RULEBOOK UPDATES

2022-23 Season – Icing Line Changes

When a team ices the puck they will not be permitted to make any player substitutions prior to the ensuing faceoff save an except for instances involving the replacement of a goaltender who had been removed for an extra attacker, an injury, or when a penalty has been assessed which affects the on-ice strength of either team. Should either team elect to utilize their team time-out at this stoppage of play, both teams will be permitted to make a player change.

2022-23 Season – Extra Time

Unlike past seasons, teams will now change ends for the overtime period, often times resulting in a longer distance to the bench for both teams while making a line change.

Teams will then change ends again for the shootout.

2021-22 Season – Modified Offside Rule

A player is on-side when either of his skates are in contact with the blue line, or on his own side of the line, at the instant the puck completely crosses the leading edge of the blue line. On his own side of the line shall be defined by a “plane” of the blue line which shall extend from the leading edge of the blue line upwards. If a player’s skate has yet to break the “plane” prior to the puck completely crossing the leading edge, he is deemed to be on-side for the purpose of the off-side rule.

The Ontario Hockey League (OHL) is excited to announce a new partnership that will further enable the League to place its players and their mental health first.

The OHL has joined together with Syngenta Canada and Grain Farmers of Ontario, who will serve as presenting sponsors of the Canadian Mental Health Association (CMHA), Ontario Division's Talk Today program, now entering its ninth season.

Talk Today provides mental health support to players and raises awareness about mental health and suicide throughout the League's communities.

"Young people have been through a lot these past two years as our society has grappled with the effects of Covid-19," said OHL Commissioner David Branch. "The mental health of our players and staff is so very important, and it brings me great pleasure to see quality partners like Syngenta and Grain Farmers of Ontario stepping up to lead in this most important area."

Since its inception, Talk Today has made a sizeable impact in the OHL with over 1,200 players along with more than 500 coaches, billets and staff taking part in suicide prevention workshops. These sessions help teach the importance of recognizing signs of suicide, and how to seek help or connect with others in need of support to resources.

"Mental wellness is a priority area of focus for Grain Farmers of Ontario as we look to help Ontario grain farmers struggling with mental health issues and to remove any stigma still associated with talking about mental health or seeking help," said Paul Hoekstra, Vice President, Strategic Development, at Grain Farmers of Ontario. "A program like the OHL and CMHA's Talk Today helps start much-needed conversations and educates people about mental health issues. We are thrilled to partner with Syngenta and the OHL to provide this vital program."

"Hockey is a part of many farming communities, so it's natural for us to get involved in such an important cause," said Norm Sutherland, District Manager, Syngenta Canada. "At Syngenta, we prioritize mental wellbeing for our employees and for our customers. Just as mental health should be talked about in the dressing room, it's a necessary discussion on the farm, where daily stresses can take their toll. We're grateful to work alongside CMHA, the OHL, and Grain Farmers of Ontario to elevate the mental health conversation and provide support in rinks and farming communities across the province."

The Talk Today program is built around local relationships between OHL teams and the CMHA branches in their community. In addition to taking part in mandatory evidence-based mental health and suicide awareness workshops, each OHL team has a designated local CMHA Mental Health Coach should players or staff wish to access mental health information or services in their communities. The month of February is Talk Today month in the OHL, with game day presentations, educational activities and social media campaigns held League-wide aimed at reducing the stigma associated with mental health and addiction.

"Within agriculture and sports, the stigma surrounding mental health continues to discourage many individuals from seeking the support they may need," said Camille Quenneville, CEO, Canadian Mental Health Association, Ontario. "We're excited to be partnering with the OHL, Syngenta, and the Grain Farmers of Ontario to promote positive mental health and breakdown the stigmatizing barriers preventing many Ontarians from accessing the resources they may need."
