PLANTING FOR WILDLIFE

By design, nearly all plants have wildlife value. Refer to the listing below for some of our favorites for attracting deer, turkey, quail, etc. to your location. Spacing is important when planting wildlife plots. For instance, when planting oaks, 20ft spacing is needed for adequate crown growth. Species that reach 20-30ft (Crabapple, Plum, Dogwood, etc.) can be planted 10-15ft apart with great success. Species are also available in 3g pots. Containerized plants, on average, are 2-3 years older than bareroot seedlings. Containerized plants can be planted year-round. Our bareroot seedling season is from late November through early March.

Production

Carya glabra (Pignut Hickory) produces nuts in approx. 15 years
Castanea pumila (Chinquapin) produces nuts in 3-4 years
Cornus florida (Flowering Dogwood) produces berries in approx. 4-5 years
Crataegus aestivalis/C. opaca (Eastern & Western Mayhaw) berries in 4-5 years
Diospyros virginiana (Persimmon) females produce in approx. 10 years
Euonymus americanus (Strawberry Bush) 2-3 yrs, wildlife also browse foliage
Ilex cassine (Dahoon Holly) females produce berries in 2-3 years
Ilex vomitoria (Yaupon Holly) females produce berries in 2-3 yrs
Malus angustifolia (Crabapple) produces fruit in 5 yrs
Myrica cerifera (Waxmyrtle) good cover for wildlife, berries for songbirds
Prunus angustifolia (Chickasaw Plum) produces fruit in 4 years
Prunus umbellata (Flatwoods Plum) produces fruit in 4 years

All of the Oak species have good wildlife value, but the species listed below are exceptional:

Quercus acutissima (Sawtooth Oak) produces acorns in approx. 8 yrs
Quercus alba (White Oak) acorns in approx. 15 yrs
Quercus bicolor (Swamp White Oak) acorns in approx. 10 yrs, great for wet areas

Quercus michauxii (Swamp Chestnut Oak) acorns in approx. 15 yrs
Quercus nuttallii (Nuttall Oak) acorns in approx. 10 yrs, great for wet areas
Quercus prinoides (Dwarf Chinquapin Oak) produces acorns in approx. 4 years

BALE COUNT FOR BAREROOT PINE SEEDLINGS

Variable seedling counts per bale should be expected. The number of seedlings shipped is based on bed footage, not the actual number of seedlings per bale. Inventory is taken to determine the average number of trees per foot on each of the seedling beds. We use that average to determine the number of feet to pull to fulfill the order. Example: if the seedling bed is averaging 115 trees per foot, we will pull 218 feet of the bed to fulfill an order of 25,000 trees.

Reforestation prices good on quantities of 5,000 or more

BAREROOT SEEDLINGS

SHIPMENT OF BAREROOT LINERS: We ship freshly-dug liners. Bareoot liners are shipped late November through early March. Shipping dates are not automatic or arbitrary. Customers must establish a firm shipping date with the nursery. It would be wise to reconfirm this 5-7 days in advance of desired shipping date. Liners may also be picked up directly from the nursery or shipped by UPS. Shipping charges for UPS will be composed of the actual charge plus $10.00 per box for special packaging.

BAREROOT LINER AVAILABILITY: Orders are taken subject to availability estimates from growing-bed inventories. We try very hard to avoid overbooking, however, for various reasons, growing-bed inventories may be inaccurate. Orders are shipped by requested dates, i.e. on a “first come, first serve” basis. Customers waiting until a late season date for shipping may not receive the full amount ordered if the growing-bed inventory estimate proves to be higher than the actual number of plants. In such cases, there will be a deposit refund, to the extent of the shortage.

LIABILITY: Since our liners are grown from seed, it must be recognized that some natural hybridization can occur that is not detectable in juvenile plants (especially with the genera Ilex, Prunus & Quercus). Seed-grown liners are sold true to name to the best of our ability, and being sold true to name is warranted only to the extent of the purchase price. Superior Trees, Inc. also warrants, to the extent of the purchase price, that all plants are packaged, counted properly, and in good condition when shipped. No other warranty, expressed or implied is given.

SPECIAL GRADING OF BAREROOT SEEDLINGS: Bareroot seedlings are pulled and shipped as bed run unless special grading is requested. Extra grading (i.e. height and/or diameter specifications) is available. Special pricing will apply. Please contact the office for more information.
