America the Beautiful

O beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain.
For purple mountain majesties,
America! America! God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.

O beautiful for patriot dream,
That sees beyond the years.
Thine alabaster cities gleam,
Undimmed by human tears.
America! America! God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.

Music provided by Polished Brass.

Academic Dress

From the costumes worn in the academic procession one can tell the level of degree (associate's, bachelor's, master's, doctor's) the wearer has earned, the field of learning, and the institution that granted the degree. The costume consists of cap, gown, and hood.

The usual cap is a square black mortarboard with a black tassel; the doctor's cap has a gold tassel. The gown is also normally black. Associate's, bachelor's and master's gowns are relatively plain and closed in front; the doctor's gown is cut fuller, is open in front, has velvet panels down the front, and has three velvet bars on the sleeves. The panels and bars are usually black.

The hood, patterned after the medieval monk's hood, goes over the shoulders and hangs down in back. The hoods for the three degrees vary in length from the bachelor's the shortest, to the doctor's the longest. The velvet border shows by its color the field of learning; the most common are: white - arts, letters, humanities (usually seen in honorary doctor's degrees); dark blue - philosophy (the most common in doctor's hoods); purple - law; scarlet - theology; green - medicine; golden yellow - science. The same colors may be used in the panels and bars of the gown. The most distinctive part of the costume is the silk lining of the hood which bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree.

2012 Commencement Speaker and Honorary Degree Recipient

The Honorable Mark Mallory

Mayor of the City of Cincinnati

Cincinnati Mayor Mark Mallory was born and raised in the city's West End. The son of former Ohio House Majority Leader William L. Mallory, he is today the most visible member of a family that is dedicated to public and community service.

Mark Mallory is a graduate of the Cincinnati Academy of Math and Science, and earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Administrative Management from the University of Cincinnati in 1993.

He was employed for 14 years at the Public Library of Cincinnati and Hamilton County, where his first assignment was shelving books. He moved on to a variety of positions, and was eventually named Manager of Graphic Production and Assistant to the Director of Public Relations.

In 1994, Mr. Mallory was elected to his first term in the Ohio House, replacing his father who retired after serving the district for three decades. He was re-elected in 1996, and in the General Assembly was appointed to a House leadership position. He was also elected vice-president of the Ohio Legislative Black Caucus. In 1998 Mr. Mallory was elected to the Ohio Senate, where he rose to the position of Assistant Minority Leader.

In 2005 Mark Mallory won election as the 68th Mayor of Cincinnati. He was the first person to win election under a new city charter that gave the city's chief executive enhanced powers relative to City Council and the city manager. That election also established Mr. Mallory as Cincinnati's first directly-elected black mayor, and as the first mayor in more than 70 years who did not come from City Council. In 2009, Mark Mallory won election to a second term as mayor.

During his tenure, Mayor Mallory has championed the renaissance that is taking place throughout Cincinnati. Indications of that progress include:

- Development of the long-delayed Banks project between the Reds and Bengals stadiums, which is becoming home to restaurants, apartments, office space and a new riverfront park.
- Redevelopment in Over-the-Rhine, led by the non-profit development corporation 3CDC and centered by the $47 million renovation of historic Washington Park.
- Steady increases in the city's ability to attract conventions and meetings. From 2005-10 bookings grew by 33%. The region has attracted such high profile conventions as the NAACP, the National Baptists, LULAC, the Fraternal Order of Police, the International Association of Firefighters, the Urban League, the American Legion, and, this year, the 2012 World Choir Games are projected to draw 200,000 spectators and have an economic impact of more than $70 million.

His awards include Public Official of the Year from the Children's Hunger Alliance, the Regional Sustainable Leader of the Year Award from the US Green Building Council, and the Champion's Award from the Cincinnati USA Convention and Visitor's Bureau.

2012 Honorary Degree Recipient

Sheriff Simon L. Leis Jr.

Hamilton County Sheriff

Though he has held a variety of military and civilian positions throughout his long career, Simon L. Leis, Jr., is known first and foremost as the Hamilton County Sheriff. Born in Cincinnati in 1934, he graduated from St. Xavier High School and attended Holy Cross College in Worcester, Massachusetts, before earning his bachelor's degree with double majors in English and history from Xavier University. He served on active duty in the U.S. Marine Corps from January, 1957 to March 1960, and was honorably discharged from the Marine Corps in 1971 with the rank of captain.

Leis earned his law degree from the University of Cincinnati's Salmon P. Chase College of Law in 1965. He served as an assistant city prosecutor and assistant city solicitor for the city of Cincinnati, then as an assistant U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Ohio, until his appointment in 1971 as Hamilton County Prosecutor. He was elected to a full four-year term as prosecutor the following year and was re-elected in 1976 and again in 1980, then in 1982 won election to a seat on the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

In 1987 Leis accepted an appointment as Hamilton County Sheriff. He was elected to a full term as sheriff in 1988, and re-elected in five subsequent cycles.

Among the major accomplishments under his administration:

- Establishment of rigid departmental physical fitness and weight standards for personnel, coupled with the use of drug forfeiture monies to construct several physical fitness facilities used by officers to help them maintain those standards.
- Establishment of strict personnel appearance standards, which resulted in national recognition in 1991 as the "Best Dressed County Sheriff's Office."
- Obtained federal court authorization for partial double celling of inmates in the Hamilton County Justice Center, to minimize the need for early release of prisoners due to overcrowding.
- Increased law enforcement coverage to the townships in Hamilton County through both County and Township contract funded units.
- Increased security to Hamilton County courts.
- Upgraded law enforcement and corrections training programs.
- Establishment of Sheriff's Aviation Unit, with purchase of first helicopter in 1989, a second in 1994; all out of drug forfeiture funds.
- Establishment of the Sheriff's Marine Patrol in 1988.
- Established "Underwater Search & Recovery (DIVE) Team," providing for most of the necessary equipment and the boat through use of drug forfeiture monies.
- Established ceremonial color guards within both the Patrol and Corrections Divisions, and in 1993 formed the Sheriff's Bagpipe and Drum Corps, for ceremonial and other functions throughout Hamilton County and adjacent areas.
- Established community service work details whereby incarcerated inmates may volunteer for service projects to the benefit of several local government and charitable entities.
- Created the Regional Electronics Computer Intelligence Task Force; a blend of local and federal law enforcement with a corporate advisory committee.

2012 Award Winners

House-Bruckmann Awards

Cincinnati State Technical and Community College has presented faculty members Keith Mains and Geoff Woolf with its 2012 House-Bruckmann Awards for teaching excellence.

The House-Bruckmann Awards are given annually on the basis of nominations and secret ballots by Cincinnati State faculty members. They are named after Clifford House, the first president of Cincinnati Technical College, and Alice Bruckmann, a member of the College's first board of trustees.

Dr. Monica Posey, Cincinnati State's Academic Vice President, noted during a recent on-campus awards presentation that House Bruckmann nominees and award winners are consistently among those who are the highest-rated by students.

In presenting the awards, President O'dell M. Owens said the awards reflect the quality of the work of a dedicated faculty. "I praise you," he said during a ceremony honoring Keith, Geoff and the other 2012 House-Bruckmann nominees. "You are winners."

Keith Mains

Keith Mains has been chair of the Automotive Service Management program at Cincinnati State since 1999.

Keith is himself a product of Cincinnati State, and his industry experience runs deep – he has been a certified ASE (Automotive Service Excellence) "Master Technician" since 1972.

After working for seven years as an automotive technician, Keith accepted an automotive teaching position at the James D. Patton Vocational School in 1978.

He joined what was then Cincinnati Technical College in 1985 as an industry trainer, and was responsible for training technicians for General Motors and BP ProCare. A decade later he became an instructor in the Automotive Service Management program.

As chair of the program he has developed close relationships with manufacturers such as Hyundai, and kept the College's automotive training program abreast of an increasingly computerized approach to maintenance. As he neared retirement, over the past year Keith has played a vital role in helping the College overall prepare for its transition from an academic calendar based on five terms to one based on semesters.

Geoffrey Woolf, M.F.A., M.S.

Geoffrey Woolf, a Wyoming resident, earned his bachelor's degree in English from the University of Cincinnati in 1991.

Geoff earned a Master's Degree in Fine Arts (Creative Writing) from the acclaimed University of Iowa Writers' Workshop in 1993, and in 2010 earned a Master of Science degree in Alternative Dispute Resolution from the Creighton University School of Law.

In certain respects Geoff's academic titles reflect his career path at Cincinnati State, which he joined in 1988 as an English instructor. He serves today as chairman of the Department of English and Literature. The list of core courses that he teaches – consistently popular with Cincinnati State students – includes Introduction to Literature, Poetry, The Novel, Graphic Fiction and Creative Writing.

Geoff also serves as the Contract Compliance Officer and Chief Negotiator for the Cincinnati State chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

This marks the second time Geoff has won the House-Bruckmann Award.

Distinguished Alumni Award

Chef John Kinsella, '92

John Kinsella may well be Cincinnati State's most famous graduate. But somehow, most of us tend to overlook that particular title.

Perhaps it's because he has spent so much of his life performing and teaching on an international stage; or because he holds so many other titles that the one he earned for the work he completed at Cincinnati State's Midwest Culinary Institute tends to get buried in the write-ups.

John Kinsella is first and foremost a certified master chef. He is, quite simply, one of the best in the business. Fewer than 65 men and women in the United States have been certified by the American Culinary Federation Inc. as master chefs, and John is one of them.

The ACF isn't the only body to recognize Chef Kinsella's work in such fashion. He also holds the designation as "master chef" from the London Institute of City and Guilds. He is a native of Ireland, you see – he trained in London, served his apprenticeship at the Grosvenor House Hotel, Park Lane, and spent the years 1958-1971 in the service of Her Majesty's Armed Forces.

What brought him to Cincinnati? The chance to run the famed Gourmet Room, back in the glory days of fine dining when the Maisonette and Pigall's were also in their prime and fine dining made the Queen City a destination for those with cultivated appetites. He joined Cincinnati Technical College in 1983 and has been a full time faculty member ever since. In the classroom Chef Kinsella established a reputation as a demanding, disciplined taskmaster – a man with standards who enforced them. But students, faculty and staff also came to see the grandfatherly side of Chef Kinsella, a caring teacher who led students on career-changing trips and opened doors for those who earned such help, a man who spent long hours in the MCI kitchens telling stories, making friends and making sure his students were doing it right.

The outside world, meanwhile, came to know a John Kinsella who was making a name for himself – and the Midwest Culinary Institute – in the international culinary world.

One way to understand this is to look at the titles after his name: CMC (Certified Master Chef); CCE (Certified Culinary Educator); WGMC (World Global Master Chef, 2008); AAC (Member, American Academy of Chefs); FWMCS (Fellow, World Master Chefs Society); GMC (Member, the United Kingdom's Guild of Master Craftsmen).

Here's another measure: Chef Kinsella served as President of the American Culinary Federation from 2005-2009.

Here is yet another measure, and perhaps the most interesting – a sample, and a small one at that, of highlights from his career:

- Manager of Team Midwest in Basle, and London, 1999, that won 12 gold medals, 3 silver medals
- Manager of Team Midwest in the Culinary Olympics, 2000, that won 3 gold medals, 5 silver medals
- Weekly host on "Everybody's Cooking" on WVXU 91.7
- Recognized authority on butchery, meat processing and charcutiere in the United States, and author of a book on the subject ("Professional Charcutiere," John Wiley and Sons).
- Now finishing three books, including "Classical French Cooking" and "Cooking in Simple Steps," and he writes every day for his blog, "A Master Chef's view on Classical French Cooking," www.smartchefslc.blogspot.com
- Manager of the Bahamas National Culinary Team, 2002 to 2004
- Developer of technical instructional standards for culinary programs in the United States
- Recipient of Her Majesty's Armed Forces Combined Services Medal for services to the Culinary Profession, 2001

This only hints at why Chef Kinsella has been awarded honorary doctor of culinary arts degrees from John & Wales University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

We will give the last words of this testimonial to a neutral observer, Fox 19 News Anchor Sheila Gray, who had the good fortune to attend Chef Kinsella's farewell dinner at the Summit Restaurant earlier this month.

"The night was a gift, just like his many years here in Cincinnati. Think of the influence he has had on dining – and on people – here. John likes to tell the story about the former student who came back years later and told him how much he hated Chef Kinsella when he was in school there, but realized later how well he was trained. But Megan Ketover tells a different story – of a kind, caring mentor who gave her the confidence she needed to keep striving for her dream to be a pastry chef. I've never seen Kinsella in the kitchen, but Rob and I have welcomed him to our studios many times over the years. I love the way he tells stories, and I love his love for cooking. "

Class of 2012 Student Representative

Tucker D. Palmatier

Tucker D. Palmatier has been selected to present the Student Address on behalf of the Class of 2012.

Tucker is graduating from the - Fire Service Technology Leadership program at Cincinnati State. At the same time, he is pursuing a bachelor's degree in science and engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

In his professional life, Tucker is employed full-time as a Senior Engineer and Integrator at Cengage Learning in Mason, Ohio. Previously he was employed as a senior manager of service management and platforms for Convergys, and in other IT positions in Greater Cincinnati and suburban Washington, D.C.

He has been active in the Fire/EMS service since 1998, starting in the suburbs of Washington DC. There, he said, he fell in love with emergency medicine and community service, and studied emergency medicine for two years at Northern Virginia College and took a variety of firefighting, public safety and emergency response classes at the Virginia State Search and Rescue Academy and the Public Safety Academy in Prince William, Va.

For the last four years, Tucker has served as Captain at Glendale Volunteer Fire and Rescue in Glendale, Ohio. He founded their EMS program and continues to teach as an Ohio-Certified EMS and Fire Instructor, along with leading a weekly crew. He has also worked as an EMT, firefighter and instructor for the Cleves Fire Department and as a training and operations officer for Tri-State Search and Rescue.

Recently he joined the Army Reserves, following in the footsteps of family members before him.
