Ditmars' "Depths of the Sea" Pictures

The driving rainstorm of Tuesday naturally made a slight difference in the number who came out to hear Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars' second lecture on "The Depths of the Sea" — a wet subject for a wet night. But those who braved the elements were rewarded by a series of pictures which proved, as prophesied, far more fascinating than those of the first talk, confined to animals of the earth's surface.

that, to look at you, and without the help of either actors, marionettes or scenery—like the juggler with nothing at all concealed in his sleeve—makes you see and feel and understand a story just as if all the acting were going on before your very eyes.

Thus spoke the mature and critical mind of Byron Hagsi, likening Guy Maier to George Grossmith after one of his concerts; and those who think that our Students Concerts are necessarily young people's concerts solely should hear Guy Maier next Thursday in Brayton school at 8:30 p. m. and be converted; for Mr. Maier frankly plans his concerts to interest all ages—'Children from 8 to 80' as he puts it with the easy flow of his narrative weaving a tale of fantasy which wrings the imagination while it links his numbers together.

Mr. Maier's object is to instill an appreciation of the beauties of music while affording the greatest possible enjoyment.
In the two-piano work in the second part of his program, his wife, Mrs. Lois Maier, will supplement him.

Harold Lloyd's 'Why Worry' Guaranteed Gloom Chaser

'Why Worry,' the title of Harold Lloyd's newest Pathocomedy production to make the world a merrier place to live in, gives a splendid idea of just the type of picture it is.
When he made 'Safety Last,' Lloyd sought to produce a picture that would shake the spine with thrills and laughter. How successful he was in his efforts, picture followers know by this time. The picture has become established as the greatest thriller in screen annals.

In 'Why Worry,' Lloyd set out to make a light farce, with a little romance and plenty of action. Again he has triumphed, for 'Why Worry' is a laugh from start to finish. The chances are that there are more 'gag' laughs in this attraction than in any picture Lloyd ever made. There is little that is serious in the production. It is just what the comedian aimed for—a laugh picture.

The story is laid in a romantic atmosphere, with carefree seniors and dancing señoritas, fighting bombes and pompous generals. Throughout this farce runs a little vein of anti-trust here and there at the blood-splurding pictures of South American revolutions.

There have been many pictures built around the customs and habits of our neighboring republics in losing their Presidential out of office very forcibly and very frequently, but none that contains the speed, the pop, the laughs and romance of 'Why Worry.' It remains at the Lyric Theatre, four days, October 28 to November 1.

Minneapolis and St. Paul are still at it. This one comes from St. Paul. A Minneapolis man drifted into the sister city, looked suspiciously at a fruiterer's display, picked up a big melon and asked with a sneer: 'Is that the largest apple you have in St. Paul?' Health Education Fortnightly Topic

Dr. Frederik W. Maroney was the speaker before the Fortnightly Club Wednesday afternoon at Lincoln School, and his subject was "Health Education."

If anyone doubts this subject slow, Dr. Maroney was certainly a rapid fire handler of it, with just the wit and twinkle you'd expect from his name. Indeed, his talk might well have been labeled "Health Sense," for that was exactly what it was.
If everyone would take exercise in the open air an hour to an hour and a half a day (if it is a brisk walk take someone with you, for walking alone gives time for brooding) it would go far toward keeping one in condition. Then, plenty of sleep and rest, with one window in the room open at the bottom and another open at the top to give a full circulation of air; and the remainder was just common sense.

Don't expose the children to Don't read in bed, because if you are tired enough to go to bed you are too tired to use your eyes.
Don't expose the children to diseases just so as to get them through with it. Sometimes they die, and again, 80 per cent of the deaf and dumb children in the state institution for the deaf and dumb could once hear and speak, but were the victims of disease that affect the middle ear—measles, scarlet fever, etc.
A child should be thoroughly examined by a good physician—your own physician, if you will—before starting in school, to prove that he is physically and mentally teachable—not handicapped by auroisids, diseased tonsils, or any physical disqualification.

Check up on all disease before pain signals, by an examination once a year. Look at the eyes, the teeth. Permanent bridge-work on children's teeth is out of date. Food gets under it and decays.
Then, speaking of the undernourished school child, many of whom come from the well-to-do homes, Dr. Maroney gave a suggestion from his schools at Atlantic City, of which he is Physical Director. They give 1,935 children and teachers milk every school day. Teachers, he said, get exhausted and need this nourishment as much as the children, oftentimes.

Health and optimism and best prescriptions—these are the speaker's out questions followed which brought out the fact that America eats far too much sugar and has the highest percentage of diabetes of any country. That a woman was fortunate who had to do her own work, but she should get outdoors and "do as the children do" just the same. That the prevalence of colds at this season is due to being more in house, lighting the furnace without putting pans of water around to take the dryness out of the air, which dries up the secretions of throat and nose. Keep houses at temperature of 68 or 69, and moisten the air.

Mr. Channing R. Dooley presided, and urged the club members to

It is said that the King and Queen of Greece intend to visit America. The Hellenes have acquired an admiration of American methods through the Near East Relief work, and intend to Americanize their system of education after watching the refugee orphanage schools for the children brought out of Turkey, some of whom had never received any previous schooling. These made such rapid progress that the native officials were amazed. The King is interested in agriculture and would like to spend part of his time in California studying it. Especially do they wish to express their country's appreciation for American relief work.

USING THE HIGH SCHOOL

Summit just naturally turns to the new High School auditorium as the place to go, and all other halls have faded in comparison.

It must be remembered that there were not such audiences in the other halls as left people standing outside their doors; so that the mere fact of having ampler accommodations will not necessarily mean more people than came before.

There is one thing that we want to say to those who do not know it—in view of last Tuesday night's storm and the witness of walking down the long path to the Morris Avenue curb before a conveyance could be entered.

TRAFFIC WITH TRIMMINGS

Following up our suggestion last week that if automobiles are to be the upland directing hand of the traffic policeman after dark that the traffic in Summit is now such as to demand all the adjuncts of standard traffic direction.

make public the names of those who have been using political influence to prevent criminals against indictments and convictions secured by your department—and you will get its support."

MOSES, THE TIMES AND MR. FORD

A new Moses climbs the political heights and comes back with ten views, like his namesake of old. Senator Moses, in a trip through ten western states, finds business men of strong opinion in favor of Mr. Coolidge, but the campaign arena divided by many lesser claimants to presidential honors.

In running over the field, the Times sums up the Moses report of the Ford outlook in the following words: "What is most interesting to the sociologist in Mr. Moses's account of his travels is his impression that there are more men for Henry Ford whole-heartily than for any other man in the country."

THE RUHR AND THE RHINELAND

The Ruhr has become but a dark background for newer and we may say resulting tragedy. The picture of a great nation in the throes of dissolution is not a pleasant sight, even though that nation be a one-time enemy who brought as dire woes upon an unsuspecting world.

youth of the country" in "patriotic service." "The bravery and efficiency of the officers and men of the navy during the last war will ever be remembered, and the services which they rendered in protecting the armies of the nation crossing the sea will never be forgotten."

MASS MARTYRDOM

The American World Humane Conference at the Hotel Astor this week has brought out some astounding figures touching inhumane facts not generally known or considered. And these facts come not from a sentimental theorist, but from Commander Breck, former official naval historian, big game hunter and author of many nature study books.

In an address on the cruelty of trapping he, as an expert professional trapper among his other vocations, pleaded earnestly for a trap which would kill wild animals outright.

Conference, along the lines suggested by Secretary of State Hughes, is made this reparations tangle. The issue seems to be squarely up to France, who can block it, of course, as one of the five great Powers. She may prefer to handle it alone, notwithstanding Lloyd-George sees a great war coming if a great man should arise to unite the Teutonic people. Here is the call to the two English-speaking peoples to cast their weight into the balance for peace, in his opinion, expressed in his last public address in America in Pittsburgh Wednesday night. Secretary Hughes' agreement to a world conference is the latest and most important news.

There will be three services on Sunday. Dr. Hall and Mrs. Fredericka Erikson will sing at the three services which will be held at 11, 3 and 7:45. A big-chorus choir will sing at all services. This was to have been the last day of the campaign but owing to the heavy rain last Tuesday Dr. Hall postponed his famous sermon: "The Carnival of Death or the Modern Dance" until next Monday night. This will be the big farewell meeting. Young people, parents and teachers are especially invited. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the remaining services.

Thursday afternoon at 3:30 the fire department was called for a fire in the D. L. Osborn apartment house on Passaic street. Considerable damage was done to the north side by fire and water. No one was living there at the time. The occupants of the South Apartment noticed smoke and called the alarm. It is not known how it started. It will be remembered that last winter the south side apartment was entirely burned out but was rebuilt this summer.

William Burghiller has started building the Community House and it is hoped it will be completed before the winter.

Huguenot Exodus. During the reign of Louis XIV the Edict of Nantes, which had conferred upon the Huguenots liberty of conscience and admission to all offices of honor and emolument, was revoked largely through the influence of Madame de Maintenon. This was followed by a terrible persecution, over 100,000 Huguenots being driven out, to carry their industry, wealth and skill to other countries. They went to England, Germany, Switzerland and other parts of Europe. One band emigrated from France to America, settling at Port Royal, S. C. in 1703. Others followed to New York, Massachusetts and other North American colonies.

Neuritis Victim Hardly Knows Danger. The neuritis victim hardly knows the danger of this disease. Usually the pain is so persistent day and night that any measure of relief is welcome and no thought of future danger is possible.

Neuritis, like neuralgia, may be caused by a local displacement of spinal vertebra, and thus affect only a part of the body. If nerves are affected in a number of places at the same time, it is what is called multiple neuritis and is caused by pressure on the spinal cord at the base of the brain.

The danger of neuritis if not quickly checked is that the heat in the nerve finally atrophies or destroys the nerve. This degeneration of the nerve tissue, if the neuritis for instance affects the arm, amounts to a loss of power in that arm. Neuritis should be checked at once. The SPORT TRAIL

By Lendon Ebbels

WHERE WILL THE TEAM BE FOUND NEXT YEAR?

From all indications there will be a mighty slim showing of candidates for next year's football team. The bulk of the present incumbents are seniors or near seniors and have at least a fair chance to graduate. With them the chances for a good year would seem dubious though, of course, there is always the chance that many, who are not out for football at all this year may develop into headliners next autumn.

Jack Willaver and "Gilly" Baker, two stars of repute, will be leaving two gaps at the backfield and center respectively. "Matty" Ziegler is a possibility for center but who will be quarterback is a mystery which time can settle. Bart Nelson arrived at an opportune moment when the backfield needed good runners but when he is gone there seems to be no one in sight for his place.

The rest of the backfield seems to be in less danger. Chick Borden, course, will play fullback or half depending on circumstances, and Peterson has a strange hold on one of the back positions. Quite probably they may take quarterback and someone else will be found for halfback.

The line will apparently be greatly weakened by graduation if not by other causes. Even if all the lower classmen should return the withdrawal of the seniors would seriously handicap the team. All the guards are in the class of '24, except Tom Smith, and while he ought to be pretty good next year, he can't play both sides at once. MacNello, Hardy and Tiffany all entertain hopes of leaving the school next June, and where the other guards are coming from is a real problem.

Trustful, the senior tackle, is also playing his last high school football, though tackles are easier to find and there is not much to worry about in that line. Pete Triola and Copic Gilchrist are pretty certain of being next year's ends.

Last year prospects seemed limited too, but not quite as definitely as now. In the other instance enough candidates reported so that a team could be gathered which deserved Mr. Bartholomew's tribute that it was the best team that Summit High School had since he was principal. How will it be next year is the burning question?

THE FUTURE GRID STARS

Who will be starring on the gridiron for Summit High School five or six years from now? Whose names will be the next to be inscribed in the local athletic Hall of Fame? Who will be called, "the best team Summit ever had?" Who, indeed, but the Grammar School boys one sees everywhere at this season passing plunkies and kicking the same. They do it mainly in a praiseworthy attempt to act like their big brothers but the development that pastime gives them goes far toward making football stars of them.

A little later in the Junior High School they form teams, and battle as determinedly with their opponents as ever Princeton battled Yale, and a couple of years of interclass football they are about ready to try for the high school eleven though it is indeed seldom that a candidate leaves the team the first year.

Therefore, the informal game played by the small boys should be more tolerated; it should be encouraged for on them rests the fate of the grid, but not so far distant, football seasons.

MANAGERS

Managers of the high school teams come and go. Some are good, some are still others indifferent. Being manager of a team is hard work and an "S" would not be awarded as to the athletes themselves. If a manager is unwilling to do a little work now and then the school would be handicapped by his inaction.

A manager should prepare for his season by scheduling games for all possible dates without crowding. The teams that he arranges to meet should not be notoriously easy nor impossibly hard. Once the season is set he should personally push the sale of tickets for home games and make accommodations for taking as many as possible to the out-of-town games. In addition to this there are continually occurring incidents for which an able manager is invaluable to the coach or team.

Being manager is not easy and only those that feel inclined to give a deal of time and energy to it should think of filling the position.

High School Activities

Moving Pictures Tuesday

The regular thirty-minute period on Tuesday morning was used for the showing of an educational film for the benefit of the whole student body. Under the leadership of the Service Committee students assembled by home rooms in the auditorium. The hall was darkened and a reel depicting life in Japan was thrown on the screen. The film was very interesting and was enjoyed by all. This was the first operation of the machine for school purposes but it was run off without a mishap. After this assembly the regular schedule of classes was resumed.

Student Council Wednesday

At the regular meeting of the student council the most important business was that of arranging for the special assembly which was held yesterday morning during the last period. The representatives of each organization were requested to consult with their faculty advisors concerning presenting their groups to the school at a meeting of the C. O. at that time. The assembly program committee submitted a tentative schedule of plans for the Monday assemblies to be held in November.

The chairman of the committee on pins and rings reported that the designs were nearly ready for the inspection and decision of the council. They will be reviewed and one design definitely selected by the members of the council on Monday, November 5.

The representatives of the musical clubs and literary interests reported that matters were progressing as smoothly as might be expected in the uniting of these groups into associations.

Orchestra Going Strong

On Tuesday afternoon the regular meeting of the orchestra proved to be both the most enthusiastic and profitable of the year to far. The reason for this was plainly seen in the fact that over twenty players were represented. Eight or ten violins and stringed instruments succeeded in carrying the airs while the drums and wind instruments did every bit of their share to make the music attractive and interesting. Pieces to be played in the assembly were rehearsed with much vim and gusto. Mrs. Mahood urged all the members to be on hand with instruments in readiness on Thursday morning.

Top Staff Holds Second Meeting

On Wednesday noon, or rather, at 1 o'clock the second meeting of the Top Staff was held in the Y. M. C. A. in spite of the raging of the elements, and the single session of school. The editors of the various departments submitted their ideas for the year's work and were advised to begin activities as soon as possible. The matter of having an exchange editor was discussed but nothing definite was decided. The names of the candidates for the positions of editor of the year were submitted and approved. The policies of the publication have not yet been decided but it is sincerely hoped that a bigger and better year than ever will be possible.

Class Elects Officers

On Thursday morning the meeting of the "Class" club was devoted to the election of officers for the year. The results were as follows: Lorraine Gagnon, president; Louise Brockway, vice-president; Nancy Baum to serve as secretary; Katharine Merrill, in charge of the finances; and Edith Deas to look after the library.

Athletic Association Notes

At the meeting of the A. A. Council, on Thursday morning between 8:30 and 8:50, the resignation of Adrienne Lewis as girls' basketball manager was accepted. "Matty" Hiley was appointed to act in that capacity and Edith Nydegger as assistant.

Year-Spirited Assembly Yesterday

The regular assembly period held yesterday morning proved to be a manifestation of the excellent school spirit which plays so prominent a part in the life of S. H. S. At the end of the third period students gathered in the gymnasium and were conducted to the auditorium by the service committee. The assembly was a very successful one and the students showed their appreciation of the service committee's efforts.

High School Activities

the direction of the Y. W. to participate in the regular meeting of their club. The usual amount of pep and singing preceded the business and discussion. Mrs. Wooten who was scheduled to speak to the girls was unable to do so and so Mrs. Mosher led in an interesting discussion on the subject "What is Culture?"

Art Club Party Thursday

Yesterday afternoon, through the kindness of Miss Lucille Baker, the Art Club held its regular meeting at her home on Mountain Avenue. Plans for the art sale and the making of Christmas cards were discussed. The secretary reported that definite action with regard to the pins would be possible within a few weeks.

Hi-Y Club Holds First Meeting

On Thursday noon fifteen of the older fellows of the school came together at the first regular meeting of the Hi-Y Club. Lunch over and having sung two or three songs, the regular business was transacted. Program and social committees were appointed by the president, Jack Willaver.

Mr. Van Schoek addressed upon the minds of the boys the seriousness of their purpose in the club and asked each fellow to give the matter careful thought before signing the purpose, which is "To create, maintain, and extend throughout my school and community high standards of Christian character."

To Have Eligibility Cards This Year

When the report cards are distributed and marks received at the end of each six week report every student taking an active part in any extra-curricular activity in the school will be obliged to make an appointment with the Y. M. C. A. in order to receive an eligibility card. These little cards are the student's protection and insurance in case of question as to eligibility arising. This will eliminate the "necessary" processes with the former method.

Events in the Near Future

Along with the scholastic activities Summit High is pushing headlong into her social season. Next Friday afternoon will be the first "evening" of the year, the annual initiation and humiliation of the cradle roll members. The sagacious folks have been seen conferring in a mysterious manner of late and things are becoming interesting for the little freshmen.

Summit High to Play Westfield Here Tomorrow

A repetition of the home game is confidently expected for tomorrow afternoon when the Westfield team, noted for its strength, comes to town for a definite basketball contest. Many things have been planned for the evening and it is expected that the game will be a very interesting one.

There is, on our part, a very sincere pleasure in announcing that the Nash Summit Motor Company, Inc. has taken over Nash representation in Summit, N. J.

We feel that the Warren Nash Motor Corporation and Nash owners in this territory are fortunate in having the Nash franchise entrusted to an organization of such veteran experience and splendid reputation.

Those now driving Nash cars and those about to purchase a Nash may count confidently upon the untiring efforts of the Nash Summit Motor Company to serve them well and willingly.

The admirable business ability and the staunch integrity which have characterized the business dealings of the men composing this company have earned for them a warm and widespread esteem.

The new Nash home, 176 Park Avenue, embraces not only attractively arranged showrooms, but also a service station that contains the most modern and efficient equipment that powerful resources can command.

And the mechanical personnel is of particular and expert ability, each man personally selected because of definite qualifications.

We invite you to make an early visit that you may inspect the remarkable new Nash Fours and Sixes with their distinctive betterments of body design, their attractive new appointments, and their finer, abler performance.

Dill's Talk on Traffic Problems

the state force of inspectors is comparatively small. He also emphasized the importance of the duties of the magistrates in the various towns in passing judgment on the cases that come before them. He said that Summit was very fortunate in having such a good judge in the person of Arthur W. Hicks who had rendered splendid assistance to the motor vehicle department.

Up to August 1st, this year, the Commissioner stated that 355 persons were killed in New Jersey as a result of automobile accidents; 238 of these were pedestrians; and of these 238, 117 were children under 15 years of age. "There were more persons killed in New Jersey this year as far as this way than had died as a result of typhoid fever, scarlet fever, and whooping cough combined," he said.

That the accidents involving so many persons are not all the fault of the motorist by any means was emphasized by Mr. Dill. As for the number of children who have been killed, he felt that a great deal of it was due to the lack of parental restraint. In this connection he scored the parents who allow their children in schools and colleges such free use of their automobiles and recounted some very sad instances, that had resulted from this practice.

During Mr. Dill's term of office there have been over 750,000 drivers examined for licenses and of this number, over 100,000 have been rejected but still with all the care exercised in this state, the non-resident motorist is not curbed.

Mr. Dill referred to the fact, that it had often been stated that police departments of the various municipalities would be more active in enforcing the law if the money obtained from fines in cases where convictions were obtained, was turned over to the local city treasuries. He expressed the hope that the day would never come when the fines would be given to the municipalities, directly. As proof of his attitude he referred to the early days when this was a provision of the law and speed traps were set up in many towns with a signpost on guard with a stop watch and a justice of the peace at the other end ready to take in motorists and fine them and then split the fee. Under the present law the money goes back to the tax payers as it goes directly in the State Highway Department for use in building roads.

He declared that the police department had outlived its usefulness when the matter of fines and convictions was the sole motive in its activity. He declared that they should be officers of public safety and that their duty should lie in the direction of preventing accidents.

The speaker referred to a letter that he had received from a Summit woman who had read in the HERALD that Mr. Dill was to speak in Summit and did not realize that women were welcome at the meeting. In this letter, the writer complained of the fact that many of the danger spots in the streets of Summit were not posted with signs. Mr. Dill said that his department had received this year 55,000 complaints on the matter of signs and that this was a subject which will merit the attention of the Business Men's Association to see that the city authorities had proper signs placed to give warning of these dangerous points. This same letter-writer also complained of the fact that there were trucks in the eastern end of the city carrying stone and which she understood were very unsafe because of the fact that they were not properly equipped with brakes.

Mr. Dill made a plea for citizens generally to help the authorities remove from the road the repugnant type of driver: "Don't wait till it comes home," if his department work is to succeed, Mr. Dill claimed that there must be a crystallization of public opinion and co-operation.

"If you will help, I will promise to make New Jersey the safest state in which to drive an automobile," he said. Mr. Dill referred to the fact that the local agent of the State Motor Vehicle Department, Frank A. Wahl, would have the 1924 license plates and licenses ready on December 1st. He urged the motorists to apply early for their licenses, even though they did not receive the plates until later in order that a great deal of the congestion in the local office might be avoided during the last days of the year and the motorists themselves be saved a great deal of personal inconvenience.

Mr. Dill answered some questions propounded by the people in the audience at the close of his talk. In one of these, he stated that the obsession to speed was primarily responsible for the number of children's deaths to which he had referred, but the presence of the child in the street is the fault of the parent. He further stated that the regulation of vehicular traffic is the greatest thing for the prevention of accidents and one of the best deterring factors to the speeders would be for the magistrate to take up the driver's license instead of simply imposing a fine.

One other astounding statement made by the Commissioner was that there have been more persons killed in the United States since the signing of the Armistice than the number of American soldiers killed in the World War.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

He drew a circle that shut me out

But Love and I had the wit to win
We drew a circle and took him in.
The above verse by Edwin Markham is printed at the request of a group of Business Girls who have been discussing the topic of "tolerance." It brings to mind the words of that lovely old hymn, "For the love of God is broader than the measure of man's mind, and the heart of the Eternal is most wonderfully kind."

Fifty girls attended the rehearsal of the new glee club on Monday night and after rehearsal stayed for a social time or joined the current literature group, led by Mrs. Mosher. This group is reading for discussion, "His Children's Children" by Arthur Train.

The liveliest time of the season so far was had at the six-thirty Business Girls' supper. Thirty-five girls were present and cheers and songs abounded throughout the meal. The spirit of comradeship among this group is a cause for thankfulness in the local Association. Any girl employed in a gainful occupation is eligible for membership in this club, and will be most cordially welcomed to the growing ranks.

A new Girl Reserve group, which has not yet chosen a name, elected officers as follows: President, Barbara Wright; secretary, Nevada Klopstock; treasurer, Mary Stodman. After the business meeting the girls had a fine time playing basketball on the outdoor court at Mrs. Burke's home on Fernwood road. Miss Caroline Morse is the leader. The initiation service for this group will be held in about two weeks.

Bible classes are being arranged for and all who are interested may register at the office. It is planned to have several classes, instead of one large class for each group, as the results have proved that this is a better plan. Suggestions for topics may be sent in to Mrs. Mosher, who will be the leader.

World-fellowship is becoming a matter of great interest to the girls of the local Association, and a chairman has been appointed who plans to hold special meetings in the interest of girls of other lands. The usual Christmas service will be held in the form of "White Gifts for the King" and the special offering at that time will be for World-Fellowship, and will be divided equally between the Y. W. C. A. and the Sudan United Mission.

There have been many requests for a religious service or Bible class on Sundays especially for the girls and women of Summit who are in domestic service, and who cannot attend the regular services of the churches, owing to their duties. This is a matter which is very near and dear to the heart of the local Association, and all who are interested are requested to notify the Secretary, or any member of the Board.

GOLD LURED MANY TO DEATH

"The days of '49, the days of gold, the days of '49," marked the most picturesque gold rush in history. On the heels of Marshall's discovery, following Sutter's lead, excitement became intense and gold in California was the ruling topic everywhere. By January, 1849, 90 vessels carrying 8,000 passengers sailed from various ports for San Francisco and 70 more were ready. During the year 549 vessels entered port carrying 35,000 passengers and 42,000 immigrants arrived overland.

In a few months the population of San Francisco climbed from 2,000 to 14,000 and that year the first Pacific mail steamer passed through the Golden Gate. Four hundred sailing vessels were abandoned in the harbor while their owners and crews joined in the mad rush to the gold fields. Labor jumped to $10 a day and was scarce at that figure.

Between the spring of that year and the autumn of 1850, it is estimated that about a million people—men, women and children—left the eastern states bound for the new Eldorado. But of this vast army thousands died of hunger and thirst amid the burning alkali deserts of New Mexico and Arizona; thousands more lost their way and perished miserably in the gloomy canyons and intricate fastnesses of the Rocky mountains; multitudes fell victims to the tomahawk and scalping knife of the Apaches, the raids of the Sioux and the opposition of the Mormon elders, who, resenting the intrusion of the gold seekers, sought to stem the tide by force.

In a confidential little talk to a group of medical students an eminent physician took up the extremely important matter of correct diagnosis of the maximum fee.

"The best rewards," he said, "come, of course, to the established specialist. For instance, I charge $25 for a call at the residence, $10 for an office consultation and $5 for a telephone consultation." There was an appreciative and obvious silence, and then a voice from the back of the amphitheater, slightly thickened, spoke:

"Doc," it asked, "how much do you charge a fellow for passing you on the street?"—Chicago Journal.

A Love of Music Goes Back to Childhood Days

If you love music, then it is safe to guess that somewhere back in your early days you had music to enjoy.

Mayhap it was only a wheezy organ, with a very evident thump to mark the pedal-timing. Perhaps a merry little bit of a mouth-organ—merely that. Or a voice, or the tinkle of a piano, or the lilt of a harp. But music there was, or you'd never love music now.

Are your children being brought up in a "house of music?" Are their ears attuned to music at its best? You can give them a heritage of pleasure that will be with them always, if you give them an appreciation of this finest of fine arts. Homes which number among their possessions an
