financial problems as it deals with a nearzero surplus and declining state funds because of fewer students and a proposed cut in adult education support.

The Wayne-Westland school board faces

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A new $92.7 million Wayne-Westland school board budget avoids the red ink that plagued the district two years ago, but officials warn that any sudden, unforeseen expenses could renew deficit fears. Projected revenues will outpace spending by only $2,500 for 1996-97, but the year-end balance is estimated at $407,255 due to dollars carried over from the previous year.

Even so, administration officials warn that the projected surplus is minuscule for a $92.7 million budget, particularly in an era when state-level cuts pose a continual threat.

"We're very tight," Patricia Brand, assistant superintendent for busibudget.

School officials are troubled by declining enrollment; the district is expected to lose 300 to 400 pupils annually. The board loses about $5.600 in state dollars for each student.

For the 1996-97 budget year, alone, district revenues will plunge $2.5 million from the previous year's $95.2 million, according to an analysis from Brand.

"It's very difficult when you have a decreasing enrollment," she said.

Enrollment is estimated at 14,400 for 1996-97. That marks a 10,000-ness, said of the newly approved, student decline from the early 1970s.

SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS

Moreover, financial difficulties have gutted the district's budget; with the surplus dropping from $6.8 million in June, 1992, to the projected $407,255 for 1996-97.

To be sure, administration officials are pleased to have erased a $2 million deficit that forced massive' budget cuts in 1994-95, such as the elimination of transportation for students in grades seven through 12.

But officials stress that a healthy.

Graduates eager to face the world

The Wayne-Westland school district awarded high school diplomas and GED certificates to 162 people in what might be the community's last adult education ceremony of its kind.

The threat to the program comes from the state legislators. who, along with Gov. John Engler, want to slash state funding for adult education and limit the programs run by local school districts to mainly 18- to 20-year-olds. Last month, a William D. Ford Career Technical Center adminis-. trator said the center's program would be jeopardized if the state substantially cuts its financial aid.

But the political climate in Lansing didn't stop local graduates, some of whom were in their 50s and 60s, from enjoying the commencement program held Friday night, June 7, at Wayne Memorial High School's Stockmeyer Auditorium,

The oldest grad was Bernice Sobadash, 65.

• The district has set aside $2.7 million to help pay for county special education programs, but the amount needed could increase.

• Higher retirement costs could force the board to find more money.

• Enrollment decreases below the 14,400-student mark would pose a greater loss than officials expect.

• Unforeseen repairs needed at aging school buildings could

Man faces life in prison for killing his roommate

BY. DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A Wayne County Circuit Court jury Friday convicted Christopher David Poremba in the shooting death of his roommate, Eric Alexander Lucia.

The jury, which deliberated Monday and Friday, found Poremba, 29, guilty of second-degree murder and a felony firearms charge. He could face prison for any number of years up to life when he is sentenced July 3 by Judge Michael Callahan.

Poremba had been charged with first-degree murder, punishable by a mandatory life term without the possibility of parole.

Poremba shot Lucia, 27, during an argument last Sept. 18 at Poremba's residence, where Lucia had been renting a room.

The jury's decision sent a message that jurors didn't believe the argument that Poremba was acting in self-defense when he shot Lucia, a 220pound bodybuilder.

Lucia was shot in the chest during what one witness has described as an argument that erupted into violence.

Poremba, a Wayne Memorial High graduate and a Ford Motor Co. apprentice, shot Lucia at 1:50 a.m. Sept. 18 in the 32700 block of Parkwood.

The dispute began after Poremba told a visiting woman that she should stay away from Lucia and his friend, Richard Gofourth, because they were "trouble," Gofourth has testified in court.

Lucia became upset and confronted Poremba, who denied making any derogatory statements, Gofourth said.

Lucia also was upset because Poremba had made previous advances against a woman who was dating a friend of Lucia's, Gofourth has said.

Prosecutors have argued that even though Lucia confronted Poremba, the defendant didn't have to resort to pulling a gun and shooting Lucia in the chest.

Prosecutors also have argued that Lucia hadn't struck any blows that would warrant Poremba's claim that he was defending himself when he fired the gun.

Business owner to be tried on sexual assault charges

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Choking back tears at times, a Westland woman testified Thursday that her landlord sexually assaulted her at his local business and that he tried to coerce her by threatening to evict her family from the house it rented from him.

The 38-year-old woman accused Livonia resident Said Warra of two sexual assaults that she said occurred 11 days apart at Westland Shoe Repair, 34785 Warren east of Wayne Road.

Her testimony prompted Westland 18th District Judge C.

and put his arms around her, the woman testified. She said he held her wrists and pushed her toward a bathroom in the shoe repair shop.

"I was upset, and tears were coming down my face," she testified.

The woman accused Warra of taking her hand and placing it against him in a sexual manner.

"After I got upset, he finally let me go," she said.

Afterward, Warra sometimes stopped by her house or visited her at the restaurant where she worked, she said.

On April 19; Warra phoned her and told her that he wanted Charles Bokos to order Warra to to see her at his business, she stand trial on two felony sex , said. He again alleged that she owed rent.

charges, the most serious punishable by a maximum 10 years in prison.

Warra, 50, has maintained his innocence, and defense attorney Jeffrey Pepper tried to raise questions about the woman's credibility by claiming discrepancies between statements she made to police and in court.

Bokos, however, ruled that the testimony was convincing.

The woman testified that the first sexual assault occurred April 8 at Warra's business when he claimed that she owed rent for April. She said she had already paid the money.

The woman still lives in the house with her husband, her four children and her four stepchildren.

Warra indicated that he could force her family out of the house, and then he started to kiss her

The woman testified that she took her daughter with her to the shoe repair shop, but the girl stayed outside in the vehicle when the woman went inside.

Attorney Pepper raised questions about why the woman would return to the shop if she had already been sexually assaulted there.

Bokos responded, "While it may have not been the best of judgment, that's not the issue."

Westland police Sgt. Terry Donohue has said the woman was afraid of losing her rental lease.

During the second meeting, Warra pushed the woman toward the bathroom, forced her to sit on the toilet and exposed himself in an unsuccessful attempt to force her to perform oral sex, the woman said. She to an attorney, who advised her to contact Westland police.

Pepper said in court that police reports of the incidents contained allegations that differed from the woman's testimony.

However, Bokos decided that the woman appeared to be telling the truth, and he ordered Warra to stand trial for fourthdegree criminal sexual conduct and assault with intent to commit criminal sexual conduct involving penetration.

The latter charge is punishable by a maximum 10-year prison term, while the fourthdegree charge carries a two-year limit.

Pending trial, Warra remains free on a $5,000 personal bond. He has been ordered not to contact the woman.

New laws get tough on juvenile offenders

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Michigan is moving on three fronts toward more severe punishment of juveniles who commit serious crimes.

An appellate court upheld a life sentence for a 15-year-old killer. Gov. John Engler signed a 21-bill package making adult sentences mandatory in some cases. And the state Senate approved a "punk prison" bill and sent it to the House.

Court of Appeals

A state Court of Appeals panel upheld a life prison sentence for 15-year-old Clinton Cheeks, convicted in a 1993 Inkster murder case. The sentence was handed down by Detroit Recorder's Judge Warfield Moore Jr. under a previous law granting the judge the option.

"After the jury convicted (Cheeks), the trial court held a juvenile sentence hearing as required. to determine whether to sentence defendant as a juvenile or as an adult." said Judge William B. Murphy's opinion.

Cheeks' lawyer argued that Judge Moore abused his discretion.

The appellate panel, however, found that while Cheeks didn't have a "significant" prior record, his actions were repetitive because he "had a fascination" with guns and had been involved with guns in the past...

"The trial court noted that defendant was emotionless and arrogant during the trial. The trial court characterized defendant as mean and vicious.

Cheeks shot David Pasley, father of a four-year-old girl, 11 times - including five times at close range as the victim lay on the floor of his house - and then removed a gold chain from the victim's neck.

The appellate court found Moore had gone through a check list of factors before making his finding. The 3-0 opinion was also signed May 7 by Judges Richard A. Griffin and Edward R. Post.

No judicial option

The new laws signed June 11 by Engler will remove the necessity for the trial judge to hold a separate hearing on sentencing the juvenile as an adult.

Once the prosecutor decides to charge the juvenile as an adult, the judge will have no option but to sentence the juvenile as an adult. Engler said other parts of the 21-bill package will:

• Lower to 14 the age at which a prosecutor may bypass the juvenile system and directly file charges in criminal court for capital offenses. It means the prosecutor won't have to ask a probate judge to waive the youngster into adult criminal court.

• Expand sentencing options for judges.

• Make escape from a juvenile facility a new felony offense. Livingston County residents living near the W.J. Maxey training school sought this law.

• Require a juvenile using a gun during commission of a crime to serve a specific period of time in a detention center. (Persons charged as adults must serve at least two years in prison for using a gun in a crime.)

Boot camp hailed

Sen. Mike Rogers, R-Brighton, hailed Senate passage of his Senate Bill 696 that amends the juvenile code to add boot camp placement as a sentencing option for juvenile offenders.

A companion bill, House Bill 4723, requires the Family Independence Agency (formerly Department of Social Services) to establish one or more juvenile boot camps and develop training programs for them.

Snipped for summer: This style by Max of the Mariomax Salon in West Bloomfield, gives new appeal to "short and sassy.

Summer styles must beat heat

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

The word from stylists on summer hair is that women's coifs are moving away from the '60s mod look (long bangs swept to the side) but don't look for dramatic changes, and fire red is hot, hot, hot!

What's in as far as length, texture and color, is a matter of personal preference according to hair stylist Jeffrey Beaton of Beaton Colors in Birmingham. Individuality reigns over summer lengths as long as the hair is cut to move in all directions and looks great.

Hot new toys for cool summer fun

Summertime and the livin' is easy.. as long as the kids are happy and having lots of safe, fun. Here are some new (and old) products to add to the giggles and glee.

A recent retail survey revealed that families with children under age 6 buy toys more often than families with older kids (shopping nine times a year for about 17 toys and games).

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO

STAFF WRITER

And moms who go toy shopping alone spend $22; bringing a child along pushes your total to $30.

With the kids are out of school and free from a daily regimen of studies and recess, a trip to the store for a new board or ball game may be a salvation of sorts.

The hottest new toys according to Market Focus Toy Editor Christopher Byrne are the Louisville Slugger Batting Trainer Set ($40) from Just Sports; Nerf's Hydro Ball, a new twist on the water-balloon ($6.99); The Bungee Paddle Ball ($14.99) from Koosh, a turbocharged game of catch with suction cup-capped darts, Skyblasters, $14.99.

For family fun it's Fisher Price's Bubble Rocket ($15,99). You can create a launchpad in your backyard and as the rocket takes off, it leaves a stream of bubbles behind.

Speed Freak Zoomballs ($10.99) are sculpted, high-quality foam balls from Pressman Toys. The trick is to grab the handles, pull the string and send Zoomball flying to your opponent. Choose from Crusher, Claw and Creature.

For little girl's tea parties there are Tea Bunnies sets ($19.99) which feature a bunny and a miniature tea set and desserts. The set also includes a matching child-sized cup and saucer. Each Tea Bunny hides

She recommends Tuggerwar ($18); Hippity Hop Balls in all sizes from $21; scooters from $40; jump ropes, and driveway tennis, volleyball and badminton sets $20-$40. "And lots of sidewalk chalk."

"So many people have pools these days that water toys and pool games are also selling well," she said. "Noo-structure for about $400, although many parents want the bigger sets that keep congregations of kids busy for lots of hours," he said.

Playmobile and Brio sell "any week of the year" as each manufacturer offers hundreds of accessories for fantasy play.

Tents for backyard camp-outs opportunities for their children out- are also available from Kmart and doors," according to owner Jack other sporting goods retailers. Don'tforget the spooky stories book...

"Clean looking hair is in," he insisted. "We're starting to do longer hair, off the face with center parts as well as shorter cuts with a little more definition showing off the cheekbones and eyes. Look for more ponytails, sometimes two or three at a time. Also chignons, not like your old aunt used to wear, but updated by leaving a hair or two loose or adding an accessory like a bow."

Today's busy lifestyles demand styles that require a minimum of care. A good cut will not only shave years off your age, but save time. Texturing, achieved with color, cut and styling products, is an option that can add body to the hair, but be careful because if overdone, texturing can lead to a wild, unkempt look.

Gradations of color

"The amount of texturing done depends a lot on what the lady is wearing, whether it's classic or trendy," Beaton continued. "Color, we're using to create more dimension in the hair. We're using more shading effects on the sides and parts of the head with blonds and browns, light reds and deep reds. The colors just fades in so there's a depth. As far as overall color, red is in. Schwarzkopf Indian Fire is really red and vivid."

How do stylists like Beaton predict the next season's hair styles? He does a lot of experimenting on the side. Besides running his own salon, Beaton styles hair for fashion models photographed on-location in romantic destinations such as Paris and in the Westland studio of Emin. The styling Beaton does in the studio has everything to do with fashion. Here, he has the opportunity to try out-of-the-norm color and cut. The walls of Beaton's salon as well as his book exhibits the results.

"In the studio we're doing really trendy stuff because if hair's done right it's like a piece of art. In the salon, the latest clothes dictate what can happen with hair because the two have to be compatible. Also, new styling and texture products like pomades and texture creams influence the latest styles and colors. In the early days, pomades just made hair dirty looking," said Beaton, a hair stylist for 20 years. "Now, we use pomades instead of hair spray. We don't spray our clients before they go out the door."

Some like it short

At Secretz salon in Westland hair stylist Vickie Zawacki said look for lots of short and sassy hair this summer.

"The short bob is back and lots of color, fun color such as streaks or headband, also texturing with a razor that's not so even and perfect," she said. "As far as longer hair, perms are coming back. People are getting tired of the long, straight look."

Summer sun, wind and pool chemicals can play havoc with hair.

Here are a few tips from Beaton to help your locks survive the season:

* At the beach, put a lot of conditioners in the hair and slick it back to keep it healthy.

Before going into a pool's chlorinated water, wet the hair down and put on a conditioner to repel the chemicals.

• The sun does change hair color dramatically. Coloring will wash out after just a couple of times in the sun so put a sunscreen on the hair or wear a hat.

* And should ever your style fail you, remember this summertime tip from the ladies of Hawali:

inside a decorated teacup.

Car buffs love special nights

Heads turn and conversations halt as the fat-fender, dangerously low-to-the-ground "Midnight Special" glides into the Ramchargers lot and parks in a second-row space. Just another Monday Cruise Night in Livonia for the red 1949 Mercury with the thin neon pink light strips hidden under the hood and in the grille. "Come over here and look under the hood. My buddy built the flathead engine," says the 63-year-old owner. Nick Iannello.

"If the weather is nice, I'll attend three a week."

> Cruis'nites at the Great American Diner in White Lake Township are "just like a car show every week," owner Ron Korte said. The 1950s-style diner, glowing with neon lights and steel trim, hosts cruise gatherings on Wednesday and Saturday evenings in the summer.

"All types of cars show up.

Area offers plenty of chances to show off

BY MARY QUINLEY SPECIAL WRITER

So --- you own a car you think is pretty cool. You've thought about showing it off. Go for it.

Call it a cruise-in or call it a cruise night; it doesn't matter. Pick any day of the week. The metro area swolls with street machine gatherings. Here's a sampling to get you started.

On Sundays try: Wild Woodys, a bar in Roseville, (810) 294-5331; or Cruisin' Sundays at McDonald's on Woodward, (810) 585-8265. Visit Ramchargers in Livonia, (313) 591-3224, on Monday nights. On the first Tuesday of every month cruising happens at Harlow's in Westland, (313) 722-RACE; King Kone, (313)

522-5663, an ice cream parlor in Garden City; or Pampa Lanes, (810) 264-8877, in Warren.

Wednesdays are special at Northville's Wooly Bullys, (810) 380-5163: and the Great American Diner in White Lake, (810) 698-2210. Check out Augie's restaurant in Madison Heights, (810) 588-3120. Plan Friday night in Roseville at the Continental Lanes & Golf Center, (810) 293-2300. Missed the Great American Diner's Cruise Night earlier in the week? Go Saturday evening.

So --- What are you waiting for? Head for a cruise-inl No excuses accepted.

P.S. You don't need a fancy car to attend.

He then points to the front James Dean license plate. Actor Dean drove the same year Mercury in the movie "Rebel Without A Cause."

The Plymouth Township resident attends cruise nights "at least a couple of times a week."

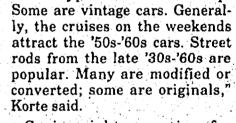

"I meet some of the finest people. All of them are friendly; they respect the cars and enjoy them," he said.

Chilson's cherry-red truck with extended cab and short bed accompanies him to local cruise nights.

"I didn't participate until I bought this truck. People buy trucks, but they don't go to the extreme like I did. In the bed (of the truck), there's a home entertainment system with a 20-inch color TV and VCR."

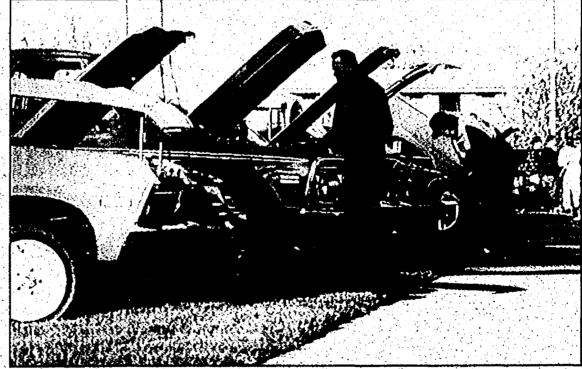

Tilghman Ridgway of Garden City attends a cruise night at least once a week.

"There are cruise-ins almost every night of the week. Thursday is my day of rest," he said. One look at his shiny black four-door sedan initiates a con-When nature cooperates - a versation about "the days when Cruise nights — a time for looking under hoods, opening up car doors, showing off interiors, and sharing street machine stories. You'll discover barbecues, refreshments, square dancing, contests, raffles, '50s tunes --and an atmosphere of camaraderie.

If you go, remember to treat the cars like museum treasures. Look, but please don't touch.

Passing muster: Cars and trucks lined up for inspection by the curious at a cruise night at Ramchargers.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Smoking adds intensity to foods

byiously, 'tis the season for dusting off the grill. However, the Janes Gang never really "put away" their grill. Our deluxe "state of the art" gas grill allows us to enjoy the flavor of the fire all year long.

You can never really run out of good ideas, and lately a bunch of new grilling books have caught my attention. Two books by Cheryl and Bill Jamison that lend a new twist to typically grilled fare, really piqued my interest.

Grill masters

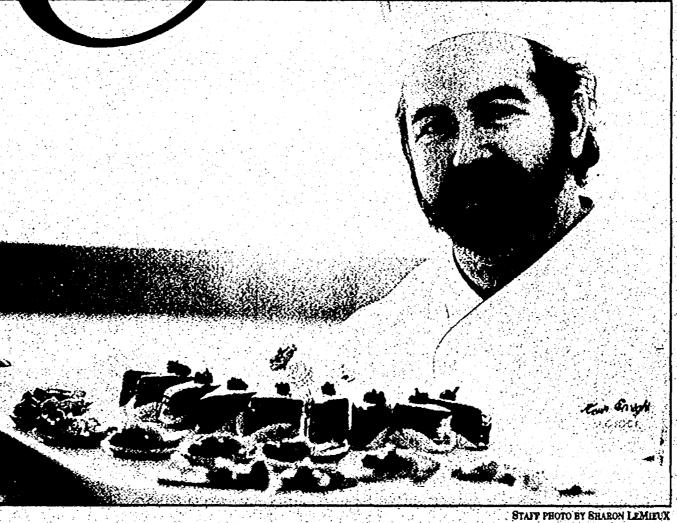

Their books "Smoke and Spice" and "Sublime. Smoke" (copyright 1996 and 1994 respectively by Harvard Common Press, $16.95 each), offer bold new flavors inspired by the old art of barbecue. No one knows the fine art of smoke barbecue better than the Jamisons. All together, they have written five books on the art of backyard fire influenced cuisine.

131 never forget the first time I dabbled in smoke cuisine. Robin Mather, (editor of the "Detroit Sunday Journal") and I were asked to teach a sausage making class at Kitchen Glam-OT.

We met over lunch to discuss our curriculum and decided that one of the dishes would be a smoked Andouille sausage. Robin volunteered the use of her portable smoker and we spent a leisurely fall afternoon making sausage, searching out apple wood sources and sipping cold long necks while the sausage smoked. I lucked out on both experiences because Robin never collected her smoker, and I ended up with great sausage recipes.

Since then, I've smoked turkeys, ducks, venison, beef jerky, salmon, and oysters, mostly without the help of the Jamison's books; relying solely on advice from friends and relatives.

Now I have two books, definitive in nature and content, that explain the who, what, when, where and why of smoking. In their book "Sublime Smoke," the Jamisons use smoking not as a curing method, but to smoke and cook foods using a "not" smoke that adds depth and intensity to the flavor of almost any food.

Barbecue smoking, in contrast to cure smoking, fully cooks food between temperatures of 225 to 300 degrees F., higher than pit masters use to smoke their real barbecue and lower than grill masters use.

In their book 'Smoke and Spice," the Jamisons detail the real way to barbecue on a charcoal grill, water smoker or wood burning pit using exotic rubs, mops, marinades and spices. Both books explain the "basics" everyone needs to know about grilling as well as an in depth description of charcoal and hardwoods, and how flavors differ from brand to brand and tree to tree.

If anyone ever discovers a way to fix real barbecue by pushing a button, life will be dull. Cooks add to the soul of barbecue, and they do it through their fuels and tools. Cigars produce smoke and so does burning fat, but you wouldn't want to cook with either one.

Woods

The smoke flavor in real barbecue comes mainly from the wood. The authors claim that only real hardwinds work best and preferential wood is what usually grows in local areas. Mesquite is exported from South America, Mexico and the Southwest, but nothing beats good old cherry, apple wood, cak or hickory, readily available in this neck of the woods. Steer clear of soft woods like pine, cedar and spruce as they contain too much sap and can make your barbecue harsh and foul tasting.

I would be lying if I said that one man's barbecue is another man's jar of liquid smoke. Even if you're not contemplating the purchase of a smoker, and have nothing more than a cheap piece of tin metal shaped like a grill, these two exemplary books on smoking, and the art of grilling, will be appreciated.

In all hopesty though, you know how I can tell that the Jamisons are true die-hard died in the wool forers of smoke and grills? Their books are loaded with tales that are generously sprinkled throughout the book based on the facts and secrets of real people who created the barbecue tradition. These tales will acquaint you with some of the more notorious barbecue events and traditions throughout the country, and there are many intriguing ones.

Spanish winery releases 1970 vintage

BY ELEANOR & RAY HEALD SPECIAL WRITERS

A 1970 Rioja was just released from a winery in Spain. The date's correct and this is not a rerelease. It's the first release of 1970 Bodegas Montecillo Gran Reserva. What's the scoop? In 1973, Osborne y Cia, Spain's largest producer of wines and spirits, purchased Bodegas Montecillo winery, originally founded in 1874 by the Navajas family in the Rioja region. Back then, the Osborne family's main business was sherry and brandy, but they were interested in investing for the future and their grandchildren. To accomplish this, Osborne did a number of smart things after the purchase. Not least among them was to buy additional land for a state-of-the-art winery to insure quality. To make the wine in this facility. they hired one of the first female winemakers in Spain, Maria Martinez Sierra.

Martinez Sierra is not a believer in the chateau concept where a winery owns its vineyards and produces estate wines. She convinced the Osborne family to sell the vineyard holdings of central Rioja Alta region. This practice allows production of 100 percent varietal wines blended for complexity from a number of top sites.

Tasting the wines of Bodegas Montecillo it's easy to see the Martinez Sierra imprint on the wines. "I don't believe in wines of fashion," she said. "Wines must represent the tradition of the region, but be made by the most modern methods from the very best grapes. I make wine only from grapes that are indigenous to our region. At Bodegas Montecillo, there is no pressure to make wines from a poor vintage, but there is always the demand for consistent quality."

And this is true. No red wine was made from the inferior 1992 vintage. There will be a 1993 Crianza, but no Reserva or Gran Reserva from this vintage. But 1994 and 1995 are so excellent that all levels of wine will be made. Never before. have there been two back-to-back exceptional vintages for Rioja. The average is one every eight to 10 years.

Bodegas Montecillo produces only one white wine, Vina Cumbrero Blanco $8 made 100 percent from the viura grape variety. The 1994 version has the delightful aroma of fresh pears. It's a great value, clean and crisp with just the right acid zip to pair it well with seafood and lighter summertime dishes. Three red wines are made:

Vina Cumbrero Tinto, Vina Monty Gran Reserva, and Montecillo Gran Reserva. Tasting the same wine from several years illustrates vintage differences in the Rioja region. 1991 Vina Cumbrero Tinto $9 made from 100 percent tempranillo grapes was aged 18 months in French oak (coopered at Bodegas Montecillo which has two fulltime barrel makers producing 2,000 new barrels each year). The wine was bottled aged one year before release and is highlighted by generous red fruit components, good complexity and a finesseful finish, 1988 Bodegas Montecillo Reserva $12 is the first reserva bearing this name introduced into the market. It, too, is 100 percent tempranillo, aged 18 months in French oak, but it had five years of bottle age before release. Depthful red fruit characters are complexed by some leathery and spicy notes. It finishes rich and amazingly youthful. 1986 Vina Monty Gran Reserva $19 has impressively youthful color, fresh fruit and violet floral notes. It's rich, complex, balanced and structured with bright fruit flavors. And then there's the newly released 1970 Montecillo Gran Reserva about $60. "There willbe no wine before its time," is something of a standard joke in the wine industry. Anyone who tastes this wine should stop using the phrase jokingly. "Some wines take longer to be ready to drink," Martinez Sierra noted. "This is one of them. It was bottled in 1975 and has only come around recently. We won't release a wine that's aggressively tannic. Such wines destroy foods and that's why we wait." The wait has definitely been worth it. Unbelievably youthful color is complemented by a magnificent cigar-box aroma. This is one of the world's most intensely extracted, generous, lush wines that finishes smooth and velvety. It's awesome and will be available here next month. To leave a voice mail message, dial (313) 953-2047 on a Touch-Tone phone, mailbox 1864.

Kapla sparks Hines Park win

Hines Park Lincoln Mercury has a commanding lead in the early-season LCBL standings after defeating Decision Consultants.

A four-run outburst in the third inning carried first-place Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury to a 5-1 victory over Decision Consultants in a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League game Wednesday at Ford Field.

Former Redford Catholic Central product Dave Kapla, now at Michigan State, hit a two-run single for the winners (8-0-1) to spark the uprising.

Hines Park tallied its other run in the seventh on an RBI groundout by Mike Cervenak (Michigan), scoring Greg Ryan (Eastern Michigan), Steve Hornsberger's RBI single in the seventh averted the shutout for Decision, which slipped to 4-2-1 in the LCBL.

Designated hitter Jim Chwalek collected two of Hines Park's seven hits.

Ryan led DCI with two hits. Left hander Mark Fleming (Wayne State), making only his second outing of the season after undergoing knee surgery, pitched 6 1/3 innings, allowing four hits and one walk, to pick up the victory. Brian Reynolds (EMU) came on to get the final two outs.

Losing pitcher Joel Hillebrand (Madonna) took the loss, going six innings. He struck out five and walked six.

•CAESARS 5, HONIG'S 4: On Wednesday, Kevin Uzarski tripled and scored on a wild pitch in the bottom of the seventh as Little Caesars (3-6) kept Michigan Honig's (0-7) winless.

a run scored. Third baseman Dan Gillay (Ypsilanti Lincoln/Western Michigan University) was 2-4 with an RBI.

Berryman signed Gillay on recommendation from WMU coach Fred Decker. He was another kid coach Berryman had never met.

"The first time I met him, it tookhim a long time to get out of the car," coach Berryman siad. "He's 6-2, or 6-3, which is good.

Rick Berryman coaches the Redford Union baseball team.

He also coaches the first-year Michigan Rams, a college-aged team whose practices and home games are held at RU.

Berryman's high school players better have a good excuse if they're late for practice, because, after all, the field is right next door to the school.

Berryman has to be more lenient with the Rams, some of whom have needed a map to get to practice.

Five of the Rams are from Redford Township, but Berryman's roster includes players from across metro Detroit and one from Santa Fe, N.M.: Jaime Dean, who plays at the University of Nebraska-Omaha and is staying with an uncle in Detroit over the summer.

He was understably late his first day of practice and Berryman had to laugh.

"He was the only kid coming from New Mexico and he apologized for being late - he got caught in a thunderstorm in Indiana," said Berryman, recalling their initial meeting.

The win raised the Rams' record to 1-2 in the AMBA, 2-2 overall.

Left-hander Dave Susalla (Redford Catholic Central/University of Detroit-Mercy) earned the win, scattering seven hits and three walks and allowing just one earned run in 6 2/3 innings. Brian Berryman (Redford Union/University of Michigan) picked up the save, coming on with the bases loaded and two outs in the bottom of the seventh.

Berryman struck out the only batter he faced, the cleanup hitter, to end the game.

"Susalla pitched a great game, he's one of my favorite athletes, a gutsy pitcher," coach Berryman said.

First baseman Jason Mitchell (RU/Eastern Michigan University) went 4-for-4 with four RBI. Left fielder Deandre Cooper (Allen Park Cabrini/Southern Colorado) went 3for-4 with two RBI playing his first summer league game.

Shortstop Greg Rogers (Redford CC/Oakland University) was 1-4 with Connie Mack World Series team.

One of the Rams' strongsuits is speed at the top of the order. The Rams' leadoff batter and center fielder Schuyler Doaks (Detroit DePorres/Jackson State) showed some of his speed even when he failed to reach base on Thursday.

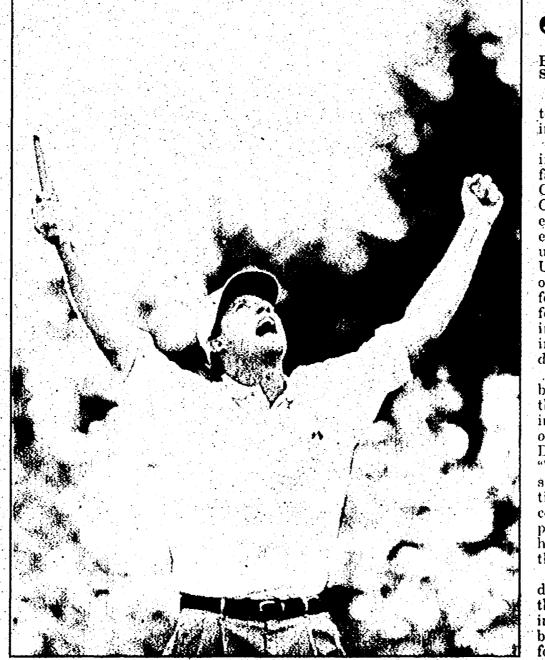

"Schuyler hit a two-hopper back to the pitcher the other night and got thrown out by a step and a half," coach Berryman said.

The pitching staff includes Susalla, Brian Berryman, Jason Horn (South Lyon/Oakland University), Jake Lawson (Farmington Hills Harrison/Oakland) and Mike Hribernik (Birmingham Seaholm/U-M).

The starting lineup includes catcher Mark Lantzy (Lake Orion/Saginaw Valley), second baseman Rickie Miller (Cass Tech, Grambling) and Tom Hartley (Hartland/Michigan State) in right field, Steve Smith (RU) and Mike Burgess (Dearborn Edsel Ford) are key reserves.

Jones beats Monster

BY JIM TOTH STAFF WRITER

Sheer survival proved once again to be the key ingredient for producing victory on The Monster.

With golfs greatest talents bearing down in attempt to tame the famed 6,974-yard, par-70 layout of Oakland Hills Country Club's South Course, it was longshot Steve Jones escaping The Monster's wrath long enough Sunday to finish with a twounder total 278 and win the 1996 U.S. Open Championship. Longshot only in the sense that Jones, 37, was forced away from Tour competition for three years due to a dirt bike injury in 1991, that among other injuries, left him nursing ligament damage to his left ring finger. "This is a thrill of a lifetime," beamed Jones, earning custody of the Open Championship Cup following his final-round 69 that left him one stroke better than runners-up Davis Love III and Tom Lehman. "When I injured my finger, I wasn't sure I'd ever play again. But I continued to work and things began to come together. You really can't prepare for something like this: I just happend to be in the right place at the right time.

For Jones, that was no more evithe course record with a 65 settled dent than being in the fairway on the decisive 18th hole. After watchfor a one-over 71. "It takes a lot of guts to win," said Jones, who along with Lehman and Love were the only golfers in the field to post su'-par totals. "I didn't know if I had t. e guts to win another tournament, let alone a major.

"But I know every kid who grows up and plays golf dreams of making a putt on the final hole to win the U.S. Open," Jones said. "Fortunate; ly, I had about a one-foot putt to make mine."

Unfortunately for Lehman and Love, they were unable to negotiate putts on 18 to force a next-day play-

"I'm a little closer than I was last year and a lot more disappointed than last year," said Love, following a three-putt performance on the final hole. "This is as hard a course as I have ever played day-in, dayout, With the rough being the way it is and the greens as fast as can be there is never a let up."

Lehman, who like Love continues to seek his first major victory, echoed Love's feelings toward bat tling The Monster.

For leading Canton successfully through another state tournament, Smith has been named Coach of the Year in Observerland.

The Chiefs, who were unranked and underdogs in several playoff contests, eliminated three rated teams and won six of seven tournament games by shutout en route to the state title.

Smith's teams have been district champs seven of the last nine seasons and state runnersup twice.

Canton has a .769 winning percentage while compiling a record of 150-31-14 from 1987-96 under Smith, who also coached the Canton boys to a state title in 1994.

The 1996 All-Observer team has two repeat selections: Livonia Churchill's Marie Spaccarotella, who is a four-time honoree, and Plymouth Salem's Mari Hoff. Both are high-scoring. senior forwards.

Salem sophomore midfielder Mia Sarkesian, Farmington Harrison junior goalie Sara Kloosterman and Farmington Hills Mercy junior forward Jena Kluska were second-team picks last year.

ALL-AREA FIRST TEAM

Mari Hoff, forward, Ply. Salem: Hoff.

"Mari is the best all-around player in the state, and her work ethic is matched by no one." Landefeld said.

She came out of a lot of games early because we were ahead; so her stats are misleading. The reason she didn't win Miss Soccer is because she didn't score 44 goals. That's why everyone likes her; she's such a good team player.

Marie Spaccarotella, forward, Liv. Churchill: Spaccarotella capped a fabulous four-year varsity career with a 23goal season for the Chargers. Recognized as one of the fastest players in the state, she scored 102 goals in her career.

Spaccarotella could start a scoring play as well as finish one. Besides being a prolific scorer, she also had nearly 40 career assists.

The Dream Team All-Stater is going to the University of Michigan on a soccer scholarship.

Marie is the best goal scorer in the history of Churchill High School," coach Nick O'Shea said. Her determination to score far surpasses any player l've ever coached.

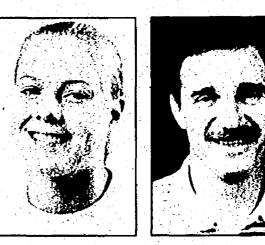

Jena Kluska, forward, Farm. Mercy: Kluska, a three-year varsity player, scored 22 goals and assisted on five others. She served as team captain and earned first-team All-Catholic honors.

"Jena has an excellent work ethic, is a natural goal scorer and is a strong leader by example." Mercy coach Deepak Shivraman said.

recorded seven assists.

"Her strength was definitely going forward." coach Doug Landefeld said. "Her goals were all big-time goals. There weren't many mop-up goals for either (her or Hoff). Mia is a dream for a coach to work with."

Angela DeDomenico, halfback, Farm-Ington: DeDomenico is a key playmaker. as well as an offensive threat, from the center-midfield position. She had six goals and six assists this year with 36 shots attempted.

In two seasons of varsity play for the Falcons, she has scored 10 goals and been credited with eight assists." DeDomenico was a first team, All-WLAA selection, all-state honorable mention and team co-captain.

"Angela is a playmaker on offense and quite often begins the plays that form the attack on our opponent's goal," Farmington coach Bob Neff said. *Defensively, she actively participates in controlling play in the midfield."

Candace Perkins, halfback, N. Farm-Ington: Perkins started the season in the center-midfield position but moved to a wing to give the Raiders more offensive punch. The result was a 13goal season.

She was a four-year varsity starter, team most valuable player this year and two-time All-Lakes Division choice. Perkins, who also played basketball and volleyball, received the Raider Cup as "Anne is the base slayer, the most knowledgeable and hardest-working player I have." coach Jim Kimble said, Obviously, that's why she's where she IS NOW.

"As a returning player next year, she will be the leader of the Stevenson girls teams. It was difficult for her as a junior, because she did have seniors ahead of her. She leads by example and is well respected by her teammates and most of the people in the Western Lakes.

Andrea Sudik, defender, Ply. Saleme Good teams play good defense, and that's why Salem is always among the best teams. Players like Sudik might be unsung but are vital to the team such cess.

Sudik was All-Lakes Division, a schoff ar-athlete: honors graduate and recipi ent of the Presidential Fitness Award Defending was her forte, but she did have three assists.

"Andrea was our most consistent player. coach Doug Landefeld said. "She's a tireless worker and is very capable of bringing the ball out of the back. She's also a terrific person."

Jill Rahnert, defender, Ply. Canton: Rannert's most outstanding attribute as a player is her "great defense," accord ing to coach Don Smith. She was instrumental in her team's ability to limit

Jill is a highly-skilled defender who plays 125 percent at all times," coach Don Smith said. "Her intensity and enthusiasm are unmatched.*

Lisa DeShano, defender, Liv, Franklin: DeShano scored six of her team's 15 goals despite her primary assignment being at the opposite end of the field. She was an All-WLAA, first-team selection and all-state honorable mention.

She has signed with Western Michigan University.

"I thought she was the backbone behind the team," Franklin assistant coach Cathy Wheatlev said. "He (coach Dave Hebestreit) could put her anywhere, whether it be at sweeper or forward. She gave every game 110 percent."

Sarah Warnke, goalle, Ply. Canton: Warnke concluded an outstanding high school career and was a key player in Canton's march through the Class A playoffs to the state title.

Warnke was an All-WLAA, first-team selection and Class A all-state choice this year.

"Sarah was our main girl this season," coach Don Smith said, "She set school records for shutouts in one season and helped guide us to a state championship. What else could a coach ask from his keeper? Well done, Sarah,"

Sara Kloosterman, goalle, Farm. Harrison: Kloosterman's ability as a keeper is not always evident judging solely by statistics. She is a three-time All-WLAA and all-state selection despite playing for a below-500 team. She made-the coaches All-State Dream Team this vear.

It was a rare week as the bowling and golf worlds collided in the suburban areas as the Pro Bowlers Tour hit Taylor Lanes for the Greater Detroit Open, while the U.S. Open was being staged at Oakland Hills into any sportstalk radio show or television, the talk was golf, golf and more golf. But there was very little . mention of the PBT.

Country Club. TEN-PIN If you tuned ALLEY

that's par for HARRISON the course.

The dailies carried tons of verbage on the U.S. Open, except for the very fine section in Thursday's Free Press.

Hats off to Free Press bowling writer Matt Fiorito for his very insightful stories on pro bowlers scenario.

Chris Schenkel has been the man at the microphone for 35 straight years, a feat more enduring than Johnny Carson's 18 or Ed Sullivan's 17 as a TV show hosts.

Fiorito also did some very good behind-the-scenes reporting on what it takes to put together this event and keep it going.

With all due respect, the U.S. Open had no participants from the Detroit area, while the PBT had 25 from our state and several from Observerland including Doug Spicer (West Bloom-field), Terrell Smith (Redford), Kelley Bennett (Auburn Hills), Ted Karbownik (Clarkston), Oliver Mabry (Southfield) and David Mahaz (of Novi), who owns a pro shop in Livonia.

These names are just part of an illustrious field which also includes such greats as Brian Voss, Walter Ray Williams, Del Ballard, Jr., Bob Learn, John Mazza and Gene Stus.

As part of the Greater

He mentioned the fact that Detroit Open, a celebrity bowl was held June 11, hoste by former Tiger pitcher Dave Rozema, with a little help from Kirk Gibson and Dave Bergman.

The money which was raised went to the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute.

The spotlight also was on a pair of mascots, Paws (from the Tigers) and Roary (of the Lions). They helped the cause by posing for pictures, while putting on quite a show with their cute antics.

And it was pretty amazing they could actually throw a pretty good ball in full costume.

As you read this column, this PBT event is history, and if you viewed it on TV, who know who emerged victorious.

This column was written before the finals, so there is no way to list the Taylor winners, except to say, that the way this event was run, everybody was a winner - fans, bowlers, the DeBiasi family, who put it all together in no small part, and the sport of bowling.

•As a first-time event on June 2, three separate youth travel leagues got together for a challenge match at Cloverlanes in Livonia.

Among those competing included the Sunday Youth Classic (SYC), Wayne Westland Youth Traveling Classic (WWYTC) and Ward's Youth Travel League (WYTL).

In some hot and heavy action to determine the best, it turned out that SYC came out on top with a pinfall total of 12,051. WWYTC was runner-up with 11,894 and Ward's was third with 11,806.

High shooters included: Myron Lee (SYC), 270; Mike Willis (Ward's), 267-231; Tom Gutowski (SYC), 245; Bill Vitale (WWYTC), 227-227; Kathy Finke (Ward's), 227; Steve Engebretson (WWYTC), 223-214; Michelle Anger (SYC), 232-210; Keith Loyeland, 247; Chris Green (Ward's), 236-218.

Judging by the success of the inaugural event, it should become a fixture.

Hornets defeat Garden City

The Livonia Hornets swept a pair of games last week in the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation (Connie Mack 18and-unde).

On Thursday, the Hornets won at Garden City, 12-2, thanks to an eight-run first inning.

Justin Kerr paced the Hornets' hitting attack, going 3-for-4 with three runs scored and two RBI.

Mike Tomassi was the winning pitcher, allowing only one hit and one run over four innings. He struck out eight.

On Tuesday, the Hornets trimmed Dearborn at Ford Field, 8-7, as reliever Andy Dattolo got the win and Tomassi earned the save. Kevin Marvin, the starter, worked the first four innings.

The Hornets collected nine hits, led by Todd Wilson, who went 3-for-4, and Scott Craver, who was 2-for-3.

When Charles and J. Frank Duryea produced a series of 13 vehicles in their Springford, Mass. workshop in 1896, little did they know that they had set in motion the wheels for great sociological change across the country.

Detroit soon made the fledgling car industry hers. In 1904 Ransom E. Olds produced 5,000 cars in his Jefferson Avenue plant, nearly a quarter of all cars built in the nation. However, it was Henry Ford whose name became synonymous with the industry for decades.

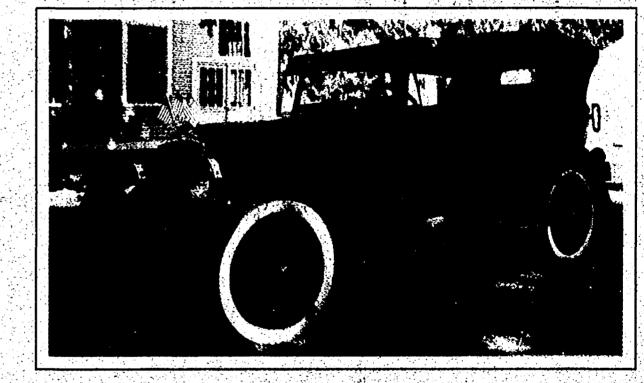

In 1910, Henry Ford's Highland Park plant established the moving assembly line. Soon thousands of unskilled laborers flocked to the city. Not only did these workers build the Model T Fords, they bought them, thanks to Ford's $5 daily wage initiated in 1914.

Car ownership led to mobility. No longer dependent upon street car lines, auto workers could now live outside the city. The suburbs were born.

Travel back and forth to work — as, well as some Sunday joy riding — led to road building. Better roads led to increased commerce and gave rise to a number of "roadside" industries: gas stations, motels, and restaurants, including today's drive-through variety.

For better or worse, we are a society on the move. Around the bend lies our future, and most likely the automobile will take us there. This is the year to celebrate what J. Frank Duryea started and pioneers like Henry Ford, Ransom E. Olds, William C. Durant, Charles W. Nash and Walter P. Chrysler perfected: the American automobile.

Plan a centennial celebration road trip. But before you hit the highway, get your car checked out at your dealership. And when it comes back all washed and shiny, say "thanks." It's all part of today's car dealers' extra service to their customers.

How to celebrate:

No birthday party is complete without a cake and the automobile's 100th is no exception. Share a slice at the birthday bash located at the Michigan State Fairgrounds. June 16-23 has been designated American Automobile Centennial Week — and celebration options are plentiful.

Looking for an evening trimmed with glitter and gold? Cobo Center hosts a Gala Dinner party with Jay Leno as guest. Dinner tab: $200 per person.

Perhaps high society elbow-rubbing is not your style. Why not head for the nearest Daly's or A&W drive-in and treat the gang to a 1950s-style, carhopserved dinner.

Then turn up the radio and search the neighborhood for a "Cruise Night" gathering of street machines.

Take a date, the kids, or the grandparents ---- summertime cruisin' appeals to all age groups. Save some energy to watch a movie at one of a dwindling number of drive-in theaters.

Later during the week, discover racing vehicles at the Motorsports Hall of Fame in Novi; check out the Henry Ford Museum's 1896 Duryea Motor Wagon (remember, there were only 13 made); or turn the crank on the Model T replica to start the engine at the Detroit Historical Museum. Get a taste of the auto barons' lifestyles and tour one of four area mansions.

For the couch potato crowd, leave the car parked in the garage. Check the TV listings for an automobile documentary or turn on the computer and search the World Wide Web for auto-related trivia, anecdotes and events.

Happy 100th Birthday, Automobile Industry!

Henry Ford brought industry to country

BY RENEE M. SKOGLUND SPECIAL WRITER

The Henry Ford who conceived the huge Rouge Plant also created "village industries," small factories in the countryside that tapped into the power of nearby streams.

Ford intended to harmonize rural life and industry by exporting his small-parts manufacturing into the country. By using the under-employed rural labor force, he could preserve farming and benefit industry.

By 1944, over 20 village industries dotted the banks of country rivers, including several along the Rouge River.

Nankin Mills

Henry Ford visited Nankin Mills, on Ann Arbor Trail in Westland, often in his childhood when it was the heart of a community known as Pike's Peak. He bought it in 1918. Shortly after it opened in 1920. the restored mill produced stencils for making Ford parts.

Nankin Mills, with its beautiful 12-inch-thick sycamore beams, is now the picturesque headquarters of the Wayne County Parks Department.

Newburgh Mill

Built on the site of an old cider mill in 1935, Newburgh Mill — on Hines Drive in Livonia — was started by employees from the Rouge Plant and completed by farmers.

Thirty-one men worked at the mill, including the farmers who helped build it. They produced 95 percent of the twist drills used by Ford.

During World War II, the Parks and recreation.

THE LOOK

plant made several parts for the Pratt and Whitney airplane engine. Production ceased in 1947. Currently, the building is used as a mini sheriff station.

Wilcox (Plymouth) Mill

Production began at.Wilcox, on Wilcox Road in Plymouth, in 1923. It employed 35 men who made $6 a day.

The mill, originally the site of the Wilcox grist mill, produced 95 percent of all taps (used to make screws) used by Ford. During World War II, 60 men worked in two shifts to manufacture aircraft engine parts in addition to the taps. All production ceased after the war.

Phoenix Mill

Built in 1922, Phoenix Mill - on Northville Road in Northville Township employed between 50 and 100 women who made small parts for the electrical systems.

They received $5 a day and two rest periods. During World War II, the women made ID badges and electrical wiring for the M-7 gun director.

The mill closed after the war and now serves as a maintenance yard.

Northville plant

In 1920, the Northville plant opened on the Main Street site of a former sawmill.

Eventually, the plant employed 250 local people, many of them farmers, who made valves for Model Ts being assembled at the Rouge Plant.

Information from "Ford Village Industries," Wayne County Henry Ford built a factory in Hill roads, still very much a rural area. The site has been expanded, and is now occupied > by DE-STA-CO Cylinders. The old creamery that Ford converted into a dormitory for the men stands empty nearby. In addition to physical limitations, some of the veterans were shell-shocked. Ford chose the site for its quiet and hired managers for their patience. He also made sure the men ate well.

"Henry Ford brought his chef out from Fair Lane. He used to come out and have breakfast with the men," said McLaughlin.

Because there was a moratorium on building supplies at the time, Ford built the factory on the sly. "People sent in their dinner bells off the farm to be melted into bullets," she said.

The factory manufactured ignition and door locks, keys, and hinges. It closed in 1961.

Ford loved country dancing, and folklore has it he purchased the 160-year-old Botsford Inn on Grand River in Farmington because he met and courted his wife, Clara, on the inn's huge dance floor.

Shortly after buying the inn in 1924, Ford began making restorations, which included moving the inn 200 feet back from the road and lengthening the upstairs ballroom to 30 by 80 feet. He renovated the original dance floor by installing special gaskets under each wooden peg, making sure dancers would always enjoy a good "bounce."

If you're a "speed freak," rev your engines and head for the Motorsports Hall of Fame in Novi. Opened just three years ago, the 19,000-square-foot museum features over 75 new and vintage racing machines, from Indy cars and dragsters to motorcycles and boats.

Holding special place in the exhibit is the "Novi Special," the city's namesake, whose supercharged Novi V-8 rattled eardrums for almost 20 years.

From 1946 to 1965, the Novi became legendary in the world of motor sports due to local industrialist Lew Welch's quest to win the Indianapolis 500. Welch produced a series of race cars that led races, broke records, did everything a legend should do except win.

"No car made a sound like a Novi Special," said Ron Watson, president of the Motorsports. Hall of Fame. "They would fire

The Motorsports Hall of Fame also pays tribute to the men and women who laid their hearts and souls on the track. Their portraits make up the museum's "Heroes of Horsepower" gallery.

The Motorsports Hall of Fame is located in the Novi Expo Center on Novi Road just south of I-96 (exit 162). It's open seven days a week, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Car lovers recall their first vehicles

BY RENEE M. SKOGLUND SPECIAL WRITER

That sleek body, those soft leather seats, that four-in-thefloor transmission — ah. such sweet memories.

Judy Murphy of Birmingham hasn't forgotten her first car, a 1955 black Chevrolet Bellaire convertible with red leather upholstery. "Whatever they had in 1955, it had," she said.

She went to a party the night she got it. "After I got there all I could think of was that car in the garage. I've never had a car that I've been so excited about."

Livonia's mayor, Jack Kirksey, loves cars. He's owned 33, including a 1957 Volkswagen he once drove through the South. When he stopped for an oil change at a rural gas station, the overalls-clad attendants gawked.

"I told them the car came from Germany, but that I didn't care for the German music. They told me I could always go and buy an American radio."

Kirksey's first car was a 1937 Chevy he bought in 1947 at age 17. He and his brother Bob drove it to Florida. On the way home, the brothers decided to each drive 100 miles, then switch.

Alyce Humphrey of Plymouth followed her father's advice and bought a "spiffy" car after graduating from college in 1967. He told her the next time she bought a car she'd have to worry about kids and money.

Humphrey loved her new yellow Mustang with black roof. "The inside was like a little cockpit. I drove it for 10 years. When my second daughter was born, there were so many holes in the floor, we were worried about her getting "fumed" to death. Then we bought a used, four-door something that was safe."

The 1964 midnight blue Coupe De Ville Cadillac "with a 429 four-barrel" still holds a special place in Bloomfield Township resident Jeff Iovan's heart.

"Oh, those big hubcaps, those big tires, and all that chrome. It was loaded with chrome. And it had fender skirts," said Iovan, 17 when he bought it in 1972.

"The trunk was carpeted and it held eight teen-agers. We'd sneak them in the drive-in."

Iovan's father took the car bowling one night and someone smashed into the back end. "I totally lost interest in the car because I didn't have the $1.500

Norris has been in the car business since 1959 and owns three dealerships: Livonia Chrysler-Plymouth, Century Dodge in Taylor, and Holiday Chevrolet in Farmington Hills.

A self-described "hip shooter," Norris said he's learned a lot about dealing with customers from his daughter, Colleen McDonald, the dealer principal at Holiday Chevrolet. "And I don't say that in nepotism," he added.

His most important lesson? "The most unreasonable people are the most easily converted with patience."

Although Norris said he has mellowed over the years, it seems his daughter still has more patience.

"I'm a very patient person. He'll say I'm too patient," said McDonald. "When he sold cars in the late '60s and '70s, everything was different. Rather than, 'This is the way it is,' it's, 'How would you like it to be?"

McDonald, who started as a dealership switchboard operator 14 years ago, makes sure her own dealership doesn't scrimp on the "extras," like washing a car after every service or finishing a job ahead of schedule. "You want to go beyond their expectations," she said.

Brenda Massey also is the daughter of a

Selling cars wasn't Massey's first career choice. She was director of nursing at a psychiatric hospital for several years. However, when her father suggested another family member become involved in the business, Brenda decided to give it a try.

"I promised myself I would do it for a year even if I hated it," she said. That was in 1987. She has been selling Rolls Royces and Bentleys ever since, and the last two years were record sales years.

"I really enjoy selling these cars because you meet people who have set goals for themselves and meet those goals," she said.

Like Colleen McDonald, Brenda Massey's selling style differs from her father's. "I could never be as flamboyant as he is," she said. "They broke the mold with him.'

Massey admires her father's loyalty to his customers. "I have never heard my dad complain of a customer, even at home. I think that's why tion, you earn their respect.'

Elder believes women in car sales could learn one lesson from their male counterparts: "Rejection is not part of our world." We may talk to 10 customers and not sell a car."

Elder also concurs with McDonald and Norris that the entire nature of the dealership business has changed, has become more service-oriented: "Twenty years ago, there wasn't the competitiveness."

> Russell Shelton was only 9 years old when his father, Bud, started a car dealership in 1958. "I don't know if I helped or hindered," he said of his early attempts at car washing.

> > Shelton, owner of Shelton Pontiac-Buick in Rochester, said selling cars is hard work.

"You've got to be up every day. This is hands-on. You can't run this by remote control. It used to be easier to sell a car. We used to be able to sell by the hood of the car."

What makes selling difficult? Paperwork, government regulations, and pleasing the customer, of course. "We've raised their level of expectation and now we have to live up to it," Shelton said.

Bob drove five tortuous miles through small towns, then turned the wheel over to Jack and drove in the back seat for some sleep. After driving only a half-hour, Jack hit the turnpike. "When I woke Bob up he couldn't believe we did 100 miles."

Paul Scupholm of Redford Township also was 17 when he bought his first car, a green 1940 Ford. "The first gear was gone. I had to start it up in second. Forty years ago, Irma Elder of Bloomfield Hills, owner of Troy Ford and Jaguar of Troy car dealership, cruised through Miami drive-ins in a green, twodoor Ford she shared with her sister Carmen.

"On Friday nights our deadline was midnight. We couldn't eat meat! We would ask for permission to stay out later. We used to order our hamburgers at five minutes to midnight."

Elder let out a sigh and said, "That first car was the most fun not because it was the best but because it was the first."

Drive-in restaurants serve up nostalgia

BY MARY QUINLEY SPECIAL WRITER

Some summer nights the air stood still. Heat glazed the sidewalks. The kids on the block needed to cool off. Ditto, their parents. To the rescue: the A&W Drive-In.

Nine siblings led by mom and dad squeezed into the stuffy car. No one had to be called twice for the root beer run.

"When we were kids an A&W root beer was a treat. The icecold mugs really topped it off," said Cathy Diroff, one of the willing participants.

Diroff, a Westland resident, fondly recalls the days some 30-plus years ago when her dad drove the clan to the local A&W on Schoolcraft in Detroit.

"My favorite part was the taste of the root beer. We all liked the carhops who brought the drinks to the car on a tray and attached it to the window. I still go to A&W."

who are carhops. They do real well," said Rita Grace, owner. Grace, who has been in the Daly's restaurant business for almost 25 years, describes her customers: "If they're my age, they are bringing their kids, because that's what they did. People like (the car service). It's always worked well. I think it's a nostalgic thing."

The Big Boy craze began more than 60 years ago in Glendale, Calif. Closer to home in the late 1930s, three Elias brothers opened the Dixie Drive-In in Hazel Park.

"Thousands of people say they used to stop at Big Boy's. This is the place where (guys) met their first girlfriends. The drive-in was how this company really took off in the '40s and '50s," said Tony Michaels, Big Boy vice president of market-the hangout, the place go if you had wheels or your friends did. Drive-in restaurants were a blast. They were a social event. Everybody was there. Going to Big Boy was the freedom of being on wheels — a passage-way to adulthood," she said.

Enderle's 17-year-old son, Ryan, has a very similar attraction to a hangout his mom once frequented, sans curb service: Some things never change.

"Usually I go if there's nothing better to do. I go with my friends: It's a place we can go to and stay without ordering a lot," the high school junior said. New 3rd door makes Sierra pickup a keeper

By Anne Fracassa Avanti NewsFeatures

Used to be buying a club cab pickup truck was great if you had a family. With its full-size truck capabilities and versatility, adding a bench seat in the back for the kids was, well, just perfect, if dad or mom wanted a pickup.

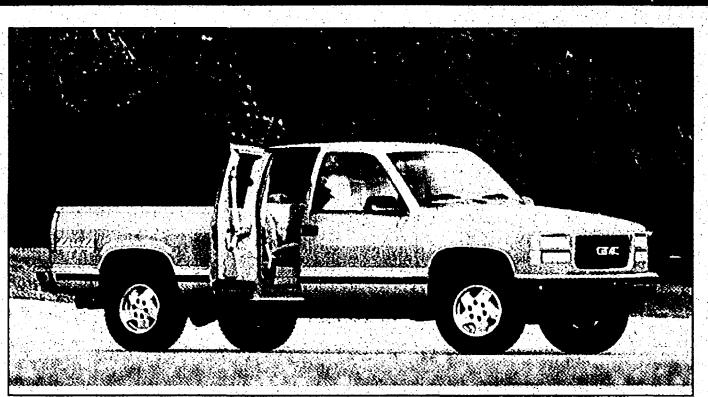

Now enter the GMC Sierra Club Coupe outfitted with a third door.

This is heaven on 16-inch all-terrain steel-belted radials.

Having the third door makes all the difference in the world for your rearseat passengers. It means you don't have to fiddle with the front seats -you know, moving them up and over and then back — to let your passengers in. Just open the passenger door, reach in and open the second door.

Both doors open up wide, too, so there's no struggling.

And what those doors open wide for is comfortable, plush seating and carpeting, as well as more-than-adequate though. With tall people in front, you'll find it less than an average person might want.

Test-driven this week was the 4x4 Sierra Club Coupe outfitted with the famed GM Insta-trac and the Vortec 5000 V8 sequential fuel injected engine with 55 more horses than last year's model. Reigning in those 230 horses is is a new base Vortec 4300 V6 that provides 200 horsepower. This engine is. outfitted with platinum-tipped spark plugs and coolant fluid that have a life expectancy of 100,000 miles. Also available as options are a 5.7-liter V8, 7.4liter V8 and a 6.5-liter turbo-diesel V8.

The interior of the Sierra has been completely changed over last year's model. And change is good.

Instrumentation is smartly laid out, with simplicity the norm. There are gauges galore - tach, speedometer, oil, water temp, battery and fuel. Plain and easy to read, too.

There are very few switches to fool with.

There's a switch for the cargo light and one for the headlamps. Cruise control and windshield wipers are on the turning stalk. The AM/FM stereo/cassette/CD is up high on the dash so between front seat passengers, to accommodate the cell phone and radar detector. And both of those plugs are covered with spring-hinged doors. In the middle of those is a cigarette/cigar lighter in case you need another plug.

Between the front passengers is a neat, pull-out dual cup holder. Also between the front passengers is a center armrest that folds up and away if you need to carry that third passenger.

In the fabric-covered console is a storage compartment that can hold a good number of cassettes or CDs. Close it and on top there's a flat surface that can be used to write on. A band across the top can hold a number of papers and there's even a place to snap in your favorite pen and hold some change.

Of course, there are plenty of safety features on the Sierra, including daytime running lamps, illuminated entry, dual air bags, B-pillar-mounted heightadjustable shoulder belts, shoulder power plugs located in the middle. belts for the rear passengers and an electrochromic inside rearview mirror with an 8-point compass built in

The base price of the Sierra is just a hair over $20,000. The model tested, however, loaded with all the special stuff, came in at around $27,500.

At $20,000, it's got a lot of standard equipment, such as an Insta-trac 4x4 transfer case, power steering, power brakes, a front stabilizer bar and independent front suspension, an all-welded cargo box, 100-amp alternator, steelbelted radials, driver air bag, 4-wheel anti-lock brakes, side door guard beams, intermittent wipers, tinted solar glass, gravel anti-chip protection, a 25gallon fuel tank, removable tail gate, side window defoggers, front tow hooks and rear heat ducts for the passengers.

With all that, it's obvious the Sierra is a solid full-size pickup truck that's solid on features and bullish on price. It's a good buy for anybody who needs to haul people or cargo comfortably.
