Jumping off bridges illegal, dangerous

SHEMIR WILES Chronicle

It's summertime and, to some, jumping off a bridge into the cool waters below may seem like fun and a great way to cool off.

But the Citrus County Sheriff's Office wants people to be aware that such a plunge could cost you more than $60.

Deputies have cited close to a dozen adults and juveniles who continue to jump from the bridges on Southeast King's Bay Drive in Crystal River and West Fishbowl Drive in Homosassa, despite previous warnings.

"It is definitely a safety concern," Deputy Brian Coleman said.

Every summer, Coleman said, people from residences around the bridges and boaters on the water start calling in complaints about people jumping from the bridges. Coleman said there have been a few instances where people have almost landed on boats and sheriff's officials fear that one of these days, someone will wind up badly hurt.

In addition to boats, Coleman said some of the jumpers are not aware of when the tide changes and jumping in headfirst could cause major injuries, including paralysis.

Gail Tierney, spokeswoman for the sheriff's office, also mentioned that the increased activity at the bridges could endanger motorists.

"Someone could step backward into traffic, Tierney said.

While the main concern is with the swimmers' safety, according to the sheriff's office, deputies are issuing citations to those who violate Florida Statue 316.130(17), which states that no pedestrian may jump or dive from a

Many youths enjoy the seemingly innocent practice of jumping into the Crystal River or Homosassa River from bridges. These teens jumped Tuesday morning from the King's Bay Drive bridge. Despite signs warning would-be jumpers not to engage in the practice, many teens choose to ignore the signs and jump anyway. The Citrus County Sheriff's Office is warning those who ignore the signs they will be facing fines if caught.

Regional drug bust nabs dozens

Nine arrested in Citrus County

SHEMIR WILES AND TAYLOR PROVOST Chronicle

A multi-agency law enforcement team uncovered drug rings between Citrus and Marion counties, the Citrus County Sheriff's Office announced Tuesday.

The five-month operation uncovered four drug organizations moving more than 180 kilograms of cocaine and more than 7,700 pounds of marijuana per year, along with prescription drugs. Those arrested are accused of being responsible for trafficking in nearly $12 million in cocaine, marijuana and prescription pills.

The drug bust was a result of Operation Eclipse — a drug enforcement campaign involving the Multi Agency Drug Enforcement Team, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE), the FDLE Quad County Narcotics Task Force, Drug Enforcement Administration, (DEA), U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), the Citrus County Sheriff's Office and the Hernando County Sheriff's Office, as well as the Unified Drug Enforcement Strike Team (HIDTA), an initiative of the North Florida High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area that included the Marion County Sheriff's Office and the Ocala Police Department.

Thirty-five people have been arrested in total, with nine warrant arrests taking place in Citrus County, according to a CCSO press release. One suspect — Curtis Kempton — remains at large in Citrus County.

The investigation reportedly started with a cocaine supplier from Marion County who was sending product to someone in Citrus County. The operation then led to investigators finding out about three other drug trafficking organizations in Marion and Hernando counties with one organization having ties to Texas.

With intelligence generated by the Pasco County Sheriff's Office, the CCSO's Tactical Impact Unit (TIU) was able to turn attention to Jason Paul Jones, 33, of Hernando, according to CCSO officials. Deputies caught up with Jones on June 3 while he was driving a co-conspirator's Dodge Durango in Floral City, according to sheriff's office officials. The traffic stop yielded 93 pounds of marijuana and Jones was arrested on 13 charges, including trafficking in cocaine.

According to an HIDTA news release, Jones is believed to have trafficked in more than 12 kilo-much of a New York Yankee as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Whitey Ford and all of the other Yankee legends," baseball commissioner Bud Selig said.

Once reviled by fans for his overbearing and tempestuous nature, Steinbrenner mellowed in his final decade and became beloved by employees and rivals alike for his success.

Steinbrenner was taken from his home to St. Joseph's Hospital in Tampa. Fla., and died about 6:30 a.m, a person close to the owner told The Associated Press. The person spoke on condition of anonymity because the team had not disclosed those details.

'George was a fierce competitor who was the perfect fit for the city that never sleeps — colorful, dynamic and always reaching for the stars," former President Bill Clinton said.

Yankees captain Derek Jeter added: "He expected perfection.'

In 37½ years as owner, Steinbrenner whipped a moribund $10 million team into a $1.6 billion colossus that became the model of a modern franchise, one with its own TV network and ballpark food business.

Under his often brutal but always colorful reign, the Yankees won seven World Series championships, 11 on spectacular spending sprees that caused Larry Lucchino, president of the rival Boston Red Sox, to dub Steinbrenner's Yankees the "Evil Empire."

He moved the Yankees from their tradition-rich "House that Ruth Built" into a new $1.5 billion Yankee Stadium. Call it the "House the Boss Built." He appeared there just four times: the April 2009 opener, the first two games of last year's World Series and this year's home opener, when Jeter and manager Joe Girardi went to his suite and personally delivered his seventh World Series ring.

"He was very emotional." son Hal Steinbrenner said

Steinbrenner's largerthan-life outbursts transcended sports and made him a pop culture figure up for his temper with good whose firings were parodied on the TV comedy "Seinfeld" and even by Steinbrenner himself in commercials.

"George was The Boss, make no mistake," said Berra, the Hall of Famer who ended a 14-year feud with Steinbrenner in 1999. "He built the Yankees into champions, and that's something nobody can ever deny. He was a very generous, caring, passionate man. George and I had our differences, but who didn't? We became great friends over the last decade and I will miss him very much."

> "He was an incredible and charitable man," Steinbrenner's family said in a statement. "He was a visionary and a giant in the world of sports. He took a great but struggling franchise and turned it into a champion again.'

He ruled with obsessive dedication to detail — from trades to the airblowers that kept his ballparks spotless. When he thought the club's parking lot was too crowded, Steinbrenner stood on the pavement — albeit behind a van, out of sight — and had a fluential and innovative guard check every driver's credential.

But he also tried to make deeds and often-unpublicized charitable donations.

His rule was interrupted by two lengthy suspensions, including a 15-month ban in 1974 after pleading guilty to illegal contributions to the re-election campaign of President Richard Nixon. Steinbrenner was fined $15,000 and later pardoned by President Ronald Rea-

He also was banned for 2½ years for paying self-described gambler Howie Spira to obtain negative information on outfielder Dave Winfield, with whom Steinbrenner was feuding.

It hardly turned out that

He changed managers 21 times and got rid of about a dozen general managers. When a Yankees public relations man went home to Ohio for the Christmas holiday, then returned in a hurry for a news conference to announce David Cone's re-signing, Steinbrenner fired him.

"There is nothing quite so turtleneck, however, he was limited as being a limited partner of George Steinbrenner's," said John Mc-Mullen, one associates.

> Steinbrenner hired Billy Martin in 1975, 1979, 1983, 1985 and 1987, firing him four times and letting him resign once as the two battled over substance and personality.

Martin disparaged outfielder Reggie Jackson and Steinbrenner by saying: "The two of them deserve each other — one's a born liar, the other's convicted."

brenner said in 2005. "But I know that I have tried."

Still, Steinbrenner could poke fun at himself. He hosted "Saturday Night Live," clowned with Martin in a beer commercial and chuckled at his impersonation on "Seinfeld."

To many, the Yankees and Steinbrenner were synonymous. His fans applauded his win-at-all-costs style; his detractors blamed him for wrecking baseball's competitive balance with spiraling salaries.

Steinbrenner negotiated a landmark $486 million, 12year cable TV contract with the Madison Square Garden Network in 1988 and launched the Yankees' own YES Network for the 2002 season.

The Yankees later became the first team with a $200 million payroll, provoking anger and envy among other owners. When the Yankees signed Steve Kemp after the 1982 season, Baltimore owner Edward Bennett Williams said Steinbrenner stockpiled outfielders "like nuclear weapons." There was no denying the results. When Steinbrenner bought the Yankees, they had gone eight seasons without finishing in first place, their longest drought since Ruth & Co. won the team's first pennant in 1921.

"George has been a very charismatic, controversial owner," Selig said in 2005. "But look, he did what he set out to do — he restored the New York Yankees franchise.

Fire Rescue reported that the fire appeared to have started in a rear bedroom closet that housed the water heater and electrical panel. Borgia said his children had been sleeping in that bedroom when his son, Cody, woke them and got them safely outside.

Borgia said firefighters went inside to rescue five 3-day-old kittens. The adult cats had gone outside with the rest of the family.

"The whole house was almost flashing," Borgia said. "There was damage to the back bedroom, hallway, kitchen and porch. The landlord had caulked and screwed shut about half the windows in the house, so the fire department had to break out windows to ventilate the house.'

Borgia said the family lost nearly everything and is looking for a place to live because the owner of the house returned his damage deposit, less nine days of rent, and is considering having the house demolished.

The American Red Cross has provided the family accommodations at the Holiday Inn Express in Inverness.

"But tomorrow we'll be homeless," Borgia said Tuesday, as the charity could foot the bill for only four days.

Borgia said he would like to hear from anyone who could offer his family a place to stay. His telephone number is (352) 229-7602.

The Citrus County public works director vacancy is now filled.

And a position on the Mosquito Control Board has opened up. The county commission on Tues-

Rubio touts plan for economy

Blueprint emphasizes tax cuts

Associated Press

TAMPA — Republican Senate tates are exempt. candidate Marco Rubio announced an economic platform Barack Obama's health care package and includes additional tax breaks for Gulf coast businesses harmed by the oil spill.

Rubio's plan calls for perma-George W. Bush's income tax cuts of 2001 and 2003, which are scheduled to expire after this year. Obama has called for extending them only for individuals making less than $200,000 a year and families making less than $250,000.

Rubio also called for permanently repealing the estate tax. After several steps, it was reduced to zero this year but is set to jump back to 55 percent on estates worth more than $3.5 million for individuals and $7 million for couples next year if Congress doesn't act. Smaller es-

Rubio also called for cutting the corporate tax rate and for re-Tuesday that is heavy on tax cuts, vamping and eventually repealcalls for repealing President ing the Alternative Minimum Tax, which was enacted in 1969 to make sure a small number of wealthy people couldn't completely avoid taxes through oversize deductions. But it wasn't nently extending President indexed for inflation in people's incomes, which means it would hit more than four in 10 taxpayers earning between $75.000-$100,000 a year if not patched by Congress every year or so in order to prevent people from being surprised by multi-thousand-dollar tax bills.

Rubio said he would push for simplifying the tax code and eventually adopting a flat-rate system where everyone pays the same percentage of their income. He said Obama's health care program should be repealed, which was adopted earlier this year, and replaced with steps that he said would lower private insurance costs. Examples included allowing individuals and businesses to buy health insurance across state lines, encouraging the use of electronic medical records and require trans-

Plus, the application was to change the comprehensive plan, but not the site-specific land development code. The application included a conceptual drawing of the development, but nothing that would be approved or denied.

By submitting only the comprehensive plan change, a favorable vote would allow a significant increase in density from one house per 10 acres to at least two houses per acre.

Commissioner Dennis Damato agreed the plan should be more specific.

"I don't feel anybody in this room is comfortable at all," Damato said.

Commissioner Winn Webb added: "We don't just want to buy a box and hope something nice is in it.'

Theodora Rusnak, president of the Citrus County Council, said the applicants provided lots of talk but no details.

HAINES CITY — The body of a central Florida man who had gone missing more than a decade ago has been found.

Jacob Whitt was 21 years old when he left Haines City for the Dallas area in 1997. America's Most Wanted lists him as having gone missing in January of the following year. DNA tests confirmed last month that a body buried in a "John Doe" grave in Texas was the missing Whitt.

Whitt's mother, Theresa Freitas, said the Ellis County Sheriff's Office in Texas is ruling her son's death a suicide. She said she doesn't believe he killed himself.

Freitas plans on having her son's body moved and reburied in a cemetery in Florida.

MIAMI — The National Wildife Federation claims in a lawsuit that the Federal Emergency Management Agency's flood insurance program is hurting sea turtles by spurring coastal development.

The lawsuit filed Tuesday in Miami federal court claims FEMA is violating the Endangered Species Act by failing to consult with wildlife officials about impact on sea turtles. The lawsuit asks a judge to force FEMA to take these steps.

'60s anti-war rocker Tuli Kupferberg dies

Associated Press

NEW YORK — A founding member of one of the first underground rock groups, the Fugs, has died.

Tuli Kupferberg died Monday in a Manhattan hospital at age 86.

His friend and bandmate

Ed Sanders said Kupferberg had suffered strokes in the past year.

Although never a commercial success, the Fugs were a regular attraction at anti-war protests in the 1960s. Kupferberg once joked they were "the U.S.O. of the left.'

His contributions were recognized in January when Lou Reed, Sonic Youth and others appeared at a benefit concert in Brooklyn to help pay for some of his medical expenses.

Sanders said Kupferberg will be remembered as a unique American songwriter.

BISHOP, Texas — The odds that Joan Ginther would hit four Texas Lottery jackpots for a combined nearly $21 million are astronomical. Mathematicians say the chances are as slim as 1 in 18 septillion — that's 18 and 24

Just as unlikely? Getting to know one of the luckiest women in the world.

"She wants her privacy," friend Cris Carmona said.

On a $50 scratch-off ticket bought in this rural farming community, Ginther won $10 million last month in her biggest windfall yet. But it was the fourth winning ticket in Texas for the 63year-old former college professor since 1993, when Ginther split an $11 million jackpot and became the most famous native in Bishop history.

But she's a celebrity who few in this town of 3,300 people can say much about.

"That lady is pretty much scarce to everybody," said Lucas Ray Cruz, Ginther's former neighbor. "That's just the way she is."

At the Times Market where Ginther bought her last two winning tickets, the highway gas station is fast becoming a pilgrimage for unlucky lottery losers. Lines stretch deep past a $5.98 bin of Mexican movie DVDs, and a woman from Rhode Island called last week asking to buy tickets from the charmed store through the mail.

She was told that was illegal. The woman called back to plead again anyway.

The Texas Lottery Commission has seen repeat winners before, but none on the scale of Ginther. Spokesman Bobby Heith said the agency has never investigated Ginther's winnings — three scratch-off tickets and one lottery draw for possible fraud but described the verification system as thorough. Her other winnings — both from scratch-off tickets — were $2 million in 2006 and $3 million in 2008.

So how did Ginther do it,

then?

Good luck pinning her down to ask. Ginther has never spoken publicly about her lotto winnings and could not be found for comment. She now lives in Las Vegas after moving away from Bishop, and an answering machine message for a telephone number listed at her address says not to leave a message. She asked the few people who've exchanged more than brief pleasantries with her not to grant interviews and sneaked into lottery headquarters in Austin to collect her winnings with the least publicity the state offers jackpot winners.

But spend a few hours in her hometown — and equal time scouring public records — and a contrasting profile emerges.

Her home address in Las Vegas is on a street called Paradise Drive. When USA Today asked readers in 2000 to sound off on airline

The $40 million Extreme Payout, a $50 scratch-off ticket, is shown at the Times Market in Bishop, Texas, where Bishop native Joan Ginther, who now lives in Las Vegas, won $10 million last month. Ginther's winning tickets were the only four she ever bought, the odds would be one in 18 septillion, according to Sandy Norman and > fessors at the University of Texas at San Antonio. Exactly how often Ginther plays is unknown. But Norman and Duenez said that a habitual player winning four times over a 17-year span is much less far-fetched. At the Times Market, Bae and store regular Gloria Gonzalez said they've certainly watched Ginther buy her share of tickets over the years. And not just for her.

Gonzalez said when her elderly father would sit at the store's window booth and scrub through dollar scratch-offs, Ginther would surprise him with a $50 ream of tickets.

"Win, win, win," Ginther would chant, rooting him

After all, the only way to win is to keep playing. Ginther is smart enough to know that's how you beat the odds: she earned her doctorate from Stanford University in 1976, then spent a decade on faculty at several colleges in Califor-

Associated Press

NEW YORK — The stock market got a shot of confidence from the start of second-quarter earnings season.

Investors sent stocks sharply higher Tuesday after better-than-expected profits from aluminum maker Alcoa Inc. and railroad operator CSX Corp. The Dow Jones industrial average rose more than 145 points for its sixth straight gain, and the major indexes were up over 1 per-There was more good first to report second-quarter earnings, also issued upbeat forecasts for the rest of the year. That was heartening news for investors who have been concerned that the recovery was stalling, or that the economy might even fall back into recession. "When we go back to earnings and fundamentals, companies are delivering," said Tom Karsten, senior managing partner at Karsten Financial in Fort Worth, Texas.

Job openings drop in May

WASHINGTON - Job openings dropped in May from the previous month and layoffs edged up, fresh evidence that employers are reluctant to add The decline in job openings comes after a sharp rise the previous two months, driven by temporary government hiring for the 2010 census and more openings in the private sector. As a result, the number of available jobs has rebounded since the depths of the recession but remains well

Alcoa's earnings reports are closely watched because its varied customer base provides a snapshot of a broad range of other industries. CSX also provides insight into economic activity because it ships a wide range of products. And Intel's results are considered a good gauge of the health of the economy since its sales are driven by consumers and businesses buying comput-

Alcoa said global consumption of aluminum will grow this year by more than it had forecast just three months ago. CSX, meanwhile, said it sees the economy's upward momentum continuing this year.

Frank Ingarra, co-portfolio manager of Hennessy Funds in Stamford, Conn., said the results from Alcoa and CSX lifted the market because they hit on the two themes that traders are looking for in earnings: revenue growth and optimistic outlooks.

Intel's report followed that

During the recession, companies that made money often did so by cutting costs rather than bringing in sales. So sales growth is a sign that business is indeed picking up.

Earnings will likely continue to dictate trading over the next few weeks as hundreds of companies release results. Major banks begin reporting their results on Thursday.

The Dow rose 146.75, or 1.4 percent. to 10.363.02. The Standard & Poor's 500 index rose 16.59, or 1.5 percent, to 1,095.34, while the Nasdaq composite index rose 43.67, or 2 percent, to 2,242.03.

The Labor Department said Tuesday that job openings fell to 3.2 million in May from 3.3 million in the previous month. April's upwardly revised figure was the highest in 18 months.

Federal budget gap tops $1 trillion

WASHINGTON — The federal deficit has topped $1 trillion with three months still to go in the budget year, showing the lasting impact of the recession on the government's finances.

In its monthly budget report, the Treasury Department said

Tuesday that through the first nine months of this budget year, the deficit totals $1 trillion. That's down 7.6 percent from the $1.09 trillion deficit run up during the same period a year ago. Worries about the size of the deficit have created political problems for the Obama administration. Congressional Republicans and moderate Democrats have blocked more spending on job creation and other efforts. Republicans also have held up legislation to extend unemployment benefits for the long-term jobless because of its effect on the deficit.

auring Run for the

the most fragile and vulnerable popular causes. Currently, the among us, we all benefit."

Center executive director

arly next Monday morngather at the THE ISSUE:

steps of the state Capitol to begin a 180-mile trek to the Key Training Center in Lecanto.

The mid-summer heat will be stifling, the rhythmic pounding on the U.S. 19 pavement will be grueling and the strain of each step will be nearly unbearable as the runners move slowly each day toward their goal. But if it were easy, this run would not be worth it. This is Run For the Money, a critical fundraiser for the Key Training Center, which tells a special story of how the mentally and physically challenged men and women at this center face life each day in a heroic way. And as the miles are covered and the days pass, the run becomes a salute to the accomplishments that are made when love and dedication replace misunderstanding and apathy. Since its beginning in 1966, the Key Training Center has provided a comprehensive scope of services to people who were once shut behind doors and warehoused in facilities. Its mission then, as it is today, was simple: to unlock the doors of opportunity for men and women who have developmental disabilities and allow them to become as independent as possible; to have dreams; and to be accepted for their abilities, not their disabilities.

Now recognized nationally as a benchmark for its services and individual achievements, its success is attributed to an involved and committed governing board of directors; a dedicated, trained and skilled staff that serves each client with kindness, love, dignity and respect; and a caring community that embraces each special member of this family as a full citizen.

As a private, nonprofit organization, the Key is dependent upon the generous support of our community as much today, if not more, than it was in the beginning. While its facilities have grown and its services have been extended, troubling economic conditions have weighed heavily on all areas of operation. Ironically, more bureaucratic obstacles have only threatened critical state and national funding, making governmental champions rare

"When life becomes better for jockeying for more visible and Key provides more than 300 Chet Cole, Key Training mentally challenged adults with year-round education, vocational and residential services. But more than 60 of these fall ing, a small group will into the "unfunded" category and are only able to receive the lifechanging benefits this center of through monies that are raised through community contributions.

Understanding what is at stake for the Key Training Center may not be easy. One must understand finances, understand government funding, understand medical requirements and understand the emotional hurdles that must be continually faced. But understanding the real reason this community continues to support this center's Run for the Money is pretty simple: A developmentally disabled individual counts as a whole person. And when we accept and love them for who they are, we discover who we

Citrus County has taken an active role in its support of this facility through generous volunteerism, as well as financial assistance. Although most dayto-day miracles at the Key Training Center may go unnoticed by those who pass by the Lecanto campus or drive by a group home or even make a purchase at one of its thrift stores, lives are being touched, doors are being opened and dreams are being realized. Since 1976, Run for the Money has put these accomplishments and achievements center stage and the story is repeated. And the message that will be delivered this year during the weeklong trek from Tallahassee, in addition to the other events and activities based around this event, is as critical as it was when the run began

It is the generosity and active participation of this community in the past that has made the Kev Training Center one of the most outstanding community-based resources and facilities for the mentally and developmentally disabled. This year's Run for the Money will officially kick off at the Celebrity Auction Dinner on Friday and continue through the upcoming week's run, with the Saturday, July 24, walkathon, craft festival, celebration and telethon. Join in the activities and become involved. Learn the story of the Key, meet the real heroes who fight their battles with the same courage that is symbolized during the run and support this event with your among those compassion and your pledges.

Marriage, tradition and law

federal judge in Boston has ruled that the Defense of Marriage Act (DOMA) passed by Congress (427 members voted in favor) and signed into law by President Clinton in cannot take precedence over a Massachusetts law allowing same-sex marriage. The ruling again raises serious questions about the origin and purpose of law. But before we get to that larger question, the "logic" of Judge Joseph L. Tauro's ruling should first be examined. Judge Tauro's decision flies in the face of what the federal government has claimed and is claiming in at least two other significant cases. In 1973, the Supreme Court struck down all state laws restricting a woman's right to have an abortion. In its lawsuit against Arizona's new immigration law, the Department of Justice claims federal law (which the feds are not enforcing) trumps state law.

So let's see: State laws are fine when they promote the interests of the ruling liberal and cultural elites, but they are to be ignored, or overturned, when they do not promote the objectives of the ruling liberal and cultural elites. Is that it? How can the federal government have it both ways?

A New York Times editorial says of DOMA "There is no rational basis for discriminating against same-sex couples." Really? Has the newspaper forgotten the federal government's fine marriage now? If marriage is redefined by courts, what is to stop anyone from declaring a "right" to any relationship they wish to enter and demanding "equal protection" under the Constitution?

Now to the larger question of law, which is also being redefined. During her confirmation hearings, Elena Kagan said she loved the law. Too bad no one asked her which law she loves and what is law's purpose? Law is meant to conform humans to a standard that preserves the cultural and moral order. The purpose of government is to "secure" unalienable pre-existing rights about which Thomas Jefferson wrote in the Declaration of Independence (a document Kagan dismissed as irrelevant to the Constitution, though it is the Constitution's moral and philosophical foundation). Government is not supposed to create new rights like national health care, or same-sex marriage.

The Times editorial dismisses the overwhelming approval for DOMA as a "wedge issue" during an election year. In fact, it re-"discrimination" against Utah flected the principled position when it forbade the territory not only of a vast majority of from entering the members of Congress, but also the position of the public, which has almost universally rejected attempts to legalize same-sex marriage. In 2004, 11 states had ballot measures preserving marriage as between opposite sex couples. All passed. In 2008, three states had gay marriage ballot initiatives. Two passed. In California, a measure to overturn the State Supreme Court's earlier 4-3 decision upholding the constitutionality of a legislative ban on same-sex marriage was approved by 400,000 votes, or 52 percent of those voting.

Marriage re-definers demand acceptance for their position that morality, as well as right and wrong, are to be determined by polls. If polls show the public disapproving of behavior the elites favor, the elites ignore majority opinion and seek to shove it down our throats anyway, because, you see, only they can be right. The rest of us have the equivalent standing of 1950s segregationists. #### Foundation fiction

In response to his column this past Sunday ("Foundation members speak from the heart"), I am glad to see my friend Foundation Board Chairman Dave Langer is writing both fiction and humor. .

The problem with the Foundation's attempts to convince the public that everything is "A-OK" down at the Foundation is that no one is buying what they are selling.

It is easy in a public setting to blame the failures of the Foundation on everyone else but themselves and turn the blame game to Trustee legal counsel and to even sink to a new low and attack Trustee staff. Everything that our legal counsel Mr. Grant does on behalf of the Board of Trustees is approved by majority vote in an open and public meeting. I find it particularly interesting that the column still preaches how the two boards were once combined and that some Foundation members have served decades on the boards. I am starting to believe that the Foundation members are the only people on the planet who believe that model will continue to prove successful in the future.

CMH is simply not sustainable on its current path. The real story the Foundation members should be preaching is that by 2014, the federal government, through recent health care legislation, will begin reducing the reimbursement rates to hospitals and physicians in order to "bend the cost curve." Congress and the president have figured this is the best way to ensure that all the retiring baby boomers will not bankrupt the Medicare system. Given the population breakdown of this county, Citrus Memorial hospital is essentially a Medicare hospital, and if CMH does not have hospital costs down to below Medicare reimbursement rates by 2014, how will the Foundation maintain a sustainable CMH? Ask for money from the taxpay-

Recently, CMH CEO Ryan Beaty publicly told the taxpayers of Citrus County that within three years, CMH would be in a position to not take any public tax money, but this year they are asking the taxpayers for more than $8 million.

There is one simple way to end all of this debate. All the Foundation has to do is communicate to the Board of Trustees that they are requesting zero taxpayer dollars and CMH will be in great financial shape now and through 2014.

In order to get back to the business of protecting the future of CMH and the citizens of Citrus County who own the hospital, the choices of the Foundation are clear. The Foundation can work with the Trustees or continue this shameless propaganda game. I hope the Foundation will join the Trustees and together put CMH on a sustainable track.

Looking For Oil

Crews are cleaning Gulf Coast beaches 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. When oil is spotted, the Response Command Center is notified, a Shore Cleanup Assessment Team (SCAT) is mobilized and cleanup begins immediately. Cleanup efforts are being coordinated from 17 staging areas in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida. Over 33,000 people are involved in the cleanup operation.

If you see oil on the beach, please call 1-866-448-5816 and we'll send a team to clean it up.

Cleaning Up the Beaches

The number of people mobilized to clean up the beaches depends on the size of the affected area. Individual teams can number in the hundreds, and thousands of additional workers remain on-call. Working with the Coast Guard, our teams continue cleaning up until the last bit of oil has been removed. As a result, in most cases when oil reaches a beach, it is even possible to keep it open.

Our Responsibility

Our beach cleanup operations will continue until the last of the oil has been skimmed from the sea, the beaches and estuaries have been cleaned up, and the region has been pronounced oil-free. And none of the costs of our efforts will be paid by taxpayers.

Our commitment is that we'll be here for as long as it takes. We may not always be perfect, but we will make this right.

KABUL, Afghanistan — An Afghan soldier killed three British service members with gunfire and a rocket-propelled grenade in the dead of night, a betrayal that highlights the difficulties in rapidly building up Afghan security forces so that foreign troops can go home.

The soldier fled after carrying out the attack in southern Afghanistan early Tuesday, leaving his motive unclear. But the Taliban claimed that he was a militant sympathizer who was taken in by insurgents after the assault - one which could further weaken support in Britain for an unpopular that has now taken the lives of 317 Britons.

It was the second time in eight months that an Afghan turned against British troops partnering with local security forces. In November, an Afghan policeman killed five British soldiers at a checkpoint in Helmand.

Afghan police in the past have also attacked American soldiers and their own police stations, though such intentional attacks are rare.

BP begins choking off oil geyser

Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS — In a potentially pivotal moment in the Gulf crisis, BP was preparing Tuesday to begin closing valves in a slow and methodical process that could finally choke off the geyser of crude at the bottom of the sea after three gloomy months and up to 180 million gallons spilled.

A new, tighter-fitting cap was lowered over the blown-out well Monday night, designed to be a temporary fix until the well is plugged underground.

The next phase was to shut the openings in the 75-ton metal stack of pipes and valves gradually, one at a time, while watching pressure gauges to see if the cap would hold or any new leaks erupted.

The operation could last anywhere from six to 48 hours. BP first targeted a midday Tuesday start but later said that was overly optimistic and pushed expectations back.

BP and the government's point man on the crisis — the biggest off-one of the nation's worst environmental disasters — stressed there were no guarantees, and they urged patience from Gulf residents.

'They ought to be interested and concerned, but if they hold their breath, they'll run out of oxygen,' retired Coast Guard Adm. Thad Allen told The Associated Press.

If the cap works, it will enable BP to stop the oil from gushing into the sea, either by holding all the oil inside the well machinery like a stopper or, if the pressure is too great, channeling some though pipes to as many as four collection ships.

Along the Gulf Coast, where the spill has heavily damaged the region's vital tourism and fishing industries, people anxiously awaited the outcome of the painstakingly

DES MOINES, Iowa — A billboard created by an Iowa tea party group that compares President Barack Obama to Adolf Hitler and Vladimir Lenin is drawing sharp criticism — even from fellow tea party activists who have condemned it as offensive and a waste of money.

The North Iowa Tea Party began displaying the billboard in downtown Mason City last week. The sign shows large photographs of Obama, Nazi leader Hitler and communist leader Lenin beneath the labels "Democratic Socialism," "National Socialism," and "Marxist Socialism."

More cops charged in post-Katrina bridge shootings

Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS — Four more New Orleans police officers have been charged in the deadly shootings of two people in Hurricane Katrina's chaotic aftermath and could face the most serious punishment yet — the death penalty—for the killings that have brought down a string of other officers.

Six current or former officers are charged in a 27count indictment unsealed Tuesday. Five former New Orleans police officers already have pleaded guilty to helping cover up the shootings on the Danziger Bridge that left two men dead and four wounded just days after the August 2005 hurricane. In one instance, a mentally disabled man was shot in the back and stomped before he died.

The indictment charges Sgts. Robert Gisevius and Kenneth Bowen, officer Anthony Villavaso and former officer Robert Faulcon with deprivation of rights under color of law and use of a weapon during the commission of a crime. They could face the death penalty if convicted, though U.S. Attorney Jim Letten said prosecutors haven't decided whether to seek that punishment.

Sgt. Arthur Kaufman and retired Sgt. Gerard Dugue, who helped investigate the shootings, were charged with participating in a cover-up to make it appear the shootings were justified.

A missing link Woods wants

British Open is one of two majors that 'Lefty' has not won

Associated Press

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — For his sanity, Phil Mickelson would love nothing more than to win the U.S. Open.

For his legacy, he would be better off winning the British Open.

Ideally, he wants both trophies.

That only five players since the Masters was created in 1934 have won the career Grand Slam — Gene Sarazen, Ben Hogan, Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Tiger Woods — is enough to consider it the ultimate lifetime achievement in golf.

"If you win all four majors, you've shown yourself to be a complete player," Mickelson said Tuesday. "Because at Augusta it requires length, at the U.S. Open it requires patience and control, and the British Open requires a whole different shot pattern of run-up shots and bump-and-runs and lag putting and shots along the ground. And the PGA is kind of a mixture of the three at times.

"I think that's the goal for all players." But what if he can only win one?

The U.S. Open is more meaningful to Mickelson, not only as an American, but from years of heartache. He already has been a runner-up five times at his national championship, and he was two shots away at Pebble Beach last month from making it six silver medals.

As for the British Open?

Mickelson answered that himself when he walked off the 18th green earlier this week and stopped to speak to a few British reporters. One of them, aware of his paltry record at golf's oldest championship, asked if he felt his career would be lacking without a claret jug.

Lefty put a different spin on it. "I don't know about lacking," Mickelson said. "But it would make my career more complete." No one can question that he is among the great players in golf history, with 40 victories and four majors in an era where titles are tougher to come by Winning the British Open would show that he has a game for every occasion — for every turf.

Links golf is the most limited brand in the world. It's also how the game began.

"I just feel if you want to be a worldclass player, I think you've got to do something on links golf," Ernie Els said. "I mean, this is where the game started. This is the original way the game was played. Whether you like it or not, I think you need to be able to somehow masters links golf somewhere in your career."

Yet there is something about having a British Open among multiple majors that set the great ones apart even more.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland - From the middle of the ninth fairway, just to the right of a pot bunker that he managed to avoid, Tiger Woods considered two options from 85 yards into a gentle breeze and executed both of them perfectly.

He gave a hard rap with his new putter and sent the ball bouncing along the links of St. Andrews until it rolled onto the green and settled 12 feet left of the flag. Then with a sand wedge, Woods sent the ball into the air with just the right trajectory. It never left the flag and stopped about 6 feet away.

The sand wedge was the safer shot, and the right one for this day.

"But it depends on the wind," Woods said later during his practice round at the British Open. "If the wind is blowing hard, you can't hit it in the air. You have to putt it." For Woods, the key to the

Fans love Heyward

Baseball gives Braves rookie a thumbs-up

Associated Press

ATLANTA - Hank Aaron expected Jason Heyward to make an immediate impact in a sport which needs young black stars.

The 20-year-old Heyward hasn't disappointed.

He has become an overnight fan favorite, voted to start in Tuesday's All-Star Game.

Is it because he's young and talented? Yes, but it's more than that. Is it because he's a hometown kid who made it? Sure, but it's more than that. It is because he is an African-American? No doubt, but it's more than that.

It's all those things — and more. Heyward said fans identify with the way he plays.

"I look for excitement," he said. "This is entertainment. I just go out there and have a good time and fit right in. I don't put myself above the game. It's a team game. I enjoy that part of it."

Atlanta manager Bobby Cox

Hank Aaron expected Jason Heyward (pictured) to make an impact in a sport that needs young black stars. The 20-year-old Hayward hasn't disappointed. Heyward was voted to start in the All-Star game, but a thumb injury may keep him out of the game.

"I think they like watching him play, to be honest with you," Cox said. "It doesn't hurt to have a little hype. ... The team is playing well, too, but a lot of it is seeing a young kid who plays hard.'

Heyward received more votes, about 2.7 million, than any other Atlanta player, including Martin Prado, the NL's leading hitter. If not for a thumb injury, Heyward would have been the youngest All-Star starter since Ken Griffey Jr., who was two months younger when voted to start in 1990.

Though the Braves said Heyward won't play Tuesday, he doesn't plan to miss his first bow on a national stage.

"I don't know exactly what I'm going into because I've never done it before, but I'm just looking forward to taking it all in and being able to tip my cap to the fans when they announce the names, if that happens," he said.

Heyward's start is especially strong considering he's been playing with the injured thumb the last two months. He jammed it while sliding head-first into third base on May 14 and still has 11 homers and 45 RBIs.

Heyward can come off the 15-day disabled list on Monday and plans to take batting practice at the All-Star game in Anaheim, Calif.

"I just want to enjoy the players, enjoy the fans and that environment and the family and friends that I have with me," he said. "I'm very appreciative of the fans' voting. It's very exciting for myself, for my teammates and for my friends and family."

Twins in the tank at break

Minnesota staggers into All-Star break 3rd place in division

Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS — With a payroll swelling to nearly $100 million and a spectacular new open-air ballpark, this was supposed to be the season the Minnesota Twins took hold of the AL Central from the start and challenged the New York Yankees for the American League pennant. Two months into the season, everything was falling into place. The Twins were 11 games over .500. Target Field opened to rave reviews and Minnesota held a 4½-game lead in the standings, clearly looking like the class of the division. As the season turned from May to June, the Twins watched their starting rotation crumble into an inconsistent mess, while injuries to Justin Morneau, Joe Mauer, Orlando Hudson and J.J. Hardy took some of the bite out of a potent lineup.

The Twins have stumbled into the All-Star break at 46-42 and trail the surging Chicago White Sox by 3½ games, having missed out on the opportunity to acquire ace Cliff Lee from the Seattle Mariners. He went to another AL power, Texas.

'We have to put a better effort forth and right our ship," manager Ron Gardenhire said after his team lost two of three in Detroit over the weekend. "That's what we talked about. The effort has to be better.'

The Twins started the season 31-20, but have won only 15 games since June 1. Only Baltimore, Toronto, Washington and Pittsburgh have won fewer games in that span.

Starting pitching has been the biggest culprit. Nick Blackburn, Kevin Slowey, Scott Baker and even Francisco Liriano have been shelled repeatedly over the last month. After going 5-0 in May, Blackburn is 1-6 with a 10.00 ERA and 11 home runs allowed.

"I'm sick of this," Blackburn said after giving up seven runs in four innings against the Tigers on Saturday. "Every time I go out there, I'm not getting the job done. It's not a lack of effort. I'm doing everything I can think of, but nothing is working. I'm not executing pitches, and I'm leaving way too many balls over the plate."

Baker has been pitching with tendinitis in his right elbow. The Twins have reshuffled the rotation so Baker All-Star break and Gardenhire was and he has just 35 RBIs, not nearly take the title.

Carl Pavano and the Minnesota Twins have stumbled into the All-Star break with a 46-42 record after being 11 games over .500 and holding a 41/2 game lead two months into the season.

asked if Blackburn could be dropped enough for a No. 3 hitter. from the rotation.

often, and it isn't one guy," Gardenhire said. "It's three or four guys. ... I don't have four new starters to put in the rotation."

The problems don't end there. The slow-footed Twins have grounded into more double plays than any other team, and Joe Mauer, the homegrown swing king who signed a $184 million contract extension in the offseason, has hit just three home runs after putting 28 into the seats last year.

Justin Morneau is having another "Our starters are doing this too stellar season at the plate, hitting .345 with 18 homers, but he missed the Detroit series and will sit out the All-Star game because of a concussion.

"You're always concerned about a head injury," Gardenhire said. "He's getting better, but the bottom line is that we're going to make sure he's healthy before we put him back on the field. There's no timetable."

Then again, maybe the Twins have the rest of the division right where they want them.

Bobcats send Chandler to Dallas in big deal

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Tyson Chandler has been traded after all, just not to the team he thought a day earlier.

After Charlotte's potential deal with Toronto fell through, the Bobcats sent Chandler and fellow center Alexis Ajinca to the Dallas Mavericks on Tuesday for center Erick Dampier, forward Eduardo Najera, shooting guard Matt Carroll and cash considerations.

The Bobcats had been closing in on a deal that would've sent Chandler and Boris Diaw

Schleck takes yellow jersey from Evans

Associated Press

SAINT-JEAN-DE-MAURIENNE, France — Andy Schleck of Luxembourg captured the overall iead at the four de France at the end of a mountainous ninth stage won by French rider Sandy Casar on Tuesday.

Schleck took the yellow jersey from Australia's Cadel Evans, who wore it for only one day, after finishing seventh in the stage, two seconds behind Casar and alongside two-time Tour winner Alberto Contador.

Evans was dropped on the fabled Madeleine pass and lost more than 8 minutes on Schleck and Contador. Team doctor Max Testa said Evans was riding with a "small but very painful" fracture on his elbow after crashing in the eighth stage on Sunday.

Seven-time champion Lance Armstrong fared relatively well as many other riders dropped off the title contenders on Madeleine — one of the toughest climbs in cycling. The Texan finished 18th, 2:50 behind Casar. standings to 31st, from 39th, but lost time in the overall title chase. He's 15:54 behind Schleck.

Casar led a sprint among seven breakaway riders at the finish of the 127-mile trek from Morzine to Saint-Jean-La-Maurienne — the second and final day in the Alps containing three tough climbs.

Seven-time Tour de France winner Lance Armstrong waits to take the start of the 9th stage of the Tour de France cycling race Tuesday.

The Française des Jeux career stage win at the Tour, blazing ahead of Luis-Leon Sanchez in secin third — all three riders clocking 5 hours, 38 minutes, 10 seconds.

"It's pure happiness," the 31-year-old Casar said. "I wanted it so much, it couldn't have happened any Luis-Leon Sanchez, who other way."

At the top of the Madeleine, with a long descent ahead, Contador, Schleck and Samuel Sanchez trailed about 2:10 back of a small group of breakaway riders. By the bottom, they trailed by only about 1:40 and continued to gain on the escapees during the 8-mile flat to the finish in a dazzling display of acceleration.

"I think he and I are a little above the others,' Schleck said of Contador. "I didn't put time on Contador, but he couldn't drop me either."

Evans finished 8 minutes, 9 seconds back from Casar, in 42nd place. The two-time Tour runner-up broke down after the finish, burying his head in the hug of a BMC Racing teammate and sobbing.

Evans said he felt bad for his teammates and staffers: "Everyone who believed in me in this whole project you know, everything was going so good — I'm just so sorry to let them all down,"

he said. Testa said Evans' teammates didn't know about his fracture on Monday and BMC staff didn't tell them

Patti Hansen reveals in the August issue of Vogue magazine that she was diagnosed with bladder cancer in 2007. She says she first underwent chemotherapy, which shrunk the tumor but didn't get rid of it completely. One doctor said she had two to three years to live.

Her next move was a bold one: Doctors removed her bladder and used her intestine to create a neobladder, or a new bladder. She also had her appendix removed and a full hysterectomy.

The 54-year-old Hansen says she wants to help other women who suffer from bladder cancer. The disease is typically associated with men, but an increasing number of women are also suffering from it.

GENEVA — Roman Polanski may once again be seen on the red carpet at Cannes but he won't be attending the Venice Film Festival or the Oscars anytime soon.

Freed from Swiss house arrest after the government refused to deport him to the United States, the 76-year-old movie director still faces an Interpol warrant in effect for 188 countries for a 1977 child sex case.

That means now, more than ever, Polanski is truly safe from arrest only in his home nations of France and Poland, and — due to this week's de-

Today's HOROSCOPE=

Today's Birthday: Do things in accordance with your highest standards and you'll make the year ahead far more profitable and satisfying. In order to be successful, you must first be accepted by those who stand by your side.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) — Don't hesitate any longer to make that needed decision that you've been fearful of making. Fortunately, your judgment is far better than usual and is likely to steer you correctly.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Assignments or tasks that others find to be both challenging and threatening are the ones that will be the most appealing to you. You'll welcome being tested in these areas.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Because you're likely to be far more charismatic than you realize, others will find your company to be fun and delightful. You'll especially attract the attention of members of the opposite gender. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — A matter having something to do material security, which has caused you some concern, is likely to be put to rest. You will finally start to see that light at the end of the tunnel. Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Be sure to use your warm personality to make those important points that need to be impressed upon others. Using a bit of theatrics and a touch of wit will help tremendously.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — Personal gains are likely to be made, but how they come about could be rather unusual and different. However, it won't matter as long as they are garnered in an honest manner

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — A very pleasant surprise might be in the offing, when someone you thought didn't like you goes out of his/her way to help you realize a big goal you haven't been able to reach on your own.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — There is someone who is reluctant to express his/her feelings for you because you've been a bit standoffish. If you've done so out of fear, and you actually like this person, give him/her a signal. Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) — It won't be through hard arguments or strong assertiveness that you'll sway others to your way of thinking. It will be by appealing to their finer instincts and sensitivities that you'll soften their stance.

Aries (March 21-April 19) — Even if observers aren't aware of it, you know you have accomplished something of great worth. The sense of personal pride and gratification you feel will be what counts

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — You might get that opportunity you've been looking for to clarify something that onlookers haven't been able to understand. Once you get to explain yourself, you'll feel a lot better.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) — Someone who owes you a lot for what you've done for him/her in the past will step forward and do something for you that will be of tremendous value to you.

The spring-fed swimming area at De Leon Springs State Park is a refreshing 72 degrees year-round.

Special to the Chronicle

ocated a few miles outside of Deland, De Leon Springs State Park is a unique destination for a warmweather trip. It's also a popular one.

Park Manager Brian Polk says it's best to arrive early because summer is the busy season for De Leon Springs.

"We get close to 250,000 people per year," he said. "We often reach capacity on weekends and major holidays, which means we close the park and as vehicles leave, we let vehicles in. If the weather's nice and it's hot, there's a good chance it could be full."

The quietest time for a July visit, Polk said, is usually a Friday afternoon. Bring a bathing suit and an appetite.

Park info

- HOURS: The park is open from 8 a.m. to sundown, 365 days a
- ADMISSION: $6 per vehicle. Limit two to eight people per vehicle; $4, single-occupant vehicle; $2, pedestrians, bicyclists, extra passengers, passengers in vehicle with holder of an annual individual entrance pass.
- ADDRESS: De Leon Springs State Park, 601 Ponce de Leon Blvd., De Leon Springs
- GET INFO: (386) 985-4212 or online at www.floridastateparks. org/deleonsprings/.
- PAVILION RENTAL FEES: Small picnic pavilion, $45 per day plus tax; large pavilion, $75 per day plus tax.

10 ways to have fun at De Leon Springs State Park

Cook your own breakfast or lunch at the Old Spanish Sugar Mill Restaurant. The griddle tables that allow guests to participate in preparing their meals keep crowds coming back. Polk said the restaurant has been around since 1960. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekends, serving until 4 p.m. For information, call (386) 985-5644. Closed Christmas Day and Thanksgiving Day.

Cool off in the springs. Swimming is permitted from 8 a.m. until half an hour before sunset. The spring-fed swimming area is a refreshing 72 degrees year-round. Depths range from 18 inches to 30 feet at the spring boil. An adult swimmer should accompany children and non-swimmers at all times. The swimming area has a circumference of about 500 feet — go 10 laps around and you've completed a mile. Lifeguards are on duty during the summer months.

Paddle around. Canoe, kayak and paddleboat rentals are available year-round. Paddleboats can be rented by the half-hour and hour. Canoes and kayak rentals are available by the hour, half-day (four hours) and full day. The park provides access to Lake Woodruff National Wildlife refuge and its 18,000 acres of lakes, creeks and marshes waiting for quiet exploration.

Have a party. De Leon Springs State
Park has two large pavilions with electrical service and two smaller pavilions without electrical service. Fees for pavilion rental don't include park entry fees or special-use fees. They can be reserved year-round. Call for more information. Picnic tables with grills in the park are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Walk around. Wild Persimmon Hiking Trail is a four-mile trail that leads through several natural communities. Bring water and insect repellent. The park also offers a wheelchair-accessible paved trail that travels through a floodplain hammock with a variety of native flora, including a cypress tree more than 500 years old. Don't be surprised to see interesting wildlife along the way.

Master of Science Degree in College Student Affairs. The M.S. in College Student Affairs is designed to prepare students for the expanded roles and responsibilities of student affairs professionals in today's diverse college and university educational environments. Mark also learned and experienced the practical application of the knowledge base and skill set of student affairs administration and conflict analysis and resolution in higher education organization settings.

Mark is passionate about student development. He intends to either teach (Social Science grades 6 through 12 or middle grades integrated) or enter the higher-education sector to gain work experience, and plans to earn a Doctorate in Educational Leadership in either the K-12 or in university systems.

DeMello is a 2004 graduate of Lecanto High School, and is the son of David and Joanne DeMello of Citrus Hills. He is the brother of Yvonne Steele, a 1996 graduate of Lecanto High School, and the grandson of Artur and Jorgina Machado of Arbor Lakes, and David DeMello of Citrus Hills.

■ Springfield College has named William Beagan of Inverness to the dean's list for academic excellence for the spring 2010 term. Beagan's major field of study is human services.

Kyle Christopher Laughery was among 78 graduates who participated in the Florida School for the Deaf and the Blind's 96th commencement ceremony on Friday, June 4, in St. Augustine. He is the son of Kymm Gemkow.

He completed six vocational career education certifications in the educational support services field and in food service. In addition to his academic achievements, he was a member of the student performance group called the Dance Troupe.

A Deaf Department graduate and honor roll student, Laughery's future plans are to attend a the National Technical Institute for the Deaf in Rochester, NY, and major in photography.

FUNDRAISERS

■ Pleasant Grove Elementary School's PTA is launching its 2010/11 Box Tops for Education fundraising campaign. This year, the school has set a goal of earning $3,000 through Box Tops to assist in school events, as well as raising money towards purchasing new playground equipment.

U.S. Naval Sea Cadets Corps sends cadet to FAA Ground School

Special to the Chronicle

Dunnellon resident Devan Brown just returned from a two-week training trip to FAA Ground School in Newnan, Ga. The U.S. Naval Sea Cadets Corps sent her on this training, where she did coursework to set her on the path towards her pilot's license. She also received two hours of actual flight time plus two hours in the simulator. Cadet PO2 Brown was thrilled with the training. On the last day she took the actual pilot's license exam. At the graduation ceremony she was awarded Honor Cadet for this training. Anyone wanting information on this youth group should call the Commanding Office, LTJG Todd Dunn, at 212-5473.

Box Tops for Education is a school fundraising program started by General Mills in 1996. To date, Box Tops has helped America's schools raise more than $200 million to buy the things they need but can't always afford, such as library books, school supplies and playaround equipment. The Box Tops for Education program offers school supporters three easy ways to earn cash for schools through everyday activities like buying groceries, shopping online and purchasing books. Schools can earn a total of up to $60,000 each year.

There are several easy ways to get involved. Collect box tops from hundreds of familiar, participating products (if you are a business, we can also provide you with a collection bin) and send them to Pleasant Grove Elementary School, "Attention Cindy Moeller — Box Tops Coordinator" at 630 Pleasant Grove Road, Inverness, FL 34452. You can also sign up on the Box Tops website at boxtops4education.com. Designate Pleasant Grove Elementary as the school you wish to support.

Recess coaches hired to make play constructive

For years, recess at Grout Elementary School in Portland, Ore., was fraught with the same sort of also trains kids to be junior playground woes common around the country.

Some kids would play, some wouldn't. Some roughhoused and got into tussles. Resolving those tussles, teachers said, ate into post-recess classroom time.

"Kids are not inherently kind to each other," said Principal Susan McElrov.

year ago when McElroy hired a re-fessional coach on school grounds all day who not only organizes and coaches, teaches conflict resolution and serves as a mentor.

A growing number of schools nationwide are hiring playtime professionals to help transform recess from a free-for-all into what they hope will be a healthier physical experience.

Robert Wood Johnson Foundation supervises playground games, but and other support, Playworks subsidizes more than half the $55,000 it costs for a school to have a fulltime, onsite coach.

Jill Vialet started Playworks, then called Sports4Kids, in 1996 after meeting with a beleaguered principal bemoaning the problems of recess. She said that at schools with recess coaches, Grout, like many low-income teachers report reclaiming instructional time that was previ-

The idea of putting recess in the hands of professionals, however, has drawn criticism from those who feel that childhood today is in danger of being micromanaged by adults.

Lee Igel, a New York University assistant professor who has worked with schools as a sports and organizational psychology expert, said recess coaching is well-intended.

"We've always had bullies, but it seems to be on the increase," Igel said. He thinks that's the result of changing social values "and how people and community are no longer there.'

In addition, Igel said, some of the hard lessons learned on the playground — being picked last for a team, for instance, or not gelling with other kids — often turn into motivation for success, or at least lend perspective, later in life.

'You don't want to set children up for failure," said Igel, "but you don't want to always prevent it, ei-

Can't hide from camo this year

Associated Press

NEW YORK - Camouflage is one thing you can't hide from this back-toschool season.

The print has been growing in popularity for kids over the past few years, and that only increases as designers and manufacturers develop new color combinations — for boys and girls and find new trendy places to put it, such as pant cuffs and bag straps. And camo cargo pants have gone from novelty to classic status.

But doesn't that defeat the purpose of camo, which, in theory, should be flying under the radar?

"I think kids are seeing it from street fashion, more of a cool-kids point of view,' says Betsy Schumacher, senior vice president/chief merchandising officer for American Eagle's 77 Kids. "It's very savvy from a fashion standpoint. Kids gravitate toward things that feel real, and it feels like something easy to wear. ... Our tag line is 'long live fun.' This trend is one kids can have fun with, and there's something funny about a 6-monthold in army jacket, tutu and graphic T combination." Age-appropriateness is easy to address in camouflage because, while sticking to the authentic pattern, the spirit conveyed by color. style and other embellishment makes it clear children's clothing isn't trying to mimic modern military uniforms, says A.K. LaMonica, senior director of apparel at The Children's Place.

'We don't base it on current uniforms," LaMonica says. "For our boys' line, our inspiration truly comes from vintage."

Boys' shorts and pants most often get the camo treatment, and camo caps are the brand's best-sellers. LaMonica says camo is the boys' equivalent of, say, embroidered butterflies.

'We want boys to wear them with a solid shirt or a clean stripe. Boys are limited, but girls always have flowers, hearts, butterflies and whatever the trendy print of the season is. Boys don't get that. They get plaid. Camouflage can be an alternative to that — and plaid isn't that popular in shorts," LaMonica says.

Brit-based brand Mini Boden says it has been successful translating camo for both sexes.

Girls usually get their camo with a splash of lilac or pink, boys like theirs brown or gray in the fall and winter, but like a bright blue in the spring or summer, says design director Emma Stevens. The pattern is a favorite on board shorts, soft twill trousers and an anorak jacket.

"We don't want to imply a uniform at all. We use it just like a pattern, and it can look quite surfy, especially sun-washed colors,' Stevens says.

"We try to do camouflage in a softer way, with more colors and increased scale. It looks less army and more fun. It's a good choice for boys, who don't have a lot of patterns to choose from ... and it's a nice option for the girl who's not so girlie-girlie,' says Stevens, who also designs the company's teen-oriented Johnnie B. line. One other selling point to mom: Camo is pretty good at masking dirt and stains.

MISCELLANEOUS

■ The Veterans Appreciation

Week Ad Hoc Coordinating Committee will conduct its annual Veterans in the Classroom program on Nov. 1 though Nov. 12 as part of its 18th annual Veterans Appreciation Week activities.

Coordinated by the Citrus County Chapter of the Military Officers Association of America (MOAA), the Veterans in the Classroom program brings living history to the classrooms of the county's public and private schools, as well as home-school groups. Veterans share with students their firsthand military experiences and travels while serving our country in uniform around the world in peace and war.

The model Veterans in the Classroom program was recognized in 2008 with a Florida Education Foundation award. The program's success has generated the need for additional veterans to share their experiences with students. Persian Gulf, Afghanistan, Iraq, Air Force, National Guard and women veterans are especially needed as participants.

All interested veterans are encouraged to contact Gary Runyon at 563-5727, Mac McLeod at 746-1384 or Bob Truax at 860-1630.

■ Teachers interested in securing a Splash! school grant for handson water resources projects through the Southwest Florida Water Management District can begin applying online. The application is available at www.WaterMatters.org/school grants/. Grant applications are due Sept. 10.

The District's Splash! grants provide teachers with funding for classroom projects on water quality, water conservation, alternative sources, water supply, flood protection or watersheds. Splash! grants are available for public, private, charter and home school groups and provide up to $5,000 per school on a reimbursement basis

At-home traditions make first day of school fun

Rebecca Miller Wilson wants her three children to look forward to the first day of school, so she makes a celebration of it.

Silly stunts can motivate students

Associated Press

Sometimes it takes a minute for James Anderson to figure out why people are staring at him.

Then the assistant principal remembers that in June he let a group of Power Middle School students shave his head with an electric razor and his hair's still growing back. He had promised he would let them take the shears to his locks if they had fewer failing grades in 2010 than the previous year.

Every year, school administrators like Anderson make local headlines for silly stunts intended to motivate students. Principals do everything from spending the day on the roof to kissing pigs to taking pies in the face to reward students for a job well done.

The antics really help "motivate and encourage," said Diane Cargile, outgoing president of the National Association of Elementary School Principals, based in Alexandria, Va.

"The (students) love it, and the parents love it," Cargile said. "They know you care about the children."

It's a popular tool that's not often discussed among professionals, said Anderson, who works in Farmington Hills, Mich. "I go to principal conferences every year and we've never once of Hurricane Katrina. That was "far worse" than his new haircut, he said.

"When it was time to come down, all the hairs on my arms got pulled out," he recalled. When students in kindergarten through third grade at East Jones Elementary School in Laurel, Miss., collected more coins than students in the upper grades, Principal Becky Stewart let a kindergartner lob a pie at her face. "It was all in good fun," she said. Although, "it stung my eyes."

The opportunity encouraged students to bring in money to help offset the cost of new playground equipment, Stewart said.

"Humor needs to be part of the day," she said. "When they get to see you being funny, they love it."

In Sheffield Township, Ohio, Vincent Elementary School principal Virginia Fitch kissed a pig in April to reward kids for meeting their math goals, the local paper reported.

Such over-the-top acts underscore a principal's commitment to the school, said Barbara Sistrunk, an assistant principal who jumped out of a plane when the Parent Teacher Association at Greenland Pines Elementary School in Jacksonville, Fla., met their parent participation goals.

They also grab students' attention. After Sistrunk's sky dive, 12-year-old Katie Blackwell decided to do her science project on what type Offering to shave his head of fabric makes the best with paper, plastic, silk and

New state coins go to public free

State population figures used by the World Reserve determine how many residents from each state who beat the order deadline to claim the Collectors Coin Chest for just $9 get the entire first year of never-circulated U.S. Gov't issued coins free

By R. K. Berry

(UMS) - "They'll be practically clawing each other's eyes out to get the new State Quarters free."

So says Timothy Shisler, Chief of Coin Operations at the private World Reserve Monetary Exchange.

"Everyone who gets in on this will be among the first to get the U.S. Government's dazzling new coins," Shisler said.

The entire first year of these valuable coins are being given away free to everyone who beats the deadline to cover shipping and the $9 claim for the new Collectors Coin Chest.

So, what's the catch?

Just be absolutely sure to call the toll free hotline before the 48-hour deadline ends if you want to get the entire first year's coins free.

This is all happening because the World Reserve is issuing the new Collectors Coin Chest to the general public to protect and display the entire first year's set of the U.S. Mint's® first ever America the Beautiful Quarters***.

"This new State Quarter Program could end up being even more popular than the original 50 State Quarters® Program," Shisler said.

Coin values always fluctuate, but believe it or not, the original State Quarters have already increased up to an amazing 400% in collector value just months after the program ended. "So who knows what these new coins could bring someday," Shisler said.

Never-circulated coins like these are among those most likely to increase in value. That makes getting the Collectors Coin Chest a real steal since everyone who does is getting the entire first year of the new U.S. Gov't issued coins free.

Rations of the new coins are uncertain because each one is only minted for just 73 days and all of them will

Indoor yard sale in Meadowcrest

Nature Coast Ministries will have a huge indoor yard sale from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Meadowcrest at 1592 Meadowcrest Blvd., Crystal River, off State Road 44.

All proceeds benefit the needy of Citrus County through this ever-expanding ministry.

Jerseyans, friends plan activities

The remaining activities of the New Jersey and Friends Club for July include a trip to the Show Palace in Hudson to see "Red, White & Blue Tuna" on Saturday and dinner at Cody's in Crystal River on July 28. Contact Frank Sasse for further details: (352) 489-0053.

If you haven't visited our website, check it out. It lists all the coming activities, meeting info and the happenings of our club. Go to http://njclubfl.tripod.com/.

We ask all those who are attending our meetings to continue to bring food items and/or clothing for the Family Resource Center of Citrus

If you are looking to have some fun and laughs, join us at 10 a.m. Thursdays at the Beverly Hills Bowl on County Road 491. Good bowlers are welcome; so-so bowlers will feel right at home.

The New Jersey Club is a friendly and active social club with "no residency requirement" to join to have a good time. For more information, call 527-3568.

Orientation for Habitat Saturday

For those individuals and families who would like to learn more about the Habitat for Humanity program, an orientation is slated for Saturday at the Seven Rivers Presbyterian Church on State Road 44 in Lecanto.

Applicants will be considered for a Habitat home if their present living situation is inadequate, they have been a Citrus County resident for at least one year and meet HUD income guidelines.

Orientation starts at 10 a.m. and runs until about

Applications will be distributed and must be returned within 30 days.

Do not bring children to this meeting.

For more information, call the office at 563-2744.

Adopt A RESCUED PET

Betsy

Special to the Chronicle

Betsy is a cute little "Benji"-type dog that will melt your heart. Betsy's foster mom calls her "Sure Bet Betsy" because once you have seen her you want to give her a forever home. Betsy is 7 years old, loves other dogs, cats and people. Betsy weighs about 17 pounds and rides weighs great in the car. Adopt A Rescued Pet Inc. does home visits prior to adoptions; therefore, we can only adopt to the Citrus County area. Call 795-9550, leave your name, number and pet's name for return call. Visit www.adoptarescuedpet.com for other pets and the adoption calendar with locations, dates and times.

Bang-up race benefits The Dream Society

The Dream Society, a local nonprofit that helps people with physical disabilities to become independent, hosted the second annual Firecracker 5K on July 3 to benefit its many programs. Done in conjunction with the city of Inverness' Patriotic Evening, the run attracted a record number of runners/walkers on the Withlacoochee State Trail. Runners registered at the trailhead pavilion and ran to Turner Camp Road and back. The charity had many local sponsors for the event, including Mr. Mobility in Inverness, David Rom's State Farm, Ice Cream Doctor in Inverness, Citrus Orthopedic and Walmart in Inverness. The Dream Society is now gearing up for future fundraisers, to include a yard sale on July 31 and the fourth annual Wrap-Up A Dream in December. Visit the website at www.thedreamsociety.org for up-to-date information about future events. Office volunteers and event volunteers are needed. Call (352) 400-4967 or e-mail info@thedreamsociety.org for further information or stop by 109 N. Apopka Ave. in Inverness.

Artisans sought for annual show

Special to the Chronicle

The GFWC Woman's Club of Inverness is seeking new artisans interested in participating in its annual Artisans Boutique, slated for Oct. 15 and 16. at its clubhouse across from Whispering Pines Park.

Each artisan will be invited to an interview to show the appropriateness and quality of work before being accepted for the Boutique. The committee also limits the number of artisans working within the same medium.

The Artisans Boutique has been a successful venue for both artists and customers for five years, heralded by the chosen artists because they do not have to be present for the show and for customers who find unique, high-quality arts and crafts. For more information call either of the Citrus County Chronicle.

the co-chairwomen, Verna Lichlyter at 564-0788 or Marcia Balonis at 637-

Artisans who have participated in the event in earlier years should call to express their interest in being in the show again.

All profit from the boutique will be donated to the club's various philanthropies. The event is co-sponsored by Lucille Ball said, "The secret of staying young is to live honestly, eat slowly, and lie about your age.'

Often, the secret of staying alive when on defense at the bridge table is to card honestly, take tricks slowly, and ignore your age.

East made a very bad error during the defense of this deal.

West opened with a textbook weak two-bid, showing a respectable six-card suit and 5-10 high-card points. After two passes, South balanced with two no-trump, promising 16-18 points. Obviously, South might have passed with such strong spades, but he was worried his side would miss a vulnerable game. Here, though, North had to pass. (Remember, if West had opened one spade, and South had balanced with one no-trump, that would have

West led the spade queen. After East discarded the club seven, declrer won with his king and ran the diamond six. East took his jack and shifted to the heart four, declarer winning with his ace and playing a second diamond, covered by the 10, king and ace. What should East have done now?

East, knowing that his partner was out of diamonds and that he had no entry left, made the fatal mistake of cashing the diamond queen. Yes, he would never have scored that trick if he had not taken it then, but it established two winners for declarer — a net gain of one. And East knew that the club king was a dummy entry.

A heart or club return would have defeated the contract, but now South took two spades, three hearts, two diamonds and one club.

rare. I work around hot women all the time. My wife is going to take two months off of work before the baby is born, and life at home will be miserable. With another child, she will be grumpier than ever. I feel trapped.

My friends, single and married, have a lot more fun than I do. Sometimes after a few drinks, I feel a rage inside and have to walk away to calm down. Don't you think my wife has some responsibility to be more loving to me? I don't even know what my question is, but I know something has to change. — Tired of It All

Also keep in mind that as your friends get married and start families, the differences between you will be less noticeable. (And P.S.: If your wife keeps getting pregnant and you don't want any more children, YOU should be in charge of birth control.)

Dear Annie: You

were way off in your response to "Pagan in a Christian Family." To tell someone with different religious beliefs to simply sit quietly during a blessing and try not to upset anyone is ridiculous. Her family should honor her wishes and simply do nothing. Maybe when they are about to say these magic words, she could get up from the table and go into the next room. Sitting quietly gives consent. She is being persecuted. Don't let them get away with it. — M.D.

Dear M.D.: It is not "persecution" to sit respectfully during someone's prayer in their own home, at their own table, even if their beliefs are different from of others. Oregon: I'm also the only Witch in a Christian family. In order to receive respect from other family members, I not only show respect for their rituals in their own homes, but welcome their mealtime prayers at mine. I don't recite them, but remain, as you say, respectfully silent while I inwardly thank my own deities. If I were to be verbally attacked or had some truly objectionable ritual thrust on me, I would stand my ground. But I don't consider mealtime prayers offensive.

Please, "Pagan," don't add to the hatred and spiritual intolerance that permeates this world. As the Wiccan Rede says, if it "harms none," then do what you will. This should go for all belief systems, not just ours. — Oregon Pagan Woman

Home-school options: Curriculum or not?

Associated Press

Janice Hedin's son was used that as a starting point for his home-school curriculum. Her daughter loved horses, and that became a focal point for her education.

"She owned it," said Hedin, of Maple Valley, Wash. "It was hers. I didn't have to force anything because she loved every minute of it.'

Some home-school parents create their own curriculum for their kids. set curriculum," said Hedin. "Every child is so unique." Our goal as parents is to custhat fits our children.'

The World Book, for example, provides a free online guide detailing typical into model rockets, so she courses of study for students from pre-k to 12th grade.

The National Center of Education Statistics reported last April that about 1.5 million American children were home-schooled in 2007, representing 2.9 percent of the school-age population. The number of home-school children increased by 74 percent since 1999. The upward trend is believed to be continuing.

As a first step, parents "There should never be a new to home schooling should check out their state's laws. Helen Hegener, director of the American Hometom design the education school Association, noted that there is a wide variety For those who find that in state requirements.

Home-school associations provide a forum for families to share ideas, resources even instruction. It's a way to find out what has worked for others and what hasn't, and what is available in the community to supplement home learning. Many associations hold conferences that include workshops and exhibits on curriculum. Some offer standardized testing, with certified proctors, for families that want it.

But buying curricula and textbooks can be costly, especially if it means purchasing several until you find one you like.

To help parents, the association's National Home-School Honor Society chapter created a curriculum closet filled with matecollected from publishers and home-school families. Some of the 400 or so volumes are religionbased; others are secular.

Some parents like a prepared curriculum because it gives them "confidence in knowing they are really providing their children with a comprehensive academic foundation," said Michelle Simpson-Siegel, director of the high school program at Oak Meadow Curriculum and School in Brattleboro, Vt.

Oak Meadow offers a distance-learning program where students are enrolled at the school and assigned teachers. She said the arrangement provides students with freedom, as well as an academic record for college admissions officers.

While some home-school parents grade their children, Hedin said, she didn't. "What was key to me was progress - progress on
