens. Mr. Bauer was the toastmaster for the evening.

Village Budget Creeping Up

The cost of running the village is expected to jump again in 1962 as trustees approved a budget calling for total expenditures of $122,156.66 as compared to last year's budget of $119,250.48.

Among the major expenditures slated for the year are black-topping of Hill Street (leading to Hills and Dales Hospital) and of South Seeger and $5,000 for installing storm sewers in the alleys in back of Main Street.

There will be no major expenditures for sewer extension this year, but $7,500 has been set aside to try to speed needed repair of the village's water system.

Some $14,000 owed to C. R. Miller and C. R. Hunt Construction for work completed in 1959 was wiped from the books last year and the money has been diverted to other uses in the village.

The complete budget: Village of Cass City Budget 1962

Home Sought for Exchange Student
Would you like to have a foreign student in your home next school year? The Cass City Student Exchange Council's Foreign Student Exchange committee is looking for families interested in providing a home for part of the school year for a student from another country.

According to Sherry Law, committee chairman, the foster homes would receive no pay for the student's stay. However, all clothes and extracurricular activities would be paid for out of a special fund.

The student, as yet not named, will probably be from a European country. Persons interested in applying may obtain applications by writing to the Foreign Exchange Chairman, Student Council, Cass City High School, Cass City. Applicants will then be visited to see if they qualify.

Those homes qualifying will each receive the student for a part of the school year.

The crew's biggest output has been 27 signs in one day. Before being painted, the signs were a dirty gray and the letters were almost unreadable.

Most of the work has been done by Dean Toner, Eldon Stoutenburg, Ed Anthes and Bill Schram.

Testing Zoning Rules

An application by Ray Fleenor for a 24x30 garage on his residence on Houghton Street sparked a discussion of the zoning regulations by trustees at the regular meeting of the village council Wednesday night, Jan. 24, at the Municipal Building.

The application had been approved by the planning commission with the proviso that Mr. Fleenor be instructed as to what the ordinance's definition of a garage in the residential area was.

The thought behind the phrasing was that the garage was not to be used for a business purpose.

The planning commission also recommended that Jay Sugden, who operates a business from his home, be required to take down his sign and issued a permit for temporary operation while a suitable location is being found.

The council voted to concur with both of the planning commission recommendations.

Other Plans
The planning commission has also appointed a committee to set up a code for electrical, plumbing and heating in the village. They have also appointed Village Engineer Bill Schram as building inspector.

In the future, permits will be required to be posted at all times during construction and two inspections required. One will be after footings and walls are erected and the other just before plastering work starts.

Village Street Signs Getting New Paint Job

Cass City visitors and residents will no longer have to strain their eyes to find out what street they're on, thanks to the Village Department of Public Works crew. All of the village's estimated 300 street signs are in the process of being painted.

Doing the work in their spare time and during inclement weather, the crew has completed approximately 75 of the signs. The signs are first spray-painted white and then the letters are stenciled on and painted black. It is estimated that by having the village paint the signs, instead of having it done elsewhere, considerable money will be saved.

Persons interested in applying may obtain applications by writing to the Foreign Exchange Chairman, Student Council, Cass City High School, Cass City. Applicants will then be visited to see if they qualify.

New Faces Spark Hawks to Victory

A new starting combination sparked the Cass City Red Hawks to an easy victory over the Sandusky Redskins Friday night at Cass City's gymnasium.

Up from the second team came Wally Hempton to play most of the game. Off the bench came Roger Parker at the other forward and the pair meshed well with the remaining starters to help the Hawks to victory. The score was 64-48.

But before local fans start assuming that all will be rosy, it is well to consider that it may have been just a good night for the local cagers. They shot 41 per cent from the floor and a hot night like this often can make any combination look like world beaters.

The acid test of the new combination will come Friday when Cass City entertains the league leading Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port quintet. In the opening game between the clubs Cass City was the victim of a 62-35 shellacking.

If Parker and Hempton make the grade, it should increase the bench strength of the club. With Wayne Brown and Dick Creason on the bench, Coach Irv. Clasenman will have more experienced help ready to swing into action than at any time this season.

There wasn't much to the game against the Redskins. The Hawks avenged their opening game defeat with ease.

Only in the first quarter was the game close. With the entire team sharing the scoring load, Cass City moved into a 13-10 first period advantage and was never behind.

With Larry Robinson showing the way in the second period with six points, the Hawks moved into a commanding 29-19 advantage at halftime.

Robinson continued his scoring pace in the third quarter with six more points and was joined by Casimir Lubaczewski who chipped in seven points as the Hawks bombed the nets for 17 points while holding Sandusky to 10.

In the final period, Clasenman

Girls Mourn Loss Of Physical Education Class

A lack of exercise was pointed up by two Cass City High School girls as the factor missed by most because the school has no girls' physical education program this year.

The program was dropped this year because the school's sagging budget couldn't handle the expense of a physical education teacher.

The girls, both juniors, were Sherry Law, 16, and Joanne Milljue, 16. Both were enrolled in the program during its one year of existence in Cass City last year.

Both felt it should definitely be continued on page six.

Close Games Mark City Cage Action

Close games were the rule rather than the exception in the City Cage League Thursday night at Cass City High School. Sherman's topped Mac and Leo, 52-43; Erla's edged Walbro, 34-31, and Tuckey's topped Snover, 39-32, in the weekly triple header.

Hawk Debaters Split Matches At Reese

Hawk debaters split their last Lower Thumb Debate League meet in Reese, Monday, putting them in fifth place in league standings with a 6-6 record. The Cass City squad lost to the Sandusky negative and the North Branch affirmative but topped the Lapeer and Almont teams.

The squad also split a state schedule debate with Kingston here on Tuesday, in the next to the last meet on that schedule. Next Monday, Feb. 5, the team will go to Millington for the last state schedule meet.

Saturday, Feb. 10, Cass City will meet Ruth-St. Peter and Paul at the district elimination tournament at Owendale-Gagetown.

The winners featured balanced scoring as Art Randall led the attack with 15 points. Clare Comment's brilliant scoring effort (26 points) was not enough to overcome the balanced attack of Sherman's quintet.

Walbro-Erla Erla's and Walbro played about as close as possible. In a low scoring first half the two teams were deadlocked with 15 points. At the end of three quarters Erla's was ahead 23-20. Both teams netted 11 points in the final canto and the Foodmen walked off with the victory. Kloc netted 11 points for the winners. Walbro's scoring was well divided.

Tuckey-Snover Tuckey rolled to a 23-17 first half margin and then held on in the final half to post the victory. Romain tossed in 15 points for the winners while G. Schell and K. Dorman each contributed 12 points for the losers.

Hospital Technician Tells Auxiliary of Blood Bank Needs

Hills and Dales General Hospital laboratory technician Jack Smith told members of the Hills and Dales General Hospital Auxiliary of the work of the hospital clinical lab at the Auxiliary's regular January meeting. Mrs. Almer Krueger presided over the meeting.

Smith also told the group that his department's biggest problem is replenishing the Blood Bank every two months. He stated that the hospital has used about 200 units of blood since its opening and that only through donors can a continued supply be maintained.

During the business meeting, the Auxiliary's new officers, Mrs. Don Arndt, treasurer; Mrs. George Murray, recording secretary, and Mrs. E. B. Schwaderer, corresponding secretary, officially took office.

The annual treasurer's and secretary's reports were filed by the retiring officers. The members also received reports on the annual Membership Tea, the Auxiliary's gift to the New Year's baby, the fruit cake sale and other projects.

Plans were made for the group's sponsorship of the Cookie Tree, created by Mrs. Louise LaGorce, Washington, D.C. The tree will be on display at the school on February 23-25. Mrs. LaGorce, the mother of Mrs. H. O. Paul, Cass City, designs the cookies and the tree has been nationally and internationally shown.

Mrs. Richard Palm, wife of the hospital's new administrator, was introduced and it was announced that Mr. Palm would be a guest at the next monthly meeting, Monday, Feb. 26.

Official to Meet With Local Students

Larry Gargilio, a member of Central Michigan University's Teacher Education Project, will visit Cass City High School Friday (tomorrow) to meet with students to encourage them to consider teaching as a career.

The project, supported jointly by the University and the Ford Foundation, offers two teacher education programs on an experimental basis.

One of the purposes of the project, however, is to attract good students into the teaching profession regardless of where they attend college.

Students interested will be notified of the time and place for the meetings, according to Superintendent Willis Campbell.

BULEN TALKS Cars

THE USED CAR SEASON Every motorist who has had to have his car thawed out after a Winter storm, ice and snow washed off and the car dried before taking it into the cold again, knows what an expensive and tiresome job it can be. Now do the same thing for anywhere from 10 to 50 cars or more one at a time - and you have an idea of just one of the special problems car dealers face in Winter.

It normally costs $3.00 per day to a dealer to keep a used car on his lot counting lot upkeep, depreciation, washing, license fees, etc. In winter, battery recharges, anti-freeze, more frequent washing and starting problems add another $2.20 per day, making a total of $5.20.

Depreciation isn't too important in Winter because it levels off in late November and doesn't drop significantly until Spring. This is essentially a customer benefit since depreciation loss is the biggest single item of owner expense.

A used car bought now will lose little, if any value, in the next three months.

During all seasons, Buleen Motors sells quality used cars at what we believe to be the lowest possible net price anywhere. But we would frankly prefer to pare those prices and keep our inventory down in preference to spending money on snow removal and battery recharges.

This is the season to buy a good used car. If you buy it from us you can be sure it has been reliably reconditioned to give you the satisfaction it is your right to expect.

1962 LICENSE. Bring them in. We'll gladly put them on for you without charge.

USED PICKUPS. Four. Nice ones... on hand. Beat the Spring Rush and get yours now. When...the...sun...comes out, they'll be LONG GONE.

Watching Logs Roll In The Back Yard? Remember Cows

Seventy-three years ago, a small five-year-old boy named Burt was enjoying a buggy ride with his mother. They were returning to Cass City and stopped on the bridge south of town to watch the logs being rolled down the river. Lumbering, though on its way out, was still thriving and it was exciting to watch the logs tumbling and rolling down the stream.

Burt Elliott especially remembers hearing his mother say to the horse, after those pleasurable idle moments on the bridge, "Well, Major, we've got to make up for lost time." Nearly everything is done by machinery these days and such a view as Burt Elliott enjoyed is most rare. Only in the northernmost woods might one see such a sight as this one from the pages of our past.

Material for the history may be mailed to "Pages From The Past", Box 400, Cass City, or may be left at the bank. All items will be carefully handled, and returned if you wish them.

An Early Settler Walks Here

An early settler in the Cass City area was Henry S. Wickware who came to Tuscola County from Ontario, Canada. He came to Cass City in 1869, walking here from Vassar with Sheldon Y. Kenyon, who later married Mr. Wickware's sister.

According to Mr. Wickware, those were the days when lumbering was a big industry here and Cass City's Fourth of July celebration was held in a grove on the land now occupied by the Pinney State Bank and the Crosby Block.

The photograph was taken about 1912. Imagine, if you can, how it must have appeared nearly fifty years before that date with a grove of trees replacing the buildings. That there have been a great many changes in the last fifty years is clearly evident, too.

For instance, note the street light. It was necessary, at that time, for the town to hire a maintenance man to go around when necessary to replace the carbon rods in the electric lamps. Young lads followed the man to beg the old rods from him - there usually remained a little of the rod left and the carbon made it usable for writing.

To coin a trite phrase: "Time certainly changes things."

rect arrangements with some close neighbor to purchase their daily milk supply. From that, it was merely one step further for a more enterprising producer to undertake deliveries on a small "route." Perhaps the first to enter the field of milk delivery in Cass City was Charles Seed, son of the pioneer Hugh Seed, who lived atop the hill just north of our school. He would proceed along the streets in his enclosed buggy, ringing a bell to announce his coming, and then dishing out milk from a large can to those householders who appeared with receptacles in which to take it. In those days, milk was not pasteurized, but certainly no one could complain about its freshness.

Who were the cowboys who conducted this business? We have been informed that the late John W. Ball was one of the first to respond to the opportunity and that Ashton Tindale, Ernest Reagh and Ira Parker were among others of his colleagues. We also know that it would be hard to tabulate the names of all the young men of our town who were similarly employed thereafter, at least for short times.

Some other interesting sidelights were turned up. For instance, most families who did not have their own cow made dis-

'61 License Sales Up 537 Units

Tuscola County motor vehicle registrations for 1961 rose to 24,947, 537 units above the 24,410 registered in 1960.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, the 24,947 Tuscola registrations included 15,591 passenger cars, 2,788 commercial, 1,558 farm vehicles, 4,098 trailers, 306 trailer coaches, 303 motorcycles and 303 municipally owned vehicles.

In reviewing the State Department's year-end statistics, Hare said, "We have tallied up the number of motor vehicles we licensed during the 1961 tab year and came up with a total of 3,758,010, which is only 68,242 more than the 3,689,768 we licensed in 1960."

Hare pointed out that 2,923,373 passenger cars were registered, up 44,148 above the 1960 total of 2,879,225. Farm vehicles increased by only 200 vehicles to 37,815.

"Boat trailers and other personally owned units probably had much to do with the increase in trailer registrations," Hare pointed out. In 1961 385,750 were registered compared to 1960's 322,512 registrations.

Also included in the total registrations were 26,524 trailer coaches, 27,662 motorcycles, 366,609 commercial vehicles, and 40,277 municipals.

WANDERING WITH WARREN

Cheer Up! March Could Be Nice

By Ilene Warren

One down and two to go. What am I writing about? The winter months, of course! And, if we're lucky, we may get some fine weather in March. So chin up, my shivering friends, spring's not too far hence!

Poor short-changed February; victim of the vanity of men, Caesar took one of this month's days to lengthen July, the month named for him. Later, when Augustus named the eighth month for himself, another day was taken from February so that his month, August, might be equal to Caesar's. In order to make things even, it was finally decided to give February an extra day every four years and thus the leap year came into being.

was searching! A couple of cardinals must make their home in the cedars near the river east of Cass City. Several mornings, driving to work, I have seen them flutter from the edge of the highway to dip gracefully up and away into the shelter of the trees.

Seldom do I see a lazy snowfall with those big, fluffy flakes gently drifting down without remembering a poem by James Russell Lowell that begins: "The snow had begun in the gloaming and busily through the night had been heaping field and highway with a silence deep and white." The rest of the words escape my recollection but I remember it as a rather sad poem with a father's kiss not being for the little girl to whom it was given. However, be that as it may, I still think of the lovely lines of Lowell's poem whenever I see snowflakes lazily and easily falling down to caressingly cover the earth like a mother wrapping a white, woolly blanket around her child.

I "wandered" up to Harbor Beach last Thursday where I participated in a dedication service which the officers of the RLDS Women's Department of that town were installed.

Using the words from various hymns, the service was titled "Promises in Poetry." I enjoyed working it out - even though it did mean a few late hours as I searched a couple of hymnbooks for just the right words that were needed.

Last Friday, as I trudged up-town on my way to have lunch with the drizzling rain blurring my eyeglasses and my feet searching out the more secure footholds on the rain-washed ice, I appreciated afresh Kraft's comments in last week's Chronicle concerning his battle with icy sidewalks. Fortunately, I remained upright so that is was unnecessary to surreptitiously scan the horizon for mirth-filled eyes twinkling in appreciation of my ungainly sprawl!

It is funny, you know, to see someone do a dance on ice sans skates! You know you shouldn't laugh and you know it's dangerous but there's something about the impromptu jig that tickles your risibilities. I don't think there's any cruelty involved, either.

On the day of the first ice storm, about the fifth of January, we were in Caro and my husband had to go to the corner grocery. My sister, whom we were visiting, lives west of the standpipe and Ron had to climb a hill to get to the store. I was fearful for his safety but, at the same time, I had to laugh as I watched his slow ascent of up-one-step, slide-back-two! However, with flailing arms and perseverance he made the store. The return trip was much, much easier!

So if you find yourself laughing at someone (even if it's me - heaven forbid!) doing an unintentional "twist" on the ice don't berate yourself for hidden capacities for cruelty! However, if you still feel guilty - just get out with the salt before anyone has a chance to do a dance!

Love may make the world go round, but it prevents the income from going more than half-way.

MISSIONARIES

Concluded from page one. back home for six weeks and then it's back to school.

Presently, they travel to and from school via pickup truck. When they started, it was by airplane, but an increase in children and better roads make a pickup more practical.

Apples are apparently unheard of in Agara'wa and if the old cliché about an apple a day is true, the Reifels children should be very healthy. According to their mother, they have polished off a bushel in the past week.

Plan to Return

A missionary's life, at best, cannot be called an easy one and life in northwestern Nigeria is not the best. Still, the Reifels plan to return when their furlough is over.

Ignorance, poverty and tribal custom make an already hard job even harder, but through their efforts and the efforts of people like them, Nigeria and other less progressive countries will continue to make small but significant advances.

Couple to Celebrate 41st Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Audley DesJardins, Marlette, will celebrate their 41st wedding anniversary Monday, Feb. 12. An open house will be held in their honor at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cargill, Kingston, on Sunday, Feb. 11, from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Mr. DesJardins was born in Bingham township, Tyre, and the family moved to the northern part of Michigan when he was five years old. After his discharge from the Army, he made his home in Bad Axe.

Following their marriage on February 12, 1921, the DesJardins moved to Alpena until 1935 when they moved to their present home north of Marlette. He was employed for a number of years by the E. B. Schwaderer Construction Company, Cass City, and is presently employed by the Marlette Coach Company, Marlette.

Mrs. DesJardins, the former Lillian Thompson, was born in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and came to Michigan as a small child. They were attended by Howard Mills and the late Elsie DesJardins at their wedding.

The DesJardinses have four sons, John, Columbiaville; Rex, with the Air Force in Florida; Richard, Marlette, and Paul, at home, and three daughters Mrs. Frank (Echel) Cargill and Mrs. Kenneth (Lois) Snover, both of Kingston, and Nancy, a student at Bethel College, Mishawaka, Indiana. A son, Howard, died four years ago and another son died in infancy. The couple have 13 grandchildren.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Concluded from page one. be a part of the school's curriculum.

"Some girls, particularly those in town, don't get any exercise at all," Josanne explained.

Sherry Fugher pointed out the necessity for the program by stating, "More exercise means better health and more active minds."

The program offers such sports as basketball, volleyball, softball and soccer. Besides exercise, the girls learned the fundamentals of the games so they knew what it was all about when they saw them as spectators.

Both girls missed the Girls' Athletic Association, an organization formed out of the girls' physical education program. The association held regular meetings and elected officers. At once-a-week meetings, the girls played their regular sports or could practice tumbling.

The instructor last year was Mrs. Donald Mance. She also acted as sponsor for the G.A.A.

Bathtub Reading Has Good Points

By Dave Kraft

I'm seriously considering the starting of a new brotherhood. I plan to call it the BOBR (Brotherhood of Bathtub Readers). The membership will be known as "Bobbers." It'll offer a whole new world of social and educational development.

There's much to be said for bathtub reading. I've been a bathtub reader ever since I learned to hold a comic book in my soapy little fingers, so I can speak from experience.

The whole thing has gotten out of hand in my case. It has reached a point where it is difficult for me to read if I'm not in a bathtub. I've solved this by merely climbing into the tub fully dressed. I think it is a matter of position and conditioned reflex.

The average bathtub is designed for comfortable, relaxing bathing. It therefore offers a wonderful reading position, with the arms resting on the rim of the tub, reading material at eye-level and the back fitting the contour of the tub.

This is only true if the tub affords ample stretching room. In our apartment, the tub fits me like a shrunken sweater. It is so small that I can wash the back of my neck and my knees at the same time. After about 15 or 20 minutes of this, I look like a poor man's Hunchback of Notre Dame.

Bathtub reading fully dressed affords a certain amount of assured privacy. Few, but the bravest souls will invade the privacy of a closed bathroom door, uninvited.

If they should be foolhardy enough to enter, one look at you sitting in the bathtub, fully dressed and book in hand, should be enough to prevent any further invasions or further social contact, for that matter.

My wife is quite understanding about the whole thing. The first time she found me so engaged, she stood there with her mouth open for a second, let out a "hysterical" little laugh and slowly closed the door.

This was shortly after we were married and everything was fine until she mentioned the incident to her parents. There was some pretty serious talk about an annulment for a while and something about not wanting a nut in the family, until I explained things.

Back to the brotherhood. If you have an uncontrollable desire to become a "bobber", membership is voluntary. All you need is a bathtub and a book and you have my permission. No shower users allowed.

Before things get too ridiculous, I'd like to thank all those who either called or commented personally about last week's column. I was surprised and overjoyed that it was so well received.

Things are looking up. I fell down just once this week and that was only into a snowbank in front of the post office. Fortunately, no one was around.

I've taken the advice of Fritz Neitzel, so if you see someone walking around scattering sand in front of him from a little bucket, pay no attention.

Several Important Issues Facing 1962 Legislature

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Economic Development, mental health, education and revenues line up as the spotlight-holding issues in both the 1962 political football game and the action agenda for the current legislative session.

Each was the subject of a major message to the Legislature by Gov. John B. Swainson and each was emphasized in programs he sponsored since the 1961 session. The answers to problems in the first three areas are, of course, heavily dependent on the fourth.

Members of both parties agree on the problems in each area, but their solutions are far apart.

Improvement of the business climate through revision of statutes for economic development is a problem which separates the parties at a level considered the basis of their respective principles.

Republicans are convinced that workmen's compensation, laws and court decisions on this subject, as well as the tax structure, are the foundation of problems in Michigan's business climate. Democrats contend out-of-state businessmen have not been told enough about the opportunities here and are therefore wary of certain tax laws.

Swainson has recommended expansion of the budget for promotion by the economic development department, a state magazine similar to "Arizona Highways," a council of economic advisors and a Washington office for the department.

Republicans say he missed the point. He should approve their recommendations for changes in the unemployment compensation law, which he vetoed last year. They also would like him to okay extensive revisions in the workmen's compensation law. There is little likelihood either side will veer from its strongly established position on economic development.

The Governor's conferences on mental health last year gave GOP legislators warning of his increased emphasis on this area of government so they were ready for a substantially increased budget request.

Before Swainson had a chance to recommend his multi-million dollar capital outlay program for mental health and a $601,000 deficit appropriation for the current fiscal year, GOP leaders blasted the department for not spending money they were given previously.

Charles Wagg, mental health director, said much of the $1.4 million in appropriations allowed to lapse was earmarked for specific purposes. This far from satisfied his critics.

The lapsed funds and Swainson's charge that it was time Republican legislators boosted Michigan's mental health facilities "up to the 20th Century" brought new retorts.

"What the Legislature needs is not criticism by the executive office in its attempts to improve the situation, but sympathetic and cooperative support for the programs which will strengthen our mental health program and better the administration thereof," said Rep. Arnell Engstrom, Traverse City Republican who heads the House Ways and Means Committee.

On education, the sides appear close toward agreement that additional funds may be necessary to do the job that needs to be done.

A bi-partisan committee of the Senate, headed by Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, has recommended a $150 million (m) capital outlay program during the next six years for higher education construction.

Members of both parties also basically support the need for expansion of the community college system and an increase in the state aid formula.

Agreement on this area of concern was gleaned from numerous studies which indicated the enormous need for new educational facilities.

Facts supporting the needs included the entry each year of some 50,000 children in public schools, a live birth rate of about 200,000 each year, and sharp annual increases each year in the number of applicants for post-high school work.

Revenues and the budgeting hold the key to what can or will be done in nearly every area of government.

Swainson's messages to the Legislature called for a record budget.

Republicans appeared more willing to add revenue sources this year than in the several preceding years, but they will still justifiably demand new economies and tight control over expenditures.

Research May Help in Use of Modern Fertilizer

Michigan State University scientists have conducted some research that may help pave the way to more efficient use of modern high-analysis fertilizers on small grain.

Conventional grain drills place fertilizer in contact with grain. When higher grades are used, fertilizer concentrations around the seed cause germination and plant emergence problems.

MSU agricultural engineer C. M. Hansen, soil scientist L. S. Robertson and U.S.D.A. scientists found they got best results with band applications beside and below the seed.

The researchers also found that row spacing also helps determine plant nutrient use. They tried four row spacings — seven, nine, eleven and fourteen inches.

In both wheat and oat plots, the 14-inch spacing gave lowest yields. This was true at all yield levels.

In fields where oats yielded no more than 100 bushels per acre or wheat yielded no more than 60 bushels, the seven, nine and eleven inch spacings gave roughly equal results.

Where oat yields exceeded 100 bushels and wheat went over 60 bushels, the seven-inch spacing proved more effective than nine or eleven inches.

Dear Editor:

Just wanted to comment on your newest column, "Comments by Kraft." I got a big kick out of Dave's snow-walking experiences and hope that we'll be hearing more from Dave. Congratulations, also on the beautiful new look of your newspaper since eliminating column rules. It has a clean, snappy look and is a paper which your fellow journalists at Caro look forward to reading each week.

Cass City Chronicle,
Cass City, Mich.
Dear Mr. Editor,
Greetings from Florida.

I have two purposes in writing. The first is to say I greatly appreciate the "Pages from the Past" and look forward each week to see what will come next. The second is to sort of set the record straight and tell the home folks not to feel sorry for us because we are "having it so cold." One letter said according to the weather forecast you must be freezing up down there.

About the first of the year the Port Huron paper said that Florida's tourist traffic had come to a grinding halt and a great exodus to the north was taking place. That sounds like Chamber of Commerce propaganda. True there were thousands going north at that time. There always are but they were only the holiday visitors going back to work or school. Our trailer park is considered a small one with 59 trailers and we had 15 such people here for the holidays. Multiply that by the many thousands of parks and add those who stay in motels and let them all leave in one week over four or five main roads and to a casual observer it would look like an exodus. Not one left our park because of the cold. It would be jumping out of the frying pan into the fire only in reverse. On the other hand we have had 14 new ones come to stay for weeks or months and numbers of trailers have been turned away for lack of room.

True we had it cooler over the holidays and I feel sorry for those who came at that time to spend only a few days but we had frost here only three nights. One was hard enough to nip but not kill the geraniums which were not covered but bur pansies and petunias kept right on blooming.

A letter I had today said it was minus 20 one morning in Mich. which was 50 degrees lower than our coldest so don't feel sorry for us. One letter said we were missing a lot of beautiful mornings with the ice and snow covering things. I know just what they mean. We stayed home three years ago for 26 days of zero and nine weeks of icy roads. I took some beautiful slides and have them with me. So anytime I get homesick for the sight of snow or ice I'll just put them on the screen and then be thankful we are privileged to be here.

To be sure I like Michigan. It is my home state and I wouldn't want to miss the coming of Spring or the glories of Autumn but when blizzards howl or freezing drizzle covers the highways I have learned to appreciate Sunny Florida.

Our fuel bill for over eight weeks is $2.50.

Perhaps it isn't allowed but it would be nice if the Chronicle could publish the addresses of all the Chronicles being sent to Fla. Yours from Fla. till the birds return,

New Petite Hearing Aid At McConkey's

A miniature hearing aid weighing only 1/16th of an ounce with battery, the "Cameo," was introduced today by Zenith Radio Corporation. Announcement of the new device was made by Eugene M. Kinney, Zenith vice president and general manager of its Hearing Aid Division.

"Although this advanced instrument is truly the hearing aid of tomorrow," Kinney said, "it is available to the hard of hearing now, and will appeal to everyone seeking top performance and wearing convenience." "The smallest hearing aid yet produced by Zenith, the Cameo uses a special battery no bigger than a child's aspirin tablet," Kinney added. "In spite of its tiny size, the performance of the new Cameo is equivalent to many larger hearing aids." "Most professionals in the field of sound feel an instrument should offer at least 30 decibels of gain (or amplification) to qualify as a hearing aid," Kinney stated. "The Zenith Cameo has a peak gain of 48 decibels and more than covers the frequencies basic to the understanding of everyday speech." The Cameo is particularly recommended for sensory-neural hearing losses characterized by declining sensitivity in the high frequencies, the announcement said. Other "tonal balances" are possible through the use of special adjustments enabling the instrument to help individuals with poor tolerance for high frequency amplification. Designed to be worn by either men or women, the Cameo is flesh-toned in color and offers a new inconspicuousness, completely eliminating dangling cords or plastic tubing, Kinney said. Though minute in size, the aid offers an off-on control and continuous volume control with finger-tip adjustment, enabling the wearer to adjust loudness to the required level. The Cameo is the fifth new hearing aid model to be introduced by Zenith Radio Corporation during the last 12 months. It brings to 14 the number of hearing aids manufactured by this firm. Suggested retail price for the Cameo is $285.00. Suggested retail prices for other Zenith instruments range from $50 to $570. (Adv.)

I have begun the second series of Advanced Clothing Construction Workshops. This one is being held in the Warner United Methodist Church basement.

A new year's resolution that we all should consider is that we do a better job of understanding the food marketing system. This may not sound very useful when you first look at it, but consider for a minute just how much money you spend on yearly food bills. For most families, the food budget takes 20 per cent to 25 per cent of the income after taxes. Is it possible that you could spend the food money more carefully if you had a better understanding of the marketing system that brings the food from your farmer?

Let's look at our present meat supplies. The total meat supplies for the first few months of 1935 will be about the same as they were a year ago. First, of all, that is your assurance that meat supplies are large enough to take care of your family's wants and needs. And, since meat supplies are ample to take care of the need, it means that your meat shopping at the past holiday day time had the usual food shops brought meats for dry heat roasting, such as turkey, chicken, ham and beef ribs, roast, etc. These meats, per pound and in total, probably cost more than you usually spend. So after the holidays, retailers know that you are interested in lower cost meat cuts. What happens? Along with venison and cold cuts, you may find that retailers make a special effort to market cuts whose cost is lower. This calls your attention to meat cuts whose cost is lower than yours. You may find that retailers make a special effort to market cuts whose cost is lower than yours.
