Research May Aid Retarded

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Coco signs for her dinner, signs for her drinks and signs whenever she wants to go out. Coco, a 28-month baby gorilla at the San Francisco Zoo, is being taught sign language by a Stanford University graduate student in developmental psychology.

Her teacher, Penny Patterson, 25, believes her research with the gorilla is unique and hopes it will help in using sign language as a teaching aid for retarded children.

"Teaching a primate sign language is not new, but I think Coco is the first gorilla to be used in such research," said Miss Patterson.

She is patterning her research after that of two University of Nevada comparative psychologists who successfully taught a baby chimpanzee 200 signs in five years.

Miss Patterson began working with the 16-month-old gorilla four months ago and now spends up to five hours a day with her.

In her daily sessions, Coco signals for a drink by placing her thumb to her mouth, asks for food by placing all of her fingers to her mouth and signs to go from one section of her glassed-in room to another by making an outward motion with her hand.

And she's working very hard on the signs for "more" and "no."

"The desire for food and drink are strongly motivational, and teaching Coco these signs was relatively easy," Miss Patterson said.

"I began by molding these signs for her. I would put her hands in the food or drink sign and then give her a bottle or some food."

Coco, who craves grapes and grape juice, gradually learned the signs and no longer requires the stimulus of a bottle or food.

"Sign-language grammar is different from that of any other language, and I hope to learn a great deal from Coco. The order in which she uses the signs is very important, especially when she uses a series," Miss Patterson said.

It is important to determine whether the gorilla's sign word order is based on context or imitation, she said.

"I'm striving to interpret the context in which she uses the signs because that is important in the analysis of a child's language."

Eventually, Miss Patterson will compare Coco's progress with a 2-year-old deaf child's acquisition of sign language and then plans to write her doctoral dissertation on her research with the gorilla.

The absinthe manufactured today is only an imitation of the original liquor, containing no wormwood. Wormwood gave the absinthe its flavor but has been prohibited because it is habit-forming, causing delirium and hallucinations as well as permanent mental deterioration.

'Please Stand By' - Intriguing Question

By JAY SHARRITT AP Television Writer. NEW YORK (AP) - "Please Stand By" is the phrase generally used by a television network whose picture goes black. It also is the title of a new theatrical film that poses an intriguing question of the future.

First, consider the distinct possibility that, a few years from now, most network television shows will be broadcast via domestic satellite. Then ask: Can this lead to electronic mischief?

"Please Stand By" says it sure can. U.S. satellite officials say it sure can't, at least not the way the film's plot line would have it.

The movie is about a group of technically expert radicals who interrupt a network's satellite transmission during the nightly news to beam a counter-culture message.

They do it with a stolen mobile television van supposedly equipped to beam a signal to satellites on station above the United States.

They roll their one-minute videotape message on the network's satellite frequency, then lower the antenna and roar off into the night, lest the Federal Communications get a fix on them.

The counter-culture broadcasts begin and end with a deep voice intoning, "The airwaves belong to the people."

The film is underwritten in the sense that it didn't open at Radio City Music Hall. It's playing in Greenwich Village. It is a drawn-out, clumsy effort. But its premise is very, very funny.

"Please Stand By" was produced, directed and written by Jack and Joanna Milton, a young New York couple who put the thing together for about $100,000. It's their first feature film.

Did the film attract the FCC's attention? "No, we didn't have any problems with them because the FCC, of course, wasn't aware of what we were doing," Milton laughed. "If they were aware, we probably would have had problems."

Now comes the bad news for prospective signal thieves. An expert at the Washington-based Communications Satellite Corp. (COMSAT) says there is no way one satellite signal can be totally displaced by another.

The expert, who declined to be identified, says the worst that would happen during such an electronic caper would be much video fuzz and audio garble on our sets at home.

"It's possible to mess up the network's signal," he said. "But there's no way you could completely knock it out with another signal."

Okay. But if Walter Cronkite is interrupted by a mysterious voice that says, "The airways belong to the people," there may be a congressional investigation or something.

Senatorial Fringe Benefits Include Free Ice And Art

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. senators receive wallet-size copies of their electrocardiograms, free ice and speech writing services from the Library of Congress.

They also are entitled to use plants from the Botanic Gardens for their offices, or reproductions of paintings and prints from the National Gallery of Art.

These are just a few samplings from a list of "allowances, emoluments and privileges" available to U.S. senators and published in a new Congressional Handbook.

The 204-page handbook was prepared by the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations. There is a companion volume for House members.

The handbook notes that senators automatically receive $40,000 in group life insurance coverage at a monthly cost of $28.82. The amount is based on their salaries of $42,500 a year.

A senator's allowance for staff help, and the size of his office suite, depends on how populous a state he represents.

Senators receive allowances for stationery, postage, telephone and telegraph, travel and offices in home states. These also are based on state population and, in the case of travel, on the distance between a senator's state and Washington.

Senators are given congressional license tags and have virtually unrestricted parking privileges in Washington.

The handbook offers advice on how to keep office files and write to government officials. It even tells the location of gymnasiums in the Senate office buildings.

To have the Library of Congress prepare a speech, the senator need only provide such information as what viewpoint he wants expressed, desired length of the speech, and the occasion for giving the speech.

When the facility and staff of Sparta's Technical Education Center had a party recently, Director Joe Ciani mentioned that his wedding anniversary was coming up in a couple of days. As a result, he was presented with a huge anniversary cake and a bottle of champagne.

When it was all over, a red-faced Mrs. Gault said, "My husband had the right anniversary day but the wrong month."

Insurance Rate Hikes Explained

HARTFORD (AP) — No fault auto insurance is not the cause of recent rate increases by a handful of insurance companies operating in Connecticut, according to state Insurance Commissioner Paul B. Altermatt.

He said Monday some insurance agents have been wrongly telling buyers that the rate increases were sought to offset the 10 per cent rate reduction required by the state's new no-fault law which becomes effective Jan. 1, 1973.

Of 100 companies writing automobile insurance in Connecticut, five have asked for rate increases this year while five others have actually reduced their rates, Altermatt said.

He explained that due to the Nixon administration's wage and price controls, insurance companies were not allowed to raise their rates between August 1971 and early this year.

"It was unfortunate that when the (five) companies asked for increases, it was the middle of the General Assembly's no-fault debate," he said.

Of the five increases, he said, one was a 10 per cent hike and the others were less.

He said the timing of the requests made it appear that the companies were trying to plan ahead for the required rate reductions brought by no-fault.

Although "we were suspicious that some of the companies were putting in for increases because of no fault," Altermatt said, his department found no reason to deny the rate increases.

Truman Misjudged By Churchill

NEW YORK (AP) — Winston Churchill told Harry S. Truman in 1953 that he had underestimated Truman on his accession to the presidency in 1945, according to the former President's daughter.

"I misjudged you badly," Margaret Truman quotes Churchill as saying. "Since that time, you more than any other man, have saved Western civilization."

Miss Truman recalls Churchill's praise in the forthcoming biography titled "Harry S. Truman." A second and final installment of excerpts from the book appears in the Dec. 1 issue of Life magazine.

She says Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister who returned to office in 1951, made the remark while visiting the White House during Truman's first weeks in office.

Also during that visit, she writes, Truman hosted a small stag dinner for Churchill with guests including Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett, Averell Harriman, Gen. Omar Bradley and Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

At one point, Churchill unexpectedly said: "Mr. President, I hope you have your answer ready for that hour when you and I stand before Saint Peter and he says, 'I understand you two are responsible for putting off those atomic bombs. What have you got to say for yourselves.'"

"This could have been a rather unpleasant subject," Miss Truman continues. "But Bob Lovett came to the rescue. 'Are you sure, prime minister, that you are going to be in the same place as the President for that interrogation?'"

"Mr. Churchill slipped his champagne and then intoned, 'Lovett, my vast respect for the Creator of this universe and countless others gives me assurance that He would not condemn a man without a hearing... a trial by a jury of my peers.'"

Miss Truman writes that the party named themselves as the jury and the President as judge. "The case was tried, and the prime minister was acquitted," she says.

Mrs. Truman, in private life Mrs. Clifton Daniel, wife of the associate editor of The New York Times, also reports on Truman's blunt advice to Adlai Stevenson as the Democratic presidential candidate.

"He was severely disappointed by the way Adlai Stevenson declined to accept responsibility as party leader between the '52 and '56 campaigns," she writes. "His failure to pick up the reins of leadership brought about a period of confusion and drift and factionalism within our party," Dad said.

At one point in the 1956 campaign, "Mr. Stevenson said to Dad, 'What am I doing wrong?'" she says.

"Dad walked over to the window of their hotel and pointed to a man standing in the entrance of a hotel across the street. 'The thing you have got to do is to learn how to reach that man. To communicate with the man in the street.'"

"Unfortunately for Dad and the Democratic party, Mr. Stevenson never mastered that difficult art."

White House Being Readied For Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House will be closed to the public Dec. 31 while it is being decorated for the Christmas holidays.

Decorating will be supervised by J. Lidden Pennek, a Philadelphia horticulturist and floral decorator who provided the setting for Tricia Nixon's wedding.

The tree for the White House Blue Room—a 20-foot Noble Fir—is coming from Washington state and is expected to arrive Dec. 7th.

All of the holiday items will be ready for showing Dec. 11. There's no word yet whether the presidential family will be in the White House for Christmas, which has been their custom.

Mrs. Nixon and her two daughters got in some Christmas shopping over the weekend in New York and there will be more to come.

The Nixons have in the past sent out as many as 40,000 Christmas cards. They usually go in the mail two weeks before Christmas, and Mrs. Nixon already is at work on this year's list.

Senator Sidelined

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Sen. Quentin Burdick, a pretty fair, football player for the University of Minnesota in the 1930s, has been put on a disabled list by his sixth-grade son.

After a friendly backyard touch-football game at the family home at Fargo on Thanksgiving Day, Burdick complained of a sore chest.

Later it was discovered he had a broken rib. But the 64-year-old Burdick never complained until the game was over.

He is spending a few days at home while the injury heals.

Rent Watch Produces $ Results

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government claims its nationwide "rent watch" has been a rousing success, preventing thousands of illegal rent increases while turning up only a handful of violations.

The Nixon administration put the rent watch into effect early this fall after Social Security benefits for retired people were increased 30 per cent. The watch was designed to prevent landlords from wiping out the Social Security gains by increasing rents.

The Internal Revenue Service investigated more than 90,000 rental units in a two-month period, finding only 34 minor violations and one violation that has been turned over to the Justice Department for possible prosecution.

In addition, IRS received 2,178 complaints. It has completed investigations of 1,482 of these complaints, uncovering 404 violations, most of them so technical that they were corrected immediately.

IRS has assessed 15 landlords with penalties totaling $28,812. Four of these cases have been settled and collected and the remainder are on appeal.

IRS says the rent watch is still in effect and reports of illegal rent increases levied on the elderly receive expedited treatment.

Officials at the Cost of Living Council said the rent watch will continue as long as needed. They dismissed any notion that it would be abruptly dropped, giving landlords a chance to boost rents of old people.

Traditionally, retired persons have faced rent increases shortly after Congress raised Social Security benefits.

The rent watch is not going to end with a bang, but with a whimper, for precisely the purpose that rents could be raised after it goes off," said one Cost of Living Council official.

Ed Preston, assistant IRS commissioner, said the results of the rent watch have been "rather impressive" in preventing rent increases.

While the IRS is no longer conducting spot investigations, he said, "if we started getting any feeling that rents were being abused, we'll start getting into high gear again."

Sunpower Something Special

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) - Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

So vast is the sun that a single storm upon the solar surface can produce in a single hour enough energy to satisfy the present power needs of the United States at the present rate for a century.

Rattlesnakes can be poisonous to themselves. They have been known to kill themselves accidentally by striking their own bodies with their fangs and driving the venom into their bloodstream.

The development of a new product for today's market is a three-step process, an industrialist will say. First, an American firm announces an invention; second, the Russians claim they made the same discovery 20 years ago; third, the Japanese start exporting it.

By the way, the Chinese, who are credited with having invented everything from spaghetti to gunpowder, are also believed to have been the first people to produce dictionaries. The one thing they didn't invent is chop-choy, which is more indigenous to San Francisco than China.

Quaintable notices: "The chief function of the body is to carry the brain around." Thomas A. Edison.

Odd laws: A parliament in Ireland in 1447 passed a law saying that no man should have a beard above his mouth unless he wished to be taken for an Englishman. The upper lip had to be shaved at least once a fortnight. In olden times only members of royalty or the nobility had clean-shaven faces - because only they could afford razors.

Half-forgotten heroes: The odds are at least 2 to 1 that you can't identify Kara Benz. Benz is the German inventor of the first reliable automobile in 1885. It had three wheels, an engine behind its single seat and a steering wheel on the side.

Surgical note: Few people know that ants have an honored place in the history of human surgery. At least since the second century B.C. Hindu doctors used black ants, which have powerful jaws, in battlefield surgery. The ant was held up to the wound or incision until it had closed it with its jaws. The body of the insect was then pinched off, but its head still retained its grip on the incision. This surgical trick was used for centuries by physicians from Africa to Southern Europe.

Worth remembering: Before leaving, after taking care of their children for the evening, the baby sitter told the returning parents: "By the way, I promised your little daughter Jamie that if she went to bed on time, you'd buy her a new color television set in the morning. She went to bed."

In Finland, a driver caught with a detectable trace of liquor on his breath, can be jailed for up to five months - and at hard labor if he kills or injures anyone.

It was Don Marquis who observed, "An optimist is a guy who has never had much experience."

Stock Sale Delayed
LOS ANGELES (AP) - The first public stock offering by Hughes Tool Co., owned by reclusive billionaire Howard Hughes, was scheduled today but has been postponed for a week.

A Los Angeles spokesman for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., chief underwriter for the offering of 4.78 million shares, said Monday he had no explanation for the delay.

TRAVELED IN STYLE
SALIDA, Colo. (AP) - When Paul Chisholm Hall of San Francisco promised to visit his aunt and uncle in Socorro, N.M., this summer, he wasn't fooling.

When he and his red horse, Toby, reached Salida, Toby resembled a prospecting burro and Paul was attired in western clothes including an old slouch hat and poncho. Paul avoided the highways and traveled the old trail. When asked if there were any messages he said, "Sure. Let my Mom know where I am." Paul is 15 years old.

Scribe Wants Capitol Visitor POW Gift Rules Outlined To Have A Real Yule Tree-

By DON MEIKLE, Associated Press Writer
A letter to Mrs. Thomas J. Meskill... Dear Mary, It's time to fight the battle of the Capitol Christmas tree again. Will this venerable building have to suffer the presence of a plastic and aluminum imitation or can it once more have a noble tree, a real one, the kind that smells good and drops its needles on the floor? We know it isn't easy to make a real tree conform to all the safety regulations of an officialdom, but you did it last year. You brought the Capitol Christmas tree in from the cold of the north portico and put it in the lobby where your husband and the rest of us who work here could admire it as we came and went.

The tree had to be fireproofed, of course, and it couldn't have any strings of lights on it. In our own homes, we can have the luxury of flammable trees with hot lights on them, but we understand that in public buildings people have to be more careful. So last year, when the Capitol tree came inside the building, the only lights allowed were colored spotlights shining on it. This year, it could be even more difficult to put a real tree inside the Capitol. The gantries have already been thrown down by the Building and Grounds people. All the state agencies have received copies of the fire marshal's 12-year-old regulations on Christmas trees.

Not content with the structures on real trees, the fire marshal even forbids the use of strings of lights on artificial trees - whether the trees be made of metal, spun glass, or asbestos. Also, no combustible materials can be used in the ornaments. You might advise the 4-H Clubs, Mary, if they're providing the ornaments for the Capitol tree again this year, to make them out of asbestos. Finally, if you still persist in bringing a real tree into the Capitol, you must obtain the express approval of the fire marshal, and you must obtain it "through proper channels" - that is, through buildings and grounds.

The world seeks to be making it very difficult for us to keep the old traditions. Santa Claus is a plastic doll climbing into a plastic chimney, or a leering buckster in a department store suggesting all the most expensive toys to the little kids who climb upon his lap. Instead of Dancer, Francor, Donner and Blitzen we get rednecks Rudolf, a product of Tin Pan Alley. Snow is an icky foam that comes out of a spray can. The Yule log is plugged into an electric socket and may be re-used year after year. And the Christmas tree...well, that shiny, antiseptic, deodorized, perfectly plastic product of our manufacturing ingenuity bears no more resemblance to a real tree than a cheap wig bears to the golden locks of Rapunzel. Please keep the real tree, Mary. It may be a lot of trouble, but someone has to stand up and fight. The day may come when the Capitol lawn is replaced with Astroturf and plastic flowers, but let's not hasten that day.

Meanwhile, there is a readily available substance you can use to decorate the Capitol Christmas tree. It is easy to obtain; the supply is inexhaustible, and it is so durable, that it has withstood flame, flood, famine, time and the vicissitudes of politics. It's called "red tape."

UNEXPECTED PAY
VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — When Ventura County Fire Capt. Sidney Ellis started rummaging through an old desk in his office, he ran across a paycheck made out to a Robert Harlock dated 24 years ago. Ellis located Harlock's name in the phone book, called him and asked if he were the fellow who "helped fight the Ojai fire" in 1948. For some reason, Harlock had never claimed the $82 due him, routing should address them with the serviceman's name, serial number and camp of detention to "Hanoi, D.R.V.N., via Moscow."

Cernan Makes Final Check

Cernan Is A Man Searching For The Appropriate Words

By PAUL HEGER, AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Eugene A. Cernan is a man in search of just the right words needed for what he believes will be a big moment in history.
Cernan is the commander of the final Apollo mission to the moon. His will be the last steps by an American on the lunar surface for years, perhaps for decades.
Somehow, he says, he wants to find the precise words for the end of America's Apollo adventure.
"I think there's a moment when you effectively, literally, step and walk off the surface just like Neil (Armstrong, the first man on the moon) walked onto the surface," says Cernan. "I think there's a moment that's got to be very impressive.
For that big moment, the mirror image of Armstrong's big moment in 1969, the space agency is giving Cernan just as much help as it did Armstrong. And that's absolutely none at all.
It's a calculated policy of the space agency to leave it up to the astronauts to find the words or statements they believe are needed for the historic events in space.
Julian Scheer, former chief public affairs officer of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said the policy was established just before the first "great moment in Apollo."
Apollo 8 was to take man into orbit of the moon for the first time ever. The date was to be Christmas Eve, 1968, and the mission commander, astronaut Frank Borman, knew he had to have something special to say.
"Frank sensed that it was a really significant event," recalled Scheer, "and he asked friends for suggestions."
When he came to me, my reaction was that I didn't think we should suggest anything," Scheer said. "It was inappropriate, I didn't think we should program people."
Borman eventually found the words he wanted in the Bible. When Apollo 8 went into orbit of the moon, the astronauts focused a television camera on the primitive lunar surface.
Then Borman and his crewmates, James Lovell and William Anders, read the first 10 verses of Genesis, the story of creation which starts, "In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth..."
The no-help policy continued for Apollo 11, the first lunar landing and man's first step on the moon.
When Armstrong stood on the landing pad of his lunar module, about to put the first footprint in the lunar dust, no one at NASA had any idea what his words would be, Scheer said.
Armstrong leaped out and placed his foot on the moon and said, "That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind."
President Eisenhower began the U.S. commitments to Southeast Asia in 1954 with the formation of SEATO and financial aid to Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

RHS Hikes Game Fees By 50 Cents

A 50-cent increase in admission fees to athletic events at Rockville High School was approved by the Board of Education Monday night.
The request to raise the costs was made by Richard Tingley, athletic director, who explained that Rockville was at the bottom of the league with its existing admission prices. The increase does not include students who hold Athletic Association cards. These cards, for which the students pay $3 admit, them to all home games at no added charge and identifies them for reduced fees at games away from home.
Tingley said he had been urged by other area schools to increase the Rockville High fees. He also told the board that there is a problem with younger children being dropped off to attend the games and besides there being a shortage of space in the gym, there is a problem with parents not picking the children up on time after the game is over.
In the motion to approve the price increase the board included that there will be a charge of 50 cents for children who are 12 years old or under, $1 for a Booster Club member and no charge to those 65 years old or older or to students with physical disabilities.
Tingley said the gymnasium is limited to the seating of 800 persons. To date, 400 students have Athletic Association tickets; 50 persons have com-

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - A holiday man walked into a food store here and asked to purchase a few items. He pulled out his wallet to pay for them, placing it on the counter. He then pulled a gun and demanded the clerk march up to the cash register and give him all the money. He made off with the money and some items, including a few watches on display, then sprinted to the door and left. But he forgot his wallet, which contained his identification. Police had no trouble locating him.

Coventry Council Outlines Sewer Plan

In the last public presentation before the final hearing, the Town Council declared a moratorium on lake-area building until a comprehensive plan of development for the lake area has been adopted and also asked that the work of the rehabilitation committee, now in progress, be allowed to be completed before adoption of a sewer program.

Footage is held in deferment until land use is determined. The Town Council declared a moratorium on lake-area building until a comprehensive plan of development for the lake area has been adopted and also asked that the work of the rehabilitation committee, now in progress, be allowed to be completed before adoption of a sewer program.

Hebron PZC Lifts Ban On Lake House

ANN EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-3971 The Planning and Zoning Commission voted in executive session last night to lift the "stop order" it had placed in September on the construction of a year-round pre-fab modular home on Lots 145 and 146 on St. Ronan Rd. at Armon Lake.

Building Inspector Richard Keefe will be advised to notify the owner Murray Ostrager that he may continue construction provided he complies with recommendations made by the State Health Department.

Cost of Coventry's sewerage treatment plant, interceptor, trunk line, will be paid through general town taxation. The point was made from the floor that sewer installation might encourage rapid construction of several areas and consideration should be given to increased general taxes due to expanded uses of police, schools and social services.

General estimates recommended by the Sewer Assessment Study Committee indicate that each user will bear a $750 unit charge and $12 per foot frontage charge of the house lot. Any other front

Appropriations Dot Next Board Agenda

BY SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter) It's been only a week since the Manchester Board of Directors took action on a long list of added appropriations to the 1972-73 General Fund budget and it already is facing an agenda of added appropriations to the 1972-73 General Fund budget for its meeting next Tuesday.

Most of the proposed appropriations would be financed by equal payments from other sources. However, $35,442 would be financed from an anticipated increase in property tax revenue and $4,500 from an anticipated increase in the Pines, Licenses and Fees Account.

The $4,500 would be for the town clerk's office, to pay for additional expenses brought on by increased activity in land recordings and in election advertising. The increase in land-record activities has resulted in a corresponding increase in fees. The proposed additional appropriation would be financed by it.

Proposed to be financed from an anticipated increase in property taxes are — $29,000 to the Capital Improvement Reserve Fund, for paying the town's share for reconstruction of the Broad-Hillard Sts. intersection; $4,000 to the Library Account, for paying the additional expense for keeping Mary Cheney Library open Sunday afternoons; and $2,442 to the Senior Citizens Account, to pay for part-time janitorial services.

The anticipated increase from property taxes results from a "Construction Bill" passed by the 1971 General Assembly. It provides for pre-project assessments on new property completed after the Oct. 1 release of a town's Grand List. Until the law was adopted, new construction completed after Oct. 1 was re-assessed the following Oct. 1.

It stipulated that Ostrager must comply with Schur's recommendation concerning considerable fill material above the original grade in the property in order to be permitted through the requirements that Schur recommended this fill and the underlying brush and stumps be removed and the leaching galleries installed in the original soil and then covered with fill.

Andover Here Are Major Changes In Subdivision Rules

ANNA FRISINA Correspondent Tel. 742-9347 The proposed new subdivision regulations for the town of Andover have finally been drafted and will be presented to the town at a public hearing Dec. 11.

The regulations are the culmination of eight months of extensive research and effort on the part of the zoning board members in an attempt to bring to Andover current, practical regulations that will provide for the ever-changing needs of the community.

Perhaps the most radical difference between the old and proposed regulations is what is called a "Municipal Improvement Fund" that will be established and supported by subdivisions.

The new regulations provide that every developer more than 12 homes must put an amount equal to three per cent of the total sales price of the developed property into a fund which will be owned and used by the town for capital improvements, such as the building of schools, road building and maintenance, and expansion of municipal services.

The fund would work thus: If a developer proposes building 60 new homes at an average sales price of $30,000, he would have to place $54,000 into the fund. This figure would be paid in over the course of the time it takes to complete the development and occupy the homes.

Cluster housing: For the first time since zoning in Andover, the regulations make provision for what is termed cluster housing. This type of housing provides for the construction of single, multiple family, apartment or condominium units in any combination, in any density, in all areas of the town.

The developer of such "mini-towns" created by the cluster housing concept will also have to put an amount equal to 2% of the total sales cost of the housing into the same municipal improvement fund to provide for extended municipal services.

Minor Subdivisions: The commission has provided in the proposed regulations for "Minor Subdivisions," which includes those developments of 12 homes or under on existing streets, where no new streets are required.

Third Land Division: The current interpretation of REUNION PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Was an American soldier, stationed at Buc, France, during World War II made a friend of a lonely 12-year-old boy, Raymond Bordier, he kept up the correspondence for 20 years.

Recently the French boy, now a man, arrived in Pueblo for a visit with his GI friend, Marion Boss. Bordier's wife and two children were with him and they were kept busy seeing all the sights in Colorado before returning home. Boss is head of the department of Business Education and Office Administration at Southern Colorado State College.

Saloonkeeper Leaves Fortune To Sister

CASTELLA, Calif. (AP) — Mike Padula, who ran a saloon in his small northern California town for much of his life, has left $1.5 million to a sister and her two daughters who he never met.

Old Reliable: Old Faithful, a geyser in Yellowstone National Park, erupts for about 4 minutes once in every 65 minutes. Men have observed it for more than 80 years, and it has not missed an eruption during that time.

During World War I, sheep were allowed to graze on the White House lawn. Wool grown on these sheep was auctioned in each state and U.S. possessions, and the proceeds were donated to the Red Cross.

Saloonkeeper Leaves Fortune To Sister

Padula was on view for an hour in a 500-pound copper cauldron. James Padula, a brother, said at the funeral that Mike received a letter from Mrs. Gray in 1949, with pictures of her daughters, but never replied, James said. The will was dated Sept. 9, 1959.

Mayors Urge President To Push First-Term Proposals That Failed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Two mayors who were consulted on plans for President Nixon's second term said they recommended he push harder for first-term proposals Congress failed to approve rather than draft new urban programs.

Democratic Jack Malster of San Leandro, Calif., and Republican Richard Lugar of Indianapolis — both here for the annual meeting of the National League of Cities — said they had been asked for suggestions by President Nixon's staff.

Malster is a former president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors and Lugar, the past president of the National League of Cities. Both men worked actively for the President's re-election.

Malster was chairman of a group of Democratic mayors who called him to press harder than ever for welfare reform, special revenue-sharing and reorganization of Cabinet departments which failed to win congressional approval.

"I said he doesn't need new programs if he really pushes for and gets the ones from last term," Malster said.

Lugar urged a move toward metropolitan government to tackle urban problems and said "The President's proposals to simply or curtail the federal bureaucracy, such as Cabinet reorganization or a consolidation of aid programs into special revenue-sharing would allow federal funds to flow smoothly and efficiently into these more realistic local government structures."

He said he did not recommend that the federal government threaten to withhold aid from cities that do not restructure boundaries along metropolitan lines, because "over-all sanctions which blanket the entire country with one policy are inappropriate."

Malster recommended "more bonuses for those local governments who really do reorganize."

In his first term, Lugar consolidated city and county governments in Indianapolis.

Lugar and Malster suggested the President use executive powers to reorganize the Cabinet.

"I said he should go as far as he can as a liberal interpretation of his executive powers to reorganize," Malster said.

Police Report

MANCHESTER

Francis R. Mulvey, 31, of 38 Ridgewood St., was charged with possession of controlled drugs on a Circuit Court 12 arrest warrant served Tuesday night by Manchester Police.

Mulvey was released on a $500 non-surety bond for court appearance Dec. 12.

Police said the charge stems from a recent search of Mulvey's residence, when he was not home. A quantity of unidentified drugs seized in the search were sent to the state toxicology laboratory for testing.

John B. Riley, 21, of 3Ridgewood St., was charged with several motor vehicle violations early today, when police stopped the car he was driving at Charter Oak and Main Sts.

Riley is charged with operating an unregistered motor vehicle; misuse of marker plates; failure to carry license; failure to display headlights; and operating a motor vehicle with defective brakes, defective exhaust system, and defective horn.

The vehicle was towed. Court date is Dec. 18.

Lestina M. Kucienki, 30, of 81 Main St., was charged Tuesday with issuing a bad check.

The charges, lodged against her on a Circuit Court 12 warrant, stem from the alleged cashing of a bad check at Harvey's Dress and Sportswear Shop, 1145 Tolland Pike, police said.

She was released on her written promise to appear in court Dec. 11.

Police issued summonses for alleged motor vehicle violations to:

Thomas R. Thibodeau, 24, of East Hartford, charged early today with speeding on N. Main St. Court date is Dec. 18.

Ronald F. Trombley, 28, of 77 Oak St., charged Tuesday with operating a motor vehicle while license and registration are suspended, and improper use of registration plates. His vehicle was stopped on Green Rd. Court date is Dec. 11.

Rain Zukan, 16, of 22 White St., charged Tuesday night with failure to obey traffic control markings at Main and Hilliard Sts. Court date is Dec. 11.

Moscow Jet Crash Kills 61

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Americans were among 61 persons killed in the crash of a Japanese airliner as it was taking off from Moscow for Japan Tuesday night, Japan Air Lines announced today.

JAL said 14 Japanese and a New Zealander survived the crash and were being treated at Moscow hospitals.

A 16th survivor was reported earlier but a check of hospitals produced only 15 persons. The airline said the 16th person was missing and presumed dead.

The Americans were listed as C. Gerbic, M. Bretler and Sachheim. The airline said Bretler and Sachheim boarded the flight in Copenhagen and Gerbic boarded in Moscow.

Bretler was believed to be Monroe S. Bretler, president of the Bretler International Sales Corp. of New York, who a Japanese firm in Nagoya said was expected on the flight.

The four-engine DC8 was on a trans-Siberian flight from Copenhagen to Tokyo. It had climbed to about 400 feet after taking off, then plunged downward and crashed about 150 yards from the end of a runway at Sheremetyevo airport.

Libyan Troops Leave Uganda

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Four hundred Libyan soldiers and armor, sent to Uganda in September after an unsuccessful invasion by Ugandan exiles in Tanzania, have returned to Tripoli, officials of the Libyan Embassy said today.

The Libyans took no part in the fighting, but President Idi Amin said they helped to train Ugandan troops during their two-month stay.

He Has 1-9 Shot In the Super 75

A Manchester man has a 1 in 9 shot at the Super $75,000 prize to be drawn tomorrow in the state lottery.

He is James L. Dodson of 69 Horton Dr., who won $5,000 last Friday when number 7043 was drawn in the weekly lottery — drawn on a tennis court in Cheshire. Tomorrow's drawing will be in the Farmington Valley Mall, Rt. 44, Avon. Dodson and eight other $5,000 winners will be seeking the $75,000 super prize.

A foreman on the second shift at Pratt & Whitney, East Hartford, Dodson didn't know he had won the $5,000 until he came home — about midnight.

As he tells it, "I came home to a brightly lit house, and there were my wife and kids bouncing up and down in excitement. My wife had discovered I was a winner and she was almost out of her mind."

"I was numb when I heard the news, and I'm still numb. I've never won anything in my life and I still can't believe it. I suppose it'll finally dawn on me when I have the check in my hand."

Dodson's wife, Norma, will accompany him to Avon tomorrow. Their two children, Perry, a senior, and Cindy, a sophomore, will attend Manchester High School as usual. Dodson bought his winning ticket at the Harvest Hill Package Store, in the Parkade. He said he buys an average of four a week.

He'll use the money he's won "to pay off a load of bills, in a year of many expenses." If there's any left over, he and his wife may take a vacation, he said.

To Dodson and his wife, this has been "a year of coincidences." They were married 25 years on Oct. 23, and this was his 25th Anniversary at Pratt & Whitney. His winning lottery number just missed adding up to 25-by-one digit.

Warning Issued Concerning Pet Turtles

HARTFORD (AP) — State health officials warn pet owners to be careful of turtles because their fingers in their mouths or eat food without washing their hands, the commissioner said.

Mrs. Dunn said federal statistics show that each year there are about 280,000 cases of salmonellosis nationally caused by turtles.

"Because of this, the federal government is now going to require all small turtles to be inspected for bacteria before they can be sold," she said.

"This means that turtles imported from other countries, as well as those shipped across state lines in this country which are found to be infected, will be stopped from going to retail stores."

The illness can be serious enough to require treatment at a hospital, she said in a statement.

Children are particularly susceptible (to the disease) because they are more likely to play with the turtles and put their fingers in their mouths or eat food without washing their hands," the commissioner said.

Christmas Mail Tips

The key to efficient and economical Christmas mailing is to mail early and carefully. Carefully addressing, with correct ZIP code proper packaging and early depositing can prevent most problems and provide the greatest value for money spent for postage.

The recommended mailing dates for civilian domestic Christmas mail start Dec. 1 and in 1972, as in the past, the Postal Service is encouraging customers to deposit Christmas mail as soon as possible to ensure delivery prior to Dec. 25 and also to help the Postal Service to keep ahead of the avalanche of holiday season mail. To help everyone receive the best possible mail service, it still pays to be an "early bird" and meet these holiday mailing dates.

Suggested latest dates for depositing domestic Christmas mail include:

Distant states - parcels, Dec. 1 and cards Dec. 10.

Local and nearby areas - parcels Dec. 11 and cards, Dec. 15.

Vernon Notes

South Windsor FISH Seeks Help

The South Windsor FISH (Friends in Service Here) organization is currently soliciting for new members to work as volunteers in the group.

Mrs. June Cottle, 1972 FISH chairman says she does not know of "anything that can alleviate boredom, worry, frustration, or loneliness faster than becoming involved in filling the needs of another person."

Mrs. Cottle said that approximately one-third of South Windsor's 90 FISH volunteers serve one day a month as telephone officers, receiving calls for assistance on a 24-hour basis. Calls come in to a professional answering service and are then directed to a telephone officer assigned for that call.

The officer then contacts the caller and ascertains the need.

According to Mrs. Cottle, there are days when no calls are received and there are days when three to five are received and require referral to an agency for specialized help, a baby sitter for an emergency situation, or a hot meal. Most of the time, the individual is in need of transportation for medical care, counseling, which are provided by the transportation officer.

Face-Lifting In Brazil On The Time-Pay Plan

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Plastic surgery — that rejuvenating technique of the rich and famous — has gone the way of installment plans and lot-drawing in Brazil in an effort to reach the average housewife. And men, too.

"This is a unique plan," says Delvi Berger, a lawyer and general manager of FINAC, a Sao Paulo firm which finances car buying and has launched a plan to finance plastic surgery operations under the typically Brazilian "consorcio" system.

A consorcio is a type of credit club in which members make monthly contributions to a general fund for a stated period, usually 36 months. In the case of cars, the consorcio buys two a month. A drawing decides who gets the cars first. At the end of 36 months, everybody has a car. Even after getting his car, a member must continue paying monthly contributions until the consorcio ends.

"Liz Taylor snatched Burton

after 12 magnificent plastic-surgery operations," a brochure for prospective consorcio says. "How many will you need to match your husband?"

The plan met initial opposition from the Brazilian Society of Plastic Surgery, which represents plastic surgeons in this country. The society wrongly believed the group was tied to a specific group of doctors, in violation of the society's code of ethics.

But FINAC only handles the money side for patients, who must contact the doctor.

"The problem with an aesthetic plastic-surgery operation has been having the money to get one," says Berger, explaining the "why" of a plastic surgery consorcio.

"We decided to start a plastic-surgery consorcio along the same lines of a car consorcio, after a survey we made among middle-class women, and with payments compatible with a middle-class income.

"If a Brazilian woman is willing to sacrifice part of her monthly earnings to satisfy female vanity by going to a beauty parlor or buying cosmetics, then she can also make a small sacrifice to get some plastic surgery."

Under FINAC's plan, "any woman can get her longed dream of aesthetic operation," an ad claims.

The consorcio is limited to a 120-person unit. Two winners are selected each month, and monthly payments are $30 for 42 months in the $250 plan or $60 a month for the same period in the $1,000 plan.

Brazil has one of the world's most famous plastic surgeons, a survey last June among 500 women and 100 men. Most women said a consorcio was a good idea, while men disagreed, both on allowing an operation for their wives or for themselves. Men don't really need to be handsome, some said. But they agreed it could be a good deal for their daughters.

The plastic-surgery plan already has offices and staff in the prosperous Jardim America neighborhood, and Berger says off at the end of the year initial response has been good, because of Christmas and the school-year vacations. "But the plan will not begin receiving payments until says March.

It's not a good idea to start neighborhood, and Berger says off at the end of the year initial response has been good, because of Christmas and the school-year vacations. "But the plan will not begin receiving payments until says March.

Apollo Failures Led To Big Changes In Superbird

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two Apollo failures — one which killed three spacemen on the ground and another which almost saw three perish in space — led to significant changes in the ship making the last Apollo flight.

The failures of Apollo 1 and Apollo 13 taught hard lessons and forced changes in hardware and design which, in turn, were bequeathed to Apollo 17, the final scheduled American mission to the moon.

"There's no question about it," said one space engineer. "We learn with each mistake and make the fixes we need to keep it from happening again. Apollo 17 is a cleaner spacecraft because of the problems we've had in the past."

Apollo 17 commander Eugene A. Cernan is so happy with the spacecraft of his flight he calls them "superbirds."

"They're the best we've ever had," says Cernan, referring to the command module the crew named "America" and the lunar lander they call "Challenger."

Apollo 1 failed before it ever got off the ground, killing three astronauts as they ran a routine test.

On Jan. 27, 1967, astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee were perched atop the rocket scheduled to launch them into space the next month, first of the manned Apollo missions.

Chaffee's voice suddenly cut through on the communications circuit with the words: "We've got a fire in the spacecraft."

A blaze, aided by the pure oxygen atmosphere of the craft and by its flammable materials, seared through Apollo 1.

Within seconds, intense heat inside the spacecraft ruptured its hull. By the time workmen could open the spacecraft, it was too late. The astronauts died on their space cabin couches.

In the months that followed, the Apollo program went through an intensive self-examination. The result was massive changes in procedures, design and equipment.

Out of the Apollo 1 accident came new materials, spacelabs, communications systems and wiring. Research conducted because of the tragedy produced flame-resistant materials which today are widely used by industry.

By October 1968, a new Apollo spacecraft that was safer, stronger and better designed was ready to fly.

The second major Apollo failure occurred April 13, 1970 more than 200,000 miles from earth on man's third lunar landing mission.

Apollo 13 astronauts James Lovell, Fred Haise and John L. Swigert Jr. were streaking outward at about 2,100 miles an hour when they heard what Lovell called "a rather loud bang."

An oxygen tank had ruptured. Within minutes the command ship's supply of air the crew needed to breathe had flashed into space.

The astronauts quickly opened a hatch into their still attached lunar module. The little craft that was designed to land on the moon became their first life boat.

For more than 80 hours, while their spacecraft looped around the moon, streaking earthward, the astronauts fought to stay alive.

Apollo 13 splashed down in the Pacific Ocean, its crew safe. And the second major investigation of the moon program was started.

Months of investigation and testing uncovered the probable cause of the explosion — malfunctioning switches and wires with burned insulation inside an oxygen tank.

To prevent another such accident, a third oxygen tank was installed in future Apollo spacecraft. Wiring was removed from inside the oxygen tanks. Procedures were changed for testing the spacecraft oxygen systems.

The Apollo program had other, small problems which also required "fixes." A lightning bolt which hit Apollo 13 shortly after liftoff brought new rules about launching in marginal weather. A docking problem in Apollo 14 produced more reliability in space linkups. A parachute which collapsed as Apollo 15 was returning to earth caused changes which produced a better parachute system.

European Press Alarmed Over Middle East

LONDON (AP) — The recent Syrian-Israeli fighting could lead to warfare in other areas of the Middle East, several European newspapers warned last week.

Chancellor Willy Brandt's election victory in West Germany and the boycott of Japanese goods in Thailand also drew considerable foreign editorial comment.

"Fighting between Syria and Israel across the Golan Heights is not just routine retaliation," said The Guardian, one of Britain's leading papers. "It could lead to a break in the cease-fire along the Suez Canal, which has been unbroken since August 1970."

President Sadat's present difficulties in Egypt must increase the risk of this happening. The decision made in July to expel the Soviet military personnel has not brought the benefits that Sadat had hoped for. Egypt's defenses are weakened. Vivaldi, the Soviet brake and excuse for inactivity which came with it have been removed.

The Dutch daily Volkskrant said the fighting on the Golan Heights may prove to be the overture to a new big conflict in the Middle East in the near future.

"The strong Israeli desire for tough response to letter bombs and other terror actions is understandable, but it offers no prospects of a long-term solution," the Dutch paper said.

The Times of London, viewing the political situation in West Germany, said Brandt's decisive victory "will be very widely welcomed in Europe."

Hitherto, Herr Brandt has been occupied primarily with the national problem of settling his relations with the Soviet Union, Poland and East Germany. The majority of West Germans have now shown that they support this very radical change in the postwar policy of their country," it said.

"This has removed the German dispute from the center of the European stage and opened the way to freer diplomacy on both sides."

The Financial Times of Britain noted: "Though the opposition hammered away at the issue of inflation, now running at six per cent annually, it did not contrive to turn the electorate away from the government."

"A Germany that looks on inflation with something approaching equanimity, with payments in deficit and a currency out of the firing line is something of a novelty on the postwar scene," the paper commented.

New Zealand has about 3,200 miles of railway.

New College Campus Is In 'The Students' Heads'

By JEANNINE YEOMANS
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The brochure says New College is a year-old liberal arts college headed by a Jesuit priest and accredited by the State of California. It adds that the campus is located in the students' heads.

The students decide the budget, what faculty to hire and how they wish to learn and how.

Dr. John Leary, former president of Gonzaga University, started the nontraditional college in the fall of 1971 with 22 students, $2,500 and "a lot of guts."

Now it has a $100,000 yearly budget, 75 students, 22 faculty members and still a lot of guts. The faculty includes professors from nearby colleges, an architect and a man who owns a furniture workshop.

The campus is a cluster of paneled, carpeted rooms upstairs over a general-assembly plant on the waterfront in the San Francisco bay-side community of Sausalito. There is no library, no cafeteria, no living accommodations, and classes are held wherever the student feels he can learn something.

Some students want to learn Navajo rug weaving; they will spend a month living with Navajos in the Grand Canyon. Some only want to read; they map out individual programs of total reading.

In a course called "Building Imagination," teachers rented an old house for one semester and each student decorated a room to express an atmosphere.

Students interested in recording arranged lectures at a teacher's home by rock musicians Barry Miles, formerly with Country Joe and the Fish, and Mike Bloomfield. Father Leary says New College aims to let the student decide what he wants to learn, why and how to go about it.

For Sale: One New High School
BURLINGTON, Mass. (AP) — A town meeting member has suggested that Burlington's new $16-million high school, scheduled to open in February, be sold and the money used to reduce taxes.

The proposal was filed by Michael T. Cunningham, one of the elected members who take part in town meetings, on behalf of Arthur Moon, a Burlington resident. The proposal is to be acted upon in March.

Moon said a study of new school enrollments in Burlington over the past 10 years showed a downward trend. New enrollment peaked at 800 first grade children in the 1967, he said, and has fallen to 568. The total town enrollment is 7,800.

Plans call for using the old high school to ease overcrowding in the junior high, where about 600 pupils are on double sessions. Some other schools are to be closed.

"I argue that we should not close these schools. If we can get by with them now, we can get by for a little longer until the downward trend resolves the problem," Moon said.

Cunningham suggested that Middlesex Community College might be interested in purchasing the new high school complex. Burlington's tax rate went up 30 this year, to $60 per $1,000 valuation.

"The great goal is to get people to want to learn," he said in an interview. "Teachers need to be rejuvenated, and students need to be reached."

On Fridays, students take part in direct study in the community. John Farah, 30, of Washington, D.C., is interested in medicine, so he spends Friday mornings with a physician.

Mike Coughlan, 20, of Minnesota described himself as a "C and D student" in high school who "made an art out of doing the least possible could."

"But here I finally saw the possibility of learning something. So I'm looking into a lot of things and learning a lot," he said.

New College offers dozens of classes, with pass or fail grading and graduation in three years. Courses are arranged in categories such as science fiction, comparative religion, new approaches to biology, drama, workshop, the readers novel, urban problems and an overview of Shakespeare.

When management problems arise, students, faculty, Father Leary and sometimes the trustees get together to discuss and vote what to do. Father Leary said students picked the five full-time and 17 part-time faculty members this year from 619 applicants.

The tall, balding priest served eight years as president of Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash., then went to Utah State and was a vice president at Santa Clara University in 1971, when he and students began talking about a new college.

They first attempted to get the university to sponsor it, but Santa Clara officials vetoed the idea.

So Father Leary and 22 students did it on their own with $2,000 he borrowed from a friend and $500 from the Jesuits. New College now is in the process of regional accreditation which takes 4 to 6 years. It has received a California state bachelors-of-arts degree in humanities.

Tuition is $1,000 a semester. Father Leary, who held the first classes in his living room, said he hopes the school always can remain small, with a maximum of 750 students and a "dispersed" campus. He said this is a fancy name for using other people's buildings — churches, schools, libraries and homes.

Personally, he said, he is most impressed "with the felicitousness of our students. They have taken the quantum leap towards educating themselves."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Guns and Children

While preparing for a hunting trip, Hodges left his loaded rifle propped against the wall in the living room. His 11-year-old son carried the gun outside, showed it to a friend, and accidentally fired a bullet into the other boy's leg.

In short order, Hodges found himself facing a sizable damage suit. At the trial, he protested that he had never given his son permission to handle the rifle.

But the court held him liable anyhow. The court said he was guilty of negligence for leaving a dangerous weapon so easily accessible to a youngster.

Today, more than half of the nation's households have guns. Consequently, the chances of parental liability are at an all-time high. The law lays a heavy responsibility on adults to keep firearms out of immature hands.

In fact, many courts have been just as strict about BB guns, partly because they too can inflict injury and partly because they may be restricted by a local ordinance.

However, the less the danger the less the responsibility. On this ground, an injury caused by a child's toy bow and arrow was held not attributable to his parents.

And in another case, parents were held not liable for their son's carelessness with a sling shot—a common plaything in the neighborhood.

Of course, almost any object can be used in a dangerous way if a child is so inclined. For example:

An 11-year-old boy picked up an old golf club which his father had left lying on the grass in their back yard. The boy swung at a pebble, but instead struck a playmate in the jaw.

Clearly, the club had been turned into a dangerous weapon on this particular occasion. But a court ruled that the father could not be blamed, since a golf club would not ordinarily fit that rule.

It was the kind of misuse, said the court, that the father could not fairly be expected to foresee.

Social Security

Q. My brother just had a serious operation. Would he be considered disabled?

A. A worker is considered disabled if he has a physical or mental condition which prevents him from doing any substantial gainful work and the condition is expected to last at least 12 months.

Q. How old must a person be to be eligible for disability benefits?

A. You may be any age as long as you are disabled and have worked long enough under Social Security.

Q. My husband died three years ago. I became disabled last year. I'm 62 years old and never worked under Social Security. My brother told me I had to be disabled when my husband died to be entitled to disabled widows benefits. Is that true?

A. No, it is not. If you are over 50 and meet the disability requirements, a widow may be entitled to benefits if she became disabled before her husband's death or within seven years after his death.

Q. I am 67 years old and receiving Social Security retirement benefits. I have just become disabled. Can I now collect disability benefits as well as retirement benefits?

A. No. If you are entitled to more than one monthly benefit at the same time, the amount you receive would be the larger of the benefits. In your case, the retirement benefit would be the same as the disability benefit so there is no increase in benefits.

Q. Is there any literature that gives some examples of disabling conditions?

A. A booklet entitled "If You Become Disabled" is available at the Social Security office and gives some examples of disabling conditions.

Q. I recently filed a claim for disability benefits and was turned down. I don't agree with the decision. Is there any further action I can take?

A. Yes. You can file a request to have your claim reconsidered. You must file this request within six months from the date you were notified that your claim was denied. You can file your request with the local Social Security office.

Have a question about Social Security and its retirement, survivors, disability or Medicare benefits? Write to Questions & Answers, Social Security office, 657 Main St., East Hartford, Conn. 06108.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH

Pre-Columbian Art is recognized worldwide for its beauty as well as a view of another culture at another time. Such artifacts appear on a new stamp issue from Nicaragua — much to the delight of tropical and Latin American collectors. Each stamp features a different work of art superimposed on a background map of Nicaragua. All the artifacts are from the period 700 A.D. to 1200 A.D. The 10 c shows a monster effigy of a seated figure. The 15 c depicts a ring base vase. The 20 c has a mythological effigy vessel. The 25 c illustrates a human head vessel. The 30 c has a Nicoya plate. The 35 c pictures a seated effigy. The 40 c features a tripod plate with serpentine supports. The 50 c is a tripod effigy bowl. The 60 c is similar in design but with serpentine supports. The 80 c features a religious burial. The two highest values depict Costa Rican plates.

Beautiful stamps like the ones in this set are not only pleasing to the eye but educational for those who like to delve into the background and history of their stamps.

As Christmas nears and many nations, including the United States, are issuing stamps for the occasion, it is interesting to note a new stamp from Christmas Island. The adhesive depicts a twin angel design entitled "Peace and Joy." The colors are green, blue and purple against a black background.

Looking ahead to the Bicentennial in 1976, Minus Publications will issue a new album, "The American Revolution Stamp Album." The new album contains spaces for 20 stamps, set up by subject rather than year.

Beginning with the founding of the first colonies on the American mainland, the album covers the entire Revolutionary struggle and ends with the inauguration of President George Washington in 1789. Each stamp or series is accompanied by a well-written essay giving the background of the patriot or the event honored on the stamp. The loose-leaf album is available for $7.50 at your local dealer.

The United Nations Postal Administration will issue three new items of postal stationery on Jan. 12 to meet the revised postage rates. There will be a 6-cent airmail card, a 9-cent envelope and an 11-cent airmail envelope. The final stamp of 1972 for the U.N. displayed the first work of art at the Geneva office — the Sert mural on the ceiling of the Council Hall at the Palais des Nations.

Volume III of the Scott Standard Postage Stamp Catalog for 1972 is now available with 27,377 price changes. Nearly all of the 124 stamp-issuing entities (Japan through Zambia) covered by this volume show changes. Japan, for example, has 2,550 price changes, but only the following countries have the same quotations as 1971: Laos, Middle Congo, North Ingermanland, Portuguese Africa, Shanghai, Tete and Vietnam.

Swastika Display Okay
HARTFORD (AP) — The National Socialist White People's Party of Bridgeport has a constitutional right to display the swastika, says the Connecticut Civil Liberties Union (CCLU). The CCLU said in its monthly newsletter that it received a letter from the Bridgeport group requesting an opinion on whether its members had the right to wear swastika armbands. "The CCLU informed the group that attempts by the state or local officials to prevent them from wearing the armband would infringe upon constitutional guarantees of free speech protected by the First Amendment," the CCLU said. The CCLU said its position on the matter is in a uniform, flag or armband represents symbolic speech and is fully protected regardless of how offensive it might be to others.

Angels' GM Still Fishing After Baseball Trade

Coaches' Corner

By Dave Wiggins
Manchester High

(Manchester defeated Windham, 16-15 in Willimantic Thanksgiving.)
Thanksgiving's game against Windham High was not one of our better games. We were sluggish offensively and when the line did block well, our backs were missing their holes. I don't think our poor play was as much from overconfidence as it was from trying too hard. I think our players really wanted to win this last game in a big way and just pressed too hard. Of course, when a team fumbles four times and has a pass intercepted, it is hard to generate any kind of an offense.

The thing I was proud of though, was that each time we fell behind, we had the ability to come back. Three times in our last four ball games, we have had to come from behind in order to win. This in my mind, was the most rewarding, because only a team which believes in itself can do this.

I think some of our players have matured 100% over the season, and they have developed something within themselves that they didn't have before we started.

We did not have as great a season as we had hoped for, and we did not reach some of the goals we had set our sights on. But all in all, it was a good season and we had some great kids to work with. I will miss a great many of the young men who are leaving us, but the memories of this past season will remain for many years.

Islanders' Coach Can Only Instruct

NEW YORK (AP) — The expansion New York Islanders of the National Hockey League are taking all the fun out of show-and-tell for Phil Goyette.

"I feel helpless; I can only show and tell them what they have to do," said Coach Goyette after the Islanders were smashed 7-3 by visiting Buffalo Tuesday night for their 16th defeat against just three victories and two ties.

"I can't, to the shooting, the passing and the anticipation," said Goyette, who starred as a player for Montreal and the New York Rangers.

Center Gilbert Perreault scored two goals and got an assist, Rick Martin picked up the 19th goal and also got an assist, and Rene Robert got a goal as the NHL's most productive line boosted its season output to 40 goals and 49 pre-season games. He has assists as Buffalo won its first road game after six losses and four ties.

In the only other NHL action, Vancouver edged the New York Rangers 2-1 on the West Coast and St. Louis scored a 4-2 home-ice victory over Philadelphia.

Vancouver's Jocelyn Guevremont broke a scoreless tie with a goal at 7:34 of the final period. Then, after the Rangers' Glen Sather tied the game five minutes later, Bobby Lalonde won it for the Canucks at 10:25.

St. Louis rode third-period goals by rookie Mike Lanman, Mike Murphy and Phil Roberto to its triumph over Philadelphia.

Bruins Place Skein on Line

MONTREAL (AP) — The Boston Bruins, riding a string of six straight victories in the National Hockey League, have slotted rookie goal tender John Adams for the nets tonight against the Canadiens, the only team that has beaten the Bruins in their last 10 games.

Bruins Coach Tom Johnson decided to go with the 28-year-old Adams on the basis of his fine game in Atlanta last Friday.

The only time previously that Adams-faced Canadiens was in pre-season games. He has played two regular NHL games and won both.

Canadiens hold a seven-point lead over Boston in the East Division race.

Since the Bruins lost their only meeting with Montreal this year, 5-3 at Boston Garden a few weeks ago, Boston's situation has brightened noticeably. Each of the three forward lines has started to click and Bobby Orr is back and regaining top form.

Orr has scored five goals in five games since his return to the lineup and Gregg Sheppard has five goals in his last four to his triumph over Philadelphia.

And, according to Dalton, there's more dealing in store before the 71st annual affair locks up this weekend.

"We're still talking to a couple of clubs," said Dalton, who helped build a Baltimore Oriole powerhouse before moving to the Angel organization last year.

Tuesday's trade reunites Dalton with Robinson, an All-Star outfielder he picked loose from the Cincinnati Reds when Dalton was director of player personnel at Baltimore.

While Robinson will split his time between left field and first base on the Angels, Singer will move right into Messersmith's spot in the starting rotation. Bothered by injuries in recent seasons, the right-hander is one of the hardest throwers in the big leagues and once had a 20-game-winning year and a no-hitter.

Valentine and Grabarkewitz, among the Dodgers' prized baby brigade, can play most of the infield positions.

Strahler, another of the coveted Dodger babies, could be "a sleeper in the deal," said Dalton.

The main man, though, for Dalton was Robinson. Dalton tried to acquire him from the Orioles last year, but the Dodgers beat him to the punch.

If Dalton was happy to get Robinson, then the Dodgers were just as thrilled to get the much-sought-after Messersmith. Los Angeles, along with several other clubs have been making overtures for him.

Messersmith won 20 games for the Angels in 1971, but slumped to an 8-11 record last season while spending six weeks on the disabled list with an injured finger. But his earned run average was below the three-run level, the mark of a good pitcher. Lifetime, he's fashioned a 2.77 ERA.

Along with a certain starter, the Dodgers acquired a third baseman who can field and hit. The Dodgers needed both.

Frank Robinson Major Figure

HONOLULU (AP) — After hooking five players in the biggest deal thus far at the trade-happy winter baseball meetings, General Manager Harry Dalton of the California Angels announced that he was still fishing.

"Just because we made this deal, it doesn't mean that we have everything we need," said Dalton. "We still have to fill a few more positions. And we can still use more hitting."

The Angels did all right, though, in the hitting department by acquiring slugger Frank Robinson from the Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday in a seven-player deal that kept trading activity here at a roller coaster pace.

The seventh deal of the young meetings sent Robinson, pitchers Bill Singer and Mike Strahler and infielders Bobby Valentine and Billy Grabarkewitz from Los Angeles to California for pitcher Andy Messersmith and third baseman Ken McMullen.

A total of 28 players have changed uniforms since the free-wheeling general managers got things started Saturday.

UConn Hoop Outlook Brighter

"We'll have better speed, better overall scoring balance and better defense," Dee Rowe, UConn varsity coach commented, with the opening of the 1972-73 college basketball season just three days away. The Huskies start Saturday night in New Haven against Yale.

Rowe, starting his fourth year as varsity mentor, and anxious to improve on an 8-17 won-lost record a year ago, cautioned that only five members of his present squad ever played varsity ball.

"We'll play a different style this season. We'll run and shoot more. We'll be better than last year," he predicted. UConn basketball is "big league" in the state and no college creates the interest that the Huskies generate, whether enjoying the fruits of a winning season or just playing out the schedule.

Area coaches broke bread with the writers yesterday at the University of Hartford, which didn't leave out any details in making it the best in a long series of basketball meetings.

"Cal Chapman, at 6-6, is the key to any success that we have. He triggers our fast break. He goes, so goes our team," Rowe said of the junior from West Haven.

The mentor is looking for more consistent performances from 6-7 Gary Custick, who was the team's most valuable member and league scorer a year ago. Earl Wilcox broke all freshman scoring records and now moves into the varsity picture. "He's a better rebounder," Rowe pointed out, adding that there is a big adjustment from the frosh to varsity level.

"The most exciting player will be Jimmy Foster, a junior college transfer. He's not a point (scoring) guy, but he's quick," Rowe offered. Foster was named the top New England Junior College performer last year while at Becker.

"We will have a challenging schedule," Rowe said, which is easy to see. After Yale, UConn returns home for three games with Holy Cross, Rutgers and Massachusetts providing the opposition. The Crusaders visit Dec. 6.

Hartford Rebuilding

Coming off a great 18-4 record, Gordie McCullough, now in his 11th year at Hartford, faces a rebuilding job, plus a decided lack of height.

Boasting an impressive 69-24 record over the past four years, Hartford will summer with a starting lineup averaging just 6-1, which is small for these days.

"We'll have two under six feet, two at 6-1 and one at 6-5," he said. "We haven't had a good pre-season, due to injuries and sickness. It's been a hard job to get the squad in a right frame of mind."

Hartford will start two freshmen, two sophomores and one senior.

"Difference between last and this year will be experience. We lost three fine players who averaged 45 points a game, or one half of our scoring."

"We have the potential and it will be tested Friday night in a super tough opener against Central. The teams will collide in one-half of a twinnish at Trinity."

Varsity Squad of Nine
Some teams may have to be shed for Trinity's Robie Shults who admitted he had just nine players on his varsity squad.

"We have the nine best varsity players in school," he said and added that help from the freshman team was most likely. Trin may use first year students.

"Hopefully, we'll improve," the soft-spoken coach said. Last year he suffered through a dismal 3-15 campaign. "I didn't enjoy last year," he said.

Of the nine squad members, four are seniors, three sophomores and two juniors. "When we scrimmage, I have to play to make the sides even," Shults said. Trin will have good height, better rebounding and will be more physical.

The Bantams host the invitational Friday night, meeting Wesleyan while Hartford taps off against Central.

Early Start Tonight
Fast-climbing Eastern Connecticut, a coming small college power, kicks off the slate tonight against Western New England, a team that trimmed AIC in a practice last week.

Local interest with Eastern will be in the form of senior John Barry and sophomore Ron Siemienski, both out of East Catholic High.

Clyde Washburne is the man who does the job at Eastern. He posted a 17-4 record last year and won the New England State College Athletic Conference.

"We got out of the conference, because our fans wanted it, and the players, too," he related. "Our schedule is a real challenge, but that's what we wanted."

The Warriors will open in a spanking new 3,500-seat physical education center.

"We don't get the five-star athletes at Eastern, but we do get some pretty good boys, like Lou Charlier, who is our key player."

Two youngsters out of Boys' High in Brooklyn, Ralph Midgette and MacArthur Williams could help make it another big year in the Thread City.

Good Central Schedule
Coming of a 17-8 mark last year, Central Coach Bill Detrick expressed satisfaction with the schedule. "It's a good schedule. I would like to play better teams. People want clubs the caliber of Akron on the schedule, but they don't have to coach against them. Akron will return to the slate next year," he told the gathering.

"We don't have the potential to get too many rebounds. Last year we shot 48 per cent, and we'll have to do better this year. Six seniors are on the squad and 12 of the players are from Connecticut. We don't have a tall team."

"The rule changes will make it a different game this season," he cautioned.

Detrick has been coaching 23 years, the last 17 at Central, where he once starred as an underclassman.

Nate Vinson, expected to be a shining light, has "elected not to play."

So are all the state clubs.

Hartmouth Mythical N.E. Champion

UMass Ranked Second

BOSTON (AP) — Dartmouth was chosen New England's mythical college football champion for 1972 today.

Massachusetts in the Associated Press' final regional poll of the season.

The Ivy League champions from Hanover, N.H., who finished with a 7-1-1 over-all record, received 13 first-place votes for 174 of a possible 180 points in the balloting by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters in the six New England states.

The Ivy League swept to the Yankee Conference championship, drew four first-place votes and 161 points. The Minutemen, headed for the Boardwalk Bowl with an 8-2 record, had their No. 1 hopes hurt by Yale's strong showing in the final poll.

The Elis, who handed Dartmouth its only loss and finished with a 7-3 record, received one first place vote and 140 points. They also were placed second on four ballots and third on 12.

Surprising Holy Cross, which meets Boston College in a traditional rivalry this week, was ranked fourth with 123 points.

The Crusaders have a 5-3-1 record, the best since 1966. Boston College, New England's mythical champion in 1971, managed to place fifth with 90 points despite a 5-7 record.

The Eagles, humbled while playing a rugged national schedule and then a loss to Massachusetts, barely edged Bridgeport which received 88 points.

The Purple Knights finished with an 11-0 record and 21 consecutive victories with a triumph in the Knute Rockne Bowl.

Rounding out the top 10 were Harvard (4-4-1), Northeastern (6-2), Middlebury (8-0) and Williams (7-1).

Dartmouth, the No. 1 team in the AP's poll two years ago, closed strongly with victories over Columbia, Cornell and Penn after being topped by Harvard and then bombed at Yale.

The UMass' Minutemen topped the poll in winning their first 41 games. However, they were upset by Bucknell and then bowed to Holy Cross.

In addition to its first place votes, the Big Green was placed second on four ballots and third on one.

Massachusetts had nine second place votes and five third. Yale was voted fourth on one ballot as Bridgeport received a single second place vote.

Here is the Associated Press' final poll of the 1972 New England college football season, with records and total points, based on 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc.

1. Dartmouth 7-1-1 174
2. Massachusetts 8-2-1 161
3. Yale 7-3-0 140
4. Holy Cross 5-3-1 123
5. Boston College 5-7-0 90
6. Bridgeport 5-7-0 88
7. Harvard 4-4-1 82
8. Northeastern 6-2-0 80
9. Middlebury 8-0-0 78
10. Williams 7-1-1 71

Others receiving points: Amherst, Connecticut, Vermont.

Three Productive Years
Herb Kenney has guided Wesleyan to a brilliant 46-16 record the past three years including three Little Three titles.

Repeating this time around won't be too easy. However, one bright spot is Brad Rogers who needs 350 points to become Wesleyan's first 1,000-point performer. "This will be a major achievement because of the schedule that we play and on our level," Kenney said. "Rogers is just a super player."

Cadets Hopeful
Coast Guard Academy hasn't had a winning season in 16 years and Pete Broca hopes to "get the ball into the basket more often."

Last year the Cadets, 8-15, held the opposition to 67 points per game, one of the finest defensive marks in the country, but the offense managed just 64 per game while shooting an unimpressive 38 per cent.

"We're hoping for a 500 season," Broca said. "We're anxious to get started."

So are all the state clubs.

Harris Honored For Second Time

NEW YORK (AP) — The game was tied 10-10 in the fourth quarter when quarterback Terry Bradshaw handed the ball to Franco Harris.

"I was supposed to go to the left," said Pittsburgh's rookie running back. "But there was nothing there — so I just stopped and went back to the right."

Smart move. He wound up dashing 61 yards — within one of a touchdown — before two Minnesota defenders hauled him down. One play later, Bradshaw bulled over for the touchdown that sent the Steelers on the way to a "must win" last Sunday, a 23-10 triumph over the Vikings, who needed it just as much.

The game-breaking 61-yard play was only one indication of Harris' contribution to the victory that kept the Steelers tied with Cleveland atop the American Conference East.

A better indication — and the one that won him the selection today as The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League was the 128 yards he rolled up against the tough Minnesota defense, 12 of them coming on a first-quarter touchdown sweep.

It puts the Steelers' top draft choice, a 6-foot-2, 230-pounder from Penn State, in a unique and exclusive club since it's the second time this season Harris has been selected Player of the Week, joining Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins. Harris was chosen two weeks ago when he ripped through the Kansas City Chiefs for 184 yards.

Other nominees this week included wide receiver Otto Stowe of Miami, quarterback Darle Lamonica of Oakland and running backs Eric Taylor of Detroit and Ron Johnson of the New York Giants.

Stowe, playing in place of injured Paul Warfield, caught six passes for 140 yards and two touchdowns as the Dolphins beat St. Louis 31-10 while Lamonica completed 14 of 21 passes for 174 yards, including nine of 10 for 126 in two second period drives that ended with touchdowns and carried the Raiders past Kansas City 26-3. And Taylor and Johnson each rushed for 123 yards, Taylor in the Lions' 37-20 victory over the New York Jets and Johnson in the Giants' 62-10 stampeding of Philadelphia.

Choice as Baseball Czar

Greenberg Rates High In Veeck's Estimation

NEW YORK (AP) — "If someone gave me the power to restructure baseball," said Bill Veeck, sitting tieless and sportcoated in a mid-Manhattan lounge, "the first thing I would do would be to name Hank Greenberg commissioner."

The one-time maverick of the diamond leaped back and paused momentarily as if to savor the wisdom of his suggestion.

"There is not a brighter, more aggressive man who has been connected with the game," he added. "He played in both the minor leagues and major leagues. He had a long, successful career as an administrator."

"He not only has all the qualifications, but he is also independently wealthy. He wouldn't have to be a puppet of anybody. I speak as one who worked with him for 20 years."

Greenberg, the former home run king of the Detroit Tigers, was associated with Veeck in running the franchises of the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox. Veeck also once owned

Purdue Star Gets Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Otis Armstrong, Purdue's star running back, just keeps getting better.

Five weeks ago, Armstrong was named National College Back of the Week by The Associated Press after carrying the football 32 times for a school record 233 yards and two touchdowns against Northwestern.

Saturday against Indiana he lugged it 32 more times, gained 276 yards and scored three touchdowns. That performance earned him Back of the Week honors once more, the only two-time winner this season.

The 5-foot-1, 194-pound senior from Chicago scored on dashes of two, 71 and 81 yards as he not only broke his own single-game Purdue mark but also wound up his three-year career with 2,314 yards, erasing the previous Big Ten record of 3,232 set in four seasons by Wisconsin's Alan Ameche, and jumped from sixth to sixth on the all-time NCAA rushing list, passing such notables as Ameche, O.J. Simpson, Ollie Matson and Mike Garrett.

Fireworks After Final Buzzer And Chicago Coach Exploded

NEW YORK (AP)—There was plenty of excitement during the Chicago-Kansas City National Basketball Association game, but the real fireworks went off after the final buzzer—and Bulls' Coach Dick Motta was the one who exploded.

My team was deprived of an opportunity to win," Motta charged Tuesday night after Kansas City-Omaha edged Chicago 92-81. "I'm referring to the call on the basket by Sam Lacey."

With only 2:20 remaining, a shot by Johnny Green of the Kings sailed over the top of the backboard, and was grabbed by Lacey who connected on a layup. "That was put in after the first shot had hit the top of the backboard and had gone out of bounds," Motta said.

In other NBA games, Philadelphia defeated Buffalo 101-94, Baltimore downed Houston 106-90, New York whipped Cleveland 107-84, Detroit outlasted Portland 120-116 and Golden State beat Phoenix 110-102.

While the questionable basket provided an edge, some clutch shooting by NBA scoring leader Nate Archibald provided the Kings' offensive spark. Archibald, who scored 32 points, bucketed two free throws with four seconds left, lifting the Kings to their 13th victory and placing the Bulls out of first place in the NBA's Midwest Division.

Bob Lanier posted a career high 48 points, including a torrid 20-point fourth quarter, for the Pistons. His stellar efforts nullified a 39-point performance by Geoff Petrie, whose 17-point first period helped the Blazers to a 94-84 halftime edge.

Earl "The Pearl" Monroe scored 14 of his 16 points in the first quarter as the Knicks assumed first place in the Atlantic Division, one-half game ahead of the idle Boston Celtics. Walt Frazier topped New York with 19 points while Lenny Wilkens led Cleveland with 22.

Elvin Hayes poured in 10 points during the third quarter, rallying the Bullets to a victory over Hayes' former teammates, the Warriors. He scored 24 points while Charlie Scott paced Phoenix with 24.

Traditional Games Not Easy to Pick

NEW YORK (AP)—This is it... the last chance to better last season's record and keep the alumni off your backs.

With one weekend left in the college football season—plus, of course, the bowls—the 1972 record shows a percentage of .715. A year ago, the final regular-season accounting read .720.

There shouldn't be any problem in bettering last year's mark... not with such easy games to pick this time as Southern Cal-Notre Dame, Alabama-Auburn and Army-Navy.

Notre Dame at Southern California—The last time Notre Dame won the national championship was in 1956 and after Fighting Irish did it convincingly with a 51-0 rout of Southern Cal in their final game.

That, by the way, was also the last time Notre Dame beat USC and it is said that Coach John McKay took a vow he would never again lose to the Irish. He's won three and tied the other two since then.

Notre Dame, 9-1, won't win any championships this year, but Southern Cal might. The Trojans have been ranked No. 1 since the opening week of the season, while Notre Dame, currently 10th, has been in and out of the Top Ten. Southern Cal.

Alabama vs. Auburn at Birmingham—Bear Bryant leads Shug Jordan 10-4, including a 31-7 rout last year over Helman Trophy-winner Pat Sullivan & Co. Before the Bear lumbered into Tuscaloosa, Auburn led the series 12-9-1. It now stands 19-16-1 in favor of the Crimson Tide. Time and tide wait for no man, as it's written, Alabama.

Oklahoma State at Oklahoma—The Cowboys have beaten three Big Eight bowl teams in Colorado, Missouri and Iowa State, but they're going to spend the holidays at home. They'll really have a lot to crow about if they beat... Oklahoma.

Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia—This is the best Navy team since the Roger Staubach years. This is the best Army team since last year. Navy.

Louisiana State at Tulane—LSU stumbled into a 3-3 tie with Florida last week but don't the Tigers always beat Tulane? They have every year since 1948, except for two ties. LSU.

Tennessee at Vanderbilt—T for two in 'Vandy's cup of tea. To wit, in the last two weeks the Commodores have lost to Tulane 21-7 and Tampa 30-7. Now, it's T as in... Tennessee.

And in the bowls:

- Tangerine Bowl: Tampa over Kent State.
- Liberty Bowl: Iowa State over Georgia Tech.
- Peach Bowl: West Virginia over North Carolina State.
- Fiesta Bowl: Arizona State over Missouri.
- Sun Bowl: North Carolina over Texas Tech.
- Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl: Louisiana State over Tennessee State.
- Sugar Bowl: Oklahoma over Penn State.
- Bone Bowl: Southern Cal over Ohio State.
- Cotton Bowl: Final Upset Special of the season... Texas over Alabama.

Foul Play in NBA

New York Knicks' Phil Jackson heads for the floor after being fouled by Cleveland's Jim Cleamons last night.

Pair of Interceptions By Linebacker Noted

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—William Gerald "Skip" Vanderbund, San Francisco 49er linebacker who carried a fumble and an intercepted pass to a pair of touchdowns against Dallas, says he was "just lucky."

But his coach said there was more to it than that.

"Sure he had luck on a couple of plays, but he was there because he was so alert," said Coach Dick Nolan of the Vanderbund. "He's a player who earned the linebacker selection Tuesday by the Associated Press as Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League."

"It amazes me," said Vanderbund, "I make a couple of lucky plays and get all this attention. Don't get me wrong. I like it, and it probably was one of my better games this year."

Ends Claude Humphrey of Atlanta and Bob Pollock of New Orleans also were nominated for defensive player of the week, along with Baltimore linebackers Mike Curtis, Ray May and Ted Hendricks.

Vanderbund, a 6-foot-3, 224-pound fourth year man, said, "I know I had a better game in Los Angeles against the Rams—sounded fundamentally than I did in Dallas, and we lost the Ram game, 31-7."

The 49ers beat the Super Bowl champs 31-19 in Dallas on Thanksgiving Day, and the victory gave them first place in the National Conference's West Division.

Vanderbund ran 73 yards with a fumble for one touchdown, carried an intercepted Crawford pass 21 yards for a second score and stopped a Cowboy drive near the 48er goal line by grabbing another fumble. He made 12 tackles. "I've run with fumbles before, but they've always been called back," said Vanderbund.

College Basketball Maryland After No. 1 in Ratings

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—"Being No. 3 is all right to start out with—but I'd rather be No. 1," says Lefty Driesell, the Maryland basketball coach.

Maryland, No. 3 nationally in the preseason poll, is ailing as it opens its season tonight against Brown but is eager to launch a new campaign.

The Terps face Brown with Len Elmore, the team's top rebounder, bothered by a sprained knee and two other players sidelined by more serious knee problems.

Howard White, who averaged nine points a game as Maryland rolled up a 27-5 record last year, has only recently resumed practice while recuperating from a knee operation.

Jap Trimble, another guard who averaged 6.5 last year, is slated for knee surgery on Dec. 14.

But the Terps, who won the National Invitational Tournament to close out the 1971-2 season, are deep at every position and should maintain a high ranking provided Elmore recovers.

While 6-foot-11 Tom McMillen paced Maryland with a 20.8-point scoring average last season, Elmore was a key factor as he averaged 10.8 points and topped McMillen in rebounds, 11 to 9.6. Both are juniors.

McMillen and either Elmore or sophomore Tom Roy—both 6-9 players—will start at the double post positions, with senior Bob Bodell as the swing guard and senior Jim O'Brien at wing in the front court.

John Lucas, one of only two freshmen recruited this year by Driesell, will open at the point position in the backcourt. The other frosh, Mo Howard, is expected to see a lot of action as a substitute for Bodell when he fully recovers from a clipped ankle bone.

In college cage action Tuesday night, results included: Texas 87, Clemson 86, Georgia Tech 77; North Texas State 83, Fullerton State 54; Missouri 81, Louisiana Tech 61; Michigan State 98, Toledo 96 and Baylor 83, St. Mary's 61.

Guard Mike Robinson scored 25 points as Michigan State edged a 16-point Toledo team that surged back from as much as a 28-point deficit.

Whalers Withdraw Support Of New Haven

BOSTON (AP)—The New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association have withdrawn financial support of the long established of the New England Blades of the Eastern Hockey League.

The Blades, based in Springfield, were offered for sale last week. They have been unable to back the completion of the deal because of the withdrawal of hockey players.

Baldwin said Tuesday the Blades' unstable situation does not lend itself to the development of hockey players. He said it was imperative that the Blades release those of its players who have signed contracts with the Whalers.

Whalers President Howard Baldwin said Tuesday the Blades' unstable situation does not lend itself to the development of hockey players. He said it was imperative that the Blades release those of its players who have signed contracts with the Whalers.

Players affected are Geoff McMullen, Guy Smith and Butch Williams.

Tennis

BRISBANE, Australia—Top seed Ken Rosewall of Australia topped countryman Ian Brady 6-1, 6-0 in opening round action at the Queensland Lawn Championships.

Football

STARBUCK, Miss.—Bob Tyler was promoted to head coach at Mississippi State University, succeeding Charley Shira, who became the school's athletic director.

Baseball

HONOLULU—The Los Angeles Dodgers sent veteran outfielder Frank Robinson, pitchers Bill Singer and Mike Scobble, and infielders Bill Graberwitz and Bobby Valentine to the California Angels for pitcher Andy Messersmith and third baseman Ken McMullen in a seven player inter-league transaction at the winter meetings.

South Windsor Student Council Outlines Smoking Policy

BARBARA VARRICK Correspondent
Tel. 644-8274

A detailed report and proposals for governing student smoking in the high school were presented to the Board of Education last night by Douglas Kilgore, president of the high school Student Council.

Kilgore said the purpose of the presentation is to relieve problems which are a result of the smoking ban invoked at the high school.

Although the council does not support smoking itself, Kilgore said it feels that the present regulation is a "poor way to keep people from smoking" and recommended what was termed more "positive" ways to solve the problems of smoke-filled laboratories which create unhealthful and unpleasant conditions for everyone; deprivation of class time for the approximately 1.5 students suspended daily for infraction of the present board policy prohibiting student smoking in the school; and vandalism of the laboratories because of frustrated crowds of smoking students.

Kilgore added that the administration is made to "look weak by its inability to enforce the rule" and that other disciplinary efforts are undermined as a result. He said that students are disillusioned by the hypocrisy that allows a teacher to report a student for smoking, and then have a cigarette in the faculty lounge while the student is being suspended. He indicated the relationship between teachers and students is "strained" because of the double standard and the "double standard" changes he made to deal with the problem and suggested that smoking of "all" persons be banned within the school building and persons be allowed to smoke outdoors but not near the front entrance of the building. The students are also asking that they be allowed to smoke in the cafeteria, but are responsible for being at class and other scheduled activities; and that students be able to sign out of talk-study hall and other areas directly behind the cafeteria rear doors.

Kilgore said he has responsibility for maintaining the cleanliness of smoking areas be assigned to the student council, and that such to solve the problem, work to help to stop smoking and not encourage it. The group asked that the smoking privileges be granted "on a temporary basis and be revoked if students litter excessively and continue to smoke indoors."

Kilgore said his group sent a survey to schools which have the smoking facilities in Simsbury, Newington, Manchester, and Glastonbury. Members of the administration at each of the schools have indicated the program is working as far as having cleaner lavatories, better morale — but the litter problem is hard to control.

Kilgore said he also learned that currently 44.8 per cent of towns in Connecticut allow smoking and that some schools are considering making a change to provide a smoking area for all.

Kilgore was first applauded for his presentation by Mrs. Chis Decker, a board member, who said she believed in the direction taken by the group in going to the "peer to peer" approach to solve the problem, but later asked that the decision hold for the next meeting of the board so that information be considered.

Another board member, Donald Berghis questioned the "probationary basis" and asked two doctors in the audience vehemently opposed allowing students to smoke anywhere. Dr. Theodore Gutkowski said the unclean restrooms were a disciplinary problem and that it would be wrong to "answer a disciplinary problem with a disciplinary problem" to expedite the decision in the matter. He accused the board of "not facing the problem" but of trying to replace one problem with another: he said that the students demonstrate first that they can apply peer pressure to make things work.

Dr. Joseph Kirstan of Vernon, a crusader against smoking called on the board to set an example for the students and that the board recognize the challenge before them and not condone or ignore the health factors involved for all.

Mrs. Carol Moulton, citizen, questioned any method of enforcement to eliminate student smoking. She said that in her high school days a sign was placed in the lavatories to police the area and smoking still went on. She suggested that the board look at the real problem. She asked, "How do you make people police themselves?"

Grand Jury Indicts Aillon

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A grand jury Tuesday handed up a three-count murder indictment against Guillermo Aillon for the stabbing deaths of his wife and her parents.

An 18-member grand jury had listened to nearly two days of testimony.

Aillon, formerly of Wallingford, was present in the courtroom and heard the court clerk read the indictments formally accusing him of murdering his estranged wife, Barbara Montano Aillon and her parents, George and Bernice Montano.

The three were charged to death in Montano's fashionable New Haven home Aug. 13.

President Reviewing Vietnam Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon arranged a second meeting today with South Vietnam's special envoy Nguyen Phu Duc at the White House to continue discussions on the Vietnam peace negotiations.

Duc also met this morning at the White House for the second time separately with presidential national security advisor Henry A. Kissinger.

And, the White House announced a meeting just before dawn between the President and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Although the session with the Joint Chiefs was announced only moments before it got under way, deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said it had been scheduled for some time "to review the entire situation in South Vietnam."

Nixon and Duc, a special representative of South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu, met for 2 1/2 hours Wednesday. It was originally scheduled to last an hour.

Ronald L. Ziegler, the White House spokesman, said the session was "a very detailed discussion, and a very frank discussion," but refused to disclose the substance of the talks.

This attitude has marked the administration's responses to all questions recently about the state of the peace negotiations, and South Vietnamese sources have indicated the White House has demanded silence on their part.

Nevertheless, diplomatic sources in Saigon said Duc would propose a Nixon-Thieu meeting to reinforce the South Vietnamese view that no agreement should be signed until a written pledge for North Vietnam to withdraw all its troops from the South.

When asked if Duc had proposed a face-to-face meeting for the two chief executives, Ziegler, who was not at the Wednesday meeting, said not to his knowledge.

However, he also explained that Duc was Thieu's special representative and indicated it could be assumed he would pass along the Saigon leader's views to Nixon. Ziegler repeated an earlier statement that no Nixon-Thieu meeting is planned before Wednesday's session, Ziegler volunteered that the two previous Nixon-Thieu conferences, in 1969 at Midway Island and Saigon, were useful.

Popular Election Of Mayor Asked

By SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

The Charter Revision Commission has been asked by one of its members to back a proposal for a town-wide election of a mayor.

The nine-member Board of Directors elects a board chairman from among its members and designates him the mayor. Almost always, he is the top vote-getter.

Phyllis Jackson, a Democrat, the only woman member of the 15-member CRC and its secretary, last night filed a formal request with the commission — that it recommend the election of a nine-member board and a mayor separate from the board and elected in a head-to-head contest.

Noting that the CRC already has rejected a recommendation of a mayor, she explained that under her proposal the mayor would have no political party affiliation. "He could be a majority-party mayor, or a minority-party mayor," she said. "It would work itself out."

Nine Die In Fire In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Nine persons were killed and 32 injured early today when a fire swept through the seventh floor of a recently constructed 11-story home for the elderly.

Fire officials said the blaze was confined to the seventh floor of the Baptist Towers in southwest Atlanta. They said most of the bodies were discovered in the hall.

Fire Marshal Jim Seagraves said the fire apparently started in one room on the seventh floor and spread down the hall, igniting several other apartments. Officials at the building said it holds 300 persons.

Witnesses said several of the elderly persons panicked and fled down the stairs. One woman reportedly suffered a heart attack but her condition was not known.

"I heard all these people come panicking and screaming down the stairs," said Louise Alexander, who lives on the first floor. "I could hear women screaming, 'Come and get me.' They just panicked. Some of them haven't been seen since they got here."

The Fulton County medical examiner's office said there were nine bodies at the morgue. Some 23 persons were treated for injuries, mainly smoke inhalation, and nine persons were treated at three other hospitals.

Survivors and their relatives who had come to the building when they heard of the fire milled around the undamaged lobby.

"I don't look too good," said Vernon Paulk, whose mother and father were on the seventh floor. "I could get old folks like this they just get scared."

Winner 'Exhausted, But Happy'

An "exhausted but happy" James L. Dodson of Manchester was the $15,000 winner in today's Super 75 state lottery drawing.

Dodson, 52, a welding supervisor at Pratt & Whitney, was accompanied by his wife, Norma, at the drawing, held at the Farmington Valley Mall in Avon.

"She's just as excited about it as I am, and she's just as exhausted and happy," said Dodson.

An East Hartford woman works in a South Windsor bowling alley near the 65-year-old winner. Screaming, "I can't believe it," she jumped up and down when her name was called.

Mrs. Audrey O'Neal, 45, who said she bought the winning ticket at the place where she works, said the money will be used to pay off the mortgage on the O'Neal home and for the education of her 15-year-old son, Steve. Her husband, Robert, 47, is a truck driver.

Dodson, who said he'd "pay off a load of bills," when he learned last week he had won $5,000, said today he'll use the added $10,000 winnings to fix up his house at 69 Horton Rd. and to put his two children through college.

He said he'll be at work as usual on today's second shift at Pratt & Whitney.

The winning number in today's weekly lottery drawing is 73605.

Bus Hearings Concluded

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Co. has had its day in court.

And Superior Court Judge George Saden promises an early decision in two cases springing from the bus company's threatened shutdown and a strike by its union in Hartford, New Haven and Stamford.

Saden heard final arguments Wednesday in the second of the two cases.

The company, which claims weekly losses of $10,000, asked a strike be concluded Tuesday, that Saden ordered state Transportation Commissioner A. Earl Wood to subsidize its operations.

Wood and Gov. Thomas J. Meskill have refused to provide more than 25 per cent of the subsidies, saying the rest should come from local governments.

The company tried to shut down its operations Oct. 23, but was forestalled by a court injunction. A strike by the Amalgamated Transit Union Saturday effectively accomplished the shutdown.

Stamford Mayor Julius Wilensky asked in the second case that Saden put ConnCo into receivership, in which a person would be appointed by the court to have financial authority over the company.

Ronald Schwartz, assistant corporation counsel for Stamford, said the company has said it was suffering intolerable losses and that it "has readily admitted its intention to cease operations."

"The court is being asked to breathe life into an otherwise moribund bus service through appointment of a receiver," Schwartz said.

ConnCo attorney J. Read Murphy argued that the receivership should be a "final and fatal" step by the court, taken only after failure of all other means of solving the bus crisis.

Schwartz said the company's financial troubles resulted from a "diverting of assets" from the bus line into high salaries for company executives and into other enterprises in which Gengras was involved.

Schwartz said millionaire E. Clayton Gengras, who with his family owns the company, removed $6 million from ConnCo several years ago.

Murphy countered that the money was not earned originally by ConnCo but had belonged to Gengras before he acquired the bus company in 1964.

Santa Give-Away Dead Give-Away

HONOLULU (AP) — To kids, some things are sacred. And one of them is that Santa has to be a man.

That's what a 20-year-old female Santa and officials at a shopping center here found out.

Weldon Larsen, manager of the Kahala Mall, said he hired the young woman, who didn't want to be identified, to serve as one of two Santas working separate shifts at the center.

The other one was a man.

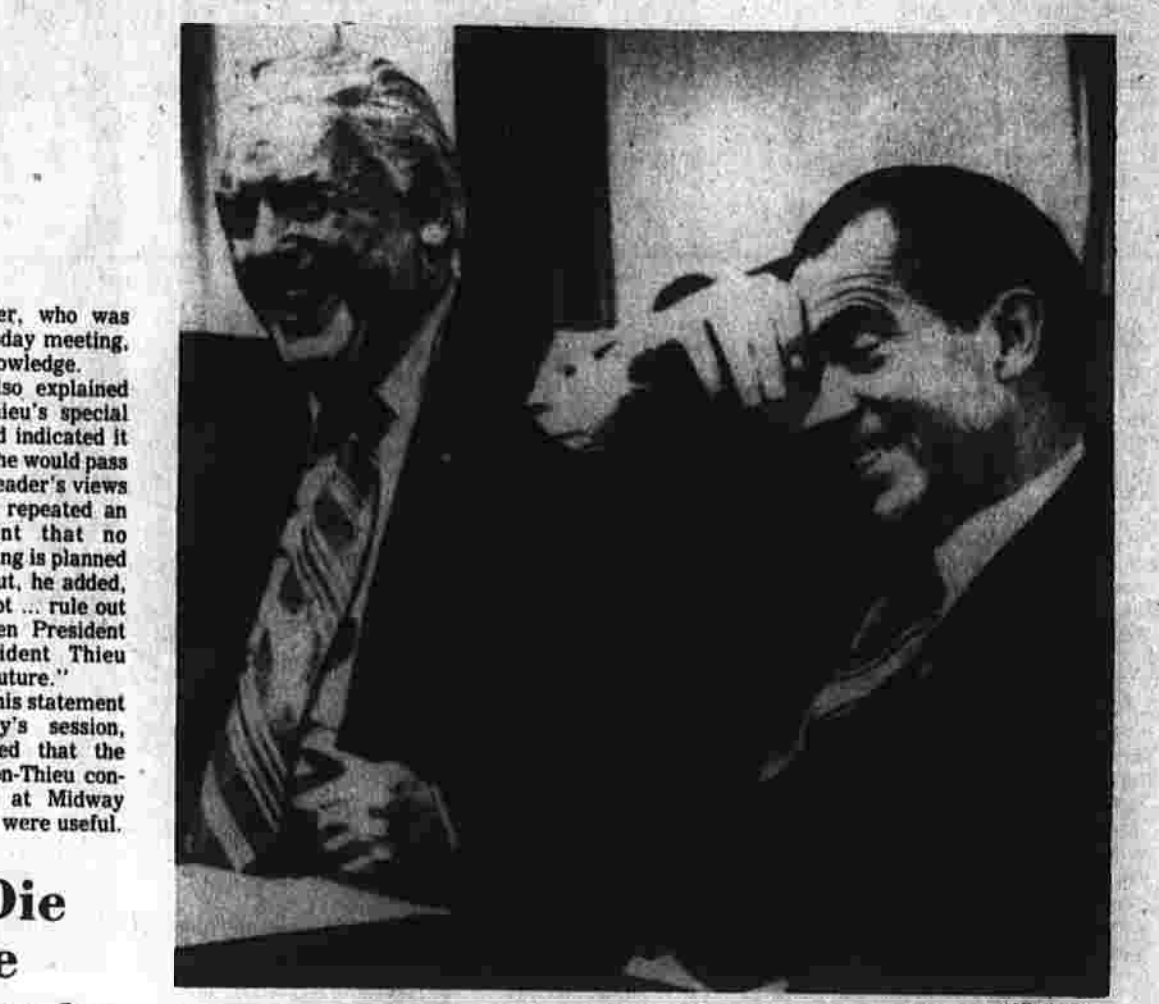

"Of the ten applicants for the job, she showed a real interest in working with children and she was qualified, so we gave her the job," he said.

"There were no physical characteristics that gave her away." The Santa costume covered nearly all of her face and the suit was well padded," Larsen said.

But the kids, even one two years old, spotted a flaw in the disguise. Santa's hands, with well-manicured long nails, weren't those of a man, Larsen said.

The lady Santa worked for three days this week, but "we kept getting complaints from parents and the older kids were ruining it for the young ones by telling them Santa was a woman," Larsen said.

"We mutually agreed that she give up the job. She was the last one who wanted to disillusion the kids."

President Richard M. Nixon, left, and Peter J. Brennan are shown in a happy moment during a meeting yesterday. The President has a surprise appointment in picking the New York City labor leader to be his new secretary of Labor. Other top-level appointments are expected today before the President leaves for Florida for the weekend.

Dr. Kristan Takes Stand In Cigarette Trial

By DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

"One cigarette could trigger me off to one final, fatal, fuse-blowing sudden death," Dr. Joseph Kristan of South Windsor said today.

Dr. Kristan, who practices family medicine in Rockville, and is Vernon's town health director, related his reaction to cigarette smoking in Circuit Court 12 at East Hartford, where he is on trial for an alleged conflict with a smoker.

The jury trial started Tuesday. Igniting several other apartments. Officials at the building said it holds 300 persons.

Witnesses said several of the elderly persons panicked and fled down the stairs. One woman reportedly suffered a heart attack but her condition was not known.

"I heard all these people come panicking and screaming down the stairs," said Louise Alexander, who lives on the first floor. "I could hear women screaming, 'Come and get me.' They just panicked. Some of them haven't been seen since they got here."

Throngs Attend K-Mart Opening

By HOLLY GANTNER (Herald Reporter)

The doors opened promptly at 10 this morning at the new K-Mart store on Spencer St. when what looked like half the population of Manchester gave up a warm welcome to its newest retail store.

There were bargains and bargain hunters galore on hand, as store employees, each with a brightly colored carnation, put on their brightest smiles after weeks of preparation for the grand opening of the $800 store in the discount chain, but the very first one in Connecticut.

Before the public was admitted, officials and representatives of S.S. Kresge, of which K-Mart is a division, congratulated the employees of the local store on their opening, noting that the Manchester store is one of the most modern in the chain.

James Farr and John Tani, both Manchester Town Directors; John De Quattro, president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce; and Town Manager Robert Weiss, were all on hand to offer their best wishes.

Miss Sophie Bis of the New York office introduced various district personnel who assisted in setting up the new store, and District Manager Tom Kierman introduced other district and division officials.

Mrs. Tom Karl, wife of the local store manager, ended the pre-opening festivities by cutting, with gold scissors, the ribbon. The Karl children, Carolyn, Debbie Lynn and Frankie, were also on hand to assist.

Ground for the 65,000 square foot store was broken in May, under the direction of Goodrich Realty and Development, Inc., and construction was completed in less than six months.

An estimated 90,000 daily commuters and 80,000 daily one-way riders were without service because of a walkout at 12:01 a.m. of 5,000 carmen, porters, and other members of 12 nonoperating unions.

LIRR is considered the nation's busiest commuter line.

The sign states, "charge it" and charge it they did as hundreds of Manchester area residents attended the K-Mart store grand opening this morning. The new store is located on Spencer St. and caught in the crowd was Tom Karl, manager, center. (Herald photo by Pinto)
