Schmitt and Quinn Patrol Wide Area; See Humor and Tragedy

The letter that arrived at the Gerald Schmitt home last July 31 was a rather unique one. It read: "Patrolman Schmitt: I would like to express my appreciation for the help afforded me July 24, 1970, thirteen miles north of St. Paul. I feel you are the one that saved my life." It was signed by a resident of Kansas who had recently passed through the Cornhusker state and who had contact with one of Nebraska's Highway Patrolmen, Gerald (Jerry) Schmitt.

Patrolman Schmitt was patrolling the highway north of St. Paul on July 24 and noticed a car at the side of the road that, in his own words, "didn't look right." He approached the car and found the doors and windows shut and the motor running. When he opened the car, he detected the heavy odor of carbon monoxide and found an elderly woman alone and unconscious in the car. He pulled her out of the car, called an ambulance and tried to revive her. She was rushed to a St. Paul hospital, where she was treated and released the next day. Patrolman Schmitt probably did save her life, but for him and his partner in Ord, Patrolman Phil Quinn, it's all in a day's work.

Most of the citizens of Nebraska think of the highway patrolman as being the one who hands out the tickets and hauls a traffic offender to court for violations. Few people realize a highway patrolman has a vast variety of other duties and training in many other fields besides "writing tickets." As Patrolman Quinn points out, at times a highway patrolman has to be a psychologist, a medical doctor, a lawyer and a judge in addition to his regular duties.

"We issue tickets only when the law says we have," said veteran law enforcement officer Quinn. "We also issue them when we feel it is the only way to make a correction or when we feel there is enough of a safety factor for the general public involved to take court action." He cited a recent example in the Ord vicinity where he issued a ticket to a violator only after he had issued the offender several warnings. Three to four times as many warnings are issued as tickets.

Quinn and Schmitt rarely find time to "take it easy" on the job. The two men are responsible for patrolling Greeley, Howard, Garfield, Valley and Sherman Counties. The men also work a minimum of 50 hours a week but many times this stretches out to be 60 or more hours. They must also work holidays and Sundays, making the life of a patrolman seem somewhat unappealing to the common man in the street.

What keeps a patrolman in the profession? Both Quinn and Schmitt had different answers to this question.

"I would say the most enjoyable aspect of this whole thing is working with teenagers," said Schmitt. "Frequently they will stop and talk to you and once in awhile one will share his problems with you. I think it is important for adults to try and understand young people better." Schmitt also said young people tend not to hold grudges against the highway patrolman but adults seem to more readily admit when they are wrong.

Quinn feels a sense of satisfaction from helping accident victims and knowing that in his own way, he has helped keep someone alive. His most vivid memory of a car accident was one of the first he investigated by Blue Hill. A young boy, only 14, was driving an automobile that hit a dead-end of a country road. The boy was still conscious at the time the patrolmen arrived and, according to Quinn, his screams sent chills down his spine for a long time after. The boy ended up being paralyzed.

Grimness is not always the onside of life the Nebraska Highway Patrolman sees. Children often provide unsuspecting moments of humor for the highway patrolman, much to the dismay of red-faced parents. Recently Quinn picked up a speeding violator who had his four-year-old son with him. The driver informed Quinn he did not know how fast he was going because his speedometer was broken. Junior piped up and said, "But gee dad, didn't you have that fixed a long time ago?" End of conversation and exit one-red-faced father and laughing highway patrolman.

Schmitt also points out one of the duties of the highway patrolman is to help stranded motorists. Nebraska Highway Patrol cars are equipped with special pumps that enables the patrol car to provide gas from its own tank to a motorist who is out of gas. Schmitt, as has every highway patrolman, has helped change tires and start countless stranded cars.

Schmitt says one of his biggest honors came last spring when the junior class of Loup City High School invited Patrolman and Mrs. Schmitt to be guests of honor at the Loup City Junior-Senior Prom.

How do you describe the life of a highway patrolman? It's starting early in the morning, and many times not finishing until after supper. It involves taking abuse from the public, and few thanks. It means missing watching your son play baseball or your daughter in her first piano recital. It means working holidays and Sundays and working a long night shift two weeks of the month. It means being on call 24 hours a day and, in case of a state-wide emergency such as the 1968 riots in Omaha, giving up your two-week vacation.

Seemingly it is not a glamorous job and it has few rewards for service rendered, but for Patrolman Quinn and Schmitt it is a feeling you are doing a job that is needed and the personal gratification of having done a job well.

Ord Fire Dept. To Be Insured By Pierce Agency

The Pierce Agency's bid of 50 cents per $1,000 was accepted by the Ord City Council to insure all full time active members of the Ord Volunteer Fire Department. Under a new Nebraska state law, towns using a volunteer fire department for their protection must provide a minimum of $2,000 life insurance for active members of the department up to the age of 65.

Other local bids included 71 cents per thousand dollars from Bill French and the State Farm Insurance and $130 per thousand dollars from Walt Smith's MFA Group Insurance. The Pierce Agency will use USF & G Insurance in their coverage. Other bids were received from Iowa and Colorado insurance agents however the city council felt that because the coverage was the same, local agents should receive the priority.

It was also decided to approach the County Commissioners to see if they would be willing to have City Elections along with the primary presidential elections. Nebraska law allows this if the County Commission approves. It was noted this would save money for the city.

Payments of $150.88 and $183. were authorized to help pay the upkeep on the baseball field.

Bloodmobile Here On August 24th

Mrs. Clark Wechbach writes the Quiz from Metaline, Wash., where she and her husband are vacationing, to remind persons of this vicinity of the next Bloodmobile visit to Ord.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Ord at the United Methodist Church from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Aug. 24. The need for blood is greater during the vacation season. Make plans now to donate blood and save a life.

Mrs. Wechbach is Blood Program Chairman for Valley County.

Dress Code Adopted for Ord Students; Alvin Foote Hired for Music Department

The Ord Board of Education met Monday evening at the Ord Senior High School Building. All board members were present.

Several important matters were discussed. Among the items discussed was the hiring of a senior high music teacher. Approved for hiring was Alvin D. Foote at a salary of $7,150. Foote attended Wheaton College in Illinois and Kearney State College. He will work on obtaining his degree from Kearney State during the school year.

Henry Michalski was hired to be a custodian at a salary of $5,500. Dr. William Gogan, superintendent of schools, read a letter from Eley W. King, stating he wished to resign and the effective date is to be August 8. The board accepted the resignation.

The school board also adopted a dress code for junior and senior high school students. The dress code adopted reads: For the past several years Ord Junior-Senior High School has maintained a policy for tasteful and stylish attire for pupils in keeping with modern trends. Makeup, hairstyles, and general appearance should be such that in terms of current styles, the pupil would be considered moderately and modestly groomed.

Boys' hair shall be worn in such a way that if combed down on the forehead the hair would not be in the eyes. Hair, including the sideburns will be no longer than the bottom of the lobes of the ear, the hair will be neatly trimmed and well groomed around the ears and the back of the neck. Faces will be clean shaven and no mustaches.

Boys are to wear moderate styles, long trousers with shirts or sports shirts having quarter, half or full length sleeves. Ties, shirts are not acceptable. Shirt tails are to be tucked in except for the square cut sport shirts. Belts are to be worn provided the trousers are equipped with belt loops. Sweatshirts or those turned inside out are not allowed. White T-shirts are not to be worn as an outer shirt.

Girls are to wear garments that reflect current informed styles. Jeans, shorts, and hot pants of any kind are not acceptable. Maxi style dresses will be allowed. Dresses must be worn at a reasonable length, the hem line of the dress or skirt must be as long as the fingertips of the hand when the arm is at a normal position alongside the body. Pant suits, pant suits with tunic or sweater will be allowed.

Pupils may wear regular leather or canvas shoes with hose or socks. Students will be allowed to wear sandals provided hose or socks are worn with the sandals. Students will not be allowed to attend school barefooted.

All kinds of makeshift, cut off or obviously altered clothing are not acceptable for school wear. This statement is intended to include so called grubbies and similar items of clothing.

Interpretations of and decisions related to these guidelines should be the responsibility of the Jr.-Sr. High Principal.

Dr. Gogan also announced senior high band rehearsal will be August 10 at the senior high building with the new band instructor. Plans will be made to participate in the Burwell Rodeo and in the Shrine Game Parade in Lincoln. Meeting time is set for 6 p.m.

Mill Levy to Drop?

Ord Board of Education Adopts $786,200 Budget for 1971-72

The Ord Board of Education has adopted a budget of $786,200 for the 1971-72 school year according to Dr. William Gogan, superintendent of schools. This compares with $749,000 spent during the 1970-71 school year.

Gogan stressed the school district is in a unique situation this year. Despite the raise in the school budget, there is a strong possibility the mill levy in the district will drop. The mill levy for the school district during the last school year was 55.18 while next year the mill levy is expected to drop to 53.76 representing a drop of 1.42 mills.

"The figures we are able to release at this time are based on an expected variation in the district of $12,000,000," said Gogan. "The assessments will not be made until sometime in September but the way it stands right now it looks like it should be right at the assessed value mark. If the assessed value should turn out to be more than 12 million then there will be a bigger drop in the mill levy. If it should turn out to be less than anticipated the drop in the mill levy will reflect this." Gogan also said since coming to Ord he has had a policy of "holding the budget" and feels this year was a success. He said by doing without a few things the school district was able to undercut high rises in many areas.

Instruction costs for the Ord School district will be $478,000 the next school year. This compares with $466,612 spent last year. The biggest jump in instruction costs came in obtaining supplies where last year $14,725 was spent and next year's budget allows $23,300.

General administration next year will run about $36,800 compared with $35,325 last year. This includes such things as superintendent's salary, supplies and office equipment and secretarial help. The superintendent's salary has been set at $20,200 representing a $100 increase over last year. He is also being allowed a $1,200 travel expense account, the same as last year.

Operation of the plant is being allowed $65,340. This is compared to $53,126 spent last year. Maintenance of the plant is being allowed $12,000 compared to $11,654 allowed last year. Fixed charges are being allowed $56,500 compared to $47,378 spent last year. Fixed charges include such things as transportation and insurance.

Other budget requests for the 1971-72 school year include $10,600 for capital outlay, a reduction from the 1970-71 expenditure of $15,000; $1,000 for community services compared to $800 spent last year; $100 for adult education, the same as spent last year; $38,000 transfer to other funds compared to $37,780 last year; at $57,860 for other school services compared to $49,400 spent last year. Other school services include such things as student health, bus drivers, tires and mileage.

Gogan indicated on the whole he is satisfied with the new budget and the fact the mill levy may be reduced. He said much of whether the school mill levy will be reduced in future years depends on how well people keep their taxes paid up.

BRR, IT'S COLD — Even in July it can be cold, or at least a float can make you shiver as was demonstrated by Smedra's Grocery. This float took first place in the Business Category of the parade and portrayed the famous blizzard of 1888.

NO, IT'S NOT WHISTLER'S MOTHER — but Gentlemen of the U.S.A. The birth of the United States was the general theme of the Job's Daughter Float, that won first place in the Club Division. Ben Franklin is portrayed in the rocking chair and the delegates are just getting ready to cast their votes on the Constitution.

Ak-Sar-Ben Makes $1,000 Donation to Loup Valley

A $1,000 check from Ak-Sar-Ben has been received by the Loup Valley Agricultural Society, according to president E. J. Lange and secretary Edmund H. Huffman. The money will be used, along with grants from the past two years, for the new exhibit building being constructed on the fair grounds this year. The building will cost approximately $5,000.

The County Fair Improvement Program, now in its eighteenth year, is one of a series of projects of financial assistance to county fairs made possible by funds from Ak-Sar-Ben's annual race meeting, according to Tom Brock, executive director of Ak-Sar-Ben.

The popular county fair program follows the "dollar-matching" principle, in that Ak-Sar-Ben agrees to match dollars with each county fair which will match its contribution with at least an equal amount.

This year Ak-Sar-Ben has offered two programs to the county fairs. The first is the $500 matching grant for new construction, and the second is the $500 "spruce-up" grant for repairs, painting, landscaping, cement work, roofing and beautification. Thus, Ak-Sar-Ben has offered a maximum of $1,000 to each county fair in Nebraska on a matching basis. Ak-Sar-Ben sets aside $90,000 for this improvement program, plus approximately $25,000 annually for county fair premiums for direct payments to exhibitors by Ak-Sar-Ben. The first seventeen-year period of the program has seen over $2,650,000 spent to benefit the fairs, and is made possible by Ak-Sar-Ben's annual race meeting. All state admission taxes at the races are also earmarked each year for county fairs.

Something Different

Of Lumps and Bumps

Every week a new crisis, or you might say, never a dull moment. This time it was allergies in the obnoxious form of huge lumps on a grandson. Raw, stinging welts as big as a teacup, and no one knew what caused them.

Was it straw? Or dust? Or chocolate? Maybe milk. Or rose pollen? So he and I made a quick trip to Omaha to consult a big city specialist.

I'd forgotten the procedure. In a big old house, each of about 30 rooms had an efficient white garbed nurse — part of the assembly line, after a few minutes with the head man. Weight, height, history, family, habits were quickly recorded, then the patient was directed to go up one flight.

At last we came to a tiny neat room and a tiny neat nurse. Before her she had an array of 75 or 100 tiny bottles. Into a bared upper arm she quickly shoved a needle under the skin to make 50 little welts. Next day she made 79 little bumps.

They looked for all the world like the rows of lacerations with which some African tribesmen decorate their faces! Rows of little bumps. Each bump represented the test for one food, one weed, a soft drink, house dust, whatever. If this trial shot made the arm red or angry, then that shot had carried an offender.

I'd forgotten the rigamarole, though once years ago I came to the Big City with Flora Anderson to accompany a small girl named Shirley Anderson for allergy tests. As I recall her tests were put on her back, about 30 of them. She turned out to be allergic to chocolate — and anchovies. (At that time she had never tasted anchovies!)

She doesn't eat chocolate yet, but has become proficient at making pound cake, caramel cookies and lots of non-chocolate goodies, at her Lincoln home.

Then I remember, I think it was during the war, probably World War Two — my eyes suddenly swelled shut. And my neck puffed up red and leathery and burned like the dickens. So, I got shipped off to an Omaha skin man, who speedily had me quit wearing nail polish, after I'd worn nail polish for years with no ill effects, too. And I really can't wear nail polish yet.

Once we had a very good auctioneer in Ord, who moved to Atkinson to set up his sale barn and was successful there until he began to snuffle and break out. He went to Omaha and took the allergy tests, only to be told he was allergic to the dust from his sale yards. He made some changes in his occupation, believe me.

One fellow broke out regularly, each Monday morning, and his doctor had a dreadful time finding the cause. But at last the criminal was tracked down . . . it was the brown ink in the Sunday rotogravure section!

Unexpected Guests
 The Junior Hansen family had a pleasant surprise last Friday when Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Barnes of Memphis, Tenn. were their suppertime guests. Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Barnes are cousins and had not seen each other in several years. The Barnes were enroute home from a vacation in the Black Hills.

During the summer months, members of the Ord High School F.H.A. Club have been a busy group.

Officers of the organization headed a committee which planned and constructed a float. Work began early at the school shop and finally a float depicting Women's Suffrage with past and present traditions was completed and entered in the Jaycee Parade.

Plans for the year are being made by Mrs. Phyllis Garnick, the chapter sponsor; Linda Stiger, president and officers of the organization. The chapter will host a courtesy for incoming freshmen and all F.H.A. members. The 2 p.m. event will be held at the Ord park. Its purpose is to acquaint new members with the F.H.A. program. Incoming and present members as well as persons interested in F.H.A. are welcome to attend.

PLANE RIDE — This little boy decided to take a "plane ride" and almost crashed by himself when he decided it was more fun to stand while in flight.

Judges Pick Cetak As "Cookout King"

By Carol Leggett
 Joe Cetak of Cetak's GW Market was named "best cook" in this year's Cookout King Contest.

An attraction held again this year in conjunction with Valley County Fair festivities, the Cookout King Contest was sponsored by K K Appliance Co., Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. Inc. and the Ord Chamber of Commerce. Wayne Winterfeld and Ivan Sorensen were co-chairmen for the event. All gas grills were used in the contest.

For his efforts in preparing a fresh ham roast which he entered as a "Glorified Pork Roast", Cetak became winner of the grand prize — a Matri De infra red broiler — and the opportunity to compete in the Cookout King Contest (Pork Division) in the Nebraska State Fair finals at Lincoln on Sept. 4.

Contestants with Cetak were Roger Miller, sponsored by the Elyria Lion's Club, who prepared an extra-thick Round steak; Duane Schernikau of Duane's Barber Shop for "Clippier's Barbecued Chicken"; Don Walker of Walker's Drug for "Cupped Burgers"; Duane Carson of Carson's IGA for "Surprise Beef Roast"; Al Bundy, sponsored by KNLV Radio for Venison steak classified as "Beer Drinker's Special"; and Don Blaha, sponsored by Jack and Jill of Ord, for "Tasty T-Bones."

After naming Cetak the winner, prizes were given to all the contestants and Miller was named best cook in the Beef Division; Schernikau in the Poultry Division and Walker in the Complete Meal Division. All four of these cooks are eligible to compete in the Nebraska State Fair finals at Lincoln.

Elaine Ross, home service consultant for Kansas-Nebraska, Veneta Beard and Maxine Matern found judging to be no easy task as they sampled and re-sampled the food in the last Wednesday afternoon contest held at the fairgrounds.

CAROL'S CORNER

by carol leggett

What's a wife worth? Who can put a price tag on all the intangibles—love, tenderness and compassion? Who wants to? But if you're a working wife, you should be glad you don't have to add your value as a housewife in computing your income tax. In cash, the average American housewife is worth an estimated $8,285.68 a year according to a . . . survey by the Chase Manhattan Bank.

The study assigned dollar values to the work the average wife puts in as a housekeeper, nurse, purchasing agent, cook, chauffeur, and economist. Even without allowance for tender loving care and a maternal instinct, it adds up to $159.34 a week.

Are you ready for this, husbands? In contrast, you're worth only $51.50 a week around the house. This is based on the assumption that a man has 41 hours free each week and spends about 24 hours doing household chores.

The bank estimates that a husband is worth about $1.96 an hour as a night watchman, $3 for one hour as an accountant, $1.25 an hour for 2.5 hours as assistant shopper, $2.77 an hour for 45 minutes work as a garbage man, and $2 an hour for 30 minutes spent as a fashion consultant—whether his wife takes his advice or not!

If he had tasted this, Washington would never have chopped down that tree. Try this Miracle Cherry Pie soon.

The needed ingredients are: 1 pkg. (6-serving size) Vanilla pudding and pie filling, 1/4 c. sugar, 1/4 t. salt, 1 c. water, 1 t. lemon juice, 1 can (16 oz.) pitted red sour cherries, 1 T. butter, a few drops of red food coloring (optional), 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled and whipped topping (optional, of course).

Combine the pie filling mix, sugar, salt, water and lemon juice in sauce pan. Blend into a smooth paste. Add cherries and cherry liquid. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Stir in butter and food coloring. Cool 5 minutes; then pour into pie shell. Let stand at room temperature until set—at least 4 hours. For firmer pie, chill, then garnish with whipped topping.

Prizes Awarded in Fair Talent Show

By Carol Leggett
 Varied presentations by local talent, interspersed with wit and humor by posed hillbillies Eldon Foth and Dick Peterson made up an evening of light entertainment, Thursday at the fairground. A sizeable crowd gathered for the grandstand show held in connection with numerous Valley County Fair events.

Entries in this year's talent contest totaled 13 and cash prizes were given in each of the three categories — Ages up to 14 years; 14 to 18 years and 18 years and over. Mrs. Frank Maly was Talent Show chairman.

Winning first place in the youngest group was Brenda Abel, a vocal soloist from North Loup. A singing group, the Suzy Q's 4-H Club, won second and Beth Hald placed third. Beth played a medley of tunes on the harmonica.

In the middle division, first place went to singers The Cloverettes, a group of six girls; The Queen and Two Kings, made up of Rita, Dale and Paul Wojtasek, won second and the Scissors and Sauters 4-H Club, a large group of singers, were named third place winners.

A girl's vocal trio — Pam Riddle, Diane Franzen and Becky Gregory — won first place honors in the advanced division. The Melody Moms won second place for their presentation of two musical selections and the Barber Shop Seven won third for their act a combination of vocal harmony and comedy.

Judges were Mrs. Cindy Staehr of Scotia and Jim Ochsner of Ord.

Pastor Trebus Will Leave Ord

The Rev. Louis Trebus resigned as pastor of the Bethany Lutheran Church to accept a pastorate in Ohio. He will have his final sermons at the Ord and Dannevirke churches on Sunday, Aug. 29.

WELL, THERE'S ALWAYS NEXT YEAR — Or so hope Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Trepow of rural Comstock. Their garden was completely frozen over and the spring and summer's hard work seems now to have been for naught. The thing that bothered Mrs. Trepow the most was reading in the farm section of last week's QUIZ that the last week of July and the first two weeks of August are the hottest of the year, then having her garden freeze. The Power of the Press can't still Mother Nature.

Mira Valley Memo

Fair's End Comes with Youths Involved in 4-H Clean-Ups

Babbles by Bertha
Fair week has come and gone. By the end of the week the youngsters were a bit, or maybe more, tired. For those 4-Hers with livestock the fair ended with clean-up Friday. Edwin and Victor brought one of their steers home, then went back to help.
Michael, Peter, Jonathan and Susan, the children of George and Lois Lange of Tomhill, Tex- as were thrilled with the fire- works at the fair. For some of them it was a new experience.
Our daughter Kathleen and her daughters Jennifer and Barbara keep busy here. George and I, Edwin and Victor are in- cluded in some of the meals eat- en out. Thursday all of us were at Ken and Charlene's home for a fish fry — the Canadian kind. Yum! Yum! Then Friday night all of us were with Clara and Beulah Clemens for fried chick- en. Kathleen was a guest of Irene Leggett Wednesday evening and Kathleen, Barbara and I visited Golda Poth Monday afternoon. We were low on gas. To make sure that we got home, Eldon Poth supplied some. At Golda's we had delicious slush. We also liked her scale. It weighs light.
Jennifer and Barbara joined the Junior Y.P. of the Seventh Day Baptist Church in North Loup for a picnic Sabbath Day following the usual meeting. They had fun at the Chalk Hills. Eight year old Barbara said she climb- ed Happy Jack three times. The girls were guests of Brenda Abel, who with her mother, Jeane, Abel, brother Chuck and Louise Brennick brought them home in the evening. We had an enjoy- able evening with them.
Barbara spent some time with Saele Hudson Thursday after- noon.
Don, Phyllis, Theresa and Rex stopped here a bit Sunday after the picnic in Ord, then went to Leona Babcock's home in North Loup for supper and a visit with Jessie Babcock and Willie and Mary Hurley of California. Lat- er they stopped here again and Jennifer went home with them for a visit with the Kearney cousins. Rex is near her age.
Kathleen and the girls also had a telephone visit with our son Russell, Jeannette and Chuck in West Virginia Sunday evening. Barbara is enjoying the four kittens they found. She can spend hours with them.
George found frost nipped our milo in low spots Thursday morn- ing. It was a cold night for July.
Lois Peterson, our nearest neighbor to the south, went to Valley County Hospital for sur- gery last week.
Mr. Sophie Fuss was a Sun- day dinner guest of the Frank Fuss family of North Loup. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fuss, Brian and Christie of Grand Island were also guests. The 14th birth- day of Joan and Gary Fuss was celebrated. The birthday cake was in the form of a plane.
Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Bredthauer and family helped celebrate the 40th Wedding Anniversary of her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Dye by taking them to the St. Paul Supper Club Sunday eve- ning.
Lorette, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Staab, celebrated her birthday and family of Loup City were Sunday dinner and lunch guests of Mrs. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hurlbut. They all attended the horse show.

Mrs. Ervon Fowler was a Wed- nesday visitor at the home of Thelma Drake, Rachel Platt and Herman.
Dalbert Baller and Karl of Ans- ley were Monday afternoon call- ers at the home of Mrs. Lottie Baller.
Adaline Wolfamott visited her mother, Mrs. Sara Brooks in Bro- ken Bow Thursday morning. Alice Pearson visited Mrs. Brooks, Fri- day.

with a party at the Ord park Fri- day afternoon. Little guests were Paul Poth, Barbara Poth, James and Janice Poota, Paul Staab, Eric, Jay and Jody Knapp. Also present were her mother, who was hostess, brother Bradley and sisters Jeanine and Susanne, mothers of the children, Mrs. Gust Poth Jr., Mrs. Gordon Poth, Mrs. Eldon Poota, Mrs. Bernard Staab and Mrs. Robert Knapp. Others were Mrs. Dale Wilson and Jarrod, Mrs. Delysie Burson and grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Burson. The birthday cake was a cowgirl cake.
Mr. and Mrs. Orel Koelling and family were Sunday dinner guests of the Warren Kennel fam- ily of Shickley. In the afternoon Mrs. Koelling and Jan attended a bridal shower for Vickie Ken- nel, the fiancée of Monty Koel- ling.
The Rev. and Mrs. Robert Hopkins and family returned home from a three weeks vaca- tion last Monday evening. Most of their vacation was spent at Calgary, Canada in Alberta where their son, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hopkins of Tacoma, Wash., joined them. They also spent three days at Yellowstone Park. At Cody, Wyo. they vis- ited a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Her- bert Taylor and family. It was 12 years since they had seen the cousin, Mrs. Taylor, Tuesday morning the Hopkins family left for Lawrence, Kans., after receiv- ing a call telling of the emer- gency operation of her father, J. A. Provillion. They returned home Thursday accompanied by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ken- neth Hopkins and son Kyle. Ken- neth Hopkins is presently em- ployed by KMLV radio station as announcer.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gonner- man of Gysart, Ia., were home guests of the Mervin Hornickels from Tuesday to Thursday. Tues- day they were dinner and supper guests of the Russell Hackels with Mrs. Lydia Koelling, Mrs. Elma Koelling, John Gonnerman and the Elmer Hornickels as addi- tional guests. Wednesday the Charles Gonnermans were din- ner and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lydia Koelling, John Gon- nerman, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gon- nerman and Becky of Clearlake, Ia., and Clyde Gilbert of Loup City. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Geyewe ac- companied by Mrs. Cary Geyewe and Barry, Tim Toden and Jim Naeve attended a horse sale at Indianapolis, Ind. They left home Saturday morning. On the way home they stopped at Burdock for a Congdon fish fry at the Warren Rikli home and celebra- ted the 6th Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stowell. They returned home Sunday eve- ning.
Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hackel and Mark and Mrs. Mangle Hackel of North Loup drove to Oth- oja Wednesday for a picnic with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hackel of Denver. Sunday they visited Mr. and Mrs. Don Hackel at Crete.
Rogene Hornickel spent the weekend with her folks, the Lor- es Hornickels. Sunday they had dinner and supper with Mr. and Mrs. David Glinzman at Rock- ville. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ole Peterson and Lavonne of Kearney and Rev. Victor Hoff- man. The Hornickels also vis- ited the Melvin Bockstader at Wood River and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bockstader of Loveland and their daughter, Mrs. Robert Mc- Blair of Bellevue. The Hornickels took their daughter Rogene back to school in Hastings as well as William Bockstader who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. David Glinzman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stoffer of Sprague drove up on Saturday to help celebrate the birthday of her foster father, the Rev. Robert Hopkins. Rev. and Mrs. Leo- ard Clark of Scotia came in the evening for birthday cake and ice cream.
Mr. and Mrs. Stan Johnson and Tracy were Sunday night guests of the Bernard Staabs for home- made ice cream and cake. James Staab went home with the John- sons and was an overnight and Monday guest of Tracy.
Mr. and Mrs. Van Creager of Meadow Grove visited the Mar- vin Rice and Irving Kings Thurs- day evening.
Mr. and Mrs. Irving King vis- ited Mr. Genen Trospier and chil- dren in Kearney Sunday after- noon. Mr. Trospier is on Na- tional Guard duty. They also called on Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mottl and Lucinda while in Kearney. # Cheers & Chants

"News and Views of Area Sports"

By RON BALDWIN
Quiz Sports Editor

It hardly seems possible, but Ord High Football Coach Chuck Squier is already looking forward to August 23—the first day that schools in Nebraska may hold football practice. Squier, starting his third season as head-man for the Chants, and his fifth with the school, appears to be optimistic about Ord's prospects for the 1971 season. His squad last year finished 8-2-0 and won the Central Ten Conference, however Squier is quick to point out this year is a "whole new ball game" and points to Central City's Bisons as being the team to beat in the West this year.

Ord will open the season at home against Gothenburg, a team that handed Ord a 25-14 pasting in the first game of the season last fall. The remainder of the schedule includes Holdrege, Albion, Aurora, Central City, St. Paul, Broken Bow, Lexington and newcomer Columbus Scotus. The Columbus school replaces Grand Island Northwest, and the game will be played on the Shamrock's home field.

BACK FIELD PROMISING

The main reason for Squier's optimism is the talented Ord High backfield. Back will be standouts such as quarterback Paul Markley, halfbacks Leon Brechbill and David John, and fullback Larry Wells. The seniors have been playing together as starters since their sophomore year. Markley and Wells were all conference last fall.

The main concern for Squier is replacing the line. His only returning letterman in that position is All-Conference Tackle Dale Peterson. Squier more than likely will rebuild the line around him.

All in all, the 1971 football season should be interesting and we will look forward to seeing Big Red in action this fall.

POLICY OF SPORTS PAGE

As is stated on the head of this column, it will be devoted to news and views of sports in the area. This sports page is interested in covering competition in all areas and in several area high schools. Ord and the Central Ten Conference will receive a large percentage of the coverage, however we do not intend to make this a column or page devoted only to Ord athletics. We intend to offer coverage of North-Loup-Scotia, Arcadia, Sargent and Burwell. We are looking forward to covering these schools and hope this will increase the Quiz's service to the area.

We are looking forward to covering wrestling, boxing, bowling and many other areas of sporting interest. Space may not always allow us to give as much coverage to certain sports as participants might wish, but we will strive to be fair to everyone.

We also hope that more people will take advantage of using the telephone and give us calls to keep us posted on events in the area. The only way we can cover an event is if we know about it. The only way we can print the results of a meet or game is if we receive the information. It boils down to a matter of cooperation and communication between the press and the people involved.

NEBRASKA BASKETBALL

And just to show you how far from the area we may sometimes stray, one of the first pieces of mail opened after starting on this job turned out to be a University of Nebraska Basketball schedule. We felt there is enough interest in Nebraska athletics in the area to discuss some points of interest on the schedule.

NU's first basketball game of the season will be December 1 against Wyoming. Other non-conference foes for the Cornhuskers include home matches with San Diego State, Wichita, Southern Methodist and San Jose State. Away games with non-conference foes include Duquesne and the University of Iowa. Big Red will participate in two tournaments, the annual Big 8 Tournament at Kansas City, where they will open against Missouri, and the Second Annual Husker Classic to be played at Lincoln. The Husker Classic will include Baylor University, Idaho and LaSalle in addition to NU.

Last season NU was 18-8 over all and 8-6 in the Big 8.

FISHING NOTES

According to Charles Sargent Jr., three and four pound bass have been reported caught with surface lures at Cedar Lake located between Sargent and Anselmo. He also indicates moss in the area has been treated. Anyone catching "big ones" anywhere else?

SCORING RUN — Dean Vancura looks behind to see where the action is as he scores a run against Crofton. Ord took a 3 to 1 victory over the Northeast Nebraska nine after dropping the Area Opener to Crofton by 7 to 6.

OFF AND RUNNING — Scott Patrick makes a try for first base after making a hit against Albion in the Area Regional game played Friday night at Plainville. Kearney was a 7 to 3 winner over Albion from the tournament early by 7 to 3.

Ord Footballers To Meet Aug. 20

Ord High football coach Chuck Squier has announced all boys interested in Junior or Senior High Football must have a physical examination by a private doctor by August 23. This is the first time the boys have had to get physicals on their own and Squier points out boys can not even practice without one.

The first football meeting of the fall will be held at the High School August 20 at 7 p.m. for all 12th grades at the start of the school term. Ninth grade through 12th grade will check out equipment on that night and a check-out schedule will be issued those in junior high. Football insurance will also be explained at the initial meeting.

Boys are urged to pick up physical cards from either Coach Squier or assistant coach Alan Cudly.

Ord will open the grid season September 10 with a home match with Gothenburg.

The total U.S. population of prong-horned antelope 45 years ago was 12,000.

Anglers should take it easy when landing crappie. The hook can easily rip free of the fish's paper-thin mouth.

Ord, Nebraska Athletes Game

Valley County will represent in the annual North-South Shrine Football game to be played August 21 at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus. Representing the county will be Ord High School's Bob Peterson, and North Loup-Scotia's Jon Reeves.

Peterson, 6 ft. and 205 pounds, helped lead the Chanticleers to an 8-2-0 season and the Central Ten Conference gridiron title last fall. The 17-year-old is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Peterson and was coached by Chuck Squier. He was All Conference and All State in 1970.

Peterson said he received notification he had been nominated for a position on the North Squad for the contest and while "not counting on it, was looking forward to the possibility of playing on the squad." Peterson played line backer and guard in high school. He is currently registered at both Kearney State and NU but is giving Kearney State a slight preference because he has been Reeves, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Reeves, played for three years for Coach Keith Staehr. He lettered four years in both football and track and one year in basketball. Both the Omaha and Lincoln papers selected him for All State honors his senior year and he was honorable mention conference for three years. During the last three years the Wildcats compiled records of 8-2-0; 5-3-0 and 9-1-0.

Staehr said of Reeves, "Jon was the best lineman and defensive player we have had here. His attitude and desire is second to none. I am sure he will be an asset to the North squad."

St. Paul Giv Advances to

Coach Ed Vancura was disappointed man after the first round of the American Legion Regional Tournament held at Plainville Wednesday, Friday and Saturday of last week and Sunday night. He had just watched his Ord ball club lose a 7 to 6 decision to Crofton in a mild upset, and while his team was not yet eliminated from the contention in the double elimination tournament, he was afraid his team would not have a crack at the powerful St. Paul, perhaps the top ball club in the state.

Ord bounced back from the Crofton upset and Vancura got his wish, a chance to meet St. Paul and the outcome of the title game may have caused him to wish this had been a single elimination instead of a double elimination affair. St. Paul won the Regional Title and advanced to state tournament play by blasting Ord 17 to 2. Sandwiched between the Crofton opener and the St. Paul slaughter were wins over Albion, 7 to 3, and a repeat match win over Crofton by 3 to 1.

CROFTON 7 ORD 6

Crofton hit seven runs on five hits and 2 errors to take an impressive upset win over Ord 7 to 6 in the opening game for Ord in the Regional Tournament. Ord jumped into a 1 to 0 lead after one inning and still lead 3 to 2 going into the fourth inning when the northeast Nebraskans scored five unearned runs in the bottom of the inning to take a 7-4 lead. Ord scored two runs in the sixth inning but couldn't catch the upset minded Crofton team.

Pitching for Ord was Bob Visek until the second inning when he was relieved by Tom Klanecky. Winning pitcher for Crofton was Charles Mueller.

After the game Coach Vancura commented it was "tough to lose the first one like this. We had our chances, I just don't know what happened. I just hope we can get a chance at St. Paul."

ALBION 3 ORD 7

Veteran Ord pitcher Bob Visek went all the way against Albion, dropping Ord to a 7 to 3 win over Albion. Losing pitcher was Tom Borber.

Ord opened up a 4 to 0 lead in the second inning but Albion was able to cut the lead to 4 to 2 in the third before Ord scored two more runs in the bottom of the inning. Albion had 3 runs on 4 hits and 4 errors compared to Ord's 7 runs on 7 hits and 2 errors.

Two-Ball Foursome Attracts 22 Golfers

Twenty-two participated in the two-ball foursome held Friday evening at the Ord Golf course. Prize winners were Jean Smith of Ord, Wilbur Cain of Ord, Millie Johnson of Richmond, Calif. and Dr. F. J. Osentowski of Ord.

Among other guest players from out-of-state were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Rose of Loveland, Colo. White bass were first stocked in Lake McConaughy in 1944.

HORTICULTURE CLINICS

For the first time, a series of clinics displaying experimental and currently available varieties of ornamentals, tree and small fruits, turf and vegetables will be held around the state, sponsored by the University of Nebraska Department of Horticulture and Forestry.

The series of three clinics is scheduled August 6 at Lincoln; August 11 at Alliance (Northwest Agricultural Laboratory); and August 13 at North Platte (North Platte Station).

their daughter, Mrs. Robert McBlair of Bellevue. The Hornicks took their daughter Rose back to school in Hastings as well as William Bockstader who had visited Mr. and Mrs. David Glinsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stofer of Sprague drove up on Saturday to help celebrate the birthday of her foster father, the Rev. Robert Hopkins. Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Clark of Scotia came in the evening for birthday cake and ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Johnson and Tracy were Sunday night guests of the Bernard Staabs for homemade ice cream and cake. James Staab went home with the Johnsons and was an overnight Monday guest of Tracy.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Creager of Meadow Grove visited the Marvins in Rice and Irving Kings Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving King visited Mrs. Galen Trosper and children in Kearney Sunday afternoon. Mr. Trosper is on National Guard duty. They also called on Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mott and Lucinda while in Kearney.

and was given credit for the win. Losing pitcher was Crofton's Myron Tramp.

Dean Vancura and Jeff Hruby headed the Ord attack. Vancura had three hits and drove in two runs while Hruby had a double and a single.

Coach Vancura termed the Crofton win, "the best game by far of the tournament." He also credited Crofton with being "tougher than expected, tough all the way."

ST. PAUL 17 ORD 2

Ord jumped into a 2 to 0 lead at the bottom of the first inning but could do little right from that point as St. Paul earned a state tournament ticket with a 17 to 2 pasting of Ord. Ord seemed to help the St. Paul cause along as the team committed a total of nine errors. St. Paul scored their 17 runs on a meager four hits and they had only three errors.

Pitching for Ord was Dean Vancura and for St. Paul Jim Christensen.

Coach Vancura commented after the game that Ord "had a good start but we got killed by our own errors." He also said he felt St. Paul should go all the way in the state tournament. Vancura also said "Crofton played us real tough the night before while St. Paul was idle which was a factor." He also pointed out Ord traveled about 1,000 miles in five days and had played four games in five nights and he felt the team was just "bushed" because of that.

FUTURE BRIGHT

Coach Vancura feels next year's team will be as good if not better than this year's edition. He said it will be hard to replace standouts such as Dan Carstens, Jeff Hruby, Ed Kowalski, Scott Patrick and Bob Visek, however he

Horseshoe Tourney To Highlight Pop Corn Days

A horseshoe tournament will be held in conjunction with North Loup's Popcorn Days scheduled for August 31 to September 1. Six new courts will be used in the tournament. Cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded.

According to Russell Hill, tournament director, contestants must qualify before the start of the tournament. Contestants are to pitch 100 shoes on their home court, scores are to be totaled counting ringers and single points and mailed to Hill at North Loup.

Hill also indicated a contestant may qualify any weekend in August on the North Loup courts by letting him know before hand or if the contestant pitched in last year's tournament, last year's qualifying scores may be used. He also said a person may qualify on August 30 but must return August 31 or September 1 to pitch.

Entries will close at 60 players. A and B classes will pitch on September 1, all lower classes on August 31. Entry fees for A and B are $2 and all lower classes $1.

THIS WILL SHOW 'EM - Dave John scores a run against stubborn Crofton in Regional baseball action Saturday night. Crofton upset Ord 7 to 6 in the opening game of the double elimination tournament but the second time around Ord put the clamps on them by 3 to 1. This photo was taken during the second game.

Sort Pigs at Home
Advice of Market Expert
Sort Market Hogs For Top Dollar
Although markets will sort pigs into weight ranges and eliminate unsound pigs, producers are generally better off to do the sorting at home, according to William T. Ahlschwede, Extension livestock specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
In Nebraska, where 70 percent of the market hogs are sold through public markets (auction sales and terminal markets), the order buyer with a particular customer can call the shots, Ahlschwede said.
The NU livestock specialist said pens of pigs with weight ranges less than 20 pounds bring the top dollar on most Nebraska markets. He notes that buyers are reluctant to sort light and heavy pigs from pens after they are sold.
When unsound pigs are in pens, Ahlschwede said, buyers generally over-compensate for the risk that the pig may not have a sound carcass.
Ahlschwede predicts that total receipts can be improved by sorting suspicious pigs into separate pens. Small, closely sorted pens will bring more dollars than one pen which includes several weights and types of pigs, he said.
Direct sales in Nebraska have been accounting for about 30 percent of the market hogs. Ahlschwede said selling pigs on a carcass or grade and yield basis should remove any discrimination against lack of uniformity in the pens.
However, Ahlschwede noted

District 4-H Horse Shows Break Record

The series of ten District 4-H Horse Shows in Nebraska this summer set another new record in number of entries with 3,277 animals compared to last year's number of 3,268, according to a report compiled by horse show coordinator R. B. Warrington.
The summary of the shows, which are elimination events for 4-H light horse competition at the Nebraska State Fair and the Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock show, was released by the University of Nebraska - Lincoln Animal-Science Department this week.
The entry total in the senior division, which includes older 4-H members who qualify to compete in state shows, leveled off slightly with only a 3 per cent increase, although continuing an upward trend for the seventh straight year.
A total of 1,237 exhibitors — 790 girls and 447 boys — were involved in shows at Valentine, Osceola, Tecumseh, Neigh, Omaha, Sutton, Broken Bow, Curtis, Sidney and Ogallala. The smallest show was at Neligh with 209 entries and the largest at Ogallala, with 479.
Four-H exhibitors were eligible to show in all classes at the district shows but entries must have received blue or purple ribbons to qualify for further competition at State Fair and Ak-Sar-Ben. Two hundred-ninety nine purple ribbons (about nine per cent of all ribbons awarded), and 781 blue ribbons (23.8 per cent) were awarded at the district shows.
However, a rider may enter only two performance classes at State Fair and Ak-Sar-Ben, no matter how many he or she qualified in at the district level. And even though an entrant qualifies at a district show, to be officially entered in State Fair or Ak-Sar-Ben a 4-H exhibitor must follow entry procedure at the County Extension Office.
Judge Bill Culbertson of Fort Collins, Colorado, awarded placings in six classes—pleasure plies, pleasure horses, horsemanship, reining, pole bending and barrel racing.
Current statewide enrollment in the 4-H light horse project has been on the increase, providing a base for the upward trend in the district shows. The 1971 enrollment is some 4,930 members, compared with 4,628 in 1970 and 4,421 in 1969.
Modern technology in haymaking has passed by pitchforks and haystacks. In fact, today it might be easier to find a needle in a haystack than finding a haystack itself.
Farmers only received about 67 percent of United States Department of Agriculture appropriations in 1970. Out of $12.5 billion spent by the government under the heading of "agriculture" that year, only $8.3 billion directly benefited farmers by supporting farm income, according to New Holland, the farm machinery division of Sperry Rand.
Hay hasn't always been only a livestock feed. During the Revolutionary War, colonials built a sturdy fort from 700 pound hay bales in one night. Come morning, British troops were amazed to see the imposing structure and abandoned their planned attack in the heights of Dorchester near Boston.
A dairy cow producing 11,000 pounds of milk a year (about 3,000 quarts) consumes an average of 43 tons of fuel — a tons of feed 37 tons of water. That 247 pounds a day.

PAKISTAN RELIEF
Relief needs of 6 million men, women and children who have crossed the border from Pakistan into India, is urgent, according to New York offices of Care, a relief agency. The agency has distributed 4 million tons of food and 12,000 large tarpaulins for shelter, but contributions are needed from the American people to continue aid. Care address is 600 First Avenue, New York City 10016.

WEEDING OUT POT
The Department of Justice has appropriated $85,000 for a pilot program under which Government and farmers will share costs of eradicating wild-growing marijuana. It will operate in 11 Midwestern counties, and could lead to a major program aimed at cutting off domestic "pot" supplies.

ANTI-BLINDNESS
Pre-school vision screening, eye safety in agriculture, and eye research will be the focuses of the recently created Nebraska Society for the Prevention of Blindness at Lincoln. "The impetus for starting a Nebraska Society," explained Mrs. Howard A. Dinsdale, president, "was the fact that half of the instances of blindness are preventable."

Nebraska CIA Has Seed Book Nebraska Wheat Farmers Enjoy Bountiful Year

Information on the availability of Nebraska certified wheat and other fall-season crops can now be obtained in the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association's 1971 Summer Certified Seed Directory.

Association manager Dean W. Lancaster said the booklet gives brief descriptions of crop varieties, names and addresses of seed growers by variety, and a list of Approved Processors authorized to purchase and process certified seed in Nebraska.

Copies of this directory may be obtained free of charge at local county Extension offices or from the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association, East Campus, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Nebraska wheat producers are completing another amazing wheat harvest. But with test weight averaging lower than last year and protein perhaps a little low considering the abundant moisture, producers need to carefully consider varieties they will use for the 1972 crop.

This advice comes from Duane W. Foote, secretary of the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association, who suggests that an observation of the performance of wheat varieties in the 1971 crop will aid in making decisions for next year's crop.

According to Foote, yield results for 1971 and long time averages from the University of Nebraska wheat test plots are being published in an Outstate Testing Circular available soon at County Extension offices.

He added that agents will receive preliminary results as soon as they become available and that results have already been received from southeast and south central Nebraska.

Foote suggests that in reviewing yield results, yields over a number of years are better guides to a variety's performance than those obtained during any one year.

In regard to varieties already recommended for the 1972 crop, Foote said limited amounts of the new wheat variety Centurk will be available and that Foundation Centurk seed will be sold by the Foundation Seed Division only as long as their supply lasts.

He added that Centurk will be suggested for all cropping districts in Nebraska except in the north central and northeast.

Scoutland is another relatively new variety that Foote said growers in southeast and south central Nebraska may want to consider. The variety is similar to Scout or Scout 66 in most agronomic traits, but Scoutland is superior in baking quality.

Information on Scoutland and Centurk, as well as other suggested wheat varieties can be obtained in the C.C. 178 "Certified Crop Varieties Suggested for Production in Nebraska - 1971," Foote said. Similar information will also appear in the Outstate Testing Circular along with yield information.

Foote said variety recommendations for each cropping district are based on the overall performance of a variety in a particular area over a number of years. Baking quality is also taken into account.

He noted that varieties other than those recommended for a certain cropping district often give satisfactory performance and could be used in specific situations. However, he added that the variety's limitations should be acknowledged if they are used in areas where not specifically suggested.

North Loup Youth to Attend 4-H Workshop

The environmental crisis facing the nation today should be of major concern to everyone. Nebraska 4-H'ers think it is, and 12 of them will soon be in the process of developing an environmental checklist to be used by the some 42,000 4-H'ers across Nebraska.

These 12 4-H'ers will be participating in an Environmental Awareness Workshop at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education here Aug. 8-13 and during their six-day session will be developing a set of environmental guidelines relevant to the young adults of the state.

According to Dr. John D. Orr, Associate State 4-H Leader at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the group will discuss environmental concerns in the areas of soil, community, water resources, farm and noise. They will be analyzing them on state as well as national and international levels.

University staff members and representatives from various state offices will be on hand to discuss the environmental areas with the 4-H'ers. Orr said the workshop is unique in that "this is the first time we have involved youth in the actual planning and organizing of a specific 4-H activity."

The NU 4-H official noted that the checklist is perhaps the most important part of the workshop. Orr said the checklist will ideally contain a set of specific environmental concerns that 4-H'ers can utilize in their own homes and communities. Eventually the checklist will be incorporated as an activity for 4-H clubs and camps.

Along with workshop discussions, the group will also conduct a number of field trips — visits to homes to determine their environmental quality; air tour of the Salt-Wahou basin; and tours of a farm and one rural community.

The 12 4-H'ers were selected from delegates who attended 4-H Club Week and 4-H Conservation and Leadership Camps. They were specifically chosen for their expressed interest in environmental awareness.

BY JOHN SCHADE
Valley County Agent

The mid- to late-boot stage of grain sorghum is the most critical time in the development of the crop. If water is short during this period yields will suffer.

If you have only a limited amount of water available to irrigate your grain sorghum now would be the time to get it on.

If more water is available an irrigation now and in the late dough stage would insure maximum yields.

mineral products on the market that will meet the animals needs, if you choose one that contains at least a one to one calcium phosphorus ratio.

The green bug population continues to increase. Farmers are urged to check milo fields regularly for numbers present.

We feel if the population is sufficient to cause the loss of the function of three or four of the lower leaves controls may pay. Observations this past week does not seem to indicate that the parasites will catch up with green bug population increase. If parasitism is at a 25% level they will take care of the green bug problem within a week. But with the numbers observed this past week I do not feel we can wait on mother nature to check the bugs.

If spraying is necessary check with your County Extension Agent for chemicals to use and rates of application.

Green Thumb Tips
Dig potatoes when the vines are green and the leaves are dead.

Your grass along the curb or driveway will require more water than other areas in the lawn. These areas usually tend to get an increased charge from the heat because of the reflection of the sun from the concrete.

Extra watering will usually bring these areas back to normal.

If you plan to reseed areas of your lawn this fall now is the time to get that soil ready. Fall reseeding is usually most successful if done between the 15th of August and the 15th of September.

If you must load livestock during hot weather do it with caution. Try to do your sorting and loading during the cool part of the day. Pen them in area near the chute so they can be loaded quickly.

The loading process is usually completed sooner if livestock are allowed to move at their own rate rather than being hurried into the truck.

Sand is the best bedding for the truck. This can be wet down so it cools when the livestock enter the truck.

Our pastures and rangeland usually supply adequate calcium and phosphorus during the growing season. When the grass begins to turn brown the phosphorus and calcium supply in the forage dwindles. While plain or trace mineralized salt will supply the needed minerals during the first part of the grazing season, you will need to add additional phosphorus during this period.

After forage becomes more mature a mixture of dicalcium phosphate and trace mineralized salt mixed together equal parts by weight will meet the animals needs.

Nebraska Poultry Plants Subject to Federal Inspection

Poultry plants operating wholly within Nebraska and Kentucky will be subject to Federal inspection beginning Aug. 31. Approximately ten plants will be affected in Kentucky and 15 in Nebraska.

Officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service said Federal inspection was requested by both States' officials earlier this summer.

The Wholesome Poultry Products Act requires, in part, that intrastate poultry plants be federally inspected in States that do not establish an inspection program at least equal to the Federal one. The Act gave the States a deadline of Aug. 18, 1970, to achieve "equal to" status, with provisions for a one-year extension of the deadline if they were making sufficient progress.

Kentucky and Nebraska were granted such extensions but State officials have since told USDA they are not in a position to develop the required program before the final deadline next month.

Federal inspectors have just completed a survey of Kentucky's and Nebraska's intrastate poultry plants to determine the nature of their operations and inspection staffing needs. Inspection supervisors have been working with plant operators, explaining detail of inspection and helping them plan changes in plants, facilities and operations necessary to meet Federal requirements.

Official notice of today's actions will be published in the Federal Register July 31.

Pat Hopkins Enters Grand Island Show

Pat Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hopkins, Ord, will be showing three individuals at the annual Nebraska-Iowa District Dairy Show on Friday. This event will be held at Pommer Park in Grand Island starting at nine in the morning.

Among the animals Pat will be showing is her four-year-old Holstein dairy cow which was selected Grand Champion Dairy Animal at the Valley County Fair this past week. Other animals to be shown are a Junior yearling Holstein heifer and a Junior calf.

Participants receiving either a blue or purple at the district fair show are eligible to exhibit their animals in the State Fair or Ak-Sar-Ben Competition.

International Policy To Affect Nebraskans

LINCOLN — Three current international developments have important implications for Nebraska grain farmers, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension agricultural economist. Dr. Everett Peterson outlined the international developments as a first — the United Kingdom's plan to align its farm policy with that of the European Common Market; second — the United States' efforts to liberalize trade with Red China; and third — the possibility of strikes by U. S. dock and railway workers which would restrict shipment of grains to and from seaports.

On July 1 the United Kingdom began shifting toward more restriction on agricultural imports and higher support price levels, Peterson said. The result, he said, has been lowered prospects for long term exporting of U.S. feed grains. According to Peterson, the restrictions will discourage imports, and the higher support prices should encourage increased domestic production.

Peterson said soybeans could benefit some from these changes since higher grain prices may encourage increased use of soybean meal as a grain substitute in the United Kingdom.

The NU economist predicts that Midwest grain farmers may face a possible serious loss in their export market unless the European Economic Community reforms its grain price and import policies.

In regard to trade with Red China, Peterson says there may be more potential for wheat exports than for other farm commodities. Communist China, he said, has been a substantial importer of wheat from Canada and Australia during the last decade. Whether or not the U.S. actually sells wheat to China, Peterson said, will depend on such things as wheat price and quality, shipping and credit terms, priorities on imports, dollar earnings from exports to the U. S. and political considerations.

Peterson said grain and soybean exports to Red China should probably be viewed mostly as a long-term possibility. He said China has been a small exporter of soybeans during the last decade and has not been a major market for feed grains in recent years.

Turning to the potential trouble spot of U.S. dock and railway strikes, Peterson said a West Coast dock workers' strike has already caused reduced wheat sales to Japan. He added that the strike may spread to Atlantic and Gulf ports in October, along with a possible major railway strike which may occur in late summer or early fall.

Peterson commented that since agricultural production is worldwide, grain importers can supply their needs from other sources if access to U.S. grain is temporarily denied.

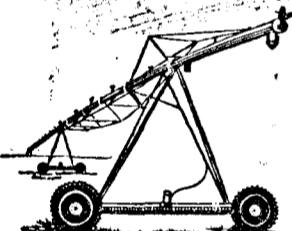

According to the economist, losses of grain exports during such strikes are difficult and often impossible to recover.

"Voice of the People"

The Quiz welcomes communications from readers, however the briefer they are the better their prospects for publication. The Editorial Department reserves the right to condense any letter. All letters must be signed but the signature will not be used if requested. We will assume no responsibility for statements in letters.

Dear Editor,
Have you been told that the elderly of Valley County are to have part time use of a mini bus through our President's Community Action program? Should we welcome it and plan wisely for its use? How long will such good fortune last and will we consider its replacement perhaps with improvements?
Should the elderly have Ord to find accommodations elsewhere in places that entice them and know the value of having them spend their nest eggs in their communities?
Are we aware that many elderly citizens have paid taxes here for the longest period? Are we alert and meeting their needs?
How many of our citizens have reached or are approaching old age and its problems? Will relatives, if any, take you where you need to go? Will your driver cancel? If you need clothes or other necessities, or gifts to loved ones, must you sit and order from a catalogue? Will you have endurance to walk to the drugstore or to see your doctor? Can you climb the hospital hill to be with a loved one?
Jailed in your home, will you have fun? Will old age leisure be a happy time for you?
Are we proud of Ord's paved air strip to enhance the pleasure of those that can afford planes? Will we see the advantage of transportation for a large share of our senior citizens, or will they leave as some have already done to find satisfactions and accommodations?
Will you let us know your ideas about your needs?
Sincerely,
Edith Tully-Fiala

What Is An Editor?

What is an editor? This is a question that has been kicked around journalistic circles for many years and is a question that no one has successfully been able to answer to everyone's satisfaction. However we found it difficult to begin our stay here without at least trying to answer this question for ourselves.

The first thing an editor does is edit the news. This is a somewhat elementary statement, however it is an important point. We EDIT the news, and many times it will become necessary to cut or delete material sent to us by readers. This is not done because we "dislike" the individuals involved or are not interested in the item. Quite the contrary. If we do edit or cut material it shows we are interested in it because as sent to us it was too long and we could not have used it without cutting it. The fact that we cut it and used it shows that we do feel the item is important.

An editor is human, and humans make mistakes. It is doubtful if any issue of the QUIZ will ever come out 100% without error. We will strive for perfection, however this may elude us at times. When necessary, corrections will be run. It is important that we get the CORRECT information from the public. Many times the public has blamed errors on a newspaper when in reality it has been the fault of the news source. Those contributing news to the QUIZ should make sure their information is accurate and easily understood with nothing left to be assumed. It will be the general policy of this paper to run most news from the general public. However, when reading the contribution, if all information is not in the story, or if points are not 100% clear, we will try to make contact with the news source. If we can not reach the person who contributed the news to us in time to clear up points of misunderstanding before publication, the story will be discarded. In making corrections caused by the mistakes of our news source, the corrections will so state the reason for the error. If the QUIZ is in error after receiving the correct information, this will also be stated.

An editor must use judgment. This judgment will not always be in agreement with other persons involved. Judgment will be used in editing our letters to the editor. "Vox Pop" UNDER NO CONDITION WILL AN UNSIGNED LETTER BE USED FOR PUBLICATION. We will withhold an individual's name from publication if he so requests, however we will not use an unsigned letter. Under no circumstances will the author of those letters requesting their names be withheld be divulged. The only reason we want the name of the letter writer is so we can know who is making contributions to us. We will not print any letters that are openly slanderous of an individual or written out of spite.

The most important thing an editor does is to become informed of events in the community. This information, when pertinent, will be passed on to the public. Over the years the QUIZ has established itself as a newspaper that speaks out bluntly and truthfully on issues. We do not intend to alter this reputation. Newspapers are not politicians but people involved in getting at the root of the truth. The truth may not always be popular and at times it may be ugly. However, truth can also be beautiful and meaningful. During our tenure here, we will vigorously try to pursue all paths of truth regardless at which door we may end.

What is an editor? He is an individual responsible for compiling and putting out a newspaper, who edits the news. Being human, he makes mistakes and readily admits when he has done this. He uses judgment and he is constantly striving to keep the public informed of the truth as it is in his community. To fail to meet any of these standards is to fail in the position. To fail in the position is to destroy the confidence the public has entrusted in your paper. This is to serve notice that we do not intend to fail and shall regard the public trust as our most valued asset.

The Final Bite

Dismayed, the young man told us, "I'm going to have to cut back on my ad . . . I just can't spend my time fighting 'em and do my work too."

The young man was a 12-year-old Russ Ballou—the lad who had postal officials in a frenzy when he went into business AGAINST them. Russ had established RFD (Russ' Fast Delivery) and was delivering letters on his bike for 5c each compared to the postal rate of 8c each for letters.

To us it was inspiring, seeing a young boy who wanted to work rather than be a leech on society. Free enterprise was once again at work—in the mind and energy of a 12-year-old!

When the story of Russ' undertaking appeared in the Omaha World-Herald, he received one letter of support from an Ogallala man—offering the financial aid to carry his case "against postal restriction" into the courts. Others offered similar help.

Unfortunately Russ learned what thousands of businesses already have learned. The time necessary to fight the socialist establishment doesn't allow the time required to keep a business running smoothly. So Russ resigned himself to staying within Federal restrictions and at least maintaining his business. The Federal workers are paid for the hours they put in—while Russ is paid for what he produces in the form of services. The Feds have more time than Russ, who will eventually be paying for the meat of the dog that bit him.

Russ learned early. Too many of us learned late. Bureaucracy has overgrown the system that perpetuated it. The tail is now wagging the dog. The solution: Cut off the tail!

July 8, 1971
To Ord Chamber of Commerce.
Thanks so much for the tremendous welcome given the members of the 8th Annual Nebraskaland Tour on our recent visit to Ord on June 23, 1971.

As you know, your own Dr. Glen Able has been a very active member of the Board of Directors of the Nebraskaland Foundation for a long time. I am sure he was very proud of his home town and the hospitality shown to us. All of us were very disappointed when we were not permitted to visit Ft. Hartwig because of the road construction.

I hope to be able to include a visit to the Fort on next year's tour.

The band that entertained us, the chamber members and their ladies, the guides and the visit to your new elementary school all helped to make the Ord stop one to be long remembered.

Cordially yours,
Charles F. Chace, Secretary
Nebraskaland Foundation Inc.,
& Executive Director,
Nebraska Petroleum Council

Dear Editor,
Please ask through the ORD QUIZ why Ord did not have their own band in the parade? So many from out of town asked us if Ord does not have their own high school band.

We appreciate Wood River coming as it would have been a dull parade without a band.

Sincerely,

DAVE MARTIN Reports

AGRICULTURE

Without much fanfare, the Nixon Administration has been working to upgrade U.S. farming — and to feed the Nation's hungry and the hungry of the world through increased exports of farm products.

The results are beginning to show up in steady gains. Farmers still are not up to the rest of the economy in returns for their time and money invested. But the picture is improving.

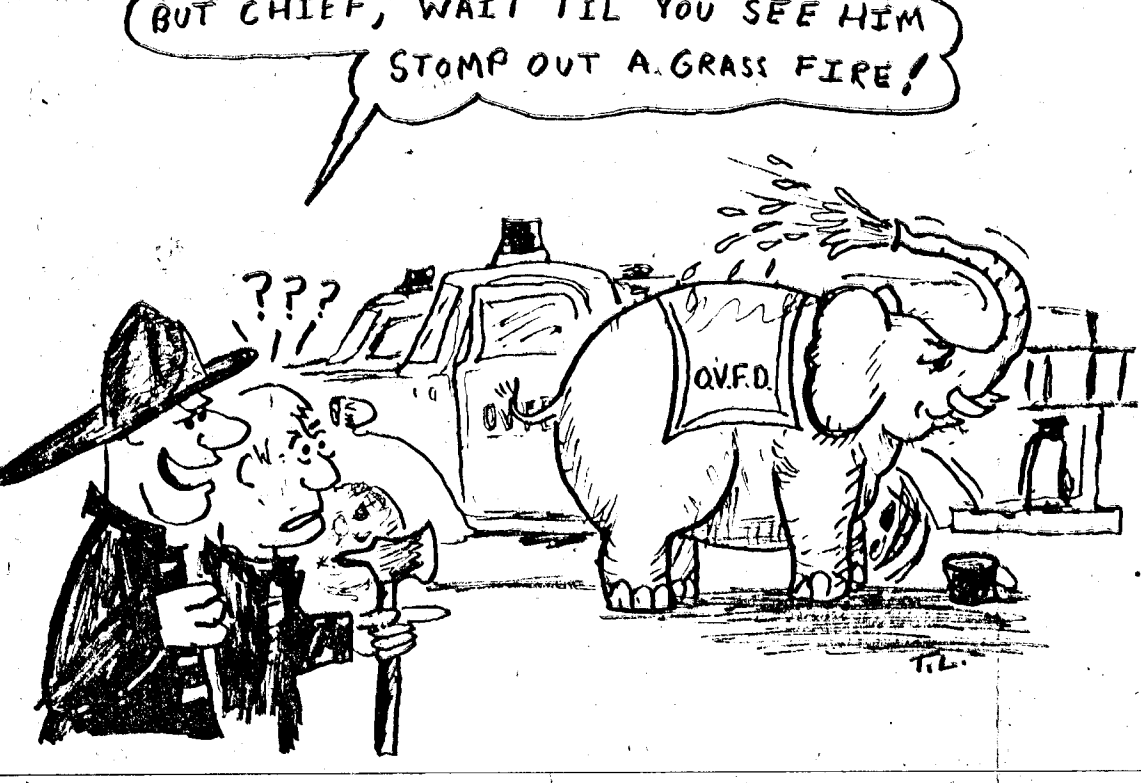

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butte, in his second annual report to the President, outlined what is being done, and compares today's farm situation with the past.

The average person on a U.S. farm had 78.2 percent as much personal income after taxes as the average non-farm person last year. This is up from 74.5 percent in 1968. Farm exports are leading the way to higher income, with $7.2 billion last year and an estimated $7.5 billion this year — up from $7.1 billion in 1969.

Feeding the hungry has been pushed by the Administration, contrary to reports being circulated by some to downgrade the program. In 1969, there were 6.9 million needy persons getting Agriculture Department food. Today there are 13.2 million, nearly double the total of two years ago. Participants in the food-stamp program have more than tripled, rising from two million in January 1969 to ten million today. Needy families now receive $106 worth of food stamp coupons a month — up 83 percent from 2 years ago.

In rural development, Hardin notes that 1970 was the first billion-dollar year of loans for rural housing, with 94,000 families of low and moderate income participating. This is nearly double the 1969 level of 55,344 million. There are now 18 categories of rural development programs being carried out by the Department of Agriculture.

Hardin sums up his report: "Agriculture today has a new direction, and I believe a new vitality. Our agriculture is a tremendous tool of abundance, even of overabundance. And this is a rather new thing in the world. Down the long ages of history the paramount question of the man society has been how to produce enough. The question asked today is different. It is whether we possess the conviction and stamina to commit ourselves to the wise use of abundance."

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Water and ADC Spark Plenty Of Controversy in Nebraska

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

Ranking alongside Cornhusker football as a topic sure to spark discussion anywhere in Nebraska is water.

Therefore, a lot of testimony is expected Aug. 26 when a legislative study committee holds a public hearing on the subject at the Statehouse.

Witnesses will be restricted, according to committee chairman Maurice Kremer, Aurora, to a discussion of the framework study prepared by the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission as the first step in the preparation of a state water plan.

But that study covers 268 pages and contains plenty of fodder for hearing testimony.

Another interim study committee has scheduled public hearings on another hot topic — taxes. The group headed by Sen. J. W. Burchard, Creton, will solicit citizen testimony at hearings in Alliance Sept. 13, North Platte Sept. 14 and Grand Island Sept. 15.

The Burchard committee will be accepting comments on equalization of property values among counties, the handling of personal property taxes, the possibility of repealing intangible taxes and the structure of the sales and income taxes — especially the corporation income tax.

At a recent meeting in Lincoln, Burchard raised the possibility of intangible taxes. It is unfair, he said, to tax bank accounts and stock holdings, but he said it's also unfair to tax such personal property as business and farm equipment and inventories.

"We must continue the unfairness of the present property tax and keep the state in this position or condition," Burchard said, "then we'd just as well put everything in reverse and move backwards by considering the intangibles (which was abolished in 1967)."

Burchard was the sponsor of the personal property tax exemption bills which passed the 1971 Legislature, but couldn't get past the vetoes of Gov. J. R. Exon. Exon's tax and revenue committee after the lawmakers had adjourned so it was shelved from a possible override attempt.

Exon Takes Tough Stance

Another running battle between Exon and senators during the 1971 session concerned prorating of standards for aid to dependent children (ADC) payments.

The legislators maintained the state should make full payments but Exon was given enough money to do so. The governor, on the other hand, said welfare expenditures were climbing too fast and by prorating the standards he could make the money go farther.

He scheduled prorating to start Aug. 1 and a storm of criticism — including an announcement by attorneys for the Omaha and Lincoln legal aid services and the Nebraska Catholic Conference that they would seek a court injunction, his arguments.

Exon, in a speech at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Wahoo, the governor lashed out at what he called "irresponsible and misleading" criticism of his plans.

He defended his budget proposals called for a $27 million increase for welfare programs. That, Exon said, was the largest increase in the history of welfare appropriations in Nebraska.

"No other state responsibility receives such a fantastic increase in total tax funds," he said.

But Exon said that increase was enough. "Under this administration, there is a recognition of the legitimate needs, but there is not and will not be the writing of blank checks or IOUs for any causes real or imagined. I categorically reject deficit financing as practiced in the past and the suggestion of a special session to spend more money on welfare," he said.

The governor called the increase in recent years of the welfare load "unbelievable."

This fantastic growth has continued in the midst of economic boom as well as the recent slowdown in the nation's economy," he said. "This suggests that the welfare system has somehow evolved into something quite more than a means of sustaining the destitute and aiding the unlucky over bad times. The destitute and the unlucky simply cannot be increasing that rapidly and consistently."

The question inevitably arises: How did all those people get along the year before? How can there be 6,200 families in Nebraska (24,800 adults and children) who made it on their own in 1967, but in 1971 have no alternative but welfare?

Exon said the answer seems to be the growth of a "nonworking or part-time working class, and this can scarcely be a happy

The Scott Column

A Report From Washington

By Paul Scott

The prospects now are for two separate, wide-ranging Senate inquiries into those stolen Pentagon papers on the Vietnam war rather than one.

The investigations also will be as different as night and day.

In addition to the inquiry already planned by Senator J. William Fulbright, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R. Me.) is demanding that the Senate Armed Service Committee, on which she is the ranking Republican, exert its jurisdictional authority and conduct its own investigation.

The vigorous protest by the on-ly woman member of the Senate has caused Senate Democratic and Republican leaders to sidetrack their announced plans for members of the two committees to hold a joint inquiry.

The leadership's action came after Mrs. Smith made it clear that she and several of her colleagues wanted nothing to do with any joint investigation headed by Senator Fulbright, the leading dove in the Senate.

The joint inquiry proposal with Fulbright as the chairman was put forward by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D. Mont.) and Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott (R. Pa.), both members of Fulbright's Foreign Relations Committee.

Although unable to block Senator Fulbright from making his own inquiry, Mrs. Smith through her vigorous protest not only sidetracked a joint inquiry under Fulbright but virtually assured Foreign Relations Committee jurisdiction.

Rather than tangle publicly with Mrs. Smith, Senator John Stennis (D. Miss.), who as Chairman of the Senate Armed Service Committee must agree to the combined inquiry, has decided to withhold his approval for the two-committee probe under Fulbright.

Senator Smith made her position against a Fulbright controlled investigation known to Senator Stennis in a strongly worded letter, stating:

"The proposed Senatorial inquiry into the Pentagon Papers affair raises some very serious questions. I could not agree to a combined inquiry by a joint committee of members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Service Committees under the exclusive chairmanship of Chairman (Fulbright) of the Foreign Relations Committee."

"This is obviously a matter under the jurisdiction of the Armed Service Committee for the Papers were prepared at the direction of the then Secretary of Defense and by persons in the Department of Defense — and not at the direction of Secretary of State as to the bottom of why the Pentagon Papers were prepared."

Digging Out Truth — In urging the Senate Armed Service Committee to conduct its own inquiry, Senator Smith stressed that the first objective should be to get to the bottom of why the secret Pentagon Papers were compiled and the background of their authors. She put it this way:

"Because the press will be reporting on the Pentagon Papers in such a manner as to give the impression that the papers are omen for society."

Greater federal participation in providing welfare money is needed, the governor said, along with a better job in seeing that fathers support their children. "Often times," he said, "we seem to be encouraging fathers to allow others to assume their rightful responsibilities of supporting their families."

Exon himself compared the Wahoo speech with one he had made in March at Columbus. The Columbus speech was aimed at critics of the Exon recommendations for the University of Nebraska budget.

In both speeches, the governor hit hard at his critics.

"I am again asking the people for their support with the full realization that what is said here will again open the doors for a crescendo of abuse . . . No one is going to dictate the policies of this administration — pressure groups notwithstanding — while Jim Exon is governor of this state," he said.

a resume of facts, as distinguished from opinion, and give the aura of a Bible of gospel truth — but because that is not the case, but rather the Pentagon Papers involve a great deal of personal interpretation and opinion as distinguished from facts. I believe a natural and positive initial objective would be to determine (1) who ordered the study and why; (2) who wrote each portion of the papers, why and under what instructions; and (3) a clear delineation between fact and interpretative opinion in each of the segments of the study."

It is Senator Smith's contention that "unless and until this sort of study is made, a meaningful evaluation of the Pentagon papers cannot possibly be made. The objective of Mrs. Smith's probe is far different than that planned by Senator Fulbright. Mrs. Smith's inquiry will require the calling of former Defense Secretary Robert McNamara as the main witness.

Since becoming President of the World Bank after leaving the Johnson Administration, McNamara has flatly refused to testify before Congressional Committees unless the hearings dealt exclusively with his new assignment.

In her letter to Senator Stennis, Mrs. Smith also expressed concern that a witch hunt might develop under Senator Fulbright's inquiry, stating:

"The temptations and pressures to look for the witches and to nominate the scapegoats are overwhelming. There is already a good possibility that the writers of the Pentagon Papers in their own opinionated interpretations, have engaged in a search for witches and scapegoats. They are entitled to no more immunity than are the persons whom they have written. In fact, the American public has as much a right to know fully about them as about the people about whom they have written."

Senator Stennis is carefully studying Mrs. Smith's letter and plans to act on it after he discusses it fully with other members of the Armed Service Committee. Already, Stennis has learned that a majority of committee members favor a separate inquiry.

The Fulbright Move — In a determined effort to control the Senate probe of the stolen Pentagon Papers, Senator Fulbright moved swiftly last week to obtain $100,000 from the Senate for his Foreign Relations Committee to conduct "an inquiry into the making of policy relating to U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia."

The authorization was slipped through the Senate on a voice vote with only a few Senators on the floor. While it didn't block the Armed Service Committee from conducting its own inquiry, it gave Fulbright a head start.

The Senate authorization contained a little related provision for the Foreign Relations Committee to look into "institutional arrangements within Congress for handling foreign policy matters involving national security." Since this involves the jurisdiction of the Armed Service Committee, a public confrontation between Senators Smith and Fulbright is now assured.

KERRY ON

By Kerry Leggett

This newspaper has always hoped that readers would write in to our "Vox Pop" column, whether expressing satisfaction or dissatisfaction over any issue. Though we're not always in agreement, we will publish any and all letters if they're not of a libelous nature. We ask only that you SIGN your name. If you wish that your letters be withheld, we'll certainly try to do this.

The fact remains that we're responsible for everything we print. Therefore we MUST KNOW the writer — for our own protection.

Many such letters — intended for print — go in the wastebasket because they are unsigned. Often these letters contain provocative thoughts and express opinions that deserve to be brought to the public's attention. The letter-writer's name will not go beyond the editor's desk, if you request it.

This week one letter did NOT get into print because it wasn't signed. Another did bear a signature, asking that the name not be used. We're appreciative of the letter that wonders why the Ord High School Band did not march in the Jaycee Parade. This is a question we pondered and heard others along the parade route asking the same thing. There undoubtedly is an answer and we hope it's provided so we can enlighten those wondering the same thing — hoping, also, that this will be considered in the future.

While not relative to "Letters to the Editor," we think it fair to bring out a topic listed for the agenda of Monday night's meeting of Ord's Board of Education. This is being written prior to the board meeting, so we won't know the outcome until later.

We did not see on the agenda school board topics furnished us — that one item related to the Community Action Program possibly providing breakfast for students being bussed to school.

Since it's inception, we've felt the basic Community Action Program has been little more than another agency designed by the federal government to find needs. How many thousands of dollars have poured through the Central Nebraska Community Action Program offices in Loup County — with little or no benefit to the people — is difficult to imagine. We've often thought of investigating the office, but don't know where to begin!

The office was "strategically" located at Loup City. AFTER original director, George Haynes, visited us to find out our sentiments. We strongly suspect there was good reason for not locating the office in Ord.

A very small percentage of the CAP undertakings have been beneficial, though we in fact doubt that the costs could be equally equated to the values. As we see it, the greatest benefit has been to those employed by the agency. If this isn't a welfare program, we know several whom have fared very well from it.

Now this agency is evidently proposing a school breakfast program! The hot-lunch program isn't enough? If this were a ghetto area, we might think otherwise. But we've yet to see any starving children in this area. In fact, many of these high school youth, who have a hot-lunch provided for them at below cost, actually snub the well-balanced diet and head for the Ord grocery stores and commercial lunch counters. Usually their lunch consists of things we once considered a luxury — not a necessity.

We find it hard to believe that Ord needs a school breakfast program, subsidized by tax dollars. Undoubtedly there are children who need a good breakfast. We doubt that the Community Action Program can shove it down their throats when most parents would fix a breakfast at home if the youth would eat it.

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago
Dorothy Hulinsky was one of 32 students graduating from St. Elizabeth School of Nursing in Lincoln.

Ord Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office was soon to have new and larger quarters in the 165 ft. by 44 ft. building just north of the Ord Hotel.

Elvira was able with construction when a series of houses were being remodeled. Among these was the addition to the govern by Mrs. Mildred Rasmussen.

Funeral rites were held for Tony Koskela at the Presbyterian Church in Ord.

Walter and Virginia had their own catering service here for many years and the new cook for Nebraska's Governor Frank Morrison and Mrs. Morrison.

Twenty Years Ago
Leland Wright was the first east lawyer in Valley County and opened offices above the Nebraska State Bank building.

Pitching for Scott against Greeley, Dick Beran of Ord let Greeley down with only 3 hits to help Scott win the game.

Paul DeWitt, formerly of Arcadia, was the newest member of Ord's business family. His Dean Tractor and Equipment Co., housed in the LeMaster building, was equipped to handle Ford tractors and Dearborn farm equipment.

Eighty-four individuals entered flowers in the North Loup flower show held at the Community Hall. There were 333 exhibits of flowers and seven clubs entered special displays.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lane announced the engagement of their daughter Carole to Richard Weitlawitz.

Thirty Years Ago
Donna Beth Bell, granddaughter of John Bell of Mira Valley, was awarded the title "Miss Sterling" at a beauty pageant held at Sterling, Colo., where she lived.

Carl Kotze was the new manager of the Food Center store in Ord, coming here from Loup County where he had been store manager eight years.

Allen Zirkmund was heard on KMMJ Radio, interviewed on the subject "Farm Boys in Athletics."

Women stormed Ord stores and bought up a large portion of the silk hosiery in stock. The rush to buy silk hosiery was caused by the government's "freezing" all raw silk supplies and the announcement of prospective rationing of silk hosiery in the future.

A large delegation from Grand Island ate lunch in Ord restaurant on the week en route to Big Bend for the rodeo. The group travelled in air conditioned buses and some passenger automobiles.

Ruralville's majorities — in new Ord and Grand Island — were their first appearance at a peppy rally boosting Nebraska's Big Rodeo. They were Dorthea Loeffler, Caroline McMillen, Pauline Ray, Louella Livermore, Bonnie Meyer, Marcella Steffand and Wanda Carpenter.

Forty Years Ago
"Rollie Dye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dye and Fern Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilson were married in Ord. Their attendants were Eleanor Dye and Kenneth Wilson.

A warning was out that automobile laws in Valley county would be strictly enforced. The stop sign law, the law that relates to overloading the front seat and the running board law were particularly stressed.

W. F. Williams, owner of the P.C.T. stage lines, announced curtailment of his bus service effective at once. His early morning bus was now to remain in Grand Island until evening, reaching Ord about midnight and the second bus was to be removed from the run.

Beginning this year pheasants were to be one of the most profitable crops raised by Valley County farmers. The wild birds were to have a cash value as much as chickens.

County Judge

NOTICE TO CREDITORS
J. Marvin Weems and Max Mankin, Attorneys at Law
COUNTY COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA.
ESTATE OF HERMAN NASS, DECEASED.
THE STATE OF NEBRASKA, TO ALL CONCERNED:
Notice is hereby given that all claims against said estate must be filed on or before the 16th day of November, 1971, or be forever barred, and that a hearing on claims will be held in this court on November 17, 1971, at 10:00 o'clock, A.M.
Date July 28th, 1971.
ROLLIN R. DYE

County Supervisors
July 28, 1971
The Valley County Board of Supervisors met at 8:30 A.M. with all members present except Knapp.
Discussion followed with Robert Severson, Weems and Mankin on budget items and jail plans and with Tom McFadden on road plans.
It was agreed to have Glenn Stipp prepare bid letters for jail construction for the latter part of September. It was also agreed to cut down on the amount of oiling planned.
At 10:30 A.M. an advertised budget hearing was held for the purpose of hearing support, opposition, criticism, suggestions or observations of taxpayers relating to the proposed budget and to consider amendments relative thereto. No one appeared for the hearing so Burson moved to approve the budget as presented and have the levies adjusted accordingly with the valuation. This was seconded by Duane Carson and all members answered "yes" to roll call.

Carson Rogers asked to be excused and appointed Burson as acting chairman for the remainder of the meeting.
A road closing hearing previously advertised for 11:00 A.M. was then held. Emma Smith, Lorens Hornickel and Frieda Hornickel were interested persons in attendance. After much discussion and deliberation Bursey moved that road #1 be closed subject to the completion of Highway #22 and that road #2 be closed immediately. This was seconded by Collins and the four supervisors present all voted affirmatively to roll call. It is therefore resolved that said roadways be and the same hereby are vacated as stated in the motion and that title to the right of way so vacated shall revert to the adjacent owners.
The board adjourned at 11:20 A.M. to meet again August 3 at 10:00 A.M.

Berenice Cornell Shares Day With Young Prayer Partner

By Emma Zablouidil
A Saturday afternoon and evening guest of Berenice Cornell was Pamela Meese. Pamela and Berenice are prayer partners in the Girls' Missionary Guild and Women's Mission Society of the Bethel Baptist Church. Supper was served at Flossie Clark's outdoor table. Additional guests were Edna Hackett, Elsie Rathbun and Tillie Massey. Flossie Clark and Elsie Rathbun are great - great aunts to Pamela being infants of Pamela's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ellis Carson. Edna, another distant relative, is a cousin of Pamela's paternal grandmother, Mrs. John Meese. The occasion was in honor of Pamela's 10th birthday which is August 2. It was a pleasant time for both the elderly ladies and the 10-year-old lady. Most certain to be a cherished event in their Book of Memories.

Mrs. Norma Knapp visited Sunday afternoon and evening with her mother, Mary Jorgensen. They called on Will Jorgensen and Caroline of Minden at Mena Jorgensen's home.
Berenice Cornell was a Sunday dinner and supper guest of Bertha Knudson. During the afternoon they called on Mrs. Fred Shores.
Tillie Massey and Mary Jorgensen were evening callers, Sunday, of Mrs. Harry Wolfe.
Mrs. Rose Marie McKeever and children of Omaha are enjoying their week's vacation in Ord, having arrived Monday for a stay with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janulewicz. Mrs. McKeever is the Janulewicz's daughter.

Mary Jorgensen and her house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Jensen of Lakeland, Fla., called on Mrs. Clara Lange, Tuesday. The same evening, Mary and the Jensens and Tillie Massey played cards with Steffie Zebert.
Mary Jorgensen and Mr. and Mrs. Nels Jensen went to Farwell Wednesday to visit the Jensens' relatives. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vergin were their guests at Mary's. Thursday morning Mary and the Jensens called on Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Novak and family Thursday and in the afternoon they called on Bertha Knudson. Mr. and Mrs. Nels Jensen left Friday morning returning to Lakeland, Fla., via a Minnesota route.
Bingo was played at the Recreation Center Wednesday, with 23 present. Bingo will be played again at Parkview on July 25.
Berenice Cornell attended Bible study at the Allen Dunbar home Wednesday afternoon. On Thursday Berenice called on Mrs. Lewis Trebus and Danny and Friday she visited Mrs. Howard Paulson and Mrs. Heuser.
Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Jorgensen and family of Papillion were Friday evening visitors of the mother, Mary Jorgensen. The Jorgensens returned to their home Saturday.
Eva Robertson returned from Sargent Friday after spending several days with Mrs. Claude Smith.
Dennis Zablouidil of Grand Island spent several days with his mother, Emma Zablouidil, after returning from a vacation trip in Colorado with Les Freeman of Lincoln.

George Cetak stayed with her grandmother, every Cetak from Friday until Sunday evening while her parents, the George Cetak were on a fishing trip.
Mrs. Emma Bridge of North Loup, Mrs. Mabel Abrahamson of San Jose, Calif., and Mena Jorgensen were Friday dinner guests of Mavis Klinger. In the afternoon Marie Jorgensen and Mary Jorgensen and her granddaughter joined the group for coffee.
Mrs. Bertha Alexander of Grand Island was a weekend guest of Eva Robertson and of Juanita Christian.
Evening guests Saturday of Mena Jorgensen were Eva Robertson and her house guest, Mrs. Mabel Alexander of Grand Island, Elsie Rathbun, Juanita Christian, Flossie Clark and Mavis Klinger.
Mrs. Katie Smith brought Will Jorgensen and Caroline of Minden to Ord Sunday to be guests of Mena Jorgensen for a few days.
Enjoying an outdoor supper Sunday in Flossie Clark's yard were Eva Robertson, Mrs. Bertha Alexander of Grand Island, Mavis Klinger, Juanita Christian, Elsie Rathbun, and Mena Jorgensen, Will Jorgensen and Caroline of Minden, and Flossie Clark.

Juanita Christian received a telephone call from her daughter, Mrs. Victor Levine saying she had travelled to New York City to meet her husband, Dr. Victor Levine who had returned from Africa. After visiting in the city about two weeks, the Levines returned to their home in St. Louis, Mo.
Eva Robertson, Mena Jorgensen, Will Jorgensen and Caroline of Minden went to Burwell Monday to visit Will Worm and Donna Jorgensen.
Mrs. Donald Naeve was a lunch guest Thursday of her mother, Lydia Fortin.
Mena Swanson was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nelson.
Recent visitors of Ona Nelson were Mrs. George Burson and her sister, Mrs. Joe Svoboda of Ellsworth, Kan.
Mrs. Thead Nelson and Betty and Mrs. Roger Sohrwied of Kearney called Friday afternoon at Ona Nelson's home, Mike Nelson of Lincoln was a Saturday caller.
Mrs. Rolland Davis of North Loup took Mr. and Mrs. George Polinoski to Omaha Wednesday, where George had a checkup with his doctor. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Polinoski of Omaha and family brought them home Saturday evening and returned home the next day. Morning call, Monday, at the George Polinoski home were Sally Cetak and Bob Peterson.
Marguerite West accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Eric Erikson to Comstock Sunday, where she attended the picnic of the Southside Birthday Club, held at the Community Hall.
Religious services were held at the Recreation Center Thursday afternoon with Rev. Paul Stohmann, Jr. A guest, Mrs. Will Schudel was pianist. Rev. Stohmann talked about Heart Conditions - Physical and Spiritual.
Among those attending the Valley County Fair parade Tuesday evening from Parkview were Juanita Christian taking Mrs. Margaret Stewart; Hope Dummond and Edith Jones going with Mrs. Alice Blessing; Mae Dockhorn going with Russell Dockhorn and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janulewicz.

Sunday dinner guests of Gladys Walker were Mrs. Bernice Porter, Wally, Karen and Ardyth.

He's Troy Marvin
Mr. and Mrs. Ron Watson of Ericson are the parents of a son born July 31 at the Burwell hospital. The little lad weighed in at 7 lbs., 1 1/2 oz., and has been named Troy Marvin. He joins a sister, Ranotta, age 2 years.

THE VALLEY COUNTY FAIR

The Fun, Thrills and Spills

QUIZ STAFF PHOTOS BY RON BALDWIN AND LYNN GRIFFITH

FAIR MEANS MANY THINGS — The Valley County Fair means a variety of things to people. For the Wood River Marching Band it was being the ONLY band in the parade, and a good band it was.

QUEEN CHRIS — For lovely Chris Ferguson, NU Rodeo Queen, it was returning to the "old home town" to lead the Fair Parade.

SOME ARE SMART — These three children never did "play along" with this game man, however he had them interested at this point. The Teddy Bears and dolls in the background just weren't enough of an enticement to make them part with their money.

SHARING COTTON CANDY — Cotton Candy and County Fairs belong together and if you don't have any yourself, well, what are friends for?

COIN TOSS — A nickel might win a prize glass or an ash tray. You may spend $3 to win a 75 cent prize, but that's part of the fun.

DADDY'S HELP — This little girl needed daddy to help tame this bronc.

NOT SO LUCKY — This bronco buster got busted but he picked himself right up again. Not even dad could have helped tame this one.

CRASH — This boy crashed and had little choice about it. Several youth took spills during the Jaycee Rodeo but none appeared the worse for wear.

STILL RIDING — This guy wasn't about to get bucked and might still be riding if Judges hadn't had a time limit and stopped the affair.

THEY LOVED IT — From calf roping to bronc busting, those in the stands enjoyed every minute of it.

I CAN'T LOOK, WHAT DID I GET? — This question was asked by many 4-H Exhibitors. This young couple enjoyed browsing through the exhibition area looking at all the projects.

LONE RIDER — This little guy decided to go it alone while mom and dad watched from the grandstand.

HOMEWARD! — All good things must come to an end — and so did the Valley County Fair. Some walked home, some drove cars home, and some, well, they had to get this rig home somehow didn't they?

ALMOST, NOT QUITE — For this young lady, the Valley County Fair was trying to make a basket and win a prize. After missing this shot, she declared the Quiz's roving camera teased her to "blow it" and we decided it was time to move on in a hurry.

REST STOP — For many, many years, Carson's IGA has been providing Valley County Fair patrons with hot dogs, chili burgers, hamburgers and Cokes. There's no doubt about it — everyone will be looking for them again next year.

Blaha Dental Clinic to Open Monday; Charles E. Blaha Returns to Hometown

By Ron Baldwin, Editor
The Blaha Dental Clinic will be open Monday according to Dr. Charles E. Blaha, owner of the clinic. For the past several weeks appointments have been taken and according to Blaha, approximately 2 weeks of appointments have been lined up. Assisting Dr. Blaha will be Vikie Mues, certified dental assistant. Miss Mues is originally from Taylor.

DR. CHARLES E. BLAHA

Blaha completely designed the clinic himself. He said he looked at "several thousand" clinic plans before selecting highlights from several clinics he liked and incorporating them into his new clinic.

The building will be centered around a laboratory and will feature, among other things, a patient education center. This will consist of a large mirror, counter and stools where the dentist can show the patient what he is doing and can also give instruction on proper oral care. Ballou Construction was in charge of the construction of the wood and brick building. The clinic will have two offices for dentists, a large laboratory, five treatment rooms, reception room and a full basement. It will also be fully carpeted.

Blaha is originally from Ord, graduating from Ord High School in 1936. He and his brother, Don, operated an implement business in Ord from 1938 until 1962.

Immediately after graduation Blaha attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln where he played football for one season. A back injury curtailed any chance he had of playing varsity football for NU. He returned home to help farm before entering the imple-

"I suppose I was partly influenced to come to Ord because I was from here, but not entirely," said Blaha. "We looked at several communities and felt Ord just offered more than most town of similar size. I love to fish and hunt and the Ord vicinity has plenty of recreational opportunities for such activities. They also have fine golf courses which is another one of my hobbies. We also enjoy entertainment facilities such as the Elk's Club and Veterans Club. All in all, I would say Ord just had what we were looking for and the type of environment where we wanted to raise our children."

Blaha said at the present time his clinic will be staffed by only one dentist; however he is hopeful a second dentist can be brought in in the near future. He also noted the other dentists in town have been tremendously helpful to him by letting him use some of their equipment and facilities until his own clinic is fully equipped. Blaha indicated most of his equipment should be installed by the time this story hits the press.

Blaha invites interested parties to stop by and visit his new facilities located just west of the Ord Public Library.

Improvements At Ord Cheese Co.

According to a report submitted by Clearfield Cheese Co., Inc., Clinton, Mo., cheese from the Ord Cheese Co. has greatly improved since the last inspection. The report in part reads, "I am enclosing our grading and testing report on your local load of cheese received by us on July 30, 1971."

"I am glad to see the improvement in your cheese as compared to the load received on July 15, 1971. I am also enclosing the tests and grades on the load of July 15 so you can compare them. Your cheese sediment tests are running very good also, now. Keep up the good work and I hope to see you soon."

The report is signed by Lonnie Banning of the Clearfield Cheese Co. The State Department also has noted more sanitary conditions at the plant.

Considerable time and effort has gone into making such a report possible. The old Cheese Factory has been cleaned from "top to bottom," according to Ord Cheese Co. officials. Instrumental in the effort has been the Ord Jaycees and several volunteers from the community who have come in to lend a hand with the painting and cleaning operations.

At a board meeting Tuesday, the board of directors of the Ord Cheese Co. decided to explore the possibility of either remodeling the present facility or to build on another site. A decision will be made in the near future as to which course will be taken.

Eight Teachers New Here, Classes Begin August 26

Delia Aherns Hollister

JOHN PEHACEK

STEPHEN S. KING

A total of eight new faculty members will greet Ord students when classes resume at the elementary through high school levels on August 26. Prior to that time, new teachers will join returning faculty members for an all day workshop on August 23.

Ord Superintendent of Schools, Dr. William Gogan, said the turnover in the school system was comparatively low this year and the school will employ the exact number of faculty as was employed during the last school year.

New teachers to the system include: John Pehacek, originally from Hooper and a June graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Pehacek will teach Junior and Senior High Science and Vocational Agriculture. He did his student teaching at Fullerton and is single.

Rodney Adams, Springfield, a recent graduate of Kearney State College. Adams was on the Antelope swimming team and placed in the top ten for three years in competition in NAIA National Small College Swimming competition. At Ord, he will teach Junior and Senior High Art and will coach 7th and 8th grade football. He still has a keen interest in swimming and, according to Dr. Gogan, wishes Ord had a swimming team he could coach.

Gail Rohde, a native of Ramona. She is a graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and will instruct senior high English and help sponsor the Ordettes.

Stephen S. King, Gibbon. King is married but the couple has no children. He will teach Junior and Senior High English. He graduated from Kearney State College in January and this will be his first full time teaching position.

Delia Aherns Hollister has one and one half years teaching experience in the Omaha public school system. She is a native of Iowa City, Iowa, and a graduate of Missouri University at St. Louis. She will teach fourth grade.

Donna Hockamir, a native of Clarkson. She is also a graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and is going to teach second grade. This will be her first teaching assignment.

Alvin Foote, who attended Trinity, Illinois. College and Kearney State. He will teach instrumental music and varsity chorus. He taught at Sumner for two years and will obtain his degree from Kearney State College sometime during the current school year.

Mrs. Mary Ann Stewart, a familiar face to many Ord students. She has taught in the Ord system as a substitute teacher for many years and next year will teach home economics on a "full-time part-time" basis.

Dr. Gogan also said those students planning on attending the Ord School system in the 7th through 8th grade who have NOT pre-registered should do so in Mr. Buoy's office at the high school from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Friday, August 20. Grade school students should register at the elementary school on the same date and time.

Comstock students may register during first day of classes on August 28 at the school.

Teachers returning to the Ord school system include: Ord Elementary — Rachel Weiman, First Grade; Doris Mrsny, First Grade; Deloris Gibb, Second Grade; Irene Sanders, Third Grade; Dorothy Landon, Third Grade; Maxine Galley, Fourth Grade; Charlene Lola, Fifth Grade; Elena Armstrong, Fifth Grade; John Hyde, Sixth Grade; Ann Pocock, Sixth Grade; Crystal Brockman, Elementary Reading; Alice White, Elementary Reading.

Comstock, Elementary — Beulah Drake, K through Second Grade; Dorothy Riddle, Third and Fourth Grades; Barbara Leska, Fifth and Sixth Grades.

Ord Junior-Senior High — Mr. Amosson, Agriculture; Mr. Bosworth, Audio Visual; Mr. Gudley, Physical Education and Business; Mr. Curtwright, Science; Mrs. Erickson, Junior High Music, Elementary Music; Mrs. Garnick, Home Economics; Mrs. Geweke, Journalism and Speech; Mr. Goodenough, Physical Science; Mr. Hersh, History; Mr. Huebner, Mathematics and Science; Mr. Koelling, Industrial Arts; Mr. Krenke, Mathematics and Science; Mr. Nekuda, English; Mrs. Paulson, Business; Mrs. Schwengel, French, English and Spanish; Mr. Squier, Government; Mrs. Tolen, Library; Mr. Trubey, Social Studies; Miss Weber, Elementary through High School Physical Education; Mr. Williams, Mathematics.

Elks Crippled Children's Clinic is a Success

A total of eight counties including Valley, Garfield, Knox, Thompson, Hall, Greeley, Custer and Dawes, had participants in the Third Annual Elks Crippled Children's Clinic held Saturday at the Ord Elks Club.

This included a total of 16 "old" patients and eight new patients. While this was somewhat "down" compared to the last clinic, it was still considered a good turnout by Clinic Officials.

The procedure of the clinic is as follows: A parent with a crippled child must first take him to a doctor in his own vicinity. The doctor will examine the child and if he feels the case warrants it, will sign the necessary papers needed to have the child seen by the Crippled Children's Clinic's staff.

The welfare office is also involved. If the clinic decides the child needs special shoes or braces, a prescription for the footwear will be sent to a Lincoln concern that will make the shoes or braces to the prescription's specifications. The Welfare office where the child resides will then pay for them if need be.

Hundreds of Nebraska youngsters have been helped by the program which is not a part in any way of the Easter Seal Campaign. The Clinic is sponsored by the Elks Association and the State Elks Association has spent thousands of dollars over the years to help finance the clinics. Specialists in their fields staff the clinics.

Organizations such as the Does assist in volunteering services, linens, sheets and robes. They also assist in serving the meals.

Papierniks Have Lawn of the Week

This week's Yard of the Week honor goes to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Papiernik. The Papiernik home is located in northwest Ord. Their yard was selected on the basis of general beauty and loveliness.

"A truly well-kept yard" said the spokesman for the Valley County Garden Club, sponsor of the local contest.

St. Mary's School To Open Aug. 31

St. Mary's School in Ord will open its doors to the new school year, 1971-72, on Tuesday, August 31 with an expected enrollment of 138 children.

All of last year's faculty members will return to their respective classrooms. The teachers are Sister Mary Maehline, Grades 1 and 2; Mrs. Fern Waldman, Comstock, Grades 3 and 4; Sister Mary Diane, principal and teacher of Grade 5; Mrs. Ruth Powers, Ord, Grades 6 and 7; Sister Leona, Grade 8, and Mrs. Marie Iwanski who will assume the duties of teachers' aid.

Although assigned to self-contained classrooms, the teachers will be engaged in a considerable amount of team teaching. They will also experiment with individualized instruction in math and reading.

In Nebraska, scents that do not stun, kill, or otherwise harm fish or pollute the water may be used by anglers to treat bait.

Sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chickens perform their courtship rituals on display grounds from late March to early May.

Skippy "Sees" for Blind Woman; Raised by Burson

Alfred Burson of Rural Ord is a proud man, and it might seem that he is somewhat justified in his feelings. His source of pride is Skippy, a beautiful German Shepherd puppy that has "graduated" from a very special school. Skippy recently graduated from a Seeing Eye Training School and is currently owned by Mrs. Iona B. Freeman in a distant state.

Why is Burson so proud of Skippy? Skippy was donated by Orel Koelling along with eight other German Shepherd puppies to the North Loup Lions Club as a project. The group was to raise the puppies in a foster home situation, with several members taking home a puppy and raising it for one year. At the end of the year, the dogs were to be turned over to a seeing eye school if the dog could meet the rigid requirements set for all such animals selected.

Skippy was the only dog in the North Loup litter that was accepted by the Seeing Eye School. "We all had to fill out questionnaires concerning personality traits of the dog at the end of the year," explained Burson. "For instance, they don't want a dog that seems shy or that gets stirred up easy. Skippy was just the kind of dog they wanted for their program."

Burson was quick to add that Skippy was a "normal" pup in (Continued on Page 8)

Fairplay School District Adopts Free Lunch Policy

At a meeting of the School Board of District 26 recently, the board adopted a new policy in regard to serving reduced priced and free lunches and or breakfast to children who are unable to pay the regular price.

This action was necessary as a result of new legislation passed by Congress an amendment to the National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act. Families whose annual income is at or below the levels indicated in the chart are urged to request their school officials to provide lunches or breakfast to their children at a reduced price or free.

Families whose income are above these levels, but who have other unusual circumstances that would justify a need for reduced price or free meals, may also request them. Circumstances that would be considered justification for such include sickness or death in the family, temporary disability, or seasonal unemployment of the wage earner.

Forms for requesting such meals have been sent to all parents. If additional forms are needed the person may contact the Board Secretary and request they be sent to him.

If the school desires the original application it guarantees the parents of their rights to appeal that decision. In such a case, a hearing will be scheduled before a school official who did not participate in the original decision. The family is assured of its rights to counsel by an attorney or other representative, to examine prior to and during the

Ona Nelson Benefits From Bloodmobile

One Nelson, who is 83 years old and lives alone at Parkview Village, has only good things to say about the bloodmobile visits to Ord. In March she became ill and was taken to the Valley County Hospital where she remained for three weeks and received 10 pints of Red Cross blood. Since then, she has had to return to the hospital at different times and has received four pints of blood each time and so far she has received 32 pints of Red Cross blood.

Miss Nelson is remembered as a school teacher having taught in Garfield and Valley County for 15 years. She gave up teaching when her brother's wife was killed in a buggy accident in 1923. She then went to live with her brother and helped raise his four small children. Jay was 7 years old, Thead Jr. 5, Clay 4 and Lonnie only 2. Thead Jr. was married in 1940 and the other three boys left for service several years later. Her brother passed away in 1960 and in 1961 Miss Nelson moved to Ord and for the past 6 years she has enjoyed living at Parkview Village.

A total of 110 pints of blood are needed to meet the quota when the bloodmobile will be in Ord on Tuesday, August 24, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 65 can donate. Those between the ages of 18 and 20 must have the written consent of a parent or guardian. New donors are needed.

IRS Exams To Be Given Soon

Those who wish to take the enrollment exams to qualify to practice before the Internal Revenue Service may obtain application forms at the Omaha District Office, Richard P. Vinal, District Director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska, announced today.

Mr. Vinal emphasized that the right to represent clients in tax and other matters before IRS is limited to those who meet the highest standards of technical proficiency and ethical conduct. The examination will be held in the Omaha District Office on September 27 and 28, 1971, for those tax practitioners who are not attorneys or certified public accountants.

Applications, accompanied by a fee of $25 payable to the Internal Revenue Service, should be sent to the Director, Audit Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C. 20224, Attention: CPA-T-SEE, no later than August 31, 1971.

Antler growth is not a reliable means of telling the age of deer. Close examination of the teeth is a more accurate method.

The Omaha Indians were close allies of the Pawnee and fought beside them in battles against the Sioux and Cheyenne.

EIGHT TO NINE THOUSAND — That was the count of dead fish found in Elm Creek on the Edmund Zulkoski farm on July 30. A neighboring farmer was applying Anhydrous Ammonia to his cornfield and it was found he was dissolving the ammonia in the irrigation water. All in all, 7,000 carp, sucker, 300 catfish, 500 Green Sunfish and 800 bass were killed. It is also believed some channel catfish and some Largemouth bass were killed. It is estimated the fish weighed 3500 pounds.

THIS ONE'S GONE — Along with seven to eight thousand others, Edmund Zulkoski displays one of the thousands of dead fish found in a stream on his farm. A farmer using Anhydrous Ammonia in his field has been listed as the cause of the accident.

Former Resident, Edwin Rousek Returns to States After Travels

Editors Note: Joe Rousek, Ord, 88, brought in the following letter from one of his three sons, Edwin.

Edwin Rousek will be remembered by many in this community. He attended Sargent High School, then went to the University of Nebraska where he received his Master's Degree and won a $1,000 scholarship to Cornell University.

For the past twenty years the younger Rousek has been teaching at Fresno State College in California and recently returned from an all expense-paid trip to the Far East. Following is the letter of his travels:

Dear Friends: Last spring I was given a great honor by the Rotary Club of Fresno by being elected President for 1971-72. The Rotary Club of Fresno has 355 members and has the leading professional and business men of Fresno as members. It's traditional for the president to attend the Rotary International Convention which this spring was held in Sydney, Australia. My wife and I were fortunate to be able to join a tour of 24 other couples from the Oakland and San Francisco area to go to Sydney.

We left San Francisco and flew to Los Angeles to pick up more passengers and then flew to Tahiti where we landed at Paapeete. We stayed at the beautiful Tahara Inter-Continental Hotel. We had a tour of the tropical island. It has a lot of palms, banana trees and flowers of all kinds. But no more beautiful than the Hawaiian Islands. The island is owned by France and the natives would rather sit under a palm tree, fish and relax than work. We then flew to Auckland, New Zealand. New Zealand's North Island is one big beautiful rolling small hill pasture. They get 60" of rain in a year and pasture 20 sheep and lambs per acre all year around. We visited the thermal area where there are all sorts of geysers. They use the steam to heat buildings and to run turbines. The trout are beautiful. The streams are full of them. Anything under 12" has to be put back. There are all sorts of jobs available. We then flew to Sydney, Australia. A very beautiful, modern city of three million people. They expected 12,000 Rotarians to come to the Convention but only 17,200 showed up. Things were a little crowded. The harbor is one of the most beautiful in the world.

Australia raises a lot of sheep and cattle. They run the cattle on grass until they are several years old and then slaughter them, bone the carcasses and send the frozen meat over the world. They raise the fine merino wool but the price dropped to 32c a pound the past year from over a $1 a pound several years ago because of too much competition from synthetic. They have all kinds of jobs available. It is a big opportunity for young people. We then flew to Canberra, the federal capital of Australia. This is a very modern, clean city. It was laid out by engineers on a prairie and so has wide straight streets and beautiful landscaping. We then flew to Melbourne a very modern beautiful city. It was rather chilly here. It was May but in the southern hemisphere it was late fall and the trees were all shedding their leaves. This is a city of over a million people.

We then flew back to Sydney then on to Darwin, Australia for a brief stop and then on to Singapore. Singapore is 90 miles north of the Equator and it was real hot and humid. The people here are very industrious and are very close to the days of British rule and World War II days. They showed us where Japan defeated the soldiers of Singapore, the war memorial and where the guns to defend the harbor were placed. The main export from Singapore is rubber. We saw many rubber plantations. We also saw a museum with one of the world's largest jade collections. It was very beautiful. There are tropical flowers and trees everywhere.

The government is very strongly anti Communist and stopped the publication of any pro-Communist news. We then flew on to Bangkok, then Singapore. Rice grows everywhere and the whole countryside seems to be covered with rice and water. A lot of the people live on boats in the rivers. They live there all of their lives. The people are all very clean and industrious. There are many temples in Bangkok. These have gold roofs and have many jewels, ivory and gold inlaid wood inside. It was hot and doubly so because men have to wear coats and ties in many of the temples while the ladies can wear what they want to.

Bangkok exports rice over the entire world. We then flew to Saigon for a brief stop. The war is brought close to home when one sees warplanes of all kinds and munitions of all sorts everywhere. We were here about an hour and were not allowed to leave the airport. We then flew to Hongkong. This is another very beautiful, industrial city. It is a very busy port with ships from everywhere. It is a shoppers paradise as everything is sold without any tax or duty. We saw many junks from Red China. We also went on a tour where we were on a hill and looked into Red China about three miles away, over a river. Eggs and poultry are shipped from Red China into Hongkong as well as many beautiful needlework items.

The city is very beautiful at night. The name "Pearl of the Orient" is very fitting. We then flew to Taiwan for a brief stop.

Brickners Visit Costa Rica; Enjoy Fishing and Hunting

Editor's Note The following letter was received last week by the John Gregorys from Tom and Kathleen Brickner and daughter Jeanette. The Brickners and their adopted Costa Rican daughter are presently visiting Jeanette's family and share many interesting experiences in their letter of July 24 written from Barra del Colorado, Costa Rica. Mr. and Mrs. Brickner are former Ord residents who now reside in Lincoln.

We have been at the Barra three days. Jeanette is staying with her family. We don't actually see much of her. The kids come down twice a day and that's about all. Tom has been fishing for Tappin but at this time of year they are not in and the ocean is too rough to get out on. I went along fishing. We used Guilleman's hand lines to fish for small fish and I caught one. Tom caught several. Yesterday Tom went hunting for wild pig. They didn't see any. Yesterday Tom ran a nail into his foot so he returned from hunting with a very sore foot. We are thankful for tetanus injections. We arrived at the Barra on Wednesday. We spent Tuesday in San Jose looking at Central Market buying fishing gear and chartering a plane to bring us to the Barra. It is very difficult to communicate and it took a large share of the morning to arrange the flight. Jeanette's family was very happy and excited to see her. She looked like an American for about one half day. She had difficulty communicating for a while and still does. When she talks she changes from Spanish to English. She might be talking Spanish and use several English words and vice versa. She is going to school with the kids here. I am going to learn to make fried bread and tortillas. It took me about two or three days to get rested. We had several short nights sleep.

We flew over Formosa and one realize most of it is very hilly and mountainous. The people have built terraces on the hillsides and farm every inch that is available. We then flew to Osaka, Japan. Japan is like one large oriental garden. The countryside, parks and cities are beautifully landscaped. There are very few weeds anywhere. The farms are small about 2 acres in size. Every square inch is farmed. They raise a lot of rice but it is being replaced with wheat. The younger Japanese eat bread instead of rice, although rice is still served at every Japanese meal. The Japanese are very friendly. Two out of three speak fluent English. It is a required subject in their grade schools. They told us they were glad they lost WW II because they got rid of the warlords and now business men run the country. They are probably the most productive and prosperous country in the world. They manufacture very high quality merchandise and ship it everywhere. They have temples and shrines everywhere and it is a beautiful, wonderful place to visit.

We then flew a 747 from Tokyo to San Francisco. We were gone a month and flew over 26,000 miles. It was a very good education for us about an area of the world that has a great influence over the entire world but which was quite strange and new to us. The people everywhere were very ambitious and industrious and unless we all get to work and become more productive, those people will surpass us. The food everywhere although different was very good, in fact outstanding and we would recommend travel to the Orient for anyone.

Kathy Waldmann shared experiences as a FHA member with Homemakers of America organization present members Monday afternoon at the Ord Park for an informal social time.

The night before leaving, no one slept well and the nights in San Jose, our room was on the streets and was very noisy. There was much traffic and people shouting until midnight and again at 3:00 a.m. It is quiet and restful at the Barra and it is to bed with and up with the sun. It has rained every day at the Barra and it is cloudy nearly all day long. The Pacific side of Costa Rica is always cloudy and the Atlantic always cloudy. Much of the town has flooded away since we were here last. The hotel is new. The banks of the river wash away all the time. The school is gone, and they plan to build a new one. So far we haven't been sick with diarrhea but we are all covered with mosquito bites. How are things in the States? How is Anna? Are the grandparenting manging OK with her? We will all be anxious to see her. Today is Saturday and I think the mail plane comes in on Monday. That is if the weather permits so I'd probably better mail this today. Tom, Katie and Jeannette

OES District Meel Slated For Sept. 1

Food Sales Tax Refund Still Possible in State

Did you fail to file for your food sales tax credit or refund by April 15? If so, it is still not too late to do so. You may contact the Nebraska Department of Revenue, Box 4818, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509 and receive a form for your food sales tax credit, according to Dr. Everett Peterson, Extension economist, University of Nebraska - Lincoln. Every Nebraska citizen who has been in the State for six months is eligible for the tax credit of $7 per exemption after filing the form. This includes Nebraskans who did not make enough money to pay state income taxes but still are entitled to the food sales tax credit since this arrangement is used instead of exempting food from the sales tax, Peterson emphasizes.

Taxpayers should file claims for refunds on or before April 15. But if you did not file a state income tax return, you should request Form 1040N from the Nebraska Department of Revenue and file a state income tax return. If you failed to file for your food sales tax credit or refund in past years, you are still entitled to that credit. Just contact the Nebraska Department of Revenue at the above address and inform them of your situation.

How much credit or refund will you receive? This depends upon the number of exemptions you can claim. Exemptions include yourself, spouse and dependents. Generally, a dependent is anyone for whom you provide over half of their support. May the dependent's food sales tax credit be claimed by both the parent and a child who earned enough to file a return? Definitely not! The food sales tax credit of $7 is supposed to cover the tax paid on the dependent's year. Therefore, each individual is entitled to only one credit or refund per year. May an elderly person receive the food sales tax refund if he does not pay any state income tax? Yes. Senior citizens are entitled to the refund of the sales tax they have paid on their food, now set at 87 by the Legislature. However, remember that you must file Form 1040N with the Department of Revenue to receive this refund.

May an elderly person receive the food sales tax credit if he is in a rest home or institution? It depends. If the home or institution is exempt from paying taxes on food and the elderly citizen is a resident of the home or institution for more than six months, he will not receive the food sales tax credit. On the other hand, if the home or institution which is exempt from paying food sales taxes, he will be entitled to the $7 food tax refund. Also, if he is a resident of an exempt home or institution for less than six months, he may file for the food tax credit. The food sales tax credit is designed to lessen the impact of Nebraska's general sales tax upon low-income persons and families without the complications of exempting food from the tax. Its effectiveness requires that taxpayers know how it works and how to claim the credit or refund, Peterson states.

vacation is over. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Weckbach returned Sunday evening from a 25-day vacation trip much of which was enjoyed with former Crete friends in Meltaine Falls, Wash. Carl Weckbach who had made the trip with his brother and sister-in-law took their friends and the Weckbachs on tours into Canada. They also spent one day in Spokane. Carl will return to Ord next month. Plans to bring his friends, the R. W. Ralls, with him were changed Monday when Mrs. Ralls underwent unexpected surgery.

Birthdays Celebrated Visitors at the Lukes Sisters' home, Friday, were Mrs. Vic Benben, Mrs. Jack Rashaw and Will Moudry of Ord and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lukesh of Grand Island. Also, if he is a resident of an exempt home or institution for less than six months, he may file for the food tax credit. The food sales tax credit is designed to lessen the impact of Nebraska's general sales tax upon low-income persons and families without the complications of exempting food from the tax. Its effectiveness requires that taxpayers know how it works and how to claim the credit or refund, Peterson states.

vacation is over. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Weckbach returned Sunday evening from a 25-day vacation trip much of which was enjoyed with former Crete friends in Meltaine Falls, Wash. Carl Weckbach who had made the trip with his brother and sister-in-law took their friends and the Weckbachs on tours into Canada. They also spent one day in Spokane. Carl will return to Ord next month. Plans to bring his friends, the R. W. Ralls, with him were changed Monday when Mrs. Ralls underwent unexpected surgery.

Try It Diet (We Dare You!) . . . Want to lose weight? Of course you do.

So try this nourishing three-meals-a-day diet: For Breakfast: Break your overnight fast with a tall glass of cold water. Add one cube of sugar for extra energy.

On alternate mornings, gargle with weak tea or dead coffee.

For Lunch: Crush the pits of one orange. Discard the orange and suck each grain of delicious crushed orange pit.

Then brew a strong cup of coffee, but intake—do not drink—the aroma of the bean.

A flavored toothpick for dessert should round out any noon-day repast.

For Dinner: Always dress in your best garb for your evening meal. Food seems to taste better when you are clad appropriately.

Nourishment can be derived from a number of sources. For example try fried grapefruit rinds topped with the fragrance of yogurt. (Not too much please.) Yummy!

For a change of pace, experiment with broiled dandelion shoots shredded and sprinkled over paper-thin lettuce leaves.

Top off this lively offering with the sound of boiling water. Any stove will do.

After these active sounds, perform the Canadian Military Exercises and then rest for at least two hours.

Yes, you can be assured that you will lose at least 27 pounds after just one week. You can bet your life on it! You really can . . .

One little Ord girl, excited about a recent shopping trip for school clothes reported to her neighbor . . . "my brother didn't get any new school shoes, because he already has a pair of Muffins."

What's Cooking, Girls? This week it's an easy-to-prepare Chicken dish from bachelor cook Ron Baldwin of the Ord Quiz.

The recipe involves one cut-up frying chicken, 1 c. catsup, 1 12-16 oz. bottle Pepsi (no other kind will do, says Ron). Heat electric skillet, adding grease. Place chicken in skillet and add the catsup and Pepsi. Cover, turn heat to Simmer and cook about an hour.

To be sure it is probably the easiest way to prepare chicken, —and surprisingly it will have a delicious barbecue taste. (This works well on spare-ribs too.)

COFFEE CUP PHILOSOPHY: Think happy!

John Hanzel and bride . . . Cindy Shoemaker

Shoemaker-Hanzel Say Vows In Church Ceremony At Ord

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church of Ord was the scene, July 31, for the wedding of Cynthia Ann (Cindy) Shoemaker and John Robert Hanzel. The double-ring ceremony was solemnized at 2 p.m. by Father Stanley Gorak. Maris Cox was vocalist and guitarist and Mrs. Elsie Furak was organist. Special selections were "Song of Joy" and "I'll Never Find Another You."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Shoemaker of North Loup. Mr. and Mrs. Erving Hanzel of Cotesfield are the groom's parents.

Serving as maid of honor was Jane Shoemaker of North Loup. Bridesmaids were Peggy Sintek and Emily Schudel both of North Loup. Holly Shoemaker of North Loup was flower girl and Paul Hanzel of Salem, Ore. was ring-bearer.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length gowns of baby blue dotted swiss with full skirts and full Camelot sleeves. A cumberbund of eyelid lace and blue ribbon completed the ensemble. They carried white garden baskets of fresh mixed flowers and wore a matching cinnet wreath in their hair.

Serving the groom were Greg Stine of North Loup as best man; Tom Wagner of Scotia and Bob Vlach of Cotesfield as groomsmen. Ushers were Richard Shoemaker, Jim Shoemaker, Charles Sintek and Roger Burrows.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. For her wedding day she chose a floor length bouffant gown of white imported organza and Venise lace. Lace in the form of miniature daisies covers the Empire bodice and the full cuffed sheer Camelot sleeves. A tulle bow face frames Venise lace-trimmed mantilla train veil which swept to chapel length. Her bridal bouquet was a loose style arrangement of pink Sweetheart roses, pink elegance carnations, daisies, blue cornflowers and Baby's Breath.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shoemaker, grandparents of the bride.

Acting hosts and hostesses at the reception following the ceremony at the Veterans Club were Dr. and Mrs. Lumier Hanzel and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jacobs.

The newlyweds went to Colorado for their honeymoon. They will be at home in Lincoln after Aug. 15. Both graduates of North Loup-Scotia High School, the bride is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska and the groom is a university senior.

Jerry McAndrews of Alliance was a weekend guest of Jim Lukesh. The boys went to Lincoln, Saturday, where they completed housing arrangements for the coming school term. Jim and Jerry will be seniors. The two were also roommates when they were college freshmen. While in Lincoln they were guests of Mike Beran at the V. J. Beran home.

The Steens . . . she was Geraldine Powers

Newlyweds Choose Home In Michigan

Geraldine Marie Powers and Capt. Richard Palmer Steep were married July 5 at Prince of Peace Lutheran Church of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Powers of Ord are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mildred Steen, Sioux Falls, S. D., and the late Kenneth P. Steen.

Judith Kay Powers of Ord was maid of honor for her sister, Karen Elizabeth Steen of Sioux Falls, S. D. was bridesmaid. James Arshem of Denver, Colo. served as best man. Ronald Dugman of Blair was groomsmen. Laurie Bergerson and Timothy Sims both of Kalamazoo, Mich. were ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Loup County High School in Taylor and of the University of Nebraska. She was affiliated with Delta Omicron, Pi Kappa Lambda, and Pi Lambda Theta. She has been an elementary music teacher in the Kalamazoo Public Schools. Her husband was graduated from Washington High School and Augustana College in Sioux Falls and received a Master of Science degree from the University of Nebraska. He presently serves in the United States Air Force.

After Aug. 15, the newlyweds will be at home at 297 Pike Lake, Duluth, Minn.

Pre-Nuptial Party For Terri Edwards

Mrs. Bob O'Connor and daughters, Mary and Ann, of Tempe, Ariz. were recent hostesses for a bridal shower honoring Terri Edwards of Scottsdale, Ariz. Miss Edwards will become the bride of Michael Rosenstein on Aug. 12.

The bride's colors of yellow and mint green were carried out in the party decor. The honoree was also presented with a corsage of yellow daisies by her hostesses. Special guests included Mrs. Don Edwards and Trudi Edwards, mother and sister of the bride, and Mrs. Paul Martin of Flagstaff, Ariz.

It's A Boy
Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Conner of Ord are the parents of a 6 lb. 14 oz. boy born Aug. 6 at the Burwell hospital. The baby has been named Gregg Elias. He was welcomed home by two sisters. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hulinsky and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Conner of Ord.

The Johnsons . . . Merilee and Delton

Merilee Sell-Delton Johnson Wed In Afternoon Ceremony

Planning to make their home in Broken Bow are Delton H. Johnson and his bride, the former Merilee Sell of Arcadia.

The couple were married Aug. 7 in a 2:30 p.m. ceremony at the United Methodist Church of Arcadia. The Rev. Earl Higgins of Holdrege solemnized the double-ring rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. M. Dale Sell of Arcadia and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson of Wilcox.

Mrs. Mike King of Kearney was organist and Chuck Gould of Arcadia was soloist. Special music included "Walk Hand in Hand," "The Wedding Prayer" and "More."

Mrs. Jack Heaton of Grand Island was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Arthur Soderholm III of Sutherland and Mrs. Delbert Sahn of Seward. Their floor-length gowns in lavender sheer dotted swiss were colonial style with lace trim. They carried bouquets of variegated lavender and white streamers and bows assembled by the bride's mother.

Flower girl was Lisa Bose. She was also dressed in a floor-length creation styled identically to the bride's attendants. Ring bearer was Lynn Johnson. Kim Franzen and Wayne Franzen were candle-lighters.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was designed of silk organza and re-embroidered Chantilly lace sweeping from an empire line to a full chapel train. The scalloped neckline had a drop shoulder marked with pearls as were the cuffs of the Camelot sleeves. The bride's bouquet was of lavender glass with white rosebud centers amidst a detachable corsage.

The groom was attended by his brothers Donald Johnson of Wilcox as best man; Wayne Johnson and Harold Johnson as groomsmen. Ushers were Rolen Sell of Arcadia, Richard Frew of Loomis and Robert Swanson of Wilcox.

A reception followed at the church basement. Mrs. Mike Rice of Ord was at the guest book; Mrs. Jerry Hawley of Kearney poured coffee; Mrs. Harold Johnson of Kearney served punch; Mrs. Don Johnson of Wilcox and Mrs. Bryon Pefer of Arcadia served cake. Mrs. Marlin Sell, Mrs. Dale Paider and Mrs. Bob Elliott all of Arcadia cared for the gifts. Servers were Denice Gould and Terri Pierson also of Arcadia.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Kearney State College. He had taught in the Stromsburg schools and is presently employed as assistant manager of Cash and Carry Lumber Co. in Broken Bow.

Jim Sedlacek Marks 89th Year With Open House Celebration

An open house reception for the 89th birthday of Jim Sedlacek was a Sunday event at the Ord Rest Home. More than 75 relatives and friends attended the 2 to 4 p.m. affair.

Two special birthday cakes decorated the honoree's table. One cake was baked by Mrs. LeVern Oseka of Loup City. The other cake matched in design and color to the serving cakes.

Mrs. Vivian Wajda of the Ord Rest Home was acting hostess while Mrs. Emanuel Sedlacek served the cake with Mrs. Emil Sedlacek serving ice cream.

Present with his wife Mary were his children Emil Sedlacek and Emanuel Sedlacek, both of Ord, Mrs. Lydia Oseka of Loup City and William Sedlacek of Arcadia. One other son, Vencl Sedlacek of Sunnyside, Wash., and his family were unable to attend but sent their congratulations.

The 89-year-old birthday celebrant is in good health. Most of his life has been in Valley County.

Weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Dulitz were Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Dulitz of Ashland, Wis.

Mrs. Cork Greenway entertained at her home Monday evening to honor her houseguest Mrs. Dale Stephenson of Lincoln. Bridge was played at two tables.

Mrs. Philip Hood . . . nee Jean Jamison

Couple To Live In Lincoln After Honeymoon In Colorado

In an afternoon ceremony, Aug. 8, at St. Mark's United Methodist Church of Lincoln, Jean Jamison and Philip Hood exchanged marriage vows.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jamison of Lincoln, formerly of Ord, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hood also of Lincoln.

Identically styled frocks of knit crepe styled with empire waists, short sleeves and scoop necklines were chosen for the attendants. Mrs. Dennis Cetak of Lincoln, wearing yellow, served her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Lynn Brechbill of Abilene, Kan. as bridesmatron and Barbara Voss of Omaha, bridesmaid, wore green. Each wore matching wide-brimmed nylon braid hats and carried a long stemmed yellow rose accented with white streamers.

For her wedding the bride appeared in a gown of white polyester satin — her own creation. Scalloped tear-drop lace covered the smoothly sculptured empire bodice which was fashioned with a Florentine neckline and accented by a choker of small pearls. Repeats of lace were seen at the cuffs of the Camelot sleeves and in her hairpiece. Beneath the scalloped empire bodice was a floor length skirt designed in the dirndl mode. A band of tear-drop petals held the train-length veil of illusion and the shoulder-length blusher. The bride carried a small colonial bouquet of yellow Sweetheart roses, white poms and statice.

Ken Hood of New York City, N.Y. was best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Mike Peterson and Wally Moomau both of Lincoln. Stan Ericson, Dennis Cetak, Gale Kennedy and Roy Robertson all of Lincoln were ushers.

The bride's brother, Gary Jamison of Lincoln, lit the two nine-branch altar candelabra.

A reception was held in the church basement after the ceremony.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the newlyweds will reside at 1830 N. 62nd Street in Lincoln. The bride is a senior at the University of Nebraska majoring in Home Economics. The groom, also a student at the university in Lincoln, is a junior majoring in Construction Science.

Mrs. Don Fiala and children of Ainsworth were weekend visitors at Ord. They visited the Duda families. Dinner guests, Sunday, of Mrs. Peter Duda were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Duda and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Duda and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lukesh and girls and the Fiala family. Janice Fiala returned home after having spent the past week with her grandmother and the Jim Dudas.

Bradley Staab Has Birthday on August 5

By Bertha Clement
Our daughter Kathleen Sibley was a guest of Ken and Charlene Clement at the Elks Club Tuesday night. She saw friends there. Barbara was my special charge that night and Wednesday night. I enjoyed that.

Wednesday Kathleen, Barbara and I had morning coffee with Frieda Foth. Ruth Foth and Kim were also coffee guests. Barbara enjoyed coffee with Kim and spent the rest of the day with her. The girls are both eight. Kathleen and I then called on Lillie Foth and she visited Carolyn Peterson. Later in the day we called on Lois Peterson.

Kathleen, Mr. and Mrs. Carson Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Welniak and Roger Miller had dinner at the Veterans Club Wednesday night. It was a real gab fest. They were classmates in Ord High.

Edna Roe came to visit Kathleen Friday since Kathleen and Barbara had gone to spend a few days in Kearney with Don and family. It was my pleasure.

Sunday we had fifteen at the dinner table. Don and family came up from Kearney, Ken, Charlene, Cindy and Tom joined us too. Of course Kathleen and the girls were here.

Grandson Tom is here for the week. Helping Edwin and Victor haul bales is one of the attractions.

Eight year old Barbara wanted to make the Amazon River so she turned on the hose and let it run down the driveway. Grandma suggested watering the roses. That done the Amazon received more water.

That frost was Friday morning — July 30. Right?

Monday morning coffee guests here were Edna Roe, Frieda Foth and her daughter Joyce Beideck, Jennifer, John and Jeff of McCook (Joyce is one of my favorite nieces) and Kim Foth.

Others Kathleen visited were Frank Blaha, Lydia Fafaita and Dutch and Alyce Blessing last week and Helen Peterson earlier.

She and the girls Jennifer and Barbara visited James and Jane Ollis and Eloise Beranek Monday. They plan to leave Wednesday morning. These three weeks have been short.

Edwin and Victor have been chore boys at the George Bells during part of the time the Bells were vacationing. Tom joined them in that Sunday night and Monday morning.

Bradley Staab was eight years old Thursday Aug. 5. The family went to the Elks Club for supper and then to the game room. All went to the Rollie Staab home for gifts, birthday cake and ice cream. Bradley chose how to celebrate his birthday. Present were Bradley, his folks and sisters Lillie, Jeanne and Suzanne, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wilson and Jarrod, Mr. and Mrs. DeLyle Burson, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Burson, Ken Burson and the Marvin Rice family.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Burson visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burson Sunday evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Lange and children left the Henry Lange home Tuesday with plans to visit in Illinois and other points east before returning to their home at Tomball, Tex. That evening Mr. and Mrs. Lange's daughter Carolyn and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Curry, Chris and Brian, Houston, arrived Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Whelan and family, Grand Island, joined the family for supper. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Homan and Johnny were house guests of the Langes till Thursday, then visited his folks, the John Homans at Cedar Rapids till Saturday when they returned to the Lange home. Becca and Wade Elliott and Teresa, John and Tom Whelan spent part of last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lange.

The Curry family visited her grandfather William Holtz and Mr. and Mrs. James Bremer at St. Libory on their way to the Whelan home in Grand Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lange, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Homan and Johnny and Mr. and Mrs. John Curry and sons had dinner at the Veterans Club Sunday. Sunday afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Meierhenry and four children, Hoskins, Mrs. Meierhenry is a friend of Mrs. Curry, dating back to nursing school days. The Eldon Lange family visited the Henry Langes and houseguests Sunday evening. The Curry family left for Rockford,

Quinn Leads South to Pony Title; Hits Sandflats by 8 to 2 Saturday

Led by Jeff Quinn, the Ord South Pony team won the Loup Valley Tournament Baseball Championship with a convincingly easy 8 to 2 victory over Sandflats. The South Pony team jumped off to a 3 to 0 lead at the top of the first inning and Ord was never headed from that time on.

For the season, Coach Duane Kovarik's team ended with a 9-2 mark. The only losses came from the bats of Burwell (15-2) and Arcadia (3-2) in their first two games of the season. Ord finished the year on a nine game winning streak.

Wins came over Comstock, (15-

4 and 3-1); Ord North (6-1); Sandflats, (14-9 and 8-2); Taylor, (5-2); Arcadia, (9-4); Sargent, (9-4); and Scotia, (3-0).

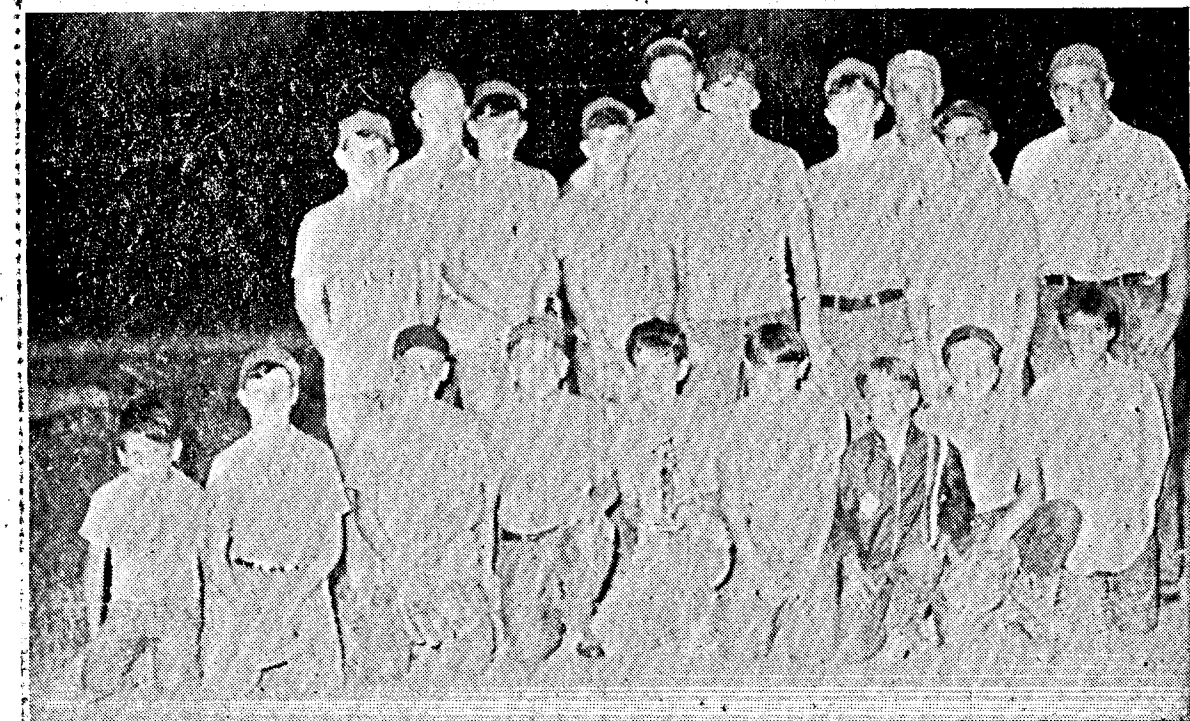

According to Kovarik, Brad Noll and Tom Clement were, along with Quinn, some of the top players on his team. He termed the best game of the season was the tournament win over Scotia and said Scotia had only one hit for the game. Pitching that game was Quinn. Noll was the team's top hitter for the season and Clement was the top catcher.

Kovarik also said the team had their early season problems, but they "picked themselves right up and came on real strong" as the season progressed.

He indicated the team might play another tournament at Burwell later in the month.

SANDFLATS TAKES 2nd; FINISHES WITH 7-3 MARK

Sandflats wrapped up second place in the Loup Valley Tournament in the Pony League played at Ord Saturday night. They lost 8 to 2 to Ord South in the championship contest after taking tournament wins over Ord North by 13 to 3 and Burwell by 6 to 5.

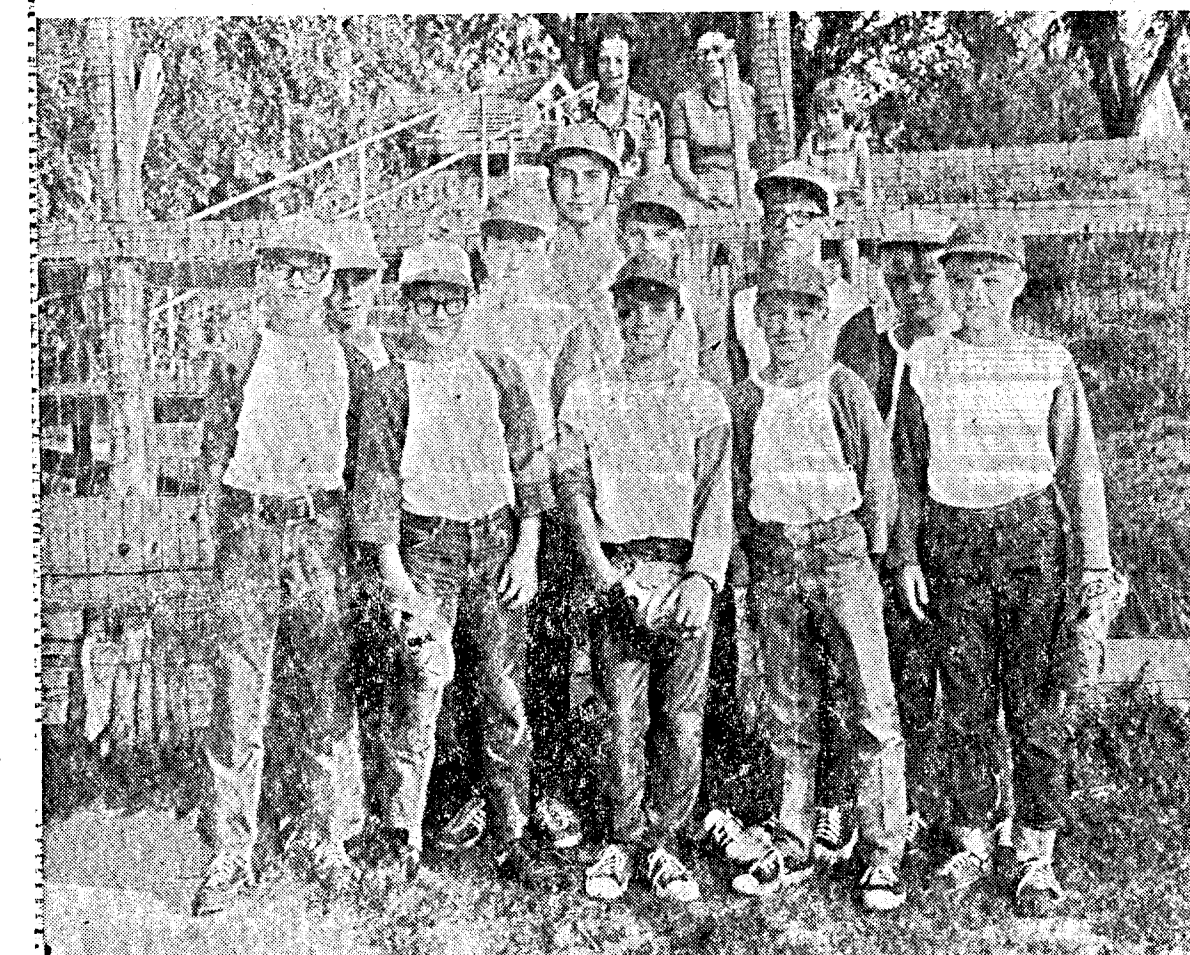

They finished tied for 3rd with South for the regular season.

Sandflats was coached by veteran coach Joe Hruza, who wrapped up his eighth year coaching. His roster included Tim Sevenker, fielder and pitcher; Ken Hopkins, fielder and pitcher; Doug Peterson, catcher and fielder; Danny Hruza, second base and catcher; Dennis Hruza, third base; Bryon Anderson, short stop and pitcher; Steve Shermer, first base; Lex Bratka, right field; Lee Graham, left field; Craig Seveker, fielder, and Mel Shermer, fielder.

The complete Sandflats record with Sandflats scores listed first:

- 10 Scotia 15
- 7 Comstock 5
- 15 Arcadia 8
- 8 Ord South 14
- 16 Sargent 1
- 20 Burwell 16
- 14 Ord North 10
- 13 Ord North 3
- 6 Burwell 5
- 2 Ord South 8

Cheers & Chants

Quiz Sports Editor

Coach Keith Staehr of North Loup-Scotia is about to begin his fourth season as head man for the Wildcats. Staehr has compiled a 22-6-0 record and has never had a losing season. His worst record during his short tenure was 5-3-0 in 1969. Last year his team won the LHFC Conference title and finished the season ranked number 10 among Nebraska Class C outfits.

"We will have several returning starters," commented Staehr in a telephone interview. Greg Wagner will be back at end and Steve Rasmussen will be back at guard." Staehr also indicated veteran tackle Gary Wells will be switched to guard for the 1971 campaign.

Staehr also said he feels the Wildcats toughest competition will come in their first two ball games, against powerful Osceola and Anselmo-Merna. Osceola blanked the Wildcats 12-0 in their only loss of the season last time out.

The schedule this year also includes Spalding Academy (there, Sept. 24); Burwell (there, Oct. 1); Harvard (home, Oct. 8); Ansel (home, Oct. 15); Wolbach (home, Oct. 22); Sargent (Away, Oct. 29); and O'Neill St. Mary (Home, Nov. 5). Both Osceola and Anselmo-Merna will visit the Wildcat home grounds on successive week-ends giving Staehr's club an enviable six game home slate.

Assisting Staehr this year will be Larry Lewis and Albert Zuege.

Football workouts will begin on August 23 for the Wildcats.

WELCOME LA ROCCA

A new face will be directing Burwell's football fortunes this fall. Don La Rocca, assistant coach at North Platte for several years, will head the Longhorns and will also open training sessions on August 23 in preparation for the Sept. 10 home opener with always strong Sargent.

"So far everything looks pretty good," said the first year coach in evaluating Burwell's material for the year. "I would guess we will have as many as 40 boys out for the first sessions. I understand the juniors and sophomore crop is real strong this year and the seniors are also real good."

Few breathers appear on the Burwell grid schedule this fall. After Sargent La Rocca will take his crew for a visit to Gibbon. Other road jaunts will include trips to Cairo Centura on Oct. 8; Shelton on Oct. 22; and Fullerton on Nov. 5. Slated to visit Burwell are Sargent on Sept. 10; Loup City on Sept. 24; North Loup-Scotia on Oct. 1; Ravenna on Oct. 15 and Wood River on Oct. 29.

It looks like La Rocca will have his work cut out for him at Burwell. We wish him luck in his first year and extend a big "WELCOME" to the area.

ARCADIA "REBUILDING"

What do you do when you are one of the states smallest schools and you lose 15 boys from your squad by graduation and only a total of four boys in the upcoming senior class? Coach Richard Bentz of Arcadia will have to find the answer to this question before Sept. 10 when the Huskies are scheduled to entertain always strong Callaway.

"Last year's senior class had mostly boys and very few girls," said Bentz. "This year we have a totally different situation. We have all girls in the senior class and few boys, four to be exact."

The Arcadia schedule will include the likes of Clarks (There, Sept. 17); Greeley (Home, Sept. 24); Spalding (Oct. 1); Littlefield (Home, Oct. 8); Elba (Home, Oct. 15); Spalding Academy (Home, Oct. 22); Wolbach (Away, Oct. 29); and Palmer (Away, Nov. 5).

If Arcadia fans begin to note players on the field with extremely long hair it might not be a case of a boy with mod-type haircut. It might be that Bentz has decided to use seven or eight seniors rather than just four!

SPORTS QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Anyone care to make a guess as to how many games Broken Bow and Ord have each won in the series between them? This will be answered next week but why don't some of you start making some guesses.

Chanticleers Add Scotus To 1971 Football Schedule

Ord High's Chanticleers will play a nine-game football schedule according to Chuck Squier, head coach. The only change in the schedule is the addition of Columbus Scotus in place of Grand Island Northwest. The Chants beat Northwest 28-6 last fall.

Squier said of Scotus, "We are very pleased to play a team the caliber of Scotus. Last year they were ranked all season and in many polls were ranked higher than we were. It should be one of the best games of the season."

Squier has called for a squad meeting at the High School on August 20. Boys from 7th to 12th grade are to report at the 7 p.m. meeting.

Tri Fund Doing Well Closing Gap on Goal

The Valley County Tri Fund is moving along at a rapid pace, according to Margaret Steinwart, Chairman of the county group. A goal has been set of $3,820 and as of now a total of $3,639.68 has been raised with some pledges still outstanding. The money will be used to aid in support of areas such as cancer, heart fund and Red Cross.

The Chairman said additional contributions are needed and will be appreciated and may be mailed or deposited at the First National Bank or sent directly to her.

Town and Country

Weekend guests of Mrs. G. W. Finley were Mr. and Mrs. Harry (Marjorie Finley) Wells and family of Scottsbluff. The Wells family were travelling to Brunswick, Minn., to visit their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Skaja and children were Sunday supper guests at the Dean Bresley country home.

Pee Wee Title To Ord South

Duane Kovarik's Pee Wee Baseball team came up champions of the Loup Valley Baseball Tournament in a championship contest played at Ord Saturday evening. The Ord club finished the year 7-1, and battled a strong Sargent nine in the championship tilt, winning 4 to 0.

Kovarik's squad chalked up wins over Sandflats, (3-2, 11-0); Scotia, (2-0, 3-0); Burwell, (2-0, 7-6); and Sargent, (4-0). The only loss was a 1 to 0 heart stopper to Arcadia.

Youngsters on the squad include Jamie Switzer, Randy Newland, James Staab, Paul Bredthauer, Brad Smith, Topper Beran, Tracy Johnson, John Miller and Dick Noll.

Jan Weber Attends Lake Lydle Camp

Jan Weber, Ord, is enrolled in the course, "Experiences in Outdoor Education" at Chadron State College and is spending the week in the wilderness of the Wind River Mountains in Western Wyoming.

While at the camp at Lake Lydle, which has an elevation of 9,800 feet, the 40-member group is studying biology, astronomy, and orienteering. The party also will spend two days on a survival ration, eating only the food that the area provides.

This is the third year that Chadron State College has sponsored the course.

Two From Ord At C.S.C. Orientation

Ronald Osentowski and Shirley Connelly, both of Ord, attended freshman orientation at Chadron State College last week.

This was the sixth and final session that the college will hold this summer. Included in the activities were testing, registering for classes, meetings with faculty members and sessions designed to acquaint the incoming freshman with college life. Classes at CSC begin Aug. 31.

Largemouth bass must weigh at least 5 pounds to qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award.

North Never Quits Trying; Win Fifth Place in Tourney

Ord North Pee Wee baseball coach Jim Lukesh ought to consider a career in coaching on a full-time basis. He is beginning to sound more and more like a combination of Johnny Majors (head coach at Iowa State) and Floyd Gass (Oklahoma State). Annually these two teams battle it out for the cellar position in the Big 8 Conference football race, and each year each coach says he had a real sound ball club and the top individual in the league. This is exactly what Lukesh will tell you about his Ord North baseball team that finished 4-7 for the season, and what he will tell you about Jerry Weverka, his prize catcher.

North finished the season Saturday night by topping Comstock 2 to 1 to take fifth place in the Loup Valley Baseball Tournament in the Pee Wee Division, but at the start of the season Lukesh might have thought his team would be lucky to win a ball game.

They opened up the season by suffering an 11 to 6 loss to Burwell. Enough said about that one, however it was followed by 12 to 3 pasting by Taylor, a 6 to 1 loss to eventual tournament champion Ord South, a 16 to 9 bombing by Scotia and a 12 to 5 humiliation by Comstock.

After watching such lopsided scores Lukesh must have decided the only way his team could go was up, and the next game that was exactly what they did — beat Arcadia 5 to 1 to register the first victory of the season.

"They really wanted to play ball," said Lukesh. "They wanted to win and you have to remember we only had three boys on the squad that had played Pony League ball before. We were young, but matured as we went along."

The Arcadia win was followed with a second win in a row, this time over Sargent by 7 to 3 in what Lukesh termed "the best win of the season." They closed the regular season out by a 14 to 10 loss to Sandflats and opened the Loup Valley Tournament with another loss to Sandflats by 13 to 3 before taking tournament wins over Taylor, 5 to 4, and Comstock, 2 to 1.

Lukesh termed Weverka the best player in the league and Alan Heisner as a real steady player. Bob Dworak pitched every game South won and he also noted Vancura did a good job on the mound.

WE'LL TAKE IT — Taking the second place trophy for Sandflats is Doug Peterson. Sandflats lost to Ord South 8 to 2 in the championship of the Loup Valley Tournament played at Ord Saturday night.

How did Plymouth get so much Duster into such a small price?

Very successfully. Because Plymouth Duster is not only a leader in resale value in the class along with other Plymouth compacts, it also comes through with more power, more room, more everything than any mini-car you can name. Is it any wonder Duster's our hottest number again this year? For the right deal on the right compact, look to the right place. We'll put you into the hot one. Plymouth Duster. Right on. Right now.

Few Know Where Food Comes From

The idea that the general public knows where its food comes from and how it is processed and distributed is one of the '10 myths or misconceptions recently stressed by Dr. Glen Volmar, chairman of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture's Department of Agricultural Economics, in a talk concerning some of agriculture's public relations problems.

Actually, he said, the general public has very limited knowledge about the realities of agricultural production.

"Today's young people need to develop proper attitudes toward safe and efficient automobile operation and care," says Donald E. Osburn, director of program services, National 4-H Service Committee.

In reporting on the 4-H automotive program, Osburn notes that Firestone is providing over $200,000 for leader training in the automotive program.

These funds are provided in addition to recognition and incentive awards for individuals and educational materials.

Southern Corn Leaf Blight Invades Valley County Area

Word was received yesterday from David Wyson, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Extension Plant Pathologist, that Valley County has been added to the more than 50 counties in the state having Southern Corn Leaf Blight. Other counties added to the list this past week include Sherman, Greeley, Custer, Wheeler, Boone, Nance and Phelps.

The infection found in Valley County is presently only in a limited number of fields and is confined to the lower leaves.

Ear husk and leaf sheath infections are becoming more common and conspicuous in Southeast Nebr. counties. The occurrence of Southern Leaf Blight lesions on upper leaves, leaf sheath and ear husks is strong evidence that fungus spores are moving through the air from plant to plant and field to field.

If frequent periods of favorable blight weather prevail, the situation could become explosive. S.C.L.B. develops rapidly during periods of high humidity and high temperatures. Several days this past week were more than ideal for the rapid development of this disease.

Because of the explosive nature of Race T on susceptible corn, Valley County farmers are urged to check their fields closely. Severe Southern Corn Leaf Blight infection during the tassel to dent stage is most likely to result in serious damage.

As a rule, field corn is fully denting about 48 days after silking and physiological maturity is reached in 60 days. Most of the Valley County corn is now in the blister to milk stage. Thus, the crop may be entering a very critical stage of development in relation to S.C.L.B. severity.

Youths Find Cheap Way To Tour Country and Travel

By Ron Baldwin

In a small town like Ord, many times you see things that, while not appearing unusual in cities such as Lincoln, Grand Island or Omaha, tend to make people do a double-take when they appear on quiet village streets. Such was the case Monday when two young men from Wahoo decided to stop in the community for supplies.

They came — and with Mark Coufal and Bob Meduna, the two young men in question, came two 1970 Hondas loaded down with everything from fishing poles to sleeping bags and yes, believe it or not, even a portable barbeque grill. More than one person was observed to walk by, turn around and stare, as the boys had their bikes parked in front of THE QUIZ's office. One old-timer even walked away shaking his head, more than likely asking to himself, "What are those darn young 'fools' up to now?"

Actually Coufal and Meduna are not "up to anything" and certainly could not be classified as young fools. A conversation with the two young men will show they are both very polite well-mannered young men that have set out to have a good time by taking to the roads in the cheapest method they could come up with. Meduna is a student at Nebraska University — Lincoln while Coufal is a construction worker at Wahoo.

Meduna lives but both stated they might well end up in Wyoming or someplace like that. This is not the first trip the pair has taken. Last summer they toured such places as Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and the Ozarks. They eventually hope to see "most of the country" and have found people very receptive to them wherever they go.

If bad weather sets in, well, there are always trees to go under or a bridge that might offer some covering.

"We get to meet a lot of people this way," said Coufal. "We have had a lot of fun hunting and fishing with total strangers. People just seem to take an interest in us and we feel the same towards them."

Meduna expressed the belief a person sees more of the "country" when riding a Honda because you "tend to" pay attention more. He said both of them have become expert packers.

"What do they eat?" Mostly Wieners or hamburgers, both admitted. Occasionally they might fry a steak but those times are few and far between. Meduna also confesses much of where they go depends on where the people are. He knows from the University. This helps at times to get a warm meal or a soft bed to sleep in.

In fact, as the two were sitting in the QUIZ office answering questions fired at them, the interview had to be cut short. A blue and white 1980 Chevrolet pulled up across the street and Meduna was off like a streak of lightning. He knew the driver, who just happened to be a University student, and being almost noon, the problem of lunch was solved by a friendly smile and a warm greeting. Like I said, the pair are definitely NOT young fools.

Rollin Mallory At Feed Short Course

Rollin Mallory of Farmers Coop Elev. North Loup, is attending Feed 100 Short Course, at Farmland Industries School, Kansas City, Mo.

Farmland Industries School is the center of training for employees of local cooperatives from throughout Mid-America. Students are selected by local managers and sent to the center, where they are trained to better serve the members of the local cooperatives that own Farmland Industries.

The school is a modern facility situated on a 24-acre wooded campus about ten miles north downtown Kansas City. Forty different subjects are taught at the school, involving nearly 2,000 students per year. Instructors for the classes are specialists in feed, fertilizer, petroleum, farm supplies and other product areas from Farmland's headquarters office in Kansas City.

Skippy . . .

every way. He even chewed up a waxy gum stick out of his mouth though Skippy did not seem a special dog, Burson did become attached to the animal.

"It was really kind of hard to give him away," said Burson. "We took him into Grand Island when we were supposed to and by night we got a call telling us he was already in Rochester, Michigan." The dog eventually ended up with "Leader Dogs for the Blind, Inc."

Skippy had to undergo a rugged six months training period. He got his "diploma" and was the 3,137th dog to graduate from the school. To show the tremendous amount of dogs that the school has worked with, only 20 percent of the dogs that enter the school graduate and are placed with blind people.

For Burson, this was the second such animal that he raised that had been accepted by the school. Would he do it again? "You bet," said Burson. "I would very much enjoy being in such a program again." The only trouble that Burson has is that all his dogs are accepted for the program making it impossible to keep one because he never has had a failure. Burson would rather have it that way.

CORRECTION

Information submitted to THE QUIZ last week concerning fair results was incorrect. Reserve Champion Holstein (Female) went to a Holstein shown by Sharon Kriewald not Sharon Valasek as was reported to us. Gordon Kriewald showed the Breeding Ewes Champion and the Breeding Rams, not Sharon Kriewald. Reserve Champions in the divisions were shown by Sharon Kriewald.

Soil Sampling Helpful Aid In Summer as Well as Spring

Soil sampling can be a helpful aid in the summer as well as the spring and winter seasons, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Associate Professor of Agronomy.

Dr. A. D. Flowerday says soil samples are helpful in determining particular needs and assets of fallow land and soils where fall seeded crops, established stands and row crops are grown.

Even though many of these soils will not have something planted on them for some time, most of the soil nutrient supply will remain much the same, Flowerday explained.

He noted that summer fallow and legumes will increase nitrate nitrogen in the soil and excessive rains can leach nitrate nitrogen deeper into the soil.

To obtain an accurate measure of soil nitrogen, samples can be taken at the plow layer and sub-soil layer. The plow layer refers to the topsoil or the first six to eight inches; while the subsoil ranges from six to 24 inches or as deep as the sample is desired.

Fall planted crops and fall seedings such as alfalfa and pasture can all be tested for phosphorus and time needs, Flowerday said. Often, he said, phosphorus applied into the root zone at the time of planting is more effective than top-dressed phosphorus after establishment.

The NU agronomist noted that in established stands of alfalfa and other hay, summer soil samples can aid in planning a fertility program for fall planting. Flowerday suggested that samples should be taken just after a cutting of hay has been removed or the cattle have been taken out of a pasture.

"Irrigated pastures are much different than ordinary pastures since they require tremendous amounts of nutrients for both soil and fertility levels," he continued. He suggested that nitrogen fertilizer be applied throughout the entire growing season and that phosphorus and potassium levels be checked continuously.

Trouble spots in fields containing row crops should be sampled only if you plan to treat the trouble spots separately, Flowerday said. "If the trouble spots are too small to call individual attention to, they are too small to make sampling necessary," he added.

When taking samples of nutrient-deficient areas it is important to take samples from the good areas as well, Flowerday emphasized. Sample boxes and instruction sheets can be obtained from local County Extension Offices.

KERNELS & HUSKS

Valley County Agent

Dairymen, you can use genetic predictability to improve your herd. Research shows the following traits carry these heritability percentages:

Milk production, 25%; Butterfat production, 25%; Butterfat content, 55%; Udder size and shape, 14%; Fore Udder attachment, 30%; Rear Udder attachment, 16%; Feet and Legs, 12%; Specific ease of milking, 24%; Mastitis resistance, 25%; Teat Length, 75%; Diameter of Teat, 35%; Disposition, 40%.

The above figures can be of value to you when selecting sires, cows and replacement cows for the best possible mating.

It would be wonderful if we could treat corn once and control corn borers, bean cutworm, corn rootworm beetles and spider mites. Unfortunately, this is not possible. First, the best time to control them does not occur at the same time. Secondly, no one material is equally effective against all of these pests.

Second brood adult corn borer are emerging now. We can't predict the peak of emergence however, we do expect it about the middle of this week, (August 7-15).

Second brood adults are attracted to late developing corn. Watch your corn if silks are still green. These are the fields that may profit most from control.

Watch for egg masses on the underside of leaves. They will appear creamy-white when first laid. Eggs will turn darker as young borers develop. If egg masses are easily found it would indicate that a damaging second brood is possible.

Check leaf axils for small cornborer. Borers will be small at this stage. Perhaps 1/8 of an inch long more or less. They will be light colored with a dark head. Work in Iowa indicates that if there are five or more per plant control is justified.

Each field will have to be evaluated individually. Check them every four to five days for eggs and larvae in the leaf axel. If controls are necessary materials of choice are granular applications of Diazinon, EPN or Sevin. Check with your County Extension Agent for amounts to use.

Green bugs in milo are still active. In fields examined last week we found some with relatively high populations. In others the population is minimal. Parasites are doing a pretty good job at eliminating the insect in some fields while in others there is very little parasitism.

Again we would urge that you keep a close check on your milo fields. If green bugs are damaging the three lower leaves to the extent that their function is lost spraying will be necessary. But before you spray check the parasitism. If over 25% of the bugs are being parasitized don't spray. The parasites will take care of your problem in 7 - 10 days.

Green Thumb Tips

The large wasp found digging holes in your yard are not dangerous and will not sting you unless they are harassed. These giant yellow and black striped fellows are cicada killers. They prey on cicadas and are of no harm to man.

Information on this fearsome looking insect can be picked up at the Extension Office. Ask for EM-3-1970.

Check for red mites on evergreens. Hold a piece of white paper under a branch. Tap the branch lightly. If we see what appears to be walking dirt specks you have mites. If these specks are numerous spraying could be advisable.

Miticides of choice are Kelthane or Chlorobenzilate, and Cygon or diazinon.

Don't let that annoying Chigger pester you if you are planning an outing. Chemical repellents — Off or 612 do a pretty good job of keeping him away.

These should be applied to exposed parts. Also put some on your stockings or socks at the ankles, waistband of shirts and trousers.

If they are in your back yard spraying with either malathion or diazinon. Follow the label for mixing and safe use.

Nebraska U To Host Swine Conference Soon

The 12th annual George A. Young Conference on Advances in Swine Reproduction for veterinarians will be held here August 16 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. The following day is scheduled for the 11th annual Nebraska Conference for SFF Swine Producers.

According to Richard E. Coupe, instructor in Veterinary Science at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the first day of the conference will deal with reporting in-depth information on selected swine diseases to persons in the veterinary profession. This year the main areas of concern will be swine dysentery and gastroenteritis.

The second day will be devoted to prevention and management factors related to specific disease problems, Coupe said. He added that discussion and talks are geared toward the producer, but that an interchange of ideas between veterinarians and producers should be helpful to both groups.

This year the conferences are hosting several out-of-state speakers that Coupe said are recognized for being "some of the most informed" experts in the field of swine diseases.

On most well drained deep soils irrigation should be continued into September so the top soil will be moist during the winter for favorable freezing and thawing action during the winter months.

Grain sorghum in the soft dough stage should have another irrigation or have a full profile of soil moisture in the subsoil at this stage of growth. Adequate moisture at this stage of growth not only increases yield but also helps to reduce lodging at harvest time.

Sugar beets continue to grow and consume water up until harvest.

Alfalfa should be irrigated until a killing frost occurs. Alfalfa uses about four to five inches per ton. It requires two irrigations of 4 to 5 inches application to produce a two-ton cutting.

Off-season irrigation (September through June), is often practiced on alfalfa. Now would be a good time to irrigate alfalfa if water capacity is short.

In summary, corn will need to be irrigated until it is mature if on sandy soil. Irrigators may stop short of this if they have a deep fine textured soil that is filled to field capacity the last part of August or the first part of September.

Sugar beets and alfalfa need to be irrigated until harvest, or a killing frost occurs.

Horticultural Clinic Slated for North Platte

Annual and perennial flowers, vegetables, fruits and ground covers will highlight a Horticultural Flower and Garden Clinic at the University's North Platte Station on Friday, August 13th.

The clinic, one of the three being held in Nebraska, is open to the public between 8:00 and 8:00 p.m., according to Dr. Roger Uhlinger and Lyle Shaughnessy, research horticulturists at the North Platte Station.

At the clinic, people will be able to observe the many varieties of plants being grown in an Out-State Testing project being conducted at Lincoln, Alliance, and North Platte by the University's Department of Horticulture and Forestry.

"This is the first year for the project and we're inviting people to come out and look at over 300 entries in the test plots," says Uhlinger.

"The keen interest in ornamental horticulture and vegetable production by people throughout the state provides the reason for the expanded research projects," notes Shaughnessy. "Horticulture not only involves homeowners, but also the commercial growers, highway planners, landscape architects, garden center operators, golf course personnel and others."

The clinics are a method of providing information to the public about plant species and varieties, say the horticulturists.

Upon arriving at the station, visitors will receive a list of the display plants and a plan of the test plots. State and area specialists from the College of Agriculture and the North Platte Station will be available to answer questions about controlling insects, weeds and plant diseases plus questions about plant care.

Other locations hosting the clinics are the College of Agriculture (NU East Campus) in Lincoln, August 6th, and the Northwest Agricultural Laboratory near Alliance on August 11th.

HORSE RESTRICTIONS

Effective 8 A.M. August 3, 1971, horses and other members of the equine species may not be imported into the State of Nebraska from:

TEXAS, OKLAHOMA, LOUISIANA, ARKANSAS, NEW MEXICO, ARIZONA, MISSISSIPPI, CALIFORNIA, ALABAMA, GEORGIA AND FLORIDA, or from any other state that is under Federal quarantine which restricts movement of horses due to the existence or threat of Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis, irrespective of whether or not they have been vaccinated for Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis.

This embargo is to remain in effect until rescinded by the Nebraska Bureau of Animal Industry.

Horses entering from other states not listed in this embargo may enter Nebraska by first securing a permit from the Nebraska Bureau of Animal Industry and accompanied with an official health certificate issued not more than 24 hours before time of departure.

4-H Leader Says Young People Express Concern

"Young people today are deeply concerned about the welfare of America. While much has been written about the drug scene, campus riots and rebellious radicals, these reports do not truly portray what most of America's young people are attempting to say and do," says Norman C. Mindrum, director of the National 4-H Service Committee.

"The millions of youth participating in 4-H are typical of young Americans, concerned about their fellow citizens and the land they live in," Mindrum added.

A major goal of every 4-H program, project or activity is to develop leadership talents and to work to achieve the broad objectives of character and effective citizenship.

The young people apply their energies to combat air and water pollution, work with the handicapped and other disadvantaged and in a multitude of areas for the benefit of their families, communities and their country, and Mindrum notes appropriately that no special medals are provided in 4-H for being good citizens.

There are opportunities for special recognition in citizenship. Annually an outstanding 4-H boy and girl epitomizing the highest in citizenship achievement are honored nationally. The Cooperative Extension Service selects these winners of $600 educational scholarships, expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago and a silver tray given in the name of the President of the United States.

The program was established in memory of Thomas E. Wilson who served as president of the National Committee from 1924 through 1958. A pioneer Chicago meat packing executive, Wilson was instrumental in helping to shape the lives of nearly two generations of young people and it is fitting that the special 4-H citizenship awards be presented in his name, Director Mindrum said. Coincidentally, the 1970 national citizenship award recipients were both from Oklahoma. Latrice Baker, 18, of Carter, a 4-H member for nine years, entertained the elderly in the very first years of her 4-H involvement. Later she collected toys and clothes for those less fortunate. And as a junior leader she coached a "pee-wee" girls basketball team.

She summed up part of her feelings by saying: "The time of need is a never-ending process. Whether I am needed in Chicago, New York, Washington, D. C. or rural Oklahoma, that is where I'll go because there is nothing I enjoy more than helping my fellowman and my country."

Larry Shockey, 17, of Chickasha, also has worked consistently over the last nine years with lower income and less advantaged persons. "In one way or another I hope always to be a concern 4-H'er seeking to accept challenges to improve methods, solve problems and assist others," Shockey says.

This year a boy and a girl from each of 47 states and Puerto Rico will be considered for the national 4-H citizenship honors.

For information about the 4-H citizenship program, contact the county extension office or state 4-H leader.

Aircraft Owners Must File Tax Return

Owners of aircraft are required to file a federal use tax return on Form 4838 by August 31, Richard P. Vinal, IRS District Director for Nebraska said today.

The tax year begins July 1, and runs through the following June 30. Additional returns are required for aircraft used for the first time after July.

The tax is $25 plus 3 1/2 cents for each pound of maximum certificated takeoff weight of jet aircraft. On non-jet aircraft the tax is $25 and 2 cents for each pound of maximum takeoff weight for those weighing over 2,000 pounds. IRS Publication 510, "Information on Excise Taxes for 1971," provides detailed information on this tax and may be obtained by dropping a post card to your District Director, Internal Revenue Service, 15th and Dodge Streets, Omaha, Nebraska 68102.

Government to Help States in Lunch Work

Proposed changes in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National School Lunch regulations to help States expand food services to schools without lunch programs were announced today by Assistant Secretary Richard Lyng.

Speaking at the Silver Anniversary Convention of the 50,000-member American School Food Service Association here this morning, Mr. Lyng said the regulations will permit the placement of school lunch funds where they will be needed as the school year progresses so that we can eliminate the funding uncertainty which has created problems for all of us near the end of recent school years." He said the proposals are expected to be published in the Federal Register early next week, and comments on them will be invited for a period of about three weeks thereafter.

The Assistant Secretary characterized as "most significant" the new proposed method of using "Section 32" funds to augment money appropriated for apportionment to the States under the National School Lunch Act. Under the plan, he said, "we will allow every State at least an average of 5 cents per meal for all meals, and an average of 30 cents more for meals served free or at reduced prices."

Mr. Lyng told the group that the proposals will also place renewed emphasis on directing nonfood assistance funds to needy "no program" schools that lack equipment and facilities, amend the section in the regulations to make it clear that States cannot authorize "blanket approval" for schools to serve free or reduced prices to needy and non-needy children alike.

Individuals over 65 can continue working and still be eligible for Medicare.

Dear Editor:

As I read the various news items relating to the conditions that surrounded our retarded children in the institution at Kearney, I thought to myself - "How could this happen?" Isn't there a Parent Association in Kearney? I suppose I could call myself one of the states pioneers in the field of helping the retarded. I might add, was called a bit too outspoken - many.

At the time the decision was made to send some of the residents of Beatrice State Home to Kearney, because of lack of suitable space to care for them properly at our State Home for the retarded, we were assured that we would accompany these severely handicapped. This would provide the staff at Kearney with proper background. Don't blame Kearney, or Dr. Knutzman, put it where it belongs. When have those professionals who are interested in the retarded been? Do your experimenting at NPI, leave our relative at Beatrice State Home in the very capable hand of one Mr. Elmer Wyant.

KERRY ON

By Kerry Leggett

—worth repeating—
Not original, but brought in by Stan Johnson recently, is the following story worth repeating many times over:

Once upon a time there was a Little Red Hen who scratched about and uncovered some grains of wheat. She called her barnyard neighbors and said, "If we work together and plant this wheat, we will have some fine bread to eat. Who will help me plant the wheat?"

"Not I," said the Cow. "Not I," said the Duck. "Not I," said the Goose.

"Then I will," said the Little Red Hen—and she did.

After the wheat started growing, the ground turned dry and there was no rain in sight. "Who will help me water the wheat?" asked the Little Red Hen.

"Not I," said the Cow. "Not I," said the Duck. "Not I," said the Goose.

"Then I will," said the Little Red Hen—and she did.

The wheat grew tall and ripened into golden grain. "Who will help me reap the wheat?" asked the Little Red Hen.

"Not I," said the Cow. "Not I," said the Duck. "Not I," said the Goose.

"Then I will," said the Little Red Hen—and she did.

When it came time to grind the flour, "Not I," said the Cow. "I'd lose my compensation," said the Duck.

When it came time to make the bread, "That's overtime for me," said the Cow. "I'm a dropout and never learned how," said the Duck. "I'd lose welfare benefits," said the Pig. "If I'm the only one helping, that's discrimination," said the Goose.

"Then I will," said the Little Red Hen—and she did.

She baked five loaves of fine bread and held them up for her neighbors to see.

"I want some," said the Cow. "I want some," said the Pig. "I demand my share," said the Goose.

"No," said the Little Red Hen. "I can rest for a while and eat the five loaves myself."

"Excess profits," cried the Cow. "Capitalistic leech," screamed the Duck. "Company fink," screeched the Goose. "Equal Rights," grunted the Pig.

And they hurriedly painted picket signs and marched around the Little Red Hen singing "We shall overcome." And they did.

For when the Farmer came to investigate the commotion, he said, "You must not be greedy, Little Red Hen. Look at the oppressed Cow. Look at the disadvantaged Duck. Look at the less fortunate Goose. You are guilty of making second-class citizens of them!"

"But-but-but, I earned the bread," said the Little Red Hen.

"Exactly," the Little Farmer said. "That is the wonderful free enterprise system, anybody can earn as much as he wants. You should be happy to have this freedom, in other barnyards, you would have to give all five loaves to the Farmer. Here you give four loaves, to suffering neighbors."

And they all lived happily ever after, including the Little Red Hen, who smiled and smiled and clucked, "I am grateful. I am grateful."

But her neighbors wondered why she never baked any more bread.

The Cost Of A Visit

According to a report by Paul Scott in the "Scott Report" elsewhere on this page, President Nixon's intended visit to Communist China later this year may have cost the United States a great deal. It seems it is only now, after Nixon has announced the visit will definitely take place, the true facts are coming to light. It would seem the visit might cost the United States a great deal—not so much in money, although this has been hinted at by various sources, but in reversing long standing national policy.

The Scott report clearly states that the United States will exert "public pressure on the Chinese Nationalist government to withdraw its troops from the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, the defense outposts of Formosa near the China mainland." The majority opinion is if this is done, Nationalist China's ability to defend itself against Communist aggression will be reduced to an almost zero level.

But even at home, the cost of the China visits is beginning to be felt. It would seem the United States is beginning to "let its guard down" against Red China. All aircraft reconnaissance flights over mainland China have been stopped. President Nixon has also urged the Chinese policy of espionage operations in the United States be played down, much to the dismay of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Recently Hoover wrote an article exposing such activities by China in the United States entitled, "The Red Shadows of Mao-Tse-tung in America," published in a Veterans magazine. The article was so popular that requests for copies called for extra reprints to be made. In answering requests for copies from the public, before Nixon's dramatic announcement of a China visit was made, Hoover wrote, "My article entitled 'Red Shadows of Mao Tse-tung in America' is currently being reprinted. Arrangements have been made so that a copy will be sent to you as soon as it is received from the printers."

After the presidential visit was announced, Hoover began to respond to requests for more prints of his article by saying, "With regard to my earlier letter to you, I regret that due to budgetary limitations, a decision has been made not to reprint my article which appeared in the VFW magazine. Because of this, we will not be able to furnish a copy to you."

Private sources close to the FBI, according to another communication from Scott to this paper, indicate there is no budget shortage and this excuse was only given AFTER a call to Hoover was made from the White House. Scott also says the reason for Nixon ordering reprints of the article in question stopped is he feels the China visit is so important he does not want ANYTHING to anger the Communist leaders—as he was afraid wide distribution of the article would. Several members of congress may go ahead and distribute copies of the article regardless of how the President feels.

It is also indicated if the VFW does not endorse Nixon's visit to Red China, he will cancel his scheduled appearance before their convention slated for Dallas at the end of this month.

The cost of President Nixon's visit would appear high to us. It is no secret that world authorities consider Red China the biggest threat to the continued existence of a rational civilization in the next generation. We have had to strip the defenses of one of our allies, Nationalist China, for the presidential visit. We have had to stop publication of a government leader's work, because of the presidential visit to Red China. The only concession, according to the Scott Report published in this paper today that Red China has had to make was the willingness to DISCUSS the release of two American prisoners being held in China (Note: no promise of their release) and the type of conditions that might lead to their release.

It would seem to us that because of the obvious growing threat of Red China to the freedom of this nation and many others, the odds have all gone overwhelmingly in Red China's favor. It almost reminds us of the pre-World War II era when constant concessions were made to Adolph Hitler to keep the peace. As Hitler's military machine continued to roll over the opposition, the allied powers sat back and watched, thinking each victory would satisfy Hitler's power lust. It was only after Germany turned on Russia that the nations began to realize the impossibility of satisfying him and buckled down to face the situation with realism.

Let us hope history does not repeat itself and that we do not continue to grant repeated concessions to the nation that most authorities consider the greatest threat to civilization yet. RON

Dr. Spock and Spoiled Children

Sometimes we can learn a great deal about ourselves from the comments of those in other countries. An Australian newspaper, News Weekly (July 9) made the following observations about the United States, relative to the recent visit of Dr. Benjamin Spock, the well-known pediatrician, whose book on child care sold nearly 20 million copies in this country. He was visiting Australia in support of the get-out-of-Vietnam campaign. The comment of Australia's News Weekly follows:

Dr. Spock's widely-read book on child development, Baby and Child Care, has produced what he himself calls a "generation that won't be intimidated by authority for its own sake."

Speaking in Canberra recently, he admitted that this fact can be somewhat infuriating for authority, and used as an illustration his experiences of teaching in an American medical college, where he found it virtually impossible to control his class.

After conceding that his teaching experiences made him "very angry," he nevertheless added that, if he were writing his book again, he would not change a thing in it.

Dr. Spock admitted that, in his book, he simply popularized the theories of Freud, and of progressive educators in the United States.

He called that progressive educators like John Dewey reasoned that you did not have to force children to learn, but rather that they were "wild to learn," and would learn naturally.

Dr. Spock saw much good coming out of the line-up of his theories on child development, with the theories of progressive educators.

But the beneficial results of these theories are difficult to see in the country where they had the most impact — United States.

On the other hand, it would appear that the theories of

Thornton Resigns Job as Director of Personnel; Exon Seeking Successor

By Melvin Paul, Statehouse Correspondent

LINCOLN — There's going to be a new director of personnel for state government.

John M. Thornton, who has headed the personnel activities for more than three years, resigned last week.

Actually, Thornton had been operating since July as Governor James Exon's agent. That was the date a 1971 law changing the former personnel office to a department became effective.

Thornton said he didn't want to quit and he had the backing of the State Personnel Board, a five-member group established by the Legislature to provide advice and review.

The board adopted a resolution praising Thornton for his efforts in the face of what the resolution described as "passive legislative and executive interest and support."

R. D. Andersen, a Lincoln business executive and a member of the board, said Nebraska needs a strong central personnel system, but neither the executive nor the legislative branches has provided the backing to achieve that goal.

"Without central personnel administration, Andersen said, there are 80 state government agencies each going its own way. Wage and benefits differ for the same work among various state departments now.

Thornton said there is a long list of reviews necessary for the construction of state buildings, but no similar procedures for the employment of personnel—an item he said costs the state much more money.

A job classification and a plan prepared by Thornton's staff and a consulting firm was submitted to the adoption of the budget by the 1971 Legislature, but the plan wasn't used — even though it had been ordered by the lawmakers and cost $67,000 for the consultants.

A familiar plan, adjusted to fit a similar plan, has been submitted to legislative and executive budget drafters this year, but Thornton said he doesn't know whether it will be adopted.

Without such a plan, uniform salaries and benefits aren't possible, throughout state government, Thornton and Andersen said.

The plan for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1972, was based on the previous schedule, with the wage ranges for each position adjusted by 4.75 per cent at the lower grades and 3 per cent at the higher grades.

The consultants originally predicted a 5 per cent "inflation factor" would be needed to update the figures used for the fiscal year which began his past July 1.

The decision to peg the increases to those percentage levels, Thornton said, was made after studying data from wage rates in the Lincoln vicinity, and surrounding states, the Federal Consumer Price Index and the "existing" buyer's labor market.

The Scott Column

A Report From Washington

By Paul Scott

Washington, August 9: The high price that the U.S. is paying for Peking's invitation to President Nixon to visit Communist China is slowly beginning to emerge like the tip of a large iceberg.

In addition to publicly supporting Peking's membership in the United Nations, as reported in this column on July 22 and confirmed last week by Secretary of State Rogers, the President has made a number of other concessions to Red China.

Most alarming of these is a pledge that the U.S. will exert public pressure on the Chinese Nationalist government to withdraw its troops from the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, the defense outposts of Formosa near the China mainland.

The sellout of the off-shore islands, whose defenders valiantly withstood all attempts of the Chinese Communists to capture them; was agreed to by Dr. Henry Kissinger, the President's national security adviser, during his Peking meetings with Premier Chou En-Lai.

Administration insiders with access to the policy papers Kissinger took with him to Peking report that the White House emissary personally authorized by the President to make the concession to obtain the invitation for his trip to China.

Actually the ground work for the sellout of Quemoy and Matsu was laid in an overall China policy paper delivered to President Nixon shortly after he took office in January, 1969. The document was prepared by a group of pro-Peking China experts at Harvard, Columbia, and MIT headed by John K. Fairbank, director of Harvard's East Asian Research Center, and Jerome A. Cohen, professor of law at Harvard.

One of the most intriguing facts about the President's new China policy is that it has closely followed the recommendations contained in the document drafted by the Fairbank-Cohen group.

For instance the group recommended to the President that "you should seriously explore the possibility of arranging confidential — perhaps even deniable — conversations between Chinese Communist leaders and someone in whom you have confidence."

Other recommendations of the group already adopted by the President include the dropping of U.S. trade embargo, the encouraging of travel to China, and support for seating Peking in the United Nations.

PRESSURING AN ALLY — In raising the issue of the off-shore islands, the Fairbank-Cohen group proposed that the Nixon Administration should use the relative peace that prevails in the Formosa Straits "to present anew for orderly Nationalist evacuation of the off-shore islands, Matsu and Quemoy."

Their argument for turning the islands over to the Chinese Communists is a strange one. It reads like this: "While occupied by the Nationalists, these islands provide a lever by which either 'China' can draw American forces into an unwanted Asian conflict.

Along with forcing the Nationalists to give up their outer defenses of Formosa, the Fairbank-Cohen group suggested that "the U.S. should also press for an end to provocative Nationalist Acts against the mainland." In other words, the U.S. should use its full diplomatic and military power to bar any Nationalist raids on the China mainland. Nothing is said about Peking's continued threats to take over Formosa.

Already there are signs that the Nixon Administration has begun to carry out its secret pledge to Peking by adopting the off-shore island proposal put forward by the Fairbank-Cohen group. As an opening move, the U.S. Department of State has begun to carry out its secret pledge to Peking by adopting the off-shore island proposal put forward by the Fairbank-Cohen group. As an opening move, the U.S. Department of State has begun to carry out its secret pledge to Peking by adopting the off-shore island proposal put forward by the Fairbank-Cohen group.

If and when Congress repeals the resolution (both the House and Senate must still act) that the U.S. must end its authority under the Formosa Act to begin its direct pressure on the Chinese Nationalist government to evacuate the islands. How far the President and his advisers will go in exerting this pressure is still undecided and will probably depend on public opinion in this country.

OTHER PEKING DEMANDS — As reported in an earlier column, Premier Chou En-Lai made it clear to Kissinger that President Nixon could "clear the air" for his trip by removing all units of the Seventh U.S. fleet from the Formosa Straits and by cutting back on military aid to the Chinese Nationalists.

Chou also took the position that the U.S. must end its naval protection of Formosa as the first step toward a normalization of relations. While Chou didn't make this last demand a condition for the President's invitation, some of Nixon's advisers believe it might become that during the preparation talks.

Chinese Embassy officials say privately that their government has no intentions of giving up the strategic off-shore islands.

The only concession on Peking is a willingness to discuss cases of American prisoners being held in China and the conditions which might lead to the release of two of them. This is the same type concession the Peking regime made to the Eisenhower Administration nearly 20 years ago when the U.S. agreed to open discussions in Warsaw after the Korean war.

New Reformatory Studied

The chairman of a legislative study committee on law enforcement has decided plans for a new state men's reformatory must be started by the 1972 Legislature.

Sen. Roland A. Luedtke of Lincoln said he reached the decision after a tour recently of the reformatory facilities in Lincoln and a modern institution at Fox Lake, Wis.

Accompanied by an entourage of reporters, Luedtke was guided through the Nebraska facility by the new warden, Charles Wolff, and his staff.

The main building, Wolff pointed out, had peeling plaster and paint and rotting wood throughout. It has been condemned by the State Fire Marshal's office and consulting engineers.

Wolff said the building was converted to a reformatory in 1921. It had been a riding academy.

Other facilities on the reformatory grounds also were in bad physical shape, Luedtke said. The conditions, he said, make it extremely difficult for the corrections officials to conduct rehabilitative programs for the inmates.

In the cellhouse, four reformatory inmates will share a cell about 10 feet square. Wolff said the average age at the institution is 20.9 years and most of the inmates there — as opposed to the population at the penitentiary — are first-offenders.

Something Different

I Love A Parade

Living in a small town provides pleasant bonuses. One of these is attending the parades that are offered several times each year, like at Halloween, or at County Fair time.

The parade Ord enjoyed a couple of weeks ago was a dilly, a darling. Its like could not be found in any city.

There must always be music, and small towns love their bands. I don't know whose band that was, but the strutting (that's music?), the marching, the costumes and the music were interesting. While bystanders hung out of car windows and children pranced happily, the band importantly progresses around the square.

Marshal of our latest parade was Chris Ferguson, a home-grown contender for state beauty and fodeo honors who sat her good looking quarterhorse perfectly and did us proud. Her costume added zest, her horse stepped neatly, she rode straight backed and handsomely.

The historic scenes recreated on the floats represented days of toil by devoted crews who had borrowed, scoured, painted, hammered, cut brush, printed signs, sewed costumes for both little fry and their fathers. All to the goal of showing the James-town colony, the North Platte Wild West days, the driving of the golden spike as railroad tracks met, plus more.

There were some fun presentations too. One offered a go-go dancer, a topless one who coyly darted in and out of a booth. But the big mop of wig and the brawny torso and the hearty laughs tipped off the crowd... who was this fellow having fun with them?

And there were some beautiful floats that showed hours of faithful labor in the crumpled colored paper tissues that had been glued all over lengthy carriers to make fine fluffy backgrounds for pretty girls. Of course the pretty girls were decorated pretty fancy too.

Such a variety of joys. It was great fun to see Harry Bresley and a friend drive their (I think) sulkies, the light two-wheeled carts racing behind high-stepping horses. The horses pulled strongly against the reins and bystanders were pleased to watch the way horses and men regulated one another in spirited fashion.

The fire department got a bit of well-deserved acclaim, four vehicles chugging importantly after one another. This crew do an awful lot of dirty work with scanty notice or thanks from most of us!

There were dozens of entries. I didn't make notes and cannot remember them all, but there was a long, lo-o-ong thing that had trouble rounding the corners, it was some sort of mechanical contraption. Sorry I am so ignorant but I have no idea what it was.

There were little Cub Scouts marching in uniform and doing it nicely too. There were men in a flag patrol and they were applauded too though they have one fellow who is just happy to be along whether he is in step or not. It is great to note that the flag is now seen often... it seemed to be out of style for a term of years, barring Memorial day and Armistice day.

There was a horse troop with a tiny pony entry included; they rode importantly and their mounts were shiny-bright from good grooming.

There were more 4-H and project club entries that any other, and they had gone to every effort to make their floats good, which they were.

It was a lovely parade, added to when Shriners enjoyed themselves tossing free candy right and left.

Yes, it is fun to live in Ord.

KERRY ON

—worth repeating—
Not original, but brought in by Stan Johnson recently, is the following story worth repeating many times over.

She baked five loaves of fine bread and held them up for her neighbors to see. "I want some," said the Cow. "I want some," said the Pig. "I demand my share," said the Goose.

Arcadia Voters To Polls Tuesday To Decide on Park Improvements

Citizens of Arcadia will go to the polls Tuesday to decide if the city will share in an estimated $27,000 project that will provide improved park facilities at the Arcadia Legion Park. Cost of the project for the community will be $7,000 with federal and state funds being used to make up the $20,000 difference. It is estimated the project will raise the mill levy in Arcadia by "three percent or less" and the park will be used for fall, summer and spring recreation.

In full, the resolution before the voters will read, "Shall the Village of Arcadia pledge its credit and issue its negotiable bonds in the principal amount of not exceeding $7,000 to provide funds for improving an existing site for park purposes for the benefit of the inhabitants of said village, the amount, maturity and interest the bonds shall carry to be fixed by the Chairman of the Board of Trustees at the time of issuance, but said bonds shall mature in not exceeding ten years from their date, provided, however, any or all of said bonds shall be redeemable at the option of the village with or without premium as provided by law, at any time after the years from their date; and shall the Village of Arcadia cause to be levied annually taxes by valuation on all the taxable property in the Village in addition to other taxes, of a rate and amount sufficient to pay the interest and principal of said bonds as the same becomes due."

Estimated costs in the $27,000 project includes the following anticipated expenditures: Grading, $1,000; Lighting, $12,000; Backstop and fencing for baseball field, $2,000; Sodding of baseball field, $4,000; construction of a concrete building for rest rooms, storage and serving area, $5,375 and engineering, $2,625.

The proposed improvement calls for the building of a combination baseball, football and general purpose recreational area to be located on the present Legion Baseball Field. The new and vastly improved field will be adequately lighted with modern lights to allow for maximum use, especially during the summer months. At the present time, city officials noted, Arcadia has six ball teams who are forced to play at an undesirable hour for players and spectators or to play their games away from home. City officials noted they were very proud of the high degree of interest in the Arcadia summer recreational program and they would like to see it make a continued growth and become more of a benefit to young people. In addition to the obvious improvements in the Arcadia summer recreation program, city officials said it will be possible to utilize the field during the fall months and provide a highly desirable place for the Arcadia High School football games to play their home games.

City and school officials noted the present Arcadia High School Field is adequate for practice sessions during daylight hours but they pointed out it is considered less than adequate for night games because of the poor quality of lighting.

The project will include the construction of the combination baseball- football field, adequate lighting, fencing and the construction of a cement block building. One city official pointed out the field will enable more children to take part in recreational activities and be a tremendous benefit not only for the city, but for the high school as well.

Arcadia Schools Open August 30

Arcadia schools will open August 30 with classes for one half day according to Superintendent Donald D. Metzner, who is beginning his third year at Arcadia, approximately 57 students will be enrolled in high school and two new teachers will join the school system.

Hired to teach home economics was Jacquelyn Kuehl, who attended school in New Mexico. Teaching fourth grade will be Sherry Gidley, a graduate of Kearney State College. Both teachers will be assuming full time teaching positions for the first time.

Other returning teachers include Wilma Erickson, English; Mary Peters, Science; Richard Weiner, Social Studies, assistant basketball coach; Michael Cox, Mathematics and basketball coach; Jim Blylock, Commercial; Jim Hogeland, Industrial Arts and assistant football coach; Richard Bentz, Drivers Education, Physical Education and head football coach; Irene Cue Muski and Speech; Betty Landon, Jr., High Language, Arts; Doris Huriburt, Sixth Grade; Olive Schultz, Fifth Grade; Erma Landon, Third Grade; Clara Epley, Second Grade; Rosa Buck, Kindergarten and First Grade and Lorena Koelling, Remedial.

MEETING CHANGED

The Library Board meeting postponed from the third Tuesday of August will be held at 8 p.m., Aug. 24, at the Ord Township Library.

Robert Medley to Teach Art at North-Loup-Scotia

A Portrait by Medley might not mean much to people today, however North Loup-Scotia has hired a new art teacher whose works might well be in demand to a greater extent in the near future. The artist in residence is Ronald Medley who will be responsible for Junior and Senior High art in the NLS school system.

Medley received his bachelor of arts degree from Kearney State College and his master of arts from Fort Hays (Kansas) State. He has had his works shown at Joslyn National Art Center in Omaha and at an 11 state show in Springfield, Mo. In addition he has had his works shown in places such as Hays and Wichita, Kansas, and his work is also part of a permanent traveling display of art that travels across the United States.

In graduate school Medley was a member of Phi Kappa Phi and earned a straight A average. At Kearney State he was a member of Kappa Phi. Four of his works are on permanent display in Kansas, and currently a painting by Medley can bring as much as $500.

"I guess you would have to call my work, imaginative," said Medley. He readily admits that not all his paintings are going to appeal to everyone however he notes this is not the goal of an artist. He paints what he sees in and doing so relies on wealth of imagination and natural talent. He says he likes to think of his portraits as portraying what people really are — the happy side. He believes people are looking for the better things in life and this is what he strives for in his paintings.

His biggest critic is his pretty auburn haired wife, Jeanne. She is quick to point out what she likes and doesn't like about his paintings, something he deeply appreciates. Mrs. Medley will teach second grade in the North-Loup system. The couple has one daughter, six-year-old Julie. Currently the couple is in the process of fixing up their home in Ord.

Medley had the opportunity to teach at Platte County Junior College in Columbus but chose high school teaching because he felt it would be the bigger challenge. He is greatly looking forward to his teaching career and in meeting the North Loup-Scotia student body.

Allen Cahill Wins Drake Scholarship

Twenty incoming University of Nebraska - Lincoln College of Agriculture freshmen have been selected to receive Luther Drake Scholarships for the 1971-72 school year. The Scholarships are given for one year on the basis of academic achievement and need and range in value from $200 to $500. Winner of a $500 scholarship is Allen Cahill, son of Mrs. Rose Cahill, Ord. Cahill is a 1971 graduate of Ord High School.

In addition to the Drake Scholarship, Cahill also received the Don Geweke Memorial Award and the Elks Leadership Award. He is a member of the National Honor Society.

Other achievements include the State Farmer Award, Outstanding Teenager of America Award, the Elks' Most Valuable Student Award, and Who's Who in American High Schools. He has excelled in NAIA competition. He will also serve as seventh grade football coach. His even bet the classroom will be filled with hoping to impress high school girls as Adams begins classes on the first day.

RODNEY ADAMS

Rodney Adams, as announced in last week's edition of THE QUIZ will be the instructor in art for Ord Junior and Senior High School this coming school year. Adams, a recent graduate of Kearney State College won several national awards as a swimmer in NAIA competition. He will also serve as seventh grade football coach. His even bet the classroom will be filled with hoping to impress high school girls as Adams begins classes on the first day.

All boys in Junior and Senior High interested in playing football are to report 7 p.m. Friday night at the Ord High School building. Bring your physical cards. The football insurance program will be explained and practice sessions will be assigned. Practice will begin Monday for senior high members. If you can not attend the meeting contact head coach Charles Squier prior to the meeting.

North Central Group Meet Monday Night

The North Central Association for Retarded Children will have a special meeting Monday, Aug. 23 at the Special Service School in Ord at 8 p.m. Highlight of the meeting will be a guest speaker, Jean Marech, who has been involved with the S.W.E.A.T. program this summer. She is a 1971 graduate of Ord High School. Her interest in mental retardation led her to take part in the S.W.E.A.T. program, which is a summer work experience and training program, a total program dedicated to the mentally retarded.

Her talk should be of special interest to young people interested in Special Education or in any field concerned with mental retardation. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Reaction to Economic Policy Varies in Valley County Area

Will President Nixon's new economic policy have an effect on the Valley County economy? This was the question asked of several area business and education leaders shortly after Nixon's dramatic announcement was made. Below is a sampling of comments made by various leaders, most of whom asked not to be identified until things "stabilize a bit more."

"The President's much-needed action was long overdue. Though it won't help us, we'll have to live with it like all others. If the inflationary spiral is to be checked, it will take the cooperation of ALL the people and voluntary restraint by EVERYONE." — an Ord businessman.

"You can't tell anything so far. It shouldn't affect us too much. So little is known about his plans so far. Only recently we had a review of our labor situation and we know we are OK in that area. Pricing structure will give us our problems. We are wondering if we can raise our prices to match our supplier's costs. They raised their prices (steel) by six to ten percent in June and we were in the process of raising our costs. We don't know what to do now." — an Ord businessman.

"We know this will freeze all wages of affected us too much. I hope this will work and this will get the country rolling again. This should not affect the Valley County area as much as other areas. Farm commodities will not be raised and while this is somewhat of a disadvantage to the farmer, at least retail prices can't raise on them." — an Ord banker.

"This will not have any affect on our business. Something like this should have been done a long time ago. Maybe as long ago as ten years ago. Business can't help but be helped and the import business will take a beating. Did you know that Japan gets 40 percent of every dollar spent in this country? These tariffs will help. Also the excise tax will boost the economy. As for car price scheduled increases, the decision as to whether or not the proposed raises will take place will have to be made in Detroit." — an Ord car dealer.

"As for the school system, it will mostly cause us lots of headaches. Payrolls for the coming year were already figured on the basis of next year's salary scale which is now out the window. Actually, because of the membership insurance and teaching while having the same base pay as last year, will actually take home less money this year, or at least un-

Nebraskans Are "True Americans" Says Country Western Great Faron Young

BY RON BALDWIN, EDITOR

Faron Young is a name familiar to all Country and Western music fans. Young has done much to make Country and Western music one of the most popular forms of entertainment today. Young has had a total of 57 tunes that are considered the tops in Country Western music. Each of these 57 tunes were at one time on the top ten list of Country Western music.

How did Young get started in Country Western Music? "That," said Young, "is a difficult question to answer." He actually became interested in music at the ripe old age of 11 and began to sing for entertainment and enjoyment at about that time. He grew to love music and music became a part of his daily habit. He was raised on a dairy farm and upon graduation from high school, enrolled as a freshman at St. Mary's Methodist College in Louisiana. His major was business administration but in April of his first year he decided to leave the textbooks and try the life of an entertainer.

"My daddy," said the now famous entertainer, "he just knew I was going to flop and he wanted me to get back into college." Faron's father was quick to change his tune seven months later when his son recorded his first major hit, "Going Steady." The record turned the would be business administration student into an immediate star with nothing but a road of spot lights and fame ahead of him.

"I wouldn't trade this living for any other occupation I can think of," said Young. "It's really great to get out there and put on a show, especially the way they responded here tonight." Young was speaking reflectively after receiving a standing ovation from several hundred people at the Burwell Rodeo. "The people out there were really tremendous and people like that really make you fall in love with a life like this."

Young admits much of his success has been because of his high caliber, but he has had over the years. Currently he is backed by a very good band known as the "Deputies" and a very blonde, talented and pretty Jean Dyson, vocal soloist. The band currently consists of what Young terms "the best in the business." The band members are Dave Hall, Bass; Jerry Hunley, Drums; O'Dell Martin, Guitar; Skip Jackson, Steel Guitar; and Hank Singer and Red Hayes on the Electric Fiddles. It is obvious, both on the stage and off, that Young's feelings for the band is returned to him by each of them.

Young enjoyed his performance at the Burwell Rodeo because "Nebraskans represent a cross section of America. He said he felt Nebraskans are the real Americans."

Young has been involved for several years in touring the USO Shows for American servicemen overseas and is disheartened by the way a small percentage of young people who are abusing their privileges of living in America. He said he felt it was time for "The Silent Majority" to speak out against the long hair radicals in the country and if personal property is in danger, such as private homes or college buildings, to blow their brains out.

He said he felt it was important for people to exercise their right to vote and to speak out on issues in this manner. He said he felt it was important for people to protect their own rights and the right to vote in any means possible.

Is there a future in Country and Western music for the young people today? According to Young, yes, if the person is "willing to work hard and accept the fact the world doesn't owe them a living." Young said the harder a young person works, the luckier they will get and the more breaks that will come their way. He said this philosophy has been his guideline for a life-long period.

Young began his career by singing in night clubs and other "joints" at the age of 19. He performed on the Louisiana Hayride and the Grand Ole Opry. He has had a total of 57 hit tunes and has worked with some of the greatest Country Western people around the world. He is still a seemingly young man and undoubtedly Country Western music buffs will continue to hear hit tunes and see stirring performances by one of the all-time greats in the entertainment business Faron Young.

Randy Adamek Attends Peace Officers Camp

Randy Adamek, son of Mrs. Beth Adamek, Ord, is a participant this week at the American Legion sponsored Junior Law Enforcement Camp being held at the State Highway Patrol training grounds in Nebraska's capital city, Lincoln. Adamek will be a senior at Ord High School this fall. In addition to the American Legion, the Junior Law Enforcement camp is being sponsored by the Nebraska Highway Patrol.

According to Valley County Sheriff Clarence E. Fox, the camp is sponsored every year to "acquaint young people with law enforcement procedures." The boys will go through the same type of basic training a new highway patrolman would have to go through and this phase of the activity will be directed by the highway patrol.

Adamek was chosen as an alternate but the finalist could not attend the camp. He received a $30 check from the Nebraska Sheriffs and Peace Officers' Association to help pay personal expenses for the trip.

Adamek reported he is looking forward to the camp and said he would drop by the QUIZ office to report on his activities when he returned.

Wayne Porter Serves on Darter

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Wayne Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Porter of Mason City, is serving on the USS Darter with the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

His ship has been awarded the Battle Efficiency Award for Fiscal Year 1971. The Darter earned the award for a consistently high degree of morale, readiness and competence in fulfilling its operational commitments. Porter will now wear a white "E" on his right sleeve to display his ship's achievement. He is a 1969 graduate of Anselmy High School.

Darrell Buoy Ends Training at Center

Darrell E. Buoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy N. Buoy, Burwell, recently completed eight weeks of advanced individual training at the U. S. Army Armor Center, Ft. Knox, Ky.

During the training, students learn the duties of a tank crewman, including the firing of the tank's armament and small weapons. They also receive instruction in field radio operation, map reading and tank maintenance and repair.

Kermit Erickson

Area Insurance Man Named Outstanding

Kermit Erickson of Arcadia has qualified as a member of the 1971 Top Club of New York Life Insurance Co. The Top Club is composed of New York Life's outstanding agents and membership is based on 1970-71 sales records, according to General Manager, Duane D. Demaree of the company's Nebraska general office. As a member of the Top Club, Erickson has been invited to attend an educational conference in Dallas, Tex.

City Council Approves Budget; Passes Housing Resolution

The Ord City Council has adopted a 1971-72 budget of $195,452. They have also decided to allow $1,793 for collection fees and delinquent taxes and $39,076 for cur rent tax requirements. The budget in 1969-70 was $253,078 and from August 1, 1970 until July 31, 1971 a total of $205,248 was spent.

In other action the council voted to confirm and approve the action taken by the city housing authority at their meeting August 3 at which time Emil John was elected to the Board of Commissioners to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Marsene Brown.

Approved the application of the Local Authority to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a preliminary loan in amount not to exceed $30,000 for surveys and planning in connection with low-rent housing projects or not to exceed approximately 75 dwellings.

Bloodmobile To Be Here At Methodist Church Tuesday

BY GLADYS WECKBACH

The quota for the August 24th visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile in Ord is 110 units. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 65 are eligible to donate. Those between the ages of 18 and 20 must have the written consent of a parent or guardian. The visit will be from 9 A.M. to 2:30 P.M. at the Ord United Methodist Church.

Red Cross blood was also needed to save a life when 19-year-old David Sich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sich of Ord, was seriously injured in a tractor accident on June 25th. On July 26th he was taken to the Mary Lanning Hospital in Hastings where he received 8 pints of blood during his first three days there and on July 16th he received 8 more pints of blood for a total of 16 pints.

After spending six weeks in the hospital, he returned home on August 8 and although he is in a cast he can walk with crutches and is getting along fine and hopes to enter the U.S. Army and Nebraska the second semester.

His mother says, "Without the 16 pints of blood David would not be alive today. No one knows when they too will need blood. Urge anyone that is able to donate a pint of blood August 24th."

The Extension Clubs of Valley County will do the calling of the donors and the M.A.O. Club will serve the dinner for the workers. The American Legion Auxiliary of Ord, Arcadia and North Loup will furnish the orange juice, sandwiches, cookies and coffee for the donors. A baby sitter will also be at the church.

New donors are needed and walks-in are welcome.

CAROL'S CORNER

by carol leggett

Eat Off The Floor? . . . "She keeps her house so clean, you can eat off the floors?"

Everyone agreed to that. With that certain eye twinkle of approval, everybody recognized she was one wonderful woman.

Enough said? Enough! But who in bleak blazes wants to eat off the floor?

She is a superior housekeeper. Fine. Is she also a superior wife and mother. Or is she so busy keeping the house clean she has neither time nor energy to listen to the problems of her children or to praise the virtues and victories of her husband?

Maybe . . . just plain maybe it would be better to concern herself less with the house and more with her family.

Her house becomes a home only after a child's bruised knee has been looked after with tender hands and time. Her house can be a home only after her husband's woes have been soothed with a tender kiss of understanding.

What need for expert housekeeping when the housekeeper is too busy for her children and husband?

Or, to put it another way, who in bleak blazes is going to remember a house twenty, thirty, fifty years from now that was so clean you could eat off the floors?

It has been said an oldtimer is "one who can remember when back-to-school sales meant pencils instead of convertibles."

A well-stocked home freezer is likely to contain several frozen ice coolers and once you've included these Frozen Fudge Pops the youngsters will check most often to see that you have replenished their supply. The needed ingredients needed for these Frozen Fudge Pops are: 1 pkg. (4 serving size) chocolate or chocolate fudge pudding and pie filling; 1/4c. sugar and 3c. milk.

Combine pudding mix, sugar and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Cool 5 minutes, stirring twice. Pour into shallow pan. Freeze until ice crystals form around edges—about 30 minutes. Stir until smooth, but not melted. Then spoon into pop molds or 4-ounce paper cups; place a wooden stick or skewer in each. Freeze until firm. To serve, remove from molds or paper cups. Makes 7 pops.

COFFEE CUP PHILOSOPHY: A smile is a powerful weapon; you can even break ice with it!

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Autumn Bazaar

Ideas for a Hospital Auxiliary Bazaar to be held Oct. 30 at St. Mary's Auditorium was discussed in detail, Monday, at the regular meeting of the Valley County Hospital Auxiliary. Mrs. Emanuel Siche, vice president of the local group, led the evening meeting.

Mrs. Joe Shafer, chairman of the refreshment committee, reported that the Auxiliary has been serving rolls and coffee on surgery days at the hospital. Hospital Administrator Duane Wolfe commended the Volunteer Program as a success and reported that 15 girls had completed the course and nine of these have plans to enter the Health Field program.

Another in-the-future project of the Hospital Auxiliary is to sell Christmas gifts.

The next meeting is set for Sept. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lenz visited Mr. and Mrs. George Rahm, Pinedale, Wyo. at the DeLysie Burson home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Carol Moss and Kim were Sunday dinner guests of the Lores Hornickel family.

Greg Stines Honeymoon In Hawaii

Diana Marie Batterman and Greg Stine exchanged marriage vows, Aug. 14, in an evening ceremony at Messiah Lutheran Church of Broadwater. The 8 p.m. candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. L. Vander Stoep of Dalton.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Neal Batterman of Broadwater and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stine of North Loup.

Appropriate nuptial music was presented by Gail Goodrich of North Loup as pianist and Leonard Beisheim of Broadwater, the organist. Mr. and Mrs. Myron Balt of Lisco were vocalists. Special numbers included "Happy Heart", "The Wedding Prayer", and "We've Only Just Begun." Candlelighters were the bride's sister and brother Denise and Martin Batterman.

Mrs. Jerry Kelly, Jr. of Orlando, Fla. served her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Rex Letsey of Kimball was bridesmatron; Kathy Gilroy of Spalding, Joyce Clouse of Chappell and Mary Friehe of McCook were bridesmaids. The attendants wore full-length gowns of light pink and wine Stardune crepe. They carried candle-centered nosegays and wore fresh flowers in their hair.

Kendra Kelly of Orlando, Fla. and Michael Rieker of Lincoln, as flowergirl and ringbearer, preceded the bride and her father down the aisle.

For her wedding the bride wore an ivory gown of imported organza and re-embroidered Olenon lace and pearls with scalloped portrait neckline and short cap sleeves. The empire bodice and A-line skirt front featured an inset panel of smocking. The attached train fell to chapel length. Her veil of illusion was held by a Camelot headpiece accented with lace and pearls. Her bouquet was of Stephanotis, red roses, pink carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

Dale Stine was best man for his son's wedding. Groomsman were John Hanzel of Cotesfield, Tom Wagner of Scotia, Charles Sintek and Mike Hudson, both of North Loup. Richard Batterman, brother of the bride, and Roger Burrows of North Loup were ushers.

A special guest was Mrs. Dorsey Hoppe of Santa Ana, Calif., grandmother of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodrich of North Loup were host and hostess for the reception at Presbyterian Fellowship Hall in Broadwater following the ceremony. At the reception table were: Mrs. Cecil Knapp of North Loup, Mrs. Guy Metz, Jr. of Angora, Mrs. Bob Dudden of Bridgeport and Mrs. Dee Able of Broadwater. Other assistants were Mrs. Ben Loxtercamp of Broadwater, Mrs. Chester Fetters of Lisco, Mrs. Elden Fetters of Lisco, Denise Batterman, Tina Davis, both of Broadwater, Karen Watson of Bridgeport, Cyndi Batterman of Lincoln and Pam Evans of Rapid City, S. D.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii the newlyweds will reside at 1025 N. 68th, Apt. B-106 in Lincoln. Both the bride and groom are students at the University of Nebraska.

Charlene Cernik Is August Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cernik of North Loup announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlene Kay, to Alan Hruby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hruby of Comstock.

Charlene presently attends the Grand Island School of Business, majoring in the Secretarial field. Her fiancé is employed by Geac Company in Grand Island.

An Aug. 28 wedding is planned at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church of Ord.

Ex-Ord residents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stevens moved this week to Lincoln. The Stevens had formerly been at home in St. Paul.

Mrs. Bisbee . . . nee Mary Jean Krilikowski

Wed At Ord Church

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church of Ord was the scene of the Aug. 14 wedding of Mary Jean Krilikowski and John A. Bisbee.

The Rev. Stanley Gorsak performed the 2 p.m. double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Syl Furtak of Ord was organist and Marsha Pfluer of Loup City was soloist. Miss Pfluer sang "One Hand, One Heart", "Wedding Prayer" and "Everything Is Beautiful."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Krilikowski of Loup City. The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bisbee.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, appeared in a floor-length gown of embroidered silk organza featuring an Empire bodice and A-line skirt with full chapel-length train trimmed with Venice lace and daisies. The face framing, elbow-length veil was fashioned of imported silk illusion and lace Venice daisies matching the trim of the gown. She carried a cascade of Phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and ivy with baby's breath.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Omaha.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the Ord Elks Club. Serving as host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewandowski of Loup City and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kapustka of Ord.

Club News

Finishing Up
Members of the Busy Bees 4-H Club were hostesses, Aug. 5, at a special meeting honoring their mothers. The breakfast courtesy was held at the Frank Fuss home. Mrs. Frank Fuss, leader of the group, checked record books of each club member as a wind-up to the year's activities. Joan Fuss is the club reporter.

of Scotia. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sweley of Litchfield.

Alike floor-length gowns of navy and paisley print were worn by the bride's attendants, maid of honor Harriet Gustafson of Genoa; matron of honor Mrs. Altem Macklem, the bride's sister of Oxon Hill, Md.; bridesmaid Mrs. Robert Sixel of Palmer and bridesmaid Mary Sweley, the groom's sister of Litchfield. The brides of their frocks were of navy voile featuring a high neckline and Bishop sleeves. The slight fullness skirt of paisley print was accented by a band of red ribbon at the waistline. Their crownless picture hats of nylon braid were trimmed with nylon daisies. Each carried a bouquet of red and white feathered carnations and white daisy pom poms with streamers.

Flower girls, Donique Macklem and Tammy Sweley wore gowns similar to those of the attendants and carried garden baskets of red feathered carnations and white daisy pom poms.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. Her wedding dress was designed of imported organza and Alonson lace. The A-line silhouette featured a Cameo neckline of lace and Bishop sleeves. The soft fullness of the skirt was accented in back by a bow. A Camelot headpiece of organza was edged with lace and held a cathedral length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of red roses and greenery.

Wayne Sweley of Grand Island served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were the groom's brothers Gerald Sweley, George Sweley and Roger Sweley all of Grand Island. Ushers included Malcolm Kieborz, Michael Sweley, brother of the groom, and Robert Sixel, the bride's brother.

Honored guests included E. L. Hoffman and Mrs. Martha Sixel, grandparents of the bride.

Mrs. Dean Hiser of North Platte registered the guests. Gifts were opened by Mrs. James Wiegert, Mrs. Gary Olson, Sheryl Waddington and Marilyn Sweley with Kelly Hansen and Karen Peterson assisting.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church with Mr. and Mrs. James Bryson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keop as hosts and hostesses. Reception assistants were Mrs. Norman Sixel, Mrs. Harold Grummert, Mrs. M. G. Williams and Mrs. Eleanor Filter. Also Marilee Essman, Karen Wells and Kim Wells and a committee of the Ladies Aid.

The bride, a 1968 graduate of Kearney State College, will be the librarian of Roseland Public Schools this fall. The groom, after serving with the Armed Forces, is now employed at Ace Hardware in Grand Island.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will reside at 1220 N. Baltimore in Hastings.

Sally Zikmund Married Aug. 7

The wedding vows of Sally Kay Zikmund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Zikmund, Kearney, and Karl Thomas Melson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Melson, Kearney, were solemnized Aug. 7 in a 10 a.m. ceremony at the First Christian Church of Kearney.

The Rev. William Doran, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiated at the double-ring service with nuptial music by Mrs. Bill Nelson of Kearney, organist, and Bill and Randy Nelson also of Kearney, the vocalists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a Victorian style gown of linnette, trimmed in Anglican lace. She wore her great grandmother's gold locket. In her hair, the bride wore baby's breath and ribbons and carried a posy of garden flowers.

Assisting her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Paul Pocock, San Diego, Calif. Wendy Witham, Omaha, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor; Mrs. James Zikmund, Gibbon, was bridesmaid and June Richey, Kearney, was bridesmaid.

They all wore deep red voile peasant gowns in a pickwick print and red star flowers in their hair. They carried white straw baskets of country star flowers and baby's breath.

Jan Hoffman and Mrs. Gary Hartman, both of Kearney, served as candlelighters.

The groom's twin brother, Kirk Melson, was bestman. Craig Lathrop, Kearney, James Zikmund, the bride's brother of Gibbon, and Steve Larson, Axtell,

Antelope Population Same as One Year Ago

Antelope numbers in the Panhandle, Nebraska's primary pronghorn range, are at about the same level as last year, according to an aerial survey just completed by Game and Parks Commission biologists.

Following 13 days of flying, the biologists estimated the Panhandle's antelope population at about 3,850, just 4 percent under last year's figure. Sand Hills antelope units were not included in the survey, because pronghorns there are less numerous and not as well distributed.

Data on the four Panhandle management units include: Box Butte, about 1,680 antelope, up 42 percent; North Sioux, 1,300, down 38 percent; Garden, 700, no change, and Cheyenne, 170, up 185 percent. The 185 percent increase in the Cheyenne Unit shows antelope there are staging a comeback from a low of about 60 animals in 1970. No permits for that unit were issued for 1971 to allow further increases in the herd.

The survey showed 38 bucks and 59 kids per 100 does spotted. The kid-doe ratio reflects the rate of reproduction and is considered fair to good for this year. A high ratio, such as the 74 kids per doe spotted in 1968, is deemed excellent for Nebraska pronghorns.

Canfield Rites Held At Baptist Church

Palmer Canfield, Sr., a long-time farmer in the Ericson community and a resident of Ord since 1956, died Aug. 15 at Lutheran Memorial Hospital in Grand Island.

Palmer Levi Canfield was a native of Ottumwa, Ia., born Mar. 17, 1895 to John and Lillie Stingham Canfield. He and Mabel Pearl Ainsworth were united in marriage Apr. 26, 1915 at the Ord Baptist Church.

He is survived by his widow of Ord; sons John of Minneapolis, Minn., Palmer, Jr. of Mt. Pleasant, N. C., Arthur of Omaha, George of Columbus, Ohio, Arlis of Archer and Eldon of Grand Island; daughters Mrs. Lillie Hillburton of Fremont, Ia., Mrs. Pearl Paxton of Grand Island, Mrs. Bessie Pierce of Grand Island, Mrs. Mary Carstens of Ericson and Mrs. Lou Scott of Stromsburg. Also, one brother Milo of Lake Isabella, Calif.; two sisters Mrs. Martha Geseking of Robalinda, Calif. and Mrs. Josie Benson Ord; 37 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his parents, one daughter, four grandchildren, two sisters and two brothers.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Bethel Baptist Church in Ord. Pastor Robert Pier officiated at the rites with Mrs. Shirley Karre as organist and Mrs. Sharon Fuss, the soloist. Special numbers were "I'll Walk With God" and "Beyond The Sunset." Pallbearers were Ray Rozmarek, Les Nelson, Harry Michael, Dutch Jensen, Vic Bodyfield and Arthur Mentzer. Honorary pallbearers were Ed Timmerman, George Lockhart, Fay Patrick, Vernon Mentzer, Howard Bodyfield, Mark Bodyfield, Roy Swanson and Ray Philbrick. Burial was in the Ord City Cemetery with the Ord Memorial Chapel in charge.

New Method of Pheasant Breeding Experiment Underway

A new method of raising pheasant chicks in areas deficient in nesting cover may be feasible in Nebraska on a limited scale, according to the results of an experiment recently completed by the Game and Parks Commission.

The technique did not prove successful enough to justify use on a statewide basis, according to researchers evaluating the results. However, it may be feasible to landowners and sportsmen clubs that want to boost pheasant numbers in specific localities.

In the experiment, temporarily flightless game farm hens were placed in one-acre plots of alfalfa surrounded by a five-foot wire mesh fence. It was hoped the hens would be bred by wild cocks, then nest and raise their young within the pens. By the time the hens regain flight feathers, the pheasant chicks should be old enough to leave with their mothers.

Game farm hens were used because they are more tolerant of crowding than wild birds. In the wild, a ringneck often requires more than an acre to nest, while game farm hens can get by with as little as a few hundred square feet of space.

Results of the study indicate wild roosters will breed with tame hens and at least some hens will be able to nest and raise young in the crowded pens. Of the 140 hens involved, 23 reared broods, for a nesting success of about 11 percent. About 12 to 15 percent of ewild hens successfully raise chicks. The penned hens were able to produce 21 chicks per acre of nesting space, compared to about 3 chicks per acre of cover for wild birds under the best of conditions.

Yet to be calculated is the cost per bird raised in the pens. Still, researchers believe this may be a more satisfactory method of raising ringnecks than the old practice of stocking game farm cocks and hens in the spring.

In order to qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award, white bass must weigh at least 2 1/2 pounds.

Flathead catfish must weigh at least 15 pounds to qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award.

Pheasant Number Same as in 1970

Hunters can expect roughly the same number of pheasants for the 1971 season, according to the results of a statewide survey conducted in late July by rural mail carriers and tabulated by Game Commission biologists.

The survey showed pheasant numbers down by nearly 7 percent statewide, but the number of chicks per brood observed was up nearly 6 percent. Broods were larger in all areas of the state except the Panhandle, where a 25 percent decline was noted.

In the southwest, the overall population was down about 5 percent, but the broods averaged 18 percent larger. Broods in central Nebraska were 15 percent larger, while the overall population fell nearly 8 percent. The ringneck population in the northeast was less than 2 percent lower, with broods more than 6 percent larger, while southeast Nebraska showed a decline of 7 percent in overall population and an increase of about 3 percent in the number of chicks per brood.

The carriers also noted other game species observed. Their data showed a statewide decline of about 8 percent in the number of quail and no change in the cottontail population.

In addition to the summer brood count survey, the mail carriers conduct counts each spring to provide information on breeding population and another during the winter to furnish sex-ratio data following the season.

Rural mailmen have cooperated with the Game Commission in these surveys since 1945, noting the number of birds they spot while covering their regular daily routes. Their data has provided information valuable to biologists in pheasant management. One advantage the mail carrier count gives over other survey methods is that it provides a much wider sample than would be possible using the Game Commission's limited number of game technicians and conservation officers.

Nebraska Gets Federal Funds

Nebraska has received a preliminary apportionment of $348,724 in federal aid funds for wildlife restoration for 1972, $21,500 of which may be used for hunter safety training.

However, whether Nebraska will be able to use the money for a safety program depends on the Game and Parks Commission's ability to free funds from other commitments to make up its required 25 percent matching funds. If Nebraska cannot use the $21,500 for hunter safety or assistance in range construction, the money will revert to the federal government for other wildlife restoration activities.

The federal funds come from the 11 percent tax on sporting arms and ammunition and the 10 percent excise tax on pistols and revolvers. The money is deposited in a special fund created by the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act of 1937 and amended in 1970 to include the tax on handguns.

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, as the only state agency to testify before Congress, was instrumental in securing passage of the bill that allocated the handgun tax for firearm safety training and wildlife restoration. Previously, the revenue from the tax on handguns went into the U.S. general fund.

The distribution of money announced in July will enable the state to continue its training programs after July 1 until an additional apportionment is made in the fall. This was the first distribution using excise receipts from pistols and revolvers and also the first for hunter safety programs.

White bass schools can often be located on Nebraska reservoirs by watching the gulls, especially in late summer. The gulls mark the white bass school's location when they gather to feed on bait fish that the bass pursue to the surface.

AT CAMP — Randy Adamek, son of Mrs. Beth Adamek is attending the Junior Law enforcement camp being held at Lincoln this week. He is shown here receiving a check from Valley County Sheriff Clarence E. Fox on behalf of the Nebraska Sheriff and Peace Officers Association to help with expenses of the trip.

Does Bazaar Set For Nov. 20 at Elks Club

The Christmas in November Bazaar date has been set for Saturday, November 20th, by the Ord Does. It is held at the Elks Lodge all day.

During the Summer months of June, July and August there is only one meeting held each month. At the July meeting a full report of the National Does Convention held through June 20th in Omaha, was given by President Mary Lu Koll. Slides were shown.

A total of 606 Does were registered from all over the United States and Hawaii. A Roaring Twenties Contest was held for one evening's entertainment, and an Ord Doe, Margaret Steinwart, was one of the twelve finalists for the title of Roaring Twenties Queen. A contestant from Florida Keys won the title.

Bird and Trapping Seasons to be Set

Regulations for Nebraska's 1971 upland game bird, waterfowl, and trapping seasons will be set at a meeting of the Game and Parks Commissioners in Lincoln on Friday, August 20.

Interested individuals and game biologists will testify at the public hearing on the seasons at 9 a.m. at the Commission's headquarters building at 2500 North 33rd Street. Commissioners will then decide bag and possession limits, shooting hours, and closing dates for pheasants, quail, and grouse. Opening dates were decided earlier this year.

In addition, all regulations for waterfowl will be determined, based on guidelines issued by the U.S. Department of Interior. The federal framework for waterfowl hunting is usually not available until about the third week in August.

Commissioners will also set trapping seasons for beaver, muskrat, and mink at this time. Other public hearings on hunting regulations will deal with Plattsmouth Waterfowl Management Area at 11 a.m. and the Salt Valley reservoirs around Lincoln at 11:15 a.m.

State Game Hunt Laws Changed

Big game hunters in Nebraska will be carrying a new style permit into the field this year, with a single carcass tag attached rather than the separate hide and quarter tags that came with old style licenses.

The old permits were of light-weight paper, while the tags were of a heavier composition. This year, the permit and single tag will be of the heavier weight stock, with a row of perforations separating them.

This year, immediately after the hunter downs his deer or antelope, he must detach the tag and affix it to the animal. Separating the tag from the permit automatically cancels the license.

The tag contains a space for the hunter's signature, and spaces where he must punch the date the animal was taken. The tag must be signed before the hunter goes afield, and the dates and information on the animal taken must be punched in the field when attached to the carcass.

The first of these permits will soon be in the hands of hunters as the Game Commission will mail the first antelope permits shortly.

Plattsmouth Applications Are Now Being Taken

Several hundred applications for blind reservations at Plattsmouth Waterfowl Management Area for the 1971 waterfowl season have been received by the Game and Parks Commission, and they are still coming in.

Applications will be accepted until the 11 a.m. public drawing on September 7, which will determine the lucky hunters who will have the use of a blind for a full day for themselves and up to three guests.

Forms may be obtained by writing the Game and Parks Commission, P.O. Box 30370, Lincoln, Nebr. 68503, or in person at the Commission headquarters, 2200 North 33rd Street, Lincoln.

Hunting at Plattsmouth will run from October 15 through December 15, providing those recommended dates are approved by the Game Commissioners at their meeting on August 20. When submitting applications, gunners should not ask for a Wednesday, since the area is closed that day throughout the season.

During the past four seasons, some 4,400 goose hunters have bagged more than 2,500 birds at Plattsmouth. Last year, geese remained on the area from early October through December, and the population reached a peak of some 90,000 birds in mid-November.

Black crappie go by many aliases across the U.S. Names include calico bass, strawberry bass, papermouth, tinmouth, grass bass, and speckled crappie.

Sally Hudson Marks Birthday Event Celebrated With Party

By Bertha Clement
Sally Hudson, Orange, Calif. was ten years old on Aug. 3. To celebrate her birthday her grandmother, Mrs. Albert Peterson had a party recently at the Ord park in her honor.

Babbles by Bertha
It is noticeably quiet around here this week. Our daughter, Kathleen Sibley and girls Jennifer and Barbara, Mexico City, left Wednesday morning and grandson Tom went home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Johnson and Tracy drove to Kansas City, Mo. Brian returned home Sunday afternoon and spent the night with their daughter Donna Johnson. Saturday they went to Hannibal, Mo. and visited Mark Twain country and took a cruise on the Mississippi River. They left Tracy at Art Gaines Baseball Camp, Louisiana, Mo. where he will be for two weeks. After that, Donna back to Kansas City the Johnsons left for home, arriving very early Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Foth, Debbie, Loree, Barbara and Brian returned home Sunday afternoon and spent the night with their daughter Donna Johnson. Saturday they went to Hannibal, Mo. and visited Mark Twain country and took a cruise on the Mississippi River.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Homan and son, San Francisco, Calif. are visiting his folks, Mr. and Mrs. John Homan, Cedar Rapids. They expect to return to her folks and the Henry Langes Wednesday after a short visit will return to their California home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Sohrweid attended the wedding of his niece Judy Jones and Michael Workman in Kearney Saturday evening.

The annual picnic of Mutual Benefit Extension Club was held at the Ord park Wednesday evening. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foth and grandsons, Johnny and Jeff Beldeck, Mr. and Mrs. George Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Lenz, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lange, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peterson.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Mira Valley United Methodist Church met Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Richard Knapp and Mrs. Bryan Peterson were leaders of the lesson "Change Means Risks for the Young Adults." Six young women, Mrs. Dale Wilson, Mrs. Roger Arnold, Mrs. Rollie Staab, Mrs. Arden Koelling, Mrs. Dan Spilnek and Mrs. Richard Knapp, presented a skit telling the problems. Hostesses were Mrs. Edwin Lenz, Mrs. Dick Peterson and Mrs. Jack Duvall.

The Rev. and Mrs. Alva Pingel, Paul, Patricia, Tamara and Lori, Cedarburg, Wis. were guests of her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bredthauer from Thursday until Saturday. Visiting them during their stay here Mrs. Bernard Bredthauer, the Herbert Bredthauer family of Arcadia and the Eugene Bredthauer family. After leaving here the Pingels vacationed in Colorado and visited in South Dakota before returning home.

National School Lunch Regulations Undergo Change

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced proposed changes in National School Lunch Regulations intended for the fiscal year 1972 that began July 1, 1971.

Under the proposals, special section 32 funds would be used as needed to supplement funds appropriated under the National School Lunch Act so that each State could be assured minimum State-wide average reimbursement rates for school lunches served. The plan would assure a minimum average of 30 cents per lunch from section 4 — that section of the National School Lunch Act that provides reimbursement for all lunches — and a minimum average of 30 cents more per lunch from section 11 — the section relating to special assistance for lunches served free or at reduced prices.

Under the present apportionment system which takes into consideration the average per capita income of the States, many States are able to pay

George Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burmood and Vickie. Mrs. Edna Collins was a Monday visitor.

Cindy Palu, Loup City, spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mroczek and aunt Janice.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Arnold and family visited her folks, the Leo Mroczeks Sunday afternoon.

Joan Fuss, North Loup, spent Wednesday to Sunday with her grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Fuss.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Sintek and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Manchester, all of North Loup, visited the Stan Johnsons Thursday evening. Jeanette Lange and Jim Rickstatter, both of Kearney, spent the weekend with her folks, the Eldon Langes.

Richard Duvall and fiancée Nancy Fay, both of Norfolk, spent the weekend with folks, the Jack Duvalls and attended the rodeo at Burwell.

Mrs. David Glimsmann, Rockville, visited her sister Mrs. Lores Hornickel Friday morning. Rogene Hornickel was home from Hastings for the weekend.

of section 32 funds would continue to be made available in 1972 for Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa for section 11 purposes.

The revisions also will place increased emphasis on directing nonfood assistance funds to needy "no program" schools that lack equipment and facilities, by requiring State agencies to reserve 50 percent of these funds for such schools.

The portion of the regulations dealing with alternate methods of making eligibility determinations of needy children for free or reduced price lunches would be amended to clarify that special cash assistance reimbursement cannot be authorized for all lunches served in a participating school unless a reasonable basis exists for a finding that all the children in the school are needy.

The proposed changes will appear in the Federal Register on Friday, August 13, 1971. Comments, suggestions, or objections are invited and may be delivered within 15 days to Herbert D. Rorex, Director, Child Nutrition Division, Food and Nutrition Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250. Comments received will be open to public inspection.

Nebraska University football fans can sit back and breathe a sigh of relief. The kiss of death has by-passed the Cornhuskers for the 1971 football season. PLAYBOY MAGAZINE did NOT pick the University of Nebraska as the Number 1 football team in the nation, as most national polls have 'till now. The Dooms-Day honor has gone to Notre Dame and if the PLAYBOY Hex continues this season, Notre Dame will not have one of its better years.

Remember a few years ago when PLAYBOY socked it to Houston? The magazine picked the school to win the National Grid title with ease but by the end of the season Houston had completed a tremendous 3-7-0 record, good enough for one of the worst records in the school's history. Or remember a couple of years back when Miami of Florida received the "honor". That year the Hurricanes finished 2-8 including losses in their first four games-of-the-season. Last year it was Southern California that got scalped. The Trojans were tabbed the Number 1 team in the nation by the famous bunny magazine and finished 5-4-1 and missed their first Rose Bowl appearance in years.

Now, I am not one to be superstitious, however I'm mighty glad PLAYBOY left the Huskers alone and put the Irish on top.

Oh, incidently, PLAYBOY has tabbed NU as second best in the nation. One comment includes, "If the Huskers can get past Southern California and Colorado — and if Notre Dame falters — the season's conference finale with Oklahoma might decide the national championship". No wonder PLAYBOY has difficulties in picking National Championship winners — they seem to be using last year's schedule. Southern Cal and NU will not meet each other this season. Oh well, lets hope its another one of those PLAYBOY years.

The remainder of the top ten includes Southern Cal, 3rd; Michigan 4th; Georgia 5th; Syracuse 6th; Arkansas 7th; Oklahoma 8th; Auburn 9th; and Penn State 10th. Texas, high on everyone's list, has managed to get the 20th spot in the PLAYBOY poll. Its also interesting to note while NU is tabbed 2nd by the magazine, not one Husker is one the PLAYBOY ALL AMERICAN TEAM, a unit dominated by Notre Dame. Oh well; we'll be content to await New Year's Day to decide Who's Who in College football.

SARGENT EXPECTED TO IMPROVE

Coach Wendell Conover of Sargent is optimistic this year's Bulldog team will improve over last years Says Conover, "The Bulldogs will be led by All Conference performers Jim Beran, Lonnie Allison and Rick Stone. However much is expected from several others. If Sargent is to be a contender the underclassmen will have to progress rapidly."

Conover also believes Burwell, Arnold and North Loup-Scotia will be among the toughest opponents of the season. Sargent will compete in both the LHTC and the Custer County Conferences. Conover will be assisted by Charles Mason as assistant coach.

The complete schedule includes Burwell, Away Sept. 10; Cario Centura, Home Sept. 17; Rock County (Bassett) Away; Sept. 24; Arnold, Away Oct. 1; Ansley, Home Oct. 8; Callaway, Home Oct. 15; Greeley, Away Oct. 22; North Loup-Scotia, Home Oct. 29; and Anselmo-Merna, Home Nov. 5.

SPORTS QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Last week we asked if anyone in the area could guess what the series record in football is between Ord and Broken Bow. No one that has told us their guess has come even close. In reality the series stands at 22 wins for Broken Bow and 21 wins for Ord with six contests ending in a tie. The first game between the Indians and Chanticleers took place way back in 1920 with Bow taking an 81-0 win. In 1922 Ord upset the Indians 9-7 to gain a measure of revenge. The biggest margin of victory for Ord in the series was 46-13 in 1965. Broken Bow has won by scores as 81-0; 57-6; 38-0; 51-0; and 41-0. This information is according to official Ord High statistics.

Bartu's Houseguest

Mr. and Mrs. August Bartu had his brother Jerry Bartu of Los Angeles, Calif. as their houseguest during the past week. On Wednesday of last week, Mr. and Mrs. August Bartu, Mrs. Joe Bartu and Jerry Bartu travelled to Martin, S. D. where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Lad Drobny. Mrs. Drobny is a sister of the men. While in the area, Mr. and Mrs. August Bartu enjoyed an overnight visit with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wozniak, at Rushville.

Jerry Bartu left Tuesday for his home in California. Mr. and Mrs. August Bartu and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bartu took him to Grand Island, Monday.

Dinner For Adameks

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Adamek, Carol and Billy of Burlington, Wash. were honored with a dinner, Sunday, at the Leonard Weverka home in Ord. Guests with the honored ones were Mr. and Mrs. James Adamek and family of Seward; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Adamek and family of Lincoln; Mrs. Emma Adamek, Mrs. Hattie Kasper and Mrs. Alice Urbanski.

WHO, ME WORRY? So Might be the question Ord Legion baseball coach Ed Vancura would ask if someone would ever approach him at an Ord Legion baseball game. Vancura's worried pose comes while watching Ord paste St. Edward 14 to 3 Wednesday night in the first game of the Albion Invitational. Vancura's team finished second in the post-season tournament, beating Albion 10 to 7 before losing the championship game to Fullerton by 9 to 8.

A SWINGING TIME — Lyle Sevensen takes a swing at the ball during the Ord-St. Edward Legion baseball game played Wednesday night. He missed this one but he and the rest of his team mates managed to hit enough later ones to send St. Edward home in a tail spin to 14 to 3.

Veterans Wishing to Enter College Should Prepare

Nebraska veterans who plan to enter colleges or universities this fall should contact the Veterans Administration immediately. The agency urged today.

"The first thing a veteran should do is choose a school and an educational objective, C. W. Nixon, Director, said. "He should then request a certificate of eligibility from the nearest VA office. The VA will send two copies of the certificate which should be submitted to the school. The school will endorse one copy and forward it to the regional office."

Nixon suggested also that the veteran follow through to make sure the school forwards the certificate to help insure he starts receiving his monthly checks promptly.

If the veteran is returning to the same school and the same program, it is not necessary to get another certificate, he said.

But if he plans to change schools or his educational objective within the same school, he must get VA approval. The VA Director underlined the importance of acting promptly because many colleges and universities have already been filled. However, he noted that many schools give special consideration to veterans.

To be eligible for educational benefits, a veteran or serviceman must have served at least 181 days of continuous active duty, any part of it after January 31, 1955. Or he must have been separated for a service-connected disability without regard to length of service.

Veterans desiring further information on educational benefits were urged to contact the VA Regional Office, at 220 South 17th Street, Lincoln, Nebraska, their local veterans service organization representative or nearest Veterans County Service

Mike Beran Finds Success on NU Football Team; Awaits '71 Season

Mike Beran learned a lot of things last fall and winter as a member of the top football team in the nation — the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers. His most valuable lesson however may have been learned on a crisp autumn afternoon last fall when NU journeyed to Minneapolis, Minn. to meet Big 10 Conference foe Minnesota. That lesson was — you just don't go to sleep, not even BEFORE a football game.

Before the Minnesota game, Beran decided to get a little "shuteye" while awaiting the clock's signal for the game to start. Beran got his shuteye, but it was so solid a sleep he wasn't aware when the rest of the team left for Minnesota's Stadium and he slept through the departure, causing NU Coach Bud DeVaney to send a special car back for him. Beran saw enough action in that game as an offensive guard, and in other NU battles, to earn an "M" monogram in football in his first season of playing for Big Red.

"It's really kind of funny," laughed the former high school Central Ten All-Conference selection. "If things go as they should or as I hope they will, I will get more letters at the University than I did while playing ball here at Ord. Beran lettered his Junior and Senior years at Ord High and was an All-Conference selection during his final year. He played under Allan Belinger and Dave Van Nordheim to the positions of guard and tackle. He went to NU without an athletic scholarship but quickly proved he was ready for the rigors of Big 8 competition.

"I'll never forget that first moment on the field against Wake Forest," reminisced Beran. "It was really great something I had always hoped for but never thought would come to be." The noisy cheers of 65,000 scarlet clad fans quickly faded into the background as contact was made. Another highlight for Beran was playing at the famed Los Angeles Coliseum against Southern California University, a game that, when Notre Dame stumbled against the same team at the same location, was to boost Nebraska's chances for the National Championship.

"From that point on, Beran was in on all the big wins for NU including Minnesota, Army, Missouri, Colorado, Iowa State, Kansas, Oklahoma State, Kansas State and Oklahoma and then, the big one, Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl.

Beran enjoyed his trip to the Orange Bowl and all the sights of the coastal city. His only complaints were everything was "so expensive" and "everyone had an eastern accent."

"What of this year for the defending National Champions? "We'll be good," said Beran. "I don't know for sure, but I really think Humm will be red-shirted that will solve the quarterback situation for one year. Our defense should be better."

Beran said he expected the toughest competition to come from Oklahoma, Colorado and Oregon. He said last years toughest foe was USC followed by LSU and Oklahoma. He noted his freshman team was undefeated at NU (4-0) and his first year of varsity ball was also a perfect one (11-0-1) so he is expecting the good fortune to continue during this coming season.

Undoubtedly 60,000 plus screaming Big Red fans crammed into Memorial Stadium at Lincoln on a Saturday afternoon, plus the several thousand other loyal NU fans across the state hope right along with Beran that he again will have another season without tasting the bitter taste of defeat with an NU football team.

Janice Mroczek, Norma Kreilek and Carol Peterson and guests Sharon King and Sally Hudson. Families attending were the Lyle Foths, Harold Kings, Joe Kreileks, Leo Mroczeks, Bryan Petersons and Dick Petersons. Mrs. Eugene Bredthauer joined the group later in the evening.

Club leaders Mrs. Alma Bredthauer and Mrs. Arlene Peterson plus Junior Leader Gretchen Foth sponsored the overnight stay and all day Monday events. Mrs. Harold King assisted in taking the girls home, Monday afternoon.

Sears Recalls Mini-Bikes

Sears, Roebuck and Co. is continuing its efforts to locate three models of mini-bikes for replacement of fuel tanks, according to Lee Krepel, manager of the firm's sales office in Ord.

He identified the mini-bike models, which have been marketed since February, as Nos. 80716, 80717 and 807660.

He noted that in a few cases tanks on the vehicles, when used at high speeds over rough terrain, have experienced gas line leakage.

"Although we have no reports of injury," he said, "we feel there is a potential hazard and urge customers who have purchased such mini-bikes to return them for fuel tank replacement."

The company is contacting known customers. However, because there is a possibility that all owners cannot be identified, the company urges purchasers of Sears mini-bikes since February to check model identification.

Krepel said that the potential problem does not exist in the firm's other mini-bike models.

In addition to the number on the model number plate, he said the mini-bikes also could be identified by a tandem-mounted fuel tank which is attached in front of the vehicle's seat.

READY FOR SATURDAY — This trio of Shrine North All Stars are awaiting action in the annual Cornhusker North-South Shrine All Star game to be played Saturday at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus. Expected to play major roles in the outcome of the game, are North Loup Scotias' Jon Reeves (kneeling), Ord's Bob Peterson (right) and Kim Thomas of Pierce. Peterson is expected to play for the North despite suffering a minor neck strain the first day of practice. (Photo compliments Tom Ash—Omaha World Herald)

Newcomers Hruza, Urbanovsky and Sevenkers Look Good Veterans Hruby, Farmer and Visek Help Ord to Second Place at Albion

The Ord Legion Baseball team, spiced with such veterans as Jeff Hruby, Darrell Farmer and Bob Visek, along with newcomers Hruza and Lynn Sevenker, Albert Hruza and Dennis Urbanovsky, battled hard at the Albion Invitational Baseball Tournament but still could gain only the second place trophy. Fullerton rallied for two runs in the bottom of the final inning before a spirited crowd to take the championship with a 9 to 8 win over tournament favorite Ord.

On the whole head coach Edwin Vancura was pleased with Ord's performance and said of the Fullerton game, "It would have been a nice one to win and it certainly was a tough one to lose. The tournament did indicate we will be strong next year. I felt the Sevenker brothers, Lyle and Lynn, along with Albert Hruza and Dennis Urbanovsky proved they will be able to come off the Midget team next summer and step right into top-notch Legion competition."

Vancura said he hoped the large following Ord had this year "will grow even more next year" and said he was particularly proud of the way the parents supported the program this summer.

ORD
ST. EDWARD 3
Ord opened the Albion Invitational Tournament by drubbing St. Edward by a 14 to 3 score. Ord had 14 runs on 10 hits and two errors compared to St. Ed's three runs on three hits and five errors.

The big O jumped to a 2 to 1 lead at the end of one full inning of play and raised it to 9 to 1 before St. Ed could get back on the scoreboard in the bottom of the sixth inning. Ord scored five runs in the final inning to win going away. Long time veteran pitcher Robert Visek picked up the win for Ord while the losing pitcher for St. Edward was Jasa.

Leading Ord's high scoring attack was Leon Brechbill with a double in the fourth, a single in the seventh and runs in the first and seventh; Scott Patrick with a single in the seventh and runs in the first and seventh; Farmer with a single in the sixth and a run in the fifth; Dean Vancura with a single in the first, fourth and seventh and runs in the fourth and seventh; Lyle Sevenker with a double in the second and runs in the second, fourth, sixth and seventh. Dennis Urbanovsky with scores in the sixth and seventh, and Bob Visek with a triple in the fourth and a run in the fourth.

ALBION 10
Host Albion clung desperately to a 1 to 0 lead for two full innings before Ord scored four runs in the third inning to take the first lead of the game. When the dust finally cleared from the dry grass, bare Albion diamond, the visitors had claimed a 10 to 7 victory. Again, as was the case many times during Ord's summer Legion campaign, the winning pitcher was Bob Visek.

Ord had ten runs on five hits and two errors while Albion scored seven runs on five hits and three errors. Coach Vancura termed it a "tough game, one that could have gone either way."

Tom Klanecky scored three runs, one each in the third, fourth and sixth innings to help lead Ord's attack. Other scorers and hitters included, Scott Patrick, single in the third, fourth and sixth and runs in the same innings; Leon Brechbill, runs in the third and sixth; Jeff Hruza, a single in the fourth; Dean Vancura, single in the second; and Darrell Farmer, a run in the fifth; and Lynn Sevenker, a run in the third inning.

ORD
"It could have gone either way," was Coach Vancura's comment concerning the title tussle with Fullerton. The underdog Fullerton team had to rally for two runs in the bottom of the seventh and final inning to catch the championship after Ord had scored two runs in the top of the same inning to take an 8 to 7 lead. Throughout the battle the Albion home crowd displayed a strong sentimentality leaning toward Fullerton, a demonstration that turned into absolute pandemonium in the final fair raising inning.

Taking the loss for Ord was Scott Patrick however other pitchers for Ord included Dean Vancura and Bob Visek.

Hruby had a single in the third and scored in the first; Vancura a single in the first; Farmer a single in the third; and Hruza a run in the fourth and seventh. For the game Ord had eight runs, eight hits and four errors and Fullerton nine runs on 11 hits and three errors. Fullerton scored four unearned runs in the second period to turn the tables and enabled them to pull the upset.

Broken Bow Crown To Arcadia Girls

The Arcadia Women's Softball team participated in the Town and Country League Tournament held in Tomahawk Park at Broken Bow last weekend. The Valley County entry put it all together and brought home the first place trophy.

Saturday Arcadia took the first game over Sargent 19 to 2. Janet Kerchal was the winning pitcher, the game going only five innings because of the ten run rule.

In their second game Arcadia got revenge from a regular season defeat by whipping arch-rival Westerville 8 to 6 in a tough battle. June Wiese was the winning pitcher.

In the championship game Arcadia again avenged an earlier defeat by soundly beating Occo to 15 to 3. This game was also called at 5 innings with Kerchal getting another win.

In the consolation game Westerville took home third place by beating Charlie Brown All-Stars, a Broken Bow team.

The Misfits, another Broken Bow team, won the sportsmanship trophy. This trophy is given because the league feels that sportsmanship is as important a facet of the game as hitting, fielding and pitching.

Head coach was Bill Crist.

SWINGING TIME — Lyle Sevenker missed this hit, however it didn't make much difference as he and the rest of the team combined forces to drive in 14 runs in the Ord-St. Edward game in the first round of the Albion Invitational. Ord sent St. Edward home in a fall spin by winning 14 to 3. Ord downed host Albion the following night by 10 to 7 but fell in the finals to Fullerton 9-8. Jeff Hruzy, Darrell Farmer and Bob Visek wrapped up their Legion careers during the tournament.

Continuing Education Courses Kearney State College

Kearney State College has established ORD as one of the continuing education centers in central Nebraska to be used in offering off-campus classes.

The courses will be offered at ORD SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL, and they are listed below. They will begin with the week of September 6 and end with the week of December 13, providing a minimum of twenty students register for these courses.

Ed. Adm 650-5 Secondary School Curriculum Wed. 7:00 PM
3 credit hours

El. Ed. 475 Trends in El. Teach. Meth. Wed. 7:00 PM

Other courses will be offered whenever a minimum of twenty students indicate an interest in a specific course, and instructors are available.

It is planned that the services of Kearney State College will become available to more residents of the area. This program will make it possible for graduates and interested people to start or continue their college program and remain on their jobs and live at home. The classes meet one night a week (a night most suitable for the group), two-and-one half hours for fifteen weeks for three hours credit. Teachers or non-teachers who are interested in registering for off-campus courses indicate so by returning the form below.

State Fair To Offer Fishing Tips

Want to pick up some new tips on how to catch bass? Nebraska's fishermen will have this opportunity, along with a chance to learn a great many outdoor skills at the State Fair, September 2 through 8.

This year the Game and Parks Commission has prepared a program for its exhibit area at the Fair that is sure to be enjoyed by all sportsmen, regardless of their interests. A continuous lineup of demonstrations and clinics is planned for anglers, hunters, and other outdoorsmen. Ranging from fly-tying to trapping, the brief but informative sessions will also cover such subjects as casting, tackle selection, and similar techniques of interest to fishermen, with rifle and archery clinics for hunters.

Similar clinics are planned which will cover a diverse range of outdoor subjects, including an environmental clinic — what individuals can do about pollution, a camping clinic, and a session on outdoor photography.

Also within the Commission's old west stockade on the Lincoln

Fairgrounds will be a large pond, giving anglers a chance to sharpen their casting eye, while hunters can improve their skills in a special waterfowl identification display. Fishing, hunting, and combination licenses will be on sale at the fair, including any remaining permits for the 1975 deer season.

These new attractions, along with the Commission's always popular wildlife exhibits and other outdoor-oriented displays and events, will once again make the Game Commission's area a not-to-be-missed stop on the State Fair visitor's itinerary.

Parents should keep a watchful eye on children when in or near the water, suggests Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. From flying to trapping, the brief but informative sessions will also cover such subjects as casting, tackle selection, and similar techniques of interest to fishermen, with rifle and archery clinics for hunters.

Large backyard swimming pools should be divided by depth lines, just the same way that municipal pools are, advises Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. Depth lines tend to keep swimmers where they belong, according to their experience, instead of letting people swim out "over their heads."

NTRDA Looking For Artists to Design

A new call for artists has been issued by the Nebraska Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association in cooperation with the National Association of Designers for the 1973 Christmas Seal. Since 1907 the Christmas Seal has not only been a part of America's Holiday tradition but also has helped make it possible to raise many millions of dollars for medical education and research in nation wide respiratory disease programs.

The winning artist will be given an award of $1,000.00 as well as national wide publicity. The Christmas Seal design itself appears in every medium of communication including television, and becomes a part of history as a collector's item.

The winning artist for this year's design is J. J. Clarke of San Leandro, California. His is a fresh, bright, 4-panel design that bridges the generation gap to appeal to everyone. It happily combines gay colors in a bold, contemporary treatment that will decorate gifts and letters alike.

Mr. Clarke is a professional graphic artist specializing in packages and book covers although he has won many awards for his paintings. Mr. Clarke submitted his first Christmas Seal design in 1964 and has been trying to win every year since.

Complete details and a fully illustrated brochure on the competition are available from the Nebraska Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, 406 W.O.W. Building, Omaha, Nebraska 68102.

Caution Urged Over Labor Day Weekend

The Labor Day holiday climaxes the tourist season in Nebraska's highways, especially the interstates, which will have heavy traffic, and some motorists will have troubles. Knowing this, the Department of Roads is prepared to help those who run into problems during the three-day holiday.

Six emergency service vehicles will maintain 16-hour patrol on Interstate 80. These vehicles are equipped with emergency gasoline and oil, extra water, heavy duty jacks, air wrenches, fire extinguishers and first-aid kits to take care of most minor problems on the scene. Patrolmen are equipped with hot and cold water, rest rooms, picnic shelters, and exercise areas for both people and pets.

Roadside rests have picnic tables and trash receptacles. They are usually located in a shaded area. Traffic safety experts recommend a break after every two hours at the wheel. Several civic organizations will be serving free coffee and cookies at some of the safety rest areas as part of Nebraska's all-out campaign to reduce traffic accidents. These sites are manned by volunteers who donate time and supplies without cost to the state or the travelers.

The News from Washington

Deficit The Federal government closed its books on fiscal year '71 on June 30th with a deficit of $23.2 billion. This is the second highest deficit since World War II. The greatest deficit — $25 billion — occurred during the last year of the Johnson Administration.

Strikes Our Country recently has gone through a period of more major strikes than any time in recent history. Western Union was out for almost two months, the dock workers on the West Coast, the copper mines, the steel workers, and almost the entire railroad system. The selective railroad strikes caused extensive losses. Particularly hard hit was Nebraska where more than 600 thousand bushels of wheat were piled on the ground. One thousand loaded railroad cars stood idle and additional cars to haul wheat could not be delivered. Estimated losses to the UP Railroad have been set at $30 million, while its 30 thousand employees out of work lost more than $15 million in wages.

The recent railroad strike is another example of the innocent being hurt. We have now had eight emergency railroad situations in the past six years. When the Chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee appeared before us in the Rules committee last May in behalf of a rule on emergency legislation to head off a railroad strike at that time, I advised the Chairman of the Committee that I would not support any additional legislation from his Committee until he had called hearings on permanent legislation to eliminate these emergency situations. I have been requesting this action of him for the past two years. Hearings were begun by his Committee on July 27 for permanent legislation to cure the periodic labor-management strife in the railroad industry. Every strike and new wage settlement contributes to the inflationary fires.

Lockheed I did not support the $250 million guaranteed loan to the Lockheed Aircraft Company because I feel very strongly that this would set a precedent. We operate in this Country under the free enterprise system. I feel that the Government should not assist private business that gets into financial difficulty. If this is done for one company, then others at future dates will come to the Congress for financial assistance. I opposed the guaranteeing of a loan to Lockheed, which carried in the House by three votes and in the Senate by one.

Emergency Assistance Before the railroad strike settlement was reached, Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin announced a distress grain loan program for farmers in areas of shortage of storage. Producers of wheat, barley, oats, sorghum and rye are affected. The special program is being administered by the state ASCS offices and should provide extension of loans and purchase assistance to farmers for grain that has had to be stored on the ground during the strike.

Prussic Acid Listed As Potential Danger Caution Urged In Using Triticale

Prussic acid, a poisonous substance present in sudangrass, can be potential danger if stockmen are careless in using sudangrass and sudangrass hybrids for grazing, according to a University of Nebraska - Lincoln Extension forage specialist.

Wally J. Moline said relatively few losses have been attributed to prussic acid in Nebraska, however, he advised that farmers should be careful when using sudangrass for summer pasture. Prussic acid is present in young sorghum plants and leaves of sorghum and sudangrass and their hybrids. It is produced by glucoside during, which breaks down to release the poison.

Moline said sudangrass has gained in popularity for use in soil erosion and weed control, as well as for feed. He added that the increase in the use of prussic acid poisonings. Small, noticeable areas where the crop has not grown well can cause the most critical losses, Moline said. Livestock also make the situation even more difficult, he explained, since they select the lush green tips and shoots that are high in prussic acid.

The NU specialist pointed out that soon frost may also create a problem, since it causes small plants to die and the base of the plants. These small shoots contain a very high prussic acid concentration. Livestock, particularly ruminants, should never be grazed on frozen summer sudangrass, Moline advised. He suggested that stock be turned into pastures with a full stomach and older, less valuable animals could probably be allowed to graze the pasture before the rest of the herd.

Moline noted that different varieties of sudangrass produce varying amounts of prussic acid. Hybrid sorghums and sudangrasses and hybrid sorghum-sudangrasses can contain higher amounts of prussic acid than the parental material (sorghum and sorghum), he explained. Other factors that cause variability in prussic acid concentration are the availability of nitrogen (higher amounts of nitrogen often produce higher levels of prussic acid), abnormal ratios of nitrogen and phosphorus and drought conditions.

Moline suggests that a watchful eye and the use of simple grazing precautions can prevent losses from prussic acid poisoning.

Unless experimental evidence is available to support claims made on triticales, only small amounts of the wheatear cross should be grown and its performance compared with other grains, reports Duane Foote, secretary of the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association.

According to Foote, although improvements have been made in recent years in the development of better triticales, their production on a commercial scale is still not suggested in Nebraska. He pointed out that most plant breeders are confident that triticales show promise as a feed grain of the future, but feel that several years of research are needed before it will be competitive with other grains.

The NU Extension agronomist explained that current breeding programs are geared to eliminate a number of the problems encountered with the early triticals. Some of these problems include lack of winterhardness, late maturity, lack of tillering, poor seedling vigor and seed loss from head breakage or shattering.

Foote said the test weight of triticale is lower than wheat, and although improvements have been made in seed quality, bushel weight remains at about 50 pounds.

There has been considerable interest in the feeding value of triticales, Foote noted, since it is usually higher in protein than current wheat varieties. However, he pointed out that the increase in protein content is due to the shriveling of the seed.

Foote indicated that various states have conducted feeding trials with several kinds of animals. He said California tests revealed that triticale was not too different from other grains in feeding value. However, North Dakota tests showed that triticale was not as good as barley in swine and cattle rations.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stovall of Omaha were houseguests three days last week in the Darrell Kremke home. Vacationing then in the Black Hills, the Stovalls stopped in Ord enroute home. Kurt Kremke accompanied them to Omaha for a week's visit.

The birthday of Mrs. Rita Barnes was celebrated, Saturday morning, when friends gathered for coffee at the park. Mrs. John Ciemancac was the morning hostess.

ent from other grains in feeding value. However, North Dakota tests showed that triticale was not as good as barley in swine and cattle rations.

Foote also noted that the fungus disease ergot has been observed in triticale because of the sterility problem. This, he said, may limit the use of the cross as a feed grain as long as seed set is a problem.

According to Foote, yields of one winterhard triticale from the Nebraska breeding program was compared with Scout 66 in tests in 1969 and 1970. It has yielded 80 per cent or less than the wheat in most tests. He said this same triticale has yielded only two-thirds to three-fourths as much as the better rye varieties in Nebraska tests in 1970 and 1971.

The NU Extension agronomist explained that current breeding programs are geared to eliminate a number of the problems encountered with the early triticals. Some of these problems include lack of winterhardness, late maturity, lack of tillering, poor seedling vigor and seed loss from head breakage or shattering.

Girls Involved In Unique Dairy Work

SANDY JACOBS

Ninety-seven calves can be enough to keep anybody busy, however for Sandy Jacobs, a part 1971 graduate of Loup City High and her sister and sister-in-law, Mrs. Patricia Robertson and Mrs. Debbie Jacobs, these calves have become a full time occupation. These three young women are responsible for feeding and raising all the new calves on the Leonard Jacobs Dairy Farm. Their method is rather unique, one that involves separating the newborn calf from its mother at once and starting the calves on a special calf-starter and milk diet. The calves are fed, almost from the start, a meal consisting of calf starter and natural milk straight from the mother via an overgrown baby bottle. "We have little trouble with the calves taking to this kind of diet," said Sandy. "We have to hand feed them for awhile, but they take to it almost at once."

A unique aspect of the calf raising operation is keeping the calves in a barn from the time they are born until they are several weeks old. They do not get out of doors during this time. The calves are housed in individual pens built three to four feet off the ground with slates in the floor. The building is well heated in the winter and can house up to 97 heifers at a time. When the calves are ready, they are moved to pens out of doors and eventually they will be ready for milking. The young heifers will move from pen to pen as they develop until they finally reach maturity and are ready to be milked. The calves are fed by the girls at 8:00 a.m. and again at 5:30 p.m. Sandy says it takes about an hour to an hour and a half to feed the animals when the barn is full.

Husband of Burwell Girl Is Graduate

He is a 1966 graduate of Cooper High, Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wozab were in Wilber recently to visit relatives. They also attended a part of the Czech Days festivities.

Frank Mottis Return From Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mottl are home again after a two week vacation. The Mottls visited in Arizona, Calif. with their son Allen, his wife and small daughter, Becky Sue. They also toured various points of interest in the area including the Queen Mary, Knoxberry Farm, Country Safari and Movie World of Cars and Planes. In Lakeland, Calif., the Mottls visited Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hatfield and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hatfield and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Monahan, Mike and Tim and in Long Beach they were guests of Mrs. Anna Parkos. En route to and from California the Mottls enjoyed a time in Denver, Colo. with Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Beran, Mrs. Elvina Keeton and Mrs. John Beran.

Granddaughters Visit
Tish and Mista Wright, daughters of Major and Mrs. Robert Wright of Bowie, Md., were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Beerline during the past week while their parents were on a business trip and vacation in Chicago. Tish and Mista travelled to Lincoln with Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Albers when the Albers returned from Montclair, N.Y. and Bowie, Md. and were met in Lincoln by the Beerlines. The Beerlines took their granddaughters to meet their parents, Sunday, so as to visit with Mr. Wright's relatives in Onawa, Ia. Later this week the Wrights will return to Ord for a visit with the Beerlines and other relatives.

Mrs. Mabel Wright Collins of Broken Bow spent Monday in Ord visiting Ann Parkos.

Lisa Ann Mottl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mottl of Arcadia, is staying with her grandparents, the Frank Mottis, this week while her family is on vacation.

Californians Visit
Mrs. Larry Stallings and four daughters, Gae, Carla, Carolyn and Rachel, arrived in Ord, Monday, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Carl Oliver. Mrs. Stallings will be remembered as the former Greta Oliver. She and her daughters made the trip from California by car and plan to visit in Ord about three weeks before returning to their home in Carmichael.

KERNELS & HUSKS

Valley County Agent

The cool climatic conditions early in the month probably slowed down the emergence and egg laying of second brood adult corn borers. A check of late planted fields this week revealed only a limited number of eggs. The peak emergence would be expected later this month. Perhaps from the 10th - 20th. Hot weather last week, however, sure could bring them, on in a hurry.

Adult rootworm beetle numbers are not as great as we would expect at this time. Climatic conditions have slowed them down too. If you are considering spraying adults to reduce worm infestations next year during the best time will probably be from about August 15-25.

I read recently that the weatherman is correct in his predictions about the 80% of the weather that's usually wrong.

Since I am not a professional climatologist I guess I am entitled to a mistake too. When I made the statement that the last two weeks in August are the hottest weeks in the year I did not expect frost this late in the season. It looks like we'd better keep our hot caps handy all season long. Right Mrs. Treptow?

An analysis of cooperators enrolled in the Agricultural Economics Department NEBFARM project in 1970 indicates an ever growing size of the farm business.

The total investment in farms surveyed has increased from $263,000 in 1969 to a little over $300,000 in 1970. Livestock inventories increased considerably. Hogs were valued lower but beef, on the other hand were valued higher.

Slilage cut from drought damaged corn can be just about as good as that from normal corn. Stalks and leaves usually contribute about one-half the total dry matter yield of the normal crop. Experiments with drought damaged corn that has no ears has shown a digestible energy value approximately the same as normally mature corn with grain. So we should expect it to be at least as valuable as brome hay.

Green Thum Tips
Tomato fruit worm and corn ear worms are nesting and laying their eggs in the area. They do not eat foliage. They seem to like the developing fruit. The tomato fruit worm is quite dark and about 1 1/2 inches long. The corn earworm, on the other hand, is usually somewhat green.

The worm that is working on foliage of other plants such as penstemon, rhubarb, sylvia, are probably the variegated cutworm. Sevin is probably the safest insecticide to use, however, rotenone dust will do a satisfactory job. Read the label and follow instructions very carefully.

New Concept In Bull Testing To Be Tried Soon

A new concept in bull testing will be started this fall at a test station now being built south of Columbus.

Back fat testing will be measured by sonography to determine which bulls are putting on red meat and which are gaining only undesirable fat.

The bulls will be fed a growing ration that will not impair their future use on the range, according to Gordon G. Zeller, who will manage the Black Angus Bull Evaluation Center.

A modern feed lot is being established with plenty of exercise room. The first group of bulls on test will be entered October 28 and 29 with the official test to start November 2. At the conclusion of the 140-day test, a sale will be held in the Nebraska Sandhills area.

The evaluation center is being built by The Black Angus, Inc., and will be for the exclusive use of Angus breeders. It will be located seven miles south and three miles west of Columbus, or four miles west of Bellwood, Nebr.

Nebraska Farmers Benefit From Rail Strike Settlement

Nebraska farmers and ranchers, even those who did not have wheat piled on the ground, should have been vitally interested in settlement of the 18-day rail strike and also the settlement which headed off the steel strike, because they are going to pay a lion's share of the costs.

In the case of the rail strike, disastrously timed during the wheat harvest, they could count the costs in damaged grain, lack of market because of glutted elevators and a lower price when they were able to sell. They can add in extra costs of handling and trucking.

For the future, they can look toward paying increased freight costs, because the railroads, which in many cases are on the edge of bankruptcy, have already announced they will have to raise freight rates to pay the 42 percent increase in wages which the unions got as their price for settlement.

The 30 percent increase in the wages and benefits of steel workers has already been reflected in an increase in steel prices. These are being passed on quickly in the form of an increase in the price of new automobiles, trucks and farm machinery.

There would be problems, of course, for Americans learning to think in terms of kilometers, kilograms and centimeters. For instance, how about the girl who says her measurements are 80-65-75 centimeters?

Foreign Aid: The Foreign Aid Bill is once again before the House for consideration. This is a two-year authorization bill providing for $3.444 billion for fiscal year '72 and $3.494 billion for fiscal year 1973. Once again, the give-away program is before us, a program in which we have spent since its inception in 1948 over $130 billion. The American taxpayer cannot afford the luxury of supporting all of the nations of the entire world. This program should be eliminated.

Blue Collar Workers: Last week, the House passed legislation to increase the pay of 850,000 so-called blue collar workers to 2% above the prevailing wage rate paid by private industry.

The Congress enacted a law in 1962 providing for these employees; most of whom are Civil Service and who receive the benefits of Civil Service retirement, as well as health insurance, sick leave and so forth, to be paid on a comparable basis with the pay in private industry.

This law has worked well for over 100 years, but now some of the eager beaver Members of Congress feel that they should be paid a higher wage for comparable work than private industry pays.

This is completely wrong in my judgment, as it creates problems for private industry and the government, which the taxpayers of America feel they should provide unfair competition for labor because of higher pay scales. In addition to the 12% premium over the going wage rate, it provides for an additional 7.5% premium pay for those working on a swing shift, and 10% additional for the employees working on a midnight-to-800 a.m. shift.

There is no justification for the passage of this legislation. A similar bill passed by the Congress last year was vetoed by President Nixon. I hope that the President will once again veto this legislation if it gets to his desk.

Housing Outlook Bright: According to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, private housing starts by May of this year were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,931,000. Construction continues at its present rate. 1971 will be the first year that private housing has increased since 1968, when the national goal of 26 million housing units over a 10-year period was established. The current trend for 1971 is about 500,000 above each of the previous three years: 1,507,700 in 1968, 1,466,800 in 1969, and 1,433,600 in 1970.

The average annual rate of construction to meet housing demands in the U.S., based on the 10-year program begun in 1969, would have to be 2.6 million units per year. For the first time, in 1971, it appears that we are approaching that goal.

Summer Recess: This week, August 6, the Congress will recess until September 8th.

Misspent Federal Grants: The District of Columbia Board of Education was awarded $5.2 million last year under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act for the purpose of bolstering the teaching of slow learning school children.

In a routine checkup, however, HEW investigators found no rhyme or reason for some of the spending. In one case, the money went to support something called a learning-through-aviation course. In another school with 12 classrooms, the checker-uppers found ten TVs, ten film strip recorders, four adding machines and three overhead projectors, none clearly related to an discernible effort to raise the basic skills of learning ability.

Inching Up On The Metric System: In August, the National Bureau of Standards is slated to submit a report to the President and the Congress on whether or not the United States should officially change from the pound, inch and foot system to the metric system of weights and measures.

Estimates are that it would cost $15 billion or more to convert our system to that favored by many nations of the world.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED

Since coming to Ord three weeks ago, we have found the community to be concerned with progress and advancement. This is refreshing since many communities the size of Ord are content to sit and become stagnant when it comes to progress. Ord is far ahead of most cities in the state, however some improvements need to be made if outside parties are to be interested in coming to the community.

One of the major improvements that need to be made is the approaches to the community. The entry to the community coming from North Loup is a disgrace. Piles of junk and run down buildings on the outskirts of town gives the impression of shabby town. It is true that the junk seems to be piled in a somewhat orderly method, however junk is still junk and we can not understand how the city has allowed such a disgrace to fester on one of the main approaches of the city. Any stranger entering Ord on that highway is certainly not going to have a favorable impression of the community. We would hope something can be done about this situation as soon as possible.

In general the approaches to the city on the other highways are good and in fact we would say the approaches to the city coming in from Burwell and Arcadia are excellent. Our first sight of the city was made when approaching the community from Ericson and we must admit, we were somewhat discouraged with what we first saw. The first impression we received of Ord was a very small community, however once getting into the community, our impressions changed.

A few "Welcome to Ord" signs or something along this line would seem in order for the outskirts of the community. Ord is a very friendly community, and we can certainly vouch for that, but why not demonstrate this friendliness from the start? This might be something a service club in the community would like to consider for a project in the coming year. Placing signs outside the community to welcome strangers and giving a little information about the community would help off set the "small town" impression one receives when coming into the town. This would help demonstrate that Ord is a town that is PROUD of her progress and is willing to WELCOME one and all to the community.—Ron

TELEPHONE IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED.

Another thing we have noticed since coming to Ord is the telephone service needs to undergo improvement. We know the telephone company here is connected with a major telephone company, and we find it surprising that such simple services as long distance direct dialing is not available and a person still has to go through the operator to reach directory assistance.

We also find it difficult to understand why, when Americans are putting men on the moon, a person can not dial a number and be assured of getting his party on the first try. Twice, within the last week, we have had experiences which indicate this is not always the case here.

In one instance, we had to dial a number a total of FIVE times before reaching the party we tried to phone. The first time we dialed, we could not even get a ring on the other end, so after waiting for at least one minute, we hung up and decided to try again. The second time we tried, we reached an operator, who instructed us to redial the number. This time before dialing, we decided to recheck the phone book and MAKE SURE we were dialing correctly. We were. The third time we again could not obtain a ring on the other end, so frustrated completely by this time, we hung up and waited for about five minutes before dialing again. Once more the "friendly" operator came on the line and when we were instructed to redial the number in question, we informed her we had already dialed the number a total of four times and she responded by saying, "Well, maybe next time you will be lucky and reach it." End of conversation. She was right, the fifth time we did but it seems somewhat silly it would take five attempts to reach a party whose office is only eight blocks away.

The second experience of the week was much the same, however after three attempts of getting nowhere in dialing, we decided to go see the party in person. It really seems to be much easier that way.—Ron Blood is vital to life, and a gift of blood is perhaps the most precious gift one person can bestow upon another.

A PRECIOUS GIFT

Emergency blood needs are like automobile accidents or serious illness . . . they always seem to happen to someone else. But they can happen to any of us. Every day emergency blood needs for the ill and injured are filled through the American Red Cross Blood Program.

There is a simple, satisfying way to help these people in sudden need of blood (and yourself should the need arise). The donation of an hour of your time to give a unit of your blood will help to assure a sufficient quantity of this precious commodity on hand when the need is critical.

The advent of summer finds people planning vacations and other activities and sometimes forgetting about the continuing need. Summer is a crucial period for blood needs, so put it on your list of things to do before you leave on your vacation.

A normal, healthy person will have the opportunity to donate blood this summer. The person who needs blood doesn't have a second chance. The bloodmobile will be at the Ord Methodist Church 9 a.m.-2:30 p.m. August 24. Let's all support it.

"Voice of the People"

Dear Editor,

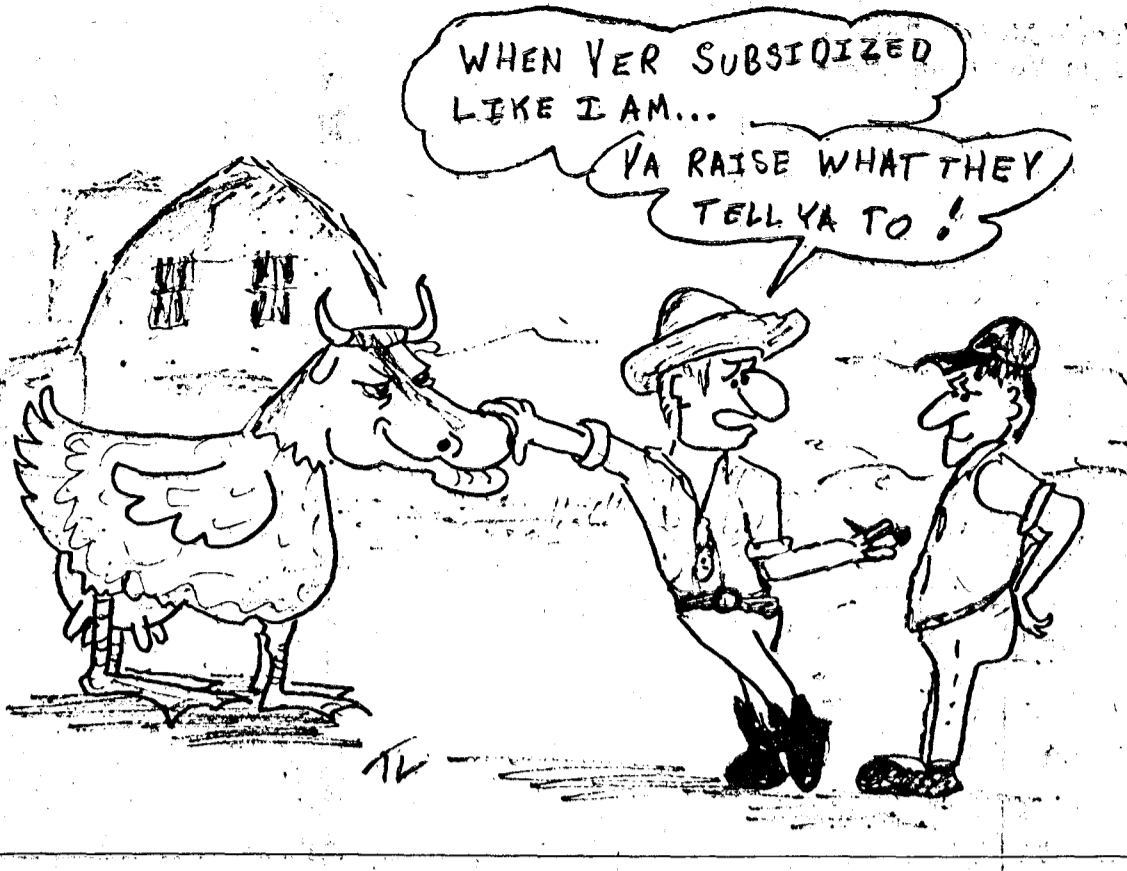

I was somewhat displeased with the "Lawless" Navy news release that was published in the Quiz several weeks ago. The recognition of our medical team was alright, but the important part of the article I had wished to be published wasn't. I would like to tell you it is.

At the My-Tho orphanage there are approximately one hundred to one hundred fifty children that range from two days to thirteen years of age. Of this approximation thirty per cent suffer from severe malnutrition and nearly all the remaining children have some degree of the same problem. The majority of the children all have dermatological conditions as a result of poor sanitary conditions and conveniences offered to the children able to take care of themselves and lack of personal attention for the infants and toddlers. Also, there are the other childhood communicable diseases aggravated by improper living conditions.

Much of the problem stems from the small amount of financial support the Vietnamese government offers the orphanage. It amounts to nine piasters (less than three cents) per child per day! That figure amounts to a total of ten dollars and ninety-five cents per year! I ask you this question: Would you be able to support a child with food, clothing, immunizations and inoculations, other medical necessities and adult care with an allotment of which this country's government allows?

Our medical team has been able to help and solve some of the problems, but we can't do enough. All the medical treatment in the world wouldn't be able to feed their hungry bodies. Protein food is a start and for this reason may ask you to make a contribution? Would publication of this need be possible in the Quiz? The need: powdered milk. I think it is inexpensive and they need the protein it gives.

I sincerely hope that some part of this letter will reach the eyes and hearts of the people that were there when I needed them. They are the people of Mira Valley, Ord and surrounding communities of whose love and com-

Something Different

Tearful Departure

To think of the old Ord schoolhouse going is a dismal prospect. It was the pride of Ord when it was built, many years ago. Ord was as proud of it then as Ord is proud of our new building now.

I have no idea when the huge brick loaf appeared on the Ord horizon. I believe it was originally constructed as a high school, when there was an ancient school building where our high school complex now stands. The older building then became the grade school, I guess.

In the center of the top floor (two-floor school house, old style) was the auditorium, complete with shining blonde maple floor. It was used for years, often crammed with performing students and proud parents. Then I remember when this room was declared shaky, and crowds were no longer welcomed to "convocations" and "assemblies".

The old building had a gym and showers in the basement they were still called "basements" then, and not "lower levels".

As the new high school building appeared in north Ord, more and more lower grades were accommodated in the former high school building in south Ord. Partitions were thrown up to create two classrooms where one had bloomed before. Every inch of space was utilized.

Ever exciting was the big chute installed on the west side of the building as a fire protection measure, and how the kids loved it. They considered it a great treat to zip down the huge pipe. In fact there had to be some regulations about using it, particularly by young sneaky spunky night life characters.

During one wartime period two wooden bungalows were perched on the school grounds to care for some of the overflow from the jammed grade school rooms. They didn't add to the beauty of the grounds, part of which were nicely planted, but they were utilitarian. In fact they have been added to the grounds of our fancy new school, didn't I read?

If the domped old building could talk, it would relate many gripping tales about children and many stories about excellent teachers.

I recall Lucy Rowbal and the way she pounded mathematics into, antagonistic young minds. No one got through her fourth grade without learning math, nor without learning the meaning of study, which she devoutly believed in. I recall that easy-riding principal, Inez Swain, and her gentle ways with young wrongdoers. There was Irma King and her pleasant warm kindergarten management . . . the children didn't even know they were being taught. There have been dozens of good teachers who worked in this old building, and enjoyed every minute of it.

The present high school building has also had a checkered career. Before it there was a long used old school building, a real fire trap I guess. (Though it was in the replacement, the south part of the present building where "the boiler blew up", scaring the wits out of Ordites.) That called for a rebuilding program.

Soon more rebuilding was needed, when a music room, an administrative plan, bigger heating equipment went into place. And then more recently a big gym and modern dressing rooms, a host of improvements. When the cafeteria began to serve meals, when closed circuit TV went to place . . .

Look how Ord schools have changed.

—And we could examine that bit about adding other school districts, but that's another story in itself.

—Irma

August Declared Sandwich Month

"August is Sandwich Month" will be observed by a sandwich month luncheon held at the Nebraska Center, Lincoln, at noon on August 19. Hosting the "bread break" will be the Wheat Division of the Nebraska Department of Agriculture.

Marx Koehner, Chief of the Wheat Division said, "The honor guests will be the 1971 Nebraska Wheat Queen, Suzanne Talich, Sidney, and the Nebraska home economics teachers. Other guests will include the Wheat Advisory Committee, Nebraska Wheat Growers Executive Board and representatives of wheat interests." Judi Halleble, home economist of the Pillsbury Company, will be the featured speaker.

The National "Sandwich Month," a promotional effort, is sponsored by wheat producers of the Great Plains states, including the Nebraska Wheat Division and the Nebraska Wheat Growers Association. National sponsors include the Wheat Flour Institute, the Plantiful Foods Program of the USDA, the National Live Stock and Meat Board, the National Association of Wheat Growers, the American Dairy Association and the American Bakers Association.

It will be a time when vivid-colored banners and posters with "mouth-watering" bread varieties, sandwiches and menus-menus will grace grocery stores, restaurants, bakeries, meat packers, and dairies from Maine to California. Newspapers, radio and TV will join in alerting the public. There will be luncheon dinners and smorgasbord receptions in honor of "Bread Sandwich" at various cities. The National Sandwich Idea Contest, a 10-year old contest, aims to discover and reward imagination among food service professionals, thus providing millions of home technicians with new recipes for America's most popular form of food — the sandwich — with a leaflet to the 20 best sandwiches of the year.

"National Sandwich Month" is a means of encouraging Americans to eat more sandwiches as a part of their daily diet. By the increased consumption of sandwiches, wheat and many other agricultural commodities produced in Nebraska are used, thus a benefit to the economy of the State of Nebraska and the country as a whole," stated Koehner.

A rattlesnake's age cannot be determined by counting the number of rings in its rattle, contrary to popular belief. A new ring is added each time the snake sheds its skin, but this may occur several times a year.

A Report From Washington

By Paul Scott

Editor's Note: Today's Scott Report is the first of two parts series revealing exclusive details of how Red China's entry in the U.N. will be used to launch a world-wide Population Control Campaign. The second article will appear on Friday, August 13.

Washington, August 11: Red China's entry into the United Nations in the fall will be the signal for the launching of a world-wide drive by that international organization to control and slow down the world's population growth.

Purpose of the coming massive birth control campaign will be to limit population growth on the earth to less than one percent annually during the next 30 years — or by about half of the present growth rate.

Preparations for the U. N. drive have been underway for several months in secret meetings of government, private, and U. N. population control advocates in Washington, New York, London, Peking and Moscow, the five principal power centers in the world today.

A leader in the backstage planning is John D. Rockefeller, III, the Chairman of the President's Commission on Population Growth and the American Future, and one of those close to the President who advised him to seek the Peking invitation.

On Rockefeller's recommendation, the President has placed the issue of World Population Control high on the list of "important matters" to be discussed with Premier Chou En-lai and Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung at their forthcoming summit meeting.

Under the direction of Rockefeller and Dr. Henry Kissinger, the President's national security adviser, briefing papers on Communist China's population control program and proposed role in the U.N. campaign are now being prepared for the President.

The role of Peking in the coming U.N. campaign is the most intriguing part of the proposed world-wide population control effort. As drafted by the Rockefeller group, the U.N. drive will highlight Mao's massive birth control measures and his population control goals to stabilize China's population.

Communist China's nationwide program — ranging from the development of a once a month pill to free abortions on demand — will be played up as an example for other nations to follow and adopt.

No mention will be made in the U.N. campaign of how the Peking regime helped to limit its population by mass killings. It is estimated that between 34,000,000 and 60,000,000 Asians, judged enemies of the socialist system, were slaughtered since Mao came to power. Mainland China's population now is believed to be between 650,000,000 and 775,000,000.

The U. S. spokesman for China's role in the coming world-wide U. N. population control drive will be George Bush, U.S.

Fridays are going to be busy around the Statehouse next month.

Fridays always are busy during the football season because the members of legislative committees, a do's or do's boards and commissions of all types figure there is no better time to come to Lincoln.

The University of Nebraska just happen to have a home schedule which makes September an inviting time for convening those groups. Starting September 11 (Oregon) and running through the 18th (Minnesota) and the 25th (Texas A&M), the state senators are arranging their committee work to coincide with Bob Devaney's defense of the national championship may be having some second thoughts about Devaney's performance as a lobbyist earlier this year.

The same Terry Carpenter who sponsored the amendment which put the basketball building into the law in the first place. And the same Terry Carpenter who issued the invitation and asked his colleagues to hear lobbyist Bob Devaney.

Carpenter says he has found out now that he is back home in the Panhandle that the Legislature's decision isn't as popular with the constituents as he thought it would be.

Exon objected right along to the earmarking, if not to the tax increase.

The governor says he wants to preserve the 1970 tax rates again in 1973 (he built his budget for this fiscal year on the premise that it could be financed by a 2 1/2 per cent sales tax and a 13 per cent income tax, even though a 14 per cent income levy, may become necessary).

Exon concedes it may be even tougher to put together a budget for the 1972 Legislature which will meet the no-increase test, but he has said the estimated $7 million per year revenues from the smokers will be a big help.

The plans for the fieldhouse and office building may not be the only plans laid by the 1971 Legislature which undergo some adjustment next year in an attempt to fit spending to the tax structure.

The lawmakers this year provided planning money for several construction projects in the higher education field so the building could get underway in the fiscal year which starts next July 1.

In an attempt to hold back on spending, some of those projects may get moved to the back burner.

Sen. Roland A. Luedtke of Lincoln, an outspoken advocate of earmarking, said the possibility of postponement of some of those projects is exactly why money has to be set aside specifically if construction work isn't going to get way behind.

Luedtke says there always is some amount in which the construction of a building because it's easy to say an old structure can be used "just one more year."

But the Lincoln lawmaker says that a backlog of projects, all left to "next year," sometimes for many "next years."

By earmarking the smokers' contributions for the fieldhouse and office building projects, he says, they are assured of getting done.

Furthermore, he said, it's not good policy to stick so closely to an arbitrary set of tax rates, in this case the 1970 sales and income tax rates, that reasonable expenditures are postponed until a catchup is needed in a hurry. That could require significant tax increases which would be much more unpopular than a surer hike spread over several years.

Luedtke says he will battle to keep the earmarking on the cigarette taxes.

A new program is being established at the University of Nebraska's Lincoln campus. For the first time, students will be able to major in law enforcement and corrections.

The program is a cooperative venture with the University of Nebraska at Omaha, which will provide two faculty members from its law enforcement and corrections staff to teach the courses in Lincoln.

Among the courses to be offered are a course in criminal justice, police patrol, criminal investigation, juvenile delinquency, probation and parole and penology.

This could well be adopted by all nations as the agreed world goal for the next thirty years.

In the booklet — prepared before President Nixon's China trip announcement but not circulated until last week — Draper indicated that he clearly expected the Peking invitation to Nixon, writing:

"The President is reliably reported to want badly to visit the People's Republic of China himself. In a conversation with Edgar Snow, Chairman Mao said openly that he would be happy to talk with President Nixon either as a tourist or as President."

PROPAGANDA BOOKLET

Significantly, it was Snow's pre-arranged meetings with Premier Chou and Chairman Mao earlier this year that set the stage for the Kissinger visit to Peking which nailed down the invitation for President Nixon.

The close link between Snow, a long time supporter of Mao, and the coming U.N. population control campaign, shows up several places in the Draper booklet and will be discussed in more detail in the next column.

Five Colleges Get Loans

Congressman Dave Martin has announced approval of higher education loan funds totaling $376,154 to five colleges in the Third Congressional District.

Martin said he was notified by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare of approval of the loan allocations to Chadron State College, Hastings College, Kearney State College, Nebraska Western College at Scottsbluff, and North Platte College.

The funds are provided for fiscal 1972 under Title II of the National Defense Education Act (NDEA), and will benefit an estimated 1,263 students in the five third district colleges.

Under the program, NDEA funds provide for 90 per cent of loan to students, with the remaining 10 per cent matching funds coming from educational institutions participating in the program.

The amounts of loan allocations and estimated numbers of students to benefit include: Chadron State, $156,639 for 550 students; Hastings College, $54,435 for 160 students; Kearney State, $150,300 for 480 students; Nebraska Western, $10,260 for 35 students; and North Platte College, $4,500 for 18 students.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamtak of Berwyn, Ill. were houseguests from Wednesday morning until Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. John Wozab. Mrs. Hamtak lived in Ord for some time as a child before the family moved to Chicago.

Recessed meeting called to order at 7:00 p.m. by the Mayor with the following councilmen present: Osenowski, Sears, Walford, Zapp. Absent: Scheideler, Lee.

WHEREAS, it is the policy of this locality to eliminate substandard and other inadequate housing to prevent the spread of slums and blight, and to realize as soon as feasible the goal of a decent home in a suitable living environment for all of its citizens;
WHEREAS, under the provisions of the United States Federal Laws there- regarding, the Department of Housing and Urban Development is authorized to provide financial assistance to local public housing agencies for undertaking and carrying out preliminary planning of low-rent housing projects that will assist in meeting this goal;
WHEREAS, it is necessary and required that there shall be local determination of need for low-rent housing to meet needs not being adequately met by private enterprise and that the Department of Housing and Urban Development shall not make any contract with a public housing agency for preliminary loans for surveys and planning in respect to any low-rent housing projects unless the governing body of the locality involved has by resolution approved the application of the public housing agency for such preliminary loans;
WHEREAS, the Housing Authority of the City of Ord, Nebraska (herein referred to as "Local Authority") is a public housing agency and is applying to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a preliminary loan to cover the costs of surveys and planning in connection with the development of low-rent housing;
NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved by the Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska as follows:
1. That there exists in the City of Ord, Nebraska a need for such low-rent housing at rents within the means of low-income families.
2. That the application of the Local Authority to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a preliminary loan in an amount not to exceed $30,000.00 for surveys and planning in connection with low-rent housing projects or not to exceed approximately 75 dwelling units is hereby approved.

Come to Church

This Week's Meditation
We stand nearest to Jesus as we lift our eyes toward world horizons. He directs us to the unfinished task of carrying the Gospel to the ends of the earth. He bids us pray and work until a divided humanity becomes one world, living at peace.

PRAYER: O Father, you have made us one people in all the earth. Show us how to overcome every memory and prejudice which would destroy the unity of the human family. May we play our part in Your plan to restore oneness and peace everywhere, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Let there be peace on earth and let it begin with me.

North Loup Couple Observe 60th Wedding Anniversary

By Anna Medbery
Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Emil Skollil celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at the Community Hall in North Loup.

Mrs. John Kriewald called on Mr. and Mrs. Emil Skollil Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christensen, Wapato, Wash., visited with Mrs. Grace Jensen last week. On their way, they picked up Corrine Jensen, Denver, Colo., and brought her home.

Attention! There will not be a community dinner this month. Everyone is busy working on floats for Popcorn Days.

Mrs. Clark and son Raymond,

Scotia, were dinner guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Thomas.

Mrs. Emma Bridge and Mrs. Grace Jensen called on Stella Kerr and Mr. Ernest Johnson Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Polinoski, Ord, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilson motored to Miller on Monday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hill. Then they drove on to Johnson Lake to do a little fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lane visited Marion Lane at the Ord hospital for a while Sunday afternoon. Then they went to Floyd Petersons and spent the rest of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Copland and family, Wolbach, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilson Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Allen, Cerritos, Calif., arrived at the home of Leona Babcock Friday morning. They stayed until Saturday morning and Jessie Babcock, who had been visiting here for two weeks returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Lane and family motored to Kearney, Saturday morning where they visited with Mrs. Lane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jamroz. Then they continued on to Holdrege where they spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lane and family.

Mayor Gene Pletcher and Improvement Committee chairman, Vernon Hansen, have declared the week of 23 to 28 to be clean up week for North Loup. Let's get cleaned up to welcome visitors for our Popcorn celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Elery King were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Thomas. In the afternoon both families attended the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gregory, Ord, which was held in the Methodist Church.

Last week Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Davis and Becky enjoyed a picnic at Sherman Dam. They returned to the Davis home to celebrate Roland's birthday with ice cream and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Derwin White visited Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Thomas Sunday evening.

Mrs. Ruby Green was invited to Harlan Green's Sunday in Ord to partake of a 17 lb. salmon that Chuck Green caught while fishing near Anacartis, Wash., recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Medbery and Judy Medbery and children took Elfrida Kerschreiter to Grand Island Sunday morning where she boarded a plane for her return trip to Germany.

Mrs. Ed Whalen visited with Hatlye Sautter a week ago Monday evening. Iva Williams was a Tuesday evening caller.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Worrell came home Sunday night from three weeks' vacation trip. They motored to Ogden, Utah to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Larry Worrell and family. While there they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Westley Nead and Bradford, Ill. Then both families journeyed to Snohomish, Wash., and visited the Vern Stanton family.

Mrs. Judy Medbery and family and Elfrida Kerschreiter were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilson Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Severance and Cliff left Saturday for Tennessee to visit a few days with some people who always come to North Loup to hunt pheasants. Galen and Keith are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Ron Caryll while their folks are gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Williams had supper with dinner guests, evening Keown in Grand Island one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wester Naev of Bradford, Ill., came last Wednesday and stayed until Thursday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams.

The North Loup Wranglers will play for a benefit dance Saturday night to be held in the new fire house, if it is ready by that time. If not, the dance will be in the Community Building. Come and have a good time. Scooter will be at the new fire house, which will also house the popcorn equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Caswell, Franklin, were guests of Ford Shirley Sunday. They along with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beebe and family, Scooter were dinner guests of Mrs. Opal Beebe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Babcock and Phylis were weekend guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Bennett and family at Oshkosh. Saturday evening they attended the Batterman-Stine wedding at Broadwater.

Opal Beebe spent Saturday at the Ted Shirley home.

Callers during the week at the Stella Kerr home to see Mr. Johnson were: Mr. Glen Robinson, a nephew, Tekamah, who came Wednesday and stayed until Thursday. While he was here he took Mr. Johnson for a car ride to his home on Davis Creek and also to Ord where he has not been for some time; Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Coleman, on Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Nelson Sample and grandson, Eldon Sample, Hemingford; Grace Jensen and granddaughters Kim and Janelle Porter. Sunday callers were Mrs. Grace Thorngate, Grace Jensen, Emma Bridge, Mrs. Jack Portis, Mrs. Edna Coleman, and Mr. and Mrs. Cloyce Sides, Loup City.

Mr. Ernest Johnson, who will celebrate his 90th birthday this week was born August 18, 1881, at Runnelsburg, Nebr., youngest son of Mary and Robert Johnson. In the spring of 1883 he came with his parents to the Davis Creek community. He has spent his entire life on the farm where they first settled. The Johnsons were instrumental in organizing a Methodist Church in the community and the children attended the Davis Creek school (Dist. 36). Both the church and school are now gone and Ernest is the last surviving member of his family. Few landmarks remain besides his parents' home and the little country cemetery where his parents and other relatives are buried.

Upon his marriage in 1910 to Miss Ida Peterson, the young couple set up housekeeping in a new home built across the road from his parents which is his present home. Besides farming, Mr. Johnson was road overseer of Davis Creek Township for many years. Mrs. Johnson died in 1954. In 1911 she was married in Loup City to Hub-bard who had grown up on Davis Creek. This short but happy marriage ended when Mrs. Johnson died in 1965. Except for some recent hospital stays, Mr. Johnson has taken care of himself and his home. Due to failing health, Mr. Johnson is presently at the home of his niece, Mrs. Stella Kerr. Cards and letters are appreciated by Mr. Johnson who still can do a little writing. He does enjoy his friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Rice and family from Gary, Ind., were Monday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Whalen. Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Whalen are sisters.

Ivy Williams entertained some ladies with products party Monday evening.

Forty-five people helped mow, rake, and generally clean the grounds by the Community and Fire House buildings Monday evening. Lunch was served to the workers.

A street clean-up will be held by the Firemen at 9:00, Aug. 29. Volunteer workers are welcome and needed.

State Fair Draws Near; Attendance May Set Record

Two changes, one in the entertainment format and the other in the weather, are being counted on to set a new attendance record at the 1971 Nebraska State Fair.

The annual event, top crowd-puller in the state, opens Sept. 2 and ends Sept. 8.

A week of cool, rain-free weather is one change from last year that is essential if a new attendance mark is to be established, according to Don Thompson, McCook, president of the State Fair Executive Board.

The attendance record is 465,000 set in 1969 when the State Fair marked its 100th anniversary. Last year, 456,000 attended.

"With a weather break we could reach 500,000," Thompson said.

The entertainment format change fits the Fair's act Jim Nabors, playing on the last night instead of the traditional Sunday - Monday of past years.

"We are trying to find a way to boost attendance the last day, and this may be the answer," said Thompson.

To date, Nabors has proved attractive with a heavy advance ticket sale," according to Thompson.

Other entertainment booked for the Grandstand: Gary Puckett and The Union Gap, opening night, Thursday, Sept. 2.

Merle Haggard and his all-star Country and Western show, Friday and Saturday.

A variety show featuring The Cowbells and The Doodle Town Pipers, Sunday and Monday.

The finals of the tractor pulling derby and a farm machinery parade, Tuesday.

Nabors brings a full docket of stars to back him up. They include vocalist Jackie DeShannon, Ronnie Spector, The Nabors Kids, The Tom Jordan Dancers, and others from the Nabors TV show on CBS.

Haggard, who walked away with honors as the nation's top country western singer in 1970, is backed by such stars as Bonnie Owens.

Puckett opens festivities with a show that Fair officials hope will be as popular as The Association was last year. That youthful music group attracted 10,000 fans.

The Cowbells and Doodletown Pipers will offer a family-style variety show, heavy on music and comedy. The Pipers have been a hit on a network show this summer.

Afternoon entertainment is highlighted by four days of auto racing, always popular with fans at the Fair. Racing starts Friday with modified cars, followed by big cars on Saturday, Sunday and Monday afternoons.

Tuesday afternoon there are tractor and horse pulling contests and on Wednesday a new thrill show presented by King Kovak will be offered.

But entertainment is just part of what it takes to attract hundreds of thousands of Nebraskans to the Fair.

Bits of Ord Local News

Presbyterian Church.

Church services on Aug. 14 were conducted by Rev. Leonard Clark of the Scotia United Methodist Church. Mrs. Harriette Waters and Mrs. Tex Williams of Scotia accompanied Rev. Clark.

Mrs. Waters was pianist. The scripture read was St. John 3:18, followed with the Lord's Prayer. "I Would Be True," "Believing in God" was the sermon topic. It stressed we believe in a person by hearing of them or receiving something from them, as sure we should believe in God by seeing and having the necessities of each day from Him. God loves all people of all denominations equally as all have members of God born again, which make up Christ's true church, the only universal church. Twelve were present for the service.

Bernice Cornell was with a group who listened to a tape recording of Evangelist Dr. William Bright, Monday evening, at the Dan Ehresman home.

Bernice Cornell spent Saturday with Mrs. Marjion Long at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Anderson.

Mrs. Fannie Houser called Friday evening on Lillian Daudt.

Ord Child Drowns at Dam; Recovered After Three-Hour Search

MARTIN BILKA

A three-hour land, water and air search Sunday afternoon by dozens of area volunteers ended in tragedy for the Marvin Bilka family, Ord. Recovered from the churning waters of Hardenbrook Dam about 9 p.m. Sunday was the body of seven-year-old Martin William (Marty) Bilka — the second drowning victim at the Dam since July 4.

The Ord Rescue unit received a call at 6 p.m. reporting the child was missing and requesting aid in searching the area around the Dam. According to reports, the youngster first came up missing shortly before 5 p.m. He had gone fishing with his father and an uncle and "came up missing" while the men were occupied momentarily. The father and uncle undertook an extensive search of the area before calling the Ord Rescue Unit.

After responding to the call, the Rescue Unit initiated a water search with volunteers helping to drag the waters of the Dam. Many volunteers searched the woods and high weeds in the area, hoping the boy had fallen asleep. At one point, the theory he was in the water was partially abandoned when the initial search of the water failed to reveal the boy's location. An extensive ground search however failed to find the boy and a plea was then made for volunteer scuba divers to search the area.

An air search was also conducted by Dr. Murray Markley in his helicopter and two private planes owned by Cork Greenway and the Game Commission. The two aircraft scanned the area around the water trying to locate the boy on the ground.

Scuba divers Myra Brown and Dana Wert reached the scene about one-half hour before the body was discovered. Wert recovered the body that was pinned under a rock in an area of fast flowing water. It was also reported the boy's father had returned from serving in Vietnam only last Friday.

Funeral services for Martin William Bilka were held Wednesday at Bethel Baptist Church, Ord. The Rev. Robert Pier officiated at the funeral. The Ord Memorial Chapel was in charge of arrangements with burial in the Ord Bohemian Cemetery. Mrs. Donna Joe Pier was pianist with Mrs. Phyllis Rasmussen and Mrs. Dee Meese singing two duets. Musical selections included "No One Understands Like Jesus," and "Jesus Loves Me."

Pallbearers were James Lola, Steven Palser, Robert Rasmussen, Alan Edgill, Jimmy Penas and Peter Crane.

Martin William Bilka was the son of Marvin and Michiko (Mayagi) Bilka and was born Jan. 29, 1964 at Shirley, Mass.

He attended kindergarten at the Ord Elementary School last year and was to enter first grade at the same school today (Thursday). He also attended the Bethel Baptist Church regularly.

He is survived by his mother and father, one brother, Dwayne; and two sisters, Deanna and Betty Ann, all at home; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Bilka, Ord; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Kame Mayagi, Naha, Okinawa.

TRIED HARD — A lone volunteer searched the water by himself for a long period of time without success when the boy first came up missing. He was not alone as two planes and a helicopter were conducting intense ground scanning from the air in hopes little Marty Bilka had only wandered away and was sleeping somewhere in the woods.

Shop At Home!

It appears voters in Arcadia have approved a $7,000 bond issue that will help pay improvements at the Legion Baseball Field, according to Mrs. Viola Smith, City Clerk. The unofficial counts is 106 for the proposed improvements and 25 against. Mrs. Smith indicated this is an "unofficial" count until a canvass is made but for all practical purposes the issue has carried. She termed the 131 persons that voted a "good" turnout.

Total cost for the park improvements is $27,000 with the state and federal governments covering the remainder of the costs.

Ord Welcomes Eeva Karhi; Arrives Saturday from Finland

BY RON BALDWIN, EDITOR
(Editor's Note: THE ORD QUIZ strongly supports exchange programs such as the Rotary Club has instituted by bringing Eeva Karhi to Ord. We found her to be very friendly and open and wish to extend a hand of welcome to her and wish her much happiness in her stay at Ord.)

The Bernard Staab home has music in the air and another daughter to share the telephone with. She is Eeva Kristina Karhi, a native of Vammala, Finland. Not only did the Staab household receive a delightful houseguest for the next three months, but they have also received a very accomplished and talented pianist in the bargain. Eeva has studied piano for 12 years, and this reporter can testify in favor of her musical abilities.

The Rotary Club of Ord is helping to sponsor Eeva in her stay here. They are helping to provide a spending allowance for her, a complete insurance program, helping to pay activity fees at the High School and are lining up places for her to stay during her stay here. She will stay with the Staabs for about three months and then will be guests of another family. During her stay here she will live with three or four different families which should give her an idea of not only how different Americans can be — but how different family life can be.

She is the first exchange student to be sponsored by the Rotary Club in Ord although several exchange students have lived here before. She has studied Swedish, German and English. Her mother is a language teacher in Finland and her father is the chief surgeon at the hospital in Vammala. She is a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church and says piano playing is her only real hobby. She also has three brothers and sisters.

"She has really been a delight to us so far," said Mrs. Staab. "She is so willing to help out around the house, wanting to do dishes and other household chores. We have really enjoyed her piano playing."

What has Eeva been able to do in Ord thus far? So far she is trying to get acquainted with her new family and her new town. Tuesday night she was hosted by the Ord High School Student Council at a picnic and Monday night at the Rotary Club for supper, indicating she will be entertained frequently by her

In Finland, she had eaten canned and frozen corn but her trip to Nebraska has enabled her to experience something new — eating a corn field for the first time and eating corn on the cob. She had never seen corn in its "natural" state before.

"I really did not know what to expect when I got here," said the new Ord High senior. "I think I will like it here very much, but it is so much hotter here than I am used to." She indicated she will have two years of school left when she returns to Finland.

She also said the only thing she knew about Nebraska was it is an agriculture state. She said her family will receive copies of the ORD QUIZ and she had received them since May when she was selected for the program. She said she had heard about the Nebraska University football team in Finland.

She added she wanted to thank the Rotary Club for sponsoring her in Ord and that she sincerely appreciates the opportunity to be here. She is especially eager for classes to begin and to meet the kids in the community.

State Fair Bound

Mail time Wednesday morning brought good news to the Melody Moms and the Ryschon brother and sisters trio. The two groups who auditioned at Grand Island last Saturday, were selected to appear at the State Fair.

The State Fair Talent Show is scheduled for Sept. 5 from 1 to 2 p.m. in the open air auditorium at the State Fairgrounds.

Randy Adamek Is Home From Camp

RANDY ADAMEK

Randy Adamek, son of Mrs. Beth Adamek and Bob Adamek, both of Ord, recently participated in a Junior Law Enforcement Camp held last week at Lincoln.

Adamek "learned a lot at the camp" particularly about defensive driving. He said he felt he was an average driver before going to the course but now feels because of the many tips he received on defensive driving, he is an excellent driver.

He also studied in areas such as drug abuse, judicial process, human relations, first aid, and accident investigation.

Days at the camp began at 6 a.m. with a vigorous program of exercise. After breakfast they participated in various discussions and seminars from about 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. and after the classes closed for the day they had to study and read over 60 publications throughout the camp to prepare for the next day's sessions.

He also learned how local crime commissions and communication systems can help typical small town. Tours on the agenda included touring the City-County Building in Lincoln that "he loved", the state capitol and the state highway patrol facilities.

He also was able to practice marksmanship and learned how to handle a sidearm. A discussion by an FBI leader enabled him to see how the FBI works with local law enforcement agencies.

His biggest lesson learned was the role of the highway patrolman. He said going through an actual training type session a new highway patrolman would have to undergo helped a great deal. He learned how VASCAR, and radar are used. He also was able to drive a highway patrol

SISTER MARY MARTHA

Ord Native to Say Vows Saturday

Sister Mary Martha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hoevet, will pronounce her final vows as a member of the Sisters of Saint Francis of Penance and Christian Charity at a consecrated Mass in Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, Ord, on Saturday, Aug. 28, at 2 p.m. Father Robert Rooney, North Platte, will be the main celebrant. Father James Fitzpatrick, Mankato, Minn., will deliver the homily.

Sister Mary Martha completed her grade school education in Saint Mary's School, Ord, in 1959, and then took her high school courses at Marycrest in Alliance. Upon completing these courses in 1963, she entered the novitiate of the Sisters of Perpetual Help in Denver, Colo. In 1964-1965 she attended courses in social studies at Regis College, Denver. In 1965 she was assigned to a medical and maternity clinic in Mexico where she remained for six months. In 1967 she began training at Alliance to become a licensed practical nurse. Upon finishing this course in 1968 she was stationed in Saint Joseph's Hospital, Minot, N.D. where she is presently continuing her studies to become a Registered Nurse.

Friends of Sister Martha are invited to the Mass and to the reception which will follow in Saint Mary's Auditorium.

Service Academy Exams to Be Given

Senator Carl T. Curtis (Rep.-Nebr.) is announcing today that the Civil Service Commission will conduct a written examination for young men who are interested in a nomination to the United States Air Force, Military, Naval and Merchant Marine Academies at various locations throughout the State of Nebraska on Saturday, October 2, 1971.

The purpose of this examination, which will be for the classes entering the Academies in the summer of 1972, is to provide an objective testing medium to assist in the screening of applicants. A young man's high school record, extra-curricular activities and achievements are also taken into consideration. He must also take the College Entrance Examination in order to qualify for an appointment and should consult his local high school concerning the dates when this examination is given.

The Academies provide an outstanding four-year curriculum composed of academic courses, leadership and military training, physical education and athletics. Completion of the curriculum entitles the cadet to graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree and a commission.

Senator Curtis will have one vacancy in the Air Force and Military Academies and two in the Naval Academy. The State of Nebraska is entitled to fill three vacancies at the Merchant Marine Academy and each member of the Nebraska Congressional Delegation may nominate ten young men to compete for these three openings.

In order to qualify, a boy must be a resident of Nebraska. He must have reached his 17th birthday and not his 22nd by July 1, 1972; must be single, of good moral character, and he must also pass the required physical examination.

Any boy who is interested and can qualify should promptly write to Senator Carl T. Curtis, 2213 New Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20510. Additional information will be provided upon request.

Henry Setliks Win Yard of the Week

Honors this week in the Yard of the Week contest go to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Setliks.

A spokesman for the Valley County Garden Club, sponsors of the local contest, praised the couple for their nice lawn and outstanding flower garden. The Setliks do all their own yard work.

Of added interest and beauty among the variety of flowers in the Setliks yard are a Martin motel and Wren house. The Setliks home is located at 512 No. 20th Street, Ord.

Popcorn Days Kick Off Monday at North Loup; To Pick Queen

Thousands of strangers are expected to be walking the streets of North Loup from Monday through Wednesday as that community hosts the annual Popcorn Days Celebration. Free popcorn and stage shows will highlight the annual gala event.

Baumann Shows will provide rides of all types during the three day event and there will be plenty to eat as numerous concession stands will be set up by private concerns and community organizations. North Loup business places are now selling advance tickets for the rides for $1.00 for children 12 and under. A ceramic show will also be held all three days and a flower show will be offered Tuesday and Wednesday.

A special feature on Wednesday will include a Union Pacific miniature freight. On Monday, the celebration will kick off with a horse show with a parade of horses scheduled to begin at 1 Park. The horse show will have a total of 19 events and all individuals or clubs are cordially invited, according to Jesse Whiting, show chairman. In event of rain, the show will be held Sunday, Sept. 5.

Also on Monday, a pony pulling contest will take place at 7:30 p.m. and all interested pony owners are urged to contact Clifford Scott or Pete Foxworthy. At 9 p.m. the opening day's activities will conclude with a dance. Providing the music will be the Ernie Coufal Orchestra playing favorite polkas and waltzes. Admission will be only $1.00.

Tuesday's activities will begin with the Fourth Annual Popcorn Days Horseshoe Tournament. All horseshoe pitchers are going to be divided into classes according to ability, according to Russell Hill, tournament director.

A gymnastics program will begin at 3 p.m. and at 7:45, entertainment will be provided by Jim Friese and the Corn Pickers.

The Sargent High School Band will provide a concert at 1 p.m. and at 2 p.m. a Parade of Floats will be held. Bands scheduled to participate include North Loup, Scotia, Arcadia, Elba, Loup City, Ord and Sargent. At 3:15 the Ord High School band will play in concert formation.

The Mynor Soper and the North Loup Valley Jamboree Group will provide entertainment at about 3:40 p.m. The North Loup - Scotia Band will perform a concert at 7:15 Wednesday night.

A teen hop will be held Tuesday night with music provided by Cannon of Kearney and on Wednesday night, Al Grebnick and his Orchestra will provide dancing music.

The Popcorn Queen will be crowned at 8:45 p.m. Candidates include:

Phyllis Babcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Babcock; Wendy Bartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Bartz; Lana Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Jensen; Sheryl Tolen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tolen; Janice Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Udell Williams; Christy Benben, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Benben; Carolyn Bussell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Bussell; Marilyn Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cook; Lana Hamer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamer and Ruth Soper, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Mynor Soper.

Voting for the 1971 Popcorn Queen will take place Saturday evening from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the North Loup Laundromat. Crowning of the new Queen will be at 8:45 p.m. next Tuesday.

This year's rules say candidates must be graduates from North Loup - Scotia or one who will graduate with the Class of 1972. Their mailing address must be North Loup.

Brad Garnick Works With Human Resources Group

BRAD GARNICK

Brad Garnick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garnick, Ord, has been involved in a worthwhile project in addition to pursuing his academic studies the past year at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He has been working as a counselor with Lincoln youth of various ages and diverse educational backgrounds, as well as diverse ethnic backgrounds. This experience was possible due to the Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation, a non-profit organization, directed by Dr. Galen Dodge.

Virtually all previous studies of the nature of man have been of two kinds — the study of man in trouble, or the study of man as he is, however, the Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation inquiry focuses on a third aspect — the study of what man is capable of becoming. A truism forms the basis for all research and related activity: if you want to learn about people, you have to study people.

Dr. G. W. Dodge, Executive Director of the Foundation, says, "Today, more than ever before, college students all over the country are becoming involved with people in the community where they go to school. Along with this increased involvement, there has also been an increased awareness of the need for a college student to find outlets for the constructive expression of human energy. The Foundation has helped college students reach this height of involvement."

Over the past 22 years the Nebraska Human Resources Research Foundation (NHRRF) has been studying the conditions that maximize human potentiality. The laboratory for this study has consisted of people within the community. At the present time more than 400 University students are involved in ten separate Foundation projects ranging from a program for high school dropouts consisting of largely Mexican American students to a program for high school students with good leadership potential.

Two principles shape the philosophy of the Foundation. These are as follows: (1) People are successful in direct proportion to their ability to relate to others and (2) the success potential of any human being can be predetermined and developed in very significant ways.

Each of the Foundation's projects has the same broad goal or objective and employs the same philosophical approach. The objective is to help other individuals develop their potential to the highest level possible. The approach is that of one person relating to another in direct and positive ways. To reach these goals, a one-to-one relationship is built between the college student and a person in the community (counselor). The strength of this relationship is built upon the ability of each of the individuals to relate to each other. One counselor, who has been associated with a project in the Foundation for ten years, has said, "My counselors (University students) have helped me in many ways. I'm sure I will benefit from my experiences for many years." A strong one-to-one relationship is two sided, both individuals benefit from its existence. A University student gave this comment about his experiences, "I don't know which of us benefits more. Every time I see my counselor I feel that I'm the one who benefits the most from our relationship."

The Foundation as a whole is working to make relating to all types of people easier. Many prominent leaders from the Lincoln community have given their endorsement to the work that the university students and the Foundation is doing.

Jim Lukesh Receives Regent Scholarship

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lukesh hosted a party in their home, Saturday evening, for their son Jim who will be leaving this week to resume his studies at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

Jim was recently notified by the University Records Dept. that he is the recipient of a Regent's Scholarship for the fourth consecutive year. These awards are given to students who have achieved high scholastic standings throughout their college years. Jim has been on the honors list every semester since entering the University of Nebraska, maintaining an A grade average. He is a senior and will again student teach at Loeffler Jr. High School in Lincoln.

Scotia Holstein Big Producer

Star-Bred Fayne Pion, 6345813, a 4-year-old Registered Holstein in the herd tried for Rodney Sperling, Like It Dairy Farm, Scotia, has produced a noteworthy record of 21,560 lbs. of milk and 823 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days.

This information is made available through the cooperative efforts of state and local testing associations and Holstein-Friesian Ass'n. of America. Dairymen enrolled in the program pay for the service.

This level of production maybe compared to the average U. S. dairy cow's estimated annual output of 9,388 lbs. (4,366 quarts) of milk containing 345 lbs. butterfat. Participation in official testing program can increase value of herd and provides recognition for record-breaking performance.

Big Families Need A Sense Of Humor

Members of the Kokes family are still filled with excitement over the week-filled reunion held during the fun of Aug. 9 at Long Beach, Wash.

In addition to those listed below, 20 other relatives were present at the gathering at Breakers Lodge which at the family occupied. One day was spent on a salmon fishing cruise in the Pacific.

The following article reprinted from The Catholic Northwest Progress, Seattle, was written by Lillian Belsin, a former Ordite and daughter of Mrs. Joe Karty, Ord. The article reads:

"Back in the days when the 'wild west' began somewhere in the central part of Nebraska, an early day Nebraska shepherd, John Kokes, relied upon hastily-organized posses to track down what he used to refer to as 'the rotten guys.'"

Today, if Sherrif Kokes were alive, it would take a nationwide dragnet to "round up" the 15 survivors of his group of 16 children. Today the Kokes descendants live in nine different states: California, Georgia, Montana, Nebraska, Idaho, Minnesota, Oregon, Florida and Washington.

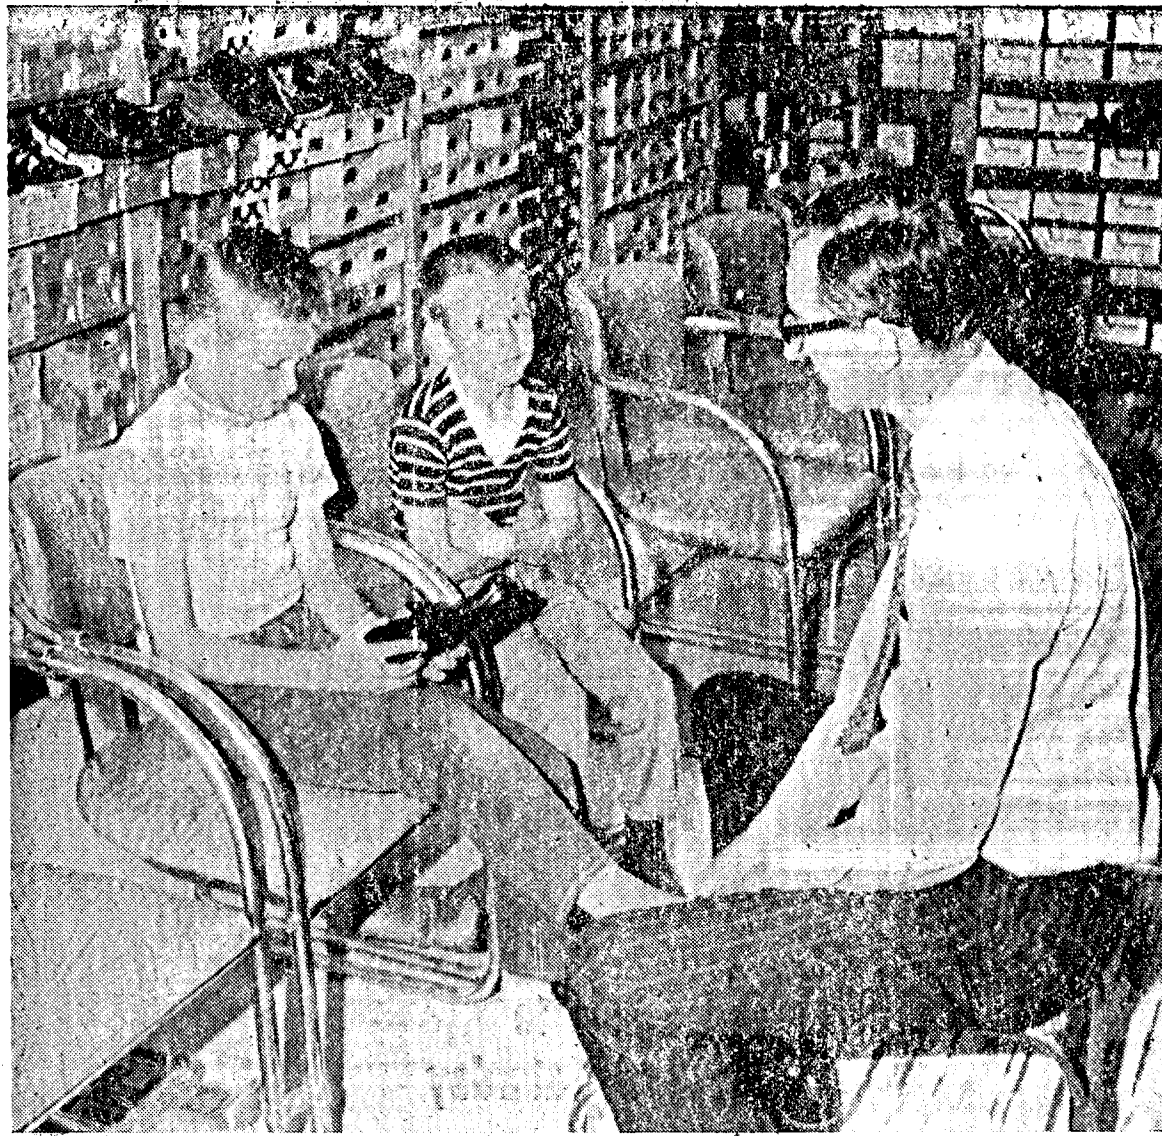

This week, however, a good place to begin the reunion would have been at a resort in Long Beach, Wash. Mrs. Lee Wornell, a member of St. Charles Borromeo parish in Tacoma, managed to corral 12 of the 15 for a family reunion. It was the first time the family had been together for 30 years.

According to Mrs. Florence Sights of Atlanta, Ga., "You keep wondering if you're going to be able to recognize members of the family. When I got off the plane at Seattle - Tacoma Airport, I wasn't sure I'd know my own sister."

Laughter, in super-abundant quantities, marked the reunion as the brothers and sister recalled their home life on a farm in the sand hills of Nebraska. As Mrs. Wornell explained, "When you're a member of a family this large, your most important prerequisite is a sense of humor. If you can't laugh and take it as well as dish it out, you're lost."

Those attending the reunion in addition to Mrs. Sights and Mrs. Wornell were: Dick Kokes, Hemet, Calif.; Mrs. Lillian Keller, Butte, Mont.; John Kokes, Ord; Ted Kokes, Butte, Ida.; Mrs. Rose Elmqvist, Big Lake, Minn.; Helen Kokes, Omaha; Mrs. Louise Cross, Hemet, Calif.; Mrs. Alice Wachtler, Cozad; Adolph Kokes, North Loup and Mrs. Clara Blaha, Ord. Unable to attend were Mrs. Ordina Berglund, Pisa; E. R. Kokes of Ord and Mrs. Agnes Stone of Vale, Ore.

New shoes quite often take some getting used to, particularly after a summer of barefoot or sandal wear. Bob Moyer of the J. M. McDonald Store helps Jerome Walkowiak select his back-to-school shoes. . . . brother Michael was next in line. The boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Walkowiak, rural Ord.

Comfortable Dress; Shiny New Shoes Brighten Mood for School Days Ahead

By Carol Leggett

Store windows, for weeks now, have hinted that Back-To-School time is upon us. The windows show fashionable school attire and the vast selection of school supplies makes one wonder how they could possibly choose anything useless (each notebook, pencil, pen and eraser seems so necessary).

Inside the stores, counters are filled with darling tote bags, colorful book binders and fashionable lunch boxes. There are numerous racks of school apparel — wash and wear trousers and shirts to make laundry a whiz and dresses in a variety of styles and length to fit the mood of every young miss.

Mothers, and their sewing machines, are busy creating garments to add new life to their youngster's wardrobe. They are experiencing the seasonal ordeal of letting down hems — this often involves listening to such complaints as "But Mom, finger-length looks terrible on me . . . you know I've got long arms!"

Meanwhile, teachers are ending the summer schedule and are prepared for another school term. School custodians are working too, reading every corner of each classroom for another busy year.

The First Day Of School

On the opening day of school, eighteen million mothers gravely watch their solemn youngsters leave home. Gratefully, they will sing "God bless school."

Two million eight hundred thousand teachers comment "There must be an easier way to earn a living."

Eighty-four percent of new kindergartners vow, "I'm not going to school, today, tomorrow or ever!"

Three million dogs whimper and whine at bus stops and street corners.

Are You Ready? School — that big adventure — begins in Ord Thursday (today) and at St. Mary's School next Monday. So ends the vacation! Is your household ready to take on the fresh new outlook of school days ahead? Adjusting to the routine is part of the battle!

Sheryl Naeve's Former Doctor Is Guest at Bresleys' Home

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bresley had a pleasant surprise last Tuesday, when Dr. John Messersmith telephoned from Des Moines, Ia. to say he and his wife planned to stop in Ord the next day and hoped they could visit with the Bresleys and Donald Naeve family.

Dr. John Messersmith of Walter Reed General Hospital was Sheryl Bresley Naeve's attending physician last spring during her critical illness, major surgery and time of convalescing.

Dr. and Mrs. Messersmith were houseguests at the Bresley country home from Wednesday night until Friday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Naeve were added visitors Wednesday evening.

The Messersmiths were enroute from Washington, D. C. to his new hospital post — Fitzsimmons, at Denver, Colo.

The Bresleys entertained their guests, Thursday, with a tour of Valley County Hospital, Fort Hartstuff and other local interest points. Being natives of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, the doctor and his wife found their visit to the midwest greatly interesting and quite contrary to the eastern environment.

within the countries. He said the German people were very friendly and the most helpful of any persons they visited.

In Denmark, he found few people could speak English and it was very difficult to obtain directions.

All in all he found the pace slower in Europe with the people more relaxed. He said the saying "People are the same everywhere" is certainly true as every European encountered was more than happy to be helpful and expressed a great deal of friendliness.

Here and There

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Ingebritson, Julie and Chuck, Iowa Falls, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bastow and family, Casper, Wyo., are guests this week of the ladies' mother, Mrs. Pete Duda and other relatives at Ord. Family members enjoyed various get-togethers during the guests' stay here.

Mark Bishop, Lincoln, was a houseguest last week of Michael Norman in the Roland Norman home.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Daveport, Burwell, honored the Bob Greenlunds Thursday evening with a birthday dinner. Other guests were the Richard Hruza family of Ericson.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Norman and family entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Petiska, Hampton, Va. at dinner Tuesday evening, in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Christensen of Pine, Mo., were Friday afternoon and overnight guests of his daughter, Mrs. Dean Bresley and husband.

Marilyn Montanye of Comstock was a Monday overnight and Tuesday guest of Shannon Grove in the Kerry Leggett home.

Dinner guests, Friday, at the Joe Rutar, Jr. country home were Mrs. Anna Dolzalek, daughters Irene and Evelyn and two grandchildren all of Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Tatlow spent Saturday at Ericson with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Phitbrick. In the evening the Tatlows visited at the Earl Scofield home.

Bess Carter of Oceanside, Calif., with her son Bob Smith, his wife and two daughters were Thursday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Venard Collins.

Earnest Johnson Celebrates 90th Year; Day-Long Party

Earnest Johnson had a big day, Aug. 18. It was his 90th birthday. Neighbors and friends stopped by during the day to convey "Best Wishes" to Mr. Johnson, a longtime resident of the Davis Creek community.

An approximate 75 greeting cards were received by the birthday celebrant. There were also many gifts. Cards were brought in by Grace Palsler, Mrs. Grace Thorngate and Mrs. Dorothy Cook. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Herington of Loup City supplied a freezer of homemade ice cream for the occasion.

It will soon be 90 years since Johnson came to the Davis Creek area — that was on Mar. 1, 1882. His home had since been in the Johnson family place in the Davis Creek area until recently when he moved to the home of Mrs. Stella Kerr in North Loup.

John Iwanski Family Gathers For Camp Time at Columbus

Mr. and Mrs. John Iwanski enjoyed a camp-out with their family at Lake North near Columbus. A total of 35 shared the weekend fun.

White Elephant Sale Today

The North Central Association for Retarded Children will sponsor a White Elephant Sale today (Thursday) and tomorrow. The event will be held at a garage at 315 South 19th from 9 a.m. until evening.

Monday evening the association met at the retarded children's school. The group heard a former Ord resident, Jean Marech account for her experiences on the SWEAT Program, an 11 week program that acquaints participants with the work being done in Nebraska to aid retarded children.

Jan Albe, Broken Bow, also spoke, giving her views on the need for young people getting involved in working with the retarded children. A representative from the Broken Bow Workshop was also on hand to answer questions and explain various aspects of their program.

The North Central Association meets every third Monday at the Retarded Children's School and interested parties are urged to attend.

Kearney State Hosts Meeting

Educational Service Unit 10 is sponsoring a workshop on remediation of learning disabilities for interested teachers, parents and administrators. A nationally recognized authority in the field of learning disabilities, Mr. Jay M. Yanoff, from Temple University at Philadelphia is to conduct the workshop. Mr. Yanoff has spoken to teacher groups throughout the country and has published widely.

The decision has been made to have identical workshops in two settings so interested participants in ESU 10 will not have so far to travel. Tuesday, August 24, Mr. Yanoff will be in Kearney at the Fine Arts Building on the Kearney State College Campus. Wednesday, August 25, he will conduct a workshop in Grand Island at Barr Junior High School.

Parents are also invited to all sessions. Following is a program format: 9 a.m. — "Can a Computer Ever Replace the Mind?" 1:30 p.m. — Slide presentation: A Developmental Approach to Facilitate Individual Growth. 7:30 p.m. — The Loving Person Meets the Needs of the Child. There will be no charge for this workshop.

by carol leggett

He's a Farmer . . . Our friends the farmers are many things to many people. He lives where the city folks dream of being at 5 p.m.—but never at 5 a.m., and he believes in the eight-hour day (eight hours in the forenoon and eight hours in the afternoon).

- For instance . . .
- To His Wife — he's a big eater, a heavy sleeper, and a worry.
- To His Children — he's a man who always has a chore for them.
- To His Minister — he's a believer in God and in nature.
- To A Politician — he's someone you talk about during election.
- To An Insurance Man — he's a big risk.
- To A Mechanic — he's a mechanical wizard who fixes things himself.
- To The Grocer — he's a godsend.
- To Himself — Well, only he can tell you that, but chances are he won't.
- And To Us — he's the most important man in the territory!

There's no denying it . . . Ethelene Brechbill was without a doubt the biggest surprise at the V.F.W. Auxiliary Style Show last Friday evening.

With the help of much added padding, Ethelene looked "quite round" in her gag fashion. She confidently modeled a giant shirt (neck size 20) and bib overalls (size 48, no less). A pair of "clunky" cowboy boots completed her attire.

Isn't it the truth? . . . It used to be that a man running down the city street in his shorts at 6:30 in the morning was either absentminded or fleeing his wife. Now he's just another jogger.

Mrs. Maurine Koelling offers this refreshing dessert as a quick treat in summertime (or anytime). Simply mix 2 pkgs. Cherry Jello (or 1 large pkg.) with 3 c. boiling water. When dissolved, stir in 1 can Cherry Pie Filling.

Let set and top with a dollop of Dream Whip. Delicious!

COFFEE CUP PHILOSOPHY: Even if you're on the right track you'll get run over if you just sit there!

Young-Hulinsky Marriage Told

Kathleen Young and Emanuel Hulinsky were united in marriage Aug. 13 in Oakley, Ida. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Ruth Robert of Oakley, Ida. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hulinsky of Burwell are the groom's parents. The newlyweds will reside nine miles southwest of Burwell. He is employed at the Loup Valley Alfalfa Mill, Inc. of Burwell.

Lutheran Youth Group Fetes Pastor Trebus

The Lutheran Youth Group of St. John's and Bethany Churches of Ord honored Pastor Louis Trebus, Thursday evening, at their semi-monthly meeting. "Taking Inventory" was the lesson topic given by Mrs. Dean Bresley, member of the Youth Council. Special entertainment was provided by Jan Bredthauer, Vickie Bredthauer and Patsy Hopkins. The boys and girls presented Pastor Trebus with a pillow as a farewell gift. Each one of the group had embroidered a block for the patchwork pillow — an original expression of "doing their own thing."

The Celby Conner and Delmer Conner families will be Monday evening guests at the Laverne Tatlow country home.

Hurlbert-Ackles Repeat Vows In Evening Ceremony, Aug. 14

An evening wedding ceremony by candlelight was performed, Aug. 14, at the First Presbyterian Church of Ord with Pamela Sue Hurlbert and Douglas C. Ackles exchanging wedding vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Orie Hurlbert and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ackles all of Ord.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Kenneth Cunnell of the First Presbyterian Church and Father Stanley Gorak of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church.

Appropriate nuptial music was played by organist, Mrs. Raymond Hurlbert, aunt of the bride. Guitarist Jim McCreedy and his wife Nola sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "For All We Know". Mrs. McCreedy sang "The Lord's Prayer" with organ accompaniment.

The bride given in marriage by her father fashioned her own gown of candlelight chiffon layers over white satin. Snug fitting undersleeves fastened with pearl buttons were capped with a bell sleeve edged in candlelight lace accented with clusters of seed pearls and rhinestone stitched individually by the bride. An empire bodice was edged in lace and seed pearls continuing to the back of the gown which was designed with double layers of chiffon inset draping into the skirt, forming a graceful train. A headband of seed pearls and rhinestones caught a full-length chiffon veil that folded into the train. The bride's bouquet was of white roses and carnations clustered among baby breath and dotted with rhinestones.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Jackie Hurlbert, Ord, Mrs. Pamela Bogus, Kearney was bridesmatron and bridesmaids were Janet Janda, Lincoln, Lynn Fergue of McCook and the groom's sister Debbie Ackles, Ord. They were gowned in floor-length, long sleeved mocha colored crepe dresses. Each carried a long-stemmed tangerine Talisman rose. Wide brimmed tangerine hats complimented their ensembles.

Serving the groom were his brother Richard Ackles, Ord as best man; Dennis Cetak, Lincoln, John Miriowski, David City, Bob Brant, Lincoln and Bruce Hurlbert, Ord, as groomsmen.

Ushers were Earl Mottl, Kearney, Jim Smith, Grand Island, Steve Achelpone, Kansas City, Kan. and Steve Farrow, Maywood.

Candlelighters for the ceremony were Lori Ackles, Ord, sister of the groom, and David Geneski, Omaha, cousin of the groom. Shelly Hurlbert, Ord, wearing a tangerine gown served as flower girl for her sister's wedding. Brian Cetak, Ord was ringbearer. Kris Reutter, Murdock, presided at the guest book.

Host and hostess at the reception following the ceremony were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Lambert. Cutting the cake were Mrs. Dennis Hurlbert, Mrs. Ron Hurlbert and Mrs. Earl Mottl, Mrs. Don Geneski and Mrs. Marion Geneski, aunts of the groom, poured punch and served coffee. Mrs. Dennis Cetak, Mrs. Kyla Wilson, Mrs. Connie Heinrich and Carol Geneski opened the gifts.

Honored guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. F. H. Kuehl and the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geneski all of Ord.

After a honeymoon in the Black Hills the couple will reside in Lincoln where both are students at the university.

Rehearsal Dinner Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ackles hosted a dinner the evening of Aug. 13 following the wedding rehearsal at First Presbyterian Church, Ord. The dinner party was held at the Elks Club.

Relatives from Area In Wedding Party

A group of Ord people attended the wedding, Saturday, of Dorothy Bonne and Glen Franta. The 2 p.m. ceremony took place at the Catholic church in David City. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Wachtle, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bonne, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Setlik and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Blaha and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kovarik and Duane, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hosek and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blaha.

The wedding reception and evening dinner for guests was served at the Western Cafe in Schuyler. A wedding dance followed at Abi.

Sandra Hosek, Ronnie Hosek and Duane Kovarik were members of the wedding party.

Mira Valley Couple Returns from West Coast

By Bertha Clement
Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Sohrweid returned home Friday after a two weeks vacation to the west coast. They visited their son and daughter-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. Harold Sohrweid at Twenty-nine Palms, Calif. Harold Sohrweid and Crystal Winarski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Winarski of Niagara Falls were married at Las Vegas, Nev. April 16. While at Twenty-nine Palms they experienced a sand storm, followed by rain and hail on their first night. That seldom happens in Palm Springs. From there they went to see Joshua Tree Monument park and Pioneer Town where "Gunsmoke" is made. At Modesto, they visited Ervin's cousin, Mrs. Mildred Golding and family. Mr. and Mrs. Sohrweid visited her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bangert at San Rafael. The Bangerts daughters, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Labrenz, Mrs. Joe Szymanski and children and Katherine Bannert visited with them here.

Church in North Loup, Marie Cox was the bride and Larry Gregg the groom. I'm fond of Marie so was glad to be at her wedding. Don and Phyllis came up from Kearney and stopped here for lunch before going to the wedding. Clare and Beulah Clement and Mary Bell were at the wedding too. We enjoyed a visit with Dennis Cox and Allan and Nancy Cox at our home Sunday forenoon. Dennis worked for us some years ago and helped irrigate. They timed their visit here after George, Edwin and Victor finished moving the irrigation line.

Seventy were present at a family picnic at the Ord park Sunday honoring the 70th birthday of Will Foth and the 73rd birthday of Walter Foth, which are on Aug. 23. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Theron Jackman, Leslie, Becky and Bradley, Sap Gabriel, Calif. Present besides the two brothers and wives and the Jackman family were Mr. and Mrs. Art Maronde and Marvin, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Marots and Chris, Mrs. Bruce Worm and Amy, all of Lincoln, Mrs. Dave Weeks, Bill, Deneen and Jeanne and Mr. and Mrs. John Rhor, all of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Heideck, Jennifer, Johnny and Jeff, McCook, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schultz, Steve, Matthew and Mary Beth and Mrs. Tom Galley, all of Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bredthauer, Sr., Edna, Island and grandsons Keith, Jim and Kurt Eggert, Russell, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Uryllier, Larry and Lori, Ravenna, Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Beilke, Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foth, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Peterson, Dale, Patty, Nancy and Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Foth, Chris, Gretchen, Eileen and Kim, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Foth, Steve and Kelvin and Mr. and Mrs. George Clement and grandsons, Edwin and Victor Clement. The afternoon was spent in visiting and taking pictures. Three birthday cakes were eaten with slush later. Most of the young folks went swimming in the Ord pool. Valleywide and Virton schools will open for school Aug. 30.

Naomi Sohrweid described their new daughter-in-law Crystal as a lovely girl. They fell in love with her. One reason for their trip to California was to meet her. The bride was beautiful and the wedding lovely Saturday evening at the Seventh Day Baptist

Wheeler Central Begins Drills; Aims for Third Straight Title

A total of ten lettermen are on hand for Tom Majors at Wheeler Central High, Bartlett, as the Wildcats begin preparation for the 1971 football season and the defense of their Sandhills-Gateway Conference crown. Last season the Wildcats rolled to an impressive 8-1-0 record and their second consecutive Sandhills-Gateway title. That season gave Peru State graduate Majors a 26-7-3 career record at Wheeler Central after four years at the head post job.

Rated eighth at the end of the '70 season by both the OMAHA WORLD HERALD and the LINCOLN STAR & JOURNAL in eight man football ranks, Wheeler rolled to wins over Petersburg (46-6); Elgin (22-12); Stuart (66-12); Chambers (34-0); Loup County (30-0); Elgin (74-16); and Humphrey (42-20) in regular season play. The conference playoff saw Wheeler dump Humphrey a second time by 50-14. The only loss of the season was a 46-0 affair with Orchard.

Drahota, 170, guard, sophomore; and Scott McCain, 150, end, sophomore.

The Conference will again feature an East and West divisional setup. Members in the West Division will include, Wheeler Central, Stuart, Ewing, Chambers and Loup County. Claiming membership in the East will be Humphrey, Elgin, Cedar Rapids, Clear Water and Petersburg. Ewing and Wheeler Central are considered the "teams to beat" in the West with Humphrey expected to repeat in the East.

Four Days of Car Racing to Highlight State Fair

Four big days of auto racing are on tap for fair goers at the 1971 Nebraska State Fair, with action starting on Friday, September 3.

The modified stock cars will be competing for the Nebraska State Championship stock car title, with the first 60 entries accepted, and the next 20 listed as alternates.

Three days of International Motor Contest Association sprint car racing are planned on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, Sept. 4, 5, and 6, with a field of over 40 sprint cars expected to be on hand.

The complete Wheeler County schedule includes: (Varsity) Sept. 10 At Petersburg Sept. 17 At Elgin Sept. 24 CEDAR RAPIDS Oct. 1 STUART Oct. 8 CHAMBERS Oct. 15 At Loup County (Taylor) Oct. 22 At Ewing Oct. 29 HUMPHREY

The Reserve schedule includes matches with Stuart (There, Sept. 21); Elgin (There, Oct. 5); and Cedar Rapids (Home, Oct. 12).

Leading the list of entries already in is defending IMCA national sprint car champion, Jerry Blundy of Galesburg, Ill. Jerry will again be driving the familiar red number 33 on his car, trying for a feature win during the three afternoons of racing and points toward a 1971 IMCA national crown.

Top challengers include Ron Perkins of Des Moines. Ron won the first afternoon feature last year and will again be out to cop the top prize money offered. Ralph Parkinson, Jr., from Sweet Springs, Mo., is entered. Ralph was the winner of the Monday, Labor Day feature last year. Parkinson will be driving the same car he piloted to the victory last year, which was worth $1,070 to the young sprint car driver.

Time trials on Saturday, Sept. 4, will start at 1 p.m. and times set Saturday will hold over for the Sunday program. Time trials on Monday will start at 1 p.m., and the first race will start at 2 p.m. all three days.

On Friday, Sept. 3, the modified stock car program will get underway at 2 p.m. with drivers drawing for positions in the heat races. Early entries in the modifieds include Jim Sasse of Lincoln and Kent Tucker and Junior Nachtigal, both of Aurora. This race is open to Nebraska drivers only.

Only legal handguns for hunting big game in Nebraska are calibers .44 magnum, .357 magnum, .41 magnum, and .44 special, with the Keith magnum handload.

TEAM SUPPORT — Without them, the Ord High Chanticleers would not last long during the football season. Dozens of hip pads lined the Ord High stage Friday night as equipment was checked out to once again open another football campaign. The Chants underwent twice-a-day workouts under the watchful eye of head coach Chuck Squier during the past week and, with the opening of school, will begin one a day workouts from now until the last game in November. A home match with Gothenburg on Sept. 10 will open the '71 Ord season.

Cheers & Chants

Quiz Sports Editor

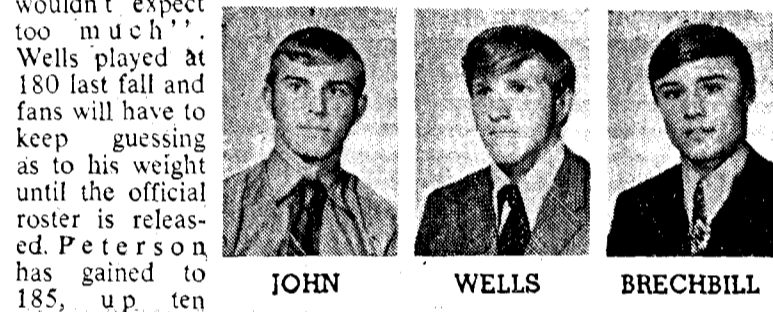

The success or failure of the 1971 edition of the Ord High Chanticleers might well lay squarely on the shoulders of five seniors, Paul Markley, Dave John, Dale Peterson, Leon Brechbill and Larry Wells. Yet in talking with the young men one thing that stands out above all others — they are ready and willing to assume the role of leadership that experience and fortune seems to be willing to cast on their shoulders.

Leadership is not something that any of the five have sought to avoid in the past, as a look at their records would quickly prove. Dale Peterson was an all conference defensive end last season for the Chanticleers. Few people would realize the importance of the defensive man, but Chant fans this year should learn to appreciate from the start of the season Dale Peterson. Being the only defensive regular back from the '70 campaign, head coach Chuck Squier has indicated all along his defensive unit might well be built around the lanky blond senior.

Most coaches across the state would be happy to have two returning backs from the preceding season but Squier has most of his counterparts beat — he has not one, not two, but FOUR of his last year's offensive backs back — again. Last year Squier was faced with the same "problem" as the boys have been playing together since their sophomore year as starters. As everyone connected with the Chants knows the experience in the backfield helped Ord to an 8-2-0 record and the Central Ten Conference title.

Paul Markley, quarterback, has not been idle this summer. He attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's annual football camp and was able to participate with some of the finest athletes in the state. He also attended the Bart Starr All Star Camp held at the University of Wisconsin. While Markley did not feel the Wisconsin camp was as good as NU's, he certainly could not have helped but benefitted by attending both. Markley is up to 165 pounds this year after playing at 155 last fall.

Ready and able to play ball this fall are John, Brechbill and Wells. Brechbill has gone up from 148 to 155 weight wise and John from 145 to 150 pounds. After hedging around and admitting he "ate quite a lot this summer", Wells admitted to 185 pounds then decided to change it to 180 pounds "so the coaches wouldn't expect too much". Wells played at 180 last fall and fans will have to keep guessing as to his weight until the official roster is released. Peterson has gained to 185, up ten pounds over last fall.

Archery Permit Sales Now Underway in State

Archers may now purchase their 1971 deer permits in four outstate Nebraska communities, as well as at the Game and Parks Commission's central office in Lincoln.

The permits will be available between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at Game Commission district offices in Norfolk, Bassett, Alliance, and North Platte, and at the central office at 2200 North 33rd Street in Lincoln. Archery-antelope permits are also on sale at the Bassett and Alliance offices.

Archery permits may also be obtained by mail. Bow hunters should send a check or money order to cover the permit fee, along with a properly filled out application form to the Game and Parks Commission, Box 30370, Lincoln, Nebr., 68503. Permit fees are $10 for residents and $30 for nonresidents.

Big-game hunters may hold two antelope and two deer permits each year, both for firearm, both for archery, or one of each. There is no limit on the total number of archery permits that may be issued.

Nebraska's archery-antelope season runs from August 21 through October 31, with the exception of the firearm season, September 25 through October 3. The bow-and-arrow deer season opens on September 18 and ends on December 31. It is also closed during the firearm season, November 13 through 21.

Columbus Scotus Returns Veterans; Great Year Expected

With 18 returning lettermen on hand, including quarterback Don Briggs, a 6'11", 180 pound senior, Scotus High of Columbus fans are expecting one of the better years in that school's history. The Shamrocks, members of highly regarded Centennial Conference, finished the 1970 season with an 8-2-0 record.

"We feel our team will be reasonably strong," said head coach Jim Puetz. "We have fine veteran linemen returning. Our major weakness will be the offensive backfield. If we can rebuild the backfield after losing three starters from last fall, our season will be successful."

Among the stars returning pin pointed by Puetz were Briggs; Frank Mielal, 5'11" back weighing 160; Steve Abbott, guard, 185 lbs. and standing at 5'10"; Don Brock, a combination fullback and tackle weighing 205 and 6'3" tall; Larry Fritz, tackle, 6'4", 250 lbs.; and Tom Juha, an end at 6 ft. 5 in., weighing 175 lbs.

Last season the Shamrocks ripped West Point Central Catholic 14-0; Columbus Lakeview 32-12;

Omaha Holy Name 35-7; Fremont Bergan 28-9; Wahoo Neumann 30-0; Schuyler 35-0; David City Acquinas, 42-0; and Grand Island Central Catholic, 18-14. In last two games of the season, the Shamrocks were defeated by Omaha Cathedral, 58-0 and in the Centennial Conference Playoff, were upset by Fremont Bergan 12-0.

Coach Puetz is a graduate of David City St. Mary's High School and Wayne State. This will be his first year as head coach for Scotus after serving as assistant to departed coach Claire Stramel for four seasons. Stramel joined the coaching representatives of other Nebraska agencies involved in conservation education presented plans for the 1972 national conference. It will be held at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education on the University of Nebraska East Campus in Lincoln.

Indians Return Two Regulars

With only two returning regulars on hand, Broken Bow football coach Mark Russell is not overly optimistic about Broken Bow's football fortunes during the 1971 season. With membership in the powerful Southwest Conference, the Indians may be hard pressed to duplicate last year's 3-5-1 season record.

"You never know this early," was Russell's comment concerning the upcoming season. "I would have to say this is definitely a rebuilding year for us. We have two outstanding veterans back in guard Mike Whitesell and back Jerry Shea. We will just have to wait and see as the season progresses."

Russell pin pointed Holdrege, Cozad and Ord as being the Indians' toughest foes for the upcoming year.

The complete Indian schedule includes: Sept. 10 GRAND ISLAND CENTRAL CATHOLIC Sept. 17 At Lexington Sept. 24 AINSWORTH Oct. 1 At Ogallala Oct. 8 MINDEN Oct. 15 At Holdrege Oct. 22 At Ord Oct. 29 At Cozad Nov. 5 GOTHENBURG

The '71 Columbus Scotus football schedule includes: Sept. 10 WEST POINT CENTRAL CATHOLIC Sept. 17 COLUMBUS LAKEVIEW Sept. 24 O.M. HOLY NAME Oct. 2 FREMONT BERGAN Oct. 6 At Wahoo Neumann Oct. 15 At Schuyler Oct. 23 At David City Acqs. Oct. 30 GRAND IS. CENTRAL CATHOLIC Nov. 5 ORD

West Holt Names Basketball Coach

Atkinson West Holt completed its faculty last week with the hiring of Dean Petricek as basketball coach. He will also teach science and mathematics.

Petricke taught for four years and was head basketball coach three of those years at Fullerton. Last year his team won the district crown and then was defeated by Milford in the regional playoff.

He graduated from Clarkson High and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Smallmouth bass must weigh at least three pounds to qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award.

Ernie French Calamaran Winner

Ernie French, a senior at Ord High, and his crewman, Ken Durand, Burwell, combined for aces over the weekend to take first place in the First Annual Nebraska Venture Catamaran Regatta held at Johnson Lake.

Featured in the initial event were six sail boats, two from Grand Island, two from Hastings, one from Lexington and one from Ord.

French's next endeavor will be the Governor's Cup Regatta to be held over Labor Day at Ogallala. Over 150 entries are expected including a special fleet from Colorado. Last year French placed second in the Governor's event.

Ernie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill French.

New Coach, Few Veterans at York

With only six returning lettermen, the 1971 season will be a building year," was the comment first made by Central Ten East member York's new football coach, Phil Towle. Towle, a 1961 graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, returns to his hometown as head coach of the Dukes.

Towle graduated from York High in 1954 and replaces Chuck Doepke who resigned from the York position this summer to accept the position of football coach and physical education director at Class A South Sioux City.

Towle also said, "We have a large sophomore class who should see a lot of action this year. We have speed in our backs but lost the entire starting line and last year's numbers one and two quarterbacks."

Senior lettermen returning include backs Greg Weber, Bob Apetz and Rod Strickler; guards John Radcliff and Keith Johnson and junior back Steve Schultz.

The Dukes open the 1971 season Sept. 10 against Central Ten East member, David City, on the road. The remainder of the schedule includes Sept. 17, McCook, there; Sept. 24, Fairbury, home; Oct. 1, Seward, there; Oct. 8, Crete, there; Oct. 15, Aurora, home; Oct. 22, Utica Centennial, there; Oct. 29, Schuyler, home and Nov. 5, Central City, home.

Nuclear Exhibit to Be At Popcorn Days

A mobile nuclear exhibit, demonstrating the story of nuclear energy, will be on display at North Loop during Popcorn Days Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 30-31 and Sept. 1. With particular emphasis on Cooper Nuclear Station near Brownville, the 35-foot mobile exhibit reveals the history and future of nuclear power and its application at Cooper, now under construction on the Nebraska bank of the Missouri River.

Custom designed and constructed for Nebraska Public Power District, the exhibit permits making available to those interested the story of nuclear power plants.

By means of push buttons, auxiliary illumination, descriptive signs and an authentic model, built to scale, the display tells about Cooper Nuclear Station, one of the largest nuclear power plants west of the Mississippi River.

24, 1971 IN 2 SECTIONS Vol. 90, No. 25 and Parks Commission annually regarded as one of the Fair's top attractions.

This year from September 2 through 8, the Commission's varied program will again offer all outdoorsmen something of interest. From the pure pleasures of fishing and hunting to important questions about the environment, the displays will be geared to the interests and concerns of Nebraska's sportsmen.

Active participation is the theme of several of the exhibits. A large pool, located within the old west stockade, will give young and old a chance to perfect their casting. With expert advice readily available, anglers can learn new skills before that fall fishing trip. Nearby, novices and experts alike can test their marksmanship at a rifle range. While shooting can be an enjoyable sport, the display has the serious goal of teaching vital hunter-safety rules.

Another new see-and-do exhibit, emphasizes duck identification. Since being able to identify waterfowl in flight is an important part of duck hunting, the Commission plans to help gunners learn the different species. By means of a brief quiz, hunters will be able to see which birds they already know and which they need practice on.

These outdoor activity displays, along with a great many other outdoor-oriented exhibits, will once again make the Commission's area a State Fair favorite.

Gasoline May Be Pollution Source

Possible contamination of fish by lead from gasoline burned in outdoor motors and from other sources is being studied on five Nebraska lakes by researchers of the Game and Parks Commission. The Commission has no cause to believe that lead contamination presents a hazard in any Nebraska lake, but it is checking as a routine precaution.

Wheeler Central Begins Aims for Third Straight August Edghill Dies At Local Hospital

A total of ten lettersmen are on hand for Tom Majors at Wheeler Central High, Bartlett, as the Wildcats begin preparation for the 1971 football season and the defense of their Sandhills Gateway Conference crown. Last season the Wildcats rolled to an impressive 8-1-0 record and their second consecutive Sandhills Gateway title. That season gave Peru State graduate Majors a 26-7-3 career record at Wheeler Central after four years at the head post job.

Rated eighth at the end of the '70 season by both the OMAHA WORLD HERALD and the LINCOLN STAR & JOURNAL, in eight man football ranks, Wheeler rolled to wins over Petersburg (46-6); Elgin (22-12); Stuart (66-12); Chambers (34-0); Loup County (60-0); Ewing (74-10); and Humphrey (42-20) in regular season play. The conference play-off saw Wheeler dump Humphrey a second time by 50-14. The only loss of the season was a 46-0 affair with Orchard.

Assisting Majors will be Jerry Stine, also in his fifth year with the team. Returning lettersmen include: Dan Berrit, 170, center, senior; Steve Harkins, 170, guard, senior; Terry Atkinson, 165, end, junior; Gary Bollitt, 140, quarterback, junior; Stan Foster, 155, Tailback, junior; Mike Childers, 155, fullback, junior; Alan Harkins,

Final services for August L. Edghill, 80, a long-time resident of Wheeler county, are set for Saturday at the Ord Memorial Chapel.

Mr. Edghill died Aug. 24 at the Valley County Hospital. He was 80 years old. The Rev. Clarence Campbell will officiate at the 2 p.m. rites with Mrs. Shirley Karre as organist. Special selections, "In The Garden" and "Beyond The Sunset" will be soloist, Mrs. Sharon Fuss. Burial will be in the Bartlett cemetery.

Born Nov. 13, 1890 at Franklin, Mr. Edghill lived his early life at Franklin where he married Lottie Faye Kimberling on Dec. 20, 1911. In 1927 they moved to a farm in Wheeler County and later moving to Ord in 1946 their home was in Grand Island. Since his wife's death in 1967, Mr. Edghill resided at the LeBow Home in Ord.

Survivors are three sons, Arctidith L. ("Bob"), Ord, Merle, Burwell, and Melvin, Shelton; one daughter, Mrs. Arlene Davenport, Grand Island; 10 grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and one brother, Harold, Palisade. He was preceded in death by his wife, parents, one brother and one sister.

HOPING AND WAITING — Several volunteers watched rescue operations for seven year old Marty Blika Sunday afternoon. Shortly after this photo was taken, these people were joined by dozens of other persons who searched the woods, some of which are in the background, and other land areas around the dam. The search lasted three hours before the boy's body was found pinned under rocks in the water.

Life Ends for Gertrude Knebel Rites Held at Catholic Church

Adamek said the highway patrolman is trying to protect you from the actions of the other guy and he now understands that a highway patrolman is not out to get the individual just because of who they are. "If the other person is doing wrong," said Randy, "the highway patrolman is trying to protect you from his actions but if you are doing wrong, the highway patrolman is trying to protect an innocent party from your actions. It works both ways, which few people take time to realize."

Norfolk to Host Meat Animal Exposition

The 22nd Annual Meat Animal Exposition will be held on Monday, September 13, 1971 at the Norfolk Livestock Market in Norfolk, Nebraska. This announcement was made by Ron Rasmussen, Chairman of this year's event. Jerry Arkfeld has been named Vice-Chairman.

The Agriculture Committee of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce sponsors this event each year which features a 4-H and FFA market beef show and sale and "Lots of Five" fat cattle show and sale. Any member of a 4-H or FFA Chapter is eligible to show one calf only in this show. They must be a bonafide 4-H Club member (or an orphan member of such an organization) or an FFA member to enter. The market beef for this show must be on feed and a bonafide 4-H or FFA project by April 1 of this year, and they must be enrolled in their county as of June 1, 1971. For 4-H members this is one of the five head tagged for showing.

The final decision on the proper class will be determined by a classification committee as the animals are received and weighed in on entry day (Sunday). The classification committee will be made up of representatives from the various beef breed associations.

The 4-H and FFA CARCASS CONTEST is a new event this year, involves only purple ribbon animals. Those which are sold at the evening auction (7 P.M.) the day of the show will be slaughtered and entered in the Carcass Show. (No entry fee is charged for the Carcass Show.) Final carcass evaluation information on the entire carcass show will be mailed to each exhibitor following the show. Evaluation information from each carcass will be identified in the exhibitor's name. Animals entered in the Carcass Show will be slaughtered on Tuesday, September 14th, graded on Wednesday morning and evaluated on Wednesday afternoon.

A Showmanship Contest has also been added to this year's show. All 4-H and FFA exhibitors in the Norfolk Meat Animal Show will automatically be entered in the Showmanship Contest. This will consist of two divisions: Junior Division — 8 through 11 years of age as of January 1, 1971, and Senior Division — 12 years of age or over.

Meat Fats May Not Raise Cholesterol

New research findings were announced here today that indicate meat fats do not involve in raising blood cholesterol levels.

In a report on diet-heart disease research, Dr. William C. Sherman, Chicago, cited a study at the University of Georgia which seems to relate cholesterol-raising activities exclusively to the "short-chained" saturated fatty acids. These are not found in meat fats, which are made up entirely of "long-chained" fatty acids.

The University of Georgia laboratory investigation, using experimental animals is one of several studies in the area of dietary fats, cholesterol, heart and other diseases discussed by Dr. Sherman at the 49th Annual Meeting of the National Live Stock and Meat Board in Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Sherman is the Meat Board's Director of Nutrition Research and oversees the livestock and meat industry's program of grants to scientists engaged in human nutrition research.

He said the Georgia work "adds one more piece of evidence to the growing body of research which challenges the scientific validity of lumping all saturated fats into the same category as causative agents in raising blood cholesterol levels."

He noted further it has not been proven that high blood cholesterol, in itself, contributes to the development of heart disease. "Seemingly, there is evidence that high blood cholesterol can be regarded as a warning signal that somewhere in the body something is haywire which could lead to heart trouble. It might have nothing to do with diet whatsoever... and it might be an effect rather than related to diet."

Dr. Sherman also pointed out that not all saturated fats are animal fats, as many laymen believe. Coconut oil for example, is among the most highly saturated and seems to be among the most active in raising blood cholesterol levels.

He said it is "imperative" that the American public and the medical profession understand that all saturated fats are not the same in their relation to cholesterol. He said it is also imperative that they understand there are a growing number of valid scientific doubts about the safety of consuming large amounts of polyunsaturated (primarily vegetable) fats and oils as a means of lowering blood cholesterol levels.

He said there is considerable evidence that high levels of vegetable oils seem to produce a number of degenerative diseases, possibly including cancer. Most of this research has been done with laboratory animals but a study of modified diets at a Veteran's Hospital in Calif. also indicated cancer in humans could be related to a high polyunsaturated diet, he observed.

"First and foremost, consult your physician," said Sherman. "He can check for symptoms of high blood pressure, stress, diabetes and other such factors which are known to be related to heart disease. And certainly most of us would do well to cut down on all calories — both polyunsaturated and saturated fats, as well as sweets and starches — as a means of weight control. Cutting out cigarettes certainly would do any harm. And get more exercise! That seems to be a very real factor of which there is general medical agreement. And it's something everybody can do something about."

Art Workshop Slated At State 4-H Camp

Circle the date... the Autumn Art Workshop is scheduled to be held Sept. 9-12 at the Nebraska State 4-H Camp located west of Halsey.

The previous three workshops held in 1968, 1969 and 1970 were extremely successful with participants representing every area of the state.

Instructors for this Fourth Annual Autumn Art Workshop will be Dwight Kirsch presently of Des Moines, Ia.; Tom Talbot presently of Santa Fe, N.M.; Harold Holoun of Ord and Lincoln and Alton Larsen of Blair and Lincoln.

Further information concerning the Autumn Art Workshop may be obtained by writing Mrs. Willard A. Still, P.O. Box 395, Broken Bow.

The University of Nebraska Northeast Field Day is set for September 9th, at Concord, Nebraska.

Results of new types of terraces and their influence on water and soil conservation will be discussed along with studies on row spacing and fertilization.

Soybean producers will be interested in the Field Day scheduled for September 23rd. This will be held at the University of Nebraska Field Laboratory at Mead, Nebraska.

Such topics as breeding, varieties, diseases, insect pests, weed control, harvesting, fertility and cultural practices are on the agenda.

Field Day participants will also tour soybean plots at the Laboratory.

A date of local interest is the Outlook meeting on September

FARMLAND TUTORIAL

"BIG AGRICULTURE" — NEW THREAT

There is no doubt that the most descriptive word of contemporary society is "bigness" — big government, big labor, big monopolies. Now under guise of Congressman Sisk's bargaining bill (R.R. 7197) big agriculture!

The purpose of this bill is set standards for the qualification of agriculture cooperatives and to establish a National Agricultural Bargaining Board. If created, farmers would bargain collectively for agricultural commodities as well as quality a promotion. Food processors would be obligated to bargain with the association; they could not deal with independent farmers or other associations.

In theory this bill may sound good but in practice it would result in the monopolization of agriculture. Under this legislation a few growers could form an association and compel canners and freezers bargain with them exclusively at the expense of the independent grower. Food processors would be obligated to deal with the association. Independent farmers then would be forced to join the association, or raise some other commodity. Hence the supply of our agricultural products and the price would be controlled by "bargaining associations."

Decisions no longer would be made by the farmer, but by the association. The farmer's decision to choose to whom he will sell his product and on what terms will become an association matter. Likewise, his choice of what crops to raise will depend on his ability to join a particular association. The food processor no longer will have the ability to decide where he can purchase the best quality commodity at the best price. He will have to consult "the association."

The end result will be to reduce the individual's freedom of choice. But then this has been the result of bigness, as we have seen in big government, big labor, and big monopolies. This runs counter to the basic American ideals of individuality, independence, freedom of choice and self-reliance. We shall watch with interest to see whether the American farmer, whose rights more than any other person in our society are in jeopardy, will support the Sisk bill.

Southern Corn Leaf Blight

Hot dry weather conditions across the state may not have been ideal for the maturing corn crop, but it has checked the spread and development of Southern Corn Leaf Blight.

Surveys conducted this past week show the situation unchanged. Weather conditions have been unfavorable for blight spread in all parts of the state. No additional counties have been added to the list of blight-infested counties to date.

We must urge farmers to be on the alert for the disease. If weather conditions favorable to S.C.L.B. development — warm, humid and moist conditions — prevail, susceptible fields should be watched for the disease.

Checking the latest information from Robert Roselle, University of Nebraska Extension Entomologist, it would appear that the second brood corn-borer larva should be hatching about now or within the next few days.

Check your corn fields now — especially those late planted fields — controls should be applied when egg masses average one or more per plant or when five or more young borers are found feeding in the leaf axils.

You are going to have to look at several plants in various locations in your field. If controls are needed check with your County Extension Agent for chemicals to use and rate of application.

A date of local interest is the Outlook meeting on September

This meeting is sponsored jointly by the Valley County Extension Service and the First National Bank of Ord. This will be an evening meeting and should be of interest to both farmers and businessmen.

We have invited Mr. Allen Welman, University of Nebraska Extension Economist to discuss the market outlook for livestock and grain for 1971-1972.

Two representatives from the National Bank of Commerce will be planning on silage, estate planning and current credit and lending problems.

A large cattle feeder, Bud Harrington, from Grand Island will also be on the program to discuss cattle feeding problems and financing.

Green Thumb Tips:
Order your spring flowering bulbs for planting in October.

August 25 - September 20 is the most desirable time for fall grass seeding.

Locally grown bluegrass is an excellent source of seed.

Salvage Drought Damaged Crops for Winter Feed:
Drought damaged corn, sorghum, and grain sorghum can be salvaged for winter feed by ensiling. Ideally, corn and other grain crops should be in the medium to late dough stage if the highest volume of nutrients is to be preserved in silage.

Crops which are severely damaged by drought deteriorate in nutritive value daily. Harvesting should be completed before excessive loss of leaves and other plant parts occur.

Drought damaged forage can be ensiled either in a trench, upright or pit type silo. Care must be taken to provide sufficient water if the material is excessively dry. Water is needed, not only to aid in fermentation, but also to aid in packing. Proper packing is very essential to the ensiling process.

If the crops being ensiled are very immature because of drought it may be necessary to add grain or other high cellulose materials to improve fermentation.

All plants contain some nitrates, however excessive amounts are likely to occur in forages which have been grown under stress such as drought. Harvesting such crops for silage greatly reduces the danger of excessive nitrates. The normal fermentation process tends to reduce nitrate content of forage. Forages that are high in nitrate will normally lose approximately 40 percent to 60 percent of their nitrate content during fermentation. Drought damaged forage should be harvested with more concern to saving the nutrients available than to the nitrate content. An analysis of the silage for nitrate prior to feeding will be helpful in designing feeding programs to prevent losses from nitrate.

Do not harvest the lower portion of the stalk. The nitrate content is highest close to the ground. In making silage, raise the cutter to leave the lower part of the plant (up to eighteen inches high and much of the nitrate will be left in the field). If you are concerned about nitrates in silage, an analysis should be made. If the test reveals high nitrates steps can be taken in your feeding and management program to allow the feeding of high nitrate roughage. Information on the feeding of high nitrate roughages can be obtained from your County Extension Office.

Livestock Industry Has Tax Problem

If the Nebraska livestock industry is to expand and prosper, it cannot continue to carry a burden that insures producers in other states a tax advantage.

When a finished steer goes to market in Nebraska, he may be carrying as much as $10 in taxes that are not borne by similar animals fed in several other states. The tax on stock-raising in Nebraska ranges from $2.38 each in taxing districts of 40 mills to $5.95 each in taxing districts of 150 mills. The same tax on steers of 12-18 months of age ranges from $2.24 to $5.60 per head. On grain-bred steers the variation would be from $4.20 to $10.50 per head.

This means that every cow bears a tax every year whether she bears a calf or not. In addition to this, the current crop of hay which the cow eats (if not fed before Jan. 1), also bears a personal property tax. Behind the hay is the land which bears a real estate tax.

The calf of a cow then enters the world bearing the taxes of the land, the bull, the hay and the cow. It then is taxed for just being in Nebraska and eats grain which has already been taxed if it is produced in Nebraska. So the fattened critter goes to market from Nebraska carrying its share of the taxes on the land, its share of the taxes on its father, the taxes on its mother, the taxes on the hay and grain eaten by the animal, and the taxes on the animal itself.

Are these taxes going to encourage or deter the cattle industry when the cow bears no tax in Minnesota or North Dakota and none in Iowa if two years of age or older, and the critter, hay and grain bear no tax in Minnesota or North Dakota?

A minimum basic requirement of any law to implement the provisions of Amendment 10 (which permits the Nebraska Legislature to classify and exempt personal property from taxation as it sees fit) is that it will place Nebraska producers in a competitive position with the producers of other states. Unless this is done, Nebraska will become less and less desirable as a place to earn a living.

University of Nebraska Chancellor D. B. Varner recently appointed a committee to study the possibilities for expansion of Nebraska's livestock industry. It will be interesting to see what the committee will recommend concerning livestock and the personal property tax inequity which it now carries.

It will also be interesting to see whether Gov. J. J. Exon, who has twice vetoed legislation to implement the provisions of Amendment 10, will continue to veto such corrective measures in the next session.

NU TO HOST NATIONAL WORKSHOP

A national workshop on rural development is scheduled to be held here October 18-20 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. The three-day session will center on the greater use of educational facilities in the rural development process.

According to Dr. Henry Ahlgren, deputy Under Secretary of Agriculture, "the role of education and training in the development of our countryside cannot be overstated."

He pointed out that education and training have key roles in attracting and retaining industry, in enhancing the lives of rural residents and in the building of resources of a community. He added that priorities and a chart of action for these goals will be outlined at the workshop.

Hosts for the conference will be the University of Nebraska, the community colleges in Nebraska, the Nebraska Vocational Association and the National Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association.

Cooperating in the sponsorship also will be the USDA, the American Association of Junior Colleges and the American Vocational Association.

State Capitol News

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

The U.S. Senate wants to know how Nebraskans feel about rural development.

At least two senators will be in Lincoln September 9 for a hearing to get Cornhusker views on the subject. Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, the ranking Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee, is one and the other is former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, now a Democratic senator from Minnesota.

The hearing is scheduled for the afternoon in the auditorium of the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education on the University of Nebraska's East Campus.

Among those invited to be witnesses are Gov. J. J. Exon, a Democrat, and his Republican predecessor (and 1970 election victim) Norbert T. Tiemann.

Three staff members were in Nebraska recently to gather background information and to arrange for witnesses to appear at the hearing. Among them was Don Shasteen, Curtis' administrative aide.

Jim Thornton, the consultant to the subcommittee on rural development, said Congress wants to get programs going which not only will help rural areas gain economic health but will take some of the pressure off of the urban areas which already are too big and are swiftly growing bigger.

During their conversation with Tiemann recently, the senate staffers were told they should expect some resistance in the midwest to any effort designed to import big city problems to the rural communities.

The former governor said Nebraskans and their plains states neighbors want to stop the migration of their youth, at they're not interested in reversing the flow from the cities.

Thornton said the people he is coming with the population explosion and the most new babies, naturally, are going to be born in the big cities. There will be a national policy, he said, to cope with the situation.

But Thornton said planning to make it work smoothly because the problems can be anticipated and dealt with in advance.

Joining Shasteen and Thornton on the journey into Nebraska was Dan Spiegel, Humphrey's legislative assistant.

Laws Become Effective

At sundown Friday, August 27, motorists on Nebraska's highways won't have to slow down assuming they weren't exceeding the 65 miles per hour daytime speed limit already.

The 1971 Legislature passed a law making the speed limits for highways 65 miles per hour day and night. That increases the nighttime limit by five miles per hour.

Interstate highway limits — 75 miles per hour day and night, except where posted otherwise — were unchanged by the law.

Truck speeds on "regular" highways were increased to 65 mph during the day and 60 mph at night.

The law becomes effective August 27, along with all other adopted by the Legislature without the emergency clause. That clause makes a measure effective upon the governor's signature, while all the rest must wait for three months after the Legislature's adjournment.

The 1971 session closed down May 27.

They Are Gone

If you are lately come to Ord then you never heard of Gertrude Knebel. That is your loss. She was quite a gal.

A large, friendly Bohemian girl orphaned early in life, Gertrude had to make her own way and she earned every inch of it. She was a hard worker and eager to tackle any job, and do it well.

As a young girl she was taken under the wing of Maggie Briley, probably the finest cook Ord ever had, and so proud of it. Maggie was the only negro in Ord; she was famous. Her cooking was something else. And all her little cooking tricks and delicate culinary skills she was happy to teach to Gertrude, her young friend.

So the North Side Cafe became famous. It was famous for excellent steaks cooked to perfection.

It was famous for chili, so boiling scalding peppery hot it was impossible to eat it while your lips burned. . . . but so good you couldn't let the big steaming bowl sit there. I tried to learn how this chili was made: it was nothing like anyone else's chili that I ever tasted.

On top was a layer of sizzling fat, from suet I think, and it retained the scalding heat within. Maggie told me once she never put beans in her chili. And she never put tomatoes, she said: this left me at a real loss for I put both these foods in my chili.

Her chili looked a tiny bit as though it had trifles of straw in it, and how hot they were. I could never identify them . . . or it.

I do think it was the hottest chili in the world. I do not think she put tabasco in it.

Gertrude could cook about anything superlatively, no doubt because she had such an excellent teacher.

In her later years Gertrude's feet and legs gave her fits and no wonder after all the standing, the cooking, the table waiting she had done. She was famous all through this area and I am only sorry I didn't write about her while she could read it.

Too little, too late. I am sorry. Why didn't I write it sooner? Something else I'm feeling bad about, the way we're losing our trees. Every huge old tree I see cut down and hauled off grieves me. I guess there's something about being raised (reared?) in Nebraska that makes one appreciate trees more than other citizens do in other states.

In many parts of Nebraska trees had to be planted one by one and watered with bucket after bucket of water.

And so Nebraska's Arbor day came to be particularly meaningful.

Why should Nebraska not spearhead the drive to plant trees and so beautify our country? Let us become the tree planting state, replacing every dying elm or old tree.

We wouldn't be the originators of tree planting. Israel for example encourages memorials of tree planting: when someone dies, send them $10 in place of a bouquet quickly sniffed and rapidly gone, and they will plant a memorial tree, a young tree, in Israel. That new young land needs trees.

I hear that it takes 65 trees to exhale sufficiently to trade breathing with one person. (How is that, we exhale carbon monoxide and trees do the opposite?) I forget.)

Some sharp school child, straighten me out please? —Irma

Dear Editor,

As an Ex-Farm Boy, I am moved to sound off in regard to the recent action taken by some farmers, that of dumping corn into the river. I think this is the most preposterous behavior shown on the part of a farmer. Getting rid of the corn was like or even worse than selling it at a lower price than they wanted and waited for. If the need for money was so urgent, then simple logic pointed to only one alternative — sell at the prevailing price and do the best at that. There have been much worse times than the present, as far as product prices are concerned.

When I was a boy on a farm in Valley County, my parents struggled through many such periods and even worse. In the early 30's the state-wide drought created a recession and it developed into a serious, dangerous depression. That is when my father had to sell our beef cows for almost nothing. We drove them to Ord by foot, because there was not even money enough to hire trucking them in. Hogs were practically nothing to hold on to as far as money-makers, and the price of cream and eggs was so low that family such as ours was had to scrape and toil constantly to keep living. These products on which mother depended for purchasing staple groceries, brought so little that many items were never obtained, and we did without many things that we needed. Yet in the end, my parents surmounted the predicaments, but there was mortgage against the farm that had to be drawn to obtain loans in order that the farm could remain in my parents' possession. They succeeded in overcoming the hazards of that depression, but not by dumping their low-priced corn into canyons; not by killing hogs and burning them; not by spilling milk on the ground, but by going on, and facing whatever obstacles were in their fate.

The recession began a year or so prior to the bad times, and in —familiar face—

Being a little fish in a big pool, it always gives me a sense of 'self-pride' to open a national publication and read about one of my friends and business acquaintances. Such was the case this past weekend when I thumbed through my Aug. 23rd issue of Sports Illustrated.

Actor Steve McQueen is virtually hiding in the cover of the issue, and I fully expected the major portion of the issue to be devoted to him — whom I'm NOT acquainted.

Who is Herman Herst, Jr.?

For as many years as I can remember, "Pat" Herst has been a friend and customer of Quiz Graphic Arts. Though we no longer do much printing for him, he still corresponds with me regularly. Through our philatelic stamp collecting, "Pat" found that Quiz was the kind of firm he liked. We always try to serve each customer on a "personal basis," though they may live around the world from Ord, Nebraska.

"Pat" is quite outspoken and a defender of personal freedom and free enterprise. To voice his opinions, he writes his own publication, Herst's Outbursts. Until about two years ago, this publication was printed in Ord. He mails them out of his home in Shrub Oak, N.Y. free to anyone sending him six stamped and self-addressed envelopes.

Just to give you an idea of the warmth and tenderness of this man, something even Sports Illustrated failed to mention was that "Pat" uses much of his income to adopt foster children in the Far East. The last I knew he was furnishing financial support for eight or nine Korean children.

You'd have to read the six-page spread in Sports Illustrated to fully appreciate the humanitarianism of "Pat" Herst, but it's worth reading if you have a copy or can borrow one. Copying to the reader of this column would be the fact that "Pat" is well-acquainted with the town of Ord, Nebraska.

I'm sure that some postal employees of the Ord Post Office have been taken by surprise when "Pat" drops me an occasional card. He generally uses a PENNY POSTAL, affixing enough stamps (5c additional, today) to get it through the mails. Some of the younger people, today, have never seen a penny postcard and never will unless they check someone's collection of old correspondence.

For a man of Herst's stature, it's hard to believe that an unknown — like myself — was awaiting an editor in a Kansas City hotel some five years ago, only to be confronted by a short and stocky man extending his hand saying, "Why, Kerry Leggett! I've always wanted to meet you."

I had no idea who the stranger might be, though I wore a badge with my name on it — indicating I was attending the meeting of the Society of Philatelic Americans. He wore no badge at all, though everyone around me seemed to know him. "I'm sorry," I replied. "I guess I don't know you."

"I'm Pat Herst," came the reply. "I had hoped to get to Ord and see the Quiz, but time's running out on me."

With the brief meeting, Herst moved on and upward to his place of prominence in the world of stamps. I never thought I'd have the privilege of seeing his face again, until I opened the pages of this week's Sports Illustrated!

The Scott Column

By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23: The most sweeping measure in President Nixon's new economic policy — his declaration of a national emergency — has received far less public attention than this significant presidential action should.

The far-reaching proclamation, which has gone almost unnoticed, was buried in the long ranging executive order, issued by the President following his nationwide TV-Radio speech, revealing his radical new economic program.

What isn't generally known is that the declaration of a national emergency provides the President with much broader powers over the nation's economy and manpower than he has used so far in combating the dollar crisis, and in fighting rising unemployment and growing inflation.

The proclamation permits the President to invoke, when he deems necessary and without advance approval of Congress, nearly one hundred emergency measures including the takeover of the nation's communications and transportation facilities.

In the weeks and months ahead, this little noticed and debated Presidential action could turn out to be the most significant part of the President's new economic policy. Administration insiders say privately that the importance of the proclamation can not be overstressed because of the explosive conditions in a number of areas of the world.

An intriguing factor about the President's proclamation was the way it was made and the decision of the President and his advisers to play it down. No mention of the national emergency declaration was made by the President in his August 15 TV-Radio address when he announced his other emergency measures.

The first public notice of this proclamation was contained in the section of the President's executive order dealing with the controversial and highly publicized charges on imports. Beginning with paragraph twenty-eight, the proclamation reads:

"Now, therefore, I, Richard Nixon, President of the United States of America, acting under the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the statutes, including, but not limited to, the Tariff Act, and the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, respectively, do proclaim as follows:

"I hereby declare a national emergency during which I call upon the public and private sectors to make the efforts necessary to strengthen the international economic position of the U.S."

Far-Reaching Implications — Except for a handful of officials at the highest levels of the Nixon Administration and in the business world, few persons have paid any serious attention to this part of the President's executive order. Most members of Congress and newsmen who noticed the national emergency proclamation took it to involve only the surplusage action.

Administration insiders say this isn't the case. They point out that the President indicated that no limitations were being placed on the proclamation by stressing in his executive order that he was "acting under authority vested in me by the Constitution and the statutes, including, but not limited to, the Tariff Act, and the TEA."

Reasons for this sweeping national emergency declaration, these officials say, are not only to deal with the present crisis but to permit the President to be ready to act swiftly in case of other foreign and domestic crisis.

One possible immediate confrontation looming on the horizon is the threatened involvement of the U.S., Russia and Communist China in the growing dispute between India and Pakistan over East Pakistan.

Under the present proclamation, the President would have authority to take actions both here and abroad that he would not otherwise be able to take. The same situation would be true if a U.S.-Soviet confrontation should develop in the Middle East or should the security of the remaining American forces be threatened by a major North Vietnamese drive in South Vietnam.

The area being watched the closest by American intelligence authorities is East Pakistan and the border between India and China. Recent troop movements by Communist China along its border with India indicates that Peking may be planning to reopen large-scale fighting there as part of a new pressure move to keep India out of East Pakistan.

Confrontation Planning — Officials here in Washington and in Moscow appear to be aware of this possibility and are making their plans accordingly. For it is in this area that American and Soviet leaders appear to see a new balance of power being shaped.

Nixon's trip to Peking, Presidential Assistant Henry Kissinger's two days of secret talks with Chinese Communist leaders, and the signing of a 20-year treaty of friendship and support by Russia and India all clearly indicate the high-level maneuvering now underway.

An interesting sidelight to these developments is the new approach of White House aides to try to convince unbelieving conservative lawmakers and newsmen that the President's new China policy will be beneficial to the U.S.

They are arguing that the President's new relations with Peking will permit him to become the "Asian peacemaker," especially should a new conflict break out between India and Communist China.

It is in this new world of secret diplomacy that one must view and measure the importance of the President's declaration of a national emergency.

I hope the friends of Mr. Ryson don't send their children's fund contributions directly to him this year, and know their money is helping. Will there be more information in this column letting us know how and where to send help to the orphans of My-Tho?

Sincerely, Mrs. V. D. Williams, Route 1, North Loup, Nebr.

My reason for suggesting the United Nations Fund is the belief that most people have that U.N.I.C.E.F. is meant to help children in need. I sincerely want to know if any of this fund has actually been used to help children in a country other than Communist. I have been trying to find out for years. As you know, the U.N.I.C.E.F. money is sent to governments and not to orphanages, chaplains or others directly concerned with helping children. So what part of a dollar really goes to buy milk? Also, the Communist governments are historically known for using our generously given funds for other purposes than helping children.
