

A collection of cinchona bark at Kew Gardens: using objects in research

---

Kim Walker

k.walker@kew.org @kim_wyrt

Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew & Royal Holloway

Supervisors: Mark Nesbitt & Felix Driver

12 September 2018

Links

---

Economic Botany Collection

<https://www.kew.org/science/collections/economic-botany-collection>

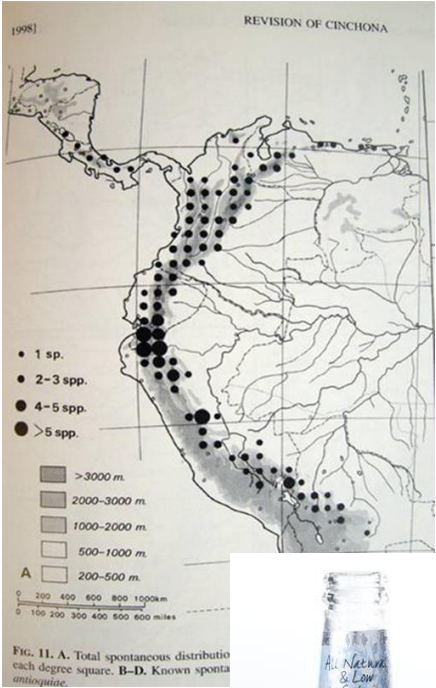

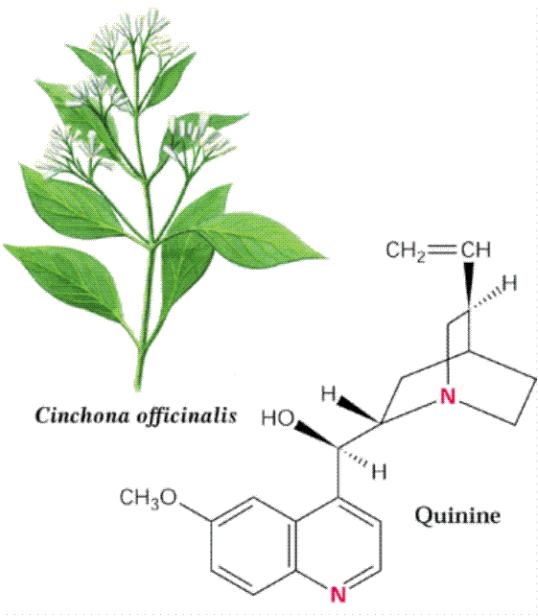

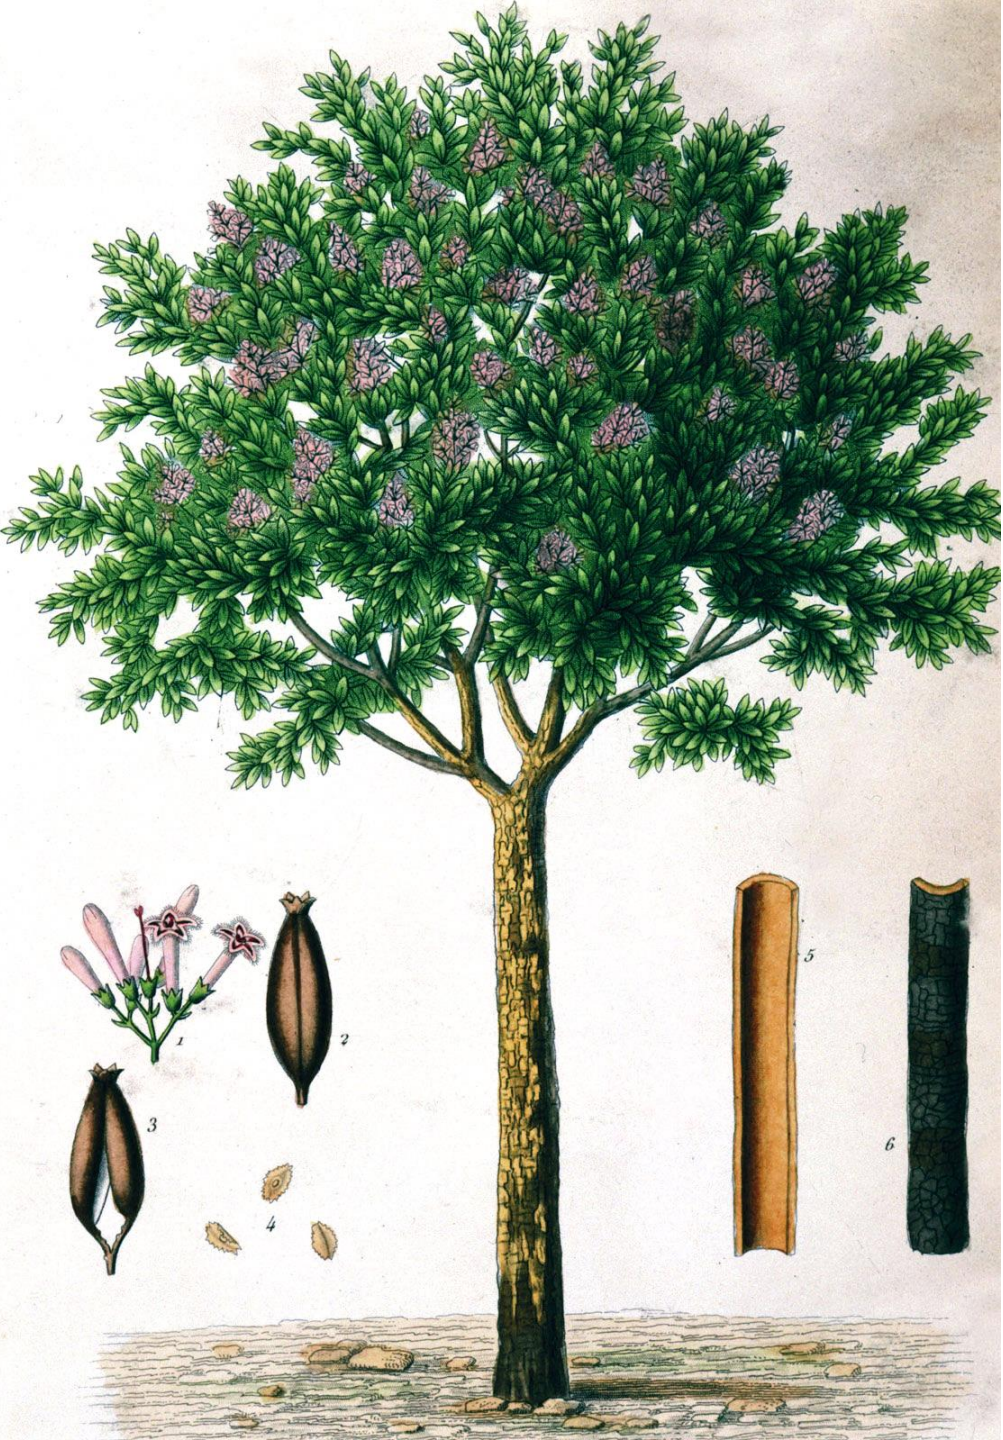

Blog on Kew project and crowd sourcing

<https://www.kew.org/blogs/kew-science/the-fever-tree-help-us-transcribe-a-bit-of-history>

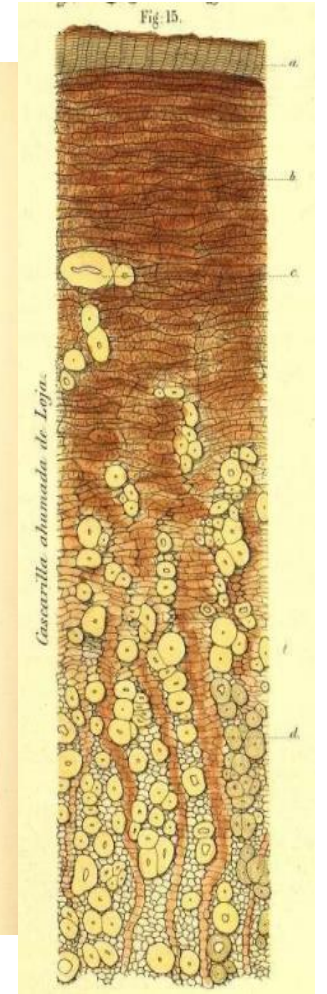

Documentary on collaborative cinchona phylogenetic project

https://evogenomics.snm.ku.dk/research-groups/roensted\_group/the\_quest\_for\_cinchona/

Introduction

Object Biographies

Reading objects,
tracing object histories

Other stories...

---

Thank you

---

Kim Walker

k.walker@kew.org

@kim\_wyrt