Recycling program to carry fee

Residents across the city may soon be allowed to participate in a curbside recycling program for a six-month, $18 fee. The program would replace a free, pilot project that was limited to only 3,200 residences.

BY DARRELL CLEM

Westland's pilot curbside recycling program, launched in February, will end Friday with a 22-percent particlpation rate among 3,200 residences chosen for the project.

But city officials are now considering embarking on an even bigger challenge - a citywide program that would give all households an opportunity to join curbside recycling.

Unlike the pilot program, which was offered free to selected residences, the citywide plan would require participating households to pay a six-month subscription fee of $18. said Sharon Scott, recycling committee chairwoman. Scott outlined the proposal last.

colleagues. A majority of the sevenmember council will have to favor the plan before it can be implemented.

The council could vote on the issue as early as January.

The city's role in the new curbside plan would be minimal, said Carl Clark, public services director. In essence, city officials would only keep statistics on the program, he said.

The city's waste hauler, Painter-Ruthenberg Co., would be in charge of the program, starting with a citywide mailing to invite households to participate, Clark said.

The company would keep subscripweek to her Westland City Council tion fees to cover its cost, but any proceeds from recycled materials would. return to city coffers, Clark said.

The program, if approved by the council, would be launched regardless of the participation level among residents, he said.

Scott told her council colleagues last week that the recycling committee hopes to have a "total curbside recycling program" in place by the end of 1996, with many households participating.

Skating programs open

The Westland Sports Arena, on Wildwood near Hunter, will register persons for ice skating classes 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 2, for all ages and abilities. Classes will start the week of Jan. 8. Classes will be held at 4 p.m., Mondays, 9:15 a.m. Thursdays, and 9:10 and 10:05 a.m. Saturdays, all for seven weeks. Fee is $35 for the weekend day classes and $30 for the Saturday class. Skaters who register for the upcoming session will be able to take part in the Westland Figure Skating Club's annual ice show, to be held in May.

Arena manager Tammie Hombirg also said that drop-in hockey is offered 10-11:15 a.m. weekdays for $5 each. Players must be 18 or older and have full equipment, including helmets. Open skating will be held noon-1:45 p.m. week-

City fears that criticism may halt Norris plan

BY DARRELL CLEM

Westland's top housing official has come to the defense of a controversial, low-income apartment development, saying he fears that criticism of the project could thwart affordable housing efforts.

The city could lose $1.2 million in government monies in two years alone, if controversy stalls plans for a four-building, 60apartment complex on the south side of Palmer Road west of Merriman, said James Gilbert, Westland's community development director.

The loss also would threaten plans to revitalize the Carver subdivision near Middlebelt and Van Born Road, in the city's far southeast end, Gilbert said.

A minority of Westland City Council members and a few residents have raised questions about the low-rent apartment complex that developer Kathy Makino and three Westland fire officials want

But Gilbert is hoping that critics will begin to see the project for what he said it is - an effort to provide affordable housing and to help the city qualify for additional federal dollars for future developments.

The larger picture, he said, has become clouded by criticism that Makino received in November for falling behind on city taxes on other properties that she and her husband, Ron, own. Makino has made efforts in recent weeks to pay the taxes.

Councilman Charles Pickering also has raised questions about whether the council should be approving the ongoing expenditures of $361,000 in federal monies for the so-called Norris apartment development. (The old Norris school, now demolished, once stood on the site.)

Pickering is awaiting an opinion from City Attorney Angelo monles collected. Plakas.

Gilbert said the city council already gave the project the goahead in April by approving a comprehensive housing plan through the year 2000.

During an interview, Gilbert said he wanted to explain issues that he hopes will ease concerns about the Norris project.

To secure government dollars for the project, the city of Westland had to come up with matching monies, Gilbert said. The city can meet that requirement by giving tax breaks to the Norris project, rather than draining the city budget, he said.

The council has approved the tax breaks in a 4-3 decision. Under terms of the plan, Norris apartment owners will pay the city 4 percent of the annual rent

The $361,000 already allocated: for the Norris development amounts to nearly 10 percent of the $3.5 million project, Gilbert said. The remaining funding will come from the private sector, even though the developers could have sought public financing.

In fact, Gilbert said the partners met the criteria to qualify for. financing from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority, but chose to use private monies.

Makino has a 51-percent interest in the project, with the remaining 49 percent coming from Westland Fire Chief Michael Reddy and Assistant Chiefs George Riley and Patrick Harder. Although Makino has had problems with some of her properties. Gilbert said that is not uncommon for developers of low-income projects such as the Norris apartment complex.

Some residents have voiced fears that the apartments will become dilapidated like some of Makino's other rental properties in the Norwayne area. But Gilbert said the state and the city will be closely monitoring the new project because government dollars are involved in a portion of the funding. Moreover, the project will be under the watchful eye of a private mortgage company, Gilbert

In November, Makino tried to ease some concerns by noting that she won't be managing the apartment complex. Instead, a private management company will be used.

The project's site plan and tax breaks have been approved, but) the only remaining issue is whether the city council should be involved in approving ongoing expenditures for the project.

If so, supporters of the project are concerned that issues raised by Pickering and other council members could bring new problems and possibly jeoparidize expenditures.

More light will be shed on those issues when Plakas, the city attorney, issues his opinion.

Despite the complicated nature of the project, Gilbert said the goal is actually a simple, twofold one: to help revitalize a portion of Norwayne and to provide affordable bousing.

DDA tax increase would finance business revitalization

Only those residents and businesses within the DDA district would pay the potential tax.

The 2-mill increase could be used only for operational purposes such as administrative costs and consulting fees, but couldn't be pegged for specific property improvements, he said.

Any tax beyond the 2-mill level would require voter approval, he tween Ford and Glenwood.

A decision hasn't been made on whether the city will impose or seek a tax increase to help revitalize commercial strips. City officials could choose only to capture taxes from property assessment increases in the proposed DDA district, Veldhuis said.

New boundaries approved for Garfield Elementary

By Marie Chestney Staff Writer

"First-come, first-served" is the way open enrollment requests will be handled from parents who want their children to stay at Garfield Elementary School, on Arthur, near West Chicago near Yale.

So far, only one Garfield family has asked that two children be allowed to remain at Garfield next year, when boundary changes first go into effect for some students, said Kent Gage, superintendent for elementary education for the Livonia district, which serves the northern section of West-

"If we only have five requests, we can certainly say yes to all." Gage said. "But 25? That's where it gets iffy."

To ease crowded conditions at Garfield, the school board last week unanimously approved boundary changes which will send some students to Randolph Elementary and some students to Grant. The Randolph shift for new and current students takes place next fall.

For students now attending Garfield, the shift to Grant takes place in 1997-98. For new students, the shift takes place next fall.

The changes approved will allow many more students to stay at Garfield than originally planned, especially if they opt to stay under the district's open enrollment policy. That policy child's school if room is avail- five names, the three already enable at that school.

Karen Wittkopp, co-leader of a scout troop which meets at Garfield, peppered the trustees Monday with questions on how the policy works. When will we know when we have been approved? Do families need to get approval each year? Do students now attending Garfield under the policy have priority over other students who apply?

"There's no written policy in the manual; just long-standing practices," Gage said. "They can get it as long as space is avail-

Here are the answers Gage gave to Wittkopp's questions:

Parents can apply anytime. But requests are "put on hold" until the second semester, when budgetary details get set. An answer generally comes by the end of April. "We have to know if the staff is there," Gage said.

Parents don't have to reapply each year. Once the OK is given, it stays in effect. However, each request is reviewed every year. Approval could be withdrawn if space is not available. "We've never revoked anyone's permission so far," Gage said. ■ The names of students now attending Garfield under the policy get put on the top of the list. Garfield currently has six: students attending the school under open enrollment. Three are sixth-graders, so they will graduate this year. The other three get top priority. allows parents to choose their stay, then the list now contains rolled under the policy and the family with two children who have applied.

Wittkopp co-leads two scout troops which meet at Garfield. Both leaders, Wittkopp and Beverly Miller, are among the families who will be rerouted to either Randolph or Grant.

"The Brownie troop has not benefited; the leaders are still outside the boundary," Wittkopp said.

Because of the bonding that takes place between leader and scout, board president James Watters asked administrators to investigate ways to keep them together.

Gage repeatedly has said that it is impossible to guarantee that space will be available at Garfield beyond the 1996-97 school year.

"We'll try to honor all requests next year. But there's no guarantee for the years after that."

He put the maximum number of Garfield students affected at

The real losers in the boundary change, Gage said, are the families with children not yet attending Garfield. All new students will be bused to either Randolph or Grant, depending on where they live.

Boundary changes are some of the toughest decisions school administrators make.

"It's never a happy experience," Gage said. "This one has been handled about as well as If these families continue to anything can be handled when you're breaking people's hearts."

Animal law requires sterilization

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

A 90.4 yes vote gave no indication of the work state Rep. Gerald Law put into a bill regulating dog pounds and animal shelters.

"Every time I turned around, another group would come forward with its own problem," said Law, R-Plymouth.

"Basically, if you adopt a pet from a licensed shelter, you have to leave a $25 deposit and promise to get it sterllized." said Law, a dog owner who takes a strong interest in animal legislation.

"Many county shelters do it. The Michigan Humane Society requires it. But there's nothing in law to require it. This should cut the number of unwanted and unadoptable dogs and cats.

"An estimated 200,000 dogs and cats are euthanized each year, but we don't know how many for sure. This will require them to report it (euthaniasia figures) to the Department of Agriculture.

"The shelter can go to small claims court and get damages to make you conform (have the pet sterilized) and can get the animal back. Twenty-five other states have laws like this."

House Bill 4654 will become law as soon as Gov. John Engler signs it.

The House passed his bill earlier in the year, the Senate passed its version Nov. 9, and the House waited three weeks before concurring in the Senate amendments. All area lawmakers voted yes except Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

A complication occurred, said Law, when groups promoting the adoption of certain purebed dogs came forward. The final bill is 10 pages long.

Major provisions: ■ The law applies to dogs, cats and ferrets.

Pet shops are required to distribute pamphlets to purchasers about "the pet overpopulation problem and the health benefits of altering animals." Pet shop licenses are issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Animal control and protection shelters may not permit the adoption of an unaltered dog, cat or ferret until the customer has contracted to neuter it. Exception: An owner reclaiming a lost pet from the shelter isn't required to agree to neutering.

■ The adopter is required to leave a $25 good faith deposit with the shelter guaranteeing his intention to have the animal neutered. If he fails to keep the promise, he forfeits the $25 and can be required in District Court to pay damages of $150 plus the shelter's attorney fees. His $25 is returned when he presents a veterinarian's certificate that neutering has occurred.

■ No deposit or promise to neuter is required where the dog is transferred to a law enforcement agency, trainers of guide and Leader dogs. Persons involved in breed rescue efforts also are exempt.

Resolution targets newspaper strike

The Wayne County Commission came down on the side of the unions in the 5-month-old downtown newspaper strike in a resolution approved Dec. 21.

Sponsored by Commissioner Bernard Parker and co-sponsored by Vice Chair Kay Beard, D. Westland, the resolution encouraged "The Detroit News and Detroit Free Press to enter into binding arbitration so that union employees may return to work while an agreement is being reached."

Also, as of Jan. 1, "no agency of Wayne County shall buy any advertisement in the Detroit News or Detroit Free Press until an agreement is reached." Commissioner Kenneth Cockrel, who also asked to be a co-sponsor, asked if the county is bound by its own rules to advertise in the downtown dailies. This point will have to be decided later, according to Alfred Montgomery, clerk of the commission.

The resolution was approved along party lines. Republican commissioners Bruce Patterson of Canton Township and Thaddeus McCotter of Livonia voted "no" while Democrat Michelle Plawecki of Dearborn Heights voted "yes." McCotter's district also includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township while Plawecki's district includes Redford Township and part of Livo-

The resolution calls on the chief executive officer to renegotiate contracts with concessionaires to assure that no copies of the Detroit News or Detroit Free Press are sold within any building or property which is owned or leased by the county.

Commissioner Andrew Richner raised concerns that the resolution was censorship, saying the public has a right to buy any newspaper.

"Censorship is certainly not part of this resolution," Beard said. "We're not telling them they can't publish. We're simply saying scab papers can't be sold in this building."

Parker called the actions by the newspapers at the meeting with union representatives and Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer a "tremendous insult to those who have been working there many years." The papers have taken the position that the strike is over, and that they are not going to negotiate, he said.

The resolution says "the County of Wayne has always respected the legal right of a union to strike as a means of forcing the parties to come to an agreement;" that "the unions have been continuously available to sit down and bargain to an agreement;" that The Detroit News Agency has turned to the use of non-union personnel to produce a daily newspaper,

Teens face adult prison if convicted of violent crimes

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Juveniles who commit violent crimes could face adult sentences and a tough youth prison under a package of bills passed by the Michigan Senate and sent to the Most had unanimous bipartion of prison operations.

"Punishments should fit the type of crimes," said Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, a former police officer and current chair of the Legislature's Law Enforcement Caucus.

Bouchard recalled how "Young Boys Inc." deliberately recruited juveniles "for drugs and violence with the full knowledge that, if they were caught, punishments would be light." The bills affect youngsters aged 14-16.

Chief architect of the 16-bill package was Judiciary Committee chair William VanRegenmorter, R-Jenison.

'There are two groups of crimes," VanRegenmorter said.

"Group A is three crimes first and second degree murder and first-degree rape. The juvenile can be sentenced like an adult.

'Group B is seven other violent crimes. The bills presume that the public interest is best served by giving the juvenile an adult prison term. If the judge can show by the preponderance of evidence that it's better to sentence him to the juvenile system, the judge may do so.

"Some juveniles are so dangerous that they have to be put tisan support. Democrats balked away," said VanRegenmorter, citat a few bills involving privatiza- ing stories of increasingly violent juvenile crimes.

Dems object

Democrats Gary Peters of Bloomfield Township, Alma Wheeler Smith of Salem and Joe Young Jr. of Detroit objected to parts of specific bills.

Peters criticized building a prison for 724 juveniles. "Research shows that large institutions don't have programs and don't reduce recidivism. This bill raises the cap (on prison population) from 450 to 1,000. If you put them all in one big warehouse, you're getting a poor return for your money.'

Peters said there's room for privatizing prison food service but disliked giving prison administration - including awarding of merits and extending of sentences - to a private company.

Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, sald a Pennsylvania institution for tough delinquents had a population of more than 800 and produced good results. "A blanket statement - that large institutions don't rehabilitate - just isn't borne out by the facts. This is new, very experimental. There's no reason not to privatize. Let's give this a try." Added Bouchard: "I support privatization. Corrections is the fastest growing part of the budget. fund budget by the turn of the vices. century.'

That bill (SB 681), to provide for a special youth correctional facility, passed 25-11, with only Democrats dissenting.

Peters voted for the juvenile sentencing bill, which passed 35-0, but said more than tough sentences are needed. "Tough sentence are fine, but we need to deal with root causes. I spend most of the summer riding with police, raiding a crack house where four young children sat in a roach-infested house watching TV. The adults were high or passed out. The kids were sent to Children's Village.

"The police told me: 'These kids will be arrested by us some day. Can you blame them, growin gup in this environment?'

Boot camps 'fad'

Democrat Alma Smith tangled with Republican Mike Rogers of Howell on his bill to establish juvenile boot camps within the Corrections Department rather than We're not going to have a general the Department of Social Ser-

"It's a fad and will need to be replaced,"said Smith. Republicans shot down, 13-15, her amendment to allow DSS to operate a boarding school.

"Boarding schools are exactly the wrong message," said Rogers, a former FBI agent. "They (juveniles) don't need to be taught which salad fork to use. This camp will be discipline oriented. Some of these kids have never gotten up in the morning, never had a reason to get up. It's tough, stern - but necessary."

One bill actually eases up on sentences. It will allow youngsters convicted of dealing 650 grams of

Program helps relatives mourn loss of love one

One of the most painful issues regarding grief is how to survive the holidays after the death of a loved one.

Because holidays are supposed to be family times, and because of the heavy expectations that you should feel close to everyone, this time of year can underscore the absence of a loved one more than any other time.

To help with the grieving process during the holiday period when most people are looking forward to sharing Christmas with families members, the R. G. and G. R. Harris Funeral Homes in Garden City and Livonia recently held their annual angel tree cere-

During the ceremony, persons who have lost a family member or loved one in the past year are invited to the funeral homes to write the name of the deceased on an angel-shaped ornament and place it on a tree near the funeral

The ornaments will remain on the trees through the holidays.

To help persons cope with the memories of a lost loved one during the holidays, funeral home employees offer several tips for coping with grief during the holidays.

"Have a plan to help you through each day. Planning gives you control over the time and how you will spend it.

"Be aware that the anticipation of pain at the holidays is always worse than the day.

"What you decide to do this year doesn't have to be the same as next year. You can be creative and design the day to fit the needs of both you and your family. Only you know how you feel and how you will handle the day. However, remember that your needs take priority.

"Be aware that the stress and anxiety you are feeling about the holidays is very normal. There are other people who are in the same situation and they feel exactly as you do now.

■ "Do something symbolic. Create a moment that will be special in honoring the memory of your loved one. Light a candle, have a special decoration, write notes and place them in a stocking. Develop an observance that is comforting to you, and will honor your loved one where their memory and presence as a part of your life are remembered and acknowledged.

"Please realize that the holidays are difficult for everyone, not just those who have lost a loved one. As painful as this may sound, our expectations of closeness, love and intimacy are often unrealistic.

Take care of yourself. Fatigue, rich foods, alcoholic beverages and all the pressures that are very much a part of the holiday season can take a toll on you and cause your feelings of despair to increase. Nurture yourself.

Think about your past family traditions and decide with your family whether you need to keep them intact or can you change them.

"Tears and sadness don't have to ruin the entire holiday for you or for others. Let yourself have the cry that you need and you will be surprised that you can go on again until the next time you need to release the tears. Facing family holidays in your loved one's absence are normal mourning experiences and part of the healing process. The tears and emotions that you do not express will be the ones which are destructive to you.

Give others permission to talk about your loved one during the holidays. Let family and friends know what you need, and that it. is important to you to discuss and; acknowledge your loved one. Have them share their thoughts so you can share yours. "Let the memories come. You will find yourself thinking of and remembering other holidays and their meaning to you. This is a part of your mourning and these same memories don't stop because of the holiday, in fact, the holidays will only intensify these feelings.

"It's OK to have fun during the holidays and it does not mean that you don't miss your loved one. Give yourself permission to laugh, just as you give yourself permission to feel sadness and tears.

"Let others know what you need and how they can help you. Don't do anything you are not. comfortable with just to make someone else happy. You are the best judge of what you need.

"Don't over-commit yourself. Do only what you want to do, not what others want. Don't isolate yourself. Use your resources and do what is meaningful for you.

"Reach out to others and do something for someone else.

"Most important - reaching out to another can give you a sense of fulfillment and can brighten the day of another person," the funeral home staff said.

LINDA BACHRACK

New Year's Eve by the fire's glow

The images of a recurring nightmare flash before her eyes. Yet again, she relives the torment of last New Year's Eve.

The flu-stricken babysitter canceled at 5 o'clock. The dress barely zipped after too many holiday parties. A driving snowstorm left the roads almost impossible to maneuver. And then, the crowded, noisy party; the smoke-filled rooms . . .

8 a.m. She awakens feeling lighthearted and filled with anticipation. She nudges him. Asks him to ready the children. Her mother will arrive to pick the kids up at 10 o'clock. The rest of the day and night belongs to just the two of them . . .

Time alone

10:30 a.m. With the kids safely ensconced at Grandma's, they're ready to kickstart the New Year. She has reserved the next several hours at Tamara Institut de Beaute in Farmington

The Grand Getaway for Twois their destination.

How better to relax and reiuvenate than a private soak in a candlelit whirlpool bubble bath. He proposes his first New Year's toast with champagne and feeds her strawberries. A soothing body massage and European facials combine to mellow their moods and they laugh and whisper like children as they enjoy hot oil manicures, side by side. Recharged, the lovefest continues . . .

Built for two

3 p.m. She urges him to take a nap as she prepares for the evening. Snow begins to blanket the yard, and she stokes the fire in the fireplace. She smiles as she positions the new "fireside" chair at just the right angle to the dancing flames.

Her Ligne Roset chair for two from ItalModa was a surprise from her mom this Christmas. A soft giant-sized pillow, its sink-into cushion is like a gentle embrace. They will nestle into this chair and savor the remarkable quiet of the night . . .

4 p.m. As the snowstorm rages outside, she congratulates herself for planning this intimate evening at home.

6:30 p.m. She sends him to Annabel's & Co. to pick up a wonderful and romantic five-course New Year's Eve repast for two. They are without words to describe the salmon, caviar on eggplant blini, the roasted red pepper soup, the salad of baby field greens with poached pears. As the fire blazes and the candles flicker, they toast one another yet again and slowly savor the rack of lamb with rosemary and cherry chutney, the horseradish mashed potatoes and the haricot verts. They are sated. But they manage to end their gourmet feast with Annabel's heartshaped milk chocolate creme brulee with fresh raspberries. The evening is a success and it's barely begun . . 8 p.m. Strains of Mozart and Beethoven echo in their ears as they snuggle together, sharing thoughts on life, on love. Tonight they dance slowly, as one, to the music . . . Midnight. As they share a kiss and a wish for the New Year, they resolve to make this day and evening their own New Year's Eve tradition.

Summit Place spiffs up its retail mix

Area residents are discovering what one local TV anchorwoman called "the best-kept shopping secret." It's the "new" Summit Place mall in Waterford.

By Susan Demaggio

Shedding its old reputation as "the Pontiac Mall," Summit Place at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph in Waterford, has added 22 new stores and 30 aisleway vendors to its lineup since March.

Hudson's upscaled and remodeled its Summit Place store last year, and worked with mall owners Ramco-Gershenson, Inc. of Southfield, to bring its annual holiday exhibit (which attracts some 300,000 visitors) to Summit Place from Northland Center.

Restaurateur Matthew Prentice (owner of Morels in Bingham Farms, Relish Grill in Farmington Hills,

Sebastian's Grill in the Somerset Collection, America in Royal Oak and Bruschetta Cafe in Oakland Mall) just opened a sourdough bread bakery and court restaurant at Summit Place, bringing his unique food vision to shoppers at the center. (Not to mention 17 varieties of fresh bread to General manager Joe Tyree joined the center in 1991 with the goal of improving the retail offerings to attract upscale shoppers.

'We're currently developing a repositionary plan that could include an expansion," he said, refusing the details. "We serve a very diverse population here - the residents of Clarks-

Bloomfield. Plus, we have a strong community presence with Waterford and Pontiac shoppers." Tyree said the Hudson's renovation to lunch," he explained, "The mall

"absolutely affected sales dramatical-sorely needed a restaurant like this." Summit Place was built in 1962 and expanded and renovated in 1989 to become one of the nation's largest single-level shopping center with 1.5 million square feet of retail space.

New stores are: The Sourdough Cafe, Heidi's Salon, Windship, Crafter's Corner, Home for the Holidays, Bhoghalli Leathers, The Body Shop, Hickory Farms, City Sweets, ton, Bloomfield Hills and West Christmas by Franks, Berry Baby, San Francisco Music Box Company, Royal Goldsmith, Glass Gallery, Kids Corner by Franks, In The Garden by Franks, Luna Gallery, Soft Impressions, Galerie Internationale, World of Science, It's Perfume Oil and Native Design.

Merchandise carts present such items as personalized cartoons, blown glass collectibles, phones and beepers.

Jill Wilkins of Clarkston stood in line at Kohl's next to a local news broadcaster who begged anonymity. Both agreed that the mall has changed for the better and is a good place to shop because it's still not well known enough to be crowded.

"You have the merchandise selection, but not the long lines," Wilkins

Sock monkeys return in mom's storybooks

By Susan DeMaggio

Editor's note: Malls & Mainstreets ran a feature recently on where to find the red-heeled socks used to craft monkey dolls. In the ensuing weeks, many readers called to share their experiences with the beloved monkeys, wanting the pattern, the socks - or both! Ann Mooney of Ann Arbor tells the ultimate sock monkey tale.

Once upon a time in the early 1990s, a very loving mom named Ann Jacobs Mooney made a sock monkey doll for her little boy, Danny.

Ann wanted Danny to have the fun she remembered having when her mother made her a sock money in the 1950s.

Danny loved his monkey doll so much that his mom made him more stuffed animals — an elephant named Ellie, and a tiger named Tiger. Ann loved to watch Danny play in their Ann Arbor backyard with his animals, perching them in trees, pushing them in his swing, and hiding them in her flower beds.

Some of the poses were so adorable, so amusing, Ann began photographing them. Delighting in the pictures, she decided to weave a story around them and have it published with the photos illustrating the trio's adven-

Ann was a very clever mom and very talented. She was also looking to end a 15-year career as a psychotherapist that took a lot out of her. Perhaps becoming an author would be a good idea, especially if her stories could take some pain out of the world.

When "Tiger's New Friends" was published by Jamondas Press in 1992, it included a story about accepting newcomers, 19 wonderful color photographs, and patterns for making three sock animals. The book was also available in a gift pack with a pair of socks inside to get others started making sock animals for their children.

Then one day Ann had another little boy. Scott's almost-first words were, "Can I be in your next book?"

Because Ann was a very smart mom (and a psychotherapist) she knew there must be a sequel to "Tiger's New Friends" and that it be Vic's World Class Market in Novi was named Chain Store Age magazine's "Supermarket of the Year." It will be spotlighted in the upcoming February issue.

Owner Vic Ventimiglia (who also owns Vic's at 13 Mile and Southfield in Beverly Hills) said he was thrilled by the award because the concept for the giant food emporium in Novi was his big idea.

"I worked hand-in-hand with an architect of course, but the market is my vision," he said. "We traveled around the country to find the antique items and artifacts that decorate the marketplace."

Ventimiglia pointed out that Retail Watch magazine also bestowed honors on Vic's World Class Market.

"They said Vic's was anything but a copy - it's a true original. I liked that because I have always tried to be on the cutting edge of the food business, take the lead for my customers.' Vic's World Class Market was opened earlier this year on Grand River just east of Novi Road. It's a giant "warehouse" of food boutiques and kitchen items with unique food products from around the world, fresh meats, produce and dairy items. There is even a restaurant on the second level overlooking the marketplace. If you haven't been, it's a must-see shop.

Vic's concern is that value-oriented shoppers might expect his prices to be higher because the markets are so

A Sock Monkey History

Red-heeled socks were first made on machines built in the late 1800s. But making toys for children out of old socks is an American tradition that dates back farther.

Cars are the stars, but models provide American pizzazz and their competitors aren't the only ones rolling out sleek new models at the 1995-96 North American International Auto Shows.

Companies like the Birmingham-based Productions Plus are busy at work prepping another sort of model — the human kind - for the company's role in this annual automotive extravaganza which kicked off this year on September 12 on Long Island, and runs through May 1996 at 73 U.S. cities, where it is attended by more than a million people.

Talent agencies like Productions Plus play a major supporting role by providing "talent," commonly called product special-

"The auto show is truly an American phenomenon," said Margery Krevsky, president of Productions Plus. "It is the quintessential Americana road show traveling throughout the country to people everywhere. Behind the sheen and shine of the wonderful new cars, there are the people."

Indeed, for many of the spectators at the International Auto Show, the product specialists are as interesting as the cars they promote. These men and women are eyed and photographed as frequently as the vehicles with which they share the stage. Getting the talent ready for their jobs - auditioning, scripting, training, dressing, rehearsing and coordinating travel details — is no

PR Newswire - The Big Three easy task. It is a nearly year-long process conducted by mostly companies like Productions Plus which provide much of the talent seen on the national auto show circuit.

"Just as soon as the shows end after Easter, we start to prepare for the coming year," said Krevsky. This year, the 15-year-old Productions Plus will supply the talent for Infiniti, Nissan, Pontiac, Buick, Toyota, Suzuki and Mercedes.

.The process begins in the spring when the Productions Plus staff selects a core group of seasoned narrators from hundreds of prospects who audition each week at its office. Once the auto companies have selected their talent, Fuller tackles the challenge of outfitting the narrators.

Decollate and glittering gowns once standard at auto shows -are now passe. Narrators today are more likely to be outfitted in an attractive suit or jacket and slacks. "The challenge," says Productions Plus partner Harriett Fuller, "is to select clothes which will complement the vehicles without detracting from them. The attire must also be appropriate for the price point of the car." An average wardrobe including accessories can cost up to $2,500. Other factors Fuller considers when selecting wardrobe are wearability, dry cleaning, travel and color coordination with the vehicles and display carpet.

dedicated to Scott in the same way the first book was dedicated to Danny.

In 1994, Ann published "Tiger's Vacation." Two new sock animals were introduced in this book - Jake The Rattlesnake and Hobby the Horse. The story has Tiger interacting with a live raccoon, tabby cat and toad until he meets up with stuffed Jake. The photos are even more enchanting than the first, and three more patterns are included at the end of the book. A gift version of this book also includes a pair of red-heeled socks.

The public's response to the books was overwhelming. Many copies sold and big book brokers like Barnes & Noble and Ingram's Distributors carry the publications.

In October, Ann was invited by the Home and Garden Network to tape a segment for The Carol Duvall Craft Show. She demonstrated how to make Jake The Rattlesnake on the program. She also made a David Letterman sock monkey and sent it to him in appreciation for bringing back the sock monkeys in his scene from the summer film, "Cabin Boy."

Ann philosophized about the sock monkey revival.

"These sock creatures have a strong, nostalgic appeal," she said mentioning the many calls she's received from people throughout North America.

MAnn was a very clever mom and very talented. She was also looking to end a 15year career as a psychotherapist that took a lot out of her. Perhaps becoming an author would be a good idea, especially if her stories could take some pain out of the world.

specific memories people of all ages have about their sock monkeys. I hope my books encourage the continuation of homemade. family traditions that are so much less common today, but which I think are starting to make a comeback."

You can order the sock animal books from your favorite bookseller or directly from Jamondas Press by calling 1-800-223-7873. The books are $7.95 each. Gift packages which include the socks are $11.95.

The socks sold separately with patterns for the monkey, elephant and tiger are $7 for two pair, $13.50 for four pair, $36 for 12 "I'm always amazed at what pair. Tax and shipping are extra.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

'I'm Dreaming of' oysters and caviar

ith my new healthy eating regimen, I can honestly say there aren't many foods that I have a passion for. As a proponent for the beef industry, there were days when I used to salivate over a Pittsburgh Rare style of tenderloin. Having spent my summer vacation in Maine, I thought lobster plucked from the chilled waters of New England, steamed and served with enough butter to clog Hulk Hogan's arteries would be culinary nirvana but it wasn't.

Lindt chocolate and Godiva truffles were once revered, something to be left on the tongue to slowly melt and entice the senses but now they make my teeth ache. Even momma's famed "sliders" (dumplings cooked in homemade chicken broth) that I still enjoy on my birthday every year, leave me comforted but missing the good old days when they were a staple and not a treat.

So what could possibly turn this man's head? What could make me stray?

It would be caviar and oysters, both are true delicacies.

Ovsters

Oysters, best known for their reputed aphrodisiac powers, have been a favorite food of lovers throughout the centuries. Roman emperors paid for them by their weight in gold. Pharmacologically, the true aphrodisiac capacity of an oyster really depends on its dopamine content. Dopamine is a neurotransmitter that helps govern brain activity and influence sexual desire.

In her book "Oysters, a True Delicacy," (Copyright 1995, Macmillan, $12.95) Shirley Line offers oyster lovers definitive information on 12 of the most prized oysters available in the western world.

In addition to recipes, you'll find health and nutrition information, and learn more about the history of oysters. There are 75 calories in 12 oysters and they're loaded with good Omega-Three Fatty Acids. Oysters have been a food source since Neolithic times.

Without a doubt, I will pay anything, drive anywhere, and probably risk life and limb during a horrendous snowstorm to enjoy oysters. Although a rich diet and warm waters dictate that oysters remain female, the female oyster likes to revert back to being male after spawning. The male oyster also gets a chance to go through the process of childbirth, laying as many as one million eggs per year, just like the female oyster. This and many other facts in the book, make it worthwhile. But just as much as the sensation of raw oysters sliding down my throat, I would also consider the sale of my first born Cuisinart in exchange for some real good caviar.

Caviar

I would probably even do the same if the caviar wasn't real good, as long as it was accompanied by a decent champagne. Beluga and Sevruga, Oscietre and Sterlet, and, if my American Express card limit was depleted with the purchase of one too many oysters, even salmon eggs. Those of us with a passion for caviar will surely enjoy "Caviar, a True Delicacy" by Susie Boeckmann and Natalie Rebiez-Nielsen (Copyright 1995, Macmillian, $12.95).

If your New Year's Eve party needs an elegant boost or you want to start the New Year off right by serving your partner breakfast in bed (blini with caviar and Mimosas, of course), you'll be thankful for the in depth information on everything you wanted to know about caviar.

Ah, but where can we get these passionate edibles at their best? For oysters, get out the Yellow Pages and start contacting upscale fish stores. Locally, I would shop at Superior Fish in Royal Oak. Also, if time permits, inquire at Vic's in Novi and Beverly Hills, and Papa Joe's in Large supermarket chains might have some Long Islands but trust me folks, it's worth the added effort to do a little searching.

Monihan's in Ann Arbor's Kerrytown would also be a good start.

Caviar lovers will appreciate the good stock at any Merchant of Vino and again, if cost is no object, have the folks at Caviar & Caviar Fed-Ex some overnight (800) 472-4456. Oh, and don't forget the pearl spoon.

Campagne is a French Connection

BY ELEANOR & RAY HEALD SPECIAL WRITERS

Celebrations are more festive with a glass of champagne. But it's important to remember that champagne has a French connection. In all courtesy to its origins, the name champagne should be used only in reference to the sparkling product from France's Champagne region. All other bubblies, even if they are French, should be referred to as "sparkling wine."

Holiday celebrating and ringing in the New Year with champagne is a centuries old tradition. But this is the 90s, in love with putting a new twist on old things. At a small gathering, try pairing a French champagne with its California counterpart. Be in the pink of things and serve only rose (rowzay') champagnes. Design a light menu around sparkling wines using the suggested recipes, garnered from around the world, that

Over the last two decades, California has made a name for itself in the production of sparkling wine. This is due in great measure to the interest of some French champagne houses (Moet & Chandon was the first) who started production of sparkling wine in California. Is there a taste difference between French champagne and California sparkling wine even if it's produced by a French company? Yes, absolutely because the soils and climate are different. There is however a thread of similarity in style.

A good way to taste this for yourself is to compare the product in pairs - French and California. We're suggesting you do this with three French champagne houses, Taittinger, Moet & Chandon and Mumm and their new world counterparts Domaine Carneros, Domaine Chandon and Mumm Napa Valley. Choose the driest of these wines labeled "Brut." The object here is not to judge which you like better; but rather to look at style similarity. Here's what to with a lasting finish representing the epitome of finesse in a nonvintage Brut Champagne.

• 1991 Domaine Cameros Brut $21 showcases expressive California fruit. While bigger and fuller on the palate than it's French compatriot, it has an extremely delicate finish that's lengthy with toasty hints.

The above comparison reveals light, delicate styles sensational with Caspian Sea caviar.

 Moet & Chandon Brut Imperial $33 has remarkably tiny bubbles and lots of toasty aromás. It comes across mature yet lively with good concentration and medium weight It is uniquely reflective of Champagne terroir.

• Domaine Chandon Reserve $20 is a show stopper with rich, flavorful, distinguished fruit. It's very

These bottlings are showy and forward making excellent accompaniments to finger appetizers, Norwegian salmon or shellfish soups.

• Mumm Cordon Rouge Brut $28 with 25 percent pinot meunier and 10 percent reserve wine in the cuvee sums up to depth and richness. This is a big, creamy style wine with a complex, elegant finrestaurants is Veuve Clicquot $30 followed by Perrier-Jouet $22 and Moet & Chandon $33.

For domestic sparklers, the shake-out is Domaine Chandon $17, Mumm Cuvee Napa $15 and Roederer Estate $ 17.

Taking a quick survey of participants at the Red Wagon Wine Shoppe's Champagne and Dessert Wine tasting at Birmingham's Townsend Hotel, the favorites were led by Talttinger Brut La Francalse $25 followed by Rulnart Brut $35 and Veuve Clicquot $30.

Arlene and Dennis Pinkos attending from West Bloomfield shared their preferences. "Ruinart Brut with its yeasty taste and clean, lingering finish was tops in my book," Dennis said. He also praised the non-vintage Philip-ponat "Le Reflet" $34 for its "very distinctive taste."

Arlene's preference was Veuve Clicquot.

Champagne Deutz is not as well known as many French champagnes. The 1990 Champagne Deutz Blanc de Blancs $43, made 100 percent from chardonnay is stellar. Champagne Pommery is again available after a long absence from this market. We especially like the bright, fresh and creamy non-vintage Pommery Brut Royal $31.

While champagne may be a French connection, the Spanish are also making serious sparklers properly called "Cavas." The biggest player is Freixenet with its Gloria Ferrer label in California. The Gloria Ferrer Sonoma Brut about $11 is a winner with the Mushrooms in Garlic Sauce recipe.

Rose sparkling wines from California are flattered both by their color and redolent pinot noir character. You can't beat the 1991 Iron Horse Rose $28.

A California sparkling wine producer without French connection is industry style leader Schramsberg. New bottlings for the holidays include 1990 Schramsberg Blanc de Blancs $25 and 1991 Brut Rose $25.

'Great Pretenders' mix up tasty drinks

BY MARY RODRIQUE

look for:

arty goers and their hosts are discovering the drinks they quaff or serve at holiday gatherings don't have to be alcoholic to taste great.

With the biggest drinking holiday of the year just days away, what better time to consider innovative concections that taste so good, you won't even miss the alcohol?

Beginning each December, AAA Michigan distributes free statewide the "Great Pretenders Party Guide," a booklet listing recipes for tested and tasty alcohol free drinks. The annual AAA sponsored contest, held this past October in Dearborn, drew 300 entries from which 15 contestants were chosen. "Salute to the Automobile" was the contest theme to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the U.S. auto industry to be celebrated in 1996. Local finalists mixed their drinks for a panel of judges including Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano; Jim Lark, owner of the Lark restaurant in West Bloomfield; and Carmen Harlan, anchorwoman at WDIV-TV, channel 4.

Contestants came together in Muskegon and Petoskey to mix their drinks in other regional Lynne Loren of West Bloomfield was a finalist with her "Crankshaft Sangria" featuring alcoholfree red wine, undiluted frozen lemonade, fresh citrus and soda water. "I like the idea of less alcohol at the holidays," said Loren. "You don't have to booze it up." She enjoys creating new recipes, whether it's soup, cakes, brownies or beverages. "I try out my recipes on a select group of friends who are honest enough to let me know when it's not so good," she said. She entered the Great Pretenders contest without-first testing the recipe on her control group of friends, "but I did make it at home." Lynne and her husband, Eugene Loren, with two grown children apiece, enjoy hosting parties

You can skip the alcohol and the fat with Melody Farms now low-fat eggnog, introduced just in time for the holidays.

The Livonia based company uses only two percent butterfat instead of the six percent used for regular eggnog. As a result, a serving of the low fat eggnog has only 100 calories.

"Eggnog is a centuries old treat that people enjoy drinking during the holidays," said Stephen George, vice president of product development for Melody Farms.

"Because people are concerned about eating too much fat today, we have introduced this delicious low fat eggnog.

Two ways to enjoy it: fill your favorite mug with "This New Year's Eve we're going out," she said. low fat eggnog. For extra zip, add a small pinch of

Or put a small scoop of Meloday Farms lite or Add low fat eggnog and a dash of nutmeg and stir slightly. As the ice cream starts to melt, you'll receive a flavorful double treat.

OK, so not everyone is counting calories. Melody Farms has devised ways to enjoy one of their new ice cream flavors this season, Winter Wonder. Winter Wonder, available through February, is white chocolate flavor ice cream mixed with chewy red and green mint flakes.

"It's been very popular. It will be back next winter, at least for the next two years," said George.

For a Winter Wonder shake, deposit two or three scoops of Winter Wonder ice cream in a blender and add milk. Mix well. The result will be a flurry of color, reminiscent of a snow storm at the North Pole.

Whip up non-alcoholic surprise

The first four recipes are from the AAA Great Pretenders Party Guide. There's regional contest finalist Lynne Loren's Crankshaft Sangria and first place winners Caddy Nog Punch by Peggy Peters of St. Clair Shores, Rev-Me-Up Raspberry Carktail by Betsy Tiapkes of Rothbury, and Rumble Seat Mary by Shirley Austin of Chippewa Lake.

Also included are recipes for Jenel Frattalone's Calypso Cobbler and Keith Jackson's Zebra Shake, first and second place winners respectively in the National Shake Yourself a Winner contest sponsored by the American Dairy Association.

CRANKSHAFT SANGRIA

- 1 bottle alcohol-free red wine 1 12-oz can undiluted frozen lemonade
- 1 cup orange juice
- 4 orange slices
- 4 lime slices soda water
- Mix first five ingredients together in large pitcher. Pour over ice cubes in a tall tumbler. Add soda water to taste. 6 servings.

CADDY Nog Punch

- 1 pint soft peppermint ice
- 2 cups dally eggnog 1 pint and 12 ounce bottle club soda
- I cup whipped cream 1/2 cup crushed peppermint
- red food coloring
- 16 peppermint sticks

Spoon ice cream into punch bowl. Add eggnog and chilled club soda, mixing well. Stir in a few drops of food coloring. Spoon whipped cream over surface. Place stick of peppermint in each cup before serving. 16 4-oz. servings.

REV-ME-UP RASPBERRY CARKTAIL

- 1 cup Schwepps raspberry ginger ale
- 1 cup raspberry sherbet 1 cup crushed fresh or frozen
- raspberies 1 cup orange juice
- 1 cup crushed ice
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- whipped cream 4 fresh raspberries
- CALYPSO COBBLER

Combine ingredients in blender.

Blend on high speed 2-3 minutes or cream and fresh raspberry on top. 4

RUMBLE SEAT MARY

glasses with dopple of whipped

4 oz thick tomato luice

4 oz non-alcoholic beer

1 cup milk 1 cup apricot nectar ing.

- 5 cup pineapple juice 4 scoops orange sherbet
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 scoops vanilla ice cream toasted coconut orange slice, halved

In blender, place milk, apricot nectar, pineapple juice, sherbet and vanilla; blend until combined. Add ice cream, blend until smooth. Pour into two tall glasses; top with coconut and orange slice. 2 servings.

ZEBRA SHAKE

- I cup milk
- 1 medium size ripe banana, peeled and sliced
- 1/3 cup white chocolate chips 4 scoops vanilla ice cream chocolate syrup, preferably in a squirt bottle
- whipped cream
- chocolate sprinkles

In blender container, place milk, banana, and white chocolate chips; blend until combined. Add ice cream: blend until smooth. Make chocolate stripes on the inside of two tall clear glasses by squirting or spooning chocolate syrup around the inside tops of each glass, evenly spacing squirts. Syrup will run down the sides of glass forming stripes. Carefully pour shake into glasses; top with whipped cream and sprinkles. 2 servings.

Cool: Calypso Cobbler, a refreshing blend of milk, two fruit juices, vanilla ice cream and orange sherbet took top honors in the "Shake Yourself A Winner" recipe contest.

This recipe is deliciously simple. Most Italians would use canned light tuna packed in virgin olive oil. However, it's best to make this pate with fresh tuna, grilled or broiled to impart a slightly smoky flavor to the fish. Grill fish lightly over low. heat so that it doesn't develop a hard crust. You can saute the tuns gently in butter and get the same, texture, but the smokiness would be lost. Whatever technique you decide to use, just get a beautiful piece of tuna and don't cook it until it is too hard and dry for a smooth puree. Cool the fish before making the pate.

Here's a nice and easy recipe for busy working people. You don't need a blini pan to make these and the thicker they are, the better. Of course, serve with the best caviar you can afford.

134 cups all purpose flour, sifted

¼ teaspoon salt

3 eggs

1% cups of 2 percent milk 4 cup butter (1/2 stick)

Prepare the batter. Combine the flour, sait, eggs and milk in a blender or food processor. Process for 1-2 minutes or until smooth.

Strain the batter into a pitcher and allow to stand for 30 minutes. Melt the butter in a small saucepan and pour a little into a large non stick skillet.

Pour enough of the batter into the pan to make 4 blinis, each about 14-inch thick. Allow to cook cook for about 10 minutes on each side over moderate heat. When the blinis are cooked, transfer them to a wire rack, piling them loosely on top of each other to keep them moist. Keep them warm in a low oven while making remaining batter, remembering to add a little more melted butter to skillet when necessary. Serve the blini warm, with heaps of caviar. Makes 8 blini.

Stone holds nothing back in 'Nixon' screen biography makes it perfectly clear that he can't tell a decent ident isn't the story without JOHN using his usual MONAGHAN smokescreen of hyperactive visuals.

The director of "Natural Born Killers" and "JFK" has resigned himself to a hodgepodge of MTV-style over-editing and a variety of film stocks. A simple campaign speech might include contrasty blackand-white images followed by the muted colors of faded home movies then back to a conventionally-composed wide screen.

Despite the best efforts of Anthony Hopkins' lead performance, this nearly threeand-a-half-hour bio-epic paints a sometimes compelling, more often tedious portrait of America's most controversial presi-

Still stinging from criticism leveled against his conspiracyminded "JPK," Stone is quick to point out, even before the opening credits, that "this film is an attempt to understand the truth of Richard Nixon . . . based on numerous public sources and an incomplete record."

In Stone's eyes, Nixon is a tragic hero, driven by ambition and paranois, but with a sense that somehow he was doing has heart-to-hearts with relucright by his country. Like the tant first lady Pat (Joan Allen).

REVIEW

powerful publisher in "Citizen Kane." Nixon grows more and more out of touch with the people he's made it his life's work to serve.

Also like "Kane," Stone uses every trick in the book to avoid telling his story in linear fashion. He even employs a "March of Time" newsreel sequence where we get valuable background information about Vice President Nixon's role in the McCarthy witch hunts, the trial of Alger Hiss, and the Checkers

This proves helpful in understanding the focus of the movie, roughly the years as president from 1968 until his resignation Stone sometimes connects.

One clever moment begins with a dour, silent closeup of Nixon's face that slowly turns into a smile. The camera pulls back as Nixon's arms shoot up, the crowd behind him roars and we realize that he has just scored his first presidential victory. Less effective are those moments of cheap symbolism, a turbulent ride on the presidental plane as Watergate breaks

or a too-rare steak to show doubts about bloodshed in Vietnam. Are we really supposed to believe that Nixon's downfall comes from his inability to make the college football If you want to see Stone's talent strain, watch those scenes where Nixon, drink in hand,

They play as flatly as any television soap opera, probably because Stone is forced to keep his camera in one place for more than five seconds at a

It's here that Hopkins' magic act begins to wear thin. Just when you have the feeling that the talented actor has truly captured the real Nixon, the cartoony qualities of the 37th President start to poke through.

Hopkins gets able support from a number of familiar faces, including James Woods as H.R. Haldeman and David Hyde Pierce as John Dean. Most embarassing is Bob Hoskins's way-gay J. Edgar Hoover, who can't keep his hands off the kitchen staff.

Ultimately, Stone the shocker can't help but throw in a conspiracy theory or two. "JFK's" thesis that Lyndon Johnson was behind the assassination of President Kennedy now widens to include those Dallas politicos who wished to make the way clear for Nixon in office.

For a more fascinating (and responsible) look at the former president, check out "Secret Honor," Robert Altman's economically-filmed monologue about Nixon's last days in office. Stripped of Stone's visual pyrotechnics, the Nixon story comes across with far more character.

Pacino, De Niro hot in 'Heat'

By Bob Thomas AP Newsfeatures

Seasoned directors are some times seized with the impulse to make revisionist versions of triedand-true film genres - the Western, the comedy, the gangster movie. The result can be outsized spectacles with big names, elaborate production and lengthy running time.

Such is the case with "Heat," written, directed and co-produced by Michael Mann ("Miami Vice," "The Last of the Mohicans").

The stars: Al Pacino, Robert De Niro, Val Kilmer. The set pieces: three meticulous heists. Running time: almost three hours.

Despite its excesses, "Heat" is eminently watchable. Seeing the two great practitioners of the crime movie together (though they meet only twice, the last time violently) is a treat in itself. The logistics and the execution of the robberies have a morbid fascination. And the violent action is overlaid with a melancholy view of the lives of a master criminal and a demonic crime fighter.

De Niro has served time, and now he is determined to make a big score and vanish to New ZeaREVIEW land. He and his gang, including Kilmer, Tom Sizemore and "fixer" Jon Voight, pull off a deftly choreographed robbery of an armored truck that starts the movie with high excitement.

The daring heist and the execution of the guards immediately fixates Pacino, a Los Angeles robbery-homicide detective. His three marriages attest to his single-mindedness about his work.

With the help of his police crew and informers, Pacino begins to piece together the identities of the' gang. The members are put under surveillance, and their next job is aborted when De Niro realizes they have been detected.

Aided by Voight's information, De Niro and company attempt their last big haul: a bank vault loaded with cash. The planning succeeds until the escape. Police swarm around them, and a minor war ensues through the streets of downtown Los Angeles. It is the film's most grievous excess.

The gang scatters and the detectives close in. The final battle comes at Los Angeles International Airport, where the on-andoff landing lights earlly illuminate the gunmen.

Side-plots feature the women in the story: Pacino's third wife, Diane Venora, whose crumbling marriage causes her to turn to another man; De Niro's newfound love, Amy Brenneman, whose sweetness contrasts his coldblooded nature; Kilmer's wife, Ashley Judd, who refuses to betray him. All three actresses perform ably.

Pacino and De Niro know the territory and are in peak form. They have a classic scene in a coffee shop where they openly, if improbably, discuss their work. Their weary conclusion:

"I don't know how to do anything else."

"I don't either.' Mann deserves high points for devising the richly textured tale and keeping it in some form of cohesion. If only he as co-producer could have said, "Enough,

The Warner Bros. release was also produced by Art Linson. The rating is R for language and excessive violence, including pointblank killings.

Crime story: Robert De Niro, as top-level cold-blooded career thief Neil McCauley and Val Kilmer as Chris Shiherlis, his trusted crew member, in Warner Bros.' and Regency Enterprises' "Heat."

Bring cheer for holidays

Here's some stuff to bring you a little holiday

I couldn't figure out why Michigan State freshman Tara Overaitis (Livonia Ladywood/Dearborn Divine Child) played seven minutes in the first half, but didn't see a minute in the second half during last week's blowout against Western

Speaking of MSU women's hoops, the press guide says ex-Spartan Kim Archer (Livonia Bentley) is back in town working as a physical therapist. I'll say it again, when she played high school sports, she was a "Woman Among Girls."

Heard Guy Rucker (Westland John Glenn) is red-shirting this season at Iowa. Reliable sources told me that the 6-foot-11 freshman center was inand-out of practice the first three weeks tending to academic matters and a sore ankle. A red-shirt year is probably the best thing that ever happened

■ I wonder if Eastern Michigan's James Head (Plymouth Salem) will ever get a chance to play against Iowa?

■ Mike Donnelly (Livonia Franklin) is on a rehab assignment for the Dallas Stars in Kalamazoo. Does that mean he's joining forces with his old Livonia buddy, defenseman Dennis Smith?

Best wishes to Denny Knittel, the unofficial associate athletic director at Livonia Stevenson, for a speedy recovery. Hope he gets well fast for

I'm still trying figure out how the Livonia Churchill boys soccer team, with players like Scott Lamphear, Mike Gentile, Dominic Vella and Jeff Cassar - all college standouts couldn't get out of their district playoff tournament back in 1991?

Good to see old Garden City West standout Gary Nustad back coaching basketball. He's over at Henry Ford Community College and doing a pretty good job. Remember when he coached Tim McCormick at Clarkston?

Ex-Schoolcraft coach Dave Bogatal is back coaching basketball as an assistant with the Wayne Memorial Zebras.

■ Did anything notice Wayne's Lorenzo Guess and his brother Lavelle sitting behind the Michigan bench during the Duke game? And there was Steve Fisher watching Guess play Thursday night at Detroit DePorres.

A few weeks ago, I caught some flak from Clarenceville Superintendent of Schools Dave Kamish (phone call) and booster club president Richard Wood (letter to the editor) because they thought I "trashed" their facilities prior to the first-round football playoff game between Redford Catholic Central and Livonia Stevenson, Yes, I agree the facilities more than suit a Class C school, but not a Class AA playoff game. My intention was to get the Michigan High School Athletic Association's attention about quality playoff

Also, Mr. Wood says he's never seen me at any Clarenceville home sporting events, Maybe not as much as Stevenson, but we sent two reporters, including myself on one occasion, and had photographers on two separate occasions this fall at Clarenceville football games, the same amount as we did this season for Wayne Memorial and Livonia Churchill, both AA schools.

And secondly, Mr. Wood, I've made many special trips to the school tracking down delinquent coaches who didn't return phone calls or couldn't be reached (because of wrong numbers) to write preseason previews.

And thirdly, Mr. Wood, I made three visits to the University of Michigan Burn Center when head football coach Chuck Donaldson was fighting for his life following a car accident. Also, I arranged a visit on Donaldson's behalf from then U-M assistant, now Michigan head football coach Lloyd Carr.

Happy New Year, Mr. Wood.

Also, an aside to the CC-Stevenson football playoff site controversy:

Maybe the timing was too short, but people don't realize that Livonia Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ken Watson made arrangements to play at both Livonia Churchill and Dearborn Heights Creatwood, but administrators at both schools balked at the move.

CC athletic director Robert Santello said he was committed to the concession stand people at Clarenceville. Also, CC was able to charge for parking at Clarenceville. And apparently Stevenson administrators weren't wild about playing as the visiting team on one of their Livonia fields.

I hope this clears up some misunderstandings. m It appears that the expansion of the Suburban High School Hockey League has done wonders for competition. The addition of Walled Lake Central and the emergence of Birmingham and Livonia Franklin, make it an interesting season. It's called parity, but at least Stevenson and Churchill have get beat.

Wayne sharp, stops DePorres

Wayne Memorial is starting to hit on all cylinders. The Zebras pulled away in the final quarter to beat Detroit DePorres, one of the state's topranked teams in Class C. Lorenzo Guess led the way with 24 points.

By NEAL ZIPSER STAFF WRITER

It may have taken a couple weeks longer than expected, but the Wayne Memorial boys basketball team is starting to look like the team built up in pre-season hype.

After beginning their season with an overtime loss to Plymouth Canton, the Zebras have reeled off four consecutive wins.

Wayne's latest triumph came Thursday with an impressive 76-57 non-league victory at Detroit St. Martin DePorres. The Zebras were in control throughout the contest and added some breathing room by outscoring the Eagles 18-8 in the fourth quarter.

The rout was led by junior guard Lorenzo Guess, who scored a gamehigh 24 points and added four assists. seven rebounds and five steals.

Guess scored seven critical points midway through the third quarter after the Eagles narrowed Wayne's lead to 43-39. The four-point margin was as close as the Eagles could muster.

Guess ended the DePorres rally with a three-point play. After junior forward Richard Rashad scored on a layup, Guess nailed a triple and added two free throws to give the Zebras a comfortable 53-41 lead.

Wayne pulled away and outscored the Eagles 35-22 in the second half.

Richard Johnson added 14 points for Wayne. Rashad and Roland Patterson chipped in with 12 and eight points, respectively.

"We wanted to wear Lorenzo down because everything goes through him, but he is a superb athlete - both mentally and physically," said De-Porres coach Derrick Owens.

Guess showcased his talent in front of University of Michigan basketball coach Steve Fisher, who was on hand. "There were a lot of good athletes on the floor and he always attempts to perform above everyone else." Wayne Memorial coach Chuck Henry said. "He's also oblivious to the surroundings. It doesn't matter to him where the game is or who's on the floor. Those things don't make a difference with him.

The performance also overshadowed the play of DePorres sophomore Teremun Johnson, who proved to be the Eagles' primary offensive weapon. The 6-foot-5 forward poured in 20 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

Johnson didn't receive much help, however. Cliff Radcliffe was the only other Eagle in double figures as he came off the bench to net 11.

The difference was defense, according to Henry. Wayne's relentless man defense and full-court press forced DePorres into 25 turnovers. The Eagles shot 40 percent from the floor (22-of-55).

"I felt we did a lot of wild gambling on defense," Henry said. "After the third quarter, we played more controlled and our best defense of the game."

Wayne shot 54 percent from the floor (27-of-50) and 67 percent from the free throw line (18-of-27).

The Zebras took control of the game midway through the first quarter. After DePorres took a 10-9 lead - the eighth lead changed in the game's first five minutes - Wayne went on a 15-2 run to end the quarter.

The rally was sparked by threepointers from Jameel Wooden and Rodney Hurst.

Losing to Wayne didn't bother Owens, who knows his No. 1-ranked Class C team has its hands full with. the likes of the Zebras and perennial; power Beverly Hills-Detroit Country

"Wayne is a very good ballclub and a very athletic team," Owens said. "I'd rather play these type of games and find out where we are as a team than schedule cupcakes who we canbeat by 40 points. I'd rather lose now than in March.

"We do have a lot to work on, though. We have to work on boxing out, free throw shooting, and second and third effort. We have to play a solid 32 minutes and we only played 20 minutes tonight. Wayne played all

Zebras pin John Glenn

It's been awhile since Wayne Memorial beat Westland John Glenn on the wrestling mats.

The Zebras ended a five-year drought Wednesday with a 36-33 victory at Glenn.

Wayne, now 2-0 on the season, won the first five matches to take a 27-0 lead, but Glenn won the next six to tie it at 27.

The Zebras then captured two of the next three matches to wrap up the victory. Pat Grzecki's decision over Jason Steriof in the 189-pound match gave Wayne the lead for keeps. And George Buckner's pin against Aaron Swick in the 215-pound match sewed up the win for Wayne.

Glenn heavyweight Marc Dugas pinned William Laramie to close out the night.

"To be honest with you, I thought we'd win something like 42-27, but our heavyweight got caught on a move so it turned out a little differently.' Wayne second-year coach Dave Davis said. "It was a good win. Right now I'm going to give them a few days off and hopefully they'll come back strong next week.'

Patriots impress

Franklin freezes Walled Lake Central, 7-1

Livonia Franklin has a chance to turn a very good hockey season into an excellent one.

The Patriots trimmed Walled Lake Central, 7-1, Wednesday night, in a Suburban High School Hockey League game at Livonia's Eddie Edgar Arena.

They raised their overall record to 5-1-1 and 3-1 in the SHSHL. Next up: a battle with defending champion Livonia Stevenson on Friday, Jan. 5, at Edgar.

Ed Kruschka scored two goals and assisted on two others to help Franklin hand Walled Lake Central its first league loss in a 5-2-1 season. The Vikings are 4-1-1 in the league.

"We started out very, very strong in the first period," coach Terry Jobbitt sald. "Everybody was playing the system and working real hard. "We let down a little bit in the second period, but we picked it up again in the third. The last half of the third period we played our third and fourth lines and they did a very, very fine

Other goal acorers for Franklin included Kevin Bernard, who also had an assist, Eric Hillebrand, Chris Mason, Greg Job and Brad Dicks.

Both Job and Dicks each collected two assists along with Jeff Berger. Brad Thornhill, Tony Sala and Brent Sanzone had one each.

Brendon Frazier played goal for the Patriots and the lone goal he allowed came on a Central power play at 9:06 of the first period off the stick of Nick Fetzner. Job, Dicks and Mason scored on the power play for Franklin, which held a 27-17 edge in shots.

"I'm very, very happy with our progress and the way our kids are working," Jobbitt said.

BIRMINGHAM 2, CHURCHILL 1: Sophomore right winger Darin Egerer broke a 1-1 deadlock in the third period Wednesday to give host Birmingham United the win over Livonia Churchill.

It was the first SHSIII loss for the Chargers in four games, Churchill is 6-3 overall, while United is 4-2-3.

After a scoreless first period, Birmingham took a 1.0 advantage in the second on senior left winger Kevin Moore's goal from Scott Clements and Jon Responser. Churchill's Chris Kiehler, from Dave Higham and Ed Rossetto, knotted the count at 1-1 at 1:51 of the third, but Birmingham won it on Egerer's shot from Clements and Reepmeyer with 5:48 left.

Birmingham goaltender Jordan Bolton made 23 saves, Mark Felker was in the nets for Churchill.

"We didn't get enough shots on goal," Churchill coach Jeff Hatley said. "And our big line got caught on coach, along with Elliot Washburn. some extended shifts and they were a little rubber-legged at the end of the game.!!-

REDFORD CC 6. PIONEER 4: Redford Catholic Central needed some clutch goaltending down the stretch from sophomore goaltender Ricky Marnon to beat host Ann Arbor Pioneer at the Ice Cube complex.

CC played two men short for nearly four minutes in the final period and needed a "major league" save, according to coach Gordie St. John, from Marnon, to fend off the Pioneers (4-5 overall).

"At the end of the game they (Ploneer) really controlled it in our end," said St. John, whose team is 5.1 overall and 4-0 in the Michigan Metro.

Eric Bratcher scored what proved to be the game-winner in the final period, a short-handed effort from Matt

John Rogan's empty-netter clinched the win for CC, which outshot the Pioneers, 23-18.

Rogan gave CC a 1-0 first-period lead on assists from Giordano and Mike Davis, but Ann Arbor answered with three straight before CC deadlocked the game at 3-3 after one peri-

Tina Naif, a 5-foot-8 junior outside hitter, paced Churchill with 16 service points, four blocks and five kills.

Teammate Amanda Eszes, a 5-10 junior outside hitter, added six blocks and four kills.

Charger coach Mike Hughes was also pleased with the setting of 5-5 junior Kari Buzewski and 5-4 senior Kerri Verardi.

In the other match, strong performances by Chrissy Harkless, Jenny Smith and Jamie Romej carried John Glenn to a 15.7, 15.11 victory over rival Wayne Memorial.

Churchill went 2-0 in the round-robin; Glenn, 1-1; and Wayne, 0-2.

Senior-Youth challenge on schedule

HARRISON

It will be the battle of the ages when the Senior/Youth Challenge comes up in March at Mayflower Lanes in Redford Township. Mayflower is the west-side home of many of the finest senior leagues in the area, including the Wednesday Senior Classic. It so happens that the YABA youth league bowls there on Saturdays and some of the kids think they can outbowl the grumpier old men in a tournament setting. This is the first time that we know of an organized tournament of this nature with the kids competing on an even basis with the senior citizens. It will take place at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 9. There will be celebrities on hand for the occasion, including WJR radio personality Michael Barr - a very avid bowler himself.

For further details, call Eleanor Hill at Mayflower Lanes at (313) 937-8420 or Ron Lancaster at (313) 595-1155.

Here comes "Expo" again, as the next one will take place at Gibraltar Trade Center in Taylor, Jan. 26-28. Exhibitor spaces are still available if you have any product or services for bowlers and would like to set up a display booth.

This has been a pretty successful show from the first one three years ago to the present. It is an opportunity for bowlers to purchase new equipment at discount prices. Many of the balls are drilled right there at the show.

It is also a great opportunity to see the latest in products, ideas, organizations and tournaments. There are always some well-known bowling personalities on hand for autographs.

If you have never yet attended one of the prior events, now is the time. If you are a vendor and would like more information, call Pam Lezotte at (313) 287-

Do you want to have some fun on New Year's Eve and maybe just win some money while you're at it? Many of the local bowling centers have their usual bowling "No Taps" party for this occasion. Many places usually have a package which includes the bowling fees, prize money, food and perhaps some bubbly for the strike of midnight

Check with the local lanes in your area, but don't wait too long and be left out as they usually fill the lanes for this

Lady Crusaders edge Hope, 69-68

Despite a run of errent shooting, Madonna University's women's basketball team managed to edge Hope College, 69-68. Wednesday in the consolation final of the Hope Holiday Women's Basketball Tournament in Holland.

In the championship game, Saginaw Valley State knocked off Mount Union 61-56 to run the Cardinals' record to 8-3. Julie Nicastri, a junior from Plymouth Canton HS, was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player after totaling 34 points in the two games.

Nicastri was joined on the six-player all-tournament team by Madonna's Stacy Lamphere and Mary Murray.

The win pushed the Lady Crusaders' record to 10-7. Hope is 1-8.

Lamphere led Madonna with 19 points and 14 rebounds, with two steals. Katie Cushman added 17 points, two assists and two steals, and Francine Williams finished with 11 points. eight rebounds, eight assists and three steals.

Hope got 14 points and nine boards from Kari Nysse, 11 points from Gina Webster and 10 points from Johanna La-Gore.

The game was close throughout, with Hope leading 33-32 at the half. Part of Madonna's problem was shooting: They converted just 30-of-76 floor shots (39.5 percent), including 3-of-21 from three-point range (14.3 percent). Hope was 28-of-63 (44.4 percent), making 6-of-20 threes (30 percent).

If there was a factor that made a difference and favored Madonna, it was turnovers: The Lady Crusaders had just 12, compared to 21 by the Flying Dutch.

HENRY FORD 56, SCHOOLCRAFT 48: It was a disappointing way to go into the holiday.

Schoolcraft College was hoping to go into the Christmas break with a win over Henry Ford CC. After all, the game was on SC's floor and the Lady Hawks had just six players dressed for the game. It didn't seem to make much difference to them. Even though the Lady Ocelots jumped out to a quick 8.0 lead in the first two minutes of the game, Henry Ford stayed on track and outscored SC 35-17 the rest of the half to open up a 35-23 halftime lead. SC closed to within four points with 3:30 remaining in the game, but that's as close as it got in the second

The Ocelots got 14 points and 11 rebounds from Julie Schmidt and nine points from Becky Billecki (Livonia Ladywood). The Hawks were paced by Alana Caver with 21 points. Joanne McComb with 14 and Erica Anderson (from Plymouth Canton) with nine.

The loss dropped SC to 7-5 overall. 0.1 in the Eastern Conference. Henry Ford is 1-0 in the conference.

Shooting certainly favored the Hawks. They converted 62 percent of their field goal attempts, while SC managed to make just 35 percent. Part of the Ocelots' problem was missed layups — 14 in the game.

Madonna men's cagers fall on road

It looked promising.

Dan Perttula, the senior guard from Redford Thurston, finally returned to the Madonna University men's basketball lineup (he had to sit out the first 13 games due to a lack of credits) and the Fighting Crusaders were rolling.

Playing at Urbana University (Urbana, Ohio), they took a 44-41 lead into the locker room at halftime. They made 15-of-30 from the floor (50 percent), including 4of-10 three-pointers (40 percent) and 10-of-11 free throws (90.9 per-

But it didn't last. Urbana outscored Madonna 44-31 in the second half to cruise to an 85-75 victory Thursday in Urbana.

Mike Maryanski led the Crusaders with 16 points. Perttula had 15, while Jeff Kennedy totaled 12 points, four assists and five steals, with Brandon Slone (Plymouth Salem HS) had 11 points. Christian Emert scored nine, with four assists.

Urbana got 25 points from J.J. White, 20 from Hyssan Goode (on 9-of-11 shooting), and 15 from Aaron Riddle.

The loss dropped the Crusaders' record to 3-11 and was their seventh in the last eight games. Urbana is 7-4. After its strong first half, Madonna returned to normal in the second, making just 9-of-25 shots from the floor (36 percent). Urbana converted 13-of-27 in the half (29-of-58, 50 percent for the a game) and outrebounded SC, 37-32. Also, the Crusaders made 29 turnovers - Kennedy had eight, Perttula six and Slone five - to Urbana's 23. HENRY FORD 101, SCHOLCRAFT 81: The score might indicate a high-paced, runand-gun kind of game. In reality, it was a free-throw shooting contest.

A one-sided one at that. The Hawks went to the line 45 times Wednesday at Schoolcraft College and made 30 (66.7 percent). SC took just 12 foul shots, making six (50 percent).

Jason Maschke (Livonia Franklin)

netted 14 points to pace the Ocelots, who fell to 4-7 overall. Tim Burns had 13, Aaron Brown 12 and Naron Burks 10. Rudy Hatfield (Livonia Churchill) finished with eight. Henry Ford was led by Jerome Turner's, 30 points. Matt Paupore (Plymouth Canton), who transferred in after a year at Wayne State, scored 22. Tom Hallett had 17, Julius Hawkins totaled 12 and Lance Swick netted 11.

The win pushed the Hawks' record to 7-4 overall. It was the Eastern Conference opener for both teams,

Area deer hunters establish new standard

PARKER

Michigan hunters set a buck harvest record of 208,000 this fall, but Observer & Eccentric readers set a record with 47 successful hunter reports as of Dec. 19. That number eclipses the old mark of 39 set in 1989. And we're not done yet! Archery deer season continues through Jan. 1, so keep me post-

Not only did

If you haven't called or written with your 1995 hunting success, time is running out. Contact me with the details at the address or phone number listed at the bottom of this column.

A couple elk hunters highlight this week's successful hunter re-

■ Paul Opfermann of Farmington

Hills had one of those once-in-alifetime hunting trips this fall. Hunting in the Kaibab National Forest in northern Arizons, Opfermann dropped a record-book bull with his bow and arrow on Sept. 25. The "Imperial" bull sported an 8-by-8 rack and field scored 360 (260 is needed for Pope & Young recognition). "I have made hunting trips to several areas out west as well as Canada and Mexico," explained Opfermann. "This trip was the best yet . . . one of those rare times when almost everything turned out better than expected." Livonia's Mark Wadkins had a very successful elk hunt during Michigan's December season. Hunting with guide Bob Whitney on state land near Atlanta, Wadkins shot a 3-by-4 bull that dressed out at 450 pounds.

The size of the rack isn't what impressed Wadkins. "It's an odd rack," he said. "The brow tines turn in opposite directions, the tines are going every direction. in a group of five bulls when we saw him and he was the biggest

With 25 inches of snow on the ground stalking was difficult, but Wadkins was able to sneak to within 100 yards for his shot.

■ Lake Orion's Al Bothwell had a fantastic deer hunting season. On Oct. 9, Bothwell bagged an 8point buck with his bow and on Nov. 26 he took another 8-point with his shotgun. Both bucks were taken on private land in Oakland County.

■ Todd Carrothers also had a great deer season. The Lake Orion hunter shot a spike buck with his bow on Oct. 1, then dropped an 8point with his shotgun on Nov. 19. Carrothers was bow hunting near Rose City and took the 8point in Oakland County.

Oxford's Chuck Boike and Troy's John Kliemac each shot his second button buck in as while hunting in Gladwin County. The two hunters decided to form "The Button Buck Club" and both vow never to shoot a button buck again.

"Since everyone had a doe permit, these button bucks were thought to be does when they were taken," explained Boike.
"The club will hunt annually during the muzzleloading season and will promise not to shoot any more button bucks."

■ Dave Rollings traveled to the Upper Peninsula for the firearms season and returned home with a beautiful buck. The Troy hunter tagged a 7-point on Nov. 16 while hunting in an opening on the edge of a swamp. The large buck dressed-out at 180 pounds.

(Whitney) said there was a many years during the recently. Troy's Randy Bradley, hunting strange rack in the area. He was ended muzzleloading season in the same camp as Rollings, bagged a 4-point on Nov. 18 from the front door of deer camp. It was the fourth buck in seven years Bradley has shot from within 10 yards of the front door of camp.

■ Wess Durbin broke a 30-year drought on opening day of the firearms season. The Ypsilanti hunter shot a 4-point while hunting in Iosco County. The last buck Durbin tagged was also a 4. point and was taken in 1965.

■ Gary Zapoli of Warren shot a 4point during the firearms season while hunting near Hubbard Lake. It was Zapoli's first deer in 30 years of hunting.

Last, but not least, I have to mention the success of my older brother, John. I've been trying (unsuccessfully) to keep pace with him over the years and fell further behind this fall. The Oxford hunter arrowed a dandy 6point with a 15-inch apread on Oct. 1. He used a muzzleloader to drop an 8-point with a 16-inch spread on Dec. 13. The second buck dressed-out at 190-pounds and was his fourth big buck in two years. I was very fortunate, and extremely pleased, to take a doe with my bow and a 4-point buck with my shotgun.

Hunters and anglers are urged to report their success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Send information via fax to (810) 644-1314 or call Bill Parker evenings at (810) 901-2573.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

!. Include the price. Don't vaste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond o your ad will be those who are renuinely interested. Surveys how that readers are more nterested in those items and ervices they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your Item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

Mazda's RX-7 is a great car

By Anne Fracassa Avanti NewsFeatures

If you've ever driven a true sports car — you know, felt the total power under the gas pedal and control of the steering wheel; the true excitement of dashing ahead at a light and maneuvering effortlessly around traffic; the smiles on your face and others as you drive by — then you'll know what it's like to slip inside the Mazda RX-7.

Total redesign three years ago was the key to Mazda engineers on this third-generation RX-7. It was the third new car the Japanese automaker had brought to the American market in less than six months, following on the heels of the redesigned 929 luxury sedan and the brand-new MX-3 sports coupe.

The 1995 RX-7 turbo-powered sports car costs under $35,000.

The current RX-7, manufactured in Japan, differs greatly from its pre-1993 predecessor. Traditionally, sports car makers increase the size and weight of the car when restyling and retooling a model.

Mazda did the opposite. This RX-7 is smaller, lighter and simpler. Mazda engineers shaved 240 pounds off the weight of the previous generation RX-7, gave it a shorter wheelbase, widened it by 2 inches and lowered it by an inch. And even with all those reductions, the current model has 20 percent more body rigidity, making it more nimble.

The current RX-7 is powered by the newest version of Mazda's leg-

ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

endary two-rotor engine, incorporated with a sequential twin turbocharger, which replaces the last model's single turbocharger.

Boring it is not. The new engine produces 255 horsepower at 6,500 rpm and 217 foot-pounds of torque at 5,000 rpm. Top speed is 185 mph. Zero-to-60 mph in 4.9 seconds.

In mid-day traffic around the tame streets and freeways in Dearborn, the new RX-7 couldn't be pushed above 70 mph, but even with a short ride, you could feel the power, the sheer excitement, the longing stares from college kids exiting the University of Michigan's Dearborn campus for a lunch-time break

Response is phenomenal. Gear ratios are really tight, giving you power not imagined since the likes of the Corvette ZR-1. And even with all that power, EPA mileage ratings are a very respectable 17 mph in the city and 25 mph on the highway.

The interior isn't all electronic gadgetry. Simplicity was the key. From its metal clutch and brake pedals to the round, analog instrumentation, it seems more like a throwback to the English roadsters, in a sense.

The RX-7 is offered in only one model with two option packages: The performance-based R-1 and a touring package.

The R-1 features dual oil coolers.

Z-rated tires and an aero package and spoiler that reduces front and rear lift at higher speeds. Cost: $1,000. Priced at $3,000, the touring package includes leather seats, cruise control, power sunroof and a special Bose speaker system.

The RX-7 has a driver's side air bag and anti-lock brakes as standard equipment.

Mazda expects to market more than 9,000 RX-7 models in the coming year to a select group. Advertising will be aimed toward 80 percent males, median age of 44, average yearly income of $95,000, 75 percent college graduates and 55 percent married.

How Many Fluids?

(CCC) - How many fluids can be checked on a typical car? Four? Six? Ten? If you guessed ten, you're right. They're found in the:

- 1. Engine
- 2. Transmission
- 3. Braking System
- 4. Battery
- 5. Windshield Washers 6. Power Steering
- 7. Cooling System (Antifreeze)
- 8. CV JOINTS/REAR AXLE
- 9. Gas Tank 10. Air Conditioner
- All of the above require periodic checking and "topping off".

Car's Quirks Can Be Tip-Off To Winter Driving Problems

(NAPS) - Pro race-car driver Pat Lazzaro says a woman's trip to the tire store can be a lot like a man's trip to the lingerie store.

"In both cases, each may feel out of place in a strange environment and be unfamiliar with the sizing technology," Lazzaro says. "They have a vague idea of what they want and what they think they need, but they may feel uncomfortable discussing their very different purchases with the person behind the counter."

So how can a woman feel more comfortable buying tires? Lazzaro, who also serves as an advisor for Firestone's Women's Education Program, says women need to be prepared to ask and answer questions.

 Ask about total installation cost, not just the price of the tires. When you install tires, you need to include alignment, balancing, stems, taxes and labor. What appears to be a bargain may not be if the seller overcharges for installationrelated fees.

 Ask about future alignment, balancing and rotation costs. Some sellers may provide discounts on these services.

• Be prepared to answer all of these questions: Do you drive on snow, rough roads or highways? Do you take short trips in town or drive on the interstate? How long do you want your tires to last? Do you want a firm and sporty ride or one that's soft and luxurious? How much do you want to pay? How much weight do you typically plan to carry?

"If possible, start shopping for tires before you need them," Lazzaro adds. "If you're driving on bald tires and have a flat, you don't have a chance to shop for the best deal and service."

Buying a Used Car Can Be Risky.

Blackwell Ford can help minimize the rick you take when purchasing a used venicle. Every used vehicle sold by Blackwell Ford undergoes extensive reconditioning and safety inspection before it is offered for sale. If the vehicle does not meet our high standards, it will never be displayed on our lot. In the unlikely event that something does go wrong with your vehicle during the first 30 days or 2,000 miles, whichever occurs first, we will stand behind it 100% and repair it free of charge, It's that simple. We offer new car peace of mind with your used vehicle purchase. Stop in today to see our large selection of quality used vehicles, all priced to sell. And please remember...

"If You Don't Know Used Care, Know Your Dealer."
