WILLIAM F. KUNZE, '97.

Many of the leading citizens of east Minneapolis have been urging Mr. Kunze to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for the legislature from the 39th, the University, district. Mr. Kunze's wide acquaintance through the state, his deep interest in educational matters and the University, his ability and character, would make him an exceedingly desirable candidate. He would be acceptable to those who are most deeply interested in the welfare of the University, and all who desire good government would find in him a man they could support with enthusiasm. There can be no question that if Mr. Kunze will consent, the residents of the district will give him the nomination and the election. With Mr. Kunze in the legislature the a group of Minnesota people in the purchase of a Yakima Valley fruit ranch? A group of well-known men, whose names will be sent on request, are organizing such an enterprise. They have selected a beautiful forty acre tract to be conducted as a commercial orchard on the co-operative ownership plan.

This is a rare opportunity to those to whom it might be inconvenient to buy a farm for themselves. We foresee handsome profits in a ranch of this kind. The orchard itself will give large returns—to say nothing of the certain rise in the value of the land.

PRESIDENT NORTHPROP'S VIEWS.

In last Tuesday's Minnesota Daily President Northrop had a signed communication concerning Professor West's address "History and Causation." It was as follows:

In the Daily of Saturday certain extracts from Prof. West's recent address on History and Causation are given and as they are inclosed in quotation marks, I suppose that they are exactly what the Professor said. The position of the Professor, as I understand it is briefly this: It is absurd to attempt to trace the hand of God, in history, for God does not appear in history. Yet Professor West admits that "scientific history is perfectly consistent with faith in a divine power that makes for righteousness over and through us." This "divine power" is another name for God, is it not? If not, what is it? If then God is "making for righteousness over and through us," he is taking an active part in our lives, is he not? At least it must be admitted that he is influencing our lives, if he "makes for righteousness over and through us."

History is the record of the past life of the world. Have we any reason to suppose that God has not been making for righteousness in times past as truly as he is doing it now? Why then is it absurd to expect that the hand of God—the work of God, the influence of God, will appear in history? May not a man reasonably seek to trace in the past the hand of that "divine power which makes for righteousness over and through us" now? Moreover Professor West admits that this divine power "brings beauty and blessing from even our faults and follies." How is that? Is that scientific? Is it natural causation? It looks very much like the hand of God mercifully transforming the natural, scientific results of our faults and follies. If God does all this, I think I shall continue to see the hand of God in history. And I believe that the historian who looks for it, will find it. We can not exclude God from History till we can exclude Him from Life, and that Professor West admits can not be done.

Cyrus Northrop.

PRESIDENT APPEALS FOR PEACE.

In a recent address in chapel President Northrop spoke upon the need of concerted action among the nations of the world for universal peace and disarmament. In substance he said:

"Any man who knows what war means—wholesale murder, gigantic expenditures, waste, poverty, sorrow, almost everything that is bad, and who knows peace as the opposite of all this—industry, prosperity, comfort, happiness and love—ought not to require any argument to convince him that peace is better than war.

"War is absolutely unproductive. It is all expenditure and no return. The men engaged in war produce nothing. From the possible production of food and other things is deducted the millions that men engaged in war might produce, and these unproductive soldiers are paid to destroy untold millions of values and the people who remain at home and work are obliged to pay for it all. Taxes multiply, prices of necessities rise, there is less comfort in the homes, even those homes that have not been robbed of some member to supply food for powder, and the result is and always must be a large measure of discomfort, poverty and perhaps absolute misery."

Dr. Northrop referred at length to the comparatively small results of the peace congress established in 1899 and the fact that the nation whose ruler proposed gradual disarmament, within six years was engaged in the greatest war of modern times. From the topic he reverted to the change in methods of diplomacy where frankness and honorable methods had taken the place to a large extent of duplicity. He gave the United States and John Hay much of the credit for the new order. The conduct of the United States in Cuba and the Philippines, in its relation to the South American states, the return of millions to China and the intervention of President Roosevelt in the Russo-Japanese war, he argued, ought to convince the nations of the world that this country is friendly to all.

"I wish our government would take the lead in proposing a reduction in ships and armies," continued Dr. Northrop, "and thus stop this terrible expenditure for battle-ships and munitions of war which goes on increasing from year to year as one nation or another sets the pace of expenditure, and the rest of the terrified nations do their best to keep up with the leaders. To remove this intolerable burden occasioned by national rivalry and jealousy in preparation for war would be to contribute untold millions to the welfare of humanity for the comfort and the culture of the people."

In closing, Dr. Northrop quoted from Theodore Roosevelt's address in Christiania, when he received the Nobel peace prize, also from the statistics of the Peace Society of New York, and the address of Congressman James A. Tawney in May, 1909, opposing the "appalling" appropriations for war purposes, amounting to 72 per cent of the aggregate national revenues.

The average yearly expenditure for the eight years previous to the Spanish-American war was $51,000,000. For the succeeding eight years the average yearly expense was $185,400,000. The total amount for the eight years was three times the estimated cost of building the Panama canal and three times the estimated cost of reforesting 56,000,000 acres of denuded forest lands. Mr. Tawney in his speech predicted that unless gradual disarmament is begun "the burdens of unnecessary taxation will be increased until they ultimately impoverish the people and exhaust the resources of their nations."

ARTICLES BY KOVARIK AND ZELENY.

Alois F. Kovarik, '04, instructor in Physics, who is doing research work in Victoria University, Manchester, England, has an article in the April number of "Physical Review" upon "The effect of changes in the pressure and temperature of gases upon the mobility of the negative ions produced by ultra-violet light." The purpose of the experiments which Mr. Kovarik carried on and which form the basis of this article was to determine the point where the ions disintegrate when the pressure changes. This article fills thirty-one pages and is illustrated by various diagrams and accompanied by tables showing the results of the experiment.

In the May number of "Physical Review" Professor John Zeleny and L. W. McKeehan have an article upon "The Terminal Velocity of Fall of Small Spheres in Air." It will be remembered that something like a year ago Professor Zeleny announced the results of some experiments along this line in which he used spores of lycopodium for spherical bodies. The results of those experiments contradicted in the case of spores the theoretically determined law of Stokes. These experiments and later ones with artificially made spheres are described in this article. In the newer experiments Professor Zeleny and Mr. McKeehan use very small spheres which they made of wax, approximately four or five wave lengths of light in diameter, and the results prove the correctness of Stokes' Law for perfect spheres. The imperfect spheres of spores do not follow the law.

The correctness of Stokes' law had never been proven experimentally for the case of minute particles falling in air, and it was desirable to do so at this time on account of its recent employment for determining the magnitude of the charge of the ultimate particle of electricity.

The difficulty of the experiment is evident when it is known that the velocity, density and diameter of such minute spheres whose radius is less than 0.0002 inch must be determined and measured accurately.

ARTICLE BY MINER.

In the May number of the Journal of Educational Psychology, Dr. J. B. Miner has an article on "The College Laggard," in which he sets forth some of the results of his study of a group of over a hundred students dropped from the freshman class at Minnesota and compares them with similar groups elsewhere. The following excerpt is taken from the concluding paragraphs of the paper:

"If we try to distinguish the relative importance of personal and environmental factors as causes of failure in the college, one fact stands out prominently. Of 78 students on the laggard list about whom I received reports from the superintendents or principals, 47, or practically two-thirds, would not have been certified to the University for admission on the basis of their high school records if our new requirement had been in effect. This rule provides that in order to be admitted to college without examinations the students must have obtained a record in all subjects offered for entrance of at least 75 per cent., providing the passing mark was 65, or of 80 per cent. if the passing mark was 75. This means that two-thirds of those who became serious college laggards finished high school by a very narrow margin, they were already laggards in their high school environments, at least they were so backward in their studies that the principals have agreed hereafter not to recommend that class of students for admission to the University. Comparing this with Dearborn's results we find how surely personal characteristics affecting scholarship are established by the time of graduation from high school. Dearborn has shown that in a group of 472 students of the University of Wisconsin the Pearson coefficient of correlation of the standings in high school and the freshman year in college was $+0.80$.*

"This evidence that personality rather than college environment is the main reason for failure brings us to the crux of the problem of college laggardism so far as psychology is concerned. What personal characteristics are most prominent in determining college failure? I feel justified in submitting only one distinction for your consideration. Are they primarily intellectual or moral characteristics? If we take as intellectual functions the capacity to observe, to memorize, to imagine, and to reason, and as moral characteristics the organization and control of the emotions, desires, and impulses, one might expect that the college would have to do primarily with the former and would reject mainly those who are primarily dull. From the study of this laggard list I can find very little to justify such a conclusion and some reason to believe that where one lacks in intellect four are incapacitated by bad habits of control and disorganized characters. To begin with, I have at least 27 instances which indicate that the student has passed high school work creditably or showed reversal of form after leaving Minnesota. Here then are about a third of the 78 cases heard from in which it would be rather absurd to suppose intellectual incapacity.

"Some of these letters are decidedly interesting. There are two laggards with a high school average of 90 per cent. Of one of these the principal says he was "an excellent student at all times." Another principal says of one of the laggards, she "did fine work while here." Another, in the opinion of the principal, had "a fine intellect." Of one it is said, "her record was very good with us." Another was said to be the best debater in the Twin City high schools. His principal writes of him, "He was as strong a student as we ever turned out, greatly interested in debate. . . . He has entered a school of Colorado and has the highest scholarship in his school." Another, whose parents are well able to pay his expenses, writes, "I am paying my own expenses at the University of Wisconsin and seem to be doing much better work." Here is another of whom the principal says, "His class work in all subjects was 85 per cent. or more. . . . He was a bright and a good student. . . . He has made good in the college which he entered the next year." Another when at high school was said to be "an inventive genius. He was devoted to wireless telegraphy and constructed the stations at the high school. He had the keenest analytic mind, did all of his work in high school well, but needed constant advice, one of the finest boys we have had." While the others of the 27 have not as good high school records as these, they at least had creditable records.

"In looking over the replies to the questionnaire with the point in mind of judging the importance of intellectual and moral incapacity I find that there are 86 students on the laggard list about whom it is possible to estimate on the basis of the opinion of themselves or their high school officers. My impression from these letters is that the cause of failure in 14 cases might be assigned to influences extrinsic to this problem such as health and necessary outside work; in 15 cases to intellectual incapacity, and in 57 to moral reasons such as lack of purpose, laziness, and inability to resist social, fraternity and other temptations which interfered with work. In other words, four times as many failures seemed to be referable to moral as intellectual factors. Doubtful cases I never classed in the moral group. At best this is only an attempt to tabulate opinions and for only a small group of people, but it is an impression gained from reading a rather unusual collection of letters which had been gathered before the idea of testing this point was conceived. In rather aimless wandering we sometimes hit upon striking facts which might escape us if our attention were fixed upon a definite goal. If this is such a fact it may have important implications for the training of laggards not only in college but in the high school and grades. We are at least coming to learn, as Ayers states, that "the long yearned-for royal road to learning is not always to be found through the surgeon's knife." I should like to suggest that the supplementary teacher in elementary and secondary schools or the college advisor probably has a much bigger problem than teaching the laggard his lesson. It is the problem of developing habits of application, habits of resistance to the distracting temptations of other activities. It is the general problem of interest and control. This, rather than physical defects or intellectual incapacity, may prove the main problem of scholastic retardation."

THE GOPHER.

The Gopher of 1911 which was issued last Tuesday is one of the best in the long series of books that have been issued since the series was started in 1888. From an artistic point of view it is exceedingly creditable. The section of fourteen pages devoted to President Northrop is extremely interesting and will be cherished by the owners of the book. The picture of Governor John A. Johnson is one we have never seen before but a very fine picture of him. There are scattered through the book a number of full pages made up of a group of pictures representing various phases of University life that are exceedingly attractive. The joshes are pronounced by those who are in position to judge "the best ever." Taken all in all, it is an exceedingly creditable production.

The following foreword from President Northrop appeared in the new Gopher.

"I am not ready to say farewell. The Gopher apparently proposes to say farewell to me, but in so charming a manner as to make the occasion joyous rather than sad.

My greatest happiness during all the years of my administration as president of the University of Minnesota has been derived from the devotion of the students to me, their cordial friendship, their loyalty, and their love. I can not thank them heartily enough to express my gratitude. We have had a good time together. I have no doubt that those who come after us will have an equally good time. I hope they may. But whatever the future may bring to others, "the past at least is secure," and I know what it has brought to me. In grateful acknowledgment I give to the students and the alumni my most hearty thanks for all their kindness and my most earnest wishes for their usefulness and happiness in the years to come.

—Cyrus Northrop.

THE CLOSING OF THE YEAR.

The University year is drawing to a close. Two weeks more and the campus will be deserted of students, and another page added to the history of Minnesota. Much has been accomplished and many things begun that augur well for the future.

Undoubtedly the biggest event of the past year and one that will mean the most in the days to come has been the foundation and organization of a student council. In this day and age self-government is the great factor in that harmonization of any body of people, which makes for the best in all lines of progress. Self-government is the dominating spirit of good government. Without it injustice, dissension, dissatisfaction, discord, wrong doing, and a corrupt sense of right and wrong, flourish to a more or less extent. A student council at Minnesota will put the student body on its feet and make them a representative body of self-governing American citizens with all that the name implies.

In debate and oratory Minnesota's speakers have gathered laurels. Supremacy in debate has placed the stamp of value upon the intellectual side of the University so that all the world may see it. In athletics three championship teams were turned out and others not a bit inferior in their line.

The Minnesota Union, organized for the benefit of the men of the University, and for the purpose of securing a common meeting place for them, has met with signal success. Hardly any less than the student council will the Minnesota Union better the standards of the students by furnishing the soil wherein they may flourish.

We have put in a good year. Let us not stop, but rather lay our plans now for a better one during the next session.

HILL CAPTAIN.

Stanley Hill, the sprinter, has been elected captain of the 1911 track team. Hill is said to be the greatest track man that has ever represented Minnesota and his work this year has certainly been of the highest order.

WIN FROM INDIANA.

The University baseball team won from Indiana last Monday by a score of 6 to 0.

STANLEY HILL GOES TO THE CONFERENCE.

The work of Stanley Hill, the track man who is taking a course in mining, would prevent his taking part in the conference meet on June 4th. Arrangements have, however, been made by the faculty of the school of mines so that Mr. Hill's work is adjusted in order that he may take part in this meet. Mr. Hill is a wonderful track man and has been in nine meets this year and has met defeat in but one.

FRESHMEN WIN FROM SOPHOMORES.

The annual track meet between the freshmen and sophomores was held last Thursday, the freshmen winning by a score of 82 to 49.

LAST SCANDINAVIAN PROGRAM.

The last meeting of the Scandinavian Society was held last Thursday night in Alice Shevlin Hall. The program included:

Talks on Scandinavian Politics, by Prof. Gisle Bothne, A. J. Orbeck, M. N. Olsen, and others. Music by Ebba Norman, Marie Elmquist, Arthur C. Carlson, David Berg, Hans Kjomme.

"INITIATED."

The senior class play of the present year is entitled, "Initiated." Sale of exchange tickets began last week.

TRACTION ENGINEERING.

A short course in traction engineering opened at the University farm last week with an enrollment of 132 men. It is expected that the enrollment will exceed 150. The course lasts for four weeks and all who pass a satisfactory examination at the end of the course are granted a license as second grade engineers.

SENIOR LAW BANQUET.

The senior law class held a banquet last Wednesday evening at the West Hotel. Judge Jaggard of the supreme court was the principal speaker of the evening. Addresses were made by Dean W. S. Pattee, A. W. Stone, F. J. McGrath and Professor Paige. Dean Pattee spoke upon the "Ethics of Practitioners."

CARPENTER PROMOTED.

Fred Carpenter, Law '00, private secretary to President Taft, has just been appointed minister to Morocco, to succeed Mr. H. Percival Dodge.

NOTED EDUCATOR HERE.

Professor Bernsard Boggild of the Royal Danish Agricultural college of Copenhagen, will lecture before the students of the college of agriculture at St. Anthony Park, today. Tomorrow he will start on a trip through Minnesota to study methods of farming, returning to the University about the 5th of June.

CASWELL ENDORSED.

The following letter to the editor of the Weekly has just come to hand. Mr. Chase is personally acquainted with Mr. Caswell and is able to speak of his qualification for the office which he seeks, with authority. We are glad to be allowed to use this letter for the information of the alumni.

Weekly your announcement of I. A. Caswell's candidacy for the Supreme Court clerkship. He is an honor to the U. of M. law school and every alumnus feeling a pride in the "U" and a desire to have her graduates succeed should support him in his contest for the Republican nomination.

"He has no political organization behind him, but he does have a record for integrity and ability that has won him friends throughout the State. His present position as clerk of the Supreme Court he owes to his own efforts entirely. He has won out in business, in politics and in law by hard work, not pull. After securing his degree at the "U" he was for some years a successful practitioner, later he was appointed deputy clerk, then clerk. He has thus added to natural industry an executive experience that makes him easily the most desirable of the candidates so far mentioned for the position. Mr. Caswell's ability is exceptional. His record of shrewd, intelligent effort has won the admiration of all familiar with his work, and the support of those acquainted with his ability and the requirements of the office to which he asks reelection.

"Politically his stalwart Republicanism should and does commend him to Republicans, but, party lines aside, the fact that as a graduate of Minnesota he possesses the ability and experience to make him the most prominent candidate for an important state position should secure for him the support of all loyal alumni.

"You are fully warranted in assisting him in any way possible. We who know the man know that he deserves the best we can give him.

"Yours very truly,

R. P. CHASE."

HOME LIGHTING

A Few Words of Interest to Every Home in Minneapolis

During the coming months of winter when the direness of out-of-door bids us to seek the shelter of the home, why not make that home more cheerful than ever before? Every home can be as cheerful during the blustering nights of winter as in the mellow, glowing rays of the summer sun. To the use of the electric light we owe this result.

But up to the present time the cost of electric light in the home has placed it above the average family—this has deterred many.

Today it is within the reach of all. It costs but the same as inferior lighting; its superiority over all others is not questioned.

It costs only one-half as much to light your home this winter as it did last if you use a Tungsten lamp.

Telephone and we shall be pleased to tell you how it is done. Or call—and we will show you the best lamp and fixtures for your home.

We do a large and constantly increasing business in all the Western states, and earnestly invite good teachers to enroll with us no matter where located.

PRESIDENT NORTHROP TO REMAIN.

The regents have been as yet unable to find a satisfactory man to name as successor to President Northrop. President Northrop has expressed his willingness to remain at least until the first of January and the regents are determined to be absolutely sure that they have the right man before making a final selection.

ARTICLE IN BELLMAN.

A recent number of the Bellman of this city contains an article upon the future of the Minnesota University by W. P. Kirkwood. The article is exceedingly interesting and contains many facts not known to the average citizen of the state.

NEW UNIVERSITY PAPER.

The state entomologist has just issued the first number of "Minnesota Insect Life." This publication will appear hereafter on the first day of April, May, June, July and August and will be sent free to any one who applies for it. The new paper is illustrated and its object is the placing before farmers, gardeners and housekeepers timely suggestions for the preservation of property from the attacks of insects. In the first number the cutworm is taken up.

THE IRISH STANDARD APPROVES.

The following is clipped from the May 28th number of the Irish Standard:

Why so many Catholic students attend the Minnesota State University is largely due to the fact that President Northrop is at the head of it. He is a broad-gauged, liberal-minded educator who has never tampered with the religious convictions of the students of any denomination in the University. He is a religious man himself and a model to the students. Unlike Prof. West, he sees the hand of God in history.

"THE SPIRIT OF THE STATE UNIVERSITIES."

Henry S. Pritchett, President of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching in Atlantic Monthly for June 1910. The following paragraphs are significant.

"Perhaps in no other nation are there more marked inequalities in the progress toward such an educational consciousness than among the commonwealths of our American Union."

"No such exhibition of well-formed and definite educational consciousness was ever before seen in the organization of new states or provinces. The ideal for which the people of Michigan and Wisconsin and Missouri and Iowa and California aimed in the establishment of these systems of education rested upon definite convictions—that ideal stood for a conscious duty of the state to open the door of education to every citizen, an education free of every political and ecclesiastical control."

"In no other nation of the world, at any time in its history, have institutions of the higher learning so essentially democratic, and on the whole serving so well the needs of a democracy as do the best of our state universities, been developed so quickly. If our American democracy were today called to give proof of its constructive ability, the state university and the public-school system which it crowns would be the strongest evidence of its fitness which it could offer."

"There is no more concrete test of the stage of civilization of an American state than a state university controlled by the state, but free of partisan politics; and there is no surer mark of a high order of civic efficiency in a state than its ability to produce a competent board of trustees for a great university."

"During its fifty years of history the state university has also suffered, as to its standards and ideals, from the same causes which have affected other universities—the prevailing American superficiality and the rage for numbers. Very slowly are we coming to admit, whether in tax-supported colleges or in those on private foundation, that bigness and greatness are not synonymous terms. Success has not yet come to be a function of educational righteousness in the mind of the people."

"The university helps the secondary school best when it sets up fair standards and enforces them; when it holds the high schools responsible for good results,—not when it undertakes to do the high schools' work for them; when it gives the secondary-school system a wise, fair, and sympathetic scrutiny, and leads it to increasing thoroughness and efficiency."

WILL CELEBRATE ITS OPENING.

The people of Morris, Minn., are going to make a gala day of October 5th, the day when the University school of agriculture located at that place is to be opened.

STILL FURNISHING TEXTS.

In a recent number of the St. Paul Dispatch "Larry Ho" (Lawrence Hodgson) a former student of the University, discusses Professor West's address upon History and Causation. As everything that "Larry Ho" writes, this is exceedingly interesting and right to the point.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY.

Two performances of the senior class play "Initiated" were given at the Metropolitan theater June 3rd. In addition to the play proper there was a curtain raiser, "Forty-five Minutes from Folwell." More than one hundred members of the class were in the curtain raiser which was filled with taking chorus songs and witty hits at various people about college. Frank Bibb was responsible for the music and Miss Frances Lloyd for the lyrics while the play was written by Misses Louise Strong and May Cutler. There were sixteen choruses, some being based on phases of student life, others borrowed from popular light operas. The plot of "Initiated" was based on "cribbing" and "fussing," all kinds of "fussers" were portrayed and the attitude of the University student toward "grinds" shown up. The play "Initiated" was the joint production of James Dorsey, Leila Witchie, Glenn Gullickson, Winifred Turner and Norman Nelson.

THE SENIOR CLASS PICNIC.

The senior class two hundred strong went up the Minnesota river to Savage for their class picnic.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

Last Tuesday was senior day and it was as beautiful a day as one could desire. The exercises of the day included an address of welcome by Edward W. Leach, then the planting of the ivy which was done by Charles L. Lewis, and William S. Erwin made the ivy oration. Mary Heritage read an original poem after which the class visited the various buildings on the campus and said farewell to each. James Dorsey expressed the feelings of the class in regard to its association with the various buildings. The kite which was supposed to bear away the troubles of the class was raised by Bernard A. Meixner, after which luncheon was served in Shevlin Hall and then the class gathered at three o'clock in the chapel to listen to the class orators. Jack Bonner gave the advice to the juniors. Olaf Anderson, a junior, responded. Sigurd Peterson gave the class oration and Theodore Thompson delivered the farewell address.

BACCALAUREATE SUNDAY.

The baccalaureate services were held on Sunday, June 5th. The address was given by Reverend Andrew Gillies, pastor of the Hennepin Avenue M. E. Church. The large audience which was present at the exercises thoroughly enjoyed the address of Dr. Gillies.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

Commencement morning started in with threatening weather and a drizzling rain. Shortly before ten o'clock the rain ceased and the procession which it had been thought would have to be given up, was formed near the Library Building and proceeded to the Armory. Every seat in the Armory was filled and many hundreds stood up during the exercises which lasted nearly three hours. The graduating class numbered 592. The exercises were impressive and President Northrop's address was all that was expected of it, which is saying much. The address is given in full in another place in this issue and comment further than to say that every reader of the Weekly should read this address very carefully is not necessary.

The following shows the number of degrees granted and their distribution: bachelor of arts, 213; bachelor of science, 7; civil engineer, 20; mechanical engineer, 13; electrical engineer, 18; bachelor of science, 1; master of forestry, 1; bachelor of science in agriculture, 7; bachelor of science in forestry, 8; bachelor of science in home economics, 10; master of laws, 9; bachelor of laws, 86; doctor of medicine, 31; certificates of completed course, 3; doctor of dental surgery, 44; bachelor of pharmacy, 19; engineer of mines, 26; bachelor of science in chemical engineering, 3; bachelor of science in chemistry, 11; bachelor of arts in education, 29; master of arts, 27; master of science, 3; master of science in agriculture, 3; certificates of proficiency in music, 3; and the following honors and prizes were given: The '89 memorial prize in history awarded to Richard Newhall; the William Jennings Bryan prize in political science awarded to William Bethke; the Albert Howard Scholarship awarded to Camelia Waite and the Alumni Weekly gold medal awarded to Sigurd H. Peterson.

The commencement program contained one innovation this year which will be a very welcome one. There is a page devoted to degrees granted since the previous commencement, making the commencement programs a complete record of the graduates of the University.

PHI BETA KAPPA ADDRESS.

The Phi Beta Kappa address was delivered in chapel Tuesday evening, June 7th, by Dean Shailer Matthews of the University of Chicago, the subject being "The scholar in a commercial age."

THE ALUMNI PICNIC.

The fifth annual alumni picnic was held on Alumni Day, Wednesday, June 8th, on the knoll in front of the Library building. There were something in the neighborhood of five hundred present at the picnic and those who were present had a thoroughly enjoyable time. The class of 1906 which had decided on 1910 as the time for a big reunion had a tent on the campus for the purpose of registering all members of that class who appeared. The class of 1880 had eight of the seventeen members who graduated present at the picnic and various other classes including the class of 1888 were well represented. The regents who were present as guests of the alumni were seated at a table in the center of the group of tables and before dinner was completed Professor Nachtrieb, president of the General Alumni Association, presented President Northrop a volume of "Forty Years of the University of Minnesota," together with the following address:

"To Cyrus Northrop, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Laws, Doctor of Laws, formerly Professor of English in Yale University, and second president of the University of Minnesota, on the occasion of the twenty-sixth commencement of his regime and the fortieth year of the University; presented on Alumni Day, June 8, year of our Lord 1910:

"We, the members of the General Alumni Association of the University of Minnesota, through our board of directors, on this, probably the last alumni day of your presidency, desire formally to express to you our appreciation of your invaluable services and to present to you this testimonial of our affection and gratitude.

Then and Now.

"You came to preside over a small faculty and a student body of a few hundred. You will withdraw from a faculty of several hundred members and a student body of several thousand. Departments have been multiplied and the campus and farm have been extended far beyond the original limits. In short, during your peaceful reign the material wealth of the University has come to exceed the most sanguine expectations of your early days.

"You came to the presidency as a professor of English, a lover and master of English literature, a firm believer in the cultural and disciplinary value of the classics and mathematics, and yet with a breadth of mind and a catholicity of spirit that never prevented you from recognizing each and every part of the University as important and vital to the whole.

"We look with satisfaction upon the attitude you have at all times held toward the various departments of the University, and the tact and wisdom you have made a part of the history of our alma mater. It is with pride we note the record is unmarred by fad or advocacy of any one branch of knowledge to the exclusion of others.

Broad of Mind.

"Appreciating the inestimable value of the idealist and the merits of the practical man, you have fostered not only the languages, literature, and art, but you have also given your support to the natural and physical sciences and the professions of agriculture, engineering, law and medicine. Research, too, so far as possible, received your encouragement, so that the contributions to human knowledge, the distinctive character of a university, enrich the record of the past and the spirit of today points encouragingly to the future.

"Marvelous as the development of the University has been during your regency, it fades into insignificance when we think of you as our beloved president, the man with a large and loving heart, whose life was ever sweetened with the milk of human kindness and who consistently placed the development of noble manhood and womanhood above the mere acquisition of knowledge.

"In the forum and on the athletic field, in all student activities tending to prepare for a useful citizenship and a cheerful life, your heart and spirit have been with the students.

"Through your kindness you have won the affection of both your colleagues and the students, and to those who have gone out from the University with your 'God bless you,' following them, your chapel talks will ever be reminders of high ideals, unselfish and pure living.

Pillsbury's Great Work.

"We are grateful to the support you gave to as well as the support you received from him whom we affectionately call the father of the University, John Sargent Pillsbury, and we affirm that so long as the University shall continue your years of service and his will continue as golden threads from the fabric, made into the fabric in the making.

"In evidence of our gratitude to and affection for you, we would give you the assurance that we shall not weep over the desires not realized, but, rejoicing in the encouraging prospects you bequeath to us as alumni, shall strive to do what we can to blend the glorious past into a still more glorious future, believing that by so striving we shall demonstrate an active faith in the high ideals you have held before us.

"In token of our appreciation and grateful acknowledgement of all you have been to us, to the University, and to the state, our board of directors hereunto subscribe their names."

Signed to the dedication are the following names, representing the different colleges: Henry F. Nachtrieb, president; Fred B. Snyder, William R. Hoag, William I. Gray, LeRoy Cady, Thomas P. Cooper, Hugh V. Mercer, Walter M. Carroll, Frank C. Todd, Soren P. Rees, Albert E. Booth, Thomas B. Hartzell, Frank E. Moody, Arthur G. Erkel, Oscar Bloomo, Frank W. Emmons, Conrad G. Selvig, Edgar C. Higbee, Charles F. Keyes, treasurer and E. Bird Johnson, secretary.

The copy given President Northrop will be replaced after commencement by a deluxe copy prepared by Miss Mary M. Cheney, with the address on vellum and illuminated.

"FORTY YEARS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA."

The volume which was announced last January in the Weekly has just been issued. The book comprises six hundred and forty pages with three folded inserts. The following is the table of contents; introduction, 1-16; beginnings of the University, 17-31; President Folwell's administration, 31-50; President Northrop's administration, 51-80; University chronicle, 81-87; University lands, 89-94; the colleges 95-180; gifts and benefactions, 181-192; miscellaneous—dean of women, library, military, athletics, alumni, buildings, attendance, 193-242; miscellaneous items of interest, 243-250; President Northrop, 251-264; biographies, 265-450; regents, 451-460; faculty, 461-484; Alumni directory, 485-585; University laws, 597-635; index, 637-639.

In regard to the history in this book the following letter expresses Dr. Folwell's feeling concerning its completeness and accuracy.

Minneapolis, January 22, 1910.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

I have read with satisfaction your copy for a history of the University. For one reason, it relieves me of a burden which I have expected would some day fall on me. I do not need to worry about it. You have exhausted the existing sources of information, and woven the material into a compact and readable narrative. So the work is done and well done.

While you have admirably celebrated the marvelous developments of the last quarter century, you have also done justice to pioneers, who brought it into being, nursed it through a long period of discouragement, and wrought in faith and patience in their day of small things.

Very sincerely yours,
William W. Folwell.

The following statement is quoted from the preface:

"The close of the administration of President Northrop is a fitting time to bring together, in a volume such as this, the material available to show the origin and progress of the University. We are sufficiently near the original sources of the history to be able to determine with a fair degree of accuracy the facts and to have the benefit of the word of mouth information from those who participated in the events which have helped to make the University what it is today.

"The disadvantage of proximity, which does not allow of a proper weighing of events in the light of subsequent years, is more than offset by the availability of material. Some day the history of this period of the University will be written by someone who will have the advantage of perspective, but, we trust that when that time comes, the one who writes will find in this volume the greater part of the information which he will need to get the proper values for his pen picture of the period covered by this volume."

The book contains above four hundred cuts including many full page faculty groups and a photograph of every person who has served on the board of regents except two which could not be secured. Practically the whole issue was sold out by subscription. A few copies are left that can be secured of the secretary of the General Alumni Association for the price of $7.50. The volume is attractively gotten up and everyone who secures a copy will prize it as the most complete and comprehensive publication on the University of Minnesota that has ever been issued.

LAW ALUMNI BANQUET.

The law alumni held their annual banquet at hotel St. Paul on the evening of June 7th. This was one of the most elaborate banquets ever given by the law alumni association and there was a good attendance. The banquet room was beautifully decorated and the banquet itself was served in the best of style. The program of toasts was an unusually interesting one. Herbert P. Keller, Law '96, the newly elected mayor of St. Paul, made an address of welcome to which Dean Pattee responded in fitting words. Hugh V. Mercer, Law '94, '97, made a noteworthy address dealing with the subject in which he is specially interested, employee's liability compensation. Lee A. Combs, Law '94, '97, president of the North Dakota bar association was present and made a very strong address telling of what the law school had done for him and for others. Before closing he made a special plea for the lawyers to stand by judges and justices of the supreme court when their decisions were apparently dictated by honest convictions. Honorable E. T. Young, former attorney general of Minnesota spoke upon "The benefits and dangers of written constitutions." The speeches were all worthy of the highest commendation.

'94's REUNION.

The class of 1894 which has never failed to hold its annual reunion since graduation sixteen years ago, held its reunion at the home of Professor and Mrs. Frank M. Anderson, 1628 University avenue southeast on the evening of Alumni Day. There were about thirty members present.

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY REUNION.

The class of 1880 celebrated its thirtieth anniversary of its graduation by a reunion at which there were present eight of the seventeen members of the class that graduated. There were present, Horace B. Greeley who is engaged in farming at Mapleton, Minn.; Judge Andrew Holt of the district court of Hennepin county; Elizabeth House of this city; Mrs. Geo. McGregor (Bessie Lawrence) of this city; A. W. Rankin of the department of education of the University; Gilman W. Smith who is in the employ of the American Bridge Company in Chicago; Harvey Page Smith of Duluth and William W. Williams of Lime Springs, Ia. In addition the following who were members of the class but did not graduate were present: W. A. Currie, Mrs. W. W. Peebles (Gussie W. Park) of Fayette, Ia., E. C. Johnson and Mr. Witche of this city. There were seventeen members of the class that graduated two have since died and eight were present at the reunion which was held at Dayton's tea rooms. After dinner Mr. Currie invited the members of the class and their families numbering twenty-three in all, to his home, 816 Summit avenue where the evening was spent in talking over college days. The other members of the class who were not present were, Mrs. H. W. Bronson, (Cora Brown); James F. Brvant, J. E. Horton, R. P. Nix, Mrs. G. B. Ellis (Minnie Reynolds); Alva Roe, Mrs. G. H. Remele (Lillian Todd).

PORTLAND ALUMNI.

The alumni living in Portland, Ore., held their annual meeting June 8th, at the time of the Rose Festival. They sent the following telegram to President Northrop which was received just before the commencement exercises:

Portland, Oregon, June 8-9, '10.
President Cyrus Northrop:

University of Minnesota, Mpls.

Alumni University of Minnesota in Oregon in annual meeting assembled send to you our heartfelt greetings and congratulations on the conclusion of another year of your administration as president of our Alma Mater and our beloved personal friend and teacher.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS.

One of the best of the many good things which New England did for the country in the early days was to establish the principle that universal education is a necessity for a free people. It is quite wonderful to notice how early and how complete the provisions for this education were both in Massachusetts and in Connecticut. And the scope of the education was in degree, if not in kind, fully equal to the best systems of state education today.

In 1636, only six years after the founding of Boston, the General Court of Massachusetts voted four hundred pounds "toward a school or college." That was the beginning of Harvard University. In its origin it was a state college. What surprises one and makes him admire those early people of New England is that they made such provisions for education and for the higher education at that, when they were so few, so poor, and so surrounded by dangers and difficulties which might well occupy their attention to the exclusion of thoughts about the higher education of their children. But to these people everything they held dear depended upon the education of their children. In 1647 the General Court of Massachusetts ordered every town having fifty householders to establish a school to teach children to write and read; and ordered every town having a hundred householders to set up a grammar school, the master of which should be able to fit youths for the University. This was unprecedented in the world's history up to that time. Connecticut three years later in 1650 followed the example of Massachusetts in establishing common and grammar schools and in effect also manual training schools, by requiring boys to be apprenticed to learn a trade if they were not able or willing to pursue the course of training in the grammar schools. These men of New England knew what they wanted. Education was necessary for the good of both church and state, and education they would have.

A writer on the history of education says, that "the colonies of the South were settled on the whole quite as early as those further north. Except Georgia lateness of colonization can not be urged as a reason for delay in establishing schools. As a matter of fact, however, there was no school system in any colony south of Connecticut before the Revolution and no enterprise of the kind to speak of before the nineteenth century." It is certainly great glory to New England that she established so early a thorough system of public education and maintained it successfully for a century and a half before the other parts of the country had established a school system at all. What that meant for New England and what it has meant for the West where New Englanders have settled can be readily imagined. For many years the eastern colleges drew to themselves most of the men in other parts of the country who desired a collegiate education. Yale, Harvard and Princeton were the favorites. Students flocked to them from the South in large numbers. John C. Calhoun was a Yale graduate. James Madison was a Princeton graduate. The West had few colleges of any standing and fresh-water colleges were not held in much honor in the East. Now nearly every state and territory west of New England has its own state university; and, while many young men and young women in the West go east for their education, the great majority of those who enter college in probably every one of the western and southern states, enter their own state university. This is natural because of the nearness of the state university to their homes, and because education near home costs less than in a distant college. It is also proper, because the education obtainable at the state universities is satisfactory.

The men who emigrated from New England to Minnesota brought with them the New England appreciation of education. Provision for a university was made in the act of Congress organizing a territorial government and, through all the dangers and difficulties and poverty of the early days, the idea of a coming university was never lost sight of, and the charter of the University was at last incorporated in the constitution of the state. It required the most stalwart faith to accomplish this. Scholars and schools for training them were almost entirely wanting when the University was founded. But the faith of the fathers of Minnesota never failed. I need not here repeat the story of the struggles for existence through which the University, when once established, went for a number of years. The state was poor. The people were poor. A civil war drew to the battlefield a large part of the men of the state, and it was not until the Union had been saved and peace had been established that there was a possibility of caring for the University. In 1869 the University was organized as a teaching college under a plan prepared by its first president, Dr. William W. Folwell, and its first graduates, two in number, received their diplomas in 1873. Today the number of students is more than five thousand and the graduates each year number between five hundred and six hundred. The men who preceded me in the University know full well what an arduous task it was to keep the University alive in the early years. All through the years of my predecessor's administration and through a considerable number of years of my own administration, the appropriations made by the legislature for the support of the University were so small that it was impossible to do more than to care for the pressing wants of the moment. We lived so to speak from hand to mouth. Expansion was not to be thought of. Growth was next to impossible. And when at last appropriations began to be made for an occasional new building and one was provided, it could not be devoted to one branch of learning and made adequate to the wants of that branch of learning for years to come, but it had to be divided among a number of departments, resulting in a temporizing policy of momentary expediency without any possible chance of building according to some plan which should forecast the future. Thus, the first building erected after I came to the University was in theory a building for the technical work of the College of Engineering and Mechanic Arts. It stands on the campus today, a monument of folly artistically and in all other respects, and I hope its future and speedy destiny is to disappear and give place to a more sensible, useful, and attractive structure. But poor as this building was and is, it was the best we could build in point of size with the means at our disposal, and it was made to accommodate not only all the technical work for which in theory it was built, but also the department of physics and one or two others. It was soon found to be too small for its occupants and, when another new building was erected which should have been for either chemistry or physics, it was made to include both and accommodate neither. In a short time this became too small for both and a new building was erected for physics and the previous building was given up to the exclusive use of chemistry. To-day the Regents have in hand two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for a main engineering building and several buildings for shop work have in the meantime been built. If we could have had the appropriations in the beginning, we could have built much more wisely. But the state was still poor, and appropriations were hard to get. So, too, when the library building was erected; the appropriation of one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars could not all be expended for the accommodation or enrichment of the library alone. Students had multiplied. Classes were large. Lecture rooms were inadequate. The chapel had been burned. So the so-called library building was built to accommodate with lecture and recitation rooms the departments of economics, English, history, and philosophy; to furnish a chapel for daily worship, and to furnish offices for the president, the registrar, the purchasing agent, and the accountant and the superintendent of buildings. Only a small part of the appropriation was spent for the accommodation of the library. Even thus the library was so much better placed than it ever had been that we were forced
