Heloise Bresley speaks with Arthelia Ramsey at G.O.P. breakfast.

Mrs. Tiemann Liked In Ord Appearance

A full house of Republican women turned out to hear Mrs. Norbert Tiemann Saturday morning at the Presbyterian church and were not disappointed.

Mrs. Tiemann spoke interestingly about the life of a First Lady, telling its many facets. First she spoke of the importance of being a good wife, whether your husband was governor or not. Then she talked of being a good mother. She went on to tell about being a hostess, about being a political figure.

One of the items she mentioned was that there were 10,000 visitors at the mansion of the Nebraska governor last year, some only to tour, some for tea, some for dinners or luncheons, all of which must be carefully arranged. She described her staff, a housekeeper, a cook, a cleaning lady who comes in by the day, two house boys who are the cream of the crop of trustees from the Nebraska State Penitentiary. She said she really missed cooking, and once in a while managed to get the kitchen for an hour or two, when the help was off.

Appearing in a tailored navy dress trimmed with a thick white lace at the throat and cuffs, she made a pleasant picture to see as well as to hear.

There were about 110 in the audience. One of the church circles served fresh sweet rolls and coffee, plus a fruit cocktail. Decorations were effective banners proclaiming "Be a Blooming Republican" etc. cleverly made by Mrs. Floyd Beranek. This theme was carried out with a flower at each place and assorted bouquets.

Six young vocalists from the high school also looked like spring flowers as they sang, this was the entertainment arranged by Mrs. Carson Rogers.

Mrs. Dean Bresley, presided and introduced Mrs. Tiemann, plus other officers.

Rains Have Improved Crop Outlook

Recent rains made Quiz area farmers optimistic, but they'd appreciate still more moisture. That's the consensus of opinion.

"My alfalfa is fine now but it could use more water" averred Ray Melia, who said the ground was in good condition since the rains of last week. He is busy with fertilizing and rototilling. It is too early for him to plant about 200 acres of corn, but when the ground gets warmer, say in 10 to 14 days, he plans to get the corn in the ground.

Dick Peterson hasn't started planting yet but thinks the soil is in fair condition. The rains improved his pastures a lot. But winter wheat suffered from the dry windy days lately, he stated. Gerald John, working on his

Ord Schools To Have ETV In Classrooms Next Year

The Ord schools are in the process of joining the Nebraska Council for Educational Television for 1968-69. Closed circuit TV will be available in both elementary and high school buildings, with probably six receivers at high school, five at the Ord elementary and one at Comstock. One antenna would work for the whole installation.

There will be one video recorder in each building, so that anything may be taken off the air and played back later; the TVs will be movable from room to room. Thus something like the President's speech to Congress could be recorded, played back later, says Superintendent Roger Clough.

There are several reasons Mr. Clough feels this program is desirable.

Live programs could be recorded, either from ETV or from one national channel Ord elects to join. They could be played back at the convenience of the teacher and the class.

Teachers could televise themselves play it back, see their faults and be helped thus. Student teachers would also find this helpful.

Ord could videotape its own athletic contests. Currently games are being filmed at a cost of roughly $60 per game. Tapes could be erased and re-used.

Some TV screens were posted in each classroom last year, ready to use.

After the new installation each pupil will be able to manage a loop of slides himself, running off any subject he needs.

Such tapes would be available for use by the Chamber of Commerce, would be valuable in selling new industries on locating in Ord. They too would get a good idea of Ord and vicinity.

The cost will run from $15,000 to $19,000, however Ord will not need to have a bond levy. By using a two-mil levy for two years, the financial pain will not be great. Two Superintendent Clough points out, our school levy for next year will be a low 27 mills, though it has been 33 mills. This contrasts with the 40-50 mills many Nebraska schools use.

The government will pay 45% for such an installation; the city council has agreed to $5,000 with a matching $5,000 charged to the school. This comes under the National Defense Education Act, Title III.

For Ord to join the Nebraska Council for Educational TV next year will cost $2 per pupil, or about $1,800. Ord will then be able to help choose and prepare according to local needs, the programs most desired here. Usually TV lessons are only 15 minutes long. But they have the advantage of being fitted to any special teaching situation, such as an advanced class, a retarded group. Mr. Clough says they will also be a big talking point when he interviews prospective teachers, for it is a recognized new tool of the teaching profession.

There are many fine things which you mean to do some day — when you think the circumstances will be more favorable. But the only time that is surely yours is the present. So, this is the time to speak that word of appreciation and sympathy to do that generous deed, to forgive the fault of a thoughtless friend, to sacrifice yourself a little more for others.

Today is the day in which to express your best qualities of mind and heart, to do at least one worthy thing which you have postponed so long; and to use your God-given abilities to help that less fortunate fellow. Today you can make your life significant and worthwhile. The present is to do with as you wish.

For all we know, today may be the opportunity and occasion of our lives. So why day as if our lives depended on not use every moment of its words and deeds!

Isn't it great the women are so fashion conscious these days. These are two of the latest fashion flashes: A woman never knows what kind of dress she doesn't want until she buys it. Your dresses should be tight enough to show you're a woman — and loose enough to show you're a lady.

Mrs. John Iwanski contributed this week's recipe for Pineapple Apricot Dessert.

1 pkg. orange jello
1 c. hot water
1 c. combined pineapple and apricot juice
Add 1 c. crushed pineapple, 1 c. mashed apricots and 1/2 c. of small marshmallows.
Topping: 1/2 c. sugar, 3 T.

cornstarch; 1 slightly beaten egg; 2 T. butter; 1 c. combined pineapple and apricot juice. Cook over low heat until thick, now cool and fold in one package of Dream Whip. Put grated cheese or chopped nuts on top.

It wasn't until she was seated at the Veterans Club one Wednesday evening that she discovered her two black shoes were not mates — one shoe had a definite pointed look while the other was gently rounded. "If I win at bingo tonight, someone of you will have to claim my prize for me," she told her friends. But, the friends refused to help so, she walked to the front to claim her prizes, not once but twice during the evening in spite of her embarrassment. I'd keep on wearing those lucky "misfits" if I were you, Evelyn!

While the present editor and I attended the Nebraska Press Women's meeting in Lincoln a weekend ago we heard a talk given by Twyla Lubben of Beatrice. Her topic, "Faith and 37 Children."

Over a period of 21 years, Twyla and her husband have given a home to 37 children; six from Foster Care. Presently they have six adopted children at home, the youngest being ten months. They have in many instances taken children no one else wanted, regardless of color or handicap.

Now when I think myself "bogged down" with work I pause a minute. Maybe I don't really know the word "busy" really means!

Scott Talks On Perils Of America

Paul Scott flew from Washington, D. C. Thursday to tell an Ord audience about the perils our government is moving into at present.

"I know I sound like an alarmist," he stated several times during the evening, but then he would proceed to document his statements.

"We must have order in Washington first, if our government is to be able to go on; we cannot let these riots and burnings continue. Looters and firebirds must be punished, for if we cannot control our national capital we are going to have chaos throughout our land.

"This soft approach simply will not do.

"Nor will it do to send to the peace table the two communist associated men who have been chosen. How can they be unbiased at the peace talks when one of them lives with a woman known to be a Communist and the other man was the only U.S. businessman to get a fortune out of Russia, amounting to only $90 million?"

Speaking of the war in Vietnam, Mr. Scott said it could be abruptly ended if we would block the Haiphong harbor, where 75% of the material that enemies use is received. "Without supplies, they can't fight long."

He urged his audience to write to Congressmen or the President and express their concern. "Urge them to end this war. Urge them to clean up our capital. Tell them to stop this soft line with offenders and restore order."

Mr. Scott also declared that a return to religion and the old established values was needed, that only through love and concern for others can the world be cleaned up. He said this would have to be done individually, that each of us must help those less fortunate.

His talk and question and answer period occupied two hours. The meeting was held at St. Mary's auditorium and there was a good sized audience present to hear the famed columnist writer from Washington, D. C.

Governor Tiemann Orders Review of Nebraska's New Tax Rebate Program

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann has ordered a review of Nebraska's new tax rebate program for cities and counties. If the check shows funds under the program are being allocated inequitably, he said, the 1969 legislature probably will be asked to revise the law.

Preliminary figures from the State Tax Commissioner's Office indicate the law will be a bonanza for many of the state's smaller towns at the expense of larger cities and counties. "There may be some room for question as to the accuracy of these figures," Tiemann said. "In any event they are being rechecked." The rebate program is designed to compensate cities and counties for revenue lost through repeal of the state household goods, intangible property and head taxes by the 1967 legislation.

Funds for the program will come from the new sales income tax system, and is expected to total $10 million a year. The money is distributed among the 93 counties under a formula giving equal weight to population and assessed valuations. The county shares are then divided 20 percent to county government and the remaining 80 percent to the cities and villages on a strict census count.

The Tax Commissioner's Office estimates this will result in counties receiving $2.9 million less than they got under the old taxes, while the cities get $2.6 million more. "Because of the discrepancies here it is time we took another look at how they arrived at the figures," Tiemann said. "Theoretically the most satisfactory distribution would return to the cities and counties exactly what they lost in repealed taxes." Tiemann said he did not know how the legislature arrived at the rebate distribution formula. The Nebraska County Officials' association has said it may ask the 1969 unicameral to increase the tax allocation with the extra funds going to the counties.

However, Tiemann said it is too early to talk about a bigger appropriation "until we have seen the performance of our tax laws." He said this same approach applies to other new tax supported projects, such as state aid to schools. Tiemann also said it will be late this year before his office can determine the level of income and sales tax rates necessary to finance state government in 1969.

"We need at least a year's experience under our new tax laws before we can arrive at an intelligent decision," he said. The 2 1/2 percent sales tax has been in effect 10 months and the income tax three months. Together they are expected to raise $100 million a year.

Meat Inspection Legislation To Be Sought

The State Agriculture Department reports it will ask the 1969 legislature to strengthen Nebraska's meat inspection laws to prevent federal intervention. "Without such legislation, the operation of all meat processing plants in Nebraska will pass under federal control by default," said Dr. S. H. Flora, chief of the Bureau of animal industry.

A new federal law gives the states two years to improve their meat inspection standards. Dr. Flora said the provisions must include before and after checks on dead animals whose meat is destined for human consumption. "The wholesome meat act confronts the lawmakers of Nebraska with a weighty decision," State Agriculture Director Emer Schlapphoff said.

"The problem is to shape up Nebraska's standards of sanitation and inspection . . . or be prepared for the assumption of these functions by the federal government."

Airport Terminal Funds To McCook

The State Aeronautics Commission has appropriated $18,000 to the city of McCook for a new airport terminal building. C. Howard Vest, state aeronautics director, said the money will be matched with $35,000 in local funds. Last year the commission granted McCook $15,000 for the project, which is part of a general airport improvement program under way in the south-west Nebraska community. Vest said work on the terminal building will start as soon as possible. He said the present facility is too small to handle increased traffic.

On another matter, the commission has agreed to seek the attorney general's advice on whether it may charge interest on money loaned to cities for hangar improvements. Presently the aeronautics department loans the money interest-free to communities that demonstrate a need. The repayment period is 10 years. Vest said the money comes from a revolving fund.

School Funds Allocated

The Nebraska Education Department has announced that

$3,981,004 will be allocated this year to eligible schools from the state temporary school fund. The fund is financed by rental receipts from the 1.5 million acres of state-owned school land. Last year's appropriation was $3,600,087.

Dr. Floyd A. Miller, state education commissioner, said $785,881 will be divided among the 85 counties with school land on the basis of what the property would have yielded to the schools had it been on the tax rolls. Another $773,000 will be distributed equally among the 1,915 operating public school districts in the state, or $404 per school. The latter figure compares with $371 in 1967. The remainder of the fund, Dr. Miller said, will be allocated according to the number of school-age persons between five and 20 years old in a county.

The share for each school-age person is $5.64, compared with $5.77 last year. Dr. Miller said the 1967 school census showed there were 410,902 school-age persons. The temporary school fund presently is the only state fund that goes to Nebraska school districts. It covers less than four percent of a school's per pupil cost.

However, beginning in December, millions of dollars in state assistance will be pumped into the schools through the new aid to education law. Initially the outlay will be $25 million, with the money coming from the sales income tax collections.

Bits of information gathered here and there will be our attempt to keep you up to date on events of interest to farmers, ranchers, feeders, and backyard gardeners.

Danger in Handling Corn Rootworm Insecticides:
During May, corn growers will be handling two types of corn rootworm insecticides — organic phosphates and carbamates. Many of these are highly toxic. Small amounts of the product are capable of causing illness or even death.

A few precautions are: (1) check the labels, (2) wear washable coveralls, gloves, and headgear, have clothing washed often, (3) when filling hoppers, work so the air movement carries the dust away from you, (4) keep clean, (5) store all corn rootworm materials where children, pets and livestock cannot get to them.

For Fattening:
Melengestrol Acetate (MGA) has value in fattening heifers. The Food and Drug Administration approved the addition of hormone derivative, 3 to 1/2 milligram per head per day to support heat and stimulate growth in heifers. MGA also increases feed efficiency and feed intake in addition to suppressing heat. A summary of 18 trials shows this increases gain 11.2% and feed efficiency by 7.6%.

Finishing heifer rations containing MGA will return from $3 - 4 per each $1.00 invested; MGA must be removed from feed 48 hours before animals are marketed.

Color Can Be Key:
Look for the blue tag when you buy seed for any crop; the blue tag on the bag means seed produced by a certification agency and tested for germination and purity. Blue Tag seed is available in our area, directories are at the Extension office.

Spring: Robins
The robin is traditionally the harbinger of spring, but after it follows the aphid. Aphids (plant lice) are usually the first spring insect damaging flowers and shrubs in the home garden. They insert their sharp "beak" into plant tissue, sucking the plant sap. Nearly all kinds of garden and ornamental plants are subject to attack by some species of aphid. Now is the time to plan the attack on these ever-present pests in the yard and garden.

Several must contact each insect. Sprays of malathion, diazinon, lindane, nicotine sulfate, rotenone, and pyrethrum are all effective. Just follow the label directions for mixing with water and spray thoroughly.

Plan the aphid war now — a dead aphid in time will prevent more than nine.

Clover Mites:
Another little pest to be on the lookout for is the clover mite. This annoying little creature smaller than a pinhead is frequently a household pest. In homes, they overrun floors, walls, furniture, window panes and get into beds and clothing. They do not bite people, transmit diseases, or feed on household furnishings or pantry supplies, but they are a nuisance. Infestation of these mites inside buildings can be reduced by thoroughly spraying the lower exterior walls, the foundation and 10-20 feet of adjacent lawn with chlorobenzilate, Dimite, Diazinon or Malathion. Control indoors should be concentrated around cracks, by windows and doors.

Preferred insecticides for indoor control are 1 percent Lindane, or 2 percent Chlorodane. Applications may be necessary every week or two.

Horse Club to Reorganize:
The Valley Riders light horse club will be holding their reorganizational meeting May 6th at

Chanting with the Chants

By Donna Johnson

Greetings once again from O.H.S. As we near the end of this school year, the activities of Ord High are fewer than during football or basketball season. We now have approximately 2 1/2 weeks of school (the seniors, that is) and only 3 weeks until graduation!

OHS
The Junior class play Friday night was one of the final big projects of this school year. A large crowd attended the play, "Carnival Queen" and the costuming and characters, as well as the lines, kept the crowd "rolling in the aisles". The hard work put in by the cast, crews, student directors, and Mr. Walsh, the director, produced a real successful play. I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the Junior class and the Senior class to thank you, Mr. Walsh, for everything you did to make it possible for us to have Junior and Senior class plays!

OHS
The annual G.A.A. (Girls Athletic Association) banquet will be held Thursday night, May 2, in the girls' gym. The banquet is for all members of G.A.A. and the Senior members bring their mothers. Next year's officers will be announced in next week's column.

OHS

OHS
The juniors will be had at work in the girls' gym next week, decorating for the Junior Senior Prom, May 11. A lot of planning and preparation have already gone into the Prom as invitations were passed out, theme was chosen, and decorations were decided upon and purchased. The Prom is always THE highlight of the year and we are all looking forward to a fun and memorable evening!

Kathy Kokes is a freshman sophomore who will help.

Among junior girls are Janice Parks of Scottsbluff and Arlene Paider of Ord.

Daisy chain members are chosen by their organizations because of faithful service. Ivy chain holders are similarly chosen from seniors, and stand in a double row to make a path for the younger coeds.

Even a married woman is entitled to her own private affairs.

Once the phone rings for the lady of the house, it works like Pavlov's bell. The whole gang (including the dog) decides they're hungry. They swarm around the kitchen noisily feeding their canine appetites while they're whetting their appetites for gossip, and that's the end of mother's privacy.

Even if you don't go for the idea of not being in on Mom's conversations, she's still got a right to say what she wants without a clammering, chomping audience around.

Make a special sacrifice for Mother's Day. Give up on eavesdropping forever and get her an extension phone for the bedroom.

Far away from the kitchen. And far away from the kiddies.

One call to your General Telephone business office takes care of the whole thing. We play up the gift idea by sending out a miniature toy phone with a gift card first. Just to let her know the real phone is on its way.

Leaving her to her own private affairs can make her feel like that old, used-to-be, single, independent self again.

That's something every mother needs. Even if it's only for a couple of minutes a day.

Give her an extension phone for Mother's Day. General Telephone

Oh Those Serenades

It is definitely exciting to watch all Mexico get ready for the Olympics next fall. In every way these people are working to paint up, fix up and welcome a raft of visitors.

Sixty thousand visitors are expected for each day of the games. 50,000 beds are already reserved! Some 2,000 newspapermen will publicize the competition, they figure.

To help solve traffic problems through the devious narrow streets, a system of colors will be used. Red streets or blue streets to certain events will make routes clear to the traveller, with balloons marking the turns of the route. New subways are being dug, from the center of the city to the perimeter.

Mexico is famous for its balloons, you know, and manufactures a good share of those used all over the world. They keep making them bigger and brighter, gaudy and painted up. Balloons will also be used for marking.

Twenty huge sculptures of cement and steel will be created by renowned artists in prominent locations, before Oct. 11 and the Olympics.

Mariachi bands will serenade girls on their birthdays, from travelling platforms as much as six stories high. Anniversaries will also be marked this way. Musicians unions have already volunteered for this service. Mariachi music is fun! They play for all church and civic meetings.

In a special ceremony at the Zocalo (famous public square) 30,000 Mexican schoolboys will do uniform gymnastics to honor guests at the Olympics. They are practicing madly.

Mexico plans a spectacular torch ceremony, to celebrate the Olympics. It will be held the day before the athletes compete, at Teotihuacan, a nearby sacred city built 2,100 years ago by the Aztecs. The torch will be brought by relay from the port of Veracruz through the valley of the Pyramids, following the footsteps of Columbus. The relay of runners will officially open the 1968 Olympics in a showy manner.

Meanwhile, new hotels are going up, also new motels and many new apartments. Places already operating are expanding, so that more visitors may sleep, or eat. Dining rooms are getting fancier.

All over Mexico new highways are being hurried to completion, and old ones smoothed. By the way, their road signs are good and there are plenty of them.

In every way Mexico is hurrying to be ready to welcome the world, come, Olympia-time.

Those smiling friendly neighbors of ours are determined THEIR Olympics will be noteworthy in every way.

The obvious and certain method of avoiding being a victim of fraud in chimney, roof and furnace repair is to deal with established contractors of the local area. Their prime interest is your satisfaction. They stand behind their work and can be depended upon to see that the need is there and that the quality and price of the work done is right.

Must He Be Handsome?

What does it take to gain the presidency of these United States?

Quite a different set of qualifications than once were effective.

Once it was a job for a statesman. Then it was a job for a politician, hand-picked by a few. Now it seems to be a job for a rich man. And a photogenic man. And a trained speaker. And a beautiful man. Possibly even a man with a haircut.

Did the woman's vote accomplish all this? Are we responsible for this handsome man image, girls?

Discuss Everything, Solve Nothing At Store Sat. Night

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing a little of everything and, as usual, wasn't solving a thing.

First off, Ed Armstrong reported he had saw this piece in the papers where 70 per cent of the babies born last year in the big hospitals in Baltimore and Washington didn't have no legal Pa and the mothers and babies was immediate added to the welfare rolls. He alleged as how he was in favor of helping the poor folks with welfare that was in a bad fix on account of situations they couldn't control, but he said welfare had got to the place where it was a way of life for folks that equal was bums.

Howard Paulson was agreed with Ed, said he had saw where a feller in the armed forces with a family and was fighting for his country could get $28 a month more on welfare than he was getting for serving his country.

And Allen Dunbar predicted we was coming up in this country with what they probable would call Crook Care. He said if some no good went to prison for a crime, his family was immediate eligible for the welfare handout. He was of the opinion that if one of these bums was having trouble paying his bills and supporting his family he could do some crime like busting open a mailbox and his family would be eligible for Crook Care.

Personal, Mister Editor, it's mighty hard for the average working man to tell where all this give-away program should start and where it should end. I think all of us wants to do what was right and Christian, but I was reading where they was twist as many people holding down two jobs as they was people holding down no job. And a heap of times I figger the people holding down two jobs was working in the daytime for themselves and at night for the welfare bums.

I don't know nothing about high finance, but it seems to me the whole thing eventual will boil down to how much taxation the people can stand. I was reading this piece by a tax expert and he said when President Wilson and the Congress first put on a Federal tax levy in 1913 the American people was told the tax would never get beyond the 10 per cent figger. In that year the average

Federal tax levy averaged 82 cent per person in the United States and bring the Government $20 million. A unmarried feller making $5,000 a year in 1913 paid $20 Federal tax. Today, he said, the average per capita tax was $134, and in 1966 bring the Government $85.5 billion. And the $5,000 feller in 1913 that paid $20 paid $671 in 1966. And instead of holding at the 10 per cent figger promised in 1913, it goes as high as 70 per cent now. How long can we stand it?

Yours truly,

An Outstanding 3-Way Cross "Stands Good, High Yield"

Said Dean Gross of Ord, Nebr.

Gross compared many varieties in his fields before selecting Cargill 422 as his favorite. He likes 422 because of the consistently high yield and the way 422 stands good for easy harvesting. Best and driest corn he had this year, made over 135 bushel per acre.

Lloyd Muller of Grand Island, Nebr. — 422 made 180 bushel to the acre with 18% moisture.

Don Papernik of Ord, Nebr. says — 422 best and driest corn, made over 140 bushel. Combined excellent.

Congressman DAVE MARTIN Reports

Corporation for Public Broadcasting: Last week on the floor of the House we considered extending for one year the authorization to set up a corporation for public broadcasting.

This is a new program, and the authorization amount is $9 million. The purpose of the bill is to assist in developing educational programs; to facilitate the availability of educational programs to noncommercial stations, and to assist in the distribution of educational television and radio programs.

This would be a government corporation supported by appropriated funds which could lead to an educational network throughout the country much larger than any commercial television. There is also a very great danger in that as a government controlled corporation, it could be used for propaganda purposes if not very carefully supervised.

The Ford Foundation in 1963 has made grants of over $20 million for this very same purpose, and the Carnegie Foundation has also contributed. The Carnegie Commission report stated, "The Corporation will require from Federal funds approximately $40 million in its first year, and $60 million a year in the following years."

Both foundations feel that there is grave danger in a government supported public broadcasting corporation. I feel very strongly that this should be left up to private enterprise, and supported by non-governmental funds. Like all government programs, this would undoubtedly grow much larger in future years, at a cost to the taxpayers of many times the first year's authorization.

Military Construction:

The House passed last week the Military Construction Act, a bill providing for construction at our military installations both inside and outside the United States. I am happy to report that this year's bill was reduced by over $800 million from the 1967 bill.

Included in the authorization was $31,000 for the construction of an armory at Alliance, Nebraska. Funds were provided for twenty-seven National Guard armories in the United States.

It takes two steps, however, to complete the approval, as the second step is securing the actual appropriation of funds to carry out the authorized bill. The appropriation bill will come later in the session.

KERRY ON

—business world—
"Many of us get the idea," writes William Feather in THE IMPERIAL MAGAZINE, "that the man who does business in six or seven figures is not subject to the same rules as the man who writes checks in two figures. We also assume that it is easier for him to meet a bill for $100,000 than for us to meet a bill for $100."

"Yet the fact is that the man of business with a credit of a million dollars at the bank, builds up and maintains that credit in exactly the same way that a laborer builds up and maintains a credit for $20 at the corner drug store. Both meet their obligations when due, and within their respective limits one is as good a risk as the other.

"The big men have no special advantages, other than those they created by obeying the rules to the letter, asking no exceptions. Their best capital is their reputation for fairness, honesty and square dealing."

Feather, a writer of wide renown, always comes up with philosophical stories such as the preceding. I'm continually amused at his wit and wisdom. For his philosophy is none other than the truths we all aspire to — only too often tend to forget. In the same booklet that contained these thoughts on the basic attributes of fairness, honest and square-dealing, Feather pays tribute to the nation's secretaries — primarily due to the fact that National Secretaries Week was the last week of April. As long as I'm quoting Feather, I'll pass along his words on the importance of these "Girl Fridays" that often are overlooked in this fast-moving business world. Often the motivating force behind an office is the efficient secretary who gets too little credit.

"Thousands of business and professional men would be inconsolable if they lost their faithful secretaries. The attachment is both sentimental and economic. The secretaries of professional men are frequently the business brains of the team. The occasional illiteracy of high-powered business executives is deftly concealed by their competent help-mates. The vulgar and brutal commands that hiss through clenched teeth are transcribed into diplomatic messages worthy of the Court of St. James.

"Hearing all yet hearing nothing, seeing all yet seeing nothing, knowing all yet knowing nothing, the ideal secretary has become a counterpart of the Admirable Crichton. Impersonal, inscrutable, efficient and tactful, she is indispensable. Of all places hers is the hardest to fill. Of all the absences hers is the hardest to bear. Let that be a tribute to her."

With that, I'll say, "Amen." Ever tried to get something from an office when the secretary was out?

Six Flags Over Texas

Six Flags Over Texas opens its 1968 season April 13 with a $2,000,000 array of exciting new rides and attractions.

The 140-acre, $10,000,000 historical theme park, located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, is entering its eighth season. Six Flags has drawn nearly 11,000,000 visitors since opening in 1961. It is now ranked as the most popular single tourist attraction in the Lone Star State. An estimated 2,000,000 will visit the Park this year.

THE Ord Quiz

April - 1968

April, 1968, was something wasn't it? President Johnson started it all. Just 3 hours before April 1, he announced a bombing pause in the Vietnam war, kept talking for half an hour and then announced that he wouldn't be a candidate in the November elections.

Bobby Kennedy apparently 'didn't believe his' TV screen and asked for an appointment with the President so that he could hear Mr. Johnson make the disclaimer in person. The stock market took something the President said as the best news in a lifetime and twice in one week all records of shares sold on Wall Street were broken. Prices leaped for joy. There followed in quick order the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and an emotional binge that ended only with the sobering responsibilities everyone faced on April 16 — the day for homage to the Collector of Internal Revenue.

That wasn't the only homage required. Businessmen had to prepare a Census report, too, and get it into the mail to some address in Indiana. The form filled out in this office — front and back — was roughly the size of Route 40 from Indianapolis to Columbus and the girl who typed what we had pencilled in has been out since with a badly sprained wrist just from rolling the typewriter carriage roller so much.

Riots in 125 cities made headlines, and the second sacking of Washington, with permission of the authorities this time, made more than a few of our readers burn up the telephone lines with their personal editorial comments on that disgrace. Then, by golly the telephone people up and quit, and in some areas of the country nobody could call anybody, anywhere. It was like living in Paris, where you can always write a postcard to someone and get it delivered before you can reach them on the phone.

In our shop here, we had survived all of this, including the full eclipse of the moon, without permanent and disabling effect, until a letter arrived enclosing a tiny little clipping from a magazine. In fact the envelope seemed to be empty, but after a couple of shakes this neat little clipping fell on the desk. It read: "Business is entitled to a great deal of respect. After all, outside of government, it's the only place left where a man can find a job." — Lyndon B. Johnson, President.

If that's what the President thinks of business, he'd better stay on the government payroll and not take his chances hunting a job outside of government.

Peaceful - For How Long?

It seems very far removed from riots and burping out here in the peaceful hinterlands of Nebraska. We hear about it, we are informed, so we fear it and ponder it as we worry about our country and what's happening to it?

But we worry more about local stuff like who will help teach at Bible school, and who will go to camp with the kids to be counselor?

How lucky we are. But will it last? Or should we take steps? This seems like a very good year to vote carefully. Even more, be sure to VOIE. But study it over and try to vote for the future welfare of your country. It could be tremendously important.

A Lesson For Us

One of the Founding Fathers of our country warned a long time ago that internal weaknesses might present a greater threat to the perpetuation of our country than foreign military aggression. We have now had a first-rate example of how internal weakness can wreck a nation. Within a space of 22 years following World War II, the British Empire disintegrated. The obituaries of Britain's decline have been documented in the world's press. What Hitler and his mighty air armada were unable to accomplish — the extinction of Britain as a world power — is now a fact of history. From all accounts, the demise of Britain is traceable largely to socialist leaders. The energy-sapping philosophy of the welfare state which they advocated apparently played an important part in the rapid decline of British fortunes. U.S. citizens should take note that even the mightiest nation can be brought down by its own weaknesses — just as was predicted nearly two centuries ago.

The big event of the week at AHS was the Athletic banquet, Friday evening. It was sponsored by the Arcadia American Legion. Master of ceremonies for the program was Richard Peters. Football season was covered by Dave Tuning, basketball by Ron Hurlburt, and track by Jim Hawley. Coaches Bill Cook and Eldon Kieboez introduced the boys out for each sport.

They are Dave Tuning for football and Ron Hurlburt for basketball. Track season has not been completed, so the track selection was not made.

Main speaker for the evening was William Tuning of the Physical Education Department at the University of Nebraska. He

Friday afternoon thirty juniors and seniors attended a talk by Paul Scott at Ord High school. Mr. Scott, a Washington newspaper correspondent, spoke on current national issues. A question and answer period followed.

The gym has now been declared off-limits to all except the juniors and a few privileged sophomores. With the Junior-Senior prom only hours away they're all busy working. No matter how hectic the preparations, when the doors open Friday night, I'm sure all will be ready for an exciting evening.

Seniors, only six days to go. If there's any piece of mischief left that we haven't managed to accomplish in the past four years, we mustn't neglect it now. This is the last chance. Warning — no flying objects in Modern Problems!

TORNADO Safety Rules

To Know What To Do When a Warning is Received, or a Tornado is Observed, May Mean the Difference Between Life and Death !!

City Tornado Warning Signal

A Solid 2-Minute Blast Of The Siren

(The tornado warning is a non-fluctuating whistle — take shelter immediately.)

If A Tornado Is Sighted Report To CITY POLICE DEPT. — PH. 728-5771

There is no universal protection against tornadoes except caves or underground excavations. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas, debris; and preferably equipped with pick and shovel.

If You Are in Open Country:

1. Move at right angles to the tornadoes path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.
2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If in a City or Town:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a steel reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!
2. In homes: The southwest corner of the lowest floor or in the basement offers greatest safety. People living in brick or stone houses should seek other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar or the basement of a frame house. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Windows on the north and east side of the house may also be opened to help reduce damage to the building.

3. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

If in Schools:

1. In city areas: Especially in school building is of good steel reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on lower floor. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS.
2. In rural districts—remove children and teachers to ravine or ditch if storm cellar is not available.

Keep tuned to your radio KNLV 1060 or tv station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

Stay Under Cover:

When tornadoes strike many persons are killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a torado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case."

NOTICE

Will the public please co-operate by pulling over to the curb when approaching or being followed by emergency vehicles.

Come to Church

This Week's Meditation ...

"Religion? How square!"

Some people do make religion seem as if it ought to be put in mothballs. Does that mean you have to? Sure you're full of social protest. New ideas. Feelings about integrity and justice and today's values. So is religion.

And your church or synagogue can become—if you help—the place where the action is—in solving the important problems in the world, in your community, in your life. Don't knock it. Join it. Worship this week. And put your Faith to work.

Voters Pick On Tuesday

Poor old ex-governor George Wallace isn't going to garner a single vote in Ord next Tuesday when the primary election day rolls around. He can't possibly, because not a single potential voter registered as a member of the American party, says Thelma Dulitz, county clerk of Valley county.

But there are many other choices to make. If you're a Republican - registered voter, you choose between Valentine's Americus Liberator, Richard Nixon, Ronald Reagan and Harold Stassen for president. You decide between Dave Martin, John D. Langford and Roger L. Green for congressman from this huge third district. Martin is a long-time public servant.

To get down to county choices, Alfred Burson would like to be on the county board of supervisors again where he has served long and faithfully, and been chairman. Carson Rogers and Henry Krajnik are competing in the fourth district, and Rogers is currently chairman. In the sixth district, Will Zabloudil, work-horse and veteran Republican campaigner, competes against an experienced former office-holder, William Darges, and Earl Nelson.

Delegates to the county convention are in an amusing race, as nine first warders must be elected from a list of nine: they are Robert E. Anderson, Lowell Johnson, John W. Cook, Cheryl Crane, Richard Crane, Mildred M. French, Glen D. Auble. And the same in the second ward: six must be chosen from six, who are Ray Marshall, Mary Marshall, Glen D. Cochran, Gwendolyn Cochran, Merrill J. Moore, Marie Wagoner. Worst off is the situation in the third ward, where six must be chosen from three competitors, Otis W. Miller, M. D. Beverly Miller and Kay Goodsell.

No contest in Ord township, where Dale L. Karre and Heloise C. Bresley are running and two must be chosen. Nor in North Loup township where Dorothy M. Knapp and Ronald E. Goodrich are listed and seven are needed. Out in Enterprise township three are to be elected from this list, Will R. Foth, Edgar W. Roe, Henry G. Lange, George B. Clement. Only one man is running in Vinton township, Russell W. Haeckel, and two are needed.

At Arcadia, those filing are W. J. Ramsey, Arthelia Ramsey, Shirley Nelson, Max D. Staab, although four are needed. In Yale township only Eldon Foth filed, but two are wanted.

Lively Democrat Ticket
Batting it out on the Democrat primary ballot will be Robert F. Kennedy, Eugene J. McCarthy and Lyndon B. Johnson. It was too late to change the ballots when Mr. Johnson withdrew from the presidential lists.

J. B. Dean would like to be congressman from the third district, the only Democrat to file. Edmund H. Huffman wants to be supervisor for the second district. William S. Voyek has filed for county supervisor from the sixth district.

Democrat delegates to the county convention aren't plentiful either. George Kraul and Jennie Bionard filed in the first ward where six should be voted in. Four filed in the second ward: Frances McCall, Marvin Scheideler, Mary E. Scheideler and Adeline Urbanski. Eight are wanted.

At Elyria Anton Welniak filed; at Granton township Rae Jean Treptow filed; at North Loup H. J. Hoepner and Genevieve M. Hoepner are candidates. In Enterprise township Edmund H. Huffman and Vesta Huffman filed; in Vinton township E. J. Lange and Esther Lange filed.

At Arcadia U. G. Evans and Lealand Evans filed; Paul Owens and Carol Lutz filed in Yale township. Independent township candidates are Mary A. Frazer and Emmett Frazer.

On the non-political ballot of the primary election four are running for the state board of education: Herbert J. Hughes, Roy E. Blizi, Harold V. Smith and Deborah H. Shepherd.

Rudolph C. Kokes, present incumbent, would like to be returned to the Unicameral for another term. He is a local man and will probably score heavily here. He is opposed by Mrs. Louise Corcoran and Fred W. Frost.

Wanting to be a regent of the University of Nebraska from the sixth district are Milton L. Green, Ellis S. Ruby, Jack G. Elliott, Max Brown, Joseph M. Dye. As an incumbent Elliott probably has the edge.

Rollin R. Dye is unopposed for county judge.
Wanting to serve on the local educational service unit board are Robert G. Dearamont and Rae Jean Treptow.

Ray Lewandowski and Peter J. Badura both filed for director of the Loup basin reclamation district No. 2.
Three must be elected directors of the Loup Valleys rural public power district. Candidates are Alfonso Augustin, John Kokes and Carl J. Oliver.

For directors of the Loup basin reclamation district No. 3, Marvin H. Price and Harold Grinn have filed.

Edgar Roe is the only one to file for director of Twin Loups reclamation district subdivision 3. Leslie H. Shepperd is the only candidate for director of the Middle Loup public power and irrigation district 2.

And Edward Dabas is the only name filed for director of the North Loup river public power and irrigation district 3.

There is no lack of candidates, most of them well qualified and deserving of your consideration. See that you do your duty by them. Report to the polls next Tuesday and take advantage of the privilege of being a citizen.

Valley County To Continue Participation In Nebraska Community Action Program

Valley County will again participate in the Nebraska Community Action Program, the Board of Supervisors decided Tuesday.

By a 3-2 vote with one member absent, the supervisors rejected a request not to participate. They also approved raises for road and bridge employees.

The Community Action Program is part of the federal government's anti-poverty efforts. It is operated by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Among other things, the program offers employment to a limited number of high school students from low-income families. The students work for non-profit organizations during the summer or the school year.

In protesting the program, Willis Plate said he felt these programs should be stopped at the local level so bigger government spending will finally end. He said private groups could provide the same type of service at the local level.

Kerry Leggett, owner of Quiz Graphic Arts, Inc., and the largest employer in the county, also protested the action. He said he has been forced to reduce the number of employees because of higher taxes and bigger government. He also said it cost him one day a week in paperwork when he had on-the-job trainees.

Mr. Leggett also questioned the cost of operating the organization's Loup City office. George Haynes, program developer, said that it was $23,000 a year.

Mr. Haynes advocated Valley County's participation in the project, as did Heloise Bresley and Dr. Glen Auble.

One goal of the program is to keep local people in this area, Mr. Haynes said, by stopping out-migration trends. Community Action could help achieve this by providing training and encouraging industry in the area, he felt.

Mrs. Bresley said such programs should be protested against while they are still in operation. Now that it's already in effect, she said Valley County should participate actively and "get out of it what we put in."

In addition to Valley County, Sherman, Howard, Greeley, and Custer counties have voted to participate in the program for this year.

Ray Knapp and Will Zabloudil voted against the program while William Tuma, Alfred Burson, and Melvin Clement were in favor. Kenneth Dorsey was not present.

As a result of the pay action, county road workers will get $20 more per month plus $10.50 per man toward a group life and health insurance plan. The highway superintendent will get the same boost.

Bridge workers will be paid an additional 10 cents an hour and will receive the same insurance benefits as road workers. Rather than an hourly increase, the bridge foreman will get a raise of $10 per month.

Darrell . . . outstanding

Darrell Petska Honored At NU

Darrell Petska, sophomore from North Loup, was named outstanding freshman in agriculture at Nebraska University for the 1966-67 school year. The announcement was made Thursday night at the annual banquet of the Nebraska Alpha Zeta chapter.

Darrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Petska, was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, a freshman scholastic honorary; and is currently active in Agricultural Economics Club, Agriculture Executive Board where he is University 4-H Club Representative, and Newman Association. He is secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska-Washington, D.C. 4-H Club and a staff writer for the Daily Nebraskan. He has received numerous scholarships, including University Regents, Innocents Memorial, KFAB Public Speaking, Federal Land Bank, Goke and Union Pacific.

Also recognized for scholarship was Fred Boesiger of Firth.

New Music Building Will Be Built Soon

Ord is to have an addition built on to the present high school building this summer, in addition that will be geared to band and vocal groups.

There will be approximately 1,500 to 1,800 sq. ft. added for the use of the band, with permanent seating arrangements at various levels built in so that the director may see all musicians at all times.

There will be a vocal room, from 1,000 to 1,200 sq. ft. in size. All this is now in the planning stage, with preliminary sketches to be presented May 6 at the regular school board meeting.

Also there will be about 400 to 500 sq. ft. built for storage and office use.

As now organized there is no storage for band or sports equipment. If something is damaged, says Superintendent Roger Clough, it is impossible to know who out of dozens of students was careless. It is impossible to take good care of expensive band instruments at present.

Band vs. Sports
Neither are the present practicing arrangements satisfactory.

If athletic events are going on, the band can't assemble to practice, and vice versa, declares the school's head man.

The school board is also doing some serious thinking about a new building for elementary scholars, who are crowded in an old building at present. Big rooms have been divided, halls have been used, the basement is utilized at present, until the state fire marshal is definitely unhappy with Ord's situation.

The present grade school building was built in 1910 or 1911 for 220 students. Today there are 350 elementary students using it, and an auxiliary building has been erected on the grounds.

Pod Style Building

The new building contemplated would be located on one floor, what is called a "self-contained" school. It would have climate control, and be carpeted throughout, a new touch that has proved practical in other schools. This also improves the acoustical qualities of the building, which would be built in what is called "pod" style. This means, built with few or no inner walls, instead movable bookcases or some such roll-away dividers are adaptable to the needs of children and teachers. In the conventional building 20-30% is wasted in hall space; this building would have no halls.

Instead, it would be easy for teachers to teach in teams.

When feasible two teachers could combine, or shift their classes as needed. Or even three or four teachers might wish to throw their pupils together for a common lecture or lesson.

The library would be centered, easily available from every side.

Thinking of the needs of the community, there would be an auditorium included, with good acoustics, of seat 500 to 600.

Winter Wheat, Alfalfa Crops In Good Shape

Winter wheat and alfalfa crops in Valley County are generally in good condition for this time of the year, County Agent John Schade observed Monday.

Mr. Schade made his observations in his weekly report to the Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service in Lincoln. He noted that pasture and range feed were "about a week behind average," but felt there was no serious problem. "With a little moisture we'll be in good shape," he said.

With less than five percent of the county's corn acreage planted, Mr. Schade felt it was too early to make an observation on that crop. However, he said that spring grains are making adequate growth.

Board Considering Stadium Alterations

Ord's new Board of Education jumped out to a fast start at its first meeting Monday night, formally approving Robert Norton as new high school principal and agreeing to draw up preliminary plans for enclosing the area beneath the stands at the athletic field. If accomplished this would provide dressing rooms which are now non-existent for the competing teams.

The new board has the same basic makeup as the outgoing one. Only two new members, Jack Newland and Howard Paulson, have been added. They replaced Ed Armstrong and Wilbert Calvin.

The board decided to begin plans immediately for the dressing room enclosure after discussing the subject at length. Bids will be accepted from plumbing and heating contractors interested in the project. Plans and specific information will be available in the office of Superintendent Roger Clough.

Mr. Norton had been announced as the new principal last week. His approval by the board makes the selection official. Presently assistant principal of the Douglas Junior - senior high school in Rapid City, S. D., he will replace Al Bellinger. Mr. Bellinger will move to Kearney as principal of the junior high school there.

Also approved was the hiring of Robert Curtright as a science teacher. This will be his first teaching assignment after graduating from Kearney State College.

The board also heard a report from Superintendent Clough concerning a visit to Olathe, Kan., to look at some of the latest innovations in school building design, and a report on the status of the educational television system planned for Ord this fall.

Mr. Clough said he and Dale Karre and Leonard Kamarad, were highly impressed by the school buildings and programs at Olathe. The basic structure was designed so that there was no need for interior walls, he said. Carpeted floors and acoustic ceilings held the noise level down so that one class did not interfere with another.

The trip was made as part of a program to gather information which will be used in making preliminary plans for a new elementary school in Ord. Clough emphasized that the program is merely in the planning stage since an architect has not yet been selected and a bond election to provide funds has not been held. He did say, however, that other trips are planned to look at other types of facilities.

Evaluation Team Visits Schools

A 13-man delegation from the North Central Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools was in Ord last week to evaluate the city's elementary and secondary school system.

Findings will be announced in about three weeks, Superintendent Roger Clough reported. At that time the school system should receive a detailed written report.

The evaluation is required once every seven years.

The team was composed of experts in various educational fields. They placed particular emphasis on school curriculum but also evaluated facilities, Mr. Clough said.

Evaluators visited all departments and conferred with individuals as well, he added.

Street Signs, Estimated Budget Approved At This Week's Ord City Council Meeting

Ord streets should be sporting bright new street signs within a month, Mayor Bill French estimated Wednesday after the City Council approved purchase of the signs at its Monday night meeting.

Mayor French said the signs will take about three weeks for delivery and will be put up almost immediately after arrival. Posts are already in place.

The signs will have 4-inch-high lettering, painted in white on a green background. They will be reflectorized so they can be seen easily at night.

Cost of the signs will be approximately $1,500.

In other action the council voted approval of an estimated budget for the next fiscal year. However, final action will not be taken until the public has an opportunity to examine it and express their views. The council is required by law to publish the detailed budget in the local newspaper for four weeks before taking final action.

Because of a change in the dates of the fiscal year, the new budget will cover a 13-month period rather than 12 months as in the past. However, Mayor French said he did not think a levy increase would be necessary.

The council also set a date of May 20 for a hearing on a request by Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Smith to operate a bottle club at their tavern. The Smiths had previously been denied in a request to add an eating establishment - bottle club to their present facility. They have now dropped the idea of adding on, but will erect a wall in the present building to separate the tavern from the bottle club if the request is approved.

Local Youth Named to Honorary Society At University Of Nebraska Festivities

Innocents is an honorary organization for senior men. Its members are chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and service.

This is the latest in a long line of honors for young Naeve. He distinguished himself in various ways at Ord High School and is a four-year Regents scholar at Nebraska. He has also served as president of the university's Young Republicans, committee member for the national organization of Young Republicans, director of records for student government, and chairman of the all-university fund.

Presently enrolled in the College of Business Administration, Naeve plans to do graduate work in economics.

His selection was announced during the university's 79th Ivy Day observance Saturday.

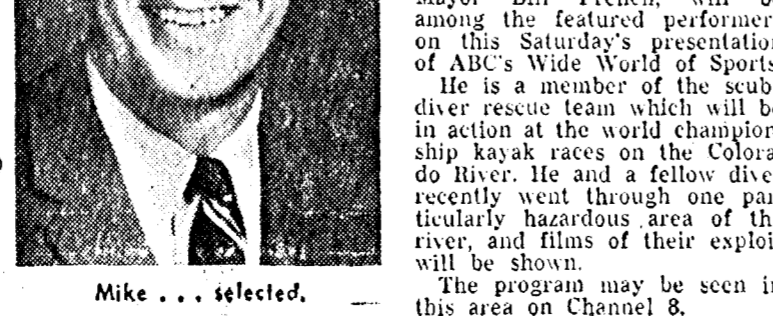

Naeve's roommate, Richard

Mayor's Brother In TV Sequence

Bob French, brother of Ord Mayor Bill French, will be among the featured performers on this Saturday's presentation of ABC's Wide World of Sports.

He is a member of the scuba diver rescue team which will be in action at the world championship kayak races on the Colorado River. He and a fellow diver recently went through one particularly hazardous area of the river, and films of their exploit will be shown.

Get That Permit

"I am appalled at the number of Nebraskans who fail to equip themselves with a permit before going fishing," said M. O. Steen, Game Commission director.

He was referring to the fact that over five times as many residents are arrested and prosecuted for fishing without a permit than for hunting without a permit.

"I do not understand this, because the angler has to pay a fine and court costs and still buy a permit when he is arrested. The cost is then about six times greater."

Ord Trackmen Shooting For State In District Eliminations Tomorrow

An improving Ord track team will journey to Lexington tomorrow where it will compete against other district schools for berths in the state meet.

The first three finishers in individual events and the two top relay teams will be eligible for the state meet, which will be held May 17-18 in Kearney.

Roger Cahill and Dennis Cetak are expected to lead the Ord contingent. Cahill has run a 4.41 mile this year, although his time in last week's Central 10 Conference meet at St. Paul was almost eight seconds above that.

Cetak has topped 50 feet in the shot put this year, but he too dropped to a sub-par 47 feet, 5 1/2 inches last week. Both he and Cahill finished fourth in their specialties.

Coach Fred Williams felt a strong wind held down performances in the St. Paul meet, as his team had been steadily improving throughout the year.

Overall, Ord finished seventh with 13 points in the conference get-together. Aurora outclassed the field with 68 points, finishing far ahead of runnerup Sew-

Baseball Team Drops Opening Contest, 10-5

Roger Psota and Jim Lukesh showed up well with the bat, but errors proved costly as Ord dropped its opening game of the 1968 Sherman - Howard League Sunday.

The local team was beaten, 10-5, by Wolbach although being out-hit only eight to seven. However, the host team committed five fewer errors and scored five unearned runs.

In other league action Scotia bounced Boelus, 9-1, and Wood River edged Greeley, 8-6.

Ord will get a chance to rebound at home this week against Gibbon, which drew a bye during the opening action. Starting time is 2:15 p.m., with admission 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children.

With high schoolers comprising practically the entire team, Ord jumped in front of Wolbach with a first-inning run. But that lead evaporated quickly as the defensive collapse started two outs deep in Wolbach's first at-bat.

Psota and Lukesh were the bright spots in the losers' batting order, each going two-for-three plus a walk. Psota's two hits included a double, and Lukesh's two included a triple.

It was Duane and Rich Psota, however, and not Roger, who got Ord off to its good start. Duane led off the first inning with a single and moved to third on successive walks to Ron Druvik and Collyer Cronk. He scored when Rich was hit by a pitch.

Wolbach worked out of the bases - loaded - nobody - out jam but still appeared to be going nowhere until three consecutive Ord errors in the bottom half of the inning. Coming after two were out, the three errors gave Wolbach two runs and a lead it held the rest of the way.

After falling behind, 5-1, Ord countered briefly in the fourth when it scored twice on a walk to Mike Beran, Roger Psota's double, and a double by Spencer

Remember to vote! The margin of a single vote has been responsible for many of the great decisions, victories, defeats and disappointments of history.

Thomas Jefferson was elected President by one vote in the electoral college. So was John Quincy Adams. Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President by one vote. His election was contested; referred to an electoral commission, the matter was again decided by a single vote. The man who had cast the deciding vote for President Hayes was himself elected to Congress by a margin of one vote. That one vote was cast by a voter who, though desperately ill, insisted on being taken to the polls.

Marcus Morton was elected governor of Massachusetts by one vote. Countless mayors, legislators, councilmen, and other public officials have enjoyed the sweet wine of victory or the bitter gall of defeat by a single vote. California, Washington, Idaho, Texas and Oregon gained statehood by one vote.

The ill-considered War of 1812 was brought about by a series of events based upon a single vote.

Think about it!!! Now don't forget to go to the polls next Tuesday, May 14.

1 can (13½ oz.) crushed pineapple
2 c. hot water
2 c. sugar
Bring this to a boil. While boiling, add 4 tablespoons of cornstarch which have been mixed with just enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Cook until thick, remove from heat and add the beaten yolks of four eggs and cook 1 minute longer, then add ½ cup butter. Pour into two baked crusts. Make a meringue of the four egg whites. Put on top of filling and brown lightly in oven.

"Kindergarten offers a definite advantage for the students participating," he added. "In kindergarten children start learning sociability, how to get along with others, and some of the fundamentals of schooling. We don't go into much depth, but we do have a thorough program in music, reading readiness, number readiness, and such subjects which prepares the student to do

Openings Exist For Youth Corps

Applications are being accepted now for this summer's Neighborhood Youth Corps area coordinator Eldon Buoy announced this week.

The Youth Corps is part of the federal anti-poverty program. It is administered in this area by the Community Action Program in Loup City.

Buoy said 16 openings have been requested for Ord. Youngsters chosen to fill them will work in such varied areas as maintenance, secretarial, and recreation.

Only non-profit government organizations are eligible to participate in the program. This means that Ord students will work for the school, the city, or Fort Hartsuff, Buoy said.

Pay is $1.25 per hour, and selectees will work a 20-hour week. To be eligible, students must be at least 16 years old and have at least one year remaining in high school.

This year's quota of 16 openings is the same as last summer.

American Legion Plans May 11 As Poppy Day

All the proceeds are used for welfare work among veterans and their families and for child welfare needs. Mrs. Cummins stated that some of the things the Ord unit uses these funds for are Christmas baskets, articles for the Veterans Hospital gift shop, donations to a nurses' scholarship fund and several veterans' hospital recreation programs.

Government to Release $3 Million In Frozen Road Fund to Nebraska

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association State Engineer John W. Hossack reports the federal government will release $3 million in frozen road funds to Nebraska this summer. The money, he added, represents half the fund reduction ordered last January by U. S. Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd to cool inflation.

"This will permit us to proceed on schedule with some of the work that had been delayed by the cutback," Hossack said.

Hossack said the downtown Omaha interstate gap and paving of the superhighway in the Big Springs area are priority projects for the released money.

"But we will also be able to use some of it for miscellaneous roadway improvements over the state," he added.

Wants Higher Gas Tax

The chairman of the Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission has called for an increase in the state gasoline tax to meet the road improvement needs of out-state areas. Merle Kingsbury of Ponca said the 1969 legislature should consider either a half-cent or one-cent hike in the levy so a backlog of badly needed programs can be cleaned up.

The state gas tax is now 7 1/2 cents per gallon, one of the highest rates in the country. The 1967 legislature rejected a measure to up this to eight cents.

Respect For Law

The chairman of the legislature's crime study committee says law enforcement officers are being subjected to unjust abuse and criticism. Sen. Fred W. Carstens of Beatrice called for an "aroused citizenry" to reverse the trend and "help rather than hinder the policeman." The senator said his "heart goes out" to law enforcement officers nowadays. "They have borne the brunt of some awful criticism that was totally unjustified," Carstens added. "The time is long overdue for the public to grant encouragement and assistance to the police officer. We don't need any more loud-mouths and misguided fools."

The lawmaker referred to court ruling which held a policeman must always advise a criminal suspect of his right to an attorney and against self-incrimination before proceeding with interrogation. In contrast, he said, the policeman must make "split-second decisions" at the scene of a crime without assistance of counsel, "yet he is subjected to abuse if he carries out that job in a manner designed to apprehend the criminal." Carstens said that law enforcement officers will soon become "sick and tired" of taking risks for a "public that does not care." When that happens, he added, the United States will be well on its way to anarchy.

Pleading Presented

A special attorney for the governor's office has asked the id two major laws enacted by the 1967 legislature to rule valid. The laws establish a state clean waters commission to issue revenue bonds to help cities finance sewage treatment projects, and allow the Nebraska Game Commission to incur bonded debt of $2.5 million for a new building. Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer is challenging the measures directly in the Supreme Court. He contends they violate the state's long-standing constitutional prohibition against debt beyond $100,000. Robert Kutak of Omaha, who was retained by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann to defend the laws, submitted written arguments in support of the statutes.

He claimed the legislation does not violate the constitution. He said the Game Commission law provides for repayment from game fund fees, while the clean waters act stipulates the debt shall be retired from user fees. "The credit of the state is not pledged," he said.

Flood Standards Set

The State Soil and Water Conservation Commission has adopted comprehensive flood plain control regulations designed to prevent loss of life and property. The standards, the first to be established at the state level, will cover all areas threatened by flood waters in the past or the future. The commission acted under authority of a 1967 law which directed the state to set regulations to minimize the extent of flooding in Nebraska.

For The Future

Robert Martin, County Attorney for Sherman county, will discuss a comprehensive plan for Valley county as well as for eight other counties. It is referred to as the Mid-Nebraska Joint Planning commission.

Design plan will be a de-design in plotting the future growth, including industrialization, recreation development etc. for the nine county area.

The presentation by Mr. Martin will be held Friday afternoon May 3, 1:30 p.m. in the Veterans Club. Anyone interested in learning about the comprehensive plan is welcome to attend.

Do You Understand Trucker's Lingo?

Ever hear of a "bed bug hauler," a "cackle crate" or a "pajama wagon?" How about a "horse" or a "boll weevil?" The translation can be found in the "Truck Drivers Dictionary" published by American Trucking Associations.

This handy lexicon defines a "bed bug hauler" as a moving van driver, a "cackle crate" as a truck that hauls live poultry, and a "pajama wagon" as a truck cab with a sleeping berth. "Horse" is industry jargon for a truck tractor. A "boll weevil" is a novice truck driver.

The glossary gives motorists, perhaps while they're stopped at a roadside cafe for some "hundred mile coffee," a chance to understand what they hear. With the dictionary the motorist can understand truck driver gossip about the "cowboy" who got caught by the "big hats." Translated, that means a reckless driver was stopped by state troopers.

The dictionary is available from ATA, 1616 P Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. 20036.

Grass Tetany: Can Be Reduced

With the most welcome moisture of the past weeks and the warm weather, the pasture and ranges will be greening up nicely. This could bring on grass tetany (grass poisoning) in cattle.

Although the exact cause of tetany is not known, a low level of magnesium is associated with the problem. Therefore, it is recommended that magnesium be supplemented to mature cows that have recently calved and are grazing range or pastures where tetany commonly occurs.

The animals should be fed from 6-10 grams of magnesium daily. This can best be done by mixing magnesium oxide at the rate of 30 pounds per ton and fed at the rate of 1 1/2 pounds per day.

Because the animal is unable to store magnesium in its body, the feed will need to be fed daily or at least every other day.

Act Now To Control Grassy Weeds In Lawns

For you lawn and garden enthusiasts who want a crab grass and fox-tail free lawn this summer, there may still be time to control these weeds with a pre-emergent application of a herbicide. But you'll have to act fast.

Control of these pests can be obtained by using Dacthal, Betasan, Turpessan, Balan, Bendan, or Azak, before the weeds get through the ground. All the above chemicals can be purchased in liquid, wettable powder, granules, or mixed with fertilizer.

Follow the label recommendation carefully.

If the weeds are already showing their "ugly heads," you will need to attack them with a post-emergent chemical. These can be applied any time grassy weeds are growing actively, except when the weather is extremely hot.

Do Not Mix Granular Fertilizer & Granular Insecticides

Every year we are asked the same question: Can I mix a granular fertilizer and granular insecticide and apply together? The answer is an emphatic — No!

In the first place, the density of these two products are not the same. Therefore, as the planting machine jostles down the field, the lighter insecticide granules sift to the top of the box. As a result, the application of both the fertilizer and insecticide will be very uneven.

Secondly, there is a difference in recommendations in placement of the two products. Fertilizer is placed 2 inches below and 2 inches to one side of the seed. Insecticides on the other hand, are generally placed over, or near the seed and on both sides of the row.

Circulars Available on Feedlot Pollution

Nebraska lawmakers, during the 1967 session, enacted Legislative Bill 360, which amended and updated a previous water pollution bill. The new law gives the Nebraska water pollution control council broader powers which not only control disposal from cities and towns, but livestock feedlots as well.

The Nebraska water pollution control council regulations state that a feedlot operator must register his operation with the council if the maximum number of animals in confinement are at any one time greater than those numbers spelled out by LB. 360.

Water pollution laws are not discriminatory. They include pollution control of all domestic, municipal, industrial and agricultural wastes. Therefore, any feedlot operator who is, in any way contributing to the pollution of the streams of this state will come under the provisions of the act regardless of the size of his operation.

Although very little research has been done on the designing of feedlot waste disposal systems to date, engineers at the College of Agriculture are working on this problem. We do have available a circular number entitled, "Feedlot pollution" C. E. 206 in our office which does shed some light on the subject. Live stock feeders, this includes not only cattle feeders, cow-calf raisers, but also swine, sheep and poultry operation, are urged to stop in and pick up a copy of the circular.

Tiemann Sells Nebraska In Japan

Upon his return to Nebraska after helping to open the Tokyo exhibition in April, Governor Norbert Tiemann said:

"It is important that we establish trade relationships with Japan, since Nebraska has many products, both agricultural and industrial, that Japan needs and wants."

"It is also important to point out that by next year the gross national product of Japan will be the third highest in the world, ranking behind the United States and the Soviet Union. This means a tremendous amount of purchasing power, and establishing a trade relationship now is of vital interest not only to Nebraska but to the nation."

Nebraska is one of 12 states actively taking part in the big exhibition which in Tokyo is promoted as the American Festival — Food, Fun, and Fashion.

Thousands of curious Japanese people are finding out for the first time that there is a state of Nebraska. A constant stream of Japanese people — business men, housewives, students and children — has been visiting the Nebraska booth, attracted by the color photographs of Nebraska agriculture that are being projected on a screen, along with a Japanese language narration which may be heard by picking up and listening over telephone receivers.

The booth also contains typical processed products from Nebraska, including, canned meats and poultry, dried navy beans, and cereal products.

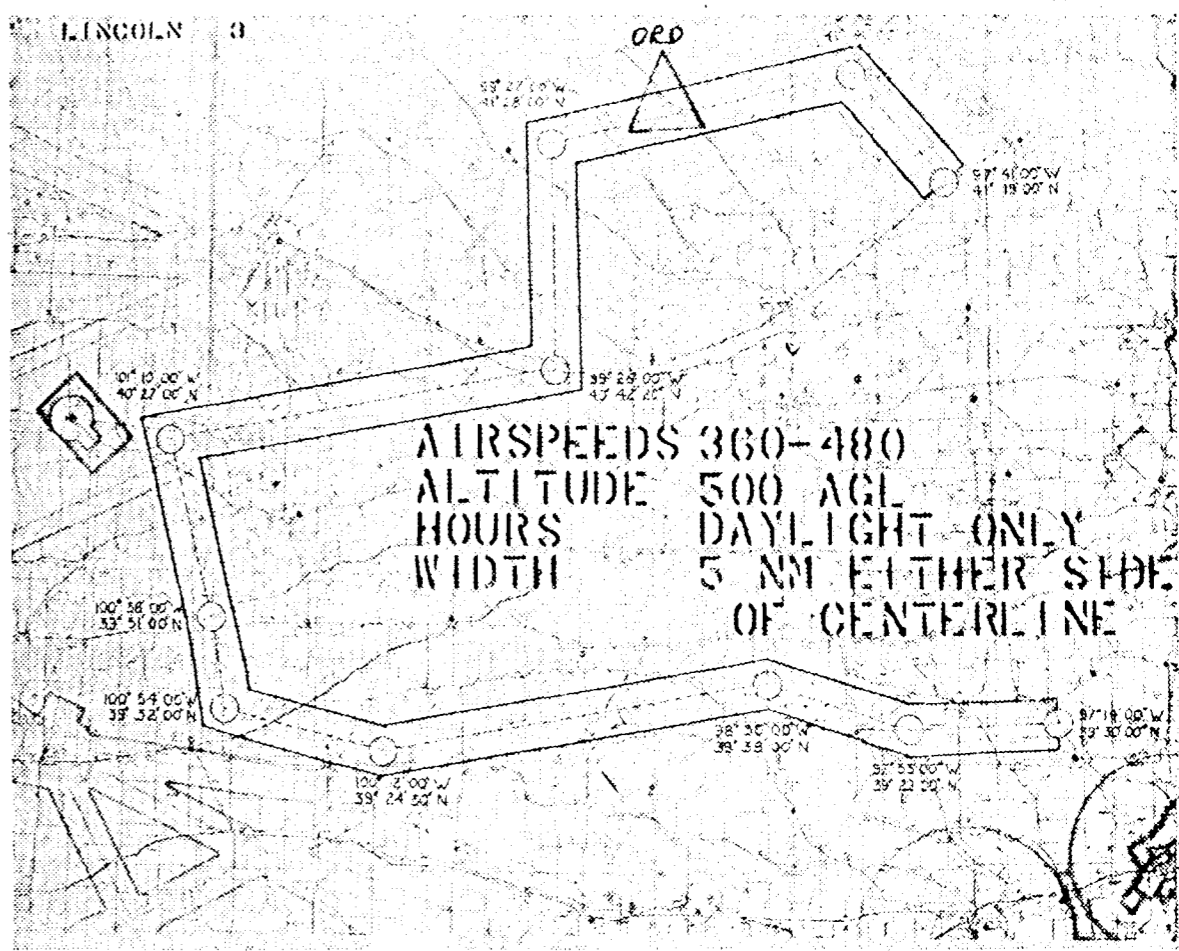

Free Maps For You

The Department of Roads is making available souvenir Centennial Highway maps that were designed especially for the 1967 Nebraska Centennial Year. These are left over from the tourist season, and the Department would rather give them to interested history students than throw them away.

The map contains, besides the State Highway system, many views of historical interest, from paintings of pre-historic Nebraska to photographs of early pioneers, to scenic views of outdoor Nebraska countryside, to descriptions of interesting things to see and do. The maps are free, and will one day be a valuable keepsake.

Nebraska ANG To Fly Area Training Missions

Pilots of the Nebraska Air National Guard will be flying RF-4B's at high speeds 500 feet above the ground. This is to enable pilots to fulfill tactical training requirements. Specific routes have been designed and will overfly areas in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and South Dakota.

These aircraft will fly at slower speeds than that which causes sonic booms. But at low altitudes a jet aircraft may sound very loud when it flies over. Congested areas will be avoided as much as possible; flights will be infrequent and only during daylight hours.

Nebraska Air National Guard units is located at the Lincoln Municipal Airport. The mission is to locate, identify and take aerial photographs of assigned targets.

AN OPEN LETTER TO Farmers, Ranchers and Land Owners of Valley County

April Showers Bring May Flowers — including the purple flowers of the musk thistle — unless spraying takes place soon.

As you walk through your pastures, you'll likely find rosettes pretty well established, and spring seedlings will be coming on now that we have had some much needed rains. Don't wait too long to spray for the seedling — or the rosettes will shoot up seed stalks — then it's too late for standard spraying techniques and control will be much more difficult.

You will be in good company when you fight the musk thistle this year. Farmers and ranchers in most counties in Nebraska are taking part in a campaign to stop the weed before it does as it did in Argentina. There, thousands of acres of valuable land have been made unfit for use by a close relative of the musk thistle.

University of Nebraska weed control specialists recommend two pounds per acre of 2, 4-D at this time. Don't be tempted to go with a lesser dose. Short-cuts just won't get the job done with this stubborn pasture pest. Conversely, do not be tempted to overdose, as an overdose of 2, 4-D will only stimulate the plant to grow faster. You will not get the desired kill.

Something Different

Comparing Mexico and U.S.

Geranium Joe Sez

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: Dave Van Norderheim told the fellers at the country store Saturday night he was aiming real soon to go to the city and see one of them wassling matches. He said he was reading where a one wassler defeated another wassler by breaking a chair over his head and knocking him out. He figured this was a real clean sport after reading for months about traps and demonstrations. For instance, he said he had read where it cost the taxpayers $5,000 to point over and get rid of the "Peace" signs at that demonstration they had at Northwest University.

was ever invented. Ed Beranek said, speaking of broke arms, he could recollect about 50 year ago when the feller that run the bank bought himself one of them Overland Six automobiles, which was about as fancy as a feller could get in them days. Ed said it was the talk of the community and everybody was shaking their head about the powerful six-cylinder 45-horsepower motor this car had. A heap of folks, said Ed, didn't believe a feller could keep a car with that much horsepower in the road and everybody was predicting he'd get killed in the thing. The only thing that happened to the feller, said Ed, was he got his arm broke one cold morning trying to crank it up.

Today a 45-horsepower motor ain't hardly worth a 18-foot boat, and I reckon this just about tells the story between to-day and when as fellers at the store was in our teens. I reckon all of us was out of date and don't believe in all these peace demonstrations, protests, riots and things that was going on to-day.

But the storekeeper told us one thing we understood. He said a history teacher at Groversville, N. Y., told his class the national debt was $32,546,363.116.57 exact. The students took up a collection and sent the Government a check for 57 cent to bring it to round numbers.

Yours truly, Geranium Joe

KERRY ON

—would you believe— Too few people—I believe— use their own mind enough. So many people today never take time to think for themselves . . . nor to let their OWN desire and their OWN thoughts work for them.

In his book, "The Magic of Believing," Claude M. Bristol brings out some pertinent points on the motivating force within us. Some of the points he makes should be considered by anyone hoping to achieve success and self-satisfaction in life.

Since I feel Bristol's words are worth considering, this week I'd like to present some of the wisdom lifted from his book. If you're at all serious about life's challenges, give these some thought.

Thought is the original source of all wealth, all success, all material gain, all great discoveries and inventions, and of all achievement. Without it there would be no great empires, no great fortunes, no great transcontinental rail lines, no modern conveniences; in fact, there would be no advance over life in the most primitive ages.

If you have definitely determined what you want and have fixed a goal for yourself, then consider yourself extremely fortunate, for you have taken the first step that will lead to success.

Always try to do something for the other fellow and you will be agreeably surprised how things come your way — how many pleasant things are done for you. Doing something for others always pays dividends in one form or another.

It was desire that brought progress to the world. Without it, we would still be living in a primitive age. Everything we have in our modern world is the result of desire. Indeed, desire is the motivating force of life itself. . . . It's the generating power of all human action and without it no one can get very far.

Out Of Old Nebraska

1865 — Defending Stage Stations

During the Indian War of 1864-65, small detachments of soldiers were at mail, stage and telegraph stations in the Platte Valley west of Fort Kearny. The Eleventh Ohio Volunteer Cavalry guarded the stage and mail route west from Julesburg, and a copy of their 1865 annual report is on file in the Nebraska State Historical Society.

Their report on Nebraska follows: "Co H has been stationed at Fort Mitchell 55 miles East of Fort Laramie on the Platte River. The company participated in the celebrated Indian fights at Mud Springs and Rush Creek where 150 men under command of Lt. Col. Wm O. Collins fought from fifteen hundred to two thousand of the dusky warriors.

"Since that time this company has carried the mail from Julesburg to Laramie. This has been heavy and laborious duty, yet they have never flinched but have had the mail through in good time. Besides this company has built one mail station near the noted Land Mark Chimney Rock, besides repairing the one at Mud Springs.

Following a minor skirmish and Indian scare near the Chimney Rock station, events were described in a letter of Lt. William R. Behmyer, Commander of Fort Mitchell, dated August 13, 1865:

"About half past 2 PM 12th Inst., three Indians were discovered approaching the mail station at Chimney Rock from the north side of Platte River and after viewing the camp for a few moments, they proceeded up the river about two miles and there crossed over to the South Side.

"After the Indians had crossed the river Sergt Carberry and three men belonging to Co H 11th Ohio Vol. Cav. started out to where the Indians had crossed the river and met them. At first they appeared to be rather friendly but when they were asked to go to camp, they (the Indians) put spurs to their horses and endeavored to escape.

Sergt. Carberry then ordered his men to fire upon them, which they did killing one Indian and one horse. Two of the Indians were mounted on Government horses, and one of them on a U.S. mule. While Sergeant Carberry and his men were dismounted and firing one of his horses became unmanageable and made his escape and followed up the retreating Indians who immediately captured him and then crossed the river and disappeared behind the Bluffs.

"Today at about 3 PM, thirty or forty Indians were seen in the vicinity of Chimney Rock and two men came to this Post to procure ammunition. They stated that an attack was expected at the time they left the station. After procuring the ammunition they started to Chimney Rock and I have not heard from them since.

"Whether the Indians intend making any hostile demonstrations in that quarter or not I am unable to say, but it is evident that they are on the road and in force."

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Question: I do not intend to stop farming when I become 65 in two months. Will I be eligible for medicare hospital and medical coverage?

Answer: You can continue working past 65 and still be eligible for medicare protection. Since it is very important to enroll within the 3 months before you become 65, visit your social security office now with some proof of your age.

A Disappearing Breed

It is gratifying to note that rugged individualism still lives. An AP dispatch from Cedar City, Utah, reports that a Utah rancher has sent uncashed Social Security checks totaling $4,437 back to the U. S. Treasury, because he could think of no church or charity which needs the money more. In a letter accompanying the checks, the rancher said, "I am in good health and I am able to carry on the small livestock operation I have been able to put together over the years . . . I have attempted to find a worthy cause or some charity or church into which I could direct these checks. So far I have been unable to think of any place which needs this money more than the U.S. Treasury in spite of the fact our government is mismanaging its money supplies so badly that these dollars may be wasted."

They Can't Beat Inflation

The basic industries of most nations are owned and run by government. Instead of paying the support of government, they are an onerous tax burden. This is the price of socialized industry.

The one outstanding exception is the United States where basic industries are self-supporting, taxpaying enterprises. Instead of being a burden, they are counted upon not only to provide essential services but as a dependable source of tax revenue.

It is in the public interest for basic industries to earn a reasonable profit and thus continue to attract investors, produce goods and services, progress and pay the taxes so sorely needed today.

These are the reasons why the petition of U. S. railroads for an immediate freight rate increase is of concern to everyone if a curtailment in the freight and passenger service rendered to the public is to be avoided.

Tuesday Is A Time For Action, Not Words

The eyes of the nation will focus for a few fleeting hours on Nebraska next Tuesday, when we in this state go to the polls to make our preferences known concerning this year's political candidates.

Unfortunately, the topsy-turvy Presidential race which has been so unpredictable this year hasn't changed a bit in the last few weeks. Thus, a couple of the late-comers — Hubert Humphrey and Nelson Rockefeller — won't be on the ballot.

Nevertheless, Nebraska will be watched keenly by national political observers. On the Democratic side they'll be especially interested in seeing if the Robert Kennedy bandwagon which snatched Indiana away from other contenders can keep its momentum.

On the Republican side they'll be watching to see if Ronald Reagan or Rockefeller can make any dent in the Nixon armor, which is supposed to be at its strongest here in America's heartland.

Regardless of one's feelings about this year's race and the various contenders, voters are being given an opportunity they can't afford to let slip by. In this year of such major issues and such varied candidates, it's more important than ever that every eligible voter make his preferences known.

Take advantage of the situation. For months and years you've either been complaining about the war in Vietnam, crime in the streets and the rising cost of living, or you've had to defend the state of the nation against those who are complaining.

Now's your chance to do something about it. Put your vote where your mouth is. Go to the polls Tuesday and let the rest of the country know your feelings. They'll be watching.

Legislative Sidelines

You Can't Afford It . . .

The move being pushed by a small group of Nebraskans to secure signatures on a referendum petition to put the state income tax to a vote in November 1968 is good only for those Nebraskans with incomes of $10,000 — $20,000 or more.

Jack Timmons, extension economist at the University of Nebraska (brother-in-law of Mrs. Richard Crane of Ord) has studied the impact of the 1967 sales-income tax law on individual family incomes compared with the 5 percent sales tax judged necessary to replace the income tax. His figures are based on a family of four.

The study shows that a father, mother and two children with an income of $2,000 will pay less than $20 when allowance is made for the $7 per person deduction for food sales tax. With a five percent sales tax, this same family would pay a little less than 5 percent of their income ($94), approximately five times as much.

The Timmons' study indicates a family of four would need to make between $10,000 — $20,000 before they pay as much as with a 5 percent sales tax alone. Relatively few families in Nebraska have this annual income.

Furthermore, if voters turn out the income tax in November, the increased sales tax will fall heaviest on those with smallest incomes. The Timmons' study shows families with an income of $6,000 a year would pay $66 more with the 5 percent sales tax than with the combination tax. Even families with $10,000 incomes would pay $32 more with the higher sales tax than with the combination.

On a dollars and cents personal interest basis most Nebraskans cannot afford to sign the income tax petition.

At Mazatec the other day we looked forward to a great treat: watching boys dive for oysters on this fish-happy west coast. They were going to assemble and dive at 10 a.m., the word went out. But they didn't. It seems the government beach employees posted the flag that means "Danger, Bad Undertow."

So we did not get to see them throw their old tires in the water to anchor a fish sack inside and toss in their catch, piled loose from the ocean floor near us.

This entire west coast produces excellent shrimp, very good fish, rather big oysters, good clams. Tonight I had corvina, and I never ate better fish anywhere, anytime. A bit sweet, white and mild describes it, fried in thin fillets, served with their excellent good fresh lime slices. Everything is served with lime her.

Out of Mexico, where smiles are quick and bright with startling white teeth, rows of them. Back to the land of the ready wisecrack, the quick warty look.

Away from the country where every child tries to think of a way to win a peso. Or at least a peseta. They run beside your car for blocks querying "Show you the waterfall, Mister?" "Was your car, Senor?" "Watch your car while you eat, Mister?" "Shine your shoes, Senor?"

Back to the U.S., where waitresses visit happily with friends while you wait for a menu, languidly thrust at you, finally.

I was going to say out of Mexico, where they set the table first, then sweep the floor. Where they dust by flicking a cloth at the table, the chairs, never disturbing a dish or piece of silver. (Where they mop by flinging a long wet band of cloth on the end of a stick.)

But in the U.S. this morning I saw the bus boy (white) doing the same thing! Flicking dust here and there.

Out of Mexico where the soft pleasant voices have a sweet quality as the people chatter like birds.

Back with our own people, where voices are sharp and positive, with metallic overtones that grate.

Down in Mexico where bands play for early morning church, for fiestas, for ceremonies and marching. Punctuated by firecrackers and cannon, while church bells toll.

Down in Mexico where the men have their thick black hair and lots of it.

Back to the U.S.A. with its many, many bald pates. Why? Out of Mexico, where streets are walled, and only a glimpse through an occasional doorway exhibits the beautiful patio that centers the house, nice and private.

Back to a land of front yards, lawns galore, shrubbery and flowers on show.

Away from a land where every window is barred by iron grilles. Away from a country where jagged glass tops most of the walls. Away from a country where gas caps vanish, hub caps too.

Back to an open country where every street and view is spacious, where yards and flowers are the usual surroundings of every home.

Back to a country where most youngsters have enough to eat and wear, and where they go to school all day, are not crowded into half of the teaching hours.

I love Mexico. Yet, Ord has its advantages!

Dear Editor: It is not true that Nebraskans are disenfranchised because "Indiana is the key primary," as Robert F. Kennedy asserts. For Nebraska's primary is the first contest where serious presidential contenders meet head on without a local favorite to obscure the outcome.

In these days of strife and political confusion, one man stands head and shoulders above the meze. Eugene McCarthy, a 20th century Abraham Lincoln, has shown that he is a living profile in courage by calmly striding out alone at America's high noon to face the national danger and turn our country away from bloodshed, tax dollar drain, and gold outflow in Southeast Asia toward an end to death and waste. McCarthy showed that he is a man of honor by pioneering for America with steady public counsel instead of stooping to the quick grab of unrestrained ambition or to personal attacks upon President Johnson.

Thus, as our President, the Minnesota Senator is likely to prove a stable and prudent leader rather than a volatile whiz kid playing international games and reaping national shame — or worse — at a future Bay of Pigs. And McCarthy's quiet strength is better suited to stop today's injuries to Americans by Americans than are passionate pleas stirring frenzied mobs of youngsters.

McCarthy has demonstrated his ability to bind the wounds of this nation and guide a reconciled America in the urgent tasks right here at home by his genuine appeal to Americans in our towns and farmsteads no less than our cities, to our not-so-youthful no less than our very young, to Americans of all callings and races, not just certain economic and racial groups. Come to Church
Some people do make religion seem as if it ought to be put in mothballs. Does that mean you have to? Sure you're full of social protest. New Ideas. Feelings about Integrity and justice and today's values. So is religion.
And your church or synagogue can become—if you help—the place where the action is—in solving the important problems in the world, in your community, in your life. Don't knock it. Join it. Worship this week. And put your Faith to work.

4-H Girls Bake Bread And Rolls

There is no way to measure the thousands of dozens of rolls and loaves of bread baked by girls enrolled in the national 4-H program, their records do provide some figures. Last year 5,000 girls won county medals. For instance, a Kansas girl has made over 1,000 dozen rolls (a total of some 12,000) and nearly 300 loaves of bread. Every time a Wyoming miss kneads a batch of dough, she pops 70 rolls and eight loaves of bread into the oven; much to the delight of her school chums who stop by on baking days.

Elks Look Back A Hundred Years

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the United States of America was organized Feb. 16, 1868 in New York City by 15 men associated with the theater. It was founded to practice charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity; to promote the welfare and happiness of its members; to quicken the spirit of American patriotism and to cultivate good fellowship.

Elks is strictly a non-political and non-sectarian lodge. On March 31, 1967, there were 1,417,435 Elks, 32 percent own a business or are executives; 14 percent are professional and technical men, 23 percent are in the sales, clerical and craftsmen categories, and the remaining 31 percent are in farming and other occupations. 43 percent of the membership attended college. 91 percent of the Elks are married and 87 percent own their homes. The median age figure is 46.7 years with a median family income of $11,338. Elks membership carries no insurance inducements to join the Order.

There are 2,091 Elks Lodges conducting a vast program of benevolent, educational and patriotic works. More than $10,000,000 is spent annually on these activities, and over $205,000,000 has been spent since 1890.

The Elks National Foundation is a charitable trust with assets surpassing $17,000,000, its annual income of $600,000 is devoted entirely to philanthropies. The Foundation's operating costs are paid by the grand lodge.

The Order's primary concern is in the field of health — diagnosis, treatment, rehabilitation and prevention mostly for physically handicapped children.

Elks' scholarships have helped 6,000 young Americans go to college. The Elks' Youth leadership contest annually awards thousands of dollars in prizes to young people.

Elks help support the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, 4-H Clubs, Boys Clubs of America and Little League Baseball among others.

The Elks national service commission sponsors entertainment for disabled veterans at V. A. hospitals. Elks Lodges pay special tribute to Old Glory every year on Flag Day, June 14, as part of the Order's efforts "to quicken the spirit of American patriotism."

In 1967-68, the membership increase of 28,874 was the greatest since 1951.

Green States Paris Poor Site For Talks

Roger L. Green, Republican candidate to Congress from the Third Congressional district, expressed complete disagreement with a proposal made by Mrs. Frank Morrison, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Second District.

Green said Mrs. Morrison recently gave full support to Paris as proper location for peace talks between the United States and Vietnam. This would place the United States at a severe disadvantage in any peace talks which would be held, he thought.

Green pointed out that France has condemned American foreign policy at every turn and that anti-American feeling by the press, the government and the people of that country would make it impossible for the American position to be presented fairly.

He said that holding the talks in Paris would serve only to give Charles De Gaulle a soap box to attack our government. The French are responsible for the present mess in Vietnam and they would like very much to make us lose face in the eyes of the world and our allies.

Load Limits Off On Most Roads

Axle load limits were removed Monday on 641 miles of Nebraska highways, according to a Department of Roads announcement. Limits will remain on 255 miles of roadway, but none of it lies within Valley County or adjacent areas.

Load limits are necessary each spring to prevent excessive damage to highways, the announcement said. During the spring thawing frost makes the highways more susceptible to damage from heavy vehicles.

The limits have been in effect since Feb. 19.

Even a married woman is entitled to her own private affairs.

Once the phone rings for the lady of the house, it works like Pavlov's bell. The whole gang (including the dog) decides they're hungry. They swarm around the kitchen noisily feeding their canine appetites while they're whetting their appetites for gossip, and that's the end of mother's privacy.

Even if you don't go for the idea of not being in on Mom's conversations, she's still got a right to say what she wants without a clamoring, chomping audience around.

Make a special sacrifice for Mother's Day. Give up on eavesdropping forever and get her an extension phone for the bedroom. Far away from the kitchen. And far away from the kiddies.

One call to your General Telephone business office takes care of the whole thing. We play up the gift idea by sending out a miniature toy phone with a gift card first. Just to let her know the real phone is on its way.

Leaving her to her own private affairs can make her feel like that old, used-to-be, single, independent self again.

That's something every mother needs. Even if it's only for a couple of minutes a day.

The Huskie's Howl

By Mary Anne Gould

As this school year draws to a close the days seem to fly past or drag slowly on, depending upon the individual. For the seniors this is the last week. Books will be turned in Friday. The rest of the high school will stick around for another week. Honors convocation will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Droopy eyed students are wandering the halls - we'll all be a week or so catching up on our sleep after the prom. I offer congratulations and thanks to the junior class. I know we all had a wonderful evening.

The festivities began at 6 o'clock Friday night when we entered the banquet hall escorted by the ladies and gentlemen of Cinderella's court. We enjoyed a delicious meal and were welcomed by the junior class president, Ron Lewandowski. Senior Class President Bev Gartside replied. We enjoyed speeches by Mr. Peters and Mr. Cook, and the class will and prophecies were read by Sheryl Rounds.

Sophomore waiters and waitresses provided entertainment. We then left for the prom itself, held at the school. Introduced by Mr. Cook and greeted by Mr. Peters, the Grand March began. With impressive ceremony the king, queen, and attendants were announced.

Attendants were Karen Lewandowski and Dave Tuning. Ron Harbur was crowned king and Bev Gartside queen. King Ron and Queen Bev, along with their court, were then honored by the sophomore waiters and waitresses who sang and danced for them. The entertainers were Mark Lewandowski, Terri Pierson, Pam Schmidt, Linda Hunt, Dennis Ohme, Steve Giles, Wayne Moody, Danny Harbur, Ron Setlik, Dick Owens, Paul Dietz, and Martin Bredthauer. Court herald was Tim Harbur.

We also enjoyed a song by Chuck Gould, court jester, and everyone danced to the music of Jess Gayer.

I'm sure everyone who attended will agree with me that the

CARGILL 422 An Outstanding 3-Way Cross "Stands Good, High Yield"

Said Dean Gross of Ord, Nebr.

Gross compared many varieties in his fields before selecting Cargill 422 as his favorite. He likes 422 because of the consistently high yield and the way 422 stands good for easy harvesting. Best and driest corn he had this year, made over 135 bushel per acre.

Lloyd Muller of Grand Island, Nebr. - 422 made 180 bushel to the acre with 18% moisture.

Don Papiernik, of Ord, Nebr. says - 422 best and driest corn, made over 140 bushel. Combined excellent.

By Donna Johnson

Guess it's time to let you in on what's going on at O.H.S. again. After this week only two more "Chanting with the Chants" articles will appear, for in two short weeks school will be out for the summer. It seems that each year goes faster, and it's impossible to believe that we have completed another year of school.

O.H.S. A tea for the junior girls was held Tuesday in Arcadia. The tea was held by the extension clubs, and each girl who attended felt it was worth her time. (Maybe it had something to do with the fact that they were excused from school to attend.)

O.H.S. At the class meetings Friday the seniors voted on the location for the class picnic. Possible places were Victoria Springs, Sherman Dam and the Diversion Dam at Comstock. Comstock won almost unanimously. The food will consist of fried chicken and potato salad. Rides are being planned by a committee. We are all looking forward to a lot of fun and probably a few good sunburns to show for a perfect day!!

O.H.S. Although Thursday, May 16, is the last day of school for the

Congressman DAVE MARTIN Reports

Higher Education: The House this week passed the Higher Edu- cation Act which provides for loans and grants to thousands of young people attending our col- leges and universities. The bill consists of four different pro- grams:

1) The National Defense Edu- cation Act Student Loan Pro- gram had loaned money to stu- dents as of June 30, 1967 at 1,738 institutions with loan as- sistance to two million students. Ten percent of the funds are provided by the institution, and matched by ninety percent Fed- eral funds. These loans are re- paid by the student over a ten year period after graduation. $200 million is authorized for this program. The estimated share for Nebraska is $1,921,000.

2) College Work - Study Pro- gram - $225 million is author- ized to be appropriated for the College Work - Study Program which provides part time em- ployment for students, particu- larly from low income families. During calendar year 1967, 1,700 institutions provided work for an estimated 300,000 students under this program. Nebraska's estimated share is $1,015,000.

3) Educational Opportunity Grants - this provides a grant of from $200 to $800 for students without adequate funds to at- tend college. This year it is es- timated that 226,000 students have received grants under this pro- gram. $70 million was author- ized, with Nebraska's share es- timated to be $672,000.

Nixon, Kennedy Score With County Electors

As Nebraska went, so went Valley County in Tuesday's Presidential primary election.

Valley voters went for Richard Nixon and Robert Kennedy in a big way, helping those two to overwhelming state-wide victories.

Delegate votes were still being counted in two of the three Ord city precincts at noon Wednesday, so an accurate count of delegates could not be made. However, the votes generally followed the line of the Presidential candidates.

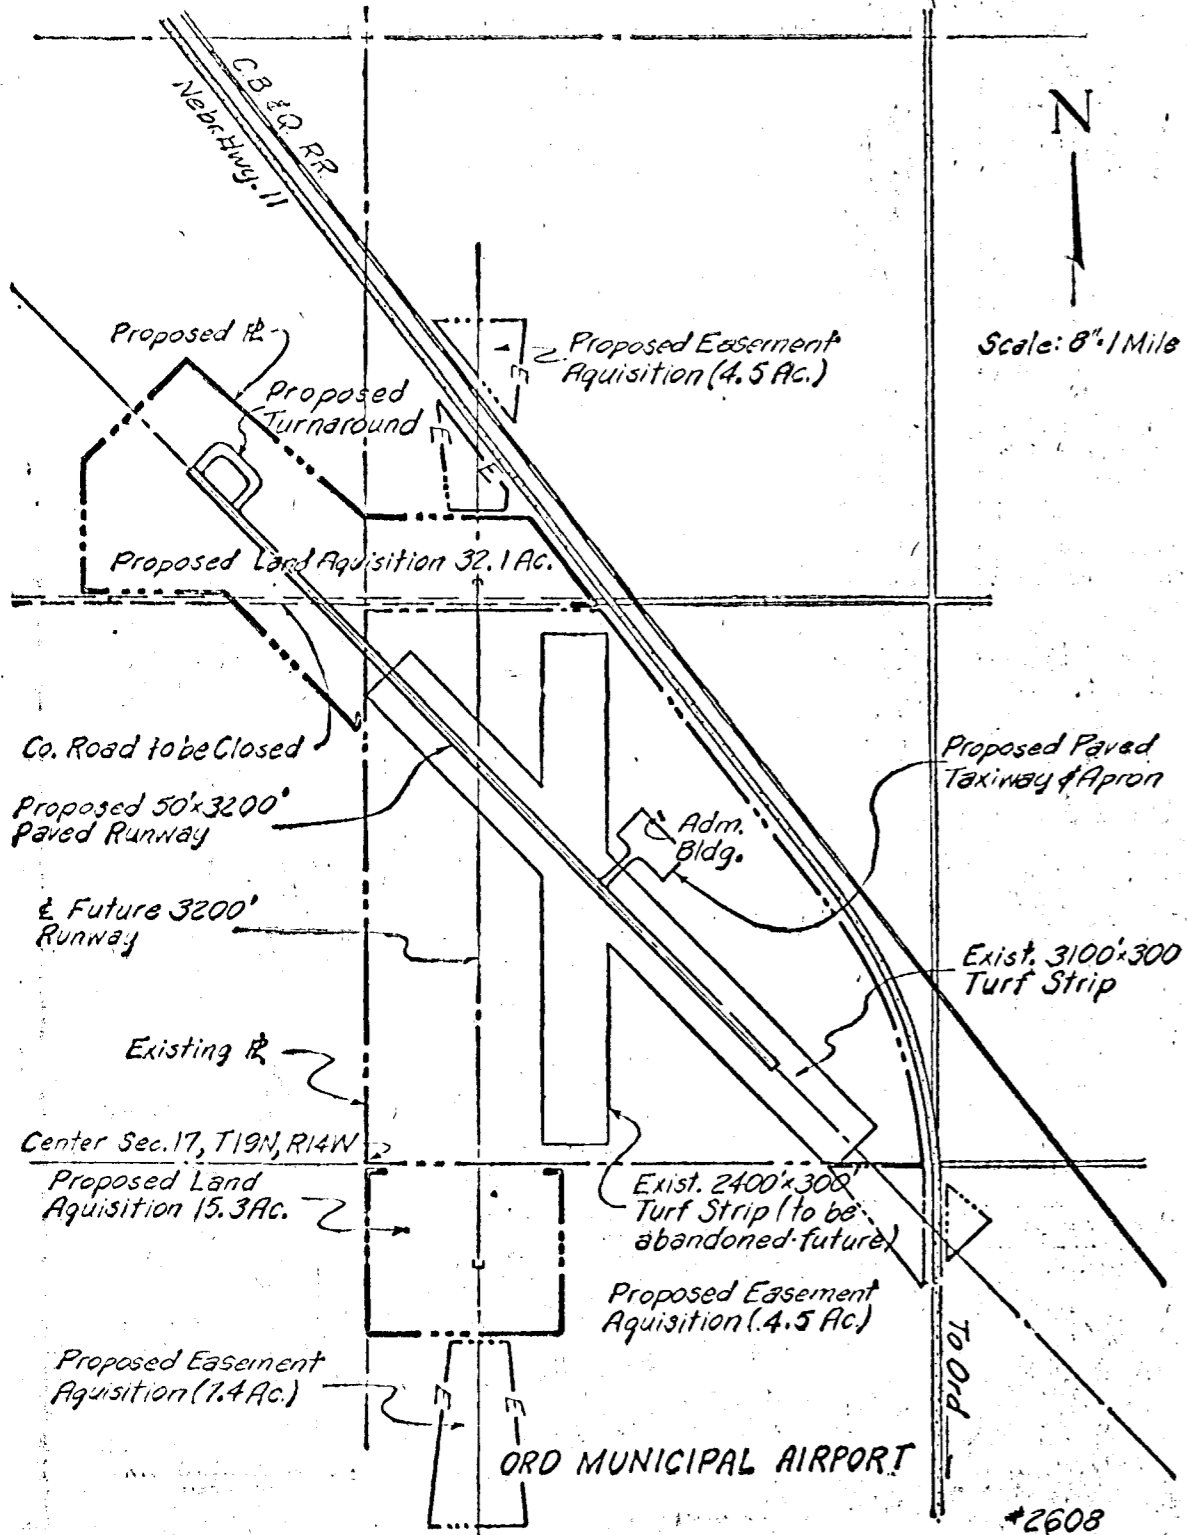

The huge number of delegates to be selected — 24 Democrats from a field of 83 hopefuls and 10 Republicans from a field of 36 — kept vote counters up most of the night. Two of the three Ord city wards, in fact, finally called off their counts somewhere around 4 a.m. and resumed their later in the day.

In the two legislative contests concerning Valley County electors, incumbent Dave Martin brushed aside the challenge of two younger aspirants in the 3rd Congressional District and Rudolf Kokes was considered in as the nominee for state legislator from the 41st District. Kokes is also the incumbent, and both he and Martin are Republicans.

Rotary To Host Fireworks Show

A Fourth of July fireworks show will again be sponsored this year by the Ord Rotary Club.

Members voted Monday night to sponsor the program which is held annually at the Ord athletic field. A special fund drive will be conducted later to finance the $800 show.

Syl Furtak, a backer of the project, asked that Ord residents refrain from buying individual fireworks but instead donate to the Rotary campaign. This would provide a safer and yet better holiday program, he felt.

Mr. Furtak pointed out this was the original intent of the Rotary in beginning the program years ago.

School for Mentally Handicapped Will Seek Government Assistance

Federal assistance will be requested to help finance a new $27,000 home for the Ord Special Services School, it was decided this week.

Board members of Educational Service Unit 13, which operates the school for mentally retarded but trainable children, met Monday night with members of the North Central Assn. for Retarded Children. They decided to ask for $13,500 from the U. S. Public Health Service, which has funds available for construction of school buildings for the mentally handicapped.

To gain approval, the money must be matched on a dollar-for-dollar basis from local sources. More than $11,000 was quickly accounted for locally, and Mrs. Jewell Buoy said special efforts would be made immediately to raise the additional money. Mrs. Buoy is county superintendent and requested that anyone wishing to contribute get in touch with her immediately.

The request for federal funds will be submitted to the Public Health Service and the Nebraska State Division for Mental Retardation. The state agency recommended approval before the federal office will take favorable action.

Eight thousand dollars of the local money will be supplied by the Educational Service Unit. Individual members of the North Central Assn. pledged a total of $1,700, and another $1,065 was promised by the Ord Junior Chamber of Commerce. This money was collected during the Jaycees' last "Honey Sunday," held annually to raise funds for worthwhile projects.

Land for the new building has already been secured. A plot on 19th Street two blocks north of the Catholic church building has been donated by Mrs. Edith Fiala, a member of the North Central Assn.

The proposed building, if funds are approved, will include classrooms, a room for speech therapy, an office or supervisor's room, space for health services and a multi-purpose room that can be used for dining, physical therapy and exercises, and general gatherings. There will also be room for psychological examinations and, if needed, psychiatric help.

"For too long the mentally retarded have been neglected," said Dr. Barton Kline, administrator of the Educational Service Unit. "Valley and Loup counties are to be congratulated for trying to provide for their handicapped children close to home."

Enrollment at the present school is eight children. Three are from Ord, two from the surrounding countryside and one from Burwell, O'Neill and St. Paul.

Walter Sydzzyk prepares to cast his ballot.

Applicants for 1969 Academy Vacancies Should File Now

Applications for 1969 admission to the service academies should be filed now, Senator Roman L. Hruska (R-Nebr.) announced yesterday.

Candidates should apply approximately one year in advance of admission in order that they may take the qualifying examinations given by the Civil Service Commission in July and November. The first examination for this year will be held July 9.

Senator Hruska said he will have one vacancy to fill at the Military Academy, one at the Air Force Academy and three at the Naval Academy. He even also nominate 10 young men to compete for three state-wide vacancies to the Merchant Marine Academy.

To be eligible, a candidate must have passed his 17th birthday but not his 22nd on July 1, 1969. He must also be in excellent physical condition.

Interested applicants should write Senator Hruska at 313 Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20510.

City Council Schedules Hearing To Consider Airport Improvements

The proposed renovation and enlargement of Ord's municipal airport will come to a head Wednesday when the City Council conducts a hearing in its chambers.

Suggested improvements include the building of a new 3,900-foot north-south runway which will parallel the existing dirt strip, and pavement of the present northwest-southeast runway. It would also be extended from its present 3,100 feet to 3,900 feet. (Original plans made at the time of the accompanying diagram called for a runway length of 3,200 feet. However, that has since been changed.)

If accomplished, the extensions will make it possible for some jet aircraft to take off and land here, airport manager Norm Schmidt said Monday.

Proponents of the project suggest that it be accomplished with funds provided through the Federal Aviation Administration. A request for such funds has already been approved by the FAA for fiscal year 1969, which begins July 1.

"We originally applied for funds in 1967," Mr. Schmidt said, "but our request was turned down. We were told that the FAA had received 778 requests for a total of $339 million in improvements around the country, and the agency had only $66 million available."

"We reapplied, and our request was approved. With all that competition this indicates to me that we have a valid and worthwhile undertaking," he added. "Furthermore, if we turn the money down now, it will probably be a long time before we will be considered for such help again."

Renowned Civic Leader Passes Away In Sudden Seizure Tuesday Afternoon

Ord's grande dame died suddenly late Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Crawford J. Mortensen became ill at home and was taken to the hospital by ambulance where she died shortly after a lifetime in which she did most of the things others dream of.

She was born Carol White, the fifth and youngest daughter of the eminent C. C. White family of Lincoln. Mr. White made his wealth in the lumber business, providing building materials for the first state buildings and many fine homes. He was also identified with Magee's of Lincoln and with the Victor Mill, Crete. At the time of her death Mrs. Mortensen was the principal stockholder of the Nebraska State Bank in Ord.

Mrs. Carol Mortensen

Opposition to the project centers around the need for additional land, the requirement to close a county road, lack of usage and the use of federal funds for airports.

Almost 65 additional acres of land will have to be acquired from adjacent property owners to put in all the desired improvements. Schmidt said the landowners would be paid a fair amount for any property purchased.

Burwell, Aurora Train Service May Be Reduced

Passenger train service from Ord to Burwell and Ord to Aurora may soon be discontinued.

The Nebraska State Railway Commission has received an application from the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad to discontinue the passenger portion of mixed train service throughout Nebraska.

If approved, this means that passenger cars now being pulled on freight trains will be eliminated.

Hadenfeldt, agent for the Burlington line in Ord, said the action should affect very few persons here. "We've had no passenger business to speak of on the Burwell and Aurora trains for a long time," he said.

The CB&Q train to Burwell ordinarily comes through Ord every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 2:30 p.m. On its return trip to Aurora it comes through Ord at 8:40 each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Hadenfeldt said Ord will be completely without passenger service to those communities if the action is approved, since no regular passenger trains make the run.

In their application, CB&Q officials said all communities with mixed service are located on public roads maintained at government expense and that through the years the number of persons using train service has steadily declined.

McCarthy Backer Follows In Footsteps Of Leader

None of the major Presidential contenders made it to Ord during the just-concluded primary campaign, but a band of Senator Gene McCarthy's bubbly student backers did set up shop here over the past weekend.

Headed by a 21-year-old could-be honor student, nine McCarthy backers spent the weekend calling on registered Democrats, and any Republicans who were willing to talk to us. Their goal, according to local campaign manager Chuck Adams, was to contact "every registered Democrat in Valley County."

Adams is a senior this year at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N. H. Assisting him were six enrollees at Southern Illinois University — Mike Taylor, Bob Canterbury, John Carroll, Dave Moody, Gary Feas and John Brinson. They ranged in age from 19 to 22.

A member of the senator's personal staff for the past three weeks, Adams arrived here Thursday and established his headquarters in the Ord Hotel. He was joined Saturday by the other six.

It was three weeks ago that Adams decided to forsake the halls of academe and join the throng of paunting students attempting to boost the previously little-known senator from Minnesota to the highest office in the land.

Scheduled to finish college this June, Adams was en route to a "with honors" graduation when the pull of politics and the urge to join the real world lured him from his theory-filled haunts at Dartmouth.

"I worked for Senator McCarthy in New Hampshire, Connecticut, Wisconsin and Indiana on weekends," Adams said. "Finally, about three weeks ago, I decided I wasn't going back to school. I called my professors from Indiana and told them. They told me to go ahead with my plans and they would see what they could do about my grades and graduation."

What Adams expects them to do is give him F's in all his courses. What he hopes they will do is give him F's with credit, so that he will be able to graduate with his classmates.

"At Dartmouth you get credit for a course even if you make an F in it," he explained, "unless the F was for flagrant neglect such as cutting classes. They figure that you must have gotten something out of the course just by being in the classes."

"Of course what I'm doing is flagrant neglect," he continued. "But maybe they won't call it that way."

If they do, graduation day could be an embarrassing moment. "My parents are in West Africa and plan on coming to Dartmouth for my graduation. They don't even know I've left school," he said.

What lures such young men and women from almost certain success to the harsh and unstrife battlefield of politics?

For Adams it was a staunch belief in Senator McCarthy's policies, a deep respect for the man who would "lay his political career on the line to oppose the Johnson administration when everyone else was afraid to," and a belief that this may be the last chance to join such a groundswell.

"I don't think ever again a candidate will come on the American scene who can rouse the enthusiasm of the people and get them to work for nothing like this man has," Adams said.

Contributions by Ak-Sar-Ben reached an all-time high of $393,675 in 1967. More than $500,000 was donated to agricultural, civic and educational activities. An additional $232,402 was contributed to the Douglas County Papio flood control project.

Carol's Corner

By Carol Leggett

Mother's Day is just what we make it—and of course we all want it to be very special. The youngest miss of our household, short on funds and long on love, gave me a present I will enjoy for many years to come. On a neatly folded sheet of pale pink paper she wrote (in her very best handwriting) "Dear Mother: Because you have given me so much love and kindness, and because I love you very much, I promise to sweep the garage every day for one week. With love, Shannon."

It was just four years ago on Mother's Day that Sheri taped coins (pennies and nickels) to a tree branch because I promised to sweep the garage every day for one week. With love, Shannon.

One mother tells that her three year old daughter brought a Mother's Day gift home from Sunday school. It was a bouquet of fresh lilacs with the stems wrapped in foil to keep the flowers fresh. Shelly liked the bouquet so well she claimed it as her very own and has carried it with her all week long (she doesn't care that the lilacs are droopy and wilted now). Another tells of a relative who received a pair of bright red anklets from her young son, one year, and she wore them to let him know there was nothing in the world she wanted more.

These same gifts of love are popular at Christmas time. A mom, in going through her souvenirs, found a home-made card from her now teenage son showing a snow shovel on the front side with a promise to shovel the walks—and on the back side (printed just as neatly) was the word "maybe."

Mother's please easily. It's not the price tag but the thoughtfulness that makes a gift priceless to them. An Iowa woman signs herself "The Chan Mother" after telling how she cured her four sons of one maddening habit they once shared. The boys paid no attention, no matter how loudly she complained about their leaving their shoes wherever they happened to step out of them. Finally Mother stopped talking about it and began to pick up a single shoe of each abandoned pair. This shoe was hidden—and after a series of maddening searches each boy learned to put the complete pair away the minute he was standing in his socks.

For many months Jan Gunnels has been counting the days until her husband returns from Vietnam. When I talked to her on the telephone, Tuesday, she quickly reminded me "only 12 days left." Capt. David P. Gunnels is to leave Saigon May 25, will arrive in California that night (this is where the 13-hour time difference comes in handy) and he will be in Grand Island, Sunday, May 26. The Gunnels—with children Melissa and Michael—will go to the airport to visit his family soon after his arrival here. The last of June they will go to Fort Benning, Ga. where he will be stationed.

This recipe for Malasadas given to me by Jan is a real treat and I hope all of you will try it. The recipe came from the Maui Extension Homemakers Council, Wailuku, Maui, Hawaii.

Quick Malasadas (Portuguese Donuts)
1 pkg. yeast
1/4 c. lukewarm water
4 beaten eggs
1/2 c. boiling water
1/2 c. sugar
2 T. butter
1/2 t. salt
3 c. sifted all purpose flour
Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Combine boiling water, sugar, butter and salt. Cool. Add to yeast then add eggs and cream and beat well. Add half of flour and beat well. Add remaining flour and beat until smooth. Let it rise for about one hour. Drop by tablespoonful into hot deep vegetable oil. Fry until golden color. Drain on paper towel and coat with granulated sugar in a paper bag. Delicious!

Holtz Going To Kearney

Glenn Holtz will be a lonesome man tomorrow and Saturday in Kearney, when he alone carries the Red and White of Ord into the state Class B track meet.

Showing tremendous improvement in his last two outings, Holtz won both the 100 and 220-yard dashes at last week's District 5-B meet in Lexington to qualify for the state finals. He was timed at 10.2 seconds in the hundred and 23-flat in the 220.

Two other Ord representatives performed well but couldn't qualify for state. Roger Cahill ran his best mile ever, 4:38.4, but was still fourth. Dennis Cetak, who had gone over 50 feet earlier this year, came within 1/4 inch of qualifying in the shot put with a toss of 49 feet, 3 1/2 inches. But he not finished fourth.

Ord's only other point was picked up by the 880-yard relay team which Holtz anchored. It came in fifth although winning its heat.

"Our boys did real well," Coach Fred Williams observed. "Nearly all their times and distances were improved over previous meets, but we were in a tough district this year."

The cheerleaders finished with 17 points which was good enough for a sixth-place tie with Gothenburg. Twelve teams participated.

As expected, host Lexington won the championship without a great deal of difficulty as it qualified eight individuals and all three of its relay teams for the state meet. Six of the eight individuals and two of the three relay teams finished first in their specialties.

Holdrege provided the only relay competition for Lexington in the point race as it scored 51 to 67 1/2 for the winner. The Dusters qualified eight individuals and two relay teams for state, but all except their two-mile relay team and high jumper Gary Harlan were second or third-place finishers. Four of them, in fact, finished second to Lexington representatives.

At least two performances were the best in the state in Class B this year. Ken Mingsus threw the discus 163 feet, 5 inches, and Arlin Edeal ran a 4:26.9 mile. Both are Lexington athletes.

Other top showings were made by Harlan, of Holdrege; Larry Reynolds, of Lexington; and the Holdrege two-mile relay team. Harlan high-jumped 6 feet, 2 inches to defeat Broken Bow's Jim Halbersteborn, who had believed that height earlier in the year. This time Halbersteborn could only do 6 even, but that still qualified him for state.

Reynolds ran the 120-yard hurdles in 15.1 seconds, and the Holdrege quartet of Steve Erickson, Steve Lanham, Brian Borden, and Doug Anderson ran two miles in combined 8:10.5. That's 10 seconds better than the existing state meet record for Class B.

Mark Kline of Gothenburg pole-vaulted 13 feet but failed to equal the 13-4 he had posted earlier this year. Fractions proved the difference between first and second in at least three events. In the 400-yard dash three performers were timed in 52.2 seconds. The judges ruled that Lexington's Ronnie Matyas was the winner with Roy Beckman of Grand Island Northwest runnerup. Doug Anderson of Holdrege was third.

In the shot put, one-fourth inch separated winner Rocky Proprock of Grand Island Central Catholic and runnerup Kirk Yentes of Holdrege. Proprock had a toss of 52-3/4 while Yentes was 52-8.

The hex on Holdrege continued into the relay events where its 880-yard team was timed at 1:35.5, the same as Lexington. But again the judges ruled it was Lexington first and Holdrege second.

Ord's 880 team was timed at 1:37.1. Holtz took the baton in second place and moved up to first, but four teams in the other heat bettered the time posted by Holtz. Steve Wells, Mike Kuntz and Bill Miller. Running second, Kuntz had the best individual time of the quartet, posting a 2:32 for his portion of the half-mile.

"I feel we could have done better in the other heat where the top competition was," Coach Williams said. "Holtz should place at state if he can run as well as he did this week." Williams added, in the preliminaries the senior dashman ran a 22.8 in the 220.

Performances by Ord contestants who failed to place were: 100 yard dash — Mike Kuntz, 10.8; Bill Miller, 11.2; 220-yard dash — Dan Holtz, 24.3; Bill Miller, 24.6; 180-yard low hurdles — Mike Kuntz, 22.2; Jimmy Novotny, 25.1; 400-yard dash — Tim Markley, 56.8; Mike Beran, 60.0.

800-yard run — Dennis Micek, 2:25.6; Broad jump — Jimmy Novotny, 17.4; Discus — Dennis Cetak, 126.0; Steve Wells, 125.0; M. Linke, 120.0.

Shot put — Bill Miller, 40.10; M. Linke, 40.0 1/2; Pole vault — Tim Markley, 11.0

Complete results follow. Team Totals: Lexington 42; Holdrege 31; Minden 28; Cozad 22; Grand Island Northwest 21.5; Gothenburg 20; Broken Bow 12.5; Grand Island Central Catholic 12; Centura 4.5; St. Paul 2.5.

Putting for a state championship this weekend will be, front to rear, Collyer Cronk, Dan Wolf, Gerald John and Gregg Martin.

Cronk Leads Golfers Into State Tournament

Led by Collyer Cronk's medal-winning 77, the Ord High School golf team finished third at last week's district meet in York to qualify for tomorrow's state championships in Lincoln. Cronk toured the par 72 course in five-over form to capture low medalist honors in the 12-team meet. His performance helped Ord finish five strokes back of winner Wayne and one behind runnerup Cedar Catholic of Hartington.

The state meet will be played over the Pioneer Golf Course layout in Lincoln. Dan Wolf carded an 83, Gerald John an 85 and Gregg Martin an 88. The highest score was thrown out in figuring total strokes for the team, giving Ord a total of 243.

"There isn't a one of them that couldn't be first at Lincoln if he puts it all together," coach J. B. Ferguson said in forecasting optimistic hopes for the state meet. "And as a team, I think we've got a real good chance. If every boy just plays what he's capable of, there'll be no problem."

Coach Ferguson said he thought Ord had the team championship at York until the fourth man from both Wayne and Cedar Catholic came in. "Each of them had a far better game than was expected," he said.

Top-Notch Football Players Turned Out By Nebraska High Schools, Coach Says

The quality of football in Nebraska high schools is getting better and better, Tom Osborne of the University of Nebraska coaching staff told Ord High athletes Thursday night. Speaking at the Ord athletic banquet, Mr. Osborne also commented on the Nebraska recruiting program, this fall's football team, and Christianity.

"The coaching staff at Nebraska feels there are more quality football players in Nebraska than in Kansas, which has double the population, and the entire Kansas City metropolitan area," Osborne said in explaining a shift to recruiting of more Nebraska boys.

When Coach Bob Devaney came to Nebraska from Wyoming, Osborne continued, his coaching staff had been accustomed to going back East for football players because of Wyoming's small population. That trend continued for the first few years at Nebraska — "then one day we sat down and figured out that the 25 per cent of our boys from Nebraska were doing 50 per cent of the playing. That's when we decided it was time to recruit more home-grown products," the former Washington Redskins added.

This year the Cornhuskers will bring in from 40 to 45 freshmen on football scholarships, and Osborne estimated 19 or 20 of them would be home-staters.

He said the recruiting program was going "real well" with only a shortage of interior linemen. "We have some good quality quarterbacks, good ends and backs," he commented, and he indicated the staff still had hopes of adding some tackles, guards and centers.

Ericson Man Is 'Master Angler'

Jerry Horwath's big fish story was a true one, and as a result he has been awarded the Nebraska Game Commission's "Master Angler" award.

Horwath, of Ericson, landed a 6 1/2-pound largemouth bass at Wheeler County Lake to qualify for the prize. The latest listing of award winners also includes one man who caught his fish at Sherman Reservoir. He's Dale Greenlee of Columbus, who boated a 10 1/2-pound northern pike.

Whooping Crane Killed

A dead whooping crane, a young female, was found near Dorrance, Kan., on Apr. 13 — the victim of an overhead wire which the bird struck while flying during a storm, the Nebraska Game Commission says. This loss reduces the wild population of whooping cranes to 46. With another 12 birds in captivity, the total population is 58 — still an all-time high.

Strong Showings, Close Competition Mark Class C and D District Meets

Some of the best performances in the state this spring and a pair of dramatic comebacks highlighted Wednesday's Class C and D district track meet in Ord.

The top performances came in Class C where three Sumner athletes led the assault. Tom Rohde threw the discus 155 feet, 8 1/2 inches; Roger Wiseman ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.9 seconds; and Dan Simmons cleared 12.7 1/2 in the pole vault.

However, those top individual efforts failed to bring Sumner a team championship as Ravenna's strong sprint contingent sparked its school to a half-point victory. The totals were 42 for Ravenna and 41 1/2 for Sumner.

Ravenna must have sent a card of thanks to third-place Burwell, however, which closed with 27 points. For Burwell's ace pole vaulter, Doug Roberts, also cleared 12.7 1/2; and nosed Simmons out of first place in that event because he had fewer misses. The two-point difference between first and second place was more than enough to doom Sumner to the runnerup position overall.

In Class D the competition was almost as intense although the performances failed to equal those of the bigger schools. In that division Wheeler County closed the meet with third-place finishes in both the 880 and mile relays to earn six points and move away from runnerup Amherst. Final totals were Wheeler County 47, Amherst 41.

Ravenna and Sumner will undoubtedly continue their Class C battle at this weekend's state meet in Kearney since each qualified five individuals and one relay team for the climactic session.

Others with strong delegations at Kearney will include Burwell, four individuals, and Ansley, four. North Loup-Scottia has a Jack Jeffries, four individuals and Jeffries finishing first in the shot and second in the discus, and Chuck Wegner taking second in the shot.

Rohde's outstanding discus heave was still nearly five feet short of his best this year, a tremendous 169 feet even. That's third best in the state for any Class C.

Wiseman's 14.9 in the high hurdles was the 10th best time in the state. It bettered by one-tenth of a second his previous best.

Wiseman joined Jeffries as the only other double winner, also taking the 180-yard low hurdles with a 21-flat.

The 12 1/2 cleared by Roberts and Simmons in the pole vault was the best ever by a Class C athlete in a district meet.

Steve Haught must get much of the credit for Ravenna's team victory with a first-place finish in the 100-yard dash, second in the long jump and second in the 220. In the latter event Ravenna took three of the five places, and the same boys were instrumental in bringing the school's 880-yard relay home first in a fine time of 1:34.4. Coming in the next-to-last event of the day that killed Sumner's hopes of overtaking Ravenna for the team title.

However, Sumner did make it close as possible by coming back strong in the last event, the mile relay, and winning it with a time of 3:36.3.

Other strong performances were Loup City's two-mile relay time of 8:34.6; the 5 foot 10 inches cleared by Jack Vanslyke of Loup City in the high jump; the 51.5 run by Robert Anderson of Sargent in the 400-yard dash; and the efforts of Arnold's Lanny Geiser in the sprints. Geiser won the 220, finished fourth in the hundred and helped his 880-yard relay team qualify for state with a second place finish.

In Class D Wheeler County showed strong overall balance in edging Amherst. The Bartlett school had winners in the long jump Tracy Kraus, 18.8 (2), 180-yard low hurdles (Kennie Watson, 22.3) and pole vault (Jan Schmiedt, 11.6).

Kraus also qualified for state in the hundred with a second place finish as did Gary Kasselner in the 880. That makes a total of five individuals.

The lack of a relay team may hurt Wheeler County in the team race at Kearney, where top competition from this district will include Amherst, four individuals and Spalding Academy, four individuals, and one relay team.

The top individual performer in this division was Don Zimmer of Pleasanton who won both sprints and helped his 880 relay team to a first-place finish. The time was 1:37.7, a second and a half slower than its top time this year which is 11th best in the state and tops in Class D.

Arcaida's Jerry Bresley was the only Class D performer who could equal the accomplishments of his Class C counterpart. He won the high jump at 5 feet 10 inches.

McCarthy Backer

"Senator McCarthy's campaign sprang from the will of the people and from no organization," he added. "He is relying on the will of the common people."

"In fact, that's why we're here in Ord. We want to establish contact with the people. Senator McCarthy is concentrating primarily on the big cities, but we feel the primaries are to test the will of all the people — not just those in the cities."

"Our presence in Ord and other small Nebraska cities demonstrates the grass roots aspect that we're trying to achieve."

While McCarthy faces reality and talks about coalitions that may be necessary, his student backers press doggedly on sure that their efforts will culminate in the Democratic nomination for their candidate.

"On the basis of primaries in New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Indiana, I feel we have a solid chance of winning," Adams said.

"What about Nebraska? What would it take here to satisfy McCarthy boosters?"

"Thirty-five to 40 percent. We'll settle for 35 to 40, give Kennedy 40 and Humphrey 20 to 25."

But that still leaves Kennedy in the lead. Where can McCarthy catch him? Again the answer came quickly.

"Oregon and California. We're counting on winning those states and going into the convention showing Democrats we have a man who can win. I think the fact that McCarthy got 100,000 cross-over votes from Republicans in Wisconsin proves that already."

Adams also had some warm words for local voters.

"Nebraska is much different from Indiana," he said. "We found Indiana voters disgusting, apathetic. They know very little about the candidates and issues and cared less."

"Here in Nebraska, and in Valley County, it's different. We've been impressed by the kindness and reception we've received in Ord. Everyone, regardless of party affiliation, has been willing to talk and listen."

"We've found them to be receptive, friendly and concerned. We're happier to have a Republican who will talk and listen to us rather than an uninformed Democrat who simply votes every four years without knowing anything about the people he's voting for."

be necessary because the longer north-south runway would cross it. But that's no real problem, Schmidt said, since residents of the area can use either of two gravel roads to reach Highway 11 and not have to go more than a mile out of their way.

As for lack of usage, Schmidt said citizens should consider how much business the airport would do with its new facilities rather than the amount it does now with its dirt and grass runways.

"In fact, Land-Air officials in Grand Island have already been contacted and have said they would consider flying air freight into Ord on a regular basis if the improvements were made. With our declining rail and truck service, I feel that should be an important consideration," he said.

In addition, Ord has the only airport in the county and the closest one to Sherman Reservoir," Schmidt added. "With better facilities, I'm sure we would get more traffic. In fact, it might be possible for us to hire a full-time maintenance man who could do repair work, a n a n a l checkups and the like. Having such a fixed base operator would be just like having a new industry in town because of the business we'd get from ranchers around here wanting work done on their planes."

The final argument—having to use federal funds—really isn't valid either, Schmidt claimed. He produced figures from the office of Representative Dave Martin showing that in fiscal 1967 only $12 million in federal funds were spent in Nebraska for airport construction.

"That was much less than one per cent of the total federal money spent in the state," he said. He compared it with $25.2 million spent on housing, $7.8 million spent on Job Corps and Office of Economic Opportunity programs, and a whopping $322.5 million spent on agricultural aid programs.

All persons with strong feelings on the subject, either for or against, should be present at the hearing, Mayor Bill French said.

National Hospital Week

Welfare of Others Is Main Concern Of Valley County Hospital Personnel

By Karl MacKinnon
Hospital Administrator

The very heart of a hospital is "people caring for people." This is the slogan for National Hospital Week, this week.

A hospital is unique... when you need its services, it's the most important building in town. And what is it that distinguishes a hospital from any other large building? The answer is plainly "the people in it." "People caring for people." It is concern for the individual patient, the skill focused on the needs of the patient — these are the humane factors that make a hospital unique.

In your community it is the big building up on the hill. It is new, its halls are bright and cheery, the rooms comfortable and convenient. The thing that you notice most is the friendly smile and gentle hands that reach out to care for you when pain is just a little more than you can bear.

Yes, hospitals are people caring for people. Imagine yourself in one. How important the people are! Hospitals started out as places of custody and consolation. Not long ago, all the hospital people could do was share your sense of despair.

It is different today. The hospital people know they can help. And your hope for complete recovery has a firmness about it that earlier generations never knew.

How far have hospitals come? In 1800 less than 20 per cent of physicians had attended medical specialties schools. There were no laboratories or X-rays to guide their diagnosis. The "killer diseases" — diphtheria, pneumonia, typhoid and tuberculosis — lived up to their names. One out of every six children did not survive infancy. At that time hospitals played a small role in people's lives.

By 1910 the hospital's importance was growing. Surgical techniques improved, advances in X-ray and laboratory methods all created the need for many new community hospitals. More persons entered hospitals... there was hope of cure.

By the mid-1930s new patterns of patient care emerged. Patient care was shifting from home and doctor's office to the hospital. In 1935 one in every 15 Americans was admitted to hospitals. By 1965 one of every seven Americans found their hospital ready to care for them. The long list of advances in modern hospital and health care reads like 21st Century magic. Antibiotics, vaccines, artificial kidneys, transplants, radioactive isotopes and cobalt radiation are but a few.

Hospitals now organize the patterns of care to fit each patient. This is called progressive patient care. Valley County Hospital is such a progressive care hospital.

The community center of health care is the hospital and will continue to be the focal point of health services. Here, during National Hospital Week,

L.P.N. Myrl Merchant, charge nurse of Valley County Hospital Geriatrics Wing, and Geriatrics nurse aide Frances Mora admire the handwork of Mrs. Jessie Chalfield, age 92, long-term resident of the Geriatrics Wing at the hospital. Mrs. Chalfield has been a resident of the hospital since September 1964 and looks with pride upon a room full of lovely crocheting, the result of her talented hands.

Nebraska Feedlot Operators Must Register

Last week in this column we called your attention to the fact that feedlots in Nebraska were to be registered with the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council. We have some additional information on this subject that we would like to call to your attention at this time.

The Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council (Section 71-3004) is charged with the responsibility of protecting, maintaining and enhancing the quality of the waters of the state. In an attempt to fulfill this responsibility, an inventory of existing wastes from municipal, industrial, agricultural and other sources is required.

An important phase of the overall task is to inventory agricultural and related wastes. On March 8 the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council adopted a regulation requiring that all feedlots, in the categories outlined below, be registered:

- (a) the maximum number of feedlot animals in confinement at any one time is: (1) 300 or more feeder or fat cattle; (2) 100 or more beef cows; (3) 100 or more dairy cattle; (4) 500 or more swine; (5) 2,000 or more sheep; (6) 3,000 or more turkeys or (7) 10,000 or more chickens, ducks or geese;
- (b) Any feedlot that is smaller than the above but is located within 500 feet of any water course;
- (c) Any other feedlot that has a water pollution potential;
- (d) Any feedlot whose operator elects to register.

We have in our office feedlot registration forms which you must complete and return to the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council not later than July 1, 1968. Also available is circular C-200, "Feedlot Pollution". Should you have any questions concerning this problem, stop at the County Extension Office and discuss them.

May Is Beef Month

The "hard sell" is on for BEFF this month of May. In officially proclaiming May as Beef Month, Governor Mann noted that Nebraska is the fastest growing cattle feeding state in the nation.

Beef is one of the big guns in the annual spring battle against bulging waist lines and spreading hiplines.

To help motivate the slim trim thinkers toward beef, the Beef Industry Council has launched an intensive promotion, "Spring Slim Liners," which will continue through May. The summer season promotion, "Beef — Season It With Summer," will be kicked off in June and run through August.

Musk Thistle Acreeage High In Four-County Area

A recent survey of Musk Thistle in Nebraska points out that the four counties of Valley,

Sherman, Greeley and Howard may contain nearly a half million acres of pasture land infested with musk thistle.

These counties, according to the survey, comprise the most heavily infested area in the state.

Protect Shade Trees From Borer Attacks

Now is the time to protect your shade trees from borer attacks.

Last week I was called to Parkview Village where I observed some ash trees that showed heavy damage due to ash borer infestation. We recommended spraying the infested trees with DDT, lindane or dieldrine using two tablespoons of 25 per cent DDT, or 13 per cent dieldrin, or 20 per cent lindane to one gallon of water. We suggest giving the trees, lower branches and trunk a good spraying now. After the spray has dried, wrap the trunk up to the lower limbs with special paper available from nurseries and garden centers. If you do not have access to this special paper, any heavy brown wrapping paper will be satisfactory.

If trees are not wrapped, spray the trunk every two to three weeks with one of the above sprays.

4-H Leadership and Conservation Camp

We are still taking applications for the 4-H Leadership and Conservation Camp. This camp is scheduled the week of June 17-21 at the 4-H Camp in Halsey.

Older 4-H members, age 14 through 19, are eligible. We may consider applications from some of the 13-year-olds depending upon how near they are to their 14th birthday.

Workshops on leadership will be conducted, and those participating will be given opportunities to practice leadership skills. Other interesting topics studied at the camp will be geology, astronomy and water safety. Sports, canoeing, fishing and rifle marksmanship contests are part of the agenda.

We urge all 4-H members who are interested in more information concerning this leadership activity to stop at the Extension Office for details.

4-H Livestock Judging Clinic

A 4-H practice livestock judging clinic is scheduled June 6 at the Bill Schudel Ranch near North Loup. Several classes of livestock will be discussed, and participants will have an opportunity to judge at least two classes.

Gordon Albrecht, herdsman for the Schudel Hereford Co., will demonstrate proper procedures for showing beef animals as well as giving pointers on showing techniques.

Some practice in judging light horses will be given at the Lloyd Geweke ranch, south of Ord, the same day.

we salute the Valley County Hospital, and all the people who work to make Valley County Hospital ready to serve, day or night, the health needs of our area. This means the doctors on the staff, the professional nurses, the licensed practical nurses, the nursing aides, the helpers who fill the more than 40 job classifications in the laundry, maintenance, dietary and kitchens, the laboratory technicians, the X-ray technicians, surgical technicians, anesthetists, pharmacists, medical record librarians, accountants, insurance clerks and bookkeepers, receptionists, volunteer workers and auxiliary organizations, and the administrators and board of directors of the hospital. The list is long and it is understandably so when you consider that it takes 20 pairs of hands for each person who needs care.

But with all the miracle advances, the hospital theme must still be "people caring for people."

This is National Hospital Week. Visit your hospital during regular visiting hours. Visit a friend in the hospital. Find out why the future means twice as many people will seek hospital care. Find out why the hospitals will continue to offer fine careers for young people who want to join other "people caring for people."

Here is a hearty salute to the more than 75 people in Valley County who make Valley County Hospital one of the finest progressive care hospitals in the Midwest.

Arabian Nights, a wonderland of magic carpets, genies and magic lamps, tents with harem girls, and glistening streams in the desert. This was the dazzling sight in the girls' gym for the annual junior-senior banquet, and from Saturday night Entertainment was provided by Chris Bishop and Darlyn Novosold who sang a medley of songs of old and also a closing number. Mr. Walsh gave a speech on his philosophy of life in which he divided life into four acts.

Later the tables were cleared away and the dance began. Music was provided by the Soul Seekers from Grand Island. Everyone had a good time, including the teachers who displayed their dancing abilities!

Hold out on the phone company.

After 7 p.m., you can call anywhere in the country for a dollar.

All long distance callers worth their salt know that calling in the daytime is more expensive than calling in the evening hours. (Actually, most people call during the day, when we charge our regular rates.)

But long distance callers aren't interested in explanations.

The only thing they care about is calling for the cheapest possible price.

So to get more for their money, they devised a scheme you might call The Waiting Game.

The idea is to do just what the name implies: Wait and wait and wait and wait.

Because they know if they can hold out till after 7 p.m. or any time of the day on Saturday or Sunday, they can call anywhere in the country for a dollar or less.

Which just goes to prove that anybody can afford to call long distance.

Provided they know how to play The Game.

Words to Remember in Days of Strife

From the Middleton (Wisconsin) Times-Tribune

It was the interesting custom years ago for Presidential candidates to refrain from formal speechmaking during campaigns following the conventions.

In the presidential contest of 1864 when McClellan opposed Abraham Lincoln, both followed the custom, but Lincoln, as president, did give informal talks to soldiers passing through Washington.

One of these short speeches, made to the 166th Ohio Regiment, was recorded.

"I almost always feel inclined," Lincoln said, "when I happen to say anything to soldiers, to impress upon them, in a few brief remarks, the importance of success in this contest. It is not merely for today, but for all time to come, that we should perpetuate for our children's children that great and free government which we have enjoyed all our lives. I beg you to remember this, not merely for my sake, but for yours. I happen, temporarily, to occupy this White House. I am a living witness that any one of your children may look to come here as my father's child has. It is in order that each of you may have, through this free government which we have enjoyed, an open field and a fair chance for your industry, enterprise and intelligence; that you all may have equal privileges in the race of life, with all its desirable human aspirations. It is for this the struggle should be maintained, that we may not lose our birthright. . . . The nation is worth fighting for, to secure such an inestimable jewel."

It's Okay to Talk, But Twist an Arm Too

History is sometimes a fascinating subject, and it can be most valuable one if we take seriously the lessons it offers.

Having ignored it so often in the past, the United States now faces another moment when we can profit by our past mistakes.

Men of good-will everywhere must be encouraged by the Paris peace talks which opened this week. Hopefully they will bear much fruit and bring an end to the dreary conflict which has sapped our resources, our manpower and — worst of all — our national will.

But anyone with a knowledge of history must also be skeptical. He knows that when dealing with Communists, "one should be feckless indeed to assume good faith on their part," as our top negotiator at the Korean truce talks, Admiral C. Turner Joy, explains it.

And he also knows that the only thing the Communists respect, or fear, is force. In Korea we failed to keep the pressure on when the peace talks started, thinking that the war was over and all we had to do was negotiate the terms. As history tells us, that was a mistake. The war dragged on more than two years — twice the length of time it had been going before the talks started.

In the Cuban crisis we did put the pressure on, and it paid off. When our ships moved into position to challenge Soviet vessels, the Communists backed down.

President Johnson has already gone the first mile in proving our willingness to negotiate. Now there are those who would urge him to go further — to halt the bombing completely. Even against enemy troop concentrations that might be gathering to strike at our own soldiers.

To accede to these advocates would be a mistake. Contrary to what they say, it would not provide a better atmosphere in Paris for achieving peace unless we're there merely to negotiate our own surrender, as some correspondents feel the North Vietnamese are already thinking.

No, Mr. President, leave our fighting men with at least one good free to defend themselves. And let them use it to press the enemy on the battlefield at every juncture. Only then will the right atmosphere for achieving peace be obtained.

Coast-to-coast driving without a traffic light or stop sign will be possible when the 41,000-mile Interstate Highway System is completed in 1974. The superhighways will link 90 per cent of the nation's major cities. Already, almost 60 per cent of the total mileage is open to traffic, and the remaining 40 per cent is in progress.

The American Red Cross noted that nearly one-fifth of all Americans who die each year by swallowing poison are small children too young to read labels and of an age when they will not anything in their mouths.

FORT DODGE, IOWA, MESSENGER: "Secrecy in government has reached a crisis stage of enormous proportions in the United States and at last some of our senators and congressmen are beginning to raise their voices in sharp protest against this most dangerous trend."

If a youngster cares enough to look for a summer job, he's interested in his future. It's your future as well. Give him a job this summer.

State May Provide Matching Funds For City, County Road Improvements

By Melvin Paul, Statehouse Correspondent, The Nebraska Press Association

Chairman Jerome Warner of the Legislature's Highway Study Committee reports his unit hopes to devise a matching fund formula that will reward cities and counties for local initiative.

The Waverly lawmaker said it would work on an equal cost-sharing basis with the State Roads Department and involve arterial roadways.

The objective, he added, would be to encourage higher construction standards on roads between economic centers. He also said it would provide relief to cities and counties badly in need of road improvements.

Warner said the proposal would leave as "much flexibility as possible" to the cities and counties regarding how they might raise matching money.

"The plan would have the effect of rewarding those cities and counties that put up local funds to match state money to build needed streets and highways," he said.

Warner said some of the roads which hired consultants recommended be eliminated from the state highway system, could be upgraded through the program and remain a part of the system.

"Once they were improved, more traffic would roll over them and their maintenance could be justified from a state standpoint," he explained.

Local protests have arisen to the consultants' suggestion that several hundred miles of state highway be removed from the state system.

Warner said there is little doubt the 1969 Legislature will revise the gasoline tax distribution formula, but he declined to predict to what extent.

Presently funds are allocated 53 percent to the state, 26 percent to the counties and 11 percent to the cities. The consultants recommended this be changed to give the state 60 percent, the counties 18 percent and the cities 22 percent. The latter distribution is strongly opposed by the counties.

Warner said one of the big problems facing the state is sufficient revenue to pay for highway and street construction. He said this could be remedied if voters approve the constitutional amendment to permit the use of bonds for road projects. The measure will be balloted on this November.

The senator noted some persons have suggested an increase in the gas tax to pay for improvements but he said the fact Nebraska's levy is one of the highest in the country makes this proposal a difficult one.

The state gas tax is 7 1/2 cents a gallon. There have been proposals to raise it to eight cents and 8 1/2 cents.

"It is possibly as high as it can get for the present," Warner said.

Warner said his committee, which has conducted hearings across the state, plans to hold one more public session in the statehouse before drafting specific recommendations for presentation to the 1969 Legislature.

—sea of thought— Incoherent thoughts skinned the surface of his mind like a flat rock seat skipping across the water by a playful lad.

The placidity of the unfathomable mind only temporarily disturbed, each new thought was repelled . . . dissipating into expanding ringlets . . . expanding into nothingness.

Quiet and restive to the observer, his mind mirrored the image that looked into it. Yet, beneath the surface in the depths of darkness existed desires that would die if they were ever exposed. These lay far deeper than even the reach of light beams penetrating the surface.

Some had looked beneath the surface. Others would try. Devisive methods of prying — by those interested enough — yielded only blurred images. Some distinguishable forms were recognized. But the deeper one looked, the less there was to see.

Discovery of anything in the darkest depths would necessitate the use of artificial light . . . and artificial methods.

Too, the depths exerted more pressure the deeper one went. Probably no one would make the dive to the very bottom. The pressure was too great and would repel even the deepest diver. Intensity of pressure and lack of light would protectively hold the secrets that diversely rolled along the floor of his mind. Tempests had churned the surface. But his secrets continued to roll amiably to and fro on the floor of his mind. Weighty problems cast into the tranquil surface water eventually sank to the bottom and created a layer of objective objects. Each — eventually — had been rolled smoothly into conformity with the bottom of his mind. Storms would sometimes cause them to churn about . . . but only wear them down to less and less . . . forming a solid base on the floor of his mind.

Plummeting the depths were the same insidious questions of antiquity. Who? When? Why? Why . . . why . . . why!

Again the surface calmed and looked serene . . . the picture of contentment to those about him. Silently the ringlets widened as thoughts skinned the surface. Each saw himself in the placid reflection mirroring the image of faces that looked within.

But none would explore the depths!

Back to the Rock Pile

Having been back on my rock pile for some weeks now, I keep thinking I am through writing about Mexico. And then I see something that makes me think "Oh, I want to tell about that!"

For instance, when they wave a hand at you, it's backward. Squeeze your hand and wave at yourself. That's the way they teach babies and children, and that's the way everyone waves.

Or, the way men greet one another. I rather like it. It is almost an embrace, as all four arms pat one another. Each man puts his arms about the other in a sort of real, hearty manner. And it begins with a handshake.

It is absorbing to trace the similarities . . . now in France this would go into that cheek-kissing bit. Which is a warm, sincere-appealing ceremony.

Women's greeting customs are different from ours too. They love to shake hands and use this not only for meeting and departing from friends, but as a kind of a thank-you in many South American cities.

If you admire their children, which isn't hard to do as they are beautiful black-eyed darlings; if you say something nice about the lady's husband; if you compliment the tea, the hostess is likely to cry affectionately, "Oh, let me shake your hand!" And it truly does make you feel welcome and wanted.

Also, men are more demonstrative in South American countries.

The father will greet his son with an embrace and likely a kiss on each cheek. He is devoted to the young man and shows it. I think this is good.

We are so busy being poised and a bit blasé that it has become bad form to show affection in our country.

No, I have to take that back when I remember the way our young people mug all up and down the streets, in the cars, in the parks, at the movies.

All of which they also do in Latin America . . . excepting that girls are much more carefully guarded.

Girls of upper classes never venture forth unattended. And a poor little maid is protected also, for her father or her brothers may beat an ogling stranger to a pulp. And those men do carry knives, a little stiletto or a hefty machete.

Mexicans are friendly, yet they're suspicious too. If a brother is too kind to a sister, the neighbors talk. If an uncle calls too often, the priest may speak to him about the young daughters of the house. Nobody trusts nobody!

Yet their ingenious smiles throw one off guard. They will not correct you if you say the taxi meter reads 100 pesos when it actually reads 10 pesos. They will accept the 100 pesos and thank you gratefully, bowing and grinning. Their day is made!

They know you are only another rich American. Aren't all Americans rich? That's why they want to be like us. — Irma

An Open Letter To Farmers, Ranchers And Land Owners Of Valley County:

After two years of intensive control efforts, musk thistle is still very much in evidence on the agricultural landscape of Valley County.

But a determined campaign this year by you, the farmer, the rancher, and the landowner, will help us reduce the task of containing this pasture pest to the caretaker status.

Many of you have signed up for cost-sharing A.C.P. practices at the office of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). To be eligible for this payment, the musk thistle must be sprayed or destroyed by June 15th.

If either through reluctance or apathy, steps have not been taken to eradicate musk thistle by June 15th, the State has the authority to take whatever steps necessary to clean up any un-treated acreage. The cost of the eradication will be charged to the landowner by adding the cost of such treatment to the property tax.

The best control still is spraying musk thistle before the rosettes start to shoot seed stalks. Application of 2 pounds of 2,4-D per acre will kill the thistle if growing conditions are good and temperature is 70 degrees or above.

Delaying the spraying thistle — infested acres allows the plant to start seed stalks. If this occurs, the plants become tolerant to 2,4-D and must be dug out by hand.

So, may we urge you, the farmer, the rancher, and the landowners of Valley County — "Search out and destroy" musk thistle!

New Principal Due in Town Around June 15

Robert Norton, incoming principal of Ord High School, is expected to arrive in town around June 15. Mr. Norton is 33 years old, married and the father of two daughters — one of them just three weeks old. The other is 4 years old.

A 1963 graduate of Falls City High School, the new principal received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Perry State College in 1957 and a master's degree from Chadron State College in 1967.

He has taught at Odell, Finley and Nebraska City in this state, and is currently assistant principal at Douglas High School, Ellsworth Air Force Base, in Rapid City, S. D. In Ord he will serve as junior high principal at 50.

Mr. Norton has served as executive director of the Big Brothers of America organization in Rapid City and is an active member of the Masonic Lodge, Elks Club and YMCA. He and his wife are members of the United Methodist Church, and he belongs to the National Education Assn., South Dakota Education Assn. and South Dakota Personnel and Guidance Assn.

Here in Ord Mr. Norton will succeed Al Bellinger, who is moving to Kearney as junior high principal.

Totals Still Show Nixon, Kennedy; They Garner Most Delegates Too

The Presidential candidates and national newsmen have long since headed West, transferring their affections and attention to the Beaver State of Oregon. But back here in Nebraska election officials are still struggling with the tedious details of counting and recounting, checking and re-checking.

Here in Valley County the votes from the May 14 primary were not tabulated by the beginning of this week, but County Clerk Thelma Dalitz and her staff were busy double-checking before declaring them official.

Figures as of Monday showed little change from those posted in the early hours following the election, and a week's study merely reemphasized the facts that became apparent in the first hours of counting — that Richard Nixon and Robert Kennedy scored significant victories.

In Valley County the voting followed the same pattern it did throughout the rest of Nebraska. Nixon polled right at 77 percent of the Republican votes

City Council Okays Bottle Club Request For Smith's Tavern at Special Hearing

Approval was granted to Smith's Tavern by the Ord City Council Monday to operate a bottle club.

At a special hearing council members voted 4-to-1 for approval. The state must still act on the request; however, it ordinarily follows the lead of city councils on such matters.

Rev. Clarence Campbell, pastor of the Ord Methodist Church, led the opposition. He said a license to operate such an establishment was a privilege rather than a right, and it was a privilege he did not want granted in his community.

Supporters of the request pointed out that the Veterans Club and Elks Club already had such privileges and Smith's should be allowed to operate as part of the "free enterprise" system the United States enjoys.

When one of the councilmen commented that "we can't stop people from drinking," Mr. Campbell said, "Why can't we? If something is evil and wrong, why can't we stop it?"

He also cited figures showing that one of 18 drinkers in the United States becomes an alcoholic. That figure is up from one in 22 of a short time ago, and the reason is that liquor is more accessible, he said.

Rev. John Nordgaard, minister of the Bethany Lutheran Church, said he was not in favor of another liquor establishment in town but that the council's action would not affect the problem of alcoholism. He suggested that present laws restricting use by minors and driving while intoxicated be better enforced.

Mayor Bill French pointed out that the council's responsibility was not to decide on the moral issue of drinking, but to act on a legal question.

The council was scheduled to act on another controversial question — proposed improvements at the Ord municipal airport — at a special hearing Wednesday night at 8 p.m.

Ord Youth Second In Judging Contest

Don Geweke of Ord placed second in the senior division of a recent livestock and meat judging contest at the University of Nebraska, solidifying his chances of representing the school at three national meets next fall.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Geweke, the junior animal science major won the beef cattle and quarter horse judging contests to finish with 930 points of a possible 1,000. The first-place winner, Tom Dearmont of Rose, had 953 points.

The three top individuals for the year will represent Nebraska next fall at the National Barrow Show, Austin, Minn.; the American Royal, Kansas City, Mo.; and the International Livestock Show, Chicago.

The most recent results were announced at the annual hog and banquet of the university's Block and Bridle Club.

Diplomas Handed To 81 Graduates

Eighty-one seniors received diplomas at Tuesday night's Ord High School commencement, closing graduation week activities.

The seniors heard Dr. Harold Ahrends, guest speaker from Kearney State College, exhort them to greater efforts in his speech on "Living in Such an Age."

"Don't let the world intimidate you either because you're young," he said in recalling a number of young persons who had achieved great deeds.

"Few Things Certain" In an age of possible nuclear holocaust and undreamed-of technological advances, few things are certain, Dr. Ahrends said. "But one of them is that eternal vigilance on your part is the price of liberty."

"So work, and live, that you will leave the world a better place than you found it," he urged. "Live so that someone generations hence can say they know the way you trod by the lamps you left."

Words such as "duty," "service" and "truth" also spiced the educator's talk.

Dr. Otis Miller, president of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas.

In other activities during the week, the class heard Rev. Clarence Campbell of the United Methodist Church speak Sunday at baccalaureate services and saw several of their number presented with scholarships and other academic awards at Class Night activities Monday.

Excessive speed continues to hold top spot in the fatal list of auto accident causes, with reckless driving and driving on the wrong side of the road taking second and third places respectively. Pedestrians are at fault in many fatal accidents, with crossing between intersections the top killer.

Carol's Corner

Mothers are talking about the summer vacation which begins this week with the dismissal of Ord schools on Friday. Some seem glad about it—others think quite the opposite. Being weary of an ailment Dr. Spock didn't tell me about, this mother couldn't be more anxious. "McGuggey's Panic" occurs among children 15 seconds before their mother is about to cart them off to school. Perhaps this "ailment" is more prevalent at our house since Mom is leaving for work at the time the youngsters leave for school. This mass hysteria is caused by the scholars suddenly remembering everything they should have remembered the night before. The middle child frantically remembers that she is supposed to take a lump of sugar for a science class and the youngest that she is supposed to take a dog for social studies class. While mother rushes about rounding up the sugar and making arrangements to borrow the neighbor's dog, the children help out by rushing around behind her screaming about how late they're going to be.

Yes, not only are the youngsters counting the days until school is out—I am too!

Chocolate is a favorite of most of us and in recent months White Chocolate has stepped into the limelight in many new recipes. For those of you who are wondering about White Chocolate, as I did, let me explain that it is commonly referred to as Almond Bark which you have probably all seen at the local grocery.

This interesting recipe is from the Kitchen of Mrs. Bill (Earlene) Riley.

White Chocolate Cake
Melt 1/4 lb. white chocolate in 1/4 c. boiling water. Set aside.
Cream together in another bowl, 1 c. butter and 2 c.

sugar. Add one at a time (beating well after each addition) 4 egg yolks. Add chocolate mixture and 1 t. vanilla. Sift together 2 1/2 c. cake flour, 1 t. baking powder, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Add alternately with 1 c. buttermilk (Do not overbeat). Fold in 4 stiffly beaten egg whites. Stir in 1 c. pecans and 1 c. coconut. Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes in 3 greased and floured 9 in. pans.

Mrs. Louis (Vivian) Wajda was pleasantly surprised on her birthday last Tuesday when Sgt. Larry Wajda called her from Tay Hoo, Vietnam. It had been almost a year since she had heard her son's voice. Larry is due to arrive home the first part of July.

A young mother was worried about her 9-year-old son. No matter how much she scolded, he kept running around with his shirt tails flapping. Her neighbor had four boys, and each of them always wore his shirt neatly tucked in. Finally, in desperation, the young mother asked her neighbor to tell her the secret.

"Oh, it's all very simple," she replied. "I just take all their shirts and sew an edging of lace on the bottom."

As my 9-year-old and I drove home from Class Night, I confessed how I always become "dewey-eyed" at occasions such as these and asked how I could keep my composure when our family is a part of these same activities. "You'll have to sit way up on the top step so you won't cause a big scene" was her advice to me. This might be worth remembering!

Three Games on Tap At Ord Field Sunday

Baseball fans should be able to get their fill Sunday at the Ord Field.

A tripleheader is scheduled with games at 2:15, 6 and 8 p.m. The Ord adult team will meet league-leading Wood River in the afternoon game, the Ord midget team will make its 1968 debut against Burwell in the twilight game, and the Ord American Legion team will make its first 1968 appearance in the night game. It too will play Burwell.

It's quite likely that some local youths will see action in both the adult game and the American Legion contest. High school players have done all the playing in the adult team's three games so far, and some of them will also be playing Legion ball.

In last Sunday's game Ord's record in the Sherman Howard League dropped to 0-3 as it bowed to Ashton, 10-5.

The game pattern followed lines of the team's two previous losses, with the Mustangs taking an early lead, then losing it with errors and pitching wildness.

This time Ord carried a 4-1 lead into the fifth inning before everything went awry. Ashton batter struck out, relief pitcher put it out of reach in the seventh by scoring six unearned runs after two were out.

Third baseman Dick Collins let a ground ball get through with one out in the seventh to open the door. After the next Ashton batter struck out, relief pitcher Jim Lukesh walked a man. Still no damage was done, and Ord had another chance to get out of the inning when Lukesh struck out the next man. But catcher Spencer Douthit missed the ball, and the Ashton batter was safe at first.

Three base hits, two walks and a hit batsman followed, accounting for six runs.

Again Ord's hitting was sound as Duane Psota, Roger Psota and Mike Beran led the Mustangs to 12 safeties. Duane had three of them, Roger and Beran two apiece.

Claude Badura led Ashton with a three-run homer in the big seventh inning. Don Jehozek survived the Ord hitfest and went all the way to earn the pitching victory.

Wood River comes to town with a perfect 3-0 record. In last week's action it defeated Central City, 7-5, in a battle for first place.

Area Trackmen Find Rough Going In State Championship Competition

The competition was rough indeed for area performers at this year's state high school track meet, with only Glenn Holtz of Ord and the Loup City two-mile relay team finishing higher than fifth in any event.

Holtz continued his outstanding sprint work in the preliminaries, qualifying for the finals in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Then in the finals he ran third in the hundred but failed to place in the 220.

"I just didn't have anything left for the 220," Holtz said after expressing pleasure at his Glenn Holtz... happy after third-place showing in 100-yard dash, above, and struggling to finish in 220, right.

Tracy Krause of Bartlett picked up the area's only point in Class D, taking fifth in the long jump with a leap of 19 feet 10 1/2 inches. Randy Fowler of Hordville was a foot better than that in winning the event.

Bartlett's performance was perhaps the most disappointing for area schools, since it had qualified five individuals for the meet in winning its district championship. The Class D winner was Hayes Center with 19 points, followed by Pleasanton and Talmage with 14 each.

Athletes from this area who qualified for the finals but then failed to place included Roger Hurst of Burwell and Bob Anderson of Sargent, both in the Class C 440-yard dash.

Golfers Tie For Eighth In State Championship

Playing far off form, Ord's representatives at last weekend's Class B state high school golf championships came in tied for a distant eighth.

Holdrege repeated as state champion with a three-man total of 242 strokes over the Pioneer Golf Course layout in Lincoln. Par was 216.

Ord was 24 strokes back of Holdrege, tied with Millard. Typical of the Ord frustration was Colyer Cronk, who posted an 88 after qualifying for the state tourney with a 77 at Lexington.

Considered the fourth best man on the team, Gregg Martin had the best score at Lincoln with an 87. He also is the only performer who did not graduate this year.

Gerald John rounded out the low three with a 91. Defending champion Jim Traill of Holdrege repeated as Dwayne Wert of North Loup has joined the Ord Police Department as a patrolman. Mr. Wert served one year on the North Loup police force.

Newspapers Used In Cattle Feeding

Digesting the news no longer means you are interested in the news of the day, you could be a University of Pennsylvania cow. Latest research has indicated that a two- and a half pound newspaper dipped in molasses and supplemented with some corn silage can be nutritious feed for "Bossy."

This nutrition research on dairy animals is one of the more unusual examples of the multi-million dollar research effort of agricultural universities, government, and private business to improve agricultural products.

The NEBRASKAland parade, one of the highlights of the wild west blow out June 17 through 23, will make its first appearance in its new "home town", North Platte, on Thursday, June 20.

WANTED BY THE FBI

JAMES EARL RAY, also known as Eric Starvo Galt, Harvey Lowmyer, John Willard, James McBride, James Walton, W. C. Herron and James O'Conner.

James Earl Ray, a Missouri prison escapee, sought under the alias Eric Starvo Galt in connection with the gunshot slaying of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., is one of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives." FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover ordered the special addition of Ray to the "Top Ten" list to insure widespread dissemination of Ray's photograph and description to speed his location.

Ray has been intensively sought since the murder of Dr. King on April 4, 1968, as he stood on the balcony of a Memphis, Tennessee, motel. An exhaustive FBI fingerprint search, comparing latent fingerprints uncovered in the Dr. King case against fingerprints of over 55,000 persons on whom wanted notices were posted, determined that Galt and Ray are identical.

A Federal warrant, issued at Birmingham, Alabama, on April 17, 1968, charges Ray, under the alias of Galt, with conspiring to interfere with a Constitutional Right of a citizen. Ray, who escaped on April 23, 1967, from the Missouri State Penitentiary, is also sought for unlawful flight to avoid confinement for robbery. His long criminal record also includes convictions for burglary and forging U.S. Postal Money Orders.

A white American, born in Alton, Illinois, on March 10, 1928, Ray is 5'10" tall, weighs 163 to 174 pounds, has blue eyes and short brown hair. He has a nervous habit of tugging at an ear lobe and his left ear protrudes noticeably. Known as a "loner" and "diffuser," Ray has worked as a baker, laborer and color matcher. He has taken dancing lessons and completed a course at a school of bartending.

Consider Ray armed and extremely dangerous. Report any information concerning him to the nearest FBI office.

Junior High Track Team Ends Season With 118-109 Triumph Over Ainsworth

There's promise of better things to come in Ord High School's track future. The junior high team closed its season last week with a 118-109 victory over Ainsworth and in the process displayed some talent that should help the Chanticleer varsity next season.

Dave Konkoleski and Dennis Bellinger were the most impressive performers in the ninth-grade division. Konkoleski won the 800-yard run, finished second in the 220 and ran a leg on the winning 800-yard relay team. Bellinger won the 100-yard dash and the 100-yard low hurdles, but he won't be around to help the varsity next season since his family is moving to Kearney before the next school year begins.

Carl Suminski raised some eyebrows when he won the 220-yard dash in 23 seconds flat, the same time senior Glenn Holtz had in winning that event at the District 5-B meet and qualifying for the state championship. A remeasurement proved that the track was marked wrong, however, and the contestants had only run 200 yards.

Not all the talent was concentrated in the junior high division. Larry Wells bettered Bellinger's time in winning the seventh and eighth-grade hundred with a time of 11.5. Wells also won the 220, the high jump, shot put and discus. His performances in the two weight events were particularly impressive, since his shot put heave of 43.2 was nearly four feet better than the ninth-grade winner and his discus throw of 159.4 was almost 15 feet better than the freshman winner.

Safe-At-Home Drive Begun By Eye Group

More than 40 per cent of the accidents causing vision impairment in the U.S. today occur in the home, reports the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc.

As part of its campaign, the Society recommends that all members of the family wear all-purpose safety goggles when moving lawns (especially with power mowers), burning trash, punning bushes, spraying plants with insecticides, and while spreading chemical fertilizers.

The Society warns against throwing glass bottles, used batteries, empty spray cans in trash fires, which can cause them to explode, showering potentially blinding fragments of glass and metal and caustic chemicals. Everyone who wears glasses should wear safety glasses. Little League Baseball recommends that all of their boys who wear glasses should wear safety glasses.

The society is alerting parents to keep aerosol sprays containing pressurized liquids, such as deodorants, antibiotics, oven cleansers, paints, and hair fixatives out of the reach of children at all times.

NEBRASKA CRASHMENT OF ROADS

The Loup City two-mile relay team also got a third-place award, finishing with a time of 8:28.2. That was more than six seconds better than the time it ran in qualifying for the state meet.

St. John of Elkhorn won the event with an 8:25.6 reading. Also in Class C, Jim Jeffries of North Loup - Scotia edged in to the top five with a throw 51 feet, 2 1/2 inches in the shot put. He trailed winner Wayne Schulz of Battle Creek by more than four feet.

Schulz' throw of 55-10 1/4 was one of the few meet records established. In most of the running events, even when standards were broken the prevailing winds kept them from going into the books as new records.

Bassett edged Sumner and Columbus Scotas in the battle for the Class C team championship, scoring 25 points to Sumner's 24 and Scotas' 23.

About People

The book, "200 Million Americans," published by the Bureau of the Census, gives this general statistical description of United States residents: 102 million are females; 95 million are males; 19 million are under 5 years of age; 19 million are over 65; 175 million are white; 25 million are not white; 91 million are married; 11 million are widows or widowers; 120 million are not enough to vote; 6 million are in college; 50 million are in other schools; 33 million are white-collar workers; 27 million are blue-collar workers; 9 million are foreign born; 125 million are city dwellers; 33 million are home owners and 123 million are church members.

Work Patterns Change

Some changes in work patterns that have had substantial effect on the way Americans live are pointed out in a Census Bureau report: the proportion of women who work has risen to 43 per cent; fewer boys to the age of 18 work now than in the past; older workers, particularly men, are retiring earlier; a remarkable steady employment pattern has been developed; the fastest growing employment group is professionals, plus technical and kindred workers, up 146 per cent from 1947 to 1966, the greatest shift — one that has far-reaching economic consequences — is that of workers from production lines to services of all kinds; the economic machine is outturning the population; population rose over 15 per cent but the Gross National Product rose more than 40 per cent in the past 10 years.

It took 52 years to add the last 100 million to the population, but it is likely to take only 32 years to add the next 100 million, the Census Bureau estimates. Thus the population is expected to total 300 million by the year 2,000.

Women today live about seven years longer than men — 73½ years compared to 66½. This is contrasted to 1926 when women lived on the average only a year longer than men. The proportion of nonwhites will probably rise from about 12 per cent of the U. S. total today to between 13 and 14 per cent by 1985, because the nonwhite population has steadily been increasing faster than the white.

A vacation church school day camp for junior high youth will be held at Camp Riverview Monday through Saturday of next week from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

Directed by the Rev. Earl Higgins of Mira Valley, junior high boys and girls from about 10 area churches will meet at the camp operated by the Seventh Day Baptist Church, about five miles north of North Loup. The theme, "The Creation," will be taught by 15 staff members with craft-work and recreation completing each day's program.

The youth, who have completed the seventh and eighth grades in public school, will be asked to bring sack lunches each day and pay a registration fee of $1.50. Each church is responsible for its own transportation.

The group will omit its program on Memorial Day and complete the camp Saturday afternoon, June 1. Alfalfa Processing Plant Opens Again; 14,000 Tons Handled in First Two Days Smoke pouring skyward from those smokestacks south of Ord mean just one thing — it's alfalfa harvesting time again.

The alfalfa dehydrating and milling plant opened last Wednesday, and in its first two days of operation processed about 175 tons, plant manager Virgil Bennett estimated.

"We're getting more production out of the plant this year because of a lot of new equipment we've put in," Mr. Bennett said.

Among the new equipment he listed were new 12-foot cutters to take the place of the old 10-foot ones, four new trucks and a new baler.

"Our plant is capable of putting through 14,000 tons of alfalfa a season," Mr. Bennett said, explaining that the season will run for about five months.

"This year we have 42,000 acres of hay to cut, and we want to get it done in about 45 days."

Mr. Bennett said this year's alfalfa crop is a good one, and more rain soon would make it even better.

The plant started operation with 20 men and planned to expand to 22 as soon as school was out, Mr. Bennett said, noting that he had already hired two schoolboys to fill the other vacancies.

Freshly cut alfalfa is ground into a powder at the plant, and pellets made which can be used to feed chickens, cattle and other farm animals.

Babovsky led the voting here. In the eliminations for congressman from the 3rd District, incumbent Dave Martin soundly whipped his two challengers on the Republican side and heads into a November showdown against Democrat J. B. Dean. The latter was unopposed in the primary.

Rudolf Kekes was another incumbent who showed a great deal of strength. He more than doubled his closest opponent, Fred Frost, but still must face him again in November.

Dr. Harold Smith of Kearney ran second to Deborah Shepherd of Lexington in the four-person race for membership on the State Board of Education from the newly created 7th District. Nov. Dr. Smith and Mrs. Shepherd must vie again in November. In Valley County Smith led Mrs. Shepherd, as did Herbert Hughes.

Rollin Day was unopposed for county judge, and only three men filed for the three vacant spots on the Valley County Weed Control Authority. The three must all appear on the ballot again in November, but their election seems assured.

In a local race of high interest, Rex Logan topped Robert Dearmont by less than 100 votes in the race for membership on the board of Educational Service Unit #13. The two will get a chance to go at it again in November since they were the only two candidates.

Carson Rogers and Earl Nelson were victorious in county supervisor races on the Republican side. Rogers has no Democratic opponent in the 4th District, but Nelson must face William Vayek in the 6th District. Republican Alfred Burson and Democrat Edmund Huffman each had no opposition in the 2nd District.

All candidates desiring seats on the county political conventions were victorious save one. One too many persons were running in the Enterprise precinct, and Henry Lange found himself lost in the other precincts. The number of seats available was equal to or exceeded the number of candidates desiring them.

Court News

Four cases were heard in Criminal Court recently by County Judge Rollin Day. Donald W. Pinnas and Taylor paid a $15 fine and costs of $5 for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile per hour zone. Clarence P. Osentooski made restitution on a $20 check to Martin's Tavern and paid the fine of $15 with $5 costs and $20 sheriff's fee. At the same time he made restitution on a $10 check made payable to Eddie's Tavern.

Keith W. Collins of Ord paid a $10 fine and $5 costs for failure to stop at a stop sign.

In the case of Luan Placnik vs. Dean R. Lybarger, Sheriff Clarence Fox attempted collection on a $5 no fund check issued to Placnik. However, Lybarger brought evidence that the check had been made good.

The sheriff's expenses were assessed against the complainant, Placnik, in the amount of $11.40. In Civil Court, suit was filed against Daniel S. and Betty Augustyn by the Credit Bureau of Broken Bow for $50.50 with interest on the first cause of action, $89.64 with interest on the second cause of action, and $20 plus interest on the third cause of action, plus cost of action.

In another suit, action was taken against Bruce A. Elmeier of Ord by the Credit Bureau of Broken Bow in the amount of $50.03 with interest and cost of action.

The Soil

Consider this soil. It lies as far as the eye can see. It covers millions on millions of acres around the globe, yet it is a rare thing and cannot be replaced.

This soil is a living thing. Yet it can be destroyed. This soil is a fruitful thing. Yet it can become sterile. This soil is God's gift to mankind, given unto our stewardship. Yet it can be despoiled and wasted.

This soil produces crops and verdant grass and trees. It cannot be duplicated by chemistry or physics. This soil is an intricate house of myriad elements. Yet it is so commonplace as to be known as dirt.

It fills the flower pot in Manhattan, serves as a garden in Minnesota and produces an orchard in California — this thing called soil.

It is the spectacle of the Grand Canyon, the flatness of Nebraska plains, and the rolling convolutions of the Shenandoah Valley — this thing called soil. It is the source of our nourishment; it provides the means of our protection.

God has willed we can live with it; we cannot live without it. Consider this soil. Consider it well.

White Grubs Invade Pastures

Last week I had an opportunity to observe some range land, on the Ord Koelling farm south of Ord, that was quite heavily infested with white grubs. These are the same grubs that have damaged some of our lawns in the past and will no doubt present a problem in the future.

The infestation, though quite severe, seemed to be localized to the Kentucky bluegrass areas in the valleys. Little or no infestation was found on the slopes and tops of the hills.

The grubs damage the grass by eating off the roots about one and one-half inch below the ground. This of course kills the plant leaving the area susceptible to invasion by weeds and other undesirable species.

After consulting with Robert Roselle, Extension entomologist at the University of Nebraska, we find there is little we can do to control the grub by the use of agricultural chemicals. Those chemicals such as Aldrin, Dieldrin and Heptachlor which are recommended for control of white grubs in our lawns are not cleared by the FDA for use on agricultural grazing lands.

Mr. Roselle stated the only practice we can use to keep the grub in check would be fertilizing of the existing bluegrass pastures and re-seeding along with fertilization of the damaged areas.

Proper Watering Necessary For Lawn

If you want a greener, healthier lawn this summer follow the three simple rules of good irrigation: (1) Irrigate only when grass needs water; (2) Water deeply (9-12 inches); (3) Avoid light sprinkling.

Grass roots use most of their water from the soil in an area of 9 to 15 inches deep. Thus, this is the area of soil profile that is of concern in watering.

The length of time that is required for water to penetrate to this depth will depend upon soil texture of the individual lawn. Sands absorb water about three times as fast as clay.

Leave the sprinkler in one place until the water penetrates to a depth of 9 to 12 inches.

Depth of penetration can be checked by pushing a blunt, 3/8-inch steel rod into the soil. The rod will go into the soil quite easily to a depth of water penetration.

The time of day for watering makes little difference. However, certain diseases and fungus are more troublesome if the grass blades are kept wet for long periods of time during mid to late summer. Therefore, it is advisable to water early and let the sun dry the grass during the middle part of the summer.

Hazardous Occupation Law

New in Effect

School will be out this week, and a number of high school students will be seeking employment on farms and ranches throughout the area. We would like to call your attention to the job restrictions placed on boys and girls who are under 16 years of age as a result of the Hazardous Occupation Law which became effective Jan. 1, 1968. These restrictions do not apply when a boy or girl is working in partnership with his parents on their own home farm.

If a boy or girl is in the employ of some other farmer, with or without pay, he is then restricted from doing certain farm jobs.

These include: driving or riding on a tractor with over 20-horsepower; operating or riding on a dump wagon, hoist wagon, fork lift, power-driven earth moving equipment or power-driven trenching equipment; operating or unclogging power-driven combine, field bailer, hay conditioner, corn picker, feed grinders, choppers, silo fillers, crop dryers, roughage blowers or auger conveyers.

The boy or girl is also restricted from applying a number of pesticides and fertilizers.

Ranchers and farmers who are considering the employment of high school students this summer are urged to become familiar with all restrictions concerning employment of boys and girls under 16 years of age.

New Developments in Agriculture

Already established as having the highest protein content, as well as the best balanced protein of any cereal grain now produced, oats will become one of our most valuable foods for both humans and livestock. Scientists are working with wild oat species to develop varieties of oats that may outstrip other grains in per-acre production of protein.

Some of the wild oat species produce very large kernels. If this trait can be transferred, it can raise oat yields considerably. Also, some of these wild oat strains carry as much as 30 percent protein. Both these traits could do a great deal toward improving oats as a crop.

Time Capsuled Cattle Feeding

Scientists at Kansas State University have developed a feed product which promises to save millions of dollars annually. The product known as "Sterea" is a starch-controlled urea and grain product. When fed it releases ammonia more slowly, and larger quantities are converted to microbial protein. This is a major source of protein for the cow.

In experiments at Kansas State "Sterea" is superior to untreated urea as a protein supplement for cattle-fed fattening rations. The new product tested about equal to soybean meal as a protein supplement for wintering rations for cattle.

4-H Club Week

We are still taking applications for 4-H Club Week. This leadership activity open to 4-H members 14 years of age or older is planned to help explore career opportunities, learn more about state government and to develop an understanding of citizenship.

The deadline for 4-H Club Week registration, along with a $20 fee, is Tuesday. Further details on this activity are available in the Extension Office.

Valley Riders to Meet

The second meeting of the Valley Riders Light Horse 4-H Club is scheduled Monday in the Extension Office starting at 8 p.m.

Election of officers will be held. Plans for the 1968 year will also be finalized. Members are requested to bring their completed horse identification certificates to the meeting.

Stronger Hand Needed to Curb Students

Any follower of national events must cringe in horror at what has happened during the past few weeks at our nation's colleges and universities.

From East to West, from North to South, from public schools and private, from large and small, the reports come. Certainly law-abiding and concerned citizens must be appalled at the gall of student agitators, at the brassness of their demands and even worse — at the consistency with which they are getting what they ask.

Most of the demonstrations have been in the form of seizures; students have seized buildings or groups of buildings and occupied them until they were forcibly evicted or, more frequently, until their demands were met.

More often than not they left the offices they occupied in great disarray, sometimes they held hostages, and on some occasions they stole letters and other official documents. In the most widely publicized demonstration, at prestigious Columbia University in New York City, one such seizure went on for six days before the administration finally lost its patience and asked police to haul the invaders out. Associated disorders lasted over two weeks.

The Causes

What has caused this turmoil that threatens to turn our higher educational system into a morass more disorganized and inept than exists even in inefficient Latin American countries already?

A number of reasons are given. Among them: the war in Vietnam, racial unrest, the affluent society, the new permissiveness.

All these things undoubtedly play a part, at least in individual cases.

But conclusive evidence points out that time and again the unrest can be traced back to a certain student group or groups — in particular the Students for a Democratic Society. And though few persons of prominence will acknowledge it for fear they'll be called McCarthyites (Joe, not Gene) the SDS is about as close to a Communist organization as you can get without going to Havana.

J. Edgar Hoover, long-time director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says Students for a Democratic Society is "a militant youth group which receives support from the Communist Party and which in turn supports Communist tactics and objectives." In addition to encouraging campus unrest the organization gives open support to guerrilla warfare in the United States and encourages sabotage as the next step in obstructing "the U.S. war machine."

Investigation has proved that two students were the principal leaders in the revolt at Columbia. The prime organizer was 20-year-old Mark Rudd, a member of SDS who had visited recently in defiance of a State Department ban (the same ban that Stokely Carmichael, Staughton Lynd and others have defied at will and for which they've gone unpunished). The other leader was 22-year-old Nate Bosen, also an SDS member and a graduate member who is attending school — and get this — on a federal scholarship authorized under the National Defense Education Act.

The students demanded first that the administration halt construction on a gymnasium which would be located on park lands in a Negro neighborhood (this made it "racist"), and then decided that the university should cancel a Defense Department contract for on-campus research. When the administration weakly agreed to their first demand, letting a band of lawless hoodlums negate a decision made by university trustees after painstakingly long hours of consideration, the students demanded that all persons taking part in the demonstration be given amnesty — that the administration agree to take no action against them.

Apparently this was too much for school officials, although they did dilly-dally for several days before finally asking police to oust them from what had mounted to at least five buildings. Even then the students took with them letters from the president's office and reportedly passed out hundreds of copies.

Reflections

Looking at the situation in retrospect, many things alarm the average citizen.

First of all it needn't have happened, or at least it could have been nipped in the bud. Rudd had spent more than six months making plans for the demonstration, and following a February meeting of SDS his plans were published. As if that weren't enough warning for administration officials, they should have paid attention to this information, published Mar. 30, hard-core Communists would conduct disruptive new protests against U.S. policy in Vietnam. The demonstrations would take place beginning Apr. 21 and would include strikes on college and high school campuses.

Second, both Rudd and Bosen were already on probation for taking part in a previous sit-in. This made them subject to immediate expulsion for a second violation.

Third, an estimated 100 faculty members joined the 250 student demonstrators, and those that didn't were slow to give support for a firm stand to the university president.

Fourth, not only did the administration accede to student demands concerning the gymnasium, it also allowed each school to set its own grading and examination policy. In the liberal arts

Something Different

They Loved This Valley

The death of Carol Mortensen last week brought the history of this legendary family back to our consideration. For it was a legendary family: make no mistake.

Without looking it up in my valuable old "Trail of the Loup" book about this valley, I'll say that it was about 1874 when five ambitious young fellows first glimpsed this beautiful area and decided their fortunes lay before them, embodied in the broad reaches of prairie grass and the canyons clogged with cedar trees.

Peter Mortensen was one of those five young men, Danish in ancestry. The land he selected then is still most valuable, beside the placid North Loup River. And it has continued to grow crops and feed cattle for Peter and his son Crawford, who was Carol's husband.

Peter Mortensen was a father to the entire region, establishing the First National Bank, loaning money to any honest, hard-working family with little or no security. He was respected and admired throughout his long life in Ord, leaving here only long enough to serve as state treasurer of Nebraska.

The tradition of helping anyone who needed it was carried on by Peter's son Crawford, who was also head of a bank, The Nebraska State in his case.

Crawford too had a tough row to hoe, but he brought his bank safely through the depression. He didn't really have to wear sweaters with elbows out at the sleeves... but he did, probably to make his struggling bank customers feel more at ease.

The Mortensen's forever social, continued to entertain, depression or not. But things were different. The main dish might be baked beans, or guests might be asked to bring a dish. Both Crawford and Carol loved company and it never mattered whether you "owed" them or they "owed" you.

Crawford loved this valley as much as had his father, and would do anything necessary to get better telephones, more railroad service, finer highways. At the drop of a hat he would take a committee before the legislature, to talk to the governor or the highway commission and presto, Ord would gain a better airport or improved service in some way.

Sunday afternoons Crawford would put on old clothes, grab a sturdy stick and go tramping off through the countryside. He liked golf but he loved talking to farmers, inspecting their fields and cattle.

A sophisticated pair who had travelled everywhere, worldwide, Crawford retained simple tastes. His father had always peeled an apple and left it for him, at bedtime: Crawford continued this. Crawford always preferred milk, and drank lots of it. His rosy cheeks flaunted the fact. In fact he made a fine figure, a tall, big man with a heavy mane of white hair, a most erect carriage; he would enter a convention or a banquet hall and announce very loudly:

"I'm Mortensen of Ord." Thus giving his beloved homeland a good big plug.

And beside him would be his little wife, who grew smaller with the years. She too would be beautifully dressed and enter impressively, greeting many friends, for they knew so many, both over Nebraska and over the United States.

She would smile her gracious smile and very likely be saying, "Now Crawford, s-sh, not so loud."

school, where most of the demonstrators were enrolled, required classes were ended. Individual teachers consulted with their classes to determine if the students wanted any more meetings, and you know the answer on that. Final examination periods were abolished, and students were allowed to choose how they would like to be graded: with either a "pass" or "fail" mark; with an "incomplete", carrying provisional credit and an understanding that the cause was to be completed within a year if possible; or with a standard letter grade. In addition, any student failing as of Apr. 23 when the disorders began had to be so notified by the instructor and allowed to take an "incomplete" with provisional credit.

Fifth, the success gained by the Columbia group, as well as others, only encouraged other radicals to follow suit. Even on campuses where the SDS had not been active, irresponsible students would recognize a good thing when they saw it. As a result, one demonstration spawned another and another and another.

Obviously, our educational system cannot long endure in such turmoil and with such feeble leadership.

What to Do in the Future

And what does our respected national leadership, the members of the United States Senate offer in the wake of these violent disorders?

At least 44 of them, headed by Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and Republicans Everett Dirksen and Jacob Javits, feel the answer is to lower the voting age to 18. Young people are determined to participate in public decision-making and their frustrations are increased because they cannot vote, Mansfield said.

It was an answer we might have expected.

But it is not the right answer, nor even a very relevant one. No, further indulgence is not the answer.

Instead, every college administration should resolve to take firm action when future demands are made illegally. Students who resort to violence should be expelled quickly, after a fair but rapid hearing, and police should be requested immediately to help clear the premises.

This does not mean that students will not have some valid gripes. However, they should be presented in an orderly fashion and granted only after the administration studies them for a reasonable period of time.

Many of you have college ties of one sort or another. Write your school's president and board of trustees. Express your opinions on this subject and offer him your firm backing.

Unions Don't Know When To Quit

From the Clark County Press, Neillville, Wis.

The AFL-CIO recently started a campaign on a national level to get congress to raise the federal minimum wage to $2 per hour. This action comes less than a month after the federal minimum was raised to $1.60 per hour.

If people hereabouts are wondering about reasons their farm machinery, cars, refrigerators and most other things they buy have increased markedly in recent weeks, this kind of pressure is one of them.

Now, if congress does not resist the AFL-CIO political pressure, we will have the basis for another round of increases — another round of insidious inflation.

For people of small communities, like those of rural Clark County and Wisconsin, such an enactment by Congress would mean the death knell for many more small businesses. They have not the potential in rural areas to enable them to afford these inflationary pressures. It would signal further decline in small towns — and at a time when the urban areas are so full of the rot of modern political and moral decay that the rural areas remain only the trouble-free, safe spots in the nation.

One of the things that has placed the United States into vulnerability in world markets, too, has been this very policy of the unions. It has required that American industry, with its high cost of production, complete with low-cost production of foreign manufacturers. It is a policy that carries nothing but ruin at the end.

Rather than advance the minimum wage again, the nation would be better off to roll back wages and prices — which would be unpolitic to do. But failing that, the best (though distasteful) solution is three-fold!

- (1) Enact a tax increase.
- (2) Establish wage and price controls during the period of our Vietnam involvement; and
- (3) Cut out needless and superfluous domestic spending of a "business as usual" government.

In other words, we need to quit acting like an ostrich. We ought to get our heads out of the sand, at least long enough to take a real, honest appraisal of where we are heading.

The Class Of 1968

Congratulations to the class of 1968. You have endured and succeeded in an arena which becomes progressively more demanding each year.

Now you will be going your separate ways to meet the challenges, the opportunities and the responsibilities that you've faced so much about the past few days.

We wish you well.

Oh, one more thing before you go. About those responsibilities... quite a few public buildings and signs in town remain in dire need of a new face-lifting, thanks to efforts of certain members of the class of '68. Think you can meet your first challenge, fellows?

Dear Editor:
Many dogs, cats and other animals receive more expensive and loving care than some mentally handicapped children.

These children have a right to enjoy life and be trained to serve society.

Mental health today is the greatest health problem of the nation.

Consider what it would be like to be a child so handicapped.

Right now, however, the public's contribution of approximately $2,000 will complete a $27,000 school building to admit our own and other counties in our trade area.

Other funds are pledged and available when the Health Department approves.

Are you or your organizations interested? If more monies are contributed to the treasury of the North Central Nebraska for Retarded Children than is needed for the building, it can be used for necessary equipment at the school.

Dr. Glen Auble and County Superintendent Jewell Buoy are the treasurers.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Edith Fiala

—timeless advice—

This being graduation time throughout the nation, a major portion of today's young people will suddenly find themselves employed by another person.

Having been BOTH an employee and employer, I know the following words of advice mean the difference in success and failure — of EITHER. So this week I offer some timeless guidelines. Whether you're a new or old employee, the following words from the NEBRASKA PRESS ASSOCIATION are worth repeating:

Men who work for other men or corporations so often have a false idea of "The Boss" or "The Company." Whether the employer be an individual or a large corporation, the following fundamental principles underlie this human relationship and might well be called a "Code for Employees."

(1) Your employer is in business to make a profit. Unless he makes a profit he can't stay in business. If he doesn't stay in business, you won't have a job.

(2) Your wages are paid, not by your employer, but by his customers. He is the middleman. Be just as alert to please the customers as your employer.

(3) It costs your employer a lot more than he pays you in wages just to have you around. He has to pay rent for the space you occupy; he has to provide light, heat, furniture, washrooms, pencils, pens, typewriters, machinery.

(4) From your services, he has to get enough to pay not only your salary but a host of other bills for things you never stop to think about. After he has met all these expenses, he receives his profit — if there is anything left.

(5) If you loaf one hour a day your employer's profit on your work for that day is gone. When he sets his prices he figures that you will do as much work as you can in as short a time as you can. If you loaf when you should be working, you are robbing him just as much as if you took money from his safe. It is also true that you are robbing yourself although you may not know it.

(6) If you work on a machine, the machine loafs when you loaf. When you keep a taxi waiting the meter keeps on piling up charges. The same thing happens when you keep an expensive machine idle, the charges go on whether it is used or not. When you loaf, the machine loafs — think of the lost money here!

(7) Your employer doesn't expect you to spend more than a proper proportion of your wages,

The Huskie's Howl

By Mary Anne Gould

Commencement exercises for the 1968 graduating class were held Thursday at the Arcadia High School. A trumpet solo was given by Ron Hurlbut and a tuba solo by Dennis Lindell. The salutatory was given by Darwin Hunt and the valedictory by Mary Anne Gould.

The address was given by Dr. Harold Ahrendts, Linda Ericson and Pam Schmidt sang "The Halls of Ivy."

We all enjoyed a picnic at the Ken Hunt farm to celebrate the last day of school. The food was provided by the Pep Club, "A" Club, junior and senior classes. We'd like to thank the teachers who took the time to take us out and "put up" with us.

Nineteen members of the senior class, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Peters, traveled to Omaha May 14. We visited Boys' Town, Joselyn Museum, Offutt Air Force Base, Crossroads Shopping Center and the Indian Hills Cinerama. We enjoyed the movie "Gone With the Wind."

We had a long, interesting day. We'd like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Peters for the time and effort they spent to make this day a memorable one for all of us.

This is the last Huskie's Howl for this year. I hope you've enjoyed reading it half as much as I've enjoyed writing it. I'd like to wish all the kids at A.H.S. the best of luck next year and always. I'd also like to extend my congratulations and best wishes to my fellow seniors. Goodbye and good luck!

May 11 was a night to be remembered in the lives of Ord High School seniors, class of 1968. That's the date the junior-senior prom — THEIR junior-senior prom — was held. After many long hours of work by the juniors, including an all-night session, the girls' gymnasium was turned into a desert oasis, complete with magic carpets, genies and magic lamps, tents with harem girls, and glistening streams in the desert.

Valedictorian Lyle Christensen With Outstanding Senior Girl Joyce Kruml

North Loup Parents Dedicate Six Babies

Six babies were blessed recently in a "Dedication of Parents and Small Children" at North Loup Seventh Day Baptist Church.

The children were dedicated as a part of Mother's Day Sabbath and Christian Family Week. Their parents promised to do their best to rear them in a Christian atmosphere, and the congregation covenanted to help provide a Christian environment.

Babies dedicated were Norma Jean Brannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Brannon; Twila Jean Cargill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Cargill; Becky

Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Davis; Douglas Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Davis; Shawn Severance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Severance; and Louis Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams. Deacon Aubrey Davis and pastor Duane Davis participated in the service.

The oldest mother present was Mrs. Laura Robbins, 91, who is also now the oldest member of the Seventh Day Baptist Church. Special music and the worship service centered around a theme stressing the importance of the Christian home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Weverka and family were Sunday dinner guests at the John Maxfield home in Burwell.

PLENTY!

We're using the latest giant-size, 90-ton covered Hopper cars which greatly accelerate loading and unloading of bulk products. All the hatches are weather sealed and the interiors have protective linings. Now that's how U.P. moves bulk products in a hurry. If you're in a hurry for rail service and the right equipment, call your Union Pacific traffic agent — he's an expert.

Thank You

I wish to take this opportunity to sincerely thank the people of the 41st Legislative District for your support.

Rudolf C. Kokes

How many times this year will it call you downstairs?

The numbers are against you. The average family gets 1465 calls a year. And if only one-fourth of them happen while you're up there, that's 366 trips for 1968.

Approach No. 1: Keep running downstairs.

Approach No. 2: Get an extension telephone.

Cost of Approach No. 1: Nothing. Except maybe a year's running and frustration. (And, of course, the risk of a doctor bill when you land in a heap on the landing.)

Cost of Approach No. 2: Around 4 cents a day. (Which is a bargain—you already pay about four times that for your regular phone.)

There is no Approach No. 3.

Approach our business office or ask the man on the telephone truck.

Flowers Bathe Countryside in Bright Hues

An old poem paraphrased just a little certainly fit Parkview a few days back: "Tulips are red, pansies are blue, but they don't get around like dandelions do. We have other flowers, too, as stroll about the village I notice tiny pink flowering almond trees, a sturdy deep blue iris, light blue phlox, a nodding yellow buttercup, a large purple one violet, unusual variegated tulips and such big red ones, and bleeding heart bush with one tiny spike of bloom. What a joy to notice the small beauties around us.

Legal Technicalities

LINCOLN — Officials of McCook Junior College have asked the University Board of Regents to consider a merger with the two-year school.

However, an attorney for the university, Warren Johnson of Lincoln, said there is no present legal authority for N. U. to assume control of the junior college.

Johnson said a 1965 law designed to permit the university to take over junior colleges by mutual consent is not broad enough to cover an affiliation with McCook.

McCook College president Al Kuper said a consolidation is needed to permit the junior college to grow and provide greater educational services to residents of southwest Nebraska. "This would be of mutual benefit to both institutions," he said.

McCook College is supported principally by student tuition and local property taxes. There is also a limited amount of state financial assistance.

"Under the present tax setup it is not possible to expand the college," even though more students would like to attend, McCook School Board president John L. Batty said.

It was agreed that legal experts from both schools would draft a tentative legislative proposal for submission to the 1969 Unicameral.

Water Problems With Government Continue

The State Water Pollution Control Council and the U. S. Interior Department remain at odds over a proposed water quality standard affecting interstate streams.

The federal government insists the state require secondary treatment of waste dumped into the Missouri River and other waterways.

The council contends the requirement is unrealistic and would create a hardship on small communities. It has estimated the cost of the standard would run beyond $200 million.

Failure to comply with the federal requirement could result in loss of matching money for sewage plant construction projects, or a lawsuit forcing the state to adopt the regulation.

Sales Tax Receipts Grow

Nebraska's 2 1/2-cent sales tax yielded $8,156,382 during March, the second highest monthly total since the levy went into effect last June.

The record collection was recorded last December when Christmas shoppers boosted the total to $9,700,121.

Flatlands Should Get People

The flatlands of Nebraska, with their rich underground water supply, should be encouraged for population growth rather than the rolling valleys of Southern California where water is fast becoming scarce, a national water expert suggests.

Harvey Banks of San Francisco, Calif., a consultant to the states of Texas and New York on water problems, made the comment in a convocation address at the University of Nebraska.

He urged Nebraska to become more aggressive in promoting its water resources. He said this would help expand the state's industrial base.

"You have the available water supply — if you use it wisely — to better accommodate the country's population growth," Banks said.

Banks said all states should develop long-range water plans. He said this would require the expenditure of additional funds. "States will be required to pick up a bigger tab than in the past," he said.

Republicans Outnumber Democrats in State

Final statewide registration figures show there are 637,719 eligible voters in Nebraska, with 51.3 percent listed as Republicans and 45.7 percent as Democrats. Another 2.5 percent are independents and 3 percent align with George C. Wallace's American Party.

The breakdown: Republican, 329,014; Democrat, 291,752; independent, 16,306; and American, 647.

This is the first year statewide voter registration has been required in Nebraska.

Fishing is Youth Project

Fishing is now a conservation project of the Game Commission's Youth Program series.

The study is available free to any youth group leader in Nebraska, designed as a guide for teaching fishing techniques to young beginners.

Fishing was selected because it is a conservation practice as well as being recreational. Fish are actually wasted because too many people lack the knowledge necessary to catch the available "crop".

Persons interested in this project are invited to contact Clarence Newton, Youth Advisor, Game Commission, State Capitol, Lincoln 68509.

Mr

Reunion Was Happy — But Not Like Back in Ord

Just about everybody has had an experience where he's run into someone he's met in a most unlikely place. But the record for such rarities surely must go to Dale and Donald Zebert, a pair of brothers who went halfway around the world—separately—and then bumped into each other at Camp Evans in South Vietnam.

Now assigned to Fort Riley, Kan., Dale completed a 30-day leave Sunday. He spent most of it with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Zebert, at their farm outside Ord.

"My outfit (a unit of the 1st Air Cavalry Division) had been stationed for several months at Bong Son, north and east of Pleiku," he began, "and then we started moving north. On the way we stopped off at Camp Evans, a Marine installation (the same one which officials revealed last weekend was virtually destroyed by an enemy rocket attack and secondary explosions)."

"At Camp Evans I saw some men from the 101st Airborne Division, to which my brother was assigned. I asked them what unit of the 101st they were from, and it turned out they were from the same outfit Don was. I asked them about him, and they told me he was at Phu Bai seven or eight miles down the road."

"I tried to get a helicopter ride out that day going in the direction of Don's camp, but it was too late. So that night I called him by land line (a rather primitive military telephone system). We got to talk very briefly before we were cut off."

"After that a couple of days passed, and then Don suddenly showed up at Camp Evans. His first sergeant had come up the day before, and he had gotten in on the detail."

"Altogether we saw each other off and on for about four days."

That reunion took place last February. Until then the two brothers hadn't seen each other in about a year and a half.

"I was in Vietnam first, and I think Don felt a little guilty because he was older. So he volunteered for Vietnam too," Dale said.

Both brothers are sergeants. Don is 22 and a 1964 graduate of Ord High School. Dale is 20 and a 1965 graduate of O.H.S. During his one-year tour in Vietnam, Dale saw plenty of combat action. For the first seven months he was a machine gunner, and then he took over as a squad leader on search-and-clear operations. He got a break towards the end of his tour, spending a few weeks as non-commissioned officer in charge of the train section. That was an in-transit office providing liaison between the field and rear (Continued on page 6)

When they're not out on patrol, GI's in Vietnam can buy a Coke from the "Coke girl" that stops in periodically. The price? "Fifty cents to a dollar," says Dale Zebert. "But never buy it in bottles. A favorite trick of the Viet Cong is to mix crushed glass or acid into a Coke and sell it to an unsuspecting American. They can't get into the cans and re-seal them, however, so they're considered safe."

Scholarships, Donation Approved by Teachers

Members of the Valley County Education Assn. voted to sponsor two $50 scholarships and pledged $100 to the building fund of the Ord Special Services School at their last meeting.

Jim Hawley of Arcadia will receive one of the scholarships. Frances Markowski of Ord had been announced previously as recipient for the other one.

The scholarships were reserved for students planning to enter the teaching profession. They were awarded on the basis of need, academic standing and citizenship.

Members of the association voted to raise their local dues to $2 a person so that they may continue giving the scholarships in future years.

The Special Services School is seeking approximately $20,000 in local donations. It has asked the federal government for a similar amount so that a new building may be constructed to provide more adequate training for mentally handicapped children.

A $27,000 building was originally planned; however, fund leaders felt they could raise more than their half of that locally. So a decision was made to increase the value of the new structure to approximately $40,000.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has already allotted $100,000 to the state of Nebraska for the new fiscal year. The money is to be used in improving educational facilities for the mentally retarded. One other city has bid for a share of the money, Mrs. Eldon Buoy said Thursday.

Mrs. Buoy is county superintendent and a coordinator of the local drive. She may be contacted by anyone wishing to contribute funds to the campaign.

In other business discussed at the meeting, Mrs. Brody brought to the attention of the group a $50 contribution from Mrs. Edith Fiala for continuation of services locally by Educational Services Unit #13. Valley County schools have used services of the unit for such things as health care and aid for mentally retarded but trainable children, and they have applied for the services of an elementary counselor who would be available to all schools by appointment.

The association also went on record as favoring any political candidate who supports continuance of the services units.

New officers for the 1968-69 school year were also elected. Fern Waldmann of a rural school district was chosen president, Charlene Lola of Arcadia vice-president, Karen Peterson of Ord secretary and Sister Deotilla of St. Mary's treasurer.

Cancer Society Asks For Memorial Gifts

As an observance of Memorial Day, the American Cancer Society suggests sending a memorial gift to it in the name of a friend or relative who has been a victim of the disease, Mrs. Ed Christensen said this week.

Mrs. Christensen is the local memorial chairman for the society.

"A contribution in memory of a loved one will help support a program dedicated to the conquest of cancer," she said. "Such a memorial gift will not only do honor to the dead, but it could help maintain the gift of life for the living."

Memorial gifts may be mailed to Mrs. Christensen at 1820 I St., Ord. All gifts will be acknowledged by a memorial card to the person designated by the donor, she said.

Memorial Day Schedule

Memorial Day Services have been set for 11 a.m., Thursday, May 30, at the Ord City Cemetery. Roger Clough will deliver the address.

Animals That Won the West on Display North of Ord; Owner Says He Aims to Please

Loup Valley residents have an opportunity to see a vanishing bit of Americana this spring, thanks to 70-year-old Harry Bresley.

Mr. Bresley owns nine of the biggest, slickest horses in this part of the country, and he's decided to put them to work so that younger generations may see how their ancestors turned the Great Plains into America's bread basket.

Last week Mr. Bresley hitched four of his purebred Percheron horses to an Emerson gang plow and started tilling the soil on one of his farms north of town. This week he went himself one better and added a fifth horse to the team.

"These horses are just a hobby with me now," Mr. Bresley said. "I just want to break them and to give the people around here something to see."

"Lots of people passing by on the Elyria highway stop to look at them, and some even drive out and bring their children," he added. "That's fine with me; I want everybody who would like to see them to stop in. If they want to see 'em hooked, I'll hook 'em up and they can see 'em plow."

"I just want to entertain the public." This is the first year in a long time that Mr. Bresley has worked a plow with the horses. Like practically all farmers of the 1960s, he and his son Dean work most of their 2,000 acres with tractors and mechanized equipment.

"Some people buy a boat and have a good time," Mr. Bresley said. "I have a good time with my horses."

At one time the Bresley stables held over a hundred head of horses. Although they're down to eight now, Mr. Bresley says it's going to be a long time before they become extinct at his place.

None of the horses is for sale, although their owner would consider a transaction if a bidder offered the right price.

"I have one mare capable of winning at any fair in the country," he explained, "although I have never shown them at anything bigger than a county fair. I was going to show them at the state fair in Lincoln one year, but after I got them all ready they said they didn't have room for them. I've been too busy to try again."

Two of the horses weigh more than a ton apiece, and the others come close. The contingent includes five mares, one 3-year-old stallion and three yearling stallions.

Still spry at 76, Mr. Bresley got into the horse business 31 years ago.

"I was going to be a baker," he said, "and then I thought to myself, 'I've never seen a baker who had a lot. Then I decided I'd be a paper hanger, and I got myself a brush and really went to work. After a while I said to myself, 'I've never seen a paper hanger who had a lot.'"

"So I started looking around for something that I could get into and make some money, and I decided it would be thoroughbred horses. That was 51 years

No Decision On Airport

Action on a proposal to expand and pave the Ord municipal airport was postponed last week when the City Council failed to have a quorum present at its special hearing.

Only three of the six council members were present. Because of the holiday this week, action was delayed until the council's regular monthly meeting Monday night at 7:30.

Those council members present, along with Mayor Bill French, did go ahead and hear comments from citizens who had come to express their opinions on the proposal.

A number of merchants who would benefit from better air service expressed their desires for passage. Those opposed were primarily landowners and farmers whose acreage would be affected by the expansion.

However, even those opposed asked merely that they be considered and their land not be cut up into small unuseable chunks when and if the expansion takes place.

"When you're ready to make a decision, consider the farmer," Lloyd Geweke requested. "Buy a strip that will leave us something we can use. If you're big enough to build, be big enough to buy right."

Mr. Geweke pointed out that "99 percent" of the land which must be purchased is not for sale. He said that proposed plans call for purchases of small odd-sized plots which would butcher properties of adjacent landowners.

"We would not be able to utilize properly the land that is left," he said, pointing out that irrigation in particular would be impossible if the city buys only the minimum land needed. "Please don't trample on the farmer while you're helping yourselves," he asked the councilmen.

Swap Proposed
Duane Brechbill offered to trade the city the land it needs, land from his property for some airport acreage which will not be used.

"You're looking at what the airport will do for you in the future," he told the forward-looking councilmen and airport supporters. "In five years it may break me if you follow present plans. With a 110-acre farm, 15 acres mean a lot to me."

He then proceeded to detail his proposal for a land swap. The councilmen generally were favorable to the idea, but some expressed doubt that they could get approval from the federal government to alter present plans.

Because the project would be supported in part by a government grant provided through the Federal Aviation Administration, it must meet FAA specifications. They call for the building of a new 3,900-foot north-south runway which will parallel the existing dirt strip, and paving of the present northwest-southeast runway. It also would be extended to 3,900 feet, from its present length of 3,100 feet.

In addition, more land would have to be purchased for turn-around space and for glide path turns to satisfy federal safety standards. At present all the existing runway space is not available for use because plane would have to come in for landings too low over Highway 11. The problem would be even greater with longer runways.

Simple Paving Out
Dale Melia questioned the feasibility of simply paving the present runways, but Mayor French said the FAA would in all probability refuse to go along with this because of the safety standards for glide patterns.

Those advocating passage of the proposal included Kerry Leggett, owner of Quiz Graphic Arts; George Dvorak, operator of the Ord Hotel; and Dr. Glen Auble.

"For years the biggest drawback to the growth of Ord has been a lack of suitable transportation," Mr. Leggett said. He added that he had driven to Grand Island three times already this month because customers had specifically requested air express.

"The only way I can remain in business is to take to the air," he said.

Dr. Auble said air freight was just around the corner. "In the past we've tried to look 20 years ahead in our planning for the city of Ord," he said. "This airport is going to be needed, so let's have it."

Dr. F. J. Osentowski, a member of the council, said, "There's a potential in the future and we'd better be ready for it." There are three primary modes of travel today: car, bus and plane, he said. "The trains are going and people are traveling more by air all the time."

Present at a special invitation of the council was Charles Zangger, operator of the local air taxi service and one of the most experienced pilots in this section of the state.

"I've flown into lots of other towns," Mr. Zangger said, "and (Continued on page 6)

Last Minute Personnel Assistance Fails To Stop Ord Losing Streak

Coach Dick Beran called down a recruit from the stands at Sunday's Sherman - Howard League baseball game, but that didn't change his team's fortunes as it lost its fourth consecutive game. The score was 8 to 4, and the opposition was league - leading Wood River which upped its record 40 - just the opposite of Ord's.

comprise the bulk of the adult team, the latter is in serious personnel trouble. Furthermore, Coach Beran thinks legion authorities may crack down and say that players in their league may no longer play town team ball. Because he's also coach of the American Legion team, Mr. Beran would like to have not only additional players but also more coaching help. In fact, he's willing to turn the town team over to anybody who'll take the job. "I've worked with the legion boys since they were midgets, and I think we've got a pretty good group," he said. "Therefore I'd like to stay with the legion team and concentrate on it if at all possible."

American Legion Nine Opens With Win Over Burwell, 16-4, in Shortened Game

Give 'em somebody their own size, and Ord's American Legion baseball team can be mighty tough to handle. They proved it Sunday when they hammered Burwell into submission, 15-4, in the opening game of the 1968 season.

Several of the legion performers have been playing with Ord's adult team this spring, and their efforts haven't been too successful in the won-lost column. Going into Sunday's game, the adult team has lost four straight without a victory. Back in their own league, however, the legionnaires showed they can be as tough as anybody. Against Burwell their outburst of violence with the bat forced curtailment of the game after four and a half innings because of the 10-run rule.

Five players had two or more hits as Mike Beran showed the way with a three-for-four performance.

Typical of the abrupt turn-about was Duane Psota, who struck out five times in as many at-bats in the afternoon adult game. But against the Burwell youths his own age, he bounced a triple and a double and drew a walk.

Others lashing two hits were Dan Wolfe, Collyer Cronk and Gerald John.

A 10-run fourth inning broke the game apart and brought on the early curtain call. Cronk scored two of the 10 runs himself, and winning pitcher Jim Lukesh had a triple that was the big hit of the frame.

Lukesh pitched four innings,

Midgets Topple In First Game Against Burwell

If Bill Klancey is wondering whether baseball is worth it or not this week, you can't blame him. With seventh inning relief from Jim Andreesen, Klancey threw a no-hitter for the Ord midget team in the club's season opener Sunday - only to be beaten, 7-0. Burwell's midgets were the culprits, scoring two runs in the sixth inning and five in the seventh.

Errors proved Ord's undoing after the two teams battled scoreless through five innings with both pitchers working on no-hitters. Right fielder Gregg Martin and Klancey both committed crucial miscues that led to Burwell's two sixth-inning runs. In the seventh errors by Duane Kovarik and Bill Miller helped the Burwell cause, as did three walks by Klancey.

Ord catcher Gerald John got the lone hit of the game with one out in the sixth. The midgets were scheduled to play Comstock Wednesday night. They will play Sunday in Broken Bow.

almost without exception they're wishing they had more runway space. Furthermore, almost all of them are hemmed in so they can't get it, he added.

"The plans you have would provide beautiful runways which should last a long time," he said. "The layout is very adequate, it should be a safe operation, and the runways will have adequate drainage."

However, Mr. Zangger did point out a couple of problems he has encountered at other federally financed airports. Both problems involve the lighting system.

"Federal standards require that the lights be 10 feet off the runway," Mr. Zangger said. "On a 200-foot wide runway that's no problem, but on a 50-foot one like you're considering the lights will be practically right under the plane when you're coming in for a landing. You won't be able to see them."

The other problem dealt with snow removal. "With the lights so close to the runway, where do you put the snow?" he asked. He proceeded to answer his own question in part by pointing out that some airports have simply had to remove the lights during winter-time operations.

Questioned about the feasibility of actually getting an air freight service into Ord even if the airport is improved, Mr. Zangger said that recently manufacturers have come up with plans to place money in the small feeder-line markets. That improves the possibility of getting air freight service, he said.

Lots of hands but just one ball! Ellan Eppenbach, left, and Shelly Collins caught some poor unidentified contestant between them in this battle for the ball at the fifth and sixth grade picnic last week in the Ord park. Leafy Spurge Active

Elmer Brockman, Valley County weed superintendent, has just completed his preliminary check on musk thistle infestation of pasture and range land. His observations indicate that the thistles are not as thick as last year but the total number of infested areas is about the same. However, he said the job of troublesome weed eradication in the county has just begun.

Mr. Brockman points out that he has found several heavy infestations of leafy spurge in the county.

Leafy spurge is another of the primary noxious weeds found in meadows, pastures, cultivated fields and waste places. Although not as prevalent as musk thistle, leafy spurge presents as great a problem to agriculture.

The plant spreads both by seeds and creeping underground rootstocks which give rise to roots and shoots every few inches. The roots may deplete the soil of moisture to a great depth. The shoots grow one to two feet high and by their abundant leaf growth shade the ground and crowd out any other plant that happens to be in the area.

Leafy spurge is a very abundant seeder and should never be allowed to go to seed. Areas infested with it may be taken out of production and put under clean cultivation until the plants are killed. Leafy spurge is moderately resistant to 2,4-D but is somewhat susceptible to emulsifiable formulation of 2,4-D and other chemicals.

For further control measures recommended for leafy spurge contact the Valley County weed superintendent or the county extension office.

4-H Exchange

During the week of July 13-20, 4-H families of Valley County will host seven 4-H members and one adult sponsor from Steele County, Minnesota. These 4-H members will have an opportunity to participate in farm and ranch activities as carried on in this area.

Thirty-nine 4-H members, one extension agent and two adult sponsors will be staying in homes of 4-H members in the 14 North Central Nebraska counties comprising the Nebraska Sandhill Exchange.

Valley County 4-H members and members from the Nebraska Sandhill 4-H Exchange counties will travel to Minnesota in 1969.

Mildew on Lawns

The temperatures and climatic conditions these past several weeks have been ideal for the invasion of powdery mildew in bluegrass lawns.

If your bluegrass looks like someone sprinkled white flour on it, you can pretty well bet it has the disease. This fungus infection thrives best in cool, cloudy weather with light showers or dew. You will usually find it showing up in shady spots on the lawn. Well fertilized, vigorously growing grass is most susceptible than grass with low fertility.

Newly seeded grass may be pretty well killed out by powdery mildew, but it seldom causes severe damage to established lawns. The problem usually disappears during hot summer weather but may reappear in the fall.

Sulfur is a very effective fungicide against mildew. It can be applied as either a dust or a spray. Caution should be taken not to apply sulfur during times when temperatures get above 80 degrees Fahrenheit. Some burning of grass may occur under these conditions. Actidione, P. M. and Karthian are effective fungicides. However, they are recommended only in severe cases.

Be On Look-Out for Seed Corn Insects

It might be well to check your corn fields for corn seed beetle damage. The recent unseasonably cold conditions have been ideal for development of this pest.

When corn and sorghum seed germination is delayed due to soil temperatures, reduced stands due to corn seed beetles and seed corn maggots may occur.

Both insects usually feed on other material in the soil. However, during periods of prolonged low temperatures following planting they may eat the germ of the corn seed, thus reducing the stand.

If stands are reduced to the point that replacement is necessary, it is advisable to treat the seed in the planter box with an insecticide. Aldrin, dieldrin, heptachlor or lindane are all packaged as powders for treating corn and sorghum seed.

Corn rootworm control chemicals applied in a band over the row have not prevented injury by seed insects.

There is no insecticide treatment that is effective to control seed insects in the field after injury is found.

Most seed is treated with a fungicide by seed companies. Let's not confuse this type of treatment with an effective insecticide.

If your kid's been hiding out lately when he gets on the phone, take the hint. There are probably some things he'd rather discuss without an audience around. And he's entitled. After all, asking a girl out at his age is hard enough. But when the whole family's listening in, a guy could freeze.

Help loosen young Don Juan's tongue. Get him an extension phone for graduation so he can have his tête-à-têtes without feeling self-conscious.

One call to your General Telephone business office takes care of the whole thing. We play up the gift idea by sending out a miniature toy phone with a gift card first. That's just to let him know the real phone is on its way.

When a kid feels you don't want to listen in on all his private conversations, he's more apt to tell you about them. An extension phone gives him that choice.

A Credit to the Country

On this day when the United States pauses to honor its war dead, a ringing cry of protest is heard in the land.

It is a protest against mandatory military service, and to achieve it in fact thousands of young people are going to ridiculous extremes. Some flee the country, others purposely commit minor crimes knowing that anyone who has been convicted will be rejected for duty, while others purposely malign their bodies so that they will be physically unacceptable.

Of course these youths are in the minority, but they are a vocal and growing minority.

One of the saddest things about the situation is that those most often guilty of these acts are those who have profited the most from living in this country where liberty was bought at the price of blood.

Usually they are college students, drop-outs or recent graduates—people who have lived comfortably in their youth and who can expect even more easy living as adults. They are people whose parents can afford to send them to college where they live a somewhat luxurious life.

Yet when their country asks them to pay a small bit of their debt, they run out. It is sad indeed, but perhaps no more than can be expected when certain of their elders have been abusing the privileges of this land for years. Why, for example, do movie actors and actresses earn millions from this country's film industry and then live in Europe to escape paying their share of taxes? Why, for example, are former prisoners of war who chose to renounce their country and inform on fellow POW's welcomed back without restitution when they discover Communism is not so great after all?

But fortunately there is another type of youth in the land today. He is the boy—or girl—who chooses to willingly serve his country and then say, "I'm glad I had the opportunity."

Central Nebraska families can be proud of their sons and daughters. Hardly a week passes without one or more of them being written about in this newspaper for their accomplishments or service. Usually they are accomplishments or service that make headlines only once a year, and then only in their hometown paper. But they are accomplishments that strengthen the fiber of this land—accomplishments similar to those upon which the country was built.

On this day of remembrance, we salute not only the honored dead but the honorable living as well.

Black Tape and Four-Letter Words

Anyone receiving many packages through the mail occasionally encounters an extra-strong tape that is nearly impossible to remove without the aid of scissors or a knife. Though the name of this tape is not commonly known, it has probably been called many things by the would-be package-opener.

In actuality this tape is an asphalt treated paper, reinforced with glass fibers running tri-directionally between the layers. As yet it is about the strongest pliable tape marketed. We use it at Quiz Graphic Arts in mailing out packages that need "extra" protection against the ravages of rough handling by the Postal Department.

"Dumping Ground for Delinquents"

Recently a good customer in Washington, D.C., wrote us, "The Washington Post Office is dumping ground for all the federal programs to salvage juvenile delinquents, and it must be the roughest post office in the country on parcel post. Not just yours but almost every parcel that reaches me is beat and smashed all to hell. We've been lucky on the plates (engravings) so far, nothing but a few bent corners and no damage to printing areas. You package securely, but I just wanted to tell you to keep it up and go heavy on the cardboard because they are doing their damndest to wreck them."

Heading the advice of the Washington customer, we immediately started taking extra precautions in packaging and started using the asphaltic glass-reinforced tape. So what happened?

This week we received another letter from him, and we again quote his words: "The rest of the folders arrived, completely re-packed by the Post Office and with the enclosed letter (a postal form) included in the package. There was very little damage to the folders so no problem... but this points up what I have been telling you about the violent handling in the Washington P. O. I am not a racist... but frankly, the Washington P. O. is staffed mostly with Negroes... nothing the matter with this... but unfortunately, they use the P. O. as the dumping ground for all the programs for 'underprivileged youth'... or juvenile delinquents to put it another way... and I am convinced these characters take a delight in pulverizing parcels. I am having a helluva time with anything coming thru the P.O."

Lincoln Goes Arly

Lincoln was the artist place in Nebraska Friday, Saturday and Sunday when Sheldon Gallery presented a gigantic show of every kind of art.

Included was a concoction made by Ted Leggett: it was a big, thick golden disk on a black stem. It was sold Friday evening at the auction which followed an elaborate dinner and style show. Most items at the auction were antiques, contributed by admirers of Sheldon Gallery. There was everything from delicate imported tables to a (papered) Russian wolfhound which sold for $95.

A perfect dollhouse with 12 or 15 rooms and every tiny piece of furnishings in fine condition brought $245. This sounds like a mint but when you inspected the delicacy of the details... everyone loved the dollhouse on sight.

Three separate exhibits of paintings and lithographs were on display, and considerable sculpture. Some was listed for a silent auction: you filed your bid and left it, to see if you were lucky.

Saturday dozens of bright tents went up on the University of Nebraska campus, made from parachute silks. There was something to appeal to every age. Tiny children were sold the right to decorate the sidewalk with chalk, or to have their faces made up by beauticians... so Indians, brides, and clowns blossomed on every side. A cake walk paid off. Lovely paper objects, decorated boxes, fancy garden hats, Mexican-looking three-hole dresses—you name it, it was for sale. A big booth held books that had been contributed.

One booth had delicate French pastries and fancy jams. Another sold sandwiches and drinks. Balloons flew everywhere, Scouts and Campfire Girls in costume did authentic Indian dances while several types of orchestras played big and little people. It was all lively and fun. There were hundreds of workers, and hundreds of visitors exploring it all clutching bright colored purchases.

There was a flower and garden shop. There were solos by the winners of the Metropolitan Opera tryouts for this state. There were other solos, quartets, a dozen assorted musical groups. There was weaving to watch, glass blowers to see, artists doing oil painting; and two women worked at ceramics. Both children and adults were fascinated, observing all this.

There were old-time movies, and new-time movies, running continuously.

There were elegant door prizes to top off all other pleasures to the eye and ear.

There were visitors registered from as far away as London. The whole celebration was called The Carnival of Venice, and this theme and the gayest colors were used throughout. The donations and the money collected will go to pay the expenses of entering art in the big Venice Biennale in June. The Biennale is chairmanned in the United States by Richard Ahlborn, former curator of the J. Paul Getty Center in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Ahlborn, in turn, asked Norman Geske, head man at Sheldon Gallery in Lincoln, to attend to selections to be sent to the world famous art competition in Venice.

Which brought about the big celebration in Lincoln. Mrs. Bill Schudel and I were so glad we went.

the supervisor. "This package was repaired by our Damaged Parcel Unit. It was damaged accidentally in handling by the Post Office or because it did not meet adequate packing standards as outlined in postal regulations."

When an asphaltic taped package can "accidentally" come open in the mail we begin to wonder! We should be so lucky as to have one of these "accidentally" come open on our desk while we are using scissors, razor blades and four-letter words in trying to get to the contents.

Tell us, Mr. Postman, what's your secret?

Pore People Are Going to Wrong Place If They Want Help With Money Matters

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that the Great Society started out by declaring war on poverty and now poverty was declaring war on the Great Society. He was of the opinion both sides had better start looking for a peace table afore starvation set in fer everybody.

Ed said them pore folks marching on Washington and demanding money was like trying to borrow a lifejacket off'n a drowning man. Ed, who ain't no friend of the Great Society nollow, said ain't no government on the face of the earth in all recorded history so deep in debt. He reported where he had saw Senator Sam Ervin of North Carolina said the pore was marching on Washington at a time when the Congress was trying to cut a $199 billion budget and looking at $222 billion them government agencies claimed was necessary fer the fiscal year.

Ed went on to quote Senator Ervin where he said they was already $25 billion in the new budget fer pore relief, and he was of the opinion we had ought to figger out where the money was coming from afore they start working on a $3,000 annual income guaranteed fer everybody.

Zeke Guobbs was agreed with Ed, said he could recollect back in 1932 when about 15,000 World War veterans marched on Washington, didn't ask fer no place to sleep, and was begging fer nothing but a job and the police run 'em off. Now, said Zeke, the pore folks march on Washington and if they can't find no place to sleep they stay at a hotel and send the government the bill. He claimed things shore has changed in 36 years.

Clem Webster was of the feeling that everything was now so speeded up a feller couldn't figger if he was leading, gitting led or just plain run over. He said we was gitting drive-in funeral homes and hospitals and the time was coming when a human being wouldn't need legs. He said we was already hauling kids 10 blocks to school and building million dollar gymnasiums so's they could exercise their legs. And Clem allowed, we was doing it all on the time payment plan.

Ed said now that the subject had got off the pore war and on the time payment plan, about the only thing he had saw in the papers all week that made any sense was where this old lady in England had to build a brick wall behind her property to keep her water off a public street. The town built the wall and charged her $1,000, but she was give a payment plan that called for 7,300 years to pay it off. A town official explained, "We don't want to press elderly people on money matters."

Josh Clodhopper closed the session by saying he was gitting mighty elderly and he shore would like to see that payment plan catch on in this country.

Youis truly,

Dear Editor:

I receive the Quiz weekly here and enjoy reading it very much. I'm presently serving four years in the United States Air Force and am stationed at a remote location where there is hardly any contact with the outside world. We have one radio station which is military and no television.

I'm writing to say I enjoy reading Geranium Joe very much and want to say Howard Paulsen really made a point in your May 2 article about military pay. After reading something like this, one really wonders why re-enlist and make the Air Force a career when he can make more sitting on Welfare. There is a definite answer here, and I believe they call it Pride in oneself and in country.

I hope my letter reaches printing but even if it doesn't I've had my say.

Poor People's March

As this is being written, the population of Resurrection City here in the nation's capitol is overflowing. Some of the people involved in the Poor People's March have been assigned to lobby the Congress, and as a result small groups are appearing at open hearings.

At a hearing before the Education and Labor Committee last week, several adults from the March were admitted, including one lady who carried a 6-month-old baby in her arms.

Some members of the Congress who have gone down to inspect Resurrection City have had great difficulty in getting in, and have been told, "Get off our property." They are camped on federal land which belongs to the government.

Statements have been made by their leaders that they expect one million people to march on Washington June 19. I am afraid

KERRY ON

—tranquillity reviled—

An aura of contentment prevailed.

Only the evening before I felt harsh winds relentlessly rife the surface of my heart, but the storm had subsided during the night... and the dawn revealed a placid calmness.

Like a lake at sunrise, before its surface is touched by the day's first breeze, I reflected all the glory of the skies. The timbered shoreline reached outward that many of the participants in the Poor People's March are being "used."

The demands that they are making of the Congress are completely unreasonable, and I, as one member of the House of Representatives, do not intend to bend to their demands.

Farm Program

The present farm program does not expire until the end of 1969. Secretary of Agriculture Freeman and the administration have recommended making the present law permanent.

The House Agriculture Committee did not go along with the recommendation, however, and reported out a bill extending the act for one year — through 1970.

Hearings were held last week in our Rules Committee on this measure. The Rules Committee, on a non-partisan basis, voted to defer reporting out the bill. It was felt that the new President and the new secretary of agriculture should have an opportunity to recommend new farm legislation next year.

Beef Legislation

The House Ways and Means Committee expects to begin hearings June 4 on all bills introduced to curtail imports of various products.

Our cattle industry is certainly entitled to some protection from foreign imports of beef.

This Week's Meditation —
"Brimful Religion"
"They filled them up to the brim." John 2:7
Did you ever notice, in Christ's first recorded miracle, which was the turning of water into wine, the inspiring action of the servants who filled the six stone jars with water? They were large jars, and the servants filled them up to the brim. The account reads as if they expected a miracle, as if Christ had worked miracles before, at any rate, they filled the jars to the brim. If they were to have a miracle, they would have as much of a miracle as was possible. If they were going to receive a divine blessing, they were going to have the jars filled to the brim.
Now I like that. The old proverb tells us to hold all the skirts of our garments extended when heaven is raining gold. Many servants would have said, "What nonsense!" and have filled the jars half-full, or perhaps have put water into only one jar. Then they would have got only one-half or one-sixth of a miracle.
Today in the twentieth century, there are brimful Christians, and they are the joy of earth and of heaven. Their eyes shine. Their voices ring with joy. They shout and sing. Their hearts rejoice in the overflow of God's mercies and everyone that knows such a Christian rejoices with them. What a glorious contrast they are to the poor, pitiful, half-full Christians with their stinky little reservoirs of faith and hope and love!
And I ask, "how is it with you? Are you filled to the brim in your Christian life or are you one of those who fills their life half-full? To be only half-filled with Christ is to be only half-dedicated, half-consecrated, and half-converted. And if your life is only half-filled with Christ, then it is mandatory that the other half is filled with Satan.
Isn't it time that your life was filled with Christ; that your life was counting for him; that your friends and family knew that you were living your life 100% for Christ?"
