To: Distribution List

Subj: Post-Armistice Morale Program; planning for

Ref: (a) COMNAVFE ltr ser 0085 of 15Jan53

1. Reference (a) promulgated instructions for the implementation of a post-hostilities program designed to prevent a deterioration of morale within the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing after a prolonged period of combat operations.

2. General:

In the event that an armistice is concluded there will be a natural tendency to relax after a prolonged period of combat operations. This will ultimately lead to the deterioration of morale and combat efficiency if allowed to continue unchecked. It is the unchanging objective of this command to maintain a high state of readiness of both personnel and material for any employment which may be required to execute the mission of a Marine Aircraft Wing. Especial stress must be placed on a high state of training and on the maintenance of mobility. In order that immediate and continuing progress be made toward this objective, it is desired that commanding officers be prepared to initiate a vigorous and comprehensive training program if and when hostilities cease. It is emphasized that the maintenance of morale and combat effectiveness are responsibilities of command.

3. Purpose:

The purpose of these instructions is to establish policies and procedures which would prevent a tendency toward reduction in combat effectiveness and to insure readiness for an immediate resumption of combat operations should the need arise.

4. Scope:

This program is applicable to all units assigned or attached to the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing. It embraces the following phases; operations maintenance, supply, intelligence, communication, installations, personnel, security and other activities related in any way to the combat effectiveness of this command.

5. Discussion:

a. The morale of all personnel assigned to the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing must be maintained at the highest possible level during a post-armistice period. This can best be accomplished by all unit commanders endeavoring to maintain a high standard of discipline and leadership on all levels. Aided by propaganda from home and abroad, the pressure to "get the boys home" will confront all commanders continuously. The possibility of incidents of the type which occurred in some non-Marine Corps organizations after the cease fire order in World War II must be prevented by a well planned and constructive training program.

b. The following assumptions should be considered by all unit commanders in post-armistice planning:

- (1) Unit commanders may be directed to redeploy at any time.
- (2) The enemy may resume hostilities without warning at any time prior to his withdrawal from Korea.
- (3) The cease-fire terms, on matters now in agreement, will remain substantially the same.
- (4) The United Nations Forces, after withdrawing to the south boundary of the demilitarized zone, will defend this line and will not further deploy until a political settlement is negotiated and ratified, or until specific instructions are issued for such deployment.
- (5) Commanding officers must be cognizant of the above and other influencing factors and should take positive action to maintain a high state of morale in their respective units. Such action should include:
 - (a) Inauguration of an extensive, progressive training program.
 - (b) An accelerated competitive off-duty athletic program.
 - (c) Organized character guidance.
 - (d) Intensification of an information program, stressing the importance and justification of the post-armistice and post-hostilities mission, and countering subversive attempts to promote dissatisfaction.
 - (e) The development of an extensive education program.
 - (f) Expansion of the entertainment program by supplementing USO shows, movies, etc, with entertainment talent within commands.
 - (g) Increasing religious activities.
 - (h) Planned tours of nearby places of interest.

(i) Expansion of rest and recreational program where possible.

(j) Increased facilities in hobby shops, recreation rooms and libraries.

6. Training:

Since training is considered a paramount factor in maintaining high morale, primary consideration shall be given to an extensive training program for both air and ground personnel. Training will be conducted to simulate present combat conditions when possible.

a. Flying:

(1) Flight training will conform with USF 60, USF 63, Training and Competition Manual, Air Force, Pacific Fleet, and other instructions from competent authority which may be issued from time to time. All flying shall be planned and conducted to include those phases of flight operations necessary to efficiently execute the mission of the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing. A continuing effort will be placed on maintaining organizational and functional integrity so that a rapid transition can be made from a peace to war status.

(2) Priorities for training will be established as follows:

(a) 1st Priority -- Pilots and crew-members not combat ready.

(b) 2nd Priority -- Maintaining proficiency of combat ready pilots and crew-members.

(c) 3rd Priority -- Staff personnel.

(3) Present estimates indicate that the training outlined above can be accomplished with approximately 60% of the present sortie rate. This reduced flying effort will enable tactical units to increase the combat readiness of their equipment.

b. Ground: Ground training programs presently in effect will be intensified. Ground training for enlisted personnel will be conducted in accordance with MCOG 83 and other training instructions from competent authority, which may be issued from time to time. Special emphasis shall be placed on:

(1) Basic Marine Corps subjects as set forth in MCOG #83.

(2) Technical training.

(3) NCO Leadership Training.

7. Intelligence:

a. Intelligence sections will operate in coordination with flight

2. A total of 467 Air Medals were awarded by the Commanding General under the strike/flight system during the month of April 1953. Because of the greatly increased administrative tasks of the Wing awards section in connection with these awards, it is highly desirable that recommendations be submitted as the qualifications are met by the individual concerned.

3. Many award recommendations are being received without witness statements or other substantiating evidence required by current directives. It is obvious that, in many cases, such data could easily be obtained. To insure that individual merit will receive appropriate consideration by the Wing Awards Board, recommendations must be submitted promptly and in proper form.

4. The Wing Awards Board has considered and taken action on all recommendations for awards received at this Headquarters prior to 1 May 1953. Immediate submission of all old award recommendations is desired, so that board action may be maintained on a current basis.

operations so as to simulate actual combat conditions, insofar as practicable. Special emphasis will be given to briefing, interrogation and combat intelligence reporting.

b. Ground training for pilots and crew-members on evasion and escape techniques and equipment, enemy air forces and tactics, and other intelligence subjects will be accomplished on a regularly scheduled basis.

c. Briefing rooms and situation maps will be maintained. Intelligence publications and target material will be kept in current readiness conditions.

d. On-the-job training of intelligence personnel in intelligence techniques and procedures will be conducted.

8. Air Defense Training:

a. In addition to maintaining a constant vigilance of actual air defense, the air defense units will intensify its training program by placing special emphasis on training those individuals not currently proficient, and will conduct coordinated training of air control systems.

9. CBR Defense:

a. Current indoctrination instructions for defense against chemical, biological, and radiological attacks will be used in an intensified training program to insure this command's ability to withstand such attacks.

10. Materiel Maintenance:

a. Materiel activities will be conducted to maintain a high state of readiness of both materiel and equipment with special emphasis on the maintenance of mobility.

11. Emergency Bills:

a. All base and unit commanders will review and re-evaluate existing emergency bills and internal security measures. A continuing training program is desired in order to insure the proper security of all installations of this command.

12. Requirements:

a. In order to comply with the training sortie rate of 60% of the present sortie rate as mentioned in this memorandum, the following recommendations for training facilities have been submitted to CG, 5th Air Force for planning:

(1) For squadrons based at K-6 (Note: Includes night fighter squadron (VMF(N) 513) now at K-8 but scheduled for redeployment to K-6).

(a) One (1) controlled rake air to ground target and two

(2) air to ground targets for heavy ordnance and strafing; one (1) of which must be suitable for both day and night operations.

(b) One (1) air to air gunnery range.

(c) Targets should be within 40 nautical miles of home base.

(2) For squadrons based at K-3.

(a) One (1) controlled rake air to ground target and one (1) air to ground target for heavy ordnance and strafing.

(b) One (1) air to air gunnery range.

(c) Targets should be within 100 nautical miles of home base.

(3) In addition to the foregoing facilities, which are required for individual and unit training of aviation units, a requirement has been stated for a training area suitable for the conduct of day and night air-ground training with units of the 1st Marine Division. This area should be large enough to permit maneuver by ground units of a regimental combat team, live artillery, AAA firing, tank maneuver, and exercise of all elements of the air control organization in close air support problems.-- including live drops under searchlight and MQ-14 control. This area should include an airdrome suitable for staging or temporary operation of propeller attack and fighter-bomber types and facilities for operating a liaison type observation squadron and a transport helicopter squadron. The area should also include a beach area suitable for assault landing exercises of at least regimental size.

b. Commander Naval Forces, Far East will be requested to provide a CVA deck for carrier qualifications from time to time.

c. The below listed recreational and educational requirements are considered a minimum necessary to carry out a well rounded program designed to maintain a high standard of post-armistice morale.

(1) Additional space for buildings for use as hobby shops.

(2) The establishment of buildings for conducting education classes and study and recreational rooms.

c. Unit commanders will review their recreational facilities and submit requirements through normal channels.

13. This letter is downgraded to "Restricted" upon the announcement, by higher authority, of the signing of a Korean armistice.
