Foreword

Migration and asylum are complex and multifaceted policy fields. The opening of the EU to talented and highly skilled migrants to meet EU labour demand, international protection for those in need, and to ensure safe borders against organised crime, trafficking and smuggling in human beings and irregular migration have all taken on increased significance in recent years.

To ensure effective legislative and policy responses to this significant demands, legislators and policy-makers at EU and national levels must have at their disposal up to date, reliable, factual information. The European Migration Network (EMN), coordinated by the European Commission, and active in all Member States and Norway, plays a significant role as a reliable source of such information across a wide range of contemporary topics. The EMN Glossary helps to facilitate coherent discussions across all of these actors by presenting information on specific topics that is underpinned by a common vocabulary, allowing a better understanding and comparability of migration and asylum phenomena, on the basis of a shared understanding.

The EMN Glossary, both as a publication and on-line has been very well received by legislators, policymakers and practitioners alike across the EU. This third, revised edition contains almost 400 terms, with translations, taken principally from the EU acquis, of which almost 100 are new and more than 120 have been received, reviewed and revised to improve their clarity and comparability.

A key priority for the coming years is to ensure coherent and effective implementation of existing instruments and to enhance practical cooperation between EU Member States. In order to support this objective, the EMN is a key instrument to for collecting and exchanging best practices on the implementation of the Home Affairs acquis. The Glossary version 3.0 will, without doubt, facilitate this role, and represents a tangible and practical tool to help the EU to address immigration challenges.

This has been a significant achievement for the European Migration Network and I would like to personally extend my appreciation to the members of the Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group who have steered the development of this Glossary Version 3.0, and to all the National Contact Points in the EMN for their support in verifying and validating the information presented.

Matthias Rüter
Director General for Migration and Home Affairs

1 Introduction

The purpose of the European Migration Network (EMN) Glossary of terms relating to Asylum and Migration is inter alia to improve comparability between EU Member States through the use and common understanding of the terms and definitions contained herein. The Glossary is intended to serve as a useful European reference document for EMN National Contact Points (NCPs) and their national network members, policy-makers and other practitioners in the Member States, as well as EU institutions, in order to facilitate the exchange of information. It provides common terminology for the concepts included and thereby facilitates a precise discourse on asylum and migration matters, including in the media.

The EMN Asylum and Migration Glossary 3.0 is an updated version of the EMN Glossary that was first published in January 2010 and later updated in January 2012. This third version contains almost 100 new entries and over 120 major amendments to existing ones to reflect new terminology and expressions, as well as evolutions in the usage of existing terms that have been introduced through the new legislation and policy on asylum and migration in the EU. It includes new terms introduced through the recast asylum acquis<sup>1</sup>, the EU Strategy towards the Eradication of Trafficking in Human Beings 2012–2016<sup>2</sup> and the terminology used in EMN studies that have been published since the EMN Glossary 2.0, amongst other key documents.

Each glossary entry is comprised of a preferred term<sup>3</sup>, a definition of the concept that this term represents, the source of the definition, plus notes and relationships to other terms and concepts included in the Glossary. In this third version, many definitions and some preferred terms have thus been amended. Many notes have been updated – and in many cases elaborated – to provide up-to-date information, to clarify the scope of the concept (and its understanding in different contexts) and to indicate web sources from which further information can be sought. Each glossary entry now illustrates many more relationships between terms – equivalence relations between synonyms, hierarchical relations with terms representing broader or narrower terms and associative relations between related terms, thus allowing users to easily navigate between related entries. All the preferred terms, as well as synonyms, acronyms and alternative ordering for the preferred term, can be found in an index at the end of the Glossary. A bibliography of sources is provided as an annex. The bibliography lists terms referenced in the source field as well as the notes and definitions.

The Glossary was developed by the members of the EMN Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group. The EMN would therefore like to acknowledge the extensive efforts of the working group members and its appreciation for the permission given by other entities, specifically the International Labour Organisation (ILO), the International Organisation for Migration (IOM), the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) and the United Nations (UN) to the use of terms and definitions that they had developed previously and which are duly referenced in the Glossary. Likewise, the EMN would like to thank representatives of the EUs multilingual interinstitutional terminology database ‘Inter-Active Terminology for Europe’ (IATE)<sup>4</sup> for their technical support in updating the Glossary.

In the subsequent sections, a brief overview of the EMN is given, followed by an outline of the methodology used to develop the Glossary and some guidance as to its presentation and usage.

<sup>3</sup> According to the ISO standard 25964 a ‘preferred term (descriptor)’ is a term used to represent a concept. When two or more terms representing the same concept in the same language exist, one of them is designated a ‘preferred term’ under which the main entry in the Glossary (with definition, source and notes) is listed; the other(s) are listed under the same entry as synonyms and in the index to the Glossary.

2 The European Migration Network

The need to exchange information on all aspects of migration had already been identified in the initial development of a common EU Asylum and Migration Policy<sup>5</sup>. To improve the exchange of information between and within Member States across the wide range of asylum and migration policy developments, information must be comparable between the Member States to the greatest possible extent, and for this a consistent use of terms is required.

Council Decision 2008/381/EC of 14 May 2008<sup>6</sup> established a legal base for the European Migration Network. The purpose of the EMN is to meet the information needs of Union institutions and of Member States' authorities and institutions by providing up-to-date, objective, reliable and comparable information on asylum and migration, with a view to supporting policy-making in the European Union in these areas. The EMN also serves to provide the general public with such information. It is coordinated by the European Commission, which is assisted by two Service Providers, in cooperation with the National Contact Points (EMN NCPs) from each EU Member State<sup>7</sup> plus Norway. More information on the EMN, including its structure, activities, reports and studies, may be obtained from its website (www.emn.europa.eu).

One of the main objectives of the EMN as outlined in Article 2(1c) of Council Decision 2008/381/EC is to improve the consistency and comparability of information between Member States. The development of a comprehensive glossary that identifies and describes different concepts central to asylum and migration policy in the EU is one of the main activities undertaken by the EMN to achieve this objective.

3 Method and approach followed for developing the EMN Glossary

3.1. Scope of the Glossary

The EMN Glossary is a multilingual and multidisciplinary glossary for terms that are important in the field of asylum and migration. It has a focus on legal concepts deriving from the EU acquis, while at the same time acknowledging different understandings of terms in a more global or national context, or in different disciplines (e.g. demography, sociology, economics). Emphasis is given to terms relating to international protection and refugees, and legal migration, as well as irregular migration and return. In addition, terms that are relevant to asylum and migration, which pertain to fundamental rights, integration, equality and cross-border movement, are also included.

The Glossary includes entries for European institutions, organisations and processes which play a key role in the European migration policy, including bodies contributing to the implementation of the Global Approach to Migration and Mobility—i.e. the external dimension of the EU's policy on asylum and migration (e.g. Bali Process, Black Sea Synergy).

Throughout the Glossary, wherever there is a reference to a phenomenon (e.g. migration), there is always a reference to the corresponding person (e.g. migrant). To limit redundancy for some terms, preference has been given to the term for either a person or the process, depending on which term is more commonly used. For example, 'highly qualified migrant' is a term that is more commonly used than 'highly qualified migration'.

There are some terms in the Glossary that have been added for the sake of completeness but which are no longer considered to be in current use, e.g. guest worker. In such instances, the rationale is highlighted in the notes.

3.2. Processes followed for updating the Glossary

The Glossary was developed by the EMN's Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group, which includes representatives from EMN National Contact Points (NCPs) and, in some cases, experts from EMN NCP networks, as well as a representative from the European Commission and the EMN Service Provider. Other experts from different European institutions, such as the European Asylum Support Office (EASO), IATE and the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights (FRA), also participated on specific issues.

The EMN Glossary reflects—to the greatest extent possible—the most up-to-date developments in the field of asylum and migration, and the understanding of terms and concepts. In this way, the Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group aims to support policy-makers at the cusp of defining new concepts relevant to the field. This published version of the Glossary is accompanied by an online and interactive version that will be regularly updated, and which is available via the EMN website. Readers are invited to suggest new terms and/or definitions for the Glossary, and to comment on existing ones, by contacting the EMN at: HOME\_EMN@ec.europa.eu

3.3. Hierarchy of sources for defining terms

As existing definitions in the field of asylum and migration may be vague, controversial or contradictory, and as there are, for many terms, no universally accepted definitions, the Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group established a hierarchy of sources from which definitions should be selected, with definitions given in the EU aquis on asylum and immigration being prioritised above other definitions.

The hierarchy of sources of the definitions was, therefore as follows:

1. EU directives/regulations/decisions and then any definitions given in European Commission communications, particularly those with proposals for directives;
2. other EU entities, including Eurostat, the European Agency for the Management of Operational Cooperation at the External Borders of the Member States of the European Union (FRONTEX), the European Asylum Support Office (EASO), the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights (FRA), the National Contact Points on Integration, EURJUST and the European Police Office (EUROPOL);
3. European/international conventions, treaties and protocols (e.g. on smuggling, trafficking and forced labour from the United Nations, the Council of Europe and the International Criminal Court);
4. glossaries developed by international bodies, such as the ILO, IOM, OECD and the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR);
5. other relevant (EU) projects/entities (e.g. the European Union Observatory on Democracy<sup>8</sup>, THESIM<sup>9</sup>).

Some of the existing definitions of glossary entries have been modified so as to better reflect the usage of the term in the context of asylum and migration policy in the EU; where this is the case, it is indicated in the ‘source’ that the definition is ‘derived by’ the EMN. Likewise, some definitions had to be developed by the working group itself, as they could not be sourced from the references outlined above; in such cases the entry source indicates that the definition was ‘developed by’ the EMN.

3.4. Definitions

Each EMN glossary definition has been formulated according to the IATE standard, meaning that they can directly replace the term in any given text. For example, the term ‘applicant for international protection’ can be directly replaced in any text with its definition: ‘third-country national or a stateless person who has made an application for international protection in respect of which a final decision has not yet been taken’. In due course, the EMN glossary terms will also be incorporated into the IATE database.

Some terms are understood differently when they are used in a global context, an EU context or specific legal contexts (e.g. in the context of the Schengen Convention or Dublin Convention). In such cases, the context in which a term should be understood is indicated in the definition.

Terms which have a specific linkage to asylum and migration issues but which can be understood in contexts other than asylum and migration (e.g. access to healthcare, school pupil, student, researcher) are defined specifically for the asylum and migration context. Terms that do not have an obvious link to asylum and migration (e.g. child care, civil war, (environmental) disaster, economic sector, education, language) have been omitted from the Glossary.

As many definitions are derived from the EU aquis, they are, in most cases, valid for all EU and often for all EEA Member States and Switzerland. Where national definitions deviate from that of the Glossary, this is indicated in the notes.

3.5. Preferred terms and synonyms

Where multiple interchangeable terms (synonyms) were available for a single concept, a ‘preferred term’ was selected and all the other possible terms (including quasi-synonyms and acronyms) were listed as synonyms. In some cases, the synonym is more common in an EU Member State than the ‘preferred term’ – e.g. ‘deportation’ is more commonly used than ‘removal’ in many EU Member States, even though ‘removal’ is the term used in EU legislation. In such cases, an explanatory note has been added to clarify national specificities.

4 Format of the EMN Glossary

The development of the Glossary also included agreeing on a common approach with regard to the formatting of the terms and definitions, as outlined in this Section.

4.1. Order of terms

The preferred terms are listed in (English) alphabetical order. Where the term is an expression or compound word (i.e. comprised of more than one word), the entry reflects the ordering of the term in common usage – e.g. economic migration or applicant for international protection. In the previous version of the Glossary, some terms were ordered in such a way that kept the same theme together in the Glossary – e.g. ‘migration (economic)’ and ‘migration (forced)’. The entry for ‘migration (economic)’ in version 2.0 can now be found under ‘economic migration’ in version 3.0. Entries are accessible using the previous alternative word ordering via the index at the back of this Glossary.

4.2. Nominal agreement and gender neutrality in the Glossary

Terms are listed in the singular (not plural) and, to the greatest extent possible, both the terms and their definitions are gender neutral. For consistency with the IATE database, the gender-neutral plural pronouns ‘they’, ‘them’, ‘their’ have been used throughout, even when referring to the singular. While some EU languages employ a gender system of agreement for nouns (e.g. in German, Migrant for a male migrant and Migrantin for a female migrant), for simplicity and for consistency with the EMN Glossary version 2.0 only one gender form of such terms (the most generic) is used for these entries.

4.3. Use of ISO standards for listing EU Member States and EU languages

All reference to EU and EEA Member States (and Switzerland) and their languages, whether in the definition, notes or sub-heading, uses abbreviations according to the country codes of the ISO standard 3166-alpha.<sup>10</sup> All other countries and languages are mentioned in full. It should be noted that the ISO codes for languages often differ from the countries in which they are spoken – i.e. Sweden is ‘SE’ whereas Swedish is ‘SV’, but both French and French are abbreviated to ‘FR’.

<sup>10</sup> www.iso.org/iso/country\_codes.htm

4.4. Source of information of notes

Unless indicated to the contrary, all text appearing in the note has the same source as the definition.

4.5. Translations

Whilst the Glossary has been developed in English by the multi-lingual members of the working group, another aspect, mentioned previously, was the need for translations. One feature of the EMN Glossary is to have translations of the terms into other EU Member State languages plus Norwegian. Version 3.0 contains translations of terms into 22 of the EU’s 24 languages<sup>11</sup>. The translations are, to the greatest possible extent, direct translations of the English term, or otherwise a translation that better reflects the definition given.

For some terms, no translation was available, either because the English term has been borrowed into the language and is more commonly used, or because the term is not used in a national context. In the case of the former (English term preferred), this is indicated under the field for the translation as ‘no usual translation’. In the latter case (where the term is not used at all in a national context), this is indicated by ‘no translation’.

Conversely, some terms have more than one translation available in the national context, depending on whether reference was being made to national law or the EU acquis. In these cases, more translations have been provided, with an indication as to the context (national or EU) in which they are used. In cases where there are no such indications, but more than one translation is given (separated by a ‘/’), the translations can be used synonymously.

The acronyms used in the Glossary for the translations refer to the Member State languages. EU Member States having the same nominal language (e.g. AT/DE/LU, BE/FR/LU or BE/NL) are grouped together under the language ‘DE’, ‘FR’ and ‘NL’ and any national deviations from the translation provided are indicated between parentheses – e.g. the term asylum seeker is translated as Asylwerber in Austria (AT), Asylbewerber in Germany (DE) and in the context of the EU acquis, and in Luxembourg (LU), Asylantragsteller. A comma is used to separate synonyms of the translation in the same nominal language<sup>12</sup>.

<sup>12</sup> Note that when the Norwegian terms differ in the two official versions of written Norwegian, the two terms have been given in the following format ‘...(b) / ..(n)’.

When there is variation between countries in the translation of a term (e.g. between AT, DE and LU), either the form used in official language versions of EU law is used or where the term is not found in the EU aquis, the most used term is chosen (e.g. used in AT and DE, but not in LU) to avoid there being multiple terms provided per language.

4.6. Relationships between terms

Most of the entries listed in the Glossary list a number of terms related to the preferred term through an equivalence, hierarchical or associative relationship.

- An equivalence relationship is a relationship between two terms that represent the same concept and which are therefore (virtually) interchangeable. In the Glossary, synonyms have an equivalence relationship and are understood to also include terms that may represent a slightly different concept (i.e. quasi-synonyms), as well as acronyms and abbreviations. All synonyms are listed in the index.
- A hierarchical relationship is a relationship between a pair of concepts in which one falls within the scope of the other – see broader term and narrower term. A broader term indicates the relationship between a more generic and a more specific term. For example, ‘economic migrant’ is a broader term of the term ‘labour migrant’, which in turn is the narrower term.
- An associative relationship is a relationship between a pair of concepts that are not related hierarchically but which share a strong semantic or conceptual connection. Such related terms are not related in a hierarchical manner but have an association, which may help users to understand wider contexts and meanings of the terms in which they have an interest.

4.7. References to other terms in the Glossary

Where a preferred term existing and defined elsewhere in the Glossary is used in a particular definition or by an indicated (hierarchical or associative) relationship (see 4.6 above), then this term is indicated in bold the first time it is used in the definition and in the notes. For example, the definition for the term long-term resident is given as ‘A third-country national who has long-term resident status as provided for under Articles 4 to 7 of Council Directive 2003/109/EC; ‘third-country national’ is in bold as it is defined elsewhere in the Glossary.

Definition

An expedited procedure to examine an application for international protection which is either already deemed manifestly unfounded, which involves serious national security or public order concerns, or which is a subsequent application.

Source

Derived by EMN from the Council of Europe's Guidelines on human rights protection in the context of accelerated asylum procedures 2009

Synonyms

- ★ accelerated procedure for international protection
- ★ speedy asylum procedure
- ★ speedy international protection procedure

Notes

1. As per the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe's guidelines on human rights protection in the context of accelerated asylum procedures of 1 July 2009, the procedure derogates from normally applicable procedural timescales and / or procedural guarantees with a view to expediting decision-making. For more information see <https://wcd.coe.int/ViewDoc.jsp?id=1469829&Ste=CM>
2. Directive 2013/32/EU (Recast Asylum Procedures Directive) recognises, in Recital 18 of the Preamble and in Art. 31(2) that it is in the interest of both Member States and applicants for international protection for decisions to be taken as soon as possible. This Directive does not provide for minimum or maximum time limits for taking a decision on applications for international protection nor does it define the term 'accelerated procedure'. However, Art. 31(2) does make clear that the speed of the asylum procedure may not prejudice 'an adequate and complete examination' of the asylum claim.
3. Accelerated procedures must comply with the basic principles and guarantees laid down in Chapter II of Directive 2013/32/EU and may be conducted only in limited cases laid down in Art. 31(8) of the Directive.

Definition

Healthcare entitlements enjoyed by third-country nationals (migrants, applicants for international protection and refugees) in EU Member States and in their countries of origin.

Source

Derived by EMN from Art. 11 of Council Directive 2003/109/EC (Long Term Residents Directive) and Art. 30 of Directive 2011/95/EU (Recast Qualification Directive)

Synonyms

- ★ healthcare benefits
- ★ medical benefits

Broader term

- ★ social protection benefits

Notes

1. In EU Member States, the scope of healthcare to which a third-country national has access depends on their residence or employment status. For further information see EMN: Migrants access to social security and healthcare: policies and practice, 2014.
2. According to Council Directive 2003/109/EC (Long Term Residents Directive), long-term residents enjoy the same access to healthcare as nationals as defined by national law.
3. Directive 2011/95/EU (Recast Qualification Directive) grants access to adequate healthcare, including treatment of mental disorders when needed, to beneficiaries of international protection under the same eligibility conditions as nationals of the Member State that has granted such protection.
4. Directive 2013/33/EU (Recast Reception Conditions Directive) establishes minimum standards for access to healthcare for applicants of international protection during the asylum procedure. Asylum seekers are entitled to a basic treatment for emergency care and essential treatment of illnesses and of serious mental disorder at no cost in most countries. However, the entitlement of asylum seekers to healthcare services depends on national legislation and varies among Member States. See for example, the EMN: Ad-Hoc Query on System of medical treatment of asylum seekers in Member States.
5. Access to healthcare can be a key factor in the process of decision-making on applications for international protection. Subsidiary protection may apply if the asylum-seeker contends that a return to the country of origin is impossible for health reasons, as the return of a sick person which is often connected with the medical standards in the country of return could constitute a breach of Art. 3 ECR. Thus case workers have to take into account whether medical treatment is available in the country of origin and whether the available medical treatment would also be (e.g. financially) accessible to the concerned person upon return. For further information see the description of the MedCCI project in the List of projects funded by the European Refugee Fund in 2011.

Notes

1. Art. 4 (3) of Council Resolution of 26 June 1997 on unaccompanied minors states that in principle, unaccompanied asylum-seekers claiming to be minors must produce evidence of their age. If such evidence is not available or serious doubt persists, Member States may carry out an age assessment. Age assessment should be carried out objectively. For such purposes, Member States may have a medical age-test carried out by qualified medical personnel, with the consent of the minor, a specially appointed adult representative or institution.

2. According to UN Committee on the Rights of the Child, General Comment No. 6, the identification of a child as an unaccompanied and separated child (UASC) includes age assessment, which should take into account physical appearance, but also psychological maturity. The assessment must be conducted in a scientific, safe, child and gender-sensitive and fair manner, avoiding any risk of violation of the physical integrity of the child, giving due respect to human dignity.

3. Age assessment can include a variety of processes or procedures either undertaken singularly or in combination, such as: analysis of documentary evidence, interview, X-ray, physical or other form of medical examination.

★ application for international protection

Narrower term

Notes

1. In most Member States this term is understood as a synonym to application for international protection following the adoption of Directive 2011/95/EU (Recast Qualification Directive) and Directive 2013/32/EU (Recast Asylum Procedures Directive). However, UK and IE, which have not adopted the single procedure, continue to use the term 'application for asylum' for an application for protection under the Geneva Convention only. In DE the term is still used to include, in addition to the application for international protection according the Qualification Directive, also the application according to the national legislation, Art. 16a Basic Law.

2. Outside EU legislation and in everyday use, the terms 'asylum application' and 'application for asylum' are often used more frequently than 'application for international protection'.

3. According to Protocol 29 of TFEU on asylum for nationals of Member States of the European Union (1997), EU Member States shall be regarded as constituting safe countries of origin in respect of each other for all legal and practical purposes in relation to asylum matters. Accordingly, any application for asylum made by a national of a Member State is normally not taken into consideration. In practice, non-EU countries can receive applications for asylum from EU Member States.

Notes

1. The term ‘asylum-shopping’ has no legal definition, but is used in an informal sense and also in Commission Communications. It is often used with a negative connotation, as it implies an abuse of the asylum procedure through the lodging of more than one application for international protection in different Member States (choosing the Member State which may grant the most appealing social, humanitarian and economic standards).
2. A second meaning understands asylum shopping as a comparison and selection of one asylum rule among several (see European University Institute: the Development of the EU Asylum Policy: Revisiting the Venue-shopping Argument).
3. Commission Staff Working Document SEO2008/2029 provides not only some examples of what ‘asylum shopping’ means but also an assessment of the impacts of the Dublin system (which comprises the Dublin Regulation and Eurodac Regulation and their implementing regulations).

In the migration context, the duty of a non-national seeking entry into a foreign State to prove that they are entitled to enter and not inadmissible under the laws of that State.

In the context of refugee status determination procedures, the duty of the applicant to establish their case, to produce evidence that they have a well-founded fear of persecution.

Source

Notes

1. In refugee status determination procedures, it is the applicant who has the burden of establishing the veracity of their allegations and the accuracy of the facts on which the refugee claim is based. The burden of proof is discharged by the applicant rendering a truthful account of facts relevant to the claim so that, based on the facts, a proper decision may be reached.

Source

IOM Glossary on Migration, 2nd. ed., 2011

Notes

1. A carrier usually refers to an airline, bus or rail company, or cruise line. Under the laws of some States, the term includes any owner of a means of conveyance, which carries a person onto its territory.
2. The definition given in Art. 2(a) of Council Directive 2004/82/EC (API Directive) is more restrictive in that it refers explicitly to passenger transport by air and there is uncertainty as to what 'any natural or legal person' actually refers to, e.g. if this is the owner of the company only.

Notes

1. Originally chain migration refers to a process in which initial movements of migrants lead to further movements from the same area to the same area. In a chain migration system, individual members of a community migrate and then encourage or assist further movements of migration (see Migration, Citizenship, Education Glossary).

2. Chain migration may also be based on ethnic or family ties with members of the same family migrating at different times, usually with primary wage earners migrating first, followed by secondary or non-wage earners. In countries with more or less liberal regulations on the rights of migrants to family reunification usually in accordance with international conventions, family reunification as an incidence of chain migration explains much of the growth in the total migrant population.

Notes

1. The Charter was proclaimed in December 2000 and became binding in December 2009 when the Lisbon Treaty came into force.
2. The Charter does not establish new rights, but assembles existing rights that were previously scattered over a range of international sources and thus makes them more visible. The Charter reaffirms, with due regard for the powers and tasks of the Union and for the principle of subsidiarity, the rights as they result, in particular, from the constitutional traditions and international obligations common to the Member States, the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, the Social Charters adopted by the Union and by the Council of Europe and the case-law of the Court of Justice of the European Union and of the European Court of Human Rights.

Notes

1. There is still no concrete, consistent definition of 'child' under EU law. The Lisbon Treaty introduced an objective for the EU to promote children's rights. Moreover the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union guarantees the protection of children's rights by EU institutions, as well as by EU countries when they implement EU law. For further information, see the webpage of the DG Justice on the Rights of the Child and Fundamental Rights Agency: Developing indicators for the protection, respect and promotion of the rights of the child in the European Union, March 2009.

2. The term should be used to describe relationship with other family members. When referring to an individual and in a more legal context, the term minor should be used.

Source

Webpage of the ILO International Programme on the Elimination of Child Labour (IPEC)

Broader term

★ child

Related term

★ forced labour

Notes

1. The definition does allow for a child to work (e.g. in a shop outside school hours) as long as it does not conflict with the above. It refers to work that is mentally, physically, socially or morally dangerous and harmful to children and interferes with their schooling by:

- depriving them of the opportunity to attend school;
- obliging them to leave school prematurely; or
- requiring them to attempt to combine school attendance with excessively long and heavy work.

2. The ILO Convention No 138 specifies 15 years as the age above which, in normal circumstances, a person may participate in economic activity. According to Art. 32 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, the employment of children is prohibited. The minimum age of admission to employment may not be lower than the minimum school-leaving age, without prejudice to such rules as may be more favourable to young people and except for limited derogations.

3. Not all work done by children should be classified as child labour that is to be targeted for elimination. The ILO distinguishes between 'child work' and 'child labour', the latter being used to describe the more pejorative part of 'child work', whereas 'child work' in itself could include doing light household chores and, as long as it does not affect their health and personal development or interfere with their schooling, can actually have some learning value.

Notes

The two main forms of circular migration which could be most relevant in the EU context are:

(a) Circular migration of third-country nationals settled in the EU

This category of circular migration gives people the opportunity to engage in an activity (business, professional, voluntary or other) in their country of origin while retaining their main residence in one of the Member States. This covers various groups, e.g.:

- business persons working in the EU and wishing to start an activity in their country of origin (or in another third country); and
- doctors, professors or other professionals willing to support their country of origin by conducting part of their professional activity there.

(b) Circular migration of persons residing in a third country

Circular migration could create an opportunity for persons residing in a third country to come to the EU temporarily for work, study, training or a combination of these, on the condition that, at the end of the period for which they were granted entry, they must re-establish their main residence and their main activity in their country of origin. Circularity can be enhanced by giving migrants the possibility, once they have returned, to retain some form of privileged mobility to and from the Member States where they were formerly residing, for example in the form of simplified admission / re-entry procedures.

This category covers a wide array of situations, spanning the whole spectrum of migrants, including:

- third-country nationals wishing to work temporarily in the EU, e.g. in seasonal employment;
- third-country nationals wishing to study or train in Europe before returning to their country;
- third-country nationals who, after having completed their studies, wish to be employed in the EU (e.g. as trainees) to acquire professional experience which is difficult to obtain at home, before returning;
- third-country researchers wishing to carry out a research project in the EU;
- third-country nationals, who wish to take part in intercultural people-to-people exchanges and other activities in the field of culture, active citizenship, education and youth (such as, for example, training courses, seminars, events, study visits);
- third-country nationals who wish to carry out an unremunerated voluntary service pursuing objectives of general interest in the EU.

Notes

1. Whilst in some Member States a distinction is made between citizenship and nationality, in the EU context and for the purpose of this glossary, no distinction is made and the two terms are considered to be interchangeable. In countries which distinguish between citizenship and nationality, the term citizenship refers specifically to the legal rights and duties of nationals. The European Convention on Nationality, the International Organisation for Migration (IOM) Glossary and the EUDO Glossary on Citizenship and Nationality prefer the term 'nationality'.

2. According to Art. 1 of the Hague Convention on Certain Questions Relating to the Conflict of Nationality Law, 1930, it is for each State to determine under its own laws who are its nationals.

3. The tie of nationality confers individual rights and imposes obligations that a State reserves for its population. Nationality carries with it certain consequences as regards migration, such as the right of a State to protect its nationals against violations of their individual rights committed by foreign authorities (particularly by means of diplomatic protection), the duty to accept its nationals onto its territory, and the prohibition to expel them.

Synonyms

Notes

1. Frequently the CIA discusses upcoming legislative or other proposals in order to 'measure the temperature' of Member State feelings before submitting a formal Commission proposal.
2. The CIA is also used as a forum for collecting information on the situation in Member States (via questionnaires) on selected policy-relevant issues and where the Commission can report to Member States on its activities.
3. Participants from Member States are nominated on an ad-hoc basis; normally both 'generalists' from the Permanent Representations and 'specialists' from the capitals are present. Non-governmental organisations (NGOs) and international organisations such as UNHCR or IOM are sometimes invited to join discussions of the CIA as active observers.

Notes

1. The Common Basic Principles for Immigrant Integration Policy in the EU were adopted by the Justice and Home Affairs Council in November 2004 and form the foundations of EU initiatives in the field of integration.

2. The Common Basic Principles offer a guide for Member States against which they can judge and assess their own efforts. They can also use these basic principles to set priorities and further develop their own measurable goals. The principles are relevant both for Member States with considerable experience of substantial immigration as well as for those that have more recently become destinations for significant numbers of immigrants.

Definition

In the global context, obligatory return of an individual to the country of origin, transit or third country (i.e. country of return), on the basis of an administrative or judicial act.

In the EU context, the process of going back – whether in voluntary or enforced compliance with an obligation to return – to:

- one's country of origin; or
- a country of transit in accordance with EU or bilateral readmission agreements or other arrangements; or
- another third country, to which the third-country national concerned voluntarily decides to return and in which they will be accepted.

Source

Global context: Derived by BMN from the definition of 'forced return' in the IOM Glossary on Migration, 2nd ed, 2011

EU context: Art. 3(3) of Directive 2008/115/EC(Return Directive)

Synonym

Broader term

- ★ return

Narrower terms

- ★ removal
- ★ voluntary departure

Related terms

- ★ refoulement
- ★ voluntary return

Notes

1. Compulsory return is understood as return which occurs once a return decision has been issued. Art. 3(3) of Directive 2008/115/EC(Return Directive) calls this 'return' (not 'compulsory return') but so as to avoid confusion with the return of migrants based on their free will and without any direction from the State, we have named 'return' when occurring in compliance with a return decision, 'compulsory return'.

2. Outside of EU legislation the term 'forced return' is more commonly used and understood as a synonym with 'compulsory return' – i.e. return which occurs in compliance with a return decision.

Definition

The five enumerated grounds listed in Art. 1A(2) of the Geneva Refugee Convention of 1951: race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion which must be the reason for persecution.

Source

- ★ reasons for persecution

Broader term

- ★ persecution

Related terms

- ★ Geneva Convention of 1951 and Protocol of 1967
- ★ refugee

Notes

1. Not every person who is outside their own country and has a well-founded fear of persecution is a Convention refugee. One of the conditions for qualification for refugee status within the meaning of Art. 1(A) of the Geneva Convention is the existence of a causal link between the reasons for persecution, namely race, religion, nationality, political opinion or membership of a particular social group, and the acts of persecution or the absence of protection against such acts. Persecution based on any other ground will not be considered. The risk of being persecuted may sometimes arise in circumstances where two or more Convention grounds combine in the same person, in which case the combination of such grounds defines the causal connection to the well-founded fear of being persecuted.

2. The following definitions come into play when States attempt to determine who is and who is not a refugee:

- race is used in the broadest sense and includes ethnic and social groups of common descent;
- religion also has a broad meaning, including identification with a group that tends to share common traditions or beliefs, as well as the active practice of religion;
- nationality includes an individual's citizenship. Persecution of ethnic, linguistic and cultural groups within a population also may be termed persecution based on nationality;
- a particular social group refers to people who share a similar background, habits or social status. This category often overlaps with persecution based on one of the other four grounds. It has applied to families of capitalists, landowners, homosexuals, entrepreneurs and former members of the military;
- political opinion refers to ideas not tolerated by the authorities, including opinions critical of government policies and methods. It includes opinions attributed to individuals even if the individual does not in fact hold that opinion. Individuals who conceal their political opinions until after they have fled their countries may qualify for refugee status if they can show that their views are likely to subject them to persecution if they return home.

2. Credibility is established where the applicant has presented a claim which is coherent and plausible, not contradicting generally known facts, and therefore is, on balance, capable of being believed.

Definition

Source

Derived by EVN from the definition of 'cross-border workers' by DG Taxation and Customs Union (DG TAXUD)

Synonym

★ cross-border commuter

Related term

★ frontier worker

Notes

1. In dealing with cross-border issues a multitude of definitions for the term 'cross-border worker / commuter' exists.

2. The concept of cross-border workers covers different circumstances, depending on whether one takes the Community meaning (set out, in particular, in connection with social security) or the various definitions included in bilateral double-taxation agreements.

3. Where tax is concerned, bilateral double-taxation agreements determining the tax arrangements applicable to frontier workers use more restrictive definitions which additionally impose a spatial criterion: the fact of living and working in a frontier zone.

4. Often 'cross-border workers' and 'frontier workers' are considered as synonyms. However, cross-border workers are distinct from frontier workers to the extent that they do not necessarily work in the frontier zone of the host country.

The value is expressed per 1,000 inhabitants. The crude rate of net migration is equal to the difference between the crude rate of increase and the crude rate of natural increase (that is, net migration is considered as the part of population change not attributable to births and deaths). It is calculated in this way because immigration or emigration flows are either unknown or the figures are not sufficiently precise.

Notes

1. The UNESCO Declaration on Cultural Diversity reflects the diverse and pluralist understanding of culture and defines cultural diversity in Art. 1 as follows: 'Diverse forms of culture across time and space which is embodied in the uniqueness and plurality of the identities of the groups and societies making up humankind and is a source of exchange, innovation and creativity.' The scope and definition agreed on in the UNESCO declaration were partly retained in the 2005 UNESCO Convention on Cultural Diversity (UNESCO Convention on the Protection and Promotion of the Diversity of Cultural Expression), the successive legally binding Convention, which is a landmark agreement in modern international law of culture and which sets out common rules, principles and points of reference for cultural diversity at the global level.

2. On 18 December 2006, the European Community ratified the UNESCO Convention. Preserving and promoting cultural diversity are among the Community's founding principles: they are enshrined in the Treaty, under Art. 151, and in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, under Art. 22.3.

Definition

In the global migration context, non-punitive administrative measure ordered by an administrative or judicial authority(ies) in order to restrict the liberty of a person through confinement so that another procedure may be implemented.

In the EU asylum context, confinement (i.e. deprivation of liberty) of an applicant for international protection by a Member State within a particular place, where the applicant is deprived of their personal liberty.

Source

Global context: Derived by EMN from the definition of 'detention' in UNESCO's 'People on the Move' Handbook

EU context: Art. 2(h) of Directive 2013/33/EU (Recast Reception Conditions Directive) and Art. 26 of Directive 2013/32/EU (Recast Asylum Procedures Directive)

Related terms

★ alternative to detention

★ detainee

Notes

1. EU provisions differentiate between different migration situations in which third-country nationals can be detained: detention of applicants for international protection, detention in order to prevent irregular entry into the territory of Member States and detention of irregular migrants involved in return proceedings.

2. Applicants for international protection may be detained at any stage of or throughout the asylum process, from the time an initial application is made up to the point of removal of an unsuccessful applicant for international protection. According to Art. 18 of Directive 2013/32/EU (Recast Asylum Procedure Directive) it is not acceptable to detain a person solely for the reason that they have lodged an application for international protection. To ensure the non-arbitrariness of detention and the respect of fundamental rights of applicants for international protection, Directive 2013/33/EU introduced an exhaustive list of detention grounds (Art. 8) and put in place a number of procedural guarantees. The Directive also regulates the conditions in detention facilities (Art. 10).

3. In an EU return context, Member States may only detain or keep in a detention facility a third-country national who is the subject of return procedures in order to prepare the return and / or carry out the removal process, in particular when: (a) there is a risk of absconding; or (b) the third-country national concerned avoids or hampers the preparation of return or the removal process. Any detention shall be for as short a period as possible and only maintained as long as removal arrangements are in progress and executed with due diligence. See Art. 15 (1) of Directive 2008/115/EC (Return Directive).

4. For further information, see EMN: The use of detention and alternatives to detention in the context of immigration policies, 2014.

Notes

1. The MTM Dialogue started in 2002 and involves numerous participants from Arab (APS) and European partner states (EPS) as well as seven international organisations. The International Centre for Migration Policy Development (ICMPD) serves as its secretariat. Initially focusing on transit migration, the MTM extended its scope over the years to cover various aspects of migration management in the Mediterranean region and beyond.

2. The Dialogue on Mediterranean Transit Migration is built on two pillars. The first one focuses on enhancing operational cooperation to combat irregular migration or, in other terms, on shorter-term measures to address irregular flows. The second pillar deals with a longer-term perspective by focusing on addressing the root causes of irregular flows through development cooperation and a better joint management of migration. These pillars are used as frameworks for the implementation of specific projects but cross-pillar projects are also put in place.

Notes

1. Within the context of the Eastern Partnership Platform 1 (democracy, good governance and stability), the Eastern Partnership Panel on Migration and Asylum (EaP) was created in 2011. The overall objective of the Panel is to strengthen the asylum and migration systems of Eastern partners and advance the dialogue on migration and asylum issues between the Eastern partners and the EU, as well as amongst the Eastern partners.

2. The precursor of the EaP was the Söderköping Process, which was launched in May 2001 as a cross-border cooperation on asylum and migration in order to respond to new challenges due to the EU's enlargement eastwards. With the establishment of the Panel on Migration and Asylum within the Eastern Partnership's Platform 1, the work of the Söderköping Process is being carried on within the multilateral dimension of the Eastern Partnership.

Related term

★ genocide

Notes

1. General Assembly resolution 47/121 referred in its Preamble to 'the abhorrent policy of "ethnic cleansing".'

2. Trial Chamber Judgment of 2 August 2001 of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY) has observed, while 'there are obvious similarities between a genocidal policy and the policy commonly known as "ethnic cleansing", yet "[a] clear distinction must be drawn between physical destruction and mere dissolution of a group. The expulsion of a group or part of a group does not in itself suffice for genocide'.

3. These legal documents thus state that crimes committed during an ethnic cleansing are similar to those of genocide, but while genocide includes an intent at complete or partial destruction of the target group, ethnic cleansing may involve murder only to the point of mobilising the target group out of the territory. Hence, there may be varied degrees of mass murder in an ethnic cleansing, often subsiding when the target group appears to be leaving the desired territory, while during genocide the mass murder is ubiquitous and constant throughout the process, continuing even while the target group tries to flee.

Notes

1. The ENP was developed in 2004, with the objective of avoiding the emergence of new dividing lines between the enlarged EU and its neighbours and instead strengthening the prosperity, stability and security of all. It is based on the values of democracy, rule of law and respect of human rights.

2. The three regional and multilateral cooperation initiatives of the ENP are: the Eastern Partnership (launched in Prague in May 2009), the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership (EUROMED), formerly known as the Barcelona Process, re-launched in Paris in July 2008), and the Black Sea Synergy (launched in Kiev in February 2008).

3. The Lisbon Treaty has allowed the EU to strengthen the delivery of its foreign policy: cooperation with neighbouring countries can now be broadened to cover the full range of issues in an integrated and more effective manner. This was a key driver for initiating a review of the ENP in summer 2010.

4. For up-to-date information on the ENP, see: http://eeas.europa.eu/enp/about-us/index\_en.htm

Notes

1. The term ‘forced return’ is not used at all in EU legislation.

2. Council Directive 2008/115/EC (Return Directive) which regulates the return of migrants whose stay has been found to be illegal – refers to return following a return decision as ‘return’ (not ‘forced return’).

3. In the EU environment (e.g. in the metadata of Eurostat), ‘forced return’ is synonymous with ‘removal’ – i.e. the physical transportation out of the country following a return decision.

4. Outside of EU legislation the term ‘forced return’ is more commonly used and understood as a synonym with ‘compulsory return’ – i.e. return which occurs in compliance with a return decision.

Notes

1. The 1967 Protocol removed geographical and temporal restrictions from the Convention. The 1951 Convention consolidates previous international instruments relating to refugees and provides the most comprehensive codification of the rights of refugees at international level. In contrast to earlier international refugee instruments, which applied to specific groups of refugees, the 1951 endorses a single definition of the term 'refugee' in Art. 1.

2. The Convention is both a status and rights-based instrument and is underpinned by a number of fundamental principles, most notably non-discrimination, non-penalisation and non-refoulement.

Notes

1. The Global Approach to Migration (GAM) was first defined by the European Council in December 2005 (COM(2007) 247) and further developed in 2007 and 2008. It has constituted the framework for the cooperation of the EU with third countries in the area of migration and asylum. The Stockholm Programme adopted in 2009 also acknowledged the importance of consolidating, strengthening and implementing the GAM.
2. The approach comprises the whole migration agenda, including legal and irregular migration, combating trafficking in human beings and smuggling of migrants, strengthening protection for refugees, enhancing migrant rights and harnessing the positive links that exist between migration and development.
3. In 2011, the global approach was evaluated. As a result of this, the Commission highlighted the need for further strengthening the external migration policy and published in November 2011 the Communication on the Global Approach to Migration and Mobility, COM(2011) 743 final on a new impetus to the EU's external migration policy. The renewed GAMM focuses on four main priorities: improving the organisation of legal migration and facilitated mobility, preventing and reducing irregular migration in an efficient, yet humane way, strengthening the synergies between migration and development, and strengthening international protection systems and the external dimension of asylum.

Source

UNHCR Master Glossary of Terms

Synonym

★ prima facie determination of refugee status

Related terms

Note

Refugee status must normally be determined on an individual basis, but when large populations are displaced under circumstances that indicate that most members of the population could individually be considered refugees, and where the need to provide protection and assistance is urgent and / or where it may not be possible for practical reasons to carry out an individual determination of refugee status, each member of that population in question can be regarded prima facie (in the absence of evidence to the contrary) as a refugee. In other words, the presumption is that individual members of the population concerned would be considered as refugees in need of protection. ## Definition

A concept which recognises that persecution can be enacted against members of a section of the population (a 'group') that is suffering oppression or is threatened as a whole in its home country according to one of the criteria defined in the Geneva Convention of 1951 to an extent that the members of such a group are not only covertly or potentially at risk, but quite tangibly and imminently requiring thus a certain intensity of persecution to warrant the general assumption of the individual persecution of each group member, irrespective of whether an individual has indeed been the victim of such persecution. In any case, whilst a group may be persecuted, an application for international protection must be examined on an individual basis in the Member States, and not all together as one group.

Source

Definition according to the consistent practice of the German Federal Administrative Court based on ruling of 15 May 1990 –9 C17.89

Broader term

★ persecution

Related terms

- ★ act of persecution
- ★ actor of persecution
- ★ group determination of refugee status
- ★ prima facie refugee

Notes

1. This concept has no legal definition in the Member States.
2. 'Group' is interpreted broadly as referring to persons of a particular religious belief, social (e.g. homosexuals), and / or coming from a particular region within a country.
3. An assumption of group persecution requires a certain intensity of persecution to warrant the general assumption of the individual persecution of each group member, irrespective of whether an individual has indeed been the victim of such persecution. This requires a threat emanating from so large a number of violations of rights protected by asylum law that it goes beyond separate individual infringements or a large number of individual infringements, but rather constitutes acts of persecution in the specific territory aimed at the group as a whole which increase, are repeated and spread to such an extent that there is not only a possibility, but a direct imminent danger of becoming a victim oneself for any member of such a group.
4. With consideration to the general principle of subsidiarity in refugee law, group persecution will only entitle a refugee to protection abroad, if the danger is present in the entire territory of the country of origin, i.e. if there is no internal alternative for protection. For the purposes of the danger of persecution after return, such an internal alternative must be reasonable and accessible from the country of refuge.
5. For more information on group persecution, see the European Database of Asylum Law(EDAL): http://www.asylumlawdatabase.eu/en/case-law-search?search\_api\_views\_fulltext=group+persecution&=Search+EDAL+summaries, i.e. German Federal Administrative Court, ruling of 12 April 2009 –10 C11.08.

Notes

1. The UK has opted into the Directive 2011/95/EU (Recast Qualification Directive) but does not (legally) use the term 'subsidiary protection'. The inclusion of humanitarian protection within the UK immigration rules fully transposes the subsidiary protection provisions of the Qualification Directive into UK law, as it is defined as protection given to someone under the terms of the European Convention on Human Rights.
2. IE has also opted into the Qualification Directive, and uses the term 'leave to remain'.
3. In DE, FI and IT, humanitarian protection and subsidiary protection are different concepts. In DE and IT, humanitarian protection is the reception and residence of refugees under international law or on humanitarian or political (DE only) grounds, and in FI, humanitarian protection is granted to foreign nationals who cannot return to their country of origin or country of former habitual residence as a result of an environmental catastrophe or a bad security situation, which may be due to an international or internal armed conflict or a poor human rights situation.
4. In EE, LV, this term is not used.
5. AT and ES use a similar expression, namely 'residence permit on humanitarian grounds'.
6. In BG, humanitarian protection encompasses subsidiary protection as well as protection granted for other humanitarian reasons (see Art. 9, SGNb 52 of 2007).
7. In NO, a residence permit may be granted, even if the other conditions laid down in the Act are not satisfied, provided there are strong humanitarian considerations or the foreign national has a particular connection with the realm. To determine whether there are strong humanitarian considerations, an overall assessment shall be made of the case. Importance may be attached, inter alia, to whether the foreign national is an unaccompanied minor who would be without proper care if they were returned; the foreign national needs to stay in the realm due to compelling health circumstances; there are social or humanitarian circumstances relating to the return situation that give grounds for granting a residence permit; the foreign national has been a victim of human trafficking. (For further information, see Immigration Act of May 2008, Chapter 5, Section 38).

The second scheme concerns migrant workers. Rules applicable here are less generous and limited to specific categories of third-country nationals, i.e. long-term residents, highly skilled workers, researchers and students.

2. Through separate agreements between the EU and IS, LI, NO and CH, the same rights to free movement apply to their citizens and their territories.

(c) they justify the purpose and conditions of the intended stay, and they have sufficient means of subsistence, both for the duration of the intended stay and for the return to their country of origin or transit to a third country into which they are certain to be admitted, or are in a position to acquire such means lawfully;

Definition

In the global context, a person who, owing to irregular entry, breach of a condition of entry or the expiry of their legal basis for entering and residing, lacks legal status in a transit or host country.

In the EU context, a third-country national present on the territory of a Schengen State who does not fulfil, or no longer fulfils, the conditions of entry as set out in the Schengen Borders Code, or other conditions for entry, stay or residence in that Member State.

Source

Global context: Derived by EMN from IOM Glossary on Migration, 2nd. Ed. 2011

EU context: Derived by EMN from the definition of 'illegal stay' in Art. 3 of Directive 2008/115/EC (Return Directive)

Synonyms

- ★ insufficiently documented migrant
- ★ migrant in an irregular situation
- ★ migrant with irregular status
- ★ unauthorised migrant

Narrower term

- ★ third-country national found to be illegally present

Related terms

- ★ apprehension
- ★ irregular migration
- ★ overstay(er)

Notes

1. The IOM definition covers inter alia those persons who have entered a transit or host country lawfully but have stayed for a longer period than authorised or subsequently taken up unauthorised employment.

2. The term 'irregular' is preferable to 'illegal' migrant because the latter carries a criminal connotation, entering a country in an irregular manner, or staying with an irregular status, is not a criminal offence but an infraction of administrative regulations. Apart from this, juridically and ethically, an act can be legal or illegal but a person cannot. Thus more and more the term 'migrant in an irregular situation' or 'migrant with irregular status' is preferred.

3. The European Commission has used the term 'third-country national found to be illegally present' or 'illegally resident / staying third-country national' in legislation.

4. The Council of Europe differentiates between illegal migration and irregular migrant. Referring to Resolution 1509 (2006) of the Council of Europe Parliamentary Assembly, 'illegal' is preferred when referring to a status or process, whereas 'irregular' is preferred when referring to a person.

Notes

1. There is no universally accepted definition of irregular migration. From the perspective of destination countries it is entry, stay or work in a country without the necessary authorisation or documents required under immigration regulations. From the perspective of the sending country, the irregularity is, for example, seen in cases in which a person crosses an international boundary without a valid passport or travel document or does not fulfil the administrative requirements for leaving the country. There is, however, a tendency to restrict the use of the term to cases of smuggling of migrants and trafficking in persons.

2. Defining irregular migration has been the subject of considerable debate. Terms such as illegal, undocumented, non-documented, and unauthorised migration can have different connotations in national policy debates. Due to this and the association with criminality the term ‘illegal migration’ should be avoided, as most irregular migrants are not criminals. Being in a country without the required papers is, in most countries, not a criminal offence but an administrative infringement.

3. While the UN use the term ‘irregular’ or ‘undocumented’ migration, the European Commission favoured for a long time the term ‘illegal immigration’, but more recently refers to ‘irregular migration’ as well.

4. The Council of Europe differentiates between illegal migration and irregular migrant. Referring to Resolution 1509 (2006) of the Council of Europe Parliamentary Assembly, ‘illegal’ is preferred when referring to a status or process, whereas ‘irregular’ is preferred when referring to a person.

Notes

1. The Treaty of Lisbon was signed by the 27 Member States on 13 December 2007, and entered into force on 1 December 2009. It amends the Maastricht Treaty (1993), which is also known as the Treaty on European Union, and the Treaty of Rome (1952), which is also known as the Treaty establishing the European Community (TEEC). At Lisbon, the Treaty of Rome was renamed the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU).

2. Prominent changes included the move from unanimity to qualified majority voting in at least 45 policy areas in the Council of Ministers, a change in calculating such a majority to a new double majority, a more powerful European Parliament forming a bicameral legislature alongside the Council of ministers under the ordinary legislative procedure, a consolidated legal personality for the EU, and the creation of a long-term President of the European Council and a High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy. The Treaty also made the Union's bill of rights, the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, legally binding.

3. The Treaty of Lisbon broadened the competences of the EU in asylum issues. According to Art. 78 TFEU, a common policy on asylum is developed through the ordinary legislative procedure. There is no mentioning of minimum standards as before which sets the aim to convergence. The Article provides for the legal basis for the CEAS. For further information, see the entry for 'Common European Asylum System' in this EMN Glossary.

'Long-term migration' and 'permanent migration' are often understood as quasi-synonyms. The OECD defines permanent migration as 'a concept relating to undertaking migration with a view to, or which results in, settling on a permanent basis in the country of destination.'

Definition

In the global context, a person who is outside the territory of the State of which they are nationals or citizens and who has resided in a foreign country for more than one year irrespective of the causes, voluntary or involuntary, and the means, regular or irregular, used to migrate.

In the EU context, a person who either:

- (i) establishes their usual residence in the territory of a Member State for a period that is, or is expected to be, of at least 12 months, having previously been usually resident in another Member State or a third country; or
- (ii) having previously been usually resident in the territory of a Member State, ceases to have their usual residence in that Member State for a period that is, or is expected to be, of at least 12 months.

Notes

1. At the international level, no universally accepted definition for 'migrant' exists.
2. Under the UN definition, those travelling for shorter periods as tourists and business persons would not be considered migrants. However, common usage includes certain kinds of short-term migrants, such as seasonal workers.
3. The term 'migrant' was usually understood to cover all cases where the decision to migrate was taken freely by the individual concerned for reasons of 'personal convenience' and without intervention of an external compelling factor; it therefore applied to persons, and family members, moving to another country or region to better their material or social conditions and improve the prospect for themselves or their family.

2. For the purpose of the EMN the UN definition is preferred as it is more common in literature and more comprehensive since it specifically includes those migrant workers who may currently be out of work, but had been working earlier. The Convention also includes self-employed workers.

Notes

1. At the international level, no universally accepted definition for migration exists.

2. IOM defines migration as follows: 'movement of a person or a group of persons, either across an international border (international migration), or within a state (internal migration), encompassing any kind of movement of people, whatever its length, composition and causes'. This broad definition covers all forms of migration (voluntary / forced migration, internal / international migration, long-term / short-term migration), different motives for migration (migration because of political persecution, conflicts, economic problems, environmental degradation or a combination of these reasons or migration in search of better economic conditions or conditions of survival or well-being, or other motives such as family reunification) and irrespective of the means used to migrate (legal / irregular migration). Thus it includes migration of refugees, displaced persons, economic migrants and persons moving for other purposes, including family reunification.

3. Under the UN, the definition 'movements for shorter periods' would not be considered migration.

Notes

1. Migration profiles are reports on the migration situation of a country for the purpose of increasing the evidence-base for their own policy development. Such reports contain data and analysis on current migration patterns, labour market trends, remittance flows, information on diasporas and other development-related data.

2. Migration profiles have been produced by IOM and by CARM (Consortium for Applied Research on International Migration) amongst other organisations. For more information see the description of migration profiles on the IOM website.

3. The Global Forum on Migration and Development also hosts a repository of migration profiles: <http://www.gfmd.org/pfp/policy-tools/migration-profiles/repository>

4. Migration profiles entail an analysis of the policy and practice of a state and not that of a person. In this vein, the concept should not be confused with the profiling of a 'person'.

1. This is the preferred term to use when referring to an individual. The term 'child' should then be used to describe the relationship with other family members.

2. The age specified by law, called the 'legal age of majority', indicates that a person acquires full legal capacity to be bound by various documents, such as contracts and deeds, that they make with others and to commit other legal acts such as voting in elections and entering marriage. The age at which a person becomes an adult varies from State to State and often varies within a State, depending upon the nature of the action taken by the person.

Source

Synonym

★ interculturalism

Related term

★ cultural diversity

Notes

1. The term was first used in 1957 to describe CH but came into common currency in Canada in the late 1960s. It quickly spread to other English-speaking countries.
2. There is no universally accepted definition of what multiculturalism can refer to different concepts: demographic facts, philosophical or political ideas and values.
3. Multiculturalism emphasises cultural differences and different cultures existing next to each other without necessarily much contact or participative interaction.
4. The model of multiculturalism has often been criticised on different grounds. Critics of multiculturalism question the ideal of the maintenance of distinct ethnic cultures within a state; others argue that policies of multiculturalism have failed to create inclusion of different cultures within society, but instead have divided society by legitimising segregated separate communities that have isolated themselves and accentuated their specificity.

Definition

Agreements on the recognition of foreign qualifications negotiated by governments and professional organisations in several countries by setting out clear rules for licensing or certifying migrant professionals who move between signatory countries in order to reduce, or even eliminate, the need for case-by-case assessments when applicants have been trained in systems conferring essentially comparable skills and knowledge.

Source

Migration Policy Institute: Skilled Immigrants in The Global Economy: Prospects for International Cooperation on Recognition of Foreign Qualifications, 2013

Synonym

★ MRA

Related term

★ highly qualified migrant

Notes

1. MRAs can lessen barriers migrant professionals face when transferring their skills and experience across borders and help governments to recognise professional qualifications from other jurisdictions. They come in several different forms with major variations in the scope of the agreement and the benefits they provide to the applicant (automatic, partial or limited-scope recognition, temporary access).

2. The furthest-reaching and most comprehensive system is the EU's system outlined in Council Directive 2005/36/EC (Professional Qualification Directive) which covers all regulated occupations in all EU Member States and reduces regulatory authorities' discretion to reject applicants that fall under its purview.

Definition

Mechanism aimed at identifying, protecting and assisting victims of trafficking in human beings, through referral, and involving relevant public authorities and civil society.

Source

Derived by EVN from the Conclusions on the new EU Strategy towards the Eradication of Trafficking in Human Beings 2012-2016 of the 3195th Justice and Home Affairs Council meeting, October 2012

Synonyms

Related terms

Notes

1. This definition was derived for the purpose of EVN: Identification of victims of trafficking in human beings in international protection and forced return procedures with the support of the Office of the Anti-Trafficking Coordinator.

2. The Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) defines an NRM as 'a cooperative framework at national level by which state actors coordinate their efforts in a strategic partnership with civil society to identify, protect and assist victims of trafficking in human beings to ensure that the human rights of trafficked persons are respected and to provide an effective way to refer victims of trafficking to services'. For more information, see OSCE National referral mechanism: joining efforts to protect the rights of trafficked persons, 2004.

3. The National Rapporteurs or Equivalent Mechanisms (NREMs) are responsible for monitoring the implementation of anti-trafficking policy at the national level and play a key role in data collection on trafficking in human beings at national and EU level.

Notes

1. Net migration is negative when the number of emigrants exceeds the number of immigrants.
2. Since many countries either do not have accurate figures on immigration and emigration or have no figures at all, net migration is frequently estimated as the difference between total population change and natural increase between two dates (in Eurostat's database it is then called corrected net migration). The statistics on net migration are therefore affected by any statistical inaccuracies in any of the components used for their derivation.

Notes

1. The Convention does not define 'race' but it does define 'racial discrimination'.
2. Distinctions made on the basis of citizenship (that is, between citizens and non-citizens) are specifically excluded from the definition, as are affirmative action policies and other measures taken to redress imbalances and promote equality.
3. Some institutions such as UNHCR and EASO use the term 'discrimination' with the same definition.

Notes

1. Racism can be defined in many ways. Abroad, general definition is used here in order to have a common understanding of the concept. However, there is a problem in that the term 'racism' presupposes the existence of different races. Recital (6) of Directive 2000/43/EC states that 'The European Union rejects theories which attempt to determine the existence of separate human races.'

2. According to the EU acquis, and specifically Art. 1 of Framework Decision 2008/913/JHA, offences concerning racism and xenophobia are considered to be:

(a) publicly inciting to violence or hatred directed against a group of persons or a member of such a group defined by reference to race, colour, religion, descent or national or ethnic origin;

(b) the commission of an act referred to in point (a) by public dissemination or distribution of tracts, pictures or other material;

(c) publicly condoning, denying or grossly trivialising crimes of genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes as defined in Articles 6, 7 and 8 of the Statute of the International Criminal Court, directed against a group of persons or a member of such a group defined by reference to race, colour, religion, descent or national or ethnic origin when the conduct is carried out in a manner likely to incite violence or hatred against such a group or a member of such a group;

(d) publicly condoning, denying or grossly trivialising the crimes defined in Art. 6 of the Charter of the International Military Tribunal appended to the London Agreement of 8 August 1945, directed against a group of persons or a member of such a group defined by reference to race, colour, religion, descent or national or ethnic origin when the conduct is carried out in a manner likely to incite violence or hatred against such a group or a member of such a group.

3. The Council of Europe provides further insight into the understanding of this term at: http://www.eycb.coe.int/compass/en/chapter\_5/5\_4.html

Notes

1. The likelihood of an applicant for international protection suffering serious harm is assessed in order to provide a standard of proof for assessing eligibility for subsidiary protection. According to Art. 4(4) of the Directive 2011/95/EU (Recast Qualification Directive) on the ‘assessment of facts and circumstances’, earlier serious harm or direct threats are appraised as a ‘serious indication of the applicant’s real risk of suffering serious harm, unless there are good reasons to consider that such persecution or serious harm will not be repeated’.

2. The European Court of Human Rights has ruled in a high number of different cases that there is a violation of Art. 3 of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) ‘if substantial grounds have been shown for believing that the person concerned, if deported, faces a real risk of being subjected to treatment contrary to Art. 3 ECHR. In light of the Court’s consequent jurisprudence, this standard means that: (a) there is no need for the risk to be very high (no certainty or significant probability requirement); (b) at the same time the risk cannot be a mere possibility (a distant, vague or theoretical alternative).

Under EU legislation, removal is a specific form of compulsory (forced) return. Because of this variation, 'removal' is the preferred term to use.

Definition

The personal right of a refugee or a prisoner of war to return to their country of nationality under specific conditions laid down in various international instruments and human rights instruments as well as in customary international law.

Source

IOM Glossary on Migration, 2nd ed., 2011

Notes

1. This is not a synonym relating to compulsory (forced) return.
2. The option of repatriation is bestowed upon the individual personally and not upon the detaining power. In the law of international armed conflict, repatriation also entails the obligation of the detaining power to release eligible persons (soldiers and civilians) and the duty of the country of origin to receive its own nationals at the end of hostilities. Even if treaty law does not contain a general rule on this point, it is today readily accepted that the repatriation of prisoners of war and civil detainees has been consented to implicitly by the interested parties. Repatriation as a term also applies to diplomatic envoys and international officials in times of international crisis as well as expatriates and migrants.
3. Depending on the Member State, this term has different meanings / connotations: in PL, RO, NL, NO this refers specifically to repatriating their nationals back to PL, RO, NL, NO respectively. In ES, IE, IT, UK it is often used in the context of returning third-country nationals to their country of origin. In EE, the term refers specifically to persons of Estonia or ethnic Estonians' resettlement to Estonia. In LV, the term refers specifically to the persons of Latvian or Livonian origin to resettle with permanent residence in Latvia. In PT, the term has no legal concept, being used more as a sociological term. It is commonly used to refer to Portuguese citizens that return to Portugal, including being forced to return.
4. The term should not be confused with 'voluntary repatriation' which is according to the UNHCR International Thesaurus of Refugee Terminology defined as follows: 'Return to the country of origin on the basis of the freely expressed willingness of the refugees'. The returns have to take place in conditions of safety, dignity and security. The principle of 'voluntariness' must be viewed in relation to both: conditions in the country of origin (calling for an informed decision) and the situation in the country of asylum (permitting a free choice). For more information, see UNHCR Voluntary Repatriation: International Protection – handbook, 1996: <http://www.refworld.org/docid/3ae6b3510.html>

Definition

In the global context, a refugee who is identified by the UNHCR and who is transferred from the country in which they have sought protection to a third state which has agreed to admit them as refugees with permanent residence status.

In the EU context, a third-country national or stateless person who, on a resettlement request from UNHCR based on their need for international protection, are transferred from a third country to a Member State where they are permitted to reside with one of the following statuses:

- (i) refugee status within the meaning of Art. 2(d) of Directive 2011/95/EU; or
- (ii) a status which offers the same rights and benefits under national and Union law as refugee status.

Notes

1. It is the UNHCR that, together with the relevant authorities in the State concerned, decides which refugees should be accepted; their refugee status is established by the UNHCR and accepted by the State in advance of entering the State.
2. In some cases, national authorities assess in addition as to whether the person concerned is a refugee.
3. There are different terms used in Member States depending on different legal concepts. In some Member States such refugees are accepted as part of a yearly resettlement programme.
4. IE uses the term 'programme refugee' in a wider context than 'resettlement' and defines in Section 24 of the Irish Refugee Act, 1996 as follows: 'a person to whom leave to enter and remain in the State for temporary protection or resettlement as part of a group of persons has been given by the Government'.

Notes

1. The status provided ensures protection against refoulement and provides a resettled refugee and their family or dependants with access to rights similar to those enjoyed by nationals. Resettlement also carries with it the opportunity to eventually become a naturalised citizen of the resettlement country. For this reason, resettlement is a durable solution as well as a tool for the protection of refugees.

2. This term should not be confused with 'relocation'.

It does not cover stays shorter than three months (such as holiday visits or business meetings and other visits typically considered to be for a period of time of less than three months).

2. In the context of Council Directive 2008/115/EU (Return Directive), 'return' as defined in Art. 3(3), is understood as return which occurs once a return decision has been issued. This glossary uses the term 'compulsory return' to describe 'return' as defined in the Return Directive.

Definition

Source

Derived by EMN from Art. 45 of the European Charter of Fundamental Rights

Synonym

★ freedom of movement

Narrower term

★ intra-EU mobility

Notes

1. The right to free movement is one of the basic rights of EU citizens which was initially one of the founding rights in the establishment of the European Union and enshrined in Art. 21(1) of TFEU; it has been developed by EU secondary legislation and the case law of the Court of Justice.
2. Free movement of workers also applies to the countries in the European Economic Area (IS, LI, NO) and to CH.
3. The provisions of the treaties in relation to freedom of movement apply in the same way to the ten Member States that joined the EU in 2004, BG and RO that joined in January 2007 and HR which joined in July 2013. Some of the original EU Member States (before May 2004) apply transitional agreements that currently restrict freedom of movement to workers for a certain time period (see the description of freedom of movement on the European Citizens' Information website).
4. Freedom of movement and residence are granted, in accordance with the Treaty establishing the European Community, only for certain categories of third-country nationals, i.e. long-term residents, highly-skilled workers, researchers and students. Whilst third-country nationals who hold a valid residence permit or visa have the right to move freely within the Schengen area for up to three months within a six-month period, the rights in relation to taking up residence for a period exceeding three months in another Member State is covered by specific legal instruments, depending on their status, and subject to conditions in national legislation.

Definition

Source

Synonym

★ second-generation immigrant

Broader term

★ person with a migratory background

Related terms

★ first-generation migrant
★ third-generation migrant

Notes

1. This term is not defined in legislation but has a more sociological context; a broad definition encompassing the concept of a 'second-generation migrant' has been used.
2. Strictly this term does not relate to a migrant, since the person concerned has not undertaken a migration, but the term is included as it is commonly used in publications and the media.
3. According to the Recommendations for the 2010 Censuses of Population and Housing, the group referred to as 'second-generation' is generally restricted to those persons whose parents were born abroad, whereas those persons having one parent born in the country and the other one born abroad represent a special case (they form the group of persons with a mixed background). As explained in 1. above, a broader definition was considered more appropriate for the work of the EMN.

Definition

Source

Communication on an area of freedom, security and justice serving the citizen (Stockholm Programme), COM(2009) 262

Notes

1. The Stockholm Programme is the third programme in this area. The first programme was adopted in 1999 in Tampere. The second programme, the Hague Programme, was adopted in 2004 and expired in December 2009.
2. The Programme contains guidelines for common politics on the topics of protection of fundamental rights, privacy, minority rights and the rights of groups of people in need of special protection, as well as citizenship of the European Union. The programme also outlined plans for measures in the area of border-crossing data exchange between State authorities and surveillance of the Internet. The Programme's work programme also attaches great importance to how the EU should work to guarantee respect for fundamental freedoms and privacy, while guaranteeing security in Europe. Chapter 5 specifically outlines the priorities in migration and asylum matters ( based on the principles and objectives of the Pact on Immigration and Asylum). It underlines that solidarity is an important objective of a common immigration and asylum policy and that the EU should provide support to Member States most exposed to migratory pressures.

SCIFA provides its conclusions to Coreper, after which they are considered by the Justice and Home Affairs (JHA) Council.

2. SCIFA can create Working Parties (e.g. Working Party on Migration and Expulsion) to consider in detail the specific proposals tabled by the European Commission. These Working Parties report on their outcomes to SCIFA

Source

Synonyms

- ★ right to remain pending the examination of an application
- ★ right to remain pending the decision

Broader term

- ★ legal remedy

Notes

1. The Directive 2013/32/EU (Recast Asylum Procedures Directive) recognises in Art. 9 an automatic right of applicants to remain in the Member State, for the sole purpose of the procedure, until the determining authority has made a decision in accordance with the procedures at first instance, and in Art. 46(3) – in line with international refugee law and with the jurisprudence of the European Courts – an automatic right of applicants appealing against negative decisions to remain in the territory of the concerned Member State.

2. In some circumstances (listed in Art. 46(6)), such as decisions considering an application to be manifestly unfounded in accordance with Art. 32(2) or unfounded after examination in accordance with Art. 31(8), the suspensive effect of appeal is not automatic. However, the possibility remains to request a court or tribunal for a right to stay, pending the second instance decision (Art. 46 (3) of Directive 2013/32/EU).

Notes

1. According to this definition, nationals of NQ, IS, LI and CH are not considered to be third-country nationals. This is also consistent with Art. 2(6) of the Schengen Borders Code.

2. The Migration Statistics Regulation 862/2007 has a slightly different definition for a third-country national, which considers nationals of NQ, IS, LI and CH as third-country nationals. This definition is also applied in Council Directive 2009/50/EC(Blue Card Directive), Directive 2003/86/EC(Family Reunification Directive), Directive 2003/109/EC(Long Term Residents Directive), Directive 2005/71/EC(Researchers Directive) and Directive 2004/114/EC(Students Directive). This definition was considered to be too narrow for use by the EMN.

3. Nationals of Micro-States (MC, SM, VA) are treated as third-country nationals since, although there are no border controls, there is no formal agreement for them to be 'beneficiaries of the free movement of persons' as defined in the EU acquis. This also means that they cannot be part of the Schengen Agreement.

Related terms

- ★ serious harm
- ★ vulnerable person

Notes

1. The right to freedom from torture is enshrined in many international treaties, most notably the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) and the UN Convention against Torture (UNCAT). The acceptance that torture is forbidden under any circumstances, including war, public emergency or terrorist threat, indicates that universally it is considered as a fundamental principle of customary international law. This means that even States that have not ratified any of the international treaties explicitly prohibiting torture are banned from using it against anyone, anywhere, under any circumstances.
2. Regional conventions, such as the European Convention on Human Rights (Art. 3) and the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union (Art. 4), also recognise torture as a prohibited act.
3. Both the UNCAT and the Geneva Refugee Convention of 1951 expressly prohibit the return of an asylum-seeker to a country where they may be at risk of torture.
4. In the EU, Art. 21 of Directive 2013/33/EU (Recast Reception Conditions Directive) explicitly considers the situation of vulnerable asylum seekers with special needs, including victims of torture. EU Member States are obliged to identify victims of torture within the asylum procedure and to assess whether they have special reception needs, including the need to access appropriate medical and psychological treatment or care.

Notes

1. This is a key element of the definition of a refugee in the Geneva Convention of 1951 and Protocol of 1967. Well-foundedness of fear contains both a subjective element (fear of persecution) and an objective element (the fear must have an objectively justifiable basis). Both elements must be established for the fear to be considered well-founded within the meaning of the refugee definition. According to the 1951 Convention, persecution must be linked to any one of the five specified grounds: race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group and political opinion.

2. The subjective element is satisfied if the applicant's fear of persecution is genuine. In the context of refugee status determination, fear has been defined as an apprehension or awareness of danger. General dissent or disagreement with a government or the desire for more personal freedom or an improved economic situation without anything more does not satisfy this element (see UNHCR guidelines on international protection on the UNHCR website).

3. The objective element is satisfied when the applicant has established that there is a reasonable possibility that they will actually suffer the feared persecution.
