PREFACE

TO THE RICKS FAMILY :

This genealogy is offered to the family with the knowledge that it is far short of what a good and complete history of the family should be. Some of the statistical omissions are owing to a lack of ability on the part of the author to procure them from various sources, especially from people who have failed to make reply to first, second, and third letters of inquiry, even to this day.

The family has scattered into nearly every state of the Union, many moving and leaving little or no clue, has been another obstacle.

This work had its inception in information secured by Mr. Joel Ricks of Logan, Utah, between the years of 1893 and 1896. This data was turned over to the author by Mr. Ricks in 1906 and an arrangement entered into to collect and publish this record with that of the Rix family, descended from William and Thomas who originally settled in Boston and Salem about 1645, but through some misunderstanding on the part of the publisher this design was not accomplished.

Mistakes will undoubtedly be found in the work, but they exist, not from the want of painstaking efforts to avoid them, but generally from imperfect manuscripts and contrary statements made by members of the same family.

Many persons would be surprised to see the errors in their own letters, which are frequently the result, not of ignorance, but of carelessness. What is worth recording at all, is worth recording carefully and correctly. I would esteem it a favor, when mistakes are discovered, to have the corrections sent to me.

Thanking all who have helped in this matter, and asking the charitable consideration of all for errors or omissions.

I am very truly yours,

GUY SCOBY RIX.

History and Genealogy of the Ricks Family of Virginia and North Carolina

INTRODUCTION

Brief mention of the Ricks family is found in various historical works, mainly in the publications of the Southern Historical Societies. It is believed that no extensive work of the family history, except this, has ever been published. The origin of the race is hidden in the mists of the centuries past, but where the dim glimpses of the name occur, they indicate that it is of Germanic origin. The name first appears in England about the time of William the Conqueror, about 1066. Like most English names, the spelling has not been uniform, and is found in various forms, viz, Rickesis, Riekcs, Rickey, Rixe, Ricks, and Rix. The most approved Angelized form is Ricks and Rix. Research shows several of the name came to this country from England in its early settlement, Thomas and William came about 1645, and settled in Boston, and Salem, Mass. Isaac Ricks came about the same time and settled in Isle of Wight Co., Virginia. The compiler has not discovered positive proof of relationship between Isaac of Virginia and Thomas and William of Massachusetts, but there are various traditions that they were related, and sprung from the same stock, or root. Today in the west of England the name is spelled Ricks, while in the east it is spelled Rix.

It would be impossible to give exact credit for the information obtained, for every available source has been consulted for information, records and facts carefully collated and recorded. It would be equally impossible to give credit to many members of the family for records furnished, for hardly a sketch in the work came from a single source of information, but we desire to express heartfelt thanks to the many friends found, who have assisted in making this book. We would fail in our duty did not we mention particularly those who have assisted in a financial way, or else this work could not have been prosecuted to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Joel Ricks of Logan, Utah, Mr. Robert H. Ricks of Rock Mount, N. C., Mr. Robert L. Ricks of Worden, Ill., and Mr. Hyrum, Thomas E. and Nathan Ricks of Rexburg, Idaho, all have taken great interest in the work, and furnished the funds to carry on the work to completion.

To the ladies of the family, we owe a debt of gratitude for assistance and family records kindly bestowed.

The compiler is keenly alive to the fact that some of the sketches of individuals fail to do justice to the subject, which is due to the fact that proper information was not at his command. This work is intended for a family history in concise form, not a genealogy, merely to restore the lost links of relationship, but to make the descendants and kindred again acquainted one with the other, and to tell people of today about their ancestors, who they were, where they lived, what they did, their names, customs, etc. It has been an unjust fashion and a mistake to drop from genealogical works in a large measure the female lines. The daughters are members of the family as much as the sons are; the names they adopt by marriage are mere accidents, depriving them of no rights of relationship. We trust that the kindred will be pleased to learn of their female relatives, and proud of their marriage alliances.

GENEALOGY

The ancestral home of the family was at Brancaster Castle, Norfolk County, England, certainly as early as 1525, the time of Henry the VIII. The coat of arms of the family is laid in Mosaic in the pavement of the Castle Church and can be seen to-day.

The coat of arms herein was made from a painting from the records in Heralds College, London, England.

The first one of the name of this branch of the family was Isaac Ricks, who was born in England in 1638, and a tradition exists that he came from England and landed at Jamestown, Virginia, and settled in Warrasguyeake, one of the eight shires of Virginia, which was changed in 1737, to Isle of Wight County, which included the present counties of Nansemond and Southampton.

These counties were peopled largely by Puritans and Quakers, whose records began in 1663. The land and court records of these counties were destroyed by fire many years ago, and genealogical records are very meagre.

Isaac Ricks was a Quaker, and was a member of the Quaker Church, located at a place called Chuckatuck, situated on the western branch of the Nansemond River, in what is now Nansemond County. At this point, about ten miles from Suffolk and near the line of Isle of Wight County, was the Quaker Church built by Robert and Abraham Ricks in 1702.

It is not known exactly in which county Isaac lived, whether in Isle of Wight, or Nansemond County, but very likely he lived near the church, as he was a constant attendant as the records show.

The following transcript is from the publications of the Southern Historical Society. The many changes in spelling the name will be noticed, but it is as written on the church books. Here follows the records from the old church books, which are deposited in Baltimore, Md., for safe keeping;

“Isaac Rickesis and Kathren, his wife, their children nativities as follows:

“Isaac Rickesis, son of afore Is and Kathren was born the seventeenth day of the sixth month in the year 1669.”

“William Rickesis son of sd Is and Kethren was born on the fifth day of the eighth month, 1670.”

“Jno. Rickesis son of sd Is & Kathren was born the thirtieth day of the tenth month, 1672.”

“Abraham Rickesis son of sd Is and Kathren was born the third day of the tenth month, 1674.”

“Jacob Rickesis son of sd Is and Kethren was born the seventeenth day of the first month, 1677.”

“Robert Rickesis son of sd Is and Kethren was born the fourteenth day of tenth month, 1679.”

“Friends Book of record per mee, Isaac Rickesis in the year 1700.”

NOTE:—The above records were erased in the original, but are still legible. The above records can be found on page 18, Vol. XII of the publication before mentioned. On page 97 of the same volume can be found the following, but in another handwriting. Additional records:

“Benjamin Rickesis was born the seventeenth day of the eleventh month, in the year 1682.

“Kathren Rickesis was born the twentieth day of the tenth month, who lived ten months and two weeks and so departed this life, being in the year 1684.”

“Richard Rickesis was born the thirtieth day of the fifth month in the year 1684.

“Jeane Rickesis was born the last day of the sixth month in the year 1687.

“James Rickesis was born the seventeenth day of the first month, in the year 1690.”

ISAAC RICKS, JR., AND SARAH HIS WIFE, THEIR CHILDREN
NATIVITIES RECORDED.

“William Ricks son of above Isaac and Sarah his wife was born on the twenty-fifth day of the seventh month, in the year 1698.

“Isaac Ricks son of the above sd Isaac & Sarah was born on the twenty-seventh day of the twelfth month, in the year 1702.

“Jacob Ricks son of the above sd Isaac and Sarah was born on the eleventh day of the second month, in the year 1705.”

NOTE:—Here on the original, several pages were cut out, and very likely other children were recorded on the cut pages.

In the same volume it is recorded that in 1702, Abraham and Robert Ricks built a Quaker Meeting house on the Western branch of the Nansemond River, and were paid 32,000 pounds of Tobb (Tobacco) which was the medium of exchange.

Isaac senior subscribed 400 pounds, Abraham 300 pounds and John 100 pounds.

These people were Quakers, and their names frequently appear at church weddings as the following certificate shows:

“Joseph Jordan, son of Joseph Jordan of North Carolina and Mary Rix, daughter of Abraham Rix of Isle of Wight County, having declared their intentions of taking each other in marriage before several public meetings of the people called Quakers, in Virginia, on the tenth day of the second month, 1723, were married at a public meeting in said county.

(Signed) JOSEPH JORDAN,
MARY JORDAN.

The witnesses were 20 in number, among them were:

Mary Rix,
Abraham Rix, and
Ellis Rix. (Elizabeth her sister.)

On page 207, in volume XII of the same before mentioned record can be found the following death records:

“Richard Rickesis departed this life on the twenty-ninth day of the seventh month, in the year about the tenth in the morning. (Probably 1710.)

“Catherine Ricks departed this life ye eighth month in the year 1717. (She was probably the wife of Isaac, sen.)

“Isaac Ricks departed this life ye third day of the eleventh month, 1732. (This was without doubt Isaac, sen.)

“William Rickesis the son of Isaac Rickesis departed this life the twenty-second day of the sixth month, about a half hour before the going down of the sun, in the year 1694, he being almost 24 years of age.

“Jacob Rickesis the son of Isaac and Kathren, his wife, departed this life upon the fifth day of the fifth month, about the first hour in the afternoon. (The word italicized was crossed out, leaving the day of the month uncertain, the year not being given.)

ISAAC RICKESIS¹, was born in England in 1638; died Nov. 3, 1732; married Kathren, who died Aug. 11, 1717. The date of his coming to this country has not been ascertained, but he landed at Jamestown, Va. It is not known with any degree of certainty where their children were born, possibly some were born in England and others born in Virginia. Their births are all recorded on the books of the Quaker Church at Chuchatuek, Va. They were Quakers.

The stigma of this time (1663) was the merciless intolerance towards the Friends or Quakers. Here as elsewhere in America, they were treated with harshness which disgraced the epoch. They were denounced as a turbulent people, teaching lies, miracles, false doctrines and prophecies, disorganizers and enemies of society.

They were fined for non-attendance on the services of the Established Church. They were not allowed to attend their own conventicles, and no ship master was to bring them into the Colony. No person was allowed to enter their houses, and finely the poor Quakers were to go out of the state, and no more were to come in, and if they insisted on returning, they were treated as felons.

Many of the poor Quakers left the state, while others either renounced their religion or braved it out and remained.

NOTE:—Mr. Richard A. Ricks of Richmond, Va., writing under date of July, 1905, says, "I have in my possession an old "Breeches" Bible once belonging to the Ricks family, which was bought at the sale of one Richard Ricks in 1779, and had been out of the family until ten or fifteen years ago, when it came back into the family."

The following entries are recorded in the old Bible. The record does not agree with the original records as recorded in the old church books, recorded by Isaac, sen., and very likely were recorded from memory.

JOHN RICKS, born Mar. 17, 1676; died Sept. 21, 1717.

ABRAHAM RICKS. (No dates.)

JACOB RICKS, born Mar. 17, 1676; died May 9, 1706.

JACOB RICKS, died July 9, 1703, aged 26 years.

WILLIAM RICKS, born Oct. 5, 1670; died Aug. 22, 1694, about 24 years of age.

ROBERT RICKS, born Dec. 14, 1679; died Mar. 23, 1743.

CATHERINE RICKS, wife of Isaac Rieks, died Oct. 1717.

ISAAC RICKS, SR., died Jan. 2, 1723 in the 85th year of his age.

ISAAC RICKS, JR. (No date.)

ISAAC RICKS, son of Jacob, b. & d. (No date.)

JAMES RICKS, born Mar. 16, 1690.

JAMES RICKS, born May 17, 1690.

JAMES RICKS, born Jan. 23, 1690.

ROBERT SCOTT, SR., and uncle Robert Scott and Jane, his mother. (No date.)

ROBERT SCOTT, JR., son of Robert Scott, Sr., and Jane his wife was born Mar. 19, 1695.

NOTE:—Robert Scott, Sr., was probably an uncle to the recorder by marriage to Isaac, Sr.'s wife or else to a sister of Isaac himself.

The old Bible was brought here by Isaac, Sr., and probably has come down through Isaac² and Richard³ when it was sold in 1779.

BENJAMIN RICKS removed to Edgecombe County, where he executed his will in 1719, probated Nov. 20, 1721. In his will he mentions Robert Ricks, Jr., son of my brother Robert Ricks, brother Isaac Ricks, brother Abraham Ricks, brother Robert Ricks, brother James Ricks, sister Jane Ricks, and Patience, daughter of brother Abraham Ricks, and William Brown, son of Beal Brown. This will establishes the fact that he was the son of Isaac¹, because there was no such combination of names in any other family at the date when this will was made, and because his will was made in Edgecombe Co., shows most conclusively that he was one of the first of the name in North Carolina.

These two wills, those of him and his brother, Isaac, cannot be found.

2. ISAAC RICKS², ISAAC¹, was born June 17, 1669; died in 1760; married Sarah. He lived in Isle of Wight Co., now Nansemond Co., Va. On the book of records of the Quaker Church at Chuckatuck, which are in Baltimore, Md., for safe keeping, can be found recorded the birth of three of his children, but on the page on which was their record part was cut off for some reason, leaving their names off. We learn from the land records of North Carolina that Sarah, wife of Isaac Ricks, was the daughter of Barnaby McKinnie.

Barnaby McKinne of Chowan Co., N. C., conveyed by gift to his son-in-law, Isaac Ricks, Mar. 28, 1722, 100 acres of land in Chaledona Woods, called Napin Work, patented by Nathanel Holly.

It has been claimed that Isaac's sons, Isaac, Benjamin and William were the first of the name in North Carolina, but the records show to the contrary.

Barnabee or Barnaby McKinne appeared first in the Colony in 1720, and settled in Caledony Woods, at or near Coneconary Swamp, then in Chowan Precinct, and after 1722, in Bertie Precinct, and after 1741 in Edgecombe County, then in Halifax.

The name of Barnaby McKinne does not appear on the old Quaker Books of Chuckatuck.

On the land records of Edmonton, the county seat of Chowan, can be found several deeds running to Barnaby McKinne from 1710 to 1722. Isaac Ricks, executed his will in Edgecombe Co., Mar. 11, 1748, was probated Oct. 28, 1748. In it he mentions his wife Sarah, daughters Mary Pope and Martha, sons Abraham, Robert, John and Richard.

The recording of this will has not been found.

When the first United States census was taken in 1790, the following Ricks's were found in North Carolina:

✓ ABRAHAM RICKS, of Nash Co., had a wife, three sons over 16, and three daughters.

BENJAMIN RICKS, of Pitt Co., had three sons over 16, one under 16, a wife and four daughters.

DEMPSEY RICKS, of Northampton County, had a wife, two sons over 16 and one daughter.

JACOB RICKS, of Nash County, had a wife, one son over 16, and one daughter.

JACOB RICKS, of Northampton County, had no wife or children. (Unmarried.)

JAMES RICKS, of Edgecombe County, had a wife, three sons over 16, one under, and three daughters.

JAMES RICKS, of Guilford Co., had a wife, three sons over 16, one under, and four daughters.

JOEL RICKS, of Nash County, had a wife, two sons over 16, and two daughters.

ISAAC RICKS, of Halifax County, had a wife, three sons over 16, one under 16, and three daughters.

MARY RICKS, of Edgecombe County, a widow, had two sons over 16, and three daughters.

PATTY RICKS, of Northampton County, a widow, had one daughter, and one slave.

PRISCILLA RICKS, of Nash County, a widow, had one son over 16, and one daughter.

SARAH RICKS, of Nash County, a widow, had one son over 16, and three daughters.

WILLIAM RICKS, JR., of Edgecombe County, had a wife, four sons over 16, and three daughters. No slaves.

WILLIAM RICKS, of Northampton County, had two sons over 16, no wife or daughter.

5. ABRAHAM RICKS² ISAAC¹, was born October 3, 1674. He was married in the Quaker Church at Chuckatuck, Va., March 16, 1703, to Mary Bolson of Nansemond County, Va., born November 24, 1685, daughter of Edmund and Mary (Crow) Bolson. Abraham was of Isle of Wight County at the time of his marriage. This shows conclusively that some of the family lived in that county. Their marriage was recorded on the church book of records.

- 23½ iii. PATIENCE³, b. —; married Barnaby McKinne, Jr. Her name was not recorded on the Chuckatuck Quaker Church books, probably because her parents left the country.

6. JACOB RICKS² ISAAC¹, was born Jan. 17, 1677; married in the Quaker Church at Chuckatuck, Va., Oct. 14, 1699, Mary Exum daughter of Jeremiah Exum. He died July 9, 1703, aged 26 years.

“From our men’s meeting at Chuckatuck, Aug. 14, 1704, the difference between Jeremiah Exum and Isaac Ricks, Sr., is finally ended upon this reservation, Isaac junior or his brother Robert, each of them to pay two thousand pounds of tabaca to the widow, namely, Mary Ricks, the widow of Jacob Ricks, deceased, which is done in lieu of his childrens portion of land or anything else which may be claimed after the death of Isaac Ricks senior, and we are witnesses of the same whose names are inserted.

13. WILLIAM RICKS³ ISAAC² ISAAC¹, was born probably near Chuckatuck Church, Va., July 25, 1699; married Esther Long. He was probably one who renounced Quakerism, because we find no records of him in the Church. He removed to Edgecombe County, N. C., about 1752, where he bought a large tract of land, but sold out to his brother Benjamin, and removed to that part of the county which is now Halifax County, and settled near the present town of Scotland Neck, near the Roanoke River. His wife died Nov. 25, 1769, and he married second Sarah ———.

Mr. Robert H. Ricks, of Rockymount, N. C., writes, “I can find no will of William Ricks in Halifax County, but I find a will of Sarah Ricks, which was recorded in Halifax County 1778. They seemed to have had a very large estate, bequeathing to their children and grand children from 50 to 60 slaves." The names mentioned in Sarah's will were, Martha Mary, who married a Cook, Richard, Robert, Isaac and Abraham who brought up Benjamin Sherrod, who was the son of his sister, Mary, son-in-law Thomas Pope, daughter-in-law Mary Ricks, grand children, Thomas, Holland and Mary Pope, Isaac Ricks, Betsy Ricks, Richard Ricks, John Ricks and Martha Lane. Executors of Sarah's will were John and Robert Ricks. He died Jan. 10, 1778.

River, where the largest cotton mill in the state, if not in the south, now stands. He also owned the land where the present town of Rocky Mount now stands, and some of these lands are still in the hands of his descendants.

16. BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born near Chuckatuck, Va., about 1707; married Patience Hely. He bought in Lunenburg County, Va., 400 acres of land of King George II, for 40 shillings, deed recorded in Richmond. He removed to North Carolina about 1752, or a little after, and bought a large tract of land of his brother William, in Edgecombe County, and about seven miles from the present town of Rocky Mount. He had good property, but was not wealthy. We have a copy of the will of Benjamin Ricks.

IN THE NAME OF GOD AMEN. I, Benjamin Ricks, of Edgecombe County and Elizabeth Parish in the Province of North Carolina, being in good health and sound memory, thanks be to God, but calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die does make and ordain this as my last Will and Testament. Principally and first of all, I recommend my soul unto the hands of God, that gave it to me hoping at the Great Day I shall receive the same, and as to my body I recommend to the earth to be buried in a Christian manner at the direction of my Executors, and as to my worldly estate which God has blessed me with I give and bequeath in manner and form following, principally and first of all I will that my just debts and funeral charges be paid.

Imprimis. I give and bequeath to my wife Patience a certain parcel of land lying on the south side Bonners branch containing eighty acres pattan land be the same more or less, which I settle on her as a Dowery.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son Lewis Ricks five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son Benj. Ricks, five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son Jacob Ricks five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son John Ricks five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my daughter Mary five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son Joel Ricks five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son William Ricks five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my daughter Sarah five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son Meredith five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son Thomas five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my daughter Patience five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son Josiah five shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son Abraham Ricks all the remainder of my estate real and personal of which I am possessed to him and his heirs forever.

Item. I do hereby nominate and appoint my son John Ricks and my cousin John Ricks Executors of this my last Will and Testament and do hereby revoke and discharge all former Wills and Testaments by me heretofore made and do nominate and pronounce this and no other to be my last Will and Testament dated the 5th of May 1774.

He received a deed from King George II for 150 acres of land in that county, deed dates July 30, 1742, for 15 shillings. His second deed was from King George II, for 200 acres for 20 shillings, deed dates July 30, 1742. His third deed was from King George II, for 229 acres, deed dates June 1750. One of these parcels of land adjoined his brother Richard's lands.

Robert probably renounced his religion, as the records of the Pagan Creek Quaker Church make no reference to him, as is found of his brother Richard's family. As far as we can learn, Robert lived and died in Southampton Co., Va., near Jerusalem.

18. RICHARD RICKS³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, settled in Southampton Co., Va., near the present town of Jerusalem. The name of his wife has not been ascertained. He received a deed from King George II for 110 acres of land for 15 shillings, deed dated Dec. 15, 1749. He also received a deed from King George II for 1888 acres, deed dated Sept. 20, 1759. He also received a deed from King George III, for 135 acres, deed dated July 7, 1763. All these lands were in Isle of Wight Co., now Southampton, which was taken off about 1760.

It seems from the records of Pagan Creek Quaker Church that he still held to the Quaker faith.

ARRANGEMENT

The arrangement followed in this work is that recommended by Mr. John Ward Dean, and is used in the publications of the New England Historical Society of Boston, Mass.

In that arrangement each child has a number, and where the sign X occurs after the name a further record is found farther along in the book, which number will be found in the middle of the page at the head of his or her record. Taking as an illustration, the family of Isaac¹. This party had ten children who are numbered from 1 to 10, Isaac the eldest has an X after his name, which shows he has further record, while the next son, William has no X after his name and has no further record.

Turning to the next generation, we find William with an X after his name, which shows he has a further record. In short the names having no X after them are not carried into the next generation.

CHILDREN.

207. i. ROBERT HENRY⁶, b. Apr. 4, 1839; married Tempie
E. Thorn, born Jan. 17, 1841, daughter of J. E. and Elizabeth Thorn. They reside in Rocky Mount, Nash Co., N. C. They have no children.

“No one individual fills a larger place in the history of Rocky Mount and its wide and varied achievements along all industrial, commercial and educational lines than the Hon.
R. H. Ricks. He is pronouncedly a member of the best type of citizenship, "to the manor born;" he is a native of Nash County, a son and member of the splendid family of that name, famed for sterling uprightness, sincerity and honesty.

When he was little more than a boy the great war between the States began. Patriotic and brave, he was one of the first to volunteer his services in defence of the Southland. He became a member of the First N. C. Regiment, the "Bethel Regiment," as it was named. He was the friend and comrade of Henry Wyatt, whose name is glorified in history as the first martyr to the cause of Southern Independence. Mr. Ricks himself was a member of the party that made the rush on the house at Bethel where Wyatt lost his life, an act that has been characterized by a distinguished Southern writer as "one of the brightest gems that glitters in the crown of Carolina."

Brave, intelligent, and sincere as a soldier, he was no less so in civil life when he returned to ruined homes and fortunes in his native county, at the close of his four years' service in the army. His magnificent business judgment and sympathetic heart were always placed liberally at the service of those who were seeking to rehabilitate the country, foster business enterprises, or in need of help and charity.

In many ways he has unselfishly given of his time and services to his native county and State. He served for several years as a member of the Board of County Commissioners—for much of the time as Chairman of the Board—as a member of the lower house of the Legislature in 1903, and that of the State Senate in 1905; he served his countymen and district, faithfully and with signal ability. As before indicated, Mr. Ricks has not only been successful in civil employment, but in the more varied interests of private business he has filled a conspicuous and useful place. As one evidence of his executive ability and its appreciation by his business associates, he is prominently identified with many business concerns. Among these is to be noted, that he is president of the Rocky Mount Cotton Mills, vice-president of the Bank of Rocky Mount and of the Mayodam and Washington Mills. He is president of Rocky Mount Ice and Fuel Co., Rocky Mount Guano Co., and is either a director in, or closely connected with, numerous other business and commercial enterprises. But not alone as banker, mill man and manufacturer, does Mr. Ricks have right to distinction. He is the pioneer in the cultivation and growth of tobacco. His consummate business sagacity and foresight early showed to him the adaptability of our land to the cultivation of the golden weed and the profit in it. He planted the first considerable crop of tobacco in Nash County. The reward was quick and splendid. As a successful tobacco farmer he takes first rank in Eastern North Carolina. He is the owner of many thousand acres of land in the Country adjacent to Rocky Mount. His home place contains 1,700 acres of fertile land, and here are grown, in great profusion, cotton, tobacco, corn and grasses.

His home, surrounded by ample grounds beautifully laid out by a landscape artist and bordered with oak and magnolias, is idealistic. The dwelling house, one of the finest in the country, is large, modernly built and in all respects an architectural gem.

He has no children himself but has not failed to be generous to the children of others less well provided with this world's goods than he. He has taken in charge several of his relatives' children and those of his neighbors, and not only saw they attended school but paid all expenses connected with their doing so.

He is prominently connected with the foundation and after progress and success of the Rocky Mount Graded School. On one occasion alone he gave the sum of $800 to the Rocky Mount Graded school to meet some necessary expenses connected with its building. These are but a few of the engaging traits and qualities and achievements of the best known citizen of Nash County. With it all, be it said to his eternal credit, he has come this far in life without any man having just cause to say that he has been dishonest, disloyal to his friends and State, or insincere.

He has also served in both branches of the State Legislature. He has taken a great interest in this book and has furnished many records of North Carolina families.

C. In September, 1802, he left North Carolina for the then "land of promise," Kentucky, in company with his brother-in-law, William Westar, his maiden sister, Michil, and a brother of William Westar, and settled on the north side of Donaldson Creek, in Christian County, now Trigg County. This place was about three miles up from where it empties into the Cumberland River, near a spring that flows from under a limestone bluff. His old Post Office was Canton, about ten miles down the Cumberland River, but it is now Donaldson, Ky. Here he bought a place of one Adam Linn, containing two hundred acres for $210.00, and afterwards paid for what was called "Head right," and received a deed from the state of Kentucky. He died on the farm, Nov. 14, 1844; his wife died on the same farm, May 13, 1844.

born in Trigg Co., Sept. 8, 1796. She was best known as Betsey. They lived on the farm with her father on Donaldson Creek, but removed before 1835, to Madison Co., Ill., for in that year he was elected a Justice of the Peace for that county. He settled in the present township of Olive, in Madison Co., and the township was named in his honor. He died there Nov. 11, 1875, and his wife died there Feb. 13, 1874, and both were buried in Olive Cemetery in Olive township, the land for which he gave from off his farm.

226. LEWIS RICKS⁶, JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born in Nash Co., N. C., near the great falls on Tar River, and not far from where the present town of Rocky Mount is. He went with his parents in 1802, to Christian Co., now Trigg Co., Ky. Here he married first, Nov. 11, 1828, Mary Anderson, born June 23, 1806. In 1833, he removed to Ill. and settled near his brother Joel on Silver Creek in the township of Olive in Madison Co. Here he located on a tract of land of 160 acres covered with heavy timber, and 40 acres of prairie land. Here his wife, the mother of his children, died Dec. 9, 1866. In June 1867, he married second, Eliza I. Anderson, a widow, from whom he was divorced in January 1871. He married third, Sept. 30, 1871, Mrs. Hester Keown, with whom he lived happily for nearly five years. She died July 9, 1874. He died May 30, 1889, in Prescott, Kansas, while on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. James Pearse. His remains were brought home and buried in Olive Cemetery in Olive township near his old home.

NOTE:—In the summer of 1881, Mrs. Temperance Pearse visited several weeks at her father's house, before she moved to Kansas, and while there she persuaded him to dictate to her the principle events of his life, which she wrote down, and the following is the record as he gave it.

“I was born Oct. 10, 1800, in the county of Nash, North Carolina, about fifty miles from Raleigh, near the falls on the Tar River, and not far from the present town of Rocky Mount.

“In September 1802, my father, Jonathan Ricks, left North Carolina for the then ‘Land of Promise,’ Kentucky, in company with his brother-in-law, William Westar, a maiden sister, Michil, and a brother of William Westar, named Benjamin, whom he called uncle Ben. There were three children of us, Betsy, aged five years, myself, aged two, and Martha aged one year. Uncle Billey also had three children, Charlotte, Kinchon, and Peggy.

“Two months from the time we left North Carolina, we arrived at Donaldson Creek, Ky., where my father bought of one Adam Linn, a place containing two hundred acres for the sum of $210.00, and afterwards paid what was called ‘Head right,’ and received a deed from the state of Kentucky. This was in Christian County, which in 1816, was divided into the counties of Christian, Todd and Trigg.

“Of the incidents of the journey I remember but few, as I was only two years of age on the 10th of October after we started. There were only two that I remember, one was seeing a pig with a bell on, and the other was seeing the mail-carrier riding up a hill, and that he had on a blue coat.

“The passage through the Cumberland mountains was very hazardous, as the Indians were troublesome, and had shortly before killed some travelers. We were guarded through what was called the ‘wilderness,’ an extent of sixty miles, by United States soldiers.

“Kentucky was at this time almost a wilderness, and was covered with forests and cane-brakes. It had been purchased from the Indians, but the right to hunt for five years, was reserved.

“My mother was a very timid woman, and suffered a great deal from fear of Indians. They frequently came to our house for something to eat. I recollect on one occasion one came to our house and wanted some bread, and mother baked it for him. I was a small chap and wanted some bread, and asked mother to make that ‘nigger’ give me some. She asked him to give me some, but he shook his head and went away.

“The first school I ever attended was taught by a man named Wilson Willia. I had conceived a great horror of schools, and every time he stamped his foot I thought he was going to use me up, but he was not very cross. I was then about seven years old.

“The next term was taught by William Hensley, who was very severe, and did not add to my admiration of schools and school teachers. He carried me through three syllables in spelling, but did not teach anything in pronunciation.

“The next term of three months was taught by my old teacher, William Willia, this was the year of the great earthquake. All these years I never saw an arithmetic. The 16th of December, 1811, the great earthquake began, and shook the cover off my father's crib twice on the morning of the 17th. The weather was dark and murky, and shocks were generally preceded by heavy rumbling sounds, and people were very much excited, and thought the earth was going to sink and make a great lake. Out of this grew the great religious excitement accompanied with the 'Jerks.' The people did not understand the cause of convulsions and did not know what was to be the end of it all. It was a strange phenomena, and I am unable to account for it to this day. The year 1812, we were very much alarmed by the rumor of Indians doing depredations, and I very well remember the terror my mother was in, fearing lest father might be drafted to join General Harrison against the British and Indians.

"At this time I got one year's schooling and made quite an advance in arithmetic, but still I never saw one as the teacher had a manuscript which he copied for me. He also taught me to write. I thought I should make a scribe at once, but I was sorely disappointed.

"There are but three of my old school mates living, viz, Starley and Perry Thomas and Abram Holland, that is, they were at last accounts.

"In June 1814, Levi Lancaster commenced a term of three months of school, and in October of this year, my sister Betsey married Abel Olive, and on this occasion we had a barbecue at twelve o'clock and all the neighbors were invited, and we had an enjoyable time.

"The next day I rode horse-back to the fair which was held twelve miles away, on a horse called 'Winding Blades.'

"At this time we heard of the burning of Washington by the British on the 26th of August, previous. These were the days of slow coaches, quite a contrast to the present, when news travels in as many seconds.

“The first slave my father bought was in 1807, in a land trade, and allowed $300.00 for him. His name was ‘Vat,’ aged 19 years, but in a few years he was sold for $500.00. Some time after this father bought a negro woman named Pat, for $400.00, of a man named Bobo. I remember seeing her cry when she had to give up her babe to her old master. She died in 1824, and was the first death in my father’s family since coming from North Carolina. She was the mother of two children after she came into the family, Reubin the friend and playmate of my boyhood, and a son named Anton. She was a good woman, and frequently asked me to read the Bible to her on Sunday mornings. Some time after, my father bought Bob, a son of old Patty. He was a very good man, and was a member of the Baptist church.

“While we were boys we grew anxious to be men, so we went to the cotton fields, each taking a hunk of tobacco and thought we would learn to chew and be men right away, and two sicker boys would be hard to find. This ended my experience in chewing tobacco, and I had to find some other road to manhood.

“Bob died after a few years, and Reubin was freed by the Emancipation Proclamation. Several other slaves were in the family.

“There were no incidents in my life different from common farmer boys, until my 18th year, when I went to school to my old friend Levi Lancaster for nine months, and at the end of this time I went and stayed with him to learn surveying. He was one of the best of men, and one of the best friends I ever had.

“After this I remained at home until I became 21 years of age. On the 26th of October, I was taken sick with typhoid fever and lay ill a long time. My memory has never been as good as it was before.

“In the following spring I went to farming for myself, and the next winter I went with a party of friends to Alabama. We had a very pleasant trip, and returned in January, and I again went to farming and continued this for about four years, except a term of three months of school which I taught in the neighborhood.

“In the year of 1826, I became a professor of religion, and was baptized by Joel Hayden, in a stream called ‘Beechey Fork.’ I joined what was called the ‘Old Christian Church’ of which Barton W. Stone, Thomas Smith and Joel Hayden were prominent members, who afterwards united with Alexander Campbell in his efforts of reformation.

“In the fall and winter of 1826-7 brother Joel, cousin William Ricks and myself built a flatboat. We hewed the timbers and sawed the lumber with a whip-saw, and built the boat seventy feet long, and fourteen feet broad, and before we got through with it we found we had a greater job than we calculated on. We had a cabin in one end where we could eat and sleep. We loaded her with stock, grain and poultry, etc. I was cook of the party, and was called ‘grandfather’ which was abbreviated to ‘Grandsir,’ by which title I was known by for years. We left home Nov. 12th and were fifty-three days on the trip to New Orleans, where we sold our produce, and our boat for $10.00. While in New Orleans, my brother and I had a very narrow escape from being robbed and murdered, still we remained there for three weeks, when we took passage for home on the steamer ‘George Washington.’ She was sixteen days on the trip up the river to Smithfield at the mouth of the Cumberland River, where we changed boats and embarked on the 'Friendship' and arrived home some time in February.

"On the way down we passed the place where Paducah now stands, where at that time only a small cabin stood. At this time we heard of the death of Mrs. Jackson, the wife of the president elect of the United States from a passenger of the steamer 'Daniel Boone.'

"At the place where Cairo now stands, there was nothing but a cotton wood point. I remained at home until some time in March when I secured a school in Henry county, Tennessee, five miles north of Paris, for the term of six months, and boarded part of the time with a man by the name of Mathew Neal and with a man named Valentine, a relative of my mother.

"This year, Sam Houston and Newton Canon were canvassing the state for governor, and Houston was elected, and the famous Davy Crocket was defeated for Congress by a man named Fitzgerald. Soon after the brave old 'Davy,' left Tennessee and went to Texas, where he subsequently lost his life at the siege of the 'Alamo.'

"My youngest sister, Charity, had married the summer before, and when I returned home, I found that my brother, Joel, had married a Miss Nellie Martin. In the winter following, my cousin, Richard Ricks, employed me to transact some business for him in Bolivar, Tenn., which was then a new country. In the spring following I made a crop on my father's farm, and in July started for North Carolina, my birth place, and spent three months with my relatives there. I went with a cousin, Lemuel Wright. The mode of travel was horse-back, and we were nineteen days on the trip, but we had a good time. I arrived home on the 14th day of October, 1828, and was married on the 11th day of November following, to Mary Anderson, of Steward Co., Tenn., the marriage rites being solemnized by Rev. Thomas Elliott, a Methodist Minister.

“I left my wife with my sister, Charity, and started with a flat-boat for New Orleans on the fifth day of December. The downward trip was made in thirty-five days. We did not stop long in New Orleans, and soon embarked on the steamer ‘Philadelphia,’ and were eleven days on our upward trip, quite an improvement over our former trip.

“I made a crop in 1829 on what was called ‘Dry Creek,’ and on the 19th of August, 1829, my eldest son, Mathew was born.

“In November following, I moved back to Donaldson Creek, as my brother Joel and my brother-in-law, Abel Olive, had left the September before for what was then the young state of Illinois.

“In 1830, I took charge of my father’s farm and negroes, and raised corn and tobacco. In 1831, I still remained on the farm, and also filled the office of Constable. On the 4th day of August of this year, our little boy died leaving us very lonely, indeed.

“On the 11th of August our daughter, Sarah, was born. During the summers of 1832-3, I carried on the business of my father, and in July 1833, I rode out to Illinois with a view of settling, and returned in August, and on the 16th of September our second daughter, Temperance was born and on the 13th of October afterwards our little Sarah died. I then settled up my business, and on the 7th of November started for Illinois. I had a large wagon and two yoke of oxen, driven by my hired man, John Tilly, my stock being driven behind.

“In Gallatin County, near Equality, Illinois, we saw the great meteoric shower of 1833, which was the grandest sight I ever saw. A great many people were terror stricken and thought the day of judgment had come. On the 22d day of November, we arrived at our destination. This was in Madison County, on Silver Creek, with Edwardsville seventeen miles away, and the nearest Post Office. We went into a little cabin about one mile from my present place of residence, and in December I entered 100 acres of timber land, and 40 acres of prairie land at the cost of $1.24 per acre. The first winter was very severe, and the wolves came very near our cabin to howl. The spring opened very early, and on the 8th of March we moved to our new home, it is forty-seven years since we moved to this place. I got ten acres broken up and raised pretty fair seed corn, and with the help of prairie hay had enough to go through the winter with my stock very well.

“The first milling was done in Bond County, twelve miles distant at a mill then known as Robinson’s mill on Shoal Creek.

“This fall we had a great deal of sickness. In 1835, I went on improving as best I could, and nothing of importance occurred that year.

“In April 1836, I was summoned to serve on the petit jury, Sydney Breese being the Judge, and Colonel Semple prosecuting attorney. We served one week, and were dismissed late Saturday night and walked home Sunday morning. The prairie was all open and unimproved except along the edge of the timber. On the 9th of March of this year my second son was born. In 1835, Abel Olive had been elected Justice of the Peace, and myself Constable for a term of four years, during which time I discharged the duties of the office, in connection with the improvements of my farm. Deer and prairie chickens were in plenty, but scarcely any wild turkeys, while wolves were very troublesome.

“There were three catamounts killed by myself and one by Jesse Olive.

“There were no school houses nor church buildings, so religious services were held in private houses. The old style Baptist held regular monthly meetings at Isham Vincent's about a mile and a half from this place, after many years they changed their place of meeting to Robert Greening's. They never built a church. There are but four old members living, viz, Anna Hinch, Isabel Tabor, Francis Keown, and Peter Long, now of Bond County. The Methodists grew to be a strong organization, and now have a church in Greencastle. In 1830, there was a Christian church organized with eight members, viz, John Hoxey and wife, Abel Olive and wife, Joel Ricks and wife, and Solomon Tabor and his daughter-in-law. They generally held their meetings at Abel Olive's. Charles Drenman now of Missouri, and Austin Simms were their preachers. Simms lived to the great age of eighty-seven years, and preached the Sunday before his death. The Christian Church grew to be quite an organization, and now has a church on the road to Marine from Staunton, near what is known as the Pearse place.

“I united with the organization about 1834, by letter from Donaldson Creek Church, Kentucky, and my wife united with the Baptist.

“On Feb. 14, 1838, my son Alfred was born.

“Having no school house, in 1839, my neighbors and I met and agreed to make up $197.50 to build one. We let the job to one Daniel Hathaway who took the subscription and bought material wherever found, as we did not have mill lumber at the time, and had to rive clapboards for siding and hew the timbers. I got the lumber for the doors, floors and sheathing at Simon Brown's mill on Shoal Creek. The building was 18 by 20 feet.

“The seats were made of split logs, hewed on top. This was considered a very good school house indeed, and was used for the purpose of schools, worship and elections, in fact for all public gatherings. In 1840, I. W. Reynolds taught school in this building. It was known as the 'Ricks' school house and was destroyed by fire in 1864.

"In 1833, the Mormon agitation commenced in Illinois. They were expelled from Jackson Co., Missouri, and removed to Nauvoo, Ill., in the year 1838. Here they bought lands of one, Dr. Gallion, and laid out a city and commenced to build a temple, and began to take part in politics, and in 1840, they succeeded in electing William Smith, a brother of Joseph Smith, the prophet, to the legislature, from Hancock County. In 1842-3, the Mormon Missionaries preached throughout the neighborhood, the Mormon doctrine, and my brother Joel and James Olive and others joined them and subsequently moved to Nauvoo. My brother followed them in their wanderings, and is living at Logan, Utah, at the present time. James Olive returned to the neighborhood where he is now living.

"On June 27 1844, Joseph and Hyrum Smith were held on the charge of treason and lodged in jail at Carthage, the county seat of Hancock County. Joseph and Hyrum Smith were assassinated and John Taylor, the present president of the Mormon Church was severely wounded by a mob of disguised men.

"On the 25th of February, 1840, my third daughter, Elizabeth was born, and died Oct. 9, 1844. She was a bright little girl, and we sadly missed her. On December 28, 1841, my fourth son, Virgil was born.

"In all these years there was a great deal of sickness, chiefly malarial fevers, caused by breaking up the prairies. In 1844, there was a great flood in the Mississippi valley, and it was known as the year of the 'Great flood.' The winter of 1844-5, spinal fever was almost an epidemic, but the season was very mild, and it was a good thing, for we scarcely raised anything the summer before. I wintered my stock on hay I cut where I had planted corn, the excessive weather having drowned out my corn crop. The grass was a kind of wet-weather grass, and is now nearly extinct.

“In 1844, I lost my father, Nov. 14th, and mother May 14th, she having arrived at the age of nearly 70 years.

“In December of this year (1844), we went to Kentucky, my brother Joel, sister Bestey and her husband, as our father having left some property in slaves, etc., he chose us as executors of his will.

“My father let his slaves do pretty much as they pleased after I left home. When he made his will, he entrusted it into the hands of the black man, Abe, who faithfully performed the duty entrusted to him, holding the will in custody and bringing it forward at the proper time. We let the blacks select homes and sold them as the best we could do, as the laws of Kentucky were very strict on freeing slaves. I felt very bad to be obliged to do this, but it was the best I could do under the then existing circumstances. In 1845, the faithful Abe died.

“On the 14th of September, 1843, my fourth daughter, Mary, was born, and on October 5th, 1845, Isabel, my fifth and last daughter was born. She died September 25, 1846.

“In February, 1845, I returned from Kentucky, and in 1846, went back to finish settling up my father's estate.

“In 1846, the United States went to war with the Republic of Mexico. Of course I had my share of anxiety with other citizens.

“In 1848, I was appointed Deputy-Surveyor by Beriah Robinson, County Surveyor, he being a member of the convention for the amendment of the Constitution of Illinois. I followed surveying in connection with my other businesses for several years.

“In 1850, my wife and I paid her mother a visit. She lived in Kentucky and my wife had not seen her for nineteen years. In the fall of 1849, I laid out the town of Alhambra for Dr. Lewis Shepard, and Mrs. Shepard named the town.

“On December 4, 1851, my oldest daughter, Temperance, was married to James Pearse. In January, 1852, our last child, a little boy was born, and lived only four days. We had a great deal of sickness that winter as measles and scarlet fever passed through my family, I also having the measles.

“Things moved along quietly until 1850, when my son Joseph left home to attend McKentree College at Lebanon, Ill. He attended two terms, then married Miss Sina Keown on September 6th, 1856, and in the fall of that year, my son Alfred took his place in the College.

“During these years there was great excitement and agitation on the question of extending slavery in the free territories. Politics ran high and there was a general breaking up of political parties. The American party honored Aaron F. Mason and myself with the nomination, and succeeded in electing us to the legislature from Madison County. There were 35 Democrats and 34 Republicans and (?) Americans, which gave the Americans the balance of power. The Republicans succeeded in electing State officers. Col. Bissell was governor at this time, but died a year later. The oldest member was Eben Ingersoll, brother of the noted Bob Ingersoll. Nearly all the young men of this body have risen to eminence in the councils of the nation. Here I became acquainted with Abraham Lincoln, John A. Logan and many others, all men of note. I had a very pleasant time and formed many agreeable acquaintances, and was able to form the acquaintance of many promiment brethren of the Christian Church, as there was a Preacher's Convention in Springfield at the time the legislature was in session. The present Governor Cullom, was a member from Sangamon County, elected by the American party. I returned home on the 9th of February and found Alfred sick with erysipelas, and my wife with a broken arm.

“From this time on, there was a constant agitation until it culminated in the war of the Rebellion. I voted for Lincoln in 1860, and in April next, the war began, and from that time I had my share of anxieties and troubles of that terrible time. In the second call for volunteers, my son, Joseph, enlisted in the 3rd Ill. Volunteer Cavalry for three years, leaving a wife and three small children at home. He was mustered in Aug. 16, 1862, and was captured June 7th, 1863, and taken to Little Rock, Ark., where he was kept a prisoner for two months when he was exchanged. He came home on furlough for fifty days when he returned to his regiment, which was the last time I ever saw him. He was wounded Aug. 21, 1864, in Forest's raid on Memphis and died the next day. In Oct., I went down and made arrangements for removing his remains home, where they arrived on the 7th of November. His funeral sermon was preached the next Sunday. He participated in the battles of Pea Ridge, Vicksburg, and others. It was very hard on us my wife becoming paralyzed.

“My son Alfred married Miss Maria Cooksey, September 16, 1861, and was drafted into the army in 1864, and left home on the 8th of November. James Pearse, my son-in-law, volunteered the next March, but the war was nearly over and they both returned home in safety.

“The trouble had about ended, when the country was shocked by the news of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. There was nothing which shocked and hurt me more than this dreadful news, excepting the death of my own son, during all these years of war. It seriously affected my wife, as in her paralyzed condition she was unable to bear such awful news.

“With the surrender of Lee and Johnson in March and April, 1865, the war was virtually ended, and soon the glad news of peace was wafted over the land.

“My wife was still paralyzed, when she was stricken with pneumonia on Christmas day, 1866, and died Dec. 30th, about four o'clock in the afternoon. We lived together thirty-seven years.

“About this time I had been summoned to serve on the jury in the United States District Courts of Illinois, at Springfield, Judge Treat presiding, and while there I made the acquaintance of a widow lady named Eliza I. Anderson, which resulted in our marriage in June, 1867, which was the most unfortunate event in my whole life. She left me October 17th, and we never lived together thereafter.

“On September 3, 1867, my youngest daughter, Mary, was married to John Vanhooser, with whom I lived until 1870, when I instituted suit for divorce, which was granted in January, 1871.

“About this time I started on a visit to my youngest sister and my old Kentucky home, where I arrived a few days later, and found my sister very glad to see me, but I found her quite feeble. I spent one week with her and her children and my old friends, when I was taken dangerously ill and lay four weeks, and did not get home until March following. My health was poor all summer.

“On September 30th, 1871, I married Mrs. Hester Keown, an old neighbor and acquaintance of forty years standing, with whom I spent nearly five years of as pleasant relations as is usually allotted to people of our age. She died July 9th, 1875, about eight o'clock in the evening, of heart disease. She passed away peacefully without a struggle and died universally lamented by those who knew her. She was a consistent member of the Methodist church.

“On July 9th, 1874, my daughter, Mary, died of typhoid fever, and her husband and children moved in with me and lived until March, 1877, he having married Nancy Olive the July previous, since which time I have remained on the old place, part of the time with my son Virgil who has lived with me, and some of my grand children have stayed with me, but my son Joseph's daughter, Abbie, and Curtis Pearse have stayed with me most of the time.”

NOTE:—The above closed his sketch and record, dictated by himself to his daughter up to this time, during the summer of 1881, and nothing more was added up to the time of his death, but the following is a brief record of the rest of his life as remembered by his son, Alfred Ricks.

His grand daughter, Abigail Ricks, continued to keep house for him until the spring of 1882, when her health failing her, they were compelled to break up house keeping, she going to live with her brother and sister on the old place, and he going to live with his son, Alfred.

Up to this date he had been a great reader, and was well posted on matters of the day, but his eye sight failing he was compelled to entertain himself in other ways. This he did by walking over his own and adjoining farms every day, the weather permitting him to do so.

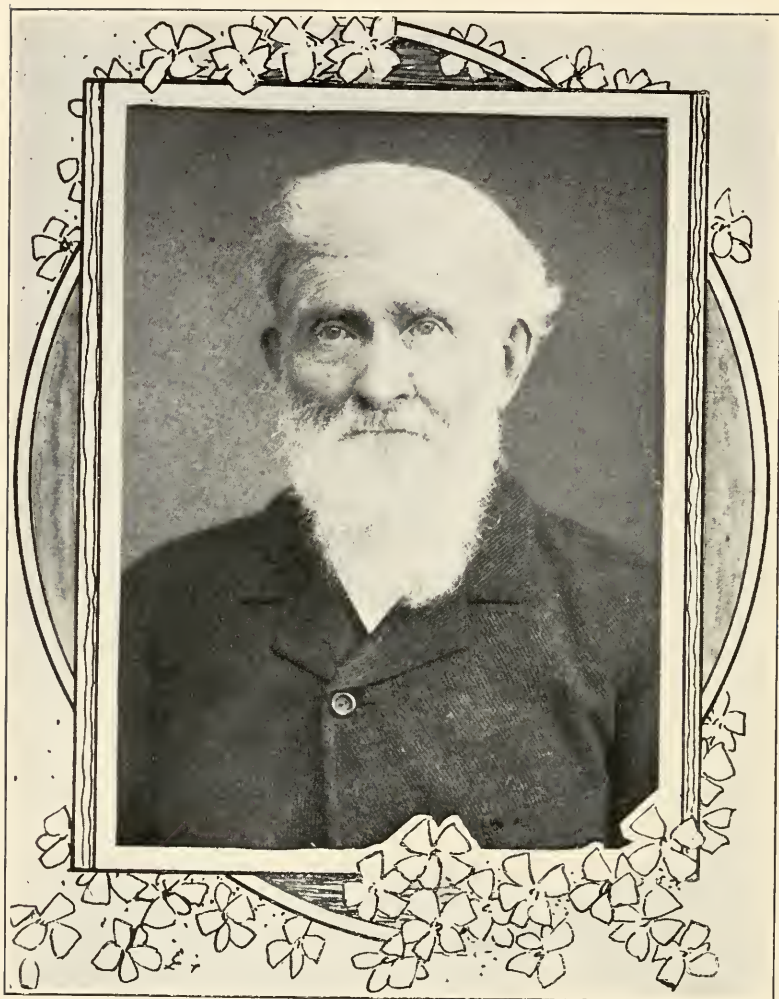

During the summer of 1883, he made a trip to Kansas to visit his daughter, Temperance Pearce, for a few weeks. In July, 1885, he again paid a visit to her, in company with his daughter-in-law, Maria I. Ricks, but not feeling able to return he wrote his son Alfred, to sell his farm and send him the proceeds, which was done, Mr. R. R. Cooksey buying the farm.

He continued to live with his daughter, Mrs. Pearce, until his death, which occurred May 30, 1889. His remains were brought back to Illinois and buried in Olive Cemetery, in Olive township Madison County, near his old home. In his death the country lost one of its best citizens, as he had always been law-abiding, temperate and charitable. There was seldom a time that there was not some one living at his home, either going to school or making it their home. His latch string was always out to strangers as well as to friends. Ministers of the gospel especially made his home their stopping place, as he was ever ready to join in an argument or in giving instructions on all questions of the day, he was progressive, ever looking for the day when flying machines would be a success, although he never expected to see the day. In conclusion we append the following verses composed by the wife of a grandson, Mrs. Jennie Pearce.

GRANDFATHER RESTS.

Grandfather rests after the journey of life
Is over with its suffering and world weary strife,
Smooth the white hair from the temples so brave,
Fold the warm hands at rest for the grave,
Look up, meet the smile from realms above,
Shining down from his haven in God's peace and love,
Listen: can you hear the music of his voice,
As he says, my daughter, grieve not, but rejoice;
My pathway was rough, and the journey full long,
But now youth returns with its joy and song.
Ah, rest dearest father, our tears we restrain,

No. 228. JOEL RICKS

When we think of your freedom from sorrow and pain;
 Not parted forever our only solace,
 We'll soon meet again in God's love and grace.

228. JOEL RICKS⁶, JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born on the Donaldson Creek farm in Trigg Co., Ky., Feb. 18, 1804. He married first, May 1, 1827, Eleanor Martin. After his marriage he remained with his father working on the farm until July 15th of 1829, when he visited the new state of Illinois, for the purpose of looking up its advantages for settlers. He made the trip on horse back and after going as far north as Madison County he finally located a farm on Silver Creek about 20 miles east of Alton, he then returned to Kentucky and in company with a brother-in-law, Abel Olive, and cousin, William Ricks and their families, he again returned to Illinois, Sept. 12, 1829.

Abel Olive secured a farm a short distance from Mr. Ricks and William Ricks, one further north in Christian County where his descendants continue to live to the present time.

Mr. Ricks was a hard working and industrious man and accumulated property quite rapidly and soon became one of the foremost farmers of that region.

About 1830, Mr. Ricks and his wife joined the (Campbel-lite) Christian Church, with which they continued to affiliate until the fall of 1840, when Mormon Missionaries came into the neighborhood preaching their doctrines. Mr. Ricks attended one of their meetings out of curiosity, but soon discovered that the new doctrine agreed in every respect with his interpretation of the doctrines of Christianity taught by the Savior and his Apostles as recorded in the New Testament. He, therefore, accepted the new religion and was baptized by Elder George Boosing, June 6, 1841.

On Mar. 20, 1842, Mr. Ricks started on a visit to Nauvoo, Ill., to see for himself what the new church organization was, and what manner of man was Joseph Smith, the prophet. While at Nauvoo he had several interviews with the prophet and with prominent Mormons and returned to his home greatly impressed with what he had seen. In August 1845 he sold out his possessions in Madison County, and in company with James Olive, removed with his family to Nauvoo and was, thereafter, up to the time of his death, identified with the Mormon organization.

Shortly after his arrival at Nauvoo he purchased a city lot on the prairie some distance back of the temple, for a town residence, and also a farm at Appanoose. At Appanoose at this time resided Ezra Allen and family of whom we shall have occasion to speak later.

During his residence at Nauvoo, Mr. Ricks was actively engaged in assisting to erect the magnificent temple. During this period the prejudice against the Mormon people in Illinois was very pronounced, being stirred up by irresponsible people who hoped to profit by an expulsion of the Mormons from the state. Bands of lawless men roamed about the country and destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of Mormon property, burning homes, driving away cattle and in other ways harassing the people. Repeated appeals were made to the Governor of the state, but as he seemed to be in sympathy with the outlaws, no redress was obtained for their wrongs. Feeling that there was no hopes of living at peace with their Christian neighbors, or enjoying their rights guaranteed by the Constitution, within the limits of the United States they determined to seek a new home in the wilds of the unknown west. This exodus was determined upon during the season of 1845 and began in the early winter of that year. Leaving their possessions to their enemies, thousands of the saints abandoned their homes in the dead of winter and began the long weary pilgrimage towards the Missouri river.

Mr. Ricks, with several teams, crossed the Mississippi River at Fort Madison, April 27, 1846, and was among the pioneers who crossed the territory of Iowa. At regular intervals these companies tarried for a few days and plowed and sowed large tracts of land to be harvested by those who should come after them.

Arriving at the Missouri River near Council Bluffs in July, Mr. Ricks and family made a temporary residence on Silver Creek, where he planted and harvested a crop and made other arrangements to continue the journey westward. In 1847 he sent one of his best teams with a pioneer company which left the Missouri River for the Rocky Mountains under the leadership of Brigham Young. This company after many hardships and trials reached the valley of the Great Salt Lake, July 24, 1847, where they founded Salt Lake City.

Mr. Ricks remained at the Missouri River until the spring of 1848 when he joined the great company under the leadership of Heber C. Kimball. This company consisted of 2417 souls and 792 wagons and was probably one of the largest caravans that ever crossed the great plains.

While on the Elkhorn River, about 20 miles west of Omaha, this company was attacked by Indians. Thomas E. Ricks and a number of other young men crossed the river on horse back to drive in some cattle that were feeding there when the Indians opened fire upon them. Thomas was wounded and fell from his horse and was left for dead by his companions. As soon as the news was brought to camp, Mr. Ricks hitched up a team and crossing the river went out in search of the body of his son, supposing that he had been killed. After looking around for some minutes he was set upon by two Indians on horse back. As soon as he saw them he turned his horses towards camp and tried to escape but they rode up on each side of him and one of them pointed his gun at Mr. Ricks and with the muzzle two or three feet from his body, pulled the trigger, the gun missed fire. This was repeated two or three times and when the Indian found he could not kill him, he dropped back to the rear of the wagon where he stole a small trunk containing some clothing belonging to Mrs. Ricks, which he carried away with him. Mr. Ricks always felt that his escape on this occasion was providential. It transpired that Thomas had been rescued by some of his companions who had crossed the river and finding him lying in the grass had succeeded in carrying him away. The wounds that he received proved very serious and one of the bullets he received on that occasion he carried in his body as long as he lived.

As the departure of the company could not be delayed and as Mr. Ricks was determined to go to the Rocky Mountains with his company, a spring wagon was fitted up and Thomas was placed in it and was carried along in the pilgrimage westward. He recovered rapidly and was pretty nearly well before the company reached the Rocky Mountains.

On arriving at the valley of the Great Salt Lake, in Sept. Mr. Ricks located temporarily at Bountiful, about 12 miles north of Salt Lake City, where he erected a saw mill and remained during the winter of 1848-9. In the spring of 1849 he took up some land at the foot of the mountains at Centerville, about six miles north of Bountiful, where he made him a home and continued to reside for nine years. His former frontier experience stood him in good hand and enabled him to prosper in this western wilderness.

Soon after locating at Centerville he engaged in the tanning business at Farminton, the county seat of Davis county, about six miles north of Centerville.

While residing at Centerville he passed through the famine period caused by the grass hoppers and crickets. It was in the year 1854, when the crops along the fertile district lying between the mountains and the lake were growing nicely with the prospects of an abundant harvest, that the grass hoppers came. They came in such numbers that the settlers saw at once that unless something could be done to drive them away that everything green would soon disappear and that all prospects of a harvest would vanish. When it is remembered that the nearest settlement was more than a thousand miles distant this prospect looked gloomy indeed. Being of a religious temperament and having had occasion to rely upon the Lord before, all went to him in this instance, and strange to say the next morning soon after sun rise, the grass hoppers rose in the air like a cloud and in such numbers as to darken the sun, it seemingly being a habit with them to exercise after a night passed on the growing crops. While in the air a strong wind came down off the mountains and blew them suddenly over the lake where the myriads settled in the briny waters and were drowned, later when the wind changed from the west these grass hoppers were washed upon the shore in such numbers that for miles and miles they made a windrow two or three feet deep. The crops were saved. This case was paralleled two or three years before when the crops were green and thrifty, thousands of millions of crickets came marching down off the mountains like a vast army invading the plain. The settlers saw at once that unless something happened that every green thing would disappear from the earth in a short time, but remembering the Lord and feeling sure that he would help them in the hour of trial they laid their case before him. This time tens of thousands of sea gulls came out of the west, pouncing down upon the army of crickets and destroying them. The old settlers of this region regarded these occurrences in the nature of miracles, as remarkable as the flight of quails which saved the Israelites during their flight from Egypt. The first legislature of Utah, in recognition of this, passed a law making it a penal offense to kill a gull within the limits of the state. This law is still on the statute books of Utah.

In the spring of 1858 when the territory was threatened with invasion by the United States army all of the Mormon settlers left their homes again and headed towards the desert region, towards Mexico. Mr. Ricks with his family went with the rest as far as Nebo, in Jaub valley. Fortunately the government was convinced of the folly of its course and peace was restored and the saints returned to their homes. Mr. Ricks and his family reached Centerville early in July. It is a fact that in most of the settlements where crops had been planted that they had grown and matured without irrigation and without any care from any one and were ready for harvesting on the return of the settlers.

The spring of 1859 settlers began to be attracted by reports of the richness of Cache Valley, located about 75 miles north of Centerville. Mr. Ricks in company with James Quayle and Justin Shepard decided to go up and look over that region. Arriving in Wellsville about the first of June they found about 10 or 12 families who had built a few cabins and were engaged in putting in crops. They crossed to the eastern side of the valley and riding along the foot of the mountains they came to Providence Bench, overlooking the bottom lands of the Logan River, which at that time were covered with a dense growth of willows and cotton wood, and the sage brush flat where Logan now stands. Not being able to cross the river to the north side they rode down through what is now the College district and returned to Wellsville for the night. Notwithstanding the lateness of the season they found snow several feet deep on the northern slope of all of the hills.

Cache Valley at that time was so cold that for several years after the arrival of the first settlers it was not an uncommon occurrence for frost to bite the wheat in July. Mr. Ricks decided to locate in the new valley and returning to Farmington began to make preparations for removal. About July 20th he took his wife Sarah B., and her family and started to Cache Valley where they arrived on the 23d of July, making a temporary encampment on the present site of the Brigham Young College. Later he made his home and built a cabin on the corner which is now occupied by the Thatcher Brothers Bank building. After putting up hay for the winter he returned to Centerville and brought his other family to Logan and built them a cabin on the brow of the hill where Moses Thatcher's residence now stands. Since that time Mr. Ricks has been identified with every step for the development of Logan and Cache Valley.

In connection with Ezra T. Benson and others he built the first saw mill and grist mill in Logan, he also engaged in the tanning business which at that time was a very important industry for the early settlers. He was one of the first stock holders of the Co-operative Institutions which were organized in 1868, also the Deseret Telegraph Company, which was formed about the same time. He maintained for years a ferry boat on the Logan River on the west side of the valley, and later built a bridge there which he presented to the county. He served as Treasurer for Cache county for more than 30 years. He was always regarded as one of the foremost citizens of Logan, an honest reliable, hardworking man. At the time of his death his descendents in the Rocky Mountain region numbered 377 souls.

We feel that this sketch would not be complete if we failed to mention Eleanor Martin, Mr. Ricks' first wife. Having been born and reared on the frontiers of civilization she did not enjoy the educational advantages accorded to those who come from older settled districts, but she was in every respect a true wife and a noble woman. Her life was cast among the people and in a region where troubles and trials were the lot of all, but she never faltered in her duties or shirked a responsibility. She wore out her life in the finding and redeeming a wilderness and we feel sure that in the great hereafter when justice shall be done to those who laid down their lives for the race, she will be counted among the noble ones. She died Feb. 18, 1882.

Mr. Ricks married second, Oct. 26, 1852, Sarah Beriah Fisk, born in Potsdam, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., Sept. 22, 1819, widow of Ezra Allen, and daughter of Varnum and Sally (Eams) Fisk. She was descended from an early Massachusetts family, and her pedigree follows, viz., Sarah Beriah Fisk¹³, Varnum¹², Daniel¹¹, Josiah¹⁰, Nathan⁹, Nathan⁸, Nathaniel⁷, William⁶, Robert⁵, Simon⁴, Simon³, William², Symon¹.

During her girlhood she attended the public schools and obtained the rudiments of an education. While in her teens, she married Ezra Allen and shortly afterwards the couple became converts to Mormonism. They removed from New York state to Nauvoo in 1842, and were participants in the events of those trying times, until the exodus came in 1846. They moved west with the general body of the "Saints" to the Missouri River, and were there when the call came from the general government for 500 men for the Mexican war. Mr. Allen enlisted and left his wife and children in the wilderness to the care of her friends. Mr. Allen was returning from California with other disbanded members of the "Mormon Battalion" when the company became lost in the mountains, and Mr. Allen with two others went ahead to explore the road, and was killed by Indians on the night of June 27, 1849. A little bag of California gold that he carried on his person was recovered and is now in possession of the family.

The widow remained on the Missouri until the spring of 1851, when she yoked up her oxen and her cows and turned her face resolutely to the western wilderness, determined to cast her lot with her friends in the new Zion. The long journey was hard enough for a strong man, but for a frail woman with four small children must have been a trying one. To add to the horrors, cholera broke out in the company and two of her children were laid away by the roadside. She reached Utah in October and was given a home in the family of Mr. Ricks, whom she married as previously mentioned. Her home was in Farmington, Utah, with the exception of the time spent on the second exodus until July 1859, when she removed to Cache Valley, where she continued to live to the time of her death. She was a devoted Latter-day Saint, and was for many years an active worker in the church and held a number of prominent positions in Church organizations.

She possessed a poetic nature, and wrote a number of commendable poems for local papers. She was a little frail woman, and one wonders how she could bear up under the great trials she had to endure in coming alone to a new country and in helping to subdue a wilderness. A daughter by Mr. Allen, Ammorette Allen, married Lewis Ricks, son of her second husband. (see).

250. JOSEPH RICKS^r, LEWIS^o, JONATHAN^o, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born on the old homestead in Olive township, Madison Co., Ill., Mar. 9, 1836; married Sept. 6, 1856, Miss Sina Keown. He was raised as a farmer's boy. When about twelve years of age, he was bitten by a rattlesnake, and came very near losing his life.

In 1855, he attended two terms at McKendree College, and soon after his marriage, settled on a farm given him by his father, situated in Olive township, about two miles from the old homestead. At the second call for volunteers by the president in the civil war, he enlisted in the 3d Ill. Vol. Cav., for three years, and was mustered in Aug. 16, 1861. He was captured June 7, 1862, and was taken to Little Rock, Ark., where he was held prisoner for two months, when he was exchanged with other prisoners of war. He came home on furlough for fifty days, and returned on its expiration to active service in his regiment. During Forest's raid on Memphis, Aug. 21, 1864, he was wounded and died the next day. His father went after his body, and on Nov. 7, 1864, his remains arrived home and were buried in Olive cemetery. The widow and her children remained on the farm until her death, which occurred Feb. 28, 1877.

351. ALFRED RICKS⁷, LEWIS⁶, JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born in Olive township, Madison Co., Ill., Feb. 14, 1838, on the old homestead taken up by his father on his arrival from Kentucky in 1833. His days were spent on the farm very much as other boys in the neighborhood. When out of season for farming, or on rainy days he had splendid amusement in hunting and fishing. Silver creek was bountifully supplied with the finny tribe, and in the timber were many wild turkeys, squirrels, quails, etc., and at certain seasons of the year, multitudes of wild pigeons, which fed upon the acorns and sassafras berries, and in the fall and spring, the waters were literally alive with water fowl. Before he was large enough to handle the old long Kentucky rifle, he would set snags inside the fence where deer were accustomed to enter the field to feed upon the crop, and as the deer leaped over the fence it would alight upon the sharpened snags, driving them through its body. In this way he captured a number of deer. He also built wild-turkey pens, catching several at a time. This was done by building a strong rail pen about four feet high and covering it so as to keep them when once inside, then digging a trench about eight feet long and two deep, sloping to the surface at each end under the side of the pen allowing one end to come near the center, then he would scatter corn about the pen and along the trench to the inside. The turkeys would follow the corn through the trench to the inside of the pen, and forget how to escape. Like flies in a trap, they would always look up and try to escape through the top.

No. 351. ALFRED RICKS

Mr. Ricks received his preliminary education at the old "Ricks" school house, located on the rear of the old Ricks homestead and near a spring from which the scholars obtained drinking water. The building was made from native lumber, and was heated by a large wood-burning stove. The seats were made from logs by splitting and hewing one side flat, and inserting legs in auger holes for them to stand on. While very crude in comparison with modern school houses, yet it served its purpose. During the winter of 1856-7, his father sent him to McKendree College at Lebanon, Ill., and at the close of the term, he returned to the farm. On the 16th day of September, 1861, he married Miss Isabel Jane Marie Cooksey, born May 10, 1841, daughter of Robert R. and Isabel (Bonjam) Cooksey. Mr. Ricks settled on a farm of eighty acres about half a mile west of the old homestead, which was given him by his father, where he lived twenty-eight years. On Oct. 24th, 1864, he started for the army having been drafted into the service. He was assigned to Company H, 13th Illinois Veteran Infantry, under Captain J. W. Strang, and served ten months, and was honorably discharged at the close of the war, July 17, 1865. From this time forward he attended strictly to farming.

In 1867, he and his wife joined the Christian Church, and as they had no baptisteries in those days with heaters to temper the water they had to go to Silver Creek near by. The ice was about twelve inches thick, so the brethren cut out a space large enough to permit them to enter the water and be immersed. They held membership in the old Silver Creek organization until it died out through neglect, when in 1891, his wife transferred her membership to Worden, Illinois.

At this time (1906), Mr. Ricks does not affiliate with any church organization. Mrs. Ricks's father having died in 1890, leaving some property in Worden, they removed there Oct. 16, 1890, where they now reside. They are not wealthy, but have enough of this world's goods to live comfortably. He has about one and a half acres of land which he gardens, and also keeps honey bees. His apiary consists of 41 colonies. Worden being a mining town, he finds ready sale for the produce, from his garden, and the honey his bees produce.

Mr. Ricks has always been a staunch Republican, but has never been an office seeker. On two or three occasions he reluctantly permitted the party to elect him school trustee, and once road overseer, but with these exceptions, he positively refused to accept office, feeling he had no time to devote to politics.

He married Mar. 7, 1872, Miss Mary Tweedy, born May 22, 1844, daughter of James and Martha (Bisell) Tweedy. Mr. Ricks lived at home until his marriage, when he settled on a farm given to him by his father, situated just across the road from the old homestead, where he resided until Feb. 13, 1900, when he sold out and removed to Worden, Ill., where he now resides.

THOMAS E. RICKS.

“One of the leaders of civilization and religious thought in the southeastern Idaho passed away when Thomas E. Ricks, the first president of Fremont Stake was called to pass through the deep waters of death on September 28th, 1901.

“Tracing his history from boyhood, he is ever found as a leader, but never the follower, of civilization and religion in the western wilds. Bold, intrepid, daring, fertile in plans and resources, with magnificent physical proportions and forceful magnetism which compelled the willing co-operation of others, he stands one of the notable figures of the pioneer days, being ever at the front whenever danger presented itself in the shape of wily foeman, white or savage, ready to face death to protect his people from hostile attacks or the perils of starvation, when battling with the forces of elemental nature on the bleak plains of the western wilds.”

“He was a man of heroic mold, both in mind and body, and a review of his active career is demanded in this work as an essential part of the History of the Ricks family.

In 1829, he being but two years of age, removed to Madison Co., Ill., where his parents settled on a tract of land of 400 acres of great fertility, situated in the township of Olive. Here he became an active farmer's boy. In 1844, when but fourteen years of age, while using his immense strength in the subjection of an untamed horse, the animal fell upon him, crushing his left thigh so seriously as to leave a permanent injury. In the early forties, the family became converts to the "Mormon" faith, and on Feb. 18th, 1845, Mr. Ricks joined its communion and became a member of the Church of "Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints." In September, 1845, the family removed to Nauvoo, Ill., where Mr. Ricks was ordained an elder in the Church, in October of that year.

He assisted in erecting the Nauvoo Temple until all work was suspended. On Feb. 8th, 1846, he started as one of the earliest in the grand western movement of the church, which meant so much to the west, and stopping at Florence, a few miles above where Council Bluffs is situated until April, 1848, when he with his parents resumed the journey westward in Heber C. Kimball's company, and on the 23d of June arrived at the Elkhorn river. Here in a battle with hostile Indians, he was shot with three rifle balls., which was never extracted; he fell from his horse and was left for dead. He was rescued later, and carried off the field and was floated across the Elkhorn on a buffalo robe.

Arriving in Salt Lake valley on September 24, 1848, the family located at Centerville, and from that year Thomas E. Ricks was an active factor in the assistance of settlers, the dissemination of the doctrines of the Church and in the formation of new communities.

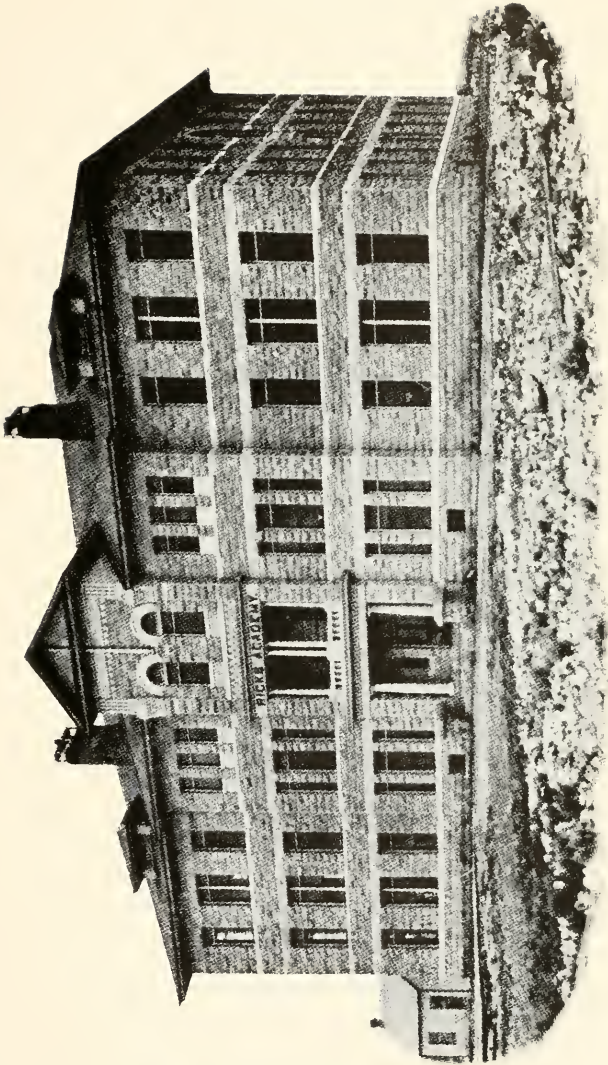

In 1856, he went with others to California, where at Los Vegas, they built a fort and opened farms. He returned in October, 1857, to go to the relief of Captain Martin's company in trouble on the plains. He took an active part in the Echo Canyon campaign of 1857-8. In 1869, he was engaged in mission work in Kentucky, Illinois and Ohio. In the early 70's and 80's he was actively concerned in grading contracts on the Utah Northern Railway from Ogden to Franklin, and in 1877, was one of the contractors engaged in laying railroad track from Franklin to Butte, Montana, completing their work to Blackfoot in 1878, Monida in 1879 and to Butte in December, 1880.

In 1879, he had a profitable contract on the Northern Pacific. In December, 1882, he was called to act as bishop of the Bannock Ward of Cache Valley Stake, embracing all the country from the mouth of Portneuf Canyon (Pocatello), as far northwest and north as the colonies of the "Mormon" Church should extend, and on January 4, 1883, he started for Elgin, arriving there the next day, and on the 11th of January, arrived on the present site of Rexburg, on which they concluded to found a new colony. This trip being made to locate a center of religious, educational and commercial enterprises, and to prepare the country for the rapid colonization to come thither.

The first company arrived at Eagle Rock, now Idaho Falls, on January 25, 1883, and on Febuary 11th, 1883, the site of Rexburg was again visited, and made the center of the new movement, and named in honor of Bishop Ricks. At this incipient city, Bishop Ricks, in association with others, used the large means at his command in establishing stores, grist, saw, shingle and lath mills, building several substantial and comfortable homes, and succeeding in accomplishing the settlement of nearly all the members of his large family in close proximity to the paternal residence.

His progressive spirit, his enterprises and his deep religious devotion were by far the greatest elements in the success of the development of this section, but his zeal caused him to extend such bountiful credit to the poorer settlers that his last years were hampered by financial difficulties, which, however, never broke the elastic hope and courage which were the integral portions of his grand nature, and in fact, "The Grand Old Man of Fremont County" is a worthy appellation of this noble pioneer. Rexburg, Idaho, is a city of about three thousand inhabitants. Ricks Academy located there, costing about $60,000.00, was named in honor of President Ricks. His death occurred September 25, 1901, at Rexburg, Idaho.

MARY RICKS⁷, JOEL⁶, JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born in the township of Olive, Madison Co., Ill., June 19, 1843; married in Salt Lake City, Utah, April 23, 1857, William Rees Smith, born in Leeds, Canada, Aug. 11, 1826, son of Peter and Mary (Rees) Smith. He died in Centerville, Utah, January, 1893. He held the office of Judge of Probate, and was a Bishop in the "Mormon" Church, and was president of Davis Stake in the Church.

NOTE:—Wherever the "Latter-day Saints" are located in sufficient numbers, the territory occupied by them, is divided into convenient sections. These divisions usually conforming to the civil territorial sections known as counties, comprising several wards or branches and called "Stakes of Zion." "And they shall be called Stakes for the curtains or the strength of Zion." Over each Stake is placed a "Stake Presidency," consisting of a president and two counselors, who are High Priests, properly chosen and set apart to this office.

The Stake Presidency is assisted in judicial functions by a "Standing High Council" composed of twelve High Priests chosen and ordained to the office. This council is presided over by the Stake Presidency, and forms the highest judicial tribunal of the Stake. The presidents of Stakes and bishops of Wards are properly regarded as pastors to the fold. They are assisted by the organized quorum of High Priests and elders of the Stake. Their duties are doubtless analogous to those of the pastor of former dispensations.

Patriarchs are also set apart to officiate in their holy office among the people of the Stake.

368. NATHAN RICKS⁷, JOEL⁶, JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, the youngest child of Joel Ricks and Eleanor Martin Ricks, was born Jan. 17, 1853, at Centerville, Davis Co., Utah. In April, 1860, he moved with his parents to Logan, Utah. His schooling was very limited, the school only running two or three months a year, the remainder of the time he worked on the farm or tended the cattle, however, when nineteen he attended school for nine months under the tutorship of Charley G. Davis, this was the most profitable part of his school life.

Being the youngest child, he remained at home to look after affairs, as his parents were getting old. In Nov. 13, 1879, he married Miss Sarah Ann Taylor, born in Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 29, 1852; and shortly afterwards moved out on a farm, which he purchased a few years before, at Benson Ward, near Logan. He was improving his property and building a house when he received a call to go on a mission. He at once arranged affairs and left within a month for the New Zealand Islands Nov. 14, 1881, leaving a wife, and a son, which had been born to them while in Benson Ward, also his aged parents and friends. While away his mother died. After completing an honorable mission he returned home, arriving Aug. 9, 1883.

No. 368. NATHAN RICKS

He resumed his farm labors, completed his home and bought some cattle. In 1888 he sold his property in Benson and came as a pioneer to the Snake River Valley and settled in Rexburg, Idaho. During this time four other children had come into the home. Here he superintended the building of the Rexburg grist mill and saw mill. For four years he worked in the grist mill. On May 2, 1890, his wife died, leaving six small children.

On June 18, 1891, he married Mrs. Jeanette McKinlay-James, a widow with two children, and seven children were born to them. In the fall of 1895 he went into the sheep business and was very prosperous.

Nathan Ricks is a good citizen in the community in which he lives; having served four years in the City Council, is a Republican and takes part in political affairs, he also takes a part in the educational affairs serving as a trustee for the public school, and was a liberal donator for the Ricks Academy Building.

He is a firm and consistent Latter Day Saint and served nineteen years as a counselor to the Bishop of the Rexburg First Ward. Upon being released was appointed a High Councilman in Fremont Stake, which position he now holds. He is always ready to help those who are in need; always tries to live the life his religion teaches; to deal fairly and honestly with his fellow men.

He is a kind and loving father and, so far, has given his children a good education.

Nibley, born in Scotland, Feb. 5, 1849, son of James and Jean (Wilson) Nibley. He was converted to Mormonism in 1854 and came to America in 1855 but stayed in Rhode Island until 1860 when he came to Utah and settled at Wellsville, Cache County. He has been a prominent business man in Utah, Idaho and Oregon, is secretary of the Oregon Lumber Co., and is Vice-President of the Sumpter Valley Railroad in Oregon. He is President of the Payette Valley R. R. in Idaho and owns extensive saw mill interests in Oregon. He promoted the Utah Cement Works which have now taken over the Colorado, Portland Cement Works, having a capital of over $2,000,000. Is also interested in several banks, mining smelters and sugar interests of the Inter Mountain region. He is now (1908) presiding Bishop of the Mormon church. He and his wife are both members of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

372. JOEL RICKS⁷, JOEL⁶, JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born in Farmington, Utah, July 21, 1858, his parents having returned from the southern exodus but a few days before. The year following his birth, the family removed to Cache Valley, and settled in Logan, Cache Co., Utah. The valley was then a wilderness; Indians were numerous and caused the settlers no little trouble and anxiety. Logan was never attacked, but was often threatened and depredations were committed at several of the surrounding towns, until the battle at Bear River in 1863, when the Indian power was broken.

When old enough he was given the care of the sheep and cows in summer and in winter went to school.

When the telegraph came, he wanted to be an operator, and studied telegraphy, and later became a railway agent, and an operator for five years with the old Utah Northern, and for nearly seventeen years with the Rio Grande Western, holding the position in Idaho at Franklin, Oxford and Idaho Falls, and in Utah at Logan, Salt Lake City, Provo, Springville, Salina, Richfield, and Castle Gate. He was right of way agent for the Rio Grande Western during the construction of that line to Marysville in 1896.

On January 13th, 1881, he married Miss Susette Cardon, born June 23, 1861, daughter of Paul and Susannah Cardon, natives of Italy, who had been converted to Mormonism, and had come to Utah in the early days. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Ricks has devoted his time largely to railroad work, he has had time to devote to other duties. He is a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and has filled a number of church offices. In 1876-7, he filled a mission in the Middle States; was for three years councillor to the Bishop of Castle Gate, Utah; was a member of the Weber

Stake Sunday School Board in 1902, and has filled a number of minor offices continuously for thirty years.

In politics under the Peoples Party rule, he was elected selectman for Cache County in 1881-2, and had charge of the erecting of the present Court House at Logan. He was engrossing clerk of the last territorial legislature. When the division of party lines came, his sympathies were with the Republicans, and he became one of the leaders of the party. He was chairman of Logan City and Cache County for several years. He was secretary of the first Republican Convention in Utah.

When statehood came, he was elected a member of the Constitutional Convention from Sevier County, and assisted in framing the organic law of the state. At this time (1906) he is deputy Treasurer of Cache County, Utah. He has been a great student of the "Book of Mormon" and has visited Mexico and South America in the furtherance of that study. He is the author of the only work on the "Book of Mormon Geography" published by any member of the Mormon church.

He was one of the promoters of the Cache Commercial club of Logan, and is one of its governing board. He is also secretary of the Brigham Young College Society of American Archaeology of Logan.

Mr. Ricks has taken a great deal of interest in this work, in fact has furnished more information and records than any other one, and has rendered assistance in finances, with others, or else this work would not have been prosecuted with any degree of success. He resides in Logan, Utah.

484. ROBERT LEWIS RICKS⁸, ALFRED⁷, LEWIS⁶, JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born in Olive township, Madison Co., Ill., on the farm given to his father by his grandfather, Lewis Ricks, July 27, 1862. Like most boys of that period, he worked on the farm summers, going to school winters, where he obtained a good common school education at the "Hazel Dell" school house.

In 1881 his father sent him to Abingdon College at Abingdon, Ill. After this he returned to the farm on which he worked until 1883, when he went to Valpariso, Ind., and took a commercial course during the winter of 1883-4 and 1884-5 in the Northern Indiana Normal School and Business Institute, graduating therefrom May 29, 1885.

In June, 1885, he entered the employment of Messrs. Weaver & Co., of Kansas City, Mo., in their office as amanuensis. Here he remained only two months on account of dull times, and was thrown out of employment, but was granted a letter of introduction and recommendation by Mr. Weaver. From here, Mr. Ricks returned to the farm, where he remained until the spring of 1886, when by diligent application to his books, he passed an examination and secured a certificate to teach school.

He obtained the situation as teacher in Omphgent township, Madison Co., Ill., in the "Bond" school, at a salary of $40.00 per month. At the close of the school in March, 1887, they desired to employ him again at an increase of $4.00 per month, but he did not care to teach longer, and declined the offer.

By boarding at home and riding six and a half miles to school every day, he saved his money, and at the end of school, he attended Barns Business and Shorthand School in St. Louis, Mo., and received his diploma in the fall with the rest of his class.

In 1887, he went to Topeka, Kansas, where he was employed by Bartholomew & Co., real estate dealers, where he remained two years and six months, two years of this time receiving $70.00 per month.

In January, 1890, he went to Butte, Montana, and took a position with the Inter-mountain Publishing Company as cashier and bookkeeper, at a salary of $100.00 per month, and a railroad pass from Kansas City to Butte. Here he remained until the middle of June, 1900, when he resigned to go to Portland, Oregon. His resignation was accepted and a pass over the Oregon Short Line railroad was secured for him. He remained in Portland two years, working for the Pacific Insurance Union, for Russell & Co., dealers in threshing machines, for Foster & Co., wholesale dealers in hardware, for W. H. Jack & Co., wholesale dealers in lumber supplies, and was employed for six months as stenographer to the superintendent of the Washington division of the Union Pacific railway.

In September, 1893, he returned east and after a short visit at home, he went to Betheny College, Betheny, West Virginia, to prepare for the ministry. He attended the college from September, 1893, to June, 1895, after which he preached the Gospel during the winter time and worked at carpentering during summers.

He was ordained to the ministry February 4, 1896, by the Christian church in Worden, Ill., Elder W. H. Groner of Litchfield officiating. Mr. Ricks joined the Christian church at Silver Creek in 1880, and has always been an active member and a firm believer.

For the past four years (1906), he has been following carpentering and contracting in Staunton, Ill. His home address is Worden, Ill. He has never married. Mr. Ricks has taken a great interest in this work, and but for him and a few others mentioned elsewhere in this book, by furnishing funds to prosecute the work it would have been impossible to complete the work, at least during the short time the compiler has to live, being in his 79th year.

485. IDA UDORA RICKS⁸, ALFRED⁷, LEWIS⁶, JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹. was born in Olive township, Madison Co., Ill., Sept. 17, 1866. She received a good common school education, and in 1885 taught the "Johnson" school in Douglass township, Madison Co., Ill. During the winter of 1887-8, she attended the Normal School at Bloomington, Ill. The winter of 1889, she studied shorthand at home, and the next year she attended Barnes Shorthand College in St. Louis, Mo., and was for three or four years employed as private stenographer in St. Louis, and about two years of this time was in the employ of the Sligo Iron Company, St. Louis.

On the 3d of April, 1886, she married Mr. G. Y. Moser, a painter by trade, and who was ordained in 1895 to the ministry in the Christian Church. Since their marriage, they have lived in Worden, Ill., on the property given her by her mother.

Mrs. Moser is of an inventive turn of mind. She invented the "Ladies' Friend" hat fastener, which soon after was patented, and her husband is engaged in their manufacture. Mrs. Moser joined the Christian Church in Bloomington, then transferred her membership to Worden. They have no children.

Mr. Moser was accidentally shot in 1906.

491. MARY ELLEN VAN HOOSER⁸, MARY RICKS⁷, LEWIS⁶,

JONATHAN⁵, LEWIS⁴, BENJAMIN³, ISAAC², ISAAC¹, was born in Olive township, Madison Co., Ill., June 16, 1868; married Jan. 9, 1889, William Perrin. They resided in Madison Co., until 1897, when they sold out and moved to Oklahoma, taking up a claim of 100 acres in section 15, township 21, range 3, in Garfield County, near the Postoffice of Shannar. They lived here about five years, when they rented their farm and moved to the Creek Nation in the Indian Territory. Their postoffice is Bristow, Indian Territory, ten miles away.

496. HYRUM RICKS^s, THOMAS EDWIN^r, JOEL^o, JONATHAN^s, LEWIS^t, BENJAMIN^s, ISAAC², ISAAC¹ was born in Farmington, Utah, July 24, 1859; married first at Salt Lake City, Utah, April 1, 1880, Martha Bitter, born in New York City, August 29, 1860, daughter of Traughott and Wilhelmenia (Aust) Bitter, natives of Germany, and early pioneers of Utah, where they helped to develop St. George, Washington County, later removed to Logan, Utah, where they passed the closing years of their lives. He married second in 1886, Elizabeth Mills, born in England, February 17, 1865, daughter of Charles and Mary Ann(Yeats) Mills.

No. 496. HYRUM RICKS

“The continued infusion of young blood into the vigorous industrial life of Idaho insures the consecutive advancement of her material interests, and the proper development of her great resources, and among the most successful and honored young business men of Fremont County, noted for keen business sagacity, legal ability and sterling integrity of purpose, is Hyrum Ricks, the subject of this review, who has won prestige in various lines of industrial activity, and is now established in the thriving young city of Rexburg, Idaho, in extensive and valuable legal practice.

“Although a young man who has won brilliant achievements and legal attainments, it is the legitimate result of thorough preparation for his work, quick intuition to seizing a point, skill in the performance of any duty which comes to his hand to do; untiring courtesy to all with whom he is brought in association, added to an intelligent and loyal interest in all matters that promise to benefit the community and the people.”

Mr. Ricks received his education in the common schools, and at the High School at Logan, Utah, maintaining a splendid reputation, and receiving on his graduation the highest certificate ever given up to that time.

He then engaged in pedagogic work for some years, and in 1879, engaged in Mercantile business, and in this was eminently successful, acquiring a property of $25,000.00 by the time he was twenty-four years of age, but dame fortune, desirous of testing the young aspirant for her honors by an unlucky move caused him to become insolvent.

The sterling integrity of Mr. Ricks, caused him to devote his every dollar toward the discharge of his indebtedness, and he again entered into mercantile life on a small scale in 1886.

In 1888, he was set apart by his church on a mission, and leaving his family to manage his business, went to London, England and spent the time in London and vicinity until 1890, being prospered in the cause for which he was laboring, and by his religious zeal and earnestness won many friends to the faith to which he is devoted.

In 1894, he made his residence in Rexburg, Idaho, where he is engaged in the real estate business including loan and insurance. This location afforded a fine field for his superior business qualities, his operations soon attained scope and importance.

At the time of his arrival at Rexburg, the Democratic party of that section appeared to be nearly in a comatose condition, and in 1896, Mr. Ricks grasped the situation and devoted his intense vigor and untiring efforts towards the resuscitation of the party, and meeting with such eminently satisfactory results, that in the fall election of that year, every candidate they placed in nomination was triumphantly elected. This grand result attracted so much attention to Mr. Ricks that he was made the chief engrossing clerk in the state senate, continuing his labors in the political field until 1898, when he was placed in nomination for the office of Judge of Probate of Fremont County, he was elected and held the office with great acceptability for two years.

Previously to this, Mr. Ricks had devoted those spare moments that so many let pass carelessly by, to the diligent study of the principles and technicalities of the legal profession, becoming self-taught, a master of legal science, passing a highly satisfactory examination and was admitted to the bar in 1898, receiving distinct compliments from his learned examiner.

Immediately after, he formed a partnership with Mr. O. P.

Souls, and opened an office in Rexburg, for the practice of their profession, and rapidly forged to the front, attaining a large representative practice from the best elements of the country.

Mr. Souls having been recently elected County Solicitor for Fremont County, the firm's name is now Hyrum Ricks and Son, his son Hyrum, Jr., being the junior member.

They are in the law business, especially in that branch appertaining to real estate and corporation. They are as a side line, in the insurance business, being agents of the London Assurance Corporation, the St. Paul Fire and Marine, the Scottish Union and National, the Central American, the Northern Assurance Company and Williamsburg City. They are also in the banking business, being agents for the Middlesex Banking Company, Middlesex, Conn.

In addition to his being a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, he holds the position of Bishop of Rexburg, Third ward.
