I SUMMARY

During the month of April 1952, the 1st Marine Division was engaged in an active defense of approximately 35.5 miles of LINE JAMESTOWN in sector. The sector, which the Division occupied in March, was on the left flank of the I U.S. Corps; the I U.S. Corps being on the left flank of the Eighth U.S. Army. The HAN and the IMJIN Rivers, divided and traversed the sector.

The enemy continued his defensive operations with elements of the 65th CCF Army on the left (west) and the 63rd CCF Army on the right (east) opposing the 1st Marine Division. (It is to be noted that in organization, the CCF "army" compares in size with the NK echelon of a "corps"; the CCF have no corps designations.) Only one division of the 65th Army was on line on the west flank. This was the 195th Division with all three regiments deployed on line. The adjacent Communist division in the 63rd Army zone was accepted to be the 189th Division with but one regiment forward. At the beginning of the period, the unit to the right of the 189th, the 188th Division, was conceded to hold positions with three regiments on line but only two were in contact with the 1st Marine Division. (The other was in contact with the 1st Commonwealth Division.) This 188th Division was relieved by the 187th during the early part of the month and relief was completed about the 10th. The 187th Division continued the defense mission with three regiments on line; all three opposed the Marine Division on 14 April when the division right boundary was shifted and it assumed responsibility for frontage previously held by elements of the 1st Commonwealth Division.

Prior to the readjustment of the right division boundary, the enemy was estimated to be defending opposite the division sector with a strength of 18 infantry battalions on line supported by ten artillery battalions. The enemy's most probable course of action was to continue to defend with this strength. The enemy was conceded the immediate capability of attacking at any time with 54 infantry battalions, supported by 13 artillery battalions and 80 tanks and self-propelled guns, with the main effort at any point against the division front.

Enemy capabilities were reanalyzed on 19 April following significant enemy activity and the shifting of the right limiting point. As a result of the analysis, the most probable of enemy courses of action was changed to: (1) to defend with 21 infantry battalions supported by 12 artillery battalions, and (2) to launch a limited objective attack at any time. The Division now conceded the enemy's capability to attack with not more than 57 infantry battalions supported by 12 artillery battalions and 40 tanks and/or self-propelled guns.

Combat efficiency of enemy units remained good. Morale of enemy troops was high.

The CCF remained well disposed in their forward positions, well dug-in with constantly improved trenches extending in depth in a series of secondary defense lines. Their artillery was employed in depth. Antitank ditches and minefields were placed on roads and main avenues of approach into his positions. His security was well maintained and an intensive effort was made to deny information. His counterreconnaissance screen was pushed far forward and reacted immediately to friendly activity.

During the month the enemy conducted several company and battalion-sized attacks. The attacks were well timed, coordinated, and controlled. Each attack was conducted in conjunction with a similar attack or strong probe elsewhere along the front. In one attack the enemy employed a frontal assault followed by a double envelopment, of which one envelopment penetrated deeply an OPLR position before being ejected. The actions were preceded by heavy preparatory artillery and mortar fires.

During the hours of darkness, the enemy sporadically probed the OPLR. These probes were usually well coordinated with adjacent screening or feints as well as cover by artillery and mortar fire. The probing groups usually withdrew upon being taken under fire.

Enemy artillery and mortars were actively and persistently employed. In addition to the fire placed on positions along the OPLR and MLR and the heavy concentration in support of limited attacks, the enemy directed his artillery on targets well in rear of the forward positions. This is substantiated by I U.S. Corps dispatch 140535Z which is quoted in part, "...the enemy has been registering his artillery on roads, avenues of approach, assembly areas, friendly artillery positions and bivouacs well in rear of the MLR..."

During the period, 5,007 rounds of artillery fire and 3,786 rounds of mortar fire fell in the division sector. An average day's incoming volume was 167 artillery and 126 mortar rounds. On 2 April the largest volume of fire for any one day fell in the sector; approximately 3,000 rounds of artillery and 118 rounds of mortar were received.

The tactical air observers received increased AA fire from enemy rear areas, as compared with that in the previously occupied sector on the east-central front. The greatest activity noted was the continuous sighting of enemy digging-in. A small number of active artillery pieces and mortars were spotted. Occasional large troop formations and movements, including wheeled vehicles, were sighted. There were numerous truck sightings and occasional sightings of enemy tank and self-propelled guns. Thus, the enemy's increased activity, numerous probes, limited attacks, counterreconnaissance, number of vehicles employed, and volume of supporting fires demonstrated his intentions to actively defend his present positions.

During April, intelligence estimates of the enemy's attitude pointed toward a possible 6th Phase Offensive. Prisoner of war interrogations and other intelligence sources, his counterreconnaissance and counterespionage screening, and his increased rear area activity, indicated that preparations might be underway to mount such an offensive. On the night of 15-16 April, strong probes and a battalion-sized attack were launched; this activity was followed by a four-day lull. This was similar to the pattern established prior to last year's spring offensive. Regardless of indications, the offensive did not take place.

The 1st Marine Division was under the operational control of the I U.S. Corps to which it had become attached on 25 March. The 1st Commonwealth Division occupied the sector to the right.

I Corps, U.S. Army tactical units supporting the Division were: The 999th FA Battalion (155mm howitzers) which was relieved by the 159th FA Battalion (155mm howitzers) on 19 April; Battery "C", 17th FA Battalion; and Battery "B" (155mm guns), 204th FA Battalion. (See Appendix VII for Task Organization.)

The 1st Marine Division continued to organize, construct, and adjust positions along its sector of the JAMESTOWN Line. Three regiments, 1st KMC, 1st Marines, and 5th Marines, occupied from left to right that sector of the division MLR north of the IMJIN River. Forward of the MLR, these units manned an OPLR. The OPLR outposts were withdrawn by 24 April, to deepen and strengthen the MLR.

That area bounded on the north, west, and south by the IMJIN, the HAN, and the KONGNUNG-CHON stream, respectively, was occupied by the Reconnaissance Company until 16 April, at which time the 1st Amphibious Tractor Battalion assumed responsibility for the area with the Reconnaissance Company attached. The left (west) flank of the Division, the KIMPO Peninsula, was secured by the Kimpo Provisional Regiment which was organized in March. (See also Operation overlays, Appendix VIII.)

Each of the front line regiments retained one battalion in reserve. One regiment, the 7th Marines, less one battalion which was attached to the KPR, was held in division reserve in the vicinity of CT 1095. It was the mission of the division reserve regiment to be prepared for defensive or offensive commitment in any portion of the Division zone on order, and to conduct a program of training and rehabilitation.

Following the withdrawal of the OPLR in the 1st KMC Regimental sector, that Regiment dispatched periodic tank-infantry patrols forward of its line to prevent the enemy from crossing the SACHON River and occupying the area previously held and controlled by the OPLR.

Throughout the month the Division emphasized preparation against a possible enemy offensive. Sectors of responsibility on secondary lines, KANSAS, WYOMING, and WYOMING FORWARD, were assigned and the construction and improvement of existing defensive positions on these lines commenced. Relief and deployment of battalions were conducted by trucks and helicopters on short notice for the purpose of training in rapid movement tactical expediency.

Due to the distance involved in possible troop movements into blocking or counterattack positions, one truck company was bivouacked in the vicinity of CB 067974 during the hours of darkness. Either the 5th or 1st Marines could call upon it to provide additional transportation in an emergency.

The Division Reserve, the 7th Marines, moved to occupy line WYOMING FORWARD on 23 April. This was a rehearsal during which the reserve regimental headquarters and one battalion were lifted by helicopter across the IMJIN River.

The pattern of operations within the division included: Daily reconnaissance and combat patrols from MLR units; systematic employment of available destructive weapons (artillery and tanks; and air as available); sniping from the MLR employing the M1 sniper rifle and scope-sighted .50 caliber machine guns; and security patrols in rear areas. At night, ambushes were installed and raids were conducted. Harassing and interdiction fires were executed.

The Division submitted a total of 31 requests for close air support during the period of which 13 were answered with 69 aircraft. An additional 71 unrequested aircraft were made available to the Division which had been diverted from other missions or assigned for pilot training purposes. A total of 130 aircraft, 68 from the First Marine Aircraft Wing and 62 from the Fifth U.S. Air Force, were used by the Division for close air support during the month of April. Of the 18 requests for close air support for which no aircraft were assigned, eight were caused by unoperational flying weather, and the remainder for reasons of non-availability of aircraft. The average time lag between requested time of arrival on target and the actual time of arrival on target was three hours and 28 minutes.

Artillery missions comprised most of the supporting arms fire during the period. Artillery fired a total of 3,602 observed missions, averaging 50 missions per day. Over 26 per cent of the targets fired upon were troops, 202 on bunkers, 174 on mortars, and 126 on artillery. Enemy observation posts accounted for 48 missions; houses, 39; machine gun positions, 25; and villages, 20. The remainder of the observed missions were fired as follows: Supply points, 17; vehicles, 16; automatic weapons, seven; bridges, six; anti-aircraft, four; personnel shelters, four; targets of opportunity, four; trenches, three; bivouac areas, three; mule train, two; illumination, two; loudspeaker, one; and a cave, one.

The 1st Tank Battalion provided one tank company to support each MLR regiment north of the IMJIN and maintained one company in reserve. (The KPR was supported by the 1st Armored Amphibian Battalion.) Tanks in support of the MLR regiments employed direct fire from positions on the MLR and from selected points in the vicinity of outposts along the OPLR. (For results of tanks in direct fire role, see daily Periodic Operations Reports; Appendix III).

The division was directly concerned with the restrictions imposed by the security agreements entered into by the United Nations and the Communists. The restricted area and the "no fire zone" (bounded by the O'DANIEL NO FIRE LINE which was established by Corps to ensure that the neutrality of the restricted area) continued in effect. Early in April it became apparent that the enemy had located the boundaries of the "no fire zone" and were using the zone as a haven from friendly fire. Many targets, including troops and active artillery and mortars, were located within the zone which could not be taken under fire. Requests for permission to fire on these targets were made to Corps but were disapproved. A request by the Commanding General, 1st Marine Division, that the boundaries of the O'DANIEL NO FIRE LINE be redrawn to coincide more closely with the boundaries of the restricted area agreed upon by the UN, was approved on 18 April. The O'DANIEL NO FIRE LINE was redrawn in accordance with the recommended revision. The revised and reduced "no fire zone" (see overlays, Appendix VIII) improved the support which could be given forward units; it increased the defense potential of outposts manned by the 5th Marines and permitted neutralization within the enemy-acquired sanctuary.

During the month, the Division railhead remained located at MUNSAN-NI; the division truckhead at BUDYONG (ASCOM CITY), and the division airhead at K-16.

Class I supplies for the Division were received by rail at the division railhead from SP 25 SUWON. During the month, the Division supported an average strength of 32,410 in Class I. Class III supplies were received from SP 10 at YONGDONG-PO and were drawn by the units directly from railroad cars at the division railhead. A dump of Class I and III was maintained at ASCOM CITY to support the Kampo Provisional Regiment and ASCOM CITY Command.

The main Class II and IV dumps for all stock accounts were maintained at ASCOM CITY. Trucking time from the 1st Service Battalion to ASCOM CITY averaged five and one half hours including turn around.

Class V supply was received from ASP 63 at KUMCHON-NI where a seven day stock level was maintained. The Division maintained a Class V supply point north of the IMJIN River. The selection of this supply point location north of the river was influenced by the possibility of bridges becoming unserviceable. This supply point was maintained at a level of two basic loads of artillery ammunition and one basic load of infantry ammunition.

Unit distribution was put in effect for infantry regiments for Classes I, III, AND V; supply point distribution continued for all other units.

No critical shortages in general supply, motor transport, engineer, signal, and medical supplies except items of spare parts and accessories of ordnance, existed as the month closed.

Evacuation of patients was direct to the USS CONSOLATION (AT-15) at INCHON via army ambulance train, ambulance rail-bus, and helicopters. The 1st Shore Party Battalion handled evacuation of USMC and USN patients from debarkation point to hospital ship and from hospital ship to airfield for evacuation to USNH YOKOSUKA, Japan.

The KSC (Korean Service Corps) continued to provide logistic support to the Division. KSC personnel were available to all units. The main effort of these laborers was directed toward the maintenance of roads and carrying of supplies to the MLR regiments. During the month, the average strength of the 103rd KSC Regiment, supporting the Division, was approximately 3,000. Requests to I U.S. Corps for an increase in the number of KSC personnel to 5,000 had not been approved as the period closed.

Marine casualties for the period were 29 KIA, 152 WIA, 95 WIA (not evacuated), and six MIA. KMC casualties were listed as 14 KIA and 64 WIA. (See Appendix IV(a).)

Enemy losses were reported as 285 KIA, 591 (estimated) KIA, 1,705 (estimated) WIA, and 10 POW. (See Appendix IV(b).)

The Division Command Post remained located at YONGJI-RI, OS 103886, throughout the period.

On the occasion of the Korean Marine Corps third anniversary 15 April, General SELDEN flew to CHINHAE, Korea to extend his personal congratulations to the KMC Commandant.

Notable visitors to the Division during the month were, Admiral RADFORD, USN; General H. M. SMITH, USMC (Ret); and Lt. General HART, USMC, the Commanding General FMP Pacific.

Admiral RADFORD and General SMITH arrived at the Division CP on 22 April and departed on 23 and 26 April respectively.

II CHRONOLOGICAL NARRATIVE

- Note:
- (1) Attention is invited to Appendix VIII, Situation Overlays, for reference to pertinent unit locations, boundaries, CP's, etc.
 - (2) For complete and detailed account of subordinate unit actions and activities, attention is directed to regimental, battalion, and separate and attached unit command diaries, and daily unit reports.
 - (3) For pertinent casualty compilations, see Appendices IV(a) and IV(b).
 - (4) In view of the routine nature of operations during the month, significant events are given chronologically and the action of 4 April is presented in detail as being representative of the period.

1 April.

A modification of the Task Organization of operation Order 12-62 deleted the Reconnaissance Company therefrom and directed that the company relieve elements of the 2nd Battalion, 1st KMC Regiment and assume the battalion's screening mission. The Company's sector of responsibility was that area east and south of IMYIN River and bounded on the left by the KONGNUNG-CHON stream. The relief was effected at 020810I April.

From 012200 to 020200 April, an estimated two enemy battalions attacked the OPLR and MLR positions in the KMC sector. The attack was preceded by artillery fire and supported by mortar fire and automatic weapons from the high ground in the vicinity. The KMC's engaged the enemy with small arms, automatic weapons, grenades, and finally, in hand-to-hand combat. At 2330, the KMC positions on the MLR were penetrated, at which time their reserve battalion moved to blocking positions protecting the Freedom Bridge. By 0120, the enemy was repulsed and the lines restored. The KMC's suffered two KIA and ten WIA. (See Appendix VI(a) for details of action in 1st KMC Regiment sector.)

2 April.

The Commanding General assigned construction and maintenance of the division road net top priority in engineering effort. While the road net in the division area was adequate, the roads were in poor condition, narrow, and required improvement.

4 April.

(The operational activities for this date are representative of the period.)

During the 24-hour period, 18 combat outposts, ten fire team to squad-sized patrols and two ambushes were dispatched forward of the MLR with the following results: (1) At 0555I, a 8th Marines patrol at CT 025052 detonated an AP mine, resulting in three friendly WIA. (2) A two fire-team patrol of the 1st Marines returned to the OPLR with a POW taken in the vicinity of CT 036059. The POW had been wounded by a land mine. (3) A 1st Marine combat outpost received LMG fire, with negative friendly casualties, while returning to friendly lines.

At 0235I, in the 1st Marines sector, an estimated three enemy approached the OPLR in the vicinity of CT 071086 employing small arms and automatic weapons. After a five-minute fire fight, the enemy withdrew.

All rear area patrols conducted by elements of the 7th Marines in division reserve reported negative results. The KPR and Reconnaissance Company patrolled and screened their respective sectors without receiving any contact with the enemy.

Artillery fired 78 observed missions as follows: Troops, 44; bunkers, nine; artillery positions, eight; mortars, seven; supply points, two; observation posts, two; bridges, two; houses, one; and village, one. Results of these missions were as follows: 15 enemy KIA, and 57 (estimated) KIA; nine enemy WIA, and 55 (estimated) WIA; houses destroyed, 13; houses damaged, seven; bunkers damaged, four; mortars silenced, two; gun silenced, one; and OP neutralized, one.

Tanks fired 529 mixed 90mm and 105mm rounds. Results were as follows: Houses damaged, 70; houses destroyed, 11; shelters damaged, nine; shelters destroyed, 19; gun positions damaged, two; and gun positions destroyed, two; 15 enemy personnel were estimated KIA.

One close air support mission was flown on enemy gun positions and shelters in villages at BS 940930 with an estimated 90 per cent coverage and one village left burning.

Thirty-four rounds of artillery and 36 rounds of mortar fire fell in the division sector.

Marine casualties for the period were reported as seven WIA (evacuated), and three WIA (not evacuated); KMC casualties were none.

Total enemy casualties for the period was 15 KIA, 19 (estimated) KIA, 15 (estimated) WIA, and one POW.

The Division issued Training Problem 1-52 which called for the 2nd Battalion, 7th Marines, to make a tactical movement by truck and helicopter from CT 115062 to BS 907767 at 050500I and then to counterattack an assumed enemy landing vicinity BS 9980.

Division Memorandum Number 76-52 was issued and set forth the procedure for the turn-in of cold weather clothing and equipment. Turn-in was scheduled for completion by 30 May, except for the mountain sleeping bag which was to be retained until 15 June.

5 April.

The 2nd Battalion, 7th Marines, completed its move to the KIMPO Peninsula and was committed against an assumed enemy landing at 1330I. The Battalion Command Group and two companies were moved by eight helicopters. The first flight departed at 0555I. The remaining elements of the Battalion were moved by 40 trucks; the first serial departed at 0510I. The time required for the move was approximately eight hours.

The 3rd Battalion, 1st KMC Regiment, conducted a two-platoon raid on enemy positions forward of their sector. The raiders succeeded in overrunning the objective after hand-to-hand combat with the defenders. Upon observing enemy reinforcements, the raiding party withdrew. One 76mm gun was destroyed, 12 enemy were KIA, and 25 (estimated) were MIA.

6 April.

The Division sent the first group of 48 enlisted personnel to the I Corps Rest Center, CHOSEN Hotel, SEOUL, Korea. A similar number were to be rotated every third day following. Unit commanders were directed to nominate personnel on a basis of attention to duty and meritorious service. The program was in addition to the program established in December in which 34 meritorious enlisted personnel were flown to Japan every ten days.

The Non-Commissioned Officer School was reestablished with the continuation of the Sixth Class. This class was necessarily interrupted by the Division's move in March.

Modification #1 to Operation Order 11-52 directed the 5th Marines to occupy the high ground dominating PAMUNJOM to the east with a suitable covering force. Each individual of the force was required to sign a certificate that he had been instructed on the provisions relating to the neutral zone and that he would do no firing without permission of the outpost commander.

7 April.

The Division issued Administrative Memorandum Number 1-52 setting forth the task organization for TASK UNIT BAKER NINE with attendant instructions for the movement of the 15th Rotation Draft and 19th Replacement Draft.

Since arrival in the western sector, the large number of civilians present had necessitated administrative instructions for their control. Division General Order Number 65 was published, setting forth the procedures for the control of civilian inhabitants and their property. Of special note was the directive that required the removal of all civilians north of the IMJIN River. This restriction removed all civilians from the forward areas and established them south of an easily controlled boundary.

8 April.

The movement of the Division rear from the east-central sector to the new location was completed.

9 April.

The Division issued Warning Order 1-52 which called for adjustment of positions in order to relieve left elements of 1st Commonwealth Division and extend the right (east) limiting point (LP).

10 April.

The Commanding General visited the 1st Commonwealth Division to discuss details of relief when the change of division right limiting point to CT 132096 became effective. Adjustments were made by all divisions in I Corps to fill the gap created in the line when Corps directed complete relief of 3rd U.S. Infantry Division. The 3rd U.S. Infantry Division was taken out of the line to act as army reserve.

The 19th Replacement Draft, consisting of 154 officers and 2,993 men, arrived at the Port of INCHON. Personnel were shuttled forward by rail in serials to the division railhead at MUNSAN-NI. There they were received and routed to their assigned division units. At the same time the 15th Rotation Draft, consisting of 140 officers and 3,335 men, was moved to INCHON, also by rail. The strength report of 15 April, showed the strength of the division to be 1,367 officers and 24,223 men.

Division Training Memorandum Number 8-52 was issued, setting forth the mission, plan, and instructions for a three hour course in "Evasion and Escape". An experienced evasion and escape officer from General Headquarters, Far East Command Liaison Group, conducted a conference for officer representatives from all units of the division for the purpose of instructor training.

The Division issued Operation Plan 4-52, "ANCHOR", which called for: (1) A continuation of the occupation and defense of Line JAMESTOWN in sector by improving and adjusting present positions, by conducting vigorous counter-reconnaissance operations, and by directing planned destructive fire against enemy; (2) Maintaining a covering force occupying the high ground east of and dominating PAMUNJOM, which was prepared to cover any forced retirement of UN Armistice negotiators; (3) preparing limited offensive operations on order; (4) preparing to retire to rearward positions in event of an armistice, or on order.

11 April.

The Division issued Operation Order 13-52 which implemented and modified Operation Plan 4-52. This order called for the Division to shift boundaries, relieve elements of the 1st Commonwealth Division, and adjust to a new LP to the east at CT 132096. This readjustment to be completed prior to 142400I.

12 April.

The 5th Marines relieved elements of the 1st Marines on their right, adjusted positions, and assumed responsibility for the new sector of the MLR from CT 058057 to BS 994994 at 122310I.

One truck company was bivouacked during hours of darkness in the vicinity of CS 067974. These trucks were to remain under division control and be released to requesting unit on order. This nightly bivouac was necessitated by the distance involved in making troop movements into blocking or counterattack positions.

14 April.

The 1st Marines relieved elements of the 1st Commonwealth Division on their right (east) flank, adjusted positions, and assumed responsibility for a new sector of the MLR from CT 132096 to CT 058057 at 141530I.

Division issued Operation Order 14-52, which directed: (1) The exchange of battalions between 1st KMC Regiment and the KIMPO Provisional Regiment; the 3rd Battalion, 1st KMC Regiment, and the 5th KMC Battalion of the KIMPO Provisional Regiment were to replace each other on 18 and 19 April, both moves to be by helicopter; (2) 1st KMC Regiment to withdraw their OPLR and establish an outpost line of observation (OPLO) on 17 April; and (3), 1st Amphibian Tractor Battalion to relieve the Reconnaissance Company of sector responsibility effective 161200I April.

At 2300I, a ten man outpost in the 1st Marines sector was attacked by an estimated 75 enemy supported by heavy enemy mortar fire. By 2325I, the friendly outpost position had been overrun by the enemy resulting in five friendly WIA, four KIA, and one MIA.

At 2330I, a 123 man combat outpost in the 5th Marines sector was attacked by an estimated enemy battalion supported by heavy artillery and mortar fire. At 160120I, the enemy withdrew with an estimated 70 casualties leaving 25 KIA and three POW. Friendly casualties amounted to six KIA, five MIA, and 40 WIA. A TLO agent afterwards stated that the enemy attacked with the intention of overrunning and occupying the objective. (See Appendix VI(b) for details of action.)

Division Training Order Number 8-52, Text Exercises, EVEREADY, was issued. The exercises were designed to test communications, mobility of units, and efficiency of current counterattack plans. The plan called for I Corps EVEREADY control personnel to dispatch "canned" messages from subordinate units to the Division in order to simulate an assumed penetration. Division would then issue warning orders to reserve units for occupancy of blocking positions for counterattack, and for movement to new positions as the situation demanded. Units ordered to move, excepting the reserve regiment, would move in their entirety. The regiment in reserve would be required to move the regimental command post, anti-tank company, 4.2" mortar company, one complete battalion, and the remaining battalion command posts.

16 April.

The Reconnaissance Company was attached to the 1st Amphibian Tractor Battalion and the 1st Amphibian Tractor Battalion, at 1200, assumed control of the defensive sector previously assigned the Reconnaissance Company.

17 April.

On the night of 16-17 April, the enemy probed KMC positions at five different locations with various sized groups, the largest of which was estimated to be two platoons. Severe fire fights developed at all five points with the enemy breaking contact and leaving 36 killed and an estimated 70 wounded. Friendly casualties were two KIA and five WIA. Although the enemy was taken under friendly artillery fire during his withdrawal, the majority of his KIA resulted from friendly small arms and automatic weapons fire.

The Commanding General directed the establishment of emergency pyrotechnic signals to be used by MBR units to request artillery defensive fires.

In accordance with Division Operation Order 14-52, the 1st KMC Regiment reduced the OPLR to an OFLO (outpost line of observation) and at the same time readjusted the trace of the MLR (BS 985954 to CS 000928). The change was accomplished in order to reestablish the MLR in sector on more defensible terrain. (See Situation Overlay 160001I April 52 and Change #1 thereto, Appendix VIII.)

18 April.

At 0945I, a plane (F4-F) dropped two 1,000 pound bombs in the vicinity 1st Marine Division Command Post. No friendly casualties or damage resulted. Investigation indicated that the aircraft was on an MPQ mission and the pilot had released the bombs prematurely.

The Commanding General requested the redrawing of the O'DANIEL NO FIRE LINE in order to more effectively combat and neutralize enemy forces who were "taking advantage" of an "apparent sanctuary". The request was approved. The new line considerably reduced the NO FIRE ZONE, and the defense potential of forward units was increased with the availability of organic and supporting fires placed in the effective areas.

The 5th KMC Battalion completed the move from KIMPO Peninsula to the 1st KMC Regiment sector. The battalion was moved by truck to loading zones at BS 927771, BS 927772, BS 933773, and BS 932779. At these points, the battalion was lifted by helicopter, moved across the HAN River, and discharged at landing zones east of HAN River, and then moved by truck to the 1st KMC Regiment sector where it went into regimental reserve. The entire move of 840 men was accomplished in five hours and 50 minutes, two hours less than the time required for a similar move made by 2nd Battalion, 7th Marines, on 5 April. These figures were considered of vital importance in planning for the movement of reserves and the withdrawal of forces in defense of a sector dominated by two major rivers with limited bridging.

19 April.

The 3rd Battalion, 1st KMC Regiment, completed a move from the 1st KMC Regiment sector to the KIMPO Peninsula. Starting at 0600I, the Battalion was moved by truck to loading zones east of the HAN River and lifted by helicopter across the HAN River to landing zones on the KIMPO Peninsula. The air lift of 792 men, totaling 132 flights (six men per flight), required one hour and 45 minutes. The air lift commenced at 1000I and the Battalion closed its assembly area at 1149I. The move was conducted under adverse weather conditions with rain commencing in the early morning and continuing throughout the day.

Division issued Operation Plan 5-52 (later modified by Modification Number 1 on 22 April 1952) which directed the 5th Marines to prepare to effect on order the immediate rescue of the UN Truce Team and party from PANMUNJOM with a force not to exceed one tank company (reinforced) and one infantry company (reinforced). The Regiment was to maintain a covering force on high ground southeast of PANMUNJOM prepared to provide maximum fire support to the rescue force.

20 April.

The Division issued Operation Order 1-52, directing a rehearsal of occupation of LINE WYOMING by the division reserve.

The Division issued Operation Order 15-52 which directed the attachment of the 2nd Searchlight Platoon, 61st Engineer Company (-), to the 11th Marines. Units on the MLR desiring night illumination were directed to make requests to the 11th Marines through regular artillery channels. Priority of illuminating areas was set forth as follows: SAN-CH'ON Valley, left flank 1st Marines, KMC sector, and HAN-GANG River.

23 April.

All 5th Marines outpost line of resistance positions except position #1 at BT 970010 were withdrawn and had closed the MLR at 230015I.

The 7th Marines (-) conducted a rehearsal for the occupation and defense of Line WYOMING FORWARD. The rehearsal was based on assumptions that an enemy breakthrough threatened the corridors in the vicinity of CT 047051 and CT 052036, and that all bridges were unserviceable. The 3rd Battalion, already located north of the IMJIN River, moved into position by foot. The remainder of the Regiment (less the 2nd Battalion attached to the KIMPO Provisional Regiment) moved by foot and motor march to embarkation points and were lifted by helicopter across the IMJIN River.

The exercise commenced at 0605I; the Regiment was in position at 1210I; and the exercise was secured at 1430I. The helicopter movement commenced at 0830I and was completed at 1000I. Employing 10 helicopters (HRS), the air lift moved 1,200 troops, eight 4.2" mortars, two 76mm recoilless rifles, two blackout tents, and 12 boat spaces of miscellaneous gear for a total of 243 loads. (An average load was five men with marching packs, normal arms and equipment, or four men plus a crew-served weapon.) Crossing the river required one hour 30 minutes.

24 April.

All 1st Marines outpost line of resistance positions were withdrawn and closed the MLR at 2400I.

Commanding General, 1st Marine Division dispatch 260849Z modified Operation Plan 4-52. The 11th Marines were directed to be prepared to direct tank reinforcing fires in an emergency.

The 1st Tank Battalion was directed to bring the Provisional Korean Marine Corps Tank Company to operational status as soon as possible and then to relieve the 1st Battalion tank company in support of the KMC Regiment. The Division desired to enlarge the division reserve tank force and to reinforce fires of the 11th Marines from positions south of the IMJIN River.

30 April.

The Division executed special plan of fires on the night of 30 April-1 May. The Division artillery delivered surprise fire at 2000 on enemy command posts, bivouac areas, mortar and artillery positions, and again at 2300, concentrating on mortar and artillery positions. At 2030, MLR regiments executed their own firing plans on profitable targets to their fronts, including suspected enemy areas and mortar positions. The 11th Marines fired 232 missions expending 5138 rounds of 106mm, 425 rounds of 155mm, and 630 rounds of 4.5" Rockets. "D" Battery, 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines expended 97 rounds of propaganda shells on 6 missions; these were in addition to the above totals.

I Corps artillery units supporting the 1st Marine Division fired a total of 32 missions expending 418 rounds of 105mm and 171 rounds of 8". Artillery units of the Kimpo Provisional Regiment fired a total of 117 missions expending 194 rounds of 76mm and 1680 rounds of 75mm.

APPENDIX VI(a) TO DIVISION COMMAND DIARY FOR APRIL 1952
REPORT OF ACTION IN 1ST KMC REGIMENTAL SECTOR - 1-2 APRIL 1952

Enclosure: (1) Action Overlay

During the night of 1 April and early morning of 2 April an estimated two (2) enemy battalions attacked in the 1st and 3rd battalion sectors of the 1st KMC Regiment. At approximately 2200I, attacks were launched against the 1st Company, 1st Battalion, OPLR positions by an estimated enemy battalion; against the 10th Company, 3rd Battalion, MLR positions by an estimated enemy battalion; against the 11th Company, 3rd Battalion, MLR position at BS 954929 by an estimated two enemy squads; and against the 9th Company, 3rd Battalion, MLR positions at BS 953902 by an estimated two enemy squads.

The attacks were preceded by enemy artillery and mortar fire with an estimated 1,500 rounds falling in the 3rd Battalion sector between 2200I and 0230I of which approximately 300 rounds fell in the 2nd Platoon, 10th Company positions at 2200I; approximately 200 rounds fell in the left half of the 1st Company, 1st Battalion sector at 2205I. The two attacks by estimated two enemy squads each at BS 954929 and BS 953902 involved brief small arms fire fights after which the enemy withdrew. In addition to the two attacks against the 1st Company, 1st Battalion, and 10th Company, 3rd Battalion, each by an estimated enemy battalion, an estimated enemy company attacked the 1st Company positions vicinity BS 967966 at 0020I. Another estimated enemy company attacked the 1st Company positions in the vicinity of BS 967966 at 0300I. In the latter two attacks, the enemy withdrew after a brief fire fight.

At 2205I, 1 April, approximately 200 rounds of artillery and mortar fell in the left of the 1st Company sector on the OPLR. At 2210I, a 3rd Platoon fire team on outpost at BS 965952 observed an estimated two enemy companies who approached and cut the tactical wire on the low ground to the west of their positions. The fire team outpost opened fire on the enemy, then withdrew to the 3rd Platoon defensive positions. Another 3rd Platoon fire team outpost at BS 966958 opened fire on the enemy and withdrew to the 3rd Platoon defensive position. At 2215I, an estimated one enemy company attacked the 3rd Platoon positions with fire from hill vicinity BS 966954, employing small arms, two HMG's and two 60mm mortars, and from the ridgeline vicinity BS 969957, employing small arms. Simultaneously, another estimated enemy company moved in defilade behind the hill area and ridgeline to the south of the 3rd Platoon position and occupied the hill at BS 972959. At 2215I, the latter enemy company, employing small arms and two heavy machine guns, fired on the 3rd Platoon position and 1st Company CP defenses. The enemy company remained on the hill about 30 minutes and then withdrew to the south at approximately 2245I, accompanied by the enemy company which attacked the 3rd Platoon position.

At 2400I, an estimated enemy company was observed assembling in the vicinity of BS 964955 and artillery was called on them. At that time the enemy company moved north along the low ground and up the ridge (vicinity BS 967963) toward the 1st Company CP defensive position. From the ridge, 20 minutes later, they fired on the 3rd Platoon position. The 1st Company CP group opened fire with small arms and mortars and the enemy withdrew.

Again at 0240I, an estimated enemy company was observed assembling in the vicinity of BS 964955 and again artillery was called. The enemy moved north along the low ground to the west of the 3rd Platoon and 1st Company CP, and at 0300I, attacked the 1st Company CP positions. After a 20 minute fire fight, the enemy withdrew.

APPENDIX VI(a) TO DIVISION COMMAND DIARY FOR APRIL 1952 (CONT'D)
REPORT OF ACTION IN 1ST KMC REGIMENTAL SECTOR - 1-2 APRIL 1952

At 0320I, one blue flare went off in the vicinity of BS 967971.

At 2130I, a squad outpost at BS 960942 of the 2nd Platoon, 10th Company, observed an unknown number of enemy crossing the river to their front. The outpost engaged the enemy with small arms fire for approximately five minutes. During the fire fight, the outpost observed additional enemy across the river on their right flank. As a result, the outpost withdrew and closed the 2nd Platoon about 2200I.

At approximately 2200I, an estimated two enemy companies attacked the 2nd Platoon, 10th Company position. Two enemy platoons attacked the right flank (vicinity BS 969944), and an estimated one enemy platoon attacked the left flank (vicinity BS 967939) while an enemy company made a frontal assault (vicinity BS 967942). At 2255I, an unknown number of enemy infiltrated the position and hand to hand combat ensued. By 2400I, the enemy had enveloped the platoon flanks and had penetrated at the center, driving the platoon from its position.

The 10th Company Commander, who was at the 2nd Platoon OP when the enemy attack commenced, withdrew to the 1st Platoon position where he organized the 1st Platoon and elements of the 2nd Platoon for a counterattack. The counterattack was launched about 0100I. However, by this time, the enemy had begun to withdraw from the 2nd Platoon positions. The 2nd Platoon positions were regained and occupied by the 1st Platoon and elements of the 2nd Platoon by 0120I. When the 1st Platoon departed its positions on the line to launch the counterattack, the 3rd Platoon simultaneously extended its line to the left and occupied positions vacated by the 1st Platoon.

The 7th Company occupied blocking positions (vicinity BS 971935 to BS 982935) in the rear of the 10th Company by 0130I.

From 2200I to 0230I, approximately 1,500 rounds of artillery and mortar fell in the 3rd Battalion sector.

Casualties sustained by the 1st KMC Regiment were 2 KIA and 10 WIA, all received in the 2nd Platoon, 10th Company position during the enemy attack. There were two enemy killed in the vicinity of BS 970953 and an unknown number of other enemy casualties were inflicted.

APPENDIX VI(b) TO DIVISION COMMAND DIARY FOR APRIL 1952
REPORT OF ACTION IN 5TH MARINES SECTOR - 15-16 APRIL 1952

Enclosure: (1) Action Overlay

During the night of 15-16 April, a force estimated as two enemy companies assaulted an outpost occupied by a reinforced platoon of Company "E", 5th Marines. In the 20-minute period prior to launching the attack, 2330I-2350I, the enemy placed an estimated 190 rounds of mixed 76mm Artillery and 120mm mortar fire on the outpost (OP#3, 3S 989048). As the preparatory fires lifted, the enemy combined a frontal attack with a double envelopment in assaulting the position. Although completely surrounded and cut off from the MLR, the defending platoon withdrew into a tight perimeter and successfully defended against the enemy attack.

The action opened with a green flare being fired by the enemy at 152330I over HILL 67 (BT 975040). Immediately after the firing of the flare, artillery and mortar fire commenced falling on OP#3, and the supporting mortar position to the south (position Baker-2/81mm mortar). At 152350I, a second green flare was seen above HILL 67, and the enemy artillery and mortar fire lifted. A frontal attack was then launched against the OP by an estimated enemy force of two companies. As the attack developed, the enemy executed a double envelopment and the defenders consolidated their position by withdrawing into a tight, all-around defensive perimeter. By 0010I, the outpost was completely surrounded and contact with them had been lost by the Battalion.

At 152400I, artillery and mortar fire fell between Company "F" OP (BT 988023) and OP #3. By 160040I, enemy small arms fire had slackened. At 160045I, 11 green and red flares were sighted in front of OP #4 (GT 020063), and at 160100I, following white flares fired between OP #2 and OP #3, enemy fire again increased.

From 160100I to 160417I the fighting on OP #3 was characterized by continued small arms engagements and two coordinated attacks, both of which were successfully repulsed after penetrating friendly lines. During the first attack, 14 POW's were captured in and around the OP of the defending force. During the second attack, the POW's tried to escape, all but three were killed. During this same period, the Company Commander, "D" Company, was ordered to send out a platoon sized patrol to reestablish communications with OP #3 and reinforce that position. This patrol departed the MLR at 160400I. At 160405I, another platoon sized patrol with a similar mission was dispatched by "F" Company.

At 160417I, it was determined through intelligence sources, that the enemy was attempting to withdraw. On receipt of this information, artillery fires to interdict all possible routes of enemy withdrawal and an air strike to search and attack targets in the TAEDOK-SAN area were requested.

At 160700I, the two patrols from the MLR, plus a reinforced squad from OP #2, which included the Company Commander, "E" Company, joined in the vicinity of position Baker. These three units under command of the "E" Company Commander proceeded to OP #3, arriving at 160715I. Immediate attention was given the wounded and the evacuation of casualties.

The commander of outpost #3 was wounded during the night, but he retained control and reorganized his forces into a compact, all-around defensive position. Upon the withdrawal of the enemy, the position was reorganized and the former perimeter reoccupied. The platoon patrols from the MLR searched the area surrounding OP #3 and counted 25 enemy KIA.

As a result of the action, the 5th Marines suffered seven killed, 38 wounded, and five missing in action. The enemy received 25 killed, 26 estimated killed, 50 estimated wounded, and three prisoners of war.
