

Supervisors Okay School Deficit Pay Raise for Probate Official Now $18,000

Tuscola County's 25-member Board of Supervisors voted an $800 per year pay raise for Mrs. Beatrice P. Berry, register of probate, during their monthly day-long session Monday at the Courthouse, Caro.

In granting Mrs. Berry the increase, the board turned down an original request for $1,400 on the grounds that they "might set a precedent."

Mrs. Berry sought the raise because of extra work caused by the Supreme Court's suspension earlier in the year of Probate Judge Henderson Graham.

The approved raise is retroactive to June 1, 1962, and is in effect until "normalcy of the office has been resolved."

Confirm Appointment
Confirmation of County Treasurer Arthur Willits as County Civil Defense Supply and Procurement officer was given by the board, following a request from the County Civil Defense Committee.

Willits was appointed to the post earlier by Frank Krowsek, county civil defense director.

On other fronts, the board approved the purchase of six chairs for the Social Service office; a typewriter for the Veterans' Council office and a water heater for the County Jail.

In closing out their session, the board set Tuesday, August 14, as the date for the annual County picnic for supervisors and county officials.

The next regular board meeting will be held Monday, August 13.

Try Again for More Space at Evergreen School

The first step in a campaign to enlarge the Evergreen Township Unit School is scheduled for Friday night when a special school meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at the school.

School electors will discuss the possibility of adding two classrooms to the building. It will be the second attempt to add more space to the facility.

A year ago voters turned down a proposed addition of a garage and storage room by a 40-23 margin.

Evergreen school is in a sound financial condition. They have paid all callable bonds on their original construction debt and have the money waiting to pay off the remainder of the bonds which are not callable until June 1, 1963.

Village Persons on Island Work Staff

Two Cass City brothers and a Cass City girl are among a number of county and state students currently employed in summer jobs at Mackinac Island, according to a report from the Island Chamber of Commerce.

The brothers are Lynn and Dick Albee, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Albee. Also employed on the Island is Janet Walmisley, daughter of Mrs. John Francis.

Pick is a sophomore at Alma College and Lynn, a graduate of Albion College, will enter Michigan State University this fall for post graduate work. Both are working as teamster driver-guides.

Miss Walmisley is employed at one of the Island's seven hotels.

Square Dance Set for Weekly Friday Program

The square dance fans will have their night Friday at the weekly Chamber of Commerce sponsored program on Main Street.

Authorities have announced that only square dancing will be held following the drawing. Gone for the week will be the twist and polkas demanded by the young dancers. John West will be the caller.

Meanwhile, interest in the weekly free bike drawing continues high. For the third successive week the winner was present to collect his ticket on the first drawing. Last week's winner was John McBurney.

Despite an austerity budget for the past school year, Cass City Public School finished the year with a $18,000 deficit, it was pointed out during a reading of the annual financial report at a Board of Education meeting Monday night at the High School.

Treasurer William Ruhl delivered the report, prepared by school accountants Leppin and Gerou, Figeon.

On other fronts, the board purchased two new school buses (see story), discussed an auto mechanics class and accepted two parcels of land into the school district.

Although the school showed a deficit as of June 30, it did not go as far in debt as last year, because $11,000 of the figure was carried over from the previous year, for a cut in spending of $3,000.

The report, figured on a cash basis, showed a balance in the general fund of $266.22 as compared to $7,821.64 for 1961. Neither figure is a true picture, because the report does not show outstanding debts.

Instructional and administrative costs were both down over $1,000 as compared to 1961 expenditures. Instructional costs dropped from $281,900 in 1961 to $280,486 for the past year.

Administrative expenditures came down from $25,022 for 1961 to $24,015. Both reductions are reflected in a cutback in supply expenditures and no pay increases for administrative personnel.

Another bright note in the school's financial picture is the fact that it has $56,060.02 in the Debt Retirement Fund, almost twice the $29,000 required by law. The extra money is shown in the recent evaluation increase.

Mechanics Class
The board suggested that Lyle Clarke, farm shop instructor, meet with head mechanics from local garages, after he appeared before the board seeking help in setting up a scheduled auto mechanics class.

Clarke told the board that he wanted to know "what is expected in the way of objectives for the class, what provisions as far as availability of funds and what books and funds are necessary."

They also suggested that he contact area schools already offering such a course.

Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, Detroit school attorneys, suggested to the board, via letter, that Cass City request Wickware school to close for one year because a special election necessary for annexation cannot be held until after school has already started this fall.

The suggestion hinged on a 30-30 ruling that registration must be open for 30 days and closed for another 30 days before a special election.

Wickware school district notified the Cass City board at a recent meeting that the school wished to annex to Cass City. The annexation would bring approximately 10 more students to Cass City.

Special Education
Bids from area contractors will be received and opened by the board at a special meeting Tuesday, July 17, at 8:00 p. m.

The board moved to accept the Loomis and Werdeman properties, currently part of the Owendale-Gagetown School District, as part of the Cass City district, pending approval of the Tri-County School Board.

An earlier motion to invest $9,000 in surplus from the 1950 bond issue was rescinded and the board moved to use the money to pay off $7,000 plus interest on the 1954 bond issue and on all other available bonds, on August 1.

Gagetown Driver in Sideswipe Accident

No injuries were reported in an accident involving a Gagetown man and a Deckerville man Sunday night at the intersection of Caseville and Sebawing roads, according to a report from the Bad Axe State Police post.

According to the report, a car driven by Howard R. Adams, 20, Gagetown, and another driven by Edward J. McGee, 23, Deckerville, collided when one of the cars crossed the center line and sideswiped the other.

Occupants in the Adams vehicle were Gerald Finkbinder, 17, Detroit, and Claude Bell, 17, Owendale. Riding in the McGee car was Robert Kirkpatrick, 23, Deckerville.

Ticket Argyle Man in Village Collision

An Argyle man was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way Sunday morning after his brakes reportedly failed and his car collided with another at the intersection of West and Main streets in Cass City.

Ticketed was Gary A. Walker, 17, Argyle. According to a report filed by William Schram, deputy sheriff, and William McKinley, Cass City patrolman, the Walker car was traveling north on West Street and his brakes allegedly failed when he attempted to stop at the intersection.

The Walker car struck another driven by Rev. E. M. Gibson, 66, Cass City. No injuries were reported.

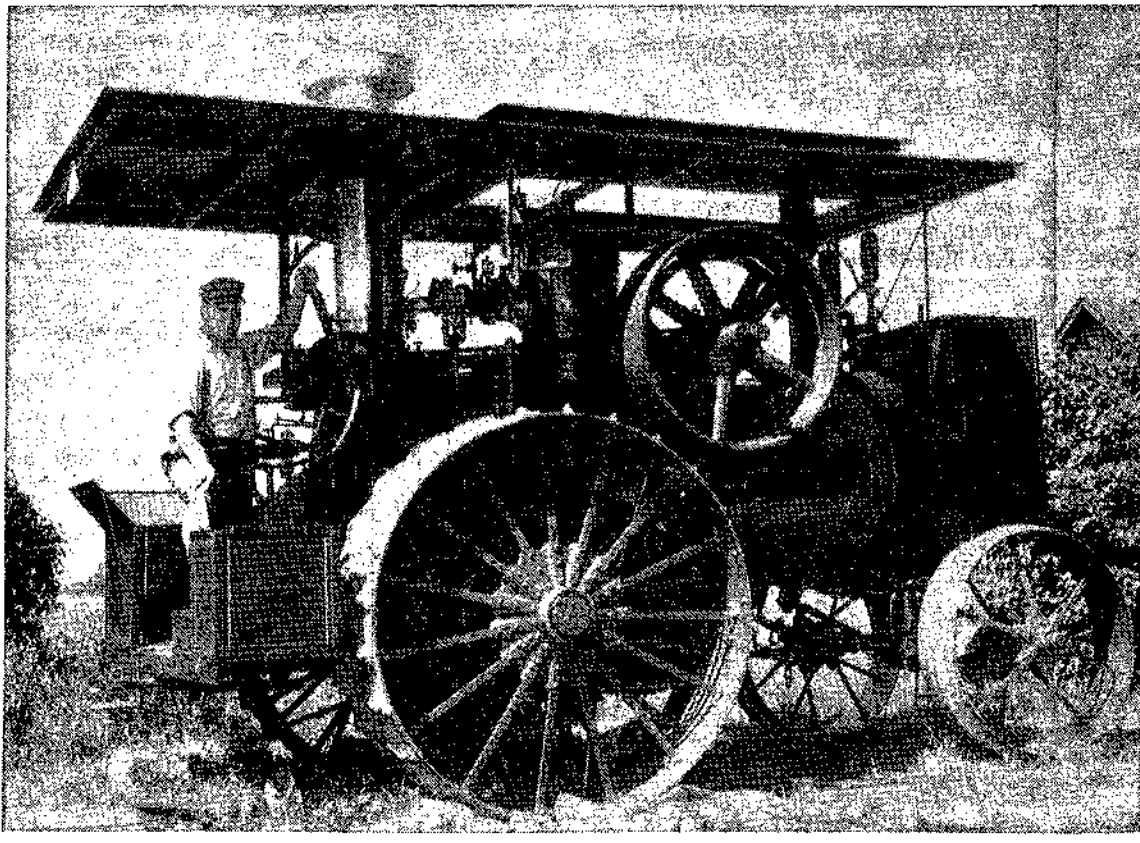

Trio Arrested for Having Marijuana

Justice Douglas Williams, Caro, has set Tuesday, July 17, as the examination date for three Saginaw youths charged with possession of marijuana. They were arrested early Sunday morning in Vassar.

The trio, still in Tuscola County Jail, unable to post $2,000 bond, are: Gabino Dominguez, 19, John F. Arroyo, 20, and Andres M. Flores, 22, all of Saginaw.

Alert Vassar policemen apprehended the youths when they saw their car traveling erratically and stopped them. The marijuana was found on the back seat of the youths' car.

Arresting officers were William Lawrence and Leo Amend. When arraigned before Justice Williams, the trio demanded examination.

DWARFED by this rebuilt giant of the past, Morris Meredith, Snover area farmer, stands at the throttle of his 1924 Huber Steam Engine. The mammoth antique, rebuilt from the "naked engine and wheels" with $200 in material and many hours of work, will be among a number of steam engines and exhibits at the Saginaw Valley Live Steam Association meet in Vassar July 20, 21, 22. Also representing the area at the meet will be Robert Deo, Meredith's neighbor, with his homemade steam car. (Chronicle photo.)

Snoverite "Steamed Up" Over Mammoth Steam Engine

Getting "steamed up" over steam engines is nothing new for Morris Meredith, who has been around them since he was a toddler on the 32-acre farm where he now lives.

When most men get together there is usually talk of sports, politics, war or other important things. When Meredith, the 60 members of the Saginaw Valley Live Steam Association and the thousands of people who come to see their exhibits get together, there is talk of nothing but steam and steam engines.

Meredith, one of the most enthusiastic steam enthusiasts, is slated to be one of two Cass City area representatives at the annual association meet in Vassar July 20, 21, 22.

Despite his love for the mammoth antiques, he purchased his first engine, a 1924 Huber, from its original owner in Central Lake just a little over a year ago.

Stripped down to its essentials, the "naked engine and wheels" had stood in the same building for 31 years, generating power for a sawmill. It had been unused for the past eight years.

After three years of correspondence with the original owner, Meredith succeeded in purchasing the engine for $800. Brand new it had cost $3,275 FOB Marion, Ohio.

Sell for $5,000
Genuine antiques, some of the engines sell for as much as $5,000. Others are priceless to their owner.

"I'll never sell it," Meredith asserts. After reviewing the process involved in renovating the engine, it's easy to see why.

With the aid of the original parts manual, a picture brochure of the original engine, $200 in materials and untold hours of work, he has restored the engine to its original shape, size and beauty.

Restored, the gigantic green and red tractor stands 12 feet high, is eight feet, nine inches wide, 19 feet long, and weighs a staggering 15 tons.

Work included restoring all the brass fixtures, piping, canopy, tanks, stand and flues.

The engine, one of the biggest ever made, is capable of turning out 25 horsepower after reaching a working steam pressure of 160 pounds.

It was originally built to pull 12-14 inch plows in prairie sod.

Plenty of Horsepower
"You can't buy a tractor that will equal the horsepower now," Meredith points out. "What would you pay if you could?"

In steam terminology, an engine isn't started, it's "fired up." After it is fired up, using coal or wood, the water in the 500 gallon tank is turned into steam pressure. It is then "steamed up."

"After the pressure is up, there is no limit to the power possible," he explains.

One way to get a steam man's dander up is to call him an "operator."

"You never want to call the driver an 'operator'... he's an 'engineer,'" Meredith explains.

Steam engines were first developed around the middle 1800's, reached their peak shortly before and after the turn of the century and steamed out of the picture in about 1925.

"The prime reason was gasoline... if they had perfected the steam engine, it might have been different," he theorizes.

Famous Engines
Some of the more noted Michigan-made engines were the Port Huron and the Advance, out of Battle Creek. Famous brand name engines were the Case, Minneapolis, Frick, Harrison and the Reeves. In all, there were over 700 different makes.

Meredith's engine has never

Lost on Lake Huron

Meisers Tell of Anxious 3 Hours

What happens when you are out of sight of land on Lake Huron and your compass is swinging in dizzy circles? If you're like Frank and Glen Meiser, you set your boat in what you hope is a straight line and pray that the gas holds out.

Sunday the Meisers started on what they hoped would be a successful fishing trip to the Charities. Up bright and early, they hit the islands about 9 a. m. But the water started to become choppy and shortly after arriving they decided to return home as a safety precaution.

It proved to be a wise decision.

The air had become hazy and it was impossible to see land after leaving the islands. No cause to worry, however... after all, the men were riding in an 18-foot boat with plenty of gas - a 12-gallon can with about 10 gallons in it, a full six-gallon can and a full three-gallon can... 19 gallons in all.

But after a couple of hours in the boat and still no land in sight, I knew we were lost, Frank recalled with a rueful grin. Our ample supply of gas was fast dwindling and the compass was swinging like a top. Gone was the 10-gallon gas supply and the big motor was steadily eating into the supply in the six-gallon can.

Still no land in sight.

When you're lost out in the middle of the lake it seems as if the wind is coming from all directions at once, Frank said. Finally, we decided to ignore the compass, go against the waves and hope we were travelling in a straight line. We'd been going for what seemed like hours when we sighted a faint break in the skyline. It was quite a relief when we were certain it was land. The Charities? Sand Point? We thought it was the islands at first, then Sand Point. Whatever it was we were really glad to see it, Frank asserted. Being lost on the lake is only funny after you get back on land.

The land proved to be Point AuGres. The two men had crossed the lake after spending more than three hours in their boat. It was shortly after 12 noon when they hit the opposite shore.

A phone call brought cars for a long ride home for the men and equipment.

From the Editor's Corner

The village chalked up a gain and a loss this week. Announcement was made that Dr. Earl Nelson has joined Dr. H. T. Donahue to give the community another needed physician. Tempering this news was the announcement that Dr. William Harr is leaving the clinic of Dr. D. E. Rawson to go to Owosso.

Board Approves 2 Buses

Cass City Public School's transportation system received a needed shot in the arm Monday night when Board of Education members voted to purchase two new 54-passenger school buses.

The new buses, with chassis supplied by local dealers and bodies by Wayne Body, Lansing, will replace two buses dating back to 1947 and 1948.

With the replacement of the two old buses, the system will not have a bus over eight years old. The school currently operates 14 buses, two of them leased locally.

Chassis for the buses will be supplied by Bulen Motors and Rabideau Motor Sales, both of Cass City. The bodies will be purchased through McFadden Corporation, Lansing.

Despite a new innovation in the bus bodies, the school will save approximately $200 per body over the same body purchased in 1960-61. The new bodies, costing $3,275 each as compared to $3,418 in 1961, will have rubber covered flooring.

In deciding on the Wayne body, the board turned down a request by Grant Glaspie, Cass City Ward bus body representative, to submit bids on the bodies.

Board members felt that since most of the school's buses had Wayne bodies, it would be in the best interest of the school to continue with that line.

The buses were the first purchased since 1960-61. Up to that time, since 1954, the school had purchased at least one and sometimes two buses per year.

Purchases include one in 1954, two in 1955, one in 1956, two in 1957 and one a year from 1958 to 1960.

Doctor to Join Donahue Clinic

Dr. Earl Nelson, M. D., Grand Rapids physician, is slated to begin Monday, July 16, as assistant to Dr. H. T. Donahue at the Donahue Clinic, Hill Street.

A graduate of Northwestern University School of Medicine, Evanston, Ill., he has practiced at Cook County Hospital, Chicago, and at Butterworth Hospital, Grand Rapids.

A native of South Dakota, he and his wife are slated to arrive in Cass City on Sunday, July 15.

Caro State Hospital Tuscola County's Largest Industry

Its importance to Tuscola County's economy and the services offered at Caro State Hospital were sharply outlined by Dr. W. W. Dickerson, director, in an off-the-cuff talk at the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel.

We are the county's largest industry and the payroll for our 690 employees reaches three and a quarter million dollars yearly, Dickerson said. According to figures compiled by Alfred Bullwer, Tuscola county agricultural agent, that's about as much as the rest of the county's industry combined and approaches the agricultural income of the area, Dickerson explained.

Today the hospital that cost $4 million to build and has a replacement value of much more is a busy place. There is a waiting list of 77 patients who are qualified for admittance and 1,850 patients are now cared for in the facility. The hospital was started in 1913 and additions periodically erected as demand for the services increased. All employees are under civil service. Despite this, we recruit most of the people we want and have them take the test so that they will be available when an opening occurs, the director said.

Explodes Myths
"We have no typical epileptic patients at the hospital," said Dickerson. "It's another of the misconceptions about the hospital."

Another is that epilepsy is hereditary. Certain families may be more susceptible to epilepsy than others, but it is not hereditary, Dickerson explained.

Epilepsy is also very common, the doctor commented. One person in 200 has the disease. However, most of these are not hos-

M-53 Now An All-Season Road

Through the efforts of the Thumb Highway Improvement Association, M-53 from Port Austin to Utica has been designated an all-season highway for the next 12 months by John C. Mackie, State Highway Commissioner.

This means that the entire length of M-53 will be open to legal axle loads for the entire year, including periods of weight restrictions in the spring.

Heretofore, truckers - public, private and farmers - have been forced to limit their loads on this most direct route to Detroit during the five to eight weeks weight restriction periods. Truckers of milk, fertilizer, grains, oil, cement and industrial supplies have been placed at a distinct disadvantage to most other areas of the state in the past, caused by reloading, lighter loads, extra trips and much longer routing, all resulting in higher trucking costs.

Next spring, truckers' legal axle weight on tandems using M-53 will be increased from 12,000 to 16,000 pounds and on single axles from 13,500 to 18,000 pounds.

Since continuation of the liberalized weight restrictions beyond the 12-month period is dependent upon the condition of the pavement after this trial period, officers of the association are recommending to truckers they not abuse these newly obtained privileges.

Officers of the association are: Clare J. Hewens Sr., Bad Axe, chairman; Bevan Bates, Almont, vice-chairman, and Herbert Ludlow, Cass City, secretary-treasurer.

Directors, named by boards of supervisors of the respective counties, are Dan A. McDonald, Bad Axe, and James Baker, Port Hope, Huron County; Mr. Ludlow and Clifford Croft, Cass City, Tuscola County; Mr. Bates and Earl Secor, Imlay City, Lapeer County; George Teale, Marlette, and Russell Henderson, Sandusky, Sanilac County.

The visitors are rated as one of the finest teams in the southern Thumb while Erla's has lost just one game in the Elkhon league.

Tigers Upset in Little League

In Little League baseball in Cass City the only sure thing is that there are no "sure" things in the competition among the small fry.

This week's games proved the point. The league-leading Tigers, undefeated in four tries, were defeated by the basement dwelling Pirates.

The standings:
Through Monday, July 9

Team	W	L	GB
Yankees	4	1	-
Tigers	4	1	-
Cubs	2	3	2
Pirates	2	3	2
Giants	1	4	3

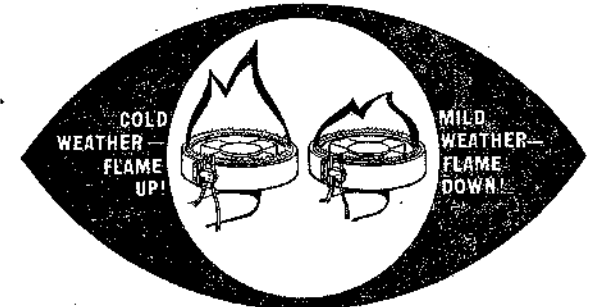

The game was played Friday night. The score was 13-10.

Larry Maharg was the starting pitcher and suffered his first loss. He was relieved in the fifth by Larry Hartwick. Miles Profit was the winning pitcher. He was relieved in the sixth by Mike Murphy. Murphy was the big stickler for the winners with two for three. Maharg continued his torrid sticking for the Tigers with a single, a double and a home run.

Yankee-Giants
The Yankees moved into a first place tie in the league Monday with a 5-4 decision over the Giants. Both teams received solid pitching. Terry Brinkman and Harold Douglas went all the way on the mound. David Bliss slammed a circuit clout and a triple and Jim Tuckey helped with a round tripper for the Yankees. For the losers, John Shagena rapped three hits in four tries.

Vaccinate for Brucellosis Cure

Farmers still have a long way to go before they can completely wipe out brucellosis in Michigan. But, at least 240,000 calves should be vaccinated every year, says George Parsons, extension dairyman at Michigan State University.

The state of Michigan is classified by the United States Department of Agriculture as a modified-certified brucellosis free area. This means that less than one per cent of all cattle and less than five per cent of all herds are infected with the disease.

At the present time, ten counties have qualified for a certified brucellosis free rating, Parsons says. These counties are all in the Upper Peninsula. Three more counties are reaching the qualification mark for certified area.

Besides Michigan, 24 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands are currently classified as modified-certified areas.

New Hampshire and 80 counties in other states have qualified as certified brucellosis-free. All of Maine and 125 counties in other states will qualify as certified brucellosis-free areas shortly.

The entire country should qualify as a modified-certified area by 1965, and by 1972 should be completely free of bovine brucellosis.

Parsons says Michigan could become a certified-free area with three years if more emphasis were put on the present testing and calfhood vaccination programs. Great improvements have been made in the reduced number of infected cattle in the state during the past 15 years.

"In 1947, we had 302 cases of undulant fever, or human brucellosis, reported in Michigan," he says. "Most of the cases were traced back to an association with brucellosis infected cattle." In 1960, only five new cases of undulant fever were reported in Michigan.

"This drop is due to the tremendous decrease in infection within the state," he says. The number of infected herds has dropped from 7,500 to 220 within the past five years, Parsons says.

"The cooperation of our agricultural leaders has been good, but we still need to get a lot more calves vaccinated," Parsons says.

Brucellosis eradication programs, conducted jointly by the USDA and the states have succeeded in cutting the nationwide infection in cattle 61 percent since 1954.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Sez:

Dear Mister Editor:

As a general rule, them pamphlets we git from the Department of Agriculture don't call fer no deep meditation or prayer. But ever onct in a while we'll git one that will stir up a little thinking.

Per instant, the one I got last week was telling about a banker in Georgia inventing a gadget that'll reset the shafts on a cultivator to fit the different width of crop rows. This gadget will do the job in 10 minutes instead of the two hours it takes now.

Just what a banker is doing meddling in the farm business, I don't know. But everybody else, including this feller Billie Sol Estes, seems to be getting into the act, so I reckon it's legal.

But anyhow, the time is coming when all you'll need to operate a big farm is a couple fellers that knows how to push control buttons and operate one of them computers.

The folks in the Agriculture Department has already proved by experiments that the only good you git from cultivating corn is weed control, and that you can now do this with chemicals, so unplowed corn fields will produce as much corn as them that is plowed or cultivated.

The reason I bring this item up, Mister Editor, is to wonder if we ain't fast coming to another major farm problem. What's going to happen in another 10 years to the thousands that is working on farms that won't be needed?

And I was reading the other day where power vehicles on the farm has replaced 29 million horses in the last 35 years, saving 70 million acres of hay that used to be needed to feed these horses.

Things is changing fast in agriculture in this country and sometimes I wonder if them Congressmen that's busy extending the New Frontier has took due note of these changes and made any plans for the future.

And I see by the papers where a new invention in school houses has been noted. A school in Michigan is boarding up the windows fer next year. They claim this will keep the young'uns from getting distracted by outside things and that it's a very advanced idea in education. I'm agin it. Mister Editor. It won't work. Furthermore, if Johnny can't read and Johnny can't spell, like the newspapers is claiming, it won't be long under this new idea till Johnny can't even see.

Me and my old lady was discussing this new idea in education and she allows as how, windows or no windows, the real reason Johnny can't read is because Johnny, dad blast him, won't study. But my old lady is old-fashioned in these matters, Mister Editor.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

From observation one must conclude that men are born optimists—they marry chatter-box type girls and expect them to be silent partners.

Place Pigs on Diet

Putting pigs on a diet! Researchers at Michigan State University are decreasing the digestibility and the energy content of hog feeds by increasing the amount of fiber in the ration.

J. A. Hoefer, MSU animal husbandry researcher, found that corn and cob meal was an economical feed for producing a lean hog. Just plain corn was the most efficient, but the resulting hogs were fatter than what the consumer wants to buy.

The researcher also tested rations containing oats, wheat bran, alfalfa meal, and the alfalfa ration pelleted. The pellets did the best job of producing fast gains and lean carcasses—even better than corn and cob meal. But the cost of making the pellets more than offset these gains.

In testing different rations, Hoefer compared rate of gain, feed efficiency and the quality of the carcass produced. The hogs were fed a corn ration supplemented with protein, minerals, and antibiotics until they reached a weight of 125 pounds. Hoefer concludes that the high corn rations will get the hogs off to a fast start. Then the high fiber rations are used to finish the hogs for market.

But why these high fiber diets? Hoefer says one of the big problems facing the swine industry today is a case of "just too much fat." Consumers want a leaner, more muscular hog.

The problem could be solved by breeding, but this takes years. The other solution, according to Hoefer, is the nutritional approach. Farmers can either restrict the amount of feed they give to their hogs, or they can feed a ration low in calories.

Restricting the amount of feed is difficult to control. Low energy rations are not.

HIS CHOICE

Every man has his rights—he can guess wrong, but he must also suffer the consequences.

10,000 MILES IS THE MAGIC FIGURE

After 10,000 miles of driving, an automobile engine has taken a severe beating with considerable wear to its moving parts.

Distributor points have made 112 million contacts, every spark plug has fired 14 million high voltage sparks, the water pump has pumped 400,000 gallons of water, the fuel pump 700 gallons of gas and each valve has opened and closed 14 million times.

That is why your engine needs a complete tune-up after this mileage to restore original performance, keep fuel economy at maximum and guard against engine failure on the road.

To be effective, a tune-up must be performed by a trained mechanic with the best equipment available. He must usually replace the plugs, clean the fuel pump sediment bowl, check fuel pump pressure and adjust valve lash. The points and condenser must be replaced and the new points set for the proper opening. A gauge check of the timing and electrical system must be made with necessary adjustment to both.

A quality tune-up involves several hours work and there are no short cuts possible if the job is to be done properly. Obviously, short cuts all the way down to a quick check of points and plugs can be made by a garage interested only in turning out a "bargain-priced" job.

But this kind of job is no bargain. It is throwing money away while the essential work of re-tuning your engine goes undone. Your only bargain is in buying quality service.

Cass City After Dark

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

A Blank Page?

By Dave Kraft

My wife had a neighborhood party last Thursday. You know what a neighborhood party is, don't you?

That's where a bunch of women go to someone else's house and sit around in a big circle, playing a game called "plastic roulette."

The demonstrator shows her samples and then gives the girls an order blank. The girls sit lunched over their blanks, pencils poised.

Instead of "Charge!", she yells, "Time to order," and the girls start buying like crazy. The object is to spend as much money as possible.

The roulette part comes in when they go home and tell their husbands how much they've bought. Unless he's loaded, he'll probably blow his brains out.

Just before the party my wife gave me my alternatives. "You can go to so-and-so's and watch television or you can go to what's-his-name's and watch television or you can stay home and watch television."

Some choice. I don't know so-and-so very well. What's-his-name doesn't like me and I knew I'd go out of my mind listening to those women spend their husbands' money.

I spent the night out on the town. As a result, I'm going to write a 365-page expose called "Cass City After Dark."

I drove up and down every street in Cass City and I hit every coffee joint in town.

All I can say is, whatever they do in Cass City after dark on a Thursday, they sure don't do it where anybody's going to see them.

I think what I'll do is put 365 blank pages in a book and sell it as a do-it-yourself expose kit.

A LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF TUSCOLA COUNTY

On August 7th, Republicans of this county will select the man they want as their sheriff's candidate. Their decision will be an important one—it will directly affect the future of this county's law enforcement.

Today's sheriff's department receives heavy demands from the public it serves. Besides the regular job of enforcing all laws fairly and equitably it must also be able to provide a vigorous program of crime prevention. It must be geared to meet emergency situations of all types; be prepared to cope with the problems connected with the increased use of our highways and waterways; be able to provide immediate and complete civil service for our courts and to engage in a program of constantly trying to improve its level of effectiveness. As the central police agency of the county, the sheriff's department must strive for improved cooperation between all police bodies serving the county and take the lead in developing programs which will provide better qualified and trained personnel.

The past few years the problems connected with a sheriff's department have been very close to me. As county license examiner I've had the privilege of serving hundreds of county drivers and have had the interesting work of maintaining the bureau's records. For the past year and a half, Mrs. Marr and I have lived at the jail and become all too familiar with the problems of operating and maintaining the jail. We have made every effort to give the jail constant and conscientious care.

Today's high cost of government demands that every tax dollar be spent so that it will bring maximum return to the taxpayer. As a former supervisor and township official, I am well aware of this and understand the need for economy and for making every penny count.

Both as a former farmer and businessman, I have come to know the needs and problems of the county's rural and urban folks. Having lived in this county for many years, I believe that I know what people want and am qualified to provide the type of leadership county folks want from their sheriff's department.

During the past few weeks I've had the pleasure of meeting many of you. During this time I have made no commitments and promises other than that I shall, if elected, endeavor to administer the sheriff's department to the very best of my ability.

When you decide upon the man you want as your next sheriff, I hope that you will give due consideration to the many things involved. It is good to see so many candidates for this post. I believe it gives the public the opportunity of choice so necessary for a good democratic government.

My sincere thanks for the hundreds who have expressed their kind support and who have worked on my behalf. I hope that I shall be able personally to meet many more county citizens in the weeks remaining before the August 7th primary.

Food fads can be harmful. Why? Because each of the four basic food groups . . . (1) fruits and vegetables, (2) breads and cereals, (3) meat, (4) milk . . . provides you with certain nutrients the others lack. If you eliminate one food group from your diet, you may rob your body of some essential nutrients. A balanced diet, after all, is the first rule of good nutrition. And what you eat affects your weight far less than how much. So, if you must watch your weight, cut down on the quantity, not the quality of your meals. And remember: you never outgrow your need for the 86 essential nutrients in milk—fresh milk.

Legislature Okays Two-Year Medical Facility at MSU—Frowns on Expansion

By Elmer E. White
Michigan Press Association
Michigan's fourth medical education facility is well on the way toward becoming a reality at Michigan State University.

The Legislature has specified, in the 1962-63 appropriation for MSU, that the proposed two-year preclinical medical school shall not be expanded to a four-year training program without prior legislative approval.

University officials, with little choice, plan to abide by this dictate.

MSU's Institute of Biology and Medicine is scheduled to officially start operation in 1964 to prepare medical doctors, biologists, nurses and medical technicians.

Dr. Richard U. Byerrum, acting director of the Institute, said he consulted a group of leading medical educators to help work out details for the new program.

"Since our approach is new, we wanted to know if it would be acceptable to medical educators," he said.

The educators consulted, from medical schools at various universities throughout the country, were "generally enthusiastic" about the MSU plans, Byerrum said.

The Institute will be designed to help relieve the national and state shortage of medical doctors and biologists. Because the two-year program will instruct in only preclinical work, it will not require extensive hospital teaching facilities.

Students who complete it, however, will be ready to fill the many vacancies which occur annually at the third-year level in the nation's medical schools.

One bit of advice offered by Dr. Morton Levitt, assistant dean of Wayne State University's medical school, will likely be incorporated as plans for the Institute program develop, Byerrum said.

Levitt recommended that the medical program in the Institute follow traditional patterns since students will be going to other schools for their final two years of training.

MSU plans several modifications in the Institute program which are not generally used.

Appointment of the year in state government may be that of Gary D. Hansen as director of Michigan's Commission on Aging.

The Commission, which deals with services for the senior citizens of Michigan, previously has had individuals with personal "experience" as members or leading it. Most participants in the Commission work are "up in years" or nearing the age which the unit is designed to serve. Hansen is 25.

His age, however, appears to have little to do with his qualifications for the job. If education and work records are any indication, Hansen is well qualified.

At his young age, Hansen has completed requirements for his doctoral degree at the University of Minnesota, where he taught for three years. His major in undergraduate study was sociology.

Prior to his appointment with the Michigan Commission, Hansen was supervisor of a demonstration-research project on chronic illness and aging problems in rural Minnesota.

The new director has written extensively on aging, social security and rural retirement, including a book on aging in the Midwest which is now being published.

Secretary of State James M. Hare has a reassuring warning for Michigan drivers traveling outside the state.

The warning is an annual one: Michigan's point system is applied against traffic violations committed in other states and provinces of Canada under cooperative agreements between the governmental units.

The reassuring part of Hare's warning is that the points added to a driver's record are based on Michigan's system. The Secretary of State's office recently has had several questions from motorists charged with violations in Ontario, where provincial officials recently stiffened the penalties under the "driver demerit-point" system.

"The point system in use in the state where the conviction was received has no bearing on the points he receives in his home state of Michigan," Hare said.

"If the driver has been convicted of driving through a stop sign in Toronto, he gets the same 3 points he would if convicted of the same offense in Alpena."

A little-known service of state government has been offered for the past 14 years to a select group of citizens as a cooperative project of the Conservation Department and State Library.

This is a library service in effect this summer at 42 state parks scattered throughout Michigan.

State Librarian Genevieve M. Casey said the average park library this year has about 250 books. The collections include fiction and nonfiction on subjects of a wide range.

Under the program, the State Library in effect "loans" some 8,200 books to the Conservation Department for the summer and early fall months. They are returned to the Library in Lansing in October or November.

Miss Casey said the program has been expanded each year since it was started, to provide more books and more locations available to the campers using state parks.

The books are available at the manager's office at state parks.

WANDERING WITH WARREN

A Crimson Cape Brings Back Memories

By Ilene Warren

Have you ever had to sort through the accumulation of several years of living and tried to decide, when moving, what to take with you -- what to store -- and what to throw away? That's what I've been doing the past couple of weeks. We're planning to live in California for a time and I've been sorting through papers, keepsakes and - let's face it - just plain junk!

One of the items thrown away was a silk crimson cape that was part of a costume or uniform that my father-in-law wore for one of the many lodges and societies to which he belonged. I once used the cape as part of a Halloween costume and it was used when kids visiting wanted to play "dressing up." It was with reluctance that I threw the piece of brilliant cloth into the fire - its brilliance continued in the flames as it burned with a strange greenish glow edged with a beautiful blue. It must have been the gold braid that caused the lovely colors in the fire.

As I watched the green and blue flames I thought about the man who once wore the cape: Charlie Warren. He was an Irishman's Irishman . . . yet most heartily proud that he lived in the U. S. A. He was a policeman in Highland Park and later managed a bus terminal. I never met the man but he is familiar to me through stories, snapshots and the newspaper tribute made to his memory following his death in the early 40's.

Shortly before our marriage, Ron took me to visit one of his father's old cronies. This fellow was a member of the quartet in which Charlie Warren sang. This was in 1945 - not long after the end of World War II, and Mr. Shields hadn't seen Ron for three or four years - nothing would satisfy him until he had called in the rest of the quartet. There was quite a gathering of the clan - music clan, that is. Everyone sang - they even coaxed me into pounding a tune on the piano! But the thing I remember most is an anecdote they related about my father-in-law. The quartet was singing for some shindig at the Masonic Temple and the tune was "Sleep, Kentucky Babe." The surviving members of that quartet were still chuckling about how Charlie flew away - it seems that my father-in-law, who was the tenor, became carried away on the chorus and when he sang "fly away," he really soared into the heavens and left the others low and dry! I guess he was quite a fellow - I wish I could have known him.

Recently, Charlie Chaplin received a Doctor of Letters degree from Oxford University. Another honorary degree recipient was Secretary of State Dean Rusk. After the ceremonies, Chaplin and Rusk enjoyed a friendly chat. Unfortunately, there was no photograph to record this visit - it seems a nix had been given on photographing the chit-chat individuals because it would be joyed by these two newsworthy politically unfortunate if Dean Rusk were shown in association

HERE...TODAY!

The Final Step to assure the Finest Gasolines ever sold!

Today's cars need gasolines free of microscopic particles that used to be no problem. These contaminants clog the filter car makers put in fuel lines to protect precision carburetors. Filter clogging cuts power and acceleration, can even stop your car.

American Oil Research found a solution—the American FINAL/FILTER, the red filter you'll see on the pump nozzle only at Standard Oil Dealers. At no extra cost, AMERICAN® Brand Gasolines are Final Filtered as they go into your tank. Look for the American FINAL/FILTER—the gasoline improvement you can actually see!

You expect more from Standard and you get it!

This year one of the Tuscola County Home Economics Extension homemakers won one of the scholarships sponsored by the Woman's National Farm and Garden Associations. Mrs. Clinton Manwell of Mayville has this honor. As far as I can find out, this is the first time Tuscola county has had this scholarship won by one of its homemakers. Mrs. Manwell will leave July 24 for four days on the Campus of Michigan State University to attend the 35th annual Homemakers Conference.

Every year the Tuscola County Home Economics Extension Council sponsors scholarships for two of its officers. This year Mrs. Alfred Brink of the Wisner group and Mrs. Silverius Lucius of the Silverwood group will be representing the county council.

The title of the 35th annual Homemakers Conference is "College Week for Women." It is designed to provide leadership training, contribute understanding and appreciation for community and world problems and to provide an opportunity to become better acquainted with your Land Grant University.

Miss Eunice Heywood, Director, Division of Home Economics Programs, Federal Extension Service U.S.D.A., will speak Tuesday afternoon, July 24, on "The Challenge of Lifelong Learning." Tuesday evening, Mrs. Charles H. Rutledge, Manager Information Services, General Advertising and Promotion, DuPont Company, Wilmington, Delaware, will speak on "I Remember Mama."

Thursday afternoon, Mrs. George Axinn will speak on "Families in a Changing Nigeria." Nancy and her husband have spent a year and a half in Nigeria, helping the Nigerian Government in setting up a university, so she will be speaking from firsthand knowledge of the families in Nigeria.

By the way do you know what is a "good food buy?" There is no one answer because a wise buy for you may be a poor buy for a neighbor. A "wise buy" this week may not be a wise buy next week. If you would like some "key clues" on what is a good buy - here they are:

1. What foods can be substituted nutritionally for other foods for a balanced diet.

2. The difference between "marked price" and cost-per-serving.

3. Seasons of abundance to get top flavor and lowest cost.

4. The many natural "signs of quality" in foods.

5. When the "built-in-maid service" of convenience foods costs less than the time we would need to prepare these foods.

6. That storage will prevent food waste.
