Conway says agreement will save money, increase law enforcement coverage

FINES MASSEY

EDITOR@LACLEDERECORD.COM

The City of Conway says that a recent agreement with the Laclede County Sheriff's Office that closed the Conway Police Department will save the city money and provide more law enforcement coverage.

According to Conway's Facebook page, the city had been spending about $65,000 a year to run the Conway Police Department. About $15,000 of that expense was covered by fines on traffic tickets, leaving the city to pay about $45,000 to cover the difference. In the new agreement with the LCSO, which will provide a full-time deputy to the area, Conway pays the LCSO $30,000 each year to pay the salary and benefits of the deputy. "Conway will triple the coverage and save $15,000 in the process," the

Some 'Cold' Thoughts in Stoutland, Missouri

Marie Brown

Old Man Winter, Jack Frost, and Mother Nature spent the last week making me want for spring. I was whiny, cranky, and ill-tempered from not being warm enough.

Coffee, hot chocolate, or hot tea, and the seed catalogs didn't seem to give me happy thoughts of any warmer weather to come. I am finding that the older I get the more I really do hate to be chilled. I can't seem to warm up. The old bones creak, wobble, and stiffen just at the thought of the cold.

The Icy Trio seemed to have finished their temper tantrums on Sunday. It was a pleasant winter day. I just as soon that the cantankerous Winter Three take sleeping pills for the rest of the polar season in Congratulations to Elliot and Doris Smith celebrating their 66th wedding anniversary. That seems like a long time to me until I think that Jim and I are only a decade behind.

Jim will be turning the big 65 on Tuesday, Feb. 4. I will be making (maybe buy) his favorite cake, German Chocolate. If you are out and about on that evening, stop by the old homestead and give Jim some happy wishes and have a slice of cake with coffee. The door will be welcoming until about 9:00-9:30, then I can't guarantee that I will be awake.

Some other events that you might want to add to your February Calendar would include; Ladies Night Out at the Baptist Church. This is a monthly event which includes a light supper (usually themed: soup, salad, bake potato bar, etc.), a short devotion, and a project.

Past projects have included Bible Journaling, plastic bag basket making, card making, and more. February's meeting is Thursday, the 27th.

Truelove Quartet is bringing a gospel music event to LifePoint Church Friday, Feb. 21. Gospel recording artists; the Bowling Family, the Bowling Sisters, and Truelove Quartet will be sharing in music. All donations and offerings will be for the Brandon Zuber

The Cookie Bookies Book Club met at the Sanctuary in Richland for its January Meeting. Owner and operator of the coffee and quilt shop, Nita Bechtel, was a wonderful host. The business is in the old Methodist Church on Pine Street. The facility is beautiful and welcoming. The coffee was superb. Check it out!

There is still one month remaining to enroll in Stoutland Library's Winter Reading Program. Readers have an opportunity to win prizes-just for reading! The program is open to adults, teens, and children.

STRAIGHT FROM THE HART

Virus scare reminds us to be cautious

Let me be entirely transparent here. I love Chinese food and I especially love Chinese buffets at local restaurants. But would I eat food from a Chinese street market or one that is identified as a "wet" market? Absolutely not, although there is no danger of my ever being close to such places. Wet markets, in case that's a new term to you as it was to me, are places that sell dead and live animals out in the open to be used for food and medicine. This includes poultry, fish, reptiles and pigs (and sometimes other items that our palates would deem to be too gross for human consumption).

By now, you've all heard the rumors about the coronavirus being caused by the Chinese habit of eating bats and other disgusting creatures. The video which has gone viral on Facebook has been debunked as not even taking place in Wuhan at all where bat isn't a delicacy. It actually featured the host of an online travel show eating a whole bat in Palau, a Pacific Island nation, as part of food shows where American chefs and travel hosts have shown in the past.

In an article written by James Palmer, a senior editor at Foreign Policy on Jan. 27, he states that although the virus, at present, does seem to ĥave originated in bats, it's unclear how it made its way to humans.

I am once again being more careful about reading the fine print on certain packaged food items, and I won't buy anything that contains food with a reference to China. But I have been doing that for years especially since the pet food scare and the infant formula scare of several years ago.

So I can pretty much avoid eating food prepared and sold on the streets of China, but I blood pressure medihave to take certain pharmaceutical drugs just to lower my constant pain to a level where I can make it through the days. And many of you are even more dependent on medicines to treat life-threatening physical conditions.

I don't have space to elaborate on the threat we all face from our medicines, which are made mostly in China and India, but I am going to use brief talking points for the rest of this column just to give you something to think about or research on your own.

Remember the recent headlines last fall about carcinogen-tainted cation? The FDA says its regulatory system of data review and inspections is effective, but a leading data analytics firm shows violations of data integrity continue to happen in China and India where our FDA investigators announce inspections ahead of time which gives plants time to clean up any evidence of unsanitary conditions or wrongdoing. Here in the States, FDA inspectors show up unannounced for inspections. In 2014 when the FDA experimented by giving Indian drug manufacturers no advance notice, serious violations rose by almost 60 percent.

In January 2019 at indoco Remedies in India, the manufacturing plant faked the data to justify the release to market of the diabetes drug glimepiride. It was found to not meet quality standards and should not have been released to patients.

At a Cleveland Clinic, heart transplant patients ended up suffering organ rejection after taking an ineffective Indian-made immunosup-

We certainly need more affordable medicines, but at what risk to us? To ensure high quality, the FDA should end its practice of advance notice inspections. Prescription drug labels aren't required to inform you about where your drugs are made. Roughly 80 percent of the drugs sold here originate from India or China.

The Scheme

Last Thursday at 4:30 p.m. during the impeachment trial, House manager Rep. Zoe Lofgren, in her words, described the "Trump Scheme" to smear Biden, listing a timeline she said "began in 2018."

She neglected to list key facts that are relevant, which I stated in my letter printed Dec. 28.

- In 2014, after Ukraine ousts its Russian bent president, VP Joe Biden delivers US money appropriated for Ukraine defense of Russia.
- As Ukraine receives US money, Hunter Biden and his partner Decon Archer join the board of a Ukrainian Natural Gas company, Burisma, receiving far above normal pay.
- In 2015, Petro Poroshenko is the new administration. elected president of Ukraine.
- On April 21, 2019, Poroshenko lost the Ukraine election to Volodymyr Zelensky.
- On April 25, 2019, Joe Biden announces his run for president.

Note: a country's energy source is part of it's defense. American money was paid to Burisma because Ukraine needed energy for it's defense, which paid Hunter Biden. Shouldn't everyone receive a percentage of US appropriated money?

Trump knew Burisma was a corrupt business in Ukraine and was investigating it long before April, as was listed by Lofgren's timeline, but was stonewalled by Poroshenko's administration. Trump just continued the investigation with Joe Biden's announcement, after surety of a new president in Ukraine, just initiated the "Impeachment Scheme" now being played out in the Senate and stalled the investigation of racketeering by his son.

Every accusation made by House managers can be seen in actions they themselves are taking.

Adam Schiff's statement, "The framers of the Constitution were concerned by possible abuse of powers" is being portrayed by their abuse of the impeachment power.

Joe Biden and Democrats are like unions, "They Stick Together For Their Cause!"

Birthday Celebration Held for Tyler Reid

Whitwer

I'm (Kathryn Langdon) filling in for Diane as she, Jim and Gary have flown to Washington state to be with Kelly. Keep Kelly and the family in your prayers. If anyone wishes to help with expenses for Kelly, they can send donations to Gary Shaffstall, at P.O. Box 45, Niangua, Mo 65713. Medications have been over $3000.00 a month for one prescription, plus ER, test, hospital visits, plus travel. This all can be very costly. Any help would be appreciated.

Well, another week of snow and ice has kept a few people at home and a few had to slide around and head back home. Bertha Terry, Leona Medlock and Majorie Welch weren't able to get out for their Saturday lunch trip to the Morgan Store. Too slick at their doorsteps and the ice still lingering on the road.

Mary Stillwell remains in the Christian Care Center in Lebanon, but have heard she is eating better now and starting to get her strength back. Prayers for her Birthday celebrations this week are for Darrell Smittle, Marjorie Welch, Alice Vessey Bates, Bertha Terry, Tyler Reid, Shirley Reid, Barrrett Strickland, Rod Sherrer, Matthew Lewis, Starr Terry and Amy Grisaffe. February birthday for Cydney Keesling and Anniversary for Greg and Shirley Reid.

A birthday celebration was had for Tyler Reid with all the family going out to eat in Springfield. I heard there was going to be strawberry cake and ice cream to celebrate Bertha's birthday later.

Pastor Paul Peckman was guess speaker at Immanuel Lutheran Church at Rader. His sermon was from 1 Corinthians 1; 10-18. Larry and I attended Faith Lutheran Church in Springfield and after church we took my Aunt Emma Burrell out for breakfast at Cracker Barrel. Mike and Nikki Langdon joined us. We couldn't leave without shopping some there.

Coming home we stopped by Webco to visit Barb Medlock. She is healing from a recent fall and is doing well. Also saw Bill Fair.

In their first round game of the Lebanon Mid-Missouri Bank I-44 Lady's Classic on Thursday night, the Lebanon High School girls' basketball team defeated the St. Charles Pirates, 58-37.

It was a back-and-forth contest for a majority of the first quarter with the Lady 'Jackets unable to stop the Pirates' inside presence of Chanel Davis, but a 14 point first half for senior Jenna Glendenning and eight points from freshman Raegan McCowan gave LHS a 33-27 lead heading into halftime.

During the second half, the defense of Lebanon was stifling and held St. Charles to only ten points in the final two quarters. Along with solid performances from Glendenning and McCowan, LHS also got nine crucial points from sophomore Destiny Zimdars and 10 points from Makayah Al-

"I thought Destiny Zimdars came in and did a nice job defensively and with rebounding as well as scoring," Lebanon head coach Jacky Payne said. "Jenna knocked down four three-pointers for us (on Thursday) and she has been working on that part of her game after practices."

Overall, Payne said he was happy to get a win in his home tournament and move to the right side of the bracket.

"I thought we played hard and looked pretty good at spurts," he stated. "It was all over the place at times and had trouble getting a consistent flow, especially with them (St. Charles) hitting three's and stayed in the game with

LHS was scheduled to

Mercy presented a check for $5,000 and this will be the hospital's first year to serve as the Title Sponsor of the annual event where local people are recognized as heroes and honored by the community.

LAF Administrator, Melinda Fries, thanked Mercy Hospital Lebanon for being the Title Sponsor.

"This is a unique sponsorship," she said in a press release. "We only have one Title Sponsor each year. Mercy Hospital Lebanon's sponsorship helps to underwrite inspirational videos of neighbors helping neighbors in Laclede County."

Judy O'Connor-Snyder, Executive Director-Operations for Mercy Hospital Lebanon stated, "We are so grateful to be a long-standing part of a wonderful community that is full of people who go above and beyond. We get to witness heroics every day in our health care facilities, and we jumped at the chance to help share similar stories of our friends' and neighbors' actions."

Fries said Mercy Hospital Lebanon's sponsorship shows their commitment to the community.

"It tells us how committed they are to be celebrating the positive parts of the community with one of the most inspiring events we have in Laclede

The 2020 Hometown Heroes will be announced early February, said Fries.

The 2020 Hometown Heroes breakfast will be held at 7a.m. April 23 at the Cowan Civic Center.

Missouri Supreme Court decision will mean little change for voters

SSMITH@LACLEDERECORD.COM

Laclede County voters are expected to see little change at the polls following a Missouri Supreme Court decision that forbids the Secretary of State's office from requiring photo identification for voters.

In a 5-2 decsion last month, the court upheld a lower court decision that said the Secretary of State could not publish information indicating that photo identification is required to vote.

Laclede County Clerk Linda Cansler said this would eliminate a required affidavit for some voters.

"The only thing that we will see as a change is that the affidavit that's in our poll pad will no longer be necessary," Cansler said. "Otherwise, everything is the same as it has been."

Cansler said her office has been requesting photo IDs since some kind of ID is required to vote. "For those who have always had some form of ID, there will be nothing different for them," Cansler said. "For the ones that would walk in with no ID, they'll still have the provisional ballot just like they would have before. The only thing it would affect is if you walk in and you had a bank statement or any other form of ID besides a photo ID. If you had walked in before with one of those and wanted to be able to vote, you would have had an affidavit that says everything it needed to by state law. You'd sign it then go ahead and get your ballot. This eliminates that affidavit now."

Cansler said her office will be following the issue in the state legislature.

"It's what the courts have decided we need to do and I know there is some work in progress in Jeff City but I am not familiar enough with the bills to speak to those," she said.

At issue in the Supreme Court decision is a 2016 vote by Missourians to allow legislators to create requirements for voters to identify themselves at the polling place, including using photo

The law adopted by the state said voters were to present a valid photo ID, or to sign a sworn statement and present some other form of identification in order to cast a regular ballot.

The affidavit also asked voters to certify that they knew Missouri had photo ID requirements, and that the voters did not possess a valid form of personal identification.

The opinion said one voter who presented a voter identification card and signed an affidavit in 2017 "testified the language of the affidavit was confusing and ambiguous because it required them to state they do not possess personal identification when they, in fact, did have their voter identification card."

DEAR ABBY: A good friend of mine is giving a baby shower next month for her grandson and granddaughter-in-law. She wants to invite many of her longtime friends to the shower, but most of them have little or no history or relationship with her grandson or his wife, and neither one really wants them to be invited. The grandmother, however, thinks it would be rude not to. Your thoughts?

INVITED IN THE WEST DEAR INVITED: Someone should remina your good Iriena tnat tne celebration is not for her, and that showers aren't supposed to be hosted by close relatives but by friends of the honoree. Not only would your friend's contemporaries not be offended if they are not invited, they would probably feel relieved. People of Great-Grandma-To-Be's generation have been through so many showers they aren't likely to have hurt feelings if the younger generation takes over, unless they're very close to the honoree.

Recycling

Linda Kimrey, CEO of Laclede Industries said she had been approached by the city about extending recycling hours.

'We kind of discussed it and it was one of the options available, that's a monitored site, that makes it accessible to people outside the normal hours that we keep Monday through Thursday and it gives people more options," Kimrey said.

Hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the Saturdays of Feb. 22, March 21 and April 25.

During these times, you may recycle your cardboard, tin cans, aluminum cans, Plastics 1 and 2 as well as office paper, newspaper, and magazines.

Items should be clean and pre-sorted. The City of Lebanon also accepts household hazardous Laclede Industries is also continuing its recycling service.

The same items accepted by the city are accepted at Laclede Industries, 941 Utah St., 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and the second Saturday of each month from 9-11 a.m.

Drone

Electric Superintendent Travis Long said it would be used for inspecting poles and steel

"We'll be able to see if there's any kind of rotting on the poles, any kind of aging on the steel structures," he said.

According to Long, the street department would use it for stormwater inspections, video of traffic

The codes department will use it for rooftop inspections of tall structures.

The water department will use it inspect water

"They'll make sure there's no rust, no paint problems," Long said.

The drone also includes an infrared camera.

"That will give us an IR image, a heat signature image, for the electric department on our high voltage lines that's pretty critical to see where our problems are, where we're heating up," he said. "We have a lot of structure, old bells, old glass insulators that we're still using, we can see if there's a crack in those. That will show a heat signature, heat build-up."

The drone will allow electric and water grid inspections, right-of way inspections, water tower inspections, and infra-red imaging.

Long said it would help inspect things that would otherwise be hard to access.

Friendly people. Friendly place.

"We have some 85 foot wooden poles, we know they've been out there awhile," he said. "You can't see the top of that pole. You can't see the rot, with this we'll be able to get within a couple of feet of it." He explained the drone uses a global positioning system to get within centimeters of an object.

'It's going to be a great tool in the tool belt," Long said. "We'll be able to get a lot of data from it and catch problems early."

The City was awarded a safety grant of up to $10,000 from Missouri Employers Mutual which will help to offset the cost of the drone. The city purchased the Matrice Drone Kit from Ozark Laser with the low bid of $32,046.
