

Sale Bargains Galore

Cass City merchants are starting summer with a bang as they present a "Summer Carnival of Values", town-wide sale sponsored by the retail division of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

In the first joint sales venture in several months, area shoppers will be offered a variety of wanted merchandise at special prices. Nearly every store has a sale.

This week end will be a good time to check local car dealers for exceptional values in new and used cars. There are specials on clothing, paints, housewares, beauty aids, gas, gifts, groceries, meats, furniture and nearly any other item that is on the housewives' list. These stores have advertised special values for the event:

- Sommers' Bakery
- Kritzmann's Inc.
- Cass City Oil and Gas
- Ben Franklin Store
- Fuelgas Co. of Cass City
- Wood Rexall Drugs
- Farm Produce Co.
- Croft-Clara Lumber, Inc.
- Foodtown IGA
- Federated Store
- Erla Food Center
- Gross and Maier
- Gambles
- Freiburger Grocery
- Hunter's 5c to 1c
- Mac & Scotty Drug Store
- Jim's Fruit Market
- Bulen Motors
- Rabideau Motor Sales
- Auten Motor Sales

Two Area Youths Injured in Fight

Two Cass City area youths were injured Tuesday, June 12, when they and three companions were reportedly involved in a fight with six or seven Mexican youths on Cemetery Road, according to Bad Axe State Police.

Injured were James Kish, 21, Deford, and Edward Mark, 18, Gageton. Kish reportedly sustained a skull fracture and multiple cuts and was released from Cass City Hospital following treatment. Mark received bruises on the left hip and ribs.

Investigation into the incident by State Police failed to turn up any trace of the Mexican youths or their car.

In the group with Kish and Mark were Norman Lyman, 20, and David Ashmore, 17, both of Cass City, and Robert Gage, 18, Deford.

They told investigating officers that they were driving on Cemetery Road, north of Cass City, when they thought they recognized the car of a friend. The group reported that after pulling alongside, they realized their mistake but that the occupants of the second car began throwing beer bottles at them.

Both cars then stopped and, according to the Cass City group, the Mexican youths emerged from their car carrying beer bottles, a bumper jack and knives.

The Mexican youths reportedly broke the windshield and rear window of Lyman's car and left Kish lying on the ground as they returned to their car and fled.

Let Road Work In Tuscola and Huron Counties

The State Highway Department reported June 13 that bids have been accepted for the repair and paving of roads in Tuscola and Huron counties.

Two miles of Bevans Road west from a point one mile west of Hemans in Tuscola County will be paved. The date of completion is November 1 and the cost is $18,868.

In Huron county, M-25 will be repaired north from Sebawaing by August 1 at a cost of $18,876. The 20-foot roadway on M-25 north from Caseville will be widened to 24-feet and paved by October 31 for $351,898. The road will also be modernized.

The department reported that low bids totaling $25,856,444 were submitted June 13 on 46 highway construction projects in the state - the largest letting of 1962. The projects are more than 25 miles of freeways, 48 bridges and more than 125 miles of other highways in 29 Upper and Lower Peninsula counties.

OLD WORLD RODENT is the definition assigned to the tiny and amiable hamster by Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary. Rodent or not, the hamster is a favorite pet with young and old. Cass City's main hamster source is the Yedinak family, soon to leave the village. Here, Dorothy and Mike Yedinak and Kathy McCullough watch a mother hamster (climbing out of pan) and her three young devour some prepared hamster feed.

Hamster, Old World Rodent, Is Popular New World Pet

One of Cass City's most "productive" businesses will soon be up for grabs and unless the lucky person who takes it over knows what he's doing, he's liable to get more than he bargained for.

When Coach Mike Yedinak and his family leave Cass City they may be taking with them the village's only source to the hamster market, unless some enterprising person puts in a bid for the job.

The Yedinaks started hamster raising about a year ago, according to Mrs. Yedinak, using breeders supplied by her sister, Mrs. Doris Spencer, Flint. Since then the business has developed into a "family project."

Their main, if not sole, market is Prieskorn's Ben Franklin Store, Cass City, which in turn sells the animals to area children and adults as pets.

According to Webster, the hamster is "any of several thick-bodied, short-tailed Old World rodents (of Cricetus and allied genera) having very large cheek pouches."

Whoever takes over the business will not have to worry about keeping up with the demand.

Hamsters start mating at about three weeks of age. Following a 16-day gestation period, they give birth to an average of 10 young, with a maximum birth rate of 22 young. As soon as the young mature, in about three weeks, the female can mate again. The young are about a half inch long, hairless and blind.

Hamsters come in a variety of colors, ranging from chestnut brown to spotted to pale gold.

The Yedinaks are attempting to crossbreed a gold and a brown to obtain spotted varieties. The problem facing them is that quite often the offspring of such a union are sterile, bringing the process to a "squeaking" halt.

The pale gold hamster is the product of third generation cross-breeding and are harder to obtain. It has the same coloring as the palomino horse.

Hamsters are favorite pets because they have almost no odor and except for the hungry squeakings of the young, make no noise.

Hamsters usually live about two years, according to Mrs. Yedinak. Only two things are a real threat to the hamster.

"Several damp days can kill them," she says. "They can't drink out of pans because they won't do it and they just can't tolerate being wet so they die."

Because of this, they drink their water from metal capped bottles attached to the side of their cages.

The other threat to the hamster's longevity is the fact that they are the natural enemies of no other animal and almost every other animal is a natural enemy to the hamster, if they so desire.

"Nice, even though they are smaller, will kill them," explains Mrs. Yedinak.

The Yedinaks feed their hamsters a ready-made hamster food mix comprised of sunflower seeds, rabbit pellets, corn and wheat. Bedding usually consists of cedar shavings. Energetic animals, the hamsters spend much of their waking hours on exercise wheels.

As a mother, the hamster leaves a little bit to be desired. If extremely excited or frightened, they have been known to kill their young and eat them.

She is not a particularly good wife either. Following the breeding process, she kicks the male out of the nest. Some become so indignant that they have been known to kill the male.

Hamsters are particularly noted for the capacity of their food pouches. During the interview,

Mrs. Yedinak cut a three-inch carrot into pieces. Mama hamster crammed the whole thing into her pouch, giving her the appearance of someone with an advanced case of mumps.

Aiding Mrs. Yedinak are her five children, Marty, 16, Diane, 14, Donna, 11, Dorothy, 10, and Mike, 7.

The hamster business is just chuck-full of little surprises. Kathy McCullough, one of Dorothy's friends, purchased a young Yedinak-raised hamster from the local variety store.

At the time of purchase, there was some question about the sex of the pet. A few weeks later there was little doubt when the animal gave birth to 11 young.

Raising hamsters for fun and profit is raising hamsters mostly for fun, according to Mrs. Yedinak. When asked how much she had made on the year-old project, she laughed and said, "nothing."

Lions Official Installs Cass City Club Officers

Cass City Lions Club officers for the coming year were installed Monday night at Martin's Restaurant by Herb Kern, Richville, assistant deputy governor of Lions District 11-D.

During the installation, Kern pointed out the importance of cooperation between the members and officers. He compared the club to different sports, stressing teamwork.

Installed were B. A. Calka, president; Paul O'Harris, first vice-president; Pete Rienstra, second vice-president; Harold Jansen, third vice-president; Charles Newas, secretary, and Al Freiburger, treasurer.

Also installed were Harry Little, Tail Twister; Lloyd Bryant, Lion Tamer, and Bill Hunter and Alden Asher, both directors. The next meeting will be Monday, July 2.

Swimming Lesson Schedule Told

A "Parade On Wheels" Thursday, June 28, is slated to be the first major event of the six-week Recreation Program scheduled to begin Monday, according to Mrs. Richard Case, program director.

During the first week, children will be allowed to work on their various vehicles, attend craft classes or play games.

A swimming schedule has been set up and parents are asked to save it for further reference.

Free lessons will be given on Tuesday and Thursday, weather permitting. Lesson hours and categories are:

25 Seeking County Offices

Twenty-five persons, seeking places on the August 7 Primary Election ballot, have filed petitions with County Clerk Archie Hicks. Deadline for the petitions was 4:00 p.m. Tuesday.

Heaviest filing was for the county coroner and sheriff posts, with six seeking the coroner seat and five filing for the sheriff position.

The August primary will decide whose names will appear on the November 6 General Election ballot.

Announce Sale of Little's Furniture To Ed Cantile

Announcement was made this week of the sale of Little's Furniture to Ed Cantile of Pontiac. The transaction was completed Saturday.

Mr. Cantile brings to the community a wide experience in the retail furniture business. For 25 years he worked with Peoples Outfitting Co. in Detroit, first as a furniture buyer and then as the merchandising manager of the home furnishing department.

Mr. Cantile said that he purchased the store because he was tired of the "constant pressures of city life."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cantile are products of small towns. He was born in Mancelona and spent his youth in Petoskey, while his wife was born and reared in a small town in the West.

The new owner says he plans to greatly expand the company's furniture lines and handle "quality furniture guaranteed to satisfy."

Club Purchases Equipment for Village Playground

A double-castle set of climbing bars and monkey bars, purchased with proceeds from the Junior Woman's Club birthday calendar sales, were recently installed at the Cass City Park playground, according to Mrs. June Ayres, immediate past president.

The set, installed at the extreme right of the playground, cost approximately $300.00. The club also purchased a bicycle rack which is slated to be installed near the swimming pool.

On other club fronts, the group will hold a summer social meeting tonight (Thursday) at the home of Mrs. Don Erla. Anyone wishing to join the club may attend the meeting if accompanied by a member.

Parents to See Vacation Church School Projects

Parents will have the opportunity to see the work their youngsters have been doing during the vacation church school at a special parents' program tonight (Thursday) in the Methodist Church, at 7:30 p. m.

The kindergarten, primary and junior departments will present separate, specially planned programs. There will also be a display of the activities the children worked on during the two-week school.

A representative of the Migrant Mission will be present to accept the toys, clothing and offering received at the Church School for the Migrant Mission Work in Tuscola County.

Children are to be at the church at 7 p. m. Parents and friends are invited.

Charter Night For Jaycees

Cass City's Jaycees will be chartered Tuesday night, June 26, at a banquet slated at 7 p. m. at the Cass City High School Auditorium.

Bill Pressprich of Saginaw, president of the Michigan Jaycees, will be the guest speaker. Tickets for the event are available to the general public.

The local crowd is expected to be swelled by Jaycee members from surrounding communities. President Don Kaufman says that 29 letters have been sent to area chapters and the response indicates that at least 50 or 60 visitors will attend.

Deadline for registration for the primary is Monday, July 9.

McNeil Fractures Leg in Accident Near Deckerville

A 16-year-old Cass City boy is recovering from an operation Monday to set two fractures to his right leg, suffered when a homemade go-cart he was driving was struck by a car near Deckerville, Thursday evening, June 14.

Injured was Richard McNeil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McNeil, 6318 Houghton. The accident took place at the intersection of Maple Grove and Richmondville Roads, near Deckerville.

Steel pins were inserted in the youth's leg by doctors at Port Huron Hospital where he was taken for treatment after the accident.

According to a report, he was to receive a blood transfusion Tuesday. He is expected to be released from the hospital this week end.

According to Sanilac County Sheriff Quincy Hoffman, the driver of the car, Harry Hooper, 48, Palms, reported that he did not see the cart until the moment of impact. Hooper told investigating officers that he heard a motor noise but thought it was an airplane.

The sheriff's report stated that Hooper was driving north at about 35 miles an hour and that the go-cart turned left off Richmondville Road in front of him.

His mother is staying with relatives in Port Huron during his stay in the hospital.

THE BARREL went 'round and 'round and Charles Hughes picked the first winner in the Chamber of Commerce's free drawing Friday night. Kenneth Eisinger handled the tickets and Charles Hughes did the drawing.

THE FOURTH draw produced the winner, Elmer Mauer of Cass City, route one, who is congratulated by Dick Erla, Chamber president. Names selected but not present were Ronald Powell, Mrs. Sanford Powell and Beverly Vahovick.

After the drawing, a dance was held. The free program continues this Friday night. The drawing will be held at 9:30 p.m. and a dance with live music will follow. Tom Jones and his 5-piece orchestra will provide the entertainment. Local persons playing besides Jones are Chuck Iseler, Roger Parrish, Mick Pomeroy and Bill Dobbs.

Caro Man to Pay $780 on Forgery Charge

A Caro man was placed on probation and ordered to pay fines, costs and restitution amounting to $780.00 when arraigned before Circuit Court Judge Timothy Quinn on a forgery charge during a court session Wednesday, June 13, in Caro.

Lyle Decker Jr., Caro, was sentenced to a year's probation and ordered to pay a fine of $580.00, costs of $100.00 and restitution of $100.00.

Decker forged a $50.00 check on a Mayville bank in Vassar on April 24. He was ordered to pay his fines at a rate of $65.00 per month. If he does not violate his probation, $480 of the money will be returned.

In other court news, three men entered pleas of guilty to various charges and Judge Quinn ordered presentencing investigations for all three.

Jules Reynaert, Flint, charged with unlawful driving away of an automobile, had his sentencing date set for June 27. He allegedly took a car belonging to James H. Kolb, Vassar, on June 11 in Arabela township.

Gerald Hile, charged with the breaking and entering of the Hanson Hardware, Caro, on May 28, was ordered to appear for sentencing on July 5. His bond of $1,000 was ordered continued.

A presentencing investigation was also ordered in the alleged breaking and entering of Johnnie's Dairy Bar, Wisner township, by Thomas J. Sergeant, June 8. The dairy bar is owned by Earl Rill.

Judge Quinn granted a pro-con divorce decree in the Corkins Bar, Friday, June 22, 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. Music by Starlite Trio-orchestra.

From the Editor's Corner

We hope that Wayne "Speed" Wilson's attempt to create an activity for adults is as successful as his Little League program.

Wayne proposes to start a "Bloopers" league, the game played with the extra large softball that allows men up to 55 years old to play.

An organizational meeting is scheduled at Cass City High School gym Friday at 7 p.m. Interested persons are asked to attend. A team does not need a sponsor to enter.

If you can't attend the meeting, you can join the fun by simply calling "Speed" at 139-W.

An interesting local sidelight on the trial of Neil A. McTaggart for robbing the Unionville State Savings Bank is that two local residents have been called to testify.

Ed Anthes and Bill Schram were at the trial in Bay City Wednesday. The robbery occurred Oct. 28, 1960, when $20,251 was taken. Later $15,079 was returned as the bandit became conscience stricken.

With the deadline for filing petitions past, candidates for various county and state offices in the primary Aug. 7 are now known. Every voter should avail himself of the opportunity to learn about the men trying for the offices so that he can cast an intelligent ballot.

There is more competition for offices on the county level this year than there has been in several years. Area electors should make their selection only after examining the qualifications of each office aspirant.

Grand Opening At newly-remodeled Owendale Bar, Friday, June 22, 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. Music by Starlite Trio-orchestra.

New Methodist Pastor Announced

Rev. James C. Braid, 29, was appointed at the Detroit Annual Conference at Adrian to replace Rev. Robert Searls as pastor of the First Methodist Church in Cass City.

The new pastor comes to Cass City from Aldersgate Methodist Church in Detroit where he served as associate minister for three years.

Name New Farm Placement Specialist

Kenneth A. Tennant of Bay City has been named farm placement specialist for Tuscola county by the Michigan Employment Security Commission, according to an announcement by Albert Festerling, crop area supervisor, for the Saginaw Valley and the Thumb district. His office is in the Michigan Employment Security Commission office at 429 N. State Street, Caro.

He will make employer contacts throughout the area to survey farm labor needs, move labor from farm to farm and inspect migrant labor housing. Office hours will be from 8:15 to 10:00 a. m. and 4:00 until 5:00 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Farmers who need workers of any kind are urged to place orders several days in advance of the time they are needed. Orders are accepted for jobs whether they are for one worker or a group for a day or a year's duration. This farm placement service is free to both the farmers and the job seekers.

Grifka Completes Police Training

Son Pvt. Kenneth A. Grifka, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Grifka, Ubyly, completed eight weeks of military police training

Pvt. Kenneth Grifka at the Provost Marshal General School, Fort Gordon, Ga., recently.

Grifka was instructed in subjects such as civil and military law, traffic control, map reading, prisoner-of-war control and self defense.

He entered the Army in January of this year and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. The 1961 Ubyly High School graduate was employed by Sargents Construction in Saginaw prior to entering the Army.

The easiest thing in the world is to go from bad to worse.

Confusion reigns when people who don't know what they want, go after what they think they ought to have.

Fuesters Find Cool Fair Fun

The weather was cool, the exhibits most interesting and the food good. These were the comments of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuester of Decker on their trip to the World's Fair in Seattle.

The Fuesters, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hess of Detroit, left May 26 and were to return Wednesday, June 20.

The two couples stayed in the Avalon Apartments only a block and a half from the west gate of the fair. They visited the exhibits, including the Space Needle, the Science Buildings and the World of Tomorrow. There were several free exhibits, including a free ski show.

A couple can spend a day at the Fair for $15-20, the Fuesters said. Admission is $2. Among the things they enjoyed were the various restaurants and snack stands.

By cutting expenses, one can get by for much less money, they added.

Unloved is the man who can drop ashes on the rugs at home and get away with it.

If time is money then most people should have more loot than they know what to do with.

Money may not be everything, but there are times when only cash can pull us out of the hole.

Marriages may be made in heaven, but the rag-chewing that follows are the couples contribution.

WE HOPE HE LIKED IT

As it was explained afterward automaker Henry Ford II sometimes drives rival cars to see how they perform, and he casually rented a Chevrolet during a New York visit. After dining in a suburban restaurant, Ford toiled back to town in a white Impala convertible. He noticed nothing unusual except a butt-crammed ashtray—which he fastidiously emptied—but it was not the same car. The rented 1962 model remained in the restaurant's parking lot, while the owner of an all but identical 1961 convertible set police on the trail of his missing machine. Even after recovering his '61 Impala, the owner was stopped by a policeman who still thought it was a stolen car, and who listened dubiously to the Chevrolet driver's strange explanation: "You see, Henry Ford borrowed it without my knowing it..." The comedy of errors failed to amuse Chevy-renter Ford. In Chicago for a sales meeting, he told newsmen who tried to question him about the incident: "I'm not here to sell competitors' cars."

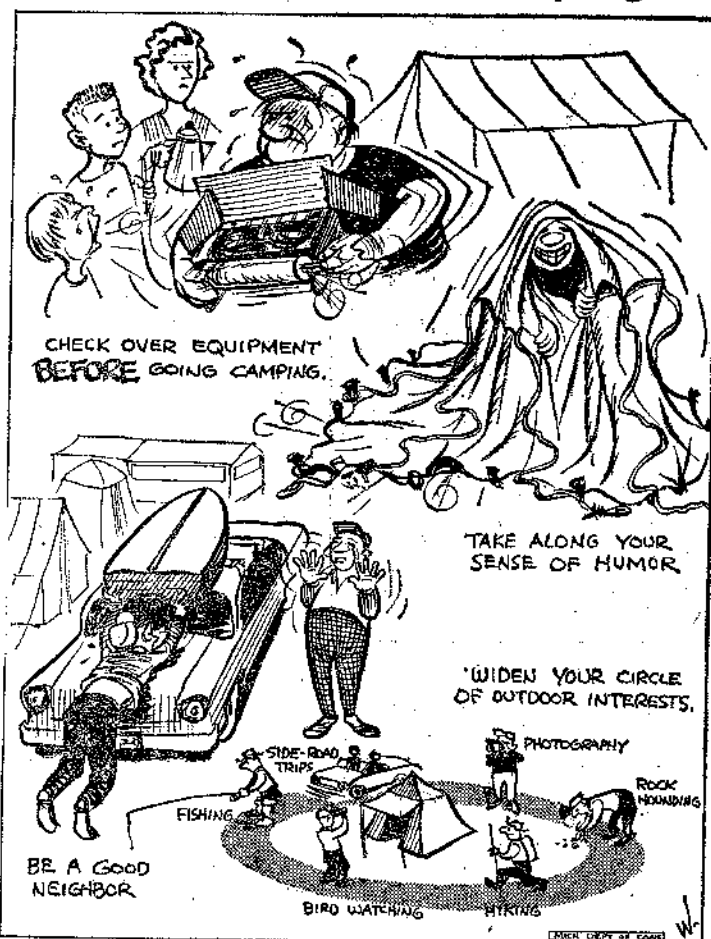

Come in and let us show you too, why Chevrolet Market Penetration is greatest ever.

Putting FUN in Camping

Planning and a relaxed, un fretting frame of mind make for more camping fun at Michigan's state parks—or any other campgrounds in the state. The planning part starts at home and involves checking gear, mapping out the trip, and outlining your vacation's menu to fit the family budget. Helpful in making preparations would be a copy of the 1962 Michigan Campground Directory now available free from the Conservation Department's Publications Room, Box 30, at Lansing 26. A good sense of humor is a "must" item to take along on that camping trip. Families that can smile through a sudden rainstorm at mealtime and similar setbacks will be a much happier lot when they head home than campers who grumble over every little mishap. Well rewarded with new friends and pleasant moments is the family that adopts the "Good Neighbor" policy as part of its camping credo. Don't shy away from new outdoor interests. If the fish aren't biting or it's too cold for swimming, round up the family for a hike, rock hunt or something else. You'll probably end up wishing you had "discovered" these pastimes long before.

Two Teams Undefeated in Little League Competition

Two teams are still undefeated as Little League Baseball completes its second full week of competition. The Tigers and Yankees have won two games each in as many tries.

Tigers-Pirates
Wednesday, June 13, the Tigers came from behind in the late innings to register an 8-7 decision over the Pirates. A four-run rally in the fifth was the key to victory.

Miles Profit was the losing pitcher when he lost control in the fifth and his teammates started booting the ball. He was relieved by Phil Nichols. John Maharg went all the way for the Tigers allowing only four hits and striking out 10.

For the Pirates, Gruber, Nichols, Little and Novak all had one for four with Novak connecting for the first circuit blast of the season. Krug slapped out two for two to pace the winners.

Yankees and Cubs
Friday, the Yankees won the first lopsided game of the year with a 16-2 decision over the Cubs. Harold Douglas got the win. Big hitters for the Yankees were Ken Hayes and J. Tuckey with four for five.

Jack Selby was the losing pitcher. Dennis Stine and Rick Lorentzen were big guns for the Cubs with two for two and two for three, respectively.

Tigers-Giants
The Tigers continued to roll Monday with a 24-5 win over the Giants in a game called at the end of five because of darkness.

A new Little League record was set with four home-run clouts. Shagena started on the mound for the Giants. Brinkman relieved him in the third and Hughes came on when Brinkman couldn't find the plate in the fourth. Hughes was then relieved by Bill Klinkman in the fourth. Hitters for the Giants were H. Ashmore, R. Bridges and C. Rich with one for two.

Larry Hartwick went all the way for the Tigers, allowing only three hits and striking out four. LeValley had two home runs and a single for the winners, while Hennessy and Hartwick both were credited with circuit clouts.

The standings:
Through Monday, June 18

Team	W	L	GB
Yankees	2	0	-
Tigers	2	0	-
Cubs	0	1	1 1/2
Pirates	0	1	1 1/2

Capturing That Vacation in Pictures

Your vacation will probably zip by all too quickly, but you can keep it alive for years to come by capturing those moments to remember with the family camera this summer. Here are a few basic "dos and don'ts" about taking good pictures as offered by Conservation Department photographers. In focusing, learn how to judge the distance between you and your subject, by using a rangefinder or by guessing closely. Remember to set the aperture in relation to the shutter speed. A moving subject should get less time than a stationary one. The faster the movement, the faster the shutter speed, and the bigger the light opening (aperture). Try getting real close to your subject, so close that you may even cut into it a little with the edge of your viewfinder (top left). This will bring out the thing you want to show in clear detail and crop unimportant background. Take pictures of people doing things (top right) instead of having them staring motionless at the camera. Include someone in scenery shots to give these photos depth and scope. For all pictures, first think about what you want to show rather than clicking away aimlessly. Don't forget the film.

Vassarite to Head Committee

Bob Russell of Vassar, financial secretary and chairman of the bargaining committee of Local 564, Eaton Foundry Division, Eaton Manufacturing Company, was elected chairman of a county advisory committee under the Federal Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962. This act was recently passed by Congress and will go into effect on July 2, 1962, said Alfred Ballweg, county extension director, also a member of the committee representing agriculture.

The formation of this committee was the outgrowth of recommendations from various communities of Tuscola county through the Rural Area Development Plan recently submitted by the Tuscola County Rural Area Development Committee to the National Area Redevelopment Administration, Washington, D.C.

This committee will serve only in an advisory capacity and will conduct a county-wide survey to determine job opportunities in Tuscola county.

Other members of the committee are: Harold Heidrich, vice-president and chief engineer of Caro Metal Manufacturers; George West, branch manager of Michigan Employment Security Commission, Caro; William Scott, superintendent of schools, Tuscola County, Courthouse, Caro; Mrs. Frances Clark, extension agent in home economics, Courthouse, Caro; Mrs. Clarence Keinath, Tuscola county home economics extension council, Caro, and Gail Parrott, chairman of Agriculture Committee of Tuscola county Board of Supervisors, Cass City.

The committee will meet again soon to proceed with plans for the county-wide survey, said Ballweg.

Judy Gremel Wins Scholastic Honors

Miss Judy Gremel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Gremel, Cass City, was recently awarded a number of honors for outstanding scholastic work and activities during the last term at Michigan State University.

Her awards included a certificate of membership in the Delta Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary society for social science majors, and initiation into the Epsilon Kappa Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, an educational honor society.

She was also named to the President's Honor Roll for her last term's grade-point average which was above the required 2.5 average.

Miss Gremel is slated to attend the summer session at MSU and will finish her final term's work as a student teacher in the social studies department of Niles High School, Niles. She has been employed in the cataloging department of the MSU library for the past two years.

Jones Completes Officer Training

Second Lt. Michael D. Jones, 22, whose wife, Ann, lives at 181 N. State st., Caro, completed the nine-week officer orientation course at the Army Transportation School, Fort Eustis, Va., June 1.

Lieutenant Jones and other newly commissioned officers received instruction in the duties and responsibilities of an officer in the Transportation Corps.

The lieutenant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Jones, 4355 Leach st., Cass City, is a 1957 graduate of Mason County Central High School, Scottville, and a 1962 graduate of Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

The world really appreciates a man who has a clear conscience and keeps still about it.

Deford Site of 52nd Old Settlers Reunion

An estimated 70 persons attended the 52nd annual Old Settlers Reunion, Saturday, June 16, at the Deford School.

During the business meeting, all the present officers were re-elected. They are: Will O'Dell, president; Rinead Knoblet, vice-president; Mrs. Will D'Arcy, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Mack Little, Martha Knoblet and Mrs. Alton Lyons, program committee.

President O'Dell welcomed the group and Mrs. Alfred J. Knapp gave the response. Group singing was led by Mr. Knoblet and Mrs. Lois Binder gave the memorial service for the 32 members who died since the group's last meeting.

Things will come your way, but you must remove the obstacles.

Leave Them to The Wild

During late May and early June, thousands of spotted, wobbly-kneed youngsters are born to Michigan's deer herd, adding a special sightseeing thrill to many an outdoor trip each summer. For some people, there is a strong urge to take one of these "Bambis" home for a pet. Other outdoor visitors simply want to "save" fawns which seem to have been lost or abandoned by their mothers. Whatever the reason, it's wrong (and illegal) to whisk these young animals away from their home in the wild. Don't be misled into thinking a fawn has been orphaned if you find one alone in the woods. It is common for the doe to wander away from her young during the daytime to eat and drink. However, the mother is never far off and she returns often to nurse those hungry youngsters.—Mich. # "Patchwork" Taxes in Use Throughout the Country

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Patchwork taxes, nuisance taxes, stopgap measures!

These shopworn phrases used by opponents of miscellaneous additions to Michigan's present tax structure are not entirely borne up by studies of other states.

The Michigan Department of Finance recently reported, while the State Senate was debating an income tax, that there are 22 states with both a sales tax and payroll levy. The report indicated that in only two of these states did the revenue from the income tax exceed that brought in by the sales tax.

The connotation of the words "patchwork," "nuisance" and "stopgap" are such that they effectively cast a dark cloud over the temporary taxes which were first passed in 1959 under the term "nuisance" taxes and enacted again this year as permanent measures.

Opponents of the "miscellaneous" taxes, which they would now be called if supporters had their way, would like Michigan residents to believe this state is the only one with a variety of taxes.

The U. S. Census, however, shows that Michigan's taxing ideas are in use throughout the country. Some states have taxes Michigan lawmakers haven't even thought of.

The Census showed, for example, that in 1960 all 50 states taxed sales of alcoholic beverages. Tobacco products came under a tax in 46 states.

Several states tax soft drinks, a levy which was proposed late in the current Michigan legislative session but not enacted. One state imposes a tax on lubricating oil and "power use," another has a levy on "meals."

In the number of taxes imposed, Michigan ranks among the top.

In 1950, the latest complete compilation available, Louisiana led the states with 28 different taxes, followed by Iowa with 24. Michigan, Maine and Kansas each had 23.

Among the states with income taxes that year, Indiana had 20 other kinds of taxes, the payroll levy was one of 17 taxes imposed in California and in Delaware 19 other types were on the lawbooks.

Several thousand Michigan motorists driving only because of the type of insurance they carry may be violating the law without knowledge, according to Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Under Michigan's financial responsibility law, some 77,000 motorists are required to have financial responsibility insurance for a three-year period if they wish to continue driving.

These are motorists involved in an accident who could not prove financial responsibility by having adequate public liability and property damage insurance.

"Unfortunately in recent months, three companies which wrote this special insurance in Michigan have gone out of business," Hare said.

Persons insured under the three firms were notified by letter from Hare's office. There was no way of checking, however, how many of these moved to other locations or for some other reason did not receive the notice.

"There may be a considerable number of Michigan motorists who still believe they are properly covered but they are not," Hare said. "If they are driving on invalid insurance, they are inadvertently in violation of the state financial responsibility law."

Some 200 companies with valid Michigan licenses sell this type of insurance, the Secretary of State said. Driving privileges will be restored to motorists who take insurance with any of the remaining firms.

It will soon be known who wants to represent the voice of the people in Michigan next year. The top spots in the fall election are already spoken for, but the next line of command is still up for bids.

By the middle of this month, county clerks and the State Elections Division will be getting the bulk of the nominating petitions for the August primary. A number have already been filed.

The 144 seats in the Legislature, numerous county and city posts, and many local questions will be on the primary ballot.

Legislative hopefuls are expected to be great in number this year, at least partly because of the recent Constitutional Convention which gave a taste of politics to many newcomers and several previously perennial candidates.

Most of the present members of the House and Senate plan to run again, but a few who are retiring and another batch who have had close races in recent years will leave wide open spaces for enterprising new candidates.

Several old-timers in the Legislature are "running scared" this year. A number who have never had primary competition now face it.

"I've had primary competition every term, but this year promises to be the toughest," said one House member with three terms behind him. "Of course, I always 'run scared.' If you don't you leave yourself open to the unexpected attack which could hit harder than the expected."

More than 50 attended the June meeting of Echo Chapter OES Wednesday evening, June 13. In the business meeting, plans were made for a family picnic during the summer with Mrs. Gerald Stilson, Mrs. Kenneth Eisinger, Mrs. Stuart Merchant and Mrs. Leo Tracy as the committee on arrangements.

There will be no further regular meetings until Sept. 12.

Following the business meeting, officers conferred the degrees of the Order on two members with Mrs. Elwyn Hartwick of Uby, Mrs. Leo Russell of Gagetown and John West filling vacancies in the corps of officers.

Bouquets of summer flowers decorated the tables in the dining room when dessert refreshments were served following the initiation.

Final Rites Held For Mrs. McCrea

Funeral services were held Saturday at St. Agatha Catholic Church for Mrs. Alma Patricia McCrea, following her death Wednesday, June 13, at New Grace Hospital, Detroit. Mrs. McCrea, 41, died after a long illness. Born January 9, 1921, in the Gagetown area, the former Alma Seurnyck married Clinton McCrea on March 2, 1946. They lived in Detroit and Redford township for the past number of years.

Surviving, besides her husband, are: one daughter and one son, Mary Ellen and James, both at home; her mother, Mrs. Nell Seurnyck, Gagetown, and a sister, Mrs. Martin Bartholomy, North Branch.

Rev. Frank McLaughlin, St. Agatha pastor, officiated at the services and interment was in St. Agatha Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were by Hunter Funeral Home.

Groups Look for County Bean Queen

Farm Bureau, Grange and farmers' club groups have been asked to encourage qualified candidates to get their nominations in early for the Tuscola County Bean Queen Contest which again will be held in conjunction with the 1962 Tuscola County Fair during the week of August 20, advises Fred Black of Akron, county bean queen committee chairman.

At a meeting of the committee held last February 8, it was decided that July 15 should be the deadline for entering the contest. The earlier date will make it possible to get contestants together for pictures of each contestant, a luncheon and judging with the selection to be kept secret until the presentation of the Queen at the evening of the Fair, said Black.

Interested young ladies are asked to contact their local groups to enter the contest. Contestants must be unmarried and a farmer's daughter who has or is now growing beans. Age limitation is 17 to 25 years, inclusive. County bean queens of previous years are not eligible.

Bean Queen entry blanks are available through the local club president or secretary and may also be had by calling at the Co-operative Extension Office, Court House, Caro.

Wise politicians learn to make excuses before they make promises.

Agent's Corner

Frances T. Clark
County Home Demonstration Agent

There is more hot weather on the way. When children play outdoors in the sun they get hot and thirsty and they will want many "cool drink breaks." The refrigerator will surely be raided.

There are many types of cooling, refreshing drinks available. A report just made on the diets of preschool children indicates maybe it might be smart to dictate the choice available for these playtime breaks.

In Columbus, Ohio, a study was made to determine whether the diets of preschool children met nutritive requirements. It was found that the diets of 61 per cent of the children were inadequate in one or more of the nutritive elements. The calcium supply was found inadequate in 37 per cent of the 61 per cent not meeting daily nutritive requirements.

We also know that over the years, milk consumption has decreased, while the consumption of soft drinks has increased considerably.

So for the hot weather supply we might consider minimizing the soft drinks and increasing the milk supply.

For example, non-fat dried milk could be mixed and chilled. This could be flavored with some chocolate syrup, or how about a rainbow milk drink? Mix a pint of sherbet (lime, lemon, orange or raspberry) with a quart of milk and serve chilled.

And perhaps during the break, it would be a good idea to have the children sit down and rest a bit before going out to play again. If so, a dish of ice cream or sherbet might be just the incentive needed.

There are many varieties of frozen dairy foods available and their contents are regulated by law. For example, ice creams must contain more milk fats than sherbets. Frozen ice contains non-milk solids. Under Michigan law no imitation flavors may be used for ice creams except vanilla. Fruit ice cream must contain natural fruits and nut ice cream must contain nuts. Have you ever stopped to think how many types of potatoes you have to choose from when you shop?

There are now available both new and old potatoes. There are round and long ones; or red, white or russet ones. You also can get your potatoes frozen, canned or dehydrated. So you see there are many selections of this old reliable staple food from which you may choose in most markets.

Potatoes from crops just harvested are competing with those from the storage crop of last fall. Alabama, Florida and California have the new ones to sell. Idaho, the Red River Valley, and Maine are holders of old-crop potatoes. Both the new and the old are in heavier supply compared with stocks of a year ago.

New potatoes have at this season, a thin tender skin which may give them a ruffled or feathery appearance. Occasionally markets will offer immature, small sized new potatoes which have been washed and barged in one or two-pound bags. These often sell at a premium price because they are popular in many spring time dishes, such as fresh peas and potatoes.

The old or storage potato has a thick skin. Most varieties will have a more "mealy" texture when cooked, while the new ones are apt to have a waxy texture. Purchase potatoes in amounts to be used in a short time. New ones at this season always have a short storage life and old ones will not hold long in high temperature and low humidity.

There's No Coat Like An Old Coat

By Dave Kraft

With Monday's early morning downpour, I was forced to get out my old raincoat. It's one of those plastic affairs that come in a little plastic bag . . . the kind that once you get it out of the bag, you can never get it back in. I put it on and was immediately reminded that the left pocket was torn all the way down the side and across the outside bottom. What reminded me was the fact that I kept putting my hand in the pocket and it kept falling out.

I made a few advertising calls with it in this condition but having your coat pocket flapping in the breeze doesn't do much for your advertising appeal, especially if you're calling on Asher's Men's Wear.

I went back to the office and posed the problem to one of the powers-that-be and she suggested that I use some Scotch tape.

Of course! Good old Scotch tape. I spent 15 minutes lining the tear with tape and after five minutes back in the rain, my pocket was flapping like an air sock in a windstorm.

The backshop uses a two-sided adhesive tape to hold the casted lead ads on blocks of wood during the printing. I spent another 15 minutes lining my pocket with two-sided tape.

It worked fine except that my pencil got stuck to the tape and I couldn't get it out. There is nothing more useless than a reporter with his pencil stuck in his pocket.

It wasn't a particularly noteworthy coat in the first place. If I recall rightly, it set me back a clear $8.45 when I bought it.

Past experience should have told me that I was going to have trouble with it.

It doesn't fit too well across the shoulders and the collar hangs down in the back, forming a reservoir. You never remember it forms a reservoir until you take it off and the water running down your back reminds you.

I suppose I could throw it away, but $8.45 is $8.45. Besides, it's any port in a storm.

The fact that I usually end up wetter by wearing it than if I hadn't may make me change my mind.

I spent an interesting hour the other day with Mrs. Mike Yedinak discussing the relative merits of hamster raising.

She had just about talked me into buying a pair of hamsters and a set of World Book Encyclopedias when she brought up a couple of items that made me change my mind.

Hamsters are just too much like people.

For one thing, I found out that the female is tougher than a cheap steak.

She constantly picks on papa hamster. Pick, pick, pick. A wrong move on his part and she's all over him.

A little expression of affection is liable to bring a sharp nip on the nose instead of a reciprocal show of affection.

After the mating season, he is unceremoniously driven out of their little cedar-covered bungalow.

Mrs. Yedinak said that unless he takes the hint, mama may even kill him. An example like that, I don't need at home.

During the interview, Mrs. Yedinak cut up a carrot and the female crammed the whole thing into her mouth, proving that just like female people, she had a big mouth.

After awhile, the pair curled up and went to sleep. I noticed that papa was sleeping on the very edge of the nest, mama having claimed the center and immediate area for herself. (Just like my house.)

I felt so sorry for the poor little totter that I almost bought him. I decided against it though. With my luck, I'd buy a Horace and find out two weeks later that he was a Harriette.

Store Early Cut Hay As Grass Silage

Curing early-cut hay is difficult for farmers who want to preserve the forage's high nutritive value. But the milk production which results from feeding high-quality roughage makes the efforts worthwhile.

One of the best ways to store early-cut hay is in grass silage, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension director.

Moisture content is the main consideration in making good forage crop silage. The crop should be put up with a moisture content low enough so that it will not squeeze out a lot of the water or "juice" under pressure in the silo.

When wet silage drains, the silo becomes a water tank. Pressure can also damage the silo and cause poor fermentation and consequently poor silage.

But neither should the moisture content be too low, Ballweg says. If the silage is too dry, air gets into the poorly-packed silage and leads to the growth of molds.

To prevent the access of air to silage, forage crops should be cut into short pieces so that it settles and packs more easily. The chopped forage should be distributed evenly so that it will not leave loose areas as it settles. Forage at the bottom of the silo, which is under the greatest pressure, will pack better and should be drier than the silage on top.

Aside from putting damp forage on top, there are other ways of protecting the top from spoilage. One or two loads of very wet forage can be tramped into a wet seal, or a layer of plastic can be used to keep out air.

A silo which is tight around the doors and on the sides will not allow air to leak in and cause overheating.

Some farmers wilt immature forage a great deal and get a roughage which is drier than ordinary corn silage. This "haylage" makes good feed, but it must be made to pack well to prevent overheating.

With very early-cut forage, most farmers mow the crop and windrow it as they mow. Chopping then usually follows rather complete wilting.

According to Ballweg, making grass silage gets a head start on having and may help in getting a third cutting on time.

Give the man a wide berth if he promises more than you have a right to expect.

Fathers Come in All Shapes and Forms

By Ilene Warren

Last Sunday found many persons paying tribute to their fathers -- in as many ways, likely, as there were persons. My father is dead so my tribute was made by remembering... and there were many things to remember.

Fathers come in all shapes and sizes. Some have hair -- and some don't. Some are rich and some are poor -- but most of them are some place between the two! As you think about fathers, who would you pick for Father of the Year? Many would suggest President Kennedy -- he's the logical choice, exclusive of one's own father, of course. But another candidate comes to my mind: Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Vice President Johnson addressed the graduates of Washington's National Cathedral School for Girls (where, incidentally, his daughter Lynda Bird, 18, was one of the graduates). The following was part of Johnson's speech: "Some of you may live to see the day when the prejudice of sex will no longer place the presidency beyond the reach of a greatly gifted American lady. Long before then, I hope that you will see a woman member of the Supreme Court." In appreciation for such remarks and his confidence in the fairer sex, surely we women ought to nominate Vice President Johnson as Father of the Year. For the sports-minded, perhaps Glenn Cunningham (famous miler of the 30's) would be the logical choice -- he has nine children plus a foster son. Cunningham doesn't mind in the least, according to TIME magazine, that his record for running the mile has been broken -- even predicts that some day the mile will be run under 3:48. He suggested that perhaps it will be his son, Glenn Jr., now 14, who will achieve that milestone (no pun intended). Cunningham added, speaking of his son, "He can outrun most of the high school kids in his home country right now." Perhaps the name Glenn Cunningham will again be featured in the sports news if the proud father is correct.

Today, June 21, is the first day of summer. Isn't summer a wonderful season? Each person surely must cherish memories of things that happened in the summertime. I do -- don't you?

Looking backward to my earliest memories, I recall the time that my cousin Frances, my nephew Billie and I staged a parade. Billie was in the lead, pushing the old wicker baby buggy with the flag waving from the front of it (I can't remember why we used the baby buggy -- unless we had our dolls and stuffed animals in it). Frances was next, tooting on the "old Morning Glory" horn off the phonograph and I brought up the rear beating upon a makeshift drum. What a gala time we had. Our sandals stirred up little puffs of dust as we marched down the driveway, up the road and back. The cry of a cicada and the chirruping of birds vied with our trumpeting to see which could make the most racket! We chimaxed the whole thing by sipping homemade lemonade through onion-top straws!

My childhood was a delightful time -- but so is today!

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

We been getting some mighty interesting items out of Washington here lately. Fer instant, I was reading a piece yesterday where the broom closets in the Pentagon Building is listed, "Public Building Service, Buildings Management Division, Utility Room, Custodial." If they'd put a mop bucket in with the brooms, I reckon they'd have to put on an extra helper fer the listings.

Incidental, Congressman Dan Flood of Pennsylvania has come up with a plan fer making a little more room in the Pentagon. He is advocating that they give five platoons of Marines and send 'em through the building and cart off ever fourth man, in uniform or not. He claims nobody but their families would ever know they was gone. Personal, Mister Editor, I don't think it would make no more - room. In a couple weeks they would start putting in more broom closets.

Then they was a little piece from Senator Young of Ohio advising farmers and ranchers to git their land into golf courses. He said they was a golf course at Blair, Nebraska, that had been renting 14 acres to a nearby farmer on account of them not needing it. Then last year they made the golf course bigger and had to take them 14 acres back. And all of a sudden the golf club gits a check fer $288 fer taking land out of production that had been planted in corn. Senator Young claimed that if a feller had hisself about 300 acres and would change over and list it a golf course, he could set on the front porch and rock with the grain and collect more'n $6,000 a year.

But the most serious news I got out of Washington last week come in my weekly bulletin from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. You will recollect here a while back I told about them scientists working to take the cackle out of the hen and the crow out of the rooster. I predicted at that time this was going to be mighty upsetting to the hens. Well, this is to report that they has got this project well under way. My bulletin last week announced that, fer the first time in many years hens is laying less. It says the number of hens in 1961 was up 5 million, but the average number of eggs per hen was down about 1 per cent.

About the only news coming out of Washington last week that didn't upset me pritty bad was a statement by Senator Carl Curtis that our national debt actual is a little over a trillion dollars. He give a long list of items to prove it. Billions or trillions, I couldn't care less. I won't be here to help pay it. But I wish you'd ask that school teacher that's so good in grammar and spelling how you write a trillion in figgers. Ed Doolittle and the fellers at the country store will want to know, as shore as shooting.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
