Citrus schools earn 'B' grade on standardized tests

MIKE WRIGHT Staff Writer

INVERNESS — All three Citrus County public high schools had enough points to earn an "A" grade last year, but none of them

That's because other criteria, outside standardized test scores and routine graduation rates, were also used in determining high school grades and that criteria cost each school.

Each school ended up with a "B." Citrus High dropped from an "A" in 2009-10, while Crystal River and Lecanto High maintained "B" grades from the year before.

The state Department of Education released high school grades on Wednesday. Grades for elementary and middle schools were released in the spring, and every Citrus County elementary and middle school received an "A."

Superintendent of Schools Sandra "Sam" Himmel noted that the district's graduation rate of 91 percent shows each high school is improving.

"I'm proud of the work our staff does and our kids do," she said.

Air temperatures dipping into the 20s made for a chilly swim Wednesday morning as this snorkeler got a close view of three passing manatees.

Spike in cold-related manatee deaths during past three years causes concern

MATTHEW BECK Staff Writer

CRYSTAL RIVER — With the cold chill making its way into Citrus County the past few days, people are bundling up to stay warm.

However, manatees in the county's waterways have only the protection of warmer waters around the natural springs to offset the cold temperatures. The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission is reporting the third consecutive year of high numbers of coldrelated manatee deaths.

"We are concerned about the number of manatee deaths the past three years, including those resulting from exposure to cold weather," said Gil McRae, director of the FWC's Fish and Wildlife Research Institute. "Over the next few years we will use data from monitoring programs to better understand any long-term implications for the population," he said. "We will continue to work with our partners to enhance the availability of natural warm-water sites, which are important habitats for the species' survival."

Biologists with the research arm of the FWC documented 453 manatee carcasses in state waters in 2011.

During the past three years, biologists documented the highest levels of cold-related manatee deaths, with the "cold stress" category accounting for 112 in 2011, 282 in 2010 and 56 in 2009

Mitt Romney celebrates GOP win

McCain endorses

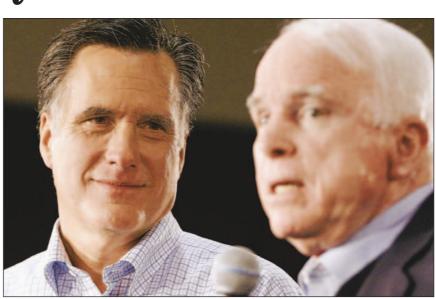

Associated Press

MANCHESTER, N.H. — Mitt Romney eagerly pocketed an endorsement from two-time New Hampshire primary winner John McCain on Wednesday and bid to convert a single-digit victory in Iowa into a Republican presidential campaign juggernaut. Unimpressed, Newt Gingrich ridiculed the former Massachusetts governor as a liberal turned moderate now masquerading as a conservative.

Former Pennsylvania Sen. Rick Santorum sought to rally conservatives to his side after coming achingly close to victory in Iowa, saying he "hoped to surprise a few people just like we did" in the campaign's first contest.

"This is a wide-open race still," added former Utah Gov. Jon Huntsman, who skipped the Iowa caucuses in hopes of making his mark in next Tuesday's first-in-the-nation primary.

Romney is the odds-on favorite to win the New Hampshire primary, though, and it is unclear how much campaign cash any of his rivals has available to try to slow or even stop his momentum. Additionally, in a measure of his establishment sup-

CRYSTAL RIVER — A man brandishing a handgun held up a Circle K store Tuesday night, according to the Citrus County Sheriff's Office Around 11 p.m., a lone robber walked into the store at 400 S. Suncoast Blvd. and asked for a carton of cigarettes and all of the money.

The two clerks reportedly told responding deputies he also displayed a handgun on the countertop.

An undisclosed amount of cash plus the cigarettes were handed to the man and he exited the store.

Family reunited with dog after fatal crash

It was a New Year's miracle for a South Florida family.

They've been reunited with their missing black Labrador who went missing after a Christmas Eve crash in central Florida that killed 54-yearold Chris Goss as the family drove home from vacation.

Her 18-year-old son Jeffery Goss, longtime companion Steven Hausman and his 17year-old daughter Elyssa escaped with minor injuries. But they couldn't find Tasha, the dog. The family returned home to Weston and gave up hope of finding Tasha.

The South Florida Sun Sentinel reported that the day after Goss' funeral, a Volusia County animal control officer called with news Tasha was found near the crash site.

She needed 32 stitches, but was otherwise OK.

YMCA revs up youth programs

SHEMIR WILES Staff Writer

It's a new year, and the Citrus County YMCA wants to get local children off on the right foot with its latest open registration for league and enrichment programs.

Joanna Castle, executive director of the Citrus County YMCA, has only been on the job since October, but she said she recognizes the importance of the youth programs through the YMCA. They give children an opportunity to stay active, learn healthy behavior and build relationships and skillsets that will prove useful in the future.

"Y programs make accessible the support and opportunities that empower people and communities to learn, grow and thrive," Castle said. "In Citrus County, we are dedicated to developing programs that meet the specific needs of our diverse community by incorporating activi-tion of youth, teens and adults."

An essential part of that dedication includes the new program director, Sara Bargiel, who took up her position in December. Bargiel said that as a child growing up in Citrus County, she was always looking for something to do because much of the county's recreational activities were not geared toward children.

"The YMCA coming to Citrus County gives such great opportunities for me, as the program director, to provide young people of today's generation, middle-aged and senior citizens with activities to keep them going all year round," she said. Serving Citrus County is now my job, and I plan on doing just that by implementing programs in the local schools, having semi-annual family events and just bringing Citrus County together as a community."

Registration ends Friday, Jan. 6. The league cost is $85 for ages 6 to 16 and $65 for ages 3 to 5. There is an option to purchase a uniform with the cheer league.

There are scholarships available through the YMCA's financial assistance program, Castle stated. Practices will take place one day per week for one hour for ages 3 to 5 and an hour and missal from 3:40 to 4:40 p.m. 30 minutes for ages 6 to 16. Practices will be in Lecanto at the CREST School or at the Chet Cole Life Enrichment Center on Mondays, Tuesdays or Wednesdays from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. All games will be one hour each on Saturdays at the Chet Cole Life Enrichment Center gymnasium in Lecanto between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Progress Energy works to promote conservation

Economic benefits add up over time

NANCY KENNEDY Staff Writer

INVERNESS — "Conserving energy" is a nebulous term.

What if you replace it instead with "saving money" on your electric bill?

Now you're talking.

Beginning Jan. 25, teams from Progress Energy will be in two targeted areas of the city of Inverness providing one-on-one education and installing free energy conservation measures in the homes of income-qualified customers through the Neighborhood Energy Saver Program.

The two areas include North Ella Avenue to West Zephyr Street at North Apopka Avenue, including Inverness Mobile Home Park, and South Croft Avenue to Dawson Drive to Rook Avenue to Eisenhower Street West to Independence Highway to East Gulf to Lake Highway and then back to South Croft.

Melvin Philpot, Progress Energy senior program manager, said the company is flexible and will consider other low-income neighborhoods for this program.

"A lot of issues surrounding how to save energy are based on behavior," he said, addressing the Inverness city council Tuesday. "What we endeavor to do through education and behavior modification is to empower the residents to be in control of their own energy usage.'

He added that between 900 and nkennedy@chronicleonline.com or 950 Progress Energy metered cus-352-564-2927.

tomers are eligible for this program, based on the Florida Department of Economic Opportunity's poverty income guidelines. Next week these customers will be receiving letters explaining the program and an invitation to an outreach event Tuesday, Jan. 24, at Cornerstone Baptist Church in Inverness, where they will learn more — and receive a free dinner afterward.

"Then on January 25, we'll hit the ground running with our team in the area," Philpot said. "For 900 people, we'll probably be in the city for about 12 weeks.

Since the program started, they've gone into about 17,000 homes and installed energy-saving measures in about 13,000 of themabout 230,000 measures.

These measures, which can save customers up to $150 a year on their electric bills, include: replacing air filters, changing standard light bulbs to energy-efficient bulbs, cleaning the refrigerator coil, installing lowflow shower heads and water aeraadding weather-stripping, caulking and door sweeps and wrapping water heaters. They're also provided at no cost to the customers.

The key, Philpot said, is to educate people, get them to become aware of what saves and what wastes energy and get them to change their thinking and then their behavior — and save money in the process.

"It's been a very successful program for us," he said. For more information, go to

Meek also discussed the efforts of the Citrus County Economic Development Council, of which he is Meek said with 34,000 lots and more than 400 miles of paved roads, Citrus Springs could become the biggest community in the county.

Suddenly, a fun candidate

- WASHINGTON complaint he that Iowa is not a typical American state is true but trivial because there is no such state. Can you name one whose political culture, closely considered, is more like than unlike any other state's? Anyway, someplace has to go first, and it should be somewhere the natives are receptive and media are not sional social conservative. He decisive, so marginal candidates have a sporting chance to become

Rick Santorum has become central because Iowa Republicans ignored an axiom that is as familiar as it is false: Democrats fall in love and Republicans fall in line. Republicans, supposedly hierarchical, actually are — let us say the worst — human. They crave fun. Supporting Romney still seems to many like a duty, the responsible thing to do. Suddenly, supporting Santorum seems like a lark, partly because a week or so ago he could quit complaining about media neglect and start having fun, which is infectious.

He can, of course, be tenaciously serious. On Sept. 26, 1996, the Senate was debating whether to ban partial-birth abortion, the procedure whereby the baby to be killed is almost delivered, feet first, until only a few inches of its skull remain in the birth canal, and then the skull is punctured, emptied and collapsed. Santorum asked two pro-choice senators opposed to the ban, Russ Feingold, D-Wis., and Frank Lautenberg, D-N.J., this: Suppose the baby slips out of the birth canal before it can be killed. Should killing it even then be a permissible choice? Neither senator would say no.

On Oct. 20, 1999, during another such debate, Santorum had a colloquy with pro-choice Barbara size of the check you get from

George Will OTHER VOICES

Boxer, D-Calif.: Santorum: "You agree that, once the child is born, separated from the mother, that that child is protected by the Constitution and cannot be killed. Do you agree with that?"

Boxer: "I think that when you bring your baby home ..."

Santorum is not, however, a one-dimen-was Senate floor manager of the most important domestic legislation since the 1960s, the 1996 welfare reform. This is intensely pertinent 15 years later, as the welfare state buckles beneath the weight of unsustainable entitlement programs: Welfare reform repealed a lifetime entitlement under Aid to Families with Dependent Children, a provision of the 1935 Social Security Act, and empowered states to experiment with new weaves of the safety net.

White voters without college education — economically anxious and culturally conservative - were called "Reagan Democrats" when they were considered only seasonal Republicans because of Ronald Reagan. Today they are called the Republican base.

Who is more apt to energize them, Santorum, who is from them, or Romney, who is desperately seeking enthusiasm?

Romney recently gave a speech with a theme worthy of a national election, contrasting a "meritbased" or "opportunity" society with Barack Obama's promotion of an "entitlement society," which Romney termed "a fundamental corruption of the American spirit:" "Once we thought 'entitlement' meant that Americans were entitled to the privilege of trying to succeed. ... But today the new entitlement battle is over the Washington. ... And the only people who truly enjoy any real rewards are those who do the redistributing — the government."

Romney discerns the philosophic chasm separating those who embrace and those who reiect progressivism's objective. which is to weave a web of dependency, increasingly entangling individuals and industries in government supervision. Santorum exemplifies a conservative aspiration born about the time he was born in 1958. Frank Meyer, a founding editor of William F. Buckley's National Review in 1955, postulated the possibility, and necessity, of "fusionism," a union of social conservatives and those of a more libertarian, freemarket bent.

If the Republicans' binary choice has arrived, and if new technologies of communication and fundraising are repealing some traditional impediments to fluidity in political competition, Santorum can hope to win the nomination. Yes, in 2006, a ghastly year for Republicans (who lost 30 seats and control of the House, and six Senate seats), Santorum lost by 17 points in his bid for a third term. But, then, Richard Nixon was defeated for governor of California six years before being elected president, carrying California.

Even if Santorum is not nominated, he might galvanize a constituency that makes him a vice presidential choice. For Obama, getting to 270 electoral votes without Pennsylvania's 20 is problematic. But so, just now, are Republican prospects of getting to 270 with their narrowing choice of candidates.

No pity for bankers

What is wrong with this country? We are supposed to feel sorry for these bankers that are losing their butt on these foreclosed homes. Give them back to their owners. These children were ripped out of their homes with their family dog and their bicycles still in the driveway, looking out the back window. Give them back to the darn homeowners. Let them make a deal with these people. You know, they've got such a dilemma about what to do with these homes. Give them back to these families and work a plan for them. Poor, poor banking industry. They are complaining that copper is being ripped from their foreclosed homes, that siding is being torn, weeds are growing feet high. Isn't that pitiful? They could have kept these families in their home for $100 a month, protecting their interests, instead of having their children washing up at Wal-Mart in a sink before they go to school and sitting in a car for Christmas vacation and Christmas.

Wealth gap widening

In regards to Thursday, Dec. 22's front-page article of your paper, it shows exactly what's happening in this country, how the poor are getting poorer and the rich are getting richer. Thank you for your good news.

Offensive protesters

You can't imagine the warm, fuzzy feeling that swept over me when I read Mr. Bob Goeth's letter today: "mostly young people willing to fight for freedom, fight tyranny on the front lines, brave young visionary souls," etc.

I thought he was describing our armed forces — the real heroes.

But he's extolling a group of unkempt, ignorant, illegal trespassers. Ninety percent of those "non-producers" are sheep following a leader, with a liberal socialist agenda. These people are useless to society — to refer to them as visionary heroes is disgusting.

As a veteran of three wars — World War II, Korea and Vietnam — I am personally offended by reading of these parasites being referred to as "fighting for freedom" and "in the front

Here is a thought for those who leave their human waste on businesses doorsteps — take a bath, shave, get a hair cut and see if you are intelligent enough to serve one of our armed forces.

Progress' request to the Editor =

This is in regards to Progress Energy: Did I understand correctly, that this generator was down for two years? And just recently they found the crack? What are they doing with their profits?

Normal businesses put part of their profits into upgrading and maintaining the business. What is Progress Energy's excuse? Wanting people to pay for something that it should have taken care of itself? How dare Progress even ask a cashstrapped area for financial aid and then force it upon people?

"Gee whiz, I have a house that has sat empty for two years, if people will pay me to update it, I promise that in the future when I die they can sell it and get their return.'

My request makes as much sense as Progress Energy's request. Wake up, people. It's time to get new leadership that actually knows how to run a business.

Joyce Kleen, wildlife biologist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said her last aerial count on Dec. 21, 2011, showed 246 animals in county waters.

Of that number, the King's Bay area held the most, with a total of 162 animals.

Kleen said Wednesday morning due to the cold weather she expects the number of animals to greatly increase when she does her next aerial county today.

Michael Lusk, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Refuge Manager for Chassahowitzka National Wildlife Refuge Complex said boaters need to pay extra-close attention when venturing out along the coastal rivers and bays.

Defendant in Iraq case to stand trial

SAN DIEGO — Marine Corps Staff Sgt. Frank Wuterich, the last defendant in the biggest and lengthiest criminal case against U.S. troops to arise from the Iraq War, is expected to stand trial this week, more than six years after his squad killed 24 Iraqis, including unarmed women and children.

The killings in Haditha on Nov. 19, 2005, are considered among the war's defining moments, further tainting America's reputation when it was already at a low point after the release of photos of abuse by U.S. soldiers at Abu Ghraib

The case continues to fuel anger in Iraq because not one of the eight Marines initially charged has been convicted.

Art student sneaks work in museum

WARSAW, Poland - Art student Andrzej Sobiepan didn't want to wait decades for his work to appear in museums. So he took matters in his own hands, covertly hanging one of his paintings in a major Polish gallery.

By Wednesday, the young artist was getting plenty of attention after a nationwide TV channel reported on his stunt at the National Museum in the southwestern city of Wroclaw. He told reporters he hoped galleries would give more exhibition space to young artists as a result.

"I decided that I will not wait 30 or 40 years for my works to appear at a place like this,' Sobiepan told TVN24.

Sobiepan, a Wroclaw Fine Arts Academy student whose last name means "his own master," said he was inspired by the elusive British graffiti artist known only as Banksy. His own painting is small, white and green, and partly uses swine leather to show a drooping acacia leaf.

On Dec. 10, Sobiepan put it up in a room with contemporary Polish art when a guard at the museum was looking the other way.

Activists: Syrian regime misleading monitors

Associated Press

BEIRUT — Activists accused the Syrian regime Wednesday of misleading Arab League observers by taking them to areas loyal to the government, changing street signs to confuse them and sending regime supporters into rebellious neighborhoods to give false testimony.

The monthlong observer mission, which started Dec. 27, offers a rare outside glimpse into a country where a government crackdown on a 9-month-old uprising has killed more than 5,000 people. But there are fears Assad loyalists have corrupted the observer process beyond repair.

There was no immediate comment from the Arab League. But Syrian Foreign Ministry spokesman Jihad Makdissi denied allegations.

"We don't interfere in the mission's job," Makdissi told The Associated Press, adding that government escorts are necessary to protect the observers.

Activists also said regime loyalists are painting military vehicles blue to make them look like police vehicles — a ploy that allows the government to claim it has pulled the army out of heavily populated areas in accordance with the Arab League plan that was supposed to end the government's crackdown dissent.

Pentagon to unveil plan for big spending cuts

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Obama administration is rewriting its defense strategy to absorb hundreds of billions of dollars in defense cuts while scaling back the longstanding Pentagon goal of being ready to fight two wars simultaneously.

Underscoring the political dimension of Washington's debate over defense savings, President Barack Obama planned to make a rare appearance at the Pentagon on Thursday to outline the new strategy. The administration says tighter budgets are a must, but will not come at the cost of sapping the strength of a military in transition after a decade at war.

In a presidential election year, the strategy gives Obama a rhetorical tool to defend his Pentagon budget-cutting choices. Republican contenders for the White House already have criticized Obama on a wide range of national security issues, including missile defense, Iran and planned reductions in ground forces.

It's Miller time as Citrus blanks Lecanto

Junior forward scores twice in 'Canes' 3-0 win

LARRY BUGG Correspondent

Someone needed to have a hot foot Wednesday night and Deycasha Miller made it "Miller The Citrus junior forward scored two goals and assisted on the third score as Citrus beat Lecanto 3-0 in a Citrus County rivalry game at the Citrus Bowl.

It was a very cold night but Citrus (10-2 overall) was more aggressive and won the contest.

Miller scored her 29 and 30th goals of the season in the game. She booted in the first goal with 27:10 left in the first half. Miller received a pass from Jessica Lammers and booted the ball above the Lecanto goalkeeper's head from 15 yards out.

The second goal came when Miller took a cross from Hurricanes teammate Kylie Fagan and popped the ball in from five yards out.

The final goal came with less than two minutes left in the half. Miller struck a corner kick, which Rachel Albrecht headed in.

"I had a beautiful cross from Kylie Fagan on the second goal," Miller said. "When we play Lecanto, it's about earning respect."

Citrus took 10 shots on goal in each half while Lecanto had five shots in the first half and four in the second half.

Citrus head coach Steve Ekeli was happy with his team's performance.

"We worked hard over the holidays," Ekeli said. "When they came here for practice, we had two hours of working hard. We have 13 kids on our team and 11 get a ton of minutes.

"These girls are very dedicated and devoted," Ekeli added. Lecanto (10-3-2 overall), for its part, will be looking to put the contest against Citrus in the rear view mirror.

"It just wasn't a good game for us," said Panthers head coach Roselle Lattin. "We struggled in the first half getting into a rhythm.'

Both teams play 7 p.m. Friday: Lecanto travels to Crystal River while the 'Canes will host district foe Nature Coast.

LECANTO — It has been said all year that the Crystal River High School girls basketball team is young. But what Lecanto found out Wednesday night was that the Pirates have matured fast.

After winning the first meeting by double digits, the Lady Panthers found themselves in the middle of a defensive standoff that saw them trail by as much as eight in the first half, before rallying behind their perimeter game to eke out a 51-44 win at home.

The offensive struggles applied to both teams, as neither could find their shot in the first half. Crystal River sharpshooters Katelyn Hannigan and Megan Wells struggled early, but the post game had their backs, as the Lady Pirates (6-5) nabbed 23 firstrebounds, trumping Lecanto's 12.

For Lecanto (9-4), the fact that they were outrebounded nearly 2 to 1 said enough. Panthers junior Miranda Barber got into foul trouble early in the first quarter, but when she returned in the second quarter, her presence alone helped the Lady Panthers even the odds

Paige Richards, who ended up with a game-high 17 points, was held in the check in the first half as the main source of offense was junior Megan Straight, who scored eight points in the opening 16 minutes.

These two teams are very evenly matched," Lecanto head coach Brittany Szunko said. "We're both small teams, and I told the girls that we'd need to go out there and match up with them. It doesn't matter how many 3s we can make, it won't matter if we don't match up and grab the rebounds."

Those 3s came in droves in the second half. Lecanto went 5-for-5 in the third quarter behind the arc, after hitting the first four on back-to-backs by Richards and Straight to take the lead for the first time of the game.

Bengals, Texans in uncharted territory

Houston playing in 1st playoff game in team history

Associated Press

The Houston Texans never have won a playoff game. Of course, they've never even played in one.

On Saturday, they host the Bengals, and anyone who can remember when Cincinnati won in the postseason remembers Boomer Esiason as a quarterback in his prime, not as a broadcaster.

'We've got some guys who were pretty close to just being born when that happened," Bengals tackle Andrew Whitworth said. "We've got some young guys on the team. So I imagine most of them have no clue about it."

The opener of the wild-card round looks like a toss-up. Yes, the Texans won the AFC South and are seeded third, while the Bengals stumbled into the playoffs as the No. 6 seed. And we know that Houston rallied in Cincinnati for a 20-19 victory, which happens to be the last time the Texans (10-6)

Meanwhile, the Bengals have lost to every good team they played in going 9-7.

Those facts don't inspire much confidence in the Texans, who are 3-point favorites, or in the Ben-

"The guys in here, we can't worry about the past," Cincinnati "Pacman" cornerback Adam Jones said. "We've got a great outlook to the future with the young guys we've got here."

That includes rookie quarterback Andy Dalton and receiver A.J. Green, who have been dynamic and will be keys to whether Cincinnati can advance for the first time since beating the Houston Oilers on Jan. 6, 1991.

Houston has a rookie QB of its own in T.J. Yates, a third-stringer to begin the season. When Matt Schaub and Matt Leinart went down with injuries, Yates came on and the Texans won enough to capture the division. Yates will need to do a whole lot more in the playoffs, as will a defense that allowed the fourth-fewest points in an offense-oriented league.

The stage could be too big for many of these players, which might lead to a low-scoring affair with several turnovers. History is not on the side of either team.

Detroit (plus 10) at New Orleans, Saturday night

Another non-playoff factor for so many years — the Lions last got here in the 1999 season, last won a postseason game in early 1992 and last won an NFL title in 1957 goes against one of the league's hottest teams.

Atlanta (plus 3 1/2) at New York Giants, Sunday

Weather could be a factor at the Meadowlands, although Falcons QB Matt Ryan says not to worry about his dome team in a northern outdoor environment in January. Ryan did, after all, grow up in Philadelphia and play college ball in Boston.

He might get chased all the way down to Philly and up to Beantown by New York's reinvigorated pass rush, which has 11 sacks in its last two games, wins that propelled the Giants (9-7) to the NFC East crown. If the Giants can't get pressure on Ryan, and Atlanta (10-6) can run the ball a bit, that would leave wide-open spaces for Ryan to connect with his solid group of receivers against a porous secondary.

The same is true for Eli Manning, and New York's running game has come on recently. Look for just enough big plays from Manning, Victor Cruz and the Giants' sackmasters.

GIANTS, 27-23 Pittsburgh (minus 8) at Denver, Sunday

Ben Roethlisberger is limping, which is better than Rashard Mendenhall, who is out with torn knee ligaments.

Pittsburgh (12-4) is inconsistent on the offensive line. It will be missing safety Rvan Clark, who will be kept home as a precaution due to a sickle-cell trait that becomes aggravated when playing at higher elevations.

Even with those issues, the Steelers should romp against the Broncos (8-8), who lost their last three but, thanks to the charity of the rest of the division, won the AFC West.

Tim Tebow no longer is leading stunning comebacks, and lesser defenses than Pittsburgh's have figured out how to make him uneasy. Look for Steelers coordinator Dick LeBeau to use a super-aggressive game plan that forces Tebow to make quick decisions while thwarting Willis Mc-Gahee and the running game.

The Steelers won't score a lot of points. Denver barely will score

Opponents have Denver QB figured out

Associated Press

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. — John Elway wants to see more aggression from Tim Tebow. John Fox wants to see more accuracy.

They trust he can deliver on both counts Sunday against the Pittsburgh Steelers (12-4) and the league's top-ranked defense.

Having won the Denver Broncos' starting job and the AFC West title by default, Tebow heads into his first playoff game mired in the worst slump of his life.

"The three losses haven't shaken my confidence,' Tebow said after the Broncos backed their way into the playoffs at 8-8.

The results and his language on the football field suggest otherwise.

After watching him pile up comeback after improbable comeback, opponents seem to have solved the unorthodox QB, hemming him in the pocket with disciplined defense and daring him to beat them with his erratic left arm. The result: back-to-back poor passing performances with a half-dozen turnovers and the first three-game losing streak of his career.

After turning the ball over four times at Buffalo on Christmas Eve, Tebow looked tentative Sunday in losing 7-3 to Kansas City and Kyle Orton, whom he couldn't beat out in camp but still supplanted after the Broncos benched and then released Orton earlier this season. Tebow held on to the safer, shorter passes early ball, passing up wide open on to build up the young said he has to be more aggressive and acknowledged "there's a few opportunities I should have tried to force it in there, especially later in the game."

Elway told a Denver Post columnist Tebow just needs to "put everything behind him, go through his progressions and pull the trigger."

And Fox acknowledged the coaches need to call quarterback's confidence. "Hey, we're all in this together," Fox said. "We have to put him in position where he can succeed and then he's the one out there holding the ball. At the end of the day, we'll try to give him some better pass plays to operate and he'll just have to execute them." The Broncos own the next-to-worst passing game in the NFL and the Steelers boast the league's top pass

So, Tebow knows he has to be less hesitant but he can't make mistakes, either.

portunities last week. 'It's just trying to be smart, not put our team in a bad position, you know, because that's the quickest way to get your team out of a game," he said. "So, sometimes I think I do need to be more aggressive with certain routes and throws."

Tebow's new approach will be tested by Dick LeBeau's defense.

"They're very, very wellcoached and sometimes it looks like it's chaos out there but they know where they're going and they're going there fast," Tebow said. With each passing week, defenses not nearly as stout as Pittsburgh's have fared well against Tebow and the read-option offense. During the three-game skid, Tebow has completed just 30 of 73 passes (41 percent) for an average of 146 yards with one touchdown, four interceptions and 10 sacks.

Michigan outlasts Hokies in Sugar Bowl

Sooners take down Stanford on Monday

Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS - Brendan Gibbons drilled a 37yard field goal down the middle in overtime to lift No. 13 Michigan to a 23-20 victory over 17th-ranked Virginia Tech in the Sugar Bowl on Tuesday night.

The victory capped an impressive debut season for head coach Brady Hoke, who has led the Wolverines (11-2) back to prominence with a BCS bowl victory. Denard Robinson highlighted an otherwise unspectacular night with touchdown passes of 45 and 18 yards to game MVP Junior Hemingway.

"It shows our hard work," Hemingway said, his voice cracking with emotion. "It shows everything we put in from Day One, all the long days, long nights. Man, I'm telling you, it feels too good, man. Too good."

Virginia Tech (11-3) had more than double Michigan's total yards, 377-184, and had 22 first downs to Michigan's 12 but settled for four field goals in regulation by thirdstring kicker Justin Myer. However, Myer was unable to connect on his fifth try from 37 yards away in the opening possession of overtime. Robinson finished 9 for 21 for 117 yards passing and threw an interception. He rushed 13 times for a season-low 13 yards.

Virginia Tech first-year start Logan Thomas was 19 of 28 of 214 yards with one interception. Thomas scored Tech's only touchdown on a 1-yard keeper that tied the game at Virginia Tech senior receiver Danny Coale, who ranks second all-time for the Hokies in catches and yards receiving, had eight catches for 117 yards, and nearly made a spectacular diving catch for a touchdown in overtime. Coale held on to the ball for what was initially ruled a score, but the play was overturned on video review, which showed the receiver narrowly landed on the sideline.

The result of that thirddown play forced Tech to try for Myer's failed field goal.

Michigan then used three conservative runs to set up Gibbons in the middle of the field. As his kick sailed through, Gibbons sprinted toward the Michigan sidelined and was mobbed by teammates while the Michigan band belted out the school's famous fight song, "The Victors," while Michigan fans, in rhythm, thrust a sea of maize pom-poms in the air.

OSU beats Stanford 41-38 in Fiesta Bowl

GLENDALE, Ariz. - Brandon Weeden threw for 399 yards and three touchdowns to Justin Blackmon in his final collegiate game, and Quinn Sharp hit a 22-yard field goal in overtime to give No. 3 Oklahoma State a 41-38 win over Andrew Luck and No. 4 Stanford in a wildly entertaining Fiesta Bowl on Monday night.

The most anticipated postseason game outside of the BCS championship, the Fiesta Bowl was an impressive offensive show, two of the nation's best teams trading big plays and scores.

Oklahoma State (12-1) had the last one on Sharp's gamewinner to win in its first BCS bowl game, earning a chance to stake claim at being No. 1 in The Associated Press poll should Alabama beat LSU in sion — early in the fourth the BCS title game.

Temple knocks off No. 5 Duke, 'Noles clobber Auburn

Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — Khalif Wyatt scored 22 points and Rahlir Hollis-Jefferson had 17 to help Temple knock off No. 5 Duke 78-73 on Wednesday night.

Using tough man-to-man defense that limited Duke's longrange shots, the Owls (10-3) grabbed the lead midway through the first half and never let it go. When the Blue Devils (12-2) crept within three points in the waning minutes, Wyatt hit consecutive 3pointers for a 66-57 lead.

The Owls had lost nine straight times to Duke, and hadn't beat the Blue Devils since Jan. 25, 1996. This decisive win in front of more than 20,000 fans gave the Owls wins over Top 10 teams for the fourth straight season, all in Philadelphia.

Temple fans stormed the court in celebration and lingered long after the final buzzer.

No. 9 Georgetown 73, No. 20 Marquette 70

WASHINGTON — Jason Clark scored 26 points and Hollis Thompson's tiebreaking 3-pointer with less than 30 seconds left capped a comeback from a 17-point deficit, helping No. 9 Georgetown beat No. 20 Marguette 73-70 on Wednesday night.

The Hoyas (13-1, 3-0 Big East) ran their winning streak to 11 games, their longest in five years. They got 16 points from Thompson, 13 from Henry Sims, and key contributions from four freshmen who played significant minutes in the second half.

Marquette (12-3, 1-1) lost for the third time in five games, despite 18 points from Darius Johnson-Odom, 17 from Jae Crowder, and 16 from Todd Mayo.

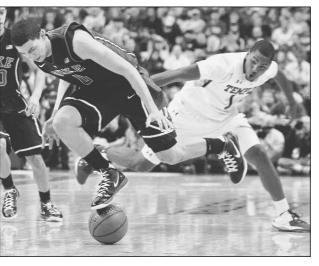

The Golden Eagles led 43-29 at halftime and stretched that to 56-39 on Mayo's 3-pointer with 13:10 left. But Clark brought Georgetown back, making 6 of 7 shots in the second half, when he scored 18 points.

No. 14 Kansas 67, No. 23 Kansas St 49

LAWRENCE, Kan. — Thomas Robinson had 15 points and 14 rebounds and helped thwart Kansas State's second-half rally Wednesday night, leading No. 14 Kansas past the 23rd-ranked Wildcats 67-49.

Trailing by as many as 18 points early, the Wildcats (11-2, 0-1 Big 12) got 3-pointers from Jamar Samuels and Rodney McGruder in a 10-0 run and closed to 39-36. But Conner Teahan's two 3-pointers triggered a rally by Kansas (11-3, 1-0) that included dunks by Robinson on consecutive possessions

The Jayhawks went on to their 43rd victory over their state rivals in the last 46 meetings of the 272-game series.

Travis Releford had 16 points and Tyshawn Taylor had 13 as Kansas launched its campaign for an eighth straight Big 12 championship with its 21st straight conference-opening victory.

Florida State 85, Auburn 56

TALLAHASSEE — Michael Snaer scored a career-high 22 points going 10 of 10 from the free-throw line and Ian Miller added 15 points as Florida State routed Auburn 85-56 on Wednesday night.

Snaer had 14 points in the first half as the Seminoles (9-5) grabbed a 50-16 halftime lead. It was a stunning reversal of fortune for Florida State, which trailed by 17 points at the half in Friday's triple-overtime loss to Princeton.

Chris Denson had 15 points and Kenny Gabriel added 10 points and seven rebounds for Auburn (10-4), which made just 5 of 33 (15.2 percent) of its shots in the first half.

Central Florida 60, Tulane 53

ORLANDO — Marcus Jordan scored 19 points and A.J. Rompza added 11 to lead Central Florida to a 60-53 win over Tulane on Wednesday night in the Conference USA opener for both schools.

Keith Clanton scored eight points and grabbed 12 rebounds for the Knights (11-3). UCF played without coach Donnie Jones on the sideline, who sat out the first of three conference games as part of a school-imposed penalty for his involvement in an NCAA investigation that revealed recruiting violations.

Jordan Callahan had 18 points and seven rebounds for Tulane (12-3). Kendall Timmons added 12 points and nine rebounds for the Green Wave.

Rompza hit all three of his 3-point attempts in the game, but it was Jordan who was a steady hand for the Knights throughout, hitting 7 of 15 shots from the field and all four of his free throw attempts.

Magic run past winless Wizards

Associated Press

ORLANDO — Dwight Howard had 28 points and 20 rebounds, Ryan Anderson added 23 points and 15 rebounds and the Orlando Magic ran past the winless Washington Wizards 103-85 on Wednesday night.

The Magic won for the fifth time in six games and had four players in double figures. Orlando has won seven straight against Washington and 15 of the last 18 meetings.

The Wizards got 17 points from Nick Young, but shot poorly all night and trailed by as many as 28 in falling to 0-6 for the first time in franchise history. They remain the NBA's only winless team.

The Magic had a four-game winning streak snapped Monday at Detroit in a lethargic effort that coach Stan Van Gundy said was virtually void of any energy from a previous two games with a sore left team playing its sixth game in nine days.

Howard led all scorers with 17 points in the first half — coming mostly on layups or dunks — as the beneficiary of several assists from Hedo Turkoglu and Jameer Nelson, who had five apiece.

The Wizards struggled to get shots to fall from the outset, settling for jumpers and missing their first 12 field goal attempts. They also gave up 31 points in the first quarter, the third time this season they allowed an opponent to score at least 30 in a period.

Meanwhile, Washington shot a paltry 21 percent (6 for 28) in a 14point first quarter.

The Magic made 61 percent (11 for 18) of their shots in the first quarter. Howard was 4 for 4.

Bobcats 118, Knicks 110

NEW YORK — Boris Diaw rebounded from a dreadful game a night earlier with a season-high 27 points, and the Charlotte Bobcats snapped a four-game losing streak with a 118-110 victory Wednesday over the New York Knicks.

Gerald Henderson added 24 for the Bobcats, who capped a three-game road trip by winning for the first time since their opener. Reserve Byron Mullens scored 16 and D.J. Augustin finished with 14 points and 10 assists. Charlotte shot 55 percent from the field.

The Bobcats ruined the returns of Amare Stoudemire and Iman Shumpert, who helped get the Knicks' offense back on track but saw that effort wasted when they simply couldn't guard Charlotte.

Stoudemire had 25 points and 12 rebounds after missing two games with a sprained left ankle. Shumpert scored 18 points off the bench after beating a two-to-four week timetable after spraining a right knee ligament in the Christmas opener.

Bulls 99, Pistons 83

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. — Richard Hamilton scored 14 points in his return to The Palace, and the Chicago Bulls shut down the Detroit Pistons in a 99-83 victory Wednesday night.

Hamilton started after missing the groin. He received a warm welcome from Detroit fans, many of whom Orlando was off Tuesday and stood and applauded the veteran Hamilton went 5 of 9 from the field and added five assists. Derrick Rose had 17 points and 10 assists for the Bulls.

Raptors 92, Cavaliers 77

TORONTO — Andrea Bargnani scored 31 points in leading the Toronto Raptors to their second straight win, 92-77 over the Cleveland Cavaliers on Wednesday night.

DeMar DeRozan added 25 points for the Raptors and Jose Calderon had 13 points and 11 assists.

The Raptors took the lead late in the first quarter and held it the rest of the way for their second victory of the season over the Cavaliers.

Grizzlies 90, Timberwolves 86

MINNEAPOLIS — Rudy Gay had 19 points and eight rebounds, lifting the Memphis Grizzlies to a 90-86 victory over the Minnesota Timberwolves on Wednesday night in their first game since learning Zach Randolph would be out for six to eight weeks.

O.J. Mayo scored 11 of his 14 points in the fourth quarter and Mike Conley had 12 points and eight assists for Memphis.

Kevin Love had 27 points and 14 rebounds and Ricky Rubio added 12 points, 10 assists and four rebounds for the Timberwolves, who missed a Love became the first player since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar in 1975 to record 20 points and 12 rebounds in his team's first six games.

Celtics 89, Nets 70

BOSTON — Paul Pierce scored 9 of his 24 points during a game-breaking third-quarter run and Avery Bradley hit his first career 3-pointer, helping the Boston Celtics beat the injury-depleted New Jersey Nets 89-70 Wednesday.

Reserve Brandon Bass scored 15 and grabbed 13 rebounds, and Rajon Rondo had 8 points and 12 assists for the Celtics (4-3). Boston has won four straight since dropping all three of a season-opening road trip.

Kevin Garnett had 14 points and 12 boards, Bradley finished with 11 points. Boston broke it open with an 18-3 run to close the third quarter.

Heat 118, Pacers 83

MIAMI — LeBron James had 33 points and 13 assists, Chris Bosh added 22 points and the Miami Heat hardly missed Dwyane Wade in a 118-83 rout of the Indiana Pacers on Wednesday night.

James also grabbed eight rebounds and the Heat turned up the defensive intensity without their star guard. Wade sat out with a sore left foot. His status for Thursday's game at Atlanta is uncertain.

Roy Hibbert had 16 points and 12 rebounds to lead Indiana. Tyler Hansbrough scored 14.

Wade, a six-time All-Star, injured his foot in the second quarter at Charlotte on Dec. 28. He missed the first 10 minutes of the third period but played regular minutes the rest of the game and in the two that followed. He skipped Wednesday's shootaround, though.

Mavericks 98, Suns 89

DALLAS — Dirk Nowitzki scored 20 points in his 1,000th NBA game to lead the Dallas Mavericks to a 98-89 victory over the Phoenix Suns on Wednesday night.

Jason Terry contributed 18 points, including nine in the fourth quarter, to help the defending NBA champs (3-4) string together consecutive wins for the first time this season.

Lamar Odom added 15 points in his best game since joining the Mavericks in a trade with the Lakers on Dec. 11.

Marcin Gortat's 22 points and 10 rebounds and Steve Nash's 15 points and 12 assists paced the Suns (2-4).

76ers 101, Hornets 93

NEW ORLEANS — Jrue Holiday scored 14 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter, leading the Philadelphia 76ers to a 101-93 win over the New Orleans Hornets on Wednesday night.

Holiday, who was 3 for 9 from the field after three quarters, drained three 3-pointers and five of six shots the rest of the way. The 76ers trailed 73-67 at the end of the third, but Holiday scored 10 points down the stretch as Philadelphia extended an 84-83 lead to 98-89.

Evan Turner added 21 points and Spencer Hawes scored 17 for the 76ers.

Spurs 101, Warriors 95

SAN ANTONIO — Tony Parker scored the Spurs' final six points Wednesday night, helping lift San Antonio to a 101-95 victory over the Golden State Warriors.

The Spurs were playing their first game without leading scorer Manu Ginobili, who will have surgery on his left hand and is expected to be out at least two months.

Monta Ellis scored 38 points on 15of-30 shooting to lead Golden State (2-4). The Warriors led 75-70 entering the fourth quarter. Parker, though, scored 10 points in the fourth quarter for San Antonio (4-2).

over Seton Hall on Wednesday night for its 11th straight victory.

Next up for the Irish is a showdown with second-ranked Connecticut in South Bend on Saturday.

For the record Thomas makes 30 saves in Bruins' 5-1 victory

Associated Press

NEWARK, N.J. — Patrice Bergeron scored two goals, and Tim Thomas made 30 saves in the Boston Bruins' 6-1 rout of the New Jersey Devils on Wednesday night.

The defending Stanley Cup champions got back on track after their seven-game winning streak was snapped Saturday against Dallas. Boston (25-10-1) moved within one point of the East-Conference-leading New York Rangers.

New Jersey (21-16-2) had dropped two straight after winning two in a row and seven of nine.

Gregory Campbell got Boston even at 1 in the first period, and Nathan Horton scored his fifth power-play goal of the season to give the Bruins the lead. David Krejci and Shawn Thornton added goals in the third.

David Clarkson put the Devils on top early with his team-leading 14th goal, but New Jersey from its mostlopsided loss since a 6-1 defeat at Colorado on Nov. 30.

MIAMI — Carlos Zambrano will get a much-needed fresh start with the Miami Marlins.

The Chicago Cubs traded their former ace Wednesday for Marlins right-hander Chris Volstad, pending physicals and ap-

Zambrano wore out his welcome in Chicago because of repeated meltdowns and tantrums. The most recent came when he cleaned out his locker and talked about retiring after giving up five homers and being ejected during a loss to Atlanta on Aug. 12. He was suspended without pay and then it was decided he would sit out the rest of the season.

Atlanta, Ga., angler Allison Sinkler holds a giant sheepshead caught last week while fishing with Capt. Dan Clymer near Crystal River.

Special to the Chronicle

Don't let cold hold you back ne nice thing about living in Florida is that with so many species of fish to catch, there is always something happening, even if favorite vour species isn't all that active.

With the brutal cold front passing earlier this week, many popular species have been knocked back. Capt. Dan Clymer of Racin' Mullet Charters has been busy guiding clients to a mixed bag of fish in the past couple of weeks, and he says that even with the 20-degree weather earlier this week, anglers can still target and catch popular, good-eating fish.

> The sheepshead have really kicked off since Christmas," Clymer Wednesday

Sheepshead are a member of the porgy family and. for much of the year, be found around oyster bars, seawalls and in tidal creeks. Clymer took the time to offer some tips on attracting the black-and-white, toothy game fish. "Right now, you're going to find them congregated around any kind of structure or hard bottom," he said. "They are grouping up to spawn and they like the cold. This drop in water temperature won't deter them at all."

His choice for enticing the opular fish is to tail-hook a shrimp onto a small, 1/8-ounce Hank Brown jig.

"I toss it out onto whatever structure I am fishing and I want to let it fall to the bottom," Clymer said.

One important tip he offers is to keep a small amount of slack in your line to retard the feel of the bite.

"Let it sit nice and still and the fish will find it, but watching the line becomes imperative," Clvmer said. "Sheepshead are notorious nibblers, and if you set the hook when you feel a bite, the fish may not have the hook in their mouth. You want to have a little bit of slack in your line and keep a close eye on it. Wait to set the hook until your line moves off. Being a line-watcher is key."

Clymer cautioned anglers fishing for sheepshead this time of the year to keep in mind the fish are reproducing and conservation is key to keeping the fishery healthy.

"They're spawning, so catch what you want for dinner and let the rest go back," he said. "When they're biting good at this time of the year, it's not uncommon to catch 20 to 30." Clymer said lately most of his fish are in the 12- to 15-inch range, but larger ones can be caught regularly. He said he caught one last week that tipped the scales near 10 pounds.

The Florida record for sheepshead stands at 12 pounds, 2 ounces.

As for the rod, reel and line. Clymer keeps it simple.

'I use the same basic setup I do for trout and reds," he said. "I use a 10-pound test braided line for my main line down to a 20-pound fluorocarbon leader tied to my hook."

With that, he casts his shrimp-tipped jigs with a 7foot, medium-action spinning rod coupled with a Shimano 2500 series reel.

Playing Thatcher

Meryl Streep says film role was daunting

Associated Press

LONDON — She's a double Oscar winner with a knack for accents, but Meryl Streep says playing Margaret Thatcher was a challenge — although her own experience helped her understand the struggles faced by Britain's first female prime minister.

Streep is transformed into the divisive politician who reshaped Britain in "The Iron Lady," which has its European premiere in London on Wednesday, just across the River Thames from the Houses of Parliament.

'It was extremely daunting, because I'm from New Jersey," Streep said in an interview ahead of the red-carpet event. "And yet as an outsider, I felt something of what she might have felt.'

Streep, who won Academy Awards for "Kramer Vs. Kramer" and "Sophie's Choice," said her vouthful experience as one of a handful of women at Dartmouth College in New Hampshire helped her understand Thatcher's isolation. In 1970, Streep spent a term as an exchange student at the menonly college, which became coeducational in 1972.

Paranormal happenings

JEFF AYERS For The Associated Press

"Solving the Communion Enigma: What Is to Come' (Tarcher/Penguin), by Whitley Strieber: In his new book, "Solving the Communion Enigma: What Is to Come," author Whitley Strieber tries to explain the strange happenings surrounding his life since he wrote "Communion" 25 years ago.

'Communion" chronicled what Strieber claimed was his abduction by alien beings and the events that followed. He wrote two more books about his experiences and received thousands of letters from people who said similar events occurred in their lives. He also became a laughingstock among his friends and lost his financial stability. His wife, Anne, supported him, though it was difficult for her to understand.

Strieber reveals that brushes with the paranormal haven't lessened over shown.

The UFO culture is hard to grasp, but Strieber tries his best to tie together diverse subjects such as cattle mutilations, crop circles, strange implants and the afterlife. He even questions whether the aliens he claims abducted him were from outer space or another dimension.

What it boils down to is whether the reader believes

He doesn't resolve the issue conclusively, and the majority of the stories in "Solving the Communion Enigma" have been told on his radio show. Still, there's enough compelling material to make even the rigid skeptic ask questions.

Slimming down in new year t's only appropriate this first week of the new year to indulge in the notion of dieting — instead of continuing the holiday food fest through 2012.

It's not the most appealing endeavor to start the next 12 months, but for many, it's a must-do project to forestall breaking the bathroom scale.

The idea of dieting to stay trim and fit actually goes back to the 1800s when fashion magazines such as Godey's Ladies Book and many health experts advised bigger is not necessarily better. (Who forget Scarlett O'Hara's 18-inch waist?)

So many diets, so little

Some of you no doubt recall Metracal, one of the first liquid diets. A plethora of similar regimes followed and so did "diet pills," and specialty physician's diets such as Atkins and Pritikin. And fad diets were and are part of the weight loss fanaticism.

The South Beach Diet, The Grapefruit Diet and the Cabbage Soup Diet are just a very few of the dozens of popular get-skinny-fast programs on record.

The buddy-type diets seem to be among the most beneficial, ones such as Weight Watchers and others that focus on groups of the more, shall we say statuesque women together in groups to rally each other to victory in the battle of the bulge.

Personally, the one I find most attractive is the old Stillman Diet that requires eight glasses of water and filet mignon every day. A little pricey, but all that protein should stop the hunger pangs.

Actually, I've found simply counting calories is one plan that never fails — if I faithfully follow the Supermarkets are down with the whole idea of getting thin, too. If you can make it past the aromatic bakery and deli departments, you'll find a world of low-calorie, low-sugar, no-sugar and fat-free products to help you reach your goals.

Unfortunately, getting past the cheese Danish and apricot bearclaws and the hot and spicy chicken wings hasn't been terribly successful — but I'm trying!

One thing that always bothers me about diet foods is the cost. Why on Earth should one pay more for getting less of something? Better, I think, to force yourself to have smaller portions of the real good stuff.

Readers will probably wonder why I'm expounding on the topic of weight loss when I post recipes that are often brimming with the all the good things one is not supposed to eat to get or remain slim and healthy.

Well, it's because like so many of you, at least once a year I strive to do the right thing and in doing so, to maybe get back into those jeans that somehow shrunk when I wasn't looking.

The truth is, almost any "diet" works if you follow nother year has gone into history. I often think of the verse "another year will soon be past only what is done for Christ will last." How very true those words are.

We had a green Christmas with warmer-thanusual weather, but we awoke Sunday to a white world. The ground was covand snow in snowflakes were falling. Needless to say, Stormy the pony and the sled were put to use giving rides out in the hayfield. The children like our hilly hayfield for sled rides.

past few days. Today, we will do laundry and some more housecleaning. We have been getting done early every day, so we have been having some nice, long, relaxing evenings. It has been relaxing not to have to follow a schedule with Joe being home from work and the children being off from school. After a few weeks, though, it always seems like I am ready to get back on schedule. We started on a 1,000piece puzzle that we work on in our free time. Our goal is to get it together before the children and Joe's holiday break is over. It is different to leave the puzzle out without having to worry about little toddlers messing it up. An incompuzzle always seemed to attract the children when they were little. I know there were some of our puzzles that would get messed up three or four times. It is so hard to believe these years have gone by so fast.

Now our youngest, Kevin, 6, thinks he is old enough to help on the big puzzles. He still needs to stick with the smaller puzzles as he thinks he can just push the pieces together to make them fit. We give him the job of laying out all the pieces of the puzzle facehe still feels

Tone down heavy foods

Serve up creamy soup in new year

ALISON LADMAN For The Associated Press

After all that heavy holiday eating, it's good to tone it down a bit for the new year.

Whether you resolve to make a commitment to better eating or just want a palate cleanser from all the roasts and dips, this light and creamy soup will do the trick. Creamy in texture without being cream-based, this soup satisfies with vegetables, wild rice and rosemary.

Genealogists to discuss archives

The Citrus County Genealogical Society (CCGS) will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 10, at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 3474 W. Southern St., Lecanto.

Guest speaker will be Peter Summers, president of the Pinellas County Genealogical Society. His topic will be "Getting the Most Out of the National Archives Website." He will talk about the parts of the website that are of the greatest value to genealogists. Although the website (www.archives.gov) is very large and sometimes difficult to use, it does provide free access to numerous records via the Access to Archival Databases (AAD) link on the Research Our Records page.

Guests are welcome to attend CCGS meetings.

For more information, call Mary Ann Machonkin at 352-382-5515. Visit the website at www.rootsweb.ancestry.com/ ~flccgs2.

Animal Shelter ADOPTABLES

Buddy

Buddy is a handsome, brindle bulldog mix, approximately 4 years old. He's well-behaved, gentle, quiet and walks very well on a leash. He loves people and gets along with other dogs and cats. He had an untreated ear infection years ago which has left him with scar tissue in the ear and neck area leaving him with a slightly tilted head. Buddy is a wonderful dog and very deserving of another chance at a forever home. Buddy is at Citrus County Animal Shelter, 4030 S. Airport Road, Inverness, behind the fairgrounds. So, in theory at least, South should have the hand in the diagram: seven strong spades and doubleton ace-king combinations in both clubs and diamonds.

If that is the case, your only chance of success is to gain two trump tricks.

The winning defense is to lead another heart. South will ruff and play the spade jack, but you take the trick and lead a fourth heart, which East will ruff with the critical spade nine. This uppercuts declarer and promotes your spade 10 to the setting trick.

If you've taken every possible side-suit trick, concede a ruff-andsluff.
