Pulitzer Prize winner to sign books May 21

The good news is Pulitzer Prize-winner Jack E. Davis will be at the Apalachicola National Estuarine Research Reserve Nature Center on Monday, May 21 at 6 p.m. to give a talk about his latest book "The Gulf: The Making of an American Sea."

The bad news is it's sold out, but people will have a chance to have him sign a copy of their work an hour before, and an hour after, his talk. Davis was recently awarded a Pulitzer in History for his sweeping history from geological formation to the present of how the Gulf of Mexico converged with human life around it.

Davis, who writes mainly for an intellectually curious audience rather than an academic one, has been teaching history at the university level for more than two decades. He is now a professor of environmental history and sustainability studies at the University of Florida.

Apalach OKs city manager position

Vroegops reject terms of new Harbormaster House lease

Three people each got something from the Apalachicola city commissioners Tuesday night.

Robin and Mike Vroegop got a lease deal for the Harbormaster House at Scipio Creek, but they didn't want it.

Mayor Van Johnson got approval to create a city manager position, which he very much wanted.

By a 4-1 vote, with Mitchell Bartley opposed, city commissioners voted to back the hiring of a city manager by Aug. 1, ahead of the start of the next fiscal year.

After much discussion by the commissioners, it was agreed the individual would be on probation for their first year, and be required to attract additional monies to city coffers at or above the cost of their own compensation package, or risk termination.

Johnson argued forcefully for the new hire, noting at the outset that he has advocated for the post, which is mentioned in the city charter, for more than a decade, back to 2007.

He stressed that no jobs would be lost in conjunction with the new hire, akin to a chief executive officer who oversees all the city operations.

"You would have professional oversight, that you do not have now," Johnson said. "We don't have a plan. I just want a professional in to lay down a plan and bring us a vision for the future."

Noting that the National League of Cities estimates an average base pay nationwide for a city manager to be about $106,000, he suggested a base for the new hire be in the $65,000 to $85,000 range, with additional health and life insurance, sick leave and retirement benefits.

He estimated this would cost the city between $95,000 and $115,000, with about $17,000 needed to be taken out of the current fiscal year budget, which ends Sept. 30, to fund the manager for this year. That, he said, could be taken from the unused salary of former staffer Cindy Summerhill, who retired a few months ago and was not replaced.

On Saturday, April 14, two middle school teams from the Apalachicola Bay Charter School competed at the Florida State Odyssey of the Mind Tournament at the University of Central Florida in Orlando.

Both Team A and Team B earned a spot to contend after placing second during the Emerald Coast Division's Regional competition, on March 3 at Shoal River Middle School in Crestview.

In Odyssey of the Mind, students must use their creativity and ingenuity to solve problems. These problems are broken down into two categories: long-term and spontaneous. In long term, teams choose a problem at the start of the year with a certain theme and specific guidelines on which the teams will be scored. The team

In striking contrast to the brutal manner in which she met her death, flowers have sprung up both here and in Miami in memory of Aileen Seiden.

At North Shore Park along Miami Beach's shore, close friends gathered to remember their 31-year-old friend, who was bludgeoned to death sometime late on April 22, likely in a room at Sportsman's Lodge, and her body dumped before sunrise just off U.S. 98.

NWFWMD grants $350K for Eastpoint water upgrade

Special to the Times

A grant from the Northwest Florida Water Management District helped the Eastpoint Water and Sewer District increase the quality of its potable water supply while reducing the amount of water the system uses.

The water management district's grant of $343,152 helped complete a project that began in the early 2000s to end Eastpoint's reliance on a pair of coastal water supply wells. The wells showed signs of increased chloride levels and poor water quality from saltwater intrusion. Because of the increased chloride levels, the wells had to be flushed periodically.

Retired general to premiere author series

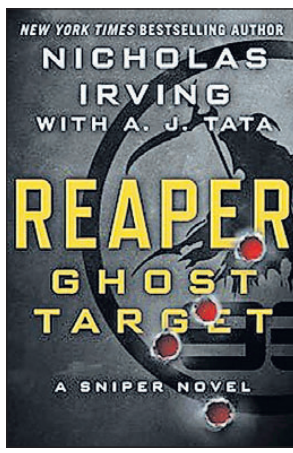

Special to the Times

The premiere event of the new Susan Buzzett Clementson Author Series will be held Saturday, May 19 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Apalachicola Center for History, Culture and the Arts.

Retired Army Brig. Gen. A. J. Tata, author of the seven national best-selling Captain Jake Mahegan and Threat book series, is the featured writer at the event. He recently teamed up with best-selling author Nicholas Irving for their book "Reaper: Ghost Target - A Sniper Novel," the third release in the Reaper series.

This newest book hits the stands Tuesday.

Attendees at the May 19 Author Series will get who passed away Dec. 30, 2017. Her career included work as a librarian at Pine Hills Elementary School in Orlando and head of the Rosman Middle and High School Library in Brevard, North Carolina.

Clementson connected with the Apalachicola library when she returned to the area to be with family, and became a leader in advancing new programs to provide education and literacy. She advocated for a new library location where all children of Franklin County would have access to library services. Her vision and support led to the development of the new facility that opened in Feb. 2018.

The new author series program, produced in conjunction with PALS - Patrons of the Apalachicola Library Society, to bring best-selling national and regional authors to Apalachicola, with events running from October through May.

This first event is sponsored, in part, by Oyster City Brewing Co., Downtown Books and Purl, and Magic Time Literary Agency.

It is appropriate the May 19 program features a bestselling author of military accomplishments, as that date is Armed Services Day, celebrating men and women in the branches of the U.S. military service.

Tickets for the Author

Series event featuring Tata are $45 per person, $70 per couple, which also includes a copy of the new Reaper book and refreshments. Tickets are available at the Apalachicola Margaret Key Library, 80 12th Street, Apalachicola, or online at www.apalachicolalibrary.com or call 653-8436.

Hug a nurse this week

Special to the Times

The Florida Department of Health recognizes May 6-12 as National Nurses Week as a time to honor the crucial role nurses play in keeping Florida's residents and visitors healthy and safe. The department commends the many nurses that volunteered to provide care in special needs shelters during Hurricane Irma for their hard work and sacrifice.

"Nurses make significant contributions to public health every day," said Marsha Lindeman, administrator for the Florida Department of Health in Gulf and Franklin Counties. "We have 21 public health nurses working in a variety of health department programs. This week, we recognize their dedicated service to providing the highest quality of care to residents of Gulf and Franklin."

Nursing is a diverse field, and public health nurses can work in many different settings. They work in clinics to provide immunizations, conduct testing for diseases and infections, help people manage chronic conditions like diabetes and asthma and inspire people achieve a healthy lifestyle.

Public health nurses also help communities prepare for natural disasters and assist in disaster relief efforts. During Hurricane Irma, Florida's dedicated nurses and nurses from other states volunteered to staff more than 90 special needs shelters in 53 counties, providing mass care for people who could not safely remain in their home.

Nurses continue to be high-demand in Florida. The Florida Center for Nursing (FCN) estimates that by 2025 Florida will have a shortage of at least 50,300 registered nurses, or 56,000 registered nurses and 12,500 licensed practical nurses.

ARBOR OUTLOOK

Economic classes, stereotypes and Sly Stone

Margaret McDowell

"I am no better and neither are you
We are the same whatever we do."

From "Everyday People"
as performed by Sly and the Family Stone

One of the worst byproducts of two emerging economic classes (the very rich and those living near the poverty line) is the recent trend of each blaming and resenting the other. Those in the 1 percent dislike being labeled as entitled, selfish money hoarders. Those without many economic resources resent being labeled as unmotivated and undeserving.

An economic system that features only the truly wealthy and those without any wealth, without much of a middle class in between, is bound to foster disillusionment and anger at the top and the bottom of the food chain. This kind of system can be sad, dispiriting, and dangerous, and pit us against ourselves.

Most wealthy Americans have labored incredibly hard to attain their financial station. Nothing is more irritating to folks who have clawed their way to the top than the inference that they are only successful because they were born into some "rich person's club" where membership is bestowed at birth. If such a club exists, I haven't found it. Virtually every client I've ever worked with has a story about overcoming adversity while building a decent nest egg. Success still requires enormous drive and energy. The suggestion that wealth is simply handed to our most successful entrepreneurs and business people is laughable.

Then there are those without wealth who are fighting to escape their economic circumstances. Yes, some could try harder, but most are working multiple jobs, scrambling to pay for an education, and generally applying what skills they do have to move up. Many matriculate at less effective public schools than do their wealthier counterparts. Those who strive to lift themselves see few legitimate financial success stories nearby that can serve as role models.

Members of Brazil's wealthy class, in some cases, fear venturing out beyond gated subdivisions without bulletproof car windows. It's a country suffering from advanced economic inequality. That kind of distrust and fear is contagious in a society divided by wealth. It's a scenario we should avoid here at home. Communities of understanding and inclusion are safer and more economically empowering than places of resentment and distrust. It's just good business sense that we need to sustain a healthy middle class.

Another practical downside of a shrinking middle class is that there are fewer dollars to buy the products being marketed by successful entrepreneurs and business owners. China's remarkable growth has been built around the concept that a healthy middle class is an economic imperative. Here in the U.S., consumer spending has traditionally accounted for 70 percent of our GDP, and with a shrinking middle class, our national economic health is imperiled.

Veterans opioid bill passes committee

Special to the Times

On Tuesday, the House Veterans' Affairs Committee unanimously passed U.S. Rep. Neal Dunn's (FL-02) legislation, the Veterans Opioid Abuse Prevention Act, which directs Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) healthcare providers to share prescribing data across a national network of interstate prescription drug monitoring programs (PDMPs). PDMPs improve a doctor's ability to identify at-risk patients who may have a pattern of prescription opioid abuse.

Just like private sector physicians, VA doctors consult state-based PDMPs before prescribing potentially dangerous pain medications to veterans. Unfortunately, VA providers do not have the authority to share prescribing data across state lines or nationwide. This prescribing information can identify someone from another state who is at high risk for abuse, overdose, and death.

"Veterans across our country are suffering from addiction and opioid abuse. As a doctor and a veteran, I have met heroes who need help, but aren't finding it at the VA.

Dunn

We can change that," said Dunn. "The VA is the largest healthcare provider in the country, and is in a unique position to lead the initiative to prevent opioid abuse, particularly among our veterans. By increasing transparency in opioid prescribing, we can identify abuse patterns and ensure our veterans are getting the best possible care."

Dr. Phil Roe, from Tennessee, chair of the House Veterans' Affairs committee said that "As we work to tackle the opioid epidemic, we must take every step to promote safe prescribing practices that protect America's heroes from the dangers of opioid abuse. I'm proud the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs advanced Dr. Dunn's legislation to allow for the greater sharing of information between VA and state-based prescription drug monitoring programs, and I'm grateful for his continued work on this issue."

The President's Commission on Combating Drug Addiction and the Opioid Crisis issued a preliminary report in July 2017 that cited the lack of interoperability between states as one significant shortcoming of state PDMPs. Dunn's legislation aligns with the White House's recommendation the VA lead efforts to have all state and federal PDMPs share information.

"Our veterans are true American heroes, let's give them a fighting chance and ensure no one slips through the cracks and becomes a victim of the opioid crisis," said Dunn.

Dunn, who represents the 2nd Congressional District, which includes Franklin County, has been working in Congress to fight the opioid crisis and recently held his first of several Opioid Listening Sessions at the Bay County Sheriff's Office. He heard from law enforcement, local leaders, organizations from the health care community, faith-based organizations, and recovering opioid users, all fighting to end this epidemic and save lives.

The legislation is supported by Paralyzed Veterans of America, the American Legion, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Dunn's legislation has 37 cosponsors, including House Energy and Commerce Committee Chairman Greg Walden (OR-02), and the Bipartisan Heroin Task Force Co-Chair Anne McLane Kuster (NH-02).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

County needs 'meaningful forward progress'

"There's nothing here for me and my family."

Last Thursday I was eating lunch with my wife in a Carabelle eatery and someone approached our table to thank us for helping someone who had just gotten out of prison. The lady said "I've got my own problems and it's very hard to live here and not be drawn back in." I wasn't expecting this person to say anything to me; I was just asked for a reference on someone we had helped and I was happy to do so. The lady added "There's nothing here for me or my family; we're getting out when we can."

This sad lament is all too common. It does not matter your social station, except perhaps for safe harbors like Alligator Point, St. George Island and parts of Apalachicola and some other pockets here and there. Franklin County is suffering, and will continue to suffer for years to come unless there is profound change. We suffer from a lack of leadership and vision as to what this beautiful place could be.

Yet, there is always hope. Let's take a minute to celebrate areas of improvement while spotlighting areas that we just can't seem to solve:

- Drugs: Drugs are the scourge of our existence, not only here, but everywhere. However, drugs are particularly pernicious here because of the cash economy the seafood industry is known for, and the multi-generational nature of the problem. Sheriff Tony Smith is that breath of fresh air who has the skill and desire to change the culture. But he cannot do it without everyone's help.

- Education: It's not about money, no matter what you hear. Franklin County spends more per child than almost any other school system in the state. The twin devils of a bloated bureaucracy and lack of solid and consistent leadership, mostly at the consolidated school, have imprisoned our children and keep them from moving up the ladder of life, missing critical starting points and opportunities that lead to later success in life. If it really is about the children, then don't attack the messenger, deal with the metrics that say we do not adequately prepare our children for life.

- Lack of Economic Development: Talked about, actioned by regional alliances and otherwise given lip service to, but without any meaningful forward progress. Too many young people don't even give Franklin County a second thought for their future; "they're out of here and not coming back." At the root of the problem is the almost religious desire to bring back the old days of the seafood industry. Millions have been spent in support of the bay and it's an open secret that phase of our county's history is mostly that... history. Let's move on to what's next and stop paying lip service to economic development. Let's create a taskforce of business people, outside of the county commissioners, who know how to get things done. I'm sorry commissioners, you've had your turn, and what do you have to show for it? Someone mentioned to me with a 3.9 percent unemployment rate, who will fill those jobs? Honestly, hundreds, if not thousands of Franklin County people, are not counted correctly or are severely underemployed. We could use excellent jobs that have a future and benefits. Where's the vision to see that through?

- Medical: Your chances of surviving a heart attack or stroke here in Franklin County are lower than in either Gulf or Wakulla counties. Why? Weems has been a literal dead end for years, everybody knows it but a hard core of preservationist continues to want to live in the past. Thankfully, the economic and social realities of the past are now being addressed by commissioners out of fear of running out of money. Sacred Heart offers the best way forward by far. Atta boy, commissioners on this issue. Once we have a new and viable health system in place, good things will happen on other fronts due to a critical mass of required efforts finally ready to germinate.

Ultimately, Franklin County's strengths will win out. What are those strengths? We are a place where people want to be to retire, visit, live or just to play for the day. This is what will bring people and their dollars here. One more thing about that taskforce. Not only should it have businesspeople, but healthcare professionals, school administrators and others who together can deliver the kind of environment that promotes the right kind of growth. We need a paid economic development person to coordinate our efforts and be responsible for results. And, while we are at it, let's move into the 21st century with a county manager to take some of the politics of running the county off of someone focusing on the next election cycle. County managers are an excellent way to do the right thing. I never again want to hear someone say to me "There's nothing here for my family." Together, as an active and vital community, we can make a difference.

To every elected official of Franklin County I say: "Embrace those who wish the best for the citizens of Franklin County and have the tools, access to capital, ideas and most importantly... the desire to get our county growing again." Who could argue with that?

CHASING SHADOWS

The morning a Blue Angel perished

By Mark Curenton
Special to the Times

On Sunday morning, March 15, 1964, many residents of Apalachicola were arriving for the morning's services at the various churches around town. As people greeted one another before going inside, they were startled to hear the roar of two deep blue jets approaching the airport west of town. A loud crash signaled that one of them had not made the runway. It was a Blue Angel jet from Pensacola, returning from an airshow in West Palm Beach. An engine malfunction had crippled the plane and the pilot attempted to glide in to the Apalachicola runway, only to crash short of the runway, killing him.

Lt. George L. Neale, 30, from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, had been a Navy aviator since 1955. Prior to assignment to the Angels, he was an F8U Crusader pilot in VF-174, known as the "Hellrazors" attack squadron, and VF-84, referred to as the "Jolly Rogers."

He joined the Blue Angels in 1962 and flew initially in the number 3 position, the left wingman. Later he would be in the number 4 position on the world-famous flight team.

That morning, at 9:38 a.m., the six members of the team took off from Palm Beach International Airport in their F-11A Grumman Tigers, escorted by the team's cargo airplane Douglas R5D Skymaster. Climbing to 22,500 feet, they headed northwest towards Pensacola and home. The flight was expected to take one hour and 10 minutes.

Some ways into the flight Neale's plane began to lag behind the others. He notified the leader that he was experiencing engine vibrations and was going to divert. He was advised to go to Tyndall Air Force Base, and Lt. Frank Mizzadri, flying in the number 5 position, was detailed to escort Neale down.

Experiencing severe vibrations and an engine temperature of 1000 degrees, Neale shut down his engine. He switched to manual fuel control, but when he attempted to relight the engine, the same problems persisted.

Once again he shut down his engine. By this time he was flying at 22,000 feet. Sighting an airport, he was advised by the Tyndall control tower that it was the Apalachicola airport. Neale decided to try landing here.

His jet was rapidly losing altitude as Neale lined up along runway 23 for a landing. Mizzadri was flying about 500 feet to his right, slightly behind and above him. As his unpowered plane continued to drop, he saw he was not going to make the runway. He ejected at an altitude of 150 feet.

Linda Glass, a freshman at Chapman High School, was sitting on her grandmother's front porch, reading, when she heard the planes approaching. Looking up she saw the canopy fly off and the pilot eject.

Neale's ejection seat had enough thrust to throw him clear of the plane, but it was an older seat design and did not have enough force to throw him high enough. Before his parachute could fully deploy, at about 11:15 a.m. he hit the ground on the north side of Bluff Road, landing in the roadside ditch in front of Bud Wesson's house. His plane hit the ground just to the south side of the road, gouging a 26-foot-long hole and missing an unoccupied house by about 50 feet. The wreckage sheared off a 50-foot pine tree about two feet above the ground as it broke apart. The area was sprayed with jet fuel from the aircraft, but the debris did not catch on fire.

W. H. Meadows, who lived 200 yards from the crash site, witnessed the crash with his son, Billy. They ran to assist, as did Glass. Neale was still breathing when they reached him, but he only survived a few minutes before he died from his injuries.

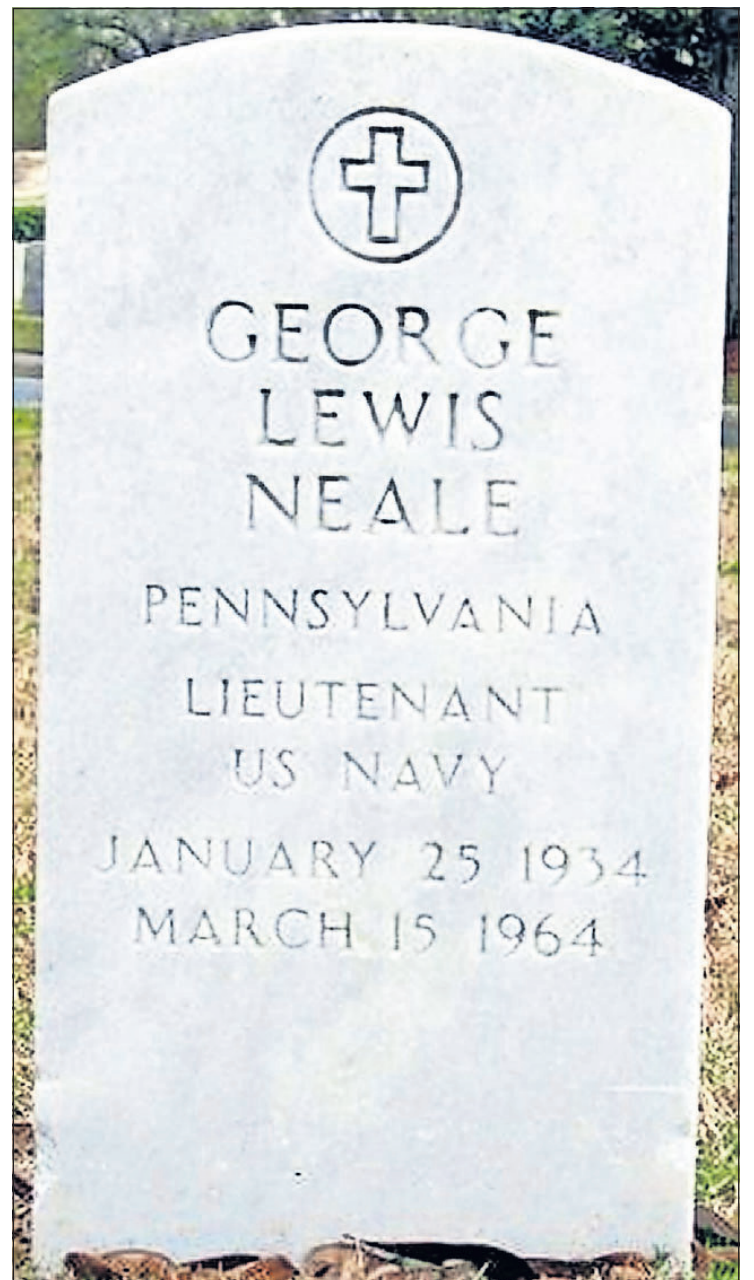

Cleve Randolph, the airport manager, had noticed the plane in distress and called Tyndall. They acknowledged they had received a "May Day" call from the Navy pilot and dispatched an ambulance to assist.

Mizzadri circled over the town to attract attention and then landed at the airport. The cargo plane carrying the Blue Angels ground crew and equipment also landed at the airport to provide what assistance they could. Soon the military had the crash site cordoned off and prevented the taking of pictures, but not before the Tallahassee Democrat had snapped a picture for its Monday edition.

The Navy investigated the accident and determined the cause of the engine vibration to be a failed main bearing support assembly. Neale was faulted, however, for not following proper procedure and for not ejecting from the plane above 10,000 feet when he was unable to restart his engine.

Neale was survived by his wife, Donna, and his mother, Katherine Neale.

The crash site is at the corner of Bluff Road in front of Charles Thompson's house at 1001 Bluff Road.

Diverse offerings attract visitors to tour

By David Adlerstein

The 26th annual Historic Apalachicola Home and Garden Tour Saturday attracted another large crowd, with its array of attractive offerings.

"The beautiful weather drew a very good crowd," said Bella Rudo, who co-chaired the event with Ginger Madewell. "Over 500 people toured the homes, and of the 400-plus auction items, almost all were bid on, and purchased."

"The feedback was extremely positive. We like when touring visitors tell us what their favorite house is, and their favorite houses are all different, which is what we strive for. It is also what makes our tour and community so different from other home tours."

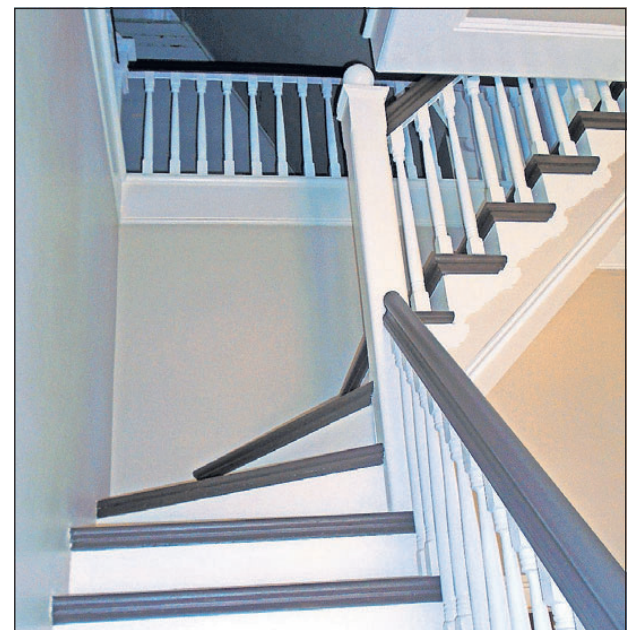

Rudo said people travel from Atlanta, the Carolinas, south Georgia, Destin, Tallahassee, Panama City and other places to take in the tour, because "they love the diversity Apalachicola has to offer."

The church woman served over 200 lunches were served, part of an enormous crew of volunteers, from greeters to auction organizers. "The tour could not happen without everyone who works, and we are thankful," said Rudo.

Money raised from the tour is used to do maintenance on the church's three buildings, the 1838 church, the 1900 rectory

America is Hungry for Martha Stewart's New 30-Minute Dinner Kits

Consumers rushing to get Martha's delicious recipes and seasonal ingredients delivered to their doorsteps

For the next 48-hours, readers in Florida get 3 free meals and free shipping

Fast-growing Martha & Marley Spoon is shipping thousands of meals every week to hungry customers across the country.

Over 4 million dishes have been sold, and sales continue to skyrocket for the meal kit delivery service Martha & Marley Spoon.

"My kits make it possible for even the busiest of us to make delicious and easy meals. Customers love the fresh ingredients and the amount of time they save," said Martha Stewart.

A closer look at this convenience-enabling phenomenon suggests it was just a matter of time before sales took off.

A simple solution for Americans of all ages -- seniors in particular -- Martha & Marley Spoon is perfect for those who want to enjoy healthy, nutritious and fresh dinners in just 30 minutes a day. Martha & Marley Spoon sends Martha Stewart's trusted recipes and fresh, pre-portioned ingredients directly to your door.

Unlike other meal kit companies, Martha & Marley Spoon works with award-winning producers and purveyors so that you get fresh, healthy, and delicious ingredients in every meal.

Best of all, ingredients go from the farm to your table (instead of spending 2 weeks in a truck traveling to local supermarkets), food waste is reduced (Americans waste 187 pounds of fresh produce annually), and you can save hundreds of dollars per year (Americans throw away $24 billion in produce alone each year).

Martha-Approved Meals In 30 Minutes A Day

The Martha & Marley Spoon culinary team is led by 14-year industry veteran Jennifer Aaronson, who earned her chops in the test kitchens of Martha Stewart Living.

Aaronson has condensed decades of experience into a once-weekly "meal kit" that lets consumers make delicious, restaurant-quality meals in just 30 minutes a day and at a fraction of the cost of eating out -- without planning, shopping, or kitchen stress.

With Martha & Marley Spoon, consumers eat delicious dinners, break bread with loved ones, and feel better about what they're eating.

Best of all is the simplicity of the service.

First, consumers choose from Martha's delicious 30-40 minute recipes. There are 7 new dishes and 3 customer favorites available each week, many of which come from the thousands of recipes Martha Stewart has shared through her television shows, books, magazines, and website over the years.

The team sends the recipes, along with all of the pre-portioned ingredients needed to cook them, directly to customers' doors in a chilled, insulated box. By delivering the exact quantities, there's never any food waste or half-used ingredients rotting in the back of the fridge.

Fans of the product love that all they have to do is cook, relax, and enjoy the experience. Each recipe takes around 30 minutes, which enables households to eat well and have plenty of time for other important things.

As Martha says, "Save time to make time for everything else you want to do."

Why Americans Are Raving About This "Dinner in a Box"

The Associated Press calls Martha & Marley Spoon "the best meal kit," and the company has been featured in the New York Times, USA Today, Fortune, The Today Show, and more. In June alone, news of the service was covered by over 157 media outlets, seen and heard more than 600 million times.

What sets this meal kit service apart? We've boiled it down to 7 simple reasons:

- 1. Trusted, time-tested recipes. While other companies offer unproven meal options, Martha & Marley Spoon sends you the best of Martha's 18,000+ recipes, so every meal you cook is a winner.
- 2. Time-saving cooking techniques. Martha & Marley Spoon meals use Martha's smart cooking techniques so you can enjoy a delicious meal in as little as 20 minutes, with no planning or shopping whatsoever.
- 3. Choice and variety. Martha & Marley Spoon offers 7 new recipes and 3 customer favorites to choose from weekly, with plans for both couples and families. It is the only service in America that provides total choice of what to cook for both families and 2-person households.
- 4. Thoughtfully-sourced ingredients. Martha & Marley Spoon works with local suppliers to bring the very best to your table, including organic produce, artisanal cheeses and condiments, and ethically-sourced meats and seafood.
- 5. Timeless recipe cards. Every box comes with beautifully-designed, sturdy recipe cards that are easy to follow and reuse.
- 6. Wholesome, balanced meals. Recipes are designed for healthy weeknight cooking and eating, quick preparation, and they're a clear winner over take-out and frozen meals.
- 7. The freshest food around. Martha & Marley Spoon focuses on fresh, local food that is sourced as little as 24 hours before shipping, meaning that your food arrives at its best.

"I Absolutely Love What You Are Doing For Me"

Rod, one of thousands of happy customers says, "I just wanted to thank all at Martha & Marley Spoon. Quality, value, convenience, I could go on. Amazing, delicious, healthy, wonderfully orchestrated meals with a 1, 2, 3 cooking approach. By the way, I started by ordering this for my college daughter who never boiled water prior to December. She is now making herself amazing, healthy, fresh food. Yay!"

Another email writes "Praise to all, I love my meals. The Moroccan Spiced Chicken with Vegetables -- delicious. The spinach tortilla cannelloni -- spectacular! But the best so far is the Chicken Soup with Sweet Potato, Collards and Quinoa. I would describe it as light, sweet, and satisfying. I thank you once again for the exceptional standards."

And yet another says, "You are the best! I am amazed at how perfect your service is for me. I enjoy the offerings and quality put into each box, always easy and fun to prepare. I love the special gifts. This level of service is exceptional. I can't imagine life without Martha & Marley Spoon."

Martha & Marley Spoon's success -- and glowing customer reviews -- make it easy to see why sales are booming nationwide and why people can't stop talking about it.

salary in 2018-19 of $55,700 would go towards the new city manager post, with another $15,000 coming from the Community Redevelopment Agency budget, an expenditure strongly supported by Apalachicola businessman Tom Morgan, a CRA board member, at a CRA meeting held prior to the city commission's regular May meeting.

Johnson proposed to take another $20,000 from the city's contingency funds, and said $15,000 would come from the sale of the former fire station on Water Street.

Another $5,000 from monies, budgeted but unbilled, for consultant Bill McCartney would go towards funding, along with what the mayor said would be "a minimum projected increase of sales tax revenue" of $10,000.

He did not specify a dollar figure, but said the new person would help minimize the role and cost of City Attorney Pat Floyd. "Currently we are paying the city attorney to handle problems that could easily be handled by a city manager," Johnson said.

"If a city manager is worth their salt, and they can't find the money to continue, then they don't deserve the job," Johnson said. "A lot of issues will be taken care of. It works in other communities, I don't see why it wouldn't work here."

Questioned by Commissioner Brenda Ash as to what would happen if additional revenue did not come in as forecast, the mayor voiced an adamant tone.

"Then we'll go back to the old condition of being broke, going from one crisis to the next," he said. "I have high hopes that a city manager come in with expertise and find the money."

"If the money's not there beyond that, then the position does not continue," Johnson said. "It is very likely that revenues will increase, or expenses will be saved, that will more than pay for the added cost. In fact, in most cases, a good city manager will save the city money, not cost the city money."

The mayor said hiring a professional city manager would give commissioners better control over the administration of policies, would make accountability more centralized, and would enable all commissioners to be equally involved.

He said a city manager will provide a central contact point for citizens to resolve complaints, and for a more effective use of state and federal grants in providing and paying for city services.

"A city manager will work diligently to promote responsible government spending, and identify ways to provide better, more efficient and more cost-effective city services," Johnson said.

"The issues we're hearing tonight is a direct result because we don't have an effective city manager in place," he said.

"Why do we need a city planner to increase spending? Carrabelle tried it and it didn't work," asked Bartley.

"Until you put forth the effort to change the current climate it's going to continue," the mayor argued, citing the current budget pressures affecting the city. "You're going to have to do your job (or) the day's going to come when city employees can't cash their paycheck."

In her motion Ash specified the one-year probationary period "unless funds can be sustained." The mayor as well as Commissioner Jimmy Elliott both reiterated that no employees would be displaced.

"Everybody would keep their jobs," said Elliott, noting the one other Florida city, Key West, deemed by the state to be an area of state concern, has a city manager. "Somehow they get $5 million."

"Hopefully, (a city manager) will perform so well, they'll bring money into the city, and it will be good for the city and good for workers," he said. "It's a gamble you have to take."

The mayor challenged his colleagues to come up with an alternative if they weren't on board with the new post. "If you have a better solution, put it on the table," said Johnson, offering to place Commissioner Anita Grove, who had voiced concerns about cutting back the newly-created lobbyist position, on a screening committee for the new hire.

Four Apalachicola residents, Elinor Mount-Simmons, Despina George, Jan Thomas and Valentine Webb, spoke out during the meeting.

Mount-Simmons probed how it was that others already tasked to seek grants, including lobbyist Patrick Bell and CRA Director Augusta West, would not be affected by the new hire.

George was explicitly opposed, calling it fiscally irresponsible to move forward without considering the entire budget picture.

"There's never any reporting on how we fare (with financial decisions)," she said. "It's not a gamble, it's ridiculous. This was put together by a committee and you're trying shove this down the commission's throat."

Thomas supported the move. "I'm so proud to be here right now," she said. "I understand the fear, the worry, of the change."

Webb cautioned that "You're setting yourself up for failure if it's for one year. This person will need at least two years."

Ash replied that "without having the pro-forma, how can you go that length of time if you don't know where those revenues are coming from? And we don't have that."

Vroegops turn down revised lease

Following up on a narrow vote last month, City Attorney Pat Floyd presented a modified lease for the Harbormaster House at Scipio Creek, and the commissioners approved it unanimously.

But soon after, Mike and Robin Vroegop, partners in Florida Geotourism Associates (FGA), the ecotourism company that first secured permission last fall, said no to the offer.

Floyd said he had reviewed his proposed lease with City Administrator Lee Mathes, and made changes as suggested by the city commission as well as by John Albers, a mediator brought in on the Vroegops' behalf earlier this year.

"We added a definition of community space, that would be monitored by the city," he said. "They would have the rights to approve the meetings in community space to make sure it continues to be in the interest of the city, and not violate the purpose of the Scipio Creek basin."

The proposed lease would include a provision allowing the Vroegops to sublet a portion of the building, subject to city approval.

The Vroegops had asked that the gross rent for the entire space remain at $1,000 per month, with a 4 percent increase put in place for the last half of the 10-year lease. Any monies from subleasing that go beyond that would go entirely to the city, the Vroegops proposed.

Floyd said his lease said that if the city approves a sublease, "a certain percentage would be paid to city, with the rest to FGA. This could be an inducement on the part of the city, to be able to increase the rent a little bit."

In defense of his default provisions, Floyd said he did not see the basis for many of the Vroegop's objections.

"If it (the lease) is not broken, there's no need to fix it. Items that were never objected to (are now being challenged). If it's not requested to be changed, you don't change it," he said. "Why are you worrying about the default provision anyway? We don't know what will happen in 10 years."

He said the Vroegops had already secured several favorable terms through the talks. "The bottom line is we're down to the point where there's not much to really talk about any more but those things that aren't applicable."

"There is a difference between a good lease, and the best lease for the city," he said. "This is the best lease that protects the city, not an 'all right' or a 'good' one."

Robin Vroegop told commissioners they would not sign the proposed lease, which they would have 10 days to do. "It's my opinion, it's not a fair lease and we will not sign it," she said.

The commission agreed to give them a month to vacate the building, which they have occupied since late last fall and made several improvements to the structure.

"I'm very, very proud of what we've done in that building," Robin Vroegop said. "We've had people come over and get excited."

Elliott pressed the Vroegops as to their objections to the revised lease. They did not address specifics that they continued to want changed, but mentioned subleasing.

"We never intended to make money off the lease," said Vroegop. "Anything over $1,000 is all yours, we're not there to make money on the lease. We're not here to make money on community space."

Johnson offered the couple an option where the city would agree to Alber's proposed lease in its entirety, but only for two years, and with a 60-day out. The Vroegops said no.

"I would have to go through this process again, sir, and respectfully I wouldn't," said Robin Vroegop. "We have already put $12,000 into it. This building needs $25,000 worth of air-conditioning. If you can give it to me for $1 a year, I will sign that lease, and I'll put air conditioning in it."

"We do what we say and we say what we do and we carry it out," she said. "I'm not going to change my mind."

CELEBRATE OUTDOORS

Prime time: Catch inshore fishing action

By Frank Sargeant
Special to The Times

May is one of the best months of the year on the Panhandle coast, with the weather near perfect, the Spring Break crowds all gone, and the water temperature just right for a wide variety of coastal fish species to be at or near prime feeding time.

Sea trout and redbfish will both have great appetites and be easy to find this month. They're hungry after the chill of winter has passed, baitfish abound and the last of the cold fronts is long gone.

Trout action is likely to be best around marsh edges and creek outflows as well as off the ends of deepwater boat docks in the backbays. It may take a bit of exploring to find productive locations, but once you find the fish, they will be there day after day on the same tide period.

Topwater lures are useful tools for finding trout, particularly in the first hour after dawn. The lures lead to big, noisy blow-ups that let you know the fish are there, even if they don't get hooked.

Walkin' the Dog type lures like the Zara Spook and the Sammy do very well on these fish, and the new Rapala Skitter V is a particularly effective and easy-to-use variation. The best action for trout is a slow, steady twitch with momentary hesitations between each zig and zag. Working the lure too fast may draw swirls without solid strikes; hesitate a bit and the fish will usually latch on.

After the sun gets up, switching to a plastic shrimp under a popping cork is a good strategy. The classic is the DOA 3-inch shrimp, and also good is the Vudu Shrimp from Egret Lures. The lure is suspended 18 inches to 2 feet under the cork on a length of 20-pound-test mono. Pop the lure and the bait jumps, then settles back to depth. It's a very simply tactic, and it works great not only for expert anglers but for those new to fishing with artificial lures. (To make double sure of action, replace the plastic lures with the real thing — a tail-hooked live shrimp.)

Also good are the classic quarter-ounce plastic tailed jigs. The 4-inch DOA CAL in pearl color is a universal winner for this action. Lighter heads might be better in water under 3 feet deep, heavier in water more than 6 feet around docks. These are fished in the usual slow-hop motion.

The best areas to find trout usually have relatively clear water, baitfish action, and tidal movement. You may run miles of shoreline without seeing the right combination, then come on a quarter-mile that's absolutely loaded — keep moving until you find action.

Redfish might show up in any of the locations where you find trout, but if there's hard structure around like oyster bars, barnacled pilings, concrete rubble or riprap, the reds are much more likely to be there.

Reds will slam topwaters, but they're much more subsurface feeders. A jig with a dark plastic tail to imitate crabs or shrimp may be a better bet than the lighter shade of tails if you're after redbfish.

And, reds sometimes just don't want artificials, particularly if they've seen a few too many of them. However, a live shrimp, live pinfish or small crab will catch them every time, and if you don't want to mess with the real thing, Berkley's GULP crab is a close second. Cut mullet or pinfish also do well; fish the baits on 3/8 to 3/4 short shank Octopus style hooks for easy hookup.

If the reds don't show up in these locations, slow-trolling the bridge pilings over the major bays with large diving plugs will usually locate a school. Once you catch one of these guys, it's likely there are more on the same piling; anchor uptide and drift live or cut bait back near bottom to get action. These fish tend to be big ones, well over the slot, but they're a lot of fun to catch. Larger hooks and gear are a good idea to get them away from the pilings.

By May, reds will also be prowling the shallow flats. Anywhere there's clear water and depths from 1 to 3 feet, there may be sight-fishing opportunities. Tides don't make as much difference here as they do in some parts of Florida because the range is minimal, but the fish are definitely more active when the water is moving, either in or out.

Stinger rigs with live bait are a good bet for luring kings around the inlets this month. (FRANK SARGEANT/CONTRIBUTED PHOTO)

FISHING REPORT

Let's talk about baits this week, yes fishing is still great along the Forgotten Coast this last week but let's talk about what makes it happen. All anglers know there are 100's if not 1000's of baits available on the market. The key is which bait to choose. Most of the time in our area there is a routine for colors and brands. For the most part New Penny or Root beer colors some with Chartreuse tails are great. Also what's known as electric chicken is very popular and some of the cream or natural colors are popular. Most bait manufacturers take a lot of time with R&D and their baits are proven in the field. I've tried many baits over the years and I find myself asking "does this look like a fish would eat it"? Sometimes yes and sometimes no. The point is never be afraid to try something new and if a friend says "hey try so and so I had great luck with it", it may become your new go to. If you want to see 100's of different baits please visit us at Bluewater Outriggers and we will guide you through the most popular and the newest on the market. Until next week, Happy Fishing!

We have everything you need for outdoor Summer fun!

Ray first Hawk to medal at state

By David Adlerstein

Franklin County High School freshman Ja'Mela Ray became the first Seahawk ever to medal in state track and field last weekend, as she placed eighth in the shotput at the meet Friday at the University of North Florida.

Ray set a personal record at state of 10.54 meters, the equivalent, of 34 feet 7 inches, which got her into the medaling position.

"Many of the medal winners ahead of her are seniors and will not be returning," said coach John Cooper. "The next

The state championship format for high jump starts at the lower seeds' best heights.

"It throws many off," said Cooper.

Junior Tiauana Benjamin ended up scratching on all of her jumps.

"She is used to working her way up, instead of starting out at a huge height," said Cooper.

Seniors make it their night vs. Aucilla

By David Adlerstein
The Apalachicola Times
dadlerstein@starfl.com
850-653-8894

The Seahawk varsity baseball team downed Aucilla Christian 5-4 on Senior Night in an exciting contest, with two runs to win in the bottom of the eighth.

"Just a really tight ball game the whole way," said coach Kevin Cox. "Really special to honor these three senior players ; Chance White, Dalyn Sheridan, Christian Amison and the "Voice of the Seahawks" Sawyer Stultz, who have given so much to this program over the years.

"What's also special about the night is that every single senior contributed to this extra inning win," he said. "Early in the game when starting pitcher Micah McLeod had to come out, I was able to hand the ball to Sheridan who pitched 3.2 innings and only gave up two runs.. He also scored the tying run in the eighth.

"Next you have Christian Amison and Chance White who both had hits in the fourth inning when we came back to tie it up. White also had the game tying hit in the bottom of the seventh," said the coach. "Seemed like we were chasing a run all night long but loved the way the guys kept hanging in there."

The Hawks had a chance to have big inning in the fourth with bases loaded no outs but could not get the big hit. They also had an opportunity to finish game in the seventh when after White's game tying RBI, they loaded bases with one out. After Aucilla Christian had a go ahead sacrifice fly in the top of eighth, Sheridan walked with one out in the bottom of the eighth, stole second and moved to third on a passed ball. After an infield fly for the second out, Sheridan scored on Ethan Riley's infield single. Riley stole second and third, then McLeod walked.

What's also special about the night is that every single senior contributed to this extra inning win. Early in the game when starting pitcher Micah McLeod had to come out, I was able to hand the ball to Sheridan who pitched 3.2 innings and only gave up two runs.. He also scored the tying run in the eighth.

Coach Kevin Cox

Then with White at plate on 3-1 count, McLeod intentionally gets in run down between first and second, allowing Riley to score from third.

White was 2 for 2 at the plate with and RBI and Tonnor Segree 1 for 4 with and RBI.

Javan Pride got the win, hurling three innings, striking out two, and giving up one hit and one earned run.

Sheridan struck out four and walked four in his three innings of work, giving up two hits and two earned runs. McLeod struck out two and gave up one hit and one earned run in his inning of work.

On April 10 at Port St Joe, the Seahawks fell 5-0, with Pride taking the loss, hurling four innings and giving up a walk, four hits, and four runs, one of them earned.

Segree hurled one inning, striking ut one and walking two, and gave up an unearned run. Christopher Newell struck out one in his inning on the mound.

"This was another tough one to lose. The bats really let us down in this game," said Cox. "The difference in the game is that when we made our mistakes St. Joe made us pay for them and we didn't make them pay for theirs.

"They only had one more hit than us but scored five runs where we could not come up with any clutch hit to get momentum.

"Our pitching was good enough to win," said the coach. "Pride who started the game only gave up one earned run. We just missed a couple of routine balls in the second inning that really hurt us. The guys competed well and St. Joe made a couple of outstanding defensive plays that kept off the scoreboard."

On April 12 at Wakulla Christian, the Seahawks fell 13-3, with Segree taking the loss, with two walks, two hits and four earned runs.

Sheridan pitched four innings, striking out three and walking five, while giving up four hits and five runs, four earned. Amison walked two and gave up two hits and four runs, three earned.

"Pitching was a struggle and Wakulla Christian hit the ball very well," said Cox. "Seemed like we would never get out of the first inning. The bright spot in the game was the way Dalyn Sheridan came in the first inning and pitched four very good innings. Just tip your cap to Wakulla Christian, they just beat us and beat us handily.

Riley was 2 for 3 at the plate.

On the beach sat Seiden's photo, surrounded by sunflowers.

"The vigil was extremely sad," said one of Seiden's friends. "This is a very tragic situation but it was nice to all get together and honor her memory."

At the Sportsman's Lodge, owners Bob and Edda Allen have decorated a small concrete monument that overlooks the river with pink roses, and a copy of the newspaper article that addressed Seiden's murder.

And near the site of where her body, clothed in black spandex pants, put on backwards, lying face up in a ditch, was discovered by an East-point couple at about 4:40 p.m. on April 23, people in the county have placed bouquets of flowers in Seiden's memory.

The sheriff's office reported that the victim's bruises to Seiden's stomach and face were seen. A full report by the county medical examiner has been provided State Attorney Jack Campbell's office.

Seiden checked into the lodge about 10:20 p.m. on April 21, after dining for about two hours on the patio of the Red Pirate, have been charged in her murder.

Zachary Abell, 30, from North Miami, was brought here May 2 and booked into the Franklin County Jail on the charge of second degree murder and tampering with evidence

Citing on forms that he was completely broke, with no assets whatsoever, the operator of a North Miami used car lot was given a first appearance before County Judge Van Russell. Public Defender Courtenay Miller sought to have Abell surrender his passport and wear an ankle bracelet in order to be let out on bail, but Russell ordered him held without bond. Miller said no decision has been made whether to seek bail through a motion before Circuit Judge Terry Lewis. Abell is being held in the Wakulla County Jail.

In contrast, Christina Araujo, 38, from North Miami, also charged with the same offenses, arrived at the county jail Monday afternoon, after being held for several days in a South Florida hospital on what law enforcement officials say was a spider bite. The daughter of a high-ranking officer in the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, she has hired two high-powered attorneys, Scott Richardson, of West Palm Beach and Jimmy Judkins, of Tallahassee. A hearing is to be held this morning as to whether she will be granted bail.

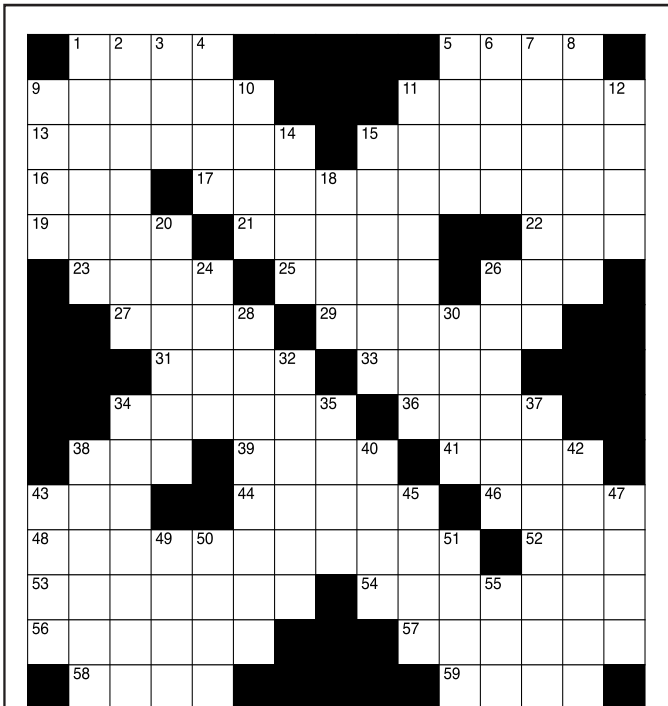

The probable cause affidavit filed by officers working under Sheriff A.J. Smith indicates that Michael John Picavet, of Davie, reported the possible murder to officials in Palm Beach County on the morning of April 24. He said the three had gone to Texas to buy vehicles for the dealership, and that on their return to South Florida, Abell and Araujo informed him "something bad occurred on their trip and their friend (Seiden) was dead."

Investigation of sheriff's deputies and later work by crime scene technicians from the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, found blood spatter on the walls, floors, curtains and chairs of the motel room. "The bed sheets had been washed by the suspects and placed back on the bed," read the report. "Suspects attempted to remove the blood from the mattress to no avail. There were numerous blood stains on the sheets, mattress covers and mattress."

The 2013 Honda Civic that was driven has been searched by FDLE, and in it was found a broken wooden staff that Araujo told authorities she saw Abell beating Seiden with in the bathroom. Technicians found evidence of blood stains in the vehicle as well. A shower curtain and rod were also found missing, and trash and balloons were scattered on the room floor.

then works on their solution throughout the year, and they perform their solution at the competition.

In spontaneous, team members are assigned a problem the day of competition and are given a short amount of time to come up with a solution. Odyssey of the Minders, or OMers, work together in order to make their ideas come to life.

The middle school team A, coached by Anna Keel and Tara Ward, includes Weston Bockelman, Alex Itzkovitz, Lauren Conway, Jeremy Shuler, River Sheridan, Avery Pharr, and Weston Taranto. Their problem "Classics... Mockumentary! Seriously?" required they choose a classic story and present it in a humorous, documentary-style performance.

finish. They won first place in the spontaneous portion of the competition. The members were each awarded a ribbon, and the coaches were given a large ribbon that is now on display in the lobby of the school.

The middle school team B, coached by Marisa Getter, includes Maya Itzkovitz,

Emma White, C.J. Conway, Alex Sterling, Maya Ange, and Bella Price. In their problem, "Triathlon Travels," the team built a ride-on vehicle to drive in an entertaining triathlon and complete three events, including jousting, curling and running a track. Between the events, the team was required to change the car's appearance and amuse the audience.

Team B did very well and finished in 14th place, an impressive feat considering this is the state level. This was the first year competing for all members on this team, and they have certainly shown us their potential.

The elementary team from ABC school also competed in the Emerald Coast regional competition with their problem of "A Stellar Hangout" and placed fifth. In this problem the team was charged with the task of creating three different aliens on a treasure hunt for a team-created treasure. They had to create their own stellar hangout, complete with team-created food and entertainment.

Angela Lolley was the coach for this first-year elementary team that included Kate Ward, Kingston Williams, Lilly Willis, Connor Lolley, Owen Juno, Sophia Strickland, and Zariah Harvey.

All-in-all, this school year has been a major success for the Apalachicola Bay Charter School Odyssey of the Mind teams. They showed their amazing abilities at the regional and state levels. These students have made us all very proud, and hopefully we will have the same success next year!

River Sheridan is a seventh grader at the Apalachicola Bay Charter School.

20552T NOTICE OF CDBG PUBLIC HEARING, FAIR HOUSING WORKSHOP, SPECIAL CITY COMMISSION MEETING, AND CITIZEN ADVISORY TASK FORCE MEETING

The City of Apalachicola City Commission will hold a special meeting at 6:00 p.m., Tuesday, May 22, 2018. The agenda includes a public hearing on the City's CDBG grant application, a brief fair housing workshop on local, state and federal laws, and decisions relating to the CDBG grant application.

The Apalachicola City Commissioner will conduct a first public hearing to obtain comments or suggestions for a proposed FFY 2017 application to the Florida Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) for a Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) of up to $650,000. Economic development CDBG grants may be up to $1,500,000.

The categories of activities for which these grant funds may be used are in the areas of housing, neighborhood revitalization, commercial revitalization, or economic development and include such improvement activities as construction of infrastructure (roads, water, sewer, drainage), acquisition of real property for eligible uses, loans to private-for-profit business, rehabilitation of houses and commercial buildings. For each activity that is proposed, at least 51% of the persons benefiting must be in income categories not exceeding the HUD-determined moderate income range (80% adjusted median income). In developing an application for submission to DEO, the City must plan to minimize displacement of persons as a result of planned CDBG activities, and is required to develop a plan to assist displaced persons. Various factors affecting the competitive score of the application must be considered. Additional information regarding the range of activities that may be undertaken will be provided at the public hearing.

The City's appointed Citizen Advisory Task Force will also conduct a meeting to discuss the CDBG program and local needs, and to develop a recommendation to the City Commission regarding a potential CDBG application. This meeting will be held at 5:00 on May 22, 2018.

The meetings are open to the public, and will be held at the Community Center, 1 Bay Avenue, Apalachicola. Questions regarding the meetings should be directed to Lee Mathes, City Administrator at (850) 653-9319 or leemathes@cityofapalachicola.com. GRANT

The initial project saw the construction of two inland test wells, which were later converted to potable supply wells.

The Eastpoint district provides water for 1,536 residents in unincorporated Franklin County.

“Without support from the Legislature and the water management district, smaller communities throughout northwest Florida would have a hard time finding the funding for much-needed projects like these,” State Sen. Bill Montford said. “The water management district and its governing board share my commitment to the rural communities in our area and I appreciate the local leaders in Eastpoint for their efforts in improving the quality of water for their residents.”

The most recent project added a well pump, controls and backup generator as well as a transmission line and connections. These upgrades will allow Eastpoint to abandon the two coastal wells and use the two inland wells as the primary source for potable water for its customers.

The project also saw $39,581 in local matching funds, bringing the overall funding for the work to $382,733.

“This project not only helped the Eastpoint Water and Sewer District to alleviate the problem of salt water intrusion into our system, but also improve the water quality for the customers of the district,” County Commissioner Ricky Jones said. “We are not a large district, but we will continue to pursue partnerships that will benefit the district and will benefit the Apalachicola Bay.”

The newer wells feature improved water quality and also reduce the amount of water lost in the system from the older wells.

“This project ensures the residents of Eastpoint have access to a safe and reliable supply of water, which is another example of how the district’s grant program has been such a success,” District Governing Board member Bo Spring said. “Our district takes tremendous pride in working with local communities to fund these types of projects that make such a positive impact.”

The funding is part of the Water Supply Development Grant program, launched in 2013, which has awarded funding for 70 projects totaling more than $21.6 million. These projects have helped local governments and utilities make potable water distribution system improvements, replace aging infrastructure, evaluate and develop alternative water supply projects, and address local drinking water quality issues. Two-thirds of the projects are in rural or financially disadvantaged communities.
