Carol Beule is an Emmy-award-winning costume designer with a Master of Fine Arts in both Costume and Lighting Design from the University of Wisconsin, Madison. She was a professional costume designer from 1974 until her retirement in July 2017, and has designed for film, commercials, theatre productions, and TV shows. She lived in New York city the first 15 years of her career.

Growing orchids in New York was not considered a viable possibility, so she has grown orchids only since moving to Southern California in 1992. Growing outside with no greenhouse in Studio City at the edge of the San Fernando Valley is sometimes problematic. With temperatures ranging from 28 to 118 °F, and humidity as low as 7 percent at times, it is usually a challenge. It has

President's Message

As we approach the end of the year there are so many exciting things coming for members of OCOS. First, the Holiday Party is December 18, 2019. OCOS will provide a ham, and everyone is encouraged to bring a dish to share. OCOS members will receive a free orchid, one per membership.

January 15, 2020 will be our auction. This is our biggest fundraiser and we will have some great plants from our OCOS growers and from generous commercial growers. The bidding becomes more buyer friendly as the evening goes on, so plan to stay to the end for the best values. We plan to have lots of food to eat, too.

January 25, 2020 at 8:30 AM will be our tour at the Huntington. This will be very special and only the first 30 members to sign up will get in. The price is a modest $10.

In February, we will be restarting our "bring a guest get an orchid" program, to expose new people to our club and gain new members.

WE STILL NEED A CORPORATE SECRETARY. DON'T MAKE ME LOCK THE DOORS AT THE HOLIDAY PARTY UNTIL WE SECURE A VOLUNTEER. SOMEONE PLEASE STEP UP.

Happy Holidays! – President Fred

been her quest to find out what will—and will not—bloom and prosper under these circumstances. She recently has added a "sort of" greenhouse and will discuss it, too.

In her search to find the perfect plant for her growing area, Carol discovered the Japanese orchid called Neofinetia (Vanda) falcata and various other species thrive outside in Southern California. Carol grows various forms of paphiopedilum, phalaenopsis, cattleya, dendrobiums, laelia, lycastes, Asian cymbidiums, and rossioglossum on her patio.

Neofinetia (Fuukiran to the Japanese) has a 300-plus year history in Japan and Southeast Asia. They can be grown alongside many outside orchids and depending on the variety, can be placed among cattleyas or phalaenopsis. The trick is to know where they are best grown to bring out their various attributes! At times, growing these plants is as complicated as the Japanese esthetic of beauty incorporated into their exhibition and presentation. A combination of bonsai display talents and orchid culture yields the greatest results.

Carol is a fully accredited AOS Associate Judge, the First VP of the Orchid Society of Southern California, and heads the committee that creates the Society's display for the Huntington's annual October orchid show. She is a member of the Japanese Fuukiran Society and attends its annual meeting every May in Japan. Carol is honored to have been selected as a judge for the upcoming World Orchid Conference in Taiwan in March. Her website firsthousefurnishings.com features the neofinetia and cymbidium presentation pots she now makes full time.

Speaker's Dinner: Anyone interested in a pre-meeting dinner with Carol, please call or email Jeff Young ASAP for location and time. Check your directory for contact info.

December Meeting Activities: Holiday Gift to Members

Janet Wilson

At this busy time of year you might be tempted to stay in rather than venture out into the cold (and maybe rain) for the OCOS meeting. But I'm here to remind you about why that would be a mistake. Where else will you find the following:

- Good food—Our annual potluck is not to be missed.
- Good friends—Who else will talk to you about orchids over dinner and not get that “yes, that’s nice dear” look in their eyes?
- Beautiful plants—We are having Plant Judging at this month’s meeting. So come lighten up the December gray with the sight of 30 to 50 gorgeous plant that show up every month.

And, as if that’s not enough, the Board will once again offer each member an orchid as a special holiday gift. The photos on this page are examples of what members received last year.

So, what’s not to like about all that? Hope to see you there!

Note, the following activities WILL NOT be in action in December:

- Refreshment Table
- Beginners’ Table
- Library
- Member Plant Sales Table

Coming in December:
Our Annual Potluck Holiday Dinner!

Rosa Laursen

Here we are and another year is coming to an end. Some of us have had tough times, but we have prevailed. We also have had good times. But even with the changes around us we continue to grow our beautiful orchids and share them with one another. So let’s come together and celebrate the holidays with our traditional OCOS Potluck Dinner.

As usual, the Society will provide a main dish, paper goods, and utensils. Coffee and punch as well as an assortment of sodas will be available. Please bring your favorite dish to share (enough for at least eight people) and show off your cooking skills. Please don’t forget to bring serving utensils with your dish; the Society has a limited selection. Set up will start at 6 PM and since we need to put tables and chairs out, it would be nice to have extra hands to help out.

One last note: after the Potluck Dinner is over, please make sure to pick up your container and other items as soon as possible and stay a bit longer (if you can) to help with the cleanup.

November Meeting Highlights

Donna Ballard has battled fungus, bacteria, and multiple insects in developing her indoor growing expertise. She offered helpful tips to spare others the growing pains she worked through early on.

In a preview of January, Richard Hess donated several extravagantly blooming cattleya hybrids to the Society, which President Fred Anderson auctioned off on the spot. If you weren't there in November, you missed it. Don't miss our January Auction.

Donna Ballard gave an entertaining talk about her missteps on the way to becoming an award-winning grower.

Plants donated by Richard Hess were auctioned off. Phrag. Don Wimber and Prosthechea cochleata 'Lazaro' × Psh. Cochleata 'SVO' won honors at the meeting.

Paph. Coconut Candy Cross: An OCOS Find

Janet Wilson

This is a small plant with a very long name: Paph. (Coconut Candy × barbigerum v. album) 'Snow Cap' × Paph. fairrieanum 'Little White Fairy'. I purchased this from Tim Culbertson at the September meeting. (See why you need to come to the meetings?) This cross is from Sunset Valley Orchids; I've never gone wrong with one of their plants.

Tim kept gleefully pointing out that it had two spikes, which dutifully opened in November. But surprise; a third spike had come up and just opened last week. According to Tim, this is one of the very easiest paphs to grow. And I believe him because a) this one bloomed while in my care and b) I have another one that's survived a year with me. That second plant was the Society's holiday gift to members last year. See, there's another reason to come to this month's meeting.

Another plant I have in spike this month also came from OCOS. It is Cym. (Bill Quinn 'Henderson' 4N × Celtic's Imp 'Sharon' 4N). Since I've killed many a cymbidium, I'm sure this must be a particularly vigorous plant. The 4N signifies that it has four sets of chromosomes, which generally confers added vigor to plants. Richard Hess won this at the Opportunity Table and gave it to me. I believe it was a division from Edie Gulrich.

Ctsm. Orchidglade 'Davie Ranches'
AM/AOS × Ctsm. tigrinum 'SVO'

Paph. Magic Mood 'Tumbleweed' ×
Mountain Meadow 'Jolly'

Onc. Speckled Spire 'Shorty'

Dendrobium crocatum × self

Save Your Holiday Gift Money for Our Annual Orchid Auction

Janet Wilson

Do your loved ones have a difficult time finding just the right gift for you this holiday? Well, let them know that the best gift for an orchid junkie is, well, another orchid.

And where will you find an amazing selection brought right to your door step—our January auction, of course. Anne-Line and the team are traversing Southern California and taking shipments from Hawaii and other states to offer up a wide assortment of plants and orchid accessories.

Pictured here are plants offered up at last year's event—check www.ocos.net starting January 3 to see what will be up for bid this year. Join us for some fun and take home a new lovely.

64th Paphiopedilum Guild Meeting in January

The Paphiopedilum Guild will host its meeting January 11 and 12 at The Huntington. The event includes lectures, a show and sale, dinner, and AOS judging. Tickets are $95 now at www.orchiddigest.org, but will go up to $125 after January 1. Experts will present the following topics:

- Teeraphan (Noi) Toterakun, The Slipper Orchids at the Doitung Botanic Gardens (Thailand)
- David Sorokowsky, A History of Paph. rothschildianum in Cultivation
- Glen Decker, My Life with Slippers
- Steve Hampson, Slippers in China
- Frank Cervera, The Phragmipedium caudatum Complex

Phap. sukhakulii, Piping Rock Orchids.

Wild Orchids from the USPS in 2020

The US Postal Service celebrates the exotic beauty of orchids with 10 new stamps in booklets of 20 and coils of 3,000 and 10,000. Each stamp features a photograph of one of nine species that grow wild in the US:

- Cypripedium californicum,
- Hexalectris spicata,
- Cypripedium reginae,
- Spiranthes odorata,
- Triphora trianthophoros,
- Platanthera grandiflora,
- Cyrtopodium polyphyllum,
- Calopogon tuberosus, and
- Platanthera leucophaea.

Art director Ethel Kessler designed the stamps with existing photographs by Jim Fowler.

The AOS will be part of the 2020 celebration releasing these stamps, which will encourage conservation of these increasingly endangered native species.

[Editor's note: The image and list of plants are from the official UPSP website. Can you spot the "ringer" that doesn't seem to be in the list?]

Cool Temperatures and Your Outside Orchids

Janet Wilson

I know: The rest of the country laughs at us Southern Californians when we talk about how cold it is here. But when it comes to orchids that are outside, there will be at least a few days when you will need to take notice of the cold.

If you have phalaenopsis outside, Y.S. Farn has told me to watch for when temperatures fall below 50 °F; that's when it's time to bring them in. I do put some phals outside to get that winter chill (it's supposed to help them set spikes), so I watch for that 50 °F as a first mark.

The next temperature I look for is when overnight temperatures dip below 40 °F. The last two years, those days have fallen around Christmas and the New Year. Luckily, those low temperatures only lasted a day or two at my house, so I did not move plants inside or cover them, as is often suggested. Because so many things come with a thermometer—including our garage door opener—I know the garage will be about 10 °F warmer than it is outside.

Being cold is worse when orchids are wet, so I was glad to see the Thanksgiving storms we had last week did not dip below 40 °F in my backyard.

Although weather reports give you an idea of when to watch out, we use an outside "weather station" to measure temperature and humidity. I recall it being costly (over $100) but this unit has been working for maybe 30 years. The newer digital thermometers are as little as $35, so might make a nice holiday gift, if you're inclined to experiment.

Speaking of cold: If you've never read the Casa de las Orquideas page on the big freeze, you should. In January 2007, the nursery experienced freezing temperatures, as shown in the several startling photos of ice-encased plants, like the one shown here. The owners give a description of what they did; most of their cymbidiums saw minor damage and eventually recovered. It's just another testimony to the hardiness of orchids.

Good thing, too, because I continue to make mistakes that test those limits!
