Postal union: Issues unresolved

Of the 495 grievances received by the Wayne and Westland post offices in 1997, "almost all" were filed by the 138 mail carriers at the Westland post office, which serves both Westland and Canton.

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

"You want the succinct problem in Westland? They're not talking to us," said Tim Manning, president of Branch 2184 of the National Association of Letter Carriers, referring to the 495 grievances received by the Wayne and Westland post offices in 1997.

He emphasized that "almost all" the grievances, which were appealed to the second step of the grievance process, were filed by the 138 mail carriers at the Westland post office, which serves both Westland and Canton. The Wayne post office employs 45 mail carriers.

The first step of a grievance involves an employee meeting with an immediate supervisor, with or without a union representative; the second step involves a meeting between the union representative and the postmaster, with or without the employee; the third step involves the union bringing in a district business agent.

Manning said the main problem at the Westland post office is lack of communication, "not taking time to sit down and talk to the employee, define the issue and attempt to resolve it right there." He said employees wait from several days to two weeks before being allowed to meet with a union representative over a grievance.

Manning acknowledged that the problems have been going on for a long time but said "the breakdown of the process increased dramatically" after Gladys Jolla became postmaster in March. Jolla heads both the Wayne and Westland post offices.

Manning said a range of contractual issues continue since Jolla took the helm, including:

- Forced overtime due to insufficient staffing;
- Disregarding the established vacation and sick leave program;
- Premature abolishment of assignments before automation was fully implemented;
- Denial of prompt access to union stewards regarding grievances;

Senior center addition construction continues

The grand opening of an $930,000 addition to Westland's senior citizen Friendship Center has been delayed until at least April or May, according to the center's director.

The delay is due to not getting equipment and supplies on a timely basis, according to Friendship Center director Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek.

The new 4,620-square-foot addition will include a computer room for seniors. Before the addition the center had 12,568 square feet of space. The grand opening had originally been planned for November 1997, then tentatively for January or February 1998.

The addition is being built on the front of the Friendship Center, at 1119 N. Newburgh, just north of Marquette. It will also include a large multi-purpose room that can be partitioned into as many as four small rooms. The city is building the addition with a federal loan that will be repaid over the next 10 years from Community Development Block Grant funds.

Incinerator project appeal up to EPA board

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

A citizen's appeal to the Environmental Appeals Board of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has halted a permit for a $105 million planned waste-to-energy incinerator project, located in Dearborn Heights, that would serve Westland and Garden City.

Maybe Sandra Yerman of Romulus, whose appeal was postmarked Dec. 29, 1997 - the deadline for filing, according to federal regulations - will have to wait for the board's decision. She appealed to protest the impact of the incinerator's wastes on lakes in southeastern Michigan.

Expansion of the existing incinerator - owned by a consortium, which includes Westland, Garden City, Inkster and Wayne - includes increasing capacity to 800 tons a day, adding energy recovery equipment, and putting in new air pollution control equipment. The steam produced by trash incineration will generate electricity, which will be sold to Detroit Edison.

Attorneys for the Central Wayne Energy Recovery Limited Partnership, the private-public partnership managing the project, filed a motion Jan. 14 with the EAB to dismiss Yerman's appeal on the basis it was filed too late and failed to raise pertinent issues.

The appeal was received by the board in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 5.

"It (the appeal) has to be received by the filing deadline to be timely. The word 'filing' in that deadline means 'received,'" said David Heckler, counsel to the EAB. He added that the time constraints are part of the "general rule."

Heckler would not comment on the validity or specifics of Yerman's appeal. "That would be for the board to

Fest to feature family fun

Want to chase those winter blues away? Grab your scarf and mittens and head to WinterFest. This year's festival, the city's fourth, promises a fun-filled weekend for the family Feb. 7-8 at the Bailey Recreation Center and other sites.

In addition to the children's show "Max the Moose," there'll be a midway full of games and prizes to entertain the kids at the recreation center. "Last year, we had the Bailey building chock full of children," said Diane Abbott, the city's cable consultant and community relations director.

This year's activities include a 5-mile run/3-mile walk, a golf outing, and a high school teen dance 7-11 p.m. Saturday. Josh Grajin, a student at John Glenn High School, will sing and play the synthesizer. "He's really very good, very polished," said Abbott.

If you prefer bowling balls instead of snowballs, sign up for the Westland Chamber of Commerce's WinterFest Bowling Outing, held at Westland Bowl from 1-5 p.m. on Saturday. For Improper assignment of city carriers to rural routes. Jolla said she would not respond in depth to Manning's comments. "Everything we're involved in is in a hearing or in the process of being settled." She added: "I am not incriminating myself or my employees by commenting on statements made by a person who has gone above and beyond reality of the way the post office is going."

Jolla also said many problems were inherited.

Postmaster Jolla said she is confident working conditions and employee relations will get better at the Westland post office.

Manning said while most workers get overtime, the upper end is supposed to be 60 hours. "I look at the time reports and I see 65-70 hours. That's a lot of hours to work. Some people don't want to work that much overtime. They have family, and some have child-care problems."

"A lot of overtime is forced. That may be a reason some mail is late. People were working too many hours."

Jolla said she is hiring people on an ongoing basis. She said she is confident the post office will achieve a "comfortable amount of people, where forcing people to do overtime is a thing of the past." She clarified her statement by saying employees are "not forced" but "have an opportunity" to do overtime. "Some people have been persuaded not to participate."

Manning said Jolla has not adjusted the routes properly. "Some of the routes are longer than eight-hour routes. She's understaffed. She needs 10 to 14 more letter carriers." Manning also said he attended a meeting with Jolla in December during which "her boss authorized her to hire 14 more carriers."

Manning said he believed Jolla recently hired three more Westland carriers.

Jolla would not confirm the number of employees at the Westland post office or the number of recent hires. "We received a number to bring us up to complement (adequate staffing). It may be more than 14," she said.

Manning said insufficient staffing has affected service. "Deliveries are taking place later in the day. Much of the third-class mail is being rolled to the next day. That's not good service. Occasionally, people are getting sales papers when the sales are over."

Jolla said she is confident working conditions and employee relations will get better at the Westland post office. "Whenever you take on a new leader, it brings out resentment. But you do become accustomed to it when that person is consistent."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE THE GARDEN CITY CITY COUNCIL ON THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS FOR THE BENEFIT OF GARDEN CITY HOSPITAL, OSTEOPATHIC

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the City Council of the City of Garden City will hold a public hearing at 7:20 p.m., on Monday, February 2, 1998, in the Garden City City Hall, 6000 Middlebelt Road, Garden City, Michigan, on the proposed issuance by the Garden City Hospital Finance Authority of bonds (the "Bonds") for the benefit of Garden City Hospital, Osteopathic (the "Borrower").

The proceeds of the Bonds will be loaned to the Borrower and used by the Borrower, together with other available funds, for any one or more of the following purposes: (i) to refund the $20,080,000 Michigan State Hospital Finance Authority Revenue Bonds (Garden City Hospital Obligated Group) Series 1991A (the "Prior Bonds"); (ii) to finance, the acquisition and installation of various items of equipment for a renovations and improvements to the physical facilities of the Borrower located at 6245 and 6265 North Inkster Road, Garden City, Michigan (the "Hospital Facility") and the acquisition of computer and office equipment at the administrative facilities of the Borrower located at 6701 Harrison, Garden City, Michigan; (iii) to fund a debt service reserve fund for the Bonds; and (iv) to pay the costs of issuing the Bonds. The Bonds are proposed to be issued in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed Twenty Nine Million Dollars ($29,000,000). Additional detail with respect to the items being financed or refinanced with the proceeds of the Bonds is available upon request.

The proceeds of the Prior Bonds were used, together with other available funds, (i) to refund taxable bonds (the "Refunded Bonds") issued in 1987 for the benefit of the Borrower and Garden Nursing Center (the "Nursing Center"), (ii) to refinance existing indebtedness of the Borrower borrowed from Comerica Bank-Detroit (now known as Comerica Bank) (the "Bank Indebtedness"), (iii) to finance, additions and renovations to and the acquisition of equipment and certain real property for the Hospital Facility, (iv) to fund a debt service reserve fund for the Prior Bonds, and (v) to pay the costs of issuing the Prior Bonds.

The proceeds of the Refunded bonds were used, together with other available funds, (i) to finance renovations and improvements to and equipment for the Hospital Facility, (ii) to refund certain indebtedness of the Nursing Center which indebtedness was used for renovations of and additions and improvements to the Nursing Center facilities located at 3996 South Venoy, Wayne, Michigan and 2936 South John Daly, Inkster, Michigan, and (iii) to pay the costs of issuing the Refunded Bonds. The Bank Indebtedness was used to finance additions and improvements to the Hospital Facility.

The Bonds will be limited obligations of the Authority payable only from loan repayments to be made to the Authority by the Borrower, and certain funds and accounts established by the bond indenture of the Authority for the Bonds.

The Bonds will not be a general obligation of the Authority and will not be a debt of the City of Garden City, the State of Michigan or any political subdivision of the State of Michigan. The Authority has no taxing power and the issuance of the Bonds will not obligate the City of Garden City, the State of Michigan or any political subdivision of the State of Michigan to levy or pledge any form of taxation for the Bonds or to make an appropriation for the payment of the Bonds.

The hearing will provide a reasonable opportunity for expression of opinion, argument on the merits, and introduction of documentary evidence pertaining to the proposed issuance of the Bonds. Written comments will be accepted by the City Council but must be received on or before the date of hearing.

included us." Bill Camp, executive director for secondary education for the Wayne-Westland schools and a member of the Martin Luther King Day planning committee, also said the schools are "just thrilled" to be included in the celebration.

Camp said a number of school officials plan to attend. "Hopefully, there'll be a lot of students there," he added. While he hopes for clear skies with no rain or snow, Camp, recalling the experiences of the civil rights marchers, said: "The weather was immaterial to them." Gary Gibbs, a native of New York, will do several dramatic readings from Dr. King's speeches. Remarks from Westland City Council President Sandra Cicirelli and Mayor Robert Thomas will follow. The song "America the Beautiful" will bring the official celebration of Martin Luther King Day to a close.

Camp said the public is invited to an afterglow with refreshments and entertainment by the reggae-style Gratitude Steel Band.

answer," he said.

"Are they talking business days, holidays? I don't know that," said Yerman. Yerman said she received a letter Nov. 24 from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality that the final appeal date had been delayed until Dec. 29 due to errors in the permit.

"Nothing in the letter said it (the appeal) had to be received by Dec. 29. They never specified, so I presumed it meant postmarked," she said.

(Heckler said respondents would have an extra three days added to the 30-day appeal period if the final permit was mailed rather than hand-delivered.)

"If you're talking 33 days, or even 30 days, business, then I'm on time," said Yerman. She said there were a lot of holidays during the appeal time. "To me, they should go by business days and then I'll be all right."

Lynn Fiedler, supervisor of the Thermal Process Unit in the permit section at the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, said appeals are not common. "This is the second permit we ever had that was appealed." She said the permit is not effective "until there is a decision by the Environmental Appeals Board."

Fiedler said she has not seen the CWERLP's response to Yerman's appeal since the Environmental Appeals Board receives the information first, then forwards a copy to MDEQ. Also, MDEQ has until Feb. 23 to respond to the appeal.

When informed that CWERLP's motion claimed financial distress due to the permit delay, Fiedler said: "We don't get involved in economic issues."

Fiedler also said MDEQ could not comment on CWERLP's assertion that Yerman's appeal wasn't filed in time. "That's an appeals board decision. They'll have to mull it over. I can see both sides. Our agency is staying in the background."

Yerman said filing the appeal was a hardship. "The last people I wanted to talk to around Christmas was the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality."

SPOTLIGHT ON Orthodontics

by Josephine Finazzo, D.M.D.

OF PRIMARY CONCERN

Among the signs that the orthodontist looks for which indicate potential problems with secondary teeth are primary teeth that are crowded, crooked, missing, or misaligned, and biting or chewing problems. In addition, before all the child's permanent teeth are in, the orthodontist can look at the child's facial structure and secondary-tooth development for abnormalities. These, too, may be evaluated in a determination to see whether braces will eventually be needed to attain a normal appearance or bite. Therefore, while many children do not get braces until most of their permanent teeth are in, some may get braces sooner if there is a clear indication that a tooth or jaw problem will not correct itself in time.

Crowded and crooked teeth are hard to clean and maintain. This may contribute to conditions which cause not only tooth decay, but eventual gum disease and tooth loss. Other orthodontic problems can cause abnormal wear of tooth surfaces, excess stress on supporting bone and gum tissue, or misalignment of the jaw joints with resultant chronic headaches or pain in the face or neck. For further information or to schedule a free initial consultation, call THE ORTHODONTIC GROUP, 19223 Merriman, Livonia (442-8885).

NOTICE TO ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF GARDEN CITY OF INTENT TO ISSUE GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS PAYABLE FROM TAX INCREMENT REVENUES OF THE GARDEN CITY DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY AND OF RIGHT OF REFERENDUM RELATING THERETO

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the City Council of the City of Garden City intends to authorize the issuance and sale of general obligation bonds pursuant to Act 197, Public Acts of Michigan, 1975, as amended, in the aggregate principal amount of not to exceed Three Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($3,500,000), for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring, constructing and reconstructing certain streetscape and infrastructure improvements within the Development Area of the Garden City Downtown Development Authority (the "GCDDA"), including walkway paving for pedestrian use, improvements to meet ADA requirements, improvements to the lighting system, landscaping and irrigation installation, utility improvements, and site furnishings and improvements related thereto, and acquiring, constructing and reconstructing water, sewer and drainage facilities and improvements, all as set forth in the GCDDA's Development and Tax Increment Financing Plans, in effect and as proposed to be amended, on file with the City.

The bonds will mature in annual installments not to exceed twenty-five (25) in number, with interest rates to be determined at public sale but in no event to exceed twelve percent (12%) or such higher rate as may be permitted by law on the unpaid balance from time to time remaining outstanding on said bonds.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT OF BONDS

THE PRINCIPAL OF AND INTEREST ON SAID GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS shall be payable primarily from the tax increment revenues derived from the Development Area of the GCDDA received by the City from the GCDDA.

IN ADDITION, THE FULL FAITH, CREDIT AND RESOURCES OF THE CITY SHALL BE IRREVOCABLY PLEDGED TO THE PAYMENT OF SAID BONDS, AND IN CASE OF INSUFFICIENCY OF THE TAX INCREMENT REVENUE PAYMENTS FOR THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF AND INTEREST ON THE BONDS, THE CITY SHALL BE OBLIGATED TO PAY THE SAME AS A FIRST BUDGET OBLIGATION FROM ITS GENERAL FUNDS OR FROM ANY TAXES WHICH IT MAY LEVY WITHIN APPLICABLE CONSTITUTIONAL, STATUTORY, OR CHARTER TAX LIMITATIONS.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

THE GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS WILL BE ISSUED WITHOUT A VOTE OF THE ELECTORS UNLESS A PETITION REQUESTING AN ELECTION ON THE QUESTION OF ISSUING THE BONDS, SIGNED BY NOT LESS THAN 10% OF THE REGISTERED ELECTORS OF THE CITY, IS FILED WITH THE CITY CLERK-TREASURER WITHIN FORTY-FIVE (45) DAYS AFTER PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE. If such a petition is filed, the bonds cannot be issued unless approved by the majority vote of the electors of the City voting on the question of their issuance.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 5 of Act 279, Public Acts of Michigan, 1909, as amended.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION respecting the bonds will be furnished at the office of the City Clerk-Treasurer upon request.

People having fun on cold days develop big appetites, especially after building snowmen and enjoying a brisk sleigh ride. Don't worry. There'll be lots to eat, including the firefighters' feather-light pancakes, Mayor Robert Thomas' famous chili, and William D. Ford Career Center's hearty beef stew. "Ooooh, it's wonderful," said Abbott about the beef stew, which student cooks will dish out from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

Sharon Scott, WinterFest's chairwoman, said more families are discovering that WinterFest is an inexpensive way for families to spend time together while having fun. "It's becoming more popular. Attendance definitely is up. Each year it's improving. It's a great event for small children."

And WinterFest definitely will get the blood circulating in coach potatoes. "It helps people to get out in the winter when it's easy just to cocoon. It's a good chance for co-workers and families to get out and enjoy some of the amenities in our city," said Linda Shapona, executive director of the chamber.

The goal of WinterFest's planners is to make the event self-supporting. Participants are asked to donate 10 percent of their profits; however, many "give it all back," said Scott. The city council has allocated $20,000 for the festival's expenses, but Scott said that amount won't be used. The difference will be returned to the council budget.

Scott anticipates another successful WinterFest this year. "It's been a real positive event from the beginning, and I see it growing. People who have participated always come back. And, of course, we always get new people."

Voice of Democracy

Mary L. Gillespie of Westland, a student at John Glenn High School, took fifth place in the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary Voice of Democracy program of VFW Post 345.

The program awarded Matthew Peterson of Redford, a student at Catholic Central, first place on Jan. 10 for his participation in the VFW 4th District's VOD program.

Peterson received a $1,000 scholarship and a $500 bond.

The following students also received awards: Tainaporn Wansom of Grosse Ile, second place; Terese A. Traylor of Allen Park, third place; and Katherine M. Wagner of Lincoln Park, fourth place.

Honors band

John Alder, a senior at John Glenn High School, participated in the fourth annual Michigan State University High School Honors Band and Chamber Music Weekend Jan. 9-11 in East Lansing.

The event was sponsored by MSU's School of Music and Wharton Center for Performing Arts. Alder, who plays the clarinet, joined 80 high school students from across the state in attending workshops and master classes.

The students performed in a Sunday afternoon concert at the Wharton Center.

Wayne Memorial students turn up heat to aid others

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

Thanks to Wayne Memorial High School students, many Wayne County residents will get through winter a little more comfortably this year.

The student senate devised "Turn Up the Heat" to benefit PeopleCare, a program jointly operated by Consumers Energy and The Salvation Army. Students brought empty cans to classes for about a week and asked fellow students, teachers, school staff and administrators for donations. Local grocery stores also agreed to display the collection cans.

"Turn Up The Heat" was a success, bringing in $776. In the spirit of giving, the student senate voted to round out the donation to an even $1,000.

"We'd never done anything like this to help those in need in our community. We heard about a similar program at a student senate conference and decided to give it a try," said senior Andrea McCahill, student senate president and fund-raiser coordinator along with senior Ricky Gebel.

The PeopleCare program helps needy families by providing food, shelter, clothing and other emergency aid. In 1997, PeopleCare distributed $710,000 to more than 14,000 families across Michigan. In addition, Consumers Energy provided $1.5 million in energy bill credits.

The Salvation Army, one of the oldest nonprofit social service organizations in the United States, determines eligibility for PeopleCare assistance or bill credits. They were selected by Consumers Energy to distribute PeopleCare funds because of their experience in screening applicants and processing aid.

At the school check-presentation ceremony, Bill Pike, Wayne area manager for Consumers Energy, thanked the students, "It's great to see students like yourselves who care about the community in which they live," he said. "Thanks to your efforts, you'll help many Wayne County residents through PeopleCare. They may need help paying their grocery bill, medical bill or energy bill. Whatever the need you are helping to meet it."

Consumers Energy customers can participate in the PeopleCare program by checking the box at the top of January energy bills to make a donation of $1 per month, or a one-time donation of $5.

Larger contributions can be made by sending a check to PeopleCare, 212 W. Michigan Ave., Jackson, Mich. 49201.

SMART millage

Commissioners want more information from transit staff

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

Before county commissioners support a Wayne County millage proposal expected to be on the ballot in August, they want to hear from leaders of the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation and Detroit Department of Transportation.

Commissioner Bernard Parker, D-Detroit introduced a resolution of support Thursday. Parker's resolution calls for SMART to add a "sufficient number of routes" to accommodate displaced riders who formerly rode with D-DOT. D-DOT was expected to discontinue some bus routes.

Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, wondered if commissioners should "interfere with this situation." Commissioners Bruce Patterson, R-Canton, and William O'Neil, D-Allen Park, wanted more information before they consider support or rejection of a resolution.

Commissioner Edna Bell, D-Detroit, suggested the resolution be sent to committee and that leaders from SMART and D-DOT should be invited to appear before committee members.

The matter is expected to be discussed at 2 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 22 at the meeting of the commission's Committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services.

Cockrel appointed
As expected, Kimberly Cockrel was appointed Thursday by Wayne County commissioners to fill the commission seat formerly held by her husband.

Cockrel was appointed after assuring commissioners she would not run for election this year for the same seat.

Kenneth Cockrel Jr. resigned to serve on the Detroit City Council after he won election to that seat in November. In his resignation letter, he asked that his wife Kimberly serve as his replacement through the end of the term, which is Dec. 31, 1998.

Kim Cockrel thanked her family and commissioners for an opportunity to serve the 5th District in Detroit. She is a lifelong resident of southwest Detroit.

"It is a very vibrant, important and crucial part of our city," the new commissioner said.

The former commissioner thanked his former colleagues. Cockrel said he wanted to recommend someone who would not have the advantage as an incumbent in this year's election.

"My constituents wanted a level playing field. I wanted to put in someone who won't seek re-election," Cockrel said.

Wayne County commission seats are up for election in November. The filing deadline is May 12.

Representation wanted

Commissioners also approved an ordinance directing the Wayne County executive to appoint at least one county commissioner to the Detroit-Wayne

County Community Mental Health Board despite receiving opinions that it was not "legally enforceable."

Edward Ewell, Wayne County corporation counsel, told the commissioners the ordinance was not legally enforceable. Ben Washburn, the commission's legal counsel, said the ordinance may not be enforceable, but it also was not illegal, either.

"You could have a stalemate where the vacancy is never filled," Washburn said.

Commissioner Parker, who introduced the ordinance, believed the commission would send a strong message.

All the commissioners supported the ordinance except McCotter and Patterson.

Cloning condemned

Commissioner Patterson also introduced a resolution supporting bans on human cloning, which commissioners unanimously supported.

The resolution calls for all governing bodies to impose all appropriate restrictions, and bans offered and proposed by state Rep. Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti, and state Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, or at least a five-year ban as proposed by President Clinton.

"This will send a strong message to the state Legislature that we're going on record against (cloning)," Patterson said. Patterson questioned the morality of people who would clone humans and questioned the ethics of those who would support cloning.

Municipal consortium votes to join medical control group

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

The Conference of Western Wayne soon will be sending a representative to join a medical control authority as a voting member.

Members of the CWW, a legislative consortium of 18 communities in western Wayne County, decided Friday to join the Health Emergency Medical Services board of trustees and purchase one voting seat on that board. They also chose Wayne Mayor Ken Warfield to serve in that capacity.

The CWW is a consortium of elected officials from the cities of Belleville, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Inkster, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, Romulus, Wayne and Westland and the townships of Canton, Huron, Northville, Plymouth, Redford, Sumpter and Van Buren.

In November, CWW subcommittee members decided to join the HEMS because they believed that the delivery of pre-hospital care was an issue of regional importance.

"The committee further believes that local government would be best served by a voting seat," said Marsha Bianconi, CWW's executive director.

HEMS offered to adjust rates for the CWW since the membership will only last five months. The rate was prorated for each community, and the total was adjusted from $21,571 to $8,988.

The Western Wayne County Fire Department Mutual Aid Association, a group of fire department representatives, also will receive a "non-voting" representative on HEMS.

HEMS, a nonprofit organization since 1980, delivers pre-hospital care in western Wayne County. It operates the EMS ambulance to hospital radio system with 13 hospitals, offers medical disaster medical assistance team, and information and resource services. System participants include hospitals and Wayne County Health Department working with local government providers; health centers, private ambulance services, physicians, nurses and EMS personnel.

S'craft to honor outstanding alum

Schoolcraft College is seeking nominations for outstanding alumni who have made significant contributions to their profession, the community and the College.

The award winner will be honored in person at commencement exercises Saturday, May 2.

To be eligible, nominees must have earned a minimum of 30 hours of credit at Schoolcraft, have excelled in or achieved special distinction in a particular endeavor such as civic affairs, a professional field or volunteerism, and have made a contribution to Schoolcraft while a student or alumnus. The Distinguished Alumni Committee created this award to recognize the overall success of Schoolcraft

College students.

The deadline for submitting applications is Friday, March 27. To obtain an application, contact the Department of Marketing and Development at (313) 462-4417.

Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six Mile and Seven Mile roads, just west of I-275.

Local host families needed

Program of Academic Exchange (PAX) is seeking families interested in hosting a high school foreign exchange student for the 1998-99 school year.

Students take English tests, undergo personal interviews, save their money, prepare an application, gather references and then hope for an American family to open its home and heart, said Lynne Levenbach.

Students have their own medical insurance and spending money.

For more information, call Gideon or Lynne Levenbach at (734) 453-8562 or (734) 453-6851.

State to appeal Redford man's gun case

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

State lawyers are continuing to fight two major losses in the Court of Appeals.

Fred Mager, Redford Township resident who won a gun records case against Michigan State Police, said last week the state has applied for re-hearing before the Court of Appeals.

That court, in a 3-0 decision Dec. 15, said he is entitled, under the Freedom of Information Act, to the state's list of people whose pistols have passed local police safety checks.

"I haven't got my hands on it yet. By the time I get it, it's too late for the election," said Mager, who is unhappy about the delay.

Mager wants the list in order to build up political support for a less restrictive pistol licensing bill sponsored by Rep. Alan Cropsy, R-DeWitt. State police argued that giving up the list was "an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy."

In another case, state attorney

The state Court of Appeals, in a 3-0 decision last month, said Fred Mager of Redford Township is entitled, under the Freedom of Information Act, to the state's list of people whose pistols have passed local police safety checks. He wants the list in order to build up political support for a less restrictive pistol licensing bill.

general Frank Kelley announced his office will go to the state Supreme Court to seek reversal of a boat launch decision against the Department of Natural Resources.

"It's likely an appeal will be filed. We have until Tuesday," said Kelley's spokesman, Chris DeWitt.

A Court of Appeals panel ruled late in December that DNR's plan to develop a public boat launch on Burt Lake had to pass muster on Burt Township's zoning ordinance. The appellate court upheld a Cheboygan Circuit Court's injunction blocking further development of the launch site.

The appellate court ruled 2-1 that some agencies - such as Corrections and public universities - are immune from local zoning laws while others - such as State Police and DNR - must meet local requirements.

DNR contends its constitutional mandate to guard natural resources and provide public recreation takes precedence over township and city regulations. The property is zoned R-1 residential.

If the Supreme Court takes the case, it will be under pressure to rule before Sept. 30, when DNR's funding for the launch runs out. Burt Lake, at 16,700 acres, is one of Michigan's largest. Located west of I-75 and south of the Mackinac Bridge, Burt has one state launch at the state park at the southeast end of the lake. DNR has options on two lots at the northwest end, about 10 miles away.

Meanwhile, developers and environmentalists are awaiting a Supreme Court decision in a major wetlands case stemming from Waterford Township in Oakland County.

DNR blocked K & K Construction from developing 28 acres of a 55-acre parcel on M-59. A Court of Appeals panel upheld a lower court's award of $5.9 million in lost property value and interest to K & K.

Siding with K & K is the Michigan Association of Home Builders.

Supporting DNR were the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the Michigan Municipal League, Michigan Townships Association and many non-governmental environmental groups.

HORMONAL INFLUENCE UPON GUMS

Women may notice that certain hormonal changes have an influence upon the health of their gums. For instance, gingivitis (the first stage of gum disease) commonly occurs just prior to menstruation. The hormones in oral contraceptives may contribute to chronic gum inflammation, as well. And, gingivitis strikes an estimated 60 to 75 percent of women during their pregnancies. In all these cases, women are advised to be fastidious about brushing and flossing their teeth. In addition, they should consider using an antimicrobial mouthwash to help eliminate disease-causing bacteria. Finally, if saliva production decreases as women approach menopause, they should bring the situation to the attention of their dentists before the problem compromises the health of their gums.

Ask us at LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES about medical conditions or medications that can contribute to gum disease. Gum disease can be treated in ways ranging from cleaning to surgery, but more important, it can be prevented altogether by regular brushing, flossing, and professional cleanings. To alleviate your worries and to address such conditions, a visit to our office is in order. Please call 478-2110 to schedule an appointment. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where you will receive a professional exam to detect and address any existing or impending oral health problems. Smiles are our business.

Carrots are worth their weight in gold

Carrots are much more than just sticks on a relish tray. Carrots are very versatile. They can be steamed, stir-fried, juiced, pureed, baked or eaten raw. Tasty desserts or quick breads can be made from carrots, they add color and crunch to salads, can be served as a vegetable side dish, or added to a piping hot soup.

One carrot can contain a full day's recommended supply of beta carotene, and certainly tastes better than a pill. The beta carotene in carrots is converted by the body to vitamin A.

Beta carotene is important for good vision, helps keep the body's cells healthy, and may protect against certain cancers, heart disease, strokes and cataracts. Vitamin A has often been referred to as the anti-infective vitamin. It does not attack the infective organism, but may keep your resistance pumped up to fight off infection.

Carrots contain lots of soluble fiber, which can help lower blood cholesterol, are low in calories, approximately 40 for a medium to large carrot and a good source of potassium.

Since vitamin A is stable in heat, carrots retain their nutrients when cooked. It is interesting to note that before the 16th century, wild carrots were used by Greeks and Romans for "medicinal" purposes.

Most children like carrots because the sugar content is high. This sugar flavor becomes more pronounced when carrots are cooked. Only beets have more natural sugar than carrots. The sugar lies in the outer layers so don't cut carrots deeply when peeling.

Storage tips

Carrots are available year-round, and Michigan and California are major producers. Do not store carrots with apples, pears or other fruits that produce ethylene gas as they ripen.

This natural gas makes carrots limp and unattractive. Look for firm, smooth, evenly shaped carrots that have a very orange color. The deeper the orange color of the carrot, the more vitamin A it contains. Avoid any that are flabby, shriveled, rough or cracked. If you buy fresh carrots that still have the greens attached, remove them right after purchasing. The greens can drain moisture away from carrots and make them limp and rubbery.

Carrots keep well in the refrigerator for a few weeks. When you are ready to use carrots, scrub them clean with a vegetable brush to remove any soil bacteria. Wash carrots that say "pre-washed" on the package just to make sure they are bacteria-free.

Flavor enhancers

Curry powder, cumin, dill, caraway seeds, dried coriander and mustard seeds enhance the flavor of carrots. Lemon juice can be squeezed on cooked carrots, or add a little honey and orange juice to make a glaze.

Mix grated carrots with peanut butter or cream cheese for a sandwich, or spread on crackers. To stretch meatloaf add shredded carrots. Your meatloaf will be juicier and more flavorful.

Health experts recommend eating five fruits and vegetables a day. A serving of carrots is 1/2 cup, not much when you think about it. Serving raw carrots for snacks is a good way to help you get your - Five A Day.

If you have difficulty chewing carrots, blanch them until slightly softened. After blanching the carrots will be a beautiful bright color, the nutrients will still be there, and the carrots will be easy to chew.

EASY TO LOVE Meatloaf

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

As winter blankets us with quiet and cold, simple, comforting foods are the ones we crave. And since there are always leftovers, meatloaf's a good choice for this blustery season of unexpected storms.

Melanie Barnard knows "Everyone Loves Meatloaf," and her newly published cookbook contains "more than 100 recipes for Loaves and Fixin's," (HarperPerennial, $14.95, hardcover).

"It's the easiest thing to make, and not a lot can go wrong," said Barnard from her home in Connecticut. "It's the essence of home, and kids like it."

In her cookbook, Barnard introduces readers to a variety of "loaves" with recipes for poultry, seafood and vegetarian loaves. There are also recipes for loaves made with sausage, lamb, venison and smoked ham, and suggestions for flavorful sauces.

Once relegated to diners and school cafeterias, meatloaf has become very hip. Besides the meatloaf you grew up with, Barnard shows how seasonings can make a world of difference with such preparations as Swedish Meatloaf, Argentinean Steakloaf, Thai Beef and Brown Rice Loaf and Jamaican Jerk Chicken Loaf.

No matter what it's made of, meatloaf is one of those stick-to-your-ribs foods whose memory stays with you. Like oatmeal, most meatloaf recipes have a story.

"My grandparents were summertime nomads," said Barnard. "Because I was the oldest, I got to travel with them in the summer. Once we drove from Pennsylvania where I lived to Colorado. This was before Holiday Inns, and we stopped at truck stops to eat. Grandma could spot a good one by counting the number of trucks parked there. A ten-truck stop was winner."

"I quickly learned the thing to order was meatloaf, mostly because it came with gravy and mashed potatoes, which were high on my favorite food list."

Meatloaf is often our first introduction to home cooking. Barnard learned how to make meatloaf from her maternal grandmother. I learned how to make meatloaf in seventh grade home economics class and was surprised it tasted so good. My mom's a fine cook, but meatloaf isn't one of her specialties. Her meatloaf was dry, even smothered with ketchup, and definitely not something I looked forward to. Meatloaf was the first recipe I shared with her.

"A lot of people treat meatloaf like the kitchen sink," said Barnard. "But you can't throw everything into it. Good meatloaf is only as good as the ingredients you use. Don't over mix it, and don't overcook, but you don't want to undercook it either. Use your hands to mix meatloaf until everything is blended, and an instant read thermometer to check if it's done."

No matter what your meatloaf is made of they share these components - a main protein, a starch, a binder, and seasonings.

Main protein
For the juiciest basic meatloaf, Barnard recommends using only fresh, not previously frozen meat. For basic meatloaf she favors a blend of 3/4 pound lean ground beef chuck and about 6 ounces each of lean ground pork and veal. If you're making a poultry loaf, she suggests using a blend of skinless white and dark meat.

Starch
"Starch is what gives the characteristic juicy and slightly soft texture to a loaf, acting as a sponge to absorb and retain the flavorful juices," said Barnard. You can use

Making a better meatloaf

From Sharon Tyler Herbst, author of "The Food Lover's Thesaurus," (Hearst Books, 1994)

- For moister, more tender meatloaf, use coarsely ground meat instead of finely ground.
- If you don't like getting your hands messy when mixing a meatloaf mixture, put the ingredients in a large, zip-closure bag, seal, then squish the contents together until well mixed.
- For a juicy, more flavorful meatloaf, add 1/3 cup of liquid (tomato or vegetable juice, wine, beef broth, etc.) per pound of meat.
- Substituting red wine or dark beer for any liquid called for in the recipe will enrich a meatloaf's flavor.
- Add fiber and nutrition by substituting 1/3 cup oat bran for 1/3 cup bread crumbs. If your meatloaf recipe doesn't include bread crumbs, add 1/4 cup oat bran plus 2 tablespoons liquid such as milk, water, beef broth, etc.
- For a moist, delicious meatloaf that helps cut back on meat intake, substitute a cup of finely grated potato or carrot (or half of each) for a quarter pound of the meat. Or add 1/2 cup mashed potatoes to the mix.
- Make individual servings by baking meatloaf in large, greased muffin tins. Small meatloaves bake faster so watch the timing.
- If you're planning to freeze a whole meatloaf, line the pan with foil, allowing enough overlap to cover and seal the finished loaf. Bake as usual, drain off grease and cool to room temperature before sealing the foil. Double wrap in plastic wrap and freeze for up to 6 months.
- Rubbing the top of the meatloaf mixture with cold water will minimize cracking.

fresh or dried bread crumbs, cracker crumbs, oatmeal, rice or pasta. Use bread crumbs in combination with other starches for an interesting texture.

Her choice for most meatloaves is fresh bread crumbs. "I like the bread to be firm and slightly dry," she said. "For a loaf with 1-1/2 pounds of main protein, approximately 1 cup of fresh crumbs is right."

Binder

Eggs are the glue that holds meatloaf together. For most loaves Barnard said 2 eggs will do, but it can be reduced to 1 if you're using milk or yogurt. To reduce cholesterol 2 egg whites or 1/4 cup of cholesterol-free egg substitute can be used in place of each egg in a recipe.

Seasonings

"I like to use fresh herbs," said Barnard, "but good-quality dried herbs are better than limp, over-the-hill fresh herbs." She reminds readers that spices don't have an indefinite shelf life, will lose potency over time and should be replaced after a year.

For baking, Barnard prefers a metal pan over glass because it "seems to promote more browning," and hence more crust. Let meatloaf rest 5 to 10 minutes before removing from pan for easier slicing.

BY ELEANOR & RAY HEALD
SPECIAL WRITERS

Some wine regions get all the hype. If you've heard of California wine, then you know there's a Napa Valley. It's much the same in Italy. Much attention is given to the Piedmont and Tuscany. It's not that it's undeserved, but there's much more.

Since 1772, the Boscaini family has made wine in Italy's Verona region with one simple concept in mind: good wine comes from good vineyards. Faithful to this principle, and aided today by modern grapegrowing and winemaking technology, Boscaini wines represent quality and value from Italy's northeast.

Fifth generation Dario Boscaini is current family representative. He has a degree in agricultural science with a specialization in grapegrowing. For more than 20 years, he directed the School of Viticulture in Valpolicella. With his technical assistants, he identified microzones in the Veneto and Trentino Alto Adige regions with uniform climatic and soil conditions where wine has identifiable characteristics and unique personality.

From the original vineyard and winery in the hills of Torbe in Valpolicella, over the past two decades, the Boscaini family has acquired vineyards in the five best microzones. All wines are made from indigenous grapes, unfamiliar to most, but are either single vineyard or microzone. Grape names are not the important element here, so we're skipping them in favor of emphasizing the producer's name, Boscaini, and the microzone, both of utmost importance.

From the Alto Adige comes 1996 Boscaini Castel Firmiano Pinot Grigio $16. Pinot grigio is the "hottest" white grape variety from Italy today. It pairs handsomely with seafood or can stand on its own as an aperitif. The Boscaini version, originates from vineyard soils rich in white marble stones from the Italian winery: The cellars at Boscaini in Italy's Verona region. The Boscaini family has made wine in this region since 1772.

CLASSIC MEATLOAF

- 1 1/2 pounds lean ground beef or turkey
- 3/4 cup oats (quick or old-fashioned)
- 3/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/2 cup ketchup
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce or soy sauce
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper

Heat oven to 350°F. Combine all ingredients in large bowl; mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape meatloaf mixture into 10 by 6-inch loaf on rack of broiler pan.

Bake 60 to 55 minutes or until meatloaf is to medium doneness (160°F for beef, 170°F for turkey). Let stand 5 minutes before slicing. Cover and refrigerate leftovers promptly and use within 2 days, or wrap airtight and freeze up to 3 months. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

Recipe from Quaker Oats EASY ITALIAN MINI MEATLOAF SUPPER

Ingredients for Classic Meat-

- loaf (recipe above)
- 1 1/2 cups (6 ounces) shredded, reduced-fat Italian cheese blend, divided
 - 2 teaspoons dried Italian seasoning, divided
 - 1/2 package (8 ounces) rotini pasta
 - 1 package (16 ounces) frozen Italian vegetable blend
 - 2 to 3 teaspoons olive oil or margarine
 - Salt and pepper, to taste
 - 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) Italian seasoned diced tomatoes

Heat oven to 350°F. To Classic Meatloaf ingredients, add 1 cup cheese and 1 teaspoon Italian seasoning; mix lightly but thoroughly. Press approximately 1/3 cup meatloaf mixture into each of 12 medium muffin cups.

Bake 15 to 20 minutes or until centers are no longer pink.

While meat loaves bake, prepare pasta according to package directions, adding vegetables during last 6 minutes of cooking. Drain well; toss with olive oil, remaining 1 teaspoon Italian seasoning, salt and pepper.

Spoon tomatoes into microwave-safe bowl; microwave covered on HIGH until heated through.

Remove meat loaves from muffin pans; top with tomatoes and remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Serve with pasta. Yield 6 servings. Recipe from Quaker Oats.

KID'S FAVORITE MEATLOAF

- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 celery rib, chopped
- 1 1/2 pounds "meatloaf mix" of ground chuck, pork and veal (Cookbook author Melanie Barnard suggests 3/4 pound lean beef chuck, and about 6 ounces each of lean ground pork and veal)
- 2 cups lightly crushed plain cornflakes cereal
- 1 3/4 cups (10-ounce package) thawed frozen peas and carrots
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup ketchup

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. In a large skillet, heat the oil and cook the onion and celery over medium-low heat, stirring often, until softened, about 5 minutes.

In a large mixing bowl, use your hands to gently but thoroughly combine the meat, cornflakes, peas and carrots, parsley, Worcestershire sauce, mustard and eggs.

In a 13 by 9-inch baking pan, shape the meat into a 9 by 5-inch loaf, or pat it into a 9 by 5-inch loaf pan, smoothing the top. Spread the top with ketchup. Bake until the meatloaf is firm with a richly browned top, and a meat thermometer inserted into the center of the loaf registers 165 degrees, about 1 hour.

Let the meatloaf stand in the pan for 10 minutes before slicing. Serves 6.

WHITE BEAN AND SPAGHETTI SQUARES

- Crust
- 3 1/2 to 4 cups cooked spaghetti (about 1/2-pound uncooked)
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 egg

- 1/4 cup grated Romano cheese

- Filling
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
 - 1 large onion, chopped
 - 1 small red bell pepper, chopped
 - 1 small yellow bell pepper, chopped
 - 2 cloves garlic, minced
 - 2 tablespoons chopped fresh oregano or 2 teaspoons dried
 - 1/4 cup chopped fresh basil
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 can (1 pound) white beans, rinsed and drained
 - 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) Italian-style stewed tomatoes with juice
 - 2 cups (8 ounces) grated mozzarella cheese

To make the crust: Coat a shallow 3-quart baking pan with nonstick olive oil spray. If the pasta is cold, reheat it in a microwave oven, then place it in the prepared pan. Add the milk, egg, and Romano cheese, mixing well. Spread the mixture to cover the bottom and about 1 inch up the sides of the prepared pan. Set aside. Preheat the oven to 376 degrees.

To make the filling: In a large skillet, heat the oil and cook the onion and red and yellow peppers over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until the vegetables are just softened, about 4 minutes. Add the garlic, oregano, and basil, and cook 1 minute more. In a small bowl, whisk the milk with the eggs to blend. Stir the egg mixture and beans into the cooked vegetables in the skillet. Spoon the filling into the prepared spaghetti "crust." Spread the tomatoes over the top, then sprinkle with the cheese.

Cover with aluminum foil and bake for 15 minutes. Uncover and bake until the filling is set and the cheese is melted and bubbly, 20 to 25 minutes more. (The recipe can be assembled up to 8 hours ahead and refrigerated. Increase the covered baking time by 10 minutes, then uncover and continue to bake as directed.)

Let stand for 10 minutes before cutting into squares to serve. Serves 6-8.

Carrots can be microwaved. Cook them in a minimum amount of water until tender, but not mushy. Cook longer if you are going to puree the carrots to add to a cake, cookies, bread or cream soup.

For a little snack, served hot or cold, carrots are certainly more than just for cake, or sticks on a relish tray.

Here's a carrot recipe from The "American Medical Association Family Health Cookbook: Good Food That's Good for You (Pocket Books/Janis A. Donnad and Associates, Inc.; November 1997; $30).

LEMON AND HONEY-GLAZED BABY CARROTS

- 1 1/2 pounds baby carrots
- 2/3 cup dry white wine, apple juice, or white grape juice
- 1 1/2 tablespoons honey
- 2 teaspoons butter
- 1/2 teaspoon salt, plus additional to taste
- 2 strips lemon peel
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Freshly ground black pepper to taste

In a large nonstick skillet, combine the carrots, wine, honey, butter, salt, and lemon peel. Add enough water to barely cover the carrots. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat to medium, and simmer uncovered, stirring occasionally, until the carrots are tender and most of the liquid has evaporated, about 15 minutes.

Add more water if necessary to prevent scorching. If any liquid remains, raise the heat and boil it until it cooks down to make a syrupy glaze.

Discard the lemon peel. Sprinkle the lemon juice over the carrots and stir. Add salt and pepper to taste and serve.

Dolomites. With attractive pear aromas, it comes across bright, fresh, crisp and elegantly balanced.

The 1995 Boscaini Bardolino Le Canne, Classico Superiore $11 strikingly drives home the microzone benefit with its bounty of red fruits, soft, appealing mouthfeel and luxurious finish. It is interesting to note that on the wine label, the microzone Le Canne is printed above the producer's name. That's how important Boscaini considers the microzone concept. Pair it with pastas, light meats, chicken, swordfish, tuna or salmon.

A new-age Valpolicella is represented by 1995 San Ciriaco $15, the first release of this wine.

Traditionally, Valpolicella has been made as a field blend of three grape varieties. Field blends are a mix of grapes grown in the same vineyard, harvested at the same time and fermented as a mix.

The nature of grape ripening is such that, in reality, all three grape varieties do not reach peak ripeness at the same time.

New-age Valpolicella is made by harvesting each grape variety at the peak of ripeness and fermenting each separately. Blending follows at a later stage in the winemaking process.

New-age Valpolicella is made by harvesting each grape variety at the peak of ripeness and fermenting each separately. Blending follows at a later stage in the winemaking process.

To enhance and distinguish the overall wine, Boscaini has added a fourth grape variety (croatina) to the blend, one that no other producer in Valpolicella uses.

The label depicts a window of the Villa of San Ciriaco. The fruit-driven wine is laden with the aromas and juicy flavors of red plums, dark cherries and spice.

"This is my favorite wine," Dario Boscaini said. "I like it with fish, meats, pasta or egg dishes - just about everything." A wine reflecting the best and most complex qualities of Valpolicella is Boscaini's signature wine 1993 Santo Stefano, Vino di Ripasso $16. Vino di Ripasso refers to a winemaking technique whereby the wine is fermented a second time.

The ancient Ripasso system was rediscovered and patented by the Boscainis. Only Dario's branch of the family is permitted by law to use the term on the front label. The wine has all the flavor and aromas of an Amaranone, but the fruit and softness of a Valpolicella.

You can't make the comparison because you've not tried an Amaranone? Then 1993 Boscaini Amaranone Marano $35 with its compelling aromas and mouth-filling flavors is one you need to try.

Prepare whole fish for a new year feast

If you didn't have a good time on New Year's Eve, try again on Wednesday, Jan. 28. It's the eve of the Chinese New Year, when dragons will dance in the streets of many cities to welcome the year of the Tiger. According to Chinese astrology, tigers are brave, energetic, independent and fearless, which means we can expect an exciting year.

Chinese New Year celebrations usually last 10 days. The rituals observed during this time are full of symbols including many foods. Much of the food that is used is associated with good luck and prosperity, often because of how it looks or how its name sounds. For instance, as the dragons dance during the parades, people throw rice to represent abundance.

Golden spring rolls are significant because they resemble bars of gold, and plump dumplings filled with pork and cabbage called jao-ze, are eaten because they look like coins. Tangerines and kumquats are important because their golden color also represents wealth and money. Using fruit with the leaves still attached is preferred, symbolizing unity and the family staying together in the New Year.

Although the Chinese do not usually serve dessert at the end of a meal, New Year celebrations usually include delicacies such like Eight Treasure Rice. Made with sticky glutinous rice, it is eaten to insure the coming year will bring sweet memories.

Whenever possible, Chinese New Year feasts include a whole fish, encouraging abundance and symbolizing completeness. Cooking a whole fish seems intimidating, but it's actually quite easy.

Any number of fish varieties can be cooked this way, including sea bass, red snapper, and sea trout. Of course, you can always flaunt tradition and use filets; the dish will be just as delicious.

Try to make the sauce from scratch with fermented black

- 1/2 cup Black Bean Sauce (see recipe below)
- 1 teaspoon roasted sesame oil

Wash and dry the fish. Place it on an oval platter that fits into a turkey roaster. Pour 2 inches of water into the roasting pan. Place a high rack or 2 empty tuna fish cans, tops and bottoms removed, into the pan to serve as a rack.

beans which are available in Asian markets and some grocery stores. Since the sauce is homemade, the flavor is much better than black bean sauce sold in a jar.

Don't worry about buying too many beans, since they keep a long time, enabling you to prepare black bean sauce as often as you wish. That's good to know, since the sauce is just as good with chicken, shrimp, tofu and vegetables as it is with fish.

STEAMED FISH WITH BLACK BEAN SAUCE

- 1 fish (1 1/2 pounds, sea bass, sea trout or red snapper), gutted, or 2 large filets, about 1 pound total
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry

Set the platter with the fish into the roaster. Pour the sherry over the fish. Cover the roaster. Bring the water to a boil over high heat and steam the fish 10-15 minutes. Cooking time varies, but the fish is done when it is just opaque by the bone (or in the center, for filets).

Place a wok or heavy skillet over high heat until it is very hot, 1-2 minutes. Pour the juices from the fish which have collected in the platter into the pan and bring to a boil. Cook until they are reduced by half. Mix in the bean sauce.

When it boils, in 1-2 minutes, add the sesame oil. Pour the sauce over the fish and serve immediately.

BLACK BEAN SAUCE

- 1 tablespoon peanut oil
- 2 tablespoons fermented

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR CANCER RESEARCH

Happy New Year: Chinese New Year feasts often include whole fish. Join the party by preparing Steamed Fish with Black Bean Sauce.

Bring the mixture to a boil and cook for 2 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Each of the two servings with a quarter cup of sauce has 378 calories and 16 grams of fat.

Information for this story was written for the American Institute for Cancer Research by Dana Jacobi, author of "The Best Claypot Cooking," and "The Natural Kitchen: SOY!"

Stir the cornstarch and sherry together and add it to the wok, stirring constantly. As soon as the sauce thickens and turns clear, pour it into a bowl.

- black beans, minced
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh ginger
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- 1/4 cup scallions, cut into 1/4-inch rounds
- 2/3 cup chicken stock
- 1 tablespoon Oyster Sauce
- 2 teaspoons reduced sodium soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons sherry

Heat a wok on high until it smokes, about 1-2 minutes, before adding the oil. Stir in the black beans and ginger, coating them with the oil, about 15 seconds. Add the garlic and scallions and stir-fry for 30 seconds. Pour in the chicken stock, oyster sauce and soy sauce.

Chicken and peppers with pasta quick meal

Registered dietitian Anne M. Fletcher shares extensive research on weight-loss success stories in "Eating Thin for Life: Food Secrets & Recipes From People Who Have Lost Weight & Kept It Off" (Houghton Mifflin, $14 paperback, January 1998).

Featured are 120 recipes including Oven-Fried Chicken, Best Macaroni and Cheese, Rich Chocolate Cake with Raspberry Sauce, and Chicken and Peppers with Penne Pasta.

For Chicken and Peppers with Penne Pasta, the pasta is first topped with tomatoes, then with sauteed chicken strips and green peppers. Each serving has 388 calories and 5 grams of fat. Serve with warm Italian bread and a tossed salad.

CHICKEN AND PEPPERS WITH PENNE PASTA

- 12 ounces boneless, skinless chicken breasts, cut into 1/2-inch by 2-inch strips
- 1 cup defatted chicken broth
- 8 ounces dried penne pasta
- 1 medium green bell pepper
- 1 medium red bell pepper
- 14 1/2-ounce can Italian-seasoned tomatoes, cut into bite-sized chunks, juice reserved
- 1 tablespoon diet margarine
- 1 large garlic clove, minced
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley or 1 teaspoon dried flakes
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

NEW COOKBOOK

Marinate chicken in broth in refrigerator for at least 1 hour.

Cook pasta according to package directions, until hard center is gone but pasta is still chewy, about 10 minutes. Drain and set aside.

Cut peppers into 1-inch diamond shapes or squares. Set aside.

In small saucepan, bring tomatoes to a boil over medium-high heat. Turn heat to low and cover saucepan, leaving tomatoes on burner until ready to serve.

Melt margarine in skillet over medium-high heat. Turn heat to high and add chicken (discard marinade broth). Quick-fry until chicken pieces are lightly browned, 3 to 4 minutes. Reduce heat to medium-high and add reserved peppers, garlic, parsley, salt and pepper. Cook, stirring frequently, for about 5 minutes more, or until no trace of pink remains when you cut into thickest part of chicken.

Divide pasta into 4 equal portions in large, shallow bowls. Spoon one-fourth of hot tomatoes over each pasta serving. Top with one-fourth of chicken-and-pepper mixture. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Book defines American beaux art: Tiffany & Co. design director John Loring just introduced his eighth book of American style and design, available at Tiffany & Co. in the Somerset Collection South in Troy. "Tiffany's 20th Century: A Portrait of American Style," $80, traces Tiffany's progress and influence on American society and style over the last 100 years.

The book proceeds from the Renaissance Revival of the early 1900s to the floral masterpieces of Art Nouveau and the streamlined designs of American Art Deco; from the mid-century triumphs of renowned jewelry designer Jean Schlumberger to the masterworks by Elsa Peretti and Paloma Picasso.

There are more than 300 photographs in the book including Tiffany's prizewinning displays at world expos in Paris 1900, San Francisco in 1915, and New York in 1939. It revises the works of Paulding Farnham whose designs won more medals at international expos than any other American designer.

The story of this century's reeling progress and change involves a cast of characters from Louis Comfort Tiffany to Tiffany design directors Van Day Truex and John Loring, and trend setters like Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, Babe Paley, Diana Vreeland and Audrey Hepburn who immortalized the store in the 1961 film classic "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

John Loring

Mini magic: Ritz Camera associate Joel Waldbott at Somerset North in Troy, said keeping the Canon Elph in stock is almost impossible - everybody wants one because it's easy to use and fits in your shirt pocket.

The $299 stainless steel, Advanced Photo System camera, is no bigger than a pack of cigarettes and produces three print sizes - 4x6, 4x7 or panoramic.

Other features include active/passive autofocus, drop-in loading, no negatives (index prints are provided) and digital readiness for direct to computer film scanning. The Elph Jr., (an even smaller version) is $219.95.

Think spring: Romantic, feminine clothes will be in store for spring. Watch for ruffles, pleats, bouquets of floral designs. This classic look is from the Worth Collection, New York, 212-223-3757.

Adding a website may build business

Contemplating a site on the Internet to increase your sales? A few local retailers discuss the pros and cons.

BY BARR PERT TEMPLETON
SPECIAL WRITER

Large, bold, bright blue letters dot the screen as cyberspace customers visiting the Internet site for Travelers World in West Bloomfield are invited to peruse a catalog of the latest designer bags.

Luggage by Andiamo, Kipling handbags and Hartman briefcases are among the many products computer users can eyeball before ordering at www.travelersworld.com.

Bruce Welford, owner of the specialty luggage shop, established the Travelers World's internet site in 1995. Welford guesstimates his shop's annual sales have increased about three percent with anywhere from two to five orders coming in via E-mail each week.

"I pay for the service once a year. It's about $700 and that cost is based on the amount of space you are taking up on the system. I have about 10 pages out there now," he explained. "The Yellow Pages are way more outrageous than that," he added noting that advertising in the Yellow Pages costs him $300 to $400 a month.

"The cost is part of what's so attractive about this." Via his web site, Welford has filled orders for customers in Hong Kong, England and quite a few Asian countries.

"It certainly has been worth it and we've made a profit based on the expenses we put into it," Welford said.

One downtown Birmingham retailer, who declined to be identified, recently dropped his store's Internet site after just eight months claiming too many problems with credit card customers.

"We found too much fraudulence in sales on the internet and just couldn't afford to take those losses," he said.

The fraud came about when customers would make credit card purchases via the store's web site, receive the shipment of the desired product but claim they never made the purchase when the bill came due.

"We got stuck arguing with the credit card company and being totally ignored by the customer who made the purchase so we just got out of it," explained the disappointed retailer.

So far Welford hasn't experienced any payment problems unless he counts a few misunderstandings customers have presented when they didn't recall their luggage came from Travelers World.

"Our name sometimes prompts some people to question the charges because they think of a travel business but as far as denying shipments, we have UPS to track that so we don't see any problems there," he said.

Right now Welford processes all of the Internet generated orders himself, but he is anxious to look into automating his site.

"We're pretty archaic at this point," he said. "I usually answer the E-mail or end up calling the customer to process the orders, but I want to do some research and upgrade things."

When Welford decides to make his web site more high tech he will most likely call U.S. Web Corporation. The Southfield-based marketing firm created the pages for his original venture onto the Internet.

U.S. Web partner Jeff Dvoskin said the company, which opened in 1995, boasts over 200 clients. Designing web pages makes up 90 percent of the firm's business and about 10 percent of those clients are local retailers.

"We meet with the clients to find out what they want to portray and although we actually set it up, they provide the graphics and help us find a look and a feel for their site," said Dvoskin.

"After two or three meetings, depending on the business, we'll have a demo to present to them."

Marmel Gifts and Toys in Farmington Hills, Viviano Flowers in St. Clair Shores and City Slicker Shoes in Detroit are on the list of U.S. Web clients. Dvoskin stresses that a majority of the firms work lies in upgrading the existing sites of business owners and isn't limited to those seeking to establish new internet sites.

"I really think these guys are just first rate," said Welford. "They always get back to you right away and they did a nice job getting me set up."

"I think soon everybody that's in business is going to be doing this and I found the outlay of expense to have the site is nothing compared to the rewards you get."

Super Bowl parties call for the latest treats

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
RETAIL EDITOR

Super Bowl parties are more than beer and Bavarian pretzels . . . or maybe not.

When the Green Bay Packers meet the Denver Broncos at 6 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 25, friends and families will gather around their big screen TVs ready to cheer and jeer.

If you're the host, no doubt you're pulling out your favorite dip and chili recipes, and checking to make sure you've got plenty of Pilsner glasses.

But to "do the bowl" in style, the malls and mainstreets have some unique products worth a look - or a smile.

"No Super Bowl is complete without His and Hers remote controls," insisted Chris Keck of the Sharper Image (locations at Somerset Collection South and Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi.) "She can click away from the game during commercial breaks and he can click back when he thinks it's about time for a replay, $29.95 each - in pin. and blue."

Keck also suggested viewing the big game from the comfort of "the quad roller get-away chair with power recline."

"Hey, it's on sale now from $2,795 to $2,495," he said. "You just touch a button and the back reclines electronically as the footrest rises. Inner rollers simulate a total Shiatsu massage - kneading movements stretch and relax muscles up and down your back."

Many Hallmark stores have the "Bad Call Sponges" for sale. "You throw them at the television when you become frustrated by what's happening on the screen," said one sales associate.

Super Bowl snacks: Load your buffet table with beverages and snacks ready to serve from your neighborhood deli - this collection is from The Cellar Collection, a division of Merchant of Vino/Whole Foods, 254 West Maple in downtown Birmingham.

Collection North, Troy) suggests loading up on the Vidalia Onion Bloody Mary Mix, $6 a bottle; bean dips, $4.50 a jar; and salsas from $5.75.

"We have Cajun and Bavarian pretzels by the bag for $3.50 and all kinds of Pilsner glasses from $3.50," she said.

Folks contemplating a big screen TV purchase will find a top-of-the-line

Sony with a 61-inch screen going for $2,279 at Best Buy, according to sales associate Antwan Steele of the Westland store.

But forget any big screen purchases made solely to view the Super Bowl, Best Buy charges a restocking fee on any television purchased and returned in January, at 15-percent of the purchase price. The fee is abolished in February.

The best-dressed Super Bowl fans will arrive at the party wearing jerseys and caps in their favorite team's colors. The JC Penney stores are reporting brisk sales of Green Bay Packers sweats. . .

What we found:

- A silver Christmas tree and revolving color wheel for Sally. Also KLS Electronics on Schoolcraft in Livonia sells the color wheel.
- Bottom Better Diaper rash cream can be found at Lytle Pharmacy in downtown Rochester or Meijer's in Canton.
- Video transfer box is sold at ABC Warehouse and Adray Appliance in Dearborn.
- The recording of Little Drummer Boy by Bing Crosby and David Bowie is on a CD "Edge of Christmas." OGLIO records is the producer.
- The game Tric Trax is made in Sweden by Brio Company. It can be ordered through Muriel Doll House in Plymouth.
- A brown haired Barbie for Linda of Troy was spotted at J.C. Penney, Summit Place mall in Waterford.
- Jill Sanders cologne for women is sold at Saks Fifth Avenue at Somerset Collection South. Try there also for the men's cologne.
- Karen has offered a suggestion to Myron: her grandmother taught her to darn socks by using a burned out light bulb. Stretch sock over light bulb and darn. Or try Greenfield Village or Huckleberry Railroad, they have them on display and might sell them. Or try the Royal Oak market on Sundays, one of the booths might have them.
- We found two people who can crochet a sombrero for a Tabasco bottle!
- The person who wanted the A&P dishes please call, Candy has a set.
- Found mens denim bib overalls in J.C. Penney's Big & Tall catalog.

We're still looking for:

- A store that sells Christmas card address and record books for Mickey.
- Men's one- or two-piece pajamas with a seat for Carol of Westland.
- For Linda, nail products called Mavala found in drug stores.
- Barby is looking for a 1953 McCalls Giant Golden Make-It books and a game Survivorshot.
- Bodyology Cool Blue Eye Gel for Chris.
- Fine crochet cotton size 30, 40 or 50 for Gerri.
- A 3 or 4 foot Raggedy Ann doll reasonably priced for Nancy.
- Cheryl is looking for a 1960 board game WA-HOO, similar to the game Trouble, it has an Indian theme.
- Replacement blades for hair wares.
- Pat is looking for four dark green and four raspberry cloth napkins by Vera, there is an one-half inch row of holes from the edges - and a white Hummel nativity set, Madonna, shepherd and the animals.
- John is looking for the hilarious song that J.P. McCarthy used to play on his radio show. It was called "Charge of the Light Brigade and the Bugler." He'd be willing to donate to the J.P. Foundation.
- Linelle is looking for the game of Pit.
- Barbara is looking for Shiny Sinks Plus.
- Patricia is looking for Anucci perfume; it was a Neiman Marcus line.
- Need a pattern for a Red Wings afghan.
- Laura would like Uncle Dan's Potato Chips. She used to get them at a party store in Livonia.
- Sharon would like Night Spice cologne by Old Spice.
- Edna wants the starter kit for Amish Friendship bread.
- Still looking for card game Hotel, Kismet dice.
- A Mrs. Beasley doll for Shannon of Garden City.
- Janet would like dresses named Chez; they were carried at SYS on Southfield Road but they are no longer in business.
- A microwave turntable that comes apart for cleaning for Shirley.
- Edwin Jeans for girls and Big Ben jeans for boys for Karen.
- Kathy needs all solid color borders including black. She saw them on display but can't remember where.
- Looking for a book and record from the late 60's called Shy Trunky, it's about an elephant.
- The correct address for E.J. Danish modern chair cushions.
- Debbie is looking for a Mary Mag power doll hour from the early-mid 60s on magnetic stilts in its entirety.

New fragrance

At Tiffany's: Trueste perfume and body lotion will be available in March from the jeweler in Somerset Collection South, Troy, from $25.

Jacobson's offers a trend forecast for '98

The New Year promises to be a trend-setting year in fashion and home entertaining, according to Beverly Rice, senior vice president of fashion and merchandising strategy for Jacobson's 24 stores.

Beauty trends — Focus on an overall healthier complexion with vitamin-rich moisturizers and creams. Watch for La Prairie cellular defense shield, Estee Lauder and Lancome products rich in Vitamin A, C and E. Skin brightening systems will also be making their way to the beauty aisles that diminish discoloration and darkening. Hair coloring takes on a new style with "cosmetics for the hair." Mascara wands offer a simple and safe way for red, blonde or blue streaks, depending on your mood. The coloring washes off.

Couture "rubber bands" — Among the newest trends for 1998, women in Europe in the cafes and clubs are sporting gold or silver-toned watch coils stacked up their wrists. Some choose to wear just one or two of these stretch bracelets, while others stack as many as 100 up their arms.

Body art transfers — They offer a temporary statement for the not-so-daring. Estee Lauder and Lancome will introduce the transfers complete with pencils or crayons made from Indian ink for a personalized design.

Marabou — will emerge as the fun, most talked about accent. From dresses, suits and separates in lilac — 1998's leading fashion hue — have marabou detailing from simple sleeve treatments to luxurious neck wraps. Hollywood glamour influences.

Embroidery — is taking the spotlight in designer fashion. Expect it on everything from scarves to gowns. The new favorite? Embroidered tulle in hombre design.

Halter tops — and tube tops are expected to be center stage from young girls' fashion to women's designer couture. Embroidered, knit and textured halter tops are paired with capri pants and plaid skirts.

RETAIL DETAILS

Retail Details features news briefs from the Malls & Mainstreets. For inclusion, send information to: Retail Details, c/o The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009, or fax to (248) 644-1314.

New bridal store in Birmingham

Roma Sposa, is now selling exclusive European designs for the bride, according to owner Anna Castaldi Roselli, at 722 N. Old Woodward in Birmingham.

Castaldi previously owned a bridal shop in Rome. A gown can take up to a year to make in the Old World style. They are priced from $1,800 to $4,500.

Current gowns-of-choice are made from a dazzling array of fine fabrics and silks including Gazar, Mikado, Georgette, Chiffon, Duchesse and crystalline organza lace. For more details or a personal appointment call (248) 723-4300.

The shop will host a trunk show of Peter Langer creations, Jan. 29-31. Reservations are suggested.

Revolving doors of retail

The Limited is leaving downtown Birmingham and rumor has it Urban Outfitters, headquartered in Philadelphia with a Michigan location in Ann Arbor, will take its place.

Record Town has replaced

Harmony House at both Oakland and Tel-Twelve Malls, as Harmony House builds free-standing stores in Clarkston and Troy.

The former Home Quarters store at Telegraph and Square Lake is being renovated to reopen as a Costco Warehouse, one of five new stores opening in metro-Detroit - two are set for Livonia, one for Roseville and one for Madison Heights. Those familiar with the company, say shoppers will find them similar to Sam's Club Warehouse, a division of WalMart.

Breakfast with Chanel

Saks Fifth Avenue will host Breakfast With Chanel, Thursday, Jan. 22 beginning at 10 a.m. in the designer salon on level two, to benefit The American Lung Association of Michigan.

The annual event includes a light breakfast and formal runway show kicking off the arrival of Chanel's spring/summer ready-to-wear assortment. The collection will remain at the store through Friday, Jan. 23, informally modeled from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tickets are $50 for patrons, $75 for benefactors. For more details call (248) 642-8006. Event chairmen include Denise Andris, Gloria Clark, Barbara Czamanske, Judie Sherman and Susan Willis-Kushner. The association president is Bettina Gregg. Honorary chairpersons are Sybil Jacques, Blanche Pollock and Linda Schafer.

New skin products at Neiman Marcus

Neiman Marcus introduces LaPrairie's new Cellular Brightening System. The four lotions are designed to help achieve a flawless, porcelain-pale complexion. The system includes a Soothing Lotion, Intensive Essence, Day Emulsion SPF 15 and Night Treatment.

According to manufacturers, the products include ingredients that help actively inhibit the production of melanin cells. The kit is $300, individual lotions are priced from $65.

Restaurant opens at mall

lage Mall last summer and a complete renovation was undertaken to create another Chinese restaurant at the site, The Gourmet Garden. The Rochester Hills mall is the fifth location for the family-owned restaurant chain. Others are located in East Lansing, Ann Arbor, Ohio and Massachusetts. Window seats contribute to the restaurant's light, airy feel. There are more than 40 chef specials.

Nicole Miller gowns arrive

Nicole Miller has released her spring bridal party collection with 23 different styles, sizes 2-16, in a range of spring colors - pink champagne, ice green, taupe, ivory, navy platinum and black. The Nicole Miller boutique is in the Somerset Collection South, Troy. For more details call (248) 649-8816.

ARTISTIC EXPRESSIONS

LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Retired teacher now has time for painting

Ever wondered what happened to your high school art teacher? Chances are she's still painting. When Barbara Demgen retired in 1992 after 27 years of teaching art in the Livonia Public Schools, she did so with the intention of spending more time painting.

Nearly six years later, Demgen is having a one-woman show at the Livonia Civic Center Fine Arts Gallery. From sheep in the pastures at Maybury Park to an eight-foot Oriental screen consisting of four panels, the exhibition illustrates the Livonia artist's versatility.

Demgen will donate half of the proceeds from the sale of paintings (after a 30 percent commission) to the Wayne State University Medical School in memory of her sister-in-law who died last summer from bone cancer. The Livonia Arts Commission takes a 30 percent commission from all art works exhibited and sold in the gallery.

Demgen taught gifted visual arts students in the Creative and Performing Arts Program at Churchill High School before retiring. Does she miss teaching? Oh sure, but not enough to devote less time to painting (or her son Matthew).

What: An exhibit of mixed media paintings by Livonia artist Barbara Demgen.

Where: Livonia Civic Center Library Fine Arts Gallery, 32777 Five Mile Road (east of Farmington Road).

When: Through Friday, Jan. 30. Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday; until 9 p.m. Friday-Saturday; and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Resolution

She's made a resolution to become serious about marketing her work this year. In years past, she exhibited in Art in the Garden at the University of Michigan's Matthaei Botanical Gardens; Our Town, Birmingham, and Art on the Pointe, Grosse Pointe. Last year, she exhibited in shows in West Bloomfield and on Lake St. Clair. She was represented by Atrium Gallery in Northville until the business was sold in November.

"I'm searching for a gallery, but also looking to get into fairs," said Demgen. "For me, it's always a show, a competition, but it's fun as long as you're in the field."

Forget avant garde and abstract painting, they're not her style. Demgen finds most of her customers would rather live with a landscape, floral, or one of her house portraits. In fact, her last commission was for an oil painting of trees with trunks so close a visitor to the forest could reach out and touch them.

"Because I have so much more time to paint, I'm getting into more structured pieces," said Demgen. "I love working in watercolor, but still work with oil because it feels like margarine. Oils feel so good going on the canvas."

Background

Demgen began painting seriously in the mid-1960s. She credits her classical art training at Wayne State University and Marygrove College for the technical expertise.

"Lighting makes such a difference and as an artist you have to keep experimenting with different tools," said Demgen. "But one of the most

Exhibition documents 'Turning Point'

Monet

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Since the announcement by the University of Michigan Museum of Art nearly a year ago, art enthusiasts from Birmingham to Plymouth have anxiously awaited the Monet exhibition, which explores the French Impressionist's work around the year 1880 (see accompanying story).

For the first time since leaving his studio in Vetheuil more than a century ago, 12 paintings by Monet are reunited for an exhibition at the museum Jan. 25 to March 15.

Organized by the University of Michigan Museum of Art, "Monet at Vetheuil: The Turning Point" features paintings not shown at the Art Institute of Chicago in 1995, and four oils never exhibited in North America. The landscapes, still life and a portrait of his wife, Camille, add a new dimension to a relatively unstudied period of Monet's life and work in Vetheuil.

Turbulent times

This small village on the Seine is where Monet's life reached a critical point because of his wife's illness and death, negative criticism of his work, isolation from friends and the art scene in Paris and financial problems which forced the Monet family to share a household with supporter Ernest Hoschede, his wife and six children.

A haunting portrait of Camille from the Musee d'Orsay, Paris, was painted shortly after her death in September of 1879. Monet detached himself from the situation in order to record the changing colors in his wife's face.

On loan from 10 museums, including ones in Madrid, Paris, New Zealand, Toronto and the Metropolitan in New York City, the paintings travel to the Minneapolis Institute of Arts and the Dallas Museum of Art after Ann Arbor.

"I think the exhibition will come up with a whole different side of Monet," said museum interim director Carole McNamara who curated the exhibition with Annette Dixon, museum curator of Western Art. "This was such a rich experience even for someone who thinks they know everything there is to know about Monet. This most familiar of painters will be in his most unfamiliar mode. You'll see paintings you have never seen. You will never look at Monet again in the same way."

The three years Monet spent at Vetheuil (1878-1881) were filled with conflict. A leading artist in the painting revolution known as Impressionism, Monet suffered from depression. As he was about to turn 40, he wrote to his friend and patron de Bellio that there was no hope left because he'd painted nothing worthy to show at an upcoming Impressionists exhibition. The depression was to haunt him periodically throughout the rest of his life.

In 1994, using the museum's painting of the Debacle to focus on Monet's years in Vetheuil, McNamara and Dixon began contacting museums around the world in search of paintings from this period.

Monet at Vetheuil: The Turning Point

What: For the first time since leaving his studio more than a century ago, the paintings of French Impressionist Claude Monet come together in an exhibition of works created during the most turbulent period of his life.

When: Jan. 25 to March 15. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday to Saturday, until 9 p.m. Thursday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Docent-led tours 7 p.m. Thursdays, and 2 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Where: University of Michigan Museum of Art, 525 South State Street at South University, Ann Arbor, (734) 764-0395.

Cost: $6 adults; $3 for non-U-M students, U-M faculty and staff, and senior citizens; free to Museum Friends, U-M students, and children under age 12. Advance tickets are recommended, call (800) 585-3737.

Related activities: Monet and the Cultural and Social Milieu of Impressionism, an interdisciplinary symposium 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 7, in Angell Hall, Auditorium A.

North of Here, a dance performance inspired by Monet's winter landscapes at Vetheuil and created by Jessica Fogel and her students in the University Dance Company, 8 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, Feb. 6-7, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 8, at the Power Center. For tickets call (734) 764-0450.

A Taste of Monet dinner theater featuring Monet's favorite recipes followed by a multimedia theater presentation written especially for the occasion by Chicago playwright Frances Sebastian 7 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 7, and 6 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 8, at the Michigan League, 911 North University. This dramatic portrait of Monet is based on his letters and enhanced with music and slides showing his works. Tickets are $40 and seating is limited. For reservations, call (734) 647-7463.

Art lovers gather for tours

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

With one week to go before the opening of the Monet exhibition at the University of Michigan Museum of Art, excitement continues to build. Docent-led group tours are already filled. Museum interim director Carole McNamara is not sure whether more tours will be added. It depends on demand and if there are enough docents to volunteer their time.

While it's too late to train docents, the museum is in need of volunteers for the Monet exhibition. If you have some spare time, call Diane Sepac, (734) 763-7618.

Former University of Michigan museum administrator Janet Torno took part in the planning stages of the Monet exhibit, begun in 1994. As executive director of the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, Torno is planning a tour for members. She thinks it's important for student painters to view the works as a body representing a critical time in Monet's life.

"It will really be important to the students to see how the paintings relate and how his style evolved," said Torno. "I think, it will be important to see them hung together. And for a painter, there's no substitute for seeing the real object rather than in books."

French teacher Marilyn Kohen booked a tour in October for her seventh and eighth grade students at East Middle School in Bloomfield Hills. She plans to make a day of it. Students will eat at the crepe restaurant Cafe Zola so Kohen can include studies of Emile Zola along with Monet in her lesson plans.

"I'm interested in Impressionism, and have visited several of the museums in Europe, and thought if I could share any of this with my students it will make Monet more than words in a book, and an exhibition like this doesn't come around that often," said Kohen, a West Bloomfield resident.

Before the tour, students will view a video about Monet and one Kohen took herself during a trip to his Giverny gardens.

"Besides being a cultural experience, I'm tying it in to their use of adjectives," said Kohen. "When we return from the exhibit, the students will choose a painting and then describe it."

New DSO chief marks time while planning future

BY FRANK PROVENZANO

The most interesting hypothetical question facing Louis Spisto, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's incoming executive director, is: If he took the Pacific Symphony from small to big-time, then where will he take the DSO?

It might take two years to get an answer.

When Spisto, 41, comes to Detroit to take charge of one of the top orchestras in the United States in March, he'll be following the course set by his predecessor, Mark Volpe, who left the DSO in August to become managing director of the Boston Symphony.

Spisto will arrive to find things neatly in place, including the DSO's 1998-99 concert schedule, planned tours of Europe and Japan, a range of community outreach programs and the finishing phases of the $80-million Orchestra Place project.

The intangible look of the DSO, however, may soon be distinctively different.

"We need to shape the image of the orchestra, bring it up to date," said Spisto, credited with transforming the formerly "small time" Pacific Symphony into the third largest in California.

Building relationships

In the long run, the DSO may reflect Spisto's defining personal

Changes ahead: Spisto will oversee the completion of Orchestra Place and an expanded program schedule.

It's OK, call him 'Sundance'

BY FRANK PROVENZANO STAFF WRITER

Filmmaker Barrett Tripp used to cringe when he heard the nickname given to him by his colleagues at Paramount Pictures, where he currently works as an assistant to a production supervisor.

"A guy down the hall started calling me 'Sundance,'" said Tripp, a 1986 graduate of Birmingham Seaholm High School. "At first, I didn't want anyone to know."

In a movie-making industry based on high-profile personalities, reputation and hearsay, Tripp better get used to the attention.

On Saturday his 30-minute film, "Yellow Wooden Ring," premiered at one of nine venues at Sundance Film Festival in Park City, Utah, nearly 1,000 miles from the tinsel and fast-talking producers in southern California. A second screening is scheduled for Monday.

A Midwest premiere of "Yellow Wooden Ring" will be probably held in Birmingham in late spring, said Tripp.

For fledgling and independent filmmakers, an invitation to the Sundance Film Festival is akin to being named to the All-American Football Team on the way to the NFL.

Roaming amid Utah's Wasatch Range and along main street in Park City through next Sunday are representatives from nearly every film studio on the planet, from Hollywood to Hoboken to Hong Kong.

Among the smorgasbord of films, there's a hunt for the next Spike Lee, Quentin Tarantino and Victor Nunez. Or gems like "sex, lies and videotape," "The Crying Game," "Eraserhead" or "Kiss of the Spider Woman."

For Tripp, the road to Sundance from his first film class at Seaholm ran from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, to Loyola Marymount, where he received a master's degree in film.

Initially, Tripp submitted a rough-cut of "Yellow Wooden Ring," his thesis film project in which he wrote the screenplay, directed and produced. The coming-of-age story about a half-blooded Native American girl Native American perspective: While dressing for the Rabbit Dance, Valma (front) uncovers a secret from her mother's past in "Yellow Wooden Ring" by Barrett Tripp. The film features an 18-member cast of Native Americans.

■ 'Along the way, I set goals for myself First was to get into grad school, then to complete a film. Sundance was beyond my wildest dreams.'

Barrett Tripp filmmakers deals with the cogent issue of accepting one's cultural heritage.

A day before Thanksgiving, Tripp was notified by the Sundance Festival that his film was accepted in the category in which Native American issues are examined in a novel way.

With the news of being accepted in the prestigious festival came an angst-filled paradox: Now Tripp had to finish the film.

In short order, he recorded the voice-over for the opening scene, musical score, sound effects and transferred the video to film.

Upon completion in early January, the film cost about $60,000, largely financed through loans and special favors, said Tripp.

Produced with a 27-person crew and 18-member cast, the film has an unmistakable verisimilitude, featuring Native American actors. In the weeks before filming, Tripp studied the lifestyle on Indian reservations, including rewriting the script to fit the idiom.

The result is a stylized film with a respectful tone toward Native American customs. At times, however, the film reveals Tripp's unfamiliarity with his subject more than his mastery. While "Yellow Wooden Ring" has the typical blips of novice filmmakers - stiff dialog, sluggish action and erratic pacing - there are enough authentic moments to show Tripp's potential.

Primarily, the film shows Tripp's affinity to tell a story on several levels. For a short film, "Yellow Wooden Ring" is steeped in metaphor and allegory. It could be more aggressive in tone, but it couldn't be any more honest.

"Along the way, I set goals for myself," he said. "First was to get into grad school, then to complete a film. Sundance was beyond my wildest dreams."

Just in case those studio representatives at the Sundance Festival are interested, Tripp will probably bring along the two screenplays he's working on.

And, he'll probably let it be known that he's definitely interested in directing feature films. "I'm just going to enjoy being at Sundance, and not worry about it."

Sounds like he's already getting used to the attention.

THEATER

'Sly Fox' offers non-stop laughs

Players Guild of Dearborn presents "Sly Fox," a comedy by Larry Gelbart, 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 18, and 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, 23-24 at the theater, 2730 Madison (off Monroe, between Outer Drive and Van Born), Dearborn. Tickets $10, $8 for students younger than age 18 for the Sunday show only. (313) 461-TKTS.

BY SUB SUCHYTA
SPECIAL WRITER
Director Kim Donovan of the Players Guild of Dearborn added excellent acting and impeccable timing to the clever dialogue and double entendres of author Larry Gelbart to create an outstanding evening of entertainment and sharp-edge humor with the Guild's current comedy offering, "Sly Fox."

Set in San Francisco in the late 1800s, "Sly Fox" is the tale of Foxwell J. Sly who uses the greed and selfishness of others to enrich his own coffers. He and sidekick Simon Able allow their victims to do themselves in with their own avarice.

Veteran actor Ron Deihl's return to the Guild stage, after more than a decade's absence, is a performance playgoers won't want to miss. Deihl captures the delightful villainy of Foxwell Sly, master con artist and likable liar, with finesse and skillful timing.

As the con man Sly, Deihl plays many roles beyond his character, from a deathbed lecher to a righteous judge. His delivery, timing, and physical humor are right on target.

Sergio Mautone turned in a strong performance as Simon Able, Sly's shady sidekick and servant. Simon Able carries out Sly's schemes, juggling numerous cons simultaneously. Mautone deftly handled his character's mounting anxiety as complications increased and their house of cards threatened to fold.

Among the trio of sheep waiting to be fleeced, Bill Rumley as Lisa Andres produced side-splitting laughter as the pious woman accosted by the supposedly near death Sly.

Jethro Crouch and Paul Helmstetter as Abner Truckle turned in performances oozing with believable greed but still human enough to be sympathetic despite the characters' despicable natures.

Tina Gloss perfected Miss Merrilee Fancy, the proverbial hooker with a heart of gold. She delighted audiences as much as her willing on-stage victims.

Lisa Andres produced side-splitting laughter as the pious woman accosted by the supposedly near death Sly. The physical comedy in her scene with Sly was fast-paced and hysterically funny.

The supporting cast was generally strong, with the exception of Christian Fernholtz as Captain Crouch, whose failure to enunciate detracted from his performance, and Dan Dobrovich, who tried to enlarge his small parts by mugging too much.

The sets were well dressed and cleverly done with different drops staggered behind each other. However, the first backdrop in Sly's bedroom swung wildly whenever the window was opened, and the wall of Crouch's office had pictures wildly askew - perhaps San Francisco was experiencing another earthquake.

The show offers non-stop laughter from the opening scene to the creative curtain call. However, there is plenty of adult humor which may not be appropriate for preteens.

Comedy: Abner Truckle (Paul Helmstetter) accuses his wife (Lisa Andres) of showing too much of her body in "Sly Fox."

Meadow Brook's blusey 'Thunder Knocking' searches for a key

"Thunder Knocking on the Door," a musical written by Keith Glover and directed by Gary Anderson with original music by Keb' Mo', Anderson Edwards and Glover continues through Sunday, Feb. 1, at Meadow Brook Theatre, Oakland University, Rochester Hills. Performances 8 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday; 2 p.m. Wednesday, Saturday & Sunday at Tickets $18-$26.50, (248) 377-3300, group sales, (248) 370-3316.

BY FRANK PROVENZANO
STAFF WRITER

There's a reason that the best way to appreciate the blues is to sing about the blues. Talking about how a wrenching melodic catharsis can soothe the soulful despondency just isn't half as much fun or nearly as evocative as wailing to the heavens.

In a story about the redemptive power of the blues, "Thunder Knocking at the Door" at Meadow Brook Theatre is a play in search of the right key. As an out-of-tune "blusical" - part musical, part drama - the production suffers from dramatic ambivalence.

The result is that "Thunder" is a hit and miss effort that is both promising and disappointing.

What's good about "Thunder" is very good. Like Keb Mo's bluesy compositions, and performances by the velvety smooth Luray Cooper (Thunder), the irrepressible Keesha Fleth

(Glory), and Marlon Bailey's (Jaguar) comical rendition of "Big Money."

What's not as intriguing, however, are the gaps in the script and the occasional overreaching by a talented cast trying to wrap entertainment from a patchwork plot suffering from a lack of focus.

The play about a slick-talking supernatural, Marvel Thunder, who challenges mere mortals to lick him at playin' blues on a six-string, is disguised as a series of love stories.

But genuine love gets bogged down in maudlin and predictable dialogue.

Ironically, the play, written by Alabaman Keith Glover and co-produced by Meadow Brook and Plowshares Theatre Company, draws on some fertile ingredients - mythology, love and music.

But at times, the mixture is pure confusion. The hope is that the play will reveal that the genius of the blues lies in a barebones simplicity and tear-the-heart-open emotion.

That revelation, however, is lost in a production that reaches for easy answers and commercial appeal.

Besides an agonizingly sophomoric opening whereby the cast basically introduces their characters, it takes nearly half of the first act before the devilish Marvel Thunder makes his appearance. Meanwhile, the onstage actors talk and talk and talk.

Only the music saves the day.

Leading up to the end of the first act feels like sheer randomness whereby critical time is spent rehashing the back story and setting up action, rather than moving the story ahead.

Then, shortly after the opening of the second act, the play skitters to a "place where the roads cross" for the pivotal, end-all blues-guitar battles.

On a platform above the stage, a four-piece blues band lays down the groove. Unfortunately, they also serve as a reminder of the "staged performance" below. The mere sight of actors playing at playing the blues is an unfortunate reminder that this is all make-believe.

To say the climax is anti-climatic is like calling the blues

"just a lowdown feeling." In a rush to tie a happy bow on the play, the story rushes to a resolution that might feel right for a TV movie, but not for something as genuine as the blues.

Perhaps more Keb' Mo' music and a story with a stronger main plot, and less competing subplots would help distill the truth behind Glover's clever tale.

Until then, this production of "Thunder" manages to make an ethereal subject like the blues into an implausible path toward salvation.

That's too bad for anyone who loves the blues. But perhaps proof that when you've got to talk about the blues, then maybe the feeling just isn't there.

Death in the Afternoon is not a pretty sight

BY JOHN REDDY
STAFF WRITER

The Sunday Madrid siesta is over. Life returns slowly to the streets. We tourists from Oakland County gather in the long shadow of our hotel, eying anxiously the taxis that queue up in the narrow street. The cab drivers watch us furtively, knowing their fares are headed to Madrid's stadium to see the bullfights.

Outside the stadium, the brilliant afternoon sun welcomes us, carving shadows in flora, stone, concrete and all things that face west.

The price of seats in the stadium sun will be less than those in the shade.

Many in the group remain disturbingly uncertain about this event, succumbing to the argument that one cannot tell friends they visited Spain and did not see a bullfight. Still, a sense of festive excitement grows as tour buses and taxis fight for curb space. Foreigners from around the world alight with cameras, belt packs and hats of all type.

Our group entered the Spanish culture at Barcelona, where the architecture of Antoni Gaudi embraced nature's design, and Pablo Picasso as a youth produced works not much unlike art students anywhere; and where the French influence defined the Catalan culture.

We would later go south, through the cities of Toledo and Cordoba with the treasured paintings of El Greco and the often bloody cultural commingling of Islamic, Christian and Jewish history. We would see Granada where King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella lived after they forced the Moors from the El Alhambra and the Iberian Peninsula. We would walk the beaches and harbors at Marbella, witnessing how the Arab influence reappears in the Spanish culture in the form of lavish yachts, homes and automobiles. There would be Gibraltar, Seville, called the most Spanish of all Spanish cities, the shrine at Fatima in Portugal, coastal villages and, finally, Lisbon.

Despite all the sidewalk cafes, the stimulating museums and cathedrals, the endless rolling hills of olive trees, Flamenco dancers and Fado singers, the event today would provoke for me and others in our group the most compelling post trip memories.

Ernest Hemingway has shaped our expectations and actors like Tyrone Power, who in the movie "Blood and Sand" would be idolized for flamboyance and bravery. This is to be man against the bull.

The opening pageantry is colorful, but small by comparison even with half-time shows at high school football games. Horses parade amid trumpet fanfare. Finely embroidered in football-style pants and waist jackets, toreros (they don't call them matadors anymore because the word means killers) strut before the VIP boxes with great flair.

Finally, the shiny-coated black bull rushes onto the sandy stadium floor, pausing, starting this way, then that - bewildered. He is the first of six that face a torero's killing sword this afternoon, I'm following the action through my telescope lens.

Four men emerge from behind their thick, wooden protective fences to join another riding a horse draped with huge, thick protective padding.

They wave their pink capes (it is the motion, not the color that attracts the color-blind bulls) and the bull charges. His horns wrestle violently with the padded horse. The mounted picador stabs a huge pole-like pick into the back of the bull at the base of the neck, urging his horse forward to add power to the poking and twisting of the pick. The clashing creates sounds and grunts that speak of great strength. The capes continue the distraction, confusing their prey as the horseman again and again thrusts the pick into the animal's shoulder. The bull now wears a collar of flowing blood and no longer lifts his head high.

Banderillos taunt the weakening bull, gracefully plunging their staves near the picador's wounds.

I aim my telephoto lens instinctively to the right, shooting, then to the left, recording the expressions on the faces of my fellow travelers and others in the stands that are absorbed by action in the ring.

Now comes the principal torero. His graceful steps and sweeping red cape give life to bullfighting posters. The bloodied bull remains a formidable opponent. But charge after charge into the elusive cape begins to tire the weakening bull, which at times staggers to its front knees. The bloody collar grows larger.

It is now that the torero receives a very long sword from an attendant. The drama builds as the yellow spangled matador aims his long sword at the spot on the bull's neck where the blade must enter to sever the spinal cord and aorta.

The bull claws the sand with one hoof, signaling his death charge. The sword misses its mark. A chorus of roaring gasps engulfs the stadium as the torero is tossed into the air. His lies curled in the sand as the bull seeks revenge. The four attendants rush from hiding to draw the black warrior away. The pink capes snap wildly. The matador pulls himself slowly from the sand, recomposes, arches his back in an arm-waving salute to the crowd and takes another sword.

This time the matador's aim is precise. The huge animal drops instantly, to be dragged from the ring by a team of horses as the groundskeepers refresh the bullring with rakes.

Some of the group leaves.

Nearby, Japanese tourists file out. The second event provokes more vigorous stabbing of the animal by the mounted torero. The kill is quick. I leave with other from our group. Disillusioned by the shattering of a myth. It is not man against bull. It is men and crippling thrusts of a huge pick against the bull. The sun is lower and the air bears a chill.

Elegance: The flamenco dancers of Spain show the style and grace of Spanish culture.

Rooting for the bull

In reporting this story my cultural bias may show through. Certainly the Hemingway influence, the film portrayals such as "Blood and Sand" set the context for my experiences.

A traveling companion, Joe Tunac of Troy, may have a more balanced view. "I grew up in the Philippines," he said. "When I was 12, I raised roosters for cock fights. I used to rub elbows with the big guys. I used to tie the razor-sharp blades to the cocks' legs and let them fight."

"I went back five years ago and couldn't stand it. Yet I know it is part of the culture. Maybe it's the result of modern civilization, feeling the value of life. Even in Spain I sensed we were experiencing something in another culture."

He said, "I was curious to see what Hemingway wrote about. I thought it was this cultural thing. It's one on one. But it's a bunch of guys attacking one bull."

"But when I was in Ronda, I had different thoughts," he added. "I went down into the bullring," the oldest in Spain. "I tried to imagine myself facing a bull. At that time I felt utterly vulnerable."

"But when the torero in Spain got tossed, I said to myself, 'Way to go, bull!'"

FREE COMPANION FARES

Amtrak is offering free companion fares on several popular routes from now through Feb. 28, 1998.

The special offer is available on the daily Chicago-Pittsburgh-New York Three Rivers service; the daily Pittsburgh-New York Pennsylvania service; the six daily trains operating in the Chicago-Detroit/Pontiac, Mich., corridor; the daily International service between Chicago and Port Huron, Mich., the six daily trains in the Chicago-St. Louis corridor; the two daily trains operating in the St. Louis-Kansas City corridor; the daily Chicago-Carbondale, Ill., Illini service; and the daily Chicago-Quincy, Ill., Illinois Zephyr service.

The Winter Companion Fare promotion is also available on the Chicago-St. Louis-San Antonio Texas Eagle, which operates three-days-weekly through Feb. 6, when a fourth Texas Eagle will begin operating weekly between Chicago and Los Angeles, via San Antonio.

The tickets are valid for one-way or round-trip coach travel through Feb. 28, 1998, and reservations are required. The offer applies to coach fares and children's fares for up to two children (ages 2-15) per adult. Customers can purchase an upgrade to Custom Class or sleeping accommodations, subject to availability.

The offer is good for passengers traveling on an identical itinerary. Seats are limited, are subject to certain blackout days and are based on availability. The fare is non-refundable and is subject to change fees for both tickets. Other restrictions apply.

Customers should visit a staffed Amtrak station, call 1-800-USA-RAIL or see an authorized Amtrak travel agent, for details on this offer or any other Amtrak service. Ticketing, schedule and service information is also available at the Amtrak site on the World Wide Web at <http://www.amtrak.com>.

DRIVING TIPS

AAA Michigan has released some driving tips to start the New Year off safely:

- Don't tailgate. Tailgating is the number one cause of most rear-end crashes, representing 13 percent of all crashes in Michigan. AAA recommends striving for a "safety buffer" of at least four seconds between you and the vehicle ahead, with an extended following distance in inclement weather.
- Use your signals when stopping or turning. Signaling is not only courteous, it's the law.

- Use your horn to warn, not to punish. Your horn is a safety device, not a weapon to punish other drivers.

- Observe posted speed limits. One a 30-mile trip, driving five miles over the speed limit saves less than three minutes.

- Apologize if you make a driving error. If your driving mistake involves others, offer an "I'm sorry" gesture. In a recent AAA survey, the favorite driver's apology sign is the "tap on the head," as in "What was I thinking?"

- Don't drive drowsy. If you doze off while driving, you have lost control of your vehicle.

- Don't run red lights. Ignoring a red light is not worth the increased risk of injury and fines just to save an extra second. The law in Michigan for amber lights is, "Stop before entering the intersection. If you cannot stop safely, do not speed up, but drive cautiously through the intersection."

- Pull over for emergency vehicles. If you block an emergency vehicle, you are interfering in a crisis. When you hear approaching sirens or see flashing lights, the law requires you to "yield the right of way and pull as close to the right edge of the road as possible, clear of an intersection and stop until the emergency vehicle has passed."

- Give pedestrians the right of way.

- Share the road safely with bike riders. Bicyclists are not out of place on the roadway, they are part of the traffic and share the road with motorists.

- Give road construction work zones a "brake." Slow down and use caution in work areas.

PREP HOCKEY

Shamrocks get by Cranbrook on Rowe's goal

Keith Rowe scored the winning goal with 17 seconds remaining in the hockey game Wednesday to give Redford Catholic Central a 2-1 victory over host Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook.

CC sophomore Ben Dunne made his high school debut in goal, stopped 23 shots and played an outstanding game, according to CC coach Gordie St. John.

The Shamrocks (5-0-2) opened the scoring with Ian Devlin's goal at 10:56 in the first period. He was assisted by Pat O'Dea and Dave Turner. Rowe's goal was unassisted.

Cranbrook evened the score at the 14-minute mark of the second period. Ryan Kitson put the only shot past Dunne with assists from B.J. Markle and Del DeWindt.

The Cranes are the No. 1-ranked team in Classes B-C-D.

"They were the only team to beat us last year, so the kids were really flying," St. John said.

The Shamrocks had 25 shots at the Cranbrook goal.

•STEVENSON 4, SOUTH LYON 2: In the second game of a twinbill Friday at Edgar Arena, host Livonia Stevenson (10-3-1 overall) got a pair of goals from Jeff Lang to beat the Lions (7-5-1).

Ryan Sinks added one goal and one assist. Dennis Queener also scored, while Mike Walsh, Joe Suchara and goaltender Matt McLeod each had assists.

B.J. Labram and Dan Merritt tallied third-period goals for South Lyon, which had only seven shots on goal.

"We had four days of practice and I'm proud of the way our kids played," Stevenson coach Mike Harris said. "Our breakout was the best I've seen this year. And defensively we got the puck out. We were very well organized and we weren't scrambling."

•CHURCHILL 1, W.L. WESTERN 1: In a Suburban High School Hockey League game played Friday at Lakeland Arena, host Walled Lake Western and Livonia Churchill battled to a draw.

Churchill is now 6-3-3 overall and 4-1-2 in the league.

Ed Rossetto scored from Matt Grant and Anton Sutovsky to give the Chargers a 1-0 lead, but Andy Hysal answered for the Warriors in the second period.

Charger coach Jeff Hatley went for the win in the final minutes, pulling his goaltender, but they came up empty.

Churchill outshot Western, 46-20. The Warriors are 2-5-1 in the SSSL's South Division.

•FRANKLIN 5, LAKELAND 2: Greg Job's hat trick, featuring two unassisted goals, carried Livonia Franklin (7-4-1 overall) to the non-league win Friday over White Lake-Lakeland in the first game of a double-header at Edgar.

The Patriots led 1-0 after one period on Trevor Skocen's goals from Tony Sale and Adam Sexton.

Franklin increased its lead to 4-1 after two periods.

Job, a senior, scored from Brandon McCullough and Dave Tyler; Job again on a short-handed unassisted effort; and Tyler from Sexton and Justin Sawyer.

Job added an unassisted goal in the third. Darren Lewis and And Schwing scored for Lakeland.

Franklin outshot the Eagles, 28-8.

Rob Williams was in goal for the Patriots.

•CHURCHILL 5, P.H. NORTHERN 3: B.J. Teahan scored a pair of third-period goals to lift Livonia Churchill to a non-league win Wednesday over Port Huron Northern at Edgar Arena.

It was 1-1 after one period as Churchill's Chuck Leight scored from Felix Jentzmik at 5:43, while Scott Albert countered for Port Huron from Scott Albert.

The Chargers led 3-2 after two periods.

Anton Sutovsky scored from Matt Grant and Adam Krug at 8:01; and Dan Cook unassisted at 9:42. Jason Walte scored for Huskies at 9:04.

In the final period, Churchill went up 4-2 on Teahan's power-play goal from Ed Rossetto, but Port Huron cut the deficit to 4-3 on a goal by Jeff Curtis at 12:21.

Teahan sealed it for the Chargers with a goal from Grant and Sutovsky at 13:21.

"Port Huron Northern has one of the best lines in the state and they're one of the best forechecking teams we've played all year," Churchill coach Jeff Hatley said. "They play a similar style. They're very physical and have size. They like to get the forecheck going."

Greg Sliwka played the first and third periods in goal for Churchill. Dwayne Jones came on in the second period.

Churchill outshot the Huskies, 33-27.

•FRANKLIN 6, OKEMOS 2: In the first game of a double-header Wednesday at Edgar, David Tyler pumped in four goals and added one assist for Livonia Franklin against the visiting Chieftains.

Tyler had a power-play goal, while senior Greg Job added two power-play goals and three assists.

Chad VanHulle also contributed three assists, while Jeff Job, Justin Sawyer, Adam Sexton and Brandon McCullough each collected one.

Franklin outshot Okemos, 37-17, as Phil Brady and Dan Huizer split time in the Patriot role.

"Our kids played a great game and did a real good job with the systems," Franklin coach Terry Jobst said. "Our forwards did a good job defensively. And we finally got our power-play going."

Spartans roll; Chargers eye future

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
STAFF WRITER

The prevailing feeling is that the swimming program at Livonia Churchill is moving in the right direction.

Sure, Livonia Stevenson defeated Churchill, 133-50, Thursday night, but the Chargers finished in the top three in every event and won the diving.

"I'm pretty happy with the results," Coach Paul Carlson of Churchill said after his team dropped to 1-2, 0-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. "We didn't come in looking to win against Stevenson."

"We were looking for three things: One, to improve our times; two, to improve our quality; and three, to put some people in a few different events to see if we could make ourselves stronger."

Jerome Licata, with 145.15 points, captured the diving for the Chargers.

Churchill's Rob Shereda finished second in the 200-yard freestyle, Charlie Corazza was runnerup in the 50 freestyle and Kevin Grant was second in the 100 backstroke.

Knowing the outcome in advance, Stevenson tinkered some with its event placement, too.

For instance, Keith Falk was held out of the 200 individual medley but swam an exhibition race — and set a pool record at Churchill with a time of 2:00.73, also breaking the Spartans' record.

"We had some good Christmas workouts and the team has worked hard since then," said Coach Dave Buckler of Stevenson, now 3-0 overall and 1-0 in the WLAA. "We look to build off meets like this."

"Churchill did a fine job. The coaches there have their program going in the right direction."

Stevenson set another pool record, qualifying for the state meet in the process of taking the 200 medley relay with a time of 1:41.24. The old pool record of 1:43.0 belonged to the Spartans also.

Mike Malik won the 200 freestyle for Stevenson with a 1:55.18 time; Mike Nemer captured the 200 IM in 2:17.80; Steve Domin was first in the 50 freestyle at 22.51; and Joe Bublitz clocked 59.34 in winning the 100 butterfly.

The 100 freestyle was won by Brad Buckler (56.25); Mark Sgriccia (5:25.14) took the 500 freestyle; Robert Cambridge (1:08.54) was first in the 100 backstroke and the 100 breaststroke went to Kevin VanTiem (1:08.01).

The Spartans also took the 200 freestyle relay in 1:34.64 with Domin, Bublitz, Jacob Varty and Sgriccia swimming the legs. Their 400 freestyle relay team of Domin, Varty, Bublitz

CC routs DeLaSalle as 6-9 frosh chips in

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
STAFF WRITER

Redford Catholic Central freshman center Justin Ockerman could have thought he was back on the baseball diamond Friday night as his team nearly threw two shutout innings — oops, make that quarters — at Warren DeLaSalle.

The Shamrocks were ahead 13-2 after one period, 50-12 late in the third quarter and 59-22 with six minutes to play in a 66-45 Catholic League Central Division victory over the Pilots.

"That's pretty good against a good team," Catholic Central coach Rick Coratti said. "Defensively, we tipped a lot of passes."

DeLaSalle had the right idea. Right off the bat it took the ball into the middle to draw two quick fouls on Michigan-bound center Chris Young.

That put Young in a seat and prompted Coratti to trot in young Ockerman, a 6-foot-9, 250-pound freshman center, to protect his star.

Ockerman, a pitcher who terrorized CYO hitters last spring with his 85 mph fastball, scored five points while protecting his celebrated teammate by playing the remainder of the first half. He ended with eight rebounds.

He showed decent quickness and speed for someone his age and size, will be able to show his nice shooting touch once he gets used to high school ball and will provide CC with the kind of muscle in the middle that Mike Peplowski once gave to DeLaSalle.

"Ockerman really played well," Coratti said. "He played well defensively — especially in the second quarter when we needed him."

Joe Jonna picked up the slack offensively by knocking home seven threes in nine attempts in a 29-point game. Jonna also had nine rebounds.

"Jonna played real well against them last year, too," Coratti said. He's played well against them for two years."

Once DeLaSalle got Young on the bench it resorted to an attack based on three-point shooting, passing up the opportunity to test the inexperienced center.

Pilots' center John Lamerato missed his first two free throws and made his second pair to give DeLaSalle a 2-0 lead 1:58 into the game.

Rob Sparks responded with a three-pointer for the Shamrocks, though, and CC shut DeLaSalle out the rest of the quarter.

The Pilots were also held scoreless the first 6:21 of the second half.

"I didn't expect that," Coratti said after his team improved to 5-2 and left DeLaSalle at 5-3. "I think we're getting better."

"The biggest sign is the improvement of the freshman kid. Down the road, he's going to be a factor. We're going to need him if Young gets in foul trouble."

Young played the third quarter and the first couple minutes of the fourth, ending with 10 rebounds and six points that included a crowd-pleasing jam.

Don Slankster scored nine.

Robert Esler paced DeLaSalle with 11 points and Nate Watson came off the bench to contribute nine in limited playing time.

CC will have the rest of the season to develop its game when Young gets double-teamed. That's going to happen sure as snow.

Albert Deljosevic provided instant heat in the final quarter Friday, leading Livonia Clarenceville to a 55-44 Metro Conference boys basketball win over visiting Macomb Lutheran North.

Clarenceville is 3-3 overall and 1-3 in the Metro, while North falls to 3-4 and 1-3.

Deljosevic scored 13 of his game-high 22 points to lead a 17-8 Clarenceville fourth-period run. He had a three-pointer, three field goals and four of five from the line.

"Albert did a nice job of speaking the ball around," Clarenceville coach Rick Larson said. "Our team finally played a full basketball game. We switched our press up in the fourth quarter and gave them some different looks."

Justin Villanueva, a 6-foot-4 senior who suffered a broken thumb just before the holiday break, appears to be fully recovered. He added 19 points, including a pair of dunks, and grabbed 12 rebounds.

Brian Turk scored 11 points for the Mustangs.

JOHN GLENN 63, CHURCHILL 57: Sophomore guard Eric Jones scored 16 points, hitting eight of 10 from the free throw line, and 6-7 sophomore center Yaku Moton added 13 to lead Westland John Glenn to the Western Lakes Activities Association triumph at Livonia Churchill.

Glenn is 4-3 overall and 3-0 in the WLA, while Churchill drops to 2-5-1 and 1-1.

Stephan Lawson and Cornelius Murray each added eight points for the Rockets, who needed a 16-9 fourth-quarter surge to pull out the win.

George Kithas, a senior, led Churchill with 13, while Justin Jakes added 10. Erik Uhlinger and Lamar Smith each contributed nine.

"They (Glenn) are so athletic that they make things happen," Churchill coach Rick Austin said. "I'm very proud of our team and we played one of our best games of the season offensively and defensively."

Glenn was 20 of 27 from the foul line. Churchill was 15 for 20.

WAYNE 55, INKSTER 48: They got in a hole, but fortunately the Zebres brought their shovels with them.

ROUNDUP

Wayne Memorial overcame a 27-18 halftime deficit Thursday night to keep Inkster winless in the Michigan Mega Conference's Red Division.

The Zebres (4-4) are now 2-2 in the Mega Red while Inkster (1-6) is 0-4.

Inkster came out and stormed to a 16-8 lead after the first quarter and outscored Wayne 11-10 in the second.

"They saw the handwriting on the wall," Wayne coach Charles Henry said. "It was 'step up and play or forget it.'"

An 18-7 third quarter turned things around for the Zebres, who won the fourth quarter as well.

Quentin Turner scored 12 points for Wayne and also got eight rebounds. Jamar Davis had nine points plus six assists and four steals while Shomari Dunn scored seven to go with eight rebounds.

Junior forward Kenneth French paced Inkster with 11 points while guard Marlo Logwood had eight.

Leading scorer Brian Williams saw limited action due to four fouls and did not score until the fourth quarter.

Wayne had 32 shots in each half, but made 12 in the second after only sinking seven in the first.

"We really didn't change anything," Henry said of the third quarter. "We did the same things we did in the first half."

"But maybe our kids were a little motivated by the fear of losing to put forth little better effort."

N. FARMINGTON 55, FRANKLIN 45: Senior Ray Lousia scored a game-high 22 points Friday, leading North Farmington (4-3, 1-1) to the WLA victory at Livonia Franklin (3-4, 0-2).

Lousia connected on four 3-pointers. He had nine points — a three-pointer and six of six from the free throw line — in the decisive fourth quarter as North outscored Franklin, 20-15.

Alan Pennala, a senior guard, added 11 points for the Raiders.

Senior forward Jacob Goedde tallied 15 points and grabbed eight rebounds for the Patriots, who trilled 35-30 after three quarters.

Senior guards Eddie Wallace and Nick Mongeau contributed 12 and 10, respectively. Brian Faclone had five points in the final period.

"They (North) hit some big shots and we had some bad turnovers down the stretch," Franklin coach Dan Robinson said. "We came out flat to start and we never got in sync."

NORTHVILLE 79, STEVENSON 47: In a WLA game played Friday, the host Mustangs jumped out to a 38-16 halftime lead to keep Livonia Stevenson winless.

Northville is 5-2 overall and 1-2 in the Western Lakes. Stevenson falls to 0-7 and 0-3.

"It was kind of an ugly ballgame," Stevenson coach Tim Newman said. "I scouted Northville against John Glenn and they have a quick ball-club so we wanted to make it a 40-point ball-game."

"We were down 12-4 in the first quarter and we had a lot of opportunities. Then we made some turnovers and we had to abandon our game plan. Northville ran the court well."

"We're still looking for our identity."

Bob Allen, a 6-4 inside player, led Northville with 20 points. Dave Terakedis added 15, including four 3-pointers. Matt Carroll contributed 10.

Mike Blazaitis was Stevenson's top scorer with 10.

ZOE 71, HURON VALLEY 66: In a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference game played Friday at Marshall Middle School, host Huron Valley Lutheran couldn't hold a 33-31 halftime advantage as Warren Zoe Christian stormed back for the victory.

Huron Valley is 2-6 overall and 1-3 in the MIAC. Zoe improves to 4-3 overall.

Craig Myree led the victorious Warriors with 22 points, while Matt Harm chipped in with 10.

Jeremy Zahn scored 19 to pace Huron valley. Jason Bytner added 16.

Huron Valley led 17-8 after one quarter and by two at intermission, but Zoe took control with a 22-11 third-quarter run.

The Hawks shot 54.5 percent from the free throw line (12 of 22), while Zoe was 14 of 28 (50 percent).

COLLEGE BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

Red-hot McKelvey lifts Ocelots by Hawks

Chuck Person of the San Antonio Spurs calls himself "The Rifleman," but he may have been one-upped Wednesday night by Schoolcraft College's Derek McKelvey.

The 6-foot-3 freshman guard from Adrian pumped in eight 3-pointers en route to a 30-point night to lead Schoolcraft College to an 89-75 men's basketball win at Henry Ford in a battle for first place in the Eastern Conference of Michigan Community College Athletic Association.

McKelvey's shooting exhibition was of the "Dirty Harry" variety.

Kevin Melson, a 6-foot-6 forward, also scored 30 including five dunks as Schoolcraft improved to 16-3 overall and 5-0 in the conference.

Point-guard Pete Males (Garden City) played a steady floor game, contributing 15 points. Forward Emeka Okonkwo added nine points before fouling out late in the game.

Dan Gomez, a 6-foot-10 center, chipped in with 11 rebounds and six blocked shots.

Henry Ford, coached by former Garden City West standout Gary Nustad, dropped to 8-6 and 3-1.

Four Hawks scored in double figures. — Jason Skoczylas (16), Cy Baker (14), Kris Landers (13) and Togar Walker (12).

Schoolcraft led 42-39 at intermission before pulling away late in the second half.

The Ocelots made 14 of 19 free throws, while Henry Ford was 10 of 15.

SPRING ARBOR 90, MADONNA 57: On Wednesday, host Spring Arbor outscored the Fighting Crusaders 53-27 in the second half to gain the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference win.

Jason Elder led the victorious Cougars, now 12-9 overall and 1-1 in the WHAC, with 21 points, including five of 10 shooting beyond the three-point arc. Jeremy Patterson added 19 points and nine rebounds.

John-Mark Branch led Madonna in scoring with 16. Mark Hayes added 15, while Mark Mitchell chipped in with 10 points and seven rebounds.

The Fighting Crusaders (1-17, 0-3) made 27 turnovers and shot just 36.7 percent from the floor (22 of 60).

WOMEN'S

countered with a basket by Lisa Watt eight seconds later, putting the Cougars ahead by one and setting up Murray's late heroics.

Cushman finished with a team-best 22 points, making four three-pointers. Chris Dietrich added 16 points, Dawn Pelc contributed 13 points, a team-high nine rebounds and four steals, and Angie Negri chipped in with four assists and five steals. Murray totaled nine points and five boards.

For Spring Arbor, Courtney Thompson Jr. hit 11-of-14 shots in scoring 24 points, with 13 rebounds, three blocked shots and three steals. Andrea VanderHorst collected 19 points and Kristin Dankert got 14.

Madonna, which trailed 40-35 at the half, had to battle back from a 52-41 deficit in the final 14:53.

HENRY FORD 80, SCHOOLCRAFT 57: Trailing 33-27 at intermission, host Henry Ford Community College did an about-face in burying Schoolcraft CC in a battle for first place in the Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association.

Henry Ford is 7-6 overall and 5-0 in the conference, while the Lady Ocelots dip to 8-7 and 4-2.

Kathy Pangalis (Allen Park) led the winners with 21 points. Kristi Florenzi, a 5-foot-11 freshman from Plymouth Canton, added 17.

Theresa Cooper had 16 for Schoolcraft.

SC was outscored 53-24 in the second half.

"At halftime we wrote four things on the blackboard — intensity, rebounding, desire and ball-handling," Henry Ford coach Dan Henry said. "And Schoolcraft was out-playing us in every area."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

GLENN SOFTBALL NAMES OLACK

Karen Olack, a former All-ObsERVER catcher from Westland John Glenn, has been named the new varsity softball coach for the Rockets.

Olack, who served as a varsity assistant last year at Livonia Ladywood, succeeds Ron Staples, who stepped down after going 11-20 last season.

Olack was Glenn's interim coach in 1995, leading the Rockets to a 15-11 record.

COLLEGIATE NOTES

•Pat Grzecki (Wayne Memorial) is member of the Eastern Michigan University men's wrestling team which takes on Central Michigan, 2 today, in its first home meet of the season.

Grzecki, a 190-pounder, was a state medalist and two-year captain for the Zebres. The four-year varsity standout was a Wolverine A Conference champ as a junior and placed second in the Mega-Blue Division as a senior.

•Heather Boni (Livonia Stevenson), a junior at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, recently was selected to receive the NAIA Volleyball Academic All-America award, which recognizes athletes who carry a 3.6 grade-point average or better.

The outside hitter, who was named to several all-tournament teams, helped the Lady Wolves to a school-record 37-19 season. She is majoring in mechanical engineering.

PRECISION SKATING MEET

The Plymouth Figure Skating Club will be the host when the 1998 USFSA Midwestern Precision Team Sectional Championship comes Friday through Sunday, Feb. 6-8, at Compuware Arena in Plymouth.

The Sectional serves as a national qualifying for all precision teams in the Midwest. Those teams placing highest at the Sectional advance to the USFSA National Precision Championships in March in San Diego.

Of the U.S.'s three geographical sections, the Midwestern is the largest. Some 145 teams and 3,000 skaters are expected to compete.

Precision team skating is expected to become an Olympic event in 2002, magnifying the importance of such championships.

HIGH SCHOOL WRESTLING

Spartan voids costly in Lakes dual meet loss to Salem Rocks

Three voids were pivotal Thursday as Livonia Stevenson fell to host Plymouth Salem in a key Lakes Division wrestling match, 45-23.

The Western Lakes Activities Association victory gives Salem a 6-0 overall record, while Stevenson drops to 6-2.

Stevenson jumped out to a 9-0 lead as Joe Moreau (103 pounds), Katsuhiko Sueda (112) and Chris Goins (119) all won by decisions.

Moreau beat Rob Ash, 12-3; Sueda decisioned John Mervyn, 12-4; and Goins toppled Dan Morgan, 7-1.

Salem won the next two matches by void, but Stevenson tied it at 12-all when Mike Falzon (135) decisioned Josh Henderson, 6-2.

Stevenson took an 18-12 advantage as senior Dan Seder (140) recorded his 100th career win with a pin of Sam Boyd in 3:38.

Salem, however, took the next three matches, two by pin and the other in the match of the night when James Greene edged Jeff Brach, 2-1.

ROUNDUP

At 160, Salem's Anwar Crutchfield rallied from a 4-1 deficit to pin Brian Barker in 2:44.

Stevenson's Mike Radley came through at 171 with a 6-5 win over Dave Popeney to cut the deficit to 27-21, but the Rocks clinched it with two more pins and a void at heavyweight.

"It's good that we have a team where we can have our lower weight kids get beat and our middle and upper weight kids can come through," Salem coach Ron Krueger. "We've got a pretty balanced team."

On Jan. 8, Stevenson defeated Lakes foe Walled Lake Central, 39-36, as Josh Gunterman (103), Zack Yaffai (119), Goins (130), Falzon (135), Seder (140), Brach (145), Barker (160) and Radley (171) earned wins.

Seder leads the team with a 21-1 record, followed by Goins

Salem blocks Patriots in WLAA opener

Livonia Franklin took on one of the state's top-ranked girls volleyball teams in Class A, losing Wednesday to visiting Plymouth Salem, 15-2, 15-4.

Salem is now 14-4 overall and 1-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Franklin drops to 6-3-3 and 0-1.

"We played a lot better than the score looked," said Franklin coach Ann Hutchins about the match that lasted 50 minutes. "We had a lot of sideouts and a lot of long rallies."

Seniors Amanda Abraham (six kills and three aces) and Jenny Trott (four kills and 11 digs) led the victorious Rocks.

"Salem was just the bigger, stronger and more experienced team," Hutchins said. "We didn't serve very well. We only had two aces."

Brooke Hensman and Andrea Kmet each had five kills in a losing cause. Setters Lindsay

VOLLEYBALL

Duprey and Lyndsay Sopko both played well as setter, according to the Franklin coach.

The defense was spearheaded by Jackie Ziem, who had five standout digs.

Blazers sweep foes

Livonia Ladywood remained unbeaten in the Catholic League by winning a pair of matches Thursday at Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

In the first match, the Blazers clobbered Allen Park Cabrini, 15-2, 15-4, as 10 different players registered kills including three each by Jenny Lachapelle and Sarah Poglits.

Natalie Rozell and Deana LaBute each added three aces, while Andrea Rahaley and Katie Brogan combined for nine assists. Mickie Finn had four digs. In the nightcap, Ladywood improved to 19-3 overall with a 15-1, 9-19, 15-2 victory over the host Ventures.

MaryLu Hemme led with five kills and Patty Horal added four. Poglits contributed 11 assists and three aces.

Rahaley and Hemme each contributed five digs, while Leslie Orzech had two solo blocks.

Trojans win Metro match

Livonia Clarenceville opened Metro Conference play last week with a 15-0, 15-13 win over visiting Hamtramck.

The Trojans, a state Class C quarterfinalist a year ago, are 8-5-1 overall.

Clarenceville went 0-4 in the Madonna Tournament (Jan. 10) after finishing second the week before in the Saginaw Valley State University Tournament.

"We're struggling right now, but we have a great group of girls and we'll get our act together," said Alisha Love, last year's Observerland Coach of the Year.

One standout thus far has been 5-foot-5 senior Jackie Kibliko.

"She's playing like a 6-footer," Love said. "She is playing well offensively and defensively. She's really stepping up."

Progressive program: Dr. Sidney Baskin reads over patient information in the dialysis room of the Botsford Kidney Center in Livonia. The photograph shows only a fourth of the dialysis stations utilized by patients three times a week for several hours at a time. Baskin is hoping his Pre-ESRD program delays the need for chronic dialysis by up to 15 years for some eligible patients.

PREVENTION

NEW PROGRAM HOPES TO DELAY DIALYSIS DEPENDENCE

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
STAFF WRITER

Patrick, a 45-year-old Redford father of two (who asked that his last name be withheld) has chronic, irreversible kidney failure. Three days a week for nearly three hours he undergoes kidney dialysis — the mechanical separation of impurities from blood — a bodily function his kidneys can no longer perform.

"I regret not having taken better care of myself," said Patrick. "Dialysis keeps me going and I do it because I want to see my kids grow up but I wish I had kept my blood pressure under control and taken my medication more seriously. I'm paying for it now."

Diagnosed in his late 20s with hypertension, the Redford father says he irregularly took his prescriptions, didn't maintain a diet low in sodium and rarely did much of any physical activity.

"I would watch my boys play football, hockey and basketball but I never got off my duff and ran around with them. An increase in my weight didn't help my high blood pressure any," said Patrick.

As a result of years of neglect, Patrick was briefly hospitalized for abnormally high blood pressure which led to a diagnosis of End-Stage Renal Disease (ESRD) — described as "chronic, progressive and irreversible kidney failure characterized by the loss of at least 90 percent of kidney function."

A new program at the Botsford Kidney Center of Livonia aims to reduce the number of people requiring chronic dialysis with early screening, aggressive treatment and long-term follow up for patients who are candidates for ESRD as a result of diabetes or hypertension.

Under the direction of Sidney

Baskin, M.D., medical director of the Botsford Kidney Center, a new program was initiated six months ago in hopes of preventing or delaying progression of chronic kidney failure and the future need for chronic dialysis therapy.

"We want to have the opportunity to intervene early in the treatment of patients at high risk for chronic kidney failure. Recent medical research has shown that this approach may prevent or delay the progression to End-Stage Renal Disease by as much as 10-15 years," said Baskin.

Baskin, who began his medical career in nephrology and hypertension completed a fellowship at the University of Michigan Hospital - Ann Arbor in 1961 and began a private practice the following year in the same field.

Today, after more than 40 years of patient care and research in nephrology, the branch of medicine dealing with the kidney, Baskin says he aspires to diminish the number of ESRD patients with an intensive program that focuses on early detection, diet, education, counseling and social service intervention.

"Some physicians fall into a pattern of seeing patients, biding their time with treatments and going along their merry way," said Baskin. "With the longevity I've had in this profession I began to see more and more patients with the same symptoms who were facing a future of chronic dialysis and almost all of them had high blood pressure or diabetes."

Baskin said he began to "feel it was a failure in the system" and could "not all be the patients' fault."

Two clinical cases from his private practice weren't the catalyst, for the Pre-ESRD program, but a good illustration of the "frustration of failure and the potential for success" that serve as valid argument for Baskin's opinion that "chronic dialysis can be delayed by up to 15 years with aggressive treatment and early detection."

In a brief summary, Patient A was first evaluated in 1965 with high blood pressure and normal renal functions. He was treated with anti-hypertensive therapy and in six months reported good blood pressure control. Over the next 30 years he was lost for long periods of time without medical supervision and failed to maintain a constant compliance of the necessary medications.

As a result, the patient currently receives chronic hemodialysis three times a week with borderline blood pressure control and faces potential long-term complications.

In comparison, Patient B was diagnosed in 1979 with hypertensive crisis, a blood pressure reading of 300/150 and Acute Renal Failure. The 42-year-old male was treated with acute hemodialysis for four weeks which returned kidney functions and he was weaned to oral medications.

Baskin, said it's of "great importance" to note that the man (Patient B) never misses an appointment and is "rigidly compliant regarding his anti-hypertensive medication." Thanks to his compliance, today, the 60-year-old male continues oral medications and free of hemodialysis treatment unlike Patient A.

The Livonia physician says the two cases don't constitute a valid study but bring attention to the future benefits of obedience to medication, regular treatment, dietary instruction and long-term follow up care.

"Dialysis is old hat," said Baskin, "but I view this program as the next step in the progressive change of dialysis treatment."

Of the approximately 30 Pre-ESRD patients that Baskin sees at the Botsford Kidney Center, a high percentage have show kidney function stabilization since mid-summer when the program was first launched.

Program members are required to actively participate in a partnership with their primary care physician and a team of individuals that include a dietitian, renal social worker, nephrologist and renal staff nurse. Baskin said patients referred for this program through their primary care physicians, receive "state-of-the-art nephrology medical care, appropriate dietary instruction, social service intervention, educational materials, support program access and peer counseling."

Pre-ESRD programming also includes early screening opportunities, medical treatment and long-term follow up for patients with high blood pressure.

"Maybe if I had better taken care of myself and took my pills regularly I could have avoided being on dialysis for the rest of my life like I am now," said Patrick.

The intent of the Pre-ESRD program is to reach patients before they reach the point that they need hemodialysis.

Another benefit to reducing the number of persons on dialysis is the staggering costs associated with long-term renal care. Baskin estimates more than 250,000 people are currently on chronic dialysis in the U.S. at a cost greater than $10 billion per year to the Medicare system which began reimbursing treatment for all ESRD patients in 1973.

"The economic significance of preventing or delaying the need for chronic dialysis is self-evident. However, the implications relative to the physical and emotional human toll are staggering," Baskin said.

The Botsford Kidney Center is located at 28425 W. Eight Mile Road in Livonia. For more information, call (248) 442-7901.

When hearing aids aren't enough

An increasing number of adults in the U.S. suffer from severe-to-profound hearing loss and obtain limited or no benefit from even the most powerful and sophisticated hearing aids. Cochlear implants are a proven medical option that may help these individuals better communicate and interact with others.

The public can learn about cochlear implants at a free seminar presented by Personalized Hearing Care and the Garden City Hospital Audiology Department at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 21 at MedMax in Westland.

"Cochlear Implants: When Hearing Aids Aren't Enough" features audiologist Paulette Daniels, M.A., CCC-A, of the Michigan Ear Institute. Daniels will explain how cochlear implants work, their benefits, what implant wearers can expect and who is a potential candidate for implantation.

Cochlear implants bypass damaged parts of the inner ear and electronically stimulate the hearing nerve to provide information about pitch, which is essential for understanding speech.

They have become increasingly sophisticated since first being introduced in France in 1967.

Today's cochlear implant system consists of internal components (a receiver and an electrode array) that are surgically implanted, and external components (microphone, speech processor and transmitting coil) that are worn by the individual.

Over the past 20 years, more than 17,000 adults and children around the world have received cochlear implants. While the procedure does not restore normal hearing, for some individuals it can provide the ability to hear medium to soft sounds and understand speech. An estimated 800,000 adults in the U.S. could benefit from today's cochlear implant technology.

This seminar is part of an ongoing series presented as a community service to promote better hearing care, familiarize the public with available hearing services, and provide information on common hearing concerns.

Reservations are recommended and can be made by calling MedMax at (734) 468-7100.

Give the gift of life

This holiday season many of you went out to the shopping malls and toy stores on a mission to find the perfect gift which made that special child in your life smile. But there are many children in Michigan whose perfect gift could not be found in a store. The only wish of 2,400 Michigan residents is to receive a life saving organ transplant.

Unfortunately, there is a shortage of organs for those in need. You can help relieve this problem by becoming an organ donor. Just call 800-482-1455 to receive your free organ donor card. You also need to discuss your wishes to become an organ donor with your family. So this year, give a gift that is in the true spirit of the season - make the pledge to give the gift of hope.

According to the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan more than 50,000 Americans are waiting for life-saving organ transplants, and nine to ten people each day die while waiting for a donor organ. If more organs were available, people in need would spend less time on the waiting list and more lives would be saved each day.

The National Kidney Foundation of Michigan is committed to ensuring that every American who needs a transplant receives one.

Customized startup pages

MIKE WENDLAND

PC TALK
The biggest problem with the Internet is its size. It is too big and the information it offers is overwhelming.

What's needed is a Gatekeeper. What we have are personal agents - geek speak for Internet applications that allow us to customize the news and information we receive on our Web startup pages. There are dozens available, with more being released every day.

Two of the easiest to use come with Netscape Communicator and Internet Explorer. By default, when you open up each browser, it goes to the home page of either Netscape Communications or Microsoft.

Don't settle for blah

The solution is another start page. You do not have to settle for what they provide. You can choose to begin your Web sessions with any site you want.

Here's how to change the startup page, assuming you're working with the latest version (4.0) of either respective product. Older versions work pretty much the same, though, so if you're still using version 3.0, you should be able to figure out my instructions.

In Communicator, go to Options, then General Preferences. Click on the Navigation tab. See where it says Startup? In that box is a place for a URL, or Internet address. Just type in the URL of whatever page you want to begin with, click OK and, next time you start Communicator, it will open with your new selection.

It's the same thing with Microsoft's Internet Explorer. Go to View, then Options and then click the Navigation tab. Type in the URL under the space for the

But maybe you don't have a page you like that much but you would like something a bit more useful than the standard offerings served up by Communicator and Explorer. That's where these Personal Agents come into the picture.

Personal Agents allow you to customize your own start page with specific, personally-selected material. Once again, Communicator and Explorer are head-to-head in competing for you to choose their Personal Agent.

In Netscape, go to the home page (www.netscape.com) and look for a hyperlink to something called Powerstart. Click on it and you'll be led to a template. You fill in the things you want to see on your own start page. You can have a localized weather report, movie listings and start times for the theaters in your neighborhood, a stock ticker that scrolls across your screen listing only the companies you're interested in, and headline news and sports.

Be creative

You can even have your own to-do list pop up, as well as current information about your favorite stocks. Microsoft Explorer will let you do the same thing from the Microsoft network home page (www.msn.com). Explorer uses your zip code to call up the movie schedule for what's playing in your neighborhood theater. It also has local TV listings and, my favorite, a direct link to the daily Dilbert comic strip.

You don't have to stick with just the so-called "Browser Big Two."

Just about every major presence on the Net these days is offering users the opportunity to customize their Web startup pages. CNN (www.cnn.com), MSNBC (www.msnbc.com), Pointcast (www.pointcast.com) and Lycos (www.lycos.com) are among the most popular.

Make pages personal

My current favorite is from Excite, which is known for its very fast and reliable search engine. But it also has a custom start page, called Excite Live! (live.excite.com), and I think it is the slickest on the Net. It opens with a very easy to follow look at the top news headlines of the hour. The headlines are all hyperlinked. Click on the one, and you get the full story.

Excite Live! really shines when it comes to displaying business news and information, especially stock prices. Most of the other custom start pages limit you to only a few stocks and funds to monitor. Excite lets you fill in a virtual portfolio. It couldn't be simpler.

It all works with fill-in-the-blank forms. On screen instructions with check-boxes to click off permit you to display everything from high and low tides to the market's trading volume for the day. Excite Live! has numerous stocks or funds or indexes. You can choose to display just their current or closing prices, or you can enter in the number of shares you hold in each issue and when the program updates, it automatically totals and displays your portfolio value.

Because this is obviously highly personal information, I would not suggest entering in your shares and asking Excite Live! to display your portfolio value on the computer you access from work.

So... don't settle for a blah start-up screen. Personalize your pages.

Mike Wendland covers the Internet for NBC-TV NewsChannel stations across the country and can be seen locally on WDIV-TV4, Detroit. You can reach him through his Web site at <http://www.pcmike.com>

Cleaning company doubles revenue

Tina Ruark, owner of the Livonia-based New Horizon Cleaning Company, recently announced the commercial cleaning company more than doubled their revenues from 1996 to 1997 by more than 2.5 percent over the previous year.

"I attribute our success to the way we do our work, the quality of the work and the referrals we receive from other clients," said Ruark, a Livonia resident.

Launched in the fall of 1995, New Horizon

Cleaning was established with a client base of approximately 15 commercial accounts (construction, office, remodeling jobs) managed by 10 employees.

Today, the company employs 20 staffers and two field supervisors who monitor more than 35 accounts on a daily basis to guarantee quality.

"I'm already projecting we're going to double last years income this year and we're well on our way," said Ruark.

For more information regarding New Horizon Cleaning Company, call (734) 421-3361.

Elk hunt proves to be great birthday

Richard Johnson presented his son Bill with a fantastic present for his 13th birthday — a trip to Atlanta for Michigan's annual elk hunt.

Richard drew an antlerless elk permit for the December hunt and allowed his son to tag along, "as sort of an early birthday present," explained the Canton resident.

"We had a fantastic time," Johnson said. "It was very exciting. I wish everyone could get a chance to go out. It's the thrill of a lifetime."

The hunt started on Dec. 9 and the Johnsons hooked up with locals Richard Sparks, Sr. and Jr., Jason Sparks and Mike Wright. After the first two days, Johnson was wondering if he was even going to see a cow (elk).

"We saw a lot of bulls the first couple of days, but no cows," he said. "I was wondering if we were going to get skunked."

"On the third day, after lunch, we located a pretty good sized herd with a couple of nice cows. We followed them for quite a while and I finally got a shot at a nice cow."

The three-year-old cow dressed out at 440 pounds and it took an ATV to drag her out of the woods.

"It was a thrill for both of us," added Richard. "Bill said he wants to apply as soon as he's old enough."

Hunters must be 14 to apply for an elk permit so young Bill won't have to wait long to apply. On the other hand, getting drawn for a permit is like hitting the lottery.

Upwards of 40,000 hunters apply annually for approximately 300 permits. Richard has applied for a Michigan elk permit every year since the hunt started in 1985.

Button buck club

Oxford's Robert Collins received a rather infamous award this year when he was presented with a plaque by Ted Novak.

Collins, Novak, Ed Spinazzola, Johann Kilmach, Ken Hojnacki and Chuck Bolke formed "The Button Buck Club" a few years ago when a couple of the founding members mistakenly shot button bucks during the firearms deer season.

Collins tagged a button buck last year which prompted Novak to make the award presentation.

Guess what? Two days after the presentation Novak mistakenly shot a button buck.

"Next year's presentation may be even more vexatious," Collins said.

Goose hunt

A veteran of 25 years of hunting — from the Louisiana bayous to tundra of New Foundland and all points between — Jim Janish has tagged deer, bear, moose, caribou and a wide variety of small game. But the Oakland Township hunter had never taken a Canada goose, until this past season that is.

Janish joined his friend Mike Damoth and four others waterfowlers on a corn-field goose hunt in Oakland County during the second phase of the regular season.

"We set up about four dozen oversized goose decoys and, using the available corn stalks, formed individual muskrat hutches to hide in," Janish said. "These guys have got their technique down to a science. Dressed in full camo we laid face-up on the hutches, covered ourselves with more stalks and patiently watched the horizon."

The team total was seven Canadas and one mallard duck for the six hunters. Yes, Janish broke his drought and bagged his very first Canada goose.

Anglers and hunters are urged to report their success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI. 48009. Fax information to (810) 644-1314 or call Bill Parker evenings at (810) 901-2573.

Single delivery system highlights GDBA

The Greater Detroit Bowling Association had its semi-annual meeting Jan. 12 at Sunnybrook Lanes as president Roland Snodgrass gave his report to the delegates from various leagues.

If your league was not represented, just remember next time that every member league is invited to attend and have its voice heard through its chosen delegate.

Executive Director Mark Martin followed with his report; Marlene Patterson, a field representative from Bowling Headquarters, made her presentation on the newly-created Single Delivery System and how it will help us locally.

John Davis Jr., chairman of the awards committee, gave his report and was followed by Tom McKay, who is in charge of the finance committee. His report was also printed out, so every member would be able to see how the local portion of the annual dues are used to the benefit all local leagues.

Nominations were also taken for the position of fourth vice-president for the next election of officers in May.

Other committees that gave their reports were the tournament committee, the senior committee and the nominating committee.

The web site for the association was also announced. It is www.gdba.com and anyone online can get the latest up-to-date information on GDBA activities.

•There will be a new magazine to be distributed to all members called "Pin Action" starting this fall along with a new three-tiered membership fee, which will be test marketed here next season. The GDBA ranks as the largest local association in the entire American Bowling Congress with over 70,000 members.

There are other local associations in this area such as the Wayne Westland Men's Bowling Association, which has about another 5,000 members.

The women bowlers have equally impressive numbers, and all of them combined provide great service to the bowling community with practically all of them working as unpaid volunteers.

It is the love of the sport and willingness to give something back to the game that makes up the organizations and the people who work so hard to make it a better bowling experience for all.

•While browsing the video rentals at Family Video in Westland, I came across this bowling instructional tape: "Score More" by Nelson Burton, Jr.

I rented it for a day — it was a free rental anyhow — and, even though it was produced about 10 years ago, it is still very timely as Burton explains how to find a strike line and fine tune the approach and delivery. He shows how to make spares and common splits and explains how to select your equipment.

Even though the equipment has changed a lot since this video was made, most of his tips are very useful and should help the viewer to improve on certain facets of the game.

There are many other excellent videos around that are worth watching. Most are aimed at the intermediate bowlers who need to improve their basic skills in order to get more out of bowling.

Most video rental outlets in this area carry a few good bowling videos. It is well worth the time to look and learn.

UM-Dearborn speaker series wets appetite

The shorter days of winter allow the naturalist more time to spend in front of the fire catching up on reading or designing a new look for the backyard.

Both of these pastimes will tantalize you until the weather breaks in spring.

One way to change the pace of this evening winter routine is to join others interested in the natural world too.

The Detroit Audubon Society and the Natural Areas Department of the University of Michigan-Dearborn are sponsoring a speakers series at the U of M-Dearborn campus.

The first program, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 27, will be presented by Dorothy McLeer, who will chronicle how people perceived wolves through the years.

As the top predator, man has had a major impact on the survival of wolves where ever they live.

Michigan's wolves in the upper peninsula are now living with several wolves that have taken up residence in the western part of the peninsula. For a long time wolves were only found on Isle Royale in Lake Superior.

Today wolf populations are thriving and surplus animals from Minnesota and Wisconsin are moving into the remote areas of the upper peninsula.

In order for a large predator to return to its position in the food chain, people must be educated about the biology of this animal and not rely on historical perceptions, often steeped in myth.

Robert Grese will be speaking at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 16, about landscaping with native plants.

This approach to gardening is becoming more and more popular. In fact, Grese will be speaking at a meeting on natural landscaping Saturday, Feb. 7 in Troy. He will be joined by two other speakers who will outline many of the considerations to converting your yard to a native habitat.

Orin Gelderloos and Janet Macunovich will both add information about choosing plants adapted to the local climate and soil conditions; also, those plants that are hardy against insect pests and how to make your yard a vigorous natural sanctuary.

For registration information about the Troy landscaping seminar, call (248) 360-1712 or (248) 652-4004.

After attending these meetings, you can return home inspired, and in the evening begin to plan a trip to the Porcupine Mountains to listen for wolves and loons, or begin to search the seed catalogs for those hardy natives just right for the backyard.
