Sadler gets lengthy prison terms

Emotions ran high Friday as family members of slain jogger Caryn Casaz and her killer, Paul Raymond Sadler, addressed a Detroit judge. "Caryn was my baby," her father said. "My life has a void that can't be filled."

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Mary Casaz often goes to bed early at night to escape the painful memories of losing her 24-year-old daughter Caryn, a Westland jogger killed by drunken driver Paul Raymond Sadler of Garden City.

"Often I go to sleep early so that I don't have to think at all," Casaz said Friday, bringing a packed courtroom to tears as she addressed Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Michael Talbot.

The emotionally shattered mother talked of the dreams that she and her daughter will never see come true. "I will never be able to help her decorate her house, pick out a wedding dress or hold her babies in my arms," Casaz said, pleading on Sadler's sentencing day that he be shown no mercy.

Talbot sentenced Sadler to 10 to 20 years for second-degree murder, five to 15 years for driving drunk/causing a death, and two to five years for leaving the Hines Drive scene where he veered from the road and hit Casaz last Sept. 13.

Defense and prosecuting attorneys had said prior to Friday that, under a plea agreement, Talbot would order Sadler to prison for no more than 20 years.

"If they had given him life, it wouldn't have sent enough of a message for me. Caryn is dead," Mary Casaz said after Sadler, 43, was led away by authorities.

Sadler's sentencing capped — but didn't end — a grueling period for Caryn Casaz's family and friends. In court, Mary Casaz described how she misses a daughter that worked as a Ford Motor Co. engineer, played vio-

Army 'band' toots horn

Grand opening: A relocated Army recruiting station had an Army Reserve band play for the Feb. 17 grand opening in the City Centre retail development, just west of the Kroger Supermarket, on Ford west of Central City Parkway. Taking part in the ceremony and welcome were state Rep. Eileen DeHart, county Commissioner Kay Beard, City Councilman Richard LeBlanc and Deputy Mayor George Gillies.

Westland man rescued in Kentucky cave

A Livonia man was one of two cave explorers who led a Thursday rescue of five people trapped by floodwaters inside a Kentucky cave.

The rescuers, Larry Bean of Livonia and Steve Miller of Pontiac, were among seven people who had been exploring the Fisher Ridge Cave System, in western Kentucky's Hart County, beginning Feb. 16. Bean and Miller explored one part of the system over that weekend and returned to the Detroit area, while four men and one woman went to a base camp in the cave, from which they planned to explore until Tuesday.

Instead, two inches of rain Feb. 19 brought rising waters that covered part of their return route. The five had planned to stay inside the cave until the waters receded from a passageway leading to an exit.

Bean, Miller and the five people who were trapped are members of Detroit Urban Grotto, a cave exploration club based in Royal Oak. Those trapped were Peter Quick of Superior Township, Brian Davis of Westland, Leigh Ann Vaughn of Ann Arbor, Joe Meppellins of Ann Arbor and Eric Fehllaler of Northville. All are experienced cave explorers.

Bean and Miller returned to the cave Wednesday after learning the five had not yet emerged.

"We had confidence in their ability," Bean said. "We were confident they were in good shape and capable of waiting for the water to drop."

The group had enough food and other supplies, brought in over time, to last for two weeks. The main base camp is five miles from the Fisher Ridge Cave entrance.

Of that five miles, Bean said, about a mile is through narrow passages that require a belly crawl, including a very rough portion called the "cheese grater."

The water blocking the explorers filled an area of the cave Bean compared to a trap in a drain. It was "sumped" or filled with water.

The five who were stranded had

Winter won't seek another board term

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland school board president Francis "Bud" Winter confirmed Thursday that he won't seek re-election to another four-year term.

That means at least one new board member will be elected in the June 10 race.

"The district now is heading in the right direction, and it's time for me to do what I want to do," Winter, 67, said.

Winter and his wife, Maggie, are planning to move from Canton Township to Chocoma, Ariz., in the fall to spend their retirement years.

Winter was elected to the school board four years ago, after retiring in 1990 from a 35-year education career in the Wayne-Westland district.

"His total contribution is one of dedication to the students and the parents of the district," veteran board member Matthew McCusker said. "The fact that he was willing to give four years of his retirement to serve on the board shows his dedication. "He will be difficult to replace,"

McCusker said.

Winter said the school district has achieved the goals that he cited as being instrumental in his decision to seek election in 1992. Specifically:

■ Attendance boundaries have been redrawn

■ Four elementary have been closed, a decision that Winter said was "painful" but necessary

■ The district has shifted to a middle school structure and

■ Numerous measures have been implemented to improve classroom instruction

"There's no school district in the history of the country, I believe, that took on that many challenges at one time," Winter said.

Winter began his term when board members were still in the midst of political infighting. In recent months, however, the board has appeared more united, and relations with Superintendent Duane Moore are, by all accounts, productive.

Bowlers share 'HEART'

Heart team: Bowlers from a local bowling club raised money for the H.E.A.R.T. (Heart-transplant Emergency Assistance Relief Team), which consists of athletes who have a heart transplant. Sharon, a Westland resident, said some $3,000 was raised by 250 bowlers at Clinton's Super Bowl. The proceeds are used to provide assistance with emergency needs, such as money for medication.

Winter from page 1A

"I'm leaving at a time when I believe the district is in excellent hands," Winter said.

"I'm leaving with a lot of great memories," he said. "It's a good time to go, but it's a sad time, too."

He said his main worry is that the district will continue to face financial problems because of state-level cutbacks in education funding.

During his career, Winter taught at Walker and Madison elementaries and served as principal at five elementaries; Kettering, Walker, Monroe, Hoover and the old Sheldon School. He also was principal at Franklin Junior High and, most recently, Wayne Memorial High School.

A scholarship in his name was set up at Wayne Memorial, and he said he plans to return to the district each year to present the award.

"My spirit will always be here," he said.

Other than Winter, the only board member whose seat is at stake June 10 is appointee Ed Turner, who confirmed weeks ago that he will seek a four-year term.

Francis "Bud" Winter

Turner was appointed in January to fulfill the remaining six months of former board member Richard LeBlanc's term. LeBlanc stepped down after being elected to the Westland City Council.

lin and guitar, and excelled in athletics.

"Anything she attempted, she succeeded in," the mother said. "She loved life."

When she first heard that Caryn had been killed, she said, "I prayed, 'God, let this be wrong. Not my baby.'"

Mary Casaz said she can't enter Caryn's former bedroom without crying.

Several people spoke on behalf of Caryn Casaz and Sadler, who sat with his head bowed during much of Friday's proceedings. Sadler, a father of two, also repeated statements he made in a jail cell Feb. 12 during an interview with the Observer.

"I pray for Caryn's family and my wife and children every day," he said, adding that he is "terribly sorry and ashamed."

Christine Byndas, 20 months older than her sister Caryn, described how the two remained inseparable from their days of playing with Barbie dolls to their jobs at Ford Motor Co. She identified Caryn's body after the accident.

"That vision of my dead sister will forever be burned in my mind," Byndas said.

Byndas pleaded for a harsh penalty for Sadler and said, "My first thought was to give him the same sentence that he gave Caryn: death." But she told the judge she understood that the death penalty was not included in the sentencing guidelines.

Victor Casaz, Caryn's father, said he thinks every day about the physical pain his daughter must have endured when she was hit by Sadler, who was trailed home by another motorist who notified authorities.

"My life has a void that can't be filled. My daughter is dead," Victor Casaz said. He asked that Sadler receive life in prison.

Sadler's family members, seeking leniency, described him as a churchgoing family man who had struggled to overcome his alcoholism.

"This is not a man who would hurt anybody," said his wife Patricia, principal of Hosanna Taber, a parochial school in Redford Township.

She supported Sadler's claims that he was so drunk that he didn't immediately realize he had hit Casaz.

"If he had been aware of the seriousness (of what had happened), he wouldn't have driven home," Patricia Sadler said.

Sadler's blood-alcohol level was .21, more than twice the legal limit. He also had cocaine in his bloodstream.

Sadler's twin brother, Peter, described him as "a good father and husband. My brother would never intentionally hurt anyone."

Sadler family friend David Anderson, a police officer, told the judge that Sadler had found an Alcoholics Anonymous sponsor long before Casaz's death and that he had tried to battle his illness.

Judge Talbot said he wished he could ease the pain for both families.

"I wish I could have the right words, the right decision, that would heal everybody in this case," he said. "But I don't have that gift."

Run to honor jogger's memory

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Caryn Casaz, killed by a drunk driver while jogging in Hines Park, will be remembered June 15 in a 3.1-mile run sponsored by the Wayne County chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

The chapter's first 5K "Run From The Heart" event in honor of Casaz, 24, will occur in the Merriman Hollow area of Hines Park, near the scene where Casaz was killed last Sept. 13.

Casaz's sister, Christine Byndas, said Thursday that family members agreed to have Casaz's name used for the MADD fund-raising event.

Casaz, a Ford Motor Co. employee, had been training to run in a marathon when she was struck and killed by Garden City resident Paul Sadler, who was sentenced in court Friday for her death. (See story on Page 1A.)

Sadler, who has said he lost consciousness while driving, veered off of Hines Drive and hit Casaz.

Casaz seemed a logical choice for being honored during the 5K run, said Carol Malepka, office secretary of the Westland-based Wayne County MADD chapter.

"Since Caryn was killed while she was jogging, this seemed like an appropriate way to keep her memory alive," Malepka said Thursday.

MADD organizers hope that the "Run From The Heart" competition will become an annual event.

The run and other fund-raising events are becoming increasingly important because of financial difficulties facing the Wayne County MADD chapter, Malepka said.

Each participant in the 5K run will pay a $15 entry fee, but will receive a MADD T-shirt, Malepka said. Medals also will be awarded to winners.

Both runners and walkers are welcome to participate, Malepka said.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. on June 15. For more information, call the MADD office at 721-8181.

moved their base camp closer to the sumped area in order to keep an eye on it and work on it.

Bean and Miller were on the other side of this sump Thursday, building a dam and a trench to try to divert water that was flowing into it.

While this work was being done, Miller heard scraping on other side of the sump, where two of the stranded were working to drain water out of the sump.

Miller moved closer to check the area, and voice contact was made. Slight visual contact was also made.

"They were sure glad to hear us on the other side of the sump," Bean said.

That the stranded explorers could hear Bean and Miller was important, Bean said, because if they hadn't been able to ascertain that the sumped area blocking them led to air, they would not have tried to get out just then because they may have risked drowning.

The stranded explorers had been sleeping a lot and taking turns monitoring the sumped area and trying to divert water from it.

"They were in good shape. They were conserving energy by sleeping," said Bean. "They were prepared to wait."

Quick got out first, by going underwater through the sump. Wet and cold, Quick, and then Miller, headed toward the cave exit. Bean, in a wet suit, waited for the others coming from their alternate base camp.

Both the rescuers and the explorers were prepared for such an occurrence, Bean said.

"We knew the area. We knew the conditions of the cave," said Bean. "You have to know your limits. You have to know the environment of the cave."

Bean, a geologist with the state's Department of Environmental Quality, works in Livonia. He returned to work Friday after helping lead Thursday's rescue. "We drove through the night to get back," he said.

Bean and other club members have been surveying the Fisher Ridge system for 16 years. Bean, Quick and three others discovered the system in 1981. The cave is near Mammoth Cave National Park.

Club members so far have surveyed 78 miles of the cave system. Bean believes the system is 100 miles or more long, and that it could be connected to Mammoth Cave.

Older women can look forward to new challenges

BY LEONARD POGER
Editor

Middle-aged and elderly women shouldn't be viewed as "leftovers but a brand new dish."

That was one of several points nationally known psychologist Dr. Sonya Friedman told 600 women attending the sixth annual "Turning Points" conference held recently by Oakwood Healthcare System, which owns and operates medical clinics in Garden City and Westland and an acute-care hospital in Wayne.

With the conference focusing on menopause, Friedman emphasized to her audience that the future years can be exciting in the post-menopause and post-widowhood years.

"Never say, 'I'm too old for that.' Say, 'I'm grown up.'"

Friedman added that the women in their 50s have "emotional and social liberations."

The keynote speaker stressed that women must remain active and avoid stagnation and self-defeating patterns.

A study shows that only 10 percent of women in their 50s or older have restraints that restrict their activities.

Quoting another author on women's issues, Friedman concluded with:

"Translate aging into saging" and that "I'm not having hot flashes -- I'm having power surges."

The psychologist added that not only are hot flashes a power surge, but also resemble a "boost and a rocket."

Women should have the view that "I'm not wearing down -- I'm wising up."

Local women attending the all-day conference in the Dearborn Inn made it clear that they not only learned from the speakers but were "energized" by Friedman's comments.

"A lot of us are growing older, and that's a powerful force for change," said Westland's Barbara Reynolds, 52.

The conference "reinforced what I've learned, that I am responsible for my own health."

Deborah Williams of Livonia, who said she was "in my mid 40s," commented said she learned that "there a lot of options out there and that those options have to be looked at and discussed. Any decisions must be made by the patient and the physician jointly."

JoAnn Beyer, a Novi resident in her early 60s, said the conference "was an affirmation of what I'm going through isn't that unusual and that others are experiencing the same thing."

She felt Friedman's comments that the menopause years "are just the beginning" were inspiring and that she encouraged women to take care of themselves.

Another attendant, JoAnn Marsack, 62, of St. Clair Shores, said that Friedman's comments "energized" her.

Westland's Barbara Shaver echoed many of the comments of the other attendees.

Dr. John George, a psychologist who practices within the Oakwood system in Westland and Dearborn, was one of the conference's four speakers, focusing on how women can learn to manage stress.

He said a good, healthy diet is one key to remaining active in a person's later years and that the menopause is "a bridge to the second half of your life."

He strongly urged a diet consisting of carbohydrates, oat cereals, protein and fiber.

"Stress is a natural part of change," John said. "Without stress, there is death."

He said the key is to find ways to cope with stress.

"You must prioritize your time. First, do the essentials. Second, delegate important things. Third, ignore the trivial matters."

Women usually don't take time for themselves, he said.

Conference co-chairs Peggy Campbell and Linda Padgett, both active in the Oakwood Guild, said the annual conference is intended to educate women on health issues.

They said the menopause topic was the theme of the Oakwood system's first conference five years ago. Other topics were cardiology, cancer and geriatrics.

When the conferences were initially planned, women's health issues were viewed as "a series of crises," they said.

"Now, it should be seen as a series of challenges and opportunities."

One of the few men at the conference, Dr. Gerald Henn, a retired psychologist, commented that the event is very important as a form of health education.

In urging men and women both to learn more about health issues, Henn said "education has no boundaries."

Accreditation team visits

Improved student responsibility, increased exposure to technology and improved standardized test scores are a few of the improvements that have taken place at Wayne Memorial High School in the past five years.

Chris Bak, co-chair of the school's steering committee, said Wayne Memorial recently hosted its final team visit by an outside accreditation peer review team. It was part of the school's school improvement process as a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

The team reviewed the school's accomplishments in targeted areas including: technology, self-esteem, communication, sense of responsibility and participation.

Bak said success was achieved, and now the school has the opportunity to share this with the external team. Additional successful improvements include students being provided with student planners and the staff inservice in their use.

Mastery instruction training was conducted for teachers and this process has occurred in many classes and in-school suspensions for non-violent or illegal offenses, Bak said.

■ The team reviewed the school's accomplishments in targeted areas including: technology, self-esteem, communication, sense of responsibility and participation.

Tutoring program was instituted. The grade point average of student athletes has increased and so has the school's standardized test scores.

Steering committee chairs Bak and Karen Palling, as well as the balance of the faculty and staff working as target area committees, implemented a series of interventions and strategies to improve student performance in the five target areas.

The committees showed the visiting team their successes, Bak said. "The NCA process has enhanced the academic commitment and educational atmosphere at Wayne Memorial. We are very proud of all we have accomplished."

Wayne Memorial has been accredited since 1927.

Five years ago, the staff elected a more demanding evaluation model to maximize learning for all students, Bak said.

This model is different from traditional accreditation. The school commits itself to a plan concentrating on student performance improvement in selected areas. It helps schools document the effectiveness of their programs.

A team of educators, chaired by Phillip Cusick, Department of Educational Administration at Michigan State University, has visited the school several times over the last five years to evaluate Wayne's success.

Wayne will have completed the eight-phase process when reviewed by the Michigan NCA State Committee in early March and then by a central reviewing committee at NCA's Annual Meeting, March 24-27, in Chicago.

If approved, it will be awarded the highest school improvement honor by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

State nixes new I-275 exit

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Michigan Department of Transportation officials say a new interchange at Cherry Hill and I-275 isn't a wise move.

The new interchange, hoped for by officials in neighboring Canton Township, could have eased traffic pains for Westland drivers who live in the south half of the city.

"In many areas the freeway carries more than 100,000 vehicles. Adding an additional access will cause the freeway to break down," said Tom Doyle, MDOT planner. "The problem is that the local roads can't disperse the traffic."

Canton Township officials were informed by letter of MDOT's decision that an interchange at Cherry Hill is not feasible. The decision came following a review, as requested by Canton Township officials.

"We have not been planning as though we were going to get an additional interchange," said Tom Casari, Canton Township engineer.

But the belief among township officials is that the additional interchange would have provided another east-west corridor, similar to Ford Road, to disperse some of the traffic entering and leaving burgeoning Canton. East of the Canton boundary, Cherry Hill Road is five lanes.

"We've been talking with them a couple of years," Casari said, referring to MDOT officials, adding he doesn't know if it is possible to appeal the recent decision.

In a letter to the township, Louis Lambert, deputy director, bureau of transportation planning, said the interchange is not feasible for a number of reasons, including physical and financial constraints at the location, as well as existing grades and curves in the area.

At Cherry Hill and I-275, residential property, such as an apartment complex, stands in the way, as does the township-owned Fellows Creek Golf Club and associated wetlands in the northwest and southwest corners.

But Casari said township officials believe entrance and exit ramps could be built on the northeast and northwest corners of Cherry Hill and I-275. "The apartments aren't a problem," Casari added.

But MDOT officials also refer to the nearby rest area. "The proximity of the northbound rest area located a half-mile south of Cherry Hill would create potential operational problems related to insufficient weaving areas between ramps," according to the letter.

MDOT officials also maintain that it is not possible to build the type of ramp now required under state and federal requirements to supply all traffic movements. Partial interchanges are no longer acceptable.

When built, I-275 was designed as a rural freeway for long-distance speeds. With interchanges at Ford Road and Michigan Avenue, a Cherry Hill exit would interfere with the flow of freeway traffic, Doyle said.

"It would encourage shorter trips," he said, adding that the shorter trips increase traffic volumes and hurt the freeway's operation.

"This simply means that it is not prudent from a traffic operations, safety, ethical or financial posture to create a new problem where one does not exist," Lambert said in his letter to the township.

With the design for a rural freeway, generally there are three to six miles between interchanges. "There's no problem with distance here. But what's happening at Ford Road (with traffic backing up into the freeway), it would cause a problem further down (with a Cherry Hill exit)," Doyle said.

Problems Canton is experiencing with traffic are not solved by an additional interchange as much as would be by improvements to the local road system, Doyle said.

"I think the township should work closely with Wayne County to realize the needs," Doyle said.

In 1995, Canton residents narrowly defeated a 15-year $12 million bond issue for money to help make road improvements in partnership with Wayne County. Minimal money was set aside in 1996 by the township board for road improvements.

Township officials also were recently informed that only one of four projects planned by Wayne County in Canton is going forward this year. Federal cuts and Gov. John Engler's redistribution of road money have delayed the projects.

The only one planned to go forward is the realignment of Belleville and Canton Center roads. The other projects included the controversial extension of Morton Taylor, Warren to Ford, as well as the widening of Canton Center Road, Cherry to Ford, and Ford to Warren.

Local man found dead in Pontiac

Pontiac police are continuing their investigation of the death of a Westland man whose body was found in their city Friday, Feb. 16.

Middleton Lane Wilson, 39, was found with a gunshot wound to the head in the city's southeast corner, Pontiac police said.

A police spokesman told the Observer Friday that his investigation is still in the "preliminary stages and that the department hasn't finished talking to Wilson's relatives.

Residents in the area where the body was found didn't hear gunshots and police haven't found witnesses to any fights or arguments in the area that night.

In following up initial leads, police feel that Wilson wasn't shot in the location where his body was found.

Duggan a eyes cleaner Rouge River by 1998

BY BETH SUNDRIA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Michael Duggan is a big fan of paddleboats.

He likes the idea of having them on the Rouge River.

Duggan, deputy Wayne County executive, who's taken on cleaning up the Rouge River and making it accessible to residents, wants to help people create memories. He shared his plans with members of the Rouge Remedial Action Plan Advisory Council at the council's meeting Wednesday.

Since the Rouge was polluted and Hines Park had gained a reputation for drugs, bikers and crime by the time he was growing up in Livonia in the late 1960s and early '70s, he wants people to be able to make memories like those of Russa Gronevelt, director of public services for the county. Gronevelt grew up in Livonia about 15 years earlier than Duggan, Duggan said. His memories include canoeing on Newburgh Lake and ice skating on Wilcox Lake.

"What could we do to go back to that?" Duggan said he asked himself.

As a youth, going to Kensington Park was a family activity, but it's also a full day's activity, he said. Today, with both parents working, it hard to find time; it's easier to stick a tape in the video-cassette recorder, he said.

But lately with canoeing on parts of the Rouge, which started last year and ice skating on Wilcox and Newburgh lakes, which started this year, Duggan said it's been more convenient to take his kids out.

"Someday my kids will remember skating and canoeing with dad. I guarantee if we had just sat down and watched TV we wouldn't have those memories," he said.

He said he has spent hours talking with James Murray, director of the county's Department of Environment, about recreational opportunities on the Rouge.

"There's something about this Rouge project, and you already know this, it's magical," he said.

He described an experience of years ago when he was asked to talk to citizens in Wyandotte concerned about the proposed construction of a retention basin. When he asked people what the creek was like, they described it as smelly, flowing with sewage.

After asking if people would rather have the sewage removed and kept in the retention basin, he realized that people didn't understand what the basin would do, he said.

Now he's asking again what the county can do to make the public understand, to "show people that they're getting value for their money," he said.

Duggan described work done on the Rouge in Hines Park as a cooperative effort with Department of Public Works workers volunteering to clear log jams from the river.

Among plans to improve recreational facilities in Hines Park is dredging Newburgh Lake. A PCB site nearby still needs to be cleaned up, and the Department of Environmental Quality will start the cleanup this spring, he said.

Duggan said the potential for drowning in the lake because of the undertow near the dam has caused him concern. "We brought in the best dam engineers we could find," Duggan said to a round of laughter at the pun.

The result is that the slope of the dam will be changed to reduce undertow, he said.

"If we're going to bring water activities to Newburgh Lake, we have to make sure it's safe," he said.

He predicted that by 1998, it will be safe to eat fish caught in the Rouge. He also said he hopes to bring a beach back to a local lake. Joan Lintelman, a member of the council, raised concerns that until sewage flowing into the Rouge is stopped, the water isn't safe even for canoeing because of the potential of people falling into the water.

"We're really concerned because we have met with people from the health department. We not always positive that it's real good for the public," she said.

Water is tested at the canoe launch sites, Duggan said. Only the Newburgh to Nankin area is safe, and canoe rentals won't occur when the water contamination levels are too high, Duggan said.

"We have signs that will be placed at both access sites," said Hurley Coleman, Parks director. County officials don't want people to use their own canoes, if the county is not operating the canoe sites, he said. "The signs will say why," he said. "But there are places along the river that we have no control over."

The desire for whiter teeth and brighter smiles is what drives many patients to the dentist's office for in-office bleaching. This quickest and longest-lasting of all bleaching procedures makes use of a high concentration of an active ingredient (usually a 30 to 35 percent solution of hydrogen peroxide), which is brushed on the teeth and activated with heat of light. The treatment generally requires two to four sessions and its effects typically last three to five years. Also available from the dentist is take-home bleaching, which makes use of a custom-fitted carrier tray to deliver a prescribed cleaning gel to the teeth as the patient sleeps. This treatment typically takes up to two weeks of such overnight use to gain results.

Area study to make Olympics safer

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Thanks to a study headed by an orthopedic surgeon, breakaway bases will be used this summer in the Olympic Games in Atlanta, Ga.

"I was very happy and very pleased," said Dr. David Janda, upon hearing from Olympic organizers that the safer bases were being chosen. He is director of the Institute for Preventative Sports Medicine in Ann Arbor.

"They had seen our studies. It gives it worldwide exposure," said Janda, a Plymouth resident.

Breakaway bases are among several sports equipment items studied in recent years by the institute. Janda said the goal is not to interfere with the way sports are played, but to make them safer.

The studies show that use of breakaway bases reduced sliding-into-base injuries by 96-98 percent for recreational players in Ann Arbor from 1988-91. A study of the bases used at the collegiate level showed an 80 percent drop in injuries, Janda said.

Stationary bases are bolted to a concrete-mounted post. The breakaway base, developed by Roger Hall of Pennsylvania, "looks just like a stationary base," Janda said. The base has suction cups underneath which attach to a stationary rubber mat flush with ground level. There are different models, from youth to adult, which require varying degrees of force to pop them off the base, Janda said.

Should the base be knocked off by a runner rounding second base, the square underneath can serve as the base for another runner rounding the bases.

"It's still in the ground, it just has a low profile," Janda said.

To those who say the base popping off means delays, Janda responds, "If you want to hold up the game, wait for an ambulance to come take the person off the field."

Janda said a government study has concluded use of the breakaway base could prevent 1.7 million injuries a year and save more than $2 billion in health care costs. Still, most leagues won't try the bases.

"If you can convince one mom or dad on the PTA board, that's the greatest ally you can have, they will demand to get it done," Janda said. "We've tried a number of different routes, we've tried to get to the powers that be and the insurance industry. They feel they'll do it when it's demanded that they'll do it."

"We have monitored over 5,000 games, the bottom line is a rationale for not using it non-existent," Janda said. "It's easily implemented, it reduces injuries and costs significantly and it does not hurt enjoyment of the game."

Janda is scheduled to speak on sports injury prevention to an International Olympic Committee group this summer. He will also address the Mid-American Sports Medicine Symposium at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Dearborn March 28-30.

The Institute for Preventative Sports Medicine has also scheduled a program at the symposium to raise money for research. Tickets are $10 and offered at a raffle will be sports equipment autographed by members of Detroit's professional sports teams, and other professional athletes.

Also offered at the raffle will be vacation trips and sports memorabilia.

SHOPPING CENTERED

LINDA BACHRACK

Should one apply lipstick in public?

"My mother taught me never to groom myself in public," said one of my lunchtime companions when asked if she normally touches up her lipstick at the table.

Much to mom's dismay however, she proceeded to extract a tiny makeup bag from her purse and deftly apply her favorite shade, Clinique's Tenderheart, to her faded lips. The forbidden act was quick and professional, undertaken without even a glance in a mirrored compact. Miss Manners reluctantly approves of a discreet lip fix in public. She prefers that a woman duck behind a pretty compact, rather than go it alone in full view of dinner guests.

My informal survey yielded "yeas" from most makeup savvy women. Some said they applied lipstick, but never powdered their nose. Others painted their lips, but demured depending upon whom they were with.

One M.A.C. cosmetics professional at the Somerset Collection in Troy admitted that it was normal behavior for her to put on lipstick sans mirror in public, but she wouldn't do it in front of her dad. Nicky Colen of Birmingham lacquers lips among family but doesn't when she's with friends. Jayne Mooney of Bloomfield knows she shouldn't, but she does. "Never with a client, though," she adds.

Karen St. Charles, a manufacturers' rep from Pontiac, suggested that most men would probably disapprove of applying lipstick in public because they're not wild about lipstick, or at least the taste of it. "I think they like the way it looks on a woman, but they don't like kissing stained lips," she surmised.

Carol Winakur swears by lip liner and finds that applying liner and lipstick at the table is just a bit indiscreet, so she generally refrains. And manicurist Caren Kosarek was adamant in her beliefs. "Never," she answered when asked the burning lip etiquette question. "Isn't that what they have bathrooms for?" volunteered 10-year-old Nate Lewis of Detroit.

Lori Karbal, whose boutique by the same name offers lipsticks from several cosmetics lines, gives an enthusiastic thumbs up to a tasteful table-side lipstick refresher. She shared some of spring's newest lip colors and textures. From Carol Shaw for Lorac, look for gold, amethyst and pewter glosses ($18.50). Shimmer and shine is in, as exhibited by Chanel's top-selling Levres Cristallines Crystal lip gloss compact, containing opal and metallic shades ($37).

Also hot from Lorac, the sunburnt tints called Julia (as in Roberts) and Fran (as in Drescher) and the clear pink of Bess (Armstrong) $18.50.

Trish McEvoy's moisturizing shimmer stick #92 ($16) is perfect worn over a lip liner in a sexy brown, #10 and #15. This will give the pearlescent moonlit effect that is so popular for spring.

Also from Lori Karbal in Birmingham, Rosebud Salve ($4) or Kiehl's Lip Balm ($4.50) for inexpensive shine plus moisture. To tuck in your purse for discreet pampering, Lori recommends a tiny jeweled compact ($50) or a matte gold pocket-book mirror ($29.50).

Oh, if we could just once give our mouths a hearty swipe with our napkin, as the menfolk do. Guess we're destined to a dainty dab at the corners -- all in deference to luscious, luminous lips.

Editor's note: This is Linda Bachrack's final retail column for Malls & Mainstreets. After four years and some months of penning shopping news, she's off in different directions. Her insights will be missed.

Mall readies opening

■ Somerset North is six months away from a grand opening and tenants are announcing their leases. Here's an update, plus where to go for the jobs!

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Shopping fever is spreading along Big Beaver at Coolidge in Troy and it's hard to drive by the massive mall under construction without catching it.

When the $200-million Somerset North opens Aug. 16, it will add 3,500 full- and part-time jobs to the area, bring dozens of new dining and retailing adventures to town, and generate close to $2 million in property taxes for the Troy Downtown Development Authority.

In 1994, the Somerset Collection across the street paid $1,229,809 in property taxes which were earmarked for the Troy DDA and road improvements. The Oakland Mall, the city's other major retail center, paid $1,800,608 in property taxes last year, shared by the schools, Oakland Community College and the city.

"The opening of Somerset North is a celebration for all because it puts Detroit on the big retail map," said Saks Fifth Avenue spokeswoman Cheryl Hall. "Detroit will become a shopping mecca. People used to leave town to shop at stores like Bendel's and Nordstrom. Now they'll stay here and we'll draw shoppers from other cities."

Despite owner/manager Forbes-Cohen Properties' refusals to disclose the tenant list at the new center, the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers learned that the following retailers are among the 120 set to join tri-level anchors Nordstrom and Hudson's:

Bendel's, Helzberg Diamonds, The Right Start, Roots, Banana Republic, The Gap, Ralph Lauren's Polo Shop, Kay Bee Toys, Things Remembered, Mother's Work Maternity, most divisions of The Limited (including Structure, Victoria's Secret, Abercrombie & Fitch, Bath & Body Works) President Tuxedo, The Pottery Barn, The Disney Store, Warner Bros. Studio Store, Franklin Mint and Gymboree.

The Peacock Food Court will feature a cappuccino bar and 10 quicky eateries around seating for 700 people. Restaurants will include The Capital Grille, a sophisticated steakhouse; California Pizza Kitchen, featuring 27 varieties of wood-fired pizza; and J. Alexander's with opengrille entrees and slow-roaster prime rib.

The most eagerly anticipated mall attraction is the moving skywalk elevated 16-feet above Big Beaver that will transport shoppers between the Somerset Collection and Somerset North in three minutes. Ground-breaking took place in October 1994.

Throughout the summer before the Aug. 16 grand opening at Somerset North, shoppers will see an increase of promotions and special events at

Right Start stores are coming to town

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO

The Right Start got off on the right foot.

What began as a catalog company selling baby safety items to new moms 10 years ago, has become a public company with 16 stores across the country -- two arriving in Michigan at Twelve Oaks, Novi on March 28, and at Somerset North, Troy in August.

The Right Start spokeswoman Gail Blumenfeld said the California-based company plans to open 15 additional U.S. stores by December.

"With about two million customers, we've become the leading specialty infant and toddler product merchant in America," she pointed out. "Our rapidly expanding catalog list is the perfect springboard from which to grow The Right Start stores."

The shop's interiors were created especially for young families with wide aisles for strollers, and lots of toys and videos to keep small customers happy while parents browse. All products can be pre-tested before purchase. Sales associates are mostly moms "with experience."

"Our sales staff is more than willing to help ease babies in and out of carseats and carry-alls because we understand new mothers are extra cautious about buying baby items," Blumenfeld said. Customers have typically been "new moms, 25 to 39 years old, with an average annual income in excess of $50,000."

Best-selling products at the Right Start include strollers, nursing supplies, safety devices, nursery organizers, toys and the thermoscan thermometer that take infant temperatures through the ear.

The Right Start was founded as a catalog in 1988 by Stan Fridstein and Lenny Targon who identified that a mini baby boom was taking place, coupled with the fact that 70-percent of new moms worked outside the home. These new parents had little time to shop for the latest safety and time-saving baby items.

The Right Start catalog stores have virtually "everything to make parenting easier from birth through three years," except clothing, according to Blumenfeld.

The Right Stuff: New parents will find everything they need for baby when The Right Start stores open later this year. The catalog stores also have a gift registry.

100 years later, bureau still caters to visitors

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
SPECIAL WRITER

The Detroit Metropolitan Convention and Visitors Bureau, the world's oldest convention bureau, celebrated its 100th birthday in January.

"It affirms the importance that travel and tourism can have on a community. We were just the first to realize it. We started an industry," Michael Wright, the bureau's executive vice president and a Plymouth resident, said of the bureau's longevity.

Today, that industry generates annual revenues of $3 billion and welcomes more than 12 million visitors each year. It also sustains 60,000 jobs in the area's tourist industry.

The bureau began as an idea of a newspaper journalist, Milton J. Carmichael, an Indiana transplant who worked as a reporter for The Detroit Journal, once one of the city's leading newspapers.

On Feb. 19, 1896, just two weeks after Carmichael wrote an article suggesting that businessmen work together to promote Detroit as a convention location, the Detroit Convention and Businessmen's League was formed.

By 1915, 12 other cities had mimicked Detroit's efforts. Later that year, their representatives met in Detroit to create an organization known today as the International Association of Convention & Visitors Bureaus.

History often conspired against promoting Detroit as a viable convention site. There was the Depression, the riots, and the decline in downtown hotel rooms as businesses moved to the suburbs. However, the bureau always remained steadfast in its mission.

"It's been the bureau's duty to shape a still-positive and productive identity. It's an evolving identity, constantly changing over time," Wright said.

Over the years, the bureau landed some real coups. Detroit hosted the 1980 Republican Convention, the 1982 Super Bowl and the 1994 World Cup Soccer

Founder: In 1896, newspaper journalist Milton J. Carmichael founded the Detroit Convention and Businessmen's League, forerunner of the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Games. It also was the White House's location choice for the Group of Seven economic meeting in March 1994.

While national events are exciting, it's the niche markets that steadily feed the economy, such as motor coach tours, groups that are industrial or manufacturing-related, and on the leisure side, people seeking the big city urban getaway, according to Wright.

The bureau boasts a membership of 600 businesses and organizations specific to the tourist industry. Membership has its perks.

"One of the most important services we provide for our members is hard business leads," Kim Fitzgerald, marketing vice president, said.

Maryann Karamon agrees. Marketing manager for PCR Personal Computer Rentals in Plymouth, Karamon said her company's membership in the bureau has been profitable.

Warm welcome: Employees gather at the 1923 opening of the first visitor information booth of the Detroit Convention & Tourist's Bureau on the main square in downtown Detroit.

"It's very beneficial to us because we rent lots of computers to trade shows and exhibitors. They send over weekly new leads. They also send them to the hotels, and we deal with the hotels."

Betty Jean Awrey, vice president of public relations and government affairs for Awrey Bakeries in Livonia, is a lifelong supporter of the bureau. She has served on the board for several years.

"I believe in Detroit and the whole southeastern Michigan area. We need to bring more business in this entire area. If a business fits the bureau's profiles they should become a member. There's a trickle-down effect. Think of yourself going into a new city. You are going to shop, eat, and visit points of interest," she said.

The bureau continues to focus on two markets: conventions and meetings and tourism. Its service department will put together a bid for event and meeting planners that includes hotel reservations, meeting facilities, AV equipment, printing services, even flowers.

"Every meeting we work with is a tailor-made package," Fitzgerald said.

This May, the bureau will launch a "one-stop" booking system for single tour packages. It's also testing computerized consumer information stations in hotels, airports and shopping centers. And, according to Wright, by the end of the first quarter, it will have a worldwide web site.

The bureau begins its 100th year by honoring some of its own service people, the real frontliners such as hotel clerks. The ROSE awards program (Recognition of Service Excellence) was started last year. On Feb. 16, all nominees will be honored at a luncheon at Greenfield Village.

"This is a year of centennial celebrations for Detroit. The same year the Metropolitan Detroit Convention & Visitors Bureau started up, the first "horseless carriage" made its way down Woodward Avenue.

So bureau officials expect a busy and profitable year for the entire area as tourists and conventioners continue to visit Detroit. "There is no question that metropolitan Detroit is the gateway to Michigan," Fitzgerald said.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Readers are hungry for more Crock-pot recipes

February has been full of frigid temperatures and occasional bouts with snow. Many of you have been cooking (and eating) up a storm.

This month's calls were heavily in favor of two columns that appeared in January. The first, a column on whatever happened to the "good old mom & pop" type restaurants of yesteryear prompted many calls from readers who told me about their favorite local restaurants.

Doris Dennison of Livonia called with kudos for a place called Don's of Traverse City at Grand River and Wixom Roads in Wixom, and Bode's in Plymouth. Doris said the milk shakes and burgers at Don's, and the corned beef hash at Bode's, always brings back memories.

An anonymous caller said there's still a "Clock" restaurant in Lapeer, and Jan McCellan of Livonia called and recommended Thomas' on Plymouth Road in Livonia. The response was so great, I'm working on a story that will highlight local old-fashioned menus sometime in March.

Your comments also came through loud and clear about my story on "cleaning your dinner plate," with many readers relating to my early life experiences of having to eat everything on your plate.

Finally, there must be some Crock-Pot lovers still out there because your numerous responses will prompt another slow cooker column in the future. Here's a little something to hold you over till then!

PORK LOIN WITH DIJON MUSTARD AND WALNUTS

- 1 (3.4 pound) boneless pork loin
- 1/4 cup Dijon mustard
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon rosemary
- 3 cups apple juice
- 1/4 cup balsamic vinegar
- 1/2 cup walnuts, chopped

In a heavy skillet, brown pork loin in olive oil until golden on 2 sides. Brush generously with Dijon mustard and place in a crock pot.

Saute onion and garlic in pan that the loin was browned in until tender, about 3-4 minutes. Add 1/2 cup apple juice to pan and scrape bottom to remove bits. Add remaining apple juice and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in balsamic vinegar and rosemary. Pour this mixture over the pork loin in a Crock-Pot and cook on high for 4-6 hours, depending on size of loin or until thermometer reaches 180 degrees. Serves 6.

Doris Allen of Livonia called a few weeks back and commented on how much she loves eating the scalloped potatoes at Rocky's in Northville. Well Doris, here's the real thing, compliments of Chef Chuck Rachwitz.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

- 6 medium size whole Idaho potatoes, peeled
- 3/4 cup white onions, sliced thin, julienne cut
- 2 cloves garlic, chopped fine
- 1 quart heavy whipping cream
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 1/2 tablespoons ground black pepper

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Slice the peeled potatoes very thin (like a potato chip). Use a 10-inch casserole dish and mix the potatoes, onions, garlic, salt and pepper together. Place in the casserole dish. Pour heavy cream over all. Cover with foil and bake at 375 degrees F. for 1 hour. Remove foil and brown for 15 minutes. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

Kathy Martin of Troy called asking me to remind you that the Taste of Troy is happening 1-4 p.m. Sunday, March 3 at the Troy Marriott. This event benefits the Boy's and Girl's Club of Troy, which serves more than 750 kids. If you're new to the area, or want to see what's the best in food in and around Troy, call (810) 258-5734 for more information. I'll be there judging the "Heat of Troy," and hope you will be too! Taste of Hawaii: Roy Yamaguchi author of "Roy's Feasts from Hawaii" showcases Hawaiian regional cuisine in his newly published cookbook.

FEASTS FROM

HAWAII

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Warm, sunny Hawaii sounds good right now - but how many of us can afford the time or expense?

Chef and restaurateur Roy Yamaguchi brings "Feasts from Hawaii" home with his newly published cookbook - "Roy's Feasts from Hawaii" (Ten Speed Press, 1995, $27.95). The book is co-authored with John Harrison.

Yamaguchi who is known for combining his classic French training with Asian spices and ingredients, recently visited the Observer offices in Livonia on a cold winter day to talk about Hawaii, and his new book, which is both a cookbook and travelogue of recipes, photographs, and stories of local growers, fish farms, and families.

"Cooking should come from your heart," he said. "To me, my parents cooking was the best because they made it out of love. I remember my mother watching me eat, and smile because I ate the food she made. Recipes in books are ideas people have. This is my inspiration."

Yamaguchi owns eight award-winning restaurants - Roy's in Honolulu; Roy's Kahana Bar and Grill and Roy's Nicolina on Maui; Roy's Poipu Bar and Grill on Kauai; Roy's Pebble Beach in the Inn at the Spanish Bay in California; Roy's in Tokyo, and Roy's on Guam in the Hilton Hotel, and is opening another one in Bangkok. Yet, "I start each day as if I have to prove myself all over again," he said.

Five minutes from his home in Honolulu's Hawaii Kai district - where he settled with his wife Janne and two children, Yamaguchi, 37, can be found laboring seven nights a week in the open kitchen of his first Roy's Restaurant.

"Cooking is my life," he said. "When I'm in the kitchen and I look out the window, I can't help but think that I must be one of the luckiest people in the world. It's very rewarding. In the restaurant you create a dish, serve it, and get immediate reaction, and see the outcome of what you made."

In "Feasts from Hawaii" Yamaguchi showcases some of the best Hawaii has to offer. He started the project in 1991, and finished in 1995. "My vision of food comes with what I can find in Hawaii," he said. "But this is 1996, and you basically get any ingredient you want. It's a question of how much you're into it. I encourage people to experiment with my recipes. They're not set in stone."

For example, you can substitute orange juice concentrate for passion fruit syrup.

"Roy's Feasts from Hawaii" offers more than 150 new and old favorites from Roy's restaurants. The 10 chapters include appetizers, soups, salads, pastas and Imu Pizzas, fish and shellfish, meat and poultry, side dishes and salsas, brunch, desserts and basic recipes.

Beautiful color photographs illustrate each recipe. Readers will learn that Hawaii has the highest per capita watermelon consumption of any state in the country, and meet Larry Jeffs who grows watermelons at his 1,600 acre farm on Molokai. They'll also visit the Honolulu fish auction (one of four in the U.S.) and learn about the island's other agricultural products including Kona coffee, Maui onions, and Macadamia nuts.

Yamaguchi, whose name has become synonymous with Hawaiian cuisine, first studied cooking in a high school home economics class "because I liked the odds of being the only boy in class," he said. "Even as a boy I loved to cook, whether it was fried Portuguese sausage and eggs, or a Thanksgiving dinner - which I once prepared for my family growing up in the middle of Tokyo, Japan."

After completing high school, Yamaguchi enrolled in the Culinary Institute of America. After graduating in 1976 he worked in some of the finest kitchens in the Los Angeles area including L'Escoffier, L'Ermitage, and Michaels.

In 1984 he formed a partnership to create his own restaurant, 385 North in West Hollywood where his "Euro-Asian" style came into bloom.

In 1988 he moved to the original home of his father and grandparents - the Hawaiian Islands and opened the first "Roy's" in 1988. "My grandfather owned a restaurant and my father worked there," he said. "My dad was an excellent cook and prepared most of our family meals. We rarely ate out."

Cooking is a passion Yamaguchi enjoys sharing with others. He just began filming the third year of of Hawaii Public Television series, "Hawaii Cooks with Roy Yamaguchi." The first season, which debuted in Hawaii in the fall of 1993, is still being shown on more than 141 stations in 41 other states.

"I like to do it because it showcases Hawaii," he said.

As for the future, Yamaguchi is still experimenting, and innovating. "As I open restaurants throughout Asia I learn new things he said. I believe my cookbook is one of the best cookbooks about Hawaii. The recipes are innovative, and a lot of the dishes are favorites of our customers. You can really see Hawaii as you look at the book and read the stories.

COUNT DOWN TO DINNER

Fast, flavorful soup ready in minutes

Quick Italian Meatball Soup

If you don't like to spend much time in the kitchen on a work night, but you still want to eat meals that are good for you, you're not alone.

In a recent survey of 2,000 working parents, 40 percent of those who eat four or more family meals at home each week said they spend 30 minutes or less preparing dinner. At the same time, 40 percent said getting enough vitamins and minerals was their top nutritional concern.

Wheat germ is an easy way to sneak a little extra nutrition into favorite foods you eat every day, like yogurt, pasta and fruit. A two-tablespoon serving of wheat germ provides six essential vitamins and minerals and two grams of fiber.

With wheat germ on hand and a well-stocked pantry, flavorful, healthy meals can be weeknight-quick. And smart shortcuts make even traditionally long-cooking favorites like soup doable on a work night.

Quick Italian Meatball Soup starts from your pantry shelf...broth, seasoned canned tomatoes and pasta. The meatballs take minutes to shape, and they bake in 10 minutes. Toasted wheat germ used in place of traditional bread crumbs keeps the ground turkey juicy and adds flavor and a nutrition boost.

To finish the soup, add fresh spinach (the bagged, washed spinach you'll find in the produce department saves time), and sprinkle each serving with Parmesan cheese. Crusty bread and fresh fruit round out the menu.

QUICK ITALIAN MEATBALL SOUP

- Meatballs
  - 1 pound ground turkey breast or lean ground beef
  - 1/2 cup toasted wheat germ
  - 1 egg white
  - 1/4 cup water
  - 1 1/2 teaspoons dried Italian seasoning blend
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
  - 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
  - Soup
  - 2 cans (13 3/4 to 14 1/2 ounces each) lower-sodium chicken broth
  - 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) Italian style diced tomatoes
  - 1/2 cup (2 ounces) small soup pasta, such as tiny bowties, ditalini or shells, uncooked
  - 8 ounces (1/2 of a 16 ounce bag) fresh spinach leaves, coarsely chopped (3 1/2 cups, packed)
  - 1/4 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
- Heat oven to 425 degrees F. Combine first seven ingredients in a bowl. Mix thoroughly. Shape into 1 1/4 inch meatballs. Place in shallow baking pan sprayed with non-stick cooking spray. Bake 10 minutes. Meanwhile, in large saucepan, combine broth and tomatoes. Cover, bring to a boil. Stir in pasta. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Add meatballs. Simmer uncovered 5 minutes longer or until pasta is tender. Stir in spinach. Remove from heat. Let stand 2 to 3 minutes. Serve sprinkled with Parmesan cheese. Serves 6.

KAHUKA SHRIMP ON A STICK WITH WASABI COCKTAIL SAUCE AND PAPAYA-MINT RELISH

- 1 cup Papaya-Mint Relish (recipe follows)
- 1 pound extra-large shrimp (about 16 to 20), peeled and deveined

- ¼ cup peanut oil
- Wasabi Cocktail Sauce:
- 2 tablespoons powdered wasabi
- 2 tablespoons water
- ¼ cup ketchup
- 2 tablespoons prepared horseradish

Prepare the Papaya-Mint Relish and set aside.

Prepare the grill and soak 16 to 20 short bamboo or wooden skewers in water. Skewer the shrimp, tail end first, and slide the shrimp down the skewers, with the head end pointed toward the pointed end of the skewer. Season with salt and pepper, coat with the peanut oil, and keep refrigerated.

To prepare the sauce, combine the wasabi powder with the water to form a paste. Cover and let stand for 15 minutes. Combine the ketchup and horseradish in a separate dish and add the wasabi paste, and mix well.

Roy Yamaguchi

Sear the shrimp on the grill for about 1 minute per side, or until cooked through. Place 2 tablespoons of cocktail sauce in each serving bowl and arrange 4 or 5 skewers in each bowl. Serve with the Papaya-Mint Relish on the side. Serves 4.

PAPAYA-MINT RELISH

- 1 large ripe papaya, peeled and seeded, and diced
- 1 tablespoon julienned fresh mint leaves

Passion-Fruit Shrimp Salsa (recipe follows)
4 ahi tuna steaks, about 7 ounces each
3 tablespoons peanut oil
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste.

Prepare the salsa and set aside. Coat the ahi steaks with salt and pepper. Heat a dry cast-iron skillet and sear the ahi over high heat for about 15 to 20 second each side for rare (about 1 minute each side for medium-rare). Place the steaks on serving plates and spoon the salsa over the tuna, letting the juices from the salsa run onto the plates. Serves 4.

PASSION FRUIT-SHRIMP SALSA

- 1 ripe passion fruit
- 4 or 5 extra-large shrimp (about 4 ounces), peeled, deveined, and diced
- 2 teaspoons olive oil
- ¼ cup finely minced Maui onion (can substitute OSO Sweet or other sweet onion)
- ½ cup peeled, seeded, and finely diced tomatoes
- 2 tablespoons finely sliced scallions
- 1 tablespoon finely minced fresh cilantro
- 1 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
- Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

Scoop out the pulp from the passion fruit and press through a fine sieve. Reserve the juice (about 1 tablespoon).

Coat the shrimp in the olive oil and sear in a skillet over high heat until cooked through. Transfer to a stainless steel mixing bowl, add the passion fruit juice and the remaining ingredients, and toss well to combine. Makes about 1 cup.

Make it a muffin morning

Muffins are the perfect breakfast bread for busy mornings because you can bake a batch on the weekend and tuck them into the freezer. Thirty seconds in the microwave oven, and you're out the door with a warm homemade muffin in hand.

Here's a recipe from Quaker Oats.

BANANA-ORANGE OATMEAL MUFFINS

- 1½ cups oatmeal quick or old-fashioned, uncooked
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar

- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
- ½ cup chopped dates or raisins
- 1 carton (8 ounces) plain non-fat yogurt
- ¾ cup mashed ripe banana (about two medium)
- 2 egg whites or 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1½ teaspoons grated orange peel

Heat oven to 400 degrees F. Line 12 medium muffin cups with paper baking cups or spray bottoms only with non-stick cooking spray. Combine dry ingredients including dates; mix well.

Add combined yogurt, banana, egg whites, oil and orange peel; mix until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill muffin cups almost full. Sprinkle with additional oats, if desired.

Bake 20-22 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 12.
To freeze: Wrap muffins securely in foil or place in freezer bag; label and freeze.

To reheat: Place one muffin on microwave-safe plate. Microwave at High about 30 seconds.

Try these tips for better braising

Here are some tips for better braising from the Michigan Beef Industry Commission.

- Browning the beef first gives the roast its rich color and flavor, but resist the temptation to turn up the heat and brown it quickly. The key is to brown the meat slowly and evenly.
- Use just a small amount of liquid, usually no more than 1½ to 2 cups.
- Be sure to cover the pan tightly and keep it covered, so the steam can gently cook the meat until tender. Braising does take time, but very little attention. There's no need to stir or even lift the cover while the beef cooks.

- Remember to simmer; do not let the liquid boil or the meat will toughen. When properly simmering, bubbles will form slowly and break apart just below the surface. To simmer, cook over low heat on top of the range or in the oven at 300 to 325 degrees F.

The meat is done when it's fork tender. Insert a fork toward the end of the cooking time; if it goes in easily, the roast is ready to serve.

Flavor it your way! The cooking liquid can be your choice of water, broth, fruit or vegetable juice, wine, prepared sauce or a combination of these.

JONAGOLD. The mouthwatering crispness of a Jonathan together with the uncommonly sweet flavor of a Golden Delicious. You'll love this one.

Beth from Canton called after reading a recipe in Taste for a low-fat chocolate cake calling for Dutch processed cocoa. She wanted to know what it is, and where she could get some. Dutch processed cocoa is alkalinized to make the cocoa less bitter and much darker in color. It's available at Kitchen Glamour stores and at cake decorating shops. It also might be available at some of the better upscale grocery stores. Speaking of great cake decorating shops, check out the Baker's Acre in Wayne on Michigan Avenue (just east of Wayne Road) for a great selection of cake decorating supplies and real friendly service. (313) 722-4110. Ida Baxter of Southfield called hoping I might shed a little light on making some homemade chicken stock. Well Ida, if you have the time, it's well worth it.

CHICKEN STOCK

- 1 old stewing hen, about 4-5 pounds
- 2 gallons fresh cold water
- ½ bunch celery, with leaves, chopped
- ½ pound carrots, unpeeled, chopped
- 3 large onions, quartered; with skin left on
- 2 cloves garlic
- 7-9 whole peppercorns
- 2 bay leaves

A handful of fresh parsley
Combine all ingredients in the largest pot you can find. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat to lowest setting and simmer, uncovered, for 8 hours, skimming foam off the top if necessary.

To make a heartier stock, cook for 10 hours. Strain through a colander. Place strained stock in a refrigerator or cover and chill outside on a cold day until the fat rises to the top. Skim off fat and remove. Heat broth until barely warm.

Strain through a fine sieve or through 3-4 layers of cheesecloth to remove any bits of sediment. Keep refrigerated until ready to use. Makes about 4 quarts.
Diane Sands of Farmington called requesting a recipe she and a friend enjoyed for Friendship Tea. Well Diane, here's a recipe from days gone by when I had my own cooking shop in downtown Plymouth. We ran a class with one of the area's best home economists, Loreta Mirro, now of Birmingham, who originally gave me this recipe.

FRIENDSHIP TEA

- 1 cup Tang
  - ¼ cup instant tea (plain)
  - 1 (3 ounce) package instant dry lemonade mix
  - 1 cup sugar
  - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
  - ½ teaspoon cloves
- Combine all ingredients together and store in an airtight container. To make one cup, place one tablespoon of the mix in a cup of boiling water and stir until dissolved. Great hot or iced.

Winter fillings make shortcake a year-round favorite

Most folks think about enjoying shortcake only in the summer. What a shame to relegate such a treat to one short season. By taking advantage of winter fruits like pears, apples, cranberries and dried apricots, shortcake can be a winter highlight.

"Many people call any kind of cake topped with fruit and whipped cream shortcake," said Linda Carman, Martha White baking expert. "However, in the South, traditional shortcake is simply a dressed-up biscuit. It's buttery, sweet and enriched with an egg. And shortcake, which is really just fruit and biscuits, can be served anytime, not just for dessert. They make a festive statement for breakfast, brunch, late lunch or light supper."

Here are some recipes to try.

RICH BISCUIT SHORTCAKES

- 2 cups sifted Martha White Self-Rising Flour
  - 3 tablespoons sugar
  - ½ cup butter or margarine
  - 1 egg
  - About ½ cup milk
- Preheat oven to 450 degrees F.

Combine flour and sugar. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Beat egg in measuring cup; add enough milk to make ½ cup. Add to flour mixture and stir with a fork. Turn out onto a lightly floured board or pastry cloth; knead just until smooth. Roll dough out about ¼-inch thick and cut with floured cutter or with a knife in desired shapes. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake 9 to 12 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 shortcakes.

Note: If using Martha White All Purpose Flour, sift 1 tablespoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt with flour. For drop biscuit shortcakes, add 1 tablespoon additional milk to form a soft dough. Drop by spoonfuls onto baking sheet.

Tip: Sprinkle shortcakes with 2 tablespoons sliced almonds before baking, if desired.

APRICOT CREAM CHEESE SHORTCAKE

- 1 package (6 ounces) dried apricots, snipped into bite-size pieces

- 2 cups water
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- Rich Biscuit Shortcakes (prepared with Tip for almonds and Note for drop biscuits)
- Cream Cheese Filling (follows)

Combine apricots and water in medium saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and cook until apricots are tender, about 15 minutes. Stir in sugar and butter. Simmer until thickened, about 30 to 40 minutes. Cool to room temperature. Stir in vanilla. Split shortcakes; fill and top with fruit and cream cheese filling. Makes 8 servings.

Cream Cheese Filling: In small ng bowl, combine 6 ounces cream cheese (softened), 6 tablespoons heavy cream, 2 tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla with a fork until smooth and creamy.

PEAR CRANBERRY SHORTCAKE

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

- 4 medium pears, peeled, cored and sliced
- 1 cup fresh or frozen cranberries
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ cup orange juice
- Rich Biscuit Shortcakes
- Heavy cream

Melt butter in large skillet. Stir in pears, cranberries, sugar and orange juice. Simmer, stirring occasionally, until pears are tender and juice is thickened, about 20 to 25 minutes. Split shortcakes; fill and top with fruit mixture. Drizzle each serving with cream. Makes 8 servings.

APPLE SAUSAGE SHORTCAKE

- 1 package (10 to 12 ounces) breakfast sausage links, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 3 large Golden Delicious apples, peeled, cored and coarsely chopped
- ½ cup maple or maple-flavored syrup
- Rich Biscuit Shortcakes

- Warm maple or maple-flavored syrup, if desired

Cook sausage in large skillet until browned; drain. Stir in apples and cook until tender, about 5 minutes; keep warm. Just before serving stir in ½ cup maple syrup. Split shortcakes; fill and top with apple sausage mixture. Serve with additional warm maple syrup. Makes 8 servings.

Dynamic 'City Hall' is well-acted, significant

BY BOB THOMAS AP NEWS/FEATURE

It's a not uncommon happening on a city street: A shootout leaves three people dead. But this one has wide repercussions. The victims are a New York City cop, a minor member of a Mafia family and a 6-year-old boy on the way to school with his father.

Thus begins "City Hall," a dynamic political drama with superior acting and wide significance. The competing forces of city governance have rarely been portrayed with such immediacy and incisiveness.

Al Pacino plays John Pappas, pictured as "the best mayor New York has ever had." Well, maybe not as good as his hero, Fiorello La Guardia, the man who read the funnypapers to children on the radio during a newspaper strike.

Mayor Pappas runs a tight ship, managing to placate the conflicting factions of the metropolis. His strong right arm is his young deputy mayor, Kevin Calhoun (John Cusack), a pragmatic political cutthroat from Louisiana, where politics is a way of life.

Calhoun begins to perceive the ramifications of the street shootout. He investigates further and finds the Mafia minton had been given probation on a serious charge. Someone had switched probation reports. It had to be someone high up in city government.

He first combats, then joins forces with a feisty lawyer (Bridget Fonda), who represents the family of the slain cop. Others appear involved in the web of intrigue: Danny Aiello as a Brooklyn Democratic Party boss; Martin Landau, a respected judge who signed the probation report; Anthony Franciosa, a shrewd Mafia chieftain who knows how to massage the body politic; and David Paymer, the mayor's dutiful chief of staff.

Cusack occupies the major role, peering into the inner workings of city government and growing more apprehensive with each new revelation. "City Hall" is a major step forward for this attractive actor, whose bland face belies an inner fire.

Although he has less screen time, Pacino empowers his every scene. His oration at the funeral of the murdered boy ranks as one of the great movie speeches of all time.

The strong cast bolsters each scene, especially Aiello as the overconfident politico and Franciosa, who plays the mob boss like the CEO of a major corporation. He should enjoy a rich career as a character actor.

Director Harold Becker captures the political rhythms of the big city and keeps the rather complicated plot comprehensible. But audiences need to pay attention; this is not a by-the-numbers urban thriller.

Significantly, the original script was written by Ken Lipper, former deputy mayor for Ed Koch. He obviously instilled a feeling of reality to the screenplay, which is also credited to Paul Schrader, Nicholas Pileggi and Bo Goldman. Unlike many multiple writing collaborations, this one turned out well.

The Columbia Pictures release of a Castle Rock Entertainment film was produced by Becker, Lipper, Edward R. Pressman and Charles Mulvehill. Running time: 111 minutes.

Here are some tips on how to cool foods safely

"Winter winds and whirling snowflakes may inspire you to cook up a large pot of homemade soup," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Michigan State University Extension Service, Oakland County.

"But, improper cooling can be a potential source of food poisoning." An old wives tale has made many people believe that it is not a good idea to put hot food in the refrigerator until it is thoroughly cooled, for fear of it turning "sour."

This myth is confusing and dangerous! Leaving food out longer than two hours is a real no-no!

Here are some easy and quick ways to cool foods safely:

- Take large pot off burner when food is cooked. Stir entire contents with a large utensil frequently during first 10 minutes of cooling.

- Set large pot of cooked food in a sink or large pan of ice water to hasten cooling.
- Divide contents of pot into several smaller utensils no deeper than about two inches.
- Refrigerate the smaller utensils quickly allowing plenty of space in the refrigerator for air circulation. If food is to be frozen divide into freezer containers and allow ample space in freezer. Food should be refrigerated promptly.

- Do not leave cooked food out until it cools completely by itself. It may take many hours for a large pot of soup to cool, and by this time it may have grown bacteria which will cause food poisoning.

If you need help with any other food safety, food and nutrition questions or food preservation questions call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, Monday through Friday, (810) 858-0904.

Jones nets 33, Glenn advances

Albert Jones scored 33 points as Westland John Glenn moved into the semifinals of the WLAA boys basketball playoffs with a convincing win over Plymouth Salem.

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

With 1:40 remaining in Friday's game against visiting Plymouth Salem, Westland John Glenn nursed a 79-67 lead.

The Rockets' Louis Hartwig, fresh off the bench, heaved up a three-pointer to the chagrin of Glenn coach Mike Schuette, who wanted his Rockets to take time off the clock.

With Schuette turning away to the crowd with a disgruntled look on his face, the shot swished through.

It was that kind of night for the Rockets.

Glenn's offense was in high gear as it beat Salem 88-71 and advanced to Tuesday's second round of the Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball playoffs.

"John Glenn played superb," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "They tore apart our zone. They tore apart our 'man.' They scored in their half-court game and they scored in transition."

The Rockets outburst was led by the one-two punch of senior guard Albert Jones and junior forward David Jarrett. Jones poured in 33 and Jarrett 18 as Glenn shot 50 percent from the floor (36-of-72).

Jones (14) and Jarrett (11) scored 25 of Glenn's 27 second-quarter points, which helped the Rockets extend a 21-18 lead after the first quarter to a comfortable 48-36 advantage at halftime.

"There's way more of this to come,"

"We wanted to make them hit from the outside and they did," Brodie said. "We didn't adjust well enough to where their players were positioned. I knew we were in trouble early if they kept playing like the way they were on offense."

The Rockets built their lead to as many as 20 in the third quarter. The Rocks rallied late but could get no closer than 12 points down the stretch.

"Salem is the best seventh seeded team I've ever seen," Schuette said. "They're a good team, but we played well. We hit just enough from the outside to beat their zone and open it up inside."

The Rocks shot well early, but finished at 43 percent (26 of 60). Salem also hurt themselves by committing 17 turnovers — 12 in the first half.

"We missed a lot of puppies when they were hitting from the outside and that compounded our problems," Brodie said.

Madonna moves on to semis

Madonna University's smothering defense limited University of Michigan-Dearborn to 18 first-half points in topping the Lady Wolves 76-53 in an NAIA Great Lakes Sectional semifinal Saturday at Madonna.

The win puts the Lady Crusaders into Tuesday's Sectional Final at the College of Mount St. Joseph (Ohio). The winner of that game advances to the NAIA Division II Championship Tournament.

Four players reached double figures in scoring for Madonna (now 20-12): Stacy Lamphere and Angie Negri with 12 apiece, and Mary Murray and Meegan Marlatt with 11 each. Michelle Parmentier scored four points, but had team-highs in rebounds (eight) and assists (seven).

UM-D, which finishes 13-18, was led by Kellee Taylor and Marlena Walker with 13 points each, and Nikki Conyers with 12.

Madonna built a 33-18 lead by halftime and continued to pull away in the second half for its second-straight easy win in the Sectional Tournament. The Crusaders limited the Wolves to 7-of-27 shooting in the first half (25.9 percent), 19-of-60 in the game (31.7 percent).

a 53-18 by halftime, then outscored the Bulldogs 52-17 in the second half.

Every Crusader scored, led by Francine Williams' 18. The senior forward also recorded seven rebounds, six assists, five blocks and three steals. Stacy Lamphere added 17 and sophomore guard Courtney Senger poured in a career-high 11 points. Angie Negri and Erin Wiley chipped in with each.

The Bulldogs (4-24), who committed 31 turnovers, received 12 from Konya Hubbard.

"We wanted to play a solid game — especially on defense — and I think we did," Madonna coach Bill Potter said. "They had the number one and four leading scorers in the region and our goal was to shut them down (only 18 points between the pair)."

Stevenson shocks WLAA in tournament conquest

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

There wasn't enough Pepto-Bismol to pass around Saturday at the Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball tournament.

It was an "Upset Special" as underdog Livonia Stevenson earned its first title since 1993 with a 15-13, 15-8 victory over rival Livonia Churchill in the final at Walled Lake Central.

Both teams pulled off shocking victories in the semifinals.

Defending champion Plymouth Salem, which had not been defeated in a league match since 1993, lost to Churchill in three games, while state-ranked Central (40-7 overall) fell to Stevenson, also in three. See tournament summary.

"I'd say I'm shocked and surprised," said Stevenson third-year coach Kelly Graham, whose team is now 21-9-13 overall. "I didn't think we'd make it to the finals because Salem and Central were the 'Big Wigs' in the league. And we were fortunate to beat Harrison in the quarterfinals, but after beating Central I had a good feeling."

Senior outside hitter Kristi DiBasio was all over the floor throughout the day for the Spartans. She had eight kills in the final against Churchill.

"Kristi is smarter than anybody we have," Graham said. "She may not be the fastest, but she's probably our best passer and hitter."

Churchill got some strong hitting from junior Kelly Ashworth (seven kills/three blocks) and Lori Leszczynski (four kills), but the Spartans were able to keep their city rival off-balance.

Middle-blocker Gina Palmeri, a 6-foot junior and front-row specialist, is making quite a transition from the swimming pool. She made life miserable for Churchill in the second game with three kills and two blocks.

"Gina is gaining more and more confidence," Graham said. "She's more intense and more competitive. She's been pounding the ball, blocking and touching everything that comes over the net."

Junior setter Nicole Tobin's ace serve wrapped up the match.

"We go as Nicole goes," Graham said. "When she's on, we're normally on. And today she was on for the most part."

Against Central, Palmeri more than held her own at the net against the powerful-hitting tandem of Becky Cummings and Jessica Regentin, both of whom stand 6 feet or better.

"They (Stevenson) dissected us," Central coach Mike Lindstrom said. "And when they didn't attack us, we weren't very smart. They let you make the mistakes. They played super defense."

Other Spartan contributions during the day came from Stacy Nichols, Catherine Garry, Laura Krol, Beth Pinneo, Kelly Kristy, Julie Richardson, Stephanie Waters and Anita Kadarjian.

The Chargers, however, were hitting on all cylinders against Plymouth Canton and Salem in the elimination rounds.

Churchill was impressive in the opening game, winning 15-7. But Salem (41-7-2 overall) got going in the second behind the hitting of 6-foot senior Shellye Sills. The Rocks won that one, 15-11.

Salem's momentum carried over into the third as the Rocks jumped to a 7-1 lead, but Churchill roared back for a 15-12 victory.

"We played very well versus Salem and Canton," Hughes said. "And any time you can beat a team like Salem, you're having a good day."

Shamrocks win title

BY STEVE KOWALSKI

Orchard Lake St. Mary sophomore guard Andre Harris entered Sunday's Catholic League boys basketball championship game with 52 seconds left in the first quarter.

BASKETBALL

As Harris trotted to the scorer's table to report in, St. Mary coach Denny Butcher shouted in his direction, "(Detroit Catholic Central guard Marc) McDonald doesn't breathe, understand me?"

Translation? McDonald already had 10 points and Butcher wanted him guarded closely.

Harris listened, but it was the Eaglets who ended up out of breath chasing McDonald, who scored a game-high 29 points in the Shamrocks' 70-69 overtime win at University of Detroit Mercy's Callahan Hall.

McDonald made five shots from three-point range and several on drives to the basket.

He'll have to watch the videotape to understand how he made some of his acrobatic moves. He'd probably like to edit the last minute of regulation when St. Mary erased a 20-point deficit and forced overtime (led 47).

The rejuvenated Shamrocks outscored the Eaglets, 14-2, in overtime.

Wayne sweeps Mega-Red card

The Mega Conference may only be three years old, but state-ranked Wayne Memorial is making quite an impact in the Red Division's record books.

Last week, the Zebras won the title for the second year in a row. On Thursday, Wayne became the first boys basketball team to go through the league season undefeated by routing visiting Dearborn 78-60.

Wayne won all 12 Red Division games and improved to 17-2 overall.

The Zebras led 18-11 after the first quarter and extended their advantage to 39-21 at halftime before cruising to victory.

Junior guard Lorenzo Guess paced the Wayne attack with a game-high 21 points. Jameel Wooden added 16 and Lavelle Guess and Roland Patterson chipped in with nine apiece.

The Pioneers (12-6 overall, 6-5 in the Mega Red) got 20 points from Kevin Kregler and 14 from Colin Wilkinson.

Dearborn held a slight advantage at the free throw line where it converted 18 of 25. The Zebras made 12 of their 18 tries at the foul line.

CHURCHILL 93, N. FARMINGTON 81: Livonia Churchill might be undefeated if they would have played only double overtime games this season.

The Chargers (7-11) won their second double OT contest in nine days Thursday with a thriller against visiting North Farmington.

The Chargers blew a seven-point lead with seven seconds remaining in regulation, after a North player fouled on a three-point attempt. Churchill coach Tom Lang was called for a technical foul and the 6-point swing at the free throw line closed the deficit to two.

The Raiders (4-14) got the ball back after the technical and sent the game into overtime when senior center Richard Beal tipped in a miss at the buzzer.

Trailing 78-76, North had an opportunity to win the game in the first overtime, but junior guard Julian Cochran made only one of two free throws with two seconds remaining.

The Chargers dominated the second overtime, outscoring the Raiders 17-5. In particular, junior guard Shawn Woloszyn was unstoppable scoring nine points.

"We had a hard time covering Shawn all game and then he took over in the second overtime," North coach Brian Swinshart said.

Woloszyn finished with a career-high 33 points. Senior forward Allen Polanski also tallied career-best numbers with 30 points. Senior center Jay Van Wagner added 10 points and junior forward Justin Mattison grabbed 10 rebounds.

Cochran led the Raiders with a career-high 26 points. Junior forward Brad Rivera and senior center Richard Beal added 14 and 13 points, respectively.

FRANKLIN 68, FARMINGTON 68: Matt Bauman, a 6-foot-8 junior center, poured in a career-high 32 points lifted host Livonia Franklin to victory Thursday.

Franklin needed to 24-19 edge in the fourth quarter to pull away from Farmington.

It was a team effort as 11 Patriots scored. Franklin started all seniors in the game, and they were impressive, according to coach Larry Jackson.

"They gave us offense and got us off to a good start," Jackson said. "We were never behind."

Sophomore guard Ron Freeman led the Patriots with 20 points. Senior guard Jake Blisko added 12.

The Patriots held a decisive advantage at the free throw line, where they made 25 of 42 attempts. Farmington converted 11 of its 20 free throws.

Franklin improved to 5-13 while Farmington slipped to 4-14.

LUTHERAN WEST 81, LUTH. WESTLAND 78 (2 OT): On Friday, host Rochester Hills Lutheran an Northwest (7-11, 3-7) derailed Lutheran High Westland (9-8, 6-5) in double-overtime Metro Conference encounter.

Junior forward Joe Pruchnik pumped in a school-record 37 points and grabbed 18 rebounds in defeat. Senior guard Ryan Donaldson added 13 points and 10 assists.

Senior guard Scott Roper led Northwest with 27 points, including seven 3-pointers.

Northwest used a 16-9 fourth-quarter run to send the game into overtime at 66-61. Both teams tallied six points in the first OT, but the Crusaders hit a pair of threes in the second OT to provide the final margin of victory.

"We didn't shoot well in the third quarter, and we didn't play exceptionally good defense," Lutheran Westland coach Scott Wiemer said. "They shot well (31 of 60 from the floor). They had to play a near flawless game and they did."

HURON VALLEY 37, LIGHT & LIFE 28: In a low-scoring affair Friday, Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (9-9 overall) earned the victory against host Taylor Light & Life behind 10 points apiece from John Nielson and Scott Ohlsson.

Anthony Hill led the Crusaders with 10.

The Hawks, who couldn't Taylor's 1-2-2 zone defense until midway through the third quarter, put the game away by outscoring Light & Life 15-2 in the final period.

Shawna Greene had 13 points as the visiting Raiders ended their season 8-14 overall and 3-9 in the league.

Five Ocelots scored double figures.

Tim Burns had 20 points, Dave Pavlak and Dwan Warkack 17 each, Doug Walters 15 and Jason Maschke (Livonia Franklin) 12.

Vikings' Lynch pulls pin on Spartans

BY BILL PARKER STAFF WRITER

Ed Lynch didn't score a point when Livonia Stevenson handed visiting Walled Lake Central a 61-51 boys basketball loss on Feb. 17.

That was in the final game of the regular season in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

On Thursday, Central hosted Stevenson in the opening round of the WLAA playoffs, and apparently five days between games can make a big difference.

Lynch was a scoring machine this time around, netting a career-high 26 points in helping the Vikings post a decisive 73-54 triumph.

"Coach has been harping on us to shoot the ball," explained Lynch, who hit 11 of 21 shots from the floor (two triples) and two of two from the free throw line. "We've been passing up shots and making too many passes. We were looking to shoot the ball every time down the floor tonight."

With Central holding a slim six-point lead, 47-41, after three quarters, Lynch took charge in the fourth. The 6-foot-1 senior opened the quarter with a triple, then converted a Stevenson turnover into an inside bucket when he rebounded his own miss and returned it to the basket. Lynch scored 10 of his team's first 15 points in the fourth as the Vikings opened the quarter with a 15-3 run to build a comfortable 62-44 lead.

Meanwhile, Stevenson was struggling to find the basket. Senior Matt Quinter snapped the Spartans out of a 2-43 scoring drought with a three-pointer at the 3:35 mark of the fourth, but the damage had already been done. Central maintained its advantage by outscoring Stevenson 11-7 in the closing minutes.

The Vikings converted 22 of 28 free throws in the game, compared to just five of nine for Stevenson.

"They didn't miss their free throws, that's for sure," said Stevenson coach Jim McIntyre.

Following a 14-14 draw in the first quarter the Vikings began to pull away. Sophomore guard Todd Negoshian drained a long three-pointer to put the Vikings ahead to stay, 18-16. Negoshian, who finished with 11, hit another triple with under a minute remaining in the half as the Vikings entered the break with a 32-25 advantage.

Quinter scored six of his team-leading 19 in the third to help keep the Spartans (9-9 overall) close.

Following a short jumper by Erick Giovannini, Quinter pulled the Spartans to within six, 43-37, with a drive to the basket. He picked off a Central pass and went in for a layup at the buzzer as the third period ended with Central leading 47-41.

"We've been struggling lately," admitted Central coach Steve Emert, whose team entered Thursday's battle having won just once in its last four games. "We haven't been putting the ball up and with the type of offense we run you have to shoot the ball."

Lexus SC 400 delivers a good time

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

When it was first hinted that Lexus would soon unveil a sports coupe, skeptics theorized it would be exactly what every other luxury carmaker had accomplished — just sticking two fewer doors on a sedan and giving it a couple of upgraded, sleek lines.

But hold your breath. The sporty SC 400 doesn't have the feel or look of a two-door sedan, or drive like one. The 1996 model is better than the average two-door sedan could ever dream of being.

Lexus' SC 400 is revolutionary enough to rearrange the way automakers design vehicles for the 1990s and beyond. Sort of what Ford Motor Co. accomplished with the aerodynamic, wrap-around look of the 1986 Taurus and Sable.

When Lexus and Toyota officials introduced their SC 400 a few years ago, they gave us a car that in years to come could become the symbol of unconventional design and innovation.

The traditional method of designing a car is to put it all on paper first, sketch after sketch, drawing after drawing, clay model after clay model and fiberglass rendering after fiberglass rendering — all the while enduring approval processes from designers, engineers, more designers and engineers and finally from the big guys at the top.

The SC 400's development team sidestepped more than 90 percent of the standard bureaucratic mumbo-jumbo and effectively and efficiently came up with a vehicle that's pure in design and flawless in execution.

The team succeeded in achieving a bold, distinct, unique design that was created by human touch — and, accomplish this, started with clay models. Pencil never hit paper on this project.

And, instead of design teams arguing and compromising with engineering teams, both worked together to assure the design was functional and fun.

"This sort of cooperation just seems like common sense, but just take a look at some of the new cars on the road with humped fenders and hood bulges because the designers and engineers weren't talking to each other," said Dave Illingworth, a former Lexus general manager who moved up the corporate ladder at Toyota.

"As a result of this cooperation, we have one of the most dramatic designs ever to travel from the modeling studio to the production line — without losing an ounce of artistry, emotion or beauty."

Artistic, emotional and beautiful this SC 400 is, that's for sure. Chief Designer Dennis Campbell, who headed the project at Toyota's Caltex Design Research team headquarters in California, said when a portion of the vehicle didn't fit the design, engineers simply found somewhere else to put that part.

Quite an accomplishment. This is truly a four-wheel work of art. And the process that made it a reality and a machine to be driven on American soil may be remembered as a modern-day miracle.

A drive around city streets with this head-turning SC 400 can be an eye-opener. Front engine. Rear-wheel-drive. A 4.0-liter V8 EFI with 32 valves. Power has jumped to 260 horses. Zero-to-60 time is a mere 6.8 seconds. Redlines at 6,250 rpms. Eighteen city, 23 highway. U.S. designed, built in Japan. And ABS is standard.

It's billed as a four-passenger, but realistically it's a two-passenger coupe. The SC 400 is marketed toward those who would like to move up from a mid-level Cadillac or low-end BMW, but can't afford an LS 400.

Everything under the sun is standard equipment in the SC 400, but don't faint from sticker shock. The high-thirty something price is something an on-the-move executive should try to afford.

AUTO REPAIR

Listen to Your Car When You Think Something's Wrong

News USA

(NU) - Little kids cry when they're not feeling well. Adults wheeze or groan. How does your car tell you when something's wrong? In lots of ways, according to the Automotive Service Association.

If you suspect your car's not at its best, listen carefully. Describing the sounds you hear will help your automotive technician begin to diagnose the problem.

ASA suggests listening for...

- Booms that sound like a bass drum.
- Grinding, like metal rubbing against metal.
- Buzzing that sounds like a bee.
- Hisses, like the sound of air escaping from a tire.
- Rattling that sounds just like a child's toy.
- Squeaks, like rubbing on a glass surface.

Of course, be sure to pay attention to your dashboard malfunction indicator lights, strange smells, and handling and performance difficulties.

- Here are some more signs of car trouble:
- Black, blue, gray or white smoke coming from the rear of the car or from under the hood.
  - The car hesitates or there's a delayed response when you push the accelerator pedal.
  - The car stalls at stop signs or red lights.
  - The vehicle tends to pull to one side when traveling.

- The car vibrates.
- A sweet and steamy smell could be coming from leaking antifreeze.
- A sulfur-like odor (rotten eggs) could indicate emissions problems.

Car Talk

When you talk with your technician, describe all the symptoms, no matter how large or small, and be sure to answer all of the technician's questions, no matter how irrelevant they may seem.

Be precise when describing your car's problem and use simple language. Technical jargon is best left to the technicians. Like a doctor, the technician will consider all the symptoms and begin to diagnose the problem.

Here's one more thing to keep in mind. Like people, cars benefit from regular checkups. Routine maintenance will save you time and money, and may prevent severe problems in the future.

With approximately 12,000 members worldwide, ASA is the largest not-for-profit trade association of its kind, serving automotive businesses performing mechanical, collision and transmission repair. Members agree to uphold a code of ethics dealing with fair pricing and reputable business practices. They can be identified by the red, white and blue ASA sign.
