Check out the new tennis courts!

Winter Haven residents got their first chance to play on the newly renovated courts May 10, 2018.

WINTER HAVEN – Back in 1937, the Winter Haven Rotary Club built the tennis courts near what is now the Splash Pad. Mayor Brad Dantzler's grandfather Ray Dantzler was on the Winter Haven City Commission back then and Ray helped the city take over maintenance of the courts soon after.

His grandson said one of the reasons why he ran for office was to upgrade those courts for another 75 years of athletic enjoyment for the community.

Over the past nine months the old tennis courts have been completely renovated. If you have yet to take a look, it's quite impressive. Eight clay tennis courts and a few pickleball courts surround a pro shop in the center with stairs to the roof so spectators can enjoy watching people play. The observation deck is fully shaded and there are plenty of chairs, tables and fans on top to stay comfortable in the outdoor heat. Parking in the area has been expanded and the LED lights will help save on energy costs.

"I'm thrilled that this has finally come to fruition," the mayor said.

The city tennis pro will be teaching kids from ages 5-18 and there will also be classes for adults. Contact the city or stop by the pro shop for more information. Check out winterhavensun.com for some additional pictures from the grand re-opening event May 10.

Editorial

Help us prevent a water war

The Winter Haven Sun has been closely following the Polk Regional Water Cooperative (PRWC) for some time.

Emails that we sent to PRWC Executive Director Gene Heath, Polk County Commissioner George Lindsey and Southwest Florida Water Management District (SWFWMD) Governing Board member Paul Senft on April 17 may have started a chain reaction that we would like to stop.

This is a very complex topic and this an even more complex editorial. We are the only media outlet that has been publishing stories about the PRWC for months. The more background information you have the better you will be able to understand this editorial and the accompanying news story on page six. Past coverage is available online.

To sum the problem up in a paragraph, our lakes and rivers are already running dry from pumping too much water out of the Upper Floridan Aquifer. At the same time, 1000 people move to Florida every day. In the decades to come, we will need to find alternative sources of water that do not involve pumping water out of the Upper Floridan Aquifer. PRWC and SWFWMD officials say the best alternative source of water in Polk County is digging wells deeper into the ground, the Lower Floridan Aquifer.

For months we have been saying that is silly because there have been numerous past studies that have listed more than 100 alternative sources of water that are not being prioritized by the PRWC, which could be less expensive and which could be more environmentally friendly.

This editorial and the accompanying news story will document one such alternative water source.

At the end of March 2018, we were given an anonymous tip that, for many years, water experts in the Port Charlotte area have been pumping water out of the Peace River and storing it in reservoirs for future use before the river water flowed into the Gulf of Mexico. The anonymous person who provided this tip also said they were meeting again April 4 to discuss a water permit to pump millions of additional gallons of water out of the Peace River for a period of 50 years.

On April 4, the Peace River Manasota Regional Water Supply Authority (PRMRWSA) met to discuss their permit to expand what they are doing. Video of the meeting was not put online until around the 17th. After watching the meeting online, our immediate reaction was that it is a good thing that somebody is pumping water out of the river and into the ground before it reached the Gulf of Mexico where nobody can use it.

Why not store some of our rainwater in reservoirs or pump it into the ground in Polk County instead of letting it flow down the Peace River for other communities to use?

We sent two emails, one to SWFWMD Governing Board member Paul Senft and another to Polk Regional Water Cooperative (PRWC) Executive Director Gene Heath. Each were asked the same questions:

"(Help us) understand how SWFWMD can tell us that we are running low on water in Polk while allowing more water from Polk to flow and quench other counties," was the preface of my first question. The second was, "They are taking billions of gallons of water out of the Peace River and placing it in reservoirs for future use. Why can't we do that here instead of or in addition to drilling into the Lower Floridan Aquifer?"

Senft replied by thanking us for calling this to his attention and said he would research the matter. Heath wrote that he did not think SWFWMD would approve a permit to store our storm water in reservoirs here because the Peace River is critically low on water in Polk County. (This is explained more in the accompanying news story.)

Op-Ed

MSDHS Public Safety Act Statement

I voted for the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School Public Safety Act. The Legislature was laser focused on school safety after the unfathomable tragedy and murder of 17 students and teachers on February 14, 2018 in Parkland, Florida.

The bill offers a multi-pronged strategy to address the numerous challenges facing our schools by:

Creating the Office of Safe Schools within the Department of Educations

Setting aside tens of millions of dollars to assist with school security assessments and hardening

Dramatically increasing funding for School Resource Officers

Providing a new mechanism to temporarily restrain weapons from those who are adjudicated mentally ill or unstable

Committing tens of millions of dollars to increase mental health services for our youth

The bill also creates the Coach Aaron Feis Guardian Program, allowing school personnel to defend themselves and students in the event of an armed assault on campus. While controversial in nature, it's important to note that the program is completely voluntary and is only available if the local school board approves implementation of the program. Full time teachers are not eligible to participate in the program and those who are eligible must undergo extensive training.

98% of mass shooting events have happened in the ironically named "gun-free zones," because shooters know that they will be able to inflict their carnage unimpeded. I firmly believe that by simply knowing that some personnel could be armed will discourage violent individuals from making a "gun-free" zone a "gun-friendly" zone.

The bill also bans devices that convert semi-automatic weapons into automatic weapons, which is a type of weapon that has been illegal for decades.

Additionally, it requires a 3-day waiting period on all firearm purchases, excluding hunters and those with a concealed carry permit. While those under the age of 21 will be unable to purchase firearms, they are still allowed to possess a firearm, meaning it does not stop an adult from giving a gun to their child so long as they believe it will be used safely and responsibly.

Bottom line: we have an obligation to protect and defend our children, our grandchildren, nieces, nephews, brothers and sisters and this bill will certainly aid us in fulfilling that obligation.

Representative Sam Killebrew
District 41

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

As I look forward to Mother's Day and its cherished bond between mother and child, my mind wanders to dairy cows, world-wide symbols of motherhood, who never get to see or nurture their own babies.

Newborn calves are torn from their mothers at birth and turned into veal cutlets, so we can drink the milk designed for them. The grief-stricken mothers bellow for days, hoping in vain for their return.

Most dairy cows spend their lives chained on a concrete floor, with no access to the outdoors. Each year, they are impregnated artificially, to maintain production, and milked by machines twice a day. When production drops, around four years of age, they are ground into hamburgers.

Dairy products are laden with cholesterol, saturated fats, hormones, pathogens, and antibiotics, leading to obesity, diabetes, heart disease, and stroke. Most adults even lack the enzyme for digesting dairy products. Humans are the only creatures drinking milk of another species.

This Mother's Day, let's honor motherhood and our natural compassion for animals by rejecting dairy industry's cruelty and disease. Let's replace cow's milk and its products with delicious, healthful, cruelty-free plant-based milk, cheese, and ice cream products offered by our supermarket.

Sincerely,
Francisco Murrita

Polk County, cities may sue SWFWMD today

WRITTEN BY
CHARLES A BAKER III
CBAKER@SCMGINC.COM

AUBURNDALE – The Polk Regional Water Cooperative (PRWC) will be voting this afternoon on whether to file a lawsuit against Southwest Florida Water Management District (SWFWMD) in what could become the first shot of another Florida water war.

A water management district near Port Charlotte applied for a SWFWMD water use permit back in October that would, if approved today by the SWFWMD board, increase how much water could be pumped out of the Peace River for human consumption before it floats into the Gulf of Mexico.

According to Polk County Manager Jim Freeman, if approved, the expanded SWFWMD permit down south could have an impact on water availability for Polk County. Freeman said county staff tried to negotiate a delay to the SWFWMD vote to study possible impact but negotiations were unsuccessful.

Counties near the coast have been pumping water out of the Peace River for human use before it reaches the Gulf of Mexico for years. There has been no known prior county opposition to storing river water in reservoirs down south until recently.

Winter Haven Commissioner Pete Chichetto asked Polk County Assistant County Manager Ryan Taylor "what happened" and why this issue is suddenly coming out now. Taylor said he found out about the permit down south "through some emails." (Read more about these emails on page three.)

"There is a lot of opportunity to point fingers as to who should have been watching or who notified who but with the permit being filed in October and us finding out about it in at the end March or beginning of April, it really cut our window down as far as doing on our due diligence to see what the true impact is."

Taylor's response to the matter of "what happened" is in contradiction to something PRWC Executive Director Gene Heath told the newspaper on April 18. On that date Heath told the Winter Haven Sun that there were no plans to store Polk County storm water in reservoirs. Fast forward a month, Taylor and PRWC attorney Ed de la Parte told Winter Haven Commissioners the exact opposite.

According to the May 16 PRWC agenda, the PRWC board will vote to replace Heath with Taylor for unknown reasons.

On Monday May 14, the Winter Haven City Commission voted to retain PRWC attorney Ed de la Parte to represent the city in this matter. Winter Haven Mayor Pro-Tem Nathaniel Birdsong, who represents the city on the PRWC board, expressed frustration with SWFWMD.

"It appears to me that the other group is trying to get ahead of us to lock all the water up," Birdsong said. "That's what they want to do is lock it all down so it won't be available to us."

SWFWMD staff told the Winter Haven Sun that the water use permit being voted on today is legal and that there would be no impact on Polk County water availability.

Even though Taylor and de la Parte said the PRWC has had plans to harvest county rain water in reservoirs for years, no PRWC or county staff have filed a water use permit to do this according to SWFWMD staff. No known land has been purchased for said reservoir.

If you would like to attend the PRMC meeting today and voice your opinion as to whether this lawsuit should be funded with your tax dollars, it starts at 2 p.m.

This is a condensed version of the story to fit news print. To read the full story, check out winterhavensun.com.

WAR

either since and up until recently we thought the inquiry was dead.

During a Bartow City Commission meeting on May 7, Bartow City Attorney Sean Parker told the commission that Polk County Manager Jim Freeman had recently called an emergency phone meeting to talk about the possibility of suing SWFWMD to stop the PRMRWSA permit. Parker and Bartow City Manager George Long both said there were lots of unknowns associated with this possible lawsuit and that they could not make a recommendation on how to move forward without additional information.

Lawsuit? Why a lawsuit?

On May 9 the Winter Haven City Commission met to review their agenda but the first topic for discussion was something not on the agenda. City Manager Mike Herr invited PRWC Attorney Ed de la Parte and Polk County Assistant County Manager Ryan Taylor to update the commission about this "emergency" lawsuit. Both told the commission that if the PRMRWSA permit was approved, there would not be enough water to do the same thing here.

Both said that down south they would be drawing 200+ million gallons of day out of the river and that 20 percent of that water came from Polk County. If they did that, the 20 percent would not be available for us to use.

It's unknown if either was lying or simply ill informed.

According to SWFWMD spokesperson Susanna Martinez Tarokh, Chapter 40D-2 of the Florida Administrative Code states the folks down south are allowed to take a certain percentage of the river water over a set minimum flow level. In other words, there are no guarantees that they can pump up to 200+ million gallons per day. It says you can pump that much if that much is available.

Based on the code that defines how a water use permit is approved, there is nothing, nada, zilch stopping us from doing the exact same thing here. We don't have to sue anybody to try the idea. Somebody just has to apply for a permit to do so, and if approved, purchase some land and dig out a reservoir.

As reported in the Ledger May 13, Gene Heath, George Lindsey, Jim Freeman, Ryan Taylor and Ed de la Parte, all intimately involved with the PRWC, claim they have wanted to build some storm water reservoirs in Polk County all along and that if this application to expand a water permit down south is approved it will stop their grand plan. Their claim that they need more time to study how this pumping off the Peace River down south might impact Polk County water availability makes no sense given the fact that water experts down south have been pumping water out of the Peace River for years and there has been no known attempt to stop this up until the Winter Haven Sun started asking questions recently.

SWFWMD staff told the Winter Haven Sun that nobody has applied for a Polk County permit similar to the one being considered down south. No known land has been purchased for use as a county reservoir either.

So why is this an emergency? Why is this lawsuit coming up all of a sudden? As reported by the Ledger, a SWFWMD official alerted PRWC Executive Director Gene Heath about this permit expansion recently. At the Winter Haven City Commission meeting May 9, Taylor told our commissioners that it recently all started "with a bunch of emails."

We believe the reason why the Polk County Board of County Commissioners, the Polk Regional Water Cooperative and the cities of Lakeland, Winter Haven and Bartow are considering filing a lawsuit against SWFWMD is because the Winter Haven Sun started asking questions.

Our water experts are telling our mayors and commissioners that this project down south caught them off guard and they need more time to study it having just learned of it. But they have been drawing water down south for years. The only thing new is that they are asking for a water permit to expand their project.
How is it possible to be caught off guard in reference to something that has been happening for years? If pumping water out of the Peace River down near the coast could impact water availability in Polk County than why didn't they stop that plan years ago? If their plan was to build reservoirs in Polk County prior to the Winter Haven Sun asking why we can't do this here, why haven't they purchased any land for such use or even applied for a permit to do so?

It appears PRWC staff did not have plans to harvest Polk County storm water prior to the emails of one journalist and his supportive publisher.

Who cares who takes credit for a good thing? In this case, we care because this emergency lawsuit is an utter waste of taxpayer dollars.

If the PRWC wants to build reservoirs to harvest storm water in Polk County, they don't need to file a lawsuit. All they need to do is apply for the permit and start working toward such a goal.

The PRWC board meets this afternoon. Not one member of the public has spoken at one of these meetings since at least August.

We should harvest more storm water rather than letting it float into the Gulf of Mexico, stop watering lawns so much and conserve what we have so that we will not have to solely rely on a system of $600M+ LFA wells to meet the water needs of our children when they grow up.

Letters to the Editor

Re: Frisbee editorial of Wednesday, April 18, 2018

I thank you and S.L. Frisbee for his column contrasting real journalists and real reporting against "fake news" and its purveyors. As a 102 year old professor emeritus of journalism, previously nicknamed "Scoop", I likewise recognize that "real journalists are too busy chronicling 'real news' to spend time on the curbside writing fiction." I agree wholeheartedly that "'Fake news' damages the credibility of our craft," and I too resent it.

Frisbee astutely informs his readership that "no proof or refutation is needed; just call it 'fake news.' Even admitted propaganda ordinarily has some arguable factual basis. Politicians who cast unwelcome news as "fake" profess no need to give even lip service to truth. Frisbee aptly derides Internet bloggers seeking to pass off fiction as fact: "Anybody with a keyboard and third-grader's knowledge of how the Internet works can create, or pass on, bogus stories, a term I prefer to 'fake news.'"

We should indeed expect better from our politicians, but journalists are not off the hook. I chafe at some of TV's highly paid "talking heads" (who are not necessarily thinking heads) who pack such little insight into such voluminous and machine-gun-delivered verbiage. Would any of these argumentative loudmouths who talk over their interviewees and even each other, ever be legitimately characterized as "the most trusted man in America?" America now more than ever needs its Walter Cronkites and its S.L. Frisbees. My enduring gratitude, S.L., and to your publishers for the real scoop.

Very truly yours,

Life has Value

Many young Democrat voters in the last presidential election did what our Founders never would have done: they voted for socialism.

Socialism offers many attractive freebies. The problem is socialists don't have what they offer; they have to get it from those who do. It is normal for people not to want to give up their possessions and liberty. During the last century, the Left murdered millions of their own citizens. We have seen this in countries like North Korea, China, Russia, Venezuela, and Cuba.

To justify murder, they deny God. Any person who will murder another human will have no problem with lying and stealing. For communists, murder is not evil, but owning personal property is. Communism is a close relative to socialism; both take ownership of property and place it under control of government. Taxes can be a form of stealing; America did not have federal income tax until 1913.

What a contrast to our Founders' statement that "all are created equal." All have God-given rights including "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Dr. Ravi Zacharias notes that this is a Biblical worldview, not Islamic, Buddhist, Hindu, etc. With the God of the Bible, everyone has value. Marriage, family, the baby in the womb--all of life is sacred.

Early America promoted education so

Water Safety

WRITTEN BY GRADY JUDD

With the temperatures and humidity rising, a lot of folks are going to be making use of swimming pools and lakes to cool off, and heading out to the beaches. These kinds of activities can be the source of a lot of fun, and great memories. However, it can also bring tragedy.

Too often we hear about young children drowning in a swimming pool, a lake, or even a bathtub. It's a scary situation that happens so quickly, even when adults are nearby.

These occurrences can often be prevented. First of all, never, ever, leave a child alone in, or near the water… even for a few seconds.

For pool owners, keep children away from drains and pipes to avoid entrapments. Install a four-foot tall fence around your pool and use self-closing gates; ask your neighbors to do the same if they have a pool. Consider installing door alarms leading out to pool and spa areas. These alarms are battery operated stick-on alarms that create an audible tone when the door is opened. And, they are very inexpensive.

Here's a suggestion that could be useful to know even beyond the realm of water-safety – Learn how to perform CPR. This is a skill that could come in handy anywhere, at any time. You could save the life of a loved-one, or even a stranger.

I hope you and your family has a safe and great Summer. Perhaps I should say that I hope everything goes…swimmingly.

Haven Recollections ... 'this guy had a monkey on his head!'

WRITTEN BY BOB GERNERT

Last week we presented random remembrances from a group of citizens who gathered on February 13, 2002 to discuss "Winter Haven history." More than twenty long-time residents of the community shared perspectives ranging from pre-1920 to the turn of the century.

At one point in the conversation Nick Christy, (then owner of the legendary Christy's Sundown Restaurant) shared that once, in the early days of the Sundown, a man came into the restaurant with "a monkey on his head." Christy took one look at the customer and said, "Hey, you can't come in here with a monkey on your head." The would-be patron left. He later returned (without the monkey) and invited Christy to his home for dinner. When Christy showed up ... the man turned the monkey loose on him.

The group discussed favorite restaurants of note and top mentions went to (Christy's) Sundown, the Park Restaurant, The Blue Bird, Jack & Betty's, and the Haven Cafe, which existed in several locations including downtown and finally on Cypress Gardens Boulevard.

When asked to list the events they found most enjoyable through the years, several remembered when the Winter Haven Community Theatre (forerunner of Theatre Winter Haven) staged their productions at the Woman's Club building on Lake Howard. Also mentioned, was the opening of Cypress Gardens and the end of World War II.

PHOTO PROVIDED
Legendary restaurateur Nick Christy with Miss America 1958, Marilyn Van DerBur. You couldn't eat at Christy's "with a monkey on your head."

Lemuel Geathers participated and brought several poignant moments to the discussions. Geathers was Winter Haven's first African-American City Commissioner and Mayor. He recalled the thrill and pride he would feel when, while serving in the armed forces, he would see newsreels featuring footage from Cypress Gardens. He noted he would tell his buddies, "That's where I'm from" ... even though at the time, the segregation of the day kept him from being admitted. Geathers went on to add that one of his most memorable moments was, as Mayor of Winter Haven, sharing the honor of throwing out Spring Training's first pitch by handing the ball to an elder Dick Pope (Gardens founder) for the throw.

At one point the conversation turned to historic homes. Jim Crump recalled his grandfather's home (at the corner of 21st Street and Avenue C, SW) might be among the oldest, estimating it was built in the 1880s. Family lore told of the sawmill being floated across Lake Howard to the West side. Lumber (pine) was cut on site and "with that heart of pine wood, you had to drive the nails within three days or you couldn't get a nail in it." The house, which is still a residence, was among the first to have electric lights.

By the time two hours had passed (and very quickly) many side conversations had taken place as the various stories told sparked yet other memories from their Winter Haven experiences.

The 2002 gathering was arranged by the late Richard "Dick" Dantzler, a Realtor and past Mayor of the city. They came from every sector of the city collectively representing more than 1200 years of Winter Haven experiences. (Many of those who participated are now deceased.)

The Museum of Winter Haven History is open Saturdays from 9 a.m. to Noon. A walking tour of the museum occurs at 10 a.m. each Saturday. There are many new displays and pieces of Winter Haven history to see. The museum will close for the summer after Saturday May 19. Group visits are always available by appointment. The left has progressively and stealthily achieved major victories in America over the last century with the censoring of the Bible in schools and in our culture. They have also promoted porn, abortion, sexual immorality, and drugs. To advance the left's agenda, they understood the need to remove the major obstacles presented by a Biblical worldview, including marriage and family.

The Democrat party continues to take us down the road to socialism with its support for abortion, which destroys innocent lives, and its support of sexual immorality, which supplants healthy marriages and families. America is in great danger.

Girls Inc. luncheon honors women who know where they are going

WRITTEN BY

TCRUTCHFIELD@SCMGINC.COM

The 27th Annual "She Knows Where She's Going" Awards were held on Friday, May 11 at Polk State College.

After being welcomed to the luncheon, a vidoe montage of Girls Inc. girls of different ages, some with freckles, toothy smiles, all unique and beautiful, holding up signs that said things like 'adventurous', 'original', 'natural', and 'watch out world here I come.'

These girls set the stage for empowering messages from the four women honorees who were once the same 'adventurous' and 'original' little girls that grew up to be the leaders they are today.

The awards were presented by three current Girls Inc. members, Alana Pirbaksh, Nylah Farmer, and Trinity Lawrence.

The George Jenkins Award was given to Elizabeth Birdsong. Birdsong retired as the Financial Aid Administrator at Hillsborough Community College after 36 years, in 2008.

Alana Pirbaksh presented the award to Mrs. Birdsong, noting that she, "brought national distinction to her community when she was the featured soloist at the funeral service of civil rights heroine, Rosa Parks, in Montgomery, Alabama."

Birdsong thanked her family and friends for being inspirations, supporters, and for, "always providing me that shining example of what it looks like to be civic-conscious community servants."

She reflected on what receiving the George Jenkins Award meant, as well as the man behind the award. "What he did have, was the awareness that our strength, our greatest capability of maximizing our potential is in our unified effort," she said about Jenkins.

She summoned the words of Martin Luther King, "Nobody can do everything, but everybody can do something."

She said this was a principal, "valuing the individual," that she so admired in the efforts of both men.

Birdsong encouraged the audience to give back to the community that gives so much to them whenever possible, remembering the words of her mother, "It's shameful to get all you can, then

Otis Birdsong speaks at 2018 LBD Banquet

WINTER HAVEN – According to the Florida High School Athletic Association, in 1973, 6'3" guard Otis Birdsong averaged nearly 33 points per game and helped Winter Haven High School win the Class 4A state championship.

Birdsong went on to compete in four NBA All Star games before retiring.

On May 11, Birdsong traveled from Arkansas to speak at the 2018 Lady Blue Devil Banquet at the Chain of Lakes Complex. He gave an inspirational speech. The Lady Blue Devils, state basketball champions three years running, got to hear Birdsong say, "This is something I've never even told my brother."

Otis and Winter Haven Mayor Pro-Tem Nathaniel J. Birdsong, Jr., who was in attendance, are brothers.

To respect his privacy, exact details of the speech will not be published. Generally speaking, he cautioned the seniors on the team to be aware that decisions made during the freedom of university can be life threatening; that, and he reminded the young women that it takes a lot of hard work to be somebody, whether that be as mayor, all star or some other champion.

Otis Birdsong spent 12 seasons in the NBA. He was the second overall pick by the former Kansas City Kings in the 1977 draft and went on to play seven seasons for New Jersey Nets and one with the Boston Celtics.

At the University of Houston, Birdsong is second all time for field goals, third all time in steals, sixth in assists and ninth in field goal percentage. He was named Southwest Conference Player of the Decade while playing in Texas.

In 2000, Birdsong was one of 10 Polk County athletes to be inducted into the inaugural Polk County Sports Hall of Fame.

After the keynote speech, those in attendance had a nice meal and then the Lady Blue Devils each got an opportunity to say something and then team awards were handed out.

Alta Vista teacher recognized by Rep Soto

WRITTEN BY

WINTER HAVEN – As part of National Teacher Appreciation Day May 8, Rep. Darren Soto (R-Winter Haven) recognized five Central Florida teachers in a press release and with online posts.

One of the five teachers is Winter Haven's own Heather Powers who currently teaches fourth and fifth graders English, language arts, and social studies at Alta Vista Elementary in Haines City.

"How awesome is this," Powers posted on social media. "Definitely feels good to know my hard work does not go unnoticed!"

Powers said next year she and her husband Andrew will be working together at Chain of Lakes Elementary in Winter Haven. Andrew teaches fourth and fifth grade science.

Another Polk School Board employee who was recognized by Rep. Soto was Brooksie Smith who is a teacher resource specialist at East Area Adult School.

"Teachers have one of the most important jobs: educating and inspiring students across America to succeed," Rep. Soto posted online. "They deserve our gratitude and support at every level, every day!"

Other teachers recognized for excellence by the Congressman include: Michael Miller of Kissimmee Elementary, Morgan Fosky of Eagles Nest Elementary School and Dr. Janet Bisogno of Celebration High School.

can all you get, and then sit on the can." The audience erupted in laughter.

The Virginia Snively Award was presented to Jacqueline Byrd, Polk County's Superintendent of Schools.

Byrd thanked Girls Inc. and her husband who Byrd said was her best friend, the one to tell her the truth, love her, and push her to do what is right.

"We have to make sure that we pave the way for them to come," she said of the young girls in our community.

"It was done for me, so I would be less than my parents brought me up to be if I don't do it for others. The one thing I always tell young girls to do is, whatever you do, reach back and pull someone else along," Byrd said.

Principal at New Beginnings High School, Terri Nelson, was honored with the Ralph & Alice Thompson Award.

Nelson thanked Jesus, Girls Inc. and her family. She especially thanked her mother, "for being a pillar of strength and guidance to our family. I didn't have to look outside of our home for a role model. You made sure you equipped me with the tools I needed to be successful such as respect for self, other, self-love, kindness, compassion, being a giver, not a taker, and most importantly, some good old fashioned common sense." The room laughed, teary-eyed, along with her mother who was visibly moved by her daughter's words.

She closed with a quote by Mahatma Gandhi that reflected how she got where she is and how others can get there in the future, "The best way to find yourself, is to lose yourself in serving others."

Finally, Dr. Nanette Rodgers was honored with the Julie Pope Award. She said she was honored to receive an award named after Pope as she had the pleasure of having known her.

Dr. Rodgers retired as Supervisor for Early Childhood Education for Polk County Schools in 2003, and from her position as Coordinator for Staff and Student Support in the Early Childhood Education program at Polk State College in 2010.

Rodgers' speech was full of sage advice gained through years of experience, and uncensored, hilarious stories that had the crowd giggling through the whole thing.

She had a question to answer during her speech. "As you look at the past, what would you change as we all go into the future."

To answer this questions she focused on the mind, the body, and the soul.

She evoked a verse from the poem, "Slow Me Down Lord" by Wilfred A. Peterson, "Teach me the art of taking minute vacations, of slowing down to look at a flower, to chat with a friend, to pat a dog, to read a few lines of a good book."

Public Hearing

FDOT

Financial Project Number 433856-1-22-01

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT), District One, is holding a Public Hearing for the State Road (SR) 60 Project Development and Environment (PD&E) study from County Road (CR) 630 in Polk County to east of the Kissimmee River Bridge in Osceola County. All members of the public are invited to attend.

The hearing is Thursday, May 24, 2018, at Westgate River Ranch, Main Hall, 3200 River Ranch Boulevard, River Ranch, FL 33867. The hearing begins with an open house at 5 p.m. and follows with a formal presentation and public comment period at 6 p.m. People attending the hearing can review the project displays and speak one-on-one with project team members about the proposed widening of SR 60. Written statements or exhibits submitted at the hearing, emailed, or mailed and postmarked by June 4, 2018, will become part of the official hearing transcript.

FDOT selected a recommended widening alternative that will construct two new travel lanes separated from the existing travel lanes by a 40-foot-wide grassed median. The median will improve safety by creating a buffer between eastbound and westbound traffic. The proposed improvements will require FDOT to acquire right-of-way, or property, for road widening and stormwater management areas. Existing access to properties along SR 60 will change due to the addition of median, a result of widening the road. The no-build alternative, where no improvements other than routine maintenance are made to SR 60 through 2040, will remain viable throughout the remainder of the study.

Project information and graphics showing the project's location and proposed improvements will be available for public viewing from May 3, 2018, to June 4, 2018, at two locations. One is the Lake Wales Public Library, 290 Cypress Garden Lane, Lake Wales, Florida. Please call the library at (863) 678-4004 for hours of operation. The other location is the FDOT District One Headquarters, 801 North Broadway Avenue, Bartow, Florida. Please contact FDOT project manager, Patrick Bateman, E.I., by phone at (863) 519-2792 or by email at Patrick.Bateman@dot.state.fl.us to make an appointment to review the materials.

FDOT sent notices to all property owners located within at least 300 feet on either side of the SR 60 project limits, as well as other interested parties. The department welcomes and appreciated the community's participation in the project. The hearing gives everyone an opportunity to express his or her views regarding project plans.

This public hearing was advertised consistent with federal and state requirements, Section 335.199, F.S. Public participation is solicited without regard to race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, disability, or family status. Persons who require special accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act or persons who require translation services (free of charge) should contact Patrick Bateman, E.I. (863) 519-2792 or email Patrick.Bateman@dot.state.fl.us at least (7) days prior to the meeting.

The environmental review, consultation, and other actions required by applicable federal environmental laws for this project are being, or have been, carried out by the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) pursuant to 23 U.S.C, §327 and a Memorandum of Understanding dated December 14, 2016, and executed by the Federal Highway Administration and FDOT.

Scouting Report

TEEING IT UP — No, not golf, we're talking football here. The Spring Games are upon us, with a full schedule of games this week and next. Thursday night, Frostproof will be on the road at Lake Region, while Haines City will host Dixie Hollins High, a St. Pete area school Friday night, Auburndale will be at George Jenkins. Bartow will host Lakeland Christian Friday night, while Ridge Community is at Sebring and Winter Haven is at Manatee. Lake Wales is in tough, hosting one of the state's powers in American Heritage Plantation next Tuesday.

COURT TIME — Those in the Bartow area looking to hoop it up, or burn up a little energy, or escape summer reruns on the boob tube can take advantage of free open gym time at the Carver Recreation Center. Those ages 15 and 20 use one half of the court, and those 21 and over the other half. Games start at 6 p.m. every Friday.

ALABAMA SLAMMING — You won't be able to see it live, unless you head to Montgomery, Alabama, but you can catch the Webber Warriors baseball team live online when they head the NAIA national championships opening round. They earned their trip after winning the Sun Conference post-season tournament. Webber is the No. 2 seed in the region, and potentially will have games today and Thursday in the double-elimination affair. This is the Warriors second straight trip to nationals.

SOGGY SOFTBALL — The Lake Wales Highlander will have to wait an extra week to try and win their third state softball title. State officials pulled the plug on this week's planned Final Four in Vero Beach because the weather forecast is for rain all week long. The new schedule has Lake Wales meeting American Heritage Plantation Saturday afternoon starting at 2:50 at Dodgertown, Field 10. With a win, they would play the title game Sunday afternoon starting at 12:35 p.m.

HE WAS RIGHT — When the Lake Wales Lady Highlanders started their softball postseason, they were barely a .500 team. But after a district opening romp over Poinciana, Coach Mike Settle said the group reminded him of the Highlanders 2013 team, which raised an eyebrow or two since that was the last Lake Wales team to win a state championship. Well, the Highlanders are making their seventh trip to the state final four this week, following a 13-3 win over North Fort Myers Friday. Destiny Cueavas cracked a first-inning homer that plated three to spearhead a 14-hit attack. Lake Wales had its most difficult win on the road at Boca Ciega, 2-0. Pitcher Nadia Zenteno went the distance to get the shutout, and also drove in the game's only runs in the top of the sixth with a double.

BLUE DEVILS, BULLDOGS BEDEVILED — While one local softball season marches on, two others came to an end when Chamberlin stopped the Winter Haven Blue Devils 7-2 in regional semi-final play and Trenton topped Frostproof 10-0 in regional final action, 10-0. Anizya Vargas staked Winter Haven to a 1-0 lead with a RBI single, but some defensive miscues allowed Chamberlin to score four unearned runs. The arrow is also pointing up at Frostproof, where a very young team saw their successful season come to an end to powerhouse Trenton.

THE BASEBALL BEAT — Lake Wales advanced to regional semi-final play with a 6-3 win over Boca Ciega. Ben Gilbert's triple paced the offensive showing. Winter Haven also moved on, topping Tampa Gaither, 2-0 with Andreas Diaz and Brandon Bruno plating fifth-inning runs to provide the winning margin. Both teams were in action yesterday, too late for the newspaper deadlines.

Stirring Waters: a theme park for those with special needs

WRITTEN BY
CHARLES A BAKER III
CBAKER@SCMGINC.COM

LAKE WALES – A few miles east of town just south of SR60 is Lake Aurora Christian Camp and Retreat Center, a "prescriptive" place where people with special needs, and others, can go to relax and have a good time with friends.

"Retired" since 2006, for decades Bill Redmon has been the camp executive director and the "78-year-old idea generator." He has helped wheelchair-bound people ride in canoes, for example, or enjoy wooded areas with paved paths. For the past couple of years, Redmon and his staff have been trying to make the camp better but his idea will take lots of money.

They have plans to turn the rural nature camp into a theme park specializing in serving the disabled and their caregivers and loved ones. Imagine a wheelchair-bound person going down a water slide or relaxing in a lazy river on an intertube, complete with lodging. He wants to call the park Stirring Waters. If it gets built, it would be like no other park in the country. Making this happen will take around $12M and Redmon could use some help. Students from Polk State College have helped draw a couple of generations of blueprints and students at Webber International University have been helping for years with marketing and fundraising.

On June 8-10, Redmon and his wife, Wendy, will be hosting The Choctawhatchee River Historic Expedition. Basically, they have a few canoes that can fit up to 20 paddlers and they are seeking nine more people who would like to go on a fundraising adventure in the Florida Panhandle.

The group would travel 64 miles down the river. At 10 cents times 32k paddle strokes that would raise a few hundred dollars for the project.

"I turned 78 this year and do not know how many of these intentional adventures I have left but I am hopeful you will be intentional with me by using my experience as a way you to can make a difference for people living with disabilities."

Lake Wales considered as test area for affordable housing

WRITTEN BY

LAKE WALES – A Florida firm that makes affordable housing is considering Lake Wales as a test area for their product, city officials said recently.

If that happens, the idea could also lead to the company opening a manufacturing facility here, they added.

City commissioner Robin Gibson said the idea could dovetail nicely with the city's ongoing demolition initiative for dilapidated homes.

Lake Wales eyes YMCA for improved recreation

WRITTEN BY
BRIAN ACKLEY
NEWS CORRESPONDENT

LAKE WALES – City commissioners are looking for the two R's when it comes to 2018-19 Lake Wales budget: Recreation and roads.

The group held the first of several special budget workshops last week, and spent over an hour offering comments on priorities for a new spending plan, with recreation taking up a good portion of the time.

The commission also earlier this spring, held a workshop to prioritize recreational needs, which included partnering with the YMCA or even buying the facility to open it up for use by all city residents.

"That's the hot spot. We need to really stay focused on recreation. That is a pull-in point," said commissioner Curtis Gibson. "We need to go ahead and get that YMCA."

Mayor Eugene Fultz was also strongly in favor of further exploring the possibilities of how the city and YMCA can move forward to enhance recreation in the city.

"Setting priorities for me, would be No. 1 the one that I call the no brainer, that would be the YMCA, to not to let that slip away," Fultz said. "That's an opportunity that I think that would answer quite a few of the concerns we've had right here in Lake Wales for a number of years."

City Manager Ken Fields said the backdrop with which officials are putting together the new budget is a solid one.

Fields noted commercial construction near Eagle Ridge Mall and Lake Wales Medical Center as reasons for optimism going forward.

"The city's in very good financial shape. The last few years we've seen moderate growth in our tax base. Right now we're probably seeing more single family home permits, we're way ahead of last year in terms of the numbers there. I think we're going to see reasonable growth in our tax base. The prospects at least in the short term are very good in terms of tax growth."

Fields added that he did not foresee any utility rate increases for at least another two or three years.

Right now, Fields said the city has to wait to finalize a plan until county and state officials provide them with better numbers.

"Our property appraiser doesn't release any numbers until June 1. The state estimates begin to come out at best late June, and run into July," he noted. "Our normal process is to assume that numbers will be basically where they are this year, until we hear better numbers."

Longest serving LWCS employee leaving financial post

WRITTEN BY
BRIAN ACKLEY
NEWS CORRESPONDENT

LAKE WALES – The close of the school year will also bring to an end the tenure of the longest serving person in the Lake Wales Charter Schools System.

Brian Fisher, the system's Chief Financial Officer, is leaving to take another position in charter school administration in South Florida.

"Brian is probably the first employee for the Lake Wales Charter Schools System. He was the first person ever hired," current Superintendent Dr. Jesse Jackson noted. "That's been about 14 years ago. We have a family member going off, but it's our hope that he's extremely successful as he goes off."

In addition to being the system's main money man, Fisher served as interim superintendent following the death of Dr. Clint Wright in 2007, and the hiring of Jackson in the fall of that year.

He said it wasn't a difficult decision to come to a fledgling system.

"It wasn't a hard sell. I've worked with a lovely bunch of people. It's been an honor and a pleasure, it has," Fisher said. "The staff I've worked with in the central office, some have gone on, some are still with us, I'd match them up against any system our size. We truly have wonderful staff."

Fisher was recognized last month at the school's fourth annual Foundation Gala, along with his wife Theresa.

"This decision was difficult, but another opportunity has come forward for us," he added. "We're going to seize the moment, so to Lake Wales Charter schools, onward and upward."

HOUSING

"There are some really critical areas all over town where there are just gaps," Gibson said, "We ought to be doing all we can to rebuild good quality homes."

City manager Ken Fields said both individual homes, and a larger demonstration project, are two of the proposals currently being explored.

"I don't want to call it manufactured housing, because that's the wrong term. This is affordable housing that is basically pre-built off site. This is a firm that is interested into moving into Central Florida and think that Lake Wales would be a great demonstration city for them," City Manger Ken Fields said.

He said some city commissioners had a chance to meet with representatives of the unnamed firm at a recent conference in South Florida, and that company representatives, along with Mayor Gene Fultz and other city officials, met together in Lake Wales several weeks ago.

Local officials confirmed the company already has a manufacturing plant in Opalocka in Miami-Dade county.

"It's not something that's going to happen overnight, but I think there's a long term possibility here for a win-win with a private developer and the city, and for people in the city, either affordable housing for working families or the elderly. We are looking at both kinds of projects, " he added.

Officials from the Lake Wales Housing Authority were also in the recent local meeting, which could be a key to bringing the idea to life.

"If we get the housing authority to come a long with us, they would be the source of some of the funding from state and federal sources. We bring them into the picture there's a really good chance we'll see some really innovative kind of projects for Lake Wales," Fields added.

Fultz also said he has visited the firm's existing manufacturing facility.

"I can tell you that any time you can manufacture a home that can stand up to a category five hurricane, that's quality. Those are the people we're talking to," he said.

Duck and Cover: 2018 version

NEWS COLUMNIST

Many of us who are on the sunny side of 70 can remember the "Duck and Cover" movie of 1951.

Russia had developed a nuclear weapon in 1949 — four years after President Truman brought an end to World War II by dropping this nation's only two atomic bombs on Japan — and a Russian nuclear attack on the United States seemed within the realm of possibility.

Little kids (my classmates and I were 10 and 11 in 1951) are not given to panic, and we welcomed the black-and-white Duck and Cover film, starring Bert the Turtle, as a pleasant respite from the three R's. (Bert's message was that he always had his protective shell with him, but the rest of us needed something more.)

The premise of Duck and Cover was that if a blinding flash of light came through our classroom windows, we should duck under our desks and cover our heads and necks with our hands and arms.

This advice was based on the estimate (or hope) that it probably would be from four to seven seconds after detonation of a nuclear weapon and its instantaneous flash of light before the blast reached the students at whom the warning film was directed.

Students should resist the impulse to rush to the windows to see what had happened and instead take immediate action to protect themselves from injury by the blast.

In retrospect, Duck and Cover seems pretty optimistic for defense from nuclear attack, but on further analysis, it was better than nothing.

Today, the same concept is taught in many jurisdictions as protection against tornadoes, earthquakes, and other sudden excesses of nature.

That Duck and Cover film of yester-decade was brought to mind by a Bartow Rotary Club program a couple of weeks ago on defense strategies at schools throughout Florida. The three principals on the Bartow High School campus — Emilean Clemons of BHS, Dr. Brenda Hardman at IB, and Steve Cochran at Summerlin Academy — and Sheriff Grady Judd each gave their perspective on what Judd called "the new normal" in campus safety.

Armed campus guardians are not the first defense, the sheriff said; they are the final defense after all other deterrents have failed.

Guardians have only limited authority, he said. They can only defend against shooters; they cannot break up a campus fight or investigate the theft of a student's cell phone.

"We take all threats seriously," Ms. Clemons said. Students who tell their classmates that they want to shoot up the campus or that they have a gun in their backpack are called to the office for a threat assessment, and sometimes Baker Acted as threats to themselves or others.

"You can't say 'bam bam' or bring a toy pistol to school or send a threatening text," Dr. Hardman said. BHS has at least 3,000 students on campus, she added.

Cochran said that Polk "is out in front of a lot of counties" in planning defense against campus shooters.

Summarizing the discussion, Judd said, "The goal is never to have the first shot fired. It's not going to be a good outcome if we have a shoot-out at a school."

Campus shootings, he said, typically are over in five minutes; the average law enforcement response time to a shooting incident is seven minutes.

From Duck and Cover in 1951 to lockdown drills in 2018. It is a disquieting "new normal" for defense against the unthinkable.

Longworth voted in as Bartow mayor

BARTOW – Leo E. Longworth was unanimously voted in as mayor of Bartow May 7.

Longworth has been on the commission for more than two decades and has been mayor multiple times. Former Mayor James F. Clements jokingly forgot to pass Longworth the gavel last Monday night leading to a few claps from those in attendance.

William H. "Billy" Simpson was elected unanimously as vice mayor.

According to Bartow City Commissioner Trish Pfeiffer, the city commission meeting was one of the longest in her memory. Halfway into the four-hour-plus meeting, former Mayor James F. Clements undid his tie and let it lie around his neck like he just got home and turned the television on after a long day at work.

It was an active meeting with a dozen proclamations, the swearing in of two commissioners, a farewell ceremony for a parting commissioner, a vote to determine the new mayor and vice mayor, deciding on which commissioners were assigned to what committees plus all of the normal stuff like consent agendas and public hearings. There was also a lengthy debate on

Thank You for your service Mr. Huff

WRITTEN BY
CHARLES A BAKER III
CBAKER@SCMGINC.COM

BARTOW – After 18 years of service, members of the Bartow City Commission said thank you and happy retirement to W. Patrick "Pat" Huff at the city commission meeting May 7.

Huff recently lost a bid for re-election to the commission to newcomer Scott Sjoblom. Huff was mayor of Bartow three times, from 2003-04, 2011-12 and 2014-15. Recently, he told the newspaper that had he won re-election, it would have voluntarily been his last term of office. The 88-year-young community servant said in February that he wanted one more term to help Bartow finalize more solar projects.

"I've been honored to serve," Huff told those in attendance May 7. "It's time for me to pack up my iPad and enjoy my retirement."

Smiling, Huff then tried out some humor.

"It will be a relief not to go to all those meetings," he said. "This has been an important part of my life."

After a standing ovation, Mayor Leo Longworth ensured all that Huff was joking by saying Huff rarely missed a meeting. Sjoblom said he had big shoes to fill and Commissioner Billy Simpson said Huff was "truly a messenger for Bartow."

Huff was given an engraved piece to put on his mantle, his city-issued iPad and the name tag from the city commission desk.
Well done, sir. Thank You for your service to the community.

Obituaries

Albert James Hackl

Albert James Hackl, 92, of Indianapolis, died May 12, 2018.

Jim is survived by his devoted wife of 67 years, Christine (Magruder) Hackl, eight children and their spouses; Christine Hackl Walsh(Michael), Carmel, Indiana; Albert James Hackl, Jr. (Margueritte Michel), Carmel, Indiana; Martha Hackl Smith (Stephen), Atlanta, Georgia; Frederick Abbey Hackl(Marita Jansen), Harbor Springs, Michigan; Elizabeth Hackl Brainard, Indianapolis, Indiana; Ellen Hackl Fagan(Brendan ((d.)), Greenwich, Connecticut; Robert Theodore Hackl(Jo Watson), Greenville, S.C.; and Dorothy Hackl Reiser (Carl) of Westerly, Rhode Island; 31 grandchildren, 12 grandchildren's spouses, and 15 great grandchildren.

Jim was preceded in death by his parents Albert T. and Martha (Schwabe) Hackl and his sister, Martha Ellen of Bartow, Florida where Jim was born and attended public schools, and his faithful dog "Suzy."

Jim graduated from high school in 1943, at the height of WWII. Through competitive examination, he was accepted in the Navy V12, college training program and sent to Georgia Tech. The war ended prior to Jim's graduation as a Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering. After several month's post war active duty and at the ripe old age of 20, Jim was released from active duty as an Ensign in the Navy in 1946 at which time he joined the Trane Company, manufacturers of air conditioning/heating equipment as a sales engineering trainee.

After earlier assignments, Jim was sent to Jackson, Mississippi to open a sales office for Trane. It was there that Jim met, wooed and then won the hand of Christine Magruder of a multi-generational Mississippi family heritage. They were married November 22, 1950 in St. Peter's Catholic Church, Jackson, Mississippi.

Shortly after Jim and Christine's marriage, Jim was recalled to active duty by the Navy during the Korean War and served as engineering officer of a destroyer, the USS Miller (DD535), including duty in Korean waters.

Upon release from active duty, Jim returned to the air conditioning industry where he enjoyed a successful career with The Trane Company and Sudebaker-Worthington Corporation, lastly as President of its Air Conditioning Division and Corporate Group Vice – President. During their career advancements, Jim, Christine and their growing family made their homes in Dallas, Texas, LaCrosse, WI, and Summit, NJ.

In 1968 the family moved to Indianapolis, Indiana as Jim made a career change from an engineering products industry to becoming President and C.E.O. of Herff Jones Company, a manufacturer of class rings and other scholastic and graduation related products.

During his tenure, Herff Jones achieved significant growth from a small, publicly held company to a national leader in its industry with multiple manufacturing plants and several thousand employees and sales representatives. Jim further initiated and personally directed Herff Jones' merger with Carnation Co. in 1973, its re-emergence as an independent company by virtue of a leveraged buyout from Nestle', S.A. in 1985 and later transfer of 100% ownership to its employees through an Employee Stock Ownership Plan ("ESOP") which provided extra-ordinary financial benefit and security to thousands of Herff Jones employees and their families.

Upon retirement from Herff Jones in 1995, Jim established a family partnership, for the purchase and operation of pine tree plantations in Florida and Georgia which planted over eight million pine trees.

Jim was inducted into Georgia Tech's Academy of Distinguished Engineering Alumni in 1994 and was recognized as the 1998 Ernst & Young Indiana Entrepreneur of Year in the Master Category. He also received recognition in his "home town" with induction into the Bartow High School Hall of Fame and the Polk county Public Schools Hall of Fame. Jim along with Christine were awarded honorary doctorate (PhD) degrees by Marian University, Indianapolis on May 9, 2015.

While working at his job and raising a large family was Jim's main focus, in his spare time, he managed to serve as co-chairman of the building committee of St. Luke Church, Indianapolis for construction of its new Sanctuary in 1981. He was also President of Mountain Lake Club, Lake Wales, Florida, a member of its Board of Directors and serviced as chairman of the building committee for its major renovation. While it was generally accepted among his friends that Jim preferred work to play, he enjoyed the camaraderie of the golf and bridge groups at Meridian hills Country Club and Mountain Lake. Fishing was his favorite recreational pastime when time and location permitted.

Jim was a member of St. Luke Catholic Church, Indianapolis and Holy Spirit Catholic Church, Lak Wales. Jim, in concert with his wife, Christine, supported numerous charities through the years including the funding of permanent endowments for the Archdiocese of Indianapolis, St. Luke Church and School, Indianapolis, St. Vincent Hospital, Indianapolis, Indiana University Medical School, Mayo Clinic, The Church Services Center, Bartow, Florida, The Albert J. and Christine M. Hackl Endowment Fund f/b/o Holy Spirit Catholic Church, Lake Wales, Florida, The Hackl Family Endowment for Charity in Polk County, Florida and The Hackl Family Endowed Scholarship Fund at Marian University in Indianapolis and the Albert James and Christine Magruder Hackl Family Trust f/b/o the Church and Poor in the Catholic Diocese of Jackson, Mississippi.

The well being of the family was always Jim's priority and he took great pleasure in witnessing the strengthening bonds that developed among his children and grandchildren through the years. Ever thankful, Jim's oft stated view of himself was that he was "just a pretty fair salesman who got lucky."

Visitation will be held on Wednesday, May 16, 2018 from 4-7 PM at Leppert Mortuary – Nora Chapel, 740 E. 86th Street, Indianapolis, IN. A Mass of Christian Burial will be held on Thursday, May 17, 2018 at 11:30 AM at St. Luke Catholic Church, 7575 Holliday Drive East, Indianapolis, IN.

Contributions in his memory may be made to Marquette Manor or Little Sisters of the Poor.

To share a memory, please visit www.leppertmorutary.com.

Gaza hospitals struggle to cope with high casualty toll

By FARES AKRAM

GAZA CITY, Gaza Strip — Patients with gunshot wounds filled wards and hallways in Gaza's under-equipped and overwhelmed main hospital Tuesday, with dozens still waiting in line for surgery a day after Israeli soldiers shot and killed 59 Palestinians and wounded hundreds in mass protests on the Gaza border.

The high casualty toll triggered a diplomatic backlash against Israel and new charges of excessive use of force against unarmed protesters. The U.N. Security Council began its session Tuesday with a moment of silence for the dead, and the U.N.'s special Mideast envoy said there was "no justification for the killing."

Turkey expelled Israel's ambassador, and several European countries called for an international investigation.

Israel said it has the right to protect its border and nearby communities, accusing Gaza's ruling militant group Hamas of carrying out several attacks under the guise of the protests. The U.S. ambassador to the U.N., Nikki Haley, came to Israel's defense, saying no member "would act with more restraint than Israel has."

Monday's border confrontation was the culmination of a weeks-long protest campaign to break a border blockade that Israel and Egypt imposed after a Hamas took over Gaza by force in

Researchers uncover dirty jokes in Anne Frank's diary

By MIKE CORDER
Associated Press

AMSTERDAM — Researchers using digital technology deciphered the writing on two pages of Anne Frank's diary that she had pasted over with brown masking paper, discovering four naughty jokes and a candid explanation of sex, contraception and prostitution.

"Anyone who reads the passages that have now been discovered will be unable to suppress a smile," said Frank van Vree, director of the Netherlands Institute for War, Holocaust and Genocide Studies. "The 'dirty' jokes are classics among growing children. They make it clear that Anne, with all her gifts, was above all also an ordinary girl."

Anne, age 13 at the time, wrote the two pages on Sept. 28, 1942, less than three months after she, her family and another Jewish family went into hiding from the Nazis in a secret annex behind a canal-side house in Amsterdam.

Later on, possibly fearing prying eyes or no longer liking what she had written, she covered them over with brown paper with an adhesive backing like a postage stamp, and their content remained a tantalizing mystery for decades.

It turns out the pages contained four jokes about sex that Anne herself described as "dirty" and an explanation of women's sexual development, sex,

US intensifies pressure on Iran, sanctioning central banker

By JOSH LEDERMAN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The United States intensified its financial pressure on Iran on Tuesday, slapping anti-terror sanctions on the head of its central bank and barring anyone around the world from doing business with him. That dealt a further blow to European hopes of salvaging the Iranian nuclear deal in the wake of President Donald Trump's withdrawal.

Valiollah Seif, the governor of the Iranian central bank, was named a "specially designated global terrorist" along with another senior official, Ali Tarzali, who works in the central bank's international division. The Treasury Department accused the men of secretly funneling millions of dollars through an Iraqi bank to help Hezbollah, the militant network that the U.S. considers a terrorist group.

Although the sanctions do not technically extend to the central bank itself, they could significantly increase Iran's isolation from the global financial system. Seif, whose role is equivalent to the Federal Reserve chairman in the U.S., oversees major financial decisions in Iran. Any transactions that involve his signature could potentially run afoul of the sanctions, creating a strong disincentive for governments or businesses considering deals involving Iran's central bank.

"The United States will not permit Iran's increasingly brazen abuse of the international financial system," Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin said. "The global community must remain vigilant against Iran's deceptive efforts to provide financial support to its terrorist proxies."

Typically, when the U.S. punishes individuals with sanctions, it prohibits Americans or U.S. companies from doing business with them. In this case, the U.S. chose to also impose "secondary sanctions," which also apply to non-Americans and non-U.S. companies. That means that anyone in any country who does business with Seif or Tarzali could be punished.

The latest move comes as Trump's administration, deeming the 2015 nuclear accord insufficiently tough on Iran, seeks to construct a global coalition to place enough pressure on Tehran that it comes back to the negotiating table.

AP-NORC Poll: Young adults feel stress of long-term care

By EMILY SWANSON
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Most young adults haven't given much thought to their own needs as they get older, but a significant number are already providing long-term care for older loved ones, according to a new poll by the Associated Press-NORC Center for Public Affairs Research.

And while those who have caregiving experience put in fewer hours than their older counterparts, they're more likely to feel stressed out by the experience.

According to the poll, a third of American adults under age 40 have already provided care for an older relative or friend, and another third expect to be called upon to do so within the next five years.

YOUNG CAREGIVERS

According to the survey, 17 percent of young adults are currently providing long-term care to an older loved one, and another 19 percent have done so in the past.

Three-quarters of younger caregivers spend less than 10 hours a week providing care, compared to most caregivers over age 40 who provide at least 10 hours of unpaid care a week. But despite putting in fewer hours of unpaid work, younger caregivers are more likely than older caregivers to say their care responsibilities are at least moderately stressful, 80 percent to 67 percent.

At the same time, most caregivers — younger and older — say they're getting most or all of the support they need, with young caregivers especially likely to say they receive that support from family members. Younger caregivers are also more likely than older ones to rely at least in part on social media for the support they need, 45 percent to 25 percent.

FEELING UNPREPARED

In addition to the 35 percent who already have experience providing care, another 34 percent of adults under 40 expect to become caregivers at some point in the next five years.

SKorea news agency: NKorea threatens to cancel US summit

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korea canceled a high-level meeting Wednesday with South Korea and threatened also to call off a historic summit planned next month with the United States due to ongoing military exercises between the South and the U.S., South Korea's Yonhap news agency reported.

The two Koreas were set to hold a meeting later Wednesday at a border truce village to discuss setting up military and Red Cross talks aimed at reducing border tension and restarting reunions between families separated by the Korean War.

But hours before the meeting was to take place, Pyongyang canceled the meeting and also questioned whether next month's talks between North Korean leader Kim Jong Un and President Donald Trump would happen, Yonhap reported, citing North Korea's Korean Central News Agency.

"The United States will also have to undertake careful deliberations about the fate of the planned North Korea-U.S. summit in light of this provocative military ruckus jointly conducted with the South Korean authorities," KCNA reported.

The two-week military exercise between the U.S. and South Korea started Friday and included about 100 warplanes, Yonhap said.

Europe, Iran say push to save nuclear deal off to good start

By RAF CASERT and LORNE COOK
Associated Press

BRUSSELS — Major European powers and Tehran committed Tuesday to keep working together to save the Iran nuclear deal despite U.S. President Donald Trump's determination to kill it off.

European Union foreign policy chief Federica Mogherini and the foreign ministers of Britain, France and Germany said after talks with Iranian Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif that salvage efforts focused on economic, business and banking issues could produce "practical solutions in the next few weeks"

"There was awareness of the urgency," Mogherini said after the meeting in Brussels.

"If I can use the metaphor that some raised around the table, we all have a relative in intensive care and we all want to get him or her out of intensive care as soon as possible," she said.

Germany, France and Britain all are signatories of the 2015 deal, which was meant to stop Iran from developing nuclear weapons in exchange for the lifting of economic sanctions. The U.S. pulled out of the pact last week and promised to impose tough economic sanctions on Iran.

Mogherini said "expert talks" on relevant financial and economic issues such as banking transactions and oil would begin soon and the deputy foreign ministers from the three European nations and Iran would meet in Vienna next week.

"We reaffirmed together our resolve to continue to implement the nuclear deal in all its parts, in good faith, and in a constructive atmosphere," she said.

Said Iran's Zarif: "We are on the right track. A lot depends on what we can do within the next few weeks."

The steps forward underscored the EU's hopes that diplomacy and the promise of economic benefits might keep Iran in the fold of a nuclear deal that Europe sees as essential to security.

"It won't be easy, that's clear to all of us. But if we want to stay in this agreement and ensure that Iran stays in this agreement and abides to the terms of the agreement, then we need to talk about this," German Foreign Minister Heiko Maas said.

Tech and health care lead US stocks lower

By ALEX VEIGA
AP Business Writer

Losses in technology and health care companies helped pull U.S. stocks lower Tuesday, snapping an eight-day winning streak by the Dow Jones industrial average.

The broad sell-off followed a slide in bond prices, which sent the 10-year Treasury yield to its highest level in almost seven years. That paves the way for higher borrowing costs on mortgages and other loans.

The prospect of higher mortgage interest rates weighed on homebuilders, while the rise in bond yields sent shares in high-dividend paying stocks lower.

"We're of the view that we're not in a high-rate environment, we're in a less-low rate environment," said Erik Davidson, chief investment officer at Wells Fargo Private Bank. "So we're not too concerned at these levels, but that's definitely driving the market today."

The S&P 500 index fell 18.68 points, or 0.7 percent, to 2,711.45. The Dow lost 193 points, or 0.8 percent, to 24,706.41. The drop pulled the 30-company average to a slight loss for the year.

The Nasdaq composite dropped 59.69 points, or 0.8 percent, to 7,351.63. The Russell 2000 index of smaller-company stocks finished flat at 1,600.34.

The market slide comes in the midst of a strong May for stocks. The Dow is on track for a gain of 2.2 percent, while the S&P 500 is closing in on a gain of 2.4 percent. The Nasdaq is up 4 percent.

Benchmark U.S. crude oil reversed an early side, rising 35 cents to settle at $71.31 a barrel in New York. Brent crude, used to price international oil, added 20 cents to close at $78.43 a barrel in London.

The dollar rose to 110.38 yen from 109.66 yen late Monday. The euro weakened to $1.1847 from $1.1944.

The greenback's gains weighed on precious metals prices. Gold fell $27.90, or 2.1 percent, to $1,290.30 an ounce. Silver dropped 38 cents, or 2.3 percent, to $16.27 an ounce. Copper slipped 4 cents, or 1.2 percent, to $3.06 a pound.

Pain at the pump

Oil prices crossed the $70-a-barrel threshold last week, after President Donald Trump announced he would pull out of a 2016 agreement over Iran's nuclear program. The rise in oil prices means more pain at the pump for car-driving commuters, as gasoline prices hit levels not seen in nearly four years.

Crude oil prices have been climbing steadily since July 2017, going from a little more than $40 a barrel to $70 a barrel in 10 months. The last time oil traded above $70 a barrel was late 2014.

The rise in crude oil prices has multiple causes. Economic growth across the globe has been increasing, and so has the demand for commodities like metals and oil. The U.S. dollar has been weakening, and since oil is priced in dollars, that has caused oil prices to rise.

Lastly, there have been the rising tensions with Iran. OPEC member Iran is one of the world's largest oil producers, and had been selling its oil more broadly on the global market because the U.S. had suspended some of its sanctions.

Drivers can expect higher gasoline prices particularly as the summer driving season takes off. Wholesale gasoline prices are also trading at four year highs.

Gas pains? The price of oil and gas have been rising steadily, reaching prices not seen since 2014.

WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump's CIA nominee appeared to be on a path toward confirmation as she picked up support from key Democrats Tuesday and toughened her public stance against harsh interrogation.

"With the benefit of hindsight and my experience as a senior agency leader, the enhanced interrogation program is not one the CIA should have undertaken," Gina Haspel said in written answers to more than 60 questions released by the Senate intelligence committee.

Haspel, who was involved in supervising a secret CIA detention site in Thailand, wrote that she had learned "hard lessons since 9/11." In comments aimed at clarifying her position on now-banned torture techniques, Haspel said that she would "refuse to undertake any proposed activity that is contrary to my moral and ethical values."

"I do not support use of enhanced interrogation techniques for any purpose," Haspel wrote.

The Senate intelligence committee is expected to vote Wednesday to recommend that the full Senate confirm her.

Confirmation by the full Senate appeared likely as five Democrats — Mark Warner of Virginia, Joe Manchin of West Virginia, Joe Donnelley of Indiana, Bill Nelson of Florida and Heidi Heitkamp of North Dakota — announced their support. The only Senate Republicans who are not expected to vote for her are Kentucky's Rand Paul and Arizona's John McCain, who is battling cancer.

In this May 9 photo, CIA nominee Gina Haspel testifies during a confirmation hearing of the Senate Intelligence Committee, on Capitol Hill in Washington.

In announcing his support Tuesday, Warner, the top Democrat on the intelligence committee, said Haspel has been "professional and forthright" with the panel.

"Most importantly, I believe she is someone who can and will stand up to the president if ordered to do something illegal or immoral — like a return to torture," Warner said.

Haspel testified at a Senate hearing that torture does not work as an interrogation technique and that, as director, her strong "moral compass" would ensure she did not carry out any administrative directive she found objectionable. Her written answers to questions went further to underscore her opposition to any attempt to reinstate harsh interrogation of suspects.

McCain, who was beaten as a prisoner of war during the Vietnam War, has urged colleagues to reject the nominee over her past role in CIA interrogations. After the hearing, McCain issued a statement calling Haspel a patriot for her three decades of service to the CIA. Still, McCain said her role "in overseeing the use of torture by Americans is disturbing. Her refusal to acknowledge torture's immorality is disqualifying."

In announcing her support, Heitkamp said it was not an easy decision.

"Ms. Haspel's involvement in torture is deeply troubling, as my friend and colleague, John McCain, so eloquently reminded us," Heitkamp said. "However, Ms. Haspel explained to me that the agency should not have employed such tactics in the past and has assured me that it will not do so in the future."

6 US states accuse opioid maker Purdue of fueling overdoses

By KEN RITTER
Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — Six U.S. states on Tuesday sued the maker of the opioid OxyContin of using deceptive marketing to boost drug sales that fueled opioid overdose deaths.

Drugmaker Purdue Pharma minimized risks and overstated benefits of long-term use of narcotic opioids, according to a civil complaint filed in Nevada state court in Las Vegas.

"Purdue's deception lined the pockets of its owners and led to the deaths and hospitalization of thousands of Nevadans," Nevada state Attorney General Adam Laxalt said in a statement.

Similar suits were being filed in Florida, North Carolina, North Dakota, Tennessee and Texas, Laxalt aide Monica Moazez said.

In Tennessee, Attorney General Herbert Slatery alleged that Purdue violated a 2007 settlement with his state and "knew patients were dying from overdoses and that its drugs were being illegally sold to non-patients."

Purdue, based in Stamford, Connecticut, denied the claims and said it will defend itself.

Company spokesman Bob Josephson said in an email statement that the lawsuits followed months of negotiations with state officials to address the opioid crisis. He said the lawsuits signaled costly and protracted litigation.

Slatery, who has led a 40-state probe of opioid manufacturers and distributors, said his state's complaint was submitted in Knoxville under temporary seal to protect the confidentiality of information that Purdue provided to investigators.

The probe and talks with the company are continuing, said Leigh Ann Apple Jones, spokeswoman for Slatery.

In Florida, Attorney General Pam Bondi added four other opioid manufacturers and four distributors to her state's complaint.

"We are in the midst of a national opioid crisis claiming 175 lives a day nationally and 15 lives a day in Florida," Bondi said in a statement. She accused the companies of "profiting from the pain and suffering of Floridians."

Laxalt, in Nevada, accused Purdue Pharma of downplaying serious risks of addiction and overstating the effectiveness of doctors' ability to manage patients' addiction.

In Texas, Attorney General Ken Paxton also alleged the company misrepresented that there is no "ceiling dose" of their opioid drugs, and that doctors and patients could increase dosages indefinitely without risk.

WOLFE

Tom Wolfe, pioneering 'New Journalist,' dead at 88

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Wolfe, the white-suited wizard of "New Journalism" who exuberantly chronicled American culture from the Merry Pranksters through the space race before turning his satiric wit to such novels as "The Bonfire of the Vanities" and "A Man in Full," has died. He was 88.

Wolfe's literary agent, Lynn Nesbit, told The Associated Press that he died of an infection Monday in a New York City hospital. Further details were not immediately available.

An acolyte of French novelist Emile Zola and other authors of "realistic" fiction, the stylishly-attired Wolfe was an American maverick who insisted that the only way to tell a great story was to go out and report it. Along with Gay Talese, Truman Capote and Nora Ephron, he helped demonstrate that journalism could offer the kinds of literary pleasure found in books.

"He was an incredible writer," Talese told the AP on Tuesday. "And you couldn't imitate him. When people tried it was a disaster. They should have gotten a job at a butcher's shop."

Judge: Special counsel had authority to prosecute Manafort

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge in Washington says special counsel Robert Mueller was working within his authority when he brought charges against President Donald Trump's former campaign chairman.

The decision was a setback for Paul Manafort in his defense against charges of money-laundering conspiracy, false statements and acting as an unregistered foreign agent. Manafort had argued that Mueller had exceeded his authority because the case was unrelated to Russian election interference.

But U.S. District Judge Amy Berman Jackson disagreed.

She sided with prosecutors who had produced an August 2017 memo from Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein. The memo shows Rosenstein authorized Mueller to investigate Manafort's Ukrainian work and related financial crimes.

Sentencing in Bill Cosby's sex assault case set for Sept. 24

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bill Cosby will be sentenced Sept. 24, almost five months to the day after he was convicted of sexual assault, a judge said Tuesday.

Lawyers for the comedian, who turns 81 in July and faces the prospect of the rest of his life in prison, had asked Judge Steven O'Neill to delay sentencing until the end of the year.

Cosby's convictions on three counts of aggravated indecent assault will likely be combined into one charge that carries a standard sentence of five to 10 years in prison.

Cosby's spokesman did not immediately respond to a message left seeking comment.

Nation's most restrictive abortion law is challenged in Iowa

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A lawsuit challenging the nation's most restrictive abortion law was filed Tuesday in Iowa, a state that for years was largely left out of Republican efforts to overturn abortion protections and where the Democratic attorney general has refused to defend the law.

If allowed to take effect, the law would ban most abortions once a fetal heartbeat is detected, around the sixth week of pregnancy, a point when, abortion-rights groups say, many women don't know that they are pregnant.

The American Civil Liberties Union of Iowa and the Planned Parenthood Federation of America announced the filing of the complaint in Polk County District Court in Des Moines. The lawsuit seeks an injunction to halt the law's July 1 implementation. Litigation could take years.

Suzanna de Baca, president and CEO of Planned Parenthood of the Heartland, said Iowa's abortion law is tied to a small group of "very extreme politicians" in the state Legislature.

KIDDER

Margot Kidder, Lois Lane in the 'Superman' franchise, dies

LIVINGSTON, Mont. (AP) — Margot Kidder, who starred as Lois Lane opposite Christopher Reeve in the "Superman" film franchise of the late 1970s and early 1980s, has died.

Franzen-Davis Funeral Home in Livingston, Montana, posted a notice on its website saying Kidder died Sunday at her home there. She was 69.

No further details were given.

North Carolina teachers staging low-pay protests

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The recent wave of teacher activism sweeping through conservative, tax-cutting states has washed into North Carolina, where educators have pledged to fill the streets and bring their demands for better pay and school resources to legislators' doorstep.

About 15,000 teachers are expected in Raleigh on Wednesday, when the Republican-dominated state legislature begins its annual session.

More than three dozen school districts — from the 10 largest to numerous smaller districts in rural areas — that together educate more than two-thirds of the state's 1.5 million public school students have decided to close classrooms that day as a result.

Shockwave therapy for ED is not living up to its own hype

Dr. Roach

DEAR DR. ROACH: I recently heard about a new treatment for erectile dysfunction using shockwave therapy. Has there been enough research to know if it works? Can you comment on this and any other treatments besides pills? — D.P.

ANSWER: Male erectile function relies on multiple systems. First, the man must have interest and be stimulated. Second, there must be appropriate hormonal support (testosterone is the main issue). Third, the nerve impulse from the brain to the penis must be sent and received. Fourth, the blood flow into and out of the penis needs to be adjusted so that it fills with blood. Finally, the heart and circulatory system need to be strong enough to increase the blood flow to the penis. Serious disturbances at any of these levels can cause erectile dysfunction. Pills like Viagra work only on the fourth possibility, at the level of blood vessel control. The letters I receive suggest that the other possibilities often are ignored by doctors.

Shockwave therapy, which is commonly used for kidney stones, is an experimental treatment for ED. It is thought to work by improving blood flow inside the penis. Unfortunately, a trial published in March 2018 failed to show benefit of this procedure. Shockwave therapy is not recommended for treatment of ED at this time, outside of further clinical trials.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 62-year-old male. My aortic valve was replaced with a Carpentier-Edwards bovine tissue valve, and my ascending aorta was replaced in 2005. My question is about competitive powerlifting.

I compete in the bench press. I lift and train with between 50 percent and 100 percent of my max lift three to four times a week. How high does blood pressure go when lifting to the max on the bench press? Does it reach dangerous levels? Is the risk of damaging the valve slight, moderate or severe? Is there a risk of developing a second aneurysm? I want to compete, and I'm willing to accept some risks. What are your thoughts? — S.M.R.

ANSWER: Maintaining an active lifestyle can help prevent many diseases, and it's useful as treatment for many more. The side effects generally are small. However, there are some exceptions, and this is one of them.

In powerlifting, many parts of the body are pushed to their physiological limits. In a maximum lift, part of the pressure of the weight is transmitted throughout the chest, which forces the heart to increase its pressure in order to continue blood flow. Measurements of elite-level lifters show that blood pressure can reach or exceed 300 mmHg (!) during a maximal lift. It is not uncommon to see bleeding from the nose or another body part as blood vessels burst under the pressure. Powerlifters are at increased risk for some kinds of heart damage and stroke during these lifts, but the risk for young, healthy lifters is not large, and bad outcomes are rare.

In your case, you have two potential weaknesses. The first is the prosthetic aortic valve, but the Carpentier-Edwards valve in particular has a reputation for strength. It is unlikely you would damage the valve. It's the abdominal aneurysm that concerns me.

Although the diseased part of the aorta has been replaced with a very strong graft, the attachment — where the graft is sewn onto your blood vessels — is a point of weakness. Also, it is possible that you have weaknesses in other blood vessels. I can't recommend powerlifting for you, competitive or not, as I think the risk is too great.

Search begins for recipes to replace lost heirlooms

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Due to some unfortunate family circumstances, I was devastated to discover that nearly all of my boxes of cherished recipes had been destroyed. I'm now starting over from scratch to collect special recipes I can pass down to my children.

Most of my family members have died, so they can no longer be a resource for the traditional dishes I grew up with. I saw a post online a while back about a cookbooklet set you were offering. Is it still available, and how much does it cost? — Lorie In Encino, Calif.

DEAR LORIE: Having been a compulsive recipe collector for many years, I can imagine how frustrating it was to discover your recipes were gone. I hope my recipe booklets will start you on your way to rebuilding your collection.

Many readers have written to tell me that my recipes are great for entertaining and actually save calories when they are divided among a greater number of guests. The Raw Apple Cake serves 16. Think of the fiber!

My cookbooklet set contains more than 100 tasty recipes for soups, salads, appetizers, main courses and desserts that can be used when friends and family get together to celebrate holidays and special occasions. Once you start reviewing "Cookbooklet II," you will see that a sweet tooth runs in my family. The cookbooklets are sold as a set and can be ordered by sending your name and address, plus check or money order for $14 (U.S. funds) to: Dear Abby — Cookbooklet Set, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. I hope you will enjoy all the recipes because dinner guests, family members — as well as other readers — have raved about them. They have even been used as the basis for Dear Abby-themed dinner parties. (The place cards were decorated with hearts and flowers, and the centerpiece was a "bouquet" of envelopes addressed to me.)

Make sure to clean apples

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I enjoy reading your column in the Houston Chronicle. I eat APPLES daily, and I'm aware that pesticides are necessary to make a beautiful, delicious apple. So, to clean my apple, I use a small amount of dishwashing detergent, scrub the apple using my hands and rinse carefully under flowing water from my faucet. Is this the best way to clean the apple skin? — E.W.S., Willis, Texas

Yes, as long as you wash the apple thoroughly and rise well. Dry with a clean paper towel. — Heloise

Dear Heloise: What would happen if I put something metal in my microwave? Is it dangerous? — Earl K., Twin Falls, Idaho

Earl, your best bet is to never place metal in a microwave. Thin pieces of metal, such as aluminum, pose a serious threat of fire. It's best to stay with materials that won't cause a fire and are deemed safe for microwave use. — Heloise

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21-April 19). The shortcut will be obvious — someone will point to it with a shiny sign. The long and viable path won't be obvious, but if you're internally quiet, then you'll probably sense it. You'll have to clear some brush to get started.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). In your mind, it's not enough for you to just show up. You want to show up and know that they feel you there. You want to show up in such a way as to make sure that people will miss you when you don't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Efficiency is partly about good planning and mostly about dealing well with people. When people feel part of the team, they'll place a high priority on what needs to be accomplished for the win.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You have someone powerful on your side, rooting for you to do whatever it takes for maximum vitality — and that someone is you. All success will spring from taking excellent care of yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Should you knock yourself out to try and win over the very skeptical powers that be, or should you run the other direction from what's clearly a no-win situation? Choose the action that will make you feel the best about yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). The magic and momentum will begin when your goals match up nicely with the goals of another. If this isn't happening, it's not you; it's the situation. Keep moving and looking for a match.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Your sensitivity to diet is turned up today, and you'll be more affected than usual by the foods you eat. Make a plan and stick to it no matter what. This will bring you peace and optimum results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Being able to control your state of mind will be huge. To determine the state that would be most suited to the job and then have the self-mastery to move your head there... well, that guarantees success today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). The least powerful people are the ones who believe they are small. They'll show this by being nasty to underlings. Truly important people treat everyone with respect.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). The situation you're in today is not a zero-sum game. People need what you're offering just as much as they need what others are offering. You're in direct competition with no one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). There will be those who look at everything as a "you" problem or a "me" problem. Those are the hardest ones to deal with. If you can create a team mentality, then everything will turn into "we," and you'll all get a lot accomplished.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). People don't want to be told what to do. They don't even want to be told what other people did to create success. People just want acknowledgement today. That's all.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (May 16). Much of your story is outside of your control, but when you take charge of what you can, you'll create an improved and truly customized future for yourself. Three key allies will help you. Recognize who's on your side and who's not. Mostly this is about feeling supported. June and September bring easy money. Pisces and Virgo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 7, 40, 33, 8 and 45.

The bidding:

1◇	Pass	1♠	2♡
Dbl*	3♡	All pass

*Exactly three spades

Opening lead: Ace of ◇ Support Doubles, showing a raise by opener with only three-card support after an overcall, is wildly popular among today's tournament players. In the old days, an aggressive West might have bid three clubs over two hearts and then competed to three spades over three hearts. After the Support Double, neither East nor West could sensibly bid three spades.

West continued with a second high diamond before shifting to a spade at trick three. South ducked in dummy and East reverted to diamonds after winning his king. Declarer ruffed with the ace of hearts, led a spade to dummy's ace, and returned to his hand with the king of hearts. He cashed the queen of spades, shedding a club from dummy, and led a heart to dummy's jack, leaving this position:

NORTH
♡ 10 9
◇ Void
♣ A 7 5

WEST
♠ Void
♡ Void
◇ Q J
♣ K 6 4

EAST
◇ Void
♣ Q 10

SOUTH
♠ Void
♡ Q 3
◇ Void
♣ J 9 8

South cashed the 10 of hearts and led a low club from dummy's ace. East cleverly played the 10, and South's jack lost to West's king. The low club return forced South to guess the clubs, but East's play of the 10 would rarely be from 10-low. Declarer rose with dummy's ace, dropping the queen, and made his contract.

Voters cast ballots in 4 states

By THOMAS BEAUMONT
Associated Press

Tuesday's primary elections will begin to settle swing state Pennsylvania's chaotic congressional landscape after a court fight ended with redrawn districts just three months ago.

Pennsylvania primary voters will also decide the fate of President Donald Trump's pick for U.S. Senate. Idaho voters are set to pick their Republican gubernatorial nominee, while heavily Republican Nebraska and Democratic-leaning Oregon are also holding primaries Tuesday.

A look at some of the key races:

PENNSYLVANIA SCRAMBLE

Republicans outnumber Democrats in Pennsylvania's House delegation, though a new congressional map is making the state a focal point of Democrats' effort to reclaim House control in November.

Eighty-four candidates are running in 18 House districts in light of new court-ordered redrawn congressional district maps in February. That's more than any time since 1984, when Pennsylvania had 23 seats in the House.

Five of Pennsylvania's 13 GOP House members have quit or are not running again, helping create seven House vacancies, the most in Pennsylvania since 1976.

Moderate Charlie Dent is abandoning Pennsylvania's new 7th District, where Hillary Clinton received more votes than Trump, who carried Pennsylvania. Six Democrats are running in this district, which reunified Democratic-leaning cities in the east and cut out some of Republican-leaning central Pennsylvania.

Ten Democrats are running in suburban Philadelphia's 5th District, where Rep. Patrick Meehan resigned last month amid allegations he sexually harassed a former employee and where Clinton also beat Trump.

BARLETTA, TRUMP'S PICK FOR SENATE

Rep. Lou Barletta is hoping Trump's recent run of successful election suggestions continues in the Pennsylvania Republican Senate primary.

Barletta is heavily favored over state Rep. Jim Christiana to become the Republican challenger for Democratic Sen. Bob Casey, who is seeking a third term in November.

Barletta was a Trump supporter before the 2016 presidential nomination was settled. The loyalty won Barletta Trump's early support in the Senate race, as well as recorded telephone calls last weekend featuring the president backing Barletta "fully, strongly and proudly."

Last week, Trump urged GOP Senate primary voters to support Rep. Jim Renacci in the Ohio Senate and oppose former coal company executive Don Blankenship in West Virginia. Renacci won and Blankenship lost.

Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia are all seen as key to the 2018 Senate election landscape as states where Trump won in 2016 and Democratic senators are seeking re-election this year.

FIRST FOR NEBRASKA DEMOCRATS

Democrats seldom have the luxury of choice in Nebraska, where Republicans have dominated for 80 years. But, for the first time, Omaha-area Democrats have options for the state's lone urban House district.

Tuesday's Democratic primary in Nebraska's 2nd Congressional District, dominated by Omaha and its suburbs, features moderate former Rep. Brad Ashford fighting for his old seat and Kara Eastman, a children's nonprofit administrator, running to Ashford's left.

Ashford, a former Republican, served one term in Congress as a Democrat before Republican Don Bacon beat him for re-election in 2016. Ashford, 69, has the endorsement of the Democratic establishment, including the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, and is portraying himself as the one who can win in a swing-voting district in November.

Eastman, 46, is arguing that Democrats have lost by not offering voters a distinct choice and is campaigning on devoutly Democratic themes such as single-payer government-run health insurance, gun control and reducing climate change.

LABRADOR AIMS TO DODGE ANTI-WASHINGTON MOOD

It was a rough night for Republican members of Congress a week ago. Two lost in Indiana's Senate primary, while one fell in the West Virginia Senate primary. North Carolina Rep. Robert Pittenger lost the primary to keep his own seat.

Idaho Rep. Raul Labrador hopes the trend ends there.

The four-term Republican House member and founding member of the conservative House Republicans' Freedom Caucus is one of three GOP candidates for governor in Idaho, a state so heavily Republican that the primary goes a long way to determining the general election.

Republican Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter is not seeking re-election after three terms.

Lt. Gov. Brad Little is seeking the GOP nomination, with Otter's endorsement, while Tommy Ahlquist, an emergency room doctor turned developer, hopes his outsider status carries him as it did Indiana businessman Mike Braun in last week's GOP Senate primary.

GOP GOVERNOR PRIMARY IN DEMOCRAT-HEAVY OREGON

Ten Republicans are vying for Oregon's nomination for governor — the most in more than a century. The interest among candidates belies the uphill climb for the party in the Democratic-leaning state.

Of the 10, businessman Sam Carpenter, state Rep. Knute Buehler and retired Navy pilot Greg Wooldridge have emerged as leaders in fundraising and GOP straw polls. However, Democratic Gov. Kate Brown remains the favorite to win in November. Brown became governor in 2015 upon the resignation of Gov. John Kitzhaber following an ethics scandal, and she won a special election in 2016.

Oregon is among eight states where Democrats control the governorship and both houses of the state legislature. Voters who identify as Democrats also outnumber their Republican counterparts by more than 9 percentage points.

2007. The protests were led by Hamas, but fueled by the growing despair among Gaza's 2 million people who face worsening poverty, unemployment, 22-hour-a-day power cuts and sweeping bans on travel and trade.

The protests were also driven by anger over the relocation Monday of the U.S. Embassy in Israel from Tel Aviv to contested Jerusalem. Palestinians seek Israeli-annexed east Jerusalem as a future capital.

Even before the latest round of bloodshed, Gaza's health system of 13 public hospitals and 14 clinics run by NGOs had buckled under persistent blockade-linked shortages of medicines and surgical supplies. At Shifa Hospital in Gaza City, the main health facility in the strip, these woes were magnified this week.

Anticipating a major influx of casualties ahead of Monday's mass march, Shifa had set up an outdoor triage station under a green and blue tarp in the hospital courtyard, setting up 30 beds and stretchers there.

Throughout the day Monday, Shifa received about 500 injured people, more than 90 percent with gunshot wounds, said hospital director Ayman Sahbani. Of those, 192 needed surgery, including 120 who needed orthopedic surgery, he said.

By mid-afternoon Tuesday, overwhelmed surgeons working in 12 operating theaters had only performed 40 orthopedic operations, with 80 others still waiting their turn.

In the orthopedics department, nerves were frayed Tuesday as relatives worried about wounded family members amid fears their conditions might deteriorate.

contraception and prostitution.

"They bring us even closer to the girl and the writer Anne Frank," Ronald Leopold, executive director of the Anne Frank House museum, said Tuesday.

Experts on Anne's multi-million-selling diary said the newly discovered text, when studied with the rest of her journal, reveals more about her development as a writer than it does about her interest in sex.

Anne wrote candidly in other parts of her diary about her burgeoning sexuality, her anatomy and her impending period. Those passages were censored by her father before the diary was first published in 1947 but became available in more recent unabridged editions.

Leopold said the newly deciphered material provides an early example of how Anne "creates a fictional situation that makes it easier for her to address the sensitive topics that she writes about." In her diary, for example, she addressed entries to a fictional friend named Kitty.

The institutions involved in the latest research said that because of copyright issues, it is unclear whether the passages will be incorporated into new editions.

The deciphering was done by researchers from the Anne Frank museum, the Institute for War, Holocaust and Genocide Studies and the Huygens Institute of Netherlands History.

They photographed the pages, backlit by a flash, and then used image-processing software to decipher the words, which were hard to read because they were jumbled up with the writing on the reverse sides of the pages.

In the passage on sex, Anne described how a young woman gets her period around age 14, saying that it is "a sign that she is ripe to have relations with a man but one doesn't do that of course before one is married."

On prostitution, she wrote: "All men, if they are normal, go with women, women like that accost them on the street and then they go together. In Paris they have big houses for that. Papa has been there."

One of her jokes was this: "Do you know why the German Wehrmacht girls are in Holland? As mattresses for the soldiers."

She also related this joke: "A man had a very ugly wife and he didn't want to have relations with her. One evening he came home and then he saw his friend in bed with his wife, then the man said: 'He gets to and I have to!!!'" the international accord, livid at Trump over his withdrawal, have yet to commit to that effort. To the contrary, Britain, France and Germany are working to salvage it. Their top diplomats met Tuesday in Brussels with Iranian Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif in a bid to keep Iran from bailing.

IRAN

Whether the deal can survive without the U.S. depends on whether Tehran continues to receive sufficient economic benefits by way of business with the Europeans. Not only is Trump re-imposing sanctions on Iran, but he's also threatening to take the dramatic step of punishing European businesses that don't wind down their dealing there. That has left the Europeans in the undesirable position of having to decide whether to call his bluff.

The new sanctions on central bank officials appear designed to strengthen Trump's hand, creating another avenue by which anyone doing business in Iran could risk being cut off from New York, the beating heart of the global financial system.

"Trump can use this in his arguments with Europe to deter business with Iran," said Behnam Ben Taleblu, an Iran sanctions expert at the hawkish Foundation for Defense of Democracies. "All of this is another arrow in the quiver."

There was no immediate comment Tuesday night from Iranian officials.

The sanctions were expected to be followed by additional U.S actions in coming weeks, as the Trump administration works to dismantle the main banking conduits exploited by Iran and its Revolutionary Guards to convert Iranian rials into euros or dollars. Those Western "hard currencies" can be used to fund extremist elements, such as in Lebanon and Syria.

Seif, a career banker, became the head of Iran's Central Bank in 2013 under President Hassan Rouhani, who shepherded the nuclear deal. Seif frequently visits Washington to attend meetings of the International Monetary Fund.

He has helped guide Iran's economy through the web of previous sanctions placed on that country. In the aftermath of the 2015 international accord, in which nuclear sanctions on Iran were lifted, Seif was a prominent voice complaining that Iran was still being kept out of the global financial system and not receiving the economic benefits it was promised in exchange for curtailing its nuclear program.

are more likely than those age 40 and older to say they feel unprepared to take on that role, 53 percent to 37 percent. Still, most say they expect to share caregiving responsibilities rather than take them on alone.

Among all young adults, less than half say they've done any planning for the potential care of an older relative.

LACKING CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNMENT

Most young adults have little confidence that government safety-net programs will be there for them as they get older, and they're not too sure about their own financial situation, either.

Only 16 percent of younger adults are very confident that they'll have the financial resources to deal with their own care needs when they get older.

At the same time, only about 1 in 10 expect Social Security, Medicare or Medicaid to provide at least the same level of benefits when they need them, and majorities say they have little to no confidence in that being the case.

Although about 7 in 10 Americans will need some type of long-term care as they get older, just 22 percent of young adults think it's very likely that they'll need those types of services themselves someday. And those under age 40 are more likely than older adults to underestimate the percentage of Americans age 65 and older who will need care, 64 percent to 54 percent.

The long-term care poll was conducted March 13 to April 5 by NORC, with funding from the SCAN Foundation.

It involved interviews in English and Spanish with 1,945 adults, including 423 adults under 40 and 1,522 adults age 40 and older. Interviews were conducted online or by phone among members of NORC's probability-based AmeriSpeak panel, which is designed to be representative of the U.S. population.

The margin of error for all adults is plus or minus 3.3 percentage points and the margin of error for adults under 40 is plus or minus 6.7 percentage points.

Stanton, falling one vote short of the two-thirds majority needed to convict; the trial ended 10 days later after two other articles of impeachment went down to defeat as well.

Bible verse

"And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out: it is better for thee to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye, than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire." — Mark 9:47.

Jesus gives us an idea of the awfulness of Hell. He came to save us from that place. Will you accept Jesus as your Savior? He loves you.

Marriage proposal upstaged by 3-year-old's call of nature

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan boy found a way to make his mark on the occasion of his mother's marriage proposal.

Allyssa Anter said "yes" Saturday to the question popped by her boyfriend, Kevin Przytula. Video shows the bride-to-be and man on bended knee are blissfully unaware that right next to them, 3-year-old Owen Anter had dropped his pants to urinate in front of Bay City's Ring of Friendship sculpture.

They were alerted to the pint-sized proposal crasher by the giggling videographer, Przytula's 11-year-old daughter, Kayleigh.

Allyssa Anter says her son "stole the show," and acknowledges his potty training is a work in progress.

The video was shared Monday by WNEM-TV and The Bay City Times.

Growing Herbs with Celia Beamish, Master Gardener

How would someone choose which herbs to grow? What factors should be considered?

Most people pick herbs that they are familiar with, which means, mostly culinary herbs (parsley, chives, cilantro), and perhaps some aloe for skin treatments. However, there are many herbs that can be used for tea (mints), or for the scent (such as catnip, lemon balm). The most important factor to consider is the herbs home range. An herb that is adapted to the Mediterranean, such as lavender, probably will not do well here, whereas an herb that is adapted to the subtropics, such as ginger, will do quite well.

What are some of the most popular in-home herbs? Or, what do you recommend for a beginning gardener?

The easiest herbs to grow for a beginner (in my experience) are aloe, dill and rosemary. If a person has a bit of shade, ginger is not too difficult.

How should someone prep before planting?

The best way to prepare for a garden is by learning, either from a book, from the internet (we recommend edis.ifas.ufl.edu for articles about gardening), or from speaking to an experienced gardener. The Master Gardeners have a clinic that operates during regular business hours (call 863-519-1057, and leave a message if no-one answers), and we're happy to answer questions. We also give talks around the community and have information booths at many local gardening festivals.

Everyone's garden is slightly different. The easiest way to control for possible problems with soil is to grow herbs in pots with commercial potting soil. However, many plants do quite well in the ground. (like rosemary and aloe, for example.) If a person does a little research, he or she can learn what kind of conditions an herb will prefer.

What is the care and maintenance?

Herbs are usually pretty pest-free - after all, the volatile chemicals that attract us also repel pests! Depending on the plant, one should water as needed, make sure there is adequate drainage so the pot is not sitting in a puddle, place the plant in either sun or shade as needed, and fertilize as recommended. We recommend slow-release fertilizer. (This is a granular product which releases fertilizer every time the gardener waters.)

Do you grow your own herbs? If so, what kind, and what do you use them for?

Heck, I'm a master gardener! My garden is stuffed full of plants! For cooking, I grow chives, rosemary, parsley, dill, sage, cilantro, mint and ginger. For salads I grow edible flowers: nasturtiums and borage. For sniffing I grow lemon balm and pineapple sage. For skin and hair conditioner, I grow aloe. The butterflies usually get most of the dill and parsley, but that's fine with me! Master Gardeners are plant addicts, and I also grow a bay tree (a Mediterranean plant that struggles here), turmeric, a native basil, various kinds of cool hot peppers, wild onions, and Mexican tarragon.

Happy Planting!

HERB SALT

- 10 sprigs dried hardy herbs like oregano, rosemary, sage, or thyme.
- 2 cups kosher salt

Remove stems, add leaves to blender and pulse. Add salt and pulse again. Store in airtight container at room temperature. Use for cooking, grilling and even popcorn!

HERB & SPINACH SALSA VERDE

Adapted From Bon Appetit

- 5 garlic cloves
- 2 cups (packed) fresh cilantro leaves with tender stems
- 2 cups (packed) fresh parsley leaves with tender stems
- 1 cup (packed) spinach leaves
- ½ cup olive oil
- 3 tablespoons distilled white vinegar
- Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper

To take the bite out of the garlic, place in a small saucepan, add water to cover, bring to a boil; drain. Finely chop garlic in a food processor. Add cilantro, parsley, and spinach and pulse until coarsely chopped. Add oil, vinegar, and 2 Tbsp. water and process until combined but not completely smooth; season with salt and pepper. Delicious over meat or eggs.

TURMERIC DRESSING

- 1 jalapeño, seeds removed, chopped

Outdoor Living

What does your patio look like right now?

If you're planning on having people over for Memorial Day or Father's Day, now is the time to get your outdoor space in order. We stopped by Claussen's Furniture, a family-owned business since 1975, for their best advice. We asked 2nd generation owner, Joe Claussen what are the most important elements to include when decorating your outdoor space. "From a home furnishing perspective, it's about finding a look that appeals to you as well as getting comfort. You won't use the space if it's not comfortable. It can look as nice as you want it to look, if it's not comfortable, you end up not using it and it's money wasted."

What are some tips when refreshing your space? "When I'm doing anything whether it's indoor or outdoor, I don't like to overdo it. Sometimes simple is better. When you're working new items in with old, don't always try to overwhelm it and do too much because then it can look gaudy and overdone," Claussen explained. "Keep it reasonable, you don't have to go and and get really extravagant. You can do little pieces here and there and make it look nice."

Not sure what you want? Try the touchscreen kiosk at the store. You can look through to find just what you are looking for. Some of the more popular brands that they carry are Waterford, Pelican Reef and Ashley Signature, popular because of the reasonable price point.

When buying for an outdoor space, Claussen says the materials you buy matter. He recommends the Sunbrella. The Sunbrella fabric is 100% solution dyed acrylic, meaning that the fabric fibers are dyed prior to being woven, instead of printed on afterwards. The material is treated with Fluorocarbon finish for water repellency, in turn making it fade resistant and mold/ mildew resistant.

Most materials intended for outdoor use are made to be durable which, in some cases, can make them less comfortable than desired. Joe explained that Sunbrella fabric tends not to have the same plastic feeling as other outdoor materials making them better from a comfort standard.

"They are fade and mold resistant. The idea is that if it gets rain or weather, they won't start to mildew and mold. Especially with our heat and humidity in Florida, that can be a big concern," said Claussen.

More Ideas to Refresh Your Outdoor Space:

First of all, give your space a good cleaning! Sweep out those corners, wipe down surfaces and get rid of any weeds or dead plants. Cleaning will improve your space immediately. Next, take an inventory. What should you keep? What needs replaced? More importantly, what's your budget?

Furniture:

- Buy new cushions for your chairs, or simply add a couple of outdoor throw pillows.
- Add a little table next to the seating so guests have a place to rest their drinks.
- Placing an outdoor area rug will make your seating area feel cozy.
- Switch out your table umbrella. Has your current umbrella seen better days? They are available in all price ranges, some even have built in lighting.
- Add an outdoor storage box to keep all of your odds and ends in. Cleaner spaces with less "stuff" around are more relaxing. It can also be used as seating if needed.

Lighting:

- String little lights across trees or even lay on bushes.
- Switch out your outdoor sconces for something new, or just give them a cleaning.
- Add a large glass vessel with a simple candle inside for a casual glow in the evening. Use repurposed jars and battery powered candles to add even more magic.
- Purchase solar-powered lights to line a pathway or add near seating.

Decor:

- Change out your flower pots. Add a touch of color for fun or keep them all monochromatic for an elegant feeling. Group them together to create a little "garden." If you cook a lot, create an herb garden. They're beautiful, inexpensive and you can use them year round.
- Add a simple chalkboard to your space. Leave thoughtful messages for guests to see. Leave a piece of chalk so they can add to it.
- Add decor for the summer holidays like small American Flags for Memorial Day and 4th of July.
