CAMELLIA GROWERS LOOK FOR HELP

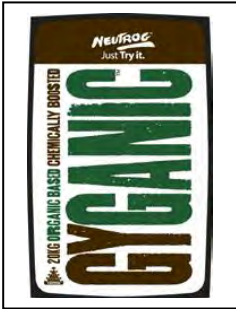

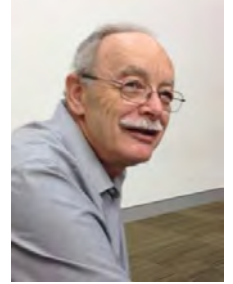

It seems that every week or so we receive emails and requests for assistance from gardeners with regard to their camellias. That sometimes requires a home visit and we meet some very lovely people. See our article on Mary Doughty.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The Society is now managing quite well regardless of the restrictions. We receive correspondence from around the state with Camellia Queries. Pam's uploads to our website and "facebook" are reaching out to a new audience we have had over 130 looks at the June Bloom Competition on "facebook".

My apologies to Richie, Juliet and Elizabeth for errors in the attribution of entries in last month's Newsletter and my failure to credit Juliet for the lovely selection of blooms at Eryldene.

Further to Lesley's two part series on Citrus I am taking this opportunity to remind members and friends that Neutrog have speciality fertilizers – "Rapid Raiser" and "Cyganic", which are just the shot for heavy feeding plants such as roses and citrus. 100% organic and ACO registered and specifically developed to enhance fruit size, quality and taste.

It was sad news to hear that Evette Franklin has left the publicity side of Neutrog. She's been a great ambassador for them and a real help with setting up our sponsorship and facilitating our product orders. Evette, we all wish you well in your future endeavours.

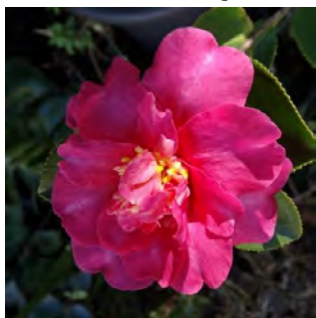

I am not sure how your garden is going but many of the camellia varieties in ours have been flowering way beyond their use by date. Setsugeka and Mine No Yuki are still going strong and even our second to bloom each year- Exquisite (Waterhouse) is yet a mass of pale pink.

Be sure to consider the Neutrog Order as another attachment with this newsletter for a Spring Order
It will be due to be returned and paid for by the 31st July.

Q&A . . .

A query from our readership. . . this camellia opens to 8cm just before it drops. Any ideas as to its name?

Another question—this time from the President. Can Margaret Davis sport to a much darker form of Just Sue? It is not quite as dark as Otahuhu Beauty.

From IPP, Wendy, “What’s causing my camellia buds to brown off and fall, and the petals on opening are also brown”?

OUR LONG HISTORY WITH CAMELLIAS

BY FRAN AND ROB HACKETT

My first recollection of camellias was when as a young girl one of my chores was to pick hundreds of camellias for sale to the local funeral director. Hardy red camellias were the preferred type for making into wreaths. I had to climb up into 100 year old trees that had been planted on the original selection of "Wollongbar". It is believed that these plants had been sourced from My Aunt in Sydney had friends Professor EG Waterhouse many of these camellias as other local gardens. Blooms Prince Fredrick William, Clare, Alba Plena, Fimbriata, , La Pace Rubra and Helenor. garden no longer exists. grow cuttings from all of these of them in our garden.

When we were married the camellia season as there utilized in the decorations, sprays. I carried Fimbriata carried Prince Fredrick also made camellias as a and she also now has an camellias.

Our love of camellias was boosted when we started visiting many stunning camellia shows in the Illawarra area, Sydney and Toowoomba. Our favourites are the Reticulatas and we have added many retics and other species to our large garden near Alstonville. We have visited many nurseries around the state and have planted hedges of Sasanquas and then Japonicas, Higos and hybrids that like our red soil and the shelter of cedar and other trees. Our long driveway shows off many of the 50 plus retics that we have added to our camellia collection over the years.

Editor's Note: Fran and Rob live between Lismore and Alstonville on the far north coast. As we have seen over the past few months, Fran has presented some truly beautiful blooms and I was pleased that she responded favourably to my request for a story.

AFFILIATE REPORT FROM NSW CAMELLIA RESEARCH SOCIETY TO NATIONAL CONGRESS 2020

Impact of Disasters and CV19

This Year's report will be somewhat affected by the impact that CV19 and the environmental crises have had on our Society. Many of our members are in the age and health categories that prevent them meeting in numbers. Our meeting and Show venues also cannot cope with the numbers of people who would attend and which were both closed during the crisis/pandemic. Over the past year material from our newsletter has featured in the Camellias Australia Journal as well as being distributed to the National President in the USA who then passes it to their affiliates. This has led to a friendly association with the Camellia Society of Oregon.

Our Society has had to resort to Committee Meetings via "Zoom" and our monthly Bloom Competition has now taken an Online Format. Entries to the competition now come from a number of members who cannot normally attend our meeting due to their homes' locations. The upgraded Newsletter has been our way of keeping in touch with all of our members as well as all of the other states' societies who have a newsletter themselves.

One aspect of the CV19 restrictions has been that the general public have spent more time in their own gardens and to keep them in good order some are purchasing product from our sponsor. This will enable us to make up the financial shortfall of the Cancelled Annual Show.

How Have Members' Gardens Coped with the Extremes of Weather?

Some of our members in the Blue Mountains had their homes and gardens in real danger and were damaged during the extreme bushfire season. A number of members have seen specimens bloom for the first time this year following the drought and the substantial rains in March. This has certainly been the case in our garden where the sheer number of flowers on some shrubs has made a magnificent visual impact.

Related Garden Reports

As our Society is bound to "Eryldene" the home of Professor Waterhouse, we have noted the extreme impact of a major storm event last November. This brought down a number of significant trees and large branches of others, some of which caused damage to the house and study as well as a number of camellias. Some parts of the gardens and street frontage were declared unsafe and were fenced off from the public. Then CV19 struck and the whole precinct was locked down. Professionals were engaged to remedy some of the arboreal problems and the house is slowly returning to normal. Within the house, a program of restoration, including painting, has continued and the results are very pleasing.

Our Society has had a long-standing relationship with Lisgar Garden, in Hornsby Shire (upper north shore of Sydney). This year the garden was nominated for the award of An International Camellia Garden of Excellence. Towards this end ICS nominated Tony Curry, from our Society and Anke Koschitz the ICS Director for Germany and Austria to inspect the garden for the possibility of the award being granted. Dr Stephen Utick has worked tirelessly on the project (by the way he is also a member of our Society) and it was a pleasure to see it all come to fruition recently. A number of our members and those from other societies made the trip of the Delegates and their partner/s a much fuller program while in Australia.

Bereavements Since our Last Congress

A number of our past and present members and friends passed away earlier this year. They were: Dr Barbara Walker, Richard Fischer, Jim Lykos, Wai Davidson and one of the real personalities of the gardening world— Ben Swaine.

A VISIT TO A CHATSWOOD GARDEN . . .

BY CAROLYN AND DANIEL LOW

Mary Doughty AM

Daniel and I were asked to visit the garden of Mary Doughty AM in Chatswood. She had been referred to our Society by the staff at Camellia Grove as having people who might assist her in identifying her camellias most of which had been purchased in the 60s and 70s. Mary is an active lady in her 90th year and she took us on a flying tour of the garden. We would have liked more time to catalogue our pictures and the plant locations accurately. However an open invitation to continue is in place. The front garden contains one camellia they brought from their previous house (as yet unseen) and one that was already there a 'Kanjiro'.

'Easter Morn'

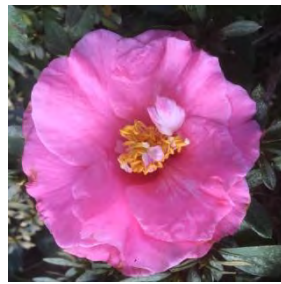

Then there are selected plantings from Camellia Grove of about 20 varieties. Starting on the street you cannot but be impressed by a magnificent 'Easter Morn', the blooms are in line with the description in the nursery catalogue but much larger than in the "Nomenclatures".

As we moved around the garden we noticed a number of interesting flower forms: "Polar Bear" seemed to be throwing back to 'Great Eastern' with some random splashes of red; Dona Herzilia De Freitas Magalhaes had a semi-double sport with not a trace of the elegans form (see pic.).

It was with great pleasure that at last we were able to go to the garden of the late Dr Barbara Walker and her husband Bruce. We had wanted to go for some time to plant a memorial Camellia following Barbara's passing early in the year.

The garden has a wide range of Camellia types from some of the best reticulates such as Winter's Own Variegated to miniature hybrids like Spring Mist with innumerable japonicas in between.

The planting went smoothly with Bruce assisting and then we had an abbreviated tour. There were still some Mine-No-Yuki sasanquas flowering. Both Oki-No-Nami and Moshio were out on two separate bushes and we were most impressed by the sheer size of some of the trees. Bruce was very grateful for the thoughtfulness of the Society as he knew what a joy the genus brought to Barbara's life.

... THEN TO WAHROONGA

Margaret Levick
Ann'

If you visit Margaret Levick's garden at Wahroonga it is well to remember that when she and Peter bought the property it was a "Bushland Block". There were numerous Turpentines (some of which still stand), Sydney Red Gums and two Sydney Blue Gums. These were cleared by hand with a 180cmX25cm two-man handsaw. Today their lovely home is surrounded by garden beds and in them are perhaps 300 different Camellias. Peter propagated and named two new Camellias for his children: 'Sally Ann'; for Sally Ann (reg.1983) and 'Fluffy Buttocks'; for David (unregistered).

Sally Ann with 'Sally Ann'

From a start at the Ku-Ring-Gai Horticultural Society in 1956, they were advised to join the youthful and vigorous Camellia Society in the hands of Professor E. G. Waterhouse.

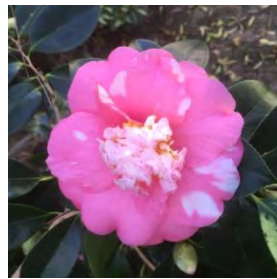

At Margaret's wish, this will mainly be a pictorial essay highlighting some of the interesting varieties in their garden. While on our stroll, Margaret explained the C. rosiflora (which was in full bloom) is much favoured in Japan because, "The blooms fall face up, making a carpet of beautiful little flowers and the Japanese have water under the trees for them to float in".

Another interesting flower was found on a seedling of 'Henry Turnbull' (pure white), an unnamed scarlet red copy. Margaret has a small plant of 'Roger Hall Variegated', which was in bloom and is one of Carolyn's favourites. Another beautiful bloom is the soft pink, informal double, 'Cara Mia'. Little red and white flowers are seen in 'Tama-No-Ura' and 'Bokuhan'

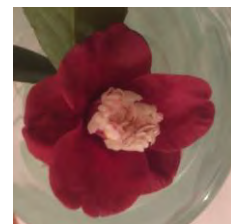

And now a few words from Margaret: "By the way, on checking, Peter and I joined the Society in 1962. We enjoyed being members for many reasons: educational, horticultural, friendship, cultural, travel, family, competitions and displays. There were artistic functions with other related and like interest clubs, historic and architectural connections, and many other avenues of enjoyment. Being able to contribute to many widespread public and community, suburban, city, country, national and international organizations".
