Iconic elementary teacher retires after 45 great years

By JOHN JENSEN

The Grundy Register

GRUNDY CENTER — Andrea Doubet may not know what to do with herself when school returns this fall. Every year since she was 5 years old the routine has been the same whether she was in elementary school, high school, college or teaching herself. Next year, however, will be different.

Last Friday the long-time Grundy Center teacher said goodbye to her final set of students for a final time, ending a 45-year teaching career that started the same place it ended, in Grundy Center.

"It's hard every year (to see the students go), but it was a lot harder this year," she said.

Doubet's teaching career in Grundy Center started just after she graduated from UNI in 1970. She has taught her students' children and even some of their grandchildren.

"I never expected (to stay in Grundy Center this long), but it's a small enough system that every year something changed so I didn't teach the same thing," she said.

"It's a small enough community that I knew the children and their families and the parents were really important. The school was an important part of their lives and it seemed to be making a difference."

Through most of her career, Doubet has taught fifth grade, including science and reading. She taught in the old elementary building, the upper elementary, the current elementary and the secondary building, including this year in a brand new classroom in the tornado safe addition to that building.

Doubet called fifth-grade the best level to teach in Grundy Center because the children have usually been the youngest in their particular building.

"When they're the youngest in the building you can challenge them to be more mature and take on more responsibilities and they go for it and they just soar," she said.

When students are older, she said, particularly the oldest in a building they are different.

"They are ready to move on and they are sort of spreading their wings and want to be less confined," she said. "That's all right. That's part of growing up."

As a science and TAG (talented and gifted) teacher, Doubet has seen teaching go from days when nobody had heard of a computer, let

Champions again!!!

The Grundy Center High School girls' golf team once again ascended to the top of the Class 1A mountain Tuesday, bringing home its third straight state championship. The Spartans led by three shots after the first 18 holes Monday and pulled away to a 10-shot victory over runner-up New London. The win is the state-record 14th for the Spartans, all under Coach Rick Schupbach, who announced before the season that this would be his last. Pictured with Schupbach (left) are: Abby Hockemeyer, Kate Ross, Josie McMartin, Maddy Grineski, Jill Itzen, Sarah Hockemeyer, Reagan Derrick and Assistant Coach Bailie Wrage. ## Council votes down Creekside zoning change

By JOHN JENSEN

The Grundy Register

GRUNDY CENTER — The planned development of Grundy Center's proposed Creekside, Inc. property hit what appeared to be a temporary snag with a decision of the Grundy Center City Council Monday.

Council turned down a second reading of an ordinance that would have changed the property's zoning from agricultural to R2 residential, allowing for both single- and multiple-family homes.

Councilman Al Kiewiet asked why the zoning was to be changed to R2 instead of R1, which would allow only one- or two-family dwellings. Mayor Brian Buhrow said the R2 proposal was to accommodate an assisted living facility that could also be built in the proposed subdivision.

Kiewiet and Councilman Dave Steff expressed concern that what had been presented to the council only involved the single-family units and that they had not been spoken to about the proposed assisted living facility.

"The initial presentation would have been an R1 presentation," Steff said.

Neither Kiewiet nor Steff said they were opposed to the new proposal, only that it had not been presented to the city council. Steff said he feels the R2 proposal will eventually be acceptable, though he said he felt the initial proposal was a bit deceptive.

The motion for the second reading never came to a vote as the initial motion never received a second. Steff asked that Creekside, Inc. return to the council and present their updated plan so that Council can decide whether a zoning change would be appropriate.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, Council approved a resolution to file a citation for Chapter 145 - Dangerous Building. The decision came following a 20-minute closed session to discuss eminent litigation. The location of the building cited was not announced during the meeting and was not disclosed upon further questioning after the meeting due to Mayor Buhrow's concerns over whether or not he could legally release the location.

Historic Preservation Commission member Joan Schuller presented the group's proposed historic district to the council. The district would be on both sides of G Avenue from Sixth Street west to Orion Park as well as the area north of G Avenue to D Avenue between Sixth and Eighth Streets and the area south of G Avenue to K Avenue between Sixth and 12th Streets. The district would also include the entire block on which Orion Park is located.

Council approved a resolution setting wage rates for the city's appointed officers and employees, including the city clerk, public works director and police chief. There was discussion about how to compensate Police Chief Doug Frost for time over his contracted 40 hours. Through the current fiscal year, Frost has been compensated for overtime with compensatory time that he could cash out for his regular hourly rate for each hour he had accrued. The initial proposal was to allow Frost to cash this out on a time and one-half rate for each hour of comp. time, though Council changed that proposal to simply pay him time and one-half for overtime.

Council approved a resolution allowing the Grundy Center Archery Club to use property north of the concrete pile on the city's north side for an archery range. Archery Club member Tyler Witte approached Council about allowing the club to lease the property from the city for $1 to absolve the city of any potential liability issues and received approval to do so.

Council also approved a resolution authorizing fiscal year-end transfers between funds and approved a request to use Community Betterment Funds to send some members of the Historic Preservation Commission to a Summit Workshop in Winterset June 25-27. It also approved final lease agreements between the City and the YMCA, Grundy Center Preschool and Childcare Center and Grundy County Headstart for use of space at the Upper Elementary Building.

The council approved resolutions updating the city's investment policy, allowing Buhrow to sign an agreement with CPA Dennis Donovan for the Fiscal Year 2015 audit and appointing Jerry Smith as the zoning administrator for the city. Smith later discussed proposed building inspection procedures with the council.

Mary Doak was appointed to the Historical Preservation Commission for a term ending Dec. 31, 2016, replacing Brent Wilson. Buhrow said Doak plans to serve on the Commission only temporarily and will step down at the end of the year to allow Wilson to return to the Commission.

Council also approved liquor licenses for Scotty's Saloon, The Grundy County Agricultural Society (the Fair Board), the Felix Grundy Festival and Casey's General Store's each location. Cigarette licenses were approved for both Casey's locations as well as Scotty's, Dollar General and Family Foods.

It approved street closures for the Felix Grundy Festival July 10-12, the Kling Memorial Library Reading Program July 29 and Arlington Place June 27 for a car show.

The next city council meeting will be Tuesday, July 6 at 6:30 p.m.

Supervisors discuss possible economic development changes

By JOHN JENSEN
The Grundy Register

GRUNDY CENTER — The Grundy County Board of Supervisors Monday spoke about possible changes coming to the Grundy County Development Alliance.

Supervisor Jim Ross said that there is a possibility that the GCDA could merge with the Butler County Development Corporation. Ross, the Board of Supervisors' representative on the GCDA Board, said Jeff Kolb, who currently serves as director of both the GCDA and Butler County group, said it has been difficult to find a person to fill the Grundy County group's program director position, which is part-time. Ross said if the groups would merge, a full-time person would be hired to serve roles in both counties and that there would be an attempt to have equal financial contributions from both Butler and Grundy Counties.

The merger would combine both oversight boards and the groups' assets.

"Jeff just feels that there are similarities between the counties and that we could work well together," Ross said.

Ross said a decision on the possible merger would likely be made by the end of the year.

In other business, Supervisors approved a request from Grundy Center's Main Street Iowa Task Force for an in-kind donation of $750 worth of copying. It also approved a plan document and summary plan description for Grundy County's partially self-funded health plan and third-party administration service and approved a fireworks permit for Kent Nederhoff.

Grundy County Emergency Management announces Alert Iowa participation

GRUNDY CENTER — The Grundy County Emergency Management Agency is announcing that the Alert Iowa Emergency Notification System is ready for the public to sign up.

Alert Iowa utilizes WENS — Inspiron Company to utilize these Emergency Notifications. The Emergency Notification system is crucial in times of Emergency when there is a mass amount of people that are possibly affected. The Grundy County Emergency Management will be able to put out Alerts to Cell Phones or Landline Phones, Text Message, Automated Voice Message and Email.

Alert Iowa sends alerts for events such as weather watches and warnings as well as child abduction and civil emergency messages.

Most publically listed Landline telephones are automatically signed up. For the public to sign up is very simple. All you need to do is go to this link http://entry.inspironlogistics.com/grundy\_ia/wens.cfm and fill in the correct information. The only information needed is your Name, Phone number(s), email address (if chosen) and physical address. Simply check what you would like to receive and what community or communities you would like to receive Alerts for, if you have any special needs or disabilities that would help us in locating you for assistance during emergencies. Rural residents are also asked to sign up and choose their closest community to sign up. If people also input their address, we can send alerts by a geographic area as well. The link is also available from the Grundy County Website at <http://www.grundycounty.org/>

People may also call the Grundy County Emergency Management for help in signing up at 319-824-6933

Obedience

The story of Adam and Eve is difficult to understand. Why was eating from the tree of knowledge of good and evil prohibited? The knowledge of good and evil is the root of having a conscience, and having a conscience is invariably praised as a good thing. The account in Genesis links eating from the tree of knowledge with death: "You are free to eat from any tree in the garden; but you must not eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, for when you eat from it you will certainly die." (Genesis 2:16-17) Why was it necessary for them to die if they ate from this tree? These are perhaps unanswerable questions, and while it certainly is cause for wonder why knowledge of good and evil is linked to our mortality, perhaps a simpler way to look at this story is to remember that it is part of the creation story, and God is making the rules as he makes the world. What he says literally creates the rules, just as it creates the world, and Adam and Eve were cut off from the tree of life because they were disobedient. Jesus restored our access to it by being obedient to God's will, accepting an agonizing and ignominious death on a cross. Are we being obedient to God's will in our life?

—Christopher Simon

And He said, "Abba, Father, all things are possible for you. Take this cup away from Me; nevertheless, not what I will, but what You will."

'Special Olympics' a special experience

This morning I attended the grade school track and field day. This year Mr. (Rick) Schuppach added a "Special Olympics" category for the three girls in fourth-grade who are special needs kids.

How wonderful! Those girls tried really hard, but the special thing was all of the classmates (and adults) who gathered around to cheer them on.

Thank you, thank you to all the parents who teach their kids that not everyone is the same and that it's o.k. to be on a different learning curve and have different physical abilities. Thanks to the fellow students for their acceptance. Thanks to the school for allowing these kids to be who they are and to be included.

From The Cheap Seats

I have always been a chronic bachelor chef. What's a bachelor chef? Someone whose favorite kitchen appliance is the microwave oven and whose idea of cooking is throwing a hamburger or hot dog on the grill and setting the timer. I could cook — I've always been able to make a mean corn souffle and made a few tasty pies when I was younger — I just didn't cook.

By JOHN JENSEN

That's started to change lately as my girlfriend and I have discovered that one of the things we enjoy doing together is cooking. It started with me doing a few things on the grill for us (I have written before that I enjoy that kind of cooking) and has transitioned into something more.

She and I grew up with different backgrounds — mine being a little more rugged and rural than hers — but we still seem to like a lot of the same foods. We figured that out pretty quickly the first few times we went out together.

The first time she and I seriously cooked together was possibly the most nervous I've ever been on the grill. Not only was it the first time I had cooked for her, but it was also the first time I met her parents and also the first time in a couple of years that I had cooked with charcoal (my home grill is gas). I kept it really simple that night with some nice steaks that my parents had sent me for my birthday, and I am pleased to say that nobody complained about their steaks. Either they were being nice or I hit things right ... I'm actually leaning toward the former. Her dad actually said he was impressed with the way I did things. That felt good to hear.

We'd done a few other fairly simple things together before deciding to get a little more adventuresome Saturday ... with meatballs. I remember the great meatballs my mom made when I was growing up and had mentioned once to her that I might like to try that someday. She said she'd never done them herself either and seemed a little hesitant at first, though we decided to give it a go Saturday.

She called her mom for a recipe and after a quick jaunt to the grocery store we were ready to go. Step one: chop onions. I didn't want to admit this to her (she won't, in fact, know it until reading this) but I had never chopped an onion before. What seems like such a simple task proved to be a major adventure for me. The rest of the prep was really simple until it came time to combine the ingredients and I discovered that I should have chopped my onion into smaller pieces.

Once I got the meatballs into the pan I confess that I was more than a little pleased. Other than the gigantic onions they looked great. And other than a few falling apart as they cooked, they cooked great, too.

Overall we were pleased. We'll make a few changes to the recipe, including adding a little more garlic, and might use a different type of sauce in the future, but I can safely say this one was a success!

Something Pastor doesn't do a lot of at our church is invite guest speakers. Sunday was an exception, and an exceptional one at that.

Clay Geiter was one of those high school kids who really stuck out to me. He had a friendly demeanor and seemed to have good leadership skills ... enough that he took it upon himself to push the GCHS band to fund-raise for new drums and then led the band's new drum line.

Two years later, Clay was asked to speak at this year's baccalaureate service and Pastor said he was so impressed that he felt the need to invite him to speak to our congregation.

Clay's story is a common one — one that a lot of us, including your's truly, can identify with. He went to college and did what he described as "the college thing" for awhile, and it wasn't working out the way he had hoped. He told us Sunday that a chance visit to some friends changed his life. They told him they had seen the cross on his door and then some of the things he was doing and told him he had a choice.

The way Clay described things to us, he had the choice of either walking out the door and likely never talking to those guys again or turning things around. He chose the latter and the rest seems to be history.

Clay's message to us was about not just being Christians when we're at church, but about being Christians all the time. I think that's something we all struggle with at times ... I know it's something I struggle with particularly when I'm alone.

I didn't get a chance to talk to Clay after the service. If I had I would have told him that his words were inspiring and to keep doing what he's doing.

JAM (Jesus and Me)

Wednesday was an afternoon of games and fun for the JAM K - 2nd grade students as they finished their second year of Christian learning and fun. Eight 2nd graders received their "WinGS" as they now graduate to the WinGS (Walking in God's Service) program next year. JAM is co-sponsored by Fredsville Lutheran Church and Dike United Methodist Church.

Dike United Methodist Church remodeling begins

The Dike United Methodist church has started its remodeling project. Sunday May 24 was the last time we would see and use the sanctuary as we have known it for the last 50 years. Church volunteers used their Memorial day removing row after row of church pews. Volunteers transformed the dining room into the seating area for the congregation for the next several Sunday services. Church goers will continue to see demolition for several weeks and then the fun time will start as we see reconstruction.

Military Family

The Nielsen family men have quite a record of service to their country.

Barnabas Nielsen was in the National Guard for 6 years. He served in Afghanistan and Kosovo. He is now retired from the military.

Sam Nielsen is in the National Guard and this past year he became a helicopter pilot. He is still serving.

Chris Nielsen has served in the Navy for 4 years, the National Guard where he was stationed in Afghanistan and is currently in the Army Reserves.

Russell Graves, a brother-in-law to the Niensens, was in the National Guard where he also served in Afghanistan. He is currently retired from the military.

Not pictured, their brother Andrew Nielsen was in the National Guard then became active duty Army where he is currently stationed at Ft Stewart Ga. He will be deployed to Germany later this year. He is Army Chaplain. He has served in Iran.

Adam Nielsen, son of Chris, is retired from the Guard but served in Kosovo and Afghanistan with Barnabas.

Their father and grandfather served during the Vietnam and WW II.

Proud to be an American.

Lady of Fox Ridge

The Life of one of our golf league members was taken from us. On May 27 2015 Holly Kruger passed away. Holly was a charter member of Fox Ridge Ladies Golf League. She was a very beautiful, giving and caring lady. An amazing person and she absolutely loved to play golf.

A Tribute to Holly

You can shed tears that she is gone, Or you can smile because she has lived.

You can close your eyes and pray that she'll come back, Or you can open your eyes and see all she's left. Your heart can be empty because you can't see her, Or you can be full of the love you shared.

You can turn your back on tomorrow and live yesterday, Or you can be happy for tomorrow because of yesterday.

You can remember her only that she is gone, Or you can cherish her memory and let it live on.

You can cry and close your mind, be empty and turn your back, Or you can do what she'd want - smile, open your eyes, love, and go on.

Little did we know yesterday morning, that God was going to call her name.

Council Info

The Dike city council members and Mayor meet on the 2 Wednesday of each month starting at 7:00 pm. Visitors are welcome at all meetings. Minutes of all meetings are published in the Grundy Register. The May 13 council meeting minutes were in the paper on May 21.

There are many committees needed to run a city, water and sewer, electric, streets and alleys, Library, recreation, P&Z Planning and zoning, LMI Low to Moderate Income, Buildings and the board of adjustment. New appointments have been made to several committees. Jared Hartsock was appointed to the rec board, Marty Frangenberg and Joe Becker to LMI. Council members share duties to many of these committees.

Two weeks ago in the Grundy Register we all received the 2015 Grundy County Community and Visitor Guide. Extra copies of the guide can be found at City Hall and other business places in Dike.

Keep abreast of what is happening in your city. Attend a council meeting and get information straight from the source.

A big thank you to our family and friends for all the cards and phone calls we received as we celebrated our 65th anniversary.

We have been truly blessed to have had wonderful years together.
Donald and Leona Pruisner

New pastor at Liberty Baptist Church

The new pastor of Liberty Baptist Church in Dike feels like he is returning home in some ways. Randy and Rita Charlton, along with their three boys, were members of the church when it started in the 1980's. In 1985, the Charlton's left Dike to attend Faith Baptist Bible College in Ankeny, Iowa, however, their connection with the church did not end as the church helped to support them prayerfully and financially while in college.

After finishing college, the Charlton's returned to Dike to live for a time before moving to Morris, MN, where Randy became pastor and principal/administrator for First Baptist Church and Morris Baptist Academy. They served in Russell, Iowa after that and recently moved from Chatfield, MN, where they spent the last 14 years ministering in Calvary Baptist Church.

The Charlton's are thankful and excited to return back to Dike to see what God will do in a church that is dear to their hearts. They are also pleased to be back close to family and friends in the area and extend a personal invitation to drop in and see them sometime.

Pastor Charlton shares that this is a time of transition for the church family, not only with a different pastor, but as a new vision is developed and we seek God's plan to reach the world for Christ. A few changes have already occurred and we expect more to take place in the near future and years to come, but by God's grace, Liberty Baptist Church will always be a place where the Word of God is primary, the Gospel preached, and people are shown the love of Christ.

Summer Reading program begins

The American Flag

By ALANA CORWIN

What I have learned about the American flag is it has 13 stripes. The stripes represent the first 13 colonies. Six stripes are white and seven are red. The white stripes stand for honesty, the red stands for courage. In the upper left corner is a blue square containing 50 white stars representing the 50 states. The blue stands for never giving up. No one knows who made the first flag, but Betsy Ross sewed one of the earliest in 1777.

When a veteran dies the American flag is draped over the coffin but is not lowered into the ground. Instead it is folded into a triangle and given to the family of the veteran. When the flag is flown with another flag the American flag should always be on top. The stars should be in the upper left hand corner. If flown at night the flag should always be illuminated. When you lower the flag never let it touch the ground. Many think if the flag touches the ground it should be burned but this is not true, it is disrespectful but doesn't need to be burned. When the flag is in a condition that it cannot be flown give it to your local legion to be burned.

The flag to me means my family. My mom and brother both serve this country. That is brave and I am very proud. My grandpa Murphy is a deceased veteran and my grandma has his flag in a frame. My grandpa Corwin, nine uncles, and two cousins have all served in the military.

What I have learned about our flag has taught me more than you can imagine. It has taught me the flag represents freedom and sacrifice. I am very proud of our flag.

Tick season underway in Iowa

Spring in Iowa means planting fields and gardens, outdoor recreation, warm days, cool nights and, as a reminder from the Iowa Department of Public Health (IDPH), it also means the start of tick season. IDPH encourages Iowans to enjoy the many opportunities to be active outdoors, while remembering to protect against ticks. Ticks can carry the organisms that cause Lyme disease (the most common tick-borne disease), Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, and Ehrlichiosis. In 2014, there were 194 confirmed and probable cases of Lyme disease in Iowa; so far this year, there have been two cases.

"The best way to prevent tick bites is to avoid wooded and tall grassy areas, where ticks are usually found," said IDPH Public Health Veterinarian & Deputy State Epidemiologist, Dr. Ann Garvey. If you do spend time in these areas:

- Wear long-sleeved shirts and long, light-colored pants tucked into socks or boots;
- Stay on trails when walking or hiking and avoid high grass;
- Use insect repellents that contain DEET. Read and follow the label directions for application (DEET is not recommended for use on children under 2 months of age);
- Check yourself, your children and your pets for ticks as soon as you get back home. Ticks tend to prefer the back of the knee, armpit, scalp, groin, and back of the neck.

Not everyone who gets Lyme disease will have the same symptoms, but the best and earliest sign of infection is a rash that may appear within a few days to a month, usually at the site of the tick bite. The rash will first look like a small, red bump, then expand until it begins to look like a bull's eye, with a red center and a red ring surrounding a clear area. It is important to contact your health care provider immediately if you develop this type of rash.

The Iowa State University Medical Entomology laboratory conducts tick surveillance across the state and encourages Iowans to send in tick samples for identification. For more information, visit <http://bit.ly/1F5Zloa> or call 515-294-0581. To learn more about Lyme disease, visit <http://bit.ly/1FPGoEn>.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
 Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Submitted by Diane (Gossman) Penning of Rochester, Minn. Diane claims Thompson, Iowa as her hometown, and reads Mid-America Marketplace in the Buffalo Center Tribune.

This recipe reminds me of all the fabulous cooks (lunchroom ladies) who prepared the meals for all K-12 students at the Thompson Community School, Thompson, IA in the '60s and '70s.

I personally enjoyed the delicious, homemade brownies with the thick chocolate frosting. Other alumni talk about the delicious chili and fresh cinnamon rolls, grilled cheese sandwich wand tomato soup, homemade hamburger pizza, hamburger gravy on mashed potatoes, sloppy joe sandwiches, chicken gravy on biscuits, lettuce sandwiches (yes, lettuce) and all the other tasty foods they prepared from scratch. We were fortunate to have these lovely ladies fill our tummies and keep us going during each busy school day!

Thanks, lunchroom ladies: Geneva Thorland, Alma Thomas, Evelyn Tordoff, Mary Ryerson, Marge Thorland, Donna Lande, Edna Sime, Cora Lura, Alice Hagenson and Evonne Larson. (Hope I didn't forget anyone.)

—Diane Penning

Simple Seafood Recipes

FAMILY FEATURES

If you find your recipe repertoire growing stale, now is the perfect time to experiment with new seafood recipes your family will love.

Seafood makes a delicious centerpiece of any meal, and preparing seafood can actually be quite simple. Pan-steaming is one easy preparation that leaves the seafood moist and makes a quick and easy sauce, too. The technique, demonstrated in this recipe for a rich, buttery lemon sauce, is perfect for Alaska Sockeye salmon, as well as other species, including Alaska halibut or Alaska cod.

At the grocery store, look for high-quality fish, such as Alaska Seafood, which is additive-free, lean and full of heart-healthy omega-3 fatty acids. Sustainable practices used in fishing Alaska salmon, shellfish and whitefish varieties also mean you can feel good about serving Alaska Seafood to your family.

Pan-Steamed Alaska Seafood Marseilles

Prep time: 15 minutes
Cook time: 10 minutes
Servings: 4

- 4 Alaska Salmon or whitefish fillets (4 to 6 oz. each), fresh or thawed
- 1 lemon, thinly sliced
- ¼ teaspoon sea salt
- 1/8 teaspoon white pepper
- 1/2 cup white wine (sauvignon blanc or chardonnay)

- 2 tablespoons butter or extra virgin olive oil
- 2 tablespoons minced fresh garlic
- 2 tablespoons minced fresh herbs

Remove seafood fillets from refrigerator 15 minutes before cooking.

Fill 12-inch skillet with 1 inch of water. Add lemon slices and bring to a simmer over medium-high heat.

Rinse seafood in cold water and pat dry; season with salt and pepper.

Add seafood to pan, skin side down. Cover pan tightly and cook for 4 minutes, or until seafood is lightly translucent in the center, checking at thickest part. Remove seafood from pan and let rest a minute; it will finish cooking from retained heat. Remove lemon slices from steaming liquid.

Create quick reduction sauce with remaining liquid by adding wine, butter, garlic and herbs to pan. Combine ingredients and continue to simmer, allowing liquid to reduce to desired thickness.

To serve, transfer lemon slices and fillets to plates; drizzle fillets with sauce.

Spartans send Schupbach out a champion

By JOHN JENSEN
The Grundy Register

AMES — Grundy Center High School girls' golf coach Rick Schupbach likes to say everything is about the kids. Tuesday in Ames, it was about more than the kids. It was about one more title for the iconic coach of the state's premier Class 1A girls' golf program.

Monday and Tuesday the Lady Spartans overcame the odds that had them as underdogs and brought the school its state-record 14th state championship with a 10-shot victory over New London and Nashua-Plainfield in the Class 1A girls' state golf tournament at the Ames Golf and Country Club.

Senior Maddy Grineski, who along with fellow senior Josie McMartin, played on her third straight championship team said this title means a little more than the others because of the way the Spartans had to overcome the odds.

"We were not really expected to win, we weren't expecting to win honestly," she said. "We were definitely going to try our hardest but we knew that New London was going to be really good because they had all their top scorers back and then Nashua, they have a very good team, too."

"We've had a lot of ups and downs this year in many ways and for them to rise to the occasion I think really speaks to the tradition of our program," Schupbach said.

To emphasize that tradition, the coach brought all five members of the 1991 Spartan team, the first to win a state championship, to talk to the girls.

"I really felt it was important for (this year's team) to see the beginning," Schupbach said. "Hopefully this isn't the end but for me it's the end and it was really nice. I'm really proud of their accomplishment. This is really unexpected so it's really rewarding."

Schupbach was far more interested in talking about the accomplishments of this team than he was about closing this chapter in his own legacy with another title.

"As I've always said as a coach, it's about helping other people achieve their goals, so it's exciting for me to see this.

"For Jill (Itzen), a dual sport (athlete) to do what she did today and make the difference for us today was amazing; to see the Hockemeyer twins get to play together at the state meet was amazing; to see Kate Ross play steady golf the entire time where last year she had some struggles is very rewarding and then of course to see the seniors go out as they did, three-time state champions, once runner-up, as a coach that's what's rewarding. It is truly not about me, it's about each of the athletes and I am just so proud to see them overcome adversity to win this.

Though Schupbach downplayed the fact that he is retiring from coaching, his players were not afraid to admit they were motivated knowing that this was his last time out.

"That was something we definitely tried for," Itzen said. "We talked about it at regionals. Maddy and Josie said 'We don't want you playing for us, we want you playing for Mr. Schupbach and that's really what it was.'"

Grineski said the team has often talked among itself about wanting to send their coach out with one more special memory.

"We've had plenty of talks just as a team, not with any of the coaches, about how we need to bring this home not for us but for Schupbach since this is his last year. We knew it would mean a lot to him. We wanted it, too, but mostly for him."

"We definitely wanted to do this for Mr. Schupbach in his last year," McMartin said. "Everything he's done for us has been a great life lesson."

The Spartans entered the meet ranked No. 3 by the Iowa High School Golf Coaches Association and placed second in their regional. Yet they led by three shots after one day and pulled away slightly on the second day of the 36-hole tournament, shooting seven shots better than any other team. That did not, however, mean there was no drama. Even as scores came in the Spartans were unsure they had won until final tallies were posted on the Iowa Girls High School Athletic Association's Web site many long minutes after competition had wrapped up.

"Oh my goodness I've been an emotional wreck," Grineski said of the long wait. "I've been crying and I've been laughing. I have awesome teammates to back me up and tell me things are going to be all right ... we definitely stick together. This is a one-of-a-kind team."

In the end the Spartans won for the third straight time, sending seniors Grineski and McMartin home knowing that they had been part of teams that placed in the top two at state the past four years. McMartin was at the top of her game both days, placing second in the individual medalist race with a 36-hole total of 165.

"Finishing second, I can't complain, but I left a lot out on the course," McMartin said.

Grineski was the Spartans' second-leading scorer with a 193 while Sarah Hockemeyer shot 194, Abby Hockemeyer 199, Itzen 200 and Kate Ross 201. Though Itzen's score was the Spartans' fifth-best, her second-day 91, a career-best, after an opening-round 109 was the difference between first and second place for the Spartans.

"I just knew that today I was going out to play for not only our seniors but also Mr. Schupbach," Itzen

Weissenfluh 12th in 2A

AMES — Dike-New Hartford senior Nicole Weissenfluh wrapped up her golf career Tuesday with a 12th-place finish in the Class 2A state golf tournament.

Weissenfluh was part of state tournament qualifiers the past two years, including last year's state champion, but was the only Wolverine to qualify for the tournament this year. She was tied for 13th after shooting a 90 during Monday's first 18 holes and moved up a spot Tuesday despite shooting two strokes higher.

The finish is Weissenfluh's best in three state tournaments.

Spartan boys' golf closes 2015 season as fifth best in Class 1A

By PATTI RUST
Sports Correspondent

MARSHALLTOWN — As the Grundy Center boys' golf team saw the first day of competition at the Class 1A meet come to an end Friday, there was a bit of irony in the first round results. The Spartans had posted a 325 total, an identical number to what the team shot on day one of last year's state meet.

This year, the 325 score put Grundy Center in a tie for fourth place going into day two of the competition. The Spartan team set out to duplicate last year's second day effort of 318, but the second round did not unfold as planned. Unfavorable weather conditions Saturday caused scores to be somewhat elevated, to the point where instead of taking seven strokes off their day one total, the Spartans' two-day total increased by seven strokes.

After all scores were in, Bishop Garrigan would repeat as state champs with a team score of 604, 19 strokes better than last year's winning mark of 623. East Buchanan improved on their fourth place showing last year, taking runner-up honors with 624. New London finished third with 640, Alta-Aurelia went fourth with 649, and Grundy Center ended in the fifth place team spot with 657.

Freshman Kaleb Hagge of Winfield-Mt. Union shot a 74 in the first round and 71 in the second to take medalist honors with a combined score of 145. Sophomore Logan Capesius of Bishop Garrigan claimed the runner-up spot with 71 and 75 for a 146. Last year's champion Chris Cooksley of East Buchanan ended in a third place tie with Wes Buntentbach of Belmont-Klemme, both shooting 147's.

Sophomores Jake Bangasser and Jesper Holke-Farnam led Grundy Center, both with total scores of 163. Senior Nick Saak came in with a 165, and junior Austin Burroughs shot a 169. Sam Thompson and Tanner Pelzer finished with 171 and 178 respectively.

"The state championship is the collection of the state's best teams and the individual performances at this year's meet was extremely strong," Coach Dirks said "Each of the top four teams posted at least four rounds in the lower 70's over the two days, and even three teams behind us had at least two rounds below the 80 number. We unfortunately only had Jesper Holke-Farnam's first day score of 79 to match with our competitor's numbers."

"Our fifth place finish at the state meet does not diminish the many accomplishments of this team," Dirks said. "Ending the season with a record of 49-8 did not come by accident. This group worked as hard as any I've ever coached."

As the state tournament came to a close three seniors, Nick Saak, Sam Thompson, and Tanner Pelzer wrapped up their golfing careers with the Spartans.

"These three have meant so much to our program over the past four years," Coach Dirks said. "They each helped keep the program's tradition alive while setting the course for a bright future ahead for Grundy Center boys' golf."
