BURNCOOSE NURSERIES AND WOODLAND GARDENS

TRADE AND EXPORT SUPPLIERS • PLANNING & PLANTING SERVICE

NURSERIES

Burncoose is a working nursery of around 10 acres producing one of the widest ranges of plants available by mail order anywhere in the U.K. Although mail order is our main business we welcome locals and holiday visitors alike to Cornwall to the nursery 7 days a week to browse around at their leisure and select their own plants while also taking a stroll through the gardens for inspiration.

GARDENS

The Burncoose woodland garden of some 30 acres, which was once described as "A garden oasis in the mine wastelands of Cornwall", has progressed over the years from being a typical Cornish spring garden into a garden for all seasons. It contains as extensive and diverse a range of plants as can be found anywhere in the West of England. The early spring display of Camellias, Rhododendrons and Magnolias moves on through to the late summer show of Hydrangeas and Eucryphias, then a warm symphony of autumn colours.

Welcome from BURNCOOSE NURSERIES

The UK's largest specialist mail order supplier of garden plants offering the widest choice of trees, shrubs, herbaceous and conservatory plants many of which are rare and exclusive to Burncoose Nurseries.

Dear Customer

Our website continues to generate dramatic growth in Burncoose's MAIL ORDER business. Astonishingly 71% of the visitors to our website have never done so before so our marketing strategy must be working. Many now visit our website for advice and information and our popular 'How to care for' sections are some of the most widely visited pages on our site.

The fact that 72% of our orders now come direct from the internet rather than by post or telephone makes us question for how much longer we need to produce 30,000 free full colour pictorial catalogues and mail them to customers and enquirers alike. However we feel that our paper catalogue is still not far from the reach of serious gardeners when they are ordering online. We will however be reviewing this in future years if the growth in internet orders continues.

The Government has set targets for the total abolition of the use of peat in horticulture. These are 2020 for the amateur market and 2030 for professional growers. While we support these aspirations in principle they completely ignore the threat to our UK horticultural industry that these 'targets' actually pose.

There is currently no viable or affordable alternative to peat available in the market. The millions of pounds that are needed to fund research into alternatives are not coming from the Government. Nor is the research money being spent by those who are most vociferous in demanding change; the supermarkets, the National Trust and the 'green' lobby generally.

The fact remains that you cannot grow Ericaceous plants (e.g. rhododendrons, camellias, magnolias and the majority of trees and shrubs which we grow) without a peat based compost. The coir, bark and green compost wastes which have been tried as alternatives to peat do work in part for some bedding plants. However they simply do NOT enable us to grow ericaceous plants even if the price was comparable (or lower) than peat which it is not.

If the Coalition targets were being adopted throughout Europe that would be something but they are not. In Germany, for instance, 85% of the peat extracted is burnt in power stations. The Dutch growers do not consider it an issue worth discussing and are rubbing their hands with glee at the extra business they may obtain if UK nurseries go to the wall as a result of a peat ban.

So when you next see an offshoot of the Climate Change lobby calling for 'sustainable' use of peat (i.e. a ban) please be aware of the threat which this actually poses to what you may be able to grow in your gardens as opposed to the rest of Europe.

We hope that your garden has recovered from the ravages of the cold winter in 2010/11, survived the early summer drought and will benefit from something interesting and new from our 2012 catalogue. As usual there are many new plants for you to investigate and try.

With many thanks to all those thousands of existing and new customers who ordered from us in 2011. Please keep the orders flowing!

Yours sincerely

Charles Williams

Burncoose and The Prince's Trust at The RHS Chelsea Flower Show 2011

After months of planning, designing, and growing all of the hard work paid off when Burncoose Nurseries were awarded a well deserved Silver Gilt for their There and Back Again Garden with Caerhays and the Prince's Trust at the RHS Chelsea Flower Show.

The garden, was once again supported by Terra Firma Capital Partners, was a journey through the regions and habitats of the world that held particular fascination for plant hunters and collectors such as J.C.Williams of Caerhays Estate.

The Williams family has played an important role in plant hunting expeditions and the stand celebrated some of the great plant hunters of the past two centuries and the involvement of the Williams family of Caerhays Castle and Burncoose Nurseries.

J.C.Williams of Caerhays Estate was responsible for sponsoring plant hunters such as George Forrest and Ernest Henry Wilson. He purchased his first 25 Rhododendrons from Veitch and Sons Nursery, another major sponsor of plant hunting expeditions. These were hybridised to create some of the well known varieties of today. The stand explored several geographical areas from which these plant hunters brought back rare specimens, now familiar to us today.

Each region was represented in the There and Back Again Garden by the typical habitat featuring plants native to the areas. Similarities in environment illustrated by the natural transition from one area to the next within the stand making the overall impression very naturalistic.

Owner of Burncoose Nurseries, Charles Williams, said "The entire team worked incredibly hard this year. Battling with a bitterly cold winter to an unseasonably warm April the team managed to nurture the plants and ensure they were at their best for the show. They have created a wonderful garden that is particularly special this year, as it links back directly to my family's plant hunting history".

This is the ninth year the Burncoose garden has been sponsored by Terra Firma Capital Partners, a unique private equity organisation who are also generous supporters of youth charity The Prince's Trust. Tim Pryce, Chief Executive of Terra Firma, said "The Chelsea Flower Show is a great place to raise the profile of the work of The Prince's Trust. By linking up with Burncoose Nurseries we are able to showcase very important messages and ideas that affect young people in an exciting and innovative way".

The plant hunting heritage of Caerhays Castle, is illustrated in a new book which was launched in March this year, Caerhays Castle, An Introduction to its History, Owners and Gardens. This book also highlights the activities the Williams family undertook in funding plant hunting expeditions and horticultural developments. Copies of the new book are available via the website: www.caerhays.co.uk

From our nursery safely to your door

How we pack and deliver your plants

It is rare for any two mail orders to be identical so packing individual orders which might contain a 3 metre tree as well as shrubs and herbaceous plants is a skilled business.

There is no such thing as a standard box and part of the skill of the packer is to ensure that plants are secure and fully protected for shipment.

Many customers are concerned about the risks of damage in transit. Our experience is that breakages are thankfully very rare and we hope that this is in no small measure due to the experience and expertise of our packing department.

All larger orders are dispatched by overnight courier to arrive on the next working day.

Smaller orders are dispatched by guaranteed 24-hour service which is traceable and insured. The 24-hour service applies to working days and not weekends.

During the course of one year we will despatch separate orders to well over 20 different countries.

For more information see the order form in this catalogue or visit our website: www.burncoose.co.uk

Recycling

We try to use when ever possible recycled materials for our packing. This includes the boxes, shredded material and wrapping paper.

Care & Planting Advice is available at: www.burncoose.co.uk
Follow the link: How To Care For Magnolias

Large and Specimen sized magnolias are almost all grafted plants. Many are also very rare.

Large plants are 2-3 year old grafts and Specimen plants 3-5 year old grafts. Different Magnolia varieties grow at very different speeds and therefore the size of a Large or a Specimen plant and the exact pot size it is delivered in can vary markedly for plants of identical age.

Large plants: May vary in size according to variety (and also the time of year) from less than 2 feet to 4 feet in 3, 5 or 7.5 litre pots.

Rarities These plants are either in short supply or still too small to be despatched at least until early summer.

Specimen plants: are usually (but not always) between 4 feet and 8 feet in height in 10, 15 or 20 litre pots.

Magnolias do grow very quickly in a single season but do please ring to check the exact size of your chosen variety if you so wish.

If we are unable to offer a Large sized plant we may well also have smaller plants at a lower price.

PROTEA

Despite the casualties from the winter of 2010/11 proteas are much easier to grow than many people imagine and can readily be grown outside in milder areas PROVIDING the soil is very free draining, acidic and low in nutrients (ie no fertiliser containing phosphates). Full sun and a south facing slope would be ideal. To avoid proteas getting wet feet it is helpful to plant them on a raised mound and add bark or grit for improved drainage.

Care & Planting Advice for Proteas is available on our website: www.burncoose.co.uk

PROPAGATION AT BURNCOOSE

Burncoose Nurseries propagates a great many of the plants which it sells on the nursery and by mail order. In particular we propagate the vast majority of our Camellias, Rhododendrons, Hydrangeas and Azaleas. We also concentrate on many of the rarer and more difficult plants which feature in our catalogue and particularly on conservatory plants.

The secret of our mail order business is, however, to provide a constant stream of new and interesting plants to the discerning gardener. In consequence we import many new plants as liners from New Zealand, Northern India and Chile and purchase seed of rare trees and shrubs from all parts of the world.

We do also buy from several other UK liner growers and also from European nurseries in Italy, Holland and Belgium although our prime objective is to locate new plants and offer them commercially through the Show Season and by mail order.

Those of our customers who manage to visit the nursery will be able to see the end results of our team's skill and dedication in successfully propagating many rare plants that are 'rare' for the very good reason that propagation is very difficult.

Awarded National Collection Status In 2001, The grounds at Caerhays contain over 600 magnolias, making it one of the most important collections in The British Isles.

The original home of the world famous x williamsii Camellias, Caerhays still has many original plants collected in China by the intrepid plant collectors in the early 1900's which grow happily alongside more modern hybrids bred by the Williams family, owners for nearly 150 years.

Nestled in a secluded valley above Porthluney Cove, the 120 acre gardens at Caerhays Castle are one of Britain's horticultural treasure troves.

Historic Caerhays is one of Cornwall's Great Gardens, a springtime paradise of glorious Camellias, Magnolias and Rhododendrons towering above carpets of delicate Narcissi and Primroses.

Choose between four woodland walks through magnificent displays of spring flowers which are amongst the best in Britain. Guided tours of the house are also available for a limited period. Out of season group tours can also be arranged.
