An explosion and fire destroyed these Warren Road businesses early Saturday morning.

Explosion's legacy: lost stores, hopes

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

An early Saturday morning explosion destroyed more than just four businesses on Warren Road east of Middlebelt.

It also blew away the hopes of a man hoping to open a new business, Star Coney Island, who expected to begin serving diners next Monday.

The explosion, which the Westland fire department said was the result of a botched arson job, destroyed the hopes of owner Joe Haidar, who said he lost an investment of $32,000 to $35,000 in the blast.

"I have never seen anything like this in my whole life," he said in a telephone interview. "I almost cried when I saw the shape the place was in."

The explosion and fire destroyed four existing businesses: Dominic's Pizzeria, Snoop Sisters Family Closet clothing firm, Red Carpet Keim real estate office, and Rima's Salon. Store interiors were gutted and the building's roof was blown off.

Only the 7Q party store and a dry cleaning business were not damaged by the explosion.

UAW strikes at tank firm

By Leonard Poger
editor

A Westland company which makes controls and electrical parts for Army tanks is being struck by UAW employees in a labor dispute entering its second week today.

Electro-Tech, Inc., 1313 S. Newburgh, had no comment on the labor dispute, which began Wednesday, Feb. 15.

"We don't wish any publicity" about the strike, said Colleen Fontana, corporate secretary/treasurer. Company president Jack Beauchamp wasn't available for comment.

UAW members, who have 24-hour picketing planned for the strike, said the strike is over wages and some non-economic issues.

UAW committee member Sandra Tittensor, a Westland employee who has worked at the plant for 10 years, said there were six negotiating sessions held to reach a new contract, the last being a week before the strike started.

She said all 25 union members on strike are members of UAW Local 985. Continuing to work are about 18 non-union employees, she added.

While security guards patrolled the plant's entrance, Tittensor said there have been no problems since the strike started.

She said that the average wage among union members is $8.48 an hour with the UAW asking for an increase of 35 cents per hour and changes in work rules and grievance procedures.

Tittensor claimed that many strikers are female heads of households and would have financial problems if the strike continued much longer.

As of Tuesday afternoon, no negotiating sessions were planned, she said.

Rash of fires shows value of insurance

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

A rash of fires in Westland since January has kept insurance investigators and agents almost as busy as firefighters.

The fires — which have caused nearly $4 million in damages to several homes and local businesses, according to fire department estimates — highlight the need for adequate insurance coverage, particularly for the small business owner.

"Most small business owners are OK when it comes to fire and liability protection," said Jeff Juenemann, president of the Westland Chamber of Commerce and owner of a local insurance agency.

"But sometimes they aren't as sophisticated (as major companies) when it comes to the incidentals."

Juenemann said there are often "hidden costs" involved in rebuilding a business following a fire or other disaster. Costs that require additional coverage beyond replacement of a building and its contents.

For example, Juenemann said, a business owner who wants to keep current employees has to pay them while the business is being repaired or rebuilt, which could take months. "I don't think the employee is going to be willing to hang around that long without some kind of compensation," he said.

Firm to find new superintendent

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

If all goes by plan, Livonia Public Schools will name a permanent successor to former superintendent of schools James Carlil on June 26.

The Livonia Public Schools District includes the northern section of Westland.

The Livonia Board of Education has hired consultants Carroll Johnson and John Brubacher to conduct a national search for a successor to Carlil, who died Dec. 20.

Johnson was in the district Tuesday and Wednesday to meet with some school officials, union and PTA leaders.

This week, and when he returns to the district April 6-7, he will be seeking advice on what to look for in a superintendent.

JOHNSON, WHO holds a doctorate degree from Columbia University and was a schools superintendent for 23 years, has conducted 125 superintendent searches since becoming a consultant in 1989. The consultants' fee is $10,000.

"Their similarities... they are capable, they have integrity, knowledge of finance," he said.

But Johnson said most important, good superintendent candidates "have good people skills."

Tie votes still lead to city raises

By Leonard Poger
editor

Westland's mayor and seven city council members will receive 3 1/2 percent pay raises, effective next Wednesday, and another 3 percent hike the following year.

The raises were confirmed Tuesday night when the council refused to reject a recommendation from the Local Officers Compensation Commission.

Under state law, the commission's recommendations are implemented unless the council rejects them within 30 days by at least a 5-2 vote.

But after several 3-3 tie votes, only Council members Charles Pickering, Thomas Artley and Kent Herbert wanted to reject all of part of the LOCC's recommendations.

In favor of the raises were council president Kenneth Mehl and Council members William Ziemba and Ben DeHart. Councilman Thomas

Brown was out of town for the meeting but sent a letter to his colleagues that he supported the raises.

Supporters said the proposed raises were less than the rate of inflation.

But opponents stressed that coupled with the 1987 raises, the mayor will have realized a 40 percent pay hike with council members gaining a 60 percent boost.

During the discussion, DeHart said that he will donate $350, or nearly $9 more than the expected raise, to the Westland Youth Athletic Association.

STARTING Wednesday, Mayor Charles Griffin's salary will move to $69,310 from $66,000 and then to $70,359 the following year. He will also have a $1,000 increase in his expense allowance, up to $5,000 or 25 percent.

The council members will have their salaries increased to $10,096 from $9,765 next week and to $10,399 the following March 1.

Pickering felt that the new raises, added to the 1987 hikes, are excessive while Artley said the combined increases "are ludicrous and outrageous."

Pickering added that he opposed the commission's concept of basing local raises on a percentage of the district judges' salaries.

In defending the raises, Mehl said that if a council member is doing his job, "we don't even get minimum wage."

His comments about unnamed others in the council chamber being political candidates this fall prompted a response from Herbert who said he is tired of Mehl suggesting political motivations from people who have "sincere objections" to an issue.

Artley also said he didn't like the political situations made by Mehl.

'Nuisance' laws OK'd by council

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

The Westland City Council Tuesday passed two ordinances against "nuisance" crimes often committed by youths.

The new ordinances place restrictions on pellet guns and other facsimile firearms and set penalties for false alarms. Both laws take effect immediately.

The pellet gun law, city ordinance 109J, makes it illegal to "draw, exhibit or brandish" any facsimile firearm in "a threatening, rude or hostile manner with the intent to frighten, harass, vex or annoy another person." Transporting an uncased facsimile firearm in any motor vehicle is also prohibited.

The law applies to pellet guns, BB guns, starter pistols, air rifles, slingshots, bows and arrows and similar weapons.

Violation is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $500 and/or 90 days in jail.

POLICE ARE seeing an increasing number of authentic looking facsimile firearms in Westland, according to police Executive Lt. Michael Frayer. There have been car window shooting sprees in some neighborhoods and youths in bars sometimes use the guns to threaten others as they drive by, Frayer said.

The law allows the city to confiscate the weapons and sell them at auction, Frayer said.

Ordinance 5-A-1 defines and regulates false police and fire alarms and sets penalties for anyone convicted of turning in a false alarm.

A false alarm is any occasion where an alarm system is activated and those responding find no evidence of a fire or of illegal entry, the ordinance states.

The law makes exceptions for alarms activated by severe weather or other technical malfunctions and alarm tests when police or fire officials have been previously notified.

In addition to the possible $500 fine and jail sentence, violators may be required to pay the city $50 for each false alarm in excess of two recorded over a one-year period.

FIRE CHIEF Larry Lane estimated the response cost to a false fire alarm is $250, not including manpower expenses. "Where we run into a problem is the maintenance expenses on our equipment, which can be severe," Lane said.

Lane said about 5 percent of about 1,200 fire and EMS runs annually prove to be false alarms, or 60 a year.

Frayer said police officers are required to fill out a written report after responding to any alarm, including false ones.

to a new location) and compensation for lost sales are some of the items that can be covered by purchasing additional insurance, according to Juenemann.

While Dominic's Pizzeria was destroyed in Saturday's explosion and fire, adjacent businesses that were severely damaged by the explosion and blaze could file claims. The incident caused an estimated $300,000 in damages to four of the six stores in the strip shopping center on Warren Road, between Haller and Garden.

"They'll (the adjacent businesses) definitely be taken care of by their own insurance companies,"

Juenemann said. "Those companies will probably then go to court to try to collect from the pizzeria or his insurance company."

Juenemann said homeowners and apartment residents should review their insurance coverage annually to make sure they are adequately protected in case of fire.

He recommended that those living in neighborhoods where home prices are rising faster than the national home inflation rate consider purchasing additional replacement-value coverage.

Apartment residents should have enough insurance to at least cover loss of contents from a fire, he said.

"It's the most important quality, and the reason they get fired is they don't have strong people skills."

To determine if a candidate has this, "We talk with him about that — How would you describe your management style, a written statement of accomplishments, the things he's most proud of," Johnson said.

"If it's I, I, I, it does make you want to talk with other people (in the candidate's district)," he said, to see how the candidate gets along with others.

Johnson said the search will open with advertisements in professional journals, and letters to educators asking for nominees.

"We'll get as many applications as we can then begin to screen them," Johnson said, adding he expects to receive 60-90.

AMONG QUALIFICATIONS the board is seeking are "knowledge and skill in the area of curriculum, and someone who works particularly well with teachers administrators and school employees," Johnson said.

He said the board also wants someone with strong background in school finances.

When the consultants return to the district April 6, 7, they will seek advice from the public in a public forum, Johnson said.

Then on April 27, the consultants will report on the status of the search to the board, before the application deadline April 28.

"On May 16 we'll give the board a list of six people," Johnson said.

Shooting exam delayed

The preliminary exam for a Belleville man charged in the freeway shooting of a co-worker from Westland was adjourned Wednesday so the defendant can undergo psychiatric testing.

The exam will continue at 9 a.m. Wednesday, March 8, in 14th District Court before Judge Thomas Shea.

Steven Smith, 21, is charged with one count of assault to commit murder and one count of possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony in connection with the Feb. 8 incident.

Smith, who pleaded not guilty at his arraignment Feb. 10, is being held in the Washtenaw County Jail in lieu of a $250,000 bond.

Police said Smith shot Kenneth

Locke, 29, in the shoulder about 11 p.m. Feb. 8 as the two drove in separate cars on the eastbound M-14 freeway in Superior Township. The men are co-workers at Johnson Controls, Inc., Whitmore Lake.

Locke, who drove to the Westland police station after the incident, told officers he thought he had been shot while on his way home from work. Locke was taken by a Westland EMS crew to Westland Medical Center, where he was treated and released for a minor shoulder wound.

Three bullet holes were found in Locke's car, a 1989 Pontiac, by state police.

State police arrested Smith the next day after Locke gave a description of his assailant.

Food tampering review closed; no charges filed

The Westland police have closed their investigation of a Feb. 9 food tampering incident at a Taco Bell restaurant, Wayne Road south of Hunter.

Criminal charges won't be filed in the incident, said detective Lt. John Reddy. Police interviewed two teenaged employees in connection with the incident.

"The company is satisfied with the investigation and the case is closed as far as we're concerned," Reddy said Monday.

Nobody was injured in the incident and the tainted food wasn't served to customers or employees, police said. The restaurant was closed for about two hours Feb. 10 for the police investigation.

A company official said the incident was "an internal prank" that two employees played on a supervisor.

One of the employees apparently placed a large object conspicuously in some food that was being prepared in the restaurant kitchen, according to the Taco Bell spokesman.

A second employee reportedly called the restaurant manager and posed as a customer who claimed to have found a foreign object in some food prepared at the restaurant.

The two employees were suspended by the restaurant manager pending the outcome of the investigation.

One suspended employee, in a telephone interview with the Observer last week, said she had found another job and would resign from her restaurant job.

Stores, hopes lost

Haidar said he sold his other restaurant, King Coney Island, Venoy near Cherry Hill, to start the new one.

Since he had no insurance, Haidar said he intends to go after the insurance company representing Dominic's Pizzeria to gain a financial settlement.

"I REALLY don't know what I'm going to do next," Haidar said. "I had my heart set on running this restaurant."

Haidar said that he was contacted by police about 8:15 a.m. Saturday about the explosion. He said police officers feared he may have been working in his business at the time of the blast because they knew he had been working late nights to prepare the business for its opening.

As of Tuesday afternoon, Westland police had not charged anyone with arson in connection with the incident.

Fire Chief Larry Lane said earlier that a 17-year-old confessed to trying to set Dominic's Pizzeria on fire and implicated two others.

The youth suffered burns on the front of his body from just below the knees to the top of his head, Lane said.

His clothing has a gasoline odor to it. The youth is recovering from his burn wounds in Ford Hospital, Detroit.

Hosting the annual event are Mayor Charles Griffin and his wife, Margaret.

School superintendents at the Mayor's Ball were Dennis O'Neill of the Wayne-Westland district and Carole Samples, acting top administrator of the Livonia district.

Political party

Officials at hand for Mayor's Ball

The annual Westland Mayor's Ball Saturday night featured dancing, good food and political shop talk.

An estimated 350 people were at the event, initiated in 1976 by then Mayor Thomas Taylor, who was at the latest ball.

Held in the Hellenic Cultural Center, on Joy between Wayne Road and Newburgh, Mayor Charles Griffin and his wife, Margaret, were the hosts for the event that attracted a lot of local and suburban officials.

Besides most city council members and administrators and employees, others attending were Wayne-Westland and Livonia school board members and administrators; Canton Township Supervisor Thomas Yack, and Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano.

Gene (Santa) Reaves, who has played St. Nick at Christmas time for more than 50 years, was happy to distribute badges bearing his photo in a holiday cap and beard and a "Happy Easter" message.

Also on hand were state Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, and state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, county Commissioner Kay Beard, and Westland Chamber of Commerce leaders.

Live music was provided by two groups, Dawn Marie, and Motion and the Step Brothers.

City council president Kenneth Mehl also appealed to the audience to support a planned hockey exhibition trip to Finland and the Soviet Union by the Westland-based Stingers team.

Bill would seek vote on school aid issue

A promised new push to bridge the gap between rich and poor school districts has been launched by state Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, and other legislative leaders.

Under the latest proposal, the Wayne-Westland district would receive nearly $13 million more a year in state revenues.

Keith, House education committee chairman and a state representative for 16 years, has part of the Wayne-Westland district in his House district.

The legislator is renewing his fight to gain more state dollars for low-valuation districts which depend on state aid for a large percentage of their revenues.

He and others introduced legislation last week which would have voters act on a Constitutional amendment guaranteeing "equality of educational opportunity" for Michigan public school students.

Specifically, Keith and others are aiming at the per-pupil spending figures to make their case, they said at a press conference in Lansing last week.

Keith, a former eight-year Garden City school board member and president, has been saying repeatedly since starting his new term in January that the current state aid formula is "a disgrace" because high-valuation districts continue to get state dollars through "categoricals" for special uses like transportation while low-valuation districts are forced to levy their maximum millage rates.

He has consistently used a comparison of Garden City, which has $67,000 of tax base behind each student, and Bloomfield Hills, which has $267,000.

But Bloomfield Hills, Keith said, levies $25.19 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, less than the authorized maximum of $27.54 because of the state revenues it receives.

Garden City levies $39.31 per $1,000.

THE DISTRICT'S current revenues per-pupil are $3,925, but would increase to $4,558 — a difference of $632, or 16 percent — under the Keith proposal.

That would translate into a $3.5 million increase in state revenues.

In the Wayne-Westland district, part of which Keith also represents, would have an increase of $738 per pupil, or 17 percent, bringing its figure to $4,993 under the legislative proposal. That would translate to nearly $13 million a year more in state revenues.

The Wayne-Westland millage rate is $43.12 for operational purposes, one of the highest in the state.

In Wayne County, nine districts could see a cut in per-pupil spending while 25 would realize increases.

Keith and legislative leaders hope to also get voters' approval this spring on raising the state sales tax to 5 percent from 4 percent.

At the same time, the proposal's leaders want the school property taxes reduced by 25 percent.

Under Keith's proposal, most state categorical funds would be dropped and reallocated to the state aid formula which would then mostly go to low-valuation districts.

The proposed legislation is in the form a House Joint Resolution asking voters to approve several Constitutional amendments.

Girl Scouts cookie show goes on the road again

It's that time of year again when Girl Scouts appear at your door, and work places sprout boxes and boxes of Thin Mints, Samoas, Tagalongs (the chocolate-peanut butter ones) and the perennial chocolate chips.

These and three other varieties will be on sale through March 12 for $2 at local banks, stores and supermarkets, as well as from individual Scouts, said Sue Zacharias, local Scout representative.

The cookie sale has been an annual event in the Metro Detroit area for more than 60 years. Detroit area Girl Scouts decided in 1926 to bake cookies and sell them as a fund-raiser, according to Joan Lockhart, communications coordinator for the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council.

It worked so well that a local company, Mills Bakery, got in on the act to furnish the girls with cookies.

SALES HAVE increased so that the Girl Scouts now license three companies to furnish them with cookies: Little Brownie Bakers in Kentucky; Burry Company in New Jersey; and the ABC Company in Virginia.

Last year's cookie sale brought in approximately $1.8 million, Pat Holden, product sales manager for the Michigan Metro Council, said they expect to surpass the $2 million mark this year.

"We've got more girls registered this year," she said, laughing, "more salespeople!"

The cookie sale supports 50 percent of the Girl Scouts' annual operating budget. Of the $2 per box, 32 cents goes back to the local troop. Sixty-three cents goes to the bakery, 9 cents pays for the cost of the sale, and the local council gets the remaining 96 cents.

The money defrays the cost of special events like Space Camp, regular camp programs and maintenance, travel opportunities and leadership training programs for adults.

obituaries

WACLAW PIGLOWSKI

Services for Mr. Piglowski, 79, of Westland were held Feb. 6 from Sts. Simon and Jude Catholic Church, Westland, with the Rev. Andrew A. Nieckarz officiating. Burial was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Detroit.

Mr. Piglowski died Feb. 2 at home.

A native of Poland, Mr. Piglowski moved to Westland in 1981 after the death of his wife, Camille.

A retired draftsman, he worked the last four years in maintenance at Wayne State University.

Mr. Piglowski enjoyed painting and woodcarving. He was active with the Westland and Livonia senior citizens woodcarving group, and a member of Sts. Simon and Jude Catholic Church.

Mr. Piglowski is survived by one son, Joseph, of Westland; three grandchildren, Richard of Westland, Edward of West Branch and Donna (Scott) MacKinnon; and one great-grandchild, Kyle.

QUEENA GOPIGIAN

Services for Mrs. Gopigian, 84, of Garden City were held Feb. 16 from the John Santley and Son Funeral Home, Garden City, with the Rev. Paven Avedikian of St. John Armenian Apostolic Church officiating. Burial was in Cadillac Memorial Gardens West, Westland.

A resident of Garden City for 40 years, Mrs. Gopigian watched the city grow from dirt roads and forest.

A native of Armenia, she escaped the Armenian genocide of the early 1900s and came to America at the age of 17. Mrs. Gopigian was active in the Jolly Teens senior citizens group.

Before her retirement she worked as a chef for the Fordson Box Lunch Company.

Mrs. Gopigian is survived by her son, Zubej Kachadoorian of Detroit; a daughter, Barbara Barnes, of Garden City; four grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

EMERY E. CRIPPS

Services for Mr. Cripps, 82, of Taylor were held Jan. 9 from the Harry J. Will Funeral Home, Redford Township, with the Rev. M. Clement Parr officiating. Interment was in Detroit Memorial Park West, Redford.

Mr. Cripps died Jan. 5 in the Allen Park Convalescent Home. He was a Highland Park firefighter for three years and later joined the Detroit police department. He retired from the department in 1953 as a detective sergeant. He was a member of the Lieutenants and Sergeants Association and a founder of the Detroit Police Officers Association.

Survivors are his wife, Lillian; sons, Emery A. Cripps of Taylor and Norbert Turkowski of Westland; daughters, Karen Clement of Farmington Hills, Elaine Turkowski of Clearwater, Fla., and Joyce Rosol of Latham, N.Y.; 13 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

FADWA G. HADDAD

Services for Mrs. Haddad, 73, of Westland were held Feb. 15 at St. Richard Catholic Church, Westland, with the Rev. Edmond Ghazal officiating. Burial was at Cadillac Memorial Gardens West, Westland.

Mrs. Haddad died Feb. 12 at Oak Hill Care Center in Farmington.

A native of Syria, Mrs. Haddad came to Westland approximately 15 years ago to be with her family.

She was a homemaker, and a member of Our Lady of Redemption Church in Warren.

She is survived by three sons, Philip and Victor of Westland and Farouk of Garden City; one daughter, Fomea Arwdi, of Detroit; 15 grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

WILLIS D. BUTLER

Services for Mr. Butler, 73, of Westland were held Feb. 16 at Newburg United Methodist Church, Livonia, with Dr. David E. Church officiating. Burial was at White Chapel Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Willis died at home Feb. 13. The Angela Hospice assisted the family with in-home care.

He liked to be called "Bill," daughter Nancy Fegan of Traverse City said, but was affectionately known to all as "the big bear."

Mr. Willis was a retired insurance salesman who enjoyed singing with the Barber Shoppers quartet. He was active for more than 40 years in the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America organization. He was also active in the Masons, Architect University Lodge 569.

Mr. Willis is survived by his wife, T. Jean; daughter, Nancy Fegan of Traverse City; five sons, Gary of Brimley, Larry of South Lyon, William of Redford, Terry of Westland, and Thomas Johnson of Ann Arbor; 13 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; and a sister, Louise Judge of Pontiac.

LAWRENCE G. BASHARA

Services for Mr. Bashara, 64, of Livonia were held Feb. 4 at St. Mary Antiochian Orthodox Church, with the Rev. George H. Shalhoub officiating. Burial was at Grand Lawn Cemetery in Detroit.

Mr. Bashara died Feb. 1 at Sinai Hospital, Detroit.

He had been a resident of Livonia since 1956. He served with the Army during World War II. He graduated from Wayne State University with a bachelor of science degree in accounting in 1944.

For the last 18 years Mr. Bashara worked as supervisor of maintenance and construction for the C.F. Burger Creamery/Twin Pines Dairy.

He was a member of St. Mary Antiochian Orthodox Church.

Mr. Bashara is survived by his wife, Dorothy; and one sister, Eleanor Spadafora, of Bloomfield Hills.

CECILY R. FARRAGHER

Services for Mrs. Farragher, 81, of Westland were held Feb. 22 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Plymouth, with the Rev. Fr. Joseph Plawecki officiating. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

Mrs. Farragher died Feb. 18, at Providence Hospital, Southfield.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio,

Mrs. Farragher moved to Westland from Detroit in 1988. She attended college at St. Mary's of Notre Dame, in South Bend, Ind., and graduated in 1930 with a bachelor of science degree.

Mrs. Farragher is survived by her daughter, Cecily A. of Westland; five granddaughters; and a sister, Naomi McMeel of South Bend, Ind.

Gibson auction to await bidders

Use of vacation homes in Myrtle Beach, Florida, and Ocean City along with theater tickets, a hand-carved duck and a variety of other items will be sold to the highest bidders at the Gibson School for the Gifted Gala International Fund-Raising Auction Saturday, March 4.

The evening opens with a silent auction at 7 p.m. in the Recreation and Organizations Center at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. A live auction begins at 8 p.m. followed by dancing and entertainment.

The silent auction features a variety of gift certificates for services, golf outings and tickets to theater and sporting events in the metropolitan area.

Auctioneer Dan Ford will start the live auction at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $5 in advance or $7.50 at the door. Admission includes an international hors d'oeuvres buffet and entertainment.

The live auction features such items as use of a vacation home in Myrtle Beach, S.C., Vero Beach, Fla. and Ocean City, Md. for a week. Michael Rector of Livonia has donated a hand-carved blue wing teal duck. Rector, a local veterinarian, carves as a hobby.

Theatergoers can bid on tickets to the Toronto performance of Phantom of the Opera. Also on the auction block will be a 10-speed Schwinn bicycle, artwork, jewelry, crystal collectibles, weekend getaway packages at area hotels, tickets to concerts and gift certificates to area restaurants.

Sue Clulow of Livonia is chairwoman of the Gibson auction. This is Clulow's sixth stint as chairwoman of a local auction. A member of the board of the Livonia Family YMCA, Clulow spearheaded three successful auctions for that group. She has chaired two silent auctions for Gibson as part of the school's annual arts festival.

"After I started the auctions at the Y, they got wind of it here (at Gibson) and we started with the silent auction. We decided to make it a separate event this year and combine a silent and live auction," said Clulow.

"We have more than $15,000 worth of merchandise and that's pretty good for our first try," said Clulow, who has a 10-year-old daughter, Jennifer, who attends Gibson.

Co-chair of the auction is Carol Green, the school's development director. Green explained that the school receives no funding from public sources.

"Everything we need, we raise," said Green.

The auction is just one of the school's many efforts to raise money. Last fall the school held a dinner to raise money for scholarships. Green is presently writing several grant applications.

Gibson, a school for academically gifted children from ages 4-13, has 140 students from 23 communities in the tri-county area including

Getting ready for the Gibson school auction are Sue Clulow, (right) chairwoman, and Carol Green, development director. More than $15,000 worth of merchandise and services will go on the auction block Saturday, March 4, in the Recreation and Organizations Center at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Livonia, Redford Township, Plymouth, Westland, Birmingham, West Bloomfield, Farmington, Farmington Hills and Southfield. There are 25 faculty members on staff at the school, which is on Fenton Street in Redford Township.

The school, formerly in Dearborn, has leased a school building from the South Redford School District since 1980.

Green said the auction committee hopes to raise more than $6,000. The money will be used to buy equipment such as computer materials, desks, chairs "whatever is needed" for the school.

UM-D is at 4901 Evergreen Road, just south of Ford Road in Dearborn. For tickets to the auction, call Gibson at 537-8688 weekdays.

SC board petitions available

Nominating petitions for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees are available 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays in the president's office.

One four-year and three six-year terms on the seven-member board will be filled at the regular college election of trustees Monday, June 12.

Candidates must be residents of the college district and registered voters.

Candidates also must submit a nominating petition with no less than 50 nor more than 200 signatures of qualified voters. College officials ask that candidates circulate petitions so that all those signing any one petition are residents of a single school district.

The Schoolcraft College voting area includes the school districts of Livonia, Plymouth-Canton, Clarenceville, Garden City and Northville.

There is no filing fee. Schoolcraft board positions are unpaid.

Petitions must be returned to the secretary of the Schoolcraft Community College District, 18600 Haggerty Road, Room A-190, Livonia, by 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 25.

Reps seek new pay raise format

One area congressman would reform the way federal pay raises are determined in the wake of this month's pay raise rejection. Another would eliminate outside income, while approving a smaller pay raise, while still another called his colleagues hypocrites for rejecting the original increase.

Among area representatives, Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, and Sander Levin, D-Southfield, voted with the majority against the increase. William Ford, D-Taylor, voted in favor of the increase.

Pursell, whose district includes northern Livonia, Plymouth and Plymouth Township, called for changes in the way future increases are considered.

The Tauke Bill (sponsored by Rep. Thomas Tauke, R-Iowa, and co-sponsored by Pursell) should be approved, he said.

"THIS BILL would reform the process for considering congressional pay raises," Pursell said. "Specifically, it would require recorded votes, would disallow pay legislation to other bills and would delay any increases from one session of Congress to the next."

Congress should take action to curb its members' outside income, said Levin, whose district includes Redford Township. Honoraria, speech fees paid by political allies, should be eliminated, he said.

"I believe the payment of honoraria constitutes the worst aspect of the structure of compensation for members of the Congress," Levin said. "In my judgment, elimination of all honoraria in return for a much smaller pay increase would be a good bargain for the general public."

DESPITE HEAVY public sentiment against the pay raise, Ford said his fellow congressmen engaged in "demagoguery" in rejecting the increase.

"The shame is that all these others are denied the raise needed to keep them in public service," he said. "Anyone who feels that highly competent people are lining up at the doors of government for important jobs because they pay well, because benefits are high or because of an enviable federal pension are sadly behind the times."

Ford's district includes southern Livonia, Westland, Garden City and Canton Township.

The pay raise was rejected, 380-48, by the U.S. House of Representatives on Feb. 7. It was subsequently rejected by the U.S. Senate, 94-6.

MAIL ON the subject was heavy and mostly negative, congressional sources said.

"I'd say we got more mail on this issue than any other, except for Central America," Pursell representative Gary Cates said.

The large mail-in appeared spontaneous, said Kitty Higgins, a representative for Levin's office.

"Unlike some other issues, it didn't seem like a campaign," she said. "It appears individual constituents took the time to sit down and write letters. It didn't appear to be mass-produced postcards or something where you could sign on and add a 'Me, too' sentiment."

Young pianists win awards at S'craft

Her goal: Elect Hispanics to state Legislature

By Tim Richard
staff writer.

Florida has a Hispanic governor, many Hispanic legislators and mayors.

Michigan has no Hispanic legislators and a handful of Hispanic judges.

"One of my goals is to see more Hispanics involved at the district levels and run for office," said Laura Reyes Kopack, the newly elected sixth vice chair of the Michigan Republican Party.

"I'd like to see more fund-raisers and possibly establishment of a PAC (political action committee)," she added in an interview in her home in a two-year-old Livonia subdivision.

"There is a Latinos of Livonia — a small pocket in West Bloomfield — other groups in Grosse Pointe, downriver, Saginaw, Muskegon, Lansing, Holland, Port Huron and Adrian," said the former Westland resident.

And she has seen that political interest grow in the last decade.

BY DAY, Kopack is an attorney handling real estate and zoning matters for Detroit Edison Co., so she will have to do a lot of her political work at night.

Husband Al, a district sales manager for ANR Freight System, helps. "He's been really supportive. Without him, I couldn't have finished law school," she said. They have daughters ages 4 and 1.

"My parents were from Mexico. I was raised in Detroit and went to Rosary High School, Wayne State University and the University of Detroit Law School.

"Politically, I was active in the college Republicans at Wayne and worked for Republican candidates — local and judicial — in law school. In 1978, I ran for the Wayne State University Board of Governors," she said. That was a Democratic year, when the GOP lost its U.S. Senate seat.

MICHIGAN'S BEST known Hispanics are U.S. District Judge George LaPlata of West Bloomfield Township, a former Oakland circuit judge with a Republican background; and state Board of Education member Gumecindo Salas, a Democrat from Lansing. Others are Detroit Recorder's Judge Isadore Torres and Workers Comp Appeals Commission member

Steve Gonzales. "A few outstate city council members and clerks have come and gone," she said. "There's no one in the Legislature."

"HISPANIC," Kopack explained, is a legal term used by the federal government for the census. It covers persons of Spanish, South American, Mexican and Cuban ancestry. Terms like "Chicano" and "Latino" are going out of use.

The Michigan 1980 census showed 1 percent of the population as Hispanic, but Kopack thinks they were undercounted and closer to 2 percent.

Democratic national candidates Michael Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen both addressed campaign audiences in Spanish, but Kopack doubts it made a lot of difference.

"A great number of Hispanics vote Republican. That goes in my family. Historically, Hispanics have favored Democrats because of their labor positions. But that is changing as more become business and professional people.

"Many Cubans are anti-communist and favor Republican stands on defense. There are strong divisions," she said.

KOPACK HAS been active in the Republican Hispanic movement that resulted in creation of the sixth vice chair several years ago.

Two years ago she sought the post herself but was overpowered by the Pat Robertson forces, who picked Angela Mata.

"I didn't want to run against an incumbent this year," said Kopack, "so I spoke to the (Robertson) people in the party structure, and they hadn't seen her in a year and a half."

Her election in the Feb. 11 state convention at Grand Rapids was unanimous.

HISPANICS ARE cool to a proposal by U.S. Rep. William Broomfield, R-Lake Orion, to make English the official national language.

"I don't think you need a law. If you're going to survive in the U.S., you have to speak English," she said.

Seven states, including California, have such laws, which Hispanics fear can be used punitively. They cite the case of court clerks who were fired for speaking Spanish during a break. The clerks won only after appealing to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Budget battle begins

Legislators vow to change state budget

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Legislators haven't yet declared war on the budget presented to them by Gov. James Blanchard, but they promise plenty of skirmishes.

A number of factors, including political posturing in this pre-gubernatorial election year, could give the Blanchard budget a bumpy ride through both houses.

Party politics aside, area legislators predict the governor's proposals for education, health care, mental health care and transportation might be heavily revised.

"I would say it's going to be a difficult sell this year, much more so than in the past," said state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, who will help shape budget revision as co-vice chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

"Education is tight, mental health care is going to be tight and hospitals are also going to have a difficult time."

EDUCATION IS expected to be the key budget battlefield. Even though the governor proposes $142 million in additional education spending, even some Democrats believe it's not enough.

"I'm really disappointed with what was proposed for school aid," said state Rep. John Bennett, D-Redford Township. "We're falling behind as it is."

Equity in per-student spending remains a burning state issue. William Keith, D-Garden City, is leading House efforts to revise the way state aid is distributed, to give more aid to poorer public school districts and less to wealthier ones.

The proposal Keith is pushing involves the state's so-called categorical grants — supplemental state aid given all public school districts regardless of wealth.

IT WOULD place these grants into

— R. Robert Geake
R-Northville

one big fund. Poorer public school districts would then receive a lump sum grant. Wealthier districts, already receiving no state aid for everyday classroom expenses, would no longer receive the supplemental grants.

"This would equalize the amount of SEV (state equalized valuation) behind each child to around $106,000," Keith said.

State equalized valuation is used to determine how much homeowners and business pay in school taxes.

Keith, however, has some selling of his own to do, even among fellow education committee members.

"I have mixed emotions about the proposal," said state Rep. Justine Barnes, D-Westland. "I'd have to be assured school districts like Livonia wouldn't be hurt too badly."

THE GOVERNOR also drew fire for allegedly shortchanging hospitals through proposed Medicaid payments.

A proposed $128.1 million Medicaid cut has left hospitals — and some legislators — screaming.

"There's a crisis in the health care industry," said state Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, a member of the House Public Health committee.

Proposed changes in the state's mental health care system, including closing and scaling back facilities caused a concern for state Sen. George Hart, D-Dearborn, whose district includes Garden City.

"That's one area we can't afford to cut back," Hart said.

THAT THE governor didn't announce support for efforts to increase the state's gasoline tax "was the biggest disappointment for me," state Sen. William Faust, D-Westland said.

"Speaker of the House (Lewis) Dodak is working on that as a way to improve our roads," Faust said. "I would have liked to hear something from the governor on that."

The governor's much-touted plan to help home buyers also drew skepticism.

"How do you get a fix on down payments?" said state Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia.

LEGISLATORS, HOWEVER, weren't entirely critical.

"It's a tight budget, but it's a good one — at least it's a good first step," Faust said.

Bankes praised his plan to expand child care — at least for state workers.

"It shows the governor is supporting my child care plan," she said. Bankes pushed for greater child care last year as chairwoman of the House Republican Task Force on the issue.

"A task force recommendation calling for child care consortiums to be created among employees of small companies has also been adopted by the governor," Bankes said.

"I'm pleased this is being proposed but we were told there would be problems with the IRS," Bankes said. "I'm not sure what the governor knows that we don't."

BLANCHARD'S PROPOSAL to give job training, rather than welfare, to able young people drew an enthusiastic thumbs up from Bennett.

"Welfare is leveling our budget," he said. "If we can train these young people and help them get jobs, it breaks the cycle."

Quick budget approval isn't expected. Legislators have until June to debate the budget and will probably work until the last minute to do so, Geake predicted.

"We have our work cut out for us," he said.

Social problem Child care needs are vital

WESTLAND has numerous commercial child care services along with one run by a non-profit organization.

The community, with a growing number of working parents and single-parent households, clearly needs more quality child care services.

One recent example is the opening of an infant-child care program last month at Schoolcraft College's Radcliff Center, Wildwood south of Ford.

Now the social need has been identified, the next question is what the state government might be doing to encourage or discourage availability and cost of such care.

A western Wayne County group met this week to discuss a proposed budget cut to eliminate the state division that licenses child care centers.

When that proposed cut was restored, parents and child care operators decided to hold the meeting anyhow to discuss legislative and community concerns about child care.

PARTICIPANTS WANTED to make sure county and state officials realized the importance of licensing as a way of protecting unwary parents from slipshod operators.

The meeting also served an awareness-raising purpose to advance the cause of providing more child care facilities to both single parents and families with young children where both parents work.

In Westland, as in most suburbs, child care availability is limited by lack of facilities. Schools, short of funds, want to focus on K-12 education, although latchkey programs have been established.

The Wayne-Westland Family Y, to its credit, stepped in several years ago to open its child care and latchkey programs.

But the business community is not yet providing child care centers within its facilities for employees or offering a child care allowance as a fringe benefit.

There are economic advantages for business to provide child care facilities or benefits, as de-

For most families, available quality child care services are vital.

finied in the Michigan Employers' Guide To Child Care (a report issued by the House Republican Task Force on Child Care). But that message is slow in reaching business people who need time, once convinced of the advantage, to provide a facility or budget benefits.

The schools argue that their primary mission is education, not to take on social problems when the state cuts its budget.

But they do it when there is a state financial incentive, such as with driver education, or with providing programs for retirees.

Yet, like it or not, providing adequate and affordable child care is a problem that now is before us and will not go away.

We all can understand why many institutions or governmental entities are not best suited to become involved in child care. Yet someone must and so society must reach a consensus on how this dilemma will be solved.

A beginning of consensus building might be a realization by government, business and the public at-large that child care is not a "woman's issue" rising from the feminist movement. Given the numbers of two-parent working families, the need is just as important to husbands as it is to wives.

For most families, providing adequate child care is the second highest expense next to the mortgage payments.

Finally, the beginning of consensus building might also require an admission in the community that the need for child care is not a political issue. The means of providing for or paying for enters the political arena if tax funds or government is to be involved. But the need is a social issue.

Smokers

Be polite: Ask before lighting up

TOBACCO SMOKE is harmful. Yet the Tobacco Institute, headquartered just a few blocks from the White House in Washington, is desperately fighting back for respectability with a heavy propaganda campaign.

No longer does tobacco advertising equate smoking with sexual desirability, as it did in the '30s and '40s. No longer does it bother to challenge the mountain of medical statistics by braying back that there's "no scientific proof" smoke is a killer, as it did in the '60s and '70s.

IN A SERIES of full-page advertisements last month, the Tobacco Institute bellowed "Enough..." It produced a poll showing "a majority of Americans" feel attacks on smoking violate American values.

The Tobacco Institute's message is that there are enough taxes; enough bans, rules and regulations telling us what to do; enough attempts to control private life; enough censorship of free speech and advertising; enough physical abuse of women smokers; enough discrimination against one group.

The tobacco folks aren't saying their product is good. They're saying attacks on their products are attacks on the Bill of Rights, your pocketbook and womanhood.

One is reminded of the sleazy Chicago mayor in the 1920s who used to wrap the American flag around his ample torso when orating, and of philosopher Samuel Johnson's dictum, "Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel."

WE WON'T BE trapped into taking the Tobacco Institute's side on whether smokers of either sex should be physically assaulted.

The point is that smoking — even if legal and constitutional — deserves to be frowned on. Smoking is no longer the norm; it is the exception, and the smoker should be polite enough to ask before lighting up.

Smoking is un-chic, like halitosis or body odor. The smoker has a constitutional right to smoke, to have sweaty armpits, to speak, to buy an ad and to be safe from thugs. And the rest of us have a right to ask the smoker to (hrrumph!) stand further away.

That smoking is losing its grip on Michiganians is evident in the 1988 report from the American Lung Association's southeast Michigan office in Southfield. Among adults (18 or older), smokers declined from 32.4 percent of the population in

Smoking — even if legal and constitutional — deserves to be frowned on. Smoking is no longer the norm; it is the exception, and the smoker should be polite enough to ask before lighting up.

1982 to 28.9 percent last year — in other words, one-tenth fewer smokers.

UNFORTUNATELY, the incidence of smoking is still high among Michigan women aged 18-34 — 33.7 percent compared to 30.7 and 20 percent for older groups.

Why? The speculation is that young women pick up smoking as they enter the work force in greater proportions and more responsible jobs; that teenage girls smoke as a diet technique since smoking curbs one's appetite (just as it drains one's health).

The American Lung Association reports that nearly 12,000 smokers were among the 28,800 Michiganians who died of heart disease, bronchitis and lung cancer in 1987. That's 42 percent — considerably more than the percentage of smokers in the overall population.

The American Cancer Society, also headquartered in Southfield, estimates cigarette smoking is responsible for 85 percent of lung cancer cases among men and 75 percent among women — 83 percent overall.

At this point, we make no new case for governmental action against the tobacco industry, but we see plenty of need for plain Americans — including smokers — to enforce the rule that tobacco smoke is unpleasant. Items:

- Don't smoke around innocent children, whose health can be harmed by "sidestream" smoke from burning cigarettes. Take a walk outdoors when you have a cigarette — the exercise will do you good.

- Educate children on the addictive properties of tobacco and the need to resist peer pressure. If you're a smoking parent, confess your addiction.

- Be encouraging to smokers who try to curb the habit or quit. It often takes five or six tries before they succeed.

Smoking, even if constitutional, is unpleasant and un-chic.

Literary terrorists threaten freedoms on main street

The condition upon which God hath given liberty to man is eternal vigilance; which condition if he breaks, servitude is at once the consequence of his crime and the punishment of his guilt.

— John Curran, Irish patriot

Just imagine, you and your local newspaper could be threatened with extinction for running an unpopular letter-to-the-editor — perhaps authored by you.

Your right to participate in shaping and molding your own community could be threatened.

Sounded like an impossible notion last week. Not so far-fetched this week.

Take a close look at recent developments in the suburbs. There is more to fear than a Middle East holy man.

Today, a Southfield school library lays in charred ruins, the victim of vandalism.

Our right of access to free expression has been damaged.

Today, books in the Plymouth/Canton school district are under attack, victim to a campaign which claims to be fighting Satanism.

OUR GUARANTEE of free speech is under attack.

Today, book stores in suburban malls are caving in to the threats of a foreign power by removing an author's work from the shelves.

Our freedom to know is being held hostage by literary terrorism.

Today, far too many in the educational, literary and journalistic communities are afraid to speak out.

Our free voice in a democratic society is in danger of being hushed.

Historians will have a tough time finding examples of courage under fire during this period. We truly are acting less than admirably. How we handle this censorship-through-terror will set a precedent for how we will live in the future.

Whether it be the result of complacency, negligence, fear, suppression or vandalism, one thing is for sure, our children's chances of enjoying the same liberties as we do have diminished considerably in the last weeks.

PERHAPS AMERICA, shrouded in all its wealth and power is becoming lazy in its middle age. Some of these actions say that freedom, after all, isn't that important, just so the good times keep rolling along.

Steve Barnaby

"The refrains of a rapidly melting resolve ring all too loud. 'So what if books are burned?' 'Who cares if our educational system is crippled?' 'Why take a chance on a book about a culture we don't understand, anyway?' 'Why bother?'"

Notice, the vandals at Southfield High went for the "heart of the school" as one teacher called it. They hit the library, not the cafeteria, not the gym. They went for the books to wreak their vengeance.

Now volume after volume is destroyed. And even if one student misses the experience of finding a book which will spawn a new idea, we all lose.

The Plymouth/Canton campaign is nothing short of domestic literary terrorism. The logic seems to be, ban the books and you've banned Satan.

Hogwash. We should be appalled, outraged and ready to fight back. Yet the candle lighting the eternal vigil of freedom flickers in the harsh wind.

Chamber rips Keith stand

To the editor:
This letter is in response to the inaccurate and unfair article headlined: "Keith pledges renewed action on school funding," which appeared in the Jan. 16 Observer.

Although your article mentions the state chamber, apparently you did not contact us because Rep. William Keith's false statement about the role of the state chamber and Republican legislators concerning defeat of the most recent school finance proposal is reported as fact.

The purpose of this letter is to set the record straight by providing you with some facts.

First, Rep. Keith was absent from session the day the Democratically controlled House failed to pass the governor's school finance plan.

Second, the Republican-controlled Senate passed the governor's plan. Third, more House Republicans voted in favor of the plan than House Democrats.

And fourth, the state chamber did not lobby any member of the House, Democrat or Republican, to vote against final passage of the governor's plan. I know these statements to be true because I was there.

Rep. Keith was not. If you had bothered to give us a call, your article would have been more accurate or at least balanced.

Chief addresses weapons issue

To the editor:
In response to your column of Jan. 19, 1989 entitled "New super weapons endanger innocents."

Contrary to your editorial, 9mm sidearms are no more "lethal" than the six shot .38- and .357-caliber revolvers carried by most police officers today. They simply have a larger ammunition capacity.

Police officers today face a criminal element that is increasingly well-armed and willing to use violence to prevent arrest. We now see criminals wearing body armor and working in teams armed with large capacity semiautomatic handguns, Uzis, M-16s and other various fully automatic assault rifles. To expect an officer to defend him or herself and the public against such odds with a six-shot revolver is unreasonable and reflects outmoded thinking.

The firing of weapons and the use of deadly force by police officers is strictly regulated by state law, court decisions and department rules, regulations, policies and procedures. Our training stresses accuracy and disciplined use of weapons. Our officers are acutely aware that they are legally responsible for every round fired.

This department has issued the Sig-Saur 9mm semiautomatic since April 1988 and is satisfied that our officers are properly equipped and trained and additionally, the qualification scores of our officers have risen with these new weapons, Incldentally, these weapons were purchased with Narcotic Forfeiture Funds at no expense to our taxpayers.

Column raised valid concerns

To the editor:
I was very pleased with Mr. Barnaby's column entitled "New Super Weapons Endanger Innocents." On the other hand, T. Donohue's attempt to enlighten Mr. Barnaby on the dangers of police work was filled with errors, both logical and grammatical.

First, one does not have to be a police officer to know about guns or police work as Donohue implies. Conversely, simply being a police officer does not make one an expert on these matters either.

Secondly, the examples conjured up by Donohue obviously did not occur in Westland. There are police officers in this city that refrain from using deadly force throughout the entire year. However, Donohue would have us believe that the police here in Westland are in a gunfight at the "OK Corral" every other night.

Finally, T. Donohue should take heed of his or her own advice and "stick to something he knows." It was quite apparent that he or she is not a writer. Donohue's letter contained several grammatical errors.

Elementary charge seeks addition, not subtraction

Q: I am a fourth grade teacher and I read your article in regard to teaching geography in the context of a specific issue, i.e., poverty in Africa; I agree. We do need to devote more time to place geography. However, I sometimes wonder how we are supposed to work everything into our elementary program. After 21 years in education, it seems that we get more and more poured on us.

Doc Doyle

A: There is no question that in the United States the approach to elementary education seems to add more but take away nothing. The elementary teacher not only has to teach reading, writing, arithmetic, science and social studies, the core content subjects, but is expected, in this day and age, to assist in helping students in the areas of career education, computer education, sex education (if part of the school program), health, nutrition, self-esteem, global education and so on.

Elementary teachers also give up classroom time for the media program (formerly called library) so as to expose children to library skills, "read aloud to children programs" and are encouraged to fully utilize the media/library's excellent resources; an excellent program in this day and age.

If a district has sufficient funds, time is devoted to programs in art, music, physical education and pull-out programs for gifted and talented, all taken from the classroom teacher's total clock hours during the regular school week. Furthermore, compounding the issue for the lower elementary teacher (preschool, kindergarten and first grade) is the time to help put on and take off jackets, tie shoes and blow noses.

At the outset, if you are in a district that has all of the above resources, please visit a few districts that do not have elementary art, music, physical education, gifted/talented, media and other enriching experiences. Talk to those teachers who have no resources before you complain too loudly. They will gladly share any enriching experiences not appreciated by staff in your district.

However, something needs to be done and is being done in some districts. It is called "curriculum compacting." Curriculum compacting is a process which states to the elementary teacher that you do not need to cover every page in every workbook that some textbook company has put together to make the workbook fat and costly, to be competitive with other textbook companies that are concerned they might leave some minute detail out and lose a contract. For instance, in the language arts area (English, grammar, writing) a review of the language arts workbooks can result in selecting only certain key pages to master key skills or objectives as opposed to believing every page has to be addressed.

Many elementary teachers are very conscientious and concerned that every page in a workbook needs to be "covered," which, in my opinion, is self defeating. Curriculum compacting is best accomplished when teachers at the same grade level get together and review the most important skills for the child to master at their grade level and then decide which of the supplementary workbook materials pages are necessary to reach that goal. Not every page necessarily has to be completed. As a matter of fact, a classroom can become a "ditto dynasty" if every page is addressed leaving little or no time for problem solving or higher level thinking skills activities. Other helpful methods include a "whole language" approach where grammar, spelling and writing can be combined into one activity as opposed to being taught separately.

Redirect aim Focus instead on school fund plans

LET'S GET off this foolishness about whether Senate Majority Leader John Engler is hiring a sleuth to dig up dirt on political opponents so he can run for governor next year. It's a paltry item.

We in the metropolitan suburbs need to look at a $2.2 billion item in the 1990 budget of Gov. James Blanchard, who acts as if he will seek a third term.

We need to look at it because most of our districts are out-of-formula, meaning they get no state aid. We need to look at it because our value system puts a high priority on schooling. We need to look at it because we pay stiff property taxes, two-thirds of which go to K-12 schools.

And we need to look at it because both Blanchard and Engler are making school aid item No. 1 in their 1990 campaigns.

ENGLER HAD a video at the recent Republican State Convention in which he says there is "a dark storm cloud" over the state. It's the paltry percentage of the state budget going to K-12 public schools.

In 1971, Engler tells us, school aid got 30 cents of every state budget dollar. Today it gets 7 cents of every $1. The current fiscal year amount is $503.8 million.

Tim Richard

But Engler quickly adds a qualification. It seems $484 million from the lottery is tossed into the school aid fund.

Getting complicated, eh? But basically he's correct in asserting that over the past two decades Michigan has put ever smaller percentages of its budget into public schools.

"We can't make enough change by the legislative process alone," Engler admits. "We have to go around the governor and go around the Legislature."

And he advocates a constitutional change, which we voters would have to approve, to ratchet upward the percentage of state appropriations going to schools.

BLANCHARD BOASTS; in his budget message, that state school spending per pupil is up 80 percent in his six years in office.

He gets that number by comparing $1,221 in fiscal 1989 to $680 in fiscal 1983, which was his predecessor's budget. He fails to address Engler's point that the 18-year percentage trend line is terrible.

Democrat Blanchard shares the middle-class ethic that education is important, but his 1983-89 comparison proves little. Remember, 1983 was the bottom of the recession, when Gov. William Milliken cut the daylight out of school and college aid to feed people.

For next year, Blanchard is recommending a school aid component in the general fund budget of $540 million, up 7.26 percent from the current $503 million. Not bad — especially when you consider he has the welfare lobby in his own party nipping at him behind the scenes for a hike in the basic ADC grant.

The governor says the situation could be improved — our local districts' reliance on the property tax could be reduced — if we'll all follow him in raising the sales tax from 4 cents to 5 and cutting home property taxes 25 percent and business 10 percent.

THE DEBATE will be a good one, though we'll have to be wary of some pretty slick percentage numbers flying through the air.

It's complex to report because Michigan has a $7 billion general fund budget, a series of restricted funds and a total spending number of $16.4 billion.

Blanchard gums up the process on page 22 of his budget with some heavy-handed propaganda about "spending on children" being 41 percent of the budget. He gets that inflated number by tossing in spending on mental health, public health, Medicaid and welfare that aids kids.

Michigan has a dismal record of letting budget percentages slide away from education.

It's a shame to see the debate degenerate, as it did last week, onto the hiring of a "sleuth." Blanchard and Engler are two excellent and likeable men. We need to watch their education numbers carefully to keep them honest.

Anti-drug lessons should add values

ONCE UPON a time, a little boy who lived in the suburbs grew to young adulthood, and made some big decisions about life without help from his school counselor.

Frank Wolsky learned to be self-sufficient, to make good money, to appreciate the finer things in life. He was clean-cut, didn't use drugs and was known as a "nice guy" around school.

But Frank Wolsky's tale does not have a happy ending.

He's no longer in school, and his choice of career has upset his mother, school officials and some of his classmates.

In his mid-teens, Wolsky had already learned one of the most profitable businesses around — peddling drugs.

The youth, who lives in a suburb of Portland, Ore., was living the high life without doing drugs himself, but making his profit from those who were addicted. He was paying cash for fast cars, carried thousands of dollars in his gym bag and wore expensive watches. He did business from his apartment in a trendy section of the city, and was well-established at 18, when police finally caught up to him.

HIS MOTHER, a probation officer for the state of Oregon, turned her son in at 16 when she believed he was beginning to deal drugs. His case never went to trial.

What kind of messages are young people today getting, when it is more profitable to turn to illegal careers than legal ones? Young people involved in peddling drugs may not live long lives, but many don't seem to care because they make big money.

Students in Frank Wolsky's school knew he was dealing. The school's principal hopes his arrest will help deter similar entrepreneurial pursuits, but is skeptical.

"Unfortunately, the only message they may get is, 'Don't be quite so flamboyant with your proceeds,'" he said.

We can talk and talk and talk about the evils of drugs and the dangerous life associated with them. The current push for "Say No to Drugs" education is good, and will deter some from taking drugs and thus avoiding problems. Efforts like those recently seen at some Farmington middle schools are admirable, and have received much community support.

That may deter the demand for illegal drugs.

BUT WHAT about the demand for money and power, and the competition among young people to have the best of everything?

There's another, underlying, message going out to young people like Frank Wolsky. That selling drugs is still the most profitable career a young person can choose today, when it comes to making money. He was smart enough not to take drugs, but has now ruined his life and others by making a business of them.

We need to take our drug education one step further.

Part of the lesson plan should include judging our values.

"Profit" is not necessarily measured in money, and the bottom line is not the quality and quantity of your possessions, but the quality of your life.

Hospital directors blast state, federal cuts

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Hospital directors hoped President George Bush's "kinder, gentler" America would include more money to meet poor people's health care bills.

"Thus far, they've been disappointed. Nor are they optimistic about their chances for increased state aid."

One year ago, hospitals campaigned long and loud for greater government aid but rather than hoped-for increases, Michigan hospitals now face cuts in both federal and state aid.

Health professionals warn hospitals could close — and some needy people could be turned away — if cuts go into effect.

"It's tantamount to putting all of us out of business," Redford Community Hospital President Robert Lable said.

"What's needed, professionals said, is more money, not less."

"WE'VE HEARD the Bush Administration wants a $3.5 billion cut to hospitals, but what we need is a $3.5 billion increase."

million increase," said Donald Potter, president of the Southeast Michigan Hospital Council, Southfield.

On the state level, Gov. James Blanchard is proposing a $128.1 million Medicaid cut.

Cuts come at a time when federal Medicare and state Medicaid payments already fall below the cost of services rendered, Potter said. Hospitals could pass debts along to other patients, he added, but companies that provide health care insurance for their workers aren't willing to pick up health care bills for the uninsured.

Medicare was originally intended to meet the needs of the nation's senior citizens, while Medicaid was to be used for underprivileged Americans. The two programs' roles are increasingly overlapping, health professionals said.

"What we're finding is that Medicaid payments are increasingly going to nursing homes," Potter said.

Growing numbers of people without health insurance and abandonment of direct government-sponsored health care are also making it tougher for hospitals to provide health care to the needy, Potter said.

"Years ago you had Detroit running Detroit General Hospital and Wayne County running its hospital in Westland," Potter said. "Now, both are more or less out of that aspect of health care. It now falls to us."

BEYOND THAT, he said, revisions in the county payment formula could force hospitals to absorb greater costs in providing care to indigents.

Officials at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital recently estimated operating costs had increased 28 percent over the past five years, while federal Medicaid payments increased by half that much. State-financed Medicaid payment increased by only 10 percent for the same period, hospital chief executive officer Gary Ley said.

Medicare is a primary concern for United Care Inc., the five-hospital organization that succeeded the former People's Community Hospital Authority.

"Our auditor showed us the Medicare services we provided exceeded the payments we received by $9 million last year," United Care spokeswoman Maureen Camps said. "Forty percent of our business is Medicare-oriented. With Medicaid, the figure becomes almost half. So, yes, it's a big concern."

A RECENT study by a nationally recognized accounting firm showed Michigan hospitals receive 82 cents in Medicaid financing for every $1 in services they provide to Medicaid-eligible patients.

Elected officials at both levels are becoming aware of the situation, health officials said.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, has written his friend, the president, urging "careful consideration" of proposed Medicare cuts.

"The inevitable result of continued Medicare cuts will be the closing of hospitals, the downsizing or elimination of services and lifesaving technology — and, ultimately, reduced health care for many Americans," Pursell said.

Health care directors are worried proposed state and federal cuts could force hospital closings or cutbacks in care.

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, said the state Legislature is only beginning to wrestle with the problem.

"There's no easy answer," Law said. "But if we want these services to continue, we may all have to pay a little more."

Heart throbs

George and Mina Schultz marked an auspicious occasion on Valentine's Day — their 60th wedding anniversary. Thirty-six-year residents of Livonia, the Schultzes celebrated their marital longevity with their immediate family at a gathering at the Botsford Inn in Farmington Hills on Feb. 12. George, 83, and Mina, 82, moved from Detroit to Newburgh in 1938 and bought a home in what was then Livonia Township in 1953. They have three children — two daughters and a son. The three children all attended Newburg School, however, only their son and one daughter graduated from Bentley High School. Their oldest daughter graduated from M.L. Seminary in Saginaw because there was no high school in the township at the time. They also have eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

This is person who plans to carve out niche in life

Dear Ms. Green,
I've spent many hours pouring over graphology books and doing some amateur analysis. I've often thought about, taking some local classes. I've had many computer-printed reports on my handwriting and they've been enlightening. Now I would like to hear what you will say about my personality.
Thank you for your time.

— S.H., Garden City

graphology

many hours pouring books and doing analysis. I've often

Dear S.H.,

Thank you for your nice, long letter on your interest in graphology. (I've edited it for the column.) I would like to encourage your interest. Your caring nature and intuition would both be assets in this field. Now for your analysis.

Yours is the handwriting of a young woman who intends to carve out a place for herself. You are not content to be just another pretty face in the crowd. And you like to do things in a big way.

To accomplish your goal, you have been blessed with many outstanding qualities. Initiative, leadership and versatility can all be found in your handwriting. Accuracy and determination cannot be overlooked either.

Organizational skills help you plan the efficient use of your days. You neither cringe from hard work nor do you lack motivation.

You are an extrovert who enjoys activities and involvement. You dislike being alone for extended periods of time.

Feelings of satisfaction come from service to others. Your kindness and consideration are endearing qualities. You also have a listening ear for those who may need it. And you probably listen without feeling a need to be critical.

SOME intuition weaves throughout this handwriting. Hope you are not reluctant to trust it.

When life becomes too routine, you become restless. You dislike being confined to small quarters. This would be true in your home as well as in the business sector. A nine-to-five desk job should never be first choice as you would soon outgrow it.

Early life training appears to have been somewhat strict. A mother figure who expected much may have been a tad critical also.

Many of your aspirations and confirming values stem from this influence. However, I can also see evidence of your independence and need to express your own originality.

You seem to be exercising considerable control over your emotions. You may have been hurt in the past and are "on guard" at times to prevent this from reoccurring. Although resentment can be a spur to accomplishment, it is usually more harmful than helpful. Are you feeling concerned about something in the future?

Reading, humor and music are areas where you probably find enjoyment.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Full signature, date of birth and handedness are all helpful. And objective feedback is always welcome.

Men use plastic surgery to recover youthfulness

One of his criteria for the surgery was to have a "normal nose." He didn't want a perfect nose or one that turned up on the end, just a normal one.

"I have a lot of clients who have had plastic surgery, and I can spot a nose job," he said. "They're too perfect; mine looks normal."

Dela Cruz, Beekhuis and Milan, who perform some of their cosmetic procedures at the Horizon Surgical Center in Livonia, have noticed an increase in the number of men opting for cosmetic surgery.

Beekhuis, who specializes in facial cosmetic surgery, estimates that one quarter to a third of his patients are men. Many are interested in improving the looks of their nose, chins and cheeks.

"Many want a more square, strong chin or jaw line, so they come in for chin augmentation," he said. "Those that want a youthful look (a facelift) are not as common, but that's increasing."

Dela Cruz has found that abdominal liposuction, the removal of excess fatty tissue by suctioning, is popular among her male clients. They don't like "pot bellies," not to mention bags under the eyes and "turkey gobblers."

Dela Cruz maintains that a good plastic surgeon "has to be attuned to the sensitive side of the humanities."

"WE'RE NOT obligated to just whack out the excess tissue, we're obligated to mold it into place," she said. "There's a lot of surgical skill involved. A plastic surgeon has to have the eye of an eagle, the heart of a lion and the hands of an artist."

Milan specializes in body contouring — breast augmentations or reductions, liposuction, tummy tucks and the like. Among his male patients, the interest is in removal of "love handles," fatty pads around the waist.

He has found the rewarding side of plastic surgery is the changes in the patient after the procedure. Many start exercise programs and make changes in their appearance — new hair styles, clothing and makeup.

"It improves how they feel about themselves and if they like themselves, they do better in everything," he said.

Dela Cruz agreed. "If you don't have a great feeling about yourself inside, it's almost as painful as having a diseased appendix. Plastic surgery can let a person stand tall, be better in their relationships with others and achieve their goals in life."

Beekhuis believes the increased interest in cosmetic surgery is because of the degree of safety, the quick recovery time and the ease with which it can be done, not to mention the cost.

Insurance companies usually don't

SCC women's group to hold annual fund raiser March 16

The Women's Advisory Committee of Schoolcraft College's Womens Resource Center will sponsor its annual spaghetti dinner and wine glow fund raiser Thursday, March 16.

The program will be held at the college's Waterman Center, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia. It will start with the wine glow at 6 p.m., followed by the spaghetti dinner at 7 p.m.

The evening also will include entertainment and door prizes — $200 in free air fare, courtesy of World Travel Agency, Plymouth, a week-end for two at the Plymouth Mayflower Inn and use of a Chrysler New Yorker for a weekend, courtesy of Thrifty Car Rental, Plymouth.

Tickets cost $15 each or $35 for a sponsor — two tickets and the person's name/company name listed in the program.

Reservations can be made by writing the Women's Resource Center, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia 48152. The deadline for making reservations is Friday, March 10.

The fund-raiser is in support of the displaced homemakers, single parents, women in crisis and unemployed programs offered through the Women's Resource Center.

cover the cost of the surgery unless it's to correct a medical problem. A facelift today can cost from $5,000 to $8,000 compared to around $4,500 10 years ago, Beekhuis said. And a chin augmentation can run about $1,000.

"IT'S AN investment in yourself and one can't expect someone else to make the investment for you," Milan added. "If they did, we'd all be rich."

The one thing the doctors stress is that patients have to be realistic about plastic surgery. Patients should look at it as a way of enhancing the quality of life not to come out looking like Michael Jackson, they said.

Milan, who has had patients bring in pictures from magazines like Playboy and Penthouse to show what they want, said a surgeon has to be "frank, but gentle" in dealing with unrealistic expectations.

"There are some patients you just can't help," he said. "There's no way you can make a 200-pound woman look like Cheryl Tiegs. If her expectations can't be refocused, she's not a good candidate for plastic surgery."

"(plastic surgery) has its place, but it's best for people who have realistic expectations," dela Cruz added. "You have to look at what the patient wants, what's best for the patient and what the surgeon can do."

"It's a tremendous investment and it's the psychological part of it that you see."

The Rev. Peter Marshall, a nationally-recognized Presbyterian minister, visited First United Methodist Church in Plymouth Feb. 12-15.

The church's role is vital in renewal, pastor says

By Julie Brown
staff writer

The Rev. Peter Marshall's life changed for the better the summer after he graduated from Yale University.

"I grew up believing the right stuff about Jesus, but I didn't give my life to him until I was 21."

That summer, he attended a Fellowship of Christian Athletes conference in Colorado. He decided to give his life to Christ, and went into the seminary a few weeks later.

Marshall, 49, is a Presbyterian minister who has gained national recognition as a preacher and teacher on Christian growth and maturity. He was in Plymouth Feb. 12-15, conducting worship services and teaching sessions at the First United Methodist Church.

Marshall, who lives on Cape Cod in Massachusetts, is a graduate of Yale and of the Princeton Theological Seminary. He was ordained in 1965 and served as a pastor for a number of years. Since 1977, he has traveled throughout the U.S. and Canada, preaching and teaching.

MARSHALL IS the son of the late Dr. Peter Marshall, who served as chaplain of the U.S. Senate. His mother, the late Catherine Marshall LeSourd, a well-known author of inspirational works.

Peter Marshall is the co-author with David Manuel of two books, "The Light and the Glory" and "From Sea to Shining Sea." The books reveal God's role in the early years of America and how many early American leaders had relationships with Jesus.

"I loved being a pastor when I was one," Marshall said in a recent interview. "I always had a vision for the broader church. So this is what the Lord has called me to do."

His ministry takes him to churches of many denominations, including Baptist, Lutheran, Methodist, Episcopal, Assembly of God and other churches. Marshall sees church renewal as the key to national renewal.

The key to healing is Christians putting their beliefs into practice, "breaking through what I call churchianity."

"Some people attend church, go through the motions and have the right beliefs in their heads, but don't go beyond that."

"And that's not what Christianity is."

MARSHALL BELIEVES that prayer belongs in the public schools.

"Humanism has so totally taken over our educational systems in America. We simply are not told the truth about our own heritage."

Our nation's founders had no such perspective, he said; they guarded against establishment of a church state such as existed in Europe, but didn't believe in separation of church and state as it is today in the U.S.

Today's concept of that separation "is a perversion of what they would have understood by that term."

The authors of the Bill of Rights left behind notes on their debates. Those notes make it clear they wanted a Christian influence on government, he said.

Marshall sees the problem today as one of not enough commitment to acknowledging God in the public arena. The abortion issue reveals that, he said.

"It is a national moral crisis."

It's impossible to single out some segment of society and take away their rights without losing your own, he said.

"It's a moral issue. We're dealing with a human life here."

The modern debate over abortion is in many ways similar to the 19th century debate over slavery, he said.

IN MOST churches, people don't learn of the need to give control of their lives to Jesus, he said.

"Christians need to practice 'voluntary repentance,' humbling themselves and being honest about their sinfulness."

"There's more room for Jesus, less of self and more of Him."

The Biblical principle describes Christians as the yeast and dough. It doesn't take a lot of yeast to raise the dough, but the yeast must be fresh.

His recent visit was Marshall's first to Plymouth. He's found it to be a typical suburban area "with all the problems of suburbia."

Nice, seemingly-together people nevertheless have family crisis problems and marital problems. Young people have problems with drugs, alcohol abuse and sex.

There are "tremendous healing needs in terms of old hurts and resentments." Marshall has seen "the desperate need to get Jesus Christ in the center of our lives and to experience his healing in our family relationships."

Rev. David Strong

Church closings tear at the fabric of life

The death of a religious community affects us all. When churches or synagogues are closed, a part of the important fabric of life is torn.

Back in the early 1960s, I was one of a group of clergy and laity who opposed the closing and sale of Nardin Park United Methodist Church. The church was sold and the people relocated out of Detroit into the suburbs. It is now a thriving church.

We who opposed the sale and move were both right and wrong. We were wrong in that a new and thriving church was born. We were right in that a part of the city was abandoned as far as the denomination was concerned.

I believe that we should be involved in the struggles of our Catholic brothers and sisters in the city of Detroit. I know of Protestants, who grew up in the city and now live in Seattle, who are following the issues regarding these church closings.

The great separation between the denominations, which existed in the 1950s, is no longer relevant. We face common problems. We feel more drawn into a common destiny. The rivalries and distinctions are no longer there. If 30 or more Roman Catholic churches close, it affects us all.

WHAT IF the archdiocese had announced the closings and mergers and at the same time initiated a church growth and outreach program? What if there were new strategies for cooperative ministry proposed?

More than anything else, the Roman Catholic church in this metro area needs a symbol of resurrection.

There is death in the plan proposed. Where is the life?

The United Methodist Church has closed many churches over the past three decades. This was done gradually and quietly. Yet, I believe the period we are entering is far different a time than in the 1960s. New strategies and new hope need to be found in a world coming closer together.

Back in the late 1960s, I served a congregation in Troy which shared its building with a new Roman Catholic mission. We experienced new life in this cooperative arrangement. The powers that be were not pleased. The experiment was ended. Our time calls for a different response.

We are all affected by such decisions. We can no longer protect our turf without connecting together. When we look at crime, drug use, AIDS, we find that we cannot wall out the problems. We must embrace each other as we seek new solutions.

WE ARE involved in the closing of a religious institution. This daunting truth lies in the face of all we have been in the past — competitive and separated. This reflects a truth we have not yet grasped, the world is shrinking. There will soon be one market place.

Where in our religious life is the truth expressed? In a subtle and inescapable way, we are involved with one another. If a church is washed away in the storm, we get the loss.

Rev. David T. Strong is pastor of St. Matthew United Methodist Church in Livonia.

How to do 'I do'

Editor has tips for a hassle-free wedding

By Sue Mason
staff writer

So you're getting married and you're wondering what you should do now that he has popped the question.

It's the biggest day of your life and you want it to be picture perfect, but you don't want to lose your sanity in the process, right?

Well, the first thing to do is to get organized. To plan the perfect wedding a bride "needs to know everything," according to Angela Oberg of Bride's magazine.

"As long as you're organized, all of the decisions won't be a chore," she said. "The engagement period also is a time to make memories, not just the wedding day."

Merchandising director for the magazine, Oberg was at Jacobson's Laurel Park store in Livonia on Friday to conduct an evening seminar on wedding planning.

At 24, she has no marriage plans in her future, but she is a veritable treasure chest of information on wedding planning, fashions and etiquette. It's knowledge she has acquired on the job, producing the "Bride's Book of Etiquette."

Oberg doesn't feel odd about telling brides-to-be how to plan the perfect wedding because of her single status.

She has "always loved weddings and I really enjoy what I do," she said.

A graduate of Boston University, she joined the Bride's Magazine staff as an assistant editor in 1987 and moved up to the editor's spot in May 1988. Twice a year she hits the road for a national tour that can include everything from commenting on bridal fashion shows to wedding planning seminars and just plain answering questions.

THE TRIPS — January through March and mid-July through mid-October — are designed to reach as many brides as possible.

"Weddings aren't just in June anymore," Oberg said. "The same percentage of couples are getting married in the first part of the year as the second part of the year."

The trips not only give her a chance to coach brides on the perfect wedding, but to see the trends and regional differences in weddings.

A bride in Michigan is quite traditional as opposed to a bride in New York, who will tend to be a little bit older and a little more sophisticated, Oberg said.

"In a metropolitan city, the brides will always be older because they're career oriented and wait to get married," she said.

AS FOR trends, white is still the most popular color for the bridal gown, but blush and ivory also are popular colors. Weddings also are very traditional these days, but brides are going "all out for glamour," Oberg said.

"Although the gown remains traditional, the spring and summer gowns show sophistication, a lady-like look with a scaled-down silhouette," she said.

Another trend is the groom's involvement in the planning and decision making. He also is more aware of his fashions. Gone are the ruffled dress shirts of the '60s and '70s. This season grooms and their attendants are opting for a refined look, with vests a popular accessory.

THE FIRST step for the bridal couple after getting engaged is to set the date and time of the wedding and choose the location. That planning should start at least six months ahead of time for a big formal wedding and eight to 10 months, if the date is during the holidays or taking place in a big city, Oberg said.

The next step is to choose the wedding gown. It's very important to pair the gown with the ceremony.

"All aspects of the wedding should complement the formality of the ceremony," Oberg said. "Would you wear a casual suit to a formal party?"

THERE ARE several degrees of wedding formality and that formality depends on the time of day and the number of guests.

For the bride, there is a slight difference in dressing for a formal evening or formal morning wedding. For the evening, a gown with a cathedral train and bridesmaids in floor-length gowns are appropriate. For a morning ceremony, a chapel or cathedral train and bridesmaids in tea-length gowns are appropriate.

For the groom, it's white tie and tails for an evening wedding and classic black for a day wedding.

The next step is to touch base with the wedding professional, the photographer and florist and other people who will be involved with the wedding. Those professionals will help the bridal couple determine when to sign the appropriate contracts for services, Oberg said.

Invitations also should be ordered three to four months before the big day, and the bridal couple shouldn't hesitate to register early for their gift preferences. Registering any time after the engagement is appropriate, Oberg said.

THERE'S ALSO a trend in the bridal registry. Couples are registering for more than tabletop items. They're listing everything from appliances to stereos and luggage, things they will use for their home, Oberg said.

If Oberg has one tip for brides-to-be, it's to make sure there's time to do everything.

"Make sure to leave plenty of time to plan and have things worked out," she said. "And leave time to pamper yourself. Sure, there will be little errands that will need to be done just before the wedding, but don't leave the big things to the end."

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Bride's magazine merchandising editor Angela Oberg found this lace tea-length dress "perfect" for an informal wedding. The style and lace gave it a traditional style, she said.

Also, there will be a meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 4, at St. Robert Bellarmine Catholic Church, West Chicago and Inkster roads, Redford Township. Dale Hicks, a local singer, will perform. A donation of $3 is requested. The meeting is open to the public. For information, call 728-7681.

SINGLE MINGLE
The Farmington Single Professionals will have an open house from 6:30-9 p.m. Friday, Feb. 24, at the Sheraton Oaks Hotel, Novi Road, north of I-96. The group is open to single professionals between the ages of 25-35. Admission for non-members is $5 at the door. For information, call 425-9663.

DIVORCE RECOVERY
Single Point Ministries will have a divorce recovery workshop from 7-9:30 p.m. starting Thursday, March 2, in Knox Hall at Ward Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington, Livonia. Andy Morgan, singles minister at Ward Church, will lead the seminar. A nominal $25 donation is requested for books and materials. For information, call 422-1854.

NON-SMOKING SINGLES
Non-Smoking Singles, for people ages 55-65, is forming a club for non-smokers only to meet on Saturdays. Activities will include card games, days trips, shows and dining out. For more information, call 937-9636 after 3 p.m.

ROMA SINGLES
Roma's Sunday Night Singles holds dance parties from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Sundays at Roma's of Garden City, 32550 Cherry Hill, near Venoy. Admission is $3 and dressy attire is required. For more information, call 425-1430.

NORTHSIDE
Northside Singles will have a dance party from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 25, at Kingsley Inn, Woodward Avenue and Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills. Admission is $3. For information, call 649-4184.

Ring-aling

The Classical Bells, under the direction of Susan Berry, will be in concert Wednesday, March 1, at St. Matthew United Methodist Church, 30900 Six Mile Road, Livonia. The 7:15 p.m. concert is free and open to the public. The Classical Bells is a select handbell choir, featuring 10 ringers — Darlene Ebersole (front row, from left), Corrine Kert,

GERONTOLOGY
Madonna College Continuing Education and Gerontology departments are offering a two-day workshop, "Validation Therapy I & II," 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 23, and 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Friday, Feb. 24.

Designed for health and human service workers, the workshop's overall objective is to restore dignity to elderly people and to teach empathy with the aging process, costs $95 for the two-day session and lunch both days. The fee for only one session is $55, including lunch. For information, call 691-3188.

CHOLESTEROL TEST
Great Scott Supermarkets and Mount Clemens General Hospital will offer free cholesterol testing Thursday through Saturday, Feb. 23-25, at the Great Scott Supermarket, Ann Arbor at Sheldon roads, Plymouth. Test results will be available in minutes. For more information or to make an appointment, call 692-8008 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

NURSING MEETING
"Live, Learn, Laugh, Love: Well-ness Lifestyles for Today's Society" will be the theme of the Michigan League of Nursing's annual meeting an conference Thursday and Friday, Feb. 23-24, at the Ann Arbor Marriott Hotel.

Program topics will include humor, sexuality, health promotion trends, holistic medicine, public policy update and wellness research. For more information, call the Michigan League of Nursing at 632-4343.

BLOOD SCREENING
Free blood pressure screenings will be available from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 25 at Wonderland Mall, Plymouth at Middlebelt Road, Livonia. The screenings will help detect high blood pressure and provide counseling on diet and medication.

SCLERODERMA
The Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the United Scleroderma Foundation will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 25, in 10th-floor classrooms D and E of Beaumont Hospital, Woodward and 13 Mile Road, Royal Oak. Dr. Maureen Mayes will discuss current research into scleroderma, or "hard skin" disease.

The meeting is open to patients, family members, health care professionals and interested persons. For information, call 334-9860.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
The Medical Fitness Center at 17940 Farmington Road, Livonia, will offer a series of nutrition classes, Food for Thought, beginning Monday, Feb. 27.

The classes are available in a series of four sessions — Fiber Facts Monday, Feb. 27, or Thursday, March 2; Sodium Sense, Monday, March 6, or Thursday, March 9; Subtle Enemies — Fats and Cholesterol, Tuesday, March 14, or Thursday, March 16; and Cooking for the Health of It, Monday, March 20, or Thursday, March 23.

Classes will be at 7:15 p.m. on Mondays and Tuesday and at 10 a.m. Thursdays. Cost is $16 for members and $20 for non-members for the full series, or $5 and $6 respectively for individual sessions. For information, call 425-5544.

KIDS LOSE TOO
The Out Wayne County Council of Child Abuse and Neglect will present a seminar — "Kids Lose Too!" — from 8:45-11:45 a.m. Monday, Feb. 27, at Heritage Hospital in Taylor.

William H. Jones, an associate professor in the department of counseling at Oakland University, will discuss the significant loss and grief children experience from non-death losses. For more information, call 581-4110.

HEART CLASS
St. Mary Hospital in Livonia will hold a series of five classes for angina patients and those recovering from heart surgery or heart attacks March 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29. "Learning to Live With your Heart Condition" will meet from 1:30-3 p.m. at the hospital, Levan at Five Mile Road, Livonia.

For more information, call 464-4800, ext. 2297.

EPILEPSY SUPPORT
The Epilepsy Support Program will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 2, at Resurrection Lutheran Church, 8850 Newburgh Road, at Joy Road, Livonia. For more information, call Helen Gielchauf at 532-5692.

EVENING OF HOPE
Leukemia, Research, Life Inc. will hold its eighth annual Evening of Hope dinner-dance for the benefit of cancer research at Children's Hospital of Michigan Saturday, March 4, at Roma's of Livonia, 27777 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

Tickets cost $30 per person and include an open bar, buffet dinner, salad bar, cheese and wine table, fruit table, dessert table, pizza snack and music by Prestige. For tickets, call Ray and Darlene Ferenic at 584-2429 or Paul Dragan at 527-7573.

WELLNESS SEMINAR
"Am I a Woman Who Loves Too Much?" will be the topic of a personal wellness seminar at Madonna College in Livonia Tuesday, March 7. The series costs $10 per session. The other topics include "Help, I'm Burning Out!" March 21, "Overcoming Worry, Fear and Anxiety" April 11 and "Learning to Give and Receive Love" April 25. For more information or to register, call 591-5188.

GENETIC LINK
Researchers at the Comprehensive Epilepsy Program of the West Los Angeles VA Medical Center and the University of California at Los Angeles have found scientific evidence that a genetic link is responsible for at least one type of epilepsy.

The group of scientists have found genetic evidence linking juvenile myoclonic epilepsy to a specific region on the human chromosome. The gene is also a suspected cause of absence, generalized tonic clonic and febrile seizures in some families.

Some 10 to 20 percent of the 2 million Americans who have epilepsy have juvenile myoclonic seizures. It also is the most common cause of generalized seizures in adolescents and young adults.

Hadi Akeel pauses with the electric painter, a highly sophisticated automated system instrumental in the success of GMFanuc Robotics Corp.

Robotics engineer paints a pretty picture for GMF

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

As a youngster, Hadi Akeel was a "tinkerer," fascinated by machines and always "looking for a better mouse trap" to invent. Today Akeel is still tinkering — but the stakes are much higher.

Instead of tinkering with scooters and bicycles, as he did growing up in Egypt, Akeel tinkers with multi-million dollar robotic systems.

Akeel, a Rochester Hills resident, is vice president and chief engineer of GMFanuc Robotics Corp., the company that builds robots for automated industrial systems.

"I don't tinker with them as much as I used to," he said, "I'm more into the design. But I tinkered a lot with the early models, and I still love it."

That tinkering has paid big dividends. In 1988, Akeel was presented the Joseph F. Engelberger Award, the industry's highest honor named after the person considered to be the father of industrial robots. In October he was honored with the Trillblazer Award from the Detroit Science Center.

Akeel studied mechanical engineering at Cairo University and as a teaching assistant won his choice of scholarships, including one in the Soviet Union. He took a scholarship at the University of California, Los Angeles, partly because of the personal freedoms available in the United States and partly because of the lure of California and Tinseltown.

"The thought of living near Hollywood was very exciting," he said. "It was a whole new world."

From UCLA Akeel went to the University of California at Berkeley where he obtained a doctorate in mechanical design.

HIS FIRST job out of college was with the aerospace division of the Bendix Corp. in South Bend, Ind., where he was part of a team that worked on landing systems for aircraft like the 747 and Voyager spacecrafts.

It was there that Akeel registered two of the 21 patents he holds. One pertained to aircraft brakes and the other to a landing gear assembly.

Akeel was not into robots or automated systems at that time. "The technology was not available. Even the computers at that time were very primitive," he said.

In 1969 Akeel returned to Egypt and taught engineering at Ain Shams University, where he initiated a graduate study program. He returned to the United States in 1973 to work on an engineering education project sponsored by Ain Shams and the University of Michigan.

"It was there that I started to realize the opportunity with General Motors," he said. "And I decided to stay (in the United States)."

Akeel went to work at the GM Tech Center in Warren where he was assigned to flexible automation systems. "Robots and automation were starting to catch on," he said. "I was asked to take a look at automating the paint shop." It was a project that would shape his life.

Painting is crucial to any automotive process, Akeel said. But the work is dirty, noisy, repetitious and potentially hazardous to human health. It's also a job that demands quality and reliability.

The project gave birth to the NC (numerically controlled) painter that revolutionized the painting of automobiles. Company officials preferred the term "numerically controlled," Akeel said, because at that time anything "robotically controlled" was considered a threat to jobs.

Besides being capable of opening doors to get at inside nooks and crannies, the NC painter included a vision system that enabled robots to recognize different car models and communicated with central computers to match paint colors and coordinated production schedules.

"It took three years to develop a prototype," Akeel said. "But it was a real breakthrough because different parts worked together as a fully integrated robotics system."

As revolutionary as the NC painter was, Akeel and others quickly improved on it. They replaced the hydraulic system and developed the first electric painter, a move that not only simplified auto painting but made the process safer and more reliable.

While developing the system, Akeel registered three more patents and came to be known as the "father of the NC painter." Its electric successor is standard equipment in all GM's high-tech facilities including the Saturn plant in Tennessee.

THE NC PAINTER triggered another development, Akeel said. It convinced GM that automated systems were feasible and prompted the giant automaker to look for a way to tap into the potentially lucrative field of robotics.

The importance of the NC painter can not be underestimated, according to Jack Saunders, public relations for GMF. "Without the success of the NC painter, GM might never have continued in robotics," he said, "and there probably wouldn't be a GMF today."

"GM had a lot of expertise, especially in the mechanical and marketing areas," Akeel said. "But we wanted a partner with expertise in control systems and capability in electronics. We looked at 20 different companies and conducted on-site visitations at six."

The result was a joint venture with FANUC Ltd. of Japan, a company Akeel describes as a "world leader in electronics."

In 1982 the two companies formed GMFanuc Robotics Corp., a separate entity housed in the GM Tech Center and employing about 60 people.

The company's first five years had its peaks and valleys, including a difficult 1986 when more than $90 million in automotive orders were cancelled as GM went through a streamlining and GMF Robotics went through a painful reduction in its workforce.

But the next year, as GM rebounded and automotive orders increased, GMF prospered. In 1987 sales surpassed $102 million. By the end of that year, GMF boasted of a better than 2-1 sales lead over its closest North American competitor and a 26 percent share of the robotics market. By the close of that year, GMF had installed more than 6,000 robots for more than 1,000 customers.

Besides GM, Ford, Chrysler, BMW, Saab and other automakers, GMF's customers include Caterpillar, Digital Equipment, Pepsico, IBM, Honeywell, Bendix, PPG, Goodyear and General Dynamics.

Also in 1987, GMF Robotics opened its $22.5 million world headquarters in Rochester Hills where it has nearly 500 employees.

Trade act influences lowering of gas bills

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Natural gas customers will see a stabilizing of Consumers Power Co.'s supply and a decline in their bills, a top official says.

Twin reasons, said Michael G. Morris, are the new Free Trade Agreement with Canada and new rules for interstate gas sales.

"We experienced back in 1978, a phenomenon where the Canadian government stepped in and changed the price of export gas at the border, notwithstanding the terms of contracts that had been in place for years and had been negotiated by two private enterprises," said Morris, 41, of Northville.

"Our people — particularly Bill McCormick, chairman of the company — worked in a joint committee with the American Gas Association and were instrumental in putting into the agreement some language protecting arm's-length negotiated contracts from (Canadian) governmental interference.

"It was critical for us in the gas industry because we do bring in a lot of Canadian gas, particularly in Michigan."

SINCE AUGUST, Morris has had the newly created post of executive vice president of natural gas for the Jackson-based utility.

Although CP has been known primarily as an electric utility since it was founded 103 years ago, it also delivers gas to three million lower peninsula residents, about one-third of the state's population. Half of those are in the southeastern Michigan metro region.

Morris' appointment signals the firm will put new emphasis on being more competitive in natural gas.

"We are the lowest cost, major gas utility in the state, and we intend to maintain our competitive position in 1989," Morris said of the new rate cut.

In January, a homeowner burning a typical 25,000 cubic feet will pay $120 compared to $136 for the same consumption in December, he said.

"A typical industrial gas customer will save about $615 a month. How'd they do it?"

"THERE ARE TWO principal reasons," Morris said.

"One, we have continued to work with our interstate pipeline suppliers and in our overall strategies to lower the cost of gas.

"Secondly, we were able, in the last quarter of 1988, to make a significant collection of our alternative

Michael G. Morris executive VP for gas

"take-or-pay" costs that we will owe our interstate pipelines."

Stripped of the lawyer's language, it worked like this: In recent years, gas supplies mounted. "We distribution companies had a 'minimum bill contract' with interstate suppliers — we would take a certain volume of gas or pay for it if we didn't take it. We never could live with the latter situation," Morris said.

"At the wellhead in the early '80s, you began to see an excess of supply. It put a lot of pressure on federal regulators to change the business so that we and other (distributors) would be free to contract with any source of supply. We've seen partial freedom granted us by the federal government."

CP's suppliers — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line and its subsidiary, Trunkline Gas — had to negotiate their ways out of these contracts.

Until December, those costs were passed on to distributors and customers.

"We made provision to collect those dollars in our 1988 costs," said

Morris, "so we're a bit ahead of the game. The other gas distribution utilities in this state have not done so and will collect (take or pay buyout) costs in 1989 and '90, I assumed."

ON OTHER ISSUES, Morris said:

• Composting of yard wastes, under Oakland County's new solid waste plan, will yield some methane gas, but it's premature to say how much. Currently CP pipes some gas from a sanitary landfill in western Oakland to the Ford Wixom plant. Gas from trash "will not be a principal supplier, but it won't be an unimportant supplier."

• The company stands to gain some gas sales as southern Oakland redevelops along the corridor of the I-696 freeway, whose missing link is to open late this year in the Royal Oak-Southfield area. Company officials serve on community growth alliances and local economic development committees.

• Although the Michigan Public Service Commission used to be the bane of utilities, Morris now rates it "surely in the upper echelon, and I do have familiarity with most central midwestern states. Michigan regulators do a pretty good job of understanding the kinds of things we need to have."

• A thorny technical problem will be what it can charge for "transportation" gas — supplies bought by big industrial firms that CP doesn't own but merely carries for them. "This business has grown substantially. The regulator is trying now to figure out how to handle the tariffs and what you do with the revenue streams."

AN OHIO native, Morris earned two degrees in biology from Eastern Michigan University and in 1973 went to work for Commonwealth Associates in Jackson where he helped plan routes for electric transmission lines.

Later he joined ANR Pipeline Co. and worked his way up to executive vice president of marketing, transportation and gas supply.

Going to Detroit College of Law at night, he earned a law degree. He also has been president of Colorado Interstate Gas Co. and ANR Gathering Co. All are subsidiaries of The Coastal Corp.

Robotics engineer paints rosy future for GMF

AS THE COMPANY prospered, so did the notoriety of Hadi Akeel. He gave the keynote address at the joint Japan-USA Symposium on Flexible Automation in 1986 and was chairman of the Mechanical Interface Standards Committee of the Robotics Industries Association.

He serves as a member of the engineering advisory committees at the University of Detroit and the University of California divisions in Santa Barbara and Berkeley.

While the accolades roll in, Akeel still likes to tinker. "I do more designing now. But I still like to tinker. I like the challenge and complexity of robots."

And while his company looks for innovative robots with greater capacity, Akeel still sees challenge in building a better mouse trap. "It's great to develop new robots," he said. "But there's challenge in improving existing systems... to make them better than anyone else" and become more competitive.

Despite what he considers to be the unlimited potential of automated robots, Akeel said even the most sophisticated will remain subservient to human beings.

"Robots are merely tools to help humans improve productivity," Akeel said. "They can never match humans for adaptability, dexterity, reasoning or intellect."

As a matter of fact, Akeel said, the more scientists and engineers try to duplicate human capability, the more they appreciate the distinctive qualities of mankind.

"Humans are the ultimate in creation. The more we do with robots, the more I appreciate the Creator. Something as small as a mosquito has sensors and systems far more complicated than anything we have on the drawing board.

Akeel is a Muslim, a religion he said commands followers to live in harmony with the universe and other human beings. He said that as prescribed by the religion, he abstains from alcohol, avoids pork and prays daily while facing Mecca.

Akeel has a deep appreciation for Egypt, but said the United States is home. He and his wife, Sofia, were married in Cairo in 1983 but have adopted many aspects of the U.S. lifestyle. "We're a pretty modern family," he said.

At the age of 50, Akeel enjoys ten-his and still likes to play a competitive game of soccer. He was the first soccer coach for his sons, Shereef, now 23, and Nesar, now 20, when they were growing up in Sterling Heights. "But when they reached the age of 12, they were too good for me," he said.

Akeel also likes to relax by working in his basement workshop where he pursues a love of machines and motion.

Research firms illuminate competition

By Mary DiPaolo
Special writer

Information is knowledge, especially when the information relates to the competition. But many small-business owners complain that getting "good" competitive data is difficult and takes time away from their business.

Because the overwhelming majority of our nation's small businesses are privately owned, company documents such as annual reports and SEC filings are not required by law. So you can't just write your competitors and expect them to send you statements of how well they've done during the past year and which product lines are selling well.

Further, if a given industry is small, it may not be represented by a professional association or trade publication that compiles and makes available industry statistics to its member and non-member communities.

BUT ALL is not lost. Information and marketing research firms often can help when secondary data search or competitor inquiries fail to produce the sought-after results.

Peggy Koenig, manager of marketing communications at FIND/SVP, a New York-based information and market research company, said firms like hers know where to look.

"We have immediate access to 10,000 company files and the same number of subject files. We subscribe to 2,000 periodicals and 1,500 on-line data bases. We produce over 30 syndicated research reports each year, and we have specialty groups that monitor competitive activity across six major industries on a regular basis."

ACCORDING TO Koenig, there hasn't been a question asked yet that FIND/SVP hasn't been able to answer.

"When you're in the information business, you have to be on top of what's going on all the time."

Subjects of syndicated research reports produced in 1988 include the bottled water industry, the industrial adhesives industry and the fresh pasta market.

"Competitive profiles are a big part of all of our reports and present valuable sales and financial data as well as forecasts. These reports average 250-300 pages in length and are available through our catalog for $795 to $1,795."

FOR THE client who requires an ongoing source of industry-related or competitive data, information and market research companies often provide this service on a monthly retainer basis.

"Clients pay $400 per month for current information whenever they need it, with the majority spending about $115 from that amount each month," Koenig said.

Considering that many on-line data base searches cost $100 per hour, this service can be worth the investment for some business owners.

For more information about FIND/SVP or to request a copy of its client services and reports catalog, call Koenig at 212-463-6227.

Mary DiPaolo is the owner of MarketTrends, a Farmington Hills-based business consulting firm. She is also producer and host of the cable television series, "Chamber Perspectives."

Doubling money is not that easy

One of the age-old myths, which never seems to die, is that by playing the market, it's easy to double your money in two or three years. Anyone believing in this myth is really asking for trouble. Here is why.

A recent study (Dow Jones-Irwin, 1985) revealed several important facts.

First, stocks are much more volatile than bonds. For instance, during any given year, stocks could return as much as 52.6 percent or lose 26.5 percent of the principal. By comparison, the maximum potential annual return on a bond is 42 percent and the potential for loss in bonds is around 8 percent.

Second, investors playing the stock market should realize that it is highly risky to adopt a one-year time horizon. A comparison of one-year stock return with the five-year return reveals that while in the former case it is possible to lose 26.5 percent of the principal, in a five-year time period the risk of loss is reduced to 2.4 percent.

Third, on a consistent, long-term basis stocks return around 10 to 11 percent per year whereas bond returns average only 4 to 5 percent. According to the Rule of 72, a 10 percent compounded annual rate of return would double one's investment in about seven years, whereas a 12 percent return would double the money in six years (6x1272). These figures should caution investors against expecting a faster rate of growth unless they are willing to assume additional risks. Also, people should recognize that investors in stocks lose, on average, once every 3.6 years. For some, this would be a frightening experience.

Other studies, covering the period 1920-1987, have found that the rates or return on various asset classes have been as shown on Table I.

Table II is designed to help you gauge the speed with which $10,000 will grow in five and 10 years.

Investment management and investment planning are complex undertakings. Consult your investment adviser.

Big 3 running into repo barrier

Economists who think in terms of psychological barriers such as the 2000-point Dow Jones Industrial Average are now contemplating the repo barrier. This is the notion that a man and his car note enter an unsettling period after the new-car love affair wears off and he just ditches the thing with a quarter-inch or so of coupons still left in the payment book.

Just when this happens is uncertain, but new car loans in the 60-month range seem to have aggravated the situation.

Evidence that the automotive equivalent of the seven-year itch is getting worse comes in footnotes to the Big Three earnings reports: Ford says it repossessed 23 percent more cars this year than last, and GM is setting aside $1 billion for loan-loss reserves.

Like most new trends, the repo barrier calls for some dumb analysis.

First, a GM spokesman blames the defaults on owners who lose hope after realizing that their vehicles are worth less than the amount outstanding on the loans after three or four years. The obvious flaw to this kind of reasoning is that the car was worth less than the loan the minute the ink was signed on the contract.

auto talk

Next time you buy a new car, walk to the front door of the showroom, walk back and ask the salesman if he will buy his car back. Watch the fear in his eyes if you don't believe me.

For the sake of research, I looked up 60-month old cars in the classifieds. They ranged from $1,600-$3000 or so, which means that owners in the last year or so of their car payment book might be able to break even, whereas any time earlier they would incur a net loss attempting to sell the car.

ONE THING that keeps car payments going is that unlike marriage, there are no alternatives to keeping as a new clutch, exceeds the amount owed on a car.

This in fact happened to me a couple of weeks ago, and I was left feeling like a Brazilian finance minister for a couple of moments while I caught my breath. Aside from the economic effect, the situation defied my main automotive superstition, which is that big repair bills always come the month after the last payment, not before.

Ultimately I anted up the repair and am still paying the finance company, although I confess I flipped through the back of the ads and for a moment considered dumping the turkey and putting the clutch money into a better deal.

I thought about buying both "runs good, some damage," and "good body, needs engine," and putting the two together, a romantic notion at best. Then I'd leave the car out front, payment book on the front seat, and watch from a distance while the repo man waited for someone to tow it away.

HOW MUCH DID YOU LOSE LAST YEAR ON NON-DEDUCTIBLE INTEREST?

UNLESS YOU ACT QUICKLY, THIS YEAR COULD BE WORSE.

As you know, Congress is steadily phasing out interest deductions on most consumer loans. An exception is a loan secured by your home.* Which makes it a great time to apply for a home equity line of credit at First of America Bank.

Put The Deduction Back In Your Interest.

The Federal tax laws allow you to use your home equity line of credit for any purpose you want. And in most cases, on loans all the way up to $100,000, you still get to take a 100 percent tax deduction.

You also may pay a lower interest rate along with those lower taxes.

Take Advantage Of Your Tax Break.

Get your tax break with our home equity line of credit. You can use this line instead of other loans that are no longer fully tax deductible. You can also access your credit line simply by writing a check. And the payment schedule is flexible, too.

However, using the equity in your home is not something you should do without careful consideration. Furthermore, there are some items—like normal living expenses, for example—for which a home equity line of credit is definitely not appropriate.

So stop by your nearest First of America office, or call 1-800-544-6155 for more information. We'll provide you with a free information brochure and an application. We'll also help you determine if a home equity line of credit is right for you.

In no time, we can have your good credit working in your favor.

Cameraman eyes the action in 'Taps'

By Victor E. Swanson
special writer

RICK BOTA of Birmingham (and Los Angeles) agrees that "the Challenge Sequence" is the highlight of the movie "Tap," starring Gregory Hines and Suzanne Douglas.

Bota was camera operator on the film now playing metropolitan Detroit theaters. He said in a telephone interview from Los Angeles, "I heard a lot of reviews say that it's the highlight of the film in terms of the dancing. It's where all the old hoofers come in - you see all the old-timers . . . Sandman Sims, Bunny Briggs, and all these guys. Sammy Davis Jr. and Gregory come in, and they do an improvisational dance."

"In that scene, we just rolled cameras, and they just went for it," he said so delightedly that he sounded as if he were about to burst. "And we just kept rolling and rolling and rolling on it. I don't know how many times we did that scene."

He burst: "But it was definitely a once-in-a-lifetime experience for me to be watching these guys dance and for everybody involved. I mean, it was just a thrilling day, couple of days to watch it."

THE MOVIE about tap dancing is set in New York. It was written and directed by Nick Castle and filmed in New York and Hollywood over a 12-week period early last year. David Gribble is the director of photography under whom Bota worked a Panavision camera.

Weekly trade publication Variety stated in its review: "Tap" is a surprisingly rich and affecting blend of dance and story that transcends its respectful deference toward the great hoofers of a bygone era to deliver plenty of glowing contemporary entertainment."

Another scene that Bota is proud of is "the sounds of the city," in which Hines and Douglas dance together on a building. It took more than a day to film.

Yet another stunning scene is the opening sequence in the jail cell, Bota said. "It's an incredible piece of dancing," Bota exclaimed. "And, unfortunately, the opening sequence, I think, probably runs about three or four minutes, but the dance that he (Hines) did, I think, was about eight minutes long, and it was just, throughout the whole film - particularly the jail scene - it was so hard as an operator to keep my eye glued through the optics of the camera because of what was going on in front of me."

"I had a great view. Because I was able to watch the whole thing . . . so breathtaking - the dancing so exciting and exhilarating. It was tough to keep concentrating on what we were doing."

BOTA IS A graduate of Birmingham's Seaholm High School. He attended Central Michigan University for two years, then the University of Michigan for two years, where he received a bachelor of science degree in 1981. He had begun studies in premed, but during the last year at U-M he found himself helping a friend a lot with his film projects.

Bota recalled, "I pretty much put more of my energy into a lot of his projects than I did into what I was doing. When I graduated, I sort of pursued work (film work) in the Detroit area, trying to figure out if there was actually a market, if you actually could make a living doing it."

From 1981 to 1985, he worked in metropolitan Detroit as a camera technician, or "focus puller."

"The focus puller is a technician who manages the equipment and makes sure the subjects are in focus, usually by pulling a measuring tape or sometimes looking through the camera," Bota said.

"AND THEN at the end of '85, I sort of started getting kind of itchy working in Detroit and wanted to pursue some bigger projects." He said the big turning point for him was when he worked on "Beverly Hills Cop," when it was shot in Detroit, for about two weeks.

Not long after, Bota found himself in Los Angeles, where the work was scarce for him at first. Then a break came, as a camera assistant.

"I ended up landing a feature that I got on through a friend of a friend," he said. The show was "Bodyslam," with Dirk Benedict and Rowdy Roddy Piper. More jobs followed.

He worked on theatrical films, such as "Lady Beware," and videos. "I did a bunch of music videos when they were at their peak . . . I must have done 20 of them in a year." (He has worked on one David Bowie video and three Prince videos.)

For Director of Photography Jon Kranhouse, he served as camera assistant on "Stillwatch," a TV movie with Angle Dickinson and Lynda Carter that was shown on CBS on Feb. 10, 1987, and on "The Infiltrator," a "CBS Summer Playhouse" entry with Scott Bakula that was aired Aug. 14, 1987.

KRANHOUSE GAVE Bota the opportunity to be a camera operator, for the Fox television series "Werewolf," with John York and Chuck Connors, which premiered July 11, 1987. Kranhouse was director of photography, the individual concerned with lighting aspects of a production.

"Operating - you're composing images," said Bota.

"When I worked on 'Werewolf,' I was operating on that . . . and that was one of my first shows that I was actually the 'A' camera operator."

On "Werewolf," he even worked as director of photography after Kranhouse had gone to work on another project and an experienced director of photography was not found as a replacement. "I was very fortunate to shoot 12 episodes."

When "Werewolf" was canceled, Bota returned to duties as a camera operator, such as on the miniseries "Something Is Out There," with Joe Rick Bota, who went to high school in Birmingham, is behind the camera for the movie "Tap." Also on the set are star Gregory Hines (left); Nick Castle, the director (behind Bota) and David Gribble, director of photography (right).

In scene from "Tap," Max Washington (Hines) displays his artistry when he is challenged by other dancers during a surprise visit to tap studio. Looking on are Arthur Duncan (left), Pat Rico, Harold Nicholas, Steve Condos, Sandman Sims, Henry LeTang and Sammy Davis Jr.

Cortese and Maryam d'Abo; the television series "Something Is Out There," and "Tap."

Bota said he would like to return to the Detroit area as a director of photography when he knows more about the business, so that he can compete with the many good directors of photography locally.

You can find your heart's desire in antique, boutique and stores minutes from the Berkshire.

A weekend in Ann Arbor is a romantic interlude. Nestled in the Berkshire Hilton, the two of you. Surrounded in elegance, served with grace. Venture out to the galleries, the theaters, the shops and the antique shows in Saline. Retreat to the luxurious privacy of your guestroom at the Berkshire. It's like residing in a fine estate home. Later, you'll enjoy the convenience of 24-hour room service, a whirlpool or sauna, or a few laps in our resort-sized indoor pool. Come taste what happens when our renowned European Chef Wally turns his genius to American cuisine. You'll find your favorite dishes have taken on a whole new pizzazz. Visit the Polo Lounge where the sizzling sounds of Art Stephan's piano provide the background for an exciting evening. So much to do, and the whole luxurious weekend to do it. We have even extended the check-out time to 3:00 p.m. on Sunday so you can enjoy our sumptuous brunch. Call Christa at 761-7900 today to take advantage of our extraordinary weekend rates. Be sure to ask about our other deluxe and family weekend packages. Then, come to Ann Arbor and remember how romantic a weekend can really be.

Blues guitarist not unhappy

By Erlan Lysaght
Staff writer

Despite the pain of recently extracted wisdom teeth, guitarist Ronnie Earl isn't complaining.

He is making a living as a blues guitarist, not the easiest of professions.

Eighteen months ago, the 35-year-old guitarist left the band, Roomful of Blues, to develop a solo career. He is now leading his own group, the Broadcasters, and has a new recording to promote and enough gigs to keep busy.

"I'm not suffering," he said in a telephone interview from his home in Boston. He was referring to his life and career, not the state of his dental work, after an operation done the day before.

RONNIE EARL and the Broadcasters come to town Friday-Sunday, at Sully's in Dearborn.

Earl played Sully's as a member of the brass-powered Roomful. He was the band's lead guitarist for eight years and eight albums.

He earned accolades along the way as a guitarist's guitarist. He has recorded four solo albums, the most recent being the sometimes-gritty, sometimes-melodic "Soul Searching," featuring the Broadcasters.

EARL IS aware of the difficulty blues artists face getting radio airplay for their music, he said. It is a frustrating cycle, he said, because radio play would lead to more popularity for the form and higher record sales.

"If they played it on the radio more people would like the music. I don't know what the solution is," he said.

He noted the inequity, too, in the music world: Rock superstar Bruce Springsteen, hailed as the voice of the working man and woman, travels via limousine to his concerts, rants that cost fans — working folks or not — $35 per head.

Earl said he isn't trying to slam Springsteen, only to point out that the blues is the real voice of the working man and woman.

"We ain't ridin' around in limousines. It doesn't cost that much to see a blues show, and we play four hours, too."

Ronnie Earl and the Broadcasters will perform Friday-Sunday at Sully's in Dearborn. Earl formerly played Sully's as lead guitarist for the band Roomful.

EARL, 35, is a late-blooming bluesman. He was moved to learn guitar after seeing a Muddy Waters concert approximately 10 years ago as a student at Boston University.

Ronnie Earl, ne Ronnie Horvath, has described himself as "a little white Jewish kid from New York City."

He was attracted to the emotional power of the blues and learned fast because he knew he wanted to play the blues, he said.

"I had a direction and a focus. I just said 'This is what I'm going to do.'"

His career started coming together when he got an invitation to join Waters' band soon after joining Roomful. He declined that offer but has said Muddy gave him some advice: wear suits and be dignified and proud of what you do. Also, change your surname.

EARL HAS recorded with bluesmen Big Joe Turner, Eddie "Cleanhead" Vincent and Sunnyland Slim.

He put together the Broadcasters last year. They are: singer Darrell Nullsch; harmonica player Jerry Portnoy, a Waters band alum; bassist Steve Gnomes, and drummer Per Hanson.

He has lectured at the Berklee School of Music in Boston on life as a professional blues musician, working with record companies, promoters and the like.

"I have a name and people know me in the city. I love doing that (lecturing) because I was a teacher (before becoming a musician)," he said.

THE BAND was in Atlanta last month. It will tour Chicago and Indiana, then head south to the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival in April.

Earl's shows vary, as he likes to play different kinds of blues.

"There's a lot of different kinds of blues. It depends on what night you see me and how I'm feeling," he said. "I just play with my heart and soul and try to communicate with people."

Showtimes are 10 p.m. and midnight Friday-Saturday. Tickets are $8 in advance, $10 at the door. The Sunday show, featuring guitarist Jimmy Rogers, begins at 9 p.m. and costs $10.

Soup winners

The three winning soups in a contest called the "Great Detroit-Area Soup-Off" are being featured during February at Wellington's in the Embassy Suites Hotel-Detroit/Southfield. The restaurant, which sponsors the annual contest, served the third place winner, Red River Scotch Broth (from Jill Burns of Ferndale), through Saturday. Second place winner, Chicken and Silders Soup (from Johnny Kolakowski of Wyandotte), is being served through Saturday, Feb. 25, and first place winner, Peanut Soup (from Shella Ingersoll of Ypsilanti), Monday-Saturday, Feb. 27 to March 4. Wellington's is open for lunch, offering a special buffet, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and for dinner from 5-10 p.m.

Chocolate party

Trappers Alley in Detroit's Greektown will host its third annual Chocolate Jubilee from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday-Friday, Feb. 23-24. Free samples of chocolate treats will be available from Trappers Alley merchants. "Downtown Desserts II" from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 23, will have Detroit chefs preparing their favorite chocolate desserts on the fourth level.

Armenian food

"A 'Gastronomical Journey through Historic Armenia' will be presented at 7 p.m. Saturday, March 4, at St. John's Armenian Church Cultural Hall in Southfield. Food specialties of various regions of Historic Armenia will be featured, along with a mock traditional Armenian Village wedding, and vocal renditions by mezzo-soprano Maro Partamian of New York City. The evening is offered by the Preservation of Armenian Heritage Committee of the Alex Manogian School as a fund-raiser for the school's 20th anniversary. Tickets are $40 per person. For more information call 569-2988.

Michigan Feast

Cranbrook P.M. "Adventures in Good Taste" will pay a return visit to the Appe'leaser restaurant in Birmingham for a Michigan Feast prepared by Chef Christopher Angolante and his staff. All Michigan products will be highlighted. Michigan wines will be served with each course at dinner. Admission is $40 per person. For reservations call 645-3635.

Japanese dishes

A gourmet Japanese feast will be served from 6-10 p.m. Saturday, March 11, at the Musashi Japanese restaurant at Town Center in Southfield. The event includes a selection of fine wine by Decanter Imports and Don Lee Distributors. There will be live entertainment. Cost is $50 per person. Reservations are required by Friday, March 3; phone 358-1911.

Redford CC trio gains mat crowns

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Redford Catholic Central had one of its finest performances in its long and storied wrestling history Saturday at the Class A individual championships.

The Shamrocks had three state champions and two consolation winners at Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena for their finest showing in 20 years.

All of Observerland fared well, in fact. Of the nine area wrestlers who advanced to the finals and vied for either first, third or fifth place, eight won.

Catholic Central's Lee Krueger won his second straight title, this time in the heavyweight division, and teammates Matt Helm and Jay Helm captured their first championships at 130 and 140 pounds, respectively.

Wayne Memorial's Jason Kopcak was the runner-up and CC's Brian Tulley the third-place finisher at 145. The Shamrocks' Chris Rodriguez was the 152-pound consolation winner.

WESTLAND JOHN Glenn's Rob Matigian (135) and Derek Tharp (189) and Livonia Stevenson's Kurt Will (152) won their contests for fifth place.

"It's been an excellent day," CC coach Mike Rodriguez said. "We had a dream team last year, and this is phenomenal to come in here and get three this year."

Observerland wrestlers were involved in many exciting matches but none more so than Krueger, who fought an uphill battle against bigger opponents after winning the 198-pound title a year ago.

Krueger defeated area rival Zaim Cunniff of North Farmington 7-4 in the semifinals and prevailed over Romulus' Paul Nowicki in the final, which produced one of the day's most dramatic bouts.

Krueger had defeated Nowicki, who weighs close to the 275-pound limit, 8-1 in the regional final, but he needed overtime to turn back a more aggressive Nowicki on a 7-4 decision Saturday.

"At the end (of the regional match), he was playing catch-up and kept making dumb mistakes, and I kept getting points," Krueger said. "This week he came after me so much harder. I knew he really wanted it, too."

"It's hard" wrestling the same opponent two weeks in a row, he added. "It's scary, with someone that big, when you're giving up that much weight."

KRUEGER WAS behind for 2 1/2 periods as Nowicki used his size and strength to neutralize him. Krueger tried repeatedly to shoot at Nowicki's legs, but the Romulus wrestler brought his full weight down on his back.

"It scared me when Lee was shooting, because (Nowicki) used his leverage and weight," Coach Rodriguez said. "Fortunately, he has trouble holding Lee down."

With 20 seconds left in regulation, Krueger got a break when he tried to shoot a takedown and Nowicki, after falling on Krueger, was called for stalling. That tied the score at 3-3 and forced overtime.

Krueger, who was 48-2-1 as a senior and had 194 career victories, picked up two more points for an escape and stalling in overtime, and he locked up the victory when he finally shot a clean double-leg takedown following a break.

"The kid is so strong, and I was going as hard as I could," said Krueger, who used his conditioning to make the match a test of endurance. "I can hardly move right now. I wanted to keep pushing him and pushing him until he couldn't go any more."

MATT HELM (62-3-1) also needed overtime in his final match with Davison's Brad Smith, who was 47-0 going in and ranked No. 1. But even that wasn't enough to decide it. The overtime ended with a 2-2 draw, and a referee's criteria decision broke the stalemate.

Lady Ocelots ousted in state cage tourney

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

For the final three minutes, Schoolcraft College played like the womens basketball team that had won 21 of its first 22 games.

It wasn't enough. The Lady Ocelots, who had been ranked as high as seventh in the National Junior College Athletic Association, staged a gutsy comeback that fell a single point short. They lost their opening game in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association playoffs to Highland Park CC 72-71 Wednesday at SC.

Ironically, it was the Lady Panthers who started SC on their late-season tailspin with a 71-61 win Feb. 8. The Lady Ocelots finished 22-4, losers of three of their last four games. They shared the Eastern Conference title with Oakland CC.

HPCC, third in the conference (now 19-9), showed they were the most talented team by winning twice at SC.

BUT TALENT doesn't always prevail. HPCC had a 67-54 lead with 3:31 left, and nearly fell victim to the Lady Ocelots' relentless attack.

college sports

With 3:07 to play, Michelle Dykinski scored to start her team on its 17-5 game-ending surge.

"I've never seen a Schoolcraft team play a harder five minutes," said SC coach Jack Grenan. "The only trouble was they scored one more point than we did."

The Lady Ocelot comeback was aided by HPCC's Janice Cooper, who was whistled for two technical fouls for unsportsmanlike conduct in the final minute. The two technicals put Cooper on the sideline; Tracy Osborne at the free throw line; and four more points next to SC's score line.

The Lady Panthers' seemingly safe eight-point edge with a minute left had been halved. The Lady Ocelots might have pulled closer, but a Dykinski pass aimed at Darlene Bazner skipped out of bounds, forcing SC to foul for possession. Jessica McCrary's free throw with 24 seconds left provided HPCC with what proved to be the winning point.

BAZNER SCORED the Lady Ocelots' last four points, the final two with six seconds left. The Ocelots then fouled McCrary — who had turned the ball over against SC's pressure six seconds earlier — on the inbounds play, and she missed the first in a one-and-one situation. But McCrary got control of the ball in the corner and ran out the clock.

Leading the Lady Ocelots were Barb Krug with 18 points, 14 rebounds and five steals; Lisa DePlanche, 16 points; Dykinski, 14 points, 12 rebounds, four steals and two blocks; Bazner, 13 points, four steals and three assists; and Osborne, 10 points.

HPCC got 23 points from McCrary, 19 from Cooper, 17 from Gwen Maitten and 14 from Stephenie Greer.

The comeback wouldn't have been necessary if SC had played the last 10 minutes of the first half like the first 10. The Lady Ocelots were up 23-18 after Krug's hook shot with 9:19 left, then failed to hit a field goal the rest of the half. HPCC outscored them 25-8 the rest of the half, including 17-straight.

Madonna, SC men's teams drilled

If Madonna College had a week to prepare for its basketball game with Siena Heights, the Fighting Crusaders might have made a battle of it. Unfortunately, they only had two days.

Siena, the NAIA District 23 leader in the power point rankings every week for the past two seasons, demolished Madonna 117-66 Saturday at Madonna. The win improved the Saints to 25-5; the Crusaders slipped to 13-18.

It was Madonna's fourth game in a week, and that proved to be too much for a team that relies basically on six players. "We just don't have the depth," admitted Crusader coach Bob Whitlow. "The St. Mary's game (a 101-94 win Thursday) took its toll. I knew the Siena game would be tough."

It wasn't for the Saints, who led 63-30 at the half. Craig Tanis topped Siena with 17 points. Bernard Lauderdale and William Clyburn had 16 each.

Anthony Strickland's 20 points was best for Madonna. Brian Daniel added 14 and seven rebounds and Shaun Hayward netted 11 points.

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE'S mens team finished its season on a sour note, getting bombed at Flint Jordan 121-93 Saturday. "We ran out of people at the end," said SC coach Dave Bogataj, whose team finished its season at 6-24. "We just got tired and beat up a little bit at the end."

"(Jordan) is a nice ballclub, and we're not," Still, SC — which won just once after losing three players to academic problems in January — was in the game until the waning minutes. The Ocelots trailed by just 60-54 at the half.

But with 3:00 left in the game, the gap had grown to 16 points and two starters, Rob Harmon and John Moran, had fouled out, so Bogataj emptied his bench, using mostly walk-ons to finish the game.

Bernard McGee and Al Hudson paced the SC attack with 22 points apiece. McGee hit three-of-five three-pointers, and Hudson had six rebounds, Ken Foster added 18 points, four assists and four rebounds, Moran scored 13 points, Harmon had 10 and Mike Mercer finished with nine.

Jim Wallace netted 20 points and Cliff Thomason had 20 for Jordan.

Glenn stuns Hawks in semifinal

By Dan O'Neers
staff writer

Westland John Glenn is not the same basketball team that lost to Farmington Harrison two months ago, and one reason is junior Eric Spencer.

The 6-foot-1 junior was sick last December and didn't play the night Glenn got blown out at Harrison 74-62.

Not only was he present Tuesday night, but he was part of a balanced attack as the Rockets stunned the Western Division-champion Hawks 67-53 in a game played at Farmington High.

The Rockets, 11-8 overall, will face Plymouth Salem, the Lakes Division winner, for a third time this season in the Western Lakes Activities Association final at 8 p.m. Saturday. Salem, 17-2, will be the host team.

Spencer tossed in 12 points, including 6-of-6 shooting at the free-throw line, and was one of four Rockets in double figures.

BOBBY LAWRENCE, who had four of Glenn's seven triples, led the way with 15 points. Greg Anderson, whose outside shooting was another key, also scored 12, and Jason Pizzuti added 10 off the bench. Chad Burgess and Bryan Wauldron were the only Harrison players in double figures with 16 and 11, respectively.

"At the beginning of the year, we weren't playing as a team as much," Spencer said. "We were taking a lot of outside shots and weren't getting it inside. Now we have more balance and are doing a lot better."

Glenn coach Bob Killingbeck echoed Spencer's appraisal of the team, saying the Rockets have meshed into a cohesive unit.

"Early in the year, we were turning the ball over and giving up easy baskets," he said. "Now we have the poise to get it up and down the floor."

"Ever since Spencer has been playing first string, we've been doing real well. He's a quality player and, as you see, he can put the ball in the basket."

THOMAS ARNETT/staff photographer

Eric Spencer (with ball) of Westland John Glenn is surrounded by Harrison defenders in Tuesday's WLAA semifinal playoff game.

"BUT HE'S JUST one of the keys," he added. "We're playing better as a team. We're not relying on one person."

Harrison coach Mike Teachman said he thought the addition of Spencer and Lawrence's shooting made the difference for Glenn. As for the Hawks, it wasn't one of their more inspiring performances.

Teachman pointed out Harrison is 4-3 when it allows more than 60 points and 12-0 when it holds the opposition to less than 60.

"The better team won tonight," Teachman said. "They had open shots and we didn't. We didn't play defense."

"We lacked mental intensity. You could see it in warm-ups, and I thought we were really ready to play off the last two practices."

Tuesday's game was supposed to have been played at Harrison, too, but the game had to be switched to Farmington late in the afternoon. The large doors that divide the gym in half were stuck open, forcing a last-minute site change.

"I THINK IT turned out to be a big (factor)," Teachman said. "At 4:15, the decision was made, and all of the players were called."

"I'm sure it took some wind out of their sails, but (Glenn) played better. And Spencer and Lawrence played great."

Casey Killingbeck and Lawrence hit back-to-back triples to start the game, and their sharp shooting was a foreshadowing of things to come.

But the Rockets went into a split in the second quarter and made only three of 18 field goals. Spencer, however, made all six free throws in that period to keep Glenn in the game while the Hawks rallied from their slow start.

Adam Lowy's triple gave Harrison its first lead, 32-30, but the Hawks, who trailed by several points most of the game, had only a pair of one-point leads after that.

The Rockets never trailed after Lawrence hit a timely triple and Chris Poplin added a tip-in at the third-quarter buzzer for a 47-43 lead.

HARRISON WAS within four, 53-49, when Spencer drove the lane and Lawrence hit another 3-pointer to stretch Glenn's lead to nine with 3:00 remaining. That forced the Hawks to press and enabled the Rockets to win going away.

"Usually, I hit a lot of 3-pointers, but I haven't been hitting them lately," Lawrence said. "I've been off lately. I just got hot. After I hit a couple, I got heated up."

Killingbeck said his team's main objective was to limit the scoring of Burgess and Wauldron and keep them away from the boards. Both were limited to six points in the second half.

"If we keep them off the boards, they're going to struggle, because they depend on them to get all the garbage," he said.

"We had to do a half-way decent job on the boards. The first time they just killed us on the boards."

The Rockets have lost twice to Salem, but they're eager for a third meeting with a championship on the line.

"WE PLAYED Salem tough both times," Killingbeck said. "We had them beat the first time; we were up by 11 late in the game. We're confident, if we can play a good, strong game, we'll be there."

Harrison, ranked No. 7 in Class B, was one of the favorites to be in the final but will play Livonia Franklin in the consolation game at 6 p.m. instead. The game is at Salem, also.

"It's disappointing," Teachman said, "but as far as reality right out here (on the gym floor), between the lines, John Glenn beat us."

Franklin OT quest a little short, 77-71

By Brad Emons
staff writer

basketball

Plymouth Salem coach Bob Brodie watched the Western Lakes Activities Association basketball title hang ominously on the rim Tuesday night.

With the score tied at 71 near the end of regulation play, Livonia Franklin guard Craig Overaitis launched a 15-foot baseline shot that seemed almost suspended in mid-air.

The shot bounced three times on the cylinder, but rolled off in the final frantic seconds. The visiting Rocks then took advantage of the break in overtime, scoring six unanswered points to thwart the upset-minded Patriots, 77-71.

Salem, now 17-2 overall, will play Westland John Glenn (see related story) for the coveted WLAA playoff title beginning at 8 p.m. The Rocks will play Saturday on their home floor.

"On the second bounce I thought it was going down," said a relieved Brodie afterwards. "But we've had a couple shots ourselves go the other way this year and it was nice that we came out on top this time."

THE ROCKS took control in overtime by capitalizing on three Franklin turnovers when the Patriots mysteriously quit attacking the basket.

Franklin appeared tentative and disorganized in the overtime after senior guard John Shea, one of the team's better ball-handlers and passers, fouled out with 23 seconds left in regulation.

Franklin had taken a 71-69 lead with 32 seconds left when Overaitis converted a pair of free throws, but Salem's Jeff Jagacki, who netted a team-high 17 points, got free underneath for a layup as Shea picked up his fifth. But Jagacki missed the go-ahead free throw with 23 seconds to play, setting the stage for Overaitis' ill-fated bid to win it.

"I have faith in his ability, it was a good shot for him (Overaitis)," said Franklin coach Rod Hanna, whose team slipped to 11-7 overall. "It was tough to lose, but overall I was happy with the effort."

"AFTER WE LOST Shea they (Salem) scored quickly. I think our intensity and thinking level went down. We made three bad passes, while their defensive intensity level went up. The ball did not get inside like we wanted it. Our concentration went away from the basket. We threw the ball out instead of going to the basket."

Brodie, meanwhile, said it was defense which proved to be the difference after the Rocks starting missing critical shots from the free throw line.

"Our defense at the end of regulation and in the overtime was pretty tremendous," said the Salem coach. "That's what you want in crunch time. I told them to contest every shot and the offense will take care of itself."

The Rocks' offense took care of itself, particularly in the first half when they led by as many as 13 points.

But a 39-30 halftime lead disappeared quickly when Franklin guard Roy Hall started ringing in shots from everywhere.

THE SENIOR sharpshooter poured in 16 third-quarter points to pull the Patriots to within four, 56-52.

Franklin finally caught the Rocks at 67-all with only 1:44 to go on Hall's three-pointer.

"I told my guys at halftime that it was going right down to the wire," said Brodie. "Franklin's a tough team to keep down. They're scrappy and they're always hustling. They just kept coming after us."

"That's a good basketball team, and I can see why they beat all the top dogs in our league."

Hall led Franklin and all scorers with 27, while Overaitis and Shea contributed 12 and 10, respectively. Mark Donehue tallied nine and sophomore Steve McCool added seven off the bench.

Albertson helped pick up the slack when the Rocks' top scorer, Jeff Elliott (15 points), went through a dry spell for much of the second half.

"MIKE (ALBERTSON) gave us a great effort," said the Salem coach. "He had been in a lull of late, but I just told him to play and don't be spectacular, just give 100 percent. He was flying all around the court and causing a lot of trouble."

And although it appeared the Rocks were in trouble down the stretch, they persevered and pulled out the win, giving them a shot at the coveted WLAA crown. Last year North Farmington downed the Rocks in the WLAA final.

"This will be our third championship game in a row and that's all you can ask," Brodie said. "All you can ask for is to play for the championship."

RU, Thurston win non-leaguers

Joe Delfgaw drilled five three-pointers and scored 21 points to pace Redford Union to a 69-55 boys basketball victory Tuesday at Livonia Clarenceville.

RU, which improved to 10-8 with the win, had eight triples to three for Clarenceville — all by Kendrick Herrington, who finished with 13 points.

The Class A Panthers were never in trouble against their Class B opponent. RU led by 10 (27-17) at the half and by 15 (48-33) after three quarters.

John Burdick and Steve Nowak contributed 18 points apiece for RU. Trevor Smith's 18 points were high for Clarenceville, which slipped to 4-14. Derrick Herr added 12.

STEVENSON 65, CHURCHILL 59: In a battle of Livonia schools, Stevenson built a big first-half lead, then withstood a Churchill comeback to win a Western Lakes Activities Association consolation game Tuesday at Churchill.

Stevenson (13-6 overall) jumped in front 17-11 after one quarter and was up 37-20 at the half, but the Chargers (5-14 overall) battled back, outscoring their foes 16-10 in the third quarter and 23-18 in the fourth.

"We fought to the end," said Churchill coach Fred Price. "And that's what I was looking for."

Free-throw shooting ruined the Chargers. Stevenson made 12 of 19; Churchill was just 16 of 30, with five misses coming on the first in one-and-one situations.

Rick Laven led the Spartans with 16 points, including four-of-four free throws in the fourth. Chris Nazelli had 13 and Scott Kosikowski and Glenn Szeman scored nine apiece. Four players netted 10 points each for Churchill: Eric Osen, Chad Campau, Mike Picha and Mike Juddawiki. Picha had eight rebounds.

WAYNE 72, DEARBORN 55: It was senior night at Wayne Memorial Tuesday, so the Zebras — who usually start four juniors and one senior — had all seniors starting.

Dearborn still couldn't beat the makeshift lineup, trailing 34-33 at the half. And when the starters got in in the second half, Wayne (now 15-4 overall) pulled away, outscoring the Pioneers 38-22.

Tony Rumble, the only senior starter, scored seven of his 19 points in the third quarter as the Zebras outscored Dearborn 20-13. Kevin Hankerson, Wayne Jackson and Chris Hebrner chipped in with 10 points apiece, Jackson getting seven in the fourth quarter. Hankerson also had eight boards.

Rob Serulich scored 19 for Dearborn (8-11 overall). Mohammed Abdrabbon and Brian Merckens had 10 each.

ST. ALPHONSUS 68, ST. AGATHA 67 (2 OT): Troy Coleman rattled Redford St. Agatha for 36 points, including six of Dearborn St. Alphonsus' eight overtime points and the game-winning basket with seven seconds left, Tuesday at St. Als.

The defeat hurt, but there could be an even bigger loss. Senior forward Mike Boyle suffered a severe ankle sprain in the third quarter. Aggie coach Jim Murphy feared Boyle may be lost for the season.

St. Agatha, which fell to 16-3, had its chances to beat the Arrows (5-12 overall), but couldn't convert — particularly at the free-throw line. The Aggies made just one-of-four from the stripe in the second overtime, with Galen Walker hitting one of two and Pat Wagner missing twice.

Matt Haran led St. Agatha with 25 points, but he, too, missed a key free throw late in regulation. Walker finished with 22 and Brian Kutch scored 12.

St. Als led 25-23 at the half, but the Aggies tied it at 41 after three quarters. It was 60-all at the end of regulation and 64-apiece after one overtime. Kutch followed Coleman's game-winning basket with a desperation shot that missed with three seconds left.

THURSTON 76, EVANGEL 67: Fernando Merida leveled Detroit Evangel Christian with 29 points and 17 rebounds Tuesday at Redford Thurston.

The win improved the Class B Eagles' record to 15-4, Class D Evangel is 13-6.

After the first quarter (Thurston led 23-22) the Eagles were never in trouble. They were ahead 41-33 at the half and 57-42 after three quarters. Matt Farris and Keith Wojkowski contributed 13 points each for Thurston. Mike Lucy had 14 rebounds. Mark Johnson topped Evangel with 26 points.

KETTERING 82, GARDEN CITY 62: The Cougars led 20-13 after one quarter, but it was short-lived. Waterford Kettering outscored them 69-42 over the last three quarters Tuesday at Garden City.

Bud Barnett's 25 points and 10 rebounds paced GC (3-16 for the season). Paul Donaldson added 14 points.

Ryan Thorpe scored 16 and Andrew Smith had 11 for Kettering (6-13).

WHITMORE LAKE 78, LUTHERAN WESTLAND 67: The closest Lutheran Westland could get to Whitmore Lake in the second half was six points, as the Warriors sagged to 3-16 with Tuesday's homecourt defeat. Whitmore Lake is 10-9.

Mike Hardies' 26 points and eight boards was best for Westland. Chris Habits had 12 points and seven rebounds and Kevin Gegrin got eight points and seven assists. Erick Wagocer and Butch Layow wrecked the Warriors with 22 points each.

EVANS SCHOLARS

Thirty-one outstanding caddies from Michigan clubs, including five area students, have been awarded Chick Evans scholarships by the Western Golf Association.

Three will attend the University of Michigan, while two others will be going to Michigan State University.

Among the winners headed for U-M: Michele Bryant, 17, of Livonia (Churchill High), Plum Hollow Golf Club; James Butski, 17, of Livonia (Churchill High), Meadowbrook Country Club; and Michael Garlauskas, 17, of Redford (Catholic Central High), Western Golf and Country Club.

Going to MSU are Michael Patrick, 17, of Livonia (Catholic Central High) and Kimberly Stier, 17, of Redford (Lutheran Westland High), both of whom caddied at Western.

Evans Scholarships are one-year grants which may be renewed up to four years with an estimated value in excess of $10,000. Evans grants include full tuition and housing, usually at one of the 14 major universities where the foundation owns and maintains Evans Scholar chapter houses.

NETTER NAMED

Livonian Carrie Cunningham, the 1989 U.S. Open junior champion, has been named to the U.S. National Team for the second straight year by the U.S. Tennis Association's Player Development Program.

A student at Churchill High, Cunningham will be accompanied by USTA coaches to national and international junior, satellite and major tour events, and will receive guidance in practice methods, training, scheduling, nutrition and stress management. Travel costs and training sessions are paid by the USTA.

Cunningham recently played last month in the main draw of the Australian Open.

GYMNASTS QUALIFY

Three Class I gymnasts and one advance optional gymnast from Westland's Academy of Gymnastics have qualified for the Michigan State Meet next month in Grand Rapids.

Lisa Donaldson, a Junior Class I performer, earned a combined score of 69.75 to gain a second place medal in qualifying competition last weekend. Teammate Shawna Gunnis finished 10th in the all-around in the same division. Melissa Lyon also qualified.

Meanwhile, Melissa Johnson, took third in the all-around in Advanced Optional.

SHOOTER INVITED

Westland's Robert Plante, 26, was one of seven pistol shooters who recently attended a camp at the Miller High Life-sponsored U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The camp served as training for the 1989 U.S. Olympic Sports Festival to be held July 21-30 in Oklahoma City, OK, and the 1989 Championship of the Americas, Aug. 28-Sept. 2 in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Plante, a member of the U.S. National Shooting Team, has competed in the sport for over five years. He placed sixth in the U.S. International Shooting Championships in the air pistol competition and 10th in center fire pistol.

Plante currently attends Henry Ford Community College.

UMPIRES CLINIC

American League umpire Durwood Merrill will be the featured speaker for the sixth annual Amateur Umpires Clinic, Friday and Saturday at the Maplewood Community Center in Garden City.

The clinic, hosted by the Independent Officials Association, will be from 6 until 9 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday. (Feb. 25).

For more information, call 721-8651.

BASEBALL SIGNUP

Baseball registration for Livonia youths (ages 9-14) will be at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 11 at the following sites, arranged by the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department and the Livonia Junior Football League: Blue Jays, Franklin High School; Eagles, old Bentley High; Falcons, Stevenson High; Orioles, Churchill High. For more information, call league commissioner Ernie Caudle at 464-2959.

The Redford Township Junior Athletic Association will hold softball and baseball registration from 6:30 to 9 p.m.—Tuesday, March 7, at Hilbert Junior High and Thursday, March 9, at the Redford Ice Arena. Late registration is scheduled for 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday, March 18, at the Ice Arena.

For more information, call 535-2608 or 532-1432.

The North Redford central Little League, chartered by Little League Baseball Inc., will hold registration for its 27th season 7-9 p.m. Thursday, March 2, at Beck Elementary School (Bennett and Curtis). All those who register must bring a copy of their birth certificate.

Among the age divisions offered: Minor B (instructional), boys and girls 6-8 years (you must be 6 by July 31, 1989); Minor A, 8-10 and some 11- to 12-year-olds; Major League, 10-12; Senior League, 13-15; Big League, 16-18.

The Little League boundary is Telegraph to Middlebelt, Six to Seven Mile roads, while the Senior and Big League boundary is Telegraph to Middlebelt, Joy to Eight Mile roads.

For more information, call 538-1133 (Little League), 535-6713 (Senior and Big Leagues), or 525-7856 (president).

Coaches, managers and sponsors are also needed. Those interested should call 537-7202.

SOCCER SIGNUP

The Redford Soccer Club will hold registration (boys and girls born 1972 through 1984) for the spring season from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Saturday at the Redford Ice Arena.

For more information, call Al Wilcox at 531-2920.

The Livonia Family YMCA,

14255 Stark just north of Schoolcraft Road, will hold spring soccer registration (boys and girls 6 years and up) from 10 a.m. until noon through Saturday.

The cost is $24 for Y members and $29 for non-members (reduced rate for second child).

Each registrant must provide a copy of his birth certificate and Social Security number.

COACHES WANTED

Clarenceville High School is looking for a boys track coach. Those interested should call athletic director Leo Kinsell at 473-8928.

Redford Union High School is seeking a varsity boys track coach for the spring season. Experience is necessary.

Blazers top PSL champ in Operation-Friendship

Livonia Ladywood is starting to peak at the right time.

The defending state Class A volleyball champs added another trophy to their case Monday with a 15-6, 15-10 win over Detroit Henry Ford in the Operation-Friendship finals at Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

The Blazers, Catholic League champions, ran their overall record to 35-4.

Henry Ford, the Detroit Public School League champs, led 5-1 before Ladywood rallied in the first game.

"We were passing well, but they threw up a few good blocks and had some good digs," said Ladywood coach Tom Teeters of the early deficit. "Once we got on track with our serving, we were able to keep them off balance."

Stacey Girard was the Blazers' top hitter during the match with 12 kills in 20 attacks, while Sarah Adzima contributed 10 kills in 19 attacks. Kari Domanski had 20 assist kills in 44 attempts.

"We got exceptional hitting from Adzima, Stacey and Peggy Knittel," Teeters said. "We're now running a shoot-set (attack) on the outside and that's very difficult to defend. It gives us just one blocker, but a lot more court to hit into." Meanwhile, Girard recorded 12 digs, while Peggy Knittel and Dana Domanski contributed nine and seven, respectively.

Ladywood's top server was Kari Domanski, who went 14-for-14 with two aces. Adzima added three aces in the second game.

Ladywood returns to action Saturday at the University of Michigan Tournament in Ann Arbor.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL kept its perfect record (9-0) intact in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association with a 15-3, 15-3 triumph Monday at Farmington Harrison.

The Chargers, now 25-3 overall, won the first game behind the hitting of Karen Paciero (three kills) and Jenny Sproul (two).

In the second game, Aylyssa Be-laire served the first nine points, while Carrie Blanchard contributed four kills.

Setter Amy Baron was also outstanding in both games.

GARDEN CITY, sparked Monday by the serving (78 percent ace ratio) and hitting (53 percent kill-ratio) of Diane Allison, swept visiting Redford Union, 15-7, 15-9, 15-7, in a Northwest Suburban League encounter.

The Cougars are now 20-15 overall and 3-4 in the NSL.

"We had a good effort in a tough match," said Garden City first-year coach John Groves.

Other top percentage servers (kill-ratio) included Sarah Young (63), Colleen Owsley (56), Jamie Rush (50) and Doreen Malone (40).

Other top percentage hitters (kill-ratio) included Malone (50), Tina Emery (44) and Carolyn Shanks (40).

NORTH FARMINGTON clinched at least a tie for the Lakes Division title with a 15-7, 15-12 victory Monday over visiting Westland John Glenn.

Eve Claar paced the victorious Raiders with seven kills.

North is 21-5 overall and 8-1 in the Lakes (tied with Walled Lake Central).

Canton spikes struggling Patriots

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

In the usual ebb and flow of a volleyball match, momentum is often a crucial factor. The team that has it wins.

Plymouth Canton had it the entire third game Monday, and that meant a decisive conclusion to its three-game match with host Livonia Franklin.

The Chiefs, who improved to 5-4 in the Western Division heading into their Wednesday match with first-place Livonia Churchill, won the first game 15-11 and the last 15-2 after winless Franklin rallied for a 15-12 victory in the second.

"I reminded (the players) about being intense," Canton coach Allie Suffety said. "It's a momentum game and if you lose it you're taking a chance on losing the game."

The Chiefs made sure that didn't happen, building their third-game lead on a combination of aces by Susan Ferko, Karen Keenan and Rhonda Kibliko and Patriot errors.

CANTON FINISHED with a decisive run of five points on Allissa Huth's serve. She also had an ace and Ferko a tip for match point, but three points came on Franklin miscues.

"We faltered in our passing confidence," first-year Patriot coach Chris McAllister said. "When you're tentative with your passing, your whole game is going to be tentative."

The Chiefs breezed to a 7-1 lead in the first game, but Franklin rallied as a result of a string of Canton hitting errors.

The Chiefs hit the ball out of bounds or into the net four straight times as Franklin cut their lead to 10-7 and eventually pulled even at 11. Canton, however, went on to win with attack points from Keenan, Kibliko and Christyn Halliday.

The second game looked like a repeat of the first as the Chiefs led 7-1 only to have Franklin tie at 8-8 with a pair of Jenny Mayle kills.

But, instead of the Patriots folding after Canton surged to 12-8 on Halliday's serves and attacks by Ferko and Kibliko, Franklin rallied again and won the game.

THE PATRIOTS put together their only sustained hitting attack to score the last seven points on two service rotations. Erica Sundek scored two of those points with a block and a tip.

"Once we get momentum, we're a good team," McAllister said, "but sometimes it's hard to get to that level."

Canton definitely didn't have the momentum as the second game ended, which prompted Suffety to address the game's mental aspects prior to the third game.

"I think we lose intensity," he said. "We stop playing hard. Once we do that, things get real silly for us."

Both teams were short-handed for Monday's contest. Canton didn't have two of its best players since Shannon Meath was away on mid-semester vacation, and Michelle Foster was benched for missing practice. The latter reason also kept Franklin's Sherry Weiss, Stacy Lorentz and Emily Skura out of the match.

"I still feel this team is way up there talent-wise," Suffety said, adding he thought the Chiefs "had no business" losing to Farmington Hills Harrison and Westland John Glenn last week.

"RIGHT NOW, we're not showing anything. We're having a difficult time right now. Volleyball is not a priority."

McAllister said the Patriots, 0-9 in the division, have made improvement since the start of the season, but losing, obviously, has not been easy.

Chandler keeps Titan ship afloat

By C.J. Riska
staff writer

Any University of Detroit women's basketball supporter can only hope the trying times that have engulfed the team for the last year-and-a-half are now in the past.

If those problems are history — if the Lady Titans can transform their recent successes (five wins in their last seven games) into something concrete, more than a short surge — it will be a credit to the entire team.

Terri Ford and Mandy Chandler deserve a large share of the credit. Statistically speaking, their worth to U-D is well-documented. They are both averaging over nine points a game, putting them among Lady Titans' top three scorers.

Ford, a junior from Farmington Hills Mercy, was also first in steals (2.0 a game), third in rebounding (6.1) and third in assists (2.0) on the team prior to last week's game. And Ford, who had a career-high 24 points and 12 rebounds in Saturday's 64-54 win at Butler, was leading the Midwestern Collegiate Conference in three-point shots made per game, averaging 1.3.

SHE HAD 27 in 89 attempts (30 percent) through last Wednesday's 63-64 win over Youngstown State, in which she hit one-of-three triples, scoring 13 points, grabbing eight rebounds and making three steals.

Chandler, a sophomore from Livonia Ladywood, was second on the team in assists (2.3) and steals (1.7). A starter at forward until two weeks ago, she pulled herself out of a slump to pour in 19 points against Youngstown State, making five-of-five from the floor and nine-of-10 free throws.

And yet, their greatest contributions to the team can not be measured statistically. Just ask U-D coach Dewayne Jones, who two years ago guided the Lady Titans to a 21-6 record (8-2 in the MCC) before the team nosedived to 4-24 last season (2-8 in the MCC).

"I got on her early in the year," Jones said of Ford. "I thought she should be a leader on the team. I wanted her to take over. Some players might have resisted or refused. But 'T' really responded."

"SHE DOES so many things for us. She has the toughest defensive assignment, she helps relieve against pressure (defenses), she is a major weakside rebounder, she plays forward, she plays guard, and she not only has to know where she is supposed to be on a given play, but where everyone else is supposed to be."

As Jones summed up, "She's a real smart girl."

"I doesn't think she's been doing that much extra. 'He exaggerates,' she said of Jones' comments. 'I've just been on the team the longest. I try to keep everyone together.'"

There's more to Ford's contributions than that, however. She admitted to possessing psychic powers regarding her coach. "I know what to expect from him," she claimed. "Like I'll get up before a game and say, 'The game plan is to get the first rebound.' Then he'll come in and say the same thing, verbatim."

"Even when I mess up, I know

college sports

what he's going to say before he says it."

Ford hasn't messed up too often, which is why U-D has a great chance of making the first MCC womens tournament-March 9-11 in Dayton.

FOR CHANDLER, the season has been one of major adjustment, the greatest coming off the court. Last summer, her older sister, Kim, U-D's leading scorer last year and holder of the single-game scoring record (40 points against Butler), was killed in a car accident in Tennessee. Kim Chandler had previously starred at Schoolcraft College and Dearborn Fordson.

Mandy, who also played at Fordson before transferring to Ladywood for her senior season, still would rather not talk about her sister. "It's been a situation that's been very difficult," said Jones of Chandler's reaction.

"(Mandy's) shown a lot of discipline, a lot of courage. She's kept her mind on what was at hand. It helps that the other players (on the team) have been really great about it. She's gotten a lot of support from everyone around her."

Chandler never considered not playing this season. "I wanted to carry on in (Kim's) tradition," she said.

She's been doing that. In an aggressive style similar to her older sister's, Chandler is the type of player who makes things happen. Small for a forward at 5-foot-8, she nonetheless goes inside and isn't afraid to mix it up.

"MANDY'S REALLY the same way (as Kim)," said Jones. "She's a real hard-nosed kid, a player who overachieves. Kim used to post-up and she was just 5-8. Mandy's like that. She doesn't mind taking a beating, and she'll dish some out, too."

Chandler was mired in a slump prior to the win over Youngstown State, so Jones decided to bring her off the bench, hoping that would aid her confidence in handling the ball. Chandler didn't like it much, but figured the best way to change the situation was through performance.

"I definitely like starting," she said. "I think I get into the game better. When I sit on the bench, my mind wanders."

Her performance against Youngstown State showed little evidence of mind-wandering. "I've just been frustrated with the way I've been playing," she said of her performance. "I've been in a slump, so I wanted to do something to change that. I was on a mission, that's for sure."

Her play this season, considering all that's happened, is inspiring. The same can be said of Ford, who has shouldered all kinds of added responsibilities with no more of a protest than a shrug.

Stevenson sews up SPHL title

By Brad Emons
staff writer

It was only in January, Friday the 13th to be exact, that Livonia Churchill, following a 4-1 victory over city rival Stevenson, appeared to be in the driver's seat for a Suburban Prep Hockey League title.

But on Wednesday, the Chargers found themselves stuffed in the trunk as the new-look Stevenson Spartans captured their third consecutive SPHL title with a wild 8-5 victory.

Coach Matt Mulcahy, whooping it up afterward with his Spartan players in the dressing room of Edgar Arena, called this title "the most unexpected of the three."

"On paper we don't have a lot of talent, but the game is not played on paper, it's played on the ice," said the Stevenson coach, who compared the win to a conquest of heavily favored Ann Arbor Pioneer in the 1986 Class A regional final.

Senior defenseman Paul Tustlan, who had two goals on the night, said the Spartans began to believe they could regain the title when Mulcahy picked up newcomers Mike Morrison and Brian O'Meara last month from the sandlot ranks.

"WHEN WE GOT those two guys it brought our team together," Tustlan said. "I thought we could win if we played our own game. The last game we lost to them, we were taking (checking) the body too much. This time we tried to open up the ice."

hockey

The ice was wide open much of the night and the bodies were flying as well. Eighteen penalties were called, ranging from playing without a helmet to bench minors given because of spectators who tossed coins onto the ice.

Churchill stepped on the gas early, roaring out to a quick 2-0 lead on first-period goals by Jeff Pendell and Bill Durham.

But when Stevenson defenseman Jeff Mitchell rifled a shot outside the blueline that slipped through the pads of Churchill goalie Jason Devlin at 6:31, the tone had been set.

The usually reliable Devlin suddenly found himself fighting the puck and the Spartans' Morrison responded with another fluke goal only eight seconds before the end of the period to make it 2-2.

THE LEAD SEESAWED during the second period, but the score remained tied at 5-5 heading into the final 15 minutes. (Tustlan scored both his goals, while Morrison added the second of his three for Stevenson. Mike Kneiding, Joe Ahmet and Jeff Pendell tallied the Churchill goals.)

But the third period was all Spartans as John Fenech scored what proved to be the game-winner at 46 seconds on an assist from Matt Cichy. Morrison then notched the hat trick at 4:52, scoring off the draw, and John Labodie contributed an empty-netter with only 33 seconds to play.

"We could have folded after two goals, but we made a great comeback," said Mulcahy, whose team finished 12-1-1 in the SPHL. (The Spartans are 13-7-1 overall). "It was nice to come back not only once, but twice after being down. It's a good sign."

Churchill, which plays its final SPHL game tonight against Bloomfield Hills Lahser, slipped to 16-5 overall and 11-2 in the league.

After the disappointing loss, Chargers can only look forward to next week's Class A regional in St. Clair Shores.

"THE ONLY THING I can salvage as coach, as far as the season goes, is that they don't quit any minute that they're out on the ice," said Churchill coach Rudy Varvari. "We've played good hockey, but when you play for the title and lose, what do you salvage? The loss could have some effect (in the regionals), but as a team, are we going to stop here? Or are we going to salvage something?"

Stevenson, meanwhile, closes out its regular season Friday at Edgar Arena against Birmingham Brother Rice. The Spartans then open regional play Monday against Redford Catholic Central. (Tournament pairings on page 5D.)

CC skaters roll

Redford Catholic Central (13-7-1) scored five consecutive goals Saturday en route to a 6-3 triumph over Livonia Churchill (16-4) in a non-league prep hockey game played at the Redford Ice Arena.

The Shamrocks trailed 1-0 late in the first period before goals by Keith Bozyk, Scott Lock (2), Mark Zwarych, and Paul Pirronello put CC ahead to stay.

Churchill pulled to within two goals at 6:45 of the third period on a shot by Joe Ahmet, but the Chargers could get no closer. Zwarych's second goal of the night closed out the scoring at 14:21 of the final stanza.

Ahmet led the Chargers with two goals and Jeff Pendell chipped in with two assists. Ken Landis tallied the other Churchill goal.

Pirronello, Bozyk, and Joe Cyrek each added two assists for the Shamrocks.

CC coach John Gumbleton was not entirely pleased with the victory.

"We played well except in the third period, when we came out flat and could not pick up the tempo," said the Shamrocks coach. "I had to convince them the thing was not over, then they started hustling and took control."

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Churchill's Joe Ahmet (right) celebrates after slipping the puck past Stevenson goaltender Paul Strauch to make it 4-4 at 11:27 of the second period. Stevenson went on to win the Suburban Prep title, 8-5.

Shumate swims buoy Catholic Central to win

Troy Shumate won two individual events Tuesday in leading Redford Catholic Central to a 45-40 win over Adrian in a non-league boys swim meet held at Farmington Hills Mercy.

Shumate was victorious in both the 200-yard freestyle (1:49.28) and the 100 butterfly (55.25). He also teamed up with Brian Dymda, Alan Afsari and Dave West to win the 400-freestyle relay (3:32.68).

Other individual winners for the Shamrocks included Randy Teeters in the 500 freestyle (5:14.09), Mike Patrick in diving (178.30 points) and Andy Jacobs in the 200-individual medley (2:05.36).

Jacobs, Mike Hoeflein, Jim Kovach and Ken Graczyk combined to win the 200-medley relay (1:45.29). The victory improves CC's record to 9-3, while Adrian falls to 8-3 with the loss.

State champs return home

For several tense seconds, the referee stood at center mat, talking to both wrestlers before he raised Helm's arm to signify the winner.

"He said it comes down to the most aggressive wrestler — the guy who took the most shots, which he said was me," Helm said.

Helm feared the worst in the anxious moments before the decision.

"Mr. Rod had me thinking I'd lost," he said. "He thought I'd received a warning, but it was only a caution. He was shaking his head, and I was thinking, 'Oh, God.'"

The victory was especially meaningful to Helm, who probably would have won the decision regardless since he scored the first points in regulation and overtime. He lost in the finals as a junior and didn't want a repeat of that disappointment.

"WHEN WE DID the parade (of wrestlers before the meet), I thought this is too much like last year," he said. "That pumped me up more and more, knowing I didn't want to let the same thing happen this year."

"This has meant my life of wrestling. Everything I've done over the last 10 years in wrestling meant nothing until now."

There also was some discussion in the 140-pound final, which saw Jay Helm (60-2) defeat Trenton's Frank Famularo 9-1.

One official ruled Helm had pinned his opponent at 5:27, but the pin was disallowed, and the match continued. Famularo caused Helm to use an illegal hold, but the CC wrestler was not penalized and instead picked up added points to strengthen his lead.

"I had a figure-4 on his head," Helm said. "He was trying to slip out and pushed it into a scissors, and

wrestling

they had to call it an illegal move. "I was mad that they tried to reverse it, but that was OK. There were only 30 seconds left. I was more than happy to wrestle the rest of the match."

ONE OF THE most emotional scenes occurred at the end of the 152-pound consolation match in which Chris Rodriguez defeated Portage Central's Josh Cunningham 13-7.

Rodriguez, who was fourth at 145 last year, was one of the favorites in his class, but he was pinned by Lansing Sexton rival and eventual champion Gino Chouinard in the semifinals (1:44).

After his last match, tears welled up in Rodriguez's eyes as he walked to his corner where his father and coach, who also was in tears, and his older brother, Steve, a former state champion from CC, embraced each other.

"It takes an awful lot of pride, when your dreams have been shattered to come back," Mike Rodriguez said. "This is what our family typifies. I didn't put a lot of pressure on him, but I know he felt it. He'll always be a champion in our eyes."

"These are the things that build character," he added. "But it's a hard knock. That's what life is all about. That's why I love this sport."

Tulley and Kopcak were beaten by one of the tournament's top wrestlers, unbeaten Jamie Boyd (43-0) of Mount Pleasant, who won 14-6 and 12-1 decisions over his Observerland opponents, respectively.

Area grapplers earn high marks

By Dan O'Meara

Most wrestlers who lose their first match in the state tournament usually don't place.

Livonia Stevenson's Kurt Will and Westland John Glenn's Dereck Tharp refused to give up and followed the same path to success in the Class A finals Saturday at Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena.

Along with Tharp's teammate Rob Matigian, the Observerland trio won their final matches and finished fifth in the state at their respective weights.

Will (152) won three straight bouts in the consolation bracket before losing to Redford Catholic Central's Chris Rodriguez and facing Brian Wingate of Temperance Bedford for fifth place.

Will, who finished his career with 105 wins, was losing 5-4 late in overtime when he scored a takedown and three back points to pull out a 9-5 decision.

"I WAS GETTING tired near the end of the match when he took me down," Will said. "I looked over at the clock and saw I had 26 seconds left in my high school career. I sucked it all up and hit a stand-up move as hard as I could. Nothing was going to hold me down. I'm real happy," he said. "My biggest goal was to place at state, and I did that."

Tharp also had to fight a comeback battle after losing a criteria decision to Holt's Ryan Ammon in his first match Friday. He won his next three before dropping a 6-3 decision in the consolation semis.

"It was either I won or I didn't place," Tharp said. "With this being my senior season, I wasn't going to have it end like that."

"It was hard. I got about 20 minutes between each match. I just had to use that time to get my mind straight."

THARP WAS losing 6-5 to Sam Wakefield of Muskegon Mona Shores with time running out in overtime. In the last 10 seconds, he scored a two-point reversal to win the match.

"I wanted fifth place; I wanted to end the season with a win," Tharp said. "It was flow or never. I knew I had to hit something."

Matigian posted a 6-1 victory over Bay City Western's Mike Wenz in the contest for fifth place, but it was a bittersweet win for the Glenn senior, who went into the finals with a 42-0 record and had his sights set on first place.

"Everything went my way all year," Matigian said. "I guess everything comes to an end sometime. I was ranked second and took fifth. There's no shame in your

Shamrocks whip namesake opponent in wrestling tourney

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Shamrocks tangled with Shamrocks, but there was no confusing the two wrestling teams Wednesday night.

The bout-by-bout proceedings soon separated the contender from the pretender in the Class A quarterfinal contest at Harper Woods Notre Dame High School.

Defending champion Redford Catholic Central advanced to the Final Four a second straight year with a 47-14 victory over underdog East Detroit.

The Shamrocks — of the CC variety — will meet Lake Orion in the state semifinals at 8:30 p.m. Friday in Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena.

CC takes a 19-4 record into the match; the Dragons, who whipped Howell 42-13 on Wednesday, a 24-2 mark. The final will be at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

"You don't have this kind of opportunity often to wrestle somebody the caliber of CC," said ED coach Andy Della, adding his team had eight sophomores in the lineup. "Hopefully, this will make us more experienced for next year."

CC coach Mike Rodriguez knows the competition will get a lot tougher now that the field has been pared to four teams.

"It's going to be a knock down, drag out affair," he said. "I know this Lake Orion team has been waiting for us."

CC had three individual state champions and two runners-up, and when their weights were called Wednesday the Shamrocks began to place. I just expected to do better. Considering the close scores in the matches he lost, Matigian was not far from being first or second, however.

He dropped a 7-6 decision to eventual runner-up John Shefferly of Grosse Pointe North in the semis and a criteria decision to Birmingham Brother Rice's Chris Snooks in the consolation bracket.

"I'M DISAPPOINTED, not in the way I wrestled," he said. "I'd be more disappointed if I knew I didn't give it everything I could. I did my best; I just came up short in two matches."

Plymouth Salem's Brian Burlison (171) won two of four matches, teammate Steve Burlison (161) and Redford Union's Chris Woodbeck one of three. Ed Barlage of Salem (140) and Livonia Churchill's Darin Dudek (119) and Casey Krause (125) lost their first two bouts.

Wayne Memorial's Jason Kopcak (bottom) reached the finals at 145 pounds before losing to the formidable Jamie Boyd (top) of Mount Pleasant. Kopcak was one of eight Observerland wrestlers who placed in the Class A meet.

Countdown Time for Young Musicians

Alan MacNair, Symphony Orchestra conductor, and assistant conductor of the Rochester Symphony Orchestra, is also orchestra director at Troy High School.

By Debbie Wallis Landau
special writer

EVERY SATURDAY MORNING, Steve Landino of Sterling Heights packs up his oboe and heads for Southfield-Lathrup High School. Many miles away, Peggy Allen grabs her viola and sets off from Livonia for the same destination. In all, 209 student musicians from as far north as New Baltimore and as far south as Detroit gather for the weekly, three-hour rehearsal of the Metropolitan Youth Symphony (MYS).

By 9:30 a.m. they are ready to settle in for some serious musicmaking with conductors Alan MacNair of the Symphony Orchestra, Douglas Bianchi of the Concert Orchestra, and Jacqueline Coleman of the String Orchestra.

All the efforts of these orchestras the past three months will culminate in their Orchestra Hall concert this Saturday evening — and there isn't a complacent student in the group.

WEST BLOOMFIELD High School 11th grader Jeff Klein, who plays French horn in the Concert Orchestra, is thrilled to be playing in such an esteemed concert hall.

"Especially to be able to play Dvorak there is quite an opportunity," he said, "because the New World Symphony is something I've wanted to work on for a long time."

William Johnson became the String Orchestra's sole string bass player this past September, his first season with MYS.

"I've played in three school orchestras, including an advanced group, but to get to play in Orchestra Hall in eighth grade is something I will never forget, I'm sure," said the Boulton Park Middle School eighth grader from Troy.

Peggy Rhlew, second violin, and Dina Zamezyk, first violin, have been with MYS since its first season, 1982-83. Both are Farmington Hills students. Neither has missed a concert.

"It's still exciting, after all these years," Rhlew said.

"THE METROPOLITAN Youth Symphony was formed to augment existing school programs," current MYS president Gary Toth said. "It was never intended to replace or compete with the experiences students can gain in their school curriculum."

"When you hear the Symphony Orchestra play Shostakovich's Fifth Symphony Saturday and listen to the Concert Orchestra play Dvorak's Ninth you're hearing students playing originally scored music," said Anita DeMarco Goor, MYS music librarian.

"It's the same interpretation that the Detroit Symphony Orchestra or any professional orchestra would play. The String Orchestra, because of the relative youth of its members, usually plays what is referred to as 'educationally arranged music.'"

For Saturday's concert, the String Orchestra will play selections ranging from Bach to the contemporary Andrew Lloyd Webber. It will also be the first time Coleman conducts for MYS at Orchestra Hall.

"What we hoped to give the students," MYS founder Marianne Stefanko said, "was a chance to produce the best music that they could in the time available to them. We always stressed that their school was number one, and whenever a student enters MYS, a letter is sent to his or her principal or music teacher."

IN 1982, when a dozen concerned parents met to discuss forming a student orchestra, they stated in the by-laws that administrative and logistical matters would be handled by parents and all decisions pertaining to the music repertoire would be controlled by the conductors.

Today 18 board members serve three-year terms. The president serves a one-year term and is elected on a fiscal year basis. Parents work on fund raising to supplement the $60 received from tuition and fees to meet the $240 needed for each student per year. They also help out in other ways.

"It was a big part of my life for a long time," said Donald Veramay, first president and a founder of the organization. His two daughters attend different Michigan colleges.

"Our first year, we started with 180 students and three full orchestras."

JUDY CULLER, conductor for the String Orchestra, stayed for six seasons. Bianchi was the first and only Concert Orchestra conductor. MacNair joined for the 1984-85 season.

"What we needed, we realized, were excellent conductors who were fine music educators," Veramay said. "Not only have our conductors possessed the expertise and the stability, but they relate beautifully to kids. And the kids seem to give that respect back."

"Mr. MacNair has a special way

Pam Short of Southfield is a cellist in the String Orchestra.

Ben Bauman, 10, violinist of Bloomfield Hills is one of the younger members of the String Orchestra.

Farmington artist wins poster competition

A hand-painted photograph, "Almost Spring," by Kathleen Thompson of Farmington was chosen as the official poster image for the Detroit Institute of Art's "Art and Flowers: A Festival of Spring" to be held April 10-16.

Thompson a 29-year-old Farmington native, is an avid photographer. "When I saw the ad, I had to enter. I am a contestaholic," she said. "When they told me I won, I was surprised, actually shocked — but tickled."

Thompson graduated from Oakland University with a bachelor's degree in liberal arts. She works as a media specialist for Madonna College in Livonia. Photography is part of her job as well as her hobby. Her photographic works won a

Local artists who were among the 22 finalists are Barbara Keldan, Birmingham (2); Sonia Molnar, Troy; Fran Nicolson, Birmingham; and Rita Mach Skoczen, Rochester.

"Almost Spring" will be available as a poster signed by the artist in an exhibition of the works of all the finalists that is traveling to locations in the metropolitan area.

It is at Jacobson's Store for the Home of Birmingham through Saturday; Millender Atrium, Detroit, Feb. 28 to March 5; Fisher Building (main floor lobby), March 7-12; Bonwit-Teller, Troy, March 14-19; and Detroit Institute of Arts, March 21 to April 17.

"Art and Flowers: A Festival of Spring" was first held in 1985 as a special event to mark the centennial of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

It was so successful that it has become a biennial event and an Institute tradition. As in the past, this year's event will focus on flower arrangements created by members of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan to complement more than 60 works of art from the museum's permanent collection.

The calendar of related events is filled with demonstrations, tours, teas and luncheons beginning with the preview party and its exciting Fantasy Auction.

"Almost Spring," a photograph by Kathleen Thompson of Farmington, first place winner in the "Arts and Flowers" poster competition, is the highlight of the traveling exhibition.

"Walking through My Garden," painted by Fran Nicolson of Birmingham, is one of the finalists in the poster competition that is in the traveling exhibition.

Tuning up for Orchestra Hall

of making the music fun. He tells stories behind the things we're rehearsing so we don't feel we're playing just notes," Allen said.

MacNAIR is orchestra director at Troy High School and instrumental music teacher at Smith Junior High School. He is also concertmaster and assistant conductor of the Rochester Symphony Orchestra. He studied with renowned conductor Gustav Meier and two years ago worked with Leonard Bernstein at a Tanglewood seminar for conductors.

"What was most inspiring about each of those men," MacNair said, "was their intensity and total conviction of their work. That's what I want to transmit to my students. I want to take them to their limits." "Mr. MacNair always picks really tough pieces," said Symphony Orchestra bassoonist Tony Marke of Troy. "We wonder at first if we can pull it off but we always do. Each one of us has faith in him and he makes you want to succeed."

"IT TAKES much longer for a woodwind or brass player to sound really good," said Bianchi, director of instrumental and vocal music at L'Anse Creuse High School-North and conductor of the Warren Community Concert Band. "Horns, for example, have to know how to transpose in different keys. They usually do B flat, but can transpose to A."

"The level of the students has gotten older and more experienced since I've headed the Concert Orchestra. Because of this, I can upgrade the literature when I get students who are familiar with unarranged music."

"He never sits back and lets us play like kids," said Carrie Thorpe, violist under Bianchi. "I want to be considered a musician and that's what he expects of us."

Many of the MYS students play several instruments. Landino switched from playing bassoon in the Symphony Orchestra to playing oboe, and, to gain more proficiency, is now in the Concert Orchestra.

John Robertson's versatility will pay off this week. The first violinist in the Symphony Orchestra badly injured a middle finger recently. He assumed he would be out of the Orchestra Hall Concert. However, the Shostakovich Fifth requires more percussion playing than regular percussionist Lee Mitchell could provide. John will be playing snare drum and gong Saturday.

THE ORCHESTRA Hall concert is the chief fund-raising concert and is always dedicated to music educators. It is typically the second of the three concerts MYS performs during its regular season. The first this season was at Southfield High School. The final spring concert will be April 22 at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts.

"We like to offer one concert each in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties to fully represent the range of our membership," Goor said.

This year, MYS has musicians from more than 30 communities.

"These are ordinary kids with extraordinary abilities and a deep sense of commitment, who share a love of music," Stefanko said.

BASKETBALL PLAYER Tony Markel of Troy wears a varsity sweater to rehearsals. High school wrestling coach Thorpe of Birmingham Seaholm, in her first year with Concert Orchestra, has her Saturdays jammed full.

"I go right from Southfield Lathrup's rehearsal to a guys wrestling match," Thorpe said.

Evan Price of Rochester, the concertmaster in the Symphony Orchestra, also plays in a string quartet and belongs to the Paint Creek Folklore

Douglas Bianchi

Society. Appalachian music was something a previous teacher introduced him to. He has also frequently performed as a court musician at the annual Michigan Renaissance Festivals.

When Tricia Rhiew, an 11-year-old student at Longacre Elementary in Farmington, first auditioned for the String Orchestra last summer, she felt shy and doubted her ability to get accepted, despite four years of private lessons on cello and participation in a school orchestra.

"I was very excited to learn I had made it, and throughout the year, Mrs. Coleman has always been ready to help me when I needed it," she said.

Gumshoe Perkins finally on track

IT WAS Robert Mitchum's 1978 remake of "The Big Sleep," Bogart's 1946 classic about private eye Philip Marlowe, that caused Rob Kantner's wife, Valerie, to convince Kantner that he could write something like that.

Never mind that the movie was based on a Raymond Chandler novel or that Kantner wasn't really reading classic private-eye novels at the time. Out of Valerie's little nudge came aborning the Motor City private-eye Ben Perkins.

"All I seemed to need was the slightest bit of encouragement," Kantner said. So in his off hours Kantner sat down and wrote "The Killing Path," his first Ben Perkins novel.

"THE KINDEST thing I can say about it now is that it was a learning experience," Kantner said about the unpublished book. "The title was the only good part of the entire book."

Still, Ben Perkins wouldn't go away. Kantner sent a 5,000 word Perkins story to the Free Press Sunday magazine. Never mind that Sunday magazines rarely take fiction and never take stories 5,000 words long. But the editor who turned it down liked the story and suggested Kantner send it somewhere else.

Encouraged, Kantner sent it to "Alfred Hitchcock Magazine." More bad news-good news. The editor said "no" to that story but, in the rejection letter, asked to see more.

"C is for Cookie" was Kantner's first published piece of fiction, and Ben Perkins' print debut. "Hitchcock" took a second story, "Cinnamon Twist," and finally, after some rewriting, also accepted "The Long Slow Dive," the story they had originally rejected. Since then, "Hitchcock" has published 19 of Kantner's Ben Perkins stories. His stories have been published in "Mike Shayne's Mystery Magazine" and "Woman's World" and have been anthologized many times.

"The Back-door Man," the first Ben Perkins full-length mystery, was published by Bantam in October, 1988. Then, in 1987, Ben appeared in "The Harder They Hit." Last year Bantam issued "Dirty Work," and in October will release the fourth Ben Perkins mystery, "Hell's Only Half Full."

Kantner says there's more trouble ahead for the fictional Belleville-based Ben Perkins — novels five and six have already been contracted for.

IT TAKES KANTNER about six months to get Ben into and out of trouble. "I outline fairly meticulously for the first three months, then it takes me three months to do the actual writing," Kantner said, "but that's not to say that I'm a slave to the outline. In fact, once I start writing the book, I almost never refer to it again."

Though he's no stranger to a library, Kantner believes in on-location research. "I have to see a place to be able to write about it," he said. In his latest book, "Dirty Work," the story centers around Alex Farr, a velvet-voiced, anonymous disk jockey who's been linked to three murder victims. To understand how a radio studio works, Kantner spent a few days in the booth with Rob

Mona Grigg

Reinhart, morning drive-time announcer at WQIB-FM in Ann Arbor.

He drew the line on consorting with skinheads and supremacists, Ben Perkins' nemesis in "Hell's Only Half Full."

"I read a lot and watched them on television talk shows. That was close enough for me," he said.

AND WHEN DOES KANTNER, who holds a full-time job writing advertising copy and training manuals, find the time to write? At 4 a.m. and on weekends — much like the schedule resident advertising copywriter-turned-novelist Elmore Leonard held to until he could afford to write fiction full time.

"The comparison stops right there," says Kantner, an admirer of Leonard's work, "though the similar background and writing schedule is interesting. I didn't know that about Leonard until fairly recently."

Writing fiction full time is Kantner's goal too, but for the time being he's happy with the unexpected perks — like winning two Private Eye Writers of America Shamus Awards in one year. In 1986 "Flyaway Home" won best short story of the year and "The Back-Door Man" won best paperback novel of the year. Kantner says it's the first time in Shamus Award history that one author has gone away with two major prizes.

Another event Kantner won't forget is the time he was presented with the key to the city of Belleville by the mayor and city council. "I just can't tell you how thrilled I was," Kantner said, "I couldn't believe they were actually giving it to me."

Well, Rob, you may have accepted the award but it's Ben Perkins who deserves it. He's the one who has to leave Norwegian Wood, the apartment complex on Belleville. Lake where he's in charge of maintenance and security, and lay his life on the line whenever you, sitting in your safe little Westland home office, decide dirty work's afoot.

PASSAGES NORTH is sponsoring its fifth poetry competition for poems to be published in the summer 1989 issue. First, second and third prizes are $200, $100 and $50. ## Metro Youth Symphony in concert

A varied musical program by the Metropolitan Youth Symphony Saturday will include a tribute to Black History Month. The musical group will perform at 7 p.m. in Orchestra Hall.

The string orchestra will be conducted by Jacqueline Coleman, director of the middle school program at Detroit Country Day School. Her young group will feature Franz Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2, and some famous American spirituals.

The concert orchestra, under the baton of Douglas Bianchi, music director at L'Anse Creuse High School North, will perform Antonin Dvorak's Symphony No. 9 in E Minor Op. 95, "From the New World."

The symphony orchestra, conducted by Alan MacNair, concertmaster of the Rochester Symphony and director of the music program at Troy High School, will perform Dimitri Shostakovich's Symphony No. 5 in D Minor Op. 47.

NOW IN ITS seventh year, Metropolitan Youth Symphony has a membership of over 200 student musicians from the Detroit and Canadian areas who perform in three major concerts during the season, which runs from September through May.

The final concert of this season is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 23, at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts.

Tickets for Saturday's event may be purchased at the Orchestra Hall Box Office or by calling 833-3700. Tickets are $6, $8, $10 and $12.

Bringing condo into '90s

A couple from this area, who are former clients, called me awhile back to refurbish their winter home in the Hamlets at Delray Beach, Fla.

I remembered the nice relationship we had and their appreciation of fine woodworking, since lumber was his business. And so with one trip there and a set of blueprints, I went to work.

What I had found on my trip was a lovely area of homes with a southwest look rather than the stucco facades so prevalent in Florida. The blueprints showed that there had been an addition to the three-bedroom home to provide another bedroom and more living area.

The furnishings I found were typical of what was popular eight years ago - lots of chrome, glass and velvet. The flooring in the living-dining room of the original house was medium to light brown oak with dark pegs. Oak flooring was in the addition, but minus the pegs, since they were no longer available.

TO GIVE more continuity between the original medium brown oak flooring with dark pegs and the flooring in the addition that was minus pegs, we stripped the old floor to match the new and had the entire surface whitewashed for a lighter, fresher look.

Eve Garvin

On the glass coffee table, 50 inches in diameter, is a magnificent teak carving of a water buffalo with Chinese children. Like many of the Oriental accessories, this was bought in mainland China.

Forming a conversational grouping around the table are three Louis XV striped oak armchairs covered in a handpainted paisley cotton in seafoam green, peach, mauve and soft plum.

IN THE dining room, we replaced the chandelier with recessed lighting over the table. By eliminating the chandelier we were able to use a tall, antique, Oriental vase as the centerpiece.

The chairs that go with it are Chinese Chippendale in a soft plum lacquer finish, covered in a stria pattern of the colors used. A glass wall shelf serves as a buffet.

A nook at the side of the living room has a full bar with stools in pewter with revolving seats covered in peaches and cream ultra suede. The chairs for a flip-top burl mahogany game table in the same nook are covered in the same stria fabric as the dining room chairs.

Franklin luxury. Need we say more?

Luxury speaks for itself at Weatherstone. Very private two and three-bedroom townhomes. Formal dining rooms. Great rooms with natural fireplaces. Covered parking, two and one-half baths. And little things like instant hot water in the kitchen. Only at Weatherstone. Of course.

Weatherstone

"I finally found a townhome as large as a home."

"I looked long and hard to find a 2000 sq. ft., cathedral ceiling elegant three-bedroom townhome. (Of course, I could have chosen a two-bedroom ranch). With my own two-car attached garage, my own private basement and patio. And luxury touches like deluxe kitchens and whirlpool-tubs plus landscaping that I love. Nothing could get me to move from Covington. Nothing."

You Can Get Into Mulrwood FOR $540 A MONTH But Only Through The 24-Hour Manned Gatehouse.

The peace of mind of a round-the-clock manned gatehouse and electronic door entries are only part of Mulrwood's abundance.

There's so much light, so many windows, so much room. Windows and eating space in most kitchens. A private balcony or patio. Beautiful window treatments. Lots of storage, huge closets. Covered attached parking.

Then, there's the incredibly large pool with spa. The lighted tennis and volleyball courts. Spectacular Clubhouse with party facilities and a lending library. A private 12-acre nature trail. A pond and rolling hills.

12 exciting, 1 and 2 bedroom plans from which to choose.

Huge New Townhomes with Old English Charm.

Foxpointe's 2 and 3-bedroom townhomes are huge, 1400 sq. ft. huge. And private. Private entrances. Private covered parking. Your own washer and dryer in your townhome. And it's all new. Brand new. But with Old English character. Now that's worth looking into.

LIVE AMONG THE RARE AND BEAUTIFUL.

Aldingbrooke - West Bloomfield's premier rental community - has always attracted its own special flock. Our magnificent estate-like grounds are home to a collection of geese and swans. And to many of metropolitan Detroit's most discerning individuals and families.

Set in a gated community, residents appreciate Aldingbrooke's world of privacy and custom options, with all the services they've come to expect from a luxury apartment community.

Residences up to 2800 square feet include such desirable features as private entryways, split-level or ranch-style designs, dens, breakfast rooms, cathedral ceilings, fireplaces and attached garages.

All for much less than you'd expect to pay for such luxury. From $650 to $1650 per month.

Whatever your mind can imagine in luxurious living, you can discover on your first visit to Aldingbrooke. It is indeed rare and beautiful.
