Mystery series 'Dispatches from Elsewhere' premieres on AMC

By Sarah Passingham

n alternate reality hiding just below the surface of the world we see every day is about to be revealed. On Sunday, March 1, a new mystery series, "Dispatches from Elsewhere," premieres on AMC, and it follows a group of strangers on a journey of discovery that blurs the lines between what's real and what's not.

"Dispatches from Elsewhere" is a game that brings together four people that are searching for meaning in their lives. Each player has been won over and introduced to the elaborate alternate-reality game by the charismatic leader of the Jejune Institute, Octavio, played by Richard E. Grant ("Star Wars: Episode IX — The Rise of Skywalker," 2019). As they chase clues and search for the mysterious and missing Clara (Cecilia Balagot, "Girl Meets World"), they begin to question whether the game is really just a game.

Our four participants are Fredwynn, portrayed by André Benjamin ("American Crime"); Janice, played by the delightful Sally Field ("Hello, My Name Is Doris," 2015); Simone, played by Eve Lindley ("Mr. Robot"); and Peter, played by Jason Segel, who most TV fans will remember as Marshall from "How I Met Your Mother." As the players unravel the game's mysteries, they become entangled in the web of the secret society that springs from the Jejune Institute, and they begin to believe they are seeing a new reality in plain sight.

Segel not only stars in "Dispatches from Elsewhere," he is the show's creator and has a hand in every aspect of the series. He's a writer, executive producer and he directed the pilot episode, too. If you consider his previous screenwriting work, Segel's imaginative fingerprint appears to be all over this series. Though it's a tough thing to do in Hollywood, he has a history of getting his passion projects off the ground. Segel penned and executive produced "The Muppets" in 2011, but that wasn't his first foray into puppetry. It has been well documented that the Dracula puppet opera featured in the 2008 film "Forgetting Sarah Marshall" is actually snippets of a full musical that Segel wrote before he began writing that film's script. It is not surprising that he has now helped create this odd, winding mystery series — the guy is much more strange and interesting than the role he's best known for would suggest.

The secrets of this new show's freshman season remain just that for now — secret. Keeping the highlights and surprises under wraps is very important to Segel. At a January Television Critics Association event, he said, "I actually don't want to give too much away if we are lucky enough to continue. It's an exciting experience — we'll see where it goes."

If the mystery of the Jejune Institute isn't enough to entice prospective audiences, "Dispatches from Elsewhere" boasts one of the most exciting ensemble casts in recent memory. Benjamin, perhaps betterknown as André 3000 of the band Outkast, has been building an impressive filmography since his debut as Silk Brown in the 2003 crime movie "Hollywood Homicide." He starred in "Four Brothers" in 2005 and made the move to television in 2016 for the second season of the anthology series "American Crime.'

Field is a Hollywood veteran known for consistently incredible performances in virtually every genre and medium. She shines in heartwarming films such as "Steel Magnolias" (1989), "Forrest Gump" (1993) and "Mrs. Doubtfire" (1994), as well as action films such as "Smokey and the Bandit" (1977), her early TV shows "Gidget" and "The Flying Nun," and her recent roles in quirky dramedies such as Netflix's "Maniac."

Next to one of television and film's most celebrated actresses stands one of the most exciting fresh faces in the industry. Eve Lindley has already landed roles in some of the most buzzedabout recent series, such as "Outsiders," "Tales of the City" and "High Maintenance," but it is clear that this is only the beginning of a long and prolific acting career.

At the same TCA event in January, Lindley shared how meaningful it was to portray a trans woman as a trans woman herself, saying, "I read the script and I was so moved. ... It was one of the best depictions of a trans character I ever read. I felt close to her. Jason [Segel] allowed me to interject a lot of myself into her."

The premise for "Dispatches from Elsewhere" comes from some interesting source material. There is a "real" Jejune Institute, and it is the subject of the appropriately named 2013 documentary film, "The Institute." Documentary might be a generous term for what that feature is, as the institute itself was involved in its production. Between 2008 and 2011, the creators of "The Institute" amassed thousands of participants in their game and sent them all on silly adventures, like dancing with a sasquatch on a sidewalk. But they also asked them to search for a woman named Eva. The game was eventually disbanded, but it left participants questioning how much of what was revealed to them during the experience was real, which infused the whole operation with a cult-like quality.

Join the others at the Jejune Institute and follow the clues when "Dispatches from Elsewhere" premieres Sunday, March 1. on AMC.

Planet Terror

SYFY 9:30 a.m.

When zombies tear off the leg of Cherry Darling (Rose McGowan), she fights the undead army with a group of misfits and her new prosthetic – a modified M4 carbine. Josh Brolin, Bruce Willis and Freddy Rodriguez also star in this action-packed film.

Gangs of New York

нво 6:05 p.m.

Leonardo DiCaprio stars in this film, chronicling the beginning of New York's five Boroughs. After seeing his father killed in a gang fight, a boy is hidden away for his protection, only to emerge a strong and vengeful man in the midst of a war.

"Manifest" stars Melissa Roxburgh and Josh Dallas

Better Call Saul

амс 9:00 р.т.

Despite Jimmy's (Bob Odenkirk) new persona "Saul" being successful in court, he still hasn't won over Kim (Rhea Seehorn) in this new episode. Meanwhile, Nacho (Michael Mando) does whatever he can to earn Lalo's (Tony Dalton) trust.

Manifest

10:00 p.m.

In this new episode, Ben (Josh Dallas) tries to connect with Olive (Luna Blaise), who was left downhearted after a tragedy. Meanwhile, Michaela (Melissa Roxburgh) begins to distrust Jared (J.R. Ramirez), and Saavni (Parveen Kaur) has life-changing news.

Food's March Madness

Fieri's new competition begins this week

Guy Fieri hosts "Tournament of Champions"

By Michelle Rose

TV Media

e're into March, which means it's time for a certain single-elimination tournament to capture our at-

If you're a sports fan, your first thought might be March Madness. And while there are some similarities (mostly the bracket-style format), I'm actually referring to Food Network's new five-episode competition series, "Tournament of Champions," which begins

Wednesday, March 4. Hosted by Guy Fieri, "Tournament" will see 16 of the most celebrated chefs battling it out in various challenges that get progressively tougher with every round.

These competitors are not only racing against the clock, they're also going into this blind: They don't know who their competitors are (but we do), they don't know what the challenges involve, and, in some rounds, they'll be forced to use some specialized tools or unusual ingredients.

So who are the competitors? There are a few familiar faces and names, such as Alex Guarnaschelli and Rocco DiSpirito, and some "underthe-radar talent" (per Food Network), too. The bracket is split into two regions. East and West. and each challenger is seeded by rank in their region as they battle it out.

At the end of each round, you're not going to see the chefs appear before a judging panel, à la "Chopped." "Tournament of Champions" will use a blind judging system: The judges don't know who's competing because they're completely removed from the competition area and their decision will be based solely on the plates put before them.

Star power and name recognition aren't competitive advantages in this competition. But Fieri knows exactly who's competing, since he and fellow commentators Justin Warner and Simon Majumdar will shadow a chef during each round.

Food Network greenlit the series back in October, when it via social media. It only took a week for the video post to garner more than a million views. Production was completed in December, but Food Network has kept fans engaged every step of the way — in fact, just last month fans were invited to fill out their bracket for a chance to win weekly prizes and to share their predictions for how the tournament will unfold.

0 0 8 M A H T O 8

invited Fieri fans to submit their challenger nominations

Round 1 of "Tournament of Champions" begins this Wednesday, and time management will be key in the three matchups. A randomizer (a slot machine-like contraption) will determine each challenge, from a key ingredient to a specific cooking style or reduced prep time, and that could set things up for a memorable March Madness-like upset.

Oueen & Slim

After an awkward date in an Ohio diner, Queen (Turner-Smith), a criminal defense attorney, is driven home by her Tinder match, Slim (Kaluuya). On the drive home, the couple is pulled over by a police officer who claims Slim was driving erratically. After Slim is asked to step out of the vehicle, the situation escalates, and the officer draws his oun on the couple. When Queen steps out of the car to record the encounter on her phone, the officer shoots Queen, grazing her leg. In reaction to the gunfire, Slim takes the officer's gun and shoots him in self-defense. Deciding to go on the run rather than spend their lives in jail, the couple quickly become viral sensations and incite grief and hysteria worldwide.

Party of Five

FREE 8:30 p.m.

In this new episode, Val (Elle Paris) makes a surprising request that ends up having lasting repercussions, Ella's (Audrey Gerthoffer) surprise visit with Beto (Niko Guardado) brings out unexpected truths, and Lucia (Emily Tosta) tries something new.

12 Monkeys

sноw 9:00 p.m.

Humanity is forced underground when a deadly virus devastates the Earth. Years later, a convict is sent back in time to stop the outbreak before it happens. Bruce Willis, Brad Pitt and Madeleine Stowe star in this neo-noir sci-fi film.

"Stumptown" star Tantoo Cardinal

Lego Masters

25 9:00 p.m.

Enjoy this family-friendly Lego challenge, hosted by Will Arnett. Two teams of master-builders compete for a spot in the finals as they are challenged to create a city block that will be joined together to make a giant Lego city in this new episode.

Stumptown

6 9 10:00 p.m.

In Portland, Oregon, quick-thinking army veteran Dex (Cobie Smulders) works as a P.I. while taking care of her brother, Ansel (Cole Sibus). Tantoo Cardinal stars as the owner of a local tribal casino, and Dex's would-be mother-in-law.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison

TV Media

O: I have a couple of problems with how they use English subtitles on shows when a character speaks a foreign language. Why don't they stay on screen long enough for evervone to read them? And why do they leave them in the same spot on the screen even ### when the background is white ways at basically the same spot (since the type is usually white)?

A: I think the problem here is the "they." There are lots of different "theys," all with "their" own guidelines for how subtitles should look.

That said, there are some standards — subtitles generally aren't in wacky fonts or bright colors and, as you say, they're alat the bottom of the screen.

Their time on screen is one of the least standardized elements. The British Broadcasting Corporation, for example, gets quite technical, recommending a screen time of "0.3 seconds per word (e.g. 1.2 seconds for a fourword subtitle)." Netflix recommends no more than two lines of text, and each line should be no more than 42 characters wide. The U.K.'s Channel 4 (for some reason the Brits are more transparent about this stuff than we are) says 38 characters wide, or 34 "if wide letters such as M and W occur frequently."

Also, in terms of their time on screen, subtitlers are unfortunately constrained by the speech they're transcribing. If the actors are speaking quickly (think of a Ouentin Tarantino movie, for example), the choice is either make the subtitles keep up or else drop some words (and that's not a great solution).

As you can see, things get pretty complicated. But interestingly, almost none of these sets of guidelines even mention placement. It's just assumed the text goes on the bottom of the screen.

The problem of white text on white background should, however, be solved by font choice. A number of these guidelines recommend fonts with outlines or shadows so that they show up on any background. But again, as your question points out, not evervone agrees.

In A Man's World

BRAVO 7:00 a.m.

Catch rebroadcasts of this unique series that allows women involved in male-dominated fields to transform with the help of a special effects make-up team, and experience life from the other side. Episode one features Emily, a professional pool player.

World of X Games

1:00 p.m.

Tune in for this new extreme sports special featuring the most extreme moments from the summer and winter X Games held in Aspen. Motocross, BMX, snowboarding and surfing are among the sports athletes compete in at these games.

Randy Fenoli in "Say Yes to the Dress"

Fight Club

нво 5:35 р.т.

A man finds release from the banality of everyday life by joining a club whose members fist fight, but it begins to evolve into something more. This cult classic based on Chuck Palahniuk's novel stars Brad Pitt, Edward Norton and Helena Bonham Carter.

Say Yes to the Dress

тьс 8:00 р.т.

Join host Randy Fenoli in a new episode of this series' special "America" season. A nurse nearly has to check herself back in to work when she gets shocked after her shift, and Randy visits N.Y.C. "Cake Boss," Buddy Valastro.

President Trump's legal adviser, Jenna Ellis, criticized the halftime show as "demeaning to women." She said the president believes there is a time and a place to demean women, and that's Twitter.

After President Trump gave his State of the Union address, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi tore it in half. Then Melania said, "Great! Now do my prenup."

The Oscars are on Sunday, and just to prepare you, it could be a very long night. The results are being tabulated by the lowa Democrats.

A Little Late With Lilly Singh

I'm realizing I need to get better at dating. Let's be real: I'm bored, I'm lonely, I need to put someone else on my will besides my dog, Sparkles.

You can tell I'm new to drinking because of what I order. I'm not one of those cool people who likes whiskey or scotch — I like really sweet drinks like cosmos, fruit-flavored vodkas, the stuff that makes the bartender assume I got in with a fake ID.

You know the first record of a woman wearing highheeled shoes dates all the way back to the 16th century, and I'm sure her blisters will be healed any day now.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

Congrats to the Kansas City Chiefs on winning Super Bowl LIV. And an even bigger congrats to everyone in Kansas City who actually showed up to work today.

Nancy Pelosi extended her hand to President Trump. and he wouldn't shake it. I'm not saying it was bad, but even flights circling LaGuardia aren't left hanging that long.

This morning, President Trump attended the National Prayer Breakfast. After being acquitted, God was like, "Oh, you better be here."

Jimmy Kimmel Live

All the liberal networks preempted their regular programming for [the State of the Union]. Instead of a new episode of "This Is Us," most Americans spent tonight going, "This is us?"

The day after Robert Mueller testified was the day [Trump] threatened Ukraine and Biden. Tomorrow, he'll probably call China to see if he can give Bernie the coronavirus.

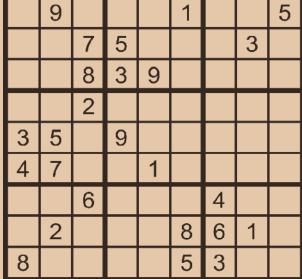

Before his victory speech, Trump spoke at the National Prayer Breakfast, which was a tough decision because on the one hand, he doesn't like to pray, but on the other hand, he loves breakfast.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

Officials in China opened a new hospital today to deal with the outbreak of coronavirus that was built in just 10 days. And officials in New York said the escalator at the 125th Street subway station should be fixed by 2024.

The makers of Peeps have announced they will be selling Hot Tamale-flavored marshmallows this Easter season. And when he heard that, Jesus announced he's not coming back.

Weekend Update with Colin Jost and Michael Che

Boxers Larry Holmes and Gerry Cooney are in talks for a rematch nearly 40 years after they last fought. The fight will consist of 10 rounds of boxing and 80 bathroom breaks. It'll be the first fight decided by natural causes.

Sen. Amy Klobuchar has been getting a lot of attention during the lowa Caucuses for bringing her family's "Tater Tot Hot Dish" to events. Coincidentally, "Tater Tot Hot Dish" is the name of a guy Joe Biden wrestled in a public pool in 1962.

In a new book, John Bolton claims that last August, President Trump told him directly that he was holding up aid to Ukraine until they investigated the Bidens. Hey guys, what's up with the books? When there's an emergency, just tell us right away. If your friend's about to get murdered, you don't go off and write a novel called, "The Killer Behind You."
