

SCENARI IMMOBILIARI FORUM: MANFREDI CATELLA RECEIVES THE “GIOVANNI GABETTI” PRIZE

At the 24th edition of the forum hosted by Scenari Immobiliari in Santa Margherita Ligure, Manfredi Catella, chairman and CEO of Coima SGR, received the “Presidenza Forum Giovanni Gabetti” prize.

Every year, Elio Gabetti and Mario Breglia present the award - created in the memory of Giovanni Gabetti, who chaired the first eight editions of the event - to the company or entity that stood out the most for its ethics and professional conduct in the Italian real estate market.

Manfredi Catella won the prize for the following reason: “he has pursued a technical and international approach to Italy's real estate market, making him a model for the several young people who want to work in the modern real estate industry.

This prize does not specifically concern the construction of one of Italy's most important urban areas for the 21st century: it was awarded in recognition of the commitment and professional ethics showed in tackling challenges amid adverse market conditions.

We would like to commemorate also Riccardo Catella, Coima's founder: his legacy lives on in his wife, Alida.”

Manfredi Catella said: “The Giovanni Gabetti Award is an important recognition at a personal level because the motivation of representing a model for young people who aspire to do this inspirational job, which enables us to redesign our communities - is a great honour for me.

I am especially happy for the appreciation of the hard work of the team at COIMA: every day, with an entrepreneurial spirit, it seeks to strengthen the reputation of our industry through innovation, transparency and passion - not only by re-imagining and developing our cities, but also by persuading Italian and international institutional investors to help support the potential of our country.”

Previous prize winners include Generali Real Estate, the Galotti Group, Claudio De Albertis, and Cesare Ferrero.
