Acknowledgements

This report is a product of the District of Columbia Office of Revenue Analysis (ORA). Jason Juffras, an ORA fiscal analyst, performed the research and drafted the report, supervised by Fitzroy Lee, Deputy Chief Financial Officer and Chief Economist. I also acknowledge and thank the associate chief financial officers, agency fiscal officers, program directors, and program staff who contributed their knowledge and reviewed many of the individual fund summaries that comprise this report.

District of Columbia Special-Purpose Revenue Funds

Introduction

The purpose of this report is to provide background and relevant data about special-purpose revenue funds, which represent an important but little-understood source of revenue for the District of Columbia's general fund. Presently, more than 160 special-purpose revenue funds are used to provide operating support to District government agencies and programs. This is a revised version of the first guidebook on special-purpose funds, which was issued by the Office of Revenue Analysis in April 2010.

The guidebook is intended to assist the Mayor, Council, agency directors, and other policymakers in making decisions about special-purpose revenue funds. In addition, this resource will also serve to inform the public about the purpose and structure of these funds so residents can participate more fully in budget discussions and debates. The goal is to provide clear, concise information that will be useful both to policymakers and the layperson.

Special-Purpose Revenue Defined

The District government defines "special-purpose revenue" as "funds used to account for proceeds from specific revenue sources (other than expendable trusts, special assessments, or major capital projects) that are legally restricted to expenditures for specified purposes."¹ Special-purpose revenue is sometimes referred to as "O-type" or "other-type" revenue.

The District government's Comprehensive Financial Management Policy elaborates the definition and purpose of special-purpose revenue funds, stating that:

Special Purpose Revenues are program revenues that are generated from fees, fines, special assessments, charges for services, and reimbursements that are set aside for a specific purpose for the District agency that collects the revenues to cover the cost of performing the related function. Program revenues are classified as General Fund revenues.²

Special-Purpose Revenue in Context

General fund revenue for the District of Columbia government in fiscal year (FY) 2011 totaled nearly $6.3 billion. Special-purpose revenue was the second-largest category of general fund revenue, generating 7.6 percent of the total ($476.6 million). Taxes (mainly income, property, and sales taxes) provided 78 percent of general fund revenue ($4.9 billion). Other categories of general fund revenue included general-purpose non-tax revenue at 6.7 percent ($422.9 million), dedicated taxes at 6.7 percent ($419.5 million), and lottery revenue at 1 percent ($62.2 million).³ Table 1 shows the distribution of general fund revenue by source.

The Importance of Special-Purpose Revenue Funds

The District's Comprehensive Financial Management Policy recognizes that special-purpose revenue funds "reduce the net cost of the function to be financed from the government's general revenues."⁴ In addition to providing a significant revenue source (as described above), special-purpose revenue funds are an important part of the District's financial structure for two reasons.

First, special-purpose revenue flows into the District's general fund, the largest governmental fund that provides the bulk of operating budget resources to support District government programs and services. By supplementing local tax revenue, special-purpose revenue provides an extra margin of financial support that is particularly critical during a time of recession or slow economic growth. Special-purpose revenue helps finance a wide range of government services including public safety, education, and health care.

Second, special-purpose revenue has been growing rapidly. Actual special-purpose revenue rose 205 percent from FY 2002 ($156.2 million) to FY 2011 ($476.6 million), greatly exceeding the 77 percent growth in total revenue (from all funds) during that period.⁵

⁴ Government of the District of Columbia, FY 2013 Proposed Budget and Financial Plan: Seizing the Future, Executive Summary, June 22, 2012, p. A-13.

Special-purpose funds have also been the subject of strong interest by the Mayor, Council, and agency directors in the past several years. Mayor Gray proposed and the Council approved the repeal of dozens of special-purpose funds in D.C. Law 19-21, the “Fiscal Year 2012 Budget Support Act of 2011,” in an effort to use revenues more flexibly. At the same time, 30 new special-purpose funds have been established since the first version of this report was published.⁶ Overall, the number of active special-purpose revenue funds has dropped from 202 in the first version of this report to 165 in the current version.

Several agencies, such as the Department of the Environment (18 special-purpose funds in use) and the Office of the Chief Financial Officer (12 special-purpose funds in use), have a particularly large number of special-purpose funds to administer. In FY 2013, three agencies (the Office of the People’s Counsel; the Department of Insurance, Securities, and Banking; and the Office of Cable Television) as well as one program (the Business Improvement District transfer) are funded entirely by special-purpose revenue.

Advantages and Disadvantages of Special Purpose Revenue Funds

Special-purpose revenue funds have clear advantages and disadvantages. One advantage is that agency officials have a stronger incentive to collect the fees or fines because special-purpose revenues are credited to the agency that provides the service, instead of flowing to the D.C. treasury for general use. In addition, many special-purpose funds are based on the principle of user financing, which promotes fairness by linking payments to benefits received and encourages efficiency because recipients directly bear at least some of the costs of the services they receive.

At the same time, the self-funding nature of special-purpose revenue creates potential inefficiencies. Because specific special-purpose revenue streams are often earmarked for a particular program or service (such as a solid waste fee that funds a litter control program), funding levels may fail to reflect actual needs. In other words, the money raised by the special-revenue source may be insufficient or excessive. The National Conference of State Legislatures has stated that, “As a general rule, earmarking constitutes a constraint on budgeting, with few if any advantages for state revenue and budgetary management. Earmarking may provide a reliable source of income for a program but not necessarily equal to the demand for services.”⁷

Another potential disadvantage is that special revenue funds may divide the budget into many small accounts that drain revenue from the unrestricted part of the general fund. Budget experts agree that social welfare will be maximized if policymakers have the flexibility to allocate revenue to the programs that are most valued and beneficial, without restrictions on the use of particular revenue sources. As stated in the Comprehensive Financial Management Policy, “Dedicated funds limit the use of the District’s general fund revenue by earmarking a portion of the revenue for special purposes.”⁸

Structure of The Report

The sections that follow provide a one-page summary for each of 165 funds that are presently in use, or were recently authorized by D.C. law. Each summary provides information on the legal authority, purpose, structure, revenue source, and revenue history of the fund. The revenue history covers FY 2007-2011, because audited results for FY 2012 were not available at the time the report was written.

The funds are classified according to the six main appropriation titles in the District of Columbia budget, and are presented in the following order: (1) government direction and support, (2) economic development and regulation, (3) public safety and justice, (4) public education, (5) human support services, and (6) public works. The table that begins on the next page provides summary data on all of the special-purpose funds covered in this report.

Important Distinctions

There are three other types of revenue that are often confused with special-purpose revenue funds and are not covered in this report: These revenue types are as follows:

- Dedicated taxes are broad-based taxes (or portions thereof) that are dedicated by law to certain purposes, such as sales tax revenue that supports the convention center. In recent years, several special-purpose revenue funds were reclassified as dedicated taxes because they draw from broad-based revenue streams and fund programs in multiple agencies.
- Enterprise funds are budget and accounting units created for particular agencies, such as the Water and Sewer Authority, which are intended to operate like businesses and to be entirely self-sustaining.
- General-purpose non-tax revenues are fines and fees that flow into the general fund without being restricted to a particular agency or program.

The report does include special-purpose revenue funds of the University of the District of Columbia (UDC), even though UDC is classified in the D.C. budget under “enterprise and other funds.” UDC is included because the university receives a significant operating subsidy ($65 million in FY 2013)⁹ from the D.C. government and represents a critical part of the District’s public education system.

The Office of Revenue Analysis welcomes comments on this report and will use the feedback to improve future versions. ORA plans to update this report every two years.

PART I: GOVERNMENT DIRECTION AND SUPPORT

Government Direction and Support
Council of the District of Columbia (AB)
Agency Fund: Not Yet Assigned

1. Council Technology Projects Fund

Authority to Charge Fee: D.C. Official Code § 1-325.201
Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-325.201
Year Enacted: 2011

	FY 2007	FY 2008	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011
Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	$0.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that must be “used solely for the purposes of maintaining and upgrading the technology used for the benefit of the Council and shall be administered by the Council’s Chief Technology Officer.”¹⁰

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The following revenues shall be deposited into the Fund: (1) any excess monies remaining in the Council’s operating budget at the end of a fiscal year, (2) any interest on the monies deposited into the Fund, and (3) any other funds received on behalf of the Fund or the Council to maintain and improve technology for the Council.

¹⁰ See D.C. Official Code § 1-325.201(b).

	FY 2007	FY 2008	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011
Actual Revenue	$561,727.50	$616,927.95	$556,136.65	$714,577.89	$985,713.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to defray the expenses of the following units within the Office of the Secretary: the Office of Documents and Administrative Issuances, the Office of Notary Commissions and Authentications, and the Office of Public Records.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the following sources: (1) sales of the District of Columbia Register, the District of Columbia Municipal Regulations, and other government publications, (2) certification fees for notary public commissions, (3) fees for the authentication of documents for both foreign and domestic use, and (4) fees for the publication or reproduction of materials of historical interest.

Fees to purchase titles of the D.C. Municipal Regulations range from $8 to $26, except for the Comprehensive Plan, which costs $70. The fee for copies of the D.C. Register is $16, and the fee for a Rulemaking Handbook is $15.¹²

Presently, the certification fee for a notary public is $75.¹³ A notary certification is valid for five years. The fee for authentication of documents is $15, and the passport acceptance facility fee is $25.¹⁴

¹² Office of the City Administrator, “Master Fee Schedule as of March, 2012,” p. 71.

¹⁴ Subtitle I-H of D.C. Law 19-21, the “Fiscal Year 2011 Budget Support Act of 2010,” effective September 14, 2011, raised the fee for the authentication of documents from 10 to $15.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the Fund is to support the activities of a five-member “Home Rule Act 40th Anniversary Celebration and Commemoration Commission.” Specifically, the Commission may expend monies in the Fund to plan, develop and execute appropriate commemorative programs and activities; purchase and sell merchandise related to the Home Rule Act; identify appropriate displays and activities to showcase the history of home rule; and other activities.¹⁵ The Office of the Secretary will serve as the administrative home for the Commission.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund may receive revenue from (1) federal funds, (2) gifts, grants, and donations, and (3) proceeds from the sale of memorabilia and information related to the 40th anniversary of the Home Rule Act. The Fund shall be non-lapsing, and any interest earned by the Fund shall be continually available for its use.

The authorizing statute also provides that local funds may not be used to support the Commission, except for reimbursing actual expenses incurred by members of the Commission in performing their duties.

¹⁵ See Title I-H of D.C. Law 19-168, the “Fiscal Year 2013 Budget Support Act of 2012,” which took effect on September 20, 2012.

4. Defined Benefits Retirement Program

Authority to Charge Fee: Administrative Authority
Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-204.24d (this section of the Home Rule Act provides general statutory authority for accounting procedures and fund controls)
Year Enacted: 1987

	FY 2007	FY 2008	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011
Actual Revenue	$5,932.15	$71,354.14	$63,349.78	$212,164.82	$104,276.15

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the fund is to reimburse the Department of Human Resources for the cost of processing retirement benefits for police officers and firefighters who are covered by federal defined-benefit retirement programs. Retirement benefits for police and firefighters based upon service accrued prior to July 1, 1997, are the responsibility of the federal government, as mandated by Title XI of the U.S. Balanced Budget Act of 1997.¹⁶

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁷

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The U.S. Department of the Treasury pays a fee to the D.C. Department of Human Resources to cover the cost of processing the retirement benefits for the police officers and firefighters. The fee is set through a memorandum of understanding between the two agencies.

¹⁶ Specifically, the U.S. Treasury Department is responsible for (1) making accurate and timely benefit payments, (2) investing fund assets, and (3) funding pension benefits that are based on service accrued prior to July 1, 1997 for D.C. police officers and firefighters. The Treasury Department is also responsible for the same functions pertaining to pension benefits accrued by District of Columbia public school teachers based on service accrued prior to July 1, 1997, but the D.C. Department of Human Resources does not process retirement benefits on behalf of teachers.

¹⁷ See Section 9021 of D.C. Law 19-21, the “Fiscal Year 2012 Budget Support Act of 2011,” effective September 14, 2011.

5. Reimbursements from Other Governments

Authority to Charge Fee: Administrative Authority
Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-204.24d (this section of the Home Rule Act provides general statutory authority for accounting procedures and fund controls)
Year Enacted: 1987

	FY 2007	FY 2008	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011
Actual Revenue	$41,418.12	$59,086.24	$60,509.49	$125,463.86	$81,896.14

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund reimburses the Department of Human Resources for the costs of processing the paperwork for uniformed members of the U.S. Park Police, U.S. Secret Service, and U.S. Secret Service/Uniformed Division members who take optional or disability retirement.

Park Police and Secret Service members hired before January 1, 1984, are covered by the District of Columbia Police and Firefighters Retirement Plan. Park Police and Secret Service members hired after January 1, 1984, are covered by the Federal Employees Retirement System.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁸

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The U.S. Park Police and the U.S. Secret Service pay a fee to the Department of Human Resources to defray the administrative costs of processing retirement applications for officers who are covered by the District of Columbia Police and Firefighters Retirement Plan. The fee is set through a memorandum of understanding signed by the agencies.

Medical Liability Captive Insurance Agency (RJ)
Agency Fund: 1240

6. Captive Insurance Fund

Authority to Charge Fee: D.C. Official Code § 1-307.91
 Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-307.91
 Year Enacted: 2008

	FY 2007	FY 2008	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011
Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	$501,230.54	$2,048,992.00	$66,501.61

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that supports the Medical Liability Captive Insurance Agency, which was created in 2008 to provide medical malpractice liability coverage for non-profit community health centers in the District of Columbia.¹⁹ The revenue must be used to defray costs of establishing, operating, and administering the agency, including staff costs, other management and administrative costs, and the payment of claims and losses under insurance policies to be issued by the agency. The Medical Liability Captive Insurance Agency is part of the Office of Risk Management, which administers the fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from all insurance premiums or other revenues that are collected from the community health centers, as well as any grant funding from the U.S. government, other D.C. government agencies, or private foundations.

Revenue was particularly high in FY 2010 because the District earmarked a hospital assessment of $500 per licensed bed to the fund in that year.²⁰ The hospital assessment generated more than $1.9 million in FY 2010. The much smaller revenue total for FY 2011 reflects revenue resulting from premiums paid by community health centers.

¹⁹ The Fund is not the sole source of revenue for the Medical Liability Captive Insurance Agency, which also receives local revenue.

²⁰ See D.C. Official Code § 44-633(a)(1). In FY 2011 and subsequent fiscal years, the hospital assessment was deposited into the Hospital Fund.

Authority to Charge Fee: Administrative Authority
 Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-204.24d (this section of the Home Rule Act provides general statutory authority for accounting procedures and fund controls)
 Year Enacted: Not Known

	FY 2007	FY 2008	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011
Actual Revenue	$204,347.08	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund provides the mechanism for enterprise funds, such as the D.C. Lottery and the University of the District of Columbia, to reimburse the Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO) for telecommunications payments that the D.C. government makes on behalf of the enterprise fund agencies.²¹ The fund must be classified as a special-purpose fund, rather than an intra-district fund, because transactions between an enterprise fund and the primary government must reflect that they are separate entities. The Office of Finance and Resource Management, which administers the fund, is part of the OCFO.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.²²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue is transferred from the relevant enterprise funds into the special-purpose account. In recent years, telecommunications bills were managed by other agencies, which explains why there is no revenue recorded for fiscal years 2008 through 2011.

²¹ D.C. Official Code § 47-373(2)(D) states that enterprise funds are used “to account for operations that are financed and operated in a manner similar to private business enterprises; or where it has been determined that periodic determination of revenues earned, expenses incurred, and/or net income is appropriate for capital maintenance public policy, management control, accountability, or other purposes.”

Actual Revenue	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00	$11,324,745.52

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that is used solely to defray operational costs of the DC-Net program, which is defined as “a program conducted by the Office of the Chief Technology Officer (OCTO) to implement and manage a state-of-the-art, fiber-optic network owned by the District government.”²³ This network provides for secure, high-speed transport of data, voice, video, and wireless services.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives payments for telecommunications services provided by D.C. Net to independent D.C. government agencies as well as federal agencies, agencies of other state or local governments, non-profit health-care or education organizations, and private entities that serve the D.C. Public Schools, public charter schools, the D.C. Public Library, or open-access networks established to provide Internet services to underserved residents or neighborhoods of the District.

Agencies presently making payments to the Fund include the U.S. Department of Veterans’ Affairs, the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the U.S. Coast Guard, the U.S. Holocaust Museum, the D.C. Public Schools, the D.C. Public Library, the University of the District of Columbia, the D.C. Community Access Network,²⁴ and the Washington Center for Aging Services.

²³ See D.C. Official Code § 1-1431(4).

²⁴ The D.C. Community Access Network (DC-CAN) delivers affordable broadband services to health, education, public safety, and other institutions considered to be community anchors, while creating points of interconnection and “middle-mile” services that complete broadband access to residents and businesses. DC-CAN is focused primarily on Wards 5, 7, and is a means of bridging the “digital divide.”

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	$0.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund provides the mechanism for independent agencies and enterprise funds, such as D.C. Water, the D.C. Lottery and the University of the District of Columbia, to reimburse the Department of General Services (DGS) for auto fueling services of the D.C. government that are used by the enterprise fund agencies.²⁵ The fund must be classified as a special-purpose fund, rather than an intra-district fund, because transactions between an enterprise fund and the primary government must reflect that they are separate entities.

DGS was created in 2011 to consolidate the District government’s real estate management functions including engineering, custodial, security, energy conservation, utility management, general maintenance, inspection, planning, capital repairs, and capital improvements.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue is transferred from the relevant enterprise funds into this special-purpose account.

²⁵ D.C. Official Code § 47-373(2)(D) states that enterprise funds are used “to account for operations that are financed and operated in a manner similar to private business enterprises; or where it has been determined that periodic determination of revenues earned, expenses incurred, and/or net income is appropriate for capital maintenance public policy, management control, accountability, or other purposes.”

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is used to defray the costs of maintaining the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium and the non-military portion of the D.C. Armory. The Department of General Services is responsible for maintaining the Stadium and the non-military portion of the Armory, which serve as the location for sports and entertainment activities sponsored by Events D.C., an independent authority of the D.C. government that also manages the Walter E. Washington Convention Center and Nationals Park. Events D.C. was formerly known as the “Washington Convention and Sports Authority.”

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund derives revenue from payments made by Events D.C. to the Department of General Services, pursuant to a memorandum of agreement between the two agencies. The fund is designated as a special-purpose fund, rather than an intra-district transfer, because Events D.C. is an enterprise fund.²⁶ Transactions between an enterprise fund and the primary government must reflect that they are separate entities.

²⁶ D.C. DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that helps finance the District’s child support enforcement program. The authorizing statute provides that payments from this fund that are allocated to the child support program “shall be in addition” to the annual appropriation for the program.²⁹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: As the District’s child support agency under Title IV-D of the U.S. Social Security Act, the Office of the Attorney General’s Child Support Services Division may retain a portion of the child support it collects on behalf of families in the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) program. According to section 457 of the U.S. Social Security Act, the District must transfer 50 percent of its collections for TANF families to the federal government and may keep the remaining 50 percent for its own use.

²⁸ Although the fund was established in the D.C. Code by D.C. Law 15-39, the “Fiscal Year 2004 Budget Support Act of 2003,” which took effect on November 13, 2003, the fund was operating through administrative authority prior to that time. The “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information dating back to FY 1999, shows that the fund has been continuously in operation since that year

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that helps finance the District’s child support enforcement program. The authorizing statute provides that the revenue that the child support program receives from this fund “shall be in addition” to the annual appropriation for the program.³²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: As the District’s child support agency under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, the Office of the Attorney General’s Child Support Services Division is required to charge an application fee to parents who are not receiving Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) benefits. The District’s fee is $5 per application, half of which is returned to the federal government and the other half of which is retained by the District.

³⁰ Federal regulations that govern child support application fees are found in 45 C.F.R. § 302.33.

³¹ The fund was established in the D.C. Code by D.C. Actual Revenue	$180,377.25	$63,888.52	$2,836.72	$1,496.47	$893.04

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund helps finance the District's child support enforcement program.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue comes from the interest on the District's child support bank account. The Child Support Services Division (CSSD) in the Office of the Attorney General collects child support payments from non-custodial parents and holds them in a bank account for distribution to custodial parents.

As provided in Title 42, Section 645b of the U.S. Code, the child support enforcement agency must distribute the support payments within 48 hours of receiving the payment. The money in the account bears interest during the time between collection and distribution. CSSD uses the interest it earns on the bank deposits to offset the fees charged by the bank.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund reimburses the Office of Pay and Retirement Services (part of the Office of the Chief Financial Officer) for providing special services to employees on their payroll checks. These services include providing recurrent deductions from an employee’s check for purposes such as paying union dues, fulfilling a delinquent tax obligation, contributing to a savings account, or making child support or alimony payments.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.³⁷

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Office of Pay and Retirement Services charges various fees for special payroll services provided to employees. For example, if an employee’s paycheck has to be garnished for child support or some other purpose, the charge is $2 per paycheck. If an employee wants an additional allotment (money sent to a second account), the fee is 50¢ per paycheck.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the Fund is to defray the operating costs of the D.C. government for handling dishonored or unpaid checks and collecting the amounts that are owed. The Office of Finance and Treasury, part of the Office of the Chief Financial Officer, is responsible for this function.

In 2011, the Fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.⁴⁰

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue comes from fees charged when checks written to the District of Columbia government are not honored. The Mayor sets the fee, which is to be based on “the approximate cost to the District of Columbia of handling dishonored or unpaid checks and collecting the amounts they represent.”⁴¹ The current fee is $65.

³⁹ The “Dishonored Check Fee Collection Fund” was formally established by D.C. Law 16-33, which took effect on October 20, 2005. DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that is used to “cover the costs of updating the automated system of the Recorder of Deeds and the repair and improvement of the infrastructure” at the Recorder of Deeds’ office. These costs “shall include the purchasing of computer hardware and software, maintenance of the new computer system, training staff to implement and operate the new system, and the repair of the infrastructure components necessary to meet the overall mission of the Recorder of Deeds.”⁴²

The authorizing statute also states that, “The revenues accruing to the Fund shall be considered as supplementing and enhancing the operations of the Real Property Tax Administration ... and are not intended to be used to supplant support for the Real Property Tax Administration ... provided through the general funds of the District.”⁴³ The Recorder of Deeds is part of the Real Property Tax Administration within the Office of the Chief Financial Officer.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from a $6.50 surcharge that is applied to each deed of trust, modification of a deed of trust, mortgage, lien, or other document before it is accepted for recordation by the Recorder of Deeds.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The Chief Financial Officer has the statutory authority to contract with private collection agencies to collect delinquent taxes. This fund pays for the costs of contracting with a collection agency.

In 2011, the Fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia's general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.⁴⁵

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the collection fees that a private agency is authorized to charge to delinquent taxpayers. The fee may not exceed 25 percent of the total amount of delinquent taxes collected, including penalties and interest.

⁴⁵ See Section 9012 of D.C. Law 19-21, the "Fiscal Year 2012 Budget Support Act of 2011," effective September 14, 2011.

27. Unclaimed Property Contingency Fund

Authority to Charge Fee: D.C. Official Code § 42-223
Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 42-223
Year Enacted: 1981

	FY 2007	FY 2008	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011
Actual Revenue	$1,520,659.78	$1,342,295.07	$1,251,158.43	$1,526,456.44	$1,184,528.69

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the fund is to defray the Chief Financial Officer’s costs for administering the unclaimed property program. The Office of Finance and Treasury, part of the Office of the Chief Financial Officer, administers the unclaimed property program.

Unclaimed property consists of money and other personal assets that are considered lost or abandoned when an owner cannot be located after a specified period of time. These assets can include checking accounts, certificates of deposit, gift certificates, unpaid wages, uncashed checks, dividends, insurance payments, money orders, refunds, savings accounts, and stocks. Generally, most property is presumed to be abandoned if there has been no activity relating to the property for at least five years. The District auctions unclaimed property on eBay.

In 2011, the Fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.⁴⁶

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue for the fund comes from a portion of the proceeds of unclaimed property sales that covers: (1) any costs incurred in connection with the sale of abandoned property, (2) any costs associated with mailing and publishing information about abandoned property, (3) reasonable service charges, and (4) the costs incurred in examining the records of holders of abandoned property and collecting the property from the holders. Any funds collected in excess of the amount needed to reimburse the Chief Financial Officer for these administrative costs are deposited in the unrestricted portion of the general fund.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to pay for the cost of any service contract associated with the administration of (1) the defined contribution pension plan (401(a) plan) for District government employees hired on or after October 1, 1987, (2) the deferred compensation plan (457 plan) available to all D.C. government employees, or (3) the college savings plan, which is available to any family saving for a child’s higher education. The Office of Finance and Treasury is the unit of the Office of the Chief Financial Officer that administers these fiduciary plans.

In 2011, the Fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.⁴⁸

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The contract costs are paid from plan assets for the appropriate pension plan (the defined contribution and deferred compensation plans, respectively), and from application fees and annual account maintenance fees for the college savings program.

⁴⁷ The statutory authority to pay the cost of any contract associated with administering the defined contribution plan using the assets of the Section 401(a) Trust has been on the books since 1987, but it is not known if the fund was established at that time. The “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information dating back to FY 1999, shows that the fund has received revenue every fiscal year since 2001.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund provides the mechanism for the D.C. Lottery to reimburse the Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO) for legal, human resources, procurement, internal audit, internal security, and financial management services that the OCFO provides to the Lottery. The fund must be classified as a special-purpose fund, rather than an intra-district fund, because the Lottery is an enterprise fund.⁴⁹ Transactions between an enterprise fund and the primary government must reflect that they are separate entities.⁵⁰

In 2011, the Fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.⁵¹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Lottery revenue is used to reimburse the OCFO for the administrative services it provides to the D.C. Lottery. The amount of reimbursement is set in a memorandum of understanding.

⁴⁹ Before 2006, reimbursements from the D.C. Lottery for administrative and legal services provided by the Office of the Chief Financial Officer were recorded as intra-district transactions.

⁵⁰ D.C. Official Code § 47-373(2)(D) states that enterprise funds are used “to account for operations that are financed and operated in a manner similar to private business enterprises; or where it has been determined that periodic determination of revenues earned, expenses incurred, and/or net income is appropriate for capital maintenance public policy, management control, accountability, or other purposes.”

 Year Enacted: 2011

Actual Revenue	$68,000.00	$80,000.00	$85,000.000	$85,000.00	$115,000.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund pays for the salaries and benefits of a cigarette tax compliance officer employed by the Office of Tax and Revenue (OTR), which is part of the Office of the Chief Financial Officer. In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.⁵²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The money comes from the District of Columbia’s participation in the 1998 “master settlement agreement” (MSA) with tobacco manufacturers. In addition to the District, the parties to this agreement include 46 states, and five other U.S. jurisdictions that receive annual payments from participating tobacco manufacturers based on a formula included in the MSA.

In 2000, the District created the Tobacco Settlement Financing Corporation (TSFC) as a special-purpose, independent instrumentality to securitize the District’s tobacco settlement revenue by issuing bonds that are repaid by the revenue the District receives each year from the tobacco settlement. The proceeds of the bond issuance are transferred to the District in a transaction that allows the District to shift any risk to the flow of tobacco settlement revenue to the bondholders in return for an up-front payment. The District has conducted two securitizations with the TSFC: a $521 million bond issuance in 2001 (which will be repaid by tobacco settlement revenue that will be received through 2026) and a $248 million bond issuance in 2006 (which will be repaid using the tobacco settlement revenue that will be received between 2026 and 2040).⁵³

Before fiscal year 2012, this revenue was recorded in the OCFO’s special-purpose fund 0607, “Miscellaneous Revenue.” The revenue history for FY 2007-2011 shown above reflects the revenue deposited in Fund 0607.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This Fund serves as a depository for delinquent debts collected by a new Central Collection Unit; those debts, in turn, finance the Unit's operating costs. The Unit, which will be part of the Office of Finance and Treasury within the Office of the Chief Financial Officer, will be responsible for collecting all delinquent debts owed to the D.C. government. As described below, most of the revenue received in excess of the Unit's costs will be transferred to the general fund to support D.C. government programs and services.

The Fund is partly non-lapsing: 90 percent of any money deposited in the Fund in a prior fiscal year as well as any interest earned in a prior fiscal year must be transferred to the District's general fund. The other 10 percent of the prior-year balance shall be retained as a reserve for the Fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives all of the delinquent debt collected by the Central Collection Unit as well as fees paid by individuals or organizations to cover the costs of the debt collection. The Central Collection Unit has the authority to establish fees by regulation.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	$0.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that is intended to (1) reimburse the District’s general fund for tax abatements provided to Steuart Investment Companies, the development sponsor of the “Third & H Streets, N.E. project,” and (2) finance grants to retail developers in the “H Street, N.E., Retail Priority Area.”⁵⁴

The “Third & H Streets, N.E. Project” is a mixed-use retail, residential, and garage project located at Third & H Streets, N.E. The project has received a 20-year real property tax abatement as well as deed recordation and transfer tax exemptions.⁵⁵ The value of the tax abatements and exemptions to Steuart Investment Companies may not exceed $5 million annually and $25 million in the aggregate.

An “H Street retail developer” is defined in the authorizing statute as a person or corporation that engages in the sale of personal property for use or consumption by purchasers in the H Street, N.E., Retail Priority Area, or provides technical assistance to such a person or corporation.⁵⁶

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund will receive incremental real property tax revenue of as much as $5 million annually and $25 million in the aggregate. The incremental real property tax revenue is the amount by which the annual real property tax generated by the H Street, N.E., Retail Priority Area exceeds the real property tax revenue collected in that area during fiscal year 2007.

⁵⁴ The boundaries of the retail priority area are set forth in D.C. Official Code § 1-325.171(5).

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund intended to “pay the costs of operating and administering economic development programs, including the provision of credit support or enhancement, loans, grants, contracts, and the implementation of other initiatives.”⁵⁷ Money deposited in the fund is allocated annually to the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development in an amount equal to the total deposits and earnings that accrued in the prior fiscal year.

The authorizing statute also provides that the Industrial Revenue Bond Special Account shall have a sub-account known as the “Great Streets Development Account,”⁵⁸ but this account appears to relate to fiscal year 2006 capital budget allocations that are set forth in D.C. Official Code § 47-340.23(c).

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue comes from fees assessed by the Mayor for the provision to any private entity of loans, grants, credit support, revenue bonds, notes or other obligations pursuant to federal law or regulations, or any act or resolution of the D.C. Council. The authorizing statute specifies that, “Such fees shall be in amounts reasonably calculated to defray costs associated with developing, implementing, administering, monitoring, evaluating, or otherwise supporting such financial assistance for economic development purposes.”⁵⁹

The fees are set forth in Title 10-B, “Planning and Development,” Section 5015, of the D.C. Municipal Regulations.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	$9,404,172.93	$6,459,344.95	$511,053.80	$5,468,591.66

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund can be used to finance the costs of operating and administering properties and programs under the authority of the Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development, including (1) the costs of managing properties and programs formerly administered by the Anacostia Waterfront Corporation (AWC) and the National Capital Revitalization Corporation (NCRC), and (2) economic development assistance, including the provision of grants, loans, and credit support or enhancement. The fund is non-lapsing and interest-bearing.

The AWC and NCRC were abolished by D.C. Law 17-138, the “National Capital Revitalization Corporation and Anacostia Waterfront Corporation Reorganization Act of 2008,” and the functions performed by both corporations were transferred to the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development.⁶⁰

The funds allocated to the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development each fiscal year must equal the fund balance at the end of the previous fiscal year, plus all deposits and earnings that are estimated to be received during the current fiscal year.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund’s revenue comes from the following sources: (1) all operating funds transferred from the AWC and NCRC, (2) all fees, revenues, and other income arising from real property or other assets formerly under the authority of the AWC and NCRC, (3) funds authorized by an act of Congress, reprogramming, or intra-district transfer to be deposited into the account, (4) any other monies designated by law to be deposited into the account, and (5) interest earned on money deposited into the account.

⁶⁰ Although D.C. Law 17-138 took effect on March 26, 2008, it was preceded by emergency (90-day) legislation and temporary (225-day) legislation that took effect in 2007. That is why the year of enactment listed above is 2007, rather than 2008.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that is used to defray the costs of repair work necessary to prevent the demolition by neglect of historic landmarks, and to carry out historic preservation programs.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Historic Landmark-District Protection Fund receives revenue from the following sources: (1) any amounts appropriated to the Fund, (2) grants or donations from any source to the Fund or to the District of Columbia for the purposes of the Fund, (3) interest earned from the deposit or investment of money in the Fund, (4) amounts collected as costs or penalties for violation of the Historic Landmark and Historic District Protection Act of 1978, as amended, or any sums received through a resolution of a dispute concerning a historic preservation enforcement action, (5) all other receipts derived from the operation of the Fund, (6) the proceeds from the sale of real or personal property donated to the Fund or to the District of Columbia for the purposes of the Fund, and (7) all proceeds from the payment of filing fees and transmittal fees to designate a historic landmark or historic district.

Presently, the filing fees for applications to designate a historic landmark are $100 for up to five buildings and $200 for more than five buildings. The filing fees for applications to designate a historic district are $250 for fewer than 100 buildings, $500 for 100 to 750 buildings, and $1,000 for more than 750 buildings. The fee is $25 for transmittal of applications to the Commission of Fine Arts, and the fee for transmittal to the National Capital Planning Commission for review of projects in the Pennsylvania Avenue Development Corporation Area is also $25.⁶¹

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing revolving fund that supports the Home Purchase Assistance Program (HPAP), which also receives appropriations from the District government. HPAP provides financial assistance to low- and moderate-income individuals for down payments or interim financing to purchase housing.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue primarily from the repayments of principal and interest on HPAP loans. In addition, the fund serves as the depository for grants and gifts to carry out the purposes of HPAP; proceeds realized from the liquidation of any security interests held by the District under the terms of any assistance provided through HPAP; interest earned from the deposit or investment of monies into the Fund; repayments of principal and any interest on loans provided by the District of Columbia Government Employer-Assisted Housing Program; and all other revenues, fees, and receipts derived from the operation of the Fund.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) that supports 16 purposes set forth in D.C. Official Code § 42-2857.01. These purposes include providing financial assistance to low-income and moderate-income residents of the District so that they may obtain or maintain affordable housing; helping low-income and moderate-income residents afford down payments on homes in the District; and providing financial assistance to developers to acquire real property for the provision of affordable housing.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the following sources: (1) all revenue derived from lease payments from loans and other proceeds received under the Land Acquisitions for Housing Development Opportunities Program, (2) all condominium and cooperative conversion fees, (3) condominium registration fees, (4) repayments and other proceeds from the Rehabilitation Repayment account, (5) repayments and other proceeds from Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Fee Collection program, (6) repayments and other proceeds from the Home Again Revolving Fund, (7) repayments and other proceeds from the portal sites,⁶³ and (8) repayments and other proceeds from any other DHCD programs created by regulation.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This non-lapsing fund was created to make private-sector workers' compensation payments⁶⁴ in the following special cases: (1) when the employer fails or refuses to provide adequate rehabilitation services,⁶⁵ (2) when a second medical opinion shows that the first opinion was faulty or that the recommended treatment is not generally recognized in the medical community, (3) in certain instances when an injury combines with a pre-existing disability to cause a substantially greater disability,⁶⁶ or (4) when the employer is insolvent or for other reasons cannot pay for the workers' compensation.⁶⁷ The Department of Employment Services administers the workers' compensation program.

All of the money deposited in the Fund is held in trust by the government for the workers' compensation program, and any balance remaining in the Fund at the end of the fiscal year must be used to offset any assessment for the Fund in the following year.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue for the Fund primarily comes from an assessment on employers based on paid losses in the preceding fiscal year. There are several other sources of revenue, such as the fines and penalties collected for violations of the workers' compensation law.

⁶⁴ D.C. government employees receive compensation for on-the-job injuries from the Disability Compensation Fund.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to “provide for the payment of all expenses to administer” the workers’ compensation program,⁶⁸ which covers private-sector employees who are injured on the job and is administered by the Department of Employment Services. The fund is held in trust by the government and cannot be used for any other purpose besides administration of the workers’ compensation program.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue for the fund comes from assessments on employers that are based on the level of workers’ compensation and medical payments made in the preceding year. The Mayor determines the amount needed each year to administer the program, and assessments on self-insured employers and insurance carriers are set at a level that will generate the required level of funding.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that was created to defray unemployment insurance administration costs that are not payable from federal grants or other funds received for unemployment insurance administration. Expenditures from this Fund must be accompanied by a written determination by the Director of the Department of Employment Services (DOES) that no other funds can be used to finance the administrative expenditures. If the total balance of the Fund exceeds $1,000,000 by $1,000 or more on October 31st of any year, the DOES Director must transfer the excess money to the Unemployment Trust Fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue for this Fund comes from interest and penalties collected from employers who fail to file unemployment insurance reports or make their unemployment insurance contributions on time.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is an interest-bearing fund that is used to enhance the Department of Employment Services’ unemployment insurance program by improving benefit claim eligibility determinations, providing employment and re-employment services, and preventing fraud. In addition, the Fund can be used to defray the costs of collecting and administering the unemployment insurance administrative fund assessment. The authorizing legislation does not explicitly state whether the Fund is non-lapsing, but provides that any funds deposited into the Fund must be used for unemployment insurance services.

The Fund was formerly called the “Unemployment Insurance Administrative Assessment Account,” but the name was officially changed to “Unemployment and Workforce Development Administrative Fund” in 2010.⁶⁹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue source for the Account is an administrative funding assessment of .2% on wages subject to the unemployment insurance tax. This assessment took effect on January 1, 2006, and must be paid by employers on a quarterly basis. A $4 million cap on the amounts deposited in the Fund was repealed in 2010.⁷⁰

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that supports a broad range of activities designed to address the problem of nuisance properties that present a threat to life or safety, or contribute to the blight or dilapidation of the area immediately surrounding the property. The Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs may use the fund to correct any violation of the nuisance property law that the property owner has failed to abate; to summarily abate any violations of the housing or construction codes when a life- or health-threatening condition exists; and to enclose or demolish a deteriorated structure.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund derives its revenue from the following sources: (1) fees, fines and penalties collected for violations of the law pertaining to insanitary buildings,⁷¹ (2) any amounts that are appropriated for the fund or the purposes of the fund, (3) recoveries won by Attorney General in judicial enforcement actions against violators, (4) rental unit fees paid by rental housing providers,⁷² (5) amounts donated to the fund by defendants as a condition of their probation, (6) grants or other donations to the fund or to the District of Columbia for the purposes of the fund, and (7) interest earned on the amounts in the fund.

⁷¹ See Title 6, Chapter 9 of the D.C. Official Code.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund created to allow individuals who have obtained a final judgment (such as fraud or misrepresentation) against a licensed real estate broker, salesperson, or property manager, to apply for payment of any outstanding judgment that the licensee is unable to pay. The authorizing statute prescribes limits on the amount that can be paid from the Fund for a particular claim and for the sum of all claims against a licensee. The Board of Real Estate administers the fund, with administrative support from the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs’ Occupational and Professional Licensing Administration.

The Board may also use up to 20 percent of the amount deposited in the Fund, as of October 1st of each year, to sponsor educational programs to improve the competency of licensees and applicants for licensure in order to protect the public interest. In addition, the cost of administering the Fund is paid from the Fund’s revenues.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue for the Fund comes from a portion of the license fees paid by real estate brokers, salespersons, and property managers. The Mayor sets the amount of the fees that are dedicated to the Fund. Presently, the Fund receives $60 as an add-on to each license application fee and each license renewal fee.⁷³ Licenses are valid for two years.

The Mayor also has the statutory authority to establish minimum and maximum balances for the Fund. Presently, the minimum balance is $1,040,000 and the maximum balance is $3,500,000. If the Fund balance is within $50,000 of the maximum on October 1st of any year, the Board may suspend collection of the assessment on January 1st of the next year. If the Fund balance falls within $50,000 of the minimum on October 1st of any year, the Board may resume collection of the assessment. Finally, if at any time the Fund balance falls below the minimum, the Board must assess each licensee up to $20 per year to bring the Fund balance up to the minimum.⁷⁴

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that was established to raise the standards of practice and competency of licensed real estate appraisers by supporting educational seminars, workshops, and other educational projects. The Board of Real Estate Appraisers administers the fund, with administrative support from the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs’ Occupational and Professional Licensing Administration.

The Board is also required to use the Fund to defray the administrative costs for the regulation of real estate appraisers.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund’s revenue comes from an appraisal education fund fee established by the Mayor as part of the licensing fees charged to real estate appraisers, and from civil penalties imposed on real estate appraisers for violations of the licensure requirements. Presently, the Fund receives $130 each time a real estate appraiser license is issued or renewed.⁷⁵ Licenses are valid for two years.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is used by the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs to defray the costs of its regulatory and licensing activities for non-health-related occupations and professions. The authorizing statute does not explicitly state whether interest earned on the funds in the Account is retained.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue in this Account comes from professional license fees paid to DCRA by accountants, appraisers, architects, asbestos workers, barbers, cosmetologists, electricians, funeral directors, interior designers, plumbers, refrigeration and air conditioning mechanics, and other professionals.

Actual Revenue	$37,089.13	$4,038.62	$863.40	$2,935.56	$60.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to defray the costs to the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs (DCRA) of providing services needed to protect public health and safety at special events, such as parades, festivals, or carnivals, which are conducted for profit or gain.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.⁷⁶

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives the license fee of $330 per day that must be paid by owners, managers, or promoters of special events. There are also expediting fees of $100 for applications submitted 15 to 29 days before the special event and $200 for applications submitted 14 or fewer days before the event.

The Mayor also has the statutory authority to adjust the per-day fee to cover the costs incurred by the District to provide police, fire, and other services to participants in the special event. Presently, DCRA also charges $54.35 per employee per hour (for a minimum of four hours) to cover the cost of monitoring health and food practices, safety conditions, and alcoholic beverage control at special events.⁷⁷

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to finance the operating expenses of the Boxing and Wrestling Commission, a three-member board that is authorized “to promulgate rules and regulations, to promote the District of Columbia as a location for boxing, wrestling, and martial arts events, and to regulate boxing and wrestling within its jurisdiction.”⁷⁸ The Commission receives administrative support from the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs’ Occupational and Professional Licensing Administration.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.⁷⁹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Revenue for this fund comes from the following three sources: (1) fees collected from the issuance of boxing and wrestling licenses and permits, (2) a 5 percent fee on the gross receipts of any professional boxing or wrestling event held in the District, and (3) a fee on the gross receipts received from showing a boxing or wrestling match on a closed-circuit telecast or subscription television viewed within the District. The fee for transmitting a match on closed-circuit telecast or subscription television is 5 percent of the first $100,000 of gross receipts, and 2 percent of any gross receipts in excess of $100,000.

The Commission issues 15 types of licenses (such as professional boxer, inspector, manager, referee, timekeeper), which are valid for two years. Application fees range from $5 to $65 and license fees range from $2 to $65.⁸⁰

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The Basic Business License Fund is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that defrays all of the costs of operating the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs (DCRA)’s basic business licensing system.⁸¹ A “basic business license” is defined as “the single document designed for public display ... that certifies District agency license approval and that incorporates the requirements for individual licenses included in the basic business license system.”⁸² All basic business licenses are valid for two years.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives (1) all fees collected by DCRA for basic business licenses and endorsements, including license renewals, late renewal penalties, other penalties, and fines, (2) half of the total amount of penalties and fines collected as a result of basic business license violations,⁸³ and (3) a portion of the increased fees required of businesses with a general business license or a general construction/construction manager license.⁸⁴

The basic business license fee is $77, with an additional charge of $27.50 per endorsement (type of business activity) as well as varying “category license fees.” Examples of category license fees include bowling alley ($112 per lane), dry cleaner ($289), and grocery store ($200).⁸⁵

A general business license is required of all firms conducting business in the District of Columbia that are not otherwise required to obtain an endorsement under a particular license category. A general contractor/construction manager license is required of all individuals or firms involved in general contracting or construction management. The increased fees from these licenses must be used to “reform and streamline the application and renewal process for licensing.”⁸⁶

⁸¹ See D.C. Official Code § 47-2851.13(b).

⁸² See D.C. Official Code § 47-2851.01(1).

⁸³ The rest of the penalties and fines collected flow into the unrestricted part of the general fund.

⁸⁴ The statute does not specify the “portion” to be allocated. See D.C. Official Code § 47-2851.13(d)(1).

Actual Revenue	$128,900.05	$699,495.05	$176,547.81	$798,880.00	$148,667.49

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing Fund that pays for any expenditure that the Board of Professional Engineering determines is “reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties.”⁸⁷ Although the authorizing statute does not state whether the Fund is interest-bearing, there is no provision in the law for money to be transferred to the general fund.

The Board regulates the professions of engineering and land surveying, licenses qualified individuals as professional engineers and land surveyors, and certifies engineering interns and land surveyor interns. The Board receives administrative support from the Occupational and Professional Licensing Division of the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives the application and licensing fees paid by professionals who are regulated by the Board. Application fees are $65, and the license fees are $120 (licenses are valid for two years). License renewals and license reinstatements cost $155, while the duplicate license fee is $30.⁸⁸

Revenue tends to fluctuate according to a two-year cycle (one “high” year and one “low” year) because engineers and surveyors renew their licenses in August of every even-numbered year. New registrations and licenses, as well as reinstatements and requests for duplicate licenses, are received on a continuous basis.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that serves the following purposes: (1) to defray the costs of at least three full-time employees who provide technical assistance, plan review, and inspections and monitoring of green buildings, (2) to support additional staff and operating costs of training, technical assistance, plan review, inspection and monitoring pertaining to green buildings and green codes development, (3) to finance research and development pertaining to green building practices, (4) to support education, training, and outreach, and (5) to provide seed money for demonstration projects, evaluation of the projects, and adoption of the projects if they prove successful.

The Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs (DCRA) administers the District’s green building program, which requires commercial buildings to meet standards for environmentally-sensitive building design, construction, and operation. A “green building” is defined in D.C. law as “an integrated, whole-building approach to the planning, design, construction, operation, and maintenance of buildings and their surrounding landscapes that help mitigate the environmental, economic, and social impacts of buildings, so that they are energy efficient, sustainable, safe, cost-effective, accessible, healthy, and productive.”⁸⁹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from a “green building fee” that is added to building permit fees. The fee schedule is as follows: (1) new construction, $.002 per square foot, (2) alterations and repairs exceeding $1,000 but not exceeding $1 million, .13% of construction value, and (3) alterations and repairs exceeding $1 million, .065% of construction value. In addition, any fines collected from building owners who fail to meet their green-building commitments are deposited into the Fund. DCRA may also receive and administer grants intended to support the District’s green building program.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The Fund was created “for the purposes of maintaining and upgrading the corporate filing system, including copying fees, automation upgrades, personnel costs, and supplies.”⁹⁰ The Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs’ Corporations Division administers the corporate filing system, registering all entities that conduct business in the District of Columbia, including limited liability corporations, business corporations, professional corporations, non-profit corporations, and limited liability partnerships.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund serves as the depository for (1) the corporate filing fees paid by limited cooperative associations and statutory trusts, including renewals, fines, option service fees, and expedited service fees, and (2) any fines collected in the enforcement of the law regarding cooperative associations and statutory trusts. A major reform of the District’s business organizations code enacted in 2011 expanded the law’s coverage to include limited cooperative associations and statutory trusts for the first time.⁹¹

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that supports the “administration, improvement, and maintenance of property and programs”⁹² administered by the Commission on the Arts and Humanities. Although the authorizing statute does not explicitly state that the Fund is interest-bearing, it does provide that Fund revenue must be completely separate from the District’s general fund and that, “Proceeds in the Fund may be invested in a prudent and reasonable manner consistent with applicable District government policies and procedures.”⁹³

The mission of the Commission is “to provide grants, programs, and educational activities that encourage diverse artistic expressions and learning opportunities, so that all District of Columbia residents and visitors can experience the rich culture of our city.”⁹⁴

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from (1) private donations, gifts, and grants, and (2) proceeds of the sale or loan of works of art, prints, and promotional items.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that was created to finance the operating expenses of the Alcoholic Beverage Regulation Administration (ABRA) in performing its administrative and regulatory duties. ABRA issues licenses that enable qualified businesses to serve or sell alcoholic beverages, monitors and enforces compliance with the alcoholic beverage control laws, and implements education and enforcement programs to help prevent the sale of alcoholic beverages to underage individuals.

Although the authorizing statute does not explicitly state that the Fund is interest-bearing, it does provide that Fund revenue must be completely separate from the District’s general fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: All funds obtained from alcoholic beverage licensing and permitting fees are deposited into the Fund. Licensing and permitting fees vary depending on the type and size of establishment or the nature of the activity authorized.

ABRA issues seven types of licenses: on-premises retailer, off-premises retailer, ABC manager, wholesaler, caterer, solicitor, and temporary. In addition, there are seven license classes that generally refer to the type of alcoholic beverage that may be sold or served at a particular establishment. DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the Fund is to finance all of the operating expenses of the Public Service Commission. The Commission regulates the rates for electric and natural gas utilities in the District of Columbia, but Verizon Washington (which is the “incumbent local exchange carrier”⁹⁶ for telephone services) is subject to a “price cap plan,” which is an alternative form of regulation approved by the Commission. The Commission does not have authority over the rates of competitive telecommunication, electric, or natural gas providers, because they are subject to market forces. The Commission also regulates the quality of service provided by electric, natural gas, and telecommunications companies in the District of Columbia, including the competitive providers.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the electric, natural gas, and telecommunications providers regulated by the Commission. This revenue is divided into two components: (1) a reimbursement fee, and (2) a special franchise tax.

The reimbursement fee supports the Commission’s appropriated budget, which covers general administrative and operating costs such as salaries, rent, and equipment (sometimes called “fixed costs”). The fee applies to each natural gas supplier, electricity supplier, and local exchange carrier. Each company is charged a share of the required funding that equals its operating revenue in the District of Columbia divided by the operating revenues of all regulated companies operating in the District.

The special franchise tax defrays the variable costs absorbed by the Commission, such as attorneys and expert technical consultants, for particular cases. The Commission assesses the special franchise tax on each public utility being investigated, valued, revalued, or otherwise affected by a particular proceeding of the Commission, and must return any unexpended funds to the utility that made the payment after the proceeding is concluded.

⁹⁶ The incumbent local exchange carrier was the monopoly provider of telephone services before the advent of competition in the telecommunications industry, and is required to provide reasonable and non-discriminatory access to its network to any other telecommunications carrier.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the Fund is to finance all of the expenses of the Office of the People’s Counsel (OPC), which is an independent agency that serves as the advocate for consumers of telephone, natural gas, and electric services in the District of Columbia.

By law, OPC is a party in all utility-related proceedings before the Public Service Commission. OPC also represents the interest of District ratepayers before federal regulatory agencies. OPC is authorized to investigate the operation and valuation of utility companies independently of a formal proceeding.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the electric, natural gas, and telecommunications providers regulated by the Commission. The revenue is divided into two components: (1) a reimbursement fee, and (2) a special franchise tax.

The reimbursement fee supports OPC’s appropriated budget, which covers general administrative and operating costs such as salaries, rent, and equipment (sometimes called “fixed costs”). The fee applies to each natural gas supplier, electricity supplier, and local exchange carrier. Each company is charged a share of the required funding that equals its operating revenue in the District of Columbia divided by the operating revenues of all utilities operating in the District. The Public Service Commission determines the amount of the reimbursement fee.

The special franchise tax defrays the variable costs absorbed by OPC, such as attorneys and expert technical consultants, for particular cases. The Public Service Commission assesses the special franchise tax on each public utility being investigated, valued, revalued, or otherwise affected by a particular proceeding, and transfers the money to the Fund. Any money that is unexpended by OPC at the end of the proceeding must be returned to the utility that made the payment.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing account that is part of a larger fund known as the “Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund,” which is one of two trust funds administered by the Department of Insurance, Securities, and Banking (DISB). Funds in this account defray all of DISB’s operating costs for regulating health maintenance organizations (HMOs) doing business in the District of Columbia.

DISB’s central and overhead costs are shared by the Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund and the other trust fund, the “Securities and Banking Regulatory Trust Fund.” D.C. law states that the money collected for each trust fund shall under no circumstances “be commingled or used to fund the regulatory activities of a bureau other than the bureau regulating the activities for which the respective funds were established.”⁹⁸

The authorizing statute further provides that, “Any monies received but not expended in a given fiscal year shall be retained by the Fund and applied against the budget for the ensuing year, and the assessments for that year reduced accordingly.”⁹⁹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The account receives revenue from an annual assessment on HMOs doing business in the District of Columbia, based on a percentage of direct gross receipts from the preceding year. Each HMO must pay a minimum annual assessment of at least $1,000. The Mayor has the authority to establish the assessment rate each year, which may not exceed .3 percent of direct gross receipts.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a lapsing fund that was created to finance the operations of the Securities and Banking Bureau of the Department of Insurance, Securities, and Banking (DISB). Any revenue received but not expended in a fiscal year is returned to the general fund.

DISB’s central and overhead costs are shared by the Securities and Banking Regulatory Trust Fund and the agency’s other trust fund, the “Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund.” The authorizing statute states the money collected for each trust fund shall under no circumstances “be commingled or used to fund the regulatory activities of a bureau other than the bureau regulating the activities for which the respective funds were established.”¹⁰²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from “all licensing fees, fines, and any other fees imposed, assessed, and collected for securities regulation and banking regulation.”

Banking-related revenue includes fees generated from chartering District of Columbia banks, licensing fees for financial institutions, and an assessment fee charged to mortgage lenders and brokers. The fees are set by the DISB Commissioner.

Securities-related revenue includes all licensing fees and fines paid by securities broker-dealers. A “broker-dealer” is defined in D.C. law as “a person engaged in the business of effecting offers, purchases, or sales in securities for the account of others or for his or her own account.”¹⁰³ The licensing fees are set by the DISB Commissioner. Presently, the fees are as follows: $250 for the initial and renewal license of each broker-dealer firm, $45 for the initial and renewal license of each broker-dealer, $45 for transfer of a broker-dealer’s license, $45 for an issuer-agent, and $25 for processing of fingerprints.¹⁰⁴ Licenses are valid for one year.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a lapsing fund that was created to support the operations of the Securities Bureau of the Department of Insurance, Securities, and Banking (DISB). Any revenue received but not expended in a fiscal year is returned to the unrestricted part of the general fund.

This fund is a sub-account of DISB’s Securities and Banking Regulatory Trust Fund, which is one of two trust funds that support DISB’s operating budget (the other trust fund is the “Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund”). The authorizing statute states that the money collected for each trust fund shall under no circumstances “be commingled or used to fund the regulatory activities of a bureau other than the bureau regulating the activities for which the respective funds were established.”¹⁰⁵ DISB’s central and overhead costs are shared by the two trust funds.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from all licensing fees and fines paid by investment advisers. An “investment adviser” is defined in D.C. law as “a person who, for compensation, (i) engages in the business of advising others as to the value of securities or as to the advisability of investing in, purchasing, or selling securities, or (ii) as a part of a regular business, issues or promulgates analyses or reports concerning securities.”¹⁰⁶

The licensing fees and fines are set by the Commissioner of Insurance, Securities, and Banking. Presently, the fees are as follows: $250 for the initial and renewal license of each investment adviser firm, $45 for the initial and renewal license of each investment adviser, $45 for transfer of an investment adviser’s license, and $25 for processing of fingerprints.¹⁰⁷ Licenses are valid for one year.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: An investment company that files a notice of intent to offer or sell securities in the District of Columbia must pay a fee, which is presently equal to one-tenth of 1 percent of the gross value of the securities sale. The DISB Commissioner has the authority to set the fee by rule.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a lapsing, interest-bearing account that is part of a larger trust fund known as the “Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund,” which is one of two trust funds administered by the Department of Insurance, Securities, and Banking (DISB). The purpose of the account is to finance DISB’s administrative, regulatory, and marketing activities related to captive insurance companies. A “captive insurer” is any insurer that insures the risks of its parent or affiliated companies of its parent. Captive insurance companies are exempt from the assessments imposed on health maintenance organizations and insurers (see the earlier discussion of DISB Funds 2100 and 2200).

DISB’s central and overhead costs are shared by the Insurance Regulatory Trust Fund and the other trust fund, the “Securities and Banking Regulatory Trust Fund.” The authorizing statute states the money collected for each trust fund shall under no circumstances “be commingled or used to fund the regulatory activities of a bureau other than the bureau regulating the activities for which the respective funds were established.”¹⁰⁹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Revenue for this account comes from (1) a tax on the net direct premiums of a captive insurer, (2) a tax on the assumed reinsurance premiums of a captive insurer, and (3) fees paid by captive insurers for the issuance of a certificate of authority and the renewal of the certificate. The tax rate paid by captive insurers is graduated according to different levels of net direct premiums and assumed reinsurance premiums. The fees paid by captive insurers, which are set by the DISB Commissioner, are $500 for application review and $300 for a certificate of authority (initial issuance and renewal).

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the Fund is to finance the administrative costs of the Department of Insurance, Banking, and Securities (DISB)'s foreclosure mediation program. DISB oversees a mediation process that is available to all residential mortgage borrowers who have received a notice of default. The Fund is non-lapsing and interest-bearing.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from all fees and penalties collected in accordance with the foreclosure mediation program. Borrowers must pay a $50 fee to participate in mediation. The lender must pay a fee of $300 for each notice of default on a residential mortgage, but may recover the fee if its power to sell the property is exercised and sufficient amounts from the proceeds of the sale remain after covering the amounts due on the mortgage and the costs of the sale.

Lenders are also subject to penalties of $500 if the lender or a representative fails to attend the mediation, fails to bring to the mediation each document required by law, or fails to participate in the mediation in good faith. If the lender breaches the terms of an agreement reached through medication, the lender is subject to a penalty of $1,000 and shall be required to perform the terms of the agreement.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	$4,345,556.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the Fund is two-fold: (1) to defray the operating costs of the Capital Access Program administered by the Department of Insurance, Securities, and Banking, and (2) to make deposits in the reserve accounts of participating financial institutions for reimbursement of any losses attributable to capital access loans to qualifying small businesses and non-profit organizations issued through the program. The Fund is non-lapsing and interest-bearing.

The purpose of the Capital Access Program is “to assist financial institutions in making loans to businesses and nonprofit organizations that face barriers in accessing capital,”¹¹⁰ thereby enabling the District to receive federal funds allocated by the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010 to increase access to capital by small businesses and non-profit organizations. The Act established a seven-year state small business credit initiative with total funding of $1.5 billion. Each state, including the District of Columbia, is guaranteed a minimum of 0.9 percent of the $1.5 billion.¹¹¹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund serves as the repository of federal funds awarded to the District to implement the Capital Access Program. In addition, the Fund may receive gifts, grants, donations, and awards from any source, including the federal government.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is used to support the operations of the Office of Cable Television (OCT), which regulates cable television service in the District of Columbia and operates the District’s government access channels (TV-13 and TV-16, the “District of Columbia Network”) as well as its public education access channel (the “District Knowledge Network”).

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue deposited into the Account includes (1) franchise fees and PEG support fees paid by cable television operators in the District of Columbia, (2) application, transfer, and other cable franchise-related fees charged to District cable franchisees, (3) fees paid by other government agencies for use of OCT’s studios, equipment, and personnel, (4) penalties imposed on franchisees for violations of franchise agreement terms, and (5) other payments authorized by the cable television act.

The franchise fee is set by the cable operator’s franchise agreement. The D.C. Cable Television Reform Act of 2002 mandates that cable television franchise agreements require a cable operator to pay at least 5 percent of gross revenues to the District of Columbia. Presently, Comcast, RCN, and Verizon have franchise agreements in the District.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund combines the special accounts that the D.C. Treasurer sets up for each Business Improvement District (BID) established in the District of Columbia. A “Business Improvement District” is defined in the D.C. Code as “a defined geographic area in the District, in which the preponderance of activity carried out is commercial or industrial in nature ... and which area consists of not less than 5 contiguous blocks.”¹¹²

BIDs are intended to enhance economic development in a designated area by augmenting public services such as park and sidewalk maintenance and improvement; retail, restaurant, and arts promotion; tourism, job creation, and business development efforts; festivals and special displays; public safety and transportation; and storefront and commercial building façade improvements. The BIDs agree to pay additional real property taxes to support these activities. Each BID is organized as a non-profit corporation under D.C. law. Presently, there are eight BIDs in the District of Columbia.

Each account within the fund maintains the real property taxes that are collected from property owners to support the activities of the relevant BID. The D.C. Treasurer transmits the money to each BID after deducting any delinquent real property taxes (and associated penalties and costs) owed to the District by business owners in the BID. The authorizing statute states that, “Each special account ... shall consist solely of funds deposited pursuant to this section, which funds shall at no time be commingled with the general fund or any other fund of the District.”¹¹³

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Revenue for the special accounts comes from additional real property taxes paid by businesses within a BID, penalties and interest imposed for failure to pay the tax on time, and any tax sales that result from failure to pay BID taxes. Before this fund was established, BID transfers were included in the budget of the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to serve as a repository for reimbursements received by the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) through agreements with other law enforcement agencies. Originally, the reimbursements were provided solely by law enforcement agencies such as the U.S. Park Police and the U.S. Secret Service for use of the police and fire clinic, which is managed by MPD. The fund has since expanded to cover other inter-agency agreements, which mostly cover the cost of MPD overtime for serving on joint task forces with the federal government and other governments.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹¹⁵

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from reimbursements paid by other law enforcement agencies for services provided in accordance with a memorandum of agreement.

¹¹⁴ The “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information going back to FY 1999, shows that revenue has been recorded for the fund in each fiscal year since 2000. In FY 1999, all of MPD’s special-purpose revenue was recorded in one account, so the specific sources of special-purpose revenue for that year are not known.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to reimburse the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) for the cost of overtime needed to (1) staff special events such as parades, carnivals, and movie productions, and (2) provide security details to establishments, such as bars, nightclubs, and sports teams, that pay for extra police coverage

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted fund balance of the District of Columbia's general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹¹⁶

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the reimbursements paid by the owners, managers, or promoters of the special events, and by the owners of establishments that pay for extra police coverage. Although the owners, managers, or promoters of a special event must pay a license fee of $330 per day (which is collected by the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs), the statute further provides that, "The Mayor may adjust the license fee to cover the costs to the District of providing police, fire, and other public services that are necessary to protect public health and safety."¹¹⁷ Presently, MPD charges $60.58 per officer, per hour (with a four-hour minimum) to cover the cost of police services for special events.¹¹⁸

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that supports a variety of law-enforcement functions of the Metropolitan Police Department, including the provision of rewards to those who assist in solving crimes. Federal law allows asset forfeiture revenue to be used for law enforcement investigations, training, equipment, and other purposes.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue for the fund comes from asset and property seizures by federal law enforcement agencies for violations of the controlled substances and racketeering acts. The U.S. Attorney General has discretionary authority to share property, as well as proceeds from the sale of the property, with state and local law enforcement agencies that participated directly in the seizure or forfeiture of the property.

Federal law states that the U.S. Attorney General shall assure that any property transferred to a state or local law enforcement agency “has a value that bears a reasonable relationship to the degree of direct participation of the State or local agency in the law enforcement effort resulting in the forfeiture, taking into account the total value of all property forfeited and the total law enforcement effort as a whole.”¹²⁰

Actual Revenue	$0.00	$0.00	$17,553.00	$24,713.00	$35,721.95

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is an interest-bearing fund that is intended to support the training programs of the Department of Fire and Emergency Medical Services (FEMS). The authorizing statute provides that the revenue shall be used “to acquire improved technology and equipment, to hire, train, and certify staff, and to otherwise improve the quality of the training programs offered by the Department.”¹²¹

The authorizing statute also states that it should not be construed as prohibiting or limiting the allocation of additional funds in the District of Columbia budget to support fire and emergency medical services training.¹²²

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia for general use, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹²³

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund is authorized to receive revenue from fees charged to cover the costs of training that FEMS provides to non-District of Columbia government agencies, organizations, and individuals. The training may include hazardous materials training, firefighting training, emergency medical technician training, fire extinguisher safety, and cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

The Mayor has the authority to establish the fees by regulation.

Actual Revenue	$0.00	$938,594.75	$821,300.00	$1,491,200.00	$1,500,000.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund reimburses the Fire and Emergency Medical Services Department (FEMS) for personnel, equipment, supplies, and training costs associated with special events such as parades or festivals. In 2011, the Fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unspent funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund.¹²⁴

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the managers or sponsors of special events, who must pay a license fee of $330 per day (which is collected by the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs), as well as additional fees needed “to cover the costs to the District of providing police, fire, and other public services that are necessary to protect public health and safety.”¹²⁵ FEMS’ special event fees are shown in the table below.

Department of Fire and Emergency Medical Services Special Event Fees

Service	Fee
Over-the counter permit fee (to cover the review, research, and limited on-site inspection prior to granting the permit)	$150
On-site permit fee (covers the time required to perform an inspection and/or the activities or equipment that will be used during the event)	$88 per inspector/hour, with a minimum of 4 hours
On-site monitoring fee (covers monitoring of the special event to ensure public safety)	$65 per inspector/hour, with a minimum of 4 hours
Advanced Life Support unit (includes two EMS providers and one supervisor)	$200 per hour, with a minimum of 4 hours
EMS bicycle teams and ambulance carts (includes two EMS providers and either two bicycles or one cart)	$130 per hour, with a minimum of 4 hours
Use of fire truck/boat, four to five firefighters, and equipment for parades, festivals, and other special events	$400 per hour, with a minimum of 4 hours

73. Department of Corrections Reimbursement Fund

Authority to Charge Fee: Administrative Authority
 Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-325.21
 Year Enacted: 2005

	FY 2007	FY 2008	FY 2009	FY 2010	FY 2011
Actual Revenue	$24,000,000.00	$29,992,333.96	$32,589,209.39	$25,851,744.26	$24,463,818.37

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that reimburses the Department of Corrections (DOC) for the costs it incurs to house, care for, and transport inmates at the D.C. Jail who are the responsibility of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons. Federal law (the “National Capital Revitalization Act of 1997”) makes sentenced felons in the District of Columbia the responsibility of the federal government, but DOC remains responsible for the housing, medical, subsistence, and related costs of these felons until a space is found for them at a facility within the U.S. Bureau of Prisons system (this process is known as “designation”).

In fiscal year 2011, the average amount of time between sentencing and designation was 52 days.¹²⁶ After the prisoner is designated to a U.S. Bureau of Prisons facility, the federal government is responsible for the costs of housing the prisoner until her or she is transported to that facility.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The federal government reimburses DOC for the cost of services to sentenced felons according to rates set forth in a memorandum of understanding between the U.S. Marshals Service and DOC, which took effect on January 1, 2002. The current per-diem rate is $106.76 for each inmate.¹²⁷ All reimbursements for DOC’s housing, transporting, and handling of adult sentenced felons and probation, parole, or supervision violators,¹²⁸ and for DOC’s handling of prisoners returning to the D.C. Superior Court on a writ or subject to other commitment orders, are deposited into the Fund.

The reimbursement from the U.S. Marshals Service used to be classified as local funding prior to the statutory establishment of the Fund in 2005.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, revolving fund that is used to purchase items for sale at the commissary of the D.C. Jail. The Department of Corrections allows inmates to order items from the commissary on a weekly basis.

The commissary is a store located at the D.C. Jail where inmates can buy snacks, personal hygiene items, and other approved goods. Inmates purchase these items using money they have earned through work programs, obtained as gifts, or drawn from their own accounts.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the purchase of items by inmates.

¹²⁹ Although the year this fund was established is not known, the “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information going back to FY 1999, shows that revenue was recorded for the fund as far back as FY 2000.

Actual Revenue	$0.00	$0.00	$46,377.00	$38,028.78	$55,652.47

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that was created to serve three purposes: (1) to stock the commissary of the D.C. Jail, (2) to repay an initial appropriation used to finance the Fund, and (3) to provide goods and services that benefit inmates at the District’s correctional facilities, based on priorities set by a five-member Inmate Welfare Fund Committee comprised of Department of Corrections (DOC) officials.

The difference between the Inmate Welfare Fund and DOC special-purpose fund 0601 (“Concession Income,” which is described on the previous page) is that the Inmate Welfare Fund is used to purchase more specialized items identified by the Inmate Welfare Fund Committee, such as office supplies, reading materials, or recreation equipment, rather than the consumables such as snacks or personal hygiene items that are supplied by the D.C. Jail commissary.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The authorizing statute provided the Fund with two revenue sources: (1) an initial appropriation for fiscal year 2007,¹³⁰ and (2) the sale of goods through the commissary at the D.C. Jail. This authority has been put into effect through a policy transferring 5 percent of the commissary revenue deposited in Fund 0601, “Concession Income” (see description on previous page) to the Inmate Welfare Fund.

¹³⁰ Although the authorizing statute refers to an “initial appropriation in fiscal year 2007,” no amount was specified and it does not appear that any such appropriation was ever made.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	$675,050.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that reimburses the Department of Corrections (DOC) for the costs it incurs to house, feed, and provide medical care to juveniles who are in the custody of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons. DOC houses BOP juvenile inmates at the D.C. jail’s juvenile unit when sufficient space is available.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives payments from the U.S. Bureau of Prisons for housing the juveniles. The current rate is $230 per inmate, per day.

An intergovernmental agreement between DOC and the U.S. Bureau of Prisons states that, “The estimated maximum number of BOP juveniles per day to be housed under this Agreement is ten (10)” (emphasis in the original).¹³¹ The agreement took effect on July 1, 2010, and expires on June 30, 2013.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this Fund is to defray the cost of materials, supplies, and equipment for participants in the District of Columbia National Guard (DCNG)’s “Youth ChalleNGe” program.¹³² Nevertheless, the authorizing statute provides that the Commanding General of the National Guard “may” establish the Fund; to date, it has not been implemented.¹³³

The “Youth ChalleNGe” program provides 16- to 19-year-old high school dropouts with job skills, mentoring, and the opportunity to earn a general equivalency diploma.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Commanding General may authorize that up to $3,000 of unused funds from the DCNG’s operating budget shall be retained in the Fund for use in subsequent fiscal years, except that unused funds may not be dedicated to the Fund if its year-end balance exceeds $10,000. In addition, the Fund may accept donations of money or property from any lawful source.

¹³² Note that the capitalization of the letters “NG” in the name of the fund is not in error. Rather, the letters are capitalized in the official name of the fund to highlight the initials of the National Guard.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that is used to defray the technology and equipment costs directly incurred by the District of Columbia and its agencies and instrumentalities in providing a 911 (emergency) telephone system and a 311 (non-emergency) telephone system. In addition, the Fund is used to defray the direct costs incurred by wireless carriers in providing wireless 911 service.

The Fund may not be used to pay personnel or overhead costs (such as energy, rentals, janitorial service), except for security costs incurred in fiscal years 2011 and 2012.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Fund revenue comes from a monthly fee imposed on all local exchange carriers, including wireline carriers, wireless carriers, and interconnected Voice Over Internet Protocol (VoIP) service providers that connect users to the District’s public safety answering (911) system. The fee, which is set by statute and is calculated on the basis of each individual telephone line sold or leased in the District of Columbia, follows the schedule shown in the table below.

Emergency and Non-Emergency Number Telephone System Assessments

Service	Fee
Wireline local exchange service	$0.76 per exchange access line in the District of Columbia $0.62 per Centrex line in the District of Columbia $0.62 per private branch exchange station in the District of Columbia
Wireless telephone exchange service	$0.76 per telephone number with a District of Columbia billing address
Interconnected VoIP service	$0.76 for each line, trunk, or path that can access, connect with, or interface with 911 service based on primary place of use

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	$363,666.80

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that is used to defray the technology and equipment costs directly incurred by the District of Columbia and its agencies and instrumentalities in providing a 911 (emergency) telephone system and a 311 (non-emergency) telephone system. In addition, the Fund is used to defray the direct costs incurred by wireless carriers in providing wireless 911 service.

The Fund may not be used to pay personnel or overhead costs (such as energy, rentals, janitorial service), except for security costs incurred in fiscal years 2011 and 2012.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from a 2 percent tax on retail transactions for prepaid wireless telecommunications service. The 2 percent tax is imposed in place of the $0.76 fee per line that is charged to other (non-prepaid) sellers of wireless telephone service.¹³⁴ The seller of prepaid wireless telecommunications service remits the tax after deducting 3 percent of the total collections.

When prepaid wireless telecommunications service is bundled with one or more other products or services for a single price, the 2 percent rate applies to that price. However, if the amount of prepaid wireless service sold totals 10 minutes or less, or costs $5 or less, then the seller does not have to apply the 2 percent charge to a bundled service.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a revolving fund (non-lapsing and interest-bearing) that is administered by the Office of Victim Services, which is part of the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Public Safety and Justice. The Fund may be used for outreach activities designed to (1) increase the number of crime victims who apply for compensation to defray the costs of abuse counseling, health and mental health services, child advocacy centers, emergency housing, emergency child care, transportation, hospital-based informational and referral services, and family support, and (2) improve the intake, assessment, screening, and investigation of reports of child abuse and neglect, and domestic violence. Not more than 5 percent of the money in the Fund any fiscal year may be used to pay administrative costs.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives 50 percent of the unobligated balance existing at the end of each fiscal year in the Crime Victims Compensation Fund, which is administered by the D.C. Superior Court and maintained as a separate fund by the U.S. Treasury.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a revolving fund (non-lapsing and interest-bearing) that is administered by the Office of Victim Services, which is part of the Office of the Deputy Mayor for Public Safety and Justice. The money is used to award grants to organizations that serve victims of domestic violence in emergency shelters and transitional housing, in order to reimburse them for (1) costs incurred in providing counseling and case management to victims of domestic violence and their children, and (2) monthly rent, utilities, and building maintenance for the residential facilities where victims of domestic violence and their families are housed.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The authorizing statute states that, “The Chief Financial Officer shall transfer $3.7 million from the Crime Victims Assistance Fund to the Fund on or before October 1, 2007,” and also provides that other funds may be deposited into the Fund from sources identified by District law.¹³⁵ The $3.7 million was transferred to the Fund in FY 2008, but its transfer is not reflected in the revenue history shown above because the revenue was recorded in the account of the Crime Victim Assistance Fund.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to reimburse the D.C. Public Schools (DCPS) for the cost of providing gas and electricity to DCPS properties, or parts of DCPS properties, that are leased by other entities such as public charter schools, community organizations, and day-care centers. This is a lapsing fund: any unobligated balance remaining 90 days subsequent to the end of the fiscal year in which the revenue was received must be transferred to a debt service fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: DCPS has the authority to enter into use, license, and lease agreements for the use of public school buildings, parts of the buildings, or the grounds surrounding the buildings. The revenue for this fund comes from payments made by public charter schools and other entities that lease space or land from DCPS to reimburse DCPS for the cost of utility service from PEPCO and Washington Gas, as provided in the lease or use agreement.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to reimburse the D.C. Public Schools (DCPS) for the cost of providing custodial services to DCPS properties, or parts of DCPS properties, that are leased by other entities such as public charter schools, community organizations, and day-care centers. This is a lapsing fund: any unobligated balance remaining 90 days subsequent to the end of the fiscal year in which the revenue was received must be transferred to a debt service fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: DCPS has the authority to enter into use, license, and lease agreements for the use of public school buildings, parts of the buildings, or the grounds surrounding the buildings. The revenue for this fund comes from payments made by public charter schools and other entities for custodial services that are provided by DCPS pursuant to a use or lease agreement.

Actual Revenue	$527,228.44	$506,803.50	$597,836.86	$639,107.10	$680,771.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund is used for purposes determined by the D.C. Public Schools (DCPS) system.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹³⁸

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue for this fund comes from the tuition payments made by parents who are not residents of the District of Columbia but send their children to public school (a DCPS school or a public charter school) in the District. The non-resident tuition is determined by the uniform per-student funding formula that governs the distribution of public education dollars to DCPS schools and public charter schools.¹³⁹ The FY 2013 “foundation level” of per-pupil funding is $9,124 per student, but there are add-ons for different grade levels, special education, limited- and non-English-proficient students, and for summer school.¹⁴⁰

¹³⁸ See Section 9055 of D.C. Law 19-21, the “Fiscal Year 2012 Budget Support Act of 2011,” effective September 14, 2011.

¹³⁹ The uniform per-student funding formula is established by statute in Title 38, Chapter 29 of the D.C. Official Code.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund is used to support the food services program (school breakfast and school lunch) of the D.C. Public Schools. The school system has the statutory authority to use “all revenues and receipts of any nature whatever derived from the operation of food services ... for such school authority as the (Chancellor) may approve,”¹⁴¹ but in practice this fund uses revenue generated from cafeteria sales to support the food service program.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁴²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Fund revenue comes from cafeteria sales of school breakfasts and lunches. Although many students receive free breakfast and lunch, others receive a reduced-price lunch. The authorizing statute states that the fund shall receive “all revenues and receipts of any nature whatever derived from the operation of food services.”¹⁴³

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a lapsing fund that accounts for co-payments for child care services that are required by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services as a condition for the award of after-school child care grant funds.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from from the co-payments made by parents and guardians who received subsidized child care services from the District of Columbia government. Fees are based on a sliding fee scale set forth in Title 29, Chapter 3, section 380 of the D.C. Municipal Regulations. Parents or guardians with an income of less than 50 percent of the federal poverty standard are not required to make a co-payment.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	$8,179,412.18

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the fund is to defray the costs of telecommunications services and infrastructure purchased by the D.C. Public Schools (DCPS) and to implement DCPS’ technology plan. The fund is non-lapsing.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: DCPS receives an 80 percent discount on its purchase of telecommunications services, Internet access, and internal connections. The discount is provided in the form of a reimbursement from the School and Libraries Program of the Universal Service Fund, commonly known as the “E-Rate” Fund.

The E-Rate program helps most schools and libraries in the United States obtain affordable telecommunications and Internet access. The discounts provided to school and library systems depend on the poverty level and the urban or rural status of the population served. The Universal Service Administrative Company administers the E-Rate program on behalf of the Federal Communications Commission.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	$0.00	$191,042.77	$250,599.00	$152,173.25

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The Fund was established “to support the administration of state academic credential certifications, General Educational Development, and other state-level programs”¹⁴⁶ that are administered by the Office of the State Superintendent of Education (OSSE).

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁴⁷

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: OSSE is authorized by statute to “collect and dedicate fees for state academic credential certifications and general educational development testing as well as for any other state-level education function.”¹⁴⁸ These fees are deposited into the Fund. The State Superintendent of Education establishes the fees by regulation.

Licensure fees are as follows: the fee for initial licensure (teachers, school service providers, administrators, additional teaching areas, technical and industrial occupations) is $50; the fee for substitute licensure is $30; the fee for licensure renewal (teachers, school service providers, and administrators) is $30; and the fee for a replacement license or name change is $20.¹⁴⁹

General equivalency diploma (GED) fees are as follows: $50 for a full battery of GED tests, $10 for a partial test, $10 for rescheduling with at least 48 hours notice, $10 for a transcript request, $50 for verification of a GED request, and $50 for participation in commencement.¹⁵⁰

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a revolving fund that is administered by the Office of Charter School Financing and Support within the Office of the State Superintendent of Education (OSSE). The Fund provides grants, loan guarantees, and lease guarantees to public charter schools and eligible non-profit corporations to help public charter schools acquire, finance, or lease suitable space.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Fund revenue comes from the repayment of the loan guarantees. When a public charter school repays a loan to a bank, the bank in turn releases the loan guarantee and the Office of Charter School Financing and Support can use the money freed up to assist other charter schools.

The Fund was initially capitalized by $5 million that the U.S. Congress set aside from the privatization of the College Construction Loan Insurance Association (“Connie Lee”).

¹⁵¹ The Fund was established by the Student Loan Marketing Association Reorganization Act of 1996 (a federal law), but was administered by other agencies before being transferred from the Department of Insurance, Securities, and Banking to the State Education Office (the predecessor office of the Office of the State Superintendent of Education) in 2005.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is used to finance the enforcement of the District’s laws regarding student residency and primary caregiver status verification¹⁵² by the Office of the State Superintendent for Education.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from fines imposed on non-resident families who send their children to D.C. public schools (traditional public schools or public charter schools) without paying tuition. The fine for violating the District’s student residency rules is $2,000.

¹⁵² The term “primary caregiver” refers to someone other than a parent or court-appointed custodian or guardian who is the primary provider of care and support to a child who resides with him or her. It is necessary to verify that someone is in fact a primary caregiver for a child in order to prevent residency fraud.

Actual Revenue	$0.00	$3,778.00	$0.00	$0.00	$16,600.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The Fund is used to cover the costs of the Education Licensure Commission’s review of post-secondary institutions for licensing purposes (which includes both degree-granting and non-degree-granting schools). The Commission, which is part of the Office of the State Superintendent of Education, licenses postsecondary education institutions, maintains student records of institutions that have closed, and investigates complaints against the institutions.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁵³

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from fees that the Commission charges to the institutions that it licenses. The fees, which are intended to cover the costs of the Commission’s independent evaluations of the institution’s facilities and the Commission’s observations of evaluations made by the accrediting associations, vary according to the size of the institution and its degree-granting status. The fee schedule is published in Title 5-A, Section 8128 of the D.C. Municipal Regulations. The Mayor has the authority to set the fees by regulation.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is used to support institutional advancement at the University of the District of Columbia (UDC). The Fund may not be used to support operations; rather, its purpose is to support projects of extraordinary merit when no other funding sources are available.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: In May 1970, the Federal City College, one of UDC’s predecessor institutions, received a $7.2 million appropriation from the federal government to serve as an endowment, in lieu of the donation of public lands typically made to public college and university systems throughout the nation. The federal appropriation required that the principal remain intact. The principal is invested in corporate bonds, U.S. Treasury notes and bonds, and other government-backed securities. The earnings on the principal are deposited into the Fund for UDC’s use.¹⁵⁴

In addition to the $7.2 million, other endowment funds have been accepted by UDC and are invested to support university operations. These funds are used in accordance with the policy set by the Board of Trustees.

¹⁵⁴ This summary is based on Office of the District of Columbia Auditor, “Auditor’s Review of the University of the District of Columbia’s Land-Grant Endowment Fund,” (Report DCA0603), June 9, 2003, pp. 2-4 and p. 7.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to reimburse the University of the District of Columbia (UDC) for the indirect costs (also referred to as “overhead”) associated with administering federal grants, contracts, and other agreements. UDC uses the reimbursements to support its research and sponsored programs, and to further other projects that advance UDC’s strategic agenda, such as investments in facilities and infrastructure that are critical to the university’s research capabilities.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives indirect cost revenues according to rates negotiated between UDC and the federal government, in accordance with U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-21, “Cost Principles for Educational Institutions.”

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that provides general operating support to the University of the District of Columbia (UDC). The authorizing statute does not explicitly state whether the Fund is lapsing or non-lapsing, or whether it is interest-bearing, but provides that, “Moneys deposited therein shall be available for investment and shall be distributed in such amounts and in such manner as the Trustees may determine.”¹⁵⁵ This language seems to provide the UDC Board of Trustees, which governs the university, with the authority to retain interest and other income on the Fund deposits, and to carry over the Fund balance from one year to the next.

The authorizing statute further states that, “It is not the intent that any income derived as a result of such funds shall take the place of any District or federal appropriations or any part thereof but that it shall supplement such appropriations to the end that the University may improve and increase its functions, may enlarge its areas of service and may become more useful to a greater number of people.”¹⁵⁶

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from “all gifts and contributions in whatever form, funds in receipt of services rendered, other than tuition, and all moneys not included in the annual operating and capital and educational improvements funds appropriated by Congress.”¹⁵⁷

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that provides general operating support to the University of the District of Columbia (UDC), as directed by its Board of Trustees. The authorizing statute does not state whether the fund is lapsing or non-lapsing, or whether it is interest-bearing.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: This fund receives “all revenues and receipts of any nature whatsoever derived from tuition and fees”¹⁵⁸ paid by UDC students. Tuition and fees range from $295.83 per credit hour for undergraduate students who live in the District of Columbia to $840.00 per credit hour for graduate students who do not live in the District of Columbia.¹⁵⁹

As a component unit of the D.C. government, UDC is a legally separate entity for which D.C. government officials are financially accountable. That is why these payments are recorded in a special-purpose account, rather than classifying them as intra-district transfers.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives payments from other D.C. government agencies for education and training services provided by UDC.

Actual Revenue	$54,108.15	$72,389.95	$72,497.04	$85,135.91	$120,778.04

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to defray the costs of the D.C. Public Library’s copier lease and maintenance contract. A small portion of the revenue is also used by the Washingtoniana Division to preserve historical documents.

There is no specific statutory authority for this fund; rather, the Board of Library Trustees (the governing body for the D.C. Public Library) possesses general statutory authority to “determine the policy of the public library,” to “establish rules necessary for the management of the library,” and to “account for and control, under the rules of the library and the laws of the District of Columbia, the spending of all public funds received by the library.”¹⁶¹ The fund is non-lapsing and non-interest-bearing.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from copying and printing fees that are set by the Board of Library Trustees. Current fees are 15¢ for black-and-white copies and 35¢ for color copies. The fee for scanned photos and images from the Washingtoniana Division ranges from $10 to $20 depending on the size of the image, and the fee for commercial use of Washingtoniana Division images ranges from $20 to $150.¹⁶²

¹⁶¹ See D.C. Official Code § 39-105(a)(2), § 39-105(a)(4), and § 39-105(a)(8). The Board of Library Trustees, in turn, can delegate its authority to the Chief Librarian.

Actual Revenue	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00	$236,877.07	$90,899.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the fund is to defray the costs of telecommunications services in the D.C. Public Library (DCPL) system and to implement DCPL’s technology plan. The fund is non-lapsing and non-interest-bearing.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: DCPL receives an 80 percent discount on its telecommunications services, Internet access, and internal connections. The discount is provided in the form of a reimbursement from the School and Libraries Program of the Universal Service Fund, commonly known at the “E-Rate” Fund.

The E-Rate program helps most schools and libraries in the United States obtain affordable telecommunications and Internet access. The discounts provided to school and library systems depend on the poverty level and the urban or rural status of the population served. The Universal Service Administrative Company administers the E-Rate program on behalf of the Federal Communications Commission.

DCPL did not apply for e-rate reimbursement in fiscal years 2006 through 2009 because the Board of Library Trustees decided not to change its policy on Internet content filtering to comply with e-rate program requirements. The Board has since changed its policy and DCPL began receiving e-rate awards once again in fiscal year 2010.

¹⁶³ Although the E-Rate program was launched by the federal government in 1996, it is not known if this fund was created at that time. The “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information going back to fiscal year 1999, shows that the Fund has received and spent revenue in every fiscal year from 2000 to the present.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the fund is to cover administrative costs of the Public Charter School Board in monitoring and supervising public charter schools, which are publicly-funded schools that operate independently of the D.C. Public Schools system.

The seven-member Board is the sole authorizer of charter schools in the District of Columbia, and is responsible for evaluating the academic results of the schools, ensuring compliance with local and federal laws and regulations, and supervising the fiscal management of the schools. The Board can also close a charter school that fails to meet the goals established in the charter agreement between the Board and the school.

The Board is a “component unit” of the District of Columbia. A component unit is a legally separate organization for which the primary government (the District government) is financially accountable.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from two sources: (1) an application fee, not to exceed $150, that the Board may charge to process a petition to establish a public charter school, and (2) an administration fee that the Board may charge to a public charter school to cover the Board’s administrative responsibilities for the school. The administration fee may not exceed one-half of 1 percent of the school’s annual budget.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, revolving fund that serves as a depository for funds that may be used solely to fund the Interim Disability Assistance (IDA) program. IDA provides temporary financial assistance to adults with disabilities while their application for federal Supplemental Security Assistance (SSI) is pending.

The period of eligibility for IDA benefits ends either at the end of the month when the U.S. Social Security Administration (which administers the SSI program) begins payment of SSI benefits, or makes a final decision to deny an individual's application for SSI benefits.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: When an individual receiving IDA becomes eligible for SSI, his or her SSI check is sent to the District government, which then reimburses itself for IDA benefits paid to the individual. This money is then deposited into the fund.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to defray the administrative costs of the D.C. Department of Human Services for implementing the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), formerly known as the “Food Stamp” program.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from fines levied in D.C. Superior Court for fraudulent acquisition, use, or transfer of SNAP benefits in cases brought by the Office of the Attorney General. The U.S. Food and Nutrition Act of 2008 provides that states and the District of Columbia may retain 35 percent of collections from SNAP fraud cases.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to serve as a depository for funds received from the U.S. Social Security Administration on behalf of children under the care of the Child and Family Services Agency (CFSA) who receive Social Security survivors' benefits or Supplemental Security Income benefits. If there is no family member or relative to manage the funds on behalf of a child, a state agency such as CFSA can act as the child's "representative payee." CFSA uses the money to pay for residential and other services on behalf of the child.

CFSA is responsible for protecting child victims of abuse and neglect, as well as children at risk of abuse or neglect, and strengthening troubled families in the District of Columbia.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives benefit payments from the U.S. Social Security Administration for those cases in which CFSA is acting as the representative payee for children under its care.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the fund is to reimburse the Department of Mental Health (DMH) for costs of caring for individuals who are referred to DMH due to the city’s status as the nation’s capital and seat of the federal government.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The federal government reimburses DMH for psychiatric and general medical services provided to the following groups of patients: (1) individuals referred to DMH pursuant to a federal statute or by a federal agency, (2) individuals referred to DMH for emergency detention or involuntary commitment due to the individual’s action or threat of action against a federal official, (3) individuals referred to DMH for emergency detention or involuntary commitment due to the individual’s action or threat of action on the grounds of the White House or the U.S. Capitol, (4) individuals referred to DMH after being committed or apprehended in parts of the Washington metropolitan region where federal officials have concurrent jurisdiction, and (5) individuals referred to DMH as a result of a criminal proceeding in a federal court.

Federal reimbursement is based on the Medicare program’s Inpatient Psychiatric Facility Prospective Payment System, which weighs geographic, patient, facility, and other factors. This system is used to establish a full-bill charge rate, which is presently $991.25 per patient per day and is set in an intergovernmental agreement between the federal government and DMH.

¹⁶⁵ The federal statute (Public Law 98-621) requiring federal beneficiary reimbursement was enacted in 1984, but the “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information going back to fiscal year 1999, shows fiscal year 2005 as the first year that revenue was recorded for this fund.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the fund is to reimburse the Department of Mental Health (DMH) for costs of providing services to individuals who pay out of pocket or receive reimbursement from their health insurer.

Until FY 2012, the fund also reimbursed DMH for costs of caring for disabled and elderly individuals who are eligible for Medicare reimbursement from the federal government. Federal grant fund 8200 now serves as the depository for federal Medicare reimbursements to DMH.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives payments from individuals receiving care from DMH as well as their family members, estates, and insurance companies.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, revolving fund that is used by the Department of Health (DOH) to pay salaries and operating expenses of its State Health Planning and Development Agency (SHPDA), which is responsible for health systems development.

One of SHPDA’s main responsibilities is to administer the Certificate of Need process, which requires any individual or organization wishing to offer a new institutional health service, or to develop a capital asset for the purpose of providing health care, to demonstrate a public need for the service or asset.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: There are two sources of revenue for the Fund. First, persons or organizations who apply for a Certificate of Need must pay an application fee equal to 3 percent of the proposed capital expense or $5,000, whichever is greater, up to a ceiling of $300,000. Second, SHPDA is authorized to set and collect fees for certain data, analyses, and reports that it publishes.

Private hospitals pay an annual user fee to SHPDA in lieu of a Certificate of Need application fee. The fees paid by private hospitals are deposited into a separate special-purpose revenue fund (DOH Fund 0655), which is described later in this section.

¹⁶⁶ The State Health Planning and Development Fund was established in statute by D.C. Law 15-149, the “Health Service Planning and Development Act of 2003,” which took effect on April 22, 2004. Nevertheless, the Fund had been operating based on administrative authority prior to that time. DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that supports the operations of the Board of Pharmacy, a seven-member board that regulates the practice of pharmacy and receives administrative support from the Department of Health.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from pharmacy license fees, civil fines imposed by the Board, and any other funds specified by law. The Mayor sets the license fees by regulation.

Current license fees, which were raised in 2010, are as follows: biennial license fee, $900; late fee, $125; non-resident pharmacy registration fee, $900; duplicate certificate, $35, license validation, $35.¹⁶⁷

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund is used to defray costs incurred by the Department of Health in regulating the use of radiation machines and radioactive materials to protect the public health.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁶⁹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from registration fees paid by each owner or operator of an x-ray tube. The fee schedule is shown below.

Requirement	Fee
Dental X-Ray Tube Registration (biennial)	$250 for first tube, and $100 for each additional tube
Medical X-Ray Tube Registration (biennial)	$250 for first tube, and $100 for each additional tube

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, revolving fund that is used by the Department of Health (DOH) to pay salaries and operating expenses of its State Health Planning and Development Agency (SHPDA), which administers the Certificate of Need process. Any individual or organization wishing to offer a new institutional health service or develop a capital asset for the purpose of providing health care must demonstrate a public need for the service or asset by applying for a Certificate of Need.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from an annual user fee that private hospitals can pay in lieu of an application fee for a Certificate of Need. The annual user fee is equivalent to $4 per inpatient admission, based on the previous calendar year's admission data.

The Fund is distinct from the SHPDA fund (DOH Fund 0605) described earlier in this section.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund supports the operations of the Emergency Health and Medical Services Administration (EHMSA) within the Department of Health. EHMSA assists in the District government’s response to emergency health and medical crises through planning, preparedness, training, and operational programs. EHMSA is also responsible for certifying emergency medical technicians (EMTs) and paramedics, for inspecting and licensing ambulances, and for certifying emergency medical services training programs.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁷²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the certification fees paid by EMTs and paramedics, and from ambulance license fees. The Mayor has the authority to set these fees by regulation.

Current fees are as follows: (1) for EMTs, $45 for initial certification, $55 for reciprocity certification, and $30 for annual certification renewal, (2) for intermediate paramedics, $75 for initial certification, $80 for reciprocity certification, and $30 for annual certification renewal, and (3) for paramedics, $75 for initial certification, $80 for reciprocity certification, and $30 for annual certification renewal.¹⁷³

The licensing fee is $400 for a basic life support ambulance, and $600 for an advanced life support ambulance. There is a $50 fee for re-inspection of an ambulance.¹⁷⁴

Actual Revenue	$3,406.55	$18,954.75	$63,953.00	$60,499.00	$37,605.75

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, revolving fund that supports the regulatory activities of the Intermediate Care Facilities Division (ICFD) of the Health Regulation and Licensing Administration within the Department of Health.

The ICFD licenses group homes for persons with intellectual disabilities and certifies intermediate care facilities for persons with intellectual disabilities through annual inspections. The ICFD also conducts investigations of unusual incidents, and identifies deficiencies that may affect state licensure or eligibility for federal reimbursement through the Medicaid program.

An intermediate care facility for persons with intellectual disabilities is a licensed community residence that provides a home-like environment for at least four but no more than eight individuals who require specialized living arrangements.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the licensing fees paid by group homes for persons with intellectual disabilities. The Mayor has the authority to set the license fee by regulation.

Current fees are as follows: annual license fee for a facility with one to four beds, $65; late fee for a facility with one to four beds, $32.50; annual license fee for a facility with five to eight beds, $130; late fee for a facility with five to eight beds, $65; annual fee for a facility with nine or more beds, $195; late fee for a facility with nine or more beds, $97.50.¹⁷⁵

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of the Fund is to support “the administration, improvement, and maintenance of property and programs managed by the (Department of Parks and Recreation).”¹⁷⁶ The authorizing statute further provides that the Fund shall supplement, but not replace, services provided by the Department of Parks and Recreation. The Fund may also be used to pay for food, snacks, and non-alcoholic beverages for the general public, DPR program participants, and D.C. government employees.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁷⁷

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the following sources: (1) fees collected from participants in DPR programs and activities, (2) concessions, (3) payments from developers seeking relief from zoning laws through the planned unit development process,¹⁷⁸ and (4) proceeds received from advertisements and sponsorships of recreation centers, fields, pools, and play courts managed by DPR.

DPR charges fees for a wide range of programs and services, including use of facilities and parks for private events, camping programs, aquatics, adult sports, tennis courts, therapeutic recreation services, personal enrichment courses, and special events.¹⁷⁹

¹⁷⁶ See D.C. Official Code § 10-303(b)(1).

¹⁷⁷ See Section 9064 of D.C. Law 19-21, the “Fiscal Year 2012 Budget Support Act of 2011,” effective September 14, 2011.

¹⁷⁸ The planned unit development process authorizes zoning decisions for a specific project that would not normally be permitted as a “matter of right.” Planned unit developments are intended to allow flexibility in zoning in order to encourage high-quality developments that provide public benefits, which could include payments for recreation or other services designed to improve neighborhood quality of life.

Actual Revenue	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that was established to support the operations of the Office of Veterans Affairs (OVA). OVA assists D.C. veterans and their dependents and survivors in applying for U.S. Department of Veterans’ Affairs benefits, and with service record acquisition and corrections. In addition, OVA helps veterans make the transition from active-duty service to civilian life, and connects veterans with housing, employment, education, and other services.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from application and display fees charged for veterans’ license plates issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles to qualified veterans or spouses of qualified veterans who reside in the District of Columbia. Qualified veterans are those who have served on active duty in the armed forces of the United States or served as a member of the National Guard and Reserves, or who had at least 20 years of service in the armed forces and were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.

To receive the license plates, a veteran or spouse of a veteran must pay a one-time application fee of $52 and an annual display fee of $26. The Mayor has the authority to adjust the fees by regulation. Although the Fund was first established in 2001, the law authorizing the license plates for veterans affairs (D.C. Law 18-235, the “Veterans License Plates Authorization Amendment Act of 2010”) did not take effect until March 12, 2011.

In addition, the Fund may serve as the depository for federal payments, grants, donations, and other funds appropriated or donated for veterans’ services.

120. Vocational Rehabilitation Services Reimbursement

Authority to Charge Fee: U.S. Code Title 42, Section 1382d
 Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-204.24d (this section of the Home Rule Act provides general statutory authority for accounting procedures and fund controls)
 Year Enacted: Not Known¹⁸⁰

Actual Revenue	$156,002.41	$162,481.63	$139,796.40	$0.00	$73,284.84

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that supports the activities of the Rehabilitation Services Program within the Department on Disability Services. This program seeks to “provide comprehensive, coordinated, efficient, and accountable federally subsidized services to individuals with disabilities, including individuals with significant disabilities, to assist those individuals in achieving gainful employment.”¹⁸¹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the disability insurance component of the Social Security program. Specifically, the U.S. Social Security Administration (SSA) reimburses states for rehabilitation services that result in the beneficiary’s performance of a “substantial gainful activity” (SGA) for at least nine months in a one-year period. SGA is defined as monthly earnings of at least $1,690 for blind persons and as monthly earnings of at least $1,010 for other persons with disabilities.¹⁸²

SSA reimburses vocational rehabilitation agencies for the costs of determining if an individual is eligible for services, and for services such as counseling and guidance, vocational and other training services, and transportation and related expenses that help the individual to sustain substantial gainful activity.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that serves as a depository for payments received from the U.S. Social Security Administration (SSA) on behalf of people with disabilities who are deemed incapable of managing or directing the management of their own benefits. In such cases, a state or local government agency that administers income maintenance, social service, or health-care activities can act as the individual’s “representative payee” if family members or other people close to the person with disabilities are not available to perform this function. The Department on Disability Services (DDS) serves as a representative payee for people with disabilities in the District of Columbia.

In accordance with federal law, the first $100 of the benefit is given to DDS to pay for the “personal needs” of the person with disabilities, such as health and hygiene items, clothing, living area furnishings, and hobby and craft items. Any amount left over after providing for personal needs is used by DDS to pay for residential or other services for the person with disabilities.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives benefit payments from SSA for cases in which DDS serves as the representative payee for individuals with disabilities who are unable to manage their own money.

¹⁸³ Although the year when this fund was established is not known, the “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information going back to fiscal year 1999, shows that the fund has recorded revenue in each fiscal year from 2000 to the present.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that supports the administration of programs for people who are legally blind, using monies generated in accordance with the federal Randolph-Sheppard Act of 1936. The Act provides blind people with opportunities for employment and self-support by operating vending facilities (including cafeterias, snack bars, news stands, vending machines, and gift shops) on federal, state, county, and municipal properties. State licensing agencies recruit, train, license, and place blind individuals as operators of the vending facilities.

The Commissioner of the U.S. Rehabilitation Services Administration (part of the U.S. Department of Education) has the statutory authority to set limits on the amount that blind licensees can earn from operating the vending facilities. Any amount earned in excess of the limits is transferred to state licensing agencies to establish pension plans, to finance health insurance, and to provide paid sick and vacation leave for the licensees. The Rehabilitation Services Administration in the Department on Disability Services serves as the District's licensing agency under the Randolph-Sheppard Act.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives the income earned from vending facilities in excess of the amounts that blind facility operators are allowed to retain.

Actual Revenue	$338,933.45	$147,865.88	$304,718.49	$482,586.80	$910,394.42

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to serve as a depository for the fines and penalties collected from those who have defrauded the Medicaid program, as well as reimbursements from insurers and other parties liable for care that was paid for by Medicaid.

D.C. law authorizes criminal and civil sanctions against individuals who are found to have made false or fraudulent claims to obtain Medicaid benefits or reimbursement. Additionally, under federal law Medicaid is the payer of last resort for Medicaid-eligible individuals, and other liable parties are required to reimburse Medicaid for claims paid that were properly the responsibility of those other parties. The Department of Health Care Finance (DHCF) uses these recoveries to offset fraudulent claims and claims paid when another party was ultimately responsible.

The Fund was administered by the Department of Health until 2008, when the Department of Health Care Finance was established and assumed responsibility for the fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the criminal and civil penalties for Medicaid fraud prescribed in D.C. law, as well as reimbursement from insurers and other parties liable for claims paid by Medicaid.

Actual Revenue	$468,002.80	$635,897.00	$523,736.00	$485,432.94	$644,810.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to finance all costs of administering the grievance procedures for health benefit plans provided by D.C. law. The Department of Health Care Finance (DHCF) oversees this program, known as the “Health Benefits Plan Members Bill of Rights,” which allows members of a health insurance plan to contest a decision by the insurer to deny, limit, or terminate health care services.

DHCF is responsible for determining whether an individual’s appeal qualifies for an independent review process; developing, applying, and enforcing standards for the independent review organizations that hear the cases; and assigning an independent organization to review each case. The decisions of the independent review organization are non-binding.

The fund was administered by the Department of Health until 2008, when the Department of Health Care Finance was established and assumed responsibility for the fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from an assessment that is charged to all health insurers. The Mayor has the statutory authority to promulgate regulations that establish the assessment formula.

Presently, the assessment imposed on each insurer is equal to the total cost of the program multiplied by the insurer’s percentage of non-Medicare or non-Medicaid gross direct premiums written in the District of Columbia in the prior calendar year, with a minimum annual assessment of $100.¹⁸⁴

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to pay for the costs of the Medicaid Recovery Audit Contractor program (Medicaid RAC program). Federal regulations require states to enter into contracts with one or more eligible Medicaid RACs, which review Medicaid claims in order to identify underpayments and overpayments, and to recoup overpayments for the states.¹⁸⁵ Federal regulations further provide that fees paid to RACs must be made only from the amounts recovered.¹⁸⁶ States set the contingency fees paid to Medicaid RACs.

The Recovery Audit Contractor program was first implemented in the Medicare program. Section 6411(a) of Public Law 111-148, “The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act” (the health reform act signed into law in 2010) required states and territories to establish Medicaid RAC programs by December 31, 2010.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the payments recovered by the private contractors.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund is used to reimburse the Department of Public Works (DPW) for the costs it incurs to prepare for special events (such as street fairs or parades) that are conducted for profit, and to clean up after the events.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁸⁷

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Although the owners, managers, or promoters of an event must pay a license fee of $330 per day (which is collected by the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs), the statute further provides that, “The Mayor may adjust the license fee ... to cover the costs to the District of providing police, fire, and other public services that are necessary to protect public health and safety.”¹⁸⁸

DPW’s special-event fees for clean-up and trash removal are as follows: $32 per-person, per-hour for staff costs; $40 per-hour for equipment costs; $0.45 per disposable trash bag; and $79.23 per-hour for tonnage collection.

DPW’s special-event fees for towing service (which includes one tow truck, one driver, and one supervisor) are as follows: $581.64 for a minimum of four hours; $83.22 for each additional tow truck, per-hour; $37.59 for an additional driver, per-hour; and $38.75 for an additional supervisor, per-hour.¹⁸⁹

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is used to provide “supercans” to District of Columbia residents for exclusive use in the storage and collection of residential refuse. A supercan is a mobile refuse container on wheels. Most households use a 96-gallon supercan and receive once-weekly trash pickup, but some households in neighborhoods with narrower streets or alleys use a 32-gallon “mini-supercan” and receive twice-weekly trash pickup.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the fees paid by individuals and families who purchase supercans for garbage collection. Although the Department of Public Works (DPW) used to provide a free supercan to new homeowners (charging only for replacement or additional supercans), in 2011 budget constraints led DPW to begin charging residents $62.50 for each new supercan and $45 for each new mini-supercan.¹⁹¹ As a result, revenue flowing into the fund rose sharply in FY 2011.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that supports the recycling program administered by the Department of Public Works.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁹²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from a recycling charge imposed on operators of solid waste facilities in the District of Columbia. The solid waste facility charge is determined by multiplying the actual tonnage of solid waste deposited for recycling at the solid waste facility by $4, except for a solid waste facility that exclusively receives and processes construction and demolition waste. In the latter case, the charge is determined by multiplying the actual tonnage of solid waste deposited for recycling by $2.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund is used “to defray the expenses of operating, maintaining, and improving the District’s solid waste transfer facilities, and to dispose of solid waste delivered to those facilities.”¹⁹³

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁹⁴

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: All solid waste disposal transfer fee and disposal fee revenues are deposited into the fund. DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund was created to defray the costs of solid waste collection and the abatement of solid waste nuisances. The authorizing statute also provides that any “excess monies” may be used to support the recycling program.¹⁹⁵

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁹⁶

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from all fines, penalties, interest, charges, and costs assessed in accordance with the District’s solid waste disposal and management laws and regulations. The Mayor has the statutory authority to set the fines by rule-making, and is also empowered to recover up to three times the cost and expense incurred by the District government for abating a solid waste nuisance, preventing the recurrence of the violation, and for properly disposing of the solid waste.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to cover the costs to the D.C. Department of Transportation (DDOT) of providing services to participants in special events, such as carnivals or fairs, which are conducted for profit or gain. Revenue collected is used to fund DDOT initiatives and programs.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.¹⁹⁷

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a revolving fund that is used to support the D.C. Circulator transit program, which operates five bus routes that link cultural, entertainment, and business destinations in the core of the city.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.²⁰⁰

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund serves as the depository for (1) farebox payments made by D.C. Circulator passengers, (2) any fines or penalties issued for violation of D.C. Circulator rules, (3) the sale of advertising space on and within D.C. Circulator buses, and (4) monetary gifts.

Presently, one-way fares are $1.00 for regular adult passengers, and 50 cents for senior citizens and persons with disabilities. D.C. elementary and secondary school students can travel for free with a D.C. Student Travel Card. Children under five years of age who are with a paying adult rider can also ride for free.²⁰¹

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that “shall be used to plant trees and for any associated costs incurred by the District” in implementing the Urban Forest Preservation Program of the D.C. Department of Transportation (DDOT).²⁰² Allowable costs include “income-contingent subsidies to assist District residents with the removal costs of hazardous trees.”²⁰³ The mission of the Urban Forest Preservation Program is to establish a full population of street trees within the District of Columbia and to ensure that the trees are maintained in a healthy and safe condition.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from any donations, fees, or penalties collected by DDOT through the enforcement of the District’s urban forest preservation statute.

It is unlawful for any person or non-governmental entity in the District of Columbia to cut down or destroy a “special tree” (a tree with a circumference of 55 inches or more) without a special tree removal permit issued by DDOT. To receive a special tree removal permit, an applicant must document the reasons for the removal and pay into the Fund an amount equal to $35 for each inch of the circumference of the special tree.²⁰⁴ In addition, violation of the rules concerning special tree removal permits, or failure to comply with a condition of the permit, can result in a fine of not less than $100 per inch of the special tree.²⁰⁵

The fees for a special tree removal permit and the fines issued to individuals or organizations who fail to comply with the permitting requirements are deposited into the Fund.

Actual Revenue	$56,239.00	$147,571.53	$51,408.36	$0.00	$0.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund finances the District of Columbia’s required match for Federal Transit Administration (FTA) “5310” capital grant program for vehicles to transport the elderly and individuals with disabilities.²⁰⁷ The FTA funds 80 percent of the net cost of the vehicles under the 5310 program. The D.C. Department of Transportation selects private non-profit organizations to receive the grants.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.²⁰⁸

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives payments from the non-profit organizations that receive the vehicles to transport the elderly and individuals with disabilities. These payments provide the District government’s required match.

²⁰⁶ The “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information going back to fiscal year 1999, shows that this fund has recorded revenue in fiscal year 2000 and each year since.

²⁰⁸ See Section 9094 of D.C. Law 19-21, the “Fiscal Year 2012 Budget Support Act of 2011,” effective September 14, 2011.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a lapsing fund that the D.C. Department of Transportation uses to defray the cost of its electric bill from PEPCO.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Under the terms of a memorandum of agreement, the U.S. General Services Administration reimburses DDOT for 50 percent of the cost of lighting, ventilating, and maintaining the tunnels underneath the National Mall.

²⁰⁹ Although it is not known exactly when the fund was established, the “CFO Solve” data base, which provides fund information going back to fiscal year 1999, shows that the fund has recorded revenue in each fiscal year from 2000 to the present.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	$0.00	$0.00	$0.00	$267,470.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that may be used “solely to enhance the safety and quality of pedestrian and bicycle transportation, including traffic calming and Safe Routes to School enhancements.”²¹⁰ The authorizing statute also provides that, “The Director of DDOT shall prioritize resources from the Fund for instances requiring more flexible planning, design, and construction than that which would be accomplished through existing federal and local funding sources.”²¹¹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the fines and penalties accruing from increases in civil fines and new civil infractions established by D.C. Law 17-269, the “Pedestrian Safety Reinforcement Amendment Act of 2008.”

D.C. Law 17-269 increased the fines for a vehicular collision with a pedestrian from $50 to $500, and for failure to yield to a pedestrian from $50 to $250. In addition, D.C. Law 17-269 created the following new fines: $250 for failing to yield to a pedestrian in the sidewalk; $250 for overtaking another vehicle stopped at a crosswalk or intersection for a pedestrian; and $65 for stopping, standing, or parking a vehicle in a bicycle lane.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that is used by the D.C. Department of Transportation to pay for goods, services, property, capital improvements, or any other purposes assigned by law to the Department, and to make payments to the Highway Trust Fund.²¹²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the following sources: (1) fines from the enforcement of truck safety and size, weight, and noise regulations, (2) advertisements on multi-space parking meter receipts, (3) public inconvenience fees,²¹³ (4) fees related to car-sharing in excess of $270,000 per fiscal year, (5) loading zone management program revenue,²¹⁴ and (6) any other revenues, including grants or gifts, that are dedicated to the Fund.

²¹² The Highway Trust Fund provides the matching funds needed by the District in order to receive funding from the U.S. Department of Transportation’s Federal Highway Administration for capital improvements to the District’s transportation infrastructure.

²¹³ “Inconvenience fees” are fees charged for the temporary occupancy of public space in excess of a one-time, 30 calendar-day grace period per permit. See Title 24, Section 225 of the D.C. Municipal Regulations.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	$0.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that must be used by the D.C. Department of Transportation (DDOT) to finance non-automobile transportation investments in designated “performance parking zones.” There are three such zones, located in Columbia Heights, the Capitol Hill-Ballpark District, and the H Street, N.E., corridor. In these zones, DDOT can use escalating or variable-price parking meter rates, adjust the days and hours of operation for curbside space management, adjust parking fines, and expand residential permit parking plans in order to manage on-street parking more effectively.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives 50 percent of performance parking zone revenues above a baseline established when the performance parking program took effect in each zone. The rest of the parking meter revenue from the performance parking zones, as well as parking meter revenue collected outside the zones, is transferred to the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority as part of the District’s operating subsidy.²¹⁵

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that was established to pay for goods, services, property, and any other resources needed to administer the District Department of Transportation’s bike sharing program, known as “Capital Bikeshare.” The program allows participants to rent bikes from any of 175 sites in the District of Columbia, Arlington County, Virginia, and the City of Alexandria, Virginia.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: All revenue generated by the Capital Bikeshare program is deposited into the Fund, including not only fees but also reallocations of Capital Bikeshare capital funds. Membership fees are as follows: $7 for a 24-hour membership; $15 for a three-day membership; $25 for a 30-day membership; and $75 for an annual membership. Members also pay a fee each time they rent a bike. The fee varies depending on the length of the rental and increases by a larger amount for each half-hour increment.²¹⁶

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund was established to pay the vendor who maintains the District Department of Transportation (DDOT)’s parking meter pay-by-phone system. The authorizing statute does not state whether the fund is lapsing or non-lapsing, or whether it is interest-bearing.

DDOT launched the pay-by-phone program in 2011, allowing motorists who park at metered locations to pay for parking with a cellular phone or smart phone. The vendor, Park Mobile, charges a 45-cent fee for each parking transaction, except that motorists who use a smartphone application known as “Parkmobile Wallet” pay a reduced fee of 30 cents per transaction.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives all of the transaction fees that are charged to motorists who use the pay-by-phone system.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that was established to finance approved District Department of Transportation capital projects for bus-operating enhancements, including (1) unfunded recommendations in Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) bus line studies and WMATA service evaluations, and (2) other investments determined by the Mayor to “enhance bus transit operational efficiency and customer service within the District of Columbia.”²¹⁷

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives the amount of motor vehicle parking fees that exceed the amount specified in the District government’s budget and financial plan to be transferred to WMATA as an operating subsidy. In addition, 50 percent of performance parking zone revenues above a baseline established on September 30, 2012, will be deposited into the Fund.

Actual Revenue	$2,454,298.29	$2,569,735.15	$3,522,151.79	$2,925,243.43	$3,913,785.13

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is an interest-bearing fund that is used for three purposes. First, the fund is used to reimburse other members of the International Registration Fund (IRP) for money that the District collects as a base jurisdiction. The IRP is an international highway program that licenses heavy (more than 26,000 pounds) commercial vehicles that travel in two or more jurisdictions. Each interstate carrier files an application with the jurisdiction (the “base jurisdiction”) where its vehicles are based, and that jurisdiction apportions the registration fees paid by the interstate carrier based on the percentage of miles traveled in different jurisdictions.

After the District has apportioned funds to the other jurisdictions, it can use IRP money to cover the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV)’s administrative costs for implementing the IRP program. Finally, DMV can use any money that remains in the fund to defray other operating costs.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.²¹⁸

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives registration fees that DMV collects from each interstate carrier. For heavy commercial vehicles, the registration fee is $575 plus $25 for each additional 1,000 pounds in excess of 10,000 pounds. The fund also receives revenue from the trip permit fees (set at $50 per trip) that DMV collects from interstate carriers that are not registered under the IRP program.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	$392,682.00	$393,400.00	$245,102.32	$355,417.57

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is used for three purposes. The first $25 of each registration fee deposited into the Fund must be used “for programs encouraging residents of the District of Columbia to pursue careers as a driver of a limousine or taxicab, or for any other use that the Chairperson of the Taxicab Commission deems to be in the best interests of the proper regulation of the taxicab and limousine industries of the District of Columbia.”²¹⁹

Any additional revenue may then be used, in priority order, to defray the costs of the Department of Motor Vehicles in administering the Fund, and to support the operational or capital needs of the Taxicab Commission.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Taxi and limousine drivers who do not live in the District of Columbia must pay a motor vehicle registration fee that is $100 more than the fee paid by taxi and limousine drivers who live in the District. The Fund receives the additional $100 from each of these non-resident vehicle registrations.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a revolving fund that is intended to fully finance the Department of Motor Vehicles’ vehicle emissions and safety inspection programs.

The authorizing statute identifies two sets of activities that the Fund will support: (1) the implementation, oversight, operation, and periodic upgrading of the District of Columbia’s Enhanced Vehicle Emissions Inspection Program, and (2) the purchase, maintenance, and upgrading of equipment; program administration; technical skills training; contracts for services; and any other activities needed to comply with federal and District of Columbia legislative mandates concerning vehicle emissions and safety inspections.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the fees that vehicle owners must pay for vehicle inspections. The authorizing statute permits the Mayor to set the fee and directs that the fee “shall be established in an amount sufficient to cover the costs of implementation, operation, and periodic upgrading of the District of Columbia’s vehicle and safety inspection programs.”²²⁰ Presently, private passenger vehicles are only subject to an emissions inspection, whereas commercial vehicles and taxis must undergo both emissions and safety inspections.

Presently, the inspection fee is $35 for a privately owned vehicle (which must be inspected every two years), taxis (which must be inspected every six months) and for commercial vehicles (which must be inspected every year). The inspection fee also covers the cost of two re-inspections within 20 days.

After the original 20-day re-inspection period, a re-inspection will cost $35. The inspection late fee is $20 for each 30-day period (and is capped at $480), and also applies when a vehicle owner is late for re-inspection. A new vehicle inspection sticker for a privately owned vehicle costs $10.²²¹

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that supports the air quality programs of the D.C. Department of the Environment.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from permit fees that applicants pay for the construction or modification of stationary sources of air pollution, and for the installation or modification of any air pollution control device on a stationary source.

As stated in the D.C. Municipal Regulations, “The Mayor shall establish a schedule of fees for construction and operating permits. These fees shall be sufficient to cover the reasonable costs of reviewing and acting upon the application and the reasonable costs of implementing and enforcing the terms and conditions of the permits.”²²² The current fee for air pollution emissions from major sources is $45.53 per ton.²²³

²²² See Title 20, Section 200.12 of the D.C. Municipal Regulations.

²²³ Office of the City Administrator, “Master Fee Schedule as of March, 2012,” p. 60. A major stationary source of air pollution is defined as (1) emitting, or having the potential to emit, 25 tons per year or more of oxides of nitrogen or volatile organic compounds or 100 tons per year or more of any other pollutant subject to regulation under the Federal Clean Air Act, and (2) any physical change at a stationary source of pollution that would qualify as a major stationary source by itself. In addition, a stationary source that is major for oxides of nitrogen or volatile organic compounds shall be considered major for ozone. See Title 20, Section 199.1 of the D.C. DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that supports the soil erosion and sediment control program of the D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE). To prevent soil erosion and sediment deposition in the Potomac and Anacostia rivers, as well as their tributaries, DDOE reviews construction and grading plans for storm water management, erosion and sediment control, and floodplain management. DDOE coordinates the permit review process with the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs and the Water and Sewer Authority.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from permit fees that developers and builders pay for excavation, grading, and landfill plan review. Presently, the permit fee is $49.00 per site, plus $3.25 for each additional foot above 100 square feet.²²⁸

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund supports the pesticide program of the D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE), which regulates the use, sale, and distribution of pesticides in the District of Columbia.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.²²⁹

D.C. Law 19-191, the “Pesticide Education and Control Amendment Act of 2012,” which took effect on October 23, 2012, expands the District’s pesticide program by restricting the application of pesticides near waterways, at schools, at day-care centers, and on property owned, leased, or otherwise used by the D.C. government.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from the application fees paid by pesticide operators, applicators, and dealers in the District of Columbia.

A fee schedule for different types of pesticide licenses is set forth in Title 20, Section 2505 of the D.C. Municipal Regulations. In addition, the registration fee for each pesticide product is $130.²³⁰ D.C. Law 19-191, effective October 23, 2012, requires DDOE to increase the pesticide product registration fee to at least $200.²³¹ DDOE registers more than 6,500 pesticides each year, so raising the registration fee by $70 is expected to generate an additional $457,100 each year for the fund.²³²

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this fund is to support the storm water management programs of the D.C. Department of the Environment. Storm water is rainfall that does not soak into the ground, but instead flows over the land’s hard surface into the nearest body of water through storm drain channels.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.²³³

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenues for fees that construction and development companies pay for storm water management plan review. The Mayor has the authority set the fees for storm water management plan review by regulation. The current fee is $72, plus 3.25 cents for each square foot above 100 sq. ft..²³⁴

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that must be used solely to fund the costs to the District government of complying with the Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System (MS4) permit from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The MS4 permit regulates the District’s discharge of storm water and sewage into the Potomac River, the Anacostia River, and their tributaries.²³⁶

The D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE) is the lead agency for MS4 permit compliance. To comply with the requirements, DDOE funds the following activities: financial and technical assistance for low-impact development; education and outreach; catch basin cleaning; street sweeping; and water quality monitoring. The Fund is intended to cover all of the operating expenses of DDOE’s Stormwater Administration, as well as the costs to the Water and Sewer Authority of collecting the storm water user fee, which is described below.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from storm water fees, which are set by the DDOE Director and included in water and sewer bills. Presently, the base fee is $2.67 per month per equivalent residential unit (ERU), which is defined as 1,000 square feet of impervious surface area (ERUs are used to calculate the fees of all properties, whether or not they are residential). The Fund may also receive grants made for stormwater activities.

Residential customers are charged according to the following schedule: 0.6 ERUs for 100 to 600 square feet of impervious surface; 1.0 ERU for 700 to 2,000 sq. ft. 2.4 ERUs for 2,100 to 3,000 sq. ft.; 3.8 ERUs for 3,100 to 7,000 sq. ft.; 8.6 ERUs for 7,100 to 11,000 sq. ft.; and 13.5 ERUs for 11,100 or more sq. ft. All non-residential customers are charged based on the total amount of impervious area, converted into ERUs and reduced to the nearest 100 sq. ft.²³⁷

²³⁵ The Stormwater Permit Compliance Enterprise Fund was established by D.C. Law 17-371, the “Comprehensive Stormwater Management Enhancement Amendment Act of 2008,” effective March 25, 2009. Nevertheless, a special-purpose revenue fund existed before this time in order to comply with a memorandum of understanding (MOU) between the D.C. government and the Water and Sewer Authority. The revenue history shown above reflects the money that was raised for this fund according to the MOU before D.C. Law 17-371 took effect.

²³⁶ The MS4 system serves approximately two-thirds of the District of Columbia; the rest of the District is served by a combined sewer system where sewage and storm water go through the same pipes.

Actual Revenue	$0.00	$207,590.00	$378,375.95	$455,808.60	$56,542.96

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund was created “solely for the purpose of making loans, grants, rebates, and other financial incentives to support the creation of new solar energy sources in the District of Columbia and for otherwise administering the Fund.”²³⁸

The Fund is non-lapsing, except that any compliance fees paid into the Fund by an electricity supplier that were charged to the District of Columbia government through a cost recovery surcharge shall be transferred to the general fund. The Fund is interest-bearing.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the following sources: (1) compliance fees paid by electricity suppliers that fail to meet statutory targets for the use of renewable energy²³⁹, (2) payments received in the repayment of a loan, (3) investment earnings of the Fund, and (4) money from any other source accepted for the benefit of the Fund.

Compliance fees, which are set by statute, are as follows: five cents for each kilowatt-hour of shortfall from required Tier One renewable sources²⁴⁰; one cent for each kilowatt-hour of shortfall from required Tier Two renewable sources²⁴¹; and 50 cents (for 2011 through 2016) for each kilowatt-hour of shortfall from required solar energy sources. After 2016, the fee for each kilowatt-hour of shortfall from required solar energy sources will drop until it reaches five cents in 2023.²⁴²

²³⁸ See D.C. Official Code § 34-1436(c).

²³⁹ The energy portfolio standards are set in D.C. Official Code § 34-1432.

²⁴⁰ A “Tier One” renewable source refers to one or more of the following energy sources: solar energy; wind; qualifying biomass; methane from the anaerobic decomposition of organic materials in a landfill or wastewater treatment plant; geothermal; ocean; and fuel cells producing energy from qualifying biomass or methane.

²⁴¹ A “Tier Two” renewable source refers to energy from hydroelectric power other than pumped storage generation, and waste-to-energy.

Actual Revenue	$30,000.00	$55,305.00	$0.00	$10,000.00	$8,030,000.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that may be used for (1) administration, improvement, and maintenance of the D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE)’s brownfield revitalization program, (2) loans and grants provided to assist in the cleanup of contaminated property, (3) incentives to revitalize brownfields, and (4) other activities associated with the cleanup of contaminated property, including oversight and enforcement. A “brownfield” is defined in D.C. law as “abandoned, idled property or industrial property where expansion or redevelopment is complicated by actual or perceived environmental contamination.”²⁴³

By participating in DDOE’s voluntary brownfield cleanup program, an individual or organization can be released from further liability for the cleanup of the property.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from a $10,000 application fee paid by individuals and organizations to participate in the voluntary program to clean up brownfields. The Fund may also receive and disburse funds from appropriations, income from operations, gifts, donations, grants, and revenues generated from enforcement at a contaminated property or an action taken to prevent contamination. In fiscal year 2011, DDOE received an $8 million settlement from the CSX Corporation in a legal case related to an oil leak.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, revolving fund (subject to the restriction described below) that is used “for restoration, creation, and enhancement of wetlands and waters of the District.”²⁴⁴ The authorizing statute further states that, “The Mayor may use the Wetland Fund to repair or replace aquatic habitat that is damaged or destroyed by activities in wetlands or on underwater lands including, but not limited to, dredge and fill activity, or construction activities.”²⁴⁵

The statute also provides that any money deposited in the Fund in the year prior to the current year, and any interest earned on the money remaining in the Fund after the payment of costs accrued in the prior year, shall be transferred to the District’s general fund, except that 10 percent of the remainder shall be retained as a reserve operating balance in the Wetland Fund.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from payments that the Mayor may require from any person or organization that is allowed to engage in dredge and fill activities, or construction activities, in wetlands and on underwater lands. The Mayor has the authority to determine the amount of the payment required.²⁴⁶

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is administered by the D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE) and used “solely for the purposes of cleaning and protecting the Anacostia River and other impaired waterways.”²⁴⁷

The authorizing statute enumerates 14 activities associated with the purposes of the Fund, in priority order.²⁴⁸ The top three activities are (1) educating residents, businesses, and tourists about the impact of trash on the District’s environment, (2) providing reusable carryout bags to District residents, and (3) purchasing and installing equipment, such as storm drain screens and trash traps, designed to minimize trash pollution that enters waterways through storm drains. DDOE’s costs to administer the authorized activities may also be paid for by the Fund.

The authorizing statute further provides that, “The Fund shall not be used to supplant funds appropriated as part of an approved annual budget for Anacostia River cleaning activities,” and bans the use of the Fund to finance street-sweeping activities.²⁴⁹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenues from the following sources: (1) fees that consumers pay to use disposable, recyclable plastic and paper carryout bags at grocery stores, drugstores, convenience stores, and liquor stores, (2) the net proceeds from the issuance of Anacostia River commemorative license plates, and (3) a $1 voluntary tax checkoff.

The consumer fee per bag is five cents, but the retailer can retain one cent to cover administrative costs and must remit the remaining four cents to the District for deposit in the Fund. If the retailer provides customers with a five-cent credit for each carryout bag that customers bring in to package their purchases, then the retailer can retain two cents of each five-cent bag fee.

The Anacostia River commemorative license plates require a one-time fee of $25, in addition to any regular registration fees. There is also a $20 biennial renewal fee for the license plates. The cost of producing and issuing the license plates is covered by the fees, and the balance is deposited into the Fund.

Actual Revenue	$32,500.00	$47,146.75	$194,875.00	$39,935.52	$10,939.48

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund has the following purposes: (1) to support the income eligibility activities for the “Verizon Economy II program,”²⁵⁰ which is supervised by the Public Service Commission and provides discounted telephone service, (2) to defray the costs for D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE)’s processing of residents’ combined applications for telephone, electric, water, and gas discounts, and (3) to finance DDOE’s customer education program.

DDOE uses federal low-income guidelines to determine if D.C. residents qualify for discounted telephone service, which is offered only by Verizon-Washington, D.C. Qualified residents can receive local telephone service for $3 a month, and residents 65 years of age or older can receive local telephone service for $1 a month.²⁵¹

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Verizon reimburses DDOE for the cost of administering the income eligibility function and for a share of the costs associated with DDOE’s processing of combined applications for telephone, electric, water, and gas discounts, based on the estimated costs of personnel, supplies, publications, and advertising.

Actual Revenue	$60,126.20	$58,268.25	$47,695.00	$31,768.90	$10,476.10

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund has the following purposes: (1) to support the income eligibility activities for the Potomac Electric Power Company (PEPCO)'s Residential Aid Discount program," which is supervised by the Public Service Commission, (2) to defray the costs for the D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE)'s processing of residents' combined applications for telephone, electric, water, and gas discounts, and (3) to finance DDOE's customer education program.

DDOE uses federal low-income guidelines to determine if residents qualify for the electricity discounts, which vary according to the time of year. PEPCO customers who do not have all-electric heating can receive a 32 percent discount on the first 400 kilowatt-hours used in winter months and a 63 percent discount on the first 400 kilowatt-hours used in summer months. PEPCO customers who have all-electric heating can receive a discount of 51 percent on the first 700 kilowatt-hours used in winter months and a 38 percent discount on the first 700-kilowatt hours used in summer months.²⁵²

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: PEPCO reimburses DDOE for the cost of administering the income eligibility function and for a share of the costs associated with DDOE's processing of combined applications for telephone, electric, water, and gas discounts, based on the estimated costs of personnel, supplies, publications, and advertising.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund has the following purposes: (1) to support the income eligibility activities for Washington Gas’ Residential Essential Service program, which is supervised by the Public Service Commission, (2) to defray the costs for the D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE)’s processing of residents’ combined applications for telephone, electric, water, and gas discounts, and (3) to finance DDOE’s customer education program.

DDOE uses federal low-income guidelines to determine if residents qualify for the Residential Essential Service discounts, which are offered between November and April. Eligible residents fall into three categories, based on household size and income. Members of class A are eligible for annual discounts up to $212.96; members of class B are eligible for annual discounts of up to $225.47; and members of class C are eligible for annual discounts up to $276.69.²⁵³

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: Washington Gas reimburses DDOE for the cost of administering the income eligibility function and for a share of the costs associated with DDOE’s processing of combined applications for telephone, electric, water, and gas discounts, based on the estimated costs of personnel, supplies, publications, and advertising.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund has the following purposes: (1) to support the income eligibility activities for D.C. Water’s Customer Assistance Program, which offers water and sewer discounts to low-income residents, (2) to defray the costs for the D.C. Department of the Environment (DDOE)’s processing of residents’ combined applications for telephone, electric, water, and gas discounts, and (3) to finance DDOE’s customer education program.

DDOE uses federal low-income guidelines to determine if residents qualify for the discounts, which provide a fee exemption for as much as 400 cubic feet of water per month.²⁵⁴ D.C. Water states that the exemption amounts to a savings of up to $22.44 per month.²⁵⁵

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: D.C. Actual Revenue	$114,895.29	$209,219.04	$101,960.13	$173,215.11	$73,055.09

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing fund that is used solely to “pay the costs of the formation and administration of municipal aggregation contracts of the District.”²⁵⁷

A municipal aggregation program is any system developed by a local government to purchase electricity supply and electricity supply services on behalf of its residents. The goal is to aggregate purchasing power in order to secure a rate lower than the standard rate charged by the electric company.

Since 2004, the D.C. government has purchased electricity through a reverse auction, which starts with a maximum price and then takes bids from suppliers who offer lower prices. All electric ratepayers in the District of Columbia can participate in the municipal aggregation program. All D.C. government agencies under the authority of the Mayor participate in the program, and independent agencies can opt to participate.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from administrative fees that the Mayor is authorized to charge as part of any municipal aggregation contract entered into by the District.

²⁵⁶ The Municipal Aggregation Program was authorized in 2000, but this special-purpose revenue program was not created until 2007, when the authorizing statute was amended.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	$0.00	$16,395,976.43	$18,741,266.61	$12,190,448.36

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that is used to finance the following programs and activities: (1) a Sustainable Energy Utility (SEU) contract with a private entity that will conduct sustainable energy programs, with funding of $7.5 million in the first year of the contract that rises to $20 million in the fourth and subsequent years of the contract, (2) administration of the SEU contract by the D.C. Department of the Environment, in an amount equal to 10 percent of the annual contract payments, (3) independent review of the performance of the SEU, in the amount of $100,000 annually, and (4) operations of an SEU Advisory Board, in the amount of $9,800 annually.

Energy efficiency programs offered by the SEU include low-cost energy retrofits for low-income multi-family rental projects, single-family home energy retrofits in selected neighborhoods, energy assessments and retrofits for small businesses in selected neighborhoods, and pilot programs to implement distributed renewable energy systems such as solar energy.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund is authorized to receive revenue from (1) an assessment on natural gas and electric companies, and (2) the sale of credits associated with the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative.²⁵⁸

The natural gas company assessment is set at $.014 per therm and the electric company assessment is set at $.0015 per kilowatt-hour. The assessments do not apply to sales of natural gas or electricity to residents who are participating in the Residential Essential Service or Residential Aid Discount programs, which provide natural gas and electricity discounts to low-income residents.

If at the beginning of a fiscal year, the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) finds that the fund balance exceeds the projected annual cost of all of the authorized programs by at least $10 million, the CFO shall suspend the assessments until the estimated excess of fund balance over projected annual cost falls to $5 million.

²⁵⁸ Presently, the District of Columbia is only an “observer” to the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative, which is a joint effort of 10 northeastern and mid-Atlantic states to cap and reduce their carbon dioxide emissions. Participating states sell emission allowances (credits) by auction.

Actual Revenue	$18,433.00	$23,879.00	$64,375.00	$38,822.50	$4,316.00

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund was established to defray the costs of the Taxicab Commission in obtaining fingerprint records from the Metropolitan Police Department for taxicab and limousine license applicants.

In 2011, the fund was officially designated as lapsing, which means that any unexpended funds at the end of a fiscal year revert to the unrestricted balance of the District of Columbia’s general fund, freeing the money up for other purposes.²⁶⁰

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from fees paid by applicants for taxicab and limousine licenses. Each applicant for a new “public vehicle-for-hire operator license” must pay $41.50 to cover fingerprinting costs.²⁶¹

²⁵⁹ The Taxicab Commission Fingerprinting Fund was established in statute by D.C. Law 16-192, the “Fiscal Year 2007 Budget Support Act of 2006,” effective March 2, 2007, but the revenue history of the Fund shows that it was operating under administrative authority prior to that time.

Actual Revenue	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing, interest-bearing Fund that may be used for the following purposes: (1) to pay for the costs incurred by the Taxicab Commission in operating and administering programs, investigations, proceedings, and inspections, overseeing the Fund, and improving the District’s public vehicles-for-hire industry, (2) to provide grants, loans, incentives, or other financial assistance to owners of licensed taxicabs in the District to offset the cost of acquiring, maintaining, and operating wheelchair-accessible vehicles, (3) to establish a program to provide a taxicab fare discount for low-income senior citizens and persons with disabilities, and (4) to provide grants, loans, incentives, or other financial assistance to owners of licensed taxicabs in the District to encourage the purchase of alternative-fuel vehicles, to deploy taxicabs to underserved areas, and to offset the costs of complying with D.C. Law 19-184, the “Taxicab Service Improvement Amendment Act of 2012,”²⁶² which took effect on October 22, 2012.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from four sources. First, the Fund receives a new 50¢ passenger surcharge per taxi ride. Second, the Fund serves as the depository for fees collected by the Commission from the issuance and renewal of public vehicle-for-hire licenses (these fees are shown in the table on the next page). Third, the Fund shall receive any unused balance of revenue in the Out-of-State Vehicle Registration Special Fund (Department of Motor Vehicles Fund 6100).²⁶³ Last, the Fund receives the proceeds from an annual special assessment of $50 charged to public vehicle-for-hire operators.

²⁶² The Act requires all D.C. taxicabs to install new meters that will accept credit and debit cards, and produce electronic manifests for drivers. In addition, required global positioning systems will have monitors for drivers and passengers along with a digital map and audio/video content for passengers. Taxicabs will also be required to adopt a color scheme, and taxicab companies will have to increase the number of vehicles that are equipped for persons with disabilities.

²⁶³ See D.C. Official Code § 50-1501.03a for the statutory authorization of the Out-of-State Vehicle Registration Special Fund.

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This fund is used to segregate parking meter revenue that is transferred to the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority as part of the District’s annual operating subsidy.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund serves as the repository for revenue collected from parking meter fees, except for one-half of the net new parking meter revenue collected in areas that are part of the Performance Parking Program.²⁶⁴

²⁶⁴ Half of the net new revenue from the performance parking zones is deposited in the Performance Parking Program Fund. See discussion of Department of Transportation special-purpose revenue fund 6902, “Performance Parking Program Fund.”
