Local towns submit proposed budgets for 2017

By MARK REYNOLDS

Lloyd, Marlborough and Plattekill recently unveiled their proposed town budgets for 2017.

Town of Lloyd

Bookkeeper Karen McPeck said that the town's tentative budget reflects the figures that were compiled and submitted by department heads.

"This is our working budget and this is where we will start to make adjustments and analyze the numbers," she said.

McPeck highlighted the trend in the last few years with calculations outside the water and sewer district; in 2015 the initial tentative budget showed a 38 cents per thousand increase that was reduced in the final budget to a .05 cent/thousand increase; the budget for 2016 originally had a $.51 cent /thousand increase that was lowered to .04 cents/thousand and in 2017 "we are showing a .35 cents/thousand increase and we'll work it to keep below the tax cap again."

Councilman Joe Mazzetti commended McPeck and all of the Town Board members "that worked very diligently so far to make sure that we're under the tax cap because that's important to our taxpayers to keep under the cap."

Presently, Appropriations for 2017 stands at $9,164,734, with the top four

In an extraordinary action, the Town of Plattekill retired Badge number 116 that belonged to Police Officer Willard Sutton, who served the town for 32 years. This was the first time that a departmental badge has ever been retired.

Last week the Town Board honored Sutton with a special presentation to acknowledge his long and distinguished career in law enforcement. Supervisor Joe Croce said the Town Board "did not want that to go unnoticed." A shadow box was presented to Sutton containing his Police department patch, an American Flag, the collar TPP button [Town of Plattekill Police] and his Police Badge, which will not be worn again by a Plattekill Police Officer, and a small plaque acknowledging Sutton's 32 years of dedicated service.

Croce presented the shadow box to Sutton, saying "Thank you so very much."

Historically, military sailors, who were retiring from shipboard service considered it bad luck if their shadows touched shore before they did but having a small shadow box containing their belongings allowed them to ensure that they would touch shore before their 'shadow' did.

Lt. William Smith congratulated Sutton on his retirement, saying Sutton has always supported him "and I feel it

Hudson Fest marches

A variety of vendors lined the Hudson Valley Rail Trail near the western entrance to the Walkway Over the Hudson State Park in Highland for the 6th annual Hudson Fest.

By MARK REYNOLDS
mreynolds@tcnewspapers.com

Although the weather for this past weekend's 6th annual Hudson Fest was far from ideal, people still turned out for what is becoming a Highland fall season tradition.

Eric Norberg and Scott Sasso were once again the co-chairs of the event.

"I think just like anything else with these festivals, it's getting settled on who your vendors are and on who is your following and on Columbus Day weekend. Once that settles in the rest is easy," Norberg said.

The initial Hudson Fest was held in the hamlet of Highland, which Norberg and Sasso found a bit restrictive in size and space and lacked easy access. Norberg said once the event was moved up to the Hudson Valley Rail Trail, near the western entrance to the Walkway Over the Hudson State Park, the attendance "I'm guessing went from 1,000 to 7,000 when the weather was great. It was a dramatic difference."

Sasso said although the set up on the morning of the event has gotten "smoother," he still likens the arrival of the vendors to "two hours of controlled chaos – cars in, cars out and they come." He thanked his wife Geraldine and sister

Lauren for assisting in signing in the vendors.

Norberg made a point to thank the festival's "core" sponsors that support the festival every year – the Hudson Valley Credit Union ("our main and largest sponsor”), Waste Management, The Inn at Twaalfskill, Pavero Cold Storage and radio stations WRWD and Q92.

Sasso said the vendors come from all across the Hudson Valley, but added, “We would love all of our town businesses come up here for a day. It would be great.”

Mary Beth Dias and Corrinne Pahlick, of Re*Chic Boutique, brought their upscale and new fashions, accessories and furniture to the festival. She said her clothing is not vintage but is “repurposed,” using older clothing in a new way.

“We’ve been around two years and do weekend events,” she said. “We work full time so this is like extra and fun and creative- and we’re very crafty.”

Jessica McClung, of Lucky Clover Creations, had a wide variety of her cupcakes for sale. She uses organic flour and sugar “and as many New York State ingredients as I can.” She also bakes tortillas, breads and muffins, to name a few additional items.

McClung travelled 90 minutes to the festival from Cobleskill in Schoharie

The Would restaurant was represented by [L-R] Janine Winslow, Sophia Torrisi, Natalie Pritchard and Claire Winslow.

County, having initially heard about the festival when she worked nearby in Hopewell Junction.

“I pay attention to things going on around here. I heard about it and said I would give it a shot,” she recalled.

McClung said this was her first time at Hudson Fest and had been hoping for larger crowds.

“I think the day is a little cold and windy and I heard it was a lot more busy last year,” she said, but promised to return next year because “I don’t give up easily.”

Jim Kent, of Locust Grove Fruit Farm, said the primary reason he came to the festival was to promote the U-Pick at his family farm on North Road in Milton and to make people aware of their new farm stand that is open from Friday through Sunday.

“A lot of people are from the area and

I figured I’d come here and hand out some pamphlets,” he said. “The hot cider was a hit today; thank God for that otherwise I wouldn’t have made any money today.”

Kent said Locust Grove offers about 80 varieties of apples but when asked how many bushels of apples per acre the farm produces, he joked, saying, “If I ever get that bored I think I’ll take up a hobby...I never sat down to think about that; I never got that question [but] a lot of people ask me how many trees are in an acre.” He said the number of trees fluctuates because lately he is planting smaller trees, “which makes it easier for people in the u-pick.” He said some of the smaller trees are fast growing and are able to produce a substantial number of apples just a year after they have been planted.

“The density is crazy, you have a lot of apples on smaller acreage,” he said.

Claire Winslow, of the Would Restaurant in Highland, said she has been a vendor at Hudson Fest “since its inception” six years ago. I do this for the town because I feel like this is such a great event for the rail trail; it’s really is a great draw for people.”

Winslow provided her classic mac and cheese dish, pulled pork sandwiches with chipotle mayonnaise “and the best thing

Hudson Fest’s two co-chairs, Eric Norberg (L) and Scott Sass, appropriately seated in a pair of Adirondack chairs, took a moment to relax and take it all in, satisfied that the event was running smoothly.

Pet adoption program gets supernatural support

Moose, the dog on the right, with owners Leah and Anthony and Gunter.

By GARY M. AYD

As if an intervention by some of the supernatural beings that were the topic of much of the day's conversation, the weather held back while Take Me Home Pet Rescue Lunged forward with a successful debut event Saturday.

The "Take Me Home" Van.

The inaugural gathering was an all-day affair at Cluett Schantz Park in Milton. Take Me Home Pet Rescue (THPR) is a registered charity organization run by Lucia Denatale. Over the last two years THPR has saved and found homes for over 1,000 dogs. In the 5-hour event Saturday, the organization adopted out four lucky K9s.

Sherry Casey has been involved with THPR since March and was thrilled with the turnout.

"We have about a dozen vendors show up and we raised over $1100," Casey Said. "The weather was supposed to be bad but it really held up nicely.

Many of those who paid the $5 to be in attendance had been part of THPR's network of foster parents for the dogs they rescue. "These people are like family to us, Casey said." "They continue to donate their time and we couldn't do this without them."

While THPR saves dogs from all over, they get many of their rescues from North Carolina. The Tar Heel state has an unusually high level of high-kill shelters and thus is of particular focus for THPR's efforts.

In addition to the wonderful crowd of dog-lovers, many paranormal experts including Casey's husband were in attendance and gave speeches throughout the day. Among the speakers were Chris Di Cesare from SYFY's "School Spirits", Rosalyn Brown from SYFY's "Ghost Hunters Academy", Jack Kenna of Destination America's "Haunted Case Files", and Ghostorian John Tobin. There were even tarot card readers whose tents remained particularly popular even late into the event.

"My husband is really into paranormal and obviously I'm really into THPR so we figured why not mix the two when putting together this event?"

Perhaps the lasting image of the night was of THPR alumni 'Moose' with his new family Leah and Anthony.

After leaving the party Moose took a dive in a nearby pond and chased down an escaped tennis ball. To everyone's immense relief Moose was able to corral the escapee and bring it back to justice on land.

Pink is the new color of autumn

On Sunday Oct. 16, the Woodbury Common outlet mall in Central Valley will be awash in pink.

Not normally associated with the brilliant hues of October, pink will be worn by many of the thousands who have helped make the annual "Making Strides Against Cancer" Walk an annual event. Pink symbolizes breast cancer awareness and is worn throughout the month of October, which is Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

Last year, nearly 10,000 Making Strides Against Breast Cancer participants raised more than a half million dollars in the Hudson Valley for the American Cancer Society to invest in groundbreaking research; provide free, comprehensive information and support to those touched by breast cancer; and help people take steps to reduce their breast cancer risk or find it early when it's most treatable.

Breast cancer is the most common cancer diagnosed in women, other than skin cancer. According to the American Cancer Society Cancer Facts & Figures 2016, an estimated 246,660 women in the United States will be diagnosed with breast cancer (including 16,360 in New York State) and 40,450 will die from the disease this year (2,410 in New York State).

Since 1993, more than 12 million supporters have raised more than $750 million to help create a world free from the pain and suffering caused by breast cancer. Today, walks are held in nearly 300 communities nationwide, including the massive Hudson Valley walk in Central Valley. Funds raised through Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walks enable the American Cancer Society to invest in groundbreaking research; provide free, comprehensive information and support to those touched by breast cancer; and help people take steps to reduce their breast cancer risk or find it early when it's most treatable.

You can help, by forming a team, joining the walk, or by making a contribution. Please visit makingstrideswalk.org/hudsonvalley, email hudsonvalleynystrides@cancer.org or call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-227-2345.

Jack Hayes

In November, we will have the opportunity to elect our local New York State Assemblyman. Do you know who our local State Assemblyman is? Have you ever seen our Assemblyman in Gardiner? Modena? Plattekill? Clintondale? Or New Paltz? I know who he is and I haven't seen him. Our assemblyman was a close ally of Sheldon Silver, the Speaker of the New York State Assembly. Mr. Silver was convicted of abusing his elected office and he was sentenced to prison. Our Assemblyman has been talking about Ethics Reform for eighteen years. He wants to be re-elected to talk for two more years. Isn't it time to stop talking and start acting? Isn't it time to send an honest, ethical representative of the people to Albany? We have a candidate with a proven track record of integrity and accomplishment; Jack Hayes of Gardiner NY. Jack is a man of action. He instituted the rebuilding of our historical Town Hall. He began the updating and modernization of codes and information technology. He introduced the concept of Constructed Wetlands, modernization of the transfer station and sewer district. Jack Hayes get things done for the people.

Jack Hayes is in our community, at meetings, at church, at town events. Jack supports term limits and the revocation of benefits and pensions of any official found guilty of abusing public office. As a former NY State Trooper, he has worked to make our schools and communities a safe place to live. As Chairman of the

Highland has a heroin problem

In the last month, Highland has lost three young men, who died from a drug overdose, probably heroin and Fentanyl. The biggest new source of organs for organ transplants is coming from dead drug users. An effort is being made to get drug users with a limited future to agree to give their organs for transplant in case they die. This is crazy, but I believe it is important to share this information.

In the last three years Highland has lost close to 10 young people to drug overdoses. Compare this to the 16 the community lost in World War II, none during the Korean War, three in Vietnam and three in Iraq.

There are memorials to these people, who gave their lives and there are none to those, who lost their lives in the War on Drugs. New Paltz has lost a lot young people in recent years in the War on Drugs. In 100 years no one may know that these drug users ever lived.

As I See It

New York State has a bad report card

New York State, for the year 2015 year had good news and some very bad news in how it compares to other states.

New York ranks fifth in household income with an average of $60,850, but "has the worst income inequality in the country." Manhattan, a/k/a New York County ranks second in the nation in per capita income. As the financial capital of the world money and people with money stream into it. Westchester County ranks sixth in the nation out of 3,140 counties. Nassau County is among the top 20 counties in the United States in per capita income, but a lot of the other residents of the state live at below the average income of the nation.

New York State is a leader or among the leaders in a very bad category as it has a high cost of living goods and services, which are "15.7% more expensive in New York" than on average in the rest of the country.

In Ulster County, its per student school cost is among the top 15 counties in the United States, when its per capita income is well below the national average. New York State's per pupil cost puts it near the top in the nation, as its health insurance cost, which is driven to the top by Democrats in the state legislature gift to the legal profession by not putting a cap on malpractice awards.

A different politics hurts the people of the five boroughs of New York City, where the discount store Wal-Mart is banned, forcing the city's residents to pay more standard goods and food items than residents in the rest of the country.

New York State's electrical costs are higher because hidden in the bill are extra state taxes.

People are leaving the state because they cannot afford their property taxes. My brother has a home, a very large home, in San Francisco, which is worth about 40 times more than my home, and his school taxes are about double mine. Most of my readers know this story because they have made comparisons and then have questioned why their school district is spending so much, and why do they need to pay so much in school taxes. And once they begin to question, the next thing they do is look for another state in which to retire.

Is Highland High School preparing students for jobs that are available?

A few years ago, Kyle Bragg, then a senior at Highland High School, chose to go to RPI. After he graduated, he got a job with Highland's biggest private business company, Central Hudson. Among Highland's other major employers are companies in the well care field including Continental Wingate, Hudson Valley Rehab and Extended Care, New York Senior Care, and Highland Assisted Living.

Does Highland High School alert its students about these employers and whether any students would like to go into nursing, or become a certified nurses' assistant, or in other health care professions that these firms are seeking?

Highland does produce a lot of medical doctors, two of whom work at Vassar Hospital.

At one time a local doctor worked at New York Senior Care when it was owned by the Liu family.

There may be a time when Highland gets another nursing home because it is a growing local business as more and more baby boomers retire.

Woodland Ponds in New Paltz and Vineyard Commons in Highland are serving the needs of seniors and maybe always are on the lookout for more health care workers.

If the students at Highland are informed of the jobs in the local health care field, they can start to prepare for them while they are in high school. This will allow them to get a step up on a job in the health care profession.

Solar Farms in Ulster County

The towns of Gardiner and Rochester have solar farms on their plate. They may eventually each get one. It may be feasible for our towns of Marlborough, Lloyd and Plattekill to study how the application is proceeding in Gardiner, for instance, and if it gets a solar farm, go to school on their experience.

The best places in these towns may also be the best location for an apple farm.

There may be questions about whether the solar farms will be assessed like other businesses or get a special assessment reduction.

These farms will not produce a lot of jobs, but make our area a little more energy self-sufficient, which is part of the state plan.

Peter Matera

Having known Peter Matera for many years as my own attorney, I urge you to endorse and vote for him in the upcoming election for Ulster County Surrogate Court Judge. Peter is honest, straightforward, prudent, knowledgeable, diligent. That is what I expect from someone working in the field of law, and what we need in our judges. So, this year more than any other, put your party affiliations or preferences aside and ask yourself the question: If a good man is a good man, then why shouldn't he be the one I want to fill such an important judgeship for families and other Ulster County citizens? Don't have second thoughts; I didn't.

Trump has my vote

Lets see. Donald Trump beat out about fifteen opponents in Republican primaries. Many of them would have been excellent presidents. The Democratic establishment, meanwhile, crowned Hillary Clinton as their choice for president. Oh wait, Bernie Sanders, a self described socialist attempted to stop her. I wrote him off after he took her e-mail scandal off the table during their first debate.

It's pretty much known now that she lied about her private e-mail server. The Russians, Chinese, Iranians and others read her e-mails and have information to hold over her head. The FBI director, the Justice Department and the media have shown the world that our justice system is for everyone except the Clintons. How can any lawyer, policeman or anyone who respects the law want Hillary Clinton to be president? Donald Trump was not my first choice but he is far better than her to lead this country during these troubling times. I love this country so Donald Trump has my vote.

Thank you Town of Plattekill residents

I just wanted to take a moment and thank all the town of Plattekill residents who came out to vote and show support for your library. The budget passed by an almost two to one margin. I would also like to thank those of you who came out and voted for me to remain on the Board of Trustees of the Plattekill Library. I will continue to push for responsible spending of taxpayer money and way more transparency of any transactions by the Trustees involving taxpayer money. In the coming months the Board will now be looking at the feasibility of acquiring the current Library site from the Town of Plattekill. I believe this could be our best option with the idea of someday expanding the Library's operating space. I urge all Plattekill residents to get involved, ask questions and bring your ideas to the Boards attention. This is your Library and its future will be determined by you, the Public.

Perjury

A recent Associated Press article on Mr. Comey's appearance before Congress states, "Under oath Clinton testified last October that she never sent or received emails marked as classified when she served as secretary of state. She also said she only used one mobile device for emails and turned over all of her work - related emails to the State Department. Comey said she had multiple devices and that investigators found thousands of work - related emails that had not been turned over."

Is this not obviously an admission by the FBI Director that Hillary Clinton lied under oath before Congress?

Committing perjury would put the offender in jail - unless it's the Clintons! Why is there one law for the Clintons and another for the rest of us? It is apparent that Hillary belongs in the Big House, not in the White House.

Please join me in support of Peter Matera

I would like to ask my fellow Ulster County residents to support Peter Matera for Ulster County Surrogate Court Judge in the upcoming election. I have known Peter Matera for over fifteen years, and have had many dealings with him. Peter Matera is level headed, knowledgeable and fair. I have found him to be a compassionate man, with integrity and a passion for doing the right thing.

I believe Peter Matera is the right person for this position, and he will serve our county with integrity and fairness. Please join me in my support.

Teachout has only contempt for residents of New York's 19th Congressional District

Zephyr Teachout is currently running a television commercial stating that she'll "never take you for granted," when speaking to constituents of the 19th House Congressional District of New York State. In that commercial, there is a timer arrogantly showing the time elapsed for the commercial. What that ad conveys is, "I think you people are ignorant and simple minded. I'm here to mislead the sheeple in New York State's 19th Congressional District. I'm obviously smarter than you and I will represent the Special Interests and Progressive agenda that's destroying this nation."

Zephyr Teachout was born in Vermont, and graduated from Yale Law School. She moved to Brooklyn and was hired as an Associate Law Professor at Fordham Law School. Her ambition has been to get into a position of power and authority to help destroy the ethics and values this nation was founded on. Zephyr Teachout lost to Governor Cuomo for the Democratic nomination in the state's last Governor's election. But, her success in the upstate region in that primary loss gave Zephyr Teachout the ambition to "find" a Congressional District filled with ignorant morons. She decided her best chance was to run for the open seat being vacated by Colonel Chris Gibson.

So Teachout purchased a home here only a few months ago and never registered to vote in the 19th District before this year.

The unsanitary, crime-ridden farce known as "Occupy Wall Street" is another feather in the cap of Zephyr Teachout. She was also a major player in the Howard Dean Presidential quest in 2004. Zephyr Teachout believes that convicted child molesters, rapists, and people convicted of murder should be given the right to vote. Zephyr Teachout also supports the increase in potential terrorists pretending to be refugees into the United States, and into the Hudson Valley.

Zephyr Teachout is the ignorant one. Zephyr Teachout hasn't a clue as to the morals and ethics of the residents in the 19th New York Congressional District. Chris Gibson has been a fine example of a native of the District representing our communities. John Faso is another native New York resident, a neighbor of Chris Gibson, and the candidate endorsed by Chris Gibson. John Faso understand and will work for the district. Zephyr Teachout will always remain clueless.

Lloyd intersection project inches forward
By MARK REYNOLDS
markr@tcnewspapers.com

After eight long years in the planning stage, the Tilson Avenue, The Drive and Vineyard Avenue intersection project in the Town of Lloyd has recently taken a small, but significant step forward.

The project started out as a controversial intersection with the realignment of Tilson Ave. and The Drive as they meet at right angles with Vineyard Ave. and directly across from each other. At some point a roundabout was considered and dropped, as per a state requirement, to ascertain if it would be a viable option. The NYS Department of Transportation, however, rejected the idea, commenting that they did not want a roundabout on Vineyard Ave., which is a state road, after the project has moved back to the typical intersection design.

The construction of the intersection will cost $1.2 million, covering and inspection charges of $400,000 and right-of-way acquisition, survey and design work estimated at $700,000 for a total project cost of $1.9 million. The Town of Lloyd's contribution to this project is

Gardiner sets meetings to discuss solar law

The Town of Gardiner's 9-month moratorium on most solar installations is enacted and the Town Board has acted on its commitment to streamline the process to enact a solar law. The Town Board is joined by two members of the Gardiner Planning Board: Carol Richman and Keith Libolt, and one member of the Gardiner Environmental Conservation Commission, Roberta Clemens in this process.

At its first meeting on Thursday, Sept 29, the group reviewed a draft proposal for process which outlines an initial list of documents the members will become familiar with, including the town's comprehensive plan. The group will use the NYS Model Solar Law as a guide and agree upon and/or change content section by section. The first review will identify within the model law areas of agreement whether accepting the content as written or agree to changes. Following reviews will return to the content that remains in question or discussion and resolution.

The public is invited to participate in this process. The NYS Model Solar Law is posted on the Town of Gardiner website and comments are sought in that context to facilitate the review. Commentators are asked to identify specific components of the Model Law and offer suggestions for consideration. In addition, when a proposed law is drafted there will be a public hearing for community input.

Town Supervisor Marybeth Majestic said, "There are several individuals who have offered expertise or who have shared concerns about value and challenges of some solar installations and we welcome that input." Comments should be sent to supervisor.tog@gmail.com. Meetings to work on the Solar Law have been scheduled for October 13 and October 27 at Town Hall 7 pm.

Professional storyteller to perform at Mount

Professional storyteller Laconia Therrio will present "The Storyteller in You" on Thursday, October 13 at 5:45 p.m. at Mount Saint Mary College.

The free performance and workshop, open to the public, will take place in the James Finn Cotter Villa Library on campus, 330 Powell Ave., Newburgh.

Therrio recounts tales from across the globe in schools, libraries, and through other organizations. He believes that stories remind listeners of their commonalities more than their differences. His repertoire includes material from the Americas, the African continent, Europe, and Asia. Therrio invites listeners to discover the wonders of each tale regardless of the genre.

He has previously shared his work with the Mount community at events such as Family Literacy Night at the Newburgh Armory Unity Center and the 22nd Annual Conference on Literacy titled "Engaging All Readers" in 2015.

He is a therapist, a chaplain, and the Director of Behavioral Science at Stamford Hospital's Family Medicine Residence Program.

'Seven Dimensions of the Unseen' in New Paltz

Eccentric, unique art will be on display for the Roost Gallery's latest show. Contemporary abstract photographer and artist Jonathan Pazer's newest exhibit "Seven Dimensions of the Unseen" will come to life at the gallery in New Paltz starting Thursday, Oct. 13 and will last through Nov. 13.

Pazer's takes inspiration "from modern physics and String Theory where invisible dimensions give the uniform and properties." The String Theory consists of 11 dimensions, but we can only perceive three of them, plus time. This is why the viewers of the exhibition can only view the projections created by the constructions used to create them. The exhibit features an array of images that are created by light projecting and reflecting sculptures. Pazer harnessed their light to paint on paper, canvas, glass and metal by photographing these projections.

Pazer is a native to the Hudson Valley, seeing as his work as been shown throughout it over the past five years. He's been a full-time resident of Gardiner since 2011 and is the founder and former Chairman of the Gardiner Open Studio Tour (GOST). According to Pazer, the most important part of the creative act for him is "the mysterious journey of discovery as I explore the consequences of

There will be an opening reception for "Seven Dimensions of the Unseen" from 6 to 8 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 15. There will also be a gallery talk taking place from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 20. The Roost Gallery is located at 69 Main Street in New Paltz. For more information call 255-5532 or roostcoop.org. For more information on Jonathan Pazer, visit pazer.com.

Harp & jazz is like bread & butter

Harp and jazz? That seems incongruous until you hear the gorgeous sounds that come from Edmar Castaneda's Blue Harp. It is, indeed, a Columbian harp which is based on the diatonic scale of seven rather than the chromatic twelve notes.

Come to Orange Hall Theatre on Friday, October 14, for the 8 p.m. performance of the Edmar Castaneda Quartet.

Castaneda draws out lush colors and dynamic spirit, stretching his imagination to find other tones within the whole and half steps while cross-pollinating South American traditional music and its various Latin rhythms with jazz to produce an enchanting, captivating sound. The New York Times describes him as "almost a world unto himself."

Born in the city of Bogotá, Colombia, Castaneda possesses charisma that adds to his virtuosic playing. He crafts feats of cross-rhythms, layered with chordal nuances. In addition, his quartet is filled out with wonderful musicians, Henry Cole on drums, Andrea Tierra and her contralto voice and the fabulous trombonist Marshall Gilkes. A graduate of The Juilliard School and Interlochen Arts Academy, Gilkes instrument adds a enrapturing dimension to the quartet.

Edmar Castaneda bring his blue harp to Middletown to produce some lush and vibrant jazz colors.

Tickets are reasonably priced at $15 adults; $10 senior citizens, faculty, staff, and alumni; and free for all students. All tickets except student admission are available online at: sunyorange.edu/arts_comm/ticketing.shtml

The box office opens at 7pm before the performance.

Orange Hall is located at the corner of Wawayanda & Grandview Avenue, Middletown.

In addition, Castaneda is offering a master class at 11am on Friday, October 14 in Orange Hall Room 23 entitled Edmar Castaneda: virtuoso harpist. The class is free and open to the public.

Yankees legend to speak at Pattern for Progress reception

Bernie Williams, the New York Yankees All Star center fielder who helped lead the team to four World Series titles, will be the featured guest at Pattern for Progress' Annual Fall Reception, to be held on Wednesday, November 9 at Anthony's Pier 9 in New Windsor. Williams, who wore number 51 during his 16 seasons with the Yankees, will be on hand to celebrate Pattern's 51st Anniversary as the Hudson Valley's leading regional policy and planning organization.

Williams' skills on the baseball diamond are matched by his musical talent. An accomplished guitarist in genres ranging from rock, to Latin, to jazz, Williams has released two highly praised, award-winning albums. At the reception, he will share his music with guests and answer questions about his career.

Middletown Mayor Joe DeStefano and Sheila Appel, US Regional Director of Corporate Citizenship & Corporate Affairs at IBM will receive awards. DeStefano is being honored for his role in spearheading Middletown's downtown revival; the city was recently awarded the $10 million prize in NY State's Downtown Revitalization Initiative. Appel is being honored for a career supporting innovative education programs, highlighted by her work in the creation of P-TECHs to give high school students access to technical skills training.

Individual tickets to the reception are available for $165 for Pattern Members and $190 for non-Members. Table discounts and sponsorships are also available for this memorable event.

To buy tickets or to sponsor the event, visit pattern-for-progress.org/events/annual-event or contact Robin DeGroat at rdegroat@pfprogress.org, or call 565-4900.

Jewish Federation to host Veteran's luncheon

The Jewish Federation of Greater Orange County will be honoring many distinguished veterans of the armed forces, of the United States and Israel, at a special luncheon on Sunday, November 13th at 12:00 pm at Kol Yisrael (290 North Street, Newburgh)

Among the special guest speakers will be Paul Kaye. In 1947, after completing his World War II service in the United States Navy, he was clandestinely recruited by the Masad Haganah and sailed as an officer on the Exodus-type ship "Hatikvah." He was captured along with fifteen hundred displaced persons and detained in a British prison camp in Cyprus. His story is one of courage and determination.

The attendees will also enjoy an inspiring performance of patriotic music, sung by members of the Sugar Loaf Performing Arts Academy. The proud color guard will be from Boy Scout Troop 327 of Newburgh.

Proceeds of the luncheon will support social service programs which help veterans. The event is being chaired by Gail Oliver. The cost of the luncheon is $18.00 per person. To RSVP call the Federation Office at (845)562-7860 or go to jewishorangenj.org.

Walk a mile in her shoes to raise awareness of gender violence

On Saturday, October 15, the Family Services 6th Walk a Mile in Her Shoes® will take place, rain or shine, in All Sport Health & Fitness Outdoor Club, 17 Old Main Street, Fishkill.

All Sport Health & Fitness and Family Services have partnered to promote awareness around rape, sexual assault, gender violence and domestic violence through Walk A Mile in Her Shoes, The International Men's March to Stop Rape, Sexual Assault & Gender Violence.

The statistics are daunting – 1 in 5 American women will be sexually abused during their lifetime, 1 in 4 girls and 1 in 6 boys will be sexually abused before they turn 18 and every 9 seconds in the US, a woman is beaten or assaulted. (Statistics courtesy of Rape, Abuse Incest & Abuse Network, rainn.org and National Coalition Against Domestic Violence, ncadv.org). Brian Doyle, Family Services Chief Executive Officer, explained, "We are looking to the community to join us in our struggle to eliminate domestic and sexual violence, an epidemic that overwhelmingly victimizes women. We are looking for allies, especially men, in this important endeavor."

Event organizers, led by 2016 Co-Chairpersons Michelle Barone-Lepore and Mike Davis, are seeking individuals, organizations and businesses to walk at this family friendly event. Walkers are encouraged to wear flashy shoes to show their commitment to stop sexual assault and domestic violence in our community. Men are encouraged (but not required) to walk in women's shoes. Bring your own or choose from a limited number of flip flops. Registration is free, walkers are encouraged to raise money through pledges and sponsorships. Registration on the day of the event begins at 9 a.m. To register in advance, go to familyservicesny.org and click on the "red shoe." Sign-up and additional information is available by clicking the "Red Shoe" at familyservicesny.org or by contacting Pam Tarquinio at ptarquinio@familyservicesny.org or 452-1110 ext3116.

Ulster BOCES aviation students get ready to take to the skies

Prior to take-off, performing a pre-flight inspection is a critical safety practice for all pilots. Ulster BOCES Aviation students from across Ulster County recently visited Richmor Aviation in Kingston to take part in their first pre-flight check of the year.

The juniors were led through the visual and tactical process by their senior classmates to learn about safety procedures, including examining the cockpit, exterior, and fuel tank.

The Ulster BOCES Aviation program provides students with basic knowledge of the equipment used in aviation. Successful completion of this two-year program allows students to be eligible for their FAA-approved private pilot's license. Emphasizing the operation of single engine airplanes, students learn meteorology, instrumentation, airplane systems, flight environment, communications, aircraft performance, human factors, and the principles of flight. Other activities include cross-country flying, flight planning, and actual flight time in a single-engine airplane at local airports.

To learn more about the Ulster BOCES Aviation program, call 845-331-6680, or go to ulsterboces.org.

Learn about college financial aid

The Gardiner Library will host "College Financial Aid" with Elizabeth Levine on Monday October 24 from 7 to 8 p.m. Pre-registration for this free presentation is required by Friday October 21.

This presentation is geared toward anyone who anticipates sending a child to college and wonders how they will be able to afford it. It is never too early to understand college financial aid.

The following topics will be covered to help participants avoid grave mistakes with financial aid: how college choice will affect your bottom line, what matters and what doesn't when understanding your financial aid outlook, college sticker prices and what they really mean, what is Expected Family Contribution and how it will impact your bank account, where most of the money comes from, financial aid basics, and real life example of a family's financial aid picture and how this affects the decision they make

Elizabeth Levine worked for over 25 years in corporate management and director positions. After guiding her own three children through the college search process, as well as helping others, she decided to make a career of it. She received her certification in College Admissions Counseling through UCLA, and began her practice, Signature College Counseling, over three years ago. She is a Professional Member of the Independent Educational Consultants Association (IECA) and fully enveloped in admissions counseling, bringing students and colleges together. Elizabeth's recent talk at the library about college admissions received rave reviews.

To pre-register, stop by the library at 133 Farmer's Turnpike in Gardiner, NY or call 255-1255. For directions or further information call the above number, or visit gardinerlibrary.org or the library's facebook page.

New Marlboro student representative

By MARK REYNOLDS
mreynolds@tcnewspapers.com

This year Marlboro High School senior Michaela Kulpinski was chosen to be the student representative to the Board of Education for the 2016-17 school year. She attends the second school board meeting that is held on the third Thursday of each month.

Kulpinski said she heard about the position when she helped out in the main office.

"They thought I would be a good asset to this. I enjoy politics [and] its something that I will do when I'm older and they thought it would be helpful if I did this now," she said.

Kulpinski wants to become a lawyer and later a Judge. Her choice of a college is "somewhere down South [but] Duke is my dream school, but it is like high up there."

Students are able to bring their concerns to Kulpinski, who in turn brings them to the attention of the school board. However, being so early in the school year "as of now there isn't anything that drastic to bring up but if there ever is anything they [students] know to come to me and discuss it."

Kulpinski expects to enjoy the position.

"I really think it's going to be a good experience for me and what's to become of my future," she said, adding that being the student representative looks good on her resume.

Marlboro students are inspired by Dr. Michael Fowlin

On Thursday, September 29, students at Marlboro Middle School and Marlboro High School had the pleasure of learning from Dr. Michael Fowlin, better known as Mykee. The title of Dr. Fowlin's presentation was "You Don't Know Me Until You Know Me."

He is no stranger to the stage. He has been formally acting since age 11, but started creating voices (via prank calling) at age 9. In addition to his talents on stage, he has an undergraduate degree in psychology from Evangel University, in Springfield, Missouri, and in the fall of 2001, he obtained a doctorate degree in clinical psychology from Rutgers University.

His programs combine both his professional acting talents and his psychological training. His mission is to create an atmosphere of worldwide inclusion, not just tolerance, towards all people. He has worked extensively with all age groups in the United States and in other countries. His work has included peer mediation, diversity trainings, gender equity workshops, and violence prevention seminars.

With his program he hopes that students will leave his performance with a wonderful, awakening feeling of beauty: the beauty within one's self and the beauty within others; the celebration of our differences, and the acceptance of our shared experiences.

Joseph Desole an eighth grade student said, "Dr. Fowlin's message was said in a way that I'm sure got into other students' heads. His message was accurate to real things that people are going through, and not only did he talk about accepting each other's differences, but he went deeper into those differences; so much that he touched onto people's lives when they weren't expecting it. I personally could relate to a lot of what he said, and I hope that his message got through to the people that needed to hear it."

Seventh grader Megan Ameigh said, "The assembly was wonderful! The speeches were so touching and I was able to relate to them in so many different ways, I'm so glad we had that assembly."

Ulster School
early dismissal Nov. 3

Public schools in Ulster County will release students approximately 15 minutes early on Thursday, November 3. Students will be sent home early on this day as part of an annual drill that tests the evacuation procedures of each district's Emergency Management/Disaster Preparedness Plan. The Commissioner of Education has mandated that this drill be conducted annually in all New York State public schools.

Local Ulster County schools ask that parents make appropriate arrangements for the early arrival of their children the afternoon of November 3.

Each participating district may provide parents with district specific information regarding the evacuation drill's impact on bussing and after school activities.

All Ulster County public schools are participating in the drill, including the following: Ellenville, Highland, Kingston, New Paltz, Onteora, Rondout Valley, Saugerties, Wallkill, and Ulster BOCES student programs.

PLATTEKILL

Historical Society to host presentation about African American research

At 2 p.m. on Saturday, October 15, at 127 Church Street, Plattekill (off Route 32), the Plattekill and Marlboro Historical Societies will welcome Joan de Vries Kelley, local genealogist and author, for a presentation about "Researching African Americans in the Mid-Hudson Valley".

Ms. Kelley has conducted extensive research into an extended African-American family from our area. In the course of her research, she also discovered information about the location of a slave cemetery located in Modena and will be sharing this discovery with her audience. This information will be of enormous value not only those who are tracing African-American ancestors, but also to those who want to know more about African Americans who lived in this area.

Her research has been published in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, and this jointly-sponsored program presented by two historical societies will be a fascinating look into a valuable part of our area's history.

Is there anything better in autumn than a baked apple? From allrecipes.com, here's a streamlined version. For each serving, you'll need one gala apple, 1 tbsp. brown sugar, ½ tsp. ground nutmeg, ½ tsp ground cinnamon and 1 tsp. butter. Core the apple, being careful to leave the bottom intact. Mix the dry ingredients in a bowl, then spoon the mixture into the apple and top it with the butter. Set the apple in a deep casserole dish and cover. Olana hosts illustrated lecture and book signing

The Olana Partnership invites you to an illustrated lecture and book signing with Jennifer Raab, Ph.D Assistant Professor of the History of Art at Yale University on Saturday, October 15 from 3 - 5 p.m. in Olana's Visitor Center. Professor Raab will talk about her new book, Frederic Church: The Art and Science of Detail. Following the lecture, Professor Raab will host a Q & A, followed by a book signing and simple reception. Participants interested in one last visit to the Sharp Family Gallery, before the exhibition Capturing the Cosmos: Frederic Church Painting Humboldt's Vision of Nature closes for the season, are invited to register for an additional twilight tour inside the Main House at Olana led by Professor Raab.

The most celebrated painter in the United States during the mid-nineteenth century, Frederic Church created monumental and celebrated landscapes of North and South America, the Arctic, and the Middle East but perhaps his most remarkable achievement was his own home, Olana.

Professor Raab spent many months researching at Olana while writing this book. She worked closely with Olana's curatorial department and has a remarkable and exciting set of observations to share about the links between art and science in the 19th century, specifically focusing on Church's canvases and landscape. She specializes in American art and visual culture with particular interests in the history of science, nineteenth-century aesthetic theory, the history of photography, and the relationship between literary and visual representation.

Advance registration is suggested for the lecture, and required for the twilight gallery tour with Professor Raab. This illustrated lecture, book-signing and reception will take place inside the Visitor Center adjacent to the Museum Store and is appropriate for visitors ages 12 and up. The lecture costs members $10 and non-members $15. The Twilight House and Gallery Tour costs members $40 and non-members $60 (in addition to the lecture fee). For reservations and to purchase tickets for one or both of these programs visit www.olana.org/education/publicprograms.

Cancer walk is set for Oct. 16 at Woodbury Common

The American Cancer Society is inviting the public to share hope so no one walks alone at this year's Making Strides Against Breast Cancer in Orange County. Making Strides Against Breast Cancer is a noncompetitive, inspirational event that raises awareness and funds to end breast cancer and provide hope to ensure no one faces breast cancer alone.

The American Cancer Society Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walk is set for Sunday, October 16, 2016 at Woodbury Commons Premium Outlets in Central Valley.

Individuals, companies, friends and neighbors can register to walk by calling 440-2508 or online at www.makingstrideswalk.org/hudsonvalley. There is no fee to register, though contributions and donations are greatly appreciated.

Last year, nearly 10,000 walkers from Orange, Dutchess, Ulster, Sullivan, Rockland raised over $600,000. Since 1993, more than 12 million supporters have raised more than $750 million in nearly 300 communities nationwide.

Funds raised through Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walks enable the American Cancer Society to invest in groundbreaking research; provide free, comprehensive information and support to those touched by breast cancer; and help people take steps to reduce their breast cancer risk or find it early when it's most treatable.

"We are excited to unite the Hudson Valley at the Making Strides walk to celebrate breast cancer survivors, pay tribute to loved ones lost, and raise funds to move us one step closer to a world free from the pain and suffering caused by breast cancer," said Hilary Gozigan, Community Manager at the American Cancer Society. "From research to education, prevention to diagnosis, and treatment to recovery, we provide support to everyone impacted by breast cancer."

For additional details, to form a team, register to walk or volunteer, please visit makingstrideswalk.org/hudsonvalley, email HUDSONVALLEYNYSTRIDES@CANCER.ORG or call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-227-2345.

Family can give women the strength to survive cancer

Pam was only 43 years old when she was diagnosed with breast cancer.

She says she was disappointed, but not surprised. Most women, especially young women like her, would be shocked. But she has had several close family members diagnosed with breast cancer, which makes it more likely that she herself would have breast cancer.

"I was diagnosed at the same age my mom was, and in the same breast," she says. In addition to her mother, a maternal aunt and a cousin had also had breast cancer before the age of 45.

A family history of breast cancer increases a woman's chance of getting breast cancer. Because of what she knew about her family, Pam had been getting yearly mammograms since her twenties. In 2013, she found a lump in between her yearly mammograms. Doctors did a biopsy and the biopsy came back malignant. "Sure, I was scared," Pam says. "Cancer is a frightening thing."

Pam started with treatment right away. "I knew my family history, but I had also witnessed the strength and survivorship of my family members," she says. She was determined to fight the cancer with everything she had.

Doctors started Pam on chemotherapy. After eight treatments, the lump had shrunk to almost nothing. Then, she had a lumpectomy and lymph node biopsy and started radiation therapy.

Pam says that her family and friends were invaluable over the course of the treatment. Family members and co-workers sat with her during her chemotherapy treatments. They brought her food and helped look after her house when she wasn't able to do it. "You sometimes just have to let people help you," Pam says.

A blue rectangular advertisement with white text. At the top, it reads "Breast cancer screening and treatment: One size doesn't fit all." Below this, it says "LEARN MORE: WWW.CDC.GOV/CANCER/BREAST". The central image shows four bras of different colors and patterns (black with white polka dots, pink, teal, and red and white stripes) hanging on a clothesline with wooden clothespins. In the bottom left corner, there is a small logo for the CDC.

Since then, the cancer has not returned. There is always a chance it could come back. "When you're taking the medicine, you feel like you have all this power against the cancer, but when you stop it's like 'now what?'" says Pam. She says she has to get used to a "new normal" routine, which includes frequent mammograms and MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) scans. She continues to eat healthy foods and exercise and tries to keep her stress levels low.

Importantly, she also reminds her younger sister to keep up with her screening because of their family history.

Pam's advice for women dealing with the diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer: "You can't tell them not to be upset or afraid, because it is a scary diagnosis. You're going to have your highs and your lows; some days you're going to feel well and some days you won't," she says. "Take it one day at a time."

There are resources for women who may have a family history of breast cancer or certain genetic traits, which can raise their risk of getting breast cancer. Find out more at CDC's Bring Your Brave campaign.

Growing Awareness Saves Lives

BREAST CANCER BY THE NUMBERS:

Breast cancer is the most common cancer among American women, except for skin cancers. It is the second-leading cause of cancer death in women, exceeded only by lung cancer.

The American Cancer Society estimates that in the United States:

- About 231,840 new cases of invasive breast cancer will be diagnosed in women.
- About 60,290 new cases of carcinoma in situ (CIS) will be diagnosed (CIS is non-invasive and is the earliest form of breast cancer).
- About 40,290 women will die from breast cancer.
- Death rates from breast cancer have been declining since about 1989, with larger decreases in women younger than 50. These decreases are believed to be the result of earlier detection through screening and increased awareness, as well as improved treatment.
- After increasing for more than two decades, female breast cancer incidence rates began decreasing in 2000, then dropped by about 7 percent from 2002 to 2003. This large decrease was thought to be due to the decline in the use of hormone therapy after menopause that occurred after the results of the Women's Health Initiative were published in 2002. This study linked the use of hormone therapy to an increased risk of breast cancer and heart diseases. In recent years, incidence rates have been stable in White women, but have increased slightly in African American women.
- At this time there are more than 3.1 million breast cancer survivors in the United States. (This includes women still being treated and those who have completed treatment.)

here is the puree of butternut soup, people always come out for that. I post it on Facebook and they come just to take it home." She topped it all off by serving an apple crisp desert.

Janine Winslow said it was a great day despite an overcast sky.

"It's always a great event and it's for a good cause," she said. "It brings the community together and an awareness of what's in the area. I like to come out and help my wife out, Claire, with the restaurant and our daughter. It's a family event every year."

Ana Nemer, of La Ruta del Sol, brings her Ecuadorian and Puerto Rican specialty food dishes to numerous festivals throughout the Valley from March through November."

"Our best sellers are Puerto Rican empanadas and we have shrimp ceviches, which is Ecuadorian and rice with beans and pork," she said.

Nemer has been in the food business for just two years but "I pretty much love what we do and serve to people." She said this is her first venture into this field but quickly added that "I love to cook and I love to eat."

Nemer said she was a vendor at last year's festival.

"It was a beautiful day and it turned out to be the third best festival for us last year, plus the view is beautiful here at the rail trail," she said.

is only right that I support Willard in the time that he deserves and the recognition that he deserves for the job well done for the 32 years that he has been here." Smith said it is only "fitting" to retire Sutton's shield "that will never be worn again because I don't think anybody could fill the shoes that he wore when he was here." Smith said he was happy for Sutton but saddened that the town was losing a "great officer and a great man."

Former Town Supervisor Sis Morse was the one who originally hired Sutton as well as a few of his peers.

"I've got to say that all the years we've been like a family and I'm very proud of every one of our officers, they do an excellent job," she said. "Willie you will always hold a very special place in my heart and you were a terrific officer."

Detective Robert Riley said the department recently was able to surprise Sutton with a retirement party.

"I'm going to miss him...we've always enjoyed working here. We've lived here all of our lives and we really enjoy the people in the community, what we've been able to do and what you've done for us," he said.

Sutton had the last word.

"Thank you everybody I really appreciate it. It's been a good 32 years and a lot of changes - cars then without cages in the back, no computers and everything was pencils and pens," he said.

Sutton, a native of Plattekill, is married to Ida and they have two grown daughters Tiffany, 38, and Amanda 34. He served the town as a part-time officer for his entire career, starting in May 1984 and officially retired on June 29, 2016. He said the basic foundation of training for an officer is the same but many more hours are required today and the subject matter is taught in greater depth.

Sutton said his job covers "everything from traffic stops to domestics to medical to security checks; whatever calls came across we responded to." He said in recent years he has seen an uptick in domestic violence cases, heroin overdoses, incidents of suicide and mental health calls.

Sutton remarked on what he found was the most rewarding aspect of his work.

"The best part of my job was helping people, going to medical calls and any other call. That's what I enjoyed about it," he said.

Local towns submit proposed budgets for 2017

expense areas of General at $4,539,265, Highway at $1,795,772, Water at $916,323 and Sewer at $790,669.

Revenues for 2017 are estimated at $2,641,942 and the amount to be raised by taxes is $6,522,792.

The estimated tax rate for 2017 outside of the water and sewer district is 5.31, which is an increase of 7.09% over 2016; inside the water/sewer district is 7.95, an increase of 4.79%; and the rate only for inside of the water district falls at 6.32, a 5.92% increase. These figures do not include the fire district taxes.

By way of example, a home assessed at $250,000 that is outside of the water/sewer district; divide the $250,000 assessment by 1,000 to arrive at the multiplier of 250. Then multiply this number by the tax rate of 5.31 and the town taxes for this home for 2017 is $1,327. Use the tax rate depending on the home assessment and location of the property.

Supervisor Paul Hansut said the tentative budget is lower than it has been in the past. He encouraged his fellow board members to review the document "and come back with some suggestions and I think we'll do the best we can to get [as close] to the cap as we can."

Town of Marlborough

The Marlborough Town Board released their preliminary budget for 2017. Appropriations for the year stand at $9,077,339, with revenues to the town totaling $1,681,655. The board is considering using $200,000 of unexpended balance to bring in a tax levy of $7,195,684.

The total town-wide preliminary tax rate is projected at 8.01, which is a 1.09% increase from this year, with an overall tax increase estimated at 3.41%.

The board pointed out that health insurance costs for employees went up by $100,000 and may continue to rise in the future.

At Monday night's public hearing on the budget, the Town Board indicated they are looking at several key areas that will help the town's bottom line. On the revenue side, the board indicated that the $90,000 the town received as their share of the county sales taxes will rise to $110,000; they expect the zoning fees will jump from $35,000 to $40,000 and other health income will move from $15,000 to $30,000, culminating in an additional $30,000.

On the expense side of the ledger, the board expects the Highway Machinery equipment line item will decrease from $240,000 to $200,000 and the use of $25,000 from Highway's unexpended fund balance will not be tapped. In addition the budget for the Milton Fire District is down from an original estimate of $546,957 to $435,800 because of a bond payment, while the Marlboro Fire District will rise from $532,700 to $574,750. The Town Board pointed out that they do not compile the Fire District budgets but simply collect the appropriate taxes.

All of the above factors that are under the control of the Town Board, if calculated into the 2017 budget, would bring the tax rate to 7.95 (a .03 cent increase) and a tax levy increase of 1.88% over 2016. In actual dollars, residents with a home assessed at $250,000 would pay a town tax of $1,987, which is a $7.50 increase from 2016.

Homes of $150,000 would see a $4.50 increase and ones assessed at $400,000 would pay a $12 increase above 2016.

Supervisor Al Lanzetta said he attends a weekly meeting of his elected peers.

"I can't tell you how many towns are struggling, laying off people and cutting to the bare bones because of this 2% tax cap. Maybe Marlborough is in good shape because we've been good stewards of the taxpayer's money," he said. "The bottom line is there are a lot of towns in the county are struggling because of their infrastructure and their bonds."

Town of Plattekill

In 2017 budget appropriations in Plattekill are expected to be $3,871,967, with revenues of $1,295,205. The board is considering approving the use of $95,000 of the unexpended fund balance, leaving a tax levy of $4,065,749, which is a drop of $1,832 (or -0.05%) from 2016.

The $4,065,749 tax levy includes the General and Highway costs at $1,212,191 and $1,269,571 respectively as well as the Library expenses of $446,257, the Lighting Districts at $28,350, drainage costs of $18,807, the Modena Fire District at $316,522, the Clintondale Fire District at $254,883 and the Plattekill Fire District at $519,168.

The 2015 assessed value of the Town was $652,139,336, which dropped to $647,125,551 in 2016, a decrease of $5,013,785.

All three town will be reviewing and reworking their respective budgets to arrive at final budgets, which they will adopt in November. Copies of the budgets are available at the office of the Town Clerk.

Lady Dukes blank Pine Bush

By BOND BRUNGARD
sports@tcnewspapers.com

Marlboro's girls' soccer won four games in a row before New Paltz beat them to snap that streak. But Tuesday, Oct. 4, the Dukes were back to their winning ways with a 5-0 road victory over Pine Bush.

"We're hopefully starting another streak," said Keith Walker, Marlboro's coach.

The Dukes' goals all came in the first half with a pair each from Hannah Sullivan and Joyce Ryder. Kali Schlinder also scored a goal before the break.

The Dukes improved to 6-5 and qualified for the sectional tournament two weeks prior to their victory over Pine Bush.

"They played well," said Walker, of his team. "It's a matter of gelling more as a team, getting to know where everybody is going to be on the field and continue to improve as far as moving the ball around."

Pine Bush dropped to 0-9-1.

Marlboro's Alyssa Macur works to track down the ball.

Hannah Sullivan knocks down the ball for Marlboro.

"We had some opportunities, but we didn't finish in the final third," said Dan Conley, Pine Bush's coach. "Our touch isn't where it needs to be to finish right now. We gave up some defensive lapses in the first half, and we dug ourselves a hole."

And as Pine Bush works to win with fundamentals, Conley said the team has not lost sight of trying to win their first game of the season.

"We are working every day to get it," he said.

Marlboro tennis team blanks Ellenville, 5-0

The Marlboro tennis team had a relatively easy time last week, blanking Ellenville 5-0 and winning all of their matches in straight sets.

Emma Messenger and Grace Messenger each won their singles matches with identical scores of 6-0 and 6-1. Brittany DeSantis won all of her games, sweeping her opponent 6-0, 6-0.

The top Marlboro doubles team of Michaela Kulpinski and Julie Truncali won in straight sets, 6-1 and 6-2.

Marlboro's number two doubles team of Kaiya Wigton and Maria Tsanarakis win 6-4, 6-3.

The Lady Dukes extended their record to 8-2

Wallkill faces must-win game with Cornwall

By BOND BRUNGARD
sports@tcnewspapers.com

If Wallkill's football team does not reach the postseason, it may come down to the matter of a single point.

Wallkill will be at home against Cornwall Friday at 7 p.m. and the Panthers need to win that game and their final regular season contest at Port Jervis Oct. 21 to make the playoffs.

The Panthers could have avoided forcing themselves into this corner had they been able to beat Monticello.

But the home team Panthers stopped the visiting Panthers 21-20 when they took advantage of some mistakes by Wallkill.

"This was a very tough loss," said

Shane Regan, Wallkill coach.

After a scoreless first quarter, Wallkill drove very deep into Monticello territory, but they turned the ball over to the home team without scoring. Monticello's Khadeem Richards then torched Wallkill with a 94-yard touchdown run.

Less than six minutes later, Wallkill's A.J. Dembroski scored on a three-yard run, but the two-point conversion failed, and the home team led 7-6. Richards scored from 11 yards out with 2:20 left in the second quarter, leading 14-6, before Dembroski connected with Justin Dunikowski for a 30-yard touchdown catch.

Wallkill could not tie it with a failed two-point conversion, and the home team led 14-12 at the half.

Wallkill finally seemed to take command of the game when Dembroski and Dunikowski connected again for a 45-yard touchdown catch. This time the two-point conversion was good, and Wallkill led 20-14 with 7:48 left in the third quarter.

Early in the fourth a deep Wallkill drive again resulted in no points. More than six minutes later, Richards scored with a 10-yard touchdown run, and Monticello led again, up 21-20.

As Wallkill was driving to get over that single-point deficit, Richards pulled in one of Dembroski passes and brought the interception back to Wallkill's 32-yard line.

Monticello fumbled less than a minute later, and Wallkill recovered the ball on their 12-yard line. Dembroski was again trying to come back in the air, and another Monticello interception ended those chances before the home team ran out the clock.

"They played very tough, and they should be proud of themselves," said Regan, of Monticello. "We didn't play exceptionally well in the first half for sure. And we didn't overcome our mistakes."

Wallkill dropped to 2-4, and Monticello improved to 1-5.

Kali Schindler is quick to move forward

By BOND BRUNGARD
sports@tcnewspapers.com

Kali Schindler is the second leading scorer on Marlboro's girls' soccer team, and the sophomore scored a goal last week when the team beat Pine Bush on the road.

"She's very creative. She usually looks to make the correct pass when it's available," said Keith Walker, Marlboro's coach, prior to the game.

Schindler scored the team's second goal of the game, in which the Dukes won 5-0, and all the goals came in the first half.

"She is very attack-minded. She likes to get forward quickly," said Walker.

Schindler started playing soccer seven years ago. She plays travel soccer and JV basketball for the Dukes, but she prefers her fall sport.

"I play because I love the game. And I love the team and all the girls around me. It's a great environment," said Schindler, after the Dukes beat Pine Bush. "It's just a whole different game and environment than basketball. It's just a lot better."

Hannah Sullivan is the team's primary scoring threat, but when defenses try to shut her down, Schindler has the ability to get open with the ball and score.

"That way no team can key on any one person," said Walker, of his forward/midfielder. "The more creative players you have on the field, the more dangerous you are overall."

And when she is on the field, Schindler understands the ongoing dynamics as the game unfolds. She knows where to be, and she does her best to score or get the ball to someone who has a chance to put it in the net.

"I like how I can connect with all those on my team. I can play back to my outside back or a striker, so they can score," she said. "It's a just a whole team effort, and it's great."

Dukes fall to New Paltz Hugies, 34-7

(2-1 in Class B-I play) can still keep its dream alive of seizing a sixth successive Class B championship by claiming a spot in the playoffs with a victory over the Huskies at home on October 14. "Every game from here on out is a must-win with this team," Ward said. "Maybe it's my fault. Maybe I haven't coached them well enough, but I'm a little disappointed in our effort."

New Paltz came out like a team on a mission against the Dukes, and took a 7-0 lead at the 6:09 mark of the first quarter on a bruising 3-yard touchdown run from sophomore halfback Kenny Verney. After a Marlboro three and out, junior quarterback Jimmy Verney (77 yards rushing on 11 carries) utilized some slippery moves to elude the Dukes' defense and raced home for a 10-yard score to put New Paltz up 14-0 with 18.8 seconds left in the first quarter.

When Jimmy Verney (6-14, 177 yards passing, 1 TD, 1 INT) connected with senior wide receiver Kumar Singh on a 52-yard touchdown pass with 8:32 remaining in the first half, the Huguenots had raced out to a stunning 21-0 lead. The Dukes fought back, though, as sophomore quarterback Sam Mongelli (10-15, 173 yards passing, 1 TD, 1 INT) threw a rainbow pass that junior receiver John Perugino (130 yards receiving on six catches) popped up into the air before subsequently recovering the pigskin and racing in for a 52-yard score to cut it to 21-7 with 6:47 to go in the second quarter.

But when Kenny Verney (50 yards rushing on eight carries) bull-rushed in for a 9-yard TD to put New Paltz up 28-7 with 4:27 left in the half, it was clear that Marlboro was facing an uphill fight. The Dukes appeared to be on the comeback trail early in the third quarter when they had a first and goal at the Huguenots' 2-yard line. But a penalty pushed Marlboro back and a trick play on fourth and goal from the 5-yard line went awry when a pass from junior running back Billy Williamson sailed over the head of Perugino in the back of the end zone with 7:35 to go in the third. "We needed a desperation thing," Ward said. "We had a touchdown called back on that and I'll be sending some clips into the league."

The hungry Huguenots (3-0 in Class B-I) proceeded to put the game away when Jimmy Verney eluded the Marlboro defense and went straight up the middle for a 25-yard touchdown run to give New Paltz a 34-7 advantage with 6:31 remaining in the game. On the Dukes' next possession, the team had a first and goal at the 7-yard line, but Williamson's second pass attempt of the night was picked off by Kenny Verney with 2:39 to go as the Huguenots wrapped up their big road win.

This isn't the first time the Dukes have faced adversity this season, as a 63-43 loss at James I. O'Neill in the second week of the campaign had Ward questioning the team's ardor. And after Friday's loss, he was frustrated with some of the returning players from last year's championship squad. "I'm disappointed with some of the kids that have played here the past couple of years and haven't brought that passion on a consistent basis," he said. While the New Paltz loss was unexpected, the Dukes head into the regular-season finale against Highland knowing they control their own playoff destiny. And the battle-tested Dukes are surely the last team any of their Class B competitors want to see when the postseason rolls around.

Dukes fall to New Paltz, 34-7

By TED REMSNYDER

The Marlboro football program has earned its spot as the king of the hill in Section 9, Class B over the last half decade, capturing five consecutive Class B titles while frequently steamrolling over its league competition. Heading into last Friday's home game versus a hot New Paltz team, Dukes supporters could be forgiven for expecting the squad to beat back another challenger to their league supremacy. But the Huguenots upended that narrative (and the division standings), as Marlboro fell 34-7 in the team's first loss at Dennis Burkett field since they came up short in a contest vs. Cornwall in September of 2014.

The loss means Marlboro (4-2) must emerge victorious against Highland this Friday night to qualify for the postseason, though the loss to New Paltz (5-1) means the Huguenots can clinch the division by beating Red Hook this weekend. "We lost at home and we probably lost the one seed in the playoffs," Marlboro head coach Rich Ward said. "Between now and the next game, we have to find our championship groove. Because our reign as champions is pretty much over unless we can dig down deep inside and get some intestinal fortitude."

A New Paltz win on Saturday would end the Dukes' run of four straight regular-season league titles, but Marlboro
