Plattekill denies consent to Pilgrim Pipeline

By MARK REYNOLDS

Supervisor Joe Croce informed the public that the developer of the Pilgrim Pipeline is in the process of moving the project forward. The company is proposing to construct a 178-mile, dual underground pipeline system that will send and return crude and refined oil products between Albany, NY and Linden, NJ. Preliminary estimates indicate that 200,000 barrels per day will traverse in both directions.

Croce said on Jan. 21, 2015 the Town Board passed a memorializing resolution "voicing our opposition to the pipeline." He said at this point the NYS Thruway Authority is seeking to be lead agency to conduct the state environmental review.

Croce, who is also VP of the Ulster County Association of Town Supervisors and Mayors, said they have sent a letter to the commissioner of the Department of Environmental Conservation [DEC] affirming their support of the DEC to handle the environmental review rather than the NYS Thruway Authority. He said the Association feels that the DEC is the appropriate agency to act as lead agency because the pipeline threatens

Ulster Sheriff urges licensed handgun owners to carry them

Days after the tragic shootings last week in California, Ulster County Sheriff Paul Van Blarcum is urging all licensed gun owners in his county to carry their weapon.

"In light of recent events that have occurred in the United States and around the world I want to encourage citizens of Ulster County who are licensed to carry a firearm to please do so," wrote Van Blarcum, Thursday, in a Facebook post. "I urge you to responsibly take advantage of your legal right to carry a firearm. To ensure the safety of yourself and others, make sure you are comfortable and proficient with your weapon, and knowledgeable of the laws in New York State with regards to carrying a weapon and when it is legal to use it."

Van Blarcum's post was in response to hundreds of shootings reported across the U.S. this year, including the most recent where 14 people were gunned down in San Bernardino, CA, Wednesday when gunmen — a man and a woman — burst into a social services center and opened fire.

"I also want to remind all Police/Peace Officers both active duty and retired to please carry a weapon whenever you leave your house," Van Blarcum said via the Facebook post. "We are the thin blue line that is entrusted in keeping this country safe, and we must be prepared to

Milton library hosts tree-lighting ceremony

By MARK REYNOLDS
mreynolds@tcnewspapers.com

For as long as anyone can remember, every year the Sarah Hull Hallock Library in Milton has hosted a tree-lighting ceremony to usher in the holiday season. Last Sunday afternoon the tradition continued, with young and old alike turning out for the arrival of Santa, courtesy of the Milton Fire Department and joining Gina Samardge singing holiday songs, listening to a holiday story, making crafts, partaking in sweet treats and drinking coffee and apple cider to keep warm.

This year the festivities blended with a tree lighting just across from the library under the auspices of the Hamlet of Milton Association.

Library Director Lois Skelly believes lighting a tree at the library has gone on for generations – “it’s not a new event, it’s a Milton tradition.”

Skelly said this annual event is very special to her.

“I really love to see the kids so involved [and] the families come out and it’s not just a library event, it’s a neighborhood event,” she said. “The library to me is the heart of the community and we’re happy to be the center of kicking off the holiday season.”

Gina Samardge entertained the children inside the library.

Library Director Lois Skelly had kids pick, without peeking, the raffle tickets for three special gift baskets. The winners were Diana Henry for the 'Be Our Guest' basket, Susan Cohen for 'Home for the Holidays' and Helen Kent for for the 'Comfy Cozy' basket.

The festivities concluded with the lighting of the library tree.

ceremony for the past three years, but leads other library activities throughout the year.

"I do music and movement classes for toddlers and pre-schoolers and we'll start up again at the end of February," she said. "I'm just in love with Milton. It's such a wonderful community."

Originally from Marion, Ohio,

Samardge moved to New York City in 2002 and for the last six years has resided in nearby Beacon. She teaches general music at two private schools and runs her own enrichment programs through her company "Compass Arts."

Tim Lawton is presently the Vice President of the Library board and expects to take on the duties of President in the new year. He looks forward to the tree lighting every year.

"I love the fact that our little library generates this much attention in Milton at this time of year," he said. "I think Lois Skelly does a really good job of creating a program and I am very pleased on how it blended with the tree lighting for the hamlet association. The end result was very good."

Lawton "loves" the fact that the Hallock library is an anchor in the community.

"I think we've succeeded in maintaining that," he said. "We are kind of like that unsung hero because we're always here, we're always serving the public and we provide a service the public needs."

Lawton said the library is not just for kids.

"We just introduced this year a Mahjong class that's very well attended," he said. "I would never have thought [but] it's still alive and well." The tile-matching game originated in China and has similarities to the western game of rummy.

Ulster Sheriff urges licensed gun owners to carry them

act at any given moment.”

The position has support among members of the local law enforcement community.

“I am a firm believer of one’s constitutional rights,” said Chief Gerald T. Coccozza Jr. of the Town of Marlborough Police Department. “As such, if one wants to carry a weapon and they are permitted to do so by law and they feel safe in doing so, then I believe they should.”

Officials in Orange County also offered words of support. Orange County District Attorney David M. Hoovler and Orange County Sheriff Carl E. DuBois issued the following joint statement in response to repeated media requests for them to comment on the recent statements by various public officials regarding licensed gun holders carrying their firearms:

“This country was founded, in part, on the principle that the responsible use of firearms is an important safeguard to our liberty,” read the joint statement. “We have always fully supported the law-abiding citizen’s right to responsibly bear firearms and continue to do so. We have arrested and prosecuted licensed gun holders who have acted recklessly or unlawfully with their firearms. The vast majority of firearm permit holders act responsibly and realize that holding a pistol permit does not make them either police officers or vigilantes. We encourage all licensed gun holders to continue to take advantage of gun safety courses such as those offered by the various sportsmen’s associations, other Orange County gun safety instructors, and the Orange County Sheriff’s Office, which also offers a civilian tactical handgun training program.

A rare Page 1 editorial in the New York Times on Saturday sounded a note of caution, urging tougher gun laws by banning some large categories of weapons and ammunition.

“It is not necessary to debate the peculiar wording of the Second Amendment. No right is unlimited and immune from reasonable regulation,” the editorial read. “Certain kinds of weapons, like the slightly modified combat rifles used in California, and certain kinds of ammunition, must be outlawed for civilian ownership. It is possible to define those guns in a clear and effective way and, yes, it would require Americans who own those kinds of weapons to give them up for the good of their fellow citizens.

“What better time than during a presidential election to show, at long last, that our nation has retained its sense of decency?”

Marlboro library director bids farewell

By MARK REYNOLDS
mreynolds@tcnewspapers.com

After 17 years with the Marlboro Free Library, James Cosgrove has decided to retire. A going-away party was thrown in his honor last week to say thank you for his many years of dedicated service to the community.

Cosgrove originally worked in advertising in Massachusetts but after a time he reconsidered, consulted with a career counselor, took library courses part-time at SUNY Albany and moved into the Library field.

"After I got enough credits I quit my job and never looked back; no regrets, I loved it," he said. "It's a really dynamic field and a lot of change. I am the kind of person who likes to have a challenge, an opportunity and something new every day. No day is the same."

Cosgrove's early jobs were part-time with the New Lebanon Library system and at the Berkshire Community College.

Cosgrove said he heard about an opening for a librarian in Marlboro and jumped at the opportunity.

"Here it was full-time job with benefits, which I couldn't find in Columbia County," he said, adding that after a few years he became the Director of the Library.

Cosgrove said he has kept up with the digital changes at the library, especially in providing e-books and expanding adult programming and offering assistance in job searches. The library also has passport services. He has updated the Library's collection, installed new stacks and lighting and made available local historical resources online.

"It's a challenge to keep up with what is going on out there so people don't look at a library as a place where they [just] have the books," he said.

Cosgrove believes libraries are a "third place."

"You've got home, work and that other place where you can find recreational, cultural, educational, and instructional information," he said. "We're here for the community."

Cosgrove and his wife Elizabeth "are heading down to Mexico, south of the border, to live hopefully, if we like it." They have their eye on San Miguel de Allende, a small city in the north-central part of the country at a high elevation with a temperate climate. Elizabeth said she is looking forward to their next phase in life, "I can't wait, you bet." The couple expects they will travel south in mid-2016. "It's not that we're escaping from but we're going to; we're looking at it that way, as the next chapter" Cosgrove said.

Ulster County Legislator Richard Gerentine presented Cosgrove with a Pride of Ulster County Award "for all of his hard and dedicated work over the years He has been asset to the library and has done many things but has also done a lot with the Ulster County Library Association."

Gerentine said Cosgrove would be missed, noting that he is very deserving of the recognition from the county.

Assistant Library Director Christina Jennerich said she would miss Cosgrove's sense of humor and his dedication to serving the public.

"It's just amazing to watch somebody with so much dedication," she said. "Jim's never rested on his laurels. He is always looking forward to take the library into a better place in terms of modernizing it. He's never just sat still and said this is the library, this is all we do. He is always looking at new avenues to be able to serve the public better."

Libby Manion was a former Director of the Marlboro Library and actually hired Cosgrove as a Librarian. When she left in 2003 she knew she was leaving the library in good hands "and he's done a great job."

Denise Garofalo is President of the Marlboro Library Board.

"Jim has been a marvelous Director for the library and the community and the county libraries," she said. "He's left a great legacy [and] it's going to be tough to find a successor but I know we'll find someone who will follow in his footsteps. He has had a long run and has done wonderful things here for the library programs. He's got a great staff, so we're well positioned even though we're going to miss him greatly."

Before the celebration ended, Cosgrove addressed his friends and co-workers.

"I really love this community and the people I work with; it's been a wonderful, wonderful experience. I love you all," he said. "Thank God for social media so we can stay in touch."

Denise Garofalo, President of the Library Board, presented Cosgrove with a special gift upon his retirement.

Charlene Riach, longtime Wallkill school nurse, to retire

By TED REMSNYDER

For the past quarter-century, Charlene Riach has tended to the injuries and illnesses of students throughout the Wallkill Central School District in her role as School Nurse Practitioner, and she'll leave an enormous hole to fill when she retires from the district on January 29. Since Riach joined the district in August 1991, the certified family nurse practitioner has overseen the nursing staff in all of Wallkill's schools, a group that currently includes five nurses and an assortment of support personnel.

During her time with the district as the Supervisor of Health Services, Riach has worked with four different superintendents and seen thousands of students pass through the school system. "The kids were unbelievable," she said of her favorite part of her job. "They make you feel special. They come and talk to you and make you laugh. One of the most rewarding times was when I had a mother tell me recently that I saved her son's life. He had a physical for football and I told him I couldn't pass him because he had an irregular heartbeat. So they went and had it checked out by a cardiologist and he had Wolff-Parkinson-White syndrome and needed a pacemaker."

During her long tenure in the district, Riach has initiated a slew of health programs for students that still exist to this day. She coordinates four blood drives at the high school every year that not only collect much-needed plasma but provide for three college scholarships for Wallkill students courtesy of the New York Blood Center. "None of this was in place when I got here," she said. "When I was hired the position had only been established in 1989 and there had been a nurse here for two years and then she left. Starting in 1994 we now do the annual Health Fair and in the beginning of September we do the Red Ribbon Week. I take the kids every year to Woodbury Common for the Breast Cancer Walk, we do the Great American Smokeout and the Red Dress decoration for heart disease awareness." For over 20 years, Riach has also been the school advisor for a number of organizations, including Student Health Awareness, Students Against Destructive Decisions and Teens Against Tobacco Use.

Being a nurse practitioner sometimes put Riach in harm's way, particularly during one incident five years ago when she was prowling the sidelines at a varsity football game performing her usual duties of examining player's injuries. A Wallkill player became entangled with an opponent and the next thing Riach knew the two behemoths were heading toward her at alarming speed. Before she could leap out of the way, the two players had landed on top of her and she crashed to the grass. "They tackled me and my glasses flew off onto the track," she recalled. "I was laying there, my leg was hurting and I wound up with a concussion. They wanted to call an ambulance and the player was apologizing, but I said 'it's OK.' So then my husband drove me to the hospital and I had a sprained knee and the concussion. I must have had 600 pounds on top of me when they fell."

Riach is based in the high school, and travels throughout the district supervising the nursing staff. She is also a CPR and first aid instructor for Wallkill employees and conducts physicals for student-athletes, personnel and bus drivers. Prior to joining the district, Riach worked in a private practice in Fishkill and at the methadone clinic in St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh. She was also an adjunct nursing teacher at Orange County Community College, a job she will take up again when she leaves Wallkill, this time instructing nursing students at Mount Saint Mary College in Newburgh on a part-time basis. Riach, 67, decided to retire from a full-time schedule next month because she simply thought it was time to cut back on her workload. "This is my 25th year, but I'm ready now," she said. "I was asked to stick it out till June, but I said 'no, I'm ready.' I want to be able to enjoy my retirement, I don't want to wait until I can't enjoy it."

Wallkill Superintendent Kevin Castle said Riach was a valuable member of the district's community and Wallkill is still searching for her replacement. "She's served our students for 25 years and was always there for the kids and faculty," he said. "She was a very hard worker and always made sure the job got done. She'll definitely be missed."

Helping those in need

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for someone else.

- Benjamin Franklin

The holidays mean many things for people. A time to gather with family and give thanks. A time to exchange gifts and to keep traditions alive. As we enter the busy holiday season we should remember the families that need a few extra gloves, coats and toys to put under the tree this holiday season.

We are fortunate to live in an area where generosity of spirit so abundantly complements the numbers of those in need. Whenever there's a family in need of clothes, or a warm meal, there are volunteers and organizations ready and willing to provide them. The bell ringers are out at the malls and shopping centers. If you encounter them this holiday season, please be as generous as you can be.

The Town of Marlborough Police Department is holding their annual Holiday Toy Drive.

This year in addition to the families that enroll themselves, residents are invited to nominate families that may be in need of assistance. Write and tell them what circumstances have impacted the family and why they need some help this year. You can let us know about neighbors, family members, or a co worker. The children must live in the Marlboro school district to be eligible. Letters can be signed or anonymous. Please include how to contact the family. Letters can be mailed to The Town of Marlborough Police Dept. 21 Milton Tpk. /PO Box 305, Milton, NY 12547, attention: Head Dispatcher VanAmburgh. Toys can be dropped off at the Marlborough Police headquarters.

If you'd like to support Toys for Tots, there are many ways that you can help. You can drop new, unwrapped toys at one of the following locations: Lloyd Police Headquarters, 25 Milton Ave., Highland, Dollar General, Marlboro or the CVS Pharmacy on Route 9W, or you can attend the Town of Lloyd Police Department open house that will be held on Dec. 13, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. where children can drop off new/unwrapped toys and meet Santa.

Feeling Frustrated in Plattekill?

You're not the only one. They say politics revolve around local issues, and the issues impacting the residents of the Town of Plattekill haven't changed. For that matter, neither have the politicians. When you ask Plattekill Town Board members what they can point to as a significant accomplishment during their tenure as in a position of public trust, they're hard pressed to come up with an answer. Pulling a float during the Memorial Day Parade isn't the accomplishment of an elected official, it's a service provided by a resident of the community. Donating building materials to improve the local police or fire department facilities is not why we elect someone to a position of public trust. Patting yourself on the back because local property taxes haven't been raised by a significant amount does not address the situations that impact the residents of the community.

Property owners are still paying tax money, and they still want to know why that money is not being dedicated toward making the Town of Plattekill a better place to live. Many residents in Plattekill are commuting over an hour, each way, every day. How has our Town Board influenced the Planning Board and Zoning Board to increase businesses here in Plattekill, so our residents aren't spending 10-20 hours a week commuting back and forth to work? Why is our Town Board cutting the amount of funds allocated toward our recreation department which keeps the youth engaged and allows them to remain physically active, which leads to a healthier life? What are we doing

Ulster County Sheriff wants gun owners armed

A day after the San Bernadino massacre Ulster County Sheriff Paul J. Van Blarcum had an announcement that made him the recipient of a local Facebook vote of about 300 to 1 against the Sheriff.

This is what Sheriff Van Blarcum said, "ATTENTION LICENSED HANDGUN OWNERS."

He said, "In light of recent events that have occurred in the United States and around the world I want to encourage citizens of Ulster County who are licensed to carry a firearm to PLEASE DO SO."

He said, "I urge you to responsibly take advantage of your legal right to carry a firearm. To ensure the safety of yourself and others, make sure you are comfortable and proficient with your weapon, and knowledgeable of the laws in New York State with regards to carrying a weapon and when it is legal to use it.

"I also want to remind all Police/Peace Officers both active duty and retired to please carry a weapon whenever you leave your house. We are the thin blue line that is entrusted in keeping this country safe, and we must be prepared to act at any given moment."

CRAIG MCKINNEY

As I See It

The near unanimous response to this Facebook post was why had the Sheriff suggested this.

He would have gotten a far different response if he had come out in favor of banning all people who are on the Terrorist Watch List from buying a gun, whether it be a revolver or an assault weapon.

New York City may be one of the top targets of groups like ISIS, and New York City Police Chief William Bratton -- a supporter of the ban -- said adopting it is far more important than not allowing Syrian refugees to come into the United States.

Another supporter of the Terrorist Watch List is leading Republican Presidential candidate Donald Trump. Trump Towers could be a target, especially since it is owned by a Presidential candidate.

New York City may be a target, but the New York City Police will make it a very difficult target. ISIS may prefer a soft target like Miami, whose two Presidential candidates Marco Rubio and Jed Bush do not support a Terrorist Watch List or a Background Check. ISIS can fly right in, and because there is no Background checks in Florida, get all the assault weapons and big magazines they want before going to a Miami Dolphins game and mowing down 5,000 fans. New York State does not give groups like ISIS a free pass and does not trust them like Florida does.

Sheriff Van Blarcum can be in line to support the Financial Capital of the World, New York City. The Sheriff does not have to arm the people of Ulster County, because Huguenot Street in New Paltz is not the soft target that ISIS has in mind. New York City is and Bratton is waiting for ISIS.

This is something else for the sheriff to consider. It is from the New England Journal of Medicine. "I keep guns in my home because I am 43 times more likely to kill a family member, friend or acquaintance and 22 times more likely to kill myself than to kill an intruder. Guns make me safe." (Statistics according to New England Journal of Medicine) (scontent.xx.fbcdn.net)

It may not surprise you that two of the Ulster County school districts with less than a tenth of the per capita income of Scarsdale, outspend Scarsdale on a per pupil basis. Those districts are Onteora and Rondout, and very poor Ellenville almost does.

Here is the Ulster school districts plus Scarsdale on a per pupil basis for the 2013-2014 year: Onteora, $37,701, Rondout, $29,197, Scarsdale, $28,371, Ellenville, $27,660, Marlboro, $25,083, New Paltz, $23,998, Kingston, $22,923, Wallkill, $21,627, Highland, $20,399, and Saugerties, $19,998.

And here is their per capita incomes: Scarsdale, $481,045, Marlboro, $43,624, New Paltz, $43,415, Onteora, $40,745, Highland, $40,046, Wallkill, $39,950, Rondout, $36,466, Kingston, $34,523, Saugerties, $32,926, and Ellenville, $28,293.

These numbers tell a story of some Ulster County school districts that are out of control with their spending.

San Bernadino housewife was a Saudi who should have been banned

Tashfeen Malik has become known as the Saudi-American housewife who, with her husband, killed 14 people and injured 21 with an assault weapon attack in San Bernadino, California.

What should be known is that she was an adherent of the American hating Saudi school of Islam. This is the same ilk that provided 15 of the 19 terrorists who took down the Trade Towers on 9/11.

Now there is talk of not allowing in Syrian refugees, who do not follow the Saudi extreme school of Islam. A better question is has there ever been a Syrian terrorist in this country? Then ask has there ever been a Saudi terrorist?

There are 1.2 billion Muslims in the world and only a small percentage are involved with ISIS or the Saudi form of Islam. Do we turn our backs on the 1.2 billion for the crimes of the few?

Some Ulster County school districts outspend Scarsdale

Scarsdale with a per capita income of $481,045 is the wealthiest school district in New York State. Ulster County school districts as a group rank in the top 15 counties in the nation in per pupil spending, though in 2014 the per capita income of all of the United States was $46,049, while in Ulster County is far below the per capita income with a county per capita income of $41,648.

as a community outreach program to help ensure our senior citizens can get their driveway and walkways shoveled out in the winter, the lawns mowed in the summer, and the leaves raked for them in the fall? Wasn't that a FANTASTIC Easter egg hunt at the Town Park?

No, we're not addressing these issues of community concern. Instead, we buy land to increase the size of the Town Park, and do NOTHING to improve the site, or introduce opportunities to increase utilization of that taxpayer funded asset. Our Town Board allowed the bond requirement for Patura Road to expire, leaving taxpayers to foot the bill to maintain that road? Our elected officials will be the first to stand up and take credit for accomplishments, regardless of whether or not they put the effort forth to realize it. They are also the FIRST to blame someone else for failures, or stagnation in accomplishing that which they've been tasked to perform by town residents.

Now, I may be the individual who's beating the drum, voicing a frustration at the failure of leadership being shown by our elected officials, but, these are not MY issues. These are the issues being voiced by others who don't want to publicize their frustration. Normally, before I write about these concerns brought to me by residents in Plattekill, I was in the habit of calling Mr. Joseph Croce, the Town Supervisor. However, Mr. Croce doesn't return my calls anymore, but, he's not alone in ignoring my efforts to speak with him before committing my perspective to paper. Ms. Cindy Delgado, the only Democrat on the Plattekill Town Board won't return my calls either.

I've come to the conclusion that they don't call me back because they just don't care. With voter apathy being so significant in Plattekill, coupled with the fact that our elected officials feel secure in knowing they'll be re-elected, these matters don't concern them. At the Hispanic Heritage event at the Thomas Felton Park, I let the audience know that their concerns are irrelevant, if they don't vote. They are unseen and unheard by our elected officials, because they don't pose a threat to their elected position. As long as Plattekill residents fail to vote on Election Day, they will continue to be ignored.

Credit to the Plattekill Republican Committee because they get their members to the polls every November, and they vote for their Republican candidates. They've co-opted the Plattekill Conservative Party, and the Republican candidates occupy the Conservative Party line, because the Conservative Party doesn't run its own candidates, and, at least in Plattekill, the Conservative Party is a rubber stamp for the Republican Party every November.

The Democratic Party in Plattekill is just a mess. When urged to get out and vote, Democratic Party members come up with excuses like, "I can't vote, because I don't have anyone to watch my kids," "I work second shift, so I'm not able to vote," "my car is in the shop," or "I'll be out of town, so I can't get to the polls." This is the response from members of a party which decry it as being "voter suppression" to require a government issued picture identification as a requirement to vote. WAKE UP!!! Apathy is not suppression. If you're failing to vote on Election Day, you get what you deserve!!!

I'm just as frustrated as the next resident in Plattekill. However, together, we can change the direction of our Town. I'm willing to listen, or discuss any matter of public concern with anyone, regardless of which political party one might belong to. I also know a lot of Plattekill residents have given up, concluding that things will never improve. I'm willing to challenge that perception any Plattekill resident might have. If you're content with the improvements in Plattekill, or lack thereof, we've got no issues. However, if you're willing to work to change the direction our town is moving in, contact me, and let's find some common issues we can work on together. It's as easy as e-mailing me at ssgobrien@optonline.net. Don't have a computer? Go to the library; you've paid for those resources.

Don't stop at the holidays -- make a difference this season and all year long and give back to your community. Volunteer to teach someone how to read, adopt a family throughout the year and help them with back to school supplies, Mother's Day or with an unexpected bill. Skoufis secures grant for Catholic Charities to help those in need

Assemblyman James Skoufis (D-Woodbury) announced that he has secured a $25,000 grant for Catholic Charities Community Services of Orange County to help buy beds and other basic household items through the organization's Case Management and Resources Exchange Program; this vital initiative serves over 2,100 local individuals and families every year.

"Having a bed to sleep in at night can be taken for granted, but there are thousands of our Orange County neighbors lacking some of the fundamental household items we depend on every day," Assemblyman Skoufis said. "Catholic Charities has been instrumental in helping our region's most vulnerable access a higher quality of life through its diverse programs and initiatives, and I know this funding will be put to essential use."

The agency will use the grant to purchase many everyday necessities, including mattresses, bedding, pots, pans, dishes, and utensils.

"Assemblyman Skoufis has been a strong supporter of Catholic Charities and a champion for the most vulnerable in our community, said Dr. Dean Scher, Executive Director of Catholic Charities Community Services of Orange County. "We are exceptionally grateful for his assistance in securing this grant; these funds will help us to make a real and positive difference in the lives of those we serve."

Catholic Charities of Orange County – one of the human services agencies of Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York – works to prevent homelessness, hunger as well as alcohol and substance abuse in our communities. The agency collaborates with parishes as well as non-Catholic and Catholic partners to help those in need throughout Orange County, regardless of denomination.

Thunderbirds to headline 2016 Stewart Air Show

The U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds, one of the nation's top military jet teams, will headline the New York Air Show at Stewart International Airport over Labor Day weekend on September 3-4 2016, Air Show officials announced Monday. The show was originally scheduled for the third weekend in August but moved to Labor Day Weekend to accommodate the Thunderbirds schedule.

"In just our second year we are honored to have the Thunderbirds select the New York Air Show as one of only 13 civilian air shows they will fly in 2016" said Bryan Lilley, NYAS Director. "We went from zero to air show in 71 days this summer and now we've gone from zero to jet team in less than 6 months. This is a testament to the incredible support of the Port Authority of NY/NJ, Orange County and the entire community that made the New York Air Show an overnight success."

The Thunderbirds flight demonstration team includes six pilots, flying patriotic red, white and blue F-16s that fly in formation and perform aerial maneuvers sometimes just inches apart. They fly 40 maneuvers during their demonstration which showcase their skill and dedication. The Air Show is scheduled for September 3-4, 2016 at Stewart International Airport.

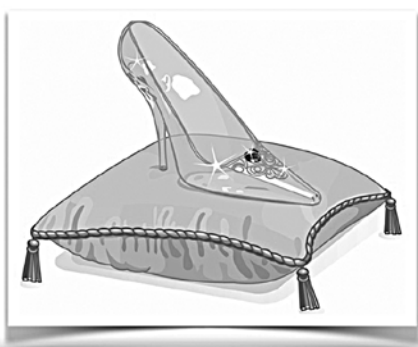

"Orange County and its partners, the Port Authority and B. Lilley Productions, proved that we could put on a successful air show at Stewart International Airport last year with less than three months plan for it", said Orange County Executive Steve Neuhaus. "The event was a huge success and a great showcase of Orange County and the Stewart Airport. The New York Air Show generated millions of dollars for local businesses and will attract even larger crowds over Labor Day weekend with the Thunderbirds coming to Stewart Airport. We are excited to welcome the renowned Air Force demonstration team to Orange County and are looking forward to another great show in 2016."

For more information and to purchase advance tickets visit airshowny.com or call (877) 766-8158.

The U.S Air Force Thunderbirds return to Stewart Airport next Labor Day weekend for the New York Air Show.

Wake up with the Washingtons on December 13

Take a moment away from holiday preparations to "Warm Up at the Washingtons," during the annual holiday Open House, Sunday, December 13, 12 until 4 p.m. at Washington's Headquarters State Historic Site, in Newburgh.

Stroll through the same rooms General and Mrs. Washington did during the winter of 1782, the last winter of the Revolutionary War. Festivities would likely have been minimal, so some small nature-inspired decorations will be placed throughout the house. Take in the ambiance of the season while listening to the Salmagundi Consort perform appropriate tunes of the period. Before you leave, have some cookies and mulled cider served by an outdoor fire. For further details call 562-1195.

Admission to the historic house is free for the afternoon, sponsored by the Friends of the State Historic Sites of the Hudson Highlands.

Queen of the Hudson presents sextet Saturday

By SHANTAL RILEY

Chamber music served with champagne and hors d'oeuvres in an intimate setting.

The Queen of the Hudson music series offers a refined, musical experience inside the Atlas Industries building in the heart of the City of Newburgh. The next performance takes place this Saturday.

"It's an intimate setting that is also sexy," said series founder David Ludwig. "The sound is clear, rich and resonating."

The series presents unique arrangements and ensembles performed by world-class musicians every other month.

This week's show features David Marks and Regi Papa on violin, Andy Lin and Luke Fleming on the viola, and cellists Jing Li and Nan-Cheng Chen, founding cellist of the New Asia Chamber Music Society.

Composer-musician Katya Mihailova, due to perform for the series on Feb. 27, composed the music for the 2015 documentary "The Russian Woodpecker."

The music series focuses on lesser-known works, from early music to modern pieces, some providing scores for modern dance ballets.

The series began six years ago in a loft on Graham Avenue in Brooklyn, Cellist Jing Li is among the performers Saturday in the Queen of the Hudson Music Series at 11 Spring Street.

said Ludwig, and then moved to an art studio on Chambers Street in Newburgh.

A year ago, the series moved into a space Ludwig described as a "beautiful room with great acoustics" in Atlas Industries' 55,000-square-foot building on Spring Street. "They put a hole in the wall to get the piano through," said Ludwig.

He was speaking about the seven-and-a-half-foot-long, 1888 Steinway grand piano, which serves as a focal point for the series. The piano is on permanent loan from Peter Helm, who worked closely with the late Albert Fuller, renowned conductor, harpsichordist, Juilliard School professor and chamber-music devotee who played the piano in his home for many years.

"We do a large repertoire because of the piano," said Ludwig.

Champagne will be provided by Palate Wines and Spirits and light fare by Ms. Fairfax bistro. Craft beers from the Newburgh Brewing Company will also be served.

Queen of the Hudson recently partnered with the arts-service organization Fractured Atlas to accept tax-deductible donations.

To make a donation, or for more information about the music series, visit the Queen of the Hudson website at Queenofthehudson.com. Tickets cost $20 through the website and $25 at the door.

The next Queen of the Hudson music series performance takes place on Saturday, Dec. 12. Doors open at 6:30 p.m. The concert begins at 7 p.m. Atlas Industries is located at 11 Spring St. in the City of Newburgh.

56th Annual Winter Concert celebrates Christmas and Chanukah

"We've had rewarding experiences presenting nearly six decades of holiday concerts," said Walden resident Janiece Kohler, artistic director of Classic Choral Society. "That represents a tremendous volume of repertoire, and it can become challenging for me to keep the programs fresh and exciting for our audiences." To this end, while continuing to program choral literature that honors the old masters, Kohler is noticeably dedicated to seeking out new music and groundbreaking choral composers.

"There are exceptionally talented composers working now that will likely create the holiday classics of tomorrow, and it is my hope our audiences will get to hear many of them first sung by Orange County's Classic Choral Society," she said. This season's program entitled "A Winter Concert" will feature music of Christmas and Hanukkah - some a cappella and some accompanied by brass ensemble or solo piano. Three contemporary works by Elmira (NY) native Dan Forrest are featured. "Forrest is extremely skilled at arranging familiar carols into gleaming and innovative interpretations, and his original composition, The Work of Christmas is strikingly poignant as well."

One of the concert's featured works is an East Coast premiere by Classic Choral Society. UK composer Classic Choral Society will offer a program of seasonal music at King of Kings Lutheran Church on Sunday, Dec. 13 at 4 p.m.

Gordon Thornett's "Gloria in D" is bright and thoroughly engaging, taking advantage of the interplay of chorus and soprano Jody Weatherstone. Brass, percussion, and piano provide the accompaniment. Guest artist Weatherstone returns as soloist in Franz Schubert's stirring Miriam's Song of Triumph "Mirjams Siegesgesang" (Post.Op.136), supported by the Society's brilliant accompanist, Jim Blanton. The same Biblical tale is told in a modern setting: Miriam Dances at the Red Sea (Russell Schulz-Widmar).

"The musicians of Classic Choral Society often enjoy the opportunity to sing in other languages," commented Janiece Kohler, "And this season our audiences will hear music in Hebrew, Latin and German as well as English - sometimes two languages within the same piece." The text alternates between English and Hebrew in Mi Y'maleil - Who Can Retell? - Variations on a Chanukah Song (Richards, arr.), and in Praetorius' In dulci jubilo shifts between Latin and German. Other works, old (by Rheinberger and Philips) and new (by Culloton and Helvey), round out the roster.

"This is a very diverse program of holiday music. It was a joy adding Chanukah to the mix this year," said Kohler, "And we certainly didn't forget the folks who enjoy joining us in the music-making - the closing trio of Christmas carols (Forrest) includes a special audience participation section. Local Choral Society members include: Joseph LoPresti, Linda Smith, Marcia Rant, Mary Lou Baumgartner, Roberta Short, and Steven Hines of New Windsor; Aileen Mahoney, Beverly Persky, and Carolyn Topliff of Newburgh; Judith Staff and Signe Richardson of Pine Bush; Annie Baldwin, David and Gloria Kingstrom of Goshen; Barbara and Steve Andersen, Janet Steeves, Julie Baxter, Kathleen Alevras of Washingtonville; Leslie and Michael Steup of Rock Tavern, James Mahoney and Thomas Liotta of New Hampton; and Kristine MacMillin of Campbell Hall.

The first concert presentation is set for Sunday, Dec. 13 at 4 p.m. at King of Kings Lutheran Church, 543 Union Ave. in New Windsor. An encore performance will be offered on Sunday, Dec. 20 at 4 p.m. at United Church of Christ, 2 Old Dominion Rd. in Blooming Grove. No tickets are required; a free-will donation will be accepted at intermission. More information and directions may be obtained at classicchoralsociety.org or 928-6462, as well as on Facebook and YouTube.

"From its very beginning in 1959, Classic Choral Society was created to give everyone easy access to performing in and attending concerts that highlight great choral music," said Janiece Kohler, "That's why we don't sell tickets or charge admission at the door. We want to fill the seats with our families and with friends - old and new. It is our gift to the community."

One More Thing

The best thing about holiday decorations may be that they never, ever go out of style. True, many of us no longer use aluminum tinsel "icicles", the kind that inexplicably become charged with static electricity and seem to fly off the tree as one walks by, sticking to humans and pets alike. It's also true that tree lights are now mostly smaller and brighter LED versions of the multicolored, big-as-your-thumb-sized ones we used to know. However, think of your favorite ornaments and decorations around your home—perhaps dented, chipped or otherwise maimed but precious and irreplaceable.

They represent holidays past, happy times, departed family members, times gone by. Shiny new baubles can't replace such treasures at holiday times. So enjoy your classic favorites this year, and next year, and the year after that as well. Have a great week!

Plattekill denies consent to Pilgrim Pipeline

resources of state and regional concern, such as the Hudson and Wallkill Rivers and the Rondout, Esopus and Catskill Creeks as well as the Ramapo River watershed. Additionally, the Association pointed out that the pipeline endangers NYS wetlands and the Karst Aquifer in the Kingston-Rosendale area. The Association stated that Pilgrim Pipeline is a "multi-jurisdictional project that has the potential to impact environmental resources in six New York counties and 29 towns" and the DEC has the expertise to handle a project of this complexity and size.

The Association pointed out that the DEC is responsible for ensuring that the state works to mitigate climate change by reducing greenhouse gases. They contend that the DEC has the resources required to conduct a comprehensive evaluation that will meet the goals and objectives of the NYS Energy Plan.

The Association made note that sections of the proposed pipeline project will cross and impact private lands and resources that are outside of the NYS Thruway right-of-way. They believe that an independent agency, such as the DEC, should conduct the review, "particularly given that the Thruway Authority has a potential financial interest in this project, owing to any revenues that could be collected for use of the right-of-way."

Croce pointed out that the Association believes the risks of the project far outweigh the benefits to the public "and that the project is out of alignment with local, regional and state energy goals...Since this project has the potential to result in significant adverse impacts of regional and state-wide significance and has major implications for the state's near and long-term energy and climate goals, we believe it both appropriate and necessary that the department serve as lead agency in the review of the Pilgrim Pipeline project." Croce also sent a similar letter to the Executive Director of the NYS Thruway Authority.

"We are in there fighting," Croce promised.

The Town Board unanimously approved a resolution denying their consent for the Thruway Authority to serve as the lead agency in the SEQRA review for the pipeline project. Copies of the resolution will be forwarded to Chairwoman of the NYS Thruway Authority Joanne Mahoney; Commissioner of the NYS Department of Transportation Matthew Driscoll; U.S. Senators Charles Schumer and Kirsten Gillibrand; Rep. Chris Gibson; NYS Gov. Andrew Cuomo; NYS Public Service Commissioner Audrey Zibelman; NY Assemblyman Kevin Cahill; NYS Sen. John Bonacic; NYS DEC Acting Commissioner Basil Seggos and Executive Deputy Commissioner Marc Gertsmann/

Noise complaint

Tara Fitzpatrick informed the board that she had recently contacted the police to complain about noise from a gas-powered leaf blower that was being operated on a Sunday at 7:40 a.m. by her neighbors. The town's noise ordinance stipulates that nothing above 65 decibels, which is normal talking, is allowed before 8 a.m. She indicated the officer did not have a noise meter in his possession but Supervisor said the town is looking into purchasing a new one.

Sand and abrasive bids awarded

After receiving three bids the board awarded contracts to Ellenville Sand and Gravel for ice control sand at $13.86 per yard delivered and Mehlon Trucking for ice control abrasive material at $13.75 per yard delivered.

LED lights replacement approved

Supervisor Croce said that Central Hudson has recently offered the town the option of leasing high efficiency light emitting diode [LED] street lights. Central Hudson will still own and maintain the lights and will replace the old grade A lights with LED lights during routine maintenance. There will be no upfront or installation charges to the town. The board approved a resolution to allow Central Hudson to begin their replacement program.

S.T.E.A.M. Night at Marlboro Elementary School builds Learners

On Nov. 18, 2015, elementary students were given the opportunity to attend the first Marlboro Central School District's S.T.E.A.M Night. Marlboro School District

Director of Curriculum Robin Hecht, and Carol Rink, Professor of Education at Marist College, worked together to develop this educational night. Marlboro students were invited to investigate, build, and explore with future Marist teachers. Students learned about the current themes in science, technology, math, arts, and engineering education through hands-on interactive activities and experiments. Over ninety students and their parents attended this special night.

Students worked excitedly with the student teachers of Marist College to build, create and experiment. Students were observed taking on the role of architects to assemble structures to test the strength against hurricanes as well as building geometric figures that withstood tornadoes, testing boat and car designs in a wind race for speed and accuracy, constructing beaks that would best feed birds in various habitats, learning about matter through the building and acceleration of cardboard cars, acquiring knowledge of how to keep the earth a cleaner place for animals and humans, experimenting with solar energy and creating an electric car from a toothbrush. All children ended the night receiving left a certificate of participation provided by Marist College.

In attendance for this very special night were Marlboro Central School District's Superintendent of Schools Michael Brooks, Director of Curriculum, Robin Hecht, Marlboro Elementary School Principal Edward Sullivan, Dean of Education at Marist College and Board of Education member Joann Reed. A huge thank you to Carol Rink and her Marist students for all the hard work they did to prepare for the night. A fun and engaging night was had by all. We look forward to a spring S.T.E.A.M. event to be held in the Marlboro Middle School on April 20th, 2016.

Marlboro Youth Football gives a big gift

It's a time for giving, a time for helping others, and a time to be thankful. The Marlboro Youth Football Organization taught their players and cheerleaders that one of the best feelings is giving to others. Every year at their annual football banquet all the players and cheerleaders involved in the organization receive brand new black and orange backpacks with the Marlboro logo on it. This year, the organization purchased more bags in order to give them to students who participate in the Marlboro Central School District Back Pack Program.

Under the direction of Robin Hecht, Director of Curriculum and Instruction, MCSD has implemented a Backpack Program and Committee, to provide support for families in our school community. Students receive a backpack each week stuffed with food so they may have food for the weekend. Students return the backpack to school to be refilled and returned to them on the following Friday. Currently, the backpacks that the students were using were old and worn out. This generous donation allowed students to have new Marlboro Dukes inspired backpacks. The giving didn't stop there: the Marlboro Youth Football Organization, with help from its officers Tommy Corcoran, John and Penny Cashman, also gave donations of food and drinks to the backpack program. Ms. Hecht stated, "Many families' hearts will be warmed with these generous gifts of kindness and as William Shakespeare said, 'I can no other answer make but thanks, and thanks; and ever thanks.'"

Marlboro school finances analyzed

By MARK REYNOLDS
mreynolds@tcnewspapers.com

The Marlboro School District's independent auditor, Ray Preusser, recently reviewed the district's financial records from 2013 to 2015. He submitted a 55-page Financial Statement Analysis that provided a "snapshot" of the monetary health of the district as of June 30 of this year.

Preusser said although there have been setbacks primarily due to the power plant reassessments, he stressed that the overall fiscal health of the district is strong.

Preusser compared the way the school numbers are maintained to the way finances are compiled in the private sector. Because of some differences, he had to make adjustments concerning the impacts of the teacher and employee retirement systems [TRS/ERS] upon the school district.

"Right now the Teacher Retirement System is overfunded and they owe you money back but you'll never get [it]," he said. "The Employee Retirement System is short that you owe money to but you never have to pay...What it amounts to is to how, on a state level, who owes money and who is going to receive it."

Preusser said each year the district funds the TRS out of NYS aid and the ERS on a bill, a process that he said will continue.

Preusser stated that the district's current assets total $19,114,360. Broken down, the district has $10,624,478 in unrestricted cash; $6,838,350 on restricted cash; $706,868 in state and federal aid receivables; $402,942 in accounts receivable, net and $541,722 that is due from other funds. District liabilities presently stand at $7,996,845 and the fund balances total $11,117,515.

Preusser pointed out that the district's strong financial position was achieved by maximizing revenues of $52,988,063 and keeping expenditures at $49,128,836, resulting in a surplus of $3,859,227 by the end of June. He said this surplus was due to additional state aid the district received in June, which was in advance of the current 2015-16 school year. Receiving this money early allowed the state to "lower the amount of money they have on their books; so they give it to school districts if they have it coming."

Preusser paid close attention to the district's expenditures for the 2014-15 school year, pointing out that the district spent 95% of their $51,796,302 budget, which left $2,172,263 remaining.

"To us, as auditors, it means that the budget that was presented to the voters to vote on in May was both fair and reasonable," he said, adding that if the figure was in the 92% range "that means you asked for too much money [and] if it goes higher to 97% that means you're really getting yourself into an area where if you have unexpected expenses, you're not going to be able to cover." He said that once the voters approve a budget "you can't arbitrarily change it as you go." He said the only way the district could add to a budget would be from unplanned additional tuitions, grants or donations.

Preusser explained why he characterized the fund balances of $11,117,515 as "strong." He said there are two sections of the fund balance, one that is called 'Reserve' and the other 'Assigned and Unassigned.' Reserves are needed for the continuation of a school district and in good years money can be set aside, similar to a savings account. He said Marlboro has received their last additional state aid money because of the loss of revenue from the power plant sales, devaluation and lowered reassessments. Moving forward, he said the district can tap their fund balances "to stay stable without peaks and valleys or affecting your educational program before the new state aid."

Preusser said some school districts decide to return surpluses "but you decided as a board to save the money [and] put it in reserves for a rainy day." He said there is also a Workman's Compensation Reserve of $250,000 that can be used in the event of a large claim and a tax certiorari fund of $203,350 that can be tapped if the district loses a court case when a resident brings suit, claiming they have been overtaxed.

Preusser said the district's unemployment insurance fund of $385,000 is "very comfortable" and will help pay salaries should the minimum wage be raised to $15/hr.

Preusser said the Assigned Fund Balance of $1,122,966 is money the district sets aside in June to pay for items that have been ordered but have not yet arrived or been paid for. The board appropriated $1,070,710 from the Unassigned Fund Balance to keep taxes under the cap for the 2015-16 school year.

Preusser said Marlboro has established a "good blend" among the reserves, the assigned and the unassigned accounts and is at the allowable 4% legal limit for the Unassigned, all of which led Preusser to conclude that the overall financial health of the district is "very strong" moving forward.

Patrick Witherow, Director of Business and Finance, said after the transportation contract was awarded to Quality Bus Service, the district realized $6,700 in savings. In addition, the new company brought significant improvements: a much newer fleet of vehicles, cameras on all buses, a part-time Safety Director and a dedicated dispatcher. Witherow is projecting even greater savings and will present detailed busing data to the board in the near future.

Witherow said there is consideration being given to establishing and contributing to a capital reserve account to pay for large ticket items so the district would not have to go out for a bond or increase the district's debt limit. He said the district would let some of the existing debt retire and not take on any new debt to allow time for Marlboro to fall in line with other districts in the area. Presently, the district's debt is at nearly 11% of the overall school budget and pays $5.7 million annually to meet that obligation.

Witherow said the district lost $6 million in tax revenue in 2013-2014 due to the Dynegy bankruptcy and reassessments and may receive an increase in state aid of about $2 million "but as we know in state aid that is not a guarantee."

Board President Bill Bell said spending $2.2 million less than budgeted is due to smart money management on behalf of Central Administration.

"Kudos to you guys for spending the money wisely and finding a way to save money and put it out and ahead for next year and the years we're expecting a bump [tax increase]," he said.

Witherow reminded the board that next year, if revenues and expenditures remain fairly constant, the $2.2 million figure will be less by $1,070,710 because that was used to offset the school tax levy this year.

Witherow said in the 2017-18 school year the district is projecting a 9.5% tax hike but they may be able to mitigate some of that impact if the district receives an expected increase in state aid and spreads it out over a three-year time period.

In related financial news, the board stated that the district would save $1.8 million over the next 12 years after a favorable refinancing of the 2006 elementary school renovation project. Witherow said it was initially estimated the district would save $860,000 over the next 12 years, net of all expenses including carrying extra debt for one year, but due to a two-week delay in finalizing the legal language with Hudson Hills for the Middle Hope lease, market conditions for refinancing turned in favor of the district.

"It is pretty astounding because we're talking about $22 million in debt with a savings of $1.8 million; that's significant," Witherow said, adding that this translates to saving $150,000 each year for the next 12 years. "Even our financial consultant was pretty amazed. He said we usually hit these things pretty darn close to where they're going to be and to pick up an extra million dollars in savings was just fantastic."

Rose Marie Moffa

Rose Marie Moffa, 64, entered into eternal peace on Monday, December 7th, 2015 at home with her family by her side. After her valiant fight with colon cancer in 2007, Rose Marie's battle resumed in November 2013 with a grim prognosis. Her strong will to live, unwavering faith in God, and the love and prayers of family, friends, and many supporters carried her through three years of grueling cancer treatment. Yet throughout her struggle with the insidious disease, she reached out to others with love, gave generously of herself and always remained optimistic, hopeful and happy.

Rose Marie was born on November 9th, 1951 in New York City, the daughter of Mary and the late Anthony Melillo. She dedicated her life to the well-being of senior citizens in the community, with her work at the Town of Newburgh Recreation Department for over 25 years and volunteered with the local ambulance corps for over a decade. An advocate of community improvement, Rose Marie was always involved in local government affairs and was revered by political figures due to her reputation of high integrity and keen sense of how to reach multitudes of hearts and minds alike. Rose Marie was a kind and gentle soul; she had a loving and generous heart, and was always giving to others. Her family and friends were her life (especially her grandsons!) and she had the knack for making everyone who walked through the door of her home feel loved and cared for.

She saw the world, but was happiest around a table full of people she loved. Known for her ease in frequent conversation with even total strangers, award-worthy cooking, and her late blooming artistic talent as a painter, Rose Marie lived the width and breadth of the life she was granted. Her signature gift of positivity, shown through her constant smiling, laughter, and joking around, will never be forgotten.

She leaves her loving memories to be cherished by; her devoted husband of nearly 43 years, Frank, of New Windsor, NY, her loving children, Gina, of Manhattan, Dominic and his wife, Rosaria, two grandchildren, Frank and Giovanni, all of New Windsor, NY. She is also survived by her mother, Mary Melillo, of Dallas Georgia, and many adoring aunts, uncles, cousins, and friends too many to count.

The family is deeply grateful for the outpouring of love, prayers, and support in many heart-felt forms from too many people to name individually.

Visitation will be held from 5-8 p.m. on Friday, December 11 at Brooks Funeral Home, 481 Gidney Ave., Newburgh. A Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 10 a.m. on Saturday, December 12 in Sacred Heart Church, Newburgh, with entombment following in Cedar Hill Mausoleum.

Trees for Troops

As members of The Christmas Tree Farmers Association of NY State, Hurds Family Farm donates trees each year to Trees for Troops. They are collected and delivered to military bases throughout N. Y State to families who have someone deployed serving our country. Pictured is Copeland MacFarlane from MG Hurds & Sons. He is baling and loading the trees onto truck to deliver to military bases.

Holiday Lights in Bloom underway at Arboretum

The seventh annual "Holiday Lights in Bloom" program will kick off on November 27 at the O.C. Arboretum in Thomas Bull Memorial Park.

Despite a chill in the air, the Arboretum will be in "full bloom" with beautiful, garden themed light displays in the forms of flowers, animals and insects. Children, and adults alike, will be charmed as they stroll down paths of lit trees, walk through gardens filled with an assortment of flowers and "critters", visit the 9/11 Memorial Garden decorated patriotically and stop at the water's edge of a pond created in lights. This year, Lights in Bloom will be expanded to include an "Asian Garden" complete with peonies, a cherry blossom tree, a peacock and much more.

The "Holiday Lights in Bloom" program is free and is open to the public from 5 to 8 p.m. on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays through December 20th and then daily from December 21 through December 27 from 5pm to 8 pm (closed 12/25, Christmas Day). Volunteers from The Friends of the OC Arboretum will be on hand in the Ottaway Education center serving free hot cocoa (while supplies last) and selling handmade crafts at their Holiday Boutique. Be sure to make visiting this event part of your family's holiday traditions.

The Arboretum is located within Thomas Bull Memorial Park on State Route 416 in Montgomery (enter Hamptonburg for GPS directions) and is most easily accessed from the Grove St. entrance to the park. For more information, please call Tamara Moson at 845-615-3828 or visit www.orangecountynyparks.com.

Photos chronicle Newburgh's revival

Newburgh's Ann Street Gallery and Safe Harbors of the Hudson present a group exhibition by Photographers for Hope, entitled Newburgh Revival. Opening reception is Saturday, Dec. 12, 6:30 - 8:30 p.m.

Photographers for Hope, an informal collective of professional photographers, channel the common drive of photographers for compelling stories with their mission to use the power of images to support positive social change. The collective has previously worked and found inspiration in the slums of Brazil, the streets of Bangladesh and forest in Indonesia. But for this project, they chose Newburgh because they wanted to turn their lens on a historic city that is rebuilding itself. So, late in September, this team of nine international photographers from seven different countries, as far away as Hong Kong, Geneva, and India, spent a week in the City of Newburgh documenting its people, architecture, and events. This would become a marathon shooting of over 30,000 photos taken in a period of just ten days. The photographers combed the City of Newburgh, capturing images that bring to life stories of entrepreneurship, struggle, and resilience, giving voice to a community that believes they can change the trajectory of its history.

As world-renowned photographer and member of the collective David Burnett explains: "In the four years I have lived in Newburgh, it has always been a nice place to come back to from an out-of-town or out-of-country trip. Often when returning, one of my cousins here would pester me about always going somewhere else to take photographs. Why didn't I do something here?" Finally I approached the group who I have worked with since its inception, and to my surprise, everyone loved the idea."

Ben Moldenhauer_P4H

Cheerleaders, big and small, support their team at a home game.

This collection of photographs chronicled by the Photographers for Hope during the ten-day shoot resulted in the Newburgh Revival exhibit, a story of a community that is struggling but on the mend, and the people who live here that are determined to create a better future for their families.

"This is an important story to tell. Currently, the rhetoric in America seems to be 'American Cities on the Decline.' Positive stories of cities making a comeback are rarely told in the press," said Anna Wang, the founder of Photographers for Hope. "Our project is not about shining a positive light on the city; it's about the real story on the ground. It's about people who want to do right by their children, and not just their kids, all of the kids in a community. Newburgh is a city that has been quietly doing soul searching and building up a groundswell of change. We were really moved by what we saw."

The Newburgh Revival exhibition runs through to Saturday, Jan. 30, 2016. Gallery hours are Wednesday and Thursday 9 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 - 5 p.m., Friday and Saturday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Newburgh Last Saturdays of each month 5 to 8 p.m.

City of Newburgh Christmas Tree lighting set for Wednesday

The City of Newburgh's Christmas tree arrived Monday to its home on lower Broadway. This year's blue spruce was donated by Anita and David Manley of the town of Newburgh.

It will be lit with the help of Santa Claus on Wednesday, Dec. 9 at 6 p.m. The ceremony will include performances from the Footwork's Dance Center and others. Santa will be giving out candy canes and presents.

The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manley, Deborah Faint, made a donation to Arbor Day 30 years ago for which she received a bag of ten small trees. Among them there was one Colorado blue spruce. Seven others still stand at the Manley's property. This perfectly shaped Colorado blue spruce was standing tall at 30 feet. The family saw the article in the newspapers about the City of Newburgh seeking a Christmas tree and they leapt at the opportunity to help: "We are excited to have our tree be the star Christmas Tree for the City of Newburgh," said Mrs. Manley.

Michael Bigg, Jr., Inc. and Quality Autobody, Vails Gate, once again donated their crane to assist the process from takedown to placement in the Broadway median. Crane operator John Ammirati offered his expertise for the 14th year in a row.

DPW Superintendent George Garrison and his expert crew, John Colurciello, Edwin Gotay, Hector Iglesias, Chris McGuiness, Tony Martinez, Ed Mitzner, Billy Morrisohn, Jason Sutton, orchestrated everything from take-down to installation of the tree in the median just down from City Hall. The DPW crew will be decorating the exceptional tree with 20 thousand white lights and over 500 ornaments.

The City of Newburgh is grateful to the eight families that were very helpful this year in offering their tree.

From the search for the perfect tree to the arrival of Santa Claus, Deputy Mayor Regina Angelo has coordinated the City's holiday celebration for more than a quarter century. "I have gone back through all the pictures and each year we have had the most beautiful tree. I am very grateful to the Manley family and to everyone who helped spread the word for us," she said. "I also want to thank Michael Bigg, Jr. Inc., the City DPW, the City of Newburgh Police Department, the performers, DMU music and the Friends of the Library for all they do every year to make the delivery of the tree and the lighting even possible and enjoyable."

A night of dunks and alley oops

By BOND BRUNGARD
sports@tcnewspapers.com

Before all the jump shots, three-pointers and free throws actually count, a team of High Central School district faculty members and the Harlem Wizards showed students how to have too much fun playing basketball Tuesday, Dec. 1.

"It's unbelievable," said John Manganiello, a teacher at Highland High School, who's played against the Wizards many times during district fundraisers. "It's all about the kids having a good time."

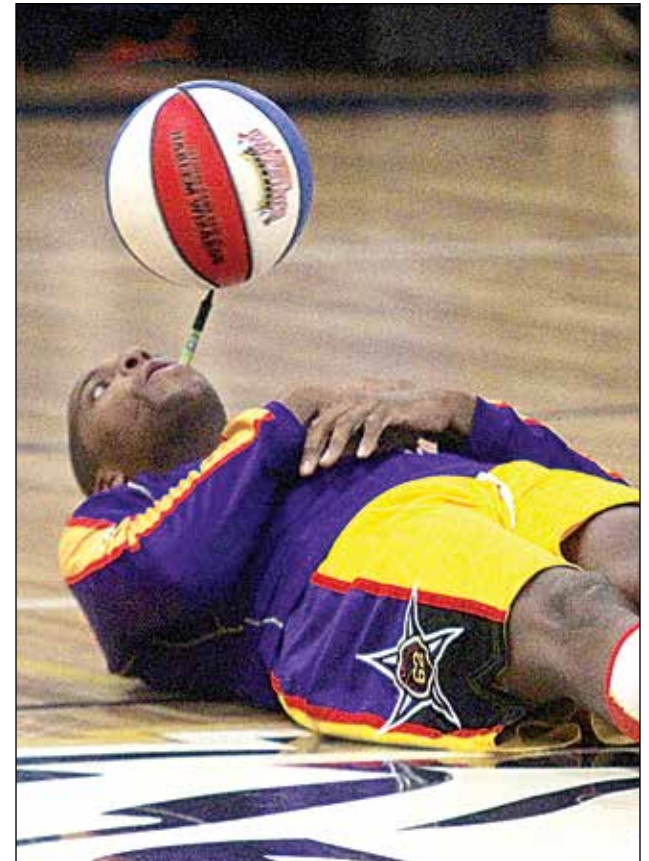

Wizards brought their dunks, ball twirling, alley oops, legendary game delaying and overall clowning skills, to incite laughter from young and old, to Highland to help raise money for the school's National and French Honor societies.

"Our goal is to raise $4,000," said Al Worrada, who's president of the school's French Honor Society.

The money will be used to help French club members pay expenses to see "An America in Paris" on Broadway in New York City. Nevin Nedumathakady, a student and president of the school's National Honor Society, said the game helps raise funds to help the group's community service projects.

A team of Highland faculty members came out to help raise money for the school's National and French National Honor societies.

Marlboro's Garitta displays endurance

By BOND BRUNGARD
sports@tcnewspapers.com

Vincent Garitta is a Marlboro sophomore who swims for a team combined with Highland and FDR, and he swims the 200 and 500 freestyle events.

"Since he has length and speed," said Sean Ryan, the team's coach, "I can put him in any kind of sprint event that I need to."

Garitta started swimming in seventh grade. He also plays football, and swimming helps with the physical endurance needed on the gridiron.

"It keeps me in shape and also has the endurance for other sports like football," said Garitta, following a meet at Washingtonville last week. "I like swimming for the endurance and football for the strength."

Garitta joined the team as a freshman and worked hard in the 500-free-style to cut his time in the event during his first varsity season.

"He did well. He improved his time overall by 20 seconds in the 500 from the beginning to the end of the season," said Ryan. "He's a hard worker. He's a football player, and that doesn't stop during the swim season."

The team, now called Marlboro-Highland-FDR, lost to Washingtonville 116-64. Garitta swam the 200-free-style, his favorite event, and he was fourth with a time of 2:09.48.

"I like it," said Garitta. "It's sprint and distance."

Garitta played on a Marlboro football team that won another Section 9, Class B title before the season ended with a regional semifinal loss. Camaraderie is a big part of football, and Garitta has that same feeling about the boys' swimming team.

"We're very close, it's like a family," he said. "We just like each other."

Garitta likes his team, and he works hard. And if that continued dedication does not falter, Ryan expects Garitta to have a good season.

"I'm looking forward to getting big things from him," said Ryan.

Combined swim squads working out the kinks

Robert Reining, second here in the 200-individual medley, won the 500-freestyle for Marlboro-Highland-FDR.

Pat Izzo took third in the 100-butterfly for the Dukes.

They are now a boys' swimming team known as Marlboro-Highland-FDR, and the squad went to Washingtonville, Thursday, Dec. 3, and were beaten by the Wizards 116-64.

Robert Reining and Rhett Burns went 1-2 in the 500-freestyle as Reining led Burns by almost two seconds to win the race with a time of 5:11.84. Jack Cimorelli took the team's other victory in the 100-breaststroke with a winning time of 1:07.25.

And Cimorelli, Burns, Reining and Mike Neugebauer helped the team to a second-place finish in the 400-freestyle relay. Reining was also second in the 200-individual medley, and Klodian Papuli and Pat Izzo went 2-3 in the 100-butterfly.

"Overall, we were able to drop time individually. Our relays looked pretty good," said Sean Ryan, the team's coach. "They performed well. It's the first meet, and we'll work out all the kinks."

The Dukes' Nathan Snow was sixth in the 200-freestyle.
