BP: Cap on gushing well removed, oil flows freely

Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS — Robotic submarines working a mile underwater removed a leaking cap from the gushing Gulf oil well Saturday, starting a painful trade-off: Millions more gallons of crude will flow freely into the sea for at least two days until a new seal can be mounted to capture all of it.

There's no guarantee for such a delicate operation almost a mile below the water's surface, officials said, and the permanent fix of plugging the well from the bottom remains slated for mid-August.

"It's not just going to be, you put the cap on, it's done. It's not like putting a cap on a tube of toothpaste," Coast Guard spokesman Capt. James McPherson said.

Robotic submarines removed the cap that had been placed on top of the leak in early June to collect the oil and send it to surface ships for collection or burning. BP aims to

JON-MICHAEL SORACCHI Chronicle

Usually, when a person walks into a Mc-Donald's, he doesn't think the experience will be potentially life altering.

Months before, I decided that I wanted to join Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS). After a background check and inspection of my home, I was deemed worthy to volunteer my time to a young boy.

The second and more deeper-seeded reason came from my own experiences growing up.

As a child, issues that arise are usually black and white, with no gray area. So when my parents split days before my 9th birthday, it would be the beginning of a 15year period with no contact with my father.

In the actual moments growing up, I guess I never really felt it. But a lot of dormant feelings awoke when, almost 15 years to the day, I got a phone call from my dad.

The city council on Monday will consider five votes — all five necessary for the $10.5 million Three Sisters purchase to occur either later this month or early August.

The sale has undergone intense scrutiny on the state and federal levels. It received financial support from agencies, nonprofit organizations, environmental trusts and ordinary citizens. And it involved an ownership group that apparently is willing to sell the 57-acre property for the same price it paid in 2005 to buy it.

Crystal River City Manager Andy Houston, who has acted as a herdsman of sorts in gathering the various partners together toward a potential closing, said the impact of a Three Sisters purchase could reverberate for vears.

Technically, the city would own the property, minus 30 percent that the Southwest Florida Water Management District, commonly

Officials: Watch for unlicensed contractors

Citrus County Development Services officials remind residents that one of the best safeguards against faulty or hazardous construction work is to make sure the contractor hired for an improvement has a valid contractor's license.

As a property owner hiring an unlicensed individual, a resident may be held liable for any accident or injury suffered on the jobsite. They may also receive substandard work, which could necessitate additional, costly repairs to correct. They could even be subject to fines up to $5,000 for violating Florida statutes

Residents can assist in helping to prevent these problems for themselves and others by reporting unlicensed contracting activity to the Citrus County Building Division. They can also check on licenses and view complaints at the county's Building Division at the Lecanto Government Building in Lecanto. For more information, call 527-5332 or 527-5310.

Projects, plans focus on county's airports

Special to the Chronicle

Citrus County is closing in on some maior projects in its current plans for a new aviation future.

It has finished or is in the last stages of major upgrades and expansions at its two airports, and local officials are excited about the potential those improvements will afford for the future of the business community.

Currently, the Crystal River Airport has an economic impact of $9.6 million, with 115 related jobs that generate a $3 million payroll, county officials say. Inverness Airport has a $2.6 million impact with 25 related jobs generating a $759,900 payroll.

Aviation Master Plans are closer to being realized as one airport runway, at Inverness, is currently being exfor small corporate jets.

The ultimate goal is to take the Crystal River Airport to 5,000 feet, starting in 2012. It is currently 4,555 feet. The taxiway was recently widened and moved for increased separation from the runway to service B-2 type aircraft, such as corporate jets.

County commissioners also recently approved a supplement to amend an existing grant to upgrade existing navigation aids at the airport to enhance safety.

Also at Crystal River, the county commission recently approved a contract for the design for an estimated 25 new T-hangars.

been installed, and an automated weather observation system has been put into service.

The new Fixed Base Operator (FBO) terminal/maintenance hangar and apron design for Inverness is almost complete, and construction will soon be under way on the terminal at the south end of the airport. To accommodate the upgrades, Watson Street, off U.S. 41, has been extended to the terminal area.

In addition to that, the Citrus County Economic Development Council (EDC), with support from the county commission, is readying property along the road near the terminal that will soon be developed as a business park.

Citrus EDC president John Siefert said Citrus County has now become much more aviation friendly, and said, 'We expect our new capabilities to make a difference in how companies that utilize aviation view doing busitended to 5,000 feet, the magic number is being installed, a Jet-A fuel tank has ness here and basing operations here."

2 sea turtles found decapitated on beach

Two sea turtles have been found decapitated on a Florida beach.

Cocoa Beach police said two witnesses reported seeing a man "sawing the head off" an 800-pound turtle carcass last week. A bucket containing the turtle head was found near a trash can at the beach.

Days earlier, a volunteer with the Sea Turtle Preservation Society found a dead sea turtle on the beach with its head missing.

Sea turtles nest on the beach. Sea Turtle Preservation Society officials said they've had more reports than normal about beachgoers disturbing the turtles or their nests.

Experts estimate only one in 1,000 hatchlings reaches adulthood.

Large crowds pack Harry Potter park

So many people are visiting the new Harry Potter-themed attraction at Universal Orlando that the park is advising guests to avoid it until later in the day.

The Wizarding World of Harry Potter opened last month. Officials said more than a half-million rides have been taken already on its headline attraction, Harry Potter and the Forbidden Journey.

To control the large crowds, Universal is issuing paper tickets to keep people from cutting in line. Liquor sales have been halted inside the Hog's Head tavern to speed up service. Extra outdoor merchandise and drink carts have been set up to ease congestion inside the shops.

Park officials said a large crowd is a good sign.

PENSACOLA BEACH The U.S. Navy Blue Angels delighted thousands of oilspill weary Pensacolans on Saturday, performing their annual beach air show without a hitch as a crowd of thousands watched from the beaches below.

Oil cleaning crews worked overnight Friday into Saturday morning combing miles of beach to ensure the white sands were largely free of tar balls for the afternoon event.

Many in the beach crowd, including Alicia Davis, her daughter, son-in-law and two grandsons, awoke before dawn Saturday and spent hours in traffic to secure a prime beach spot to watch the show.

"I had been really worried about the oil, but the closer we got to today, I knew it was going to be good," Davis said as she special, they said. watched the children splash in the clam surf.

Weekly roundup: Gov. Crist, lawmakers in 'special' relationship

KEITH LAING The News Service of Florida

TALLAHASSEE — The courts were in session in the busy week that was — and the Legislature will soon be too.

There was no LeBron Jamesstyle ESPN special when Gov. Charlie Crist jilted the Republican Party this spring, but tensions have been running high between the governor and his former political party ever since. Crist fanned the flames this week, giving up on waiting for lawmakers to agree to come back to Tallahassee for a special session to ban offshore oil drilling.

about six more months, and I as governor if I didn't call for this special session," Crist said.

Sen. Alex Diaz de la Portilla disagreed, saying "the only future Charlie Crist is concerned about districting amendments, FairDishis own political one.

Yet again, Crist's biggest friends seemed to be Democrats.

"I commend the governor for agreeing to call for a special session to ban near beach oil drilling, despite the resistance from special interests and some members

nee Alex Sink said, leaving little doubt there would be unhappy elephants in the room when the session is convened.

> Sink and other Democrats didn't get everything they wanted from Crist's special session call, however

They had pressed him to include other issues, including renewable energy and tighter rules on reimbursements to small businesses from BP, but Crist said the session was "a rifle shot" to beat an early August deadline for constitutional amendments.

other news

Republicans were taking incoming fire from the courts this week. as well.

Before voters could register an opinion on Amendment 7, which is the Legislature's proposed constitutional amendment dealing with redistricting standards, a Tallahassee judge registered one. And it wasn't a particularly favorable opinion. Circuit Judge James O. Shelfer said he couldn't easily understand what it would do, so it was unreasonable to expect voters could.

The amendment, which was put "I'm going to be governor for on the November ballot by lawmakers earlier this year after two think I would not be doing my duty other amendments dealing with redistricting were cleared to go before voters, had been a contentious fight in Legislature this spring. The group behind the retricts, accused lawmakers of purposely trying to "hide the ball." as the lawyer for groups that challenged the initiative said this week.

Republicans, who were joined in pushing for the measure by a has come to the realization that he ment (for utilities to meet renewcouple of black Democrats, could will have no choice but to exceed, of the Legislature," presumptive only say they hoped the same fate and is likely imminently to ex- market. This idea of some volun-

"It will be interesting to see how this ruling impacts the judicial review of Amendments 5 and 6," House Speaker-designate Dean Cannon said in a statement. "If the judge here found Amendment 7 confusing, Amendments 5 and 6 probably are as well, since they are far more complicated and have far greater impacts on present constitutional powers and rights.'

The win for opponents of Amendment 7 may not be final. The case is expected to go to the Supreme Court.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Rick Scott was hoping this week the scales of justice would tip in his favor. Scott asked a federal judge to throw out Florida's public financing law, which could soon help his opponents better keep pace with him — something they've had trouble doing as he's spent more than $20 million to vault ahead of Attorney General Bill McCollum in polling.

Scott, who spent more in his first few days on the campaign trail than McCollum had raised in a year, is brushing up against the state's $24.9 million spending cap, after which other candidates would be funded dollar-fordollar.

Citing a 2008 Supreme Court case. Davis v. FEC. Scott said that his First Amendment rights would be trampled by the campaign finance law. McCollum's camp said the lawsuit proved Scott was trying to buy the election.

'Given Mr. Scott's continuing need to communicate his positions to Florida voters via television and radio advertising, in-person campaigning, and other voter education efforts, Mr. Scott not hearing is we need a require-

Scott's lawsuit says.

"At least Rick Scott admits he needs to spend millions more to hide his own record," McCollum's campaign manager Matt Williams retorted.

AN OILY APOLOGY

With the wind pushing the slick in the Gulf of Mexico west this week, there wasn't much news on the oil front. There was, however, a very public apology from one of the biggest supporters of a plan that would have allowed drilling in the areas now fighting off oil.

President-designate Senate Mike Haridopolos, who in prespill days mixed with the environmental lobby like oil and water, told a Clean Energy Summit in Orlando that it was time to turn the page to their preferred energy solution: renewable energy.

"Dean (Cannon) and I tried to take the conventional route. We tried to look at oil and natural gas production in the Gulf," he said. But guess what? Things change. We went to verify the scenario and it didn't work for Floridians. So we need to try the unconventional way, the alternative way.'

That was music to the ears of supporters of a renewable energy bill that was approved in 2009 by the Senate, but not the House, though Haridopolos was not completely signing their tune.

"There's a necessity to take real, significant action that's much broader than the conversation we're hearing so far," Florida Business Network for a Clean Energy Economy Director Susan Glickman said.

"What we need and what we're able goals.) We need to set a Democratic gubernatorial nomi- would await Amendments 5 and 6. ceed, the Act's $24.9 million limit," tary goal that a utility, if they so choose, can put up some amount ... won't create the kind of market we need to be a game changer."

> But the fact that the discussion about clean energy was now taking place with the incoming Senate leader was a pretty big change in the game.

Elsewhere, all roads for supporters of transportation led to Orlando, where a group of road builders, public transit supporters and driving safety officials, gathered in the Magic Kingdom for the Floridians for Better Transportation Summit. U.S. Senate candidate Jeff Greene, no-party gubernatorial candidate Lawton "Bud" Chiles and Attorney General McCollum addressed the group

McCollum assured them he would not use the state Transportation Trust Fund to balance the state budget if he is elected governor, which was a road lawmakers tried to go this year to balance the $70 billion state spending plan.

Gov. Charlie Crist vetoed the $160 million, and McCollum told the transpos he would protect their money, too.

■ STORY OF THE WEEK: Gov. Charlie Crist decided it's better to ask for forgiveness than to ask for permission and called the Legislature back into a special session to ban offshore oil drilling July 20 to 23, over the objection of the Republican leaders who control it.

■ QUOTE OF THE WEEK: "As an attorney, he should be aware that you can't make something doubly-illegal," Sen. Alex Diaz de la Portilla, speaking about the fact that offshore oil drilling is already banned by a moratorium, which didn't stop Gov. Charlie Crist from officially calling the special session to ban it in the constitution.

MANAGEMENT PLAN HIGHLIGHTS

Highlights of the proposed U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service management plan for the Three Sisters Springs property:

- Overall access to the springs remains generally unrestricted, though USFWS may partially close springs in winter months or full closure during extreme cold days. These full closures will only happen rarely," the plan states.
- Observation platforms will provide access for visitors to view manatees in the springs.
- A kayak/canoe access is planned from the water only to the property, but not the other way around. In other words, someone will not be allowed to drive onto the property with his kayak and then launch it into the water.
- An education center, minimum 2,000 square feet, will provide information on the springs and the manatee sanctuary. Environmental or historical programs will occur throughout the year.
- Fishing dock and pier on Lake Lynda.
- The city will extend its Crosstown bicycle/walking trail to the property, but not through it. The USFWS also plans a nature trail within the property.
- The Southwest Florida Water Management District will construct a "water treatment wetlands" on the east side of the property to capture water runoff from nearby shop-ments to the property while Swiftmud is paying for the water treatment wetlands.

■ Approve the management agreement with the USFWS. The management agreement would run for 99 years and the USFWS agrees to abide by terms of the Florida Communities Trust grant.

Rice, 87 LAKE CITY

passed away from this earthly plane on July 8, 2010, at the Health Center of Lake City, Florida, where she received loving care from the staff during her stay. She was the last surviving child of Walter L. Fuller and Clara M. Savage Fuller. Clarita was preceded in death by the love of her life, Frederick Darwin Rice, in June of 1994. They were both veterans of the United States Army where they were married on August 1, 1945. Both dedicated their lives to serving our nation's veterans as officers of the American Legion Post 638 in Falconer, NY, the Disabled American Veterans Suwannee Memorial 126 in Live Oak, FL, and in later years, Clarita joined the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign War, Post 7122 in Floral City, FL, where she was a life member.

Left to keep her memory are her two daughters, Lynda Carr of Lake City, widow of Truman Carr, and Cynthia Shaw, married to William Shaw of Floral City, 5 beautiful grandchildren; Darlene Gambel, Michael Reynolds, Jason Reynolds, Diana Jacobs, John Reynolds, 6 great-grandchildren and 4 great-great grandchildren.

Always the optimist, her favorite saying was: "Tomorrow will be a better day." Now, every day will be a better day for her in heaven. Last honors will be performed at the Florida National Cemetery, Bushnell, FL, by the VFW Post 7122 Honor Guard on July 19, 2010, at 11:00 a.m., where her last remains will be laid to rest with her husband of 49 years

LONDON - David Fanshawe, a widely traveled musical explorer best known as the composer of "African Sanctus," has died at age 68.

Fanshawe died on Monday, according to a statement on his website, which did not say where he died. Carolyn Date, chorus manager of the Bournemouth Symphony Chorus, who had worked with Fanshawe, said Saturday he had suffered a stroke.

His early musical education was as a chorister at St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle, and later at the Royal College of Music, where his studies alternated with travel.

"I am often asked which came first: the composing or the travels? All I can say is that as a composer, without my travels, I would have nothing original to say," Fanshawe wrote in Gramophone magazine in 2002.

Sanctus," "African which premiered in 1972, was based on music collected during four years of wanderings in Egypt, Kenya Sudan, and Uganda.

Fanshawe estimated that he had been present for nearly 600 performances of the work, never conducting but handling the recorded sounds used in concert, playing piano and trying to communicate his passion to the singers.

Fanshawe produced CDs from Tahiti, Tonga, Polynesia, Micronesia, Melanesia, Thailand and Laos. The CD "Music of the Nile" includes the music from Egypt, Sudan, Uganda and Kenva gathered which inspired members of the band Virtual Volume, composed the idea of a Woodstock-style outdoor festival that would double as a fundraiser for a local charity. Centering on the theme of "Kids Helping Kids," all of the bands chose to benefit Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS) of Citrus County.

The morning kicked off with tunes sung by 12-yearold Taylor Eve as the first band set up.

Afterward, local teen bands Curbside Goodbye, Sidekick, TRD and Virtual Volume played original songs as well as covers from popular acts like Paramore and 30 Seconds to Mars. Previously scheduled bands, Age of Lions and Twist of Faith, dropped out at the last minute.

Phillips and Ihlefield approached Mitchell, whom they had met while performing at last year's "Blues'n'BBQ," about helping them put on the festival at the Museum Café's outdoor stage at 10466 W. Yulee Drive in Old Homosassa.

Shade from the grove of trees next to the café created a pleasant atmosphere for the audience members, but the heat concentrated on the stage, where bands head-banged and thrashed around to the metal, poprock and punk music.

"We have at least one fan," joked Robert Biggs, bassist for Curbside Goodbye, from the stage as somebrought up one an oscillating fan to cool the band members. The band, which has been together for just a few months, performed a song they had writ-

Hidden history: Korea probe ends

U.S. escapes much blame

Associated Press

SEOUL, South Korea -In a political about-face, a South Korean commission investigating a century of human rights abuses has ruled that the U.S. military's large-scale killing of refugees during the Korean War, in case after case, arose out of military necessity.

Shutting down the inquiry into South Korea's hidden history, the commission also will leave unexplored scores of suspected mass graves believed to hold remains of tens of thousands of South Korean political detainees summarily executed by their own government early in the 1950-53 war, sometimes as U.S. officers watched.

The 4-year-old Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Korea probed more deeply than any previous inquiry into the country's bloody past. But a shift to conservative national leadership changed the panel's political makeup this year and dampened its investigative zeal.

The families of 1950's victims wanted the work continued.

'The truth about all these past incidents must be revealed, so this national tragedy won't be repeated,' said Yang Won-jin, 82, whose father was believed shot and dumped into a mass grave 60 years ago.

But the commission's new president said its work must end.

"Even if we investigated

Such incidents fit a pattern of indiscriminate U.S. attacks on South Korean civilians evident in declassified wartime files uncovered in archival research by the AP and other journalists and historians.

In 1999, the AP confirmed the U.S. killing of refugees at the South Korean hamlet of No Gun Ri in July 1950, in which survivors estimate 400 died, mostly women and enough to clear the fog of children. That report led witnesses to come forward In a small number of with accounts of other large-

Pilots strafed refugee who columns on South Korea's roads had been told to attack 'people in white," the garb of Korean peasants, because they might harbor infiltrators.

"Those U.S. warplanes attacked us even though they knew we were refugees. That's a war crime. They cannot just cover it up," said Lee Won-woo, who was 2 years old when his parents and older sister were killed with 70 other refugees at-

It's more difficult to assess the U.S. role in an even greater wave of killings, the mass political executions of mid-1950 carried out by President Syngman Rhee's government.

The most shocking disclosures emerged from the war that began when communist North Korea invaded the south on June 25, 1950, to try to reunify the peninsula, divided into U.S.- and Sovietoccupied zones in 1945.

The commission was the first government authority to publicly confirm what long had only been whispered: The U.S.-allied South Korean military and police carried out a vast secretive slaughter of political detainees in mid-1950, to keep southern sympathizers from supporting the northerners. Up to 200,000 were killed, historians believe.

Hundreds of petitions to the commission told another story as well, of more than 200 incidents in which the U.S. military, warned about toughened the criteria for

Work on historic church brings New Mexico village together

Associated Press

RANCHOS DE TAOS, N.M. — In the center of this northern New Mexico village stands a sun-baked adobe church made famous by the paintings of Georgia O'Keeffe and the photographs of Ansel Adams and Paul Strand

But if it weren't for an annual ritual that has been kept alive for nearly two centuries by the close-knit community of Ranchos de Taos, it's likely the iconic church wouldn't be standing at all.

Hundreds of parishioners gathered over two weeks plaster the thick walls of the San Francisco de Asis Church with a fresh coat of mud, from the massive buttresses at the back of the fortress-like church to the courtyard walls and the tops of the bell towers.

It's a lot of work, but resident Guadalupe Tafoya says the payoff is knowing that the community's symbol of faith will be able to weather another year.

"If we don't come together, we end up losing," said Tafoya, who has helped with the plastering ritual - or enjarre as the parishioners call it — since she was a young girl.

"This is an organic structure. It's adobe, it's alive, it expands, it contracts so we work with it," she said. "It holds everything, it holds joy, it holds grief, it holds sorrow, it holds hope and prayer. Most of all, it holds the traditions of the people of Ranchos.'

Parishioners of San Francisco de Asis have been caring for the Catholic church ever since its construction parishioners find spare mowas completed in the early 1800s by the families who lived in what was then a remote settlement a few miles a lot of hard work," said the church."

north of the crossroads of El Camino Real and the Santa Fe Trail.

Like generations before them, the modern parishioners waste no time mixing the mud and doling it out to those who are armed with trowels.

Two teenagers take turns shoveling piles of dirt that were trucked in from a special area just south of the village. There, the dirt is perfect — just the right color with just the right amount of clay and sand. Each shovelful passes through a screen to separate out any pebbles.

Then experience comes under the summer sun to into play, as only the right amount of water and straw make mud worthy of the project.

Joe Mondragon, 77, knows the recipe. He sprinkles in a handful of straw before telling the younger men to mix the mud with their hoes.

"It always seems to work," he said

The old-timers say the job is much easier now with trucks, wheelbarrows, cranes and garden hoses. As the story goes, horses and buggies used to haul in the dirt and everybody from the village's children to its goats dogs would stomp and around in the mud to mix it up. Parishioners would then ferry the mud to the plasterers in rope-handled wooden buckets.

'The old people from way back, they already had it perfected," said Leroy Mondragon, as he mixed a trough full of the mud used for the final coat — no straw, just fine dirt and enough water to turn it into something like chocolate milk.

Malley said he can walk around the church at different times of the day and see something new as the sun plays tricks on its massive walls, some of which are more than 10 feet thick. Gabe Romero, the project supervisor, checks on the men mudding the buttresses. He squints to get a better look at where one of the supports meets the wall and suggests it be smoothed out some more.

Romero and the parishioners aim for perfection because San Francisco de Asis is the heart of Ranchos – where babies are baptized, young couples are married and fixtures of the community who have passed on are memorialized. Just last month, the church hosted the funeral service for actor Dennis Hopper, who once lived in the village.

More than a tourist attraction, San Francisco de Asis is a symbol of the community's faith, said Carmen Romero Velarde, an 82-year-old parishioner and artist who has been helping with the annual ritual for decades.

"It's like a prayer. It's like offering a prayer to God everyday and thanking him for all that he's done for us through the years," said Velarde, who starts every morning during the enjarre by asking God for the strength to help out at least until noon.

The parish tried in the 1960s to go without tending to the church by putting concrete stucco over the adobe walls. Moisture got trapped behind the stucco and the walls began to disintegrate, so it was back to tradition.

"I think God wants it this way," Romero said. "I really feel it's God's intention that this is a good way to keep his parish family together.'

Vets, police kill 58,000 stray dogs

BAGHDAD — Teams of veterinarians and police shooters have killed some 58,000 stray dogs in and around the Iraqi capital during the past three months as part of a campaign to curb an increasing number of strays blamed for attacks on residents

The Baghdad provincial government said in a statement released Sunday that 20 teams have been moving around Baghdad and the outlying districts daily looking for and putting down the dogs. The operation, which was first announced in late 2008, only truly took off this April after funds were allocated for the project.

The surge in strays - estimated by provincial officials to number around 1.25 million - is ironically linked to what officials say is an improvement in some elements of daily life in Baghdad, a city that for seven years has been struggling to return to normalcy after the 2003 U.S.-led invasion to topple Saddam Hussein

Officials with the provincial veterinary directorate said that with open-air markets and bustling city life returning, the dogs are able to find more food and are having bigger litters. Figures for the number of attacks by packs of stray dogs were not available Saturday, the last day of the weekend in Iraq.

KABUL, Afghanistan — A wave of attacks killed six U.S. troops and at least a dozen civilians Saturday in Afghanistan's volatile south and east, as American reinforcements moving into Taliban-dominated areas face up to the fierce resistance they expected.

Obama: PTSD help for veterans

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The government is taking what President Barack Obama calls "a long overdue step" to aid veterans with post-traumatic stress disorder, making it easier for them to receive federal benefits.

The changes that Veteran Affairs Secretary Eric Shinseki will announce Monday fulfill "a solemn responsibility to provide our veterans and wounded warriors with the care and benefits they've earned when they come home," Obama said in his weekly radio and online address Saturday.

The new rules will apply not only to veterans of the Iraq and Afghanistan wars, but also to those who served in previous conflicts. No longer will veterans have to prove what caused their illness. Instead, they would have to show that the conditions surrounding the time and place of their service could have contributed to their illness. "I don't think our troops on the battlefield should have to take notes to keep for a claims application," the president said. "And I've met enough veterans to know that you don't have to engage in a firefight to endure the trauma of war. Veterans advocates and some lawmakers have argued that it sometimes could be impossible for veterans to find records of a firefight or bomb blast. They also have contended that the old rules ignored other causes of PTSD, such as fearing a traumatic event even if it doesn't occur. That could discriminate against female troops prohibited from serving on front lines and against other service members who don't experience combat directly. "This is a long overdue step," Obama said. "It's a step that proves America will always be here for our veterans, just as they've been there for us. We won't let them down. We take care of our own." A study last year by the RAND Corp. think tank estimated that nearly 20 percent of returning veterans, or 300,000, have symptoms of PTSD or major depression. A senior official at the Department of Veterans Affairs said the agency doesn't expect the number of veterans receiving benefits for PTSD to rise dramatically, as most veterans with legitimate applications for benefits do eventually get claims. The goal is simply to make the claims process less cumbersome and time-consuming, said the official, who would speak only on condition of anonymity.

12 more prisoners released in Cuba

HAVANA — Cuban church officials on Saturday released the names of 12 more political prisoners who will be freed and sent into exile in the coming days under a landmark agreement with President Raul Castro's government, bringing to 17 the total number of jailed dissidents who have accepted asylum in Spain.

While there has been no word on when exactly the men will be freed, there are growing signs that a release could be imminent, with the wife of one prisoner saying Cuban officials told her to prepare to leave the country.

The 17 are among a group of 52 opposition leaders, journalists and activists who remain in jail following a broad crackdown on dissent in 2003 that resulted in lengthy prison terms on treason and other charges.

The government agreed to release them after a meeting Wednesday between Castro and Roman Catholic Cardinal Jaime Ortega

The Church has taken an increasingly public role in relations between the government and the opposition since the death of a jailed dissident hunger striker in February. The meeting was brokered by visiting Spanish Foreign Minister Miguel Angel Moratinos.

SARAJEVO. Bosnia-Herzegovina — Phillip Ruch's monument to Srebrenica is a huge jumble of worn shoes, more than 16,000 of them, each pair representing a victim of Europe's worst massacre since World War II.

Seen from afar it will spell out U.N. in gigantic letters.

The "Pillar of Shame" is to be raised in the hills above Srebrenica with a controversial goal: singling out the United Nations and international leaders as the ones most responsible for failing to prevent the mass killings.

Ahead of the 15th anniversary Sunday of the massacre, Ruch said he is looking forward to the debate the monument is almost certain to generate when it goes up at some point next year.

The German activist describes his project as a "warning for all future U.N. employees never again just to stand by when geno-

On July 11, 1995, more than 8.000 Bosnian Muslim men and youths were slaughtered by Bosnian Serb troops in an enclave supposedly protected by U.N. peacekeepers.

The United Nations had declared Serb-besieged Srebrenica, some 60 miles northeast of Sarajevo, a protected area for civilians. But the few hundred Dutch Blue Helmets on the ground were left short of credible weaponry or a clear mandate to protect the town

The shootings began shortly after. While Bosnian Serb leader Radovan Karadzic is now being tried by the U.N. tribunal at the Hague for allegedly masterminding Srebrenica, Mladic remains at large. And the bodies, bulldozed into mass graves, keep turning up by the hundreds each year.

'Pillar of Shame'' creator Ruch says worn shoes have been pouring into Bosnian collection centers since he launched his appeal for footwear six weeks ago.

They will be encased in wire mesh, in nearly 9-yards-tall letters spelling out U.N. and placed on a hill overlooking the graves of the Srebrenica victims.

Also displayed — in a way still to be determined — will be names picked by Bosnian Muslims of U.N. and other international officials considered responsible for botching the task of protecting Srebrenica.

Seventh suit filed over Ariz. immigration law Associated Press portable, the training materials focus

PHOENIX — A seventh challenge to Arizona's tough new immigration crackdown says training materials designed to teach police officers how to enforce the law give "vague and ill-defined factors" as reasons to question someone's legal status.

Officers aren't supposed to use a person's race to determine whether there's reasonable suspicion they're in the country illegally.

But the lawsuit, filed Friday in federal court, says the training materials developed by state police bosses allow officers to rely on things like whether a person speaks poor English, looks nervous or is traveling in an overcrowded vehicle. They can also take into account whether someone is wearing several layers of clothing in a hot climate, or hanging out in an area where illegal imOfficers aren't supposed to use a person's race to determine whether there's reasonable suspicion they're in the country illegally.

migrants are known to look for work.

That will lead to "widespread" racial profiling of Hispanics, the lawsuit says.

"It's like having a law that tells police to go out and arrest all children but to not use the fact that a person looks like a child," Los Angeles-based attorney Peter Schev, lead counsel for the plaintiffs who filed the lawsuit, said Saturday

"Rather than training police officers about who is and who is not really deon vague and ambiguous factors, such as a person's dress or limited ability to speak English or demeanor, whatever that means," Schey said. "An average law enforcement officer using those standards is inevitably going to focus on a person's physical appearance or race while being sure not to say that in his or her report."

Schey estimated that 2 million of the nation's roughly 12 million illegal immigrants are not eligible for deportation because they're in the process of seeking legal status.

The law, set to take effect July 29, already faces legal challenges from two police officers, other groups and the U.S. Justice Department, which says the law usurps the federal government's "pre-eminent authority" under the Constitution to regulate immigration.

Vacation: Family style

16 days, 5 countries, 4 kids, 8 lessons learned

NANCY NUSSBAUM Associated Press

-PARIS t was a family vacation that required more preparation and planning than any other trip my husband and I had ever taken: 16 days, five countries, and four kids, ages 22, 19, 13 and 8.

The six of us visited Luxembourg, France, Germany, Austria and Switzerland. We mostly rode trains, including one overnight trip, and we stayed in hotels and apartments.

It was the first time any of us, minus our oldest, had visited Europe, so family and friends offered valuable advice, hoping we'd enjoy the same experiences they'd had and avoid making their mistakes. We learned our own lessons as well, since no one we knew had traveled with six, and only one family we knew had taken children along.

We aren't calling our vacation the "trip of a lifetime," because we certainly will go back again. But we did learn a few practical things about how to travel. Here are eight tips for a family vacation in Europe — four things we'd do again, and four we'd do differently, based on our experiences.

Four things we would do again:

■ Pack light. I early on had made a rule, which I secretly doubted we could follow. Everyone would bring only carry-on luggage, a quality backpack that did not have to be checked.

Having minimal luggage made switching trains less hassle and also made everyone responsible for their own stuff. Another benefit was that my husband and I always had a free hand to hold onto our 8-yearold when making those train switches. We also thought we might be less of a target for thieves because we didn't have to set our luggage down while checking the details of our next train ride.

Everyone brought just five or six shirts and several pairs of pants. You can always handwash or do a laundry if you need to.

With six of us, there were more than enough people to carry 3-ounce bottles of shampoo and other toi-

The Nussbaum children — from left, Nicole, 13, Robert, 22, Emily, 19, and Madigan, 8 — stop June 8 for a picture in the Grund quarter of Luxembourg City in Luxembourg. The Nussbaum family spent 16 days visiting Lux-letries through the airport security. If we needed anything more, the experience of shopping at foreign markets was part of the adventure.

When our flight arrived about 40 minutes early in Zurich, Switzerland, we had four minutes to catch a train to Luxembourg City that cut our travel time from five hours to three. We did it, but checked luggage would have prevented this.

Bring walking shoes, not sneakers. We all were thankful for our "adventure shoes" with Vibram or Vibram-type soles when climbing rain-slicked hills and mountains to see sites such as King Ludwig II's embourg, France, Germany, Austria and Switzerland and learned a lot along the way.

Neuschwantstein castle near Fussen, Germany, and the Hohensalzburg Fortress in Salzburg, Austria. And of course we walked miles daily in addition. The adventure shoes provided the traction and support needed for exploring.

Despite their less-than-stylish appearance to my 13-year-old, they were much more comfortable and practical than tennis shoes. She wore them every day.

Rent apartments. Many hotels in Europe did not have family rooms or quads available, and we had trouble even finding hotels with three doubles to book.

But apartments were the perfect alternative. In Paris, we rented an apartment for five nights, and in Munich, we rented another for six nights. The Paris apartment cost slightly less than hotels, and it was just a half-block from Notre Dame Cathedral, in the heart of the city.

While exiting the crater, we traversed the sides rather than taking a head-on approach. There were many stops on the way out, each one a photo op, as the scenery left behind would now only be viewed in the dozens of pictures being snapped along the way.

When back on the rim of the volcano, the clouds now fully lifted, we stood in awe at the outlandish landscape resulting from

Head outdoors with Ramblers

Nature Coast Ramblers is an outdoor activity club of friendly people of all ages who enjoy self-paced hiking or walking, biking and kayaking activities in the Citrus County area.

The club is associated with the American Volkssport Association (AVA), a national walking association, which in turn is affiliated with an international group

Walking or hiking, biking or kayaking with the club promotes fitness. Our goal is to provide events that can challenge participants to keep active and are fun. We start walks, rides and kayak outings in different locations, which is a great way to explore the many beautiful trails, parks, forests and waterways of this area.

Bicycle outings are generally the second Friday each month; hiking or walking is generally the third Saturday of each month; kayaking is usually the last Tuesday of each month.

Nature Coast Ramblers also maintains three designated year-round 10K trails or walking routes, which can be walked for AVA credit: in the two state parks in Citrus County - at the Crystal River Preserve and at Fort Cooper. and an historic and scenic walk in Crystal River.

Hope you will join us for our next club event; all events are open to the public.

You can become a member of Nature Coast Ramblers for only $10 per year for a single or $12 per couple.

For more information, visit the Web site at: www.naturecoastramblers.org or call Cathy at 527-3441.

I am from Louisiana and I know our beaches are our home, our way of life and our livelihood. Protecting the coast and cleaning up the beaches is very personal to me. - Keith Seilhan, BP Cleanup

Making This Right

Beaches

Claims Cleanup Economic Investment Environmental Restoration Health and Safety Wildlife At BP, we have taken full responsibility for the cleanup in the Gulf. We are committed to keeping you informed.

Looking For Oil

Crews are cleaning Gulf Coast beaches 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. When oil is spotted, the Response Command Center is notified, a Shore Cleanup Assessment Team (SCAT) is mobilized and cleanup begins immediately. Cleanup efforts are being coordinated from 17 staging areas in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida. Over 33,000 people are involved in the cleanup operation.

If you see oil on the beach, please call 1-866-448-5816 and we'll send a team to clean it up.

Cleaning Up the Beaches

The number of people mobilized to clean up the beaches depends on the size of the affected area. Individual teams can number in the hundreds, and thousands of additional workers remain on-call. Working with the Coast Guard, our teams continue cleaning up until the last bit of oil has been removed. As a result, in most cases when oil reaches a beach, it is even possible to keep it open.

Our Responsibility

Our beach cleanup operations will continue until the last of the oil has been skimmed from the sea, the beaches and estuaries have been cleaned up, and the region has been pronounced oil-free. And none of the costs of our efforts will be paid by taxpayers.

Our commitment is that we'll be here for as long as it takes. We may not always be perfect, but we will make this right.

'Scary' Socialist networking

just got back from infiltrating a Social-ist meeting. Their meeting hall was also poople should be a social server be a social most full, and I have it on good authority that there are weekly meetings all over the country, even in the smallest villages and towns.

I was surprised at how lax their security was. No one asked me for ID or even to the meetings and sit in the front row are seemed concerned that I might report on just pretending to be Socialists.

my experience. They are so confident about taking over that they don't even fear exposure.

Obviously, the Socialist leader is too busy to come to the meetings in person, so one of his highly trained deputies always runs the meetings and always brings a message from him. Each week, the subtle, radical anti-Capitalist message is disseminated to the "faithful.'

This week was typical. The deputy spent a half hour talking about "Love thy neighbor as thyself." This is apparently one of the guiding principles of Socialism, and while there are many different versions of Socialism around the country and the planet, almost all the different groups hold this as a core Socialist value. Scary.

I expected poor people to fall for the Socialist message, but there seemed to be a surprising number of well-off - even wealthy — people at the meetings. Each weekly meeting is usually based on one of the leader's basic principles. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto vou," is a popular topic. I learned. And he usually has something to say on the issues of the day. Once the message was about prayer in school. He said, "When thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly."

The purpose of the weekly meetings is to figure out ways to further the Socialist plot of feeding the hungry, clothing the naked and visiting the sick, because the leader said, "Whenever you do this for the least of my brothers, you do it for me.'

Instead of telling people to lift them-

Puzzle answer is on Page A13.

Try to run a bank, an automobile company or an oil company that way. Everything would be a mess. They wouldn't run like the well-oiled machines they are today.

Lucky for us, many of the people who go

Many of those people are on TV, saying the exact opposite of what the leader says, even as they invoke the leader's name. They keep saying that this is a Socialist country, founded by Socialists, even if the leader would disagree with almost every word out of their mouths. In fact, He almost always says the opposite of what the pundits say. He doesn't mind paying taxes —"Give to Caesar what is Caesar's" and he tells a great story about free health care called "The Good Samaritan."

While there are whole channels on TV about making money, and entire newspapers and magazines devoted to it, the head of the Socialists has said it is easier for "a camel to go through the eye of a needle" than it is for a rich person to find true happiness

As for immigration, the Supreme Socialist leader himself would not be welcomed in this country by the pundits because he does not speak English and has no papers. It bothers many Socialists, but their leader said not to worry about it. "Judge not lest ye be judged," he said. It is one of his favorite sayings.

The real question is: Why do so many people fall for the Socialist philosophy? Can't they see that loving thy neighbor is what's wrong with this country?

What would happen if we all went around doing good works all day long? Pretty soon, you wouldn't recognize the place.

Dixie League team wins opener at state tournament

JOHN COSCIA Chronicle

The Crystal River Pirates Junior All-Stars got off to a great start in their opening-round game of the Dixie League Juniors baseball state tournament with a 7-4 victory over Okeechobee in Marianna on Saturday morning.

Crystal River jumped out to a 5-0 lead in the top of the first inning and never looked back. On the first pitch of the game, Tyler Price was hit by the ball. He then stole second and scored on Kyle Kidd's RBI single.

Nick Hernandez would earn his way on with a walk. Both Hernandez and Kidd scored when Derrick Rogers delivered a two-RBI single.

Kasey Purnell followed with an RBI single of his own which scored Rogers. Purnell would score on Trevor Carnahan's RBI single for the fifth run of the frame as Crystal River sent 10 batters to the plate.

"That was huge for us," Crystal River manager Don Kidd said. "We jumped on them early and they really never recovered from it. That was our game plan coming it. To start quick

"That was the hit that turned the whole game around," Central Citrus head coach Dave Pattison said. "We got off to a slow start in the first inning and then got two quick outs in the second. And then Anthony's hit woke us up."

With two outs in the frame and no one on base, Matthew Lopes reached on a single followed by back-toback walks by Hunter Carl and Zac Jones, setting the stage for the birthday boy. He delivered, smashing a 1-2 pitch over the center field fence that was such a sure thing that none of the Crystal River outfielders ever even turned around.

The grand slam erased a 2-0 Crystal River lead that was built in the top of the first inning. The team's leadoff batter, Reese Brennen, was the first to strike, crushing a solo home run. Shaun Frasier drew a walk and later scored on Peyton O'Callaghan's RBI double.

SILVIS, Ill. — Steve Stricker is making it look easy.

He insists that it's not, even after posting stunningly low scores.

Stricker already has broken a couple of PGA Tour records at the John Deere Classic and has more in sight after opening a six-stroke lead with a 9-under-par 62 on Saturday.

That followed rounds of 60 and

"It's never easy going out there," Stricker said. "It wasn't easy to start the round today. Coming to the course I felt like I'd never been in this position. I was nervous. I didn't feel like doing anything. I just wanted to get out there and starting playing.'

And play he did.

Chavanel wins 7th stage of Tour

Frenchman captures overall lead with victory

Associated Press

LES ROUSSES, France-Svlvain Chavanel recaptured the Tour de France's lead on Saturday by winning the hot and humid seventh stage as the main title contenders bided their time in anticipation of the upcoming Alpine climbs.

Chavanel raised a fist in joy as he completed the 101mile run from Tournus to Station des Rousses that featured six low- to midgrade climbs, crossing in 4 hours, 22 minutes, 52 seconds. The Quick Step rider also won the second stage. The main title favorites

Several pre-race favorites, including Armstrong, said the stage's climbs were deceptively tough and that the heat added to the agony.

"Suffered, I think everybody did. It was just so incredibly hot and humid," the 38-year-old Texan said.

Switzerland's Fabian Cancellara, who struggled in the final climb and lagged a staggering 14:12 back, lost the yellow jersey to Chavanel. The Frenchman began the stage fifth, 1:01 behind Cancellara.

Tampa Bay Rays' Ben Zobrist slides under Cleveland Indians second baseman Jayson Nix as he reaches for a wide throw during the eighth inning of Saturday's game in St. Petersburg. The Rays won 4-0.

Rays 4, Indians 0

ST. PETERSBURG — Matt Garza allowed one hit over six innings, Gabe Kapler hit a two-run single and the Tampa Bay Rays beat the Cleveland Indians 4-0 on Saturday night.

Garza (10-5), who struck out two and walked one during an 88-pitch outing, was on a pitch count of around 90 after he worked out of the bullpen earlier in the week. The lone hit off Garza was a one-out, secondinning single by Jhonny Peralta, who is 9 for 19 overall against the right-hander.

Grant Balfour, Joaquin Benoit and Lance Cormier completed a three-hitter for the Rays, who have won 9 of 11.

Kapler put the Rays ahead 2-0 with his hit in the fourth. Willy Aybar's fifth-inning run-scoring single made it 3-0 and Jason Bartlett had an RBI double in the eighth.

Indians designated hitter Travis Hafner departed after three innings because of left upper back stiffness. Aaron Laffey (1-3) gave up three runs and seven hits over 5 2-3 innings.

Garza made his first relief appearance in three years and recorded his first career save by getting two outs to close Wednesday's 6-4 win over Boston. He was cast in that role because All-Star closer Rafael Soriano had worked the previous four days and Garza lasted just three innings in his start Monday.

Tampa Bay All-Star third baseman

Evan Longoria hit into double plays in the first and third innings. He had grounded into just four double plays in his previous 85 games this season. Longoria dived to his left and caught Andy Marte's grounder to start a ninth-inning double play.

Plate umpire Tim Welke stayed in the game after being hit hard in the mask by Jason Donald's foul in the fifth. Later in the at-bat, Garza caught a liner hit by Donald.

Blue Jays 9, Red Sox 5

TORONTO — Jose Bautista hit his major league-leading 24th home run, Alex Gonzalez and Adam Lind also went deep and the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Boston Red Sox 9-5.

The Blue Jays, who lead the majors with 135 homers, extended their streak of multihomer games to seven and have hit 20 home runs during that span. The club record for consecutive multihomer games is eight, set June 17-25, 2000.

Lind had three hits and Gonzalez added three RBIs for Toronto. Fred Lewis doubled twice, scored twice, stole two bases and drove in the goahead run.

Shawn Camp (3-1) pitched 1 2-3 innings for the win and Kevin Gregg got four outs for his 20th save in 23 chances.

Boston right-hander John Lackey (9-5) allowed seven runs and eight hits in 4 2/3 innings. He walked six, a season high.

J.D. Drew's bases-loaded walk gave Boston a 1-0 lead in the first, but Toronto scored three in the bottom half. Gonzalez hit an RBI double, Lind singled home a run and Aaron Hill drove in the third with a fielder's choice. Toronto Boston

Tigers 7, Twins 4

DETROIT - Johnny Damon's three-run shot in the fifth inning was Detroit's fourth home run against Nick Blackburn, and the surging Tigers went on to beat the Minnesota Twins 7-4. Miguel Cabrera hit a two-run homer in the first, rookie Alex Avila and Magglio Ordonez followed with solo shots in each of the next two innings and Damon's drive gave the Tigers a four-run lead. AL Central-leading Detroit has won five straight overall and 17 of 19 at home to move a season-high 11 games over .500. The third-place Twins have lost four in a row and seven of nine. Jeremy Bonderman (5-6) gave up three runs in six innings for the win. Jose Valverde pitched a perfect ninth for his 19th save.

Blackburn (7-7) allowed seven runs and seven hits over four innings and matched a career high by giving up four homers.

Even though the Tigers roughed up Blackburn and didn't have to face All-Star slugger Justin Morneau for the second straight game, they couldn't put the game out of reach.

Orlando Hudson hit a two-run single in the third for Minnesota and Michael Cuddyer had a solo homer the next innina.

White Sox 5, Royals 1

CHICAGO - Gavin Floyd pitched effectively into the eighth inning, Carlos Quentin hit two of Chicago's three homers off Brian Bannister and the White Sox beat the Kansas City Royals 5-1 Saturday night for their seventh straight victory.

Gordon Beckham also homered for the White Sox, who are 24-5 in their last 29 games.

Floyd (5-7), who left after Jason Kendall's third single of the game with two outs in the eighth, gave up six hits and a run. David DeJesus ruined the shutout bid with an RBI double off reliever Matt Thornton.

Chicago pitching has allowed just three runs in the last three games.

Quentin hit his 16th homer leading off the second inning. Beckham lined his third of the season over the left field fence to start the bottom of the fifth and make it 2-0. Omar Vizguel singled one out later and raced home on newly named All-Star Paul Konerko's double down the left field line, making it a three-run cushion for Floyd.

Quentin then followed with his second homer of the game and it was 5-0.

K.C.'s Jose Guillen led off the fifth with a double and made it to third on a two-out wild pitch but was stranded when Flovd fanned Mitch Maier.

Phillies 1, Reds 0, 11 innings

PHILADELPHIA — Reds rookie Travis Wood took a perfect game into the ninth inning before giving up Carlos Ruiz's leadoff double, and the Philadelphia Phillies stunned Cincinnati again by winning 1-0 Saturday night on Jimmy Rollins' RBI single in the 11th.

Making his third big league start, Wood dominated Philadelphia's injurydepleted lineup and matched zeros for nine innings with Phillies ace Roy Halladay, who threw a perfect game of his own May 29 in Florida.

The 23-year-old left-hander was trying for the third perfecto in the majors this year - not to mention the one Detroit right-hander Armando Galarraga was denied because of a missed call at first base by umpire Jim Joyce.

Ruiz, just off the disabled list, opened the ninth with a line drive to deep left-center that landed cleanly in the alley. Wood stayed in, however, and worked out of the jam. Pinch-hitter Wilson Valdez fouled out trying to bunt, pinch-hitter Raul Ibanez flied out and Rollins fouled out, sending the scoreless game to extra innings.

Cubs 7, Dodgers 3

LOS ANGELES - Tom Gorzelanny won for the second time in three starts after spending almost all of last month in the bullpen, and the Chicago Cubs got home runs from Aramis Ramirez and Geovany Soto in a 7-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers on Saturday.

Gorzelanny (4-5) allowed two runs - one earned — and six hits over six innings after being staked to an early 6-0 lead. The left-hander, demoted to the bullpen after his 8-5 loss to the Dodgers on May 26 at Wrigley Field, walked only one after issuing six walks over five innings last Monday at Arizona in a 9-4 victory.

John Ely (4-7) threw 47 pitches over 2 1-3 innings in the shortest of his 14 big league starts, after lasting only 2 2-3 innings last Monday in a 6-5 loss to Florida at Dodger Stadium. The 24year-old right-hander was charged with six runs, five hits and three walks one of them with the bases loaded. Ely is 1-6 with a 5.44 ERA in his last nine starts after recording his first three big league victories in consecutive outings.

Brewers 4, Pirates 3

MILWAUKEE - Ryan Braun and Prince Fielder hit back-to-back home runs, leading the Milwaukee Brewers to a 4-3 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Second, Mike DiMuro; Third, Jim Reynolds.

T-2:55 A-20 091 (36 973)

The Brewers, who had lost five straight before playing Pittsburgh this weekend, won for the second consecutive game and are 7-3 this season against the Pirates.

Pittsburgh has lost five straight overall and 23 of 25 on the road. The Pirates have dropped 26 of their last 29 games at Miller Park.

Dave Bush (4-6) pitched 6 1/3 innings for the Brewers, giving up two runs and six hits. It was his fifth straight quality start. Kameron Loe got the last two outs of the seventh for the Brewers and Zach Braddock pitched a scoreless eighth.

John Axford worked the ninth inning, giving up a leadoff homer to Ryan Doumit. Axford got the next three batters to earn his 10th save in 10 chances.

Jeff Karstens (2-4) tossed five innings for the Pirates, giving up four runs and five hits. He walked six and continued to have problems with the home run ball.

Astros 4, Cardinals 1

HOUSTON - Brett Myers added another quality start to his strong season, pitching eight crisp innings to help the Houston Astros beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 on Saturday night.

Pedro Feliz hit a two-run single in Houston's three-run first and Jeff Keppinger went deep for the Astros.

Myers (6-6) gave up one run and five hits, struck out five and walked none. He extended his club record of starts of six innings or more to begin the season to 18 and is the only pitcher in the majors to achieve the mark this year.

Jeff Suppan (0-5) allowed four runs and seven hits in 4 2-3 innings for St. Louis Keppinger's one-out double helped set up Houston's big first inning. With two out and the bases loaded, Feliz singled to left and Humberto Quintero drove in Hunter Pence with a base hit to make it 3-0.

Keppinger connected in the fifth, hitting a one-out drive to left to give Houston a 4-1 lead. It was Keppinger's third homer of the season.

That was enough for Myers, who retired nine of his last 10 batters. Matt Lindstrom issued two walks in the ninth before striking out rookie Jon Jay for his 21st save in 25 opportunities. Atlanta Braves' shortstop Yunel Escobar leaps over New York Mets' David Wright after forcing out Wright at second base and throwing to first base to get Mets' Ike Davis out for a double play in the sixth inning of Saturday's game in New York.

Braves 4, Mets 0

NEW YORK — Tim Hudson pitched seven gritty innings before turning it over to one of the best bullpens in baseball, and Omar Infante's hot bat helped the Atlanta Braves beat the New York Mets 4-0 on Saturday.

Infante, the Braves' jack-of-all trades All-Star, had three hits and drove in a run after getting four hits in the series opener. Hudson (9-4) helped himself with a pair of hits that included an RBI double during a four-run fifth.

The Braves won their fourth straight game and moved five in front of the Mets in the NL East with one game left before the All-Star break. They have a chance to sweep the series Sunday after losing three straight at Citi Field in late April.

As if losing ground in the division wasn't bad enough, the Mets also watched Jose Reyes leave the game after making a difficult fielding play in the seventh inning.

The All-Star shortstop appeared to hurt himself ranging to his right to field a grounder by Troy Glaus and making a long throw to first base. Reyes has been hampered by a sore left side that has prevented the switch-hitter from batting from the right side the last few games.

Crystal River would cut the Central Citrus lead to one run in the top of the third when Frasier drew a leadoff walk, moved to second on Sam Mueller's single and scored on Colby Cournoyer's RBI single.

But that was as close as they would get. In the home half of the third. Central Citrus — still bubbling from O'Bday's grand slam plated seven runs on six hits, including two bookend and Kyler Speagle.

Neeld opened the inning with a solo homer. He was followed by Danny Coutu and Travis McGee who reached on back-to-back singles. Zac Jones then reached on an error by the shortstop and later scored following a bunt single by O'Bday and an RBI single by Zac Pattison. O'Bday and Pattison scored when Speagle lifted a towering fly ball over the left field fence for a three-run home run.

Central Citrus would then invoke the mercy rule when Coutu and Lopes scored the team's final two runs in the home half of the fourth inning.

"It just wasn't our day today," Crystal River head coach J.J. Cournoyer said. 'We picked the wrong day to have our worst game of the tournament. But the truth is our bats and pitching were home runs by Jarrad Neeld never as good as they needed to be for this whole tournament. But I'm proud of the kids' effort. They never quit. They won Top Team and came here ready to play. It just didn't happen for us this year.'

As for Dave Pattison, he understandably was pleased by his team's effort.

'It was another great team effort by all the kids today," the Central Citrus head coach said. "We were a totally different team today than we were (Friday night) against Dunnellon.'

With the victory Central Citrus advances to the championship game against Dunnellon today at Central Ridge Park in Beverly Hills.

"We're going to have to come ready to play (Sunday) if we want to stay in the game against Dunnellon in the championship game,' Pattison said. "They jumped on us quick Friday night and we know they're going to be ready again (today) so we're going to have to be up to the task right from the first pitch.

Okeechobee answered with one run in the bottom of the first. But Crystal River stretched the lead back to five in the top of the sixth when Hernandez reached base on catcher's interference, stole second and scored on Rogers RBI single. Hernandez would score his third run of the game and the team's seventh in the top of the fourth as Crystal River took a 7-1 lead.

fourth, Okeechobee managed to push a run across. They then added two more in the sixth to make things interesting. But in the seventh inning, Kyle Kidd slammed the door shut on any thoughts of an Okeechobee comeback.

On this day, however, the story of the day was pitching, specifically that of Derrick Rogers. The 13-year-old threw the maximum 95 pitches and went 5 2/3 innings, striking out 11 in what his coach called an "unbelievable performance."

"Derrick was simply phenomenal," Don Kidd said. "He was just unbelievable In the bottom of the today. I think, honestly, it's the best I've ever seen him pitch."

He left the game with a 7lead and two outs in the sixth. Kyle Kidd did the rest, striking out the first batter he faced to escape the jam.

In the seventh inning, Kidd walked the leadoff batter and things looked dicey when he took the next two hitters to full counts. In the end Kidd came up with the goods, striking out both Okeechobee batters before getting the final batter to hit into a comebacker to the mound to end the game.

With the win Crystal River will play Monday against the winner of Sunday morning's game in the double-elimination tournament.

'Mosquito Net' wins at film fest

PRAGUE — The Spanish movie "The Mosquito Net" has won the top prize at the 45th International Film Festival in the Czech spa town of Karlovy Vary, or Carlsbad.

The film is directed by Augusti Vila and features Geraldine Chaplin in a silent role.

It examines the life of a well-off urban family whose members suffer from various guilt complexes.

The movie was chosen from 12 contenders for the Crystal Globe by the festival's seven-member jury, led by U.S. producer Ron Yerxa.

Saturday's award includes $30,000 in cash.

Campbell will see war crimes trial

LONDON - Fashion model Naomi Campbell says she will testify at the war crimes trial of former Liberian president Charles Taylor.

Taylor is accused of support-and other natural resources. He denies trading in the so-called "blood diamonds." Prosecutors at Taylor's trial in The Hague have summoned Campbell to testify later this month about reports that she received diamonds from Taylor during a 1997 reception in South Africa.

The Outside Organization, a public relations company that represents Campbell, announced on Friday that Campbell would testify.

Her appearance is scheduled for July 29.

Will work for film

Tecia Esposito, left, watches a computer monitor June 8 during the filming of a television commercial at Birmingham High School football field in Los Angeles. California school districts seek Hollywood deals to raise cash

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — In an era of yawning budget deficits and teacher layoffs, schools in the Los Angeles area are looking at a nontraditional source for some extra cash — Hollywood.

School districts from Lawndale to Glendale are seeking to earn thousands of dollars a day from renting their campuses as locations for movies, TV shows, commercials and even truck parking.

The money is being used to save teachers' jobs, upgrade school facilities and replenish districts' dwindling funds

"Schools have historically been reluctant to make themselves available. but now they're falling over themselves," said Scott Graham, leasing director for the sprawling 1,000-school Los Angeles Unified School District. Officials at FilmLA, the Los Angeles film promotion nonprofit, say they've had a flurry of inquiries from cashstrapped districts in recent months asking how they can market themselves to production companies. The spike of interest from schools is coming at an opportune time. Youth networks such as the Disney Channel and MTV are moving away from reality shows to scripted programs that often feature kids at school, said Trisha Edgar, FilmLA's property management manager. To serve the increased demand from both schools and producers, FilmLA recently rolled out a new website featuring photos of campuses and a description to make it easier for location managers to find what they're looking for, whether a football field, classroom or cafeteria Hollywood has filmed at some of Los Angeles' architectural standout schools for decades. Viewers have seen the classic red brick-Ivy League look of El Segundo High School in the 1955 drama "Blackboard Jungle," and the TV sitcom that launched Will Smith, "The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air." Torrance High School's graceful Spanish-style arched walkways served as backdrop for TV shows "90210," "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" and "Medium." In West LA, University High School starred in the romantic comedy "Valentine's Day," released earlier this year, and the 2003 Jim Carrey comedy "Bruce Almighty."

maining amount and the district takes the rest.

With movie money paying for everything from pools to playgrounds to some teacher salaries, some schools go to considerable lengths to accommodate filming.

El Segundo High Principal Jim Garza removed the school's palm trees so the campus would look less "Southern California" and fit a wider location demand.

At University High in Los Angeles, interiors and exteriors were painted, floor tiles replaced, landscaping overhauled and classes and lockers moved for "Drillbit Taylor." The school earned $90,000 for the 2008 comedy starring Owen Wilson.

But allowing film crews on campus s not all glitz and glam.

Man indicted in death of contestant

TOMS RIVER, N.J. - A New Jersey man has been indicted in the hitand-run death of a former "American Idol" contestant whose angry rejection rant became an Internet sensation.

Ocean County prosecutors say Alexis Cohen was killed in Seaside Heights on July 25, 2009, when she was struck by a motor vehicle driven by 24-yearold Daniel Bark of Toms River.

At the time, Bark allegedly was fleeing from police, who tried to stop him following an earlier car accident.

He was arrested the next day and later charged with drunken driving.

Bark faces charges including aggravated manslaughter in the indictment handed up Thursday by a county grand jury.

He remains jailed on $150,000 bail.

Cohen, a 25-year-old Allentown, Pa., resident, performed during the seventh season of "American Idol."

The 2008 Owen Wilson comedy "Drillbit Taylor" was filmed, in part, at University High in Los Angeles. The school earned $90,000, but students and teachers complained in the school newspaper that the "Drillbit Taylor" crew blocked access to classes and took over the parking lot. They also resented security guards stopping them from moving about campus.

because of the disruption a crew can bring to campus. But with state education cuts resulting in thousands of teacher layoffs and furloughs for the third year in a row, filming is looking more appealing for Los Angeles-area schools.

"Any additional revenue is more critical than ever," said John Vinke, associate superintendent of Lawndale Unified School District, which has had sporadic productions at its nine schools through the years but is hoping to land more regular gigs through FilmLA.

School officials who permit movie shoots say it nets them big bucks. They get paid location fees ranging from Los Angeles Unified's $3,100 per day to Torrance's $5,500, plus sundries such as cleanup.

With more schools signing up for filming and ramped-up promotion through FilmLA, Los Angeles Unified has earned the most it's ever made from filming this school year - $1.5 million from last July through March.

University High students and teachers complained in the school newspaper that the "Drillbit Taylor" crew blocked access to classes and took over the parking lot. They also resented security guards stopping them from moving about campus.

Similar complaints about the filming of "90210" several years ago prompted Torrance High to restrict filming to outside school hours. "It was a distraction to students and the learning environment," said Mitchell Tabaldo, site supervisor, who now gets three or four inquiries a month but few takers after producers hear the restrictions.

At El Segundo High, opposition came from outside the school. Neighbors complained to the City Council about trucks occupying streets, noise from generators and crew members running through their yards. Over the school district's protests, the council last year limited filming at any city location to 20 days per year.

Principal Garza said the clampdown has virtually stopped the phones ringing at a time when the school year is being shortened because of lack of money to pay teachers.

Still, school administrators say they welcome the money and sometimes they can work in perks, too. As part of a $400,000 deal to lease Hollywood High School's football field for the summer, Disney hired students to work at a "Toy Story 3" mini-amusement park set up there.

'In a terribly difficult environment, it's wonderful," said Graham, LA Unito get almost six teachers funded.'

Seniors turned spies

Englishwomen go undercover to combat crime and litter

> JILL LAWLESS Associated Press

LONDON - Like many senior citizens, this group of elderly Englishwomen keeps a close eye on goings-on in their neighborhood.

What makes them a little unusual is their use of hidden cameras, telescopes, night-vision equipment and the Internet to try to drive out troublemakers from the area.

The women, aged between 67 and 92, are part of a community group that wants to harness social networking and covert surveillance to keep tabs on litterbugs, drug dealers and others. They claim they're using technology and people-power to transform lives. Others say they're simply snoops, and question how effective their actions are.

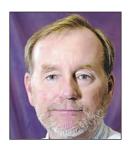

David Lawson, the only man in the group and the only member willing to speak publicly, says "myself and the ladies" are simply "trying to do something about the issues that were blighting our neighborhood litter and graffiti, but also more serious crime.'

All live in the St. Peters area of Leicester, 100 miles north of London. It's an inner-city neighborhood with a high level of social housing, dominated by four high-rise apartment towers and blighted, residents say, by urban scourges from littering to drug dealing.

Enter the St. Peters Neighborhood Monitoring Group 10 female retirees and Lawson, a 27-year-old with a background in technology. For more than three years, the group has been filming litterbugs and posting the footage on videosharing site YouTube to shame the perpetrators, and passing covertly shot images of more serious crimes to police.

They've recently branched out with an account on social net working site Twitter - used to update followers on the group's activities — and a photo gallery of apparent misbehavior. It includes pictures of hooded youths, some with their faces covered, exchanging money and small packets and in one case carrying a knife. The carefully worded site takes pains not to accuse those depicted of any crime, saying it offers "a fly on the wall look at the daily activities and interactions of some of those who live here and others who visit this neighborhood." The group says its goal is to expose anti-social behavior, and pressure police to do more to stop it. Lawson denied that the members are taking the law into their own hands. 'We are simply recording and publishing what we record online," he said. "We are not call-ur brood of children loved to argue. It did not matter if it were politics, sports or what to wear to school the next day — there was always a disagreement.

Jessica was the oldest, and she was very good at winning oral arguments. When the others grew exasperated by her 10-yearold expertise, the fists would start to fly and her advantage was less obvious.

Jeff, the youngest, spent a decade telling his sister to "shut up" because he did not want to hear her arguments.

Jeremiah, the oldest boy, developed his arguing talents and would constantly challenge both his sisters. In the beginning, his arguments were high on volume and low on facts.

The girls were good – so good, in fact, that they both went on to earn Ph.D's and now teach at the university level.

But it was Jeremiah who ended up being the guy who argues for a living.

He graduated from the University of Miami law school and now has his own law firm in St. Augustine.

Last week, I found myself in the back of a courtroom where Jeremiah was making closing arguments on behalf of a client who was facing life in prison on some serious charges.

In this undated CCTV image made available by the St. Peters Neighborhood Monitoring, a man appears to be carrying a knife in a street in the St. Peters area of Leicester, England. Like many senior citizens, this group of elderly Englishwomen keep a close eye on goings-on in their neighbourhood. What makes them a little unusual is their use of hidden cameras, telescopes, night-vision equipment and the Internet to try to drive out troublemakers from the area. ing these people drug dealers. We are letting people make up their own minds."

Lawson said the group has been advised by professional security experts and uses highend equipment including Leica spotting scopes and high-definition camcorders, bought with members' own money and donations from local businesses.

He said the equipment has been set up so the elderly members of the group can use it easily.

"All the ladies have to do is press the record button," he said. Much, but not all, of the feedback the group gets is positive.

Columnist Michael Leapman wrote in Thursday's Daily Telegraph that "it is hard not to admire their courage and their determination to combat the scourge of drug-dealing and random violence.'

But James Treadwell, a criminologist at the University of Leicester, said such behavior can have dangerous consequences — both for people who may be wrongly identified as criminals, and for members of the group, who run the risk of breaking the privacy or slander laws, or angering local drug dealers.

"I call them vigilantes," Treadwell said. "They're not tied by legal conventions, legal codes or due process. They're acting as judge, jury and executioner.

'Each of us consents to be policed by the state. These kind of groups we don't consent to."

The group received some negative publicity in May, when an 80-year-old woman in the area was fined for littering. She said she has been feeding bread to some birds, although local authorities claimed she had dumped a load of bread and food outside her house.

The story had been on television and the front page of the newspaper every day during a weeklong trial. The evidence against his client was pretty dramatic.

But in our country, the greatest of all protections is that we are innocent of a crime until the state can prove we are guilty. In other countries, presumed guilt is enough to get you thrown in jail. In our country, a jury makes a decision based on the evidence presented.

So, each morning for a week Jeremiah got up, went to court and argued on behalf of his client.

Michael Steele's big oops

DOUGLAS COHN AND ELEANOR CLIFT man Michael Steele has a history of saying things he has to apologize for, and now that he's gone off the reservation again, this time on Afghanistan, some Republicans are calling for his resignation. Steele is working hard to retain his job, calling GOP leaders and donors and assuring them he didn't quite mean what he said, that he supports the U.S. effort in Afghanistan and believes the war is winnable. Speaking off the cuff at a Connecticut fundraiser last week, Steele said it was a war of Obama's choosing not something the United States has actively prosecuted or wanted to prosecute. The remark reflects ignorance or indifference to the fact that President Bush launched the war in Afghanistan to respond to Osama bin Laden and the Sept. 11 attackers harbored there by the Taliban government.

Then Steele went on to say of President Obama, that if he's such a student of history, he should know that the one thing you don't do is engage in a land war in Afghanistan because everyone who's tried for nearly 800 years has failed.

Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., called Steele's remarks wildly inaccurate, and questioned whether he could function as party leader after voicing a position that puts him at such odds epublican Party Chair- with his own party. Republicans could say, that Steele became support Obama's escalation of the war, and maintain that it is winnable.

Democrats reluctantly backed Obama's decision to send 30,000 more troops to Afghanistan, but avoided characterizing the war as winnable. After Gen. Stanley Mc-Chrystal's firing, which Steele called "comical," Democrats are looking to the newly named commanding officer, Gen. David Petraeus, to level with the president on the likely chances for success. Democrats are inclined to agree with Steele that a prolonged war in Afghanistan will only add another sad chapter to the lessons of history.

The case for Steele's resignation rests on whether a party leader can credibly represent his party after remarks that cut to the quick on a policy that has defined the GOP. Former Vice President Dick Cheney's daughter Liz, a frequent guest on the talk shows, said Steele should step down. So did Bill Kristol, a conservative media figure and a big booster of the war.

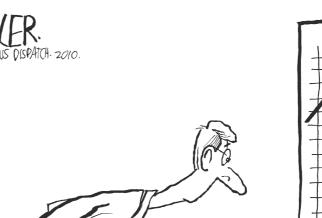

Other Republicans held their fire, waiting to see if Steele could tamp down the furor, and not wanting to unseat a major party figure just four months before the midterm elections. Cvnthia Tucker, a columnist with the Atlanta Journal Constitution, said what others were thinking, but only she as an African-American party chairman because he is black, and he will keep his job for the same reason.

Steele provides welcome diversity to the GOP, and forcing out the highest profile black member of the party is not a winning message. On the other hand, the GOP has done well in this election cycle recruiting more women overall, and more diverse women with Nikki Haley, an Indian-American running for governor in South Carolina, and Susana Martinez, who is Hispanic, running for governor in New Mexico.

Republican candidates are unlikely to break the Democratic lock on the black vote anytime soon. Yet how the party handles this latest embarrassment from Steele could influence broader attitudes for good or for ill. Either way, Steele's tenure as party chairman is coming to an end. He'll be gone after the midterms for sure, if not before. But the problem he drew attention to will be with us for a long time, and that's how to define an attainable objective in a war that Bush started, Obama is prosecuting, and the American people are paying for in blood and treasure.

Names and numbers

One-and-a-half years ago, there was a editorial published asking the public to write or call several legislators protesting the U.S. Wildlife's decision to release several longtime manatees into the wild from the Homosassa State Park. A list of the names, addresses and phone numbers of these individuals was provided. However, now that Nancy Argenziano has not be reappointed to the PSC, yet the Chronicle has stated that she really looked after the public interest, your newspaper did not publish a list of names, addresses and phone numbers we should contact to protest this ludicrous decision. How about publishing that information?

Take it to 'em

Back in the late '40s, early '50s, there was a guy they cheered on by hollering, "Give 'em hell!" I'm saying, "Give 'em hell, Nancy!'

Nancy for commish

Wouldn't it be great if we had Nancy Argenziano as one of our people that run this here county? think she'd be a super commissioner and I guarantee you, she'd be looking out for the people and not for the people who pay the commissioners to do what they want, which puts us in a real bad position in this county. No wonder we're not getting anywhere. Come on, Nancy, volunteer and we'll all vote for you. I'll bet you she'd win 9-1 in anything she ran for in this county. You can bet on it.

Root out the rogues

Nancy Argenziano has publicized corruption in Tallahassee. Why doesn't the governor appoint a special prosecutor to investigate? Also, why doesn't the federal government --namely, the Democratic Party - launch an investigation also? Isn't that why we have two parties, so that they can investigate each other and expose the corruption that is bankrupting America?

Clean up the mess

I think that the politicians responsible for Nancy Argenziano being forced out of the Public Service Commission should also be forced, quote, "voted out of office." Let's clean up the political mess that has been made not only to the state of Florida but to our country. Vote a lot of these politicians out of office.

Nancy for governor

Knowing Nancy Argenziano for approximately 20 years, I have seen firsthand the concerns for the people of the state of Florida. I would like to see Nancy Argenziano run for governor of our state. I believe she would make an excellent governor.

Check records

Ask Nancy Argenziano about if you're a Republican, you can do as you please in Florida. Most of the people down here don't even check to see the records of how these people are voting. You'd better because they're voting against the general public, time and time again. Check it out.

We, the commodity

I just returned from a threeweek business trip in Europe and found two very unsettling things. First, Nancy Argenziano was put out of the Public Service Commission. That really wasn't much of a surprise since the sleazy bums in our Florida government had obviously targeted her removal along with another PSC member. It is obvious why she had to go - she was honest, and in the governments we face these days at all levels, honesty and dedication to one's constituents is a flaw fatal to a long government career. If you are not in some company's pocket, your political life is short indeed.

My second surprise was my electric bill. It was over $500 for the month! I live in a modest one-story house of about 1,800 square feet, no pool — and the bill is over five hundred bucks? Folks, we are being sold by questionable people in government who care about their own power and lining their own pockets. You and I are nothing more than the commodities they buy and sell.

It is time to wake up. We hope that "Buddy" Chiles continues to press for a grand jury investigation. Each and every politician with dirty hands must be brought up on charges — and one might guess there are a lot of them. But the most important thing we all must do is kick them all out in the November election. Spare no incumbent - career politicians have become the problem by being too removed from the common people, by in-

PSC sham

Does anyone really think Sen. Bennett is serving his constituents? Does anyone really believe his statements on the PSC issue? I used to consider the PSC a big sham until Nancy Argenziano was appointed to the board. Her appointment reflected a view of the public's interest. with no means for private gain. What a shame that was just not the norm for this board. But it was not long before her inability to accept corruption at all levels of the PSC caused strife and the "inability to work together," as Bennett so nicely puts it.

If this whole bunch of crooks and backdoor operators is not investigated by a grand jury, my faith in government has sunk to a new level. They used to lie and cheat in the backroom, but now it seems they are coming right out and telling the voters that they just do not know what is good for them. The Florida legislators are in the pocket of big business at all levels. Their silly, do-nothing investigation into close social ties of last year was the lowest I felt the lawmakers could go. But I have been proven wrong.

One only has to look at the "approved" list to see that 95 percent of them are connected to the utilities in some way, past or present. The thought that any fair and balanced evaluations of rate increase requests will be undertaken is a joke in its cruelest form. I am hoping Gov. Crist joins the call for a grand jury to investigate this corrupt group and takes some harsh actions this time. Stop letting the legislators investigate themselves. They never do anything illegal — just ask them.

WASHINGTON — The U.S.-Russia spy swap, a retro espionage drama with no equal in the post-Soviet era, produced no obvious winner. But Moscow and Washington did manage to turn a mess into a message: Old-school intrigue aside, both countries can find ways to cooperate.

The matter was brought to a swift conclusion Friday before it could complicate President Barack Obama's campaign to "reset" relations with Russia, and both sides expressed satisfaction. Still, the episode evoked images from a darker period.

The deal meant a fresh start and uncertain future in Russia for 10 deep-cover agents who were arrested June 27 and deported on Thursday after pleading guilty to conspiracy to act as unregistered foreign agents. They were not charged with spying, and it's not clear that in a decade or so of burrowing into American society they actually compromised any U.S. secrets.

The four Russians three former intelligence officers and one think tank arms expert - who were swapped for the 10 were sprung from jail and flown to the West on Friday. But their inclusion in the deal leaves the impression that they were American secret agents all along. Mark Toner, a State Department spokesman, said the U.S. does not acknowledge the espionage charges against the four Russians each of whom signed a confession as a Russian condition for his release. In assessing the outcome of this extraordinary episode, David Smith, a former U.S. arms control negotiator, said Friday, "The winners here are the guys we got out of the gulag" in Russia. The four include Alexander Zaporozhsky, who may have exposed information leading to the capture of Robert Hanssen and Aldrich Ames, two of the most damaging spies ever caught in the U.S. "Second prize goes to the gang who couldn't shoot straight," Smith said, referring to the 10 deep-cover agents who were equipped with invisible ink and other spy gadgetry in search of inside dope on U.S. foreign policy and other topics but apparently never managed to steal a single secret. Smith is a senior fellow at the Potomac Institute for Policy Studies. Leon Aron, the top Russia policy expert at the American Enterprise Institute, a think tank, sees it differently. "We exchanged inept or sleeper spies for what appear to be victims of (Russian) political repression," Aron said. In his view, the exchange was a "face-saving device" for the U.S., which acknowledged that there was no national security benefit to keeping the 10 behind bars.

A SLICE OF LIFE

here are a number of county residents that could use your help. They share the following qualities: they are four-legged, wet-nosed and waiting for their forever homes and reside at Citrus County Animal Services (CCAS).

Animals like Gracey and Pepper are adoptable pets at CCAS; however, they share a major roadblock to finding new homes. While being loving, vivacious animals, they are what CCAS Veterinarian, Dr Julie Rosenberger describes as "special needs."

You may not know it from looking at or interacting with them, but these wonderful dogs are in urgent need of specialized medical care that exceeds the limits of Dr. Julie's surgical suite. For example, Pepper has an anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) tear that requires orthopedic surgery. Local private vets who perform this surgery are will-Services, but the cost can range from $1,500 to $2,000.

and foreclosure rates, it's common knowledge that a record number of families are finding no other option but to surrender their beloved family pet to our local county shelter facility. On the other end of the table, Citrus County Animal Services has the great fortune of a growing number of citizen volunteers offering their time and energy to improve the lives of these animals while the animals wait at the shelter for (hopefully) a new home. Volunteer efforts have included walking dogs and reaching out to rescues.

As volunteer Mike DeRose pointed out, "When you walk and interact with the shelter animals on a day-to-day basis, you really get to know them and their personalities, beyond the frustrated barking dogs you may see when you first walk the kennels.

these expenses. On the con- cued trary, in an environment of (http://www.adoptarescued shrinking tax revenues, county budgets are being cut across the board, and the shelter's budget has not escaped those cuts.

According to DeRose, Friends of Citrus County Animal Services is in the process of completing paperwork for incorporation, so it is not yet ready to accept tax-deductible donations. Citizens can, however, make donations to Animal Services toward these "special needs" animals.

"By forming this nonprofit, we hope to work with our team on largescale fundraising efforts throughout the year. It would be nice to have a fund in place so when animals in need come to the shelter, we can take immediate action."

Right now we are playing catch-up to raise the funds to hopefully help Gracey and Pepper, but every day that we wait leaves them that much more in jeopardy of not getting adopted. I do want to say how very pleased we are with the as-

Camel country

This evening I spoke to friends who recently returned from a several-week trip to Australia. They stated the people are friendly, cities new and modern, but everything is expensive as almost everything is imported - Coke $4.50, a bottle of beer $6, etc.

What was amazing was the wildlife - kangaroos, ostriches, and koala bears, as expected, but also loads of wild camels. In the distant past, camels were imported to work farms and for transport. When mechanization came about, no one had more use for camels and turned them loose in the wild. Apparently Australia is ideal for camels and they multiplied. Now Australia has more camels than Saudi Arabia. Just thought your readers might find this tidbit amusing.

Elect the pious

Ignorance is as ignorance shows itself.

Another person who misquotes the truth has voiced their opinion about church and state and the intentions of our ancestral leaders. Though I do agree that misguided religious fanatics pushing their own agendas are a fact, they were not doing as Christ says.

As to American government, the men elected to serve as our nation's representatives are responsible to God for their actions, as are we all subject to his authority. Why would our first leaders in America choose to allow the once beacon of the world to lose its source of enlightenment? They did not intend for the church to run governmental policy or for government to interfere with the good works of the church.

Again, I wrote separation of church and state, not separation of church from state. The separation as it was truly intended speaks for itself in the official documentation of our predecessors. We must, as a nation, be held accountable for the character of those we elect to ensure a quality of life for each of us! Greed and corruption are just two factors that have threatened our nation and our world! Crime and drug use and distribution illegally and the violence involved – do you want these kinds of politicians to run our lives? Or would you prefer stern, committed and loyal faithful people have the reins? We do have a choice!

Abraham Lincoln quoted the Bible many, many, many times! The problem is, man is afraid that if they believe they must give an account to an almighty supreme being, they would go to hell! Yep! Therefore, to reject God is to deny the existence of the punishment we all deserve for being sinful! It you trust that God loves you so much he sent Christ to take that punishment for you, you then have hope, then change, then right living. Our founding fathers knew this truth, which gives us our true freedoms!

he Section 8, Constitution of the United States allows Congress "To regulate Commerce – among the several States."

Congressional Democrats believe this "commerce clause" gave them authority to mandate every American citizen purchase health insurance from a private source or pay a monetary penalty. Their health care bill depends for survival upon the legality of this mandate.

Private insurance companies agreed to new laws forcing them to allow young adults to remain on parents' insurance plans and forcing them to cover people with known health problems at nearly the same rates given healthy adults. They agreed not to impose lifetime limits and not to drop patients who have repeated costly health problems. The insurment that everyone buys

The pharmacy companies and the hospital industry supported "Obamacare." supported The hospitals were anticipating more revenues from the requirement that every citizen carry health insurance. Because insured patients utilize more prescription drugs, the pharmacy companies figured they could sell more drugs to offset discounts the new laws force on them. Neither the hospitals nor pharmaceutical manufacturers can survive the discounts required in the new health care bill without enforcement of the require-patient care. These specialties thought to see more revenue as their patients were forced to carry insurance. Other parts of the new bill favored them as well, but everything Dr. William Dixon hinges upon the government's ability to man-

His victories were small but important. The state's DNA expert said that mistakes were not possible when analyzing the evidence. By the time Jeremiah got through with him, the DNA expert had to admit there were six mistakes in his report.

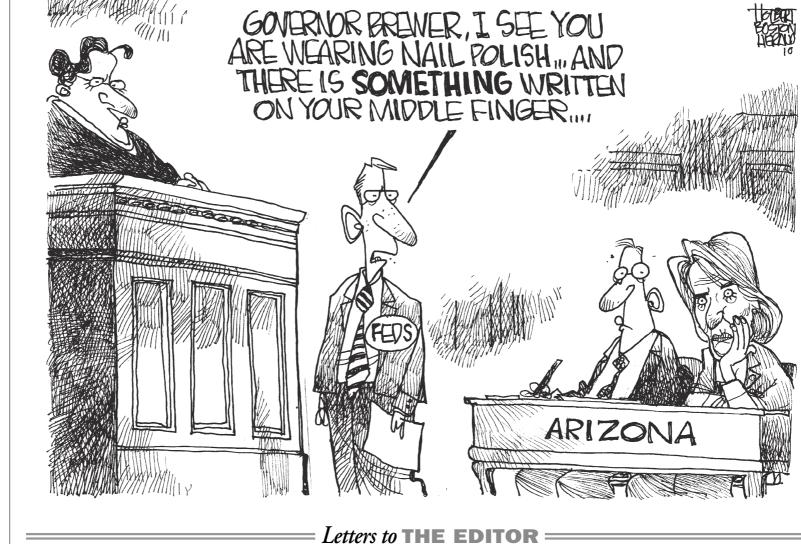

A jailhouse snitch who shared a cell with Jeremiah's client came forward to say the defendant had confessed his crimes. But Jeremiah was able to produce another inmate who said the snitch tried to get him to join in an effort to fabricate the story so they could get a break in their own cases. The story lost its credibility.

The sad reality was that the snitch got probation. The inmate who confessed about the fabrication was charged with a new crime the next day.

Justice isn't always pretty. In his closing arguments, Jeremiah talked about the Constitution: about reasonable doubt; about how great our country is. The jurors were shaking their heads in agreement.

His sisters would have been proud. His dad sure was. When closing arguments ronmental impact. Obama did attempt to stop drilling operations in the Gulf of Mexico, a moratorium that would prove to be a death sentence for what remains of Louisiana's economy. The comment that the people put out of work could just file for unemployment is a typical uncaring response that we have come to expect from the current administration. Regarding Katrina, the local, Democrat government was indeed at a complete loss on how to react. President Bush had to beg Gov. Blanco to allow the federal government to intercede, an action that can, by constitutional law, only be done on invitation of the state governor. I will propose some action that can be taken by the federal government. Firstly, why has the Jones Act not been set aside? There are numerous countries around the world that have offered to help. We won't allow their ships to work in our waters. Why are we already trying to criminalize BP's officers? Shouldn't we leave them to concentrate on the mark, the more I become aware that perhaps most personalities daughter of the victim came over to Jeremiah to tell him he did an excellent job in defending his client.

It did not take the jury long to come back with a guilty verdict. They digested the facts and reached a conclusion

That's the way the system works. People argue the facts on both sides of a case and a jury makes a decision. It's not a perfect system, but it's the best this world has.

I can remember 20 years ago sitting at a very loud dinner table filled with arguing kids and wondering just what these loud children were going to grow up and do. Little did I know that all that arguing was preparing Jeremiah for his mission in life.

Letter-writer William Corfield (July 5, "Solutions, anyone?") apparently suffers from the same delusions as the majority of President Obama's fan club. In his letter. he makes the erroneous point that there have been no solutions proposed to stop the blown out well from leaking, nor to control the oil already in the water column. He goes on to point fingers and crow about columnist Kathryn Jean Lopez's failure to solve the problem single-handedly.

Solutions

In fact, there have been myriad solutions proposed by numerous people in and out of the oil industry. The majority have been ignored or actively blocked by the Obama administration.

Gov. Jindal has been proactive throughout, with the administration blocking a number of measures to lessen the impact of the oil on Louisiana's wetlands. The offshore dikes that were proposed by the governor concerned government because of possible enviproblems they already have, rather than grandstand with timewasting hearings? Why can't we tell the various federal agencies involved to take a more liberal approach to the cleanup operations? Do we need to shut down an entire cleanup operation because one person didn't have a lifejacket?

Not crazy

A letter writer to the New York Times on learning of Lindsay Lohan being sentenced to 90 days in jail wrote, "She was not crimi-nal, but sick."

The Clinical Director of the Mississippi State Hospital once told a group of us budding psychotherapists that they had 7,000 patients: "some sick, some mean, some crazy, and some all three.'

may also be a little bit of all three. Most everyone at some time in their lives is depressed, compulsive, manic and a bit delusional. Is there anyone who at some time thinks and/or does mean things related to family, friends, strangers, and even to themselves?

Looking back at decades of living. I cringe at so many of the crazy actions I have taken, and now marvel at the weird things that "normal" people do. The personal mind of man is a masterpiece of thousands of syndrome system patterns of rational and irrational behavior.

Before pointing fingers, perhaps everyone should seriously think, but for a bit of rationality, circumstantial modifications, assistance of friends, and perhaps some family support, "There but for the grace of God (and some luck), it could be me."

Striped socks

I think it would be real nice if the whole Tampa Bay Rays team would wear those striped socks for one whole game. It looks like it would be less drag than those long pants.

Public transportation

How is a person supposed to get around in this county? I called Citrus County Transit and I need a week to give them notice. Well, I didn't know about it before to give them a week's notice, so what is a person supposed to do? I just found out Friday and this is the holiday weekend, July Fourth. Now how am I supposed to (give a week's notice) if I don't know how long my appointment's going to be or when I'm going to get it and everything?

Slithering sidekicks

To the persons who called in about black snakes being around your house: He is right on. We have two of them — as far as I know there is definitely two and they do run away. And we have a big double deck outside and we never see one cockroach. They do not bother you. They are harmless

Bad buns

Anytime you buy a hamburger roll or a hot dog roll, you go home, you try to make a hamburger, you try to eat it and the roll crumbles up in your hand, it's so outdated and old. Why can't the board of health do something about these stores? They say the food is fresh. No, it's not fresh. It's been frozen, refrozen and sold to the public. This is disgusting. You get a hot dog, you put it on the roll and it falls apart in your hand. What kind of business are these people running.

To a World War II veteran: I have a picture of a motorcyclist company C88 Airborne Infantry Battalion taken in Fort Bragg, N.C. If you were there, you are welcome to have it. Call 726-3171.

Catch and release

Squirrels, like rats, are members of the rodent family. Like the rats, they need to chew in order to control the growth of their teeth. They can be very destructive, sometimes getting into attics or mobile homes and chewing on wires, TV cables or plastic pipe or anything that they find. I find the best way to control them is trap and release.

Yes, I agree with Byron York on "Public weary of Afghan war." We should not lose one more life over there. Bring our soldiers home. This is ridiculous. All the money we spend there, and it's going to be for nothing. That's what's so upsetting about our soldiers who have already died. We need to stay home and take care of America.

Pull out now

Paving process

I'm calling concerning "In a rut," living on a dirt road. There's many dirt roads and gravel roads in the county that really need to be paved. And they're talking about saving money by paving it, that people have to pay for it. Well, you do. If they do pave it, you don't have a choice. Whoever owns the property gets assessed however much it is that costs to fix that road. And it's on your taxes and so you have to pay it, just like you do your taxes. So, I mean, you know, it's your choice. Just get your groups together that live on the dirt road and decide if you want to pay for it to be paved and then you pay for it. And if you don't, then they're going to keep on doing just like they're doing for the rest of the time until, you know, it becomes a major thoroughfare.

Life support

The Declaration of Independence says that the right to life is an inalienable right and that the purpose for which government exists is to secure that right. So for every one of the 45,000 American citizens who have died in the past year because they could not get medical care, government has failed in the purpose for which it exists — that is, securing the right to life. If 45,000 of us were being killed by Arab terrorists, how much would you be willing to spend to put a stop to that? To spend millions keeping a terminal patient alive when their condition could have been prevented or cured by early intervention is insane. To deny medical care to our fellow citizens is not only cruel, it is fiscally irresponsible.

The water's fine

I have a challenge for Dr. William Dixon: Pour one gallon of oil in his swimming pool and then invite all his friends and family over for an afternoon barbecue and swim. Inform them that the gallon of oil has been poured in the pool, but "it's just a cut on the finger, it won't hurt anybody, go swimming, enjoy yourselves. How many of those friends and family will take him up on his offer?

Go after employers

I'm calling in reference to the Arizona law that says they can stop people suspected of being illegals: I think we might put an end to this illegal immigration if our government, our states, go after the people who hire illegals sooner than hire American workers because the illegals work much cheaper. I think it's high time those people were prosecuted for making it possible for illegals to obtain work here in the United States.

2 new vets at Countryside

Countryside Animal Clinic is pleased to welcome two new doctors to the hospital staff.

Dr. Erika Wierman attended Bowling Green State University majoring in biology and chemistry, and received her Doctorate in Veterinary Medicine from Ohio State University. Following graduation, Dr. Wierman worked at Rood and Riddle Equine Hospital in Lexington, Ky. There, she practiced high-quality ambulatory care in an equine-intense population, focusing on primary emergency response, lameness, reproduction, preventive medicine, radiography, endoscopic examination, field surgeries and laceration repair. In addition to equine knowledge, Dr. Wierman has experience in all areas of small animal medicine, surgery and diagnostics.

Dr. Michele Farrar received her Bachelors of Science from Virginia Polvtechnic Institute and her Doctorate in Veterinary Medicine from Virginia Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine. She participated in externships at Marion DuPont Scott Equine Medical Center and several mixed-animal practices. Following graduation, Dr. Farrar worked at Shelton Veterinary Clinic in Palm Coast. There, she performed medical and surgical procedures on cats, dogs, horses, goats, pigs, cattle and exotics.

Both Dr. Wierman and Dr. Farrar bring a wealth of knowledge and skill to Citrus County in all areas of veterinary medicine.

End of the line for PT Cruiser

Associated Press

In this 2007 file photo, a long row of PT Cruisers sits on the lot of a Chrysler-Jeep dealership in Aurora, Colo. Chrysler ended production of the PT Cruiser Friday, a decade after the retro-styled wagon roared onto the road with its trendsetting looks and Al Capone swagger. Chrysler could barely keep up with demand in 2001, the vehicle's peak year, when it sold 144,717. But it's been in a slow decline for years; the company sold just 17,941 PT Cruisers last year.

The retro hit wonder symbolizes Chrysler's failure to keep up

DEE-ANN DURBIN AP auto writer

- DETROIT decade ago, the PT Cruiser roared onto the road with Ltrendsetting looks and Al Capone swagger. In a sea of bland Honda Civics and Toyota Camrys, it was a retro hit. Chrysler could barely keep up with demand.

On Friday morning, the last Cruiser rolled off the assembly line in Mexico, finally killed off after years of declining popularity. Chrysler sold just under 18,000 last year, compared with nearly 145,000 that," McEleney said.

While the Cruiser was waning, Chrysler was starved for resources. After a nine-year partnership with Daimler AG, the company was sold in 2007 to private equity firm Cerberus Capital Management, which led it into bankruptcy last summer.

Other Chrysler cars languished in the chaos, including the Sebring sedan, which was panned for its cheap materials and mediocre performance even after a 2007 update.

While Chrysler's new owner, Fiat Group SpA, plans to revamp most of its lineup, and new vehicles like the 2011 Jeep Grand Cherokee have gotten positive reviews, Chrysler still isn't updating models as quickly as its competitors are. Between 2011 and 2014, the average Chrysler model will be on the market for 3.1 years, compared with an industry average of 2.5 years or Honda's 1.9 years, said Merrill Lynch analyst John Murphy

Cruisers left for sale and has been selling about 1,000 per month. Prices start at about $19,000, and the company is offering end-of-themodel-year deals like $2,000 cash or no-interest financing for five years.

Because Chrysler made so many Cruisers, the car is unlikely to attract collectors, so its price will probably depreciate just like most other cars, said Dave Kinney, publisher of "Hagerty's Cars That Matter," a guidebook of classic car prices.

When first introduced, the roomy Cruisers were in high demand, but recently they became common in olstering your skills for a tech-savvy job market is not only a good idea, but required.

No-cost Microsoft training is here

I remember the advice of one of my good friends encouraging me to brush up on computer skills during my layoff in 2008. It was good advice, as he had taken advantage of his downtime during his own layoff and went on to get a great job because of his computer skills.

Whether you are running the family farm or working in an office, you will need to become more competitive for today's tough job marketplace. The person with the best skills will have an edge over other applicants. Solid computer skills and Microsoft certifications can add value to your resume. Now is the time to take advantage of no-cost, online Microsoft training and certifications offered by Workforce Connection in partnership with Workforce Florida Inc., The Agency for Workforce Innovation and Microsoft. There are 964 training vouchers for residents of Citrus, Levy and Marion counties.

Learn Microsoft Word, Access, Excel, PowerPoint and Outlook or obtain special certifications for Microsoft Office 2007.Windows 2008 Server, SQL Server, SharePoint and Visual Studio. Don't miss the deadline for these no-cost courses through Workforce Connection. The future workforce is as important as our current one, which is why it is important to continuously invest in work readiness and career training. Microsoft Elevate America program is an example of how we are supporting job creation and retention and creating opportunities for residents to enter, remain and advance in the workforce. These vouchers are a milestone in our efforts to rebuild our local and state economy by offering immediate access to basic technology literacy and skills training that boost employment prospects. With these training and certification vouchers, we are opening the door to technology know-how to workers in our community. These vouchers will make our local workforce stronger and that in turn will make our businesses and our economy stronger. Don't be surprised if you are asked on your next job interview to prove your computer skills or create a PowerPoint Presentation. Will you be ready? Registration is easy. Cash, Wells attend CPA conference

Paul Cash and Tabitha Wells from Williams, Mc-Cranie, Wardlow & Cash, PA, CPAs, recently attended the Florida Institute of CPAs' Practice Management Conference in Tampa

The conference consisted of roundtable discussions involving firms from throughout the state on topics such as marketing, technology trends, maximizing software advancements, workflow efficiencies, risk management and compensation strategies for accounting personnel. Cash and Wells gained insights to help the firm enhance its service to clients utilizing industry best practices and the latest technological advances.

Cash serves as principal/shareholder with the firm. Wells is the firm's administrator.

What happened in between is symbolic of the larger problems that helped drive Chrysler into bankruptcy — and a cautionary tale for its new owners, who are planning to release a similarly stylish car later this year.

Love it or hate it, the Cruiser was a head-turner. With flared fenders, a sloping hood and tall doors, the Cruiser was a cross between an oldtime milk truck and luxurious sedans of the 1930s. Its looks were different from anything on the road.

It spawned imitators like the retro Chevrolet HHR, and appreciation for the historical American design embodied by cars like the Ford Mustang and Chevrolet Camaro.

"I remember the first time I saw one at an auto show. It was jawdropping," said John McEleney, an Iowa car dealer who sold Chryslers at the time

The Cruiser was a demographicbuster: It appealed to everyone from retirees to customizers to young people looking for something spacious and inexpensive, said Aaron Bragman, an analyst with IHS Automotive who owned a turbocharged PT Cruiser GT.

But Chrysler failed to invest in the car or think of ways to expand its appeal beyond new paint colors or a convertible top. Although fans clamored for two-door and panel van versions, Chrysler never made a significant update.

"If Chrysler had invested money in a major restyling, there could have been a positive payback on

That means Chrysler will have to fight harder to get noticed.

McEleney said the PT Cruiser is a product of a different time. Increasingly, automakers are building cars that will have appeal around the world to make sure they can recoup their significant research and development costs.

He doubts something as distinctly American as the Cruiser would be desirable outside the U.S. Chrysler has about 5,700 PT

- INTO THE SUNSET: Chrysler made its last PT Cruiser Friday. The company has sold 1 million of the retro-styled cars since 2000.
- WHAT HAPPENED: The PT Cruiser was a big success, appealing to drivers in all age groups. But the car languished when Chrysler didn't invest in updates or try to expand its appeal with new versions.
- WHAT'S NEXT: Chrysler plans to build the Fiat 500 at the plant in Mexico that was making the PT Cruiser. It's a smaller but similarly stylish car that will go on sale in the U.S. later this year.

rental car fleets and were used widely to deliver pizzas and office supplies, Kinney said.

They went from being the cool kids to everybody on the block," he said.

The Fiat 500, which is smaller than the Cruiser, is the company's next hope, with better fuel economy and a European look. Jack Nerad, editorial director of Kelley Blue Book, said it has the potential to be a new head-turner for Chrysler.

But Chrysler has to be careful not to let the 500 become another onehit wonder. When the PT Cruiser first came out, it was so desirable that dealers were fetching well over the sticker price, Nerad said. Chrysler responded by producing as many as it could, quickly turning the car into a commodity.

"It became yesterday's Nehru jacket," he said. "It's a testimony to its style that it endured as long as it did.'

Chrysler didn't want to comment on the Cruiser's demise, other than to confirm that production had ceased.

By contrast, BMW has tightly managed production of a similar niche car, the Mini Cooper, and has invested in a full redesign and rolled out the elongated Clubman version since the Mini was introduced eight years ago.

That's a pattern Chrysler may be following with the 500. To create an exclusive aura around the car, Chrysler is requiring dealers who want to sell it to have separate Fiat showrooms and staffs. BMW did the same thing with the Mini.

Jumping spiders are a group of hunting spiders that have the ability to leap anywhere from 10 to 40 times their own body length. There are around 4,000 described species of jumping spiders, making it the largest of all spider species. More than 300 of those species are found in the United States.

As their common name suggest, jumping spiders, or salticids, have a highly coordinated ear John: The tray in the photographs came from an old hunting lodge in for about 16 years and the owner said he had

it under the wood stove for a long time. He was about 80 when he gave it to me. It does not seem to have any markings on it other than the leaf pattern all over the tray. It appears to be brass and it measures 45.5 by 28.5 inches. Other than that, we know nothing more. We sure would like to know if you can help us with information about who made it and how much it might be worth. -J., internet Dear J.: I think your good-looking tray was made in India for the British market during the turn of the 19th century. The overall floral detail appears to be well done. The size is terrific; with a nice beveled glass top and a simple wood base for a final touch, it would make a wonderful coffee table. As it is, it would likely sell in the $100 to $200 range.

Dear S.C.: The photographs are not clear enough to give you an opinion of what the vase is made of or potential dollar value. Based only on the photographs, they do not appear to be made of ivory, bone, or porcelain. If I am correct, there will be no specific collector interest and dollar value is catch-as-catch-can. I suggest you have it looked at.

Dear John: Can you tell me anything about these vases? I have 2 of them. They are in very good condition, no chips or cracks, and are trimmed in gold. They seem to be very old.

This enormous serving tray is nearly four feet wide. It might have been made in India for export to Britain somtime around the late 19th or early 20th century. It might sell for between $100 and $200.

Tree planting has many benefits

n often-asked question is when is the best time to plant a tree. My answer is ... 20 years ago. The second best time is today.

Planting a tree can be fun and educational. I think every father, mother and/or grandparent should plant a tree with their children.

It seems to give the young child dragging the hose to the newly a sense and awareness of the planted tree is done, guess who importance of living things. It wants to water the tree again? also gives them a job to do for a This could be a great oppor-

Jumping spiders are a group of hunting spiders that have the ability to leap anywhere from 10 to 40 times their own body length. There are around 4,000 described species of jumping spiders, making it the largest of all spider species. More than 300 of those species are found in the United States.

As their common name suggest, jumping spiders, or salticids, have a highly coordinated

ear John: The tray in the photographs came from an old hunting lodge in for about 16 years and the owner said he had

it under the wood stove for a long time. He was about 80 when he gave it to me. It does not seem to have any markings on it other than the leaf pattern all over the tray. It appears to be brass and it measures 45.5 by 28.5 inches. Other than that, we know nothing more. We sure would like to know if you can help us with information about who made it and how much it might be worth. -J., internet Dear J.: I think your good-looking tray was made in India for the British market during the turn of the 19th century. The overall floral detail appears to be well done. The size is terrific; with a nice beveled glass top and a simple wood base for a final touch, it would make a wonderful coffee table. As it is, it would likely sell in the $100 to $200 range.

Dear John: Attached are photos of my Oriental vase. There is Chinese writing on the bottom and inside the mouth of the vase. I am not sure exactly what it is made of. Thank you very much for your expert opinion on its age and value. -S.C. internet

Dear S.C.: The photographs are not clear enough to give you an opinion of what the vase is made of or potential dollar value. Based only on the photographs, they do not appear to be made of ivory, bone, or porcelain. If I am correct, there will be no specific collector interest and dollar value is catch-as-catch-can. I suggest you have it looked at.

Dear John: Can you tell me anything about these vases? I have 2 of them. They are in very good condition, no chips or cracks, and are trimmed in gold. They seem to be very old.

Special to the Chronicle

This enormous serving tray is nearly four feet wide. It might have been made in India for export to Britain somtime around the late 19th or early 20th century. It might sell for between $100 and $200.
