All in French Softcover, 80-124 pp. This series has taken fascinating original classics and adapted them to short, manageable reading for beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels. Each book contains helpful footnotes and every chapters reading is accentuated with grammar and vocabulary exercises. The level Grand Débutant exposes students to present tense, Débutant to passé composé, Intermédiaire to discours indirect and conditionnel, and Avancé to futur antérieur and subjonctif. A CD is available for each book to assist learners in listening and comprehension skills. Great for the individual pupil or the class. Please note that the 'Grand Débutant' and 'Débutant' levels prepare students for the DELF 1 Exam, while 'Intermédiaire' and 'Avancé' prepare students for the DELF 2.

FRÉQUENCE JEUNES: Méthode de français

A new method focused on the topics that interest the adolescent learner. It prepares the student for learning both written and spoken French through the use of dialogues and exercises. Two class cassettes with recordings of the dialogues, songs and poems, as well as comprehension and phonetic exercises support the lesson. This is a very thorough program, with sufficient support in the teacher's guide to help utilize these lessons to their full potential, as well as providing answers to the exercises in both the text and the workbook.

J.DeJean, Hardcover, 320 pp. ISBN:0743264134

Louis XIV, became the supreme authority of France chic, a position from which France has never retired. His vanity, and opulent court led to growth in the manufacturing of fine clothing and shoes, and the invention of shops in which to buy them, and to celebrity cuisine, cafes and Champagne. "King Louis was enthralled by glitter, which increased the diamond trade; and the first night streetlights (hence the "City of Lights"). Louis also abhorred mud (so streets were paved with cobblestones) and disliked getting wet (thus umbrellas were invented)." An interesting and entertaining recounting of the development of France during the 17th century.

EDDL1309 100 ANS D'HISTOIRE DE FRANCE EN CHANSONS $19.95
S. Berstein, Oversize, Hardcover, 141pp. ISBN:2842771478
In the midst of chaos and catastrophe, wartime and peacetime, music keeps the world turning. This colorful and informative text presents French history as seen through the lyrics of war songs, protest songs, and of course, love songs. From yesterday's cabarets to today's raves, these songs depict France's emotional climate through the decades of change and growth.

LP9101 LA GRAMMAIRE EST UNE CHANSON DOUCE $11.95
Erik Orsenna, Softcover, 150pp, ISBN:2253149101
The author, an honored member of the Academie francaise, teaches grammar through the story of two children shipwrecked on an island where they become mute. Don't lose hope, Mr Henri will let them discover a magical region inhabited by words with a life and a personality. They disguise themselves, get married, some feel self-important, pretentious, and others are just jokers. Here is a story which will reconcile defiant spirits with the study of French syntax.
