WHOA, HOLD the phone a minute here guys. Or, more precisely, the car phones.

-Who uses a quartet of cellular telephones purchased with a state grant was the subject of some debate last week around the Westland City Council table.

Councilman Ken Mehl wasn't pleased to learn that only two of the phones are being used by the fire department, "Because this was a grant for the arson program that's where they ought to be," Mehl said.

'If they (the state) find out not all of the phones are being used where they were intended, we are jeopardizing future grants," Mehl said.

So where are the other two phones?

Well, one doesn't work and is 'in a closet" at city hall and the other is being used "temporarily" by Mayor Robert Thomas, said Edward Gunther, administrative assistant to the mayor.

A fifth phone, donated to the fire department, was returned to the donor, Gunther said.

The mayor didn't think five phones were necessary for the fire Covertment," Gunther said.

Survey to look at new 9-1-1 system

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

Westland, Garden City and other western Wayne County communities with Enhanced 9-1-1 emergency telephone service will be surveyed this spring on how well the 81/2-monthold system is working.

Joseph Benyo, who coordinated implementation of the phone system last June, said Friday that he plans to obtain information on the number of police, fire and EMS calls made via the new service as well as the number of calls coming in over regular phone lines and from cellular telephones.

"The idea is to see how many life-threatening incidents were handled, or from a police aspect, how many B and E's (break-ins) were averted, because of the new system," Benyo

THE ENHANCED 9-1-1 system automatically displays the location and telephone number of an incoming call on a computer screen in front of the dispatcher.

Detroit and suburban communities in Oakland and Wayne Counties have installed the system to update either previous 9-1-1 systems or replace traditional, seven-digit police and fire telephone numbers.

Benyo said he hoped to have the survey distributed within the next month and completed a short time after that. The system is turning out to be cheaper for residents than originally planned, according to

THE MONTHLY charge listed on local telephone bills for the emergency service is currently 18 cents, which is less than the estimated 25 cents per household per month when the system went on line last June.

The implementation of the new system in Westland has gone "better than we expected," he said.

He credited a demanding training program for dispatchers and the massive public information campaign launched by city and school officials last spring for helping to create a viable emergency telephone system.

Watch group plans patrols of cemetery

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

A Neighborhood Watch group in southeast Westland will include the William Ganong Cemetery in its patrols in an effort to cut down on vandalism at the historic burial ground.

The Westland Historical Commission, which is backing the Neighbornood watch effort, also plans to ask Inkster Public School officials to allow students to become involved in caring for the cemetery, off Henry Ruff at Annapolis.

Some of the graves in the cemetery date back to the mid-1800s.

"We hope to preserve the cemetery, which people have worked so hard to get into shape, and hopefully discourage the kind of vandalism we've seen in the past," said Edna... Parker, spokeswoman for the Southeast Westland Homeowners Association Neighborhood Watch group.

PATROLS OF the cemetery will be on the agenda of the group's next monthly meeting, 7 p.m. Thursday, March 1, at Peoples Community

"I'm pretty sure the group will take to it," Parker said Monday of the plan to include the cemetery. The group already patrols the neighborhood immediately southeast of the cemetery, which includes homes on Julius, Matthew, Hanover, Dancy, Parnum, Paul and Alan.

Parker said the group is one of the larger Neighborhood Watch organizations in Westland and drew 50 people to a recent potluck dinner.

Group members patrolling the cemetery will note activity by vandals, take down license numbers and inform the police.

Lottery winner zings city man

Zinger winner David Harris of Westland was unaware of how much he would win for matching all six of his Zinger numbers, so he gave the ticket to his wife, Lynn, to find out.

The $100,000 winning ticket claimed Tuesday, with the number 543597, was bought at Westland's Carinci Beerstein & Wine store.

Lynn Harris checked the ticket to verify the numbers were correct, then contacted her mother to find out how much they had won.

All three were surprised to discover the ticket was worth $100,000. A Zinger top prize has been awarded in each of the five drawings to date during the month of February.

Area youth support agency cites progress

By Leonard Poger staff writer

Youth Living Centers, which has a variety of special programs for area children and their families, is starting the new year and decade with the theme of "New Beginnings."

One major reason, about 100 staff members and supporters were told at the group's annual meeting Thursday night, is the renovated school it will open late this spring in the Cherry Hill-Middlebelt area of Inkster.

The private, non-profit agency acquired the vacant Harrison Elementary School a year ago from the Wayne-Westland school district, which became its owner when it annexed the former Cherry Hill school district in 1985.

YLC, which now rents several St. Norbert Catholic Church buildings on Inkster Road near Avondale, has six programs, which had personal "new beginnings" in that program.

The philosphy of the agency is to provide a supportive, family environments for youngsters with special problems, its leaders said.

The organization's focus is to unify the family. If that isn't possible, the center works to place youths in family-type settings.

District to review parental visitation policy

By Marie Chestney staff writer

While backing its current procedure, the Livonia school board agreed to re-examine the district's one-sentence policy on parental visits to classrooms.

The re-examination comes at the __school principal. urging of a mother, Anna Brunsink, who recently was barred from sitting in on her daughter's sixth grade sex education class by Bonnie Schweitzer, Roosevelt Elementary School principal.

The decision was upheld by Superintendent Joseph Marinelli.

BRUNSINK ASKED the trustees, whose district includes the northern section of Westland, to liberalize the policy so that the decision on whether to admit a parent to a class- Brunsink's request and review its room doesn't rest solely with a

Livonia School District

The Livonia School District includes the northern section of Westland.

"The right to observe classes should be consistent and not depend on the administration's discretion," Brunsink said. "It becomes the judgment of one principal. But parents can't make a judgment on anything that goes on in the classroom. This goes against the rights of parents."

Trustee J. Richard Thorderson disagreed, saying parents don't have the "absolute right to observe every class at all times."

However, the board will follow policy, Thorderson said.

Benyo said an unexpected benefit from the system has been easier communication between dispatchers and non-English-speaking callers in emergency situations.

"You are asking us to re-examine our policy and we will have to do that," Thorderson said. "But I'm reasonably comfortable (with the current policy) as long as teachers and principals are careful and sensitive. I'm not prepared to make a motion to change the policy."

THE POLICY gives principals the final say on whether a parent can visit a classroom. The district's only demand is that visits be arranged in advance and that they aren't disruptive. A denial can be appealed to the superintendent.

Brunsink presented to the board petitions signed by 90 people. The petitions ask for a consistent, acrossthe-board visitation policy that doesn't rest solely on the ruling of one principal.

"While getting the signatures, all parents thought it was their right (to visit a classroom)," Brunsink said. 'They were shocked to find out it wasn't; to find out that we can be denied the access to quietly observe. If the teacher is doing everything properly, why deny access into the classroom?"

An "inconsistency" exists between those schools that "welcome" parents and those that don't, she said.

"If the principal has a personal reason (to deny), they can say it's because it can cause disruption and the board backs the principal up. That's totally ridiculous."

MARINELLI CALLED it a "judge ment call."

"Based on her (the principal's) past experience with Anna Brunsink, it was her best judgment to deny," Marinelli said.

Norman Harting of Hillcrest Street said Brunsink visited his daughter's classroom last year and "caused no disruption."

"I know you're walking a thin line," Harting said. "You can't have a parent in every classroom all year, but for one or two days? Parents should have access to the class. They are our children. We are footing the tab."

BECAUSE IT was a sex education class, Schweitzer had to show extra sensitivity in dealing with Brunsink's request, Thorderson said. "There is no area of the school curriculum that brings to the surface more the sensitivity of students, teachers, clergy and the administration that the human growth program," Thorderson said.

"Young people are not comfortable talking about it in the first place. They need a sensitive environment. Some teachers feel it is best not to have other adults in the class. The administration makes difficult and sensitive judgments as we teach this course."

Brunsink's husband, Ralph, said the question the two brought to the board went beyond being admitted: to a sex education class.

"Are you above checks and balances?" he asked the trustees. "There is not a government agency that doesn't need some checks and balances. You don't have carte blanche.

"We have 90 signatures that show other people don't feel the same way you do. You should have seen the shock on faces when they found out they are not able to sit in on their kid's classroom.

Saying there is "nothing wrong" with current policy, trustee Richard McKnight urged leaving "application of the policy to administrators."

SHARON ANDERSON of Richland Street told trustees she had attended the meeting for another reason, but found "something more fundamentally" wrong with the parentdistrict relationship based on comments she had heard during the meeting.

"The policy doesn't promote a good relationship between parents and teachers," Anderson sald. "It's a limiting policy; You need to encourage parents. You need to address this and turn this around." "No building principal discourages parents," trustee Carol Strom said in, response. To which Anderson answered: "Apparently this one did."

The policy is necessary because parents in the past have been disruptive in classrooms, Livonia PTA president Kathy Kalousek said.

Parker said vandalism at Ganong Cemetery was a problem in 1989 and other years, although there haven't been incidents since January.

Problems have included knocking yown the gates and desecration of raves. Vandals have also cut holes In the back fence for easier access, said Joseph Benyo, historical commission vice chairman.

Benyo said the recent decrease was probably attributable to cold weather and he expected activity to pick up again this spring. "Kids know that it is a hilly, secluded place and it is easier to hide there than at a school yard, where the ground is flat," he said.

BENYO SAID police have found Evidence of drug and alcohol use left it's too late," Benyo said.

He said the Neighborhood Watch patrols would be "a tremendous help to the commission in its efforts to preserve the cemetery."

Commission-sponsored cleanup projects at the cemetery have won several awards in recent years, including a Keep Michigan Beautiful Award in 1987.

Benyo said the commission has studied the possibility of replacing the gates with a wrought iron fence, but that would be difficult because the cemetery is still active.

The move, in the planning for several years, will enable the organization to increase services to the children and families it serves.

Patricia Hudson, the agency's development director, told the annual meeting of the financial successes they had in the past year in getting grants from foundations.

The capital campaign went over the $1 million mark, with the largest chunk being a $200,000 grant from the Kresge Foundation.

Other supporters and their grants were the Herrick Foundation, $50,000; the Skillman Foundation, $72,000; Matilda Wilson Fund, $25,000, and Henry C. Buhl, $25,000. Numerous donations also were made by area individuals and organizations. Hudson sald.

TALKING ABOUT the Harrison School renovation, the organization has contracted for installation of a new heating/cooling system, electrical system, and plumbing.

Cellings have been lowered and the entire building to be repainted

The new location will have all non-residential programs administered from there as well as providing therapy and meeting rooms for clients and their families.

The gym and playground of the school, located in the middle of a residential neighborhood, will be open for use by area families.

During the recently completed first annual holiday appeal by YLC, more than $14,500 from 150 donors was raised. The money will be used to support the center's programs.

THE AGENCY "views the annual holiday appeal as a funding source by which the community can help support, through contributions to the operating fund, the work that YLC does with abused, neglected, and abandoned children and their familles," Hudson said.

In another highlight of the past year, YLC continues to use a $300,000 federal grant received in 1988 to give drug education programs in area schools.

Overhead highway signs are fastened with bolts and metal rods sunk into a concrete base. State highway engineers believe rods knocked out of alignment during construction could have broken as a long-range result of increased stress, leading to the recent collapse of two highway signs.

By Wayne Peal staff writer

> Testing of Michigan highway signs may have prevented at least five additional tragedles, state transportation department said Saturday.

A potentially hazardous overhead sign was discovered and removed during Wednesday's first day of statewide testing, Michigan Department of Transportation officials said. Among the other signs found to be defective were three located on I-75 near Monroe.

The sign found on Wednesday, on US-127 south of I-96 near Lansing, showed the same kind of weakness that may have led to the recent collapse of signs on the Southfield Freeway in Dearborn and on I-75 in Monroe County.

Martha Topik, 41, of Detroit was killed when the Southfield freeway sign collapsed Feb. 16. Two other motorists were injured. No one was injured when an Erie/Temperance exit sign fell Jan. 25, though a LaSalle man's truck was destroyed.

lic in the wake of Topik's death.

The accidents called the safety of Michigan's overhead highway signs into question. Though MDOT officials said the signs are safe, they remained uncertain as to why the two signs fell, Officials noted that support rods had broken in each in-

"WE KNOW what happened those rods broke - but we don't know why;" deputy highway director William MacCreery said.

MDOT officials suggested the collapse of each sign could have been caused by improperly aligned support rods, but they said it might take a month to provide a definitive an-

All 377 of the state's overhead highway signs were to have been checked for loose bolts and structural weakness in initial testing which was completed Friday. Roughly half the signs tested are in southeast Michigan, including signs in Wayne and Oakland countles.

The second incident was made pub-Prof says check sign bolts more often

By Tim Smith staff writer

A Lawrence Technological University professor vows to get to the nuts and bolts of how highway signs are fastened and inspected, to guard against a repeat of the Feb. 16 Southfield Freeway accident in which a tumbling sign killed a Detroit woman.

"I will be proposing to the state of Michigan and the department of transportation that they jointly investigate highway signs in general," particularly how multiple-bolt (sign) joints are tightened, said Dr. Sayed Nassar, director of a bolt research lab at Lawrence Tech.

The accident which killed 41-yearold Martha Topik should propel legislative action, Nassar said.

Nassar sald other ways to ensure the safety of sign-holding bolts include: Cracking down on manufacturers who mislead the public by claiming their product is stronger than it actually is; using ultra-sound equipment to test bolts; and increasing the frequency of inspections.

"Visual inspections should be done every six months. More comprehensive inspections, using ultra-sound equipment, should be done every year or year and a half."

HIGHWAY SIGNS now are typically inspected every three years or

"Normally, people underestimate the tightening of a bolt," said Nassar, whose LTU research lab was opened in 1987. "Traditionally, the tightening of a bolt has been viewed as a very simple thing. But it is not a trivial engineering matter.

"It (tightening) has to be done carefully, in order to make sure the components are fastened together properly and stay together" when conditions place extra pressure on the bolted foundation, he explained.

That holds especially true in the case of multi-bolt sign joints, Nassar said. It was an eight-bolt foundation supporting the sign which ultimately fell and killed Topik, who was a passenger in a car headed northbound

We'd like to meet the man who made lke what he is today.

In fact, we have a warrant out for his arrest. Because no one should be able to do things. like this to an animal and get away with it.

On December 15, in response to an emergency call, Michigan Humane Society (MHS) cruelty investigators arrived at a house that had been abandoned by its former tenant for over a month. There, among the trash and other garbage the owner had no further use for, they found Ike. A fivemonth-old puppy lying huddled behind a locked bathroom door. Lying because he was too weak to stand. So malnourished he could barely move his chest to breathe.

He had been locked inside that bathroom for over a month. Without food. Without heat. And with only the water from a rusty toilet to keep him alive. MHS investigators called it the closest to death they'd ever seen an animal. Yet Ike was fortunate. A kitten found in another part of the house was already dead.

This kind of willful neglect and cruelty is more than an outrage. It's a crime.

And that's why your help is so important to us. Your contribution to the Michigan Humane Society helps us fight for stronger legislation and tougher prosecution of animal abusers. To fight back for those who can't. And to make sure that this kind of crime doesn't go unpunished.

Your contribution also ensures that when we finally meet the man who locked up Ike, we can do the same for him.

Compromise sought on minimum wage bills

By Tim Richard staff writer

Senate Republicans and House Democrats are on a collision course over raising Michigan's minimum

Unless they reach a compromise, the state minimum wage will remain at $3.35 an hour, where it has been for nine years.

"This (Senate) bill includes components which should be viewed as beneficial to employers and employees alike," said the sponsor, Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

THE SENATE bill will raise the level - $3.80 this April 1 and $4.25 a year later.

The Senate vote last week was 20. 17. The yes votes were cast by 19 Republicans and one Democrat, Gilbert DiNello of East Detroit. All nay votes came from Democrats. Observer & Eccentric area senators voted with their parties.

A week earlier, the House passed a Democrat-sponsored bill, again on almost a party-line vote.

The House bill would raise the minimum wage to $5 in four stages. It was strongly supported by organized labor.

Besides raising the minimum wage, the Senate bill would:

• Allow employers to pay a "training wage" of 85 percent of the base to workers under age 19 for the first 90 days of employment.

• Raise the "tip credit" that employers may deduct for workers who recleve customer tips. Currently at 25 percent, the tip credit would go to 45 percent on April 1 and 50 percent a year later.

Democrats estimate 546,000 Michigan workers are paid the minimum wage. The state law applies mainly to small firms which aren't in interstate commerce - mostly restaurants and hospitality establishments.

States get into 'toad licking'

'AS IF WE DIDN'T have enough to worry about . . .

In Georgia and South Carolina they want to outlaw toad licking.

But before you stick your noses in the air and mutter something like, "Well, what do you expect in the South?" let me finish.

Toad licking isn't a problem in Georgia and South Carolina, not yet anyway. The problem exists in California . . . at least, according to some reports. Californians say it ish't true. I'm so confused I don't know whom to believe.

· Here's what I do know. Some time back the Baltimore Sun rafi'a story - with a San Francisco dateline - quoting Robert Sager, who runs the Drug Enforcement Agency's testing lab in San Francis-

In the story Sager talked about the hallucinogenic properties of bufotenine, a toxin released through the skin of cane toads.

Sager says he was first contacted by 'a reporter from Reuters news service who was doing a story about a problem with cane toad licking in Australia. In that interview Sager said he mentioned that two people in the Southwest had been hospitalized about 10 years ago after licking cane toads, which, apparently, are used by some South American Indians in religious rituals.

Now cane toads, which are native to South America, produce the toxin bufotenine to ward off predators. But somebody — maybe those South American Indians — discovered that when humans ingest the toxin it produces mind-altering effects. Something like mescaline, I suppose.

Anyway, the reporter who wrote the story for the Sun said she got the idea from an article in Omni magazine about cane toad licking.

CONFUSED? Good. Keep going.

Since the Sun article carried a San Francisco dateline, the word apparently spread that the latest fad in California is toad licking.

That's how Georgia and South Carolina got involved. In Georgia a state representative introduced a resolution in the House to have the House Natural Resources Committee make an exhaustive study of the problem and prepare legislation to 'save Georgia from this scourge."

In South Carolina a representative introduced a bill to make cane toad licking illegal in that sovereign

The bill said, in part, that while cane toads might only be "harmless, endearing critters" to most people, "the potential for abuse is so high that the General Assembly finds it necessary to nip the problem in the bud."

Both lawmakers admitted that their legislative proposals were tongue-in-cheek reactions to the plethora of anti-drug measures being considered in their respective lawmaking bodies.

What they seemed to be saying was that the whole drug war hysteria is getting ridiculous.

That line in the South Carolina bill about "potential for abuse" is the key. Cane toad laws could lead authorities to conduct sting operations against aquarium supply stores, since the toads are reportedly a favorite of aquarium aficionados.

Such stings wouldn't be that different from last year's nationwide raids on those indoor gardening centers that were selling equipment that could be used to grow marijuana.

They'd be similar to the Wayne County sheriff's decision to set up checkpoints to search cars that might be transporting drugs.

I think we should be guided by the Rochester Hills contingent of the A Pusher." Why not start a "Turn In culated in this country. A Toad" campaign?

After all, this is war and you can't be too careful.

Midlife crisis: not just a label (This, is a continuation of the marriage/divorce series based on Karen Pasquel's book in progress, "Marriage Passages," all rights

The famous midlife crisis always troubles me when a very significant issue gets a faddish label, and then becomes an excuse for every negative behavior a person has.

In fact, midlife crisis is not a joke, but a very serious period of time that, if not understood by the individual and the spouse, can be the most destructive experience a marriage can go through, Midlife crisis is real, and it comes at the worst possible time. Let us consider the man in midlife crisis.

This man is usually between 40 and 45. He has reached the highest level (or close to it) in his job. He has made the financial grade as far as being able to support his household is

AT THIS age, not only is this man beginning a crisis, but his wife and . children also are.

The wife is questioning her attractiveness, purpose and desires as she notices age beginning to show. She needs an attentive, complimentary husband now more then ever.

However, he may be unable to fulfill her needs since he is struggling with his own crisis. At the same time these crises are occurring in husband and wife as individuals as well as a couple, the children are in the midst of adolescence.

Some may have already left home. They too are each experiencing their own crisis.

At this point, these children need more patience, more understanding and more acceptance than ever, while at the same time they are testing these very areas to their limit.

Demands are high, insecurity is high, selfishness is high on the part of each individual.

At this time, all the family members must find a way to fulfill their needs in a way that will not damage the family unit. The needs must be fulfilled, but are often misidentified.

THE SYMPTOMS are confusing to both the individual and the onlook-

What are these symptoms in a man? Most appear to be directed toward the goal of hanging on to or returning to youthfulness.

The popular song "Scared to Run

Out of Time" says it all. For men, filled with emotional demands. the focus over the past 20 years has been work, corporate growth and accumulating material securities.

While rest and relaxation were enjoyed from time to time, they were not a priority. Now this man looks at what he has and realized he is missing something, but what? He has a house, wife, children and possessions. For what more could a man

A man tends to need the feeling that he is a respected head of the house. It is important that his wife admires him. There is nothing wrong with this.

UNFORTUNATELY, BECAUSE husbands and wives do grow used to each other, what is normal lack of attention is sometimes misinterpreted as a loss of love by both partners.

In the past, the man has paid little attention to emotional needs. Now, he is acutely aware that the "feeling" is gone. At the same time this man notices the feeling has gone, his wife - because of her own crisis — is seeming to nag him as she pressures him to attend to her needs.

Soon, he finds himself avoiding his wife more and more. His children also start their demands for dad's attention.

Now the husband's haven of rest - his home - is a dreaded place

The man, not geared toward attending to emotional needs, is feeling overwhelmed. Yet he also is beginning to notice his own emotional needs are lacking.

THEN HE meets a stimulating woman. He can be the most faithful husband and devoted father you would ever know. He does not understand his feelings any more than his

All he knows is his family life Is not fun any more.

GRADUALLY, AS the new lifestyle begins to be fed more and more, this husband begins to grow more distant from his wife. Over time, he finds himself in the sickeningly terrible position of making a choice: his new lifestyle, or his wife and family?

The fact is that if this man understood that his own contradictory behavior and confusing feelings are normal for his age and position in life, he could have both: a new lifestyle modified to complement his wife and family.

The Stalinist period was almost over when the little girl's father, in a surge of sentimentality, took his daughter aside and told her that her name, Carmela, was a Jewish name, that she was named for the lovely Mountain "Carmel" in the new state of Israel.

advice from people on how you should care for yourself. When others see you walking slowly and with great effort, they often conclude that you are; "out of shape." Their advice is that you should try harder and exercise beyond your pain. These friends assure you, that as a result of such effort, you will be able to walk-stairs, shop at malls and exercise at your choosing. In contrast, your painful joints advise you to stop now and lie down as soon as possible. You should listen to your body, not your friends.

Training is an excellent way to increase the stamina and size of muscles, but joint conditions involve a different set of body constituents. In arthritis, bone, cartilage, ligaments and tendons are damaged and Impaired. Inflammation causes this damage; forcing activity on these structures in the presence of such irritation increases the risk of further disruption. It is like placing a larger load on a bridge with flawed struts. You only further he chance the bridge will collapse.

Disregard the advice "no pain - no gain." Your guidance should come from your joints; do what makes them comfortable, cease when your activity causes pain.

Schoolcraft chef cooks up honors

Brady, an instructor in the college's culinary arts department, had just been named a certified executive chef. As such, she's one of only two women to achieve the honor in all of Michigan.

The celebratory beverage may have been a bit below the traditional standard ("After all, it was 7 in the morning," she said.) but the honor, and her career, have been well above standard.

The new title, the second highest given a chef by the American Culinary Federation, is the highlight of a career that began at Michigan State University's school of hotel and restaurant management. Perhaps it is also a sign of changing times in the profession.

"WHEN I was in school there weren't a whole lot of females in the field," Brady said. "Now, half the students in some of the classes I teach are female."

A food service industry veteran, Brady and her husband, Tom, own and operate Diamond Jim Brady's in Southfield.

State examines its signs

Testing involved signs known as Cantilever Type G & H.

Eighteen teams of MDOT workers scoured the state for signs, striking bolts with hammers, then using large wrenches to test for loose

Signs on the Southfield and I-696 freeways and Telegraph Road were among those examined during Wednesday's first day of testing.

Dismantling a sign was to be the "fitst action" taken if a loose bolt or. other weakness were discovered, MacCreery said.

"WEAKNESS IN one (bolt) will noticause the sign to come down, but we're being cautious," he said.

Weather permitting, the detective signs were to be removed by crews on Saturday, according to MDOT director James Pitz. Temporary signage was to be installed to guide drivers, although in each case only one of three interchange signs was affected.

MDOT also has started ultrasonic testing of the sign bolts, which is expected to take two weeks to com-

"We already know if there is a serious problem," Pitz said. "In the long range we want to know if one is going to become a problem." Using extreme high frequency sound waves, the ultra sound tests are similar to those conducted at many area hospitals, MDOT managing engineer James Culp said.

been knocked out of alignment as support poles and signs were attached, MDOT officials said.

If a weakness is discovered, Mac-Creedy said, the concrete base will be destroyed and the rods sent to a private metallurgical laboratory for evaluation.

Twenty-three signs were replaced, for various reasons, during the state's last inspection in 1983-85. MacCreery said. That inspection also featured ultra sound equipment.

Most of the signs were erected between 1972-80, MacCreery said, though similar signs are still being Cantilever signs' design allows on the Southfield Freeway near Rotunda in Dearborn, Nassar, however, viewed that accident as an isolated incident.

When such foundations are fastened, bolts are tightened — usually by a hand wrench — in a sequence, Nassar said.

WHEN THAT procedure is not handled properly, a bolt might loosen, resulting in the other bolts having to bear the extra load of increased wind vibration, poor weather or other conditions.

"If you have a bolt that's a little bit loose, wind vibration will continue until, ultimately, one or more of the bolts break. When that happens, the rest of the bolts will carry the remainder of the load to make up for that," he said.

Increasing the frequency that sign bolts are inspected might enable someone to spot a glitch, but those efforts may not be worthwhile until more sophisticated ultra-sound test equipment is used, Nassar explained.

"With some of these (foundations), you don't have access from both sides of the bolt. Ultra-sound equipment (detects) how much force, how much tightness is on the bolt," he

MAKING SURE a bolt is as strong as advertised by its manufacturer is another key issue, said Nassar, a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers' Bolting Technology Council.

Nassar said the U.S. Congress is investigating the so-called "counterfeit bill," stemming from charges that manufacturers mark bolts as being a higher grade strength-wise than they should be.

"In some cases, ... you use a mismarked bolt and then design a (structural) component according to that. All of a sudden, you have a failure."

Because boits are usually priced according to grade, that deceptive practice enabled companies to charge customers more for bolts, Nassar said.

Devising new reliable designs and installation' specifications requires input from bolt designers, manufacturers, installers and inspection groups, the professor continued.

Fat isn't all bad for body

To many people fat has become a hasty word

To this day, I can remember growing up and being told the magical phrase, "You're not fat, just big boned." I guess I'm really showing my age when I can recall visiting the "chubby boys" shop at

To minimalize the effect of fat ip my life, I can attest to being a oard-carrying lifetime member of Weight Watchers, Vic Tanny and a few retrospective "fat

So why all the hoopla that is tombarding us in just about every issue of magazines and newspapers from Consumers Reports all the way to the swimsuit edition of Sports Illustrated, concerning fat in our everyday diets? Believe it or not, fat is a vital nutrient. Like carbohydrates and protein, dietary fat is an important source of energy in our diets. Nutritionists tell us that dietary fat is especially important to children for proper growth. Fat maintains healthy skin, regulates cholesterol and helps regulate some hormone substances that regulate body processes. Fat is needed to carry vitamins throughout the body, and without it their absorption into our systems is hindered. Without fat, ourbodies would have less energy, and I would be remiss if I forgot to mention its importance in insulating the body and supporting and cushioning organs.

BUT RATHER THAN go into a long, boring description of what fat is, let me tell you that there is "good" fat and, unfortunately, "bad" fat.

Mention "bad" fat and one usually conjures up thoughts of inchthick steaks complete with wellmarbled lines of the white substance. But there are additional sources of animal fat that we get daily from our consumption of poultry, fish, milk, milk products and eggs. Then there's vegetable fat, which derives from plant oils such as soybean, corn, sunflower, safflower, canola, cottonseed palm and coconut.

Fat is an important ingredient in many foods because of its functional properties. In many recipes, fat enhances the taste, aroma and texture of the foods we eat and enjoy. Because it is digested more slowly than proteins or carbohydrates, fat also plays an important role in providing a sense of fullness after eating.

But what would a filet mignon be without fat? Probably a cross between a beef jerky and a bonedry martini. Without fat, muffins would crumble into oblivion right in their paper-ensconsed cup. Your pancakes could double as Frisbees while your breakfast cereal would probably taste like some bark from a tree in Euell Gibbons' backyard. Your birthday cake would taste like something my sister made in her first year home ec class in high school that even the birds refused to con-

An excess of fat in our diets has become increasingly recognized as one of the major factors influencing the development of chronic disease. We risk high blood pressure, high cholesterol and hardening of the arteries, not to mention a stroke or heart attack when our bodies take in more of the wrong fat than we should.

SO WHAT'S A FOODIE to do? Are we destined to eat crud for the remainder of our healthy lives? Fortunately, major food manufacturers are responding to our needs by introducing new "lighter"-in-fat products, everything from mayonnaise to ice

On the home front, we can be informed consumers and can begin reading labels and choosing products low in saturated fat (i.e. animal fats, cottonseed, palm and coconut oils). Instead of eliminating fats from our daily regimens, we can substitute healthler fat products that use unsaturated lais such as canola (the healthlest fat on earth).

Phyllis Marra's family recipe for Bread Pudding combines butter, sugar, eggs, milk, vanilla extract, cinnamon, raisins and Italian bread.

Passionate about pudding

Marra turns the simple pudding into an elegant dessert, serving it in goblets.

By Katie Maple McBride special writer

THE DESSERT TABLE touts a picture-perfect linzer torte, chocolate mousse cake, strawberry cheesecake and a lemon chiffon pie, each minus one or two slices. An empty bowl sits among this fancy foursome, boasting a few stray raisins and some remaining flecks of custard.

It was bread pudding and, alas, it's all gone. According to Phyllis Marra, a passionate pudding fan, such scenarios are common. She said she has learned to head straight for the stuff as soon as it hits the buffet at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club. "There can be mounds of fresh raspberries and every wonderful dessert you can imagine, but when you get to the bread pudding, you always see the bottom of the bowl," Marra said.

Ron Wakefield, pastry chef at the club for the past 27 years, said the pudding "is one of the first things that goes on the buffets, and if we don't have it, they (the members) want to know why."

COOKBOOKS DIFFER in the origin of bread pudding, but most attribute the tasty dessert to the thrifty Britains. One cookbook author suggests the pudding was created to make use of a never-ending supply of buttered bread from Victorian tea tables.

The dish has been popular for years in the United States, especially in New England and Cajun and Southern regions. In the age-old South, bread pudding was called "sippet pudding," using ingredients such as "a penny loaf and marrow." Over the years, chefs cooked up a variety of fancy variations for the dessert, caramelizing the pan and beating the egg white sepa-

In her book, "Damnyankee in a Southern Kitchen," author Helen Worth questions the cost-consciousness of cooks who bought expensive ingredients for bread pudding. "Making it involved the dubious economics of investing additional cash to avoid wasting stale bread," Worth quips.

Avoiding waste and saving money was a way of life in the 1930s, when simple versions of bread pudding arrived on many a table.

Wakefield said one of his country club customers. commented that the dessert was all his family ate during the Depression, suggesting the devotion to bread pudding may be rooted in nostalgia.

"IT'S ALWAYS BEEN popular, ever since I came here 27 years ago," Wakefield explained. "Maybe it's something that people were brought up on."

Marra, a Bloomfield Hills resident, said her mother used to make bread pudding for her when she was a little girl, topping each serving with homemade applesauce. Marra makes her own pudding today, but the smell of vanilla and cinnamon wafting from a warm bowl brings back fond memories of those special times

In addition to the memories, Marra said she likes the dessert because it's "not real, real sweet. When I eat it, it feels like it's good for me."

Sky-high desserts a whistle stop away

See recipes 2B By Gerl Rinechler special writer

Have you been yearning for a slice of fresh apple crumb pie the way Grandma used to make it? Or savoring a piece of moist carrot cake that's high enough to touch the sky?

Well, now, I know it's the '90s, and rich, creamy, sugar-laden desserts are a no-no, but eating healthy every day doesn't mean that every now and then we can't delve into a little bit of dessert.

Tucked away near the old Birmingham train station, the Whistle Stop coffee shop has been serving regional specialties such as Swiss steak and chicken and dumplings for about 25 years. Featured on its traditional luncheon and dinner menu is a long list of made-from-scratch fruit and cream ples and delectable cakes and tortes.

On any given day you can expect to see a sour cream chocolate cake and coconut cream, banana cream, apple sour cream, cherry and blueberry fruit pies. All of them are created daily by Kim Christy. She has loved to bake ever since she was a little girl. "Cooking comes naturally to me" she says, claiming it's be-

uses were handed down to her from her grandmother and great-grandmother. But she gives much of the credit for her success to her dad, shop owner Harold Christy. "When I first started baking here three years ago, he was a tough teacher," she sald. He insisted that everything be done exactly to his specifications, no improvising.

"Now, I create new recipes all the time. Often I get ideas for a new dessert recipe when I'm grocery shopping with my kids," she said. Although Christy is mother of two young children - Kyle, 3 years old, and Lindsey, 18 months - she still finds time to invent new desserts. Her latest is a raspberry mousse layer cake lavishly covered with raspberry frosting. Christy's favorites are Very Berry Fruit Ple and double chocolate cream pie.

If you've never sampled a Whistle Stop dessert you're in for a treat. And don't be surprised if you run into a few familiar faces while you're there. Detroit Lions stars Eric Williams and Jim Arnold and Detroit Pistons world champions Islah Thomas and Bill Laimbeer are on the Whistle Stop who's who list.

Besides fruit pies and cakes, the Whistle Stop will custom bake birthday, anniversary and wedding cakes. Christy and the shop's professional cake decorator air brush any number of designs and characters. They also can duplicate a cake design from a photograph, along with the traditional cake decorations.

In their small, 10-by-20-foot bake shop they have created hundreds of wedding cakes that serve as few as 20 people or as many as 500. There's are traditional, and they often work and they will do the rest.

People are passionate about bread pudding

Very little sugar goes into the croissant version of bread pudding at the Merchant of Vino, where people pay $5.99 a pound to savor the flavor. The pudding is served with creme englaise or vanilla sauce.

"IT'S ONE OF the biggest sellers," said Juliette Jonna, carryout and catering coordinator for the specialty food and wine shops.

"I always liked bread pudding, so I figured why not make it with croissants," said Jonna, who invented her recipe in 1985, "I'm surrounded by the best ingredients the world can offer, so I try to be innovative and put them to work."

This delicious entree worth having seconds

What is it about certain combinations of food that just taste so good? So good, in fact, that you end up going back for seconds and, shih, don't tell anyone — even for thirds!

As mentioned in last week's column, Marnie Balog's turkey tetrazzini had that effect on me. And, because it was so good, I have had to take steps toward polishing up some rather tarnished eating control hab-

Becoming nutrition-conscious

'If you're like the rest of us, you enjoy eating. It's a pleasant experience, and it leaves us feeling satis-

While enjoying tasty food, most people seldom think how vital it is to health and well-being. But we are becoming more nutrition-conscious and concerned whether we are eating what we need for health. Most of us are attempting to change buying, cooking and eating patterns in the interest of our health.

Moms, dads and others, bear the major responsibility for feeding families. Although others share it with you when shopping and preparing foods, you control, to a large extent, what food comes into homes, goes into the refrigerator and is served on the table.

Over the years, the daily meals we serve provide a model our children can follow throughout their lives. Examples can teach children to enjoy a wide variety of foods without their even thinking about it.

It's important that each child form good eating habits early. A pudgy toddler may be cute, but an obese child is likely to grow up to be a fat adult. A doctor should be consulted about any child's weight problem because each child has special nutritional needs for growth.

Round Bone

English Cut

ROAST.....

ONE WAY to help a child avoid weight problems is for parents to both be calorie-conscious and physically active and involve the child in the activity. The saying, "As the twig is bent, the tree inclines," doesn't apply only to trees. When parents use food to reward acceptable behavior or punish the lack of it, they confuse children by connecting food with something other than hunger. When you give food to ease disappointment or soften sadness, it is giving food a dimension other than the purpose of basic nourishment. An overemphasis on food can haunt a child an entire

According to many experts, obesity among children has risen by 40 percent over the last 20 years. Eighty percent of these children will remain overweight as adults. This can cause many health problems such as hypertension, diabetes and heart disease.

Teenagers grow at a faster rate than at any other time except infancy. Nutritional needs are high, and appetites are huge. There is nothing nutritionally bad about teens' favorite foods — hamburgers, hot dogs and pizzas — but do encourage the teenager to supplement these fast foods with other nutrient-dense foods that supply nutrients they need for growth and good health.

YOUNG ADULTS, you are on your own — studying, working, preparing for the future, enjoying life in general. Learn to select, prepare and eat well, as sometimes you are inclined to take health and nutrition for granted. Remember, you are over the threshold into the longest span of your life. Good food is as important now as it ever was.

For older adults, all the foods of the Basic 4 (or Basic 7) are essential for active good health in the later years. The form and type of food selected may change, but foods from each group are still needed daily. The need for energy (calories) decreases somewhat as you get older and less active, so fit your diet to the amount of energy you use.

If we are nutrition-conscious, we can easily select a variety of foods which will supply our bodies with all the necessary nutrients required for health without too many calories. Regardless of age, everyone needs the same nutrients but in different amounts. By paying close attention to the number and size of the servings, and the method of preparation, we can vary the amount of essential nutrients and calories consumed.

A lively concern for nutrition need' never take the joy out of cooking and eating. No one food is absolutely essential. Another may be substituted to furnish essential nutrients. It is the nutrients — vitamins, minerals, protein, carbohydrates and fats :that we need for health. You can retain family customs, habits and preferences by serving nutritious foods in a variety in interesting combina-

New book reflects way that people cook today

AP — The 10th edition of familiar red plaid Better Homes and Gardens Books "New Cook Book" is completely revised, to include more "fast" and "easy" recipes and new nutritional analysis charts.

Each of the recipes included in the new edition was revised, tested and retested "to reflect the way consumers cook today and will be cooking in the 1990s," said Linda Henry, a senior food writer and food editor for Better Homes and Gardens Books.

The recipes were tested by home economists in Better Homes and Gardens' test kitchens in Des Moines. The recipes were judged for practicality and reliability, as well as taste appeal.

THE NEW cookbook ($19.95) includes 1,400 recipes, including 200 microwave recipes, and 440 full-color photographs, including 194 "how-to" photos that show how to do important recipe steps.

Many of the recipes require only a handful of ingredients, either basics found in most portales on freeh from found in most pantries, or fresh fromthe market.

Since the first edition, "My Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book," was published in 1930, more than 26 million copies of the cookbook have been sold.

The latest edition reflects consumer interest in lighter and healthier foods and preparing home-cooked food in take-out time.

Many of today's consumers are in-terested in preparing healthy, deli-cious recipes but lack the basic skills and time to do so. The "New Cook Book" no longer assumes that the cook knows how to fold, blend, chop,

NEW LOGOS identify "fast" and "easy" recipes. The "fast" recipes take 30 minutes or less to prepare a main dish or dessert; 20 minutes or less for a snack, beverage or side

The cookbook also features Better Homes and Gardens' new one-bowl method of preparation for many cakes and cookies. Levels of sugar and fat have been reduced in many of the recipes, and the salt has been taken out from almost every cookie

Among the other changes: many of the recipes are designed to serve two to four persons, instead of six to eight, more flavor variations have been added to basic recipes, and many ethnic dishes are included.

The new nutritional analysis charts include cholesterol content.

The cookbook has increased the number of recipes for fish, poultry and main-dish salads to reflect the lighter, healthier eating Americans are seeking today.

A "Special Helps" section includes calorie counts, a seasoning guide, food safety information, garnishing and microwave techniques.

There is no barbecue section in the new cookbook. However, grilling instructions are included for many of the recipes.

Borgess loses Respert, game

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

How much does Shawn Respert mean to the Redford Bishop Borgess basketball team?

The Spartans found out in a painful way Thursday in a Catholic-League A-B division semifinal game at the University of Detroit's Calihan

With Respert sidelined most of the second half after twisting his right knee, Southgate Aguinas rallied from a 21-point deficit and upset Borgess, 81-79 in double overtime.

The loss knocked the Spartans, 15-3 overall, out of a chance to advance to the Catholic League final against Birmingham Brother Rice.

Respert, a 6-foot-3 guard who has signed with Michigan State, watched the rest of the game from the sidelines with an ice pack on his aching

(The diagnosis Friday was that Respert will be out indefinitely. His knee will be re-examined once the swelling goes down.)

"I felt the knee hyper-extend, farther than I knew it could," said Respert, who scored a team-high 24 points, including 20 in the first half. I felt it pop, too. But the worse feeling I had was just sitting there, not being able to do anything to help them out.'

Aguinas point guard Chris Clark took advantage of Respert's absence, scoring 29 of his game-high 41 points after halftime.

Clark made 17 of 27 field goals, including six from 3-point range.

THE SPARTANS had trouble tak-

"It's a team effort, a good team can overcome something like that," Borgess coach Mike Fusco said. "I don't want to diminish the loss of Shawn because he's a great player, but we have other seniors.

"Aquinas won its league and wasn't going to sit back and die. I expected them to come at us. Clark is a very good player. We had matchup problems all night with him."

Neither team scored in the first overtime, but Clark's 3-point shot at

A free throw by Aquinas reserve Joel Schembri gave the Raiders an 81-76 lead before Artie Brown's 3point shot for Borgess with :02 left made the final margin 81-79.

Brown, a senior guard, didn't have a very memorable night.

Stevenson stops Churchill drive

By Brad Emons staff writer

Livonia Stevenson fought off an inspired effort Friday from city rival Churchill to advance in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association basketball playoffs. 69-62, in double overtime.

The Spartans (12-6) return home Tuesday to take on Farmington Harrison (14-4) in one semifinal. The other semifinal pits North Farmington (11-7) at Plymouth Salem (17-1). It was 56-all after the end of the regulation play thanks to a pair of clutch free throws by 6-foot-9 Stevenson center Glenn Szeman with only 12 seconds remaining. He helped erase a four-point deficit with less than a minute to go.

In the first overtime, Stevenson appeared to have host Churchill staggered, taking a 60-57 advantage on a pair of free throws with 35 seconds left by guard Ron Baran, who led all scorers with 20 points.

But Churchill reserve Russ McQuaid pumped in a three-pointer 19 seconds later to force another extra session.

Stevenson then delivered the final blow, getting a key three-point play from Steve Leonard, followed by six consecutive free throws, all in the final 39 seconds.

THE SPARTANS outscored Churchill 9-2 during the final threeminute period. They also took advantage of two Churchill turnovers.

"Our kids believe they are in excellent condition and psychologically they're able suck it up and play better when they go into overtime," said Stevenson coach Jim McIntyre. "We also got good help from three or four kids off the bench who helped fill in some of the gaps. Right now we're not just depending on five play, trailing by four points, 55-51. But Rick Laven (19 points) hit a clutch three-pointer with 41 seconds left to cut the lead to one.

Churchill's Kevin Hannigan made one of two free throws with 24 seconds remaining to make it a twopoint bulge, but Szeman (12 points) answered with two free throws of his own with 12 seconds to go to send it into overtime.

Szeman converted two more free throws in the first OT before fouling

"He's been good at the line for us this season and he has a fairly good touch," McIntyre said. "He's done that before. He did it for us in the North Farmington game."

CHURCHILL'S 6-6 junior Randy Calcaterra nearly carried the Chargers to the upset win.

He finished with 17 points and 13 rebounds, to go along with three blocked shots, giving both the 6-9 Szeman and 6-5 Leonard (11 points) fits inside.

"He's gaining confidence, that's one difference this year," said Churchill coach Fred Price. "Larry Jackson (Churchill's assistant coach) gave him plenty of playing time last year. Right now he's just stronger and doing more of the right things. He puts it on the glass. He's not real strong yet, but he goes so hard. Right now he's not real heavy in there."

But Calcaterra proved to be a heavyweight on this night along with Mike Thomas, a 6-2 junior forward who led the Chargers with 19 points.

"We were one free throw away, one strong rebound off a missed free throw in the second overtime from winning it," Price said. "I thought the kids played really well. Sure, they made mistakes, but they rose to the occasion.

"We got down four or five, but we were patient. The effort was outstanding. We played together and we played unselfish. They played to the best of their ability."

McINTYRE also had praise for

"Physically they matched up as well as anybody we've faced," said the Stevenson coach. "Not only did they have the big kid (Calcaterra) at 6-6, but another kid we were worried about was (Steve) Juodawlkis (6-3, 220-pound senior). That made it tough on Szeman because he had to contend with them down on each Stevenson, which abandoned its 2-1-2 zone defense in the second half, put relentless pressure on the Chargers. They forced 22 turnovers.

"We do come out and play hard and it's tough to play against constant pressure for five quarters," McIntyre said.

And a big statistic in the Spartans' favor was the way the took care of the basketball, committing only six turnovers in the final 22 minutes.

"We're getting more knowledgeable about doing the right things," McIntyre said. "We're getting smarter in certain areas and it's helped our game.'

The loss sends Churchill into the consolation round Tuesday at Westland John Glenn.

But on this night the Chargers could take consolation that they played like a top seed.

"This is one of my toughest losses in coaching," Price said. "I thought we executed and played well enough

"But Stevenson is a good club. I respect them a lot."

Sparkplug

Sophomore ignites Harrison past Glenn

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Paul Gilvydis was the biggest man on the basketball court Friday night but for reasons other than just his height.

The 6-foot-6 sophomore dominated the game during a crucial stretch in the fourth quarter to lift host Farmington Hills Harrison past Westland John Glenn in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs, 49-

Gilvydis wasn't the leading scorer with 10 points but, with 10 rebounds and six blocks to complement that figure, he turned in a well-rounded performance. "Yesterday, I played at U-M with a lot of guys who are really good," Gilvydis sald. "They encouraged me and that gave me confidence. I came out here feeling like

I could dominate the game." Junior forward Andy Smith led the Hawks, who are 14-4 and will play at Livonia Stevenson in the semifinals Tuesday, with 15 points.

GAMAL AHMED paced the Rockets, who play host to Livonia Churchill, with 13 points, but Bobby Lawrence went scoreless in the second half and finished with 10. Glenn is 9.9.

"Hardly anybody scored; that was the problem," said Glenn coach Bob Killingbeck, who saw his team shoot 21-of-60. "We've had trouble with zones all year. Looking at my players, it seems we have pretty good shooters, but it doesn't seem to happen."

With the score tied 43-43 and less two minutes remaining, Gilvydis took over, making big plays at both chds of the floor.

The first one was a classic. Facing the basket with a defender closing on him, Gilvydis made a between-the-legs pass to Smith, the trailer who scored the go-ahead

"I didn't have the shot, and I felt Andy behind me." Gilvydis said. "I said 'I'll go for it' and hit him with the pass.

On Harrison's next possession, Gilvydis went after his own miss and scored on the rebound for a 47-43 lead. He missed the free throw that would have given him a threepoint play, but Gilvydis got to the other end of the floor in time to block Eric Spencer's shot.

"WE KNOW he's going to be an outstanding player," Harrison coach Mike Teachman said of Gilvydis, "I already told him that. I said 'You're not going to be an outstanding player; you are.' He really dominated in there."

 Glenn was content to take the perimeter shots most of the night and, anticipating that, the Harrison plan was to control the inside. Gilvydis had a very timely performance in that regard.

"The word of the day was we wanted to dominate the inside," Teachman said. "When you're guarding their perimeter shooters, you don't want others putting up points, and (Gilvydis) was erasing

Glenn's outside-dominated shot selection meant the Rockets didn't get bumped around inside very much and, consequently, did get to the free throw line very often. In fact, the Rockets were 0-of-1 shooting free throws, Harrison 10-of-17.

"They only shot a lot of free throws in one game," Teachman said. "That tells me they're an outside shooting team. So we wanted to play the outside shot. You don't get many free throws when you're shooting out there."

Teachman added the Hawks were a little lax guarding Ahmed. who had nine second-half points, and thought the Rockets dld a nice

Thurston title hopes dashed

Taylor Kennedy had lost just one Tri-River League basketball game this season before Thursday .- at Redford-Thurston-Which is whatmade Thursday's game, Thurston at Kennedy, so interesting. The Eagles, after all, had just two losses in league play going into the Kennedy

But while this matchup may have had championship implications, Thurston didn't play like it down the stretch. The Eagles missed all five of their free throws in the fourth quarter, including two one-and-ones in the final 24 seconds, and wasted a late lead in bowing 48-45.

The result left Kennedy at 15-2 overall and 11-1 in the Tri-River. Thurston is 12-5 overall, 9-3 in the Tri-River.

Kennedy opened up a 27-21 lead at the half with a 19-9 second-quarter surge, but Thurston battled back to tie it by the end of the third quarter, outscoring the Eagles 15-9 to knot it at 36.

The Eagles led by a point with :24 remaining, but did not score again, missing both free throw chances and an open three-pointer. Kennedy's Brian White knocked in the go-ahead basket and scored the last four points of the game to insure the win. He finished with 17.

For Thurston, Danny Perttula netted 16 and Colin Shanahan got nine. D.J. Kellogg grabbed 14

Free-throw shooting was the difference: Kennedy made seven-of-11, Thurston was six-of-15.

job of slowing the game down and reducing Smith's effectiveness even though he was the game's top scorer.

GLENN, NOT a big team to begin with, hasn't shown an inclination to get tough under the boards, and that was an obvious factor Friday, according to Killingbeck.

Patriots take Salem to limit before falling, 44-37

By Mike Stewart staff writer

Based on his stats, one wouldn't think Plymouth Salem junior for-at Livonia Franklin. To be sure, Baker's nine-point, nine-rebound effort in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs wouldn't earn him player of the week honors — even if his point total, along with Bryan Shultz's nine, was a team high.

Nonetheless, anybody who attended the game knows just how important Baker's contribution was.

Silent for most of the game, Baker suddenly took over with just two minutes remaining. With the Rocks clinging to a 37-35 lead, Baker hit a critical three-point basket, made a key steal on the Pats next trip up the floor, and then converted an offensive rebound into a basket to help Salem finish off an upset-minded Franklin crew.

"When the going gets tough, the tough get going," said a relieved Rocks' coach Bob Brodie. "And that's the case with Jake."

UNTIL BAKER settled things, the Rocks found things very unsettling.

The Plymouth offense couldn't play at the speedy pace it prefers, and the patient Franklin offense, ward Jake Baker had much of a though just 13-of-47 from the field night Friday in the Rocks' 44-37 win and 11-of-20 from the line, matched the Rocks hoop for hoop for the first three-and-a-half quarters.

Salem held a slim 12-11 lead after one quarter, but the score was deadlocked 21-21 at the intermission. Patriot guard Craig Overaitis, who had a game-high 19 points, paced the Franklin attack with 17 first-half tallies - most of his field goals coming from the low post.

The game's slow pace continued into the second half, Salem, 16-of-46 from the field overall, canned just six field goals in the second half. To the Rocks' credit, that was good for 50 percent of their 12 attempts.

THE PATRIOTS, too, managed just six second-half field goals. But they weren't concerned with setting. any scoring records as long as Salem remained in sight.

Salem (17-1 and 10-0), clinging to a 32-31 advantage after three quarters, upped its lead to five points, 37-

32, with 3:40 remaining on a pair of Tom Noonan free throws. Noonan was sent to the line on a Steve McCool blocking foul — his fifth and final. Although McCool was just oneof-eight from the field, it remained a key loss for the Patriots. Patriot guard Dave Barina took p the slack with three straight points, pulling Franklin to within two, 37-35.

On the Rocks next trip up the floor the Patriots' man defense, tough all night long, lost sight of Baker. Baker took a pass, set up outside of the three-point line, and calmly canned Still, the Pats refused to fold. Barina, who finished with nine points, hit a baseline shot. With 1:16 remaining, following a Baker charge, Franklin had the ball and a chance to close Salem's lead to one.

BUT BAKER came up with a big steal, and then, with :19 on the clock, he grabbed an offensive rebound and sunk the hoop . . . along with Franklin's hopes.

"I saw their offense was getting kind of desperate, so I was just waiting on the steal," Baker said. "On the three (pointer) they got kind of messed up a bit and I got open. But they played me well all night. It was close. I think this game opened our eyes a little bit. We need to come ready to play every night now."

Brodie agreed, but dismissed the line of thought that said the Rocks should have had an easier time with the Patriots.

"In the post season there are no powerful teams. Everybody has new life. Tonight Franklin took us to the wire. They made us look bad and forced uso to take some shots we shouldn't have. But we did what we had to do to win. That's what we've been doing all year long."

Franklin coach Rod Hanna, meanwhile, lamented his squad's fourth straight loss. "If we'd made our free throws we could have won," he said, "Good teams find ways to win, and when it came time, Salem won it. We were able to stop their fast break, that didn't hurt us. What hurt us was Jake's three pointer.

"Doggone it!" Hanna concluded, looking at the stat sheet. One wouldn't think nine points from a guy averaging better than 18 could hurt so much.

The Spartans finished 10-0 in the Lakes Division of the WLAA and 12-1 in the conference.

"I'm very proud we won our division," said Stevenson coach Lee 'Cagle. "It's a very good achievement. considering where we came from last year.

"People like Renea Bonser (senior) and Sue Bell (Junior) had been on losing teams, and it was nice to see 'them be a part of this."

The Spartans, 19-6-9 overall, had to rally from deficits in both the third and fourth games.

Jenny Melia, who finished the night with eight kills in 21 attacks with only one error, was instrumental in rallying the Spartans in the third game.

Freshman Patty Diamond, also keyed the comeback. She finished with 17 assists in 63 sets with only one error. She also contributed four

Lady Ocelots open state tourney play

By C.J. Risak staff writer

The second season, for Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team, means a second - or is it third? — chance.

But it is also a last chance. Because a loss now means the season is over.

That's why tonight's Eastern Conference playoff game is pivotal. As SC coach Jack Grenan described it, "Every game is a championship game from now on."

The Lady Ocelots open their run for the state title against St. Clair County CC at 7:30 p.m. tonight at SC. The winner advances to meet Delta CC at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Delta is the team the Lady Ocelots would love to play. "We are hungry," said Grenan, whose team finished the regular season at 17-6 overall, 10-4 and in third place in the conference. "St. Clair is in our way to get to Delta.

"You never like to face a team three times. But we thought we got stiffed at Delta. If we take care of business (against St. Clair), we'll get another shot at (Delta)."

THE REVENGE motive that's keeping SC focused dates back to the SC-at-Delta game Feb. 3. The Pioneers prevailed 78-73 after shooting 36 free throws, making 30. SC was 10-of-14 from the line.

It was Delta's second win this season over SC. On Dec. 20, the Pioneers jolted SC on its homecourt 91-86.

But wait. Before sighting Delta, the Lady Ocelots must first take aim at St. Clair. SC beat the Skippers twice this season, 84-69 Dec. 13 at St. Clair and 78-72 Jan. 27 at SC.

"They're a good team," Grenan said of St. Clair, which finished 6-8 in the conference. "They beat Oakland (which shared the regular-season title with Delta) early in the college sports

"They're pesky, Basically they're, quick, they play hard and they get up and down the court. If they're on with their shooting, they will make your life miserable, Marie 1997

"And if you think you've got them covered (outside), they can take it inside. They're an awful lot like us. They like to attack the bas-

THERE IS one "big" difference between the two teams: While both have sizable centers, St. Clair has no one else of size to got to. And the Skippers have no one as capable as SC's Barb Krug.

The 6-foot-1 Plymouth Salem grad is leading the Lady Ocelots in scoring and rebounding, averaging 17.8 points and 12.6 boards. If opponents try to double up on Krug, 5-10 forward Lisa DePlanche can get open inside. DePlanche is averaging 17.3 points and 9.5 rebounds a game.

Tracy Osborne's three-point shot also must be dealt with, along with Ann Hardy's quickness. In other words, the Lady Ocelots have a lot of weapons — more than St. Clair.

"Both teams are quick," said Grenan: "But you have to be able to convert your chances.

"Again, you have to play a complete game. If you have an opening to run, you have to run. But you have to be smart enough to recognize when to push it and when to back off."

And you have to be smart enough to focus on the game at hand. Which is what SC must do tonight - concentrate on St. Clair before planning for Delta.

Check rulebook to avoid disputes

ARDLY-A-LEAGUE season goes by without some big argument, but most issues can be easily settled by looking in the rule book.

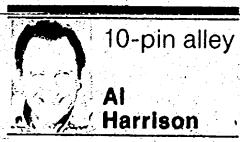

League officers are provided with the ABC rule book, which is about the size of a Reader's Digest. Team captains also are given the issue of Bowling Magazine that contains a Greater Detroit Bowling Association complete section on league rules, general playing rules, resolutions and suggested league rules.

A solution to the arguments and hassles can usually be found within the contents of these materials. Each sanctioned league can enact its own set of rules within the format and guidelines of the ABC.

Quite often disputes will be in regards to the eligibility of a particular bowler coming in as a sub to make a legal lineup or the correct average of a new participant in the league. These issues are all covered thoroughly in the rule books, and it's up to the league officers and captains to determine how the issues should be settled.

The league must establish its own rules to decide how many games must be registered to establish the average for league play and which average is to be used if the bowler in question has a yearbook listing in the yearbook.

The Wayne-Westland Bowling Association also has a listing of the members' averages. Disputes often ·arise when a sub comes in and the team could forfeit because somebody didn't show up.

The situation should be resolved quickly so the bowling can take place without delay. The issue can be further discussed by calling for a captains' meeting and putting it up to a vote.

There are occasions when a dispute over pinfall count, an inadvertent resetting of the pins or a claim that a foul occurred becomes the issue. In a case of this nature, it is best to continue with the game and discuss the problem afterward.

There could be a "provisional ball" delivered which would count in the game, allowing the game to continue without delay. The officers and captains involved in the dispute would then determine the outcome based on the opinions of those participants who saw what happened. They can determine if the provisional ball or original shot should count.

Some common arguments are 'Did the ball hit the pin before it fell into the channel?' 'Did the rack touch the pin before it went down?' These are just a few of the common happenings which can cause a dispute and are easily resolved by referring to the rule book.

If your league has a dispute that is not covered, this should be brought up at the next league meeting and a resolution could then be enacted into the league rules or denied by way of

Each league should have a rule book handy. If you are in a sanctioned league, contact the local association to obtain a copy of the rules if you do not have one at hand. Every. team captain should read the rule book and familiarize himself with the contents.

• On another note, my son, Donnie Harrison, is doing great with the new ball. The Cobra worked well again last Sunday with a 279 game in the Wards Burger King Youth Traveling League at Bowl One Lanes in Troy. This followed a 267 the week

Ian Sklar of West Bloomfield wasn't shy about belting out his version of the Cascades' "Rhythm of the Rain" to the crowd at the Sushi Iwa in Woodhaven.

East meets West — with saki and song

Japanese clubs cater to karaoke crooning

By Tim Smith staff writer

Who needs Tokyo when you can have downriver's Sushi Iwa? Or Livonia's Akasaka? That's where you can step right up to the karaoke machine and become a singing star. Well, it's not that easy.

First of all, one has to muster enough nerve to put the saki down and shuffle over to the karaoke — which, thanks to the wonders of the laser disc, flashes Japanese and English song lyrics across a video screen in time to accompanying music.

The saki-enduced bravado lasts long enough for karaoke participants, such as West Bloomfield's Ian Sklar, to pick up the microphone and belt out their own renditions of "Hey Jude," "Begin the Beguine" or "Tea for Two."

"Listen to the rhythm of the falling rain," cooed Sklar confidently, but slightly off-key, from the onestep Sushi Iwa stage, amid much hooting and hollering.

~~*

EARLIER IN the evening there, Sterling Heights' Tatsuhiro Komori leaned forward, squinted at the lyrics on the computerized screen and attempted to belt out the Beatles "Yesterday." He struggled just a bit.

"American songs (and artists) are popular in Japan," Komori sald, moments after finishing the tune. "Michael Jackson, Bon Jovi, . . . the same ones as here."

Komori, a 22-year-old Wayne State University student, was more comfortable with the new-waye Japanese rocker "Ban Ban Ban," which he sung with friend Cikuo Hashimot of Southgate.

Now, it should be said that talent scouts didn't fumble their golden opportunity, if they missed the Komori-Hashimot duet or other renditions at Sushi Iwa or Akasaka.

What they did miss, however, was a chance to witness folks breaking free from their inhibitions and letting loose, both Americans like Sklar or transplanted Japanese.

Mie Fujiwara spent her 25th birthday anging on the karaoke at Akasaka near Six Mile and Newburgh in "EVERY JAPANESE likes it ... eat, drink and sing," Fujiwara said. "It's to relax. It kind of helps you get rid of your frustrations."

Akasaka manager Shigeru Yamada said the crooning of numbers in front of strangers — odd as that may seem to those who don't know their sushi from a hole in the ground — is a popular way for the Japanese to unwind after a long, hard day at

"If you sing, you enjoy yourself. You forget about what happened that day at work. Then you can refresh yourself and get ready for the next day," said Yamada, whose bar has 15,000 songs available for the karaoke.

Of course, the saki helps, said Sushi Iwa patron Kenji Watanabe of Trenton.

"Japanese people usually are very reserved. But after drinking saki, that changes them," he said.

Agreeing that saki, or something, loosens up people enough to approach the karaoke was Bill Amsden, who returned to the U.S. after living in Japan for 15 years.

Amsden regularly goes to Sushi Iwa to stay sharp on the Japanese language, one which took him seven years to learn fluently.

"IT GIVES YOU a chance to strut your stuff," Amsden said. "The first time I did it (sing on the ka.aoke) they applauded, but I thought they were doing that because they felt sorry for me. I was the only American."

Maybe the hot rice wine momentarily transforms saki sippers into MTV material. But there are other reasons why the karaoke heats up.

"It's not really to pretend that I'm a rock star," explained the 22-yearold Sklar. "I just enjoy singing. This

CDs: The choice for 'real' sound

By Keith Postler staff writer

Stail Writer

We're here today to have a little discussion, Bill Casper and myself.

We're going to discuss the pros and cons of albums and compact discs, and when all is said and done, it is hoped our loyal readers will be able to determine which format they prefer.

I haven't spoken with Bill about his pro-album argument, but as a loyal compact disc enthusiast who once bought those annoying circular vinyl placemats, I have a good idea of what he might say.

I won't get into any scientific explanation of how either a compact disc or album works, only to say they both play words and music pretty well.

Now, onto the subject of this es-

Let's say, for instance, that I'm still a loyal (gasp!) album enthusiast disgusted by the infusion of those silver and gold compact disc things onto the music scene. Let's go a little further and say I have several reasons why albums are so terrific.

My (hypothetical) reasons are, in no specific order:

The cover art and lyrics that accompany albums evoke fond memories. That's right, really fond memories. For those of you in the audience older than 30 (sorry, Bill), you know the sort of memories I'm referring to. Like the Cuban Missile Crisis, the Kennedy and King assassinations.

race riots and let's not forget that little domestic problem in southeast Asia.

• The album format is more personal.

Personal.Albums aren't perfect, much

Itike the performers themselves.

◆ They're symbols of simpler times. Yeah, simpler times. We won't waste valuable space though. Just look up "fond memories."

• Most of the truly great performers released their best work during the album era. And many are still releasing great work on compact discs, like Bob Dylan, Paul McCartney, Paul Simon, George Harrison, Roy Orbison (rest his soul) and others.

• Elvis Presley would never dream of releasing original material on compact disc format. The King can't release original material on compact discs anymore. I know this will come as a shock to many of you, but he is either (A) dead or (B) flipping beef at a Burger King in Kalamazoo and doesn't have the time.

• They make great Frisbees and placemats.

• Your parents or older brothers and sisters bought them.

Bigger is better. It has to be.
This is America, remember?
You can get some really great sale prices on albums at local Target stores.

And now, as Nancy Reagan

said, "It's my turn." I have sever-

Keith Postler (right) thinks CDs are where it's at when it comes to quality sound reproduction. Bill Casper (left), on the other hand, prefers his turntable and albums for good sound at an affordable price.

Albums: A good sound and price

By Bill Casper staff writer

They say the reproduction from compact discs (CDs) is so true you'd swear the band is playing in your living room. But at what price?

The extinction of a friendly dinosaur — in this case the endangered species being my record albums or plastic discs (PDs) — I hear will eventually go out of production.

Sure, I'll still be able to play them on my turntable (TT) until it dies after replacement parts vanish because sharp entrepreneurs aren't going to manufacture TTs in the absence of PDs.

Next to perish will be my prized, once formidable reel-to-reel (RR) tape recorder. I paid a fortune for it after being told of reproduction so true I'd swear the band was in my living room.

Think of the lost manufacturing jobs. How will the unemployed be able to afford CDs, not to mention CD players? Can't do.
Personal home music libraries will become a luxury enjoyed only by the affluent. The rest of us will be left with radio.

OK, maybe that economic forecast is a bit gloomy and doomy. People won't starve. They will survive by making CDs. But will the cost of CDs justify a better sound (BS)?

ey, and I wanted that excellence of sound, I could hire a band to play in my living room.

But I don't want bands playing in my living room. They're too loud and messy. I just want it to sound like there's a band playing there — at a reasonable price.

I think I'm tone deaf, so why should I care about the quality of reproduction? I can't distinguish good vocals from bad — or the ugly. But that's my problem.

For those music lovers, who

'Men Don't Leave:' Just a Hollywood soap opera

Soap opera on film may be the new wave of the '90s. First "Stella" gives up everything for her daughter's happiness, then the Widow Irls teaches Stanley to read. Now, in "Men Don't Leave" (B, PG-13, 100 minutes), another widow, Beth Macauley (Jessica Lange), copes with economic woe and raises two sons, Chris (Chris O'Donnell) and Matt (Charlie Korsmo), after her husband, John (Tom Mason), is killed an a construction accident.

In several carefully structured sequences as the film opens. Beth is portrayed as the stereotypical, helpless mother while loving but macho hubby-father, John, wrestles with the younger son, Matt, and is buddybuddy/one-of-the-boys with teenage Chris. If soap operas are characterized by simple, emotional melodrama, "Men Don't Leave" is off to a good start.

Having been set-up thusly, Beth has a much tougher struggle and the room for growth of character is greater. That seems to be the pattern for Lange's roles of late. In "The Music Box," for which she received a best actress nomination, she is a divorced attorney with a young son, forced to defend her father on war crime charges.

As well, in "Everybody's All-American," "Country" and "Sweet Dreams" Lange explores one facet or another of the female forced to mature and accept responsibility as her man fails her in one sense or another. After a while, this pattern of cry. dramatic roles tends to appear as a feminist political position.

That is not to say they weren't fine performances by Lange; they were, but they are repetitive unlike the strength and diversity of her roles in "The Postman Always Rings Twice," "Frances" and "Tootsle."

IN ANY EVENT, after John Macauley's death, the family begins to disintegrate. Beth and the boys sell. the house and move to Baltimore where their problems mount. Chris meets a X-ray technician, Judy, (Joan Cusack) in the elevator and that chance encounter evolves so that Chris leaves "home" and moves into Jody's apartment. Matt hangs out with Winston Buckley (Corey Carrier) whose family gradually is substituted in Matt's life for his own. Meanwhile, Beth has gotten a job in an upscale food store and is getting a relationship going with an unusual musician, Charles Simon (Arliss Howard).

So there you have enough plot material for at least 13 maudlin episodes. The Baltimore apartment settings are pretty sterile, certainly not grungy enough for the Macauley's down-side status. The film mostly is slow-paced although there are a couple of energetic moments that bring things together, particularly the polka party and whenever Jody takes charge.

Fortunately, the occasional moments of energy and strong supporting performances, particularly Chris O'Donnell, Charlie Korsmo and Joan Cusack, pull the whole thing together. After a while, "Men Don't Leave" grows on you. Have a good Hardly worth mentioning is "Basket Case 2" (), a film about a disturbing descent into madness. No doubt, "abnormal" describes the film as well as the characters. For the blood and guls fans, Rutger Hauer and Joan Chen are opening this week in "The Blood of Heroes" () (R).

Allison's Ghost includes Stephen Kernohan, John Rivard, Priscilla Ederle, Bob Brunsden and brother Tim.

A 'Ghost-ly' new kind of sound

By Larry O'Connor staff writer.

Just a notion, perhaps. A theory, maybe. .

"But watching the group Allison's Ghost perform recently at the Hamtramck Pub, something tells us that: (A) Allison's Ghost is a new music band; (B) guitarist John Rivard has listened to a few Cure records; and (C) lead vocalist Priscilla Ederle's mind is more in a Paris cafe than Hamtramck.

On all three counts, we find later that we're correct.

Allison's Ghost was formed out of The fallout from Before or After. Bob Brunsden and brother Tim along yith Rivard performed in the new music band for two years. They left for creative reasons, according to Rivard.

ONWARD, THE group auditioned a singer named Ederle. She didn't make the cut. Instead, the band members opted for a guy named John from Canada who had a demo tape and who had toured with another group.

Nearly a year later, Allison's Ghost was in search of a new lead singer. Ederle auditioned again.

She was a good choice, as it turns out. Her breathless vocals and whispery stage presence is the perfect foil for Allison's Ghost's incandescent brand of pop music.

Any hard feelings about the first

"Not really," said Ederle, 20, who is a 1987 graduate of West Bloomfield Hill High School. "I ran into them at a party in Troy. I jokingly got on Bob's back. I said, 'You're the band I tried out for and you rejected were probably afraid to call me the project. back after the first time."

DRESSED IN black, including a black turtleneck and wide-brimmed black hat, Ederle further enhances the moody, surreal image of the band. The keyboard-guitar combination of Tim Brunsden and Rivard keep the group grounded in reality.

Rivard's echoing guitar work sets the pace while Tim Brunsden's keyboards set the sound in layers. Surprisingly, the guitarist would like that to change.

"In fact, I'd like to see the songwriting go more in that direction," said Rivard, who wrote many of the band's earlier numbers. "Not so much in the techno-beat area, but more keyboard-based instead of guitar-based.

"I'm afraid of getting into one sound. We were just talking about that last week."

Allison's Ghost has been talking about a lot of things lately. The band has an EP in the works, due out later this year. The band plans to tour the "I wasn't bothered by it. They Midwest and Canada in support of Allison's Ghost prides itself in live performance. Before a decent crowd at Hamtramck Pub, the band drew a fair amount of applause.

MORE THAN a few eyes are glued to Ederle, who moves about the stage in wayward, if not awkward, fashion. Her face is difficult to see under the massive chapeau on her head.

Occasionally, she looks up and appears to be hypnotized by the ornate ceiling at the Pub. Her mind wanders, she admits.

"Sometimes, I'll have to drink four or five cups of coffee," Ederle said. "After working eight hours you have to go to a show. Sometimes you don't go on until 12 o'clock. It's long wait. You have to worry about falling Ederle does her share of songwriting along with the rest of the band. Her job, until recently, was in women's apparel at K mart. Between blue light specials, she used to come up with song ideas.

She's also taking vocal lessons to work on breathing exercises and

"There's a lot of different tastes in the band," she said. "We're all into new music."

Music Biz 101: How to get gig

By Jill Hamilton special writer

Fantasies about managing a local band usually involve visions of glamour, fame and fortune.

These fantasies, however, quickly fade when an aspiring manager discovers the other perks of band management grouchy club owners, temperamental musicians and a non-existent paycheck.

Local band managers can be responsible for handling the band's finances, including raising money, if necessary, developing fliers, placing ads and announcements for upcoming performances, deciding when, where, and if an album will be produced and how it will be distributed, and most important of all, getting the band booked in the first place,

THE LAST item turns out to be the most difficult of all. Most people who manage a local band are either one of the members of the band or a friend of the band who thinks that the job will be easy and fun. Would-be managers soon find that the job is fun, yes, easy,

There is no tried-and-true formula for getting a band gigs, so most beginning managers find themselves learning while on the job. Club owners often seem gruff and uninterested and it's hard to figure out exactly what they want.

Roland Perez, who manages the Club Heidelberg in Ann Arbor, has a few tips on what upand-coming bands can do to increase their chances of getting booked.

In addition to handling all of the booking for the Club Heidelberg, Perez is especially qualified to give advice because he once managed a band himself - The Oposums. This has made him, perhaps, more sympathetic to the plight of beginning managers.

Perez truly wants to support local musicians and it shows. His club now has a reputation for being on the cutting edge of local, alternative music and for giving new local bands their all-important first gig.

PEREZ HELPED compile the club owners:

• Pretend like you know what you're doing.

When calling a club owner don't say, "Uh, how do you handle' bookings?" and then hang up. Instead, explain who you are and where the band has played, then ask when the club's next open night is. If the club owner hasn't heard of the band, he or she will probably ask for a demo tape.

 Develop a good promotional package.

Write a cover letter reiterating what you said on the phone and promise to call the club owner in a specific time period. That puts more pressure on the club owner to listen to the tape, Perez said. Sending photos is also helpful.

• If possible, record an album. Because bands with albums out are commonplace around Detroit, recording an album is becoming almost a necessity.

• IF THE BAND has an album out, send the album, instead of a homemade tape of it. Unprofessional looking tapes are taken less seriously, Perez said.

• If sending a tape, try to make it as professional looking as

Even something as little as messy handwriting can cause a tape to be overlooked. Enlist an artist friend to do the art work. • If the band has done some recording but doesn't have an album out, send a short demo tape of three or four songs. Bands can save money by buying cheaper 30-minute tapes, Perez said.

• Don't forget to label the demo tape. Perez commonly receives tapes without the band's name or a phone number of a contact person, he said.

• BE POLITELY persistent. Club owners will often give a band a gig just to get the manager off their backs, Perez said.

 When you get the gig, invite everyone you know to come. Club owners need to make money, so they're more apt to invite back bands who draw big crowds. For first-time gigs, the appearance of having fans serves just as well as actually having fans.

On the last album, the group was called King Blank, but on their latest effort, the band is called The Ian Lowery Group. To make this all the more more confusing, Mr. Lowery chose to call this album King Blank

After deciphering the problem of what, exactly, the band is named, the next question is, "Who are these guy trying to sound like?" This is a puzzle that even the band itself doesn't seem to know the answer to. Herein lies the fatal flaw for The Ian Lowery Group.

King Blank To kicks off with "Need." This song was evidently selected as having the most "hit" potential since it is the only song off the album to receive airplay on MTV's alternative music show "120 Minutes." Who knows, maybe it will be a hit, since it is a direct rip-off of a Smithercens tune and the Smithereens have certainly been success-

The Ian Lowery Group then does their imitation of the Violent Femmes with the psychotle, little country ditty, "Sick Little Minds."

The saving grace of this tune is the amusingly disturbed lyrics about a girl contemplating whether or not she should knock off her parents.

With "Beach Fire," the group tries their hand at acoustic, meaningful folk rock. The only problem is, all of the good subjects like ozone destruction, homelessness and apartheid had already been taken, so The Ian Lowery Group chose to sing about "all the girls and the beer, the hot sand and the cool surf." Gee, a song about guys and gals at the beach drinkin' beer-what a great idea. Can't something nice be said about this album? Well, sure, it has a lot of, uh, variety. While looking for a sound of their own, the group attempts everything from blues to rock to country. Keep away from this one, gentle readers.

WHACK! DING! - See Dick Run

If any example was needed as to the excellent quality of the new wave of Detroit bands. "Whack! Ding!" by See Dick Run can be held high.

Pay less, get more

What could you do with 28 percent more disposable income? Buy a luxury car? Move to a bigger home? Fly to Florida?

If you're already suffering from overwork, the key to improving your lifestyle isn't earning more money, but paying less taxes. If you live in suburbia, chances are you fall into the dreaded 28 percent bracket (in- hunt for prospects in Jamaica. come over. $30,950 for marrieds, $18,500 for singles).

What does this percentage mean in terms of personal luxury? For every 100 bucks you earn, you give back the price of a lunch at Carl's Chop House. For every $1,000 you make, you give up two night's at the Ritz Carlton Hotel. And for every $100,000 you accumulate, you donate the price of a new BMW 3251 to Un- buy them back later for pennies on cle Sam.

Meanwhile, you eat at Wendy's. sleep at Motel 6 and drive a Tempo.

Fortunately, despite the sweeping tax reforms of the 1986 Congress, there are still a few loopholes. Loopholes big enough to drive a truck through. Or in the case of our next example, a motor home.

Today, you can still deduct the in-:- terest on your mortgage for a second time. Creative folks stretch the defi-'nition of "second home" to include weverything from an RV to a house-

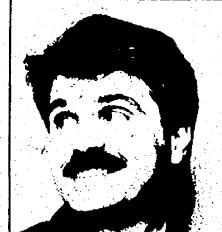

BUT JUST because you can't afford a full-sized Winnebago doesn't mean you can't join in. As I see it, even your Ford Pinto can qualify as a vacation home, if you make a few adjustments. To be prepared for an unannounced inspection by the IRS, keep a toaster/oven plugged into the cigarette lighter, rig up a chemical toilet in the backseat and hang some laundry from the sun visor. For the mountain bike, electric toothpick lived-in look, toss in a month's supply of chicken bones and junk mail.

Here's some more sure-fire deduc-(1) Become a fashion model. Even if you're ugly enough to break mirrors, there's plenty of tax incentive to register with an agency — you can deduct your wardrobe, dry cleaning and cosmetic surgery.

(2) Deduct for child care. Instead of hiring a babysitter, start paying yourself a modest $5 an hour and multiply it times 24 hours a day. Each week, you'll be able to deduct $840 from your gross.

(3) Deduct your vacations. By attending a pool-side lecture on kidney stones, a doctor can write off two time you're at Sea World, hand out a

(4) MAKE NON-CASH contributions. Most charitable groups give you a blank receipt to fill in your own estimate of an item's value. They figure if you think a pair of bell bottoms is worth $200, that's your business. With my "sell high, buy low" plan, you donate your old clothes, take the big deduction, then the dollar.

So far so good, but to receive the really juicy tax breaks, you've got to start your own business and operate it out of your home.

To qualify for the coveted home/ office deduction, your workplace and equipment must be "used exclusively and on a regular basis." That means a typewriter on a snack tray doesn't transform your rec room into an acceptable office.

Likewise, your personal computer must be used strictly for business software — not Bimbos from Space. And unless you're Rob Lowe, your video camera is limited to fully dressed sales presentations.

However, there is a way to write off everything from a big screen TV to a tanning booth by going into business for yourself as a consumers affairs advocate!

As a self-employed Ralph Nadar, you can pick out every high-ticket toy you've ever wanted — treadmill, and buy them all for "long-term testing" and "in-home evaluation." Take a few notes as you "investigate" your new hot tube, send out a consumer newsletter to your friends and you're in business.

To keep even more money "all in the family," hire your own children. Give them meaningless jobs with important sounding titles like "field test engineer" and "product safety analyst." This obfuscation allows you to write off their salaries and pepares them for a career as a civil servant.

If you follow these suggestions, I guarantee you won't pay one penny in taxes! Why? Because the salary in the federal prison laundry departweeks in Maui. So can you. Next ment is about $2,700 per year - tax

Help kids understand each other

Dear Barbara.

My kids argue all the time. Sometimes they even end up hitting one another. My daughter is 12 and my son is 9. There are some times (too few) when they seem to love one another and play well together.

Both children have come to me and told me that they hate one another. This hurts me. I tell them that it is not nice to talk about their brother/sister this way. I have had no luck.

I have two sisters and a brother. We are close. I do not remember battles like these when I was growing up. I have tried to watch what my friends do with these kinds of problems but they also seem to have little luck.

Tired of Keeping the Peace

Dear Tired of Keeping the Peace,

Often the way a person signs his letter is the best tip off as to what his particular problem is. That is true in your case. You need to take the emphasis off "Keeping the Peace" and put it on helping your children understand themselves.

You stand a better chance of creating peace, if they are motivated to be problem solvers than if you are the artificial peace keeper.

"Siblings Without Rivalry" and "Between Brothers and Sisters," by Adele Fauer and Elaine Maylish, are two books which address the subject of sibling relationships. They offer this guidance:

Some bickering between siblings should be allowed. They cite statistics in which the message is siblings who are allowed to bicker are closer to one another in adulthood than those who are not. Those who were not allowed to argue with their brothers and sisters grew up polite but distant from one another.

In other words, there was no intimacy between them. A comparison here can be made to spouses who, on their way to achieving harmony, must expect some conflict. In children, we cannot expect the conflict. to be as civilized as it is supposed to be in adults and so we must be tolerant of wilder behavior.

Telling your daughter what "she really feels" will confuse her and possibly alienate her from you. Affirm her feelings. Ask "Why do you feel that way about your brother?"

With a younger child, you might say "You feel that way because he constantly goes in your room and touches your things." Try to encourage your children to talk about themselves. After they have been allowed that expression, then you can introduce values like tolerance and sharing. They will be more open to learning from you, if they feel accepted. You are setting a good example by being able to share with your own siblings. Is the relationship with your husband a similarly good role model for closeness? All that has been advised holds true as well when your children hit. But when this happens, intervention needs to be more immediate. Again, the principle of the problem solving rather than acting out should be offered. Let your children know that their feelings are valid but that they must find more civilized resolutions to the problems that have caused Compact discs cost more, which means record companies make more money and the artist's percentage of sales is more. Publicity sells, and besides, Americans are fascinated with high technology.

Playing with the Celebrity All-Stars hockey team helps Alan Thicke, known for his role in "the hit TV show "Growing Pains," release his frustrations. It also takes him back to his childhood days in Kirkland Lake, Ont.

He shoots, scores for charities

By Bob Sadler special writer

The center takes the pass and crosses the blue lines into the opposing zone. In a flash of skates, he swoops in on the tense goaltender, who looks to cut his shooting angle - to no avail.

He shoots; he scores. On goes the red light. It's another clutch goal for Canada's own Alan Thicke? The dad from "Growing Pains"?

Well, if Bo doesn't know hockey, Alan does. He's been skating, shooting and scoring since his childhood days in Kirkland Lake, Ontario. Now, hockey is just another part of the multi-faceted life of the actor/ comedy writer/musician/charity spokesman/father.

This weekend, Thicke and a group of Celebrity All-Stars invade Joe Louis Arena to take on a team of Red Wings Legends. Proceeds from the event will go to benefit local charities.

Hockey served as a taste of home when Thicke made the move from Canada, where he had had worked for the Canadian Broadcast Company, to Los Angeles, where he wrote and produced comedy or music for people like Bill Cosby, Richard Pryor, Kenny Rogers, Olivia Newton-John and Anne Murray.

"I was looking for ways to establish my roots and feel comfortable here (in L.A.)," said Thicke, reached during a break on the set of "Growing Pains." "I met some guys who were playing in a local huff and puff league and started playing with

"I ENDED UP with a guy named Jack White (a Windsor native, now an animator and actor in Hollywood). We rented time at a small rink in town and started inviting show business people to play. Not necessarily actors, but people we worked with who were turned on to hockey.'

And so the idea of the Celebrity All-Stars was born. Now, the team plays about five or six benefit games a year across North America, appearing before sell-out crowds in National Hockey League cities like Philadelphia, Boston, Buffalo and Vancouver. Their roster includes popular entertainment figures like "Jeopardy" host Alex Trebek, Detroit's own Dave Coulier (from ABC's "Full House"), John Stamos (also from "Full House"), and Matt

"Doctor, Doctor" Frewer. "We do populate our team with real ringers," Thicke said. "Some guys who can really skate and keep it close," Thicke said.

For the game in Detroit, this list includes former NHL luminaries like former Red Wing and league third all-time scorer Marcel Dionne, former Blackhawks Keith Magnuson and past U.S. Olympic heroes like Jim Criag, Eric Strobel and Bill Christian.

It took more than a decade for the Celebrity All-Star idea to take off, but Thicke thinks it has all been worth it. And now he can concentrate on releasing his frustrations out on the rink.

"I'M AN OFFENSIVE-minded center," Thicke said, describing his position on the team. "I have no interest in my plus/minus rating. I haven't seen our goalle for months. I don't back check; and I'm only in it for the glory."

Thicke predicts a high-scoring game with a few surprises and is looking forward to taking the ice in

"I'm looking so forward to playing in Detroit that I've moved around my entire schedule for March," Thicke said. "My birthday is March 1 (he will be 43), and I've postponed my plans.

'The score is usually in the 10s or 12s, and the fans always get their money's worth."

The Northwest Airlines All-Star Celebrity Hockey Challenge, featuring the Red Wings Legends vs. the Celebrity All-Stars, is 1 p.m. Sunday, March 4, at Joe Louis Arena. Tickets are $25, $20, $16 and $9 and available at the Joe Louis box office and all Ticket Master outlets. That's probably because karaoke isn't yet commonplace in the United States.

"I guess there's a karaoke bar on every corner in Japan, but there aren't too many in America," said Juli Nasiatka, an employee at Sushi Iwa, which is in Woodhaven and is the frequent relaxation spot of Mazda workers.

However, there is such a place in not-too-far-away Livonia, Akasaka is a hot spot most-frequented by Japanese folks who live and work in or around that suburb, Yamada sald.

Some of the "locals" also give their vocal chords a try at Akasaka, Tsushima said. "The funny thing is, I didn't know Americans liked to sing. They come in here a lot."

Sushi Iwa and Akasaka notwithstanding, the scarcity of karaoke bars in the U.S. is unfortunate, according to Sklar, an Oakland University student who relishes the Japanese lifestyle.

"They (the Japanese) study our culture extensively," Sklar said, "It's only fair that Americans learn about Japan's. It's better to have a mutual understanding.'

There is no better place to do that than a karaoke bar, the 37-year-old Watanabe said:

"THIS IS NOT 'America' here." Watanabe said. "This is like a microcosm of Japan. Most of the guests are interested in Japan or in Japanese culture."

Karaoke, by contrast, has been a hit in Japan since humble beginnings In the late 1960s. Yamada said people first sang along to music-only records and tapes, reading the lyrics from a songbook. In recent years, karaoke has made its way onto car dashboards, primarily as an entertainment form to help weary travelers ward off boredom on long trips, he added.

Since fighting off initial fears, Sklar has become a four-month karaoke veteran.

Eight films received four or more that add up to 43 of the 103. Six more had three nominations each so when it comes to the crunch, 14 films got 61 nominations. Most of those were in major categories.

Of course, that's what everyone's interested in, the big money and the important contests like the fourth annual Observer & Eccentric/AMC Academy Award Contest.

To win the O&E/AMC trip to Hollywood, just pick the winners in the top six categories — best actor, best supporting actor, best actress, best supporting actress, best director and best picture. As usual, the management is offering my services to help you pick those six winners. Lots of luck, because my track record doesn't inspire a lot of confidence. Nonetheless, here it goes in this unusual year with unexpected nominations. Most of the major nominations were garnered by unusual films, ones that dealt with uncommon topics or were from unexpected sources for feature films. Kenneth Branagh's English film, Shakespeare's "Henry V," (three nods) fits both categories, as does another film from overseas. "Camille Claudel," whose lead, Isabelle Adjani, was nominated for best actress.

The life story of an Irish writer and artist, Cristy Brown, who has cerebral palsy, also was unexpected in the mainstream with five nomina-

Although not quite as unusual, two Holocaust films, "Music Box" and "Enemies: A Love Story" were well represented, with Jessica Lange nominated as best actress in the former and both Anjelica Huston and Lena Olin as best supporting actress in the latter.

TOPPING THE list with nine nominations is "Driving Miss Daisy," the story of a southern Jewish widow (Jessica Tandy) chauffeured for a quarter century by a black man (Morgan Freeman).

Freeman also has a major role in another big hit with the Academy, "Glory." This is a conventional warfilm about an unconventional regiment, the Massachusetts 54th, the first black fighting unit in the Union Army during the Civil War.

So there you have something very different from the Academy's usual

The same for Robin Williams in "Dead Poets Society." He garnered many rave notices in a film that did unexpectedly well at the box office with Williams in a role unlike his usual manicky persona.

DANIEL DAY-LEWIS' performance in "My Left Foot" is superb and probably as trying on him as it is on audiences. The discomfort of watching an ill person suffer may work to his detriment.

Branagh's Henry V is a fine performance in the best tradition of British Shakespearean acting but, again, too far out of the mainstream for mass media in America.

That leaves Morgan Freeman as Hoke, Miss Daisy's chauffeur. The gentle sensitivity of a black man in a racist Southern milieu is a long-ignored characteristic in our media, which generally deal in convenient stereotypes.

Freeman's ability to convey that sensitivity without loss of personal dignity makes him the obvious choice. Besides, his acting is the very BEST SUPPORTING actor category is no easier. They'll probably pass over Brando because the Academy doesn't want any more speeches from Indian princesses.

Although Denzel Washington does a fine job in "Glory," the criticism that he was too articulate for a runaway slave may work against him, despite the sympathy that character evokes in contemporary audiences.

Danny Aiello's pizza store owner in "Do the Right Thing" is an excellent portrayal, but too much in the pattern he usually plays.

Dan Aykroyd is excellent as Daisy's balding, conventional, paunchy and very middle-aged son, an exceptional departure from Aykroyd's usual roles.

But the nod from this corner goes to Martin Landau in "Crimes and Misdemeanors." As with his four competitors, the characterization is the very finest.

In a politically driven contest, Landau on the comeback trail from years of obscurity should draw the sympathy vote.

"My career goal has been to become a whole artist," said Robert Dempster, collage artist and mural painter.

Renaissance Man

By Jill Hamilton special writer

Robert Dempster is the type of person for whom the term Renaissance Man was invented. His various "occupations" include: author, songwriter, painter, musician, collage maker, new-age philosopher and designer/consultant of the Significant Other Awareness Program for Substance Abuse. Whew!

When Dempster speaks, he simultaneously spouts out ideas for several future and present projects in a rapid fire stream-of-consciousness style. Then, as he casually mentions past accomplishments, it slowly becomes apparent that he actually intends to follow through on all of these ideas. This is the man responsible for the mural on the side of Birmingham's Midtown Cafe. He is also the designer of the now-familiar logos for radio stations WJ2Z and WNIC.

"My career goal has been to become a whole artist," Dempster said over coffee and a large pastry at Mary Ann's Kitchen in Bloomfield Hills. "I consider myself a journalist. I just use different

Among a host of successful tools that Dempster has worked with is his most recent venture, custom collage. He recently started working with a type of collage that he describes as "kind of like what Warhol was doing."

HIS WORK SEEMS animated, looking as through it might leap off the page. A recent work is called "Memoires" and combines old pictures of Paul McCartney and vibrant slashes of yellow, red and black crayon and paint. Dempster is negotiating with the McCartney people to decide whether they will market the col-

Although Dempster hasn't found a studio yet, some of his art is on display (and for sale) at Mallboxes Etc. at the corner of Square Lake and Woodward.

Dempster started out 15 years ago in Birmingham when he created two successful T-shirt businesses "Artwear" and "Speedy Tees." Although he sold $13 million worth of T-shirts, Dempster soon decided to "jump into the vold," giving up financial security and selling the business to pursue his own creativ-

Creativity and povery need not be synonymous, but money somehow doesn't mean much to Dempster anymore. He says he's a lot happier now than in the day when he had "the big cars and the

"I HAD TO GO to the razor's edge," he said. "To know compassion, you must know struggle." He learned his lesson well. Dempster now lists his work with the Significant Other awareness program as among his most important. The program, developed by 48th District Court Judge Avadenka and Nancy Delmore, works with substance abusers and their families.

Dempster said that working with substance abuse is a real battlefield, but he tries to attack the problem with his characteristic humor. When participants walk into the workshop, they are handed a Dempster-designed bar of soap with the words "Clean up your act" written on the face and admonished to "Wash your troubles away."

While working on the Significant Other program, Dempster realized that a lot of problems stem from lack of self-esteem and was inspired to help other people "discover life and re-find childlike hope." He wrote a book called "Not for Everybody but for Everyone" which he describes as "a book of thoughts, love and a little fun."

"It's a friendly book, full of little positive thoughts," Dempster said. "it has no pages, no table of contents." The book is finished and should be published soon.

If the book is successful, Dempster will develop a workshop to expand on the concepts in the book. "The basic message is 'you can do it, you are creative," said Dempster. Participants will work with clay, pencils and paper to re-discover their creativity.

"It's just people helping people," he said. "It's giving each other the courage to create."

But Dempster said his favorite project is his music. His love of music stems from a local band called The Wah? that he played in when he was 16. The band was fairly successful in the early '70s, opening for national acts like the Yardbirds, MC-5 and Bob Seger.

IN 1989, HE realized a lifelong dream when he put out tape, "Sunshine," on his self-created label Dolphin Bay Records. He describes his tape as "nu-view" music. "It doesn't mean new age," he said. "It means having a new view on the whole planet, one emphasizing cooperation instead of competition." A percentage of the proceeds of the tape go to the fight against child abuse.

Dempster said that his commitment to helping victims of child abuse will figure into his next album. The album, tentatively titled "One World, Two Hearts," will feature a song about child abuse called "Nine Little Children." With a new album forthcoming, a book soon to be published and more collages in the works, 1990 promises to be a good year for Robert Dempster.

"The '90s are going to be different for everyone; Detroit has a chance to make blg changes," he said. "And we're going be the solutlon - everyone - men, women, black, white and green."

Builders try to stem community opposition

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Builders - they're uncaring, unbending and unbearable. They don't listen to a community's point of view because all they want to do is build, build, build, and wide open spaces be damned.

Or so goes conventional thinking. But builders are taking the initiative and are attempting to close the gap between builder and community interests - especially in those commuditles in which building activity is heaviest. Irvin Yackness, executive vice president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM), said the group now has 12 builders "task forces."

ness said. The task forces, he said, offer a better forum for discussion than planning commission and city council meetings where final decisions are made.

There are builder task forces in Canton, Orion, Waterford, West Bloomfield, Plymouth and Shelby townships, the cities of Farmington Hills, Novi, Rochester Hills, Sterling Heights and Troy, and St. Clair County.

The task forces, which are made up of developers who are most active in the respective communities, provide a forum where the two sometimes combative sides can work out differences in a relaxed setting, he said.

Utility company, title companies, savings and loans, and other lending

"They meet once a month sometimes more in the busier communitles," he said.

YACKNESS INSISTS the task forces are not a form of "back room politics, or decision making, but are meant only to allow two sides to air views in a low-pressure atmosphere, Yackness said BASM is considering activating another task force in Springfield Township, and perhaps other communities in northern Oakland or western Wayne countles.

Herb Lawson, of Herbert Lawson Inc. in West Bloomfield, chairs the West Bloomfield Task force. "It's an arena for discussions by both sides we don't solve everything, but we do get to discuss things openly."

a dialogue is established, he said. "All of the feedback I've had says it's working. "It seems we both come out of these feeling better about what problems or concerns we had going in," Lawson said. Task force meetings are for administrators and the building professionals - "the people we work with on a day-to-day basis."

One of the first problems addressed by his task force was the lengthy delay to obtain building permits from the township, Lawson said. "A couple of discussions later, things were moving much more smoothly."

agree, Lawson said. The builders association recently filed a lawsuit against West Bloomfield over the township's new wetlands restric-

The issue was discussed both formally at township board meetings and informally at task force meetings, but West Bloomfield went forward with the ordinance prompting BASM to file the lawsuit, he said.

THE LAWSUIT hasn't cooled relations between the task force and the townsnip, Lawson said. "I think they realize that has nothing to do with what we're doing with the task

"The lawsuit is a difference of opinion but shouldn't interfere with the regular order of business," Lawson said.

Troy chief building inspector Gary Shripka said Troy's task force has proven to be invaluable through the years. "It gives us a chance to keep in touch with builders in the area, and it helps themto know what to expect."

"In turn, we get feedback from the builders on what they see as problems," he said.

Shripka said while the task forces are made up of builders who work mainly in Troy, those builders also work in other communities. From the city's viewpoint, the task force provides a method of communication about subtle and large changes in building codes.

It's difficult for builders to keep track of every ordinance when each community is subtly different, Shripka said. "The builders that regularly attend the meetings have the least problems in the field.

"I know without (the task force), we would have a lot more problems than we do - things would move a lot slower," he said.

Troy task force chair Frank Bronzetti, of Estate Builders in Troy, sald almost half of the builders who work regularly in Troy attend meetings.

"And when a new bullder comes in, we like to get him, too," he said. Bronzetti said he prefers to have as many people as possible attend meetings because more concerns can be addressed.

"It's even a better idea for a small builder that wouldn't have the resources to keep up with all the changes to city ordinances," he said.

CITY OFFICIALS appreciate the meetings as much as the builders, he said, because it's a way for the city to inform builders of their concerns.

"Things like muddy and dirty streets, or poorly kept construction sites, it's a good way to let us know what they see as problems." Dick Rosenhaus, of Uniland Corp. in Farmington Hills, chairs the Canton Township task force.

relatively new task force." Task forces allow each side to know what the others goals are and perhaps, by working in a more cooperative way, help each other reach those goals. "In the past, these relationships can be adversarial and we think that's because of a lack communication."

"If we can all get an understanding of each other, maybe we can avoid all of that," he said.

Rosenhaus said Canton's task force, which was activated less than six months ago, took its lead from the other task forces. "Relations in other communities are better after the task forces (are activated)."

Canton builders, for example, are concerned about the community's plans to enact a woodlands ordinance. "We want to be there, and they're open to the idea, and offer are input."

In the past, other communities have enacted woodlands ordinances and have caused conflict with builders. "Canton wants a good ordinance that preserves good, healthy forests - we want that too, but we don't want something that is intended to restrict building."

"With both of us working together, the true intent can be achieved," Rosenhaus said. "That is healthy."

"We already have a good relationship, but we're trying to get ahead of problems," he said. "Canton is a fast growing community and so we, both of us (builders and community officials, want to head off anything ear-

Homeowners may have construction problems with builders. They want satisfaction and they want it now. So they decide to file a complaint with the commercial services division, state department of licensing and regulation.

Here's a summary of what happens. The information was left out of Thursday's story on buyer complaints.

Complainants must do the initial legwork to document their cases because the state doesn't have the investigative staff or time to start at square one on every single filing.

"We require a building inspector or building official report to verify a complaint," sald William Wagner, an enforcement director in the licensing charged and have several options. department.

Notice of a complaint often is all that's required to nudge a builder to

If that doesn't generate action but the parties are still talking and the complaint is relatively minor, an informal mediation conference probably will be set.

"We'll formalize an agreement, monitor to completion, then close the case with no (punitive) action," Wagner said.

BUT IF ACRIMONY has set in, agreement is elusive or the builder doesn't respond and further state investigation reveals that a complaint is justified, the builder will be from those conferences.

• A settlement conference, in which the builder attempts to resolve the matter with a licensing department investigator.

• A compliance conference, in which the builder attempts to convince an investigator that no violation exists.

Sears: Where America bought houses

AP — Was your house a Thrifty Monday special purchased through the Sear Roebuck catalog?

Sears houses dot the Midwest from Des Plaines, Ill., where one contractor built at least 104 of them, to Norwood, Ohio, a suburb of Cincinnati, where all Sears millwork was produced and at least 50 of the houses stand within a few blocks of each other.

Sears marketed its catalog homes from 1908 to 1937.

The Magnolia, the most expensive of the collection, was a 10-room, southern-style mansion. For this manse, with its Corinthian columns, solarium and a servants' quarters, customers sent a check for $5,140.

Most of the 100,000 Sears homes sold through the catalog carried far less-expensive price tags. Orders brought everything needed to build a house except the muscle: lumber, shingles, flooring, plaster, lath windows and fixtures (plumbing, heating, wiring - were extra).

Check the book "Houses by Mail: A Guide to Houses from Sears, Roebuck and Company," written by Katherine Cole Stevenson and H. Ward Jandl and published by the National Trust for Historic Preservation (1986). Though not comprehensive, this is a good guide to Sears

Investigate condo conversion developer

I have noticed that a popular apartment complex in West Bloomfield is now being converted into a condominium. What suggestions would you have if I should decide to buy a unit in this complex?

Most developers operate under a "shell" corporation that does not have any substantial assets other than those generated by the condominium project they are developing. This is particularly true of converters who go from one project to another using different corporations. When a problem arises in regard to that particular condominium project, sometimes converters rely on the fine print in some of the condominium documents, including the porchase agreement and the disclosure statement, where they attempt construction of repadilitation work. Also, they later claim that they have no liability in the corporation and that it is basically judgment proof. Before you buy, make sure that you have ascertained who the principals of the developer are and demand that you have a list of all of the condominium projects that they have participated in under various corporate entities. Then, determine whether the principals have been sued or have had judgments rendered against them either in their corporate capacity or individually in any of these condominium projects. Also, check with legal counsel who has experience in dealing with developers for additional insight into these particular issues. Remember, buyer beware!

I read your column every week and enjoy it very much. Now that I am a first-time owner of a condo. I am interested in even more information. Ours is a new development and has a deep wooded ravine setting and is hilly. This necessitated high to exculpate themselves from any it- retaining (wood) walls at the back of ability for warrantles and defective our individual units. One can step off there walls and drop about eight to 10 feet to the ground below and be injured. We also have a community pool. At our first meeting, I questioned whether the $1 million liability coverage (maximum) was adoquate. Can you suggest guidelines made to it. You are very perceptive, for determining what the minimum coverage should be in this instance?

It would appear to me that $1 million liability coverage may not be adequate. In any event the association should consider hiring an insurance consultant, as well as speak with its own insurance agent and counsel, to ascertain what the coverage should be. It is not unheard of for associations to have as much as $3 million in liability coverage. The additional costs are not that much more than for $1 million in coverage. You should ask your board to investigate this matter as soon as possible. You may also want to have a right under the condominium documents to demand that the board provide you with information concerning the amount and extent of the insurance coverage and any changes and I hope that you will enjoy your new condominium.

How much earnest money should I have to deposit on a condominium?

As a purchaser you normally want to put down as little down as possible. Most purchase agreements provide that you will forfelt the earnest money deposit if you breach the terms of the contract. Obviously, the less you deposit, the less likely exposure you have in the event of a default. On the other hand, some deals will not be made unless the seller is convinced that the purchaser is serious about the deal so that you will have to put down enough to satisfy the seller that you are serious about consummating a transaction.
